Hard Black Relief Monotony of ad Layouts.

"What in the world are we going to do to vary our advertising illustrations? I'm sick and tired of seeing the same old sketches year after year, the same willow types, the same wind-blown skirts and arched insteps, varied only by a slight difference in the shades of blue."

That's the plaint of advertising managers all over the country. But you won't hear it in the LaSalle & Koch store in Toledo, for here they've worked out a system which gets away from the dull, drab routine of "the same old kind of drawing."

The answer is simplicity itself—the use of silhouettes instead of outline figures, but even these silhouettes must be used sparingly and with due care that too frequently repetition does not dull the edge of their effectiveness. In fact, the LaSalle & Koch store limits the solid-black figures to the opening of the spring and fall seasons, with just a few here in between to call attention to the approach of certain holidays, like Washington's birthday.

"I believe in the unusual for advertising illustration, and I am constantly on the watch for something new and striking," says Miss Coburn, advertising manager for the LaSalle & Koch store. "Although silhouettes are not a type that can be used continually, they furnish an excellent way of featuring the entrance of new seasons and heralding the coming holidays. We have used this form of illustration in announcing our spring and fall fashions for many years, and the large number of favorable comments, together with the appearance of the black figures, show that they put the message across in a creditable manner."

"Mr. Martin, the artist, is now working on a new and attractive series of illustrations of an entirely new type, 'white silhouettes' or what are usually referred to as 'postives.' For example, under the headline 'Spring Costumes Cast Their Shadows Before,' the figures will all appear white upon a black background, and will stand out on the newspaper page with all the force and power of the proverbial sordid thumb. It has been said that newspapers would be more readable if they were printed in white letters on black, and I am confident that the same idea, applied to these reversed silhouettes, will prove valuable in securing immediate attention."

"Grab-Bag" Sale Lures Crowds. Lured store in Amsterdam, N. Y., recently lured tremendous crowds to its "conversion" sale by a new application of an old idea, the grab-bag.

One thousand grab bags containing a wide variety of merchandise, including coats, suits, dresses, waists, hosiery, underwear, corsets, dolls, books, games, and furnishings, and virtually everything except furniture and pianos were made up. These were advertised and sold at ten cents each.

Noon was the hour set for the scramble, which was a lark in a few minutes. Bags were snipped up in a few minutes.

Here's a Brand-New Line for the Hardware Store.

Specializing in hard rubber truck tires has proved a profitable move for the automotive department of J. L. Davis & Co., a Boston hardware concern, better known under the trade name of "Davis, the Hardware Store."

When the company went into the hard rubber tire end of the automotive business a few years ago the leading retailers in the firm were skeptical as to whether it would pay, although a success had already been made with automobile tires.

But this skepticism soon proved unwarranted. Hard rubber tires sold much faster than was expected. Today the company is selling many thousands of dollars' worth of hard rubber tires annually. Furthermore, tire no other hardware store in Boston provides such a service and R. E. Kneuper, store manager, says he has yet to hear of another hardware firm in the country that has such a service, although he has visited stores in many sections.

The company rents a part of a 100-truck garage. There a modern hard-tire pressing machine has been set up and put on to trucks as fast as they are sold. The firm found that tires put on by other concerns were not always satisfactory and that purchasers frequently questioned the quality of the tires sold by the company when the fault was not with the tires. So the decision was reached to give customers this service, and the results, Kneuper asserts, have been very satisfactory. There are only three or four other garages in the city where hard rubber tires are put on. The Davis "service station" is located in the Charlestown section, in the heart of the heavy trucking district, so that it is of easy access to many firms using heavy motor trucks.

One man is kept busy all the time selling these tires and two to four others are employed part of the time in putting them on. At first the firm sold several kinds of hard rubber tires. Results were so uncertain with some of the kinds that the concern discontinued all except one make which had proved the most satisfactory.

The company is doing a $150,000 to $200,000 tire business annually, although, of course, pneumatic tires for trucks and pleasure cars are also sold in large quantities. The firm advertises extensively in the newspapers and generally includes cuts of several automobile accessories in its ads. Because of this advertising it has an extensive mail-order business in New England in small cities.

