TOLD CZAR THE TRUTH; GRAND DUKE BANISHED

Letter To Emperor Is Published In London

THE CZARINA'S INFLUENCE Says She Was Surrounded by Evil Minded Intimates—Ruler's First Impulses True But He Wavered Under Influence—Alexieff May Command Armies

London, March 24.—"The Grand Duke Nicholas Michaelovitch," says a Times despatch from Petrograd, "was banished to his estates in December for telling Emperor Nicholas the truth concerning the situation and for denouncing the Rasputin scandal."

After appealing to the emperor to remove the interference of the "dark forces" and assuring him that they would thereby regain the confidence of the people, "which you have forfeited," the grand duke's letter concludes:

"I have long hesitated to tell you the whole truth, but decided to do so after being convinced by your mother and sisters that it must be done. You are on the eve of new trouble, on the eve of a new year in your life."

EPWORTH LEAGUE The Senior Epworth League of Portland Methodist Church held an enjoyable social in their hall in Portland street last evening. ### Good Things Coming to Theatres of St. John

OUR BOYS TO HELP FINISH THE KAISER

Possibly the people of St. John do not fully appreciate the fact that the machine-gun draft C. E. F. being recruited here by Lieut. Scammell to take their departure at a near date for overseas, is destined to be a separate unit from this city in the final plans of General Haig for exterminating the German army in the drive towards the Rhine. These fragmentary forces from all over the empire are to be welded into one impregnable line of spit-free, anti-Allied victory-bullets at the rate of 800 a minute from each gun under the support of all sizes of heavy cannon, some projecting their destructive missiles at a distance of twenty-five miles. The men now being trained here are all good, stalwart fellows of intelligence and keen in anticipation of carrying out their important part in the grand final rush.

Lieut. Scammell says he has never enjoyed such enthusiasm among men as his machine gun crews are showing. Applicants for enlistment may get all information at the special recruiting rooms, 22 Germain, corner of King, upstairs.

HE WAS IN THE "YORK POINT RIOT"

Howard Segee, Dead in Fredericton, Probaby Oldest Orangeman in Province

Fredericton, March 24.—Howard Segee, probably the oldest Orangeman in the province, died at his home here last night. He was a native of this city and had been actively connected with the order for sixty-five years. He was for a time employed as door-keeper in the assembly, his duties and should roll up some high strings on his Canadian tour. #### MILITARY MAN SAYS RESPONSE OF OLDER GENERATION IS FINE

With the over-subscription of the third Canadian war loan to the extent of $75,000,000 military men are again discussing the comparative patriotism of the rising generation as against that of the older generation. One military officer of high rank, discussing the question with a Times reporter this morning, said that the over-subscription of the third war loan would indicate that the younger generation is more ready to pay than the eligible are to fight.

Holds That Lack of Military Spirit Among Young Men is Due to Teachings of Their Fathers—What He Sees in the Over-subscribed War Loan

This, he did not think, was altogether the fault of the rising generation, but largely due to the fact that the fathers of the rising generation for years had made every effort to blot out any idea of militarism that happened to show its face among their children. He said that the cadet movement was scorned because it smacked of military drill and discipline while the scout movement was tolerated only because it was as far removed as possible from any idea of militarism and even then there had been some who objected to its adoption.

In this way the young men of Canada were taught to despise in a greater or lesser degree the military spirit and the following of military standards. When the crisis came military work was unpopular in Canada by reason of the teaching received by the young men during their childhood. The older generation was able to recover itself and the latent spark of enthusiasm was fanned into a white heat, hence the excellent response to the war loans. He said that the subscription in Canada to the third war loan only bore out the contention that military men that Canadians were mistaken when they held up their hands in holy horror over any military drill among their children in the pre-war days.

HOW LONG WILL THE PEOPLE STAND THIS?

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George D. Ireland of Vancouver and Mrs. Du Donahue, now in England. J. J. F. Winslow, of Fredericton; Major Ralph Winslow in France; and V. J. Swast and Robert in the west, are brothers.

WOULD TIGHTEN SCREWS ON HUNS

London, March 24.—The promulgation of a new alliance doctrine against Germany is demanded by Carlton Hildroy Bellairs, Unionist M.P. for Maidstone, in a resolution laid on the table of the House of Commons for debate next week. The resolution provides that "in view of the murders and the shocking violations of international law in the high seas by the German government, this house, recognizing that Germany has placed herself in the position of an outlaw, declares that the time has come to enforce the new European doctrine that no supplies may come out of or go into Germany or her allies; that prize court procedure was devised to meet conditions of civilized warfare which do not exist, and that consequently supplies for neutral European countries must now be prohibited; and that the British cessation of their trade with Germany."

MORE BRAVE ST. JOHN BOYS HOME FROM WAR

To be wounded in three places by shrapnel and left on the battlefield for twenty-four hours was the experience of George Tilley, experimenter, who arrived in the city this morning en route to his home in Oliville, Queens county. He is at present visiting his aunt, Mrs. Shanks, 27 Middle street, West St. John.

Private Tilley took part in the third battle of Ypres and in that battle sustained three wounds, one in the shoulder, another in the leg and one in the arm. Although just able to limp along, he is as happy as can be.

In speaking of the conditions at the front, he said he was of the opinion that the Allies on the western front now have the upper hand of the Germans, but from what he could see it would take some fighting yet before the Allies could reach the German line.

The highest terms of the hospital in France and England and did not neglect to mention the manner in which the Canadian nurses cared for the Canadian boys at the front. Private Tilley will be unable to return to the front again as it will be some time before he will recuperate. He will leave for his home in Oliville on Monday evening.

Private E. S. Adams, of 96 Queen street, arrived home this morning on a six month's leave of absence to recuperate from wounds sustained during the fighting at Ypres, and again on Sept. 28 he sustained a bullet wound in the back while fighting at the Somme. At the latter engagement the Canadians had succeeded in driving the Germans from the line but he was shot down.

Private Adams said the original boy of the 28th battalion think that Lieut. McArthur was of sufficient quantity for the front, and one of the bravest men that ever put foot in a trench. He purchased a lot of their own officers and would follow them anywhere.

U. S. MUST FACE BIG PROBLEMS IN EVENT OF WAR, SAYS GERARD

New York, March 24.—James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, who was the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at a reception and luncheon; said that, in the event of war, this country faced the question of international neutrality or leaving them free to blow up bridges and do other damage. He described the rigid policy of sequestration which Germany had put into effect against the property and business of firms owned or controlled by enemies of Germany. Mr. Gerard again urged compulsory military service for this country, asserting that it was the foundation of the industrial efficiency of Germany in peace.

Not Least Will Be Treatment of Alien Enemy Population in the States

If we should unfortunately become involved in this war, we will immediately be faced by a series of extraordinary problems. When Germany went to war, they made their declaration of a moratorium, that is to say, there was no holding up of payments that were due, but they did take a number of other measures necessary in a country going to war.