Should Canned Goods Stand Up or Lie Down.

Store construction, the way canned goods are piled in the basement, the placing of certain goods at strategic points in the store and the fact that ten brands of coffee have now given place to three, are largely responsible for the success of the Deeter & Holsinger store at Norwatic, Kan.

Usually a merchant doesn't think much about the way his canned goods are piled in his store. The one thing that is of importance is made of brick, with a cement floor and a steel ceiling. The result is that the Deeter & Holsinger store is the lowest in town and their overhead is lowered by that amount.

The building has the advantage of being in the summer it is cool and pleasant and customers like to come. In the winter it is warm and does not require a great deal of fuel to heat it. So it is a store for economy.

Every season merchants suffer a certain loss in spoilage of canned goods. Deeter & Holsinger used to have a pretty heavy loss because they always bought fairly long cans of goods. By storing in a certain way this firm has reduced its loss from spoilage to a third of what it formerly was. It is all in the way the cans are piled. Formerly the boxes of canned goods were piled flat with the cans standing upright. The spoilage was heavy. The Deeter & Holsinger began piling the boxes on their sides with the cans lying ends toward the wall of the basement.

The goods went through the season in this shape. Spoilage had been reduced to the minimum. When the cans are piled on their sides the ends do not swell, as often happens when the cans stand upright. It is believed that the sides better withstand the pressure and so bulges are prevented and the canned material is kept from spoiling.

The store has a stock of about $10,000, and it is operated at an overhead of 10 per cent, thanks to quick turnover.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN.

ACROBATIC ACT MAKES BIG HIT

Kane, Morey and More Give Thrilling Performance in Opera House—A Good Bill.

Since the inauguration of vaudeville in the Opera House many sensational acrobatic performances have been secured and their great work has always been spoken of as being in a class by itself, but patrons who witnessed the performance of Kane, Morey and More yesterday afternoon and evening express the opinion that their skill has never been equaled on a local stage. They present what they term "A Ferch Offering," and from a grotesque standpoint it is par excellence. While one balances a large nicker bar more than twenty feet long on a forehead, another climbs to the top and there gives a performance, both thrilling and brilliantly executed. All three are clever acrobats and one of the biggest hits of the season.

In addition to this feature attraction Drisko and Earle appeared in a comedy singing skit "Back to Summerland," and won rounds of appreciative applause. Their offering is well staged, their character amusing and their singing beautiful. "Juggling" Mathies, in a comedy juggling novelty, did unaided tricks which he performed numerous feats with a speed and accuracy which was astounding. His last act was a feature and won rounds of applause. The Robertson and Robert, the latter a trained dog, gave a pleasing entertainment. The dog performs in a manner which would lead one to believe he understood everything his master was saying. This act made quite a hit.

The Thornton Sisters were well received in "Bits of Harmony Singing." They have pleasing voices and their songs were well chosen. Their costumes were very pretty and were greatly appreciated. In addition to the vaudeville program there was the concluding episode of "The Veiled Mystery," featuring Antonio Moreno. This programme will be repeated tonight and again on Thursday afternoon and evening.

More than the usual interest attaches to the announcement of the engagement of James Oliver Curwood's "The River End," a picture which is being shown at the Queen's Theatre, today. All those who saw "Back to God's Country" and "The River End," masterpiece from the various picture shows, realize they are justified in expecting something extraordinary in the latter picture of his brand of outdoor, far North fiction. This film is an Associated First National attraction, and the picture is being shown in the city for the first time. The remarkable performance of animals, including many wild ones in general and a pet bear and dog in particular, is a feature of the picture. The picture is a high-class Realist production and the Edgar comedy, "Edgar's Hamlet," from the pen of Booth Tarkenton.

IMPERIAL ESPECIALLY ATTRACTIVE TODAY

With the exception of the great play success "83 East" and another of those side-splitting two-reel Edgar comedies, as well as the Canadian picture with pictures of the across-Canada hikers coming into this city, the Imperial's bill today is very alluring. The Binney feature is a high-class Realist production and the Edgar comedy, "Edgar's Hamlet," from the pen of Booth Tarkenton.