St. John's, Nfld., March 24.—Acting Secretary of Agriculture A. J. Ball said today that German submarines might make it impossible to import flour and other foodstuffs in sufficient quantity for the needs of Newfoundland this year. Appeal was made to the fishermen to give their spare time to farming. Bishop Michael Finlan, of St. George's, in a pastoral letter called attention to the situation, saying: "We must get ready for hard times, at present probably not far distant. We should endeavor to work the land and increase the colonial food supply. The seriousness of the situation will be seen should the submarines come to our coast next summer, and cut us off from the continent. This is not at all unlikely."

SOLE SOLDIER HONORED

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Frederick Harvey, 48 Britain street, on Thursday evening, at a function in honor of James S. Osbourne, late of the 18th battalion of Montreal, who has recently returned from the front, wounded. He has seen much service on the western front. A large number of friends of the gallant soldier gathered to extend to him a warm greeting. During the course of the evening a signet ring, accompanied by an address expressing the appreciation of those present was presented to him. In a short speech Mr. Osbourne expressed his deep appreciation of the kindness expressed by his friends.

SOCIAL SERVICE

The St. John Board of Health is considering the closing of several houses which are pronounced unfit for human habitation. The board has been compelled to make a number of examples in this way, and in so doing it performs a public service.

Two things are therefore necessary. There is need of more tenable houses at a low rental, but also of a campaign to encourage cleanliness and care on the part of many tenants.

How can the problem be solved? Clearly by what is termed community centre work.

Provide a community centre in the poorest section of the city, employ a trained community worker, backed by all the churches represented in the neighborhood, and by all the clean-living people in that neighborhood, and several things will happen.

In the first place, every family would be linked up with the church to which it professed to belong.

In the second place, all the children of school age would be properly clothed and sent to school.

In the third place, means would be provided at the community centre for mothers to get together and learn much from each other and from the trained worker and volunteer workers about better housekeeping, care of children, and that invaluable virtue of thrift.

Along with the appeal from Washington the head of the civil service commission in Bangor received a letter which said:

"It is proposed to list mechanics not already working on government contracts, who would be willing to accept government employment at once, and also those who would not accept immediate employment but who would accept in case the country urgently needed their services. You are asked to interview the heads of labor, fraternal or other organizations in Bangor with a view to having them announce to their members the commission's intention and endeavor to secure their co-operation. You should stress in interest individual workmen in the work."

It will be seen that our neighbors to the south are not wasting time. Ottawa might well take a hint from Washington. If similar action had been taken in Canada when the war began, and followed up by other measures as the need became apparent, this country would long since have been thoroughly organized on a war basis.

Last night's despatches from Washington indicate that the United States will declare war on Germany when Congress meets on April 2nd, and that there will be no half-hearted participation in the great struggle.

The late Hon. A. R. McClellan left a large portion of his wealth to be used by the executors for religious, charitable, educational and sanitary purposes.

The former lieutenant-governor was in his life a good man, and at his death he left that which will cause him to be remembered with still more grateful kindness. Examples of that sort are not too frequent, and are therefore the more worthy of comment.

The French army under General Nivelle gained additional ground yesterday, and it is not yet certain that the enemy will not be forced back from the Hindenburg line and compelled to abandon considerably more territory before he is able to check the Allied advance.

The general tenor of the war news at the end of an exciting week is very encouraging from the standpoint of the Allies, who have made substantial gains on the western front and in Mesopotamia.

LOOKING TO LIEUT.-GOV. WOOD

The lieutenant-governor of a province could not go on week after week recognizing as his advisers men who had been rejected by the people without after a reasonable period laying himself open to the charge of weakness or of partisanship.

Lieut.-Gov. Wood has been more than patient with the Murray government. Its members should have resigned not later than two weeks ago. There was nothing to prevent their resignation, unless it was that they desired to cover up transactions or go on and transact business which ought to be left to the new government.

It was generally assumed that the government would resign this week. It has not done so. The people of the province are naturally asking for an explanation. The press opposing the government remained silent for a longer period than was really justified, partly out of consideration for the lieutenant-governor and partly because their discussion of the subject would be seized upon by the government press as evidence of undue eagerness to seize the reins of power.

The Liberals don't seem to be in as great a hurry for the Murray government's resignation as they were. Is it that the difficulty of forming a government that will command the support of all the Liberal members elect is growing greater instead of easier?

Just as soon as the Murray government resigns, the ability of the opposition to form a new government will be demonstrated. In the meantime, the people of the province who have demanded a change at Fredericton are looking to Lieut.-Gov. Wood. If the defeated and discredited cabinet will not resign, the course of the lieutenant-governor, who is in this affair the guardian of the rights of the people, is perfectly clear. And there should be no further delay.

AN AMERICAN EXAMPLE

Although the United States is not yet at war, no time is being lost in getting ready. A national service programme is already in operation. The Bangor Commercial says:

"Anticipating that war will probably be existing between the United States and Germany in the next few weeks, the government has made an appeal to the machinists and skilled laborers of Bangor through the local civil service commission, to accept positions in navy yards and arsenals at once as a patriotic move. Just now skilled mechanics are needed more than soldiers and sailors. Those who can not or will not take employment in time of peace are asked to fill out cards giving their qualifications and other details to be forwarded to Washington, for use in time of war to be declared. The cards contain spaces for trade name, citizen of United States and other questions."

"Are you a citizen of the United States?" "Would you accept employment at a navy yard?" "Would you accept employment at an arsenal?" "What is the lowest wage you would accept?" "If offered, could you accept employment immediately?" "If you can not now, would you in case of urgent government need, accept employment?"

Along with the appeal from Washington the head of the civil service commission in Bangor received a letter which said:

"It is proposed to list mechanics not already working on government contracts, who would be willing to accept government employment at once, and also those who would not accept immediate employment but who would accept in case the country urgently needed their services. You are asked to interview the heads of labor, fraternal or other organizations in Bangor with a view to having them announce to their members the commission's intention and endeavor to secure their co-operation. You should stress in interest individual workmen in the work."

It will be seen that our neighbors to the south are not wasting time. Ottawa might well take a hint from Washington. If similar action had been taken in Canada when the war began, and followed up by other measures as the need became apparent, this country would long since have been thoroughly organized on a war basis.

How City and Country May Work Together For Common Cause

Principal Cumming Suggests a Practical Form of Co-operation Whereby the City Man Will Furnish the Farmers With Fertilizers and Receive Vegetables in Return; Both Helping to Win the War

(Halifax Chronicle.) "I never met so large a proportion of men interested in farm and garden production as have during the past month," said Principal Cumming yesterday, in reply to a question from a representative of the Morning Chronicle. "It is particularly noticeable," he added, "in the case of city men, some of whom are planning to establish gardens, others of whom have plans for the cultivation of common and unused property. And still others of whom have still other schemes."

Of Mutual Advantage. An incidental advantage which would accrue from this scheme was that it would bring individuals city men in touch with individual farmers and so would help in a measure to solve marketing problems. Also in so far as it would bring the city man into touch with the farmer it would give him an interest in and appreciation of the farmer's work which he had not heretofore possessed.

Provided the Fertilizer. "My scheme," continued the principal, "is that city men send to their farmer relatives or friends, or farmers with whom they can be brought in touch, a half ton or a ton or more fertilizer and that an agreement be drawn up in which the farmer agrees to add this amount of fertilizer to the amount which he had originally planned to use."

SAYS THEY SHOULD THANK GOD THAT ENGLAND PROTECTS THEM FROM HUNS. Caspar Whitney Declares This of Americans, Refuting Charges Against Britain Appearing in United States Papers

A well merited rebuke to the pro-German tendencies of the New York Evening Post and its school and a tribute to British magnanimity, says the following letter published in New York papers by Caspar Whitney. "May I beg your indulgence and a small bit of your space for a protest against an open disregard of well-settled respectability—as to the English treatment of Germans in England? In its February 8 issue the Evening Post said editorially: "We do not wish to see repeated here those disgraceful scenes enacted in England at the outbreak of the war when German men, women and children, who had nothing to do with the causes of the war, were turned into the streets to starve, their shops raided by mobs and their property stolen and destroyed."

FOR STATE CONSTABULARY IN MAINE

Hugo Clark, a Bangor attorney, appeared before the legal committee of the Maine legislature this week in favor of an act drawn by himself and presented by Representative Morrison of Fort Smith, providing for a state constabulary.

ISN'T THIS TRUE?

When you "feel mean" - dull, tired, nervous, bad digestion, no appetite - Don't you find out, afterwards, that your bowels were not acting freely and naturally? Due, of course, to a liver gone on a strike. Take two or three pills - once. After that, only one, until you're all right.

Some of the new Spring Suits stand right out in the foreground of the public. They are for young men not averse to being seen when present.

In Overcoats, here's some lively slip-ons and pinch-backs that combine all you want of style and comfort.

Finished to your measure at short notice.

ECONOMICAL POWER

POWER—Power is the very life of your car. It is the energy that makes the car leap forward in the instant get-away. The energy that carries you swiftly and smoothly on high speed without effort. It is the energy that takes you over the hills, through the deep sands, through the snow-drifts of winter.

POWER makes your car easy to drive on the Road or in Traffic. Power makes you forget the mechanics of your car. It meets the emergencies of travel and traffic without noticeable effort, without faltering. That is the way Studebaker has made Studebaker cars the most powerful cars on the market in ratio to weight.

They have made them powerful by perfecting design—four years Studebaker Engineers have concentrated their skill improving, refining and perfecting Studebaker motor designs, until today Studebaker is the most powerful car on the market, in ratio to size or cost.

At the same time it is economically powerful. It gives you great power with very reasonable gasoline consumption.

MECKLENBURG ST. BREAK WAS CAUSED BY ELECTROLYSIS

First Case on East Side of Harbor
in Three Years; After All Night
Session Water Works Department
Repairs Break

A break in a four inch water main was discovered in Mecklenburg street last night, between Wentworth and Pitt streets. The water works department found that the cause of the break was electrolysis. The leak was ferreted out and found beneath the street car track. The action of the electricity upon the pipe had caused a chemical decomposition which finally had broken the pipe. The water works department worked all night on the job and daylight found the break repaired.

Commissioner Wigmore said to Times reporter this morning that this was the first case of the kind that the department had discovered on the east side of the harbor in three years, but that similar difficulties had been experienced on the west side of the harbor not long ago.

Three boilers were out this morning, thawing out the catch basins. Commissioner Wigmore announced today that Little River reservoir had been opened to anglers, under the recent regulations announced, on May first.

MANY ST. JOHN PEOPLE PASS THE FIRST AID TEST

High Marks Made in C. P. R.
Examinations; Same of the Candidates Make The Possible

During the winter months, the C. P. R. employees of the city proper and West St. John have been instructed in first aid by R. G. Noble of Montreal. Mr. Noble has apparently given all his time to this valuable work. Before coming to Canada he was one of the first examinations and also in house nursing.

Since coming to Canada from England he has become the proud possessor of four medals for competition work, and is also the possessor, along with the other members of the Angus Shipley team of the Shaughnessy cup, Eastern Lines shield, and the Johnston cup, all of the C. P. R. besides the Dominion Bridge cup.

The C. P. R. employees are fortunate in having so capable an instructor. Last week the ladies of the city proper presented to Mr. Noble a book entitled "The Hygiene of a Red Cross Man," as a token of their esteem and friendship.

Although Mr. Noble came to St. John a stranger he is now leaving a host of friends who wish him every success in his hearty work. Dr. F. L. BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES
During the week reports to J. B. Jones, registrar, showed five marriages and the birth of twelve girls and ten boys.

INFORMATION WANTED
Roy A. Davidson, Danish vice-consul, has received a communication from St. Paul, Minnesota, asking for some information about Christopher or Charles Larsen, a Dane, who is said to have sailed from here in August, 1916, on the steamer Mioana, and who has never been heard of since.

PLAN WORKING WELL
Magistrate Ritchie is meeting with success in his new plan of dealing with truants. He has inaugurated the system of having the truants brought before him for truancy, report to him on every Saturday with signed certificates to the effect that they have been attending school since their appearance before him for non-attendance. When such time arrives as the magister thinks the boy or boys will attend without reporting to him, he releases them from the obligation. Several have been reporting regularly in the last few weeks on each Saturday morning.

COUNTRY MARKET
Prices in the local market this morning show rather an increase than a falling off. There was a poor market, due probably to the storm. Beef was reported scarce and higher, the price ranging from fifteen to thirty cents a pound. Eggs have not altered in price within the last few days, and are selling today for forty cents. Butter is forty-five to fifty. Other prices are: Pork, twenty-five to thirty cents a pound; chicken, forty-five cents; four; forty cents; turkey, forty-five cents; lamb, twenty-two to twenty-eight, and veal, fourteen to twenty-five cents.

A CLEVER PIECE OF WORK

How St. Peter's Young Ladies
Overcame Difficulty in Presenting Drama

A clever demonstration of pantomime was given during the last two nights in St. Peter's hall, when a four-act melodrama, "The Chambermaid's Luck," was presented under the auspices of St. Peter's Y.M.C.A.

Miss Emma Conlogue, who had the leading feminine role recently contracted a severe case of tonsillitis which necessitated the postponement of the drama for a few days. Although not fully recovered on Thursday she volunteered to go on with her part, but on Thursday morning she was not able to speak above a whisper and it was feared that a further postponement would be necessary, hoping that she would be better in time for the performance no change was made in the arrangement and that afternoon she drove to the hall. Her voice was so weak, however, that she could not make herself heard across the stage and the director, Rev. Peter Costello, C. S. R., was in a dilemma.

Miss Minnie Carlyn volunteered to read the part if Miss Conlogue could go through with the action accompanying the lines. This was tried and proved a distinct success. That evening hundreds witnessed the play and only those in the front of the hall realized that someone else was speaking the lines for Miss Conlogue. The plan was carried out again last evening and proved a success.