THE REVOLT IN RUSSIA SERIOUS; NEWS OFFICIAL

London, March 2.—Reports received in official British circles today confirm despatches telling of an anti-Soviet uprising in Russia. They state that the situation in Russia is serious. The latest official news received, however, does not indicate that the Soviet government had lost control.

"THE LITTLE WANDERER" HAD FLOWN

There came to the Times through the mail yesterday a small tin box with perforations in the cover and back and inside a note signed by Bernard Timmins of Church Avenue, Fairville, aged eight years. The note read: "I have written a story for you, and I would soon be happy to plant some peas." But something happened to the "little wanderer" for he was not in the box. Bill Bernard's thoughtful letter, and its evidence of his love for God's little creature, when he fell off a tree in the vicinity of Mill street, was operated on this morning at the General Public Hospital, his condition is reported to be as favorable as could be expected.

SAD CASE OF BOY

A juvenile, aged eight years, was before the court for wandering about and not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself. It was said he sleeps in an attic and his parents do not know when he comes in or when he goes out. The lad was in a wretched condition this morning, but through the kindness of the police was well looked after.

GERMANY MUST PAY.

Germany has herself given the answer to that element in England which urged that too much pressure must not be put upon her. Called upon by the Allies to pay £11,000,000,000, she offers £2,000,000,000, of which she claims £1,000,000,000 has already been paid. The London newspapers describe this offer as "immoderate," "judicious," "fantastic" and "grotesque." The country which derives most satisfaction from the situation in France, which regards Germany's present attitude as proof of the French contention that force is the only argument Germany can understand or appreciate. The French troops are ready to move and Belgium stands ready to aid. Mr. Lloyd George made it abundantly clear yesterday that the German offer would not be taken into serious consideration, and another ultimatum, short and sharp, may be anticipated. The Germans have overreached themselves. Had they gone to London with an offer that even a section of the people would regard as a reasonable basis for discussion they would have been given a hearing. As it is they have alienated the sympathy which had previously been expressed. As Mr. Lloyd George has remarked, they do not seem to realize what has happened in the last half-dozen years. The other powers are under no delusion as to what would have happened had they had Germany's offer, and France especially is in no mood to forgive and forget.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

During the unemployment period in Ottawa the technical school board persuaded a number of machinists and mechanics out of work to attend classes and study subjects outside and inside their trades. The advantage of this was explained by the principal of the school last week and a report of his remarks says:

"The complexities of modern industry, when substituted for apprenticeship had been developed, had created a lack of joy in their work that men used to have. It was difficult for a man to see unity in his work, or the product as a whole. Each performed his own task, and performed it over and over again, and performed it not being able to see the beginning and end of a process was one of the great causes of labor discontent. The technical school aimed to give trade training, but skilled trade training—training of a cultural nature which would help to enrich the mental content of those who studied. The step was not to turn out a special operator, or a chocolate dipper, but a skilled tradesman with a fair education."

They have in Ottawa a school of attendance act which will compel children, where it is adopted, to attend school until sixteen years of age. This applies to towns of five thousand or more people. The senior inspector of Ottawa's public schools made a very significant remark last week. He said:

"Public opinion will never approve of holding adolescents at school unless it can be shown that the school can do more toward preparing them for the duties of citizenship than the home, the shop, the office or the factory."

That is to say, the children must be given an opportunity to take vocational training. And this is our problem in St. John today.

Here are the headings of an article in Bradstreet's trade circular for Saturday last, telling of trade conditions in the United States: "Irregular. Business revival slow. Weather a drawback. Clearance between favorably and poorly situated lines seems more marked. Apparent trades show progress in spring buying. Fall woollens, marked lower, show varying inquiry. Beads lines like iron, steel, coal, coke and lumber no better. Steel, oil and coal prices, production and wages declining. Trades hitherto quiet sending better reports are shoes and automobile and kindred lines. Furs sell higher at auction. Mail-order trade on par with January, but off from 1920 by large percentage. Prices, except for food, still tend downward. Stock markets, bonds and foreign exchange easier."