If Miss Conlogue's demonstration was marvellous so also was Miss Carlyn's for her phrasing and her expression in the emotional scenes were so good and all was so well timed that the words seemed to come from the lips of the leading lady. The success or failure of the production hung on the result of this plan and the marked success attained speaks well for the ability of both young ladies.

SPARROWS WIN FOUR

The Sparrows, by taking four points from the Eagles last night in the Y. M. C. L. bowling league are now only a few points behind the Owls, the leaders. Each team has two games to play. Thus the race is becoming decidedly interesting. The scores last night were:

BRIGADIER-GENERAL M'CLEAN BUYS THE ALMON PROPERTY

The interesting announcement is made that Allison and Thomas have completed the sale of the old L. J. Almon property, known as The Grove, at Robitash. This fine property is a typical English estate, of woodland and lawn covering some five or six acres, with a stone frontage on the Kennebecasis and lying between the Gondola Point road and Robitash station road. There is a fine old stone house in English style covered with creeping vines. The house contains a fine library and billiard room, and there is an ell with servants' quarters, besides barns and garage. It is understood that the purchaser of the property is Brigadier-General McLean.

Arthur Hawkes, in Toronto Star (Weekly)
A Shropshire skin-flint, who believed in getting eternal insurance at wholesale rates, used to say that no minister of the gospel ought to receive more than twenty-eight shillings a week if he claimed to be in the apostolic succession. He was thinking more of his own pocket—he was a circuit steward—than of the apostolic succession. He once saw a preacher wearing a gold ring and was ashamed. He believed that ministers of the sincere milk of the word should eat what was set before them and ask no question. The Social Service Twins are of the same alimentary persuasion—which perhaps explains why, when last I saw them, they were making the best of a couple of bowls of good, milky oyster soup. It was a refreshing example of how brotherly love may continue.

Widows With Children Must Be Aided; State's Duty Is To Provide Pensions
Careful Observer and Student of Social Conditions in Toronto Gives Result of His Study—Examples Illustrate the Need

(By Rev. Peter Bryce in Toronto Star.)
In the past five years the discussion of state "allowances" to widows with children, has occupied much time in the deliberations of governments and social service journals. It is also acknowledged that private charitable organizations are unequal to the task of providing such adequate assistance.
Children on the Streets.
As now in medicine, so in social service, the conception is prevention. We know certain preventive measures will conserve the health of the nation; we are assured certain social reforms will conserve the moral strength of the nation. Departments of health, juvenile care, and social organizations are agreed that the widow with little children and no income must constitute the most pitiable case of the state. If the mother is away from home all day she cannot give the necessary care to the person of the child, and she cannot cook the nutritious food the child should receive. Prepared meals, bread and jam, hastily prepared meals have inevitable results in poorly nourished bodies. Malnutrition is a contributory cause of disease. If the mother is the bread-winner the older children are exposed to danger in the lack of parental control. They are exposed to peculiar temptations by unlimited freedom of action in the afternoon leading almost certainly to the same course in the evening. They are constantly on the street, because they practically have no home. The records of the juvenile courts in any city will reveal a large percentage of widows' children among the delinquents. In the Chicago Juvenile Court 22 per cent of the boys and 26 per cent of the girls are children of widows. In Massachusetts the commission on the white slave trade showed that 29 per cent of unfortunate girls were the children of widows. Adequate juvenile life is the best preventive for juvenile delinquents.
The charitable organizations and the churches have realized for years the need of a comprehensive measure in relation to the widow and her children. They know well the over-burdened widow, the pathetic and heroic struggle with often the end ending. They know the children, deprived of father, and through economic exigency, practically bereft of mother's care as well. They know the home that is not a home; they have seen the children of widows committed to institutions because of poverty; and they know the hardships involved in the whole situation. Charitable organizations cannot sufficiently provide for the widow, and even if they could it should not be permitted, for the fatherless child of the poor widow is a minor ward of the state, and the state should say to the widow: "Bring up this child for me and I will pay thee thy wages." The return the widow would make to the state would be in the terms of useful and capable manhood and womanhood. We have spent considerable money on the Creche or day nursery and in institutions for children. The Creche, although well conducted and with the highest motives, is a doubtful expedient, and although in some cases it undoubtedly serves a good purpose, in the high and sacred interests of childhood, it should only be used for extreme cases and as a temporary measure. The widow should not be obliged to take her little ones there. The money spent on the Creche, if wisely administered in allowances for widows, would help very considerably in enabling the state to keep them at home with the children. The United Jewish Charities of Kansas City close their day nursery and inaugurate a system of pensions to widows, which they believe to be a much better plan of helping them.
Institute Life Has Drawbacks.

FORFEITURE OF VEHICLES CARRYING LIQUOR FOR ILLEGAL SALE

Quimby of Turner, president of the Maine Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Wilbur C. Oliver of Bath, sheriff of Sagadahoc county, and Representative H. E. JAPANESE PAPERS TAKE THINGS EASY

Go To Press Whenever The Forms Are Filled

The "Scoop" Unknowns There—Everybody Goes to Sleep on the Nichi-Nichi in Tokyo When They Get First Edition Cut

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP YOU SHOULD USE MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Sleeplessness is caused by the nervous system becoming deranged. Perhaps too much worry has gotten on your nerves, perhaps you have overworked yourself, or have been excessive in your use of tobacco, but whatever the cause, the nervous system must be built up again before restful sleep can be assured.

telegraph editor. Fortunately he was awake. "The first edition has gone to press, so practically every one has gone to sleep," he said to me, "but we will take a look around." And what he said was true. We went to the editorial sanctum, one after another, and when we didn't nearly stumble over an editor asleep on the floor, we found him stretched out asleep on his desk.

"Scoop" Unknown in Japan

"What is known as a 'scoop' in America does not exist in Japan. If one newspaper has a particularly choice item of news, it communicates it to other papers. What is the use of being secret? After all, it is the editorial opinion that counts, but even in this there is an exchange of 'courtesy,' because it is a common thing for one paper to remark that the other 'commented editorially' as follows yesterday.

"The Nichi-Nichi employs about one hundred reporters, which may mean more to the layman when he hears that a principal morning paper in a large American city employs twelve or fifteen. The Japanese reporter is not expected to write columns of news each day, no matter what comes to his attention. Frequently a day's work consists of a little item of 200 words, which he polishes to literary perfection before passing it on to the editor.

"The most interesting department of the entire plant, however, was the composing room. Great cases of type of all sizes extend the whole length of the man-moth room. As the Chinese and Japanese characters used in a printing office run into the tens of thousands, the life of the compositor must be a continual search for the letter he desires to use. The compositors were deafening around the sides of the room hunting for these characters, and all singing at the top of their voices, which apparently caused them to forget the terrors of their work. There seemed to be hundreds of them, and the din was deafening.

"After the proof is finally corrected, the forms are made up, quite as they are in an American newspaper office, and sent down to the cylinder presses. The Nichi-Nichi has a daily circulation of 250,000 copies. Four years ago it had but 40,000. One Tokyo paper has gained 100,000 in circulation since the outbreak of the European war. Every one wants the war news and devours it eagerly, because it is supposed to reflect all manner of possibilities for Japan in the years to come.