Ottawa Journal—"The man who was retired six or eight years ago by a pension of $600, or even twice that sum, must now be fighting with starvation every day of his life. Conditions growing out of the war in part, and also a part to other accumulating causes, have virtually cut his allowance in two. Those who are still in the public service being paid a bonus to balance up the shrunken dollar, but the superannuitant has been forgotten. That he is inarticulate in his misery does not in the least impair his sound claims for consideration."

Of North Dakota, which tried a daring experiment in state socialism, Bradstreet's says: "Conditions in North Dakota are the worst of any section, as the result of unsound policies in government and financing. Bank failures continue in North Dakota, and the state bank commissioner has ordered the state banks there to bring up their reserves to legal requirements, which may necessitate liquidation by many banks and increase sale of grain and live stock by farmers to meet notes."

A MODERN REQUIREMENT.

Advocates of the proposed arena in St. John will be interested to learn that work will begin in Ottawa about the first of May on a stadium-rink to cost between $300,000 and $400,000. This is considerably more than has been suggested for St. John. The owners of the Ottawa structure will be known as the Stadium of Ottawa, Limited. The Ottawa Journal says: "The new stadium will be one of the most modern and up to date of its kind in America. There will be seating accommodation for 9,000 people and other large stores will face on York street and King Edward Avenue. It is planned to use the building twelve months in the year and to make it the centre for all big community gatherings. It is planned to have roller skating and dancing during part of the year, band and other concerts at any time, carnivals, boxing bouts, circuses, exhibitions, automobile shows, hockey, skating, conventions and almost every form of entertainment in the building. Whether or not the new rink will be equipped with an artificial plant for the first season depends on financial circumstances. If the artificial plant is not installed the first year it will be shortly after. The plans include provision for a large storage plant at the side of the rink building where ice will be stored and sold to the public." The building will be of concrete and steel, on an area 200x115 feet. It is hoped to have the structure completed by next December. The Commercial Club of St. John is interesting itself in an arena for this city, and it is hoped the whole matter will be in such shape before long as will enable the club to confer with the city council relative to a site.

Mr. P. P. Claxton, federal commissioner of education in the United States, says that corporal punishment of children in schools is "likely to indicate weakness in the teacher." This is an interesting supplement to some correspondence in the Times recently on the same subject. Mr. Claxton is very emphatic. He declares that "any person competent to teach and manage a school can maintain discipline without corporal punishment." Some people will of course disagree with Mr. Claxton, but his view is borne out by the experience of many successful teachers.

The net debt of Canada increased $67,827,919 during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1920. The total net debt on the latter date was $2,348,808,928.79. This enormous burden must be borne, in addition to that involved in the heavy expenditures required to meet the needs of an expanding country. There is great need of the best business methods in conducting public affairs, and of prudence in expenditure.

A morning paper report says a landlord has been getting over a thousand dollars a year in rentals from a tenement house which the board of health will close if necessary improvements are not made. The tenants apparently are there because other quarters are not to be had. The city must have more homes built or suffer serious consequences.

If it be true that Lenine and Trotsky have both found it expedient to leave Petrograd the Soviet regime is nearing its end. As has so often been remarked, however, much contradictory news comes out of Russia. It is at least clear that the anti-Bolsheviks are beginning to make an impression.

Halifax Echo—"Lieut.-Governor Grant has issued a letter to the clergy, and various clubs of the city, requesting them to co-operate in the forwarding of the Boy Scout and other boys' movements. Consequently, the Ministerial Association will hold a meeting at which it will be decided what steps will be taken in promoting boys' work."

Moncton Transcript—"Probably Hon. Mr. Wigmore wishes he had stood out for the appointment of chairman of the proposed Harbor Commission at St. John, and allowed another St. John man to enter the cabinet."

The board of health should deal promptly with milk dealers whose product is not up to the standard. They have had time enough to meet the requirements.

Toronto Globe: "Canada's average wheat yield per acre last year was only 14 1-8 bushels. The day of mixed-farming fertilizer in the wheat fields of the west approaches. 'Wheat mining' will soon be unprofitable."