The Mikado had offered several prizes from his own purse for poems about the flowers of May. Strictly speaking, this is not what an American editor would call 'news,' but it is what the people want, and in supplying that commodity the editor is fulfilling a part of his mission. Newspapers may be young in Japan, but literature and culture are ancient; the newspaper merely gives wide circulation to what was formerly confined to the wealthy, military or noble classes.

"One of the latest 'stunts' of the Nichi-Nichi is to employ the lady journalist, which is considered a remarkable innovation in a country where woman is emerging more and more from the seclusion of her home. "Is the lady reporter's work satisfactory?" I asked the editor. "Yes, in a way, but she is not satisfied with writing personals. I find that she wants to crawl into the man's rights and equal suffrage. We have to be pretty careful on that sort of thing in Japan, you understand, and keep a pretty close watch on what she writes, because it is likely to have a meaning that she does not wholly understand."

WHY HE ENTHUSIAST

In regard to one of his famous public librarians, Andrew Carnegie delights in telling the following story: "A tourist who was visiting a certain country town stopped in front of a handsome building and asked an old man who was leaning against the railings what it was. "This is the public library, sir," he replied. "I am glad to see you appreciate it," said the tourist, surprised at the old fellow's enthusiasm. "But you don't look like a man of literary tastes." "Oh, no, sir," retorted the other puffing contentedly in his pipe, "I don't use the library, but my old woman gets the job of cleaning it out."

SAYS GERMAN HYPHENS WOULD SUPPORT U. S.

Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, former minister of militia of Canada, speaking at a patriotic dinner of the Boston chamber of commerce on Tuesday night, expressed the belief that 99 per cent of the German-Americans in that country would support a declaration of war against their fatherland. "If need be," he thought, "they would die for the great cause of human liberty under the colors of the United States."

"It is to the honor of the British fleet," the former minister of militia asserted, "that the Star Spangled Banner flies over your land tonight."

"This war," he said, "was brought on that 'peace societies' of Germany and Austria in many cases were supported by German gold."

After referring to the overthrow of the Russian government, Gen. Hughes said that the autocracies of Germany and Austria must be abolished to insure the future peace of the world.

"The soul of America speaks today, where two years ago discordant voices were heard," said President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown University. "There is such a thing as national locomotor ataxia, when one section of the country or group of individuals wants to go one way and wants to act differently and others do not wish to move at all," he said.

"If such a condition has obtained it has now become," he continued. "We should say to any section of the country, 'We want either your allegiance or your departure.' There should be absolute subordination, not only of individuals, but of states to national interests. It ought to be impossible for any state, whether California or Massachusetts, to nullify a treaty made by congress."

Martin H. Glynn, former governor of New York, predicted of the German population of the country "that this grand army of men from across the seas will fight for the soil which they have hallowed with their homes, though they cherish the memory of the spot from which they sprang. 'Armed neutrality,' he said, "is a good American doctrine."

"We do not know who first initiated it and we don't care," but Woodrow Wilson is going to enforce it first, last and all the time."

The Canadian Trade Commissioner in Russia has written an interesting report to the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa, drawing attention to the prospective openings for mill equipment and supplies for Canadian manufacturers in the northern districts of Russia.

forests of commercial timber, exploitation of which has become now an economic necessity dictated by the need of improving the balance of trade in Russia's favor and of raising the value of the rouble.

"The Domains Ministry estimates the possibility of obtaining an annual cut of twenty million logs, or approximately one million standards of sawn goods. It seems doubtful whether the present means of production in the regions in question are capable of dealing immediately with so large an annual cut.

CANADIAN HOLDS SPEECH RECORD Amor de Cosmos Spoke for 26 Hours Against Bill in B. C. Legislature, and Killed It

APPROPOS OF THE RECENT FILLIBUSTER IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE, WHICH KILLED PRESIDENT WILSON'S ARMED NEUTRALITY BILL FOR THE TIME BEING, IT IS INTERESTING TO RECALL THAT THE LONGEST SPEECH ON RECORD IS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN MADE BY AMOR DE COSMOS IN THE LEGISLATURE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, WHEN A MEASURE WAS PENDING THE PASSING OF WHICH WOULD TAKE FROM MANY SETTLERS THEIR LAND.

De Cosmos was in a hopeless minority. The job had been held back until the eve of the close of the session. Unless legislation was taken before noon on a given day, the act of confirmation would fall.

De Cosmos got the floor about 10 a.m., and began his speech against the bill. His friends carp little, for they supposed that by 1 or 2 o'clock he would be through and the bill could be put on its passage. One o'clock came and De Cosmos was speaking still—had not more than entered upon his subject; 2 o'clock he was saying: "In the second place." Three o'clock he produced a fearful bundle of evidence, and insisted on reading it. The majority began to have a suspicion of the truth—he was to speak till next noon and "kill the bill."

For a while they made merry over it, but as it came on to dusk they began to get alarmed. They tried interruptions, but soon abandoned them, because each afforded him a chance to digress and gain time. They tried to shout him down, but that gave a breath of new space, and finally they settled down to watch the combat between strength of will and weakness of body. They gave no mercy, no adjournment for dinner, no chance to do more than wet his lips with water, no wandering from his subject.

Twilight darkened, the gas was lit, members slipped out to dinners in relays and returned to sleep in squads, but De Cosmos went on. The Speaker, to whom he was addressing himself, was alternately dozing, snoring, and trying to look wide awake. Day dawned and the majority went out in squads to wash and breakfast, and the speaker still held on.

It cannot be said it was a very logical, eloquent or sustained speech; there were digressions, repetitions also. But still the speaker kept on, and at last noon came to a baffled majority, livid with rage and impotence, and a single man, who was triumphant, though his voice had sunk to a husky whisper, his eyes were almost shut and were bleared and bloodshot, his legs tottered under him, his baked lips were cracked and flaked with blood. De Cosmos had spoken twenty-six hours and saved the settlers their lands.

One of the most open-handed men is the Rev. Lord William Gascoyne-Cecil, the new bishop of Exeter. Recently a well-known statesman was dining with him at his place at Hatfield, and happened to admire some beautiful candlesticks on the table.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS

To the Halifax Daily Recorder—

Thinking that your readers would be interested in the subject of medical inspection of the city schools, I take the liberty of writing you in regard to the matter.

When we remember that two-thirds of the population of a civilized country are diseased through the medium of the public schools, it will be seen how vastly important is the medical oversight over the thousands of children in attendance.

And let no one for a moment delude himself into the belief that it is only the children of the poorest and least educated classes who need a special official to point out these defects and urge the importance of treatment.

MORE GAINS BY ALLIES ON WESTERN FRONT

Paris, March 23.—The French forces operating to the north-east of the St. Quentin Canal have pushed back the Germans between one and a quarter and two and one-half miles and also have gained additional ground on the heights northeast of Tergnier, overlooking the Oise Valley, according to the French official communication issued tonight. Two German attacks near Thil, northwest of Rheims, were repulsed.

The communication says: London, March 23.—Encounters between British patrols and German detachments have occurred along the general line from Beaumont to Etrevillers, and the report indicates that the line German counter-attacks, the statement adds, were driven off and the British positions were maintained. British troops made further progress in the region of Croisilles and Escourt, southeast of Arras.

Washington, March 23.—The American government has decided that steps to meet the situation with Germany shall include preparation for effective and aggressive warfare, in addition to measures for the protection of shipping.

So far, it was learned, after today's cabinet meeting, there has been no decision as to whether the sending of a military force to Europe should be proposed, but the army, as well as the navy and the industrial resources of the nation, are to be made ready for any demand that may be made upon them.

Amsterdam, March 23, via London.—The bread rationing in Germany will be discontinued one-fourth, beginning April 15, owing to the scarcity of wheat, according to a despatch from Berlin in the West Zettung of Bremen. The potato ration will be continued at five pounds weekly, and the meat ration will be increased by 250 grams weekly.

It is announced, adds the despatch, that the curtailment in the use of wheat is necessary to insure the present stocks lasting until the next harvest.

ROADS SPRING INTO BEING IN A NIGHT

Forward Movement of British Brings Into Play All Machinery of Warfare—A Grim Scene

A correspondent at British headquarters writes on March 17:—

The forward movement of the British all the machinery of motion in warfare. Roads seem to spring up overnight in most unexpected places. Railways have been advanced up to the front, and the roads are a complete network of modern war, with a completeness which even includes the most modern sign posts bearing the names of French villages which exist now only as geographical remnants. It is also a revelation of a new practical side of modern war to see a six-inch water main stretching itself into territory but recently occupied by the Germans.

Quick Road Building.

Road building has called into play all the ingenuity of the British war workers, but of real pioneers from the frontiers and the interior of France, Africa, Road material is scarce in the staid wilderness of Flanders, but the refuse of battle often serves the purpose during the first hours of a new forward move.

In the meantime the British troops are reveling in the joy of occupying high ground. They are now on the Somme crest, and Bapaume and the country east lie on a slope that gradually declines all the way to the French border.

One can but marvel at the fortitude and endurance which enabled men to "stick it" in the muddy depths of the valleys, from which they have now emerged. Even the most shallow trenches were impossible places in the past, but the men dig themselves in at outposts which marked the landside like so many graves. The men of the front line are still on the march, but they are now on the march, but they are now on the march.

NOVA SCOTIA SANATORIUM

In the Nova Scotia legislature this week Hon. E. H. Armstrong tabled the annual report of the provincial sanatorium. The report shows that during the year 248 patients applied for admittance, of which number 180 were accepted. At the end of the year there were some 47 patients on the waiting list, and the report laments the lack of accommodation in the province for the treatment of tuberculosis, there being, it says, 5,000 living cases of the disease in the province. The report says that it is gratifying to note that since Dr. W. H. Hattie came in charge of the department of health, there has been a steady decline in the mortality rate from the pulmonary form of the disease.

Of the ninety-two patients discharged during the year one had his disease arrested, 41 had their disease apparently arrested, four were found to be not tubercular. This, the report says, compares favorably with the sanatorium's work of other years.

During the year the sanatorium was able to be touched with 99 per cent. of discharged cases, only 1 per cent. being unaccounted for. The ultimate results at the sanatorium, compare most favorably with those of other institutions in America. Since the beginning of the war 92 of the sanatorium's ex-patients have gone to the front.

Hon. Mr. Armstrong moved the second reading of the bill to amend the act respecting unworked mining areas and the second reading of the bill to amend the workers' compensation act. In this latter, he said, there were some very important amendments which, when the bill went to committee, could there be explained and discussed.

Tit for Tat.

The great specialist appreciated his prospective patient with gladness. "You must take a trip to a warmer climate for your health," he advised. "Ten dollars, consultation fee, please." "You can take a trip to a still warmer climate for your money," came the answer as the man walked out.

A COWBOY BARONET

A novelist in search of a hero of the "wild and woolly west" might do worse than cast an eye over the career of Sir Gentile Cave-Browne-Cave, famous cowboy baronet, who is soon to be married to a Salvation lass.

Sir Gentile, during his fortynine years, has led a life of varied adventure, his latest role being that of a Salvation Army officer. Big, handsome, frank, brave, and an incorrigible rover, he is just the type of sturdy Englishman whom the average lady-novelist loves to delineate.

He has seen active service in the navy and the British and American armies. He fought in the Boer rebellion, the second Burma War, and the Spanish-American War, has been frozen in for four months in an Arctic expedition, and has punched cows in five American states. He was "Kid Cave of Half-Circle Ranch" breaking in wild horses at 12 each, when his father died and the news was brought to him that he was the successor to the title.

SIR MAX AITKEN AND HIS PEERAGE

(Toronto News Weekly)

The English weeklies which indulge in interesting personae gossip about statesmen are having a lot to say about Max Aitken, ex-Montrealer, recently raised to the peerage as Lord Beaverbrook. The London Outlook says: Max Aitken made his money in Canada, where his last years were cultivated by a dispute about some business and ended up in a row with the late Sir Sandford Fleming, one of the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. He came to England shortly before 1910 in which year he was elected member for Ashton-under-Lyne, thus redeeming a seat for his party.

Soon afterwards the leadership fell into temporary abeyance by reason of the resignation of Mr. Balfour. It was a question whether his successor should be Walter Long or Austen Chamberlain. Each had numerous supporters, who were agreed only upon one point—namely, that the world would probably cease going round on its axis if they should ever be a direct vote to decide the leadership of the Unionist party. Max Aitken, who is as quick-witted as he is thick-skinned, knew better. But he saw his chance. A.M.I. it was Aitken and another member of parliament (whom we won't name), who arranged that, Bonar Law should be put forward as a compromise candidate at the party meeting. Since that auspicious evening Aitken has rightfully been regarded as the Bonar Law Expert.

A King-Maker

In the last number of Truth "A Truthful Tory" tells the following tale:—"If Messrs. McKenna, Samuel and Russell had only taken the precaution of looking over the hand held by the curious person, mis-called by the papers 'Max Aitken' before advising their chief, Mr. Asquith might have won the rubber. It pleases the Times to think that the king-maker and the coup d'etat. In reality Lord Northcliffe had no more to do with the business than the king-maker, and it is interesting to know that a gentleman who arrived in this country from Canada some six years ago, who has within the last few weeks been summoned to take his seat among the barons of England under the title of Lord Beaverbrook, is the man who has done it. This is interesting, and in the main it is correct. But it is quite inaccurate in giving the impression that either the ideas of the coup originated in Aitken's fertile brain or that the mine was laid by his delicate hand. Aitken had nothing to do with the origin of the plan. But at a certain stage of the proceedings, when the king-maker was about to sign the deed, it was thought that Aitken might be of some use. He did not, but he was there, and he had a good deal more to do with the matter.

Ridiculed in the House

Today Max Aitken would confer a public favor if he would announce the names of the peers who have consented to stand his sponsors in the House of Lords. We may never definitely know the names of the peers who have consented to stand his sponsors in the House of Lords. We may never definitely know the names of the peers who have consented to stand his sponsors in the House of Lords.

SHIRKING ITS DUTY

(Toronto Globe)

The Dominion government proposes to shirk the enforcement of the militia act by an attempt to raise the active militia to a strength of 50,000 for home defence. This is not a plan of policy; it is a clumsy expedient, a makeshift device, a timid evasion of duty.

The government has been compelled by public opinion to make a move of some kind, and stumbles along in the line of least resistance instead of courageously following the path marked out by the requirements of the situation.

The device is intended to shelve the problem, not to solve it. It resembles the familiar shift of appointing a royal commission to postpone a decision on some pressing question. Even if the assumption that 50,000 men will enlist for home defence in preference to answering the call for overseas service be justified by results, there are two objections. There will be over-retraining, and there will be no method of impressing upon "slackers" a sense of the dire necessity of duty, and of their responsibility for the defence of their country.

The partial application of the militia act would release the Canadians now

A short time ago I became subject to violent coughing fits at night and directly after rising in the morning. ### GERMANS IN RUSSIA HINDERED COUNTRY

Prof. Mavor Tells of Conditions Which Affected the Progress of War

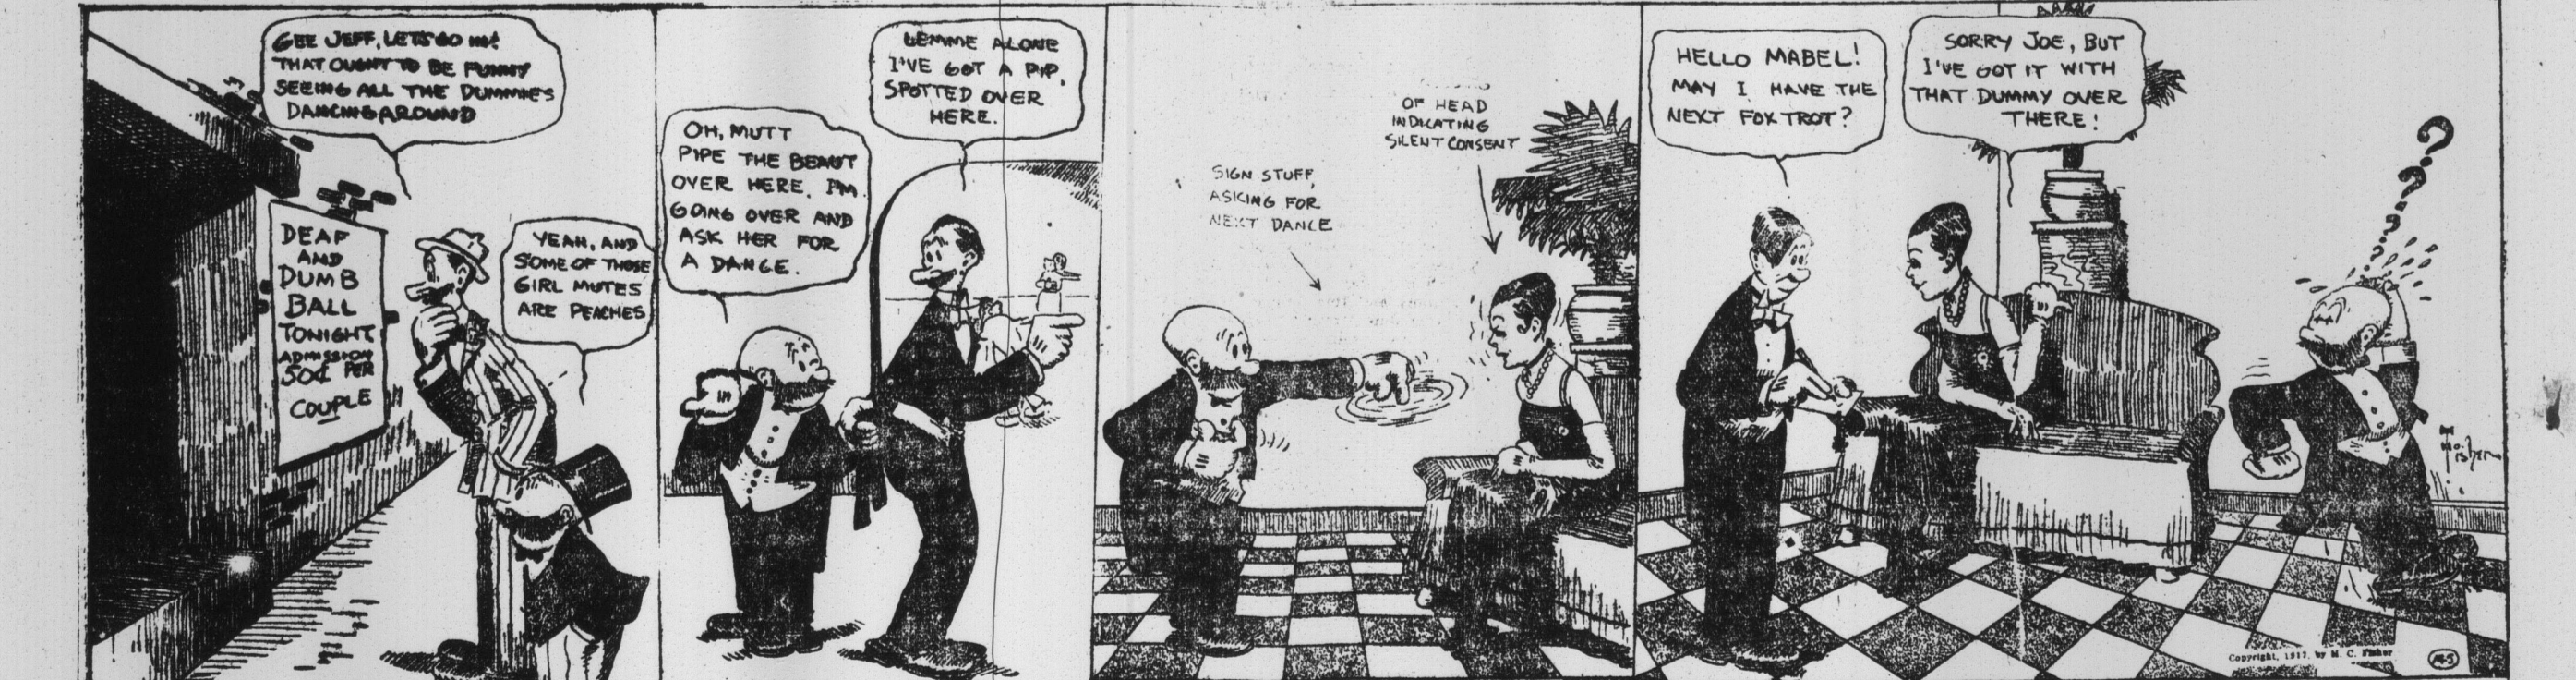

(Aronoto Globe)

Prof. Mavor of Toronto University, before the Royal Canadian Institute on Saturday night, devoted the greater part of the evening to the theme of the revolutionary movement in Russia. As Prof. Mavor considered an authority on Russia and Russian affairs, his remarks were followed with the deepest interest.

The revolution of the past week was not the first one in Russia, but to understand the revolutionary movement in that country, he said, it was necessary to go back to the time of Anne in 1911. In the days of Peter the Great a large number of Germans were brought into

ABANDON HALF MEASURES IN THE NATIONAL SERVICE

Horatio Bottomley Calls Upon Neville Chamberlain With "Now or Never" Plea — Not Two Bites of a Cherry

By Horatio Bottomley, editor of "John Bull," following his recent appeal to Lord Devonport to "do it now," again voices public opinion in calling upon Neville Chamberlain to abandon all half measures in connection with the scheme of national service—which, in his own powerful manner, he maintains be placed upon the same basis as military service. He writes as follows in Sunday Pictorial of March 4:

The other day I pleaded with Lord Devonport to "do it now"—that is to say, to stop tinkering with the food question and put us all on rations, just as though we were in the navy or the army. I said that what is good enough for "Jack" and "Tommy"—in the cold North Sea and the wet trenches—should be good enough for us at home. Not that I like the idea of compulsion—in anything. I don't like rates and taxes, or castor oil, and all kinds of other things which I am given to understand are good for me—but I have to submit to them. And I didn't plead for compulsory food rations until I saw that the voluntary plan was doomed to failure. You see, every voluntary system—in regard to anything—means: Do what you like, not what you ought to do. And such is human nature that we all like doing what we ought not to do. That is the secret of the fall of man. If Eve hadn't been told to leave that apple alone, she would never have wanted to take it. Let us hope it wasn't ripe, and that it give her a nasty stomach ache!

Well, food rations are coming—'as sure as dith'—and the sooner, the better. Let us get rid of the Bunemann regime and come down to business. I have just had my lunch at a well-known hotel in the north of England. I thought I would begin with a sardine—which, in my ignorance, I regarded as an hors d'oeuvre. Then I had a slice of ham—and then I cast a lustful eye on a piece of pudding. "Very sorry, sir," said the waiter, "but a sardine is a course." Now, that waiter is an old friend of mine—and he ought not to have deceived me; but he is a dull dog, and altogether failed to appreciate my retort—"a four farthing course?" Which, I may explain for the benefit of the uneducated, is the shortest course known to racing. He simply said, "No, sir—three and six." I am satisfied he is a shikher, and am reporting him to the military authorities.

Well, now, what about National Service? Now, or never, Neville! Do let us know where we are. At present all is confusion. I quite understand that, as in the case of Devonport, you are probably handicapped by the politician. Give him a miss. If you are controller of National Service—control; if you are director—direct. You were dragged away from your own manifold business activities to create this new department—create it. The public are sick of half measures; they want the war finished. They don't want speeches or advertisements. War waits for no man—for no nation. We all belong to the state now. List point was settled the day we got military conscription. Thenceforward every citizen became a mere part of the great body politic—every citizen, I said; the "conscientious objector" is a fungus growth—a human foul-stood—which should be uprooted without further delay.

So—Now, or Never, Neville! Don't take two bites at the cherry, swallow it in one go—and let the stone look after itself. We are ready, and waiting—only we want the other fellow to come along with us, just as he wants to be sure we are with him. We know that the war is to all intents and purposes over, and we want to be in at the death—only tell us just what we have to do. Today we are countering, and every day—every minute—counts. We have to catch up the arrears of the late government. We have "to do in six weeks what should have been done two years ago," and this is no time for experimenting in "voluntary" sacrifice and effort. Don't let us have the military service muddle all over again.

The new British government has been described as a business government. It might be described with equal propriety as a literary government. Lord Milner, Lord Curzon, Mr. Balfour, R. E. Prothero, Dr. Addison, H. A. L. Fisher and Sir Alfred Mond have all written books. Mr. Prothero, for instance, has produced a work on "The Peasants of Human Life." Mr. Fisher has written more than once on Napoleon Bonaparte.

the same discipline at home as that which prevails in the military fields and on the seas. At present it is chaos and confusion everywhere. Nothing is to be gained by mincing matters—the times are far too serious for false compliments. As I have already said, I do not entertain an atom of doubt that Mr. Chamberlain and the other business men in the government are being hampered by the professional politicians—but they must assert themselves. Every hour lost means a further toll of precious lives—a further lease of pain and agony—more broken hearts and ruined hopes. To trifle with destiny is to create destruction. The sombre day of conflict is fast spent. On, Neville, on! Away with voluntarism in all its forms, till the war is over. Give us our marching orders.

Can there be a shadow of doubt as to the response of the nation when once it hears the trumpet call of duty, of devotion and discipline—the trinity of triumph? What is the use of telling us "we must build ships, we must make munitions, we must till the land?" Make us do it—every Jack of us who isn't doing anything of equal importance. In days of peace we were told that "the price of liberty is eternal vigilance;" in days of war it is eternal work. But that work must be general—universal. One man must be penalized because of the sloth of his neighbor. Conscientious objectors, pacifists and all the rest of them must be roped in; the round men must be pulled out of the square holes, and all over-lapping and confusion must cease. We must conscript the manpower, the woman-power—and the youth-power of the nation. As I have said elsewhere, lusty lads and lasses have something better to do today than to learn how many wives Henry VIII had, and how he managed to get rid of them. There is no better "education," in the true sense of the word, than that provided by the lessons of this war. Everything else will keep.

Then, Now or Never, Neville—but, in God's name, let it be now.

EDISON TONE TEST IN CITY ON APRIL 2

Miss Ida Gardner, Artist of Recognized Ability, to be Sent Here for Event of Particular Interest to Musicians.

Some time ago it was learned that an endeavor was being made in musical circles in this city to arrange for a New Edison Tone-Test, the musical and scientific demonstration that has been attracting so much attention in the musical centres of the United States in recent months. It now is announced that, through the courtesy of Mr. Edison, the music lovers of this city will be given the opportunity to give one of these unique tests and that Miss Ida Gardner, the renowned contralto, will be the artist sent here by him to take the principal part in the demonstration. Many prominent musicians already have received invitations to the affair which will be held in the Imperial Theatre, Monday afternoon, April 2, and to which admission will be by card only.

Miss Gardner is one of the best known concert contraltos in the United States, despite the fact that she is comparatively new to the concert platform in this country. Born in America and receiving her early musical education here, she spent a number of years in France studying with Lloyd D'Aubigne, the noted vocal instructor who maintains his studio in Paris. Under him she not only became highly proficient as a concert singer, but went through all of the preparation essential to success in the operatic field. When the European war broke out she was considering an offer from the Imperial Opera in Vienna but the conditions in Europe necessitated her return to this country. Here she has made repeated appearances, in cities from coast to coast, and everywhere she has met with receptions that only are accorded to artists of rare merit.

A most distinguished audience will greet the charming young singer when she makes her appearance in this city, according to the interest that is being manifested in the coming affair.