BRITAIN AND MEXICO
London, March 2.—Answering a question in the house, yesterday, as to why Great Britain had delayed in recognizing the Mexican government, and if this non-recognition was not due to the policy of the United States, F. G. Kellaway, head of the Overseas Trade Department, said that Great Britain for some time had been prepared to recognize the Mexican government as soon as some convincing evidence of Mexico's stability, British policy, he added, had been guided by British interests.

PLEASURE MULTIPLIED.

I've noticed in the summertime When, often, at our ease, We gather from our garden beds Nasturtiums and sweet peas. The more bouquets we gladly cull From these gay blossoms beautiful, The more they bloom from morn till night.

To give us and our friends delight, Well, that's the way it is with men. In all the happy ways they live, The more they give of all their joy The more they have to give.

What is so sweet in sharing here Each lovely happiness? By every gift of love we win A greater blessedness.

And when it comes to offerings Like smiles that truly give us wings And friendship welling from the heart In life which has so great a part— Well, there you are, it multiplies One pleasure great and wide.

The more we give, yes, that's the truth, The more we have to give.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Family Matters. "I shall complain to the floorwalker about you," said the irate shopper. "I have no doubt he will agree with everything you say," answered the sales-lady, wearily.

"Ah! Then he is acquainted with your shopping habits?" "He thinks he is. He's my husband."

The Result. "Somebody played a joke on Jim. Sent him a barrel of what he thought were fine oysters?"

"Where was the joke?" "When he went to check them, there weren't any oysters there."

"That's a must have been shell-shocked."

A Movie Star.

"Register indignation." "I can't."

"Your salary is reduced a thousand a week. Now can you register indignation?"

Hand Work Only. The Magistrate—I should think you'd be ashamed to make your wife work the washup to support you.

The Accused—But judge, I can't afford to buy laundry machinery for her.

Smallest She Had. A young mother with baby in arms boarded a street car, and handed a doll to the conductor when he asked for her fare. Badly needing change, the conductor asked if she had anything smaller.

Turning a sardonic glance upon her infant, and smiling sweetly, she said—"No, you see I've only been married a year."

PRESBYTERY

At yesterday afternoon's session of the St. John presbytery Rev. J. A. MacKeigan was appointed moderator of the presbytery at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Gordon Pringle at Kinnaird, Victoria county, on Sunday, May 29.

Rev. William Townsend, Rev. James Ross and Rev. J. A. MacKeigan were appointed to the general assembly in Toronto in June. Rev. J. C. Mortimer, Rev. W. M. Fraser and Rev. A. W. Black go to the assembly by rotation. Robert Reid, W. M. Clarke, Col. Murray MacLaren, Hon. J. Forbes, James Scott and John Willet were elected as lay commissioners to attend the assembly.

Robert Reid submitted a report telling of the work done by the maritime religious educational council.

The report of the committee on assembly members was adopted as read by Rev. Dr. Sutherland. The synod remit regarding the question of relieving the office at Halifax of the duty of handling money was approved.

The report of the budget committee showed $16,502.42 raised for schemes of the church, and $35,338 for the forward movement during 1920.

Peter Campbell, for the finance committee of the presbytery, reported a balance of $1219 on hand.

Rev. A. V. Morash, chairman of the committee on standing committees, then introduced his slate. The several committees, with their conveners, follow: Home missions, Rev. W. M. Townsend; foreign missions, Rev. J. A. MacKeigan; Sunday school and young people's societies, Robert Reid; sessions records, Rev. G. Gough; Legation, Rev. R. M. Legate; supply, Rev. F. Baird; ministers, Rev. F. Baird; aged and infirm ministers, Hon. J. G. Forbes; statistics, Rev. F. Baird; general interests, Rev. Dr. J. S. Sutherland.

Rev. F. S. Dowling's resignation as moderator of a synod, Hammond River and Rothesay was accepted, and Rev. R. M. Legate appointed to succeed him.

In the morning Hon. J. G. Forbes had given notice of appeal to the general assembly in the matter of adding the name of Rev. T. Hunter Boyd to the constituent roll of the presbytery. At the afternoon session he submitted his written protest. After some heated discussion, Rev. W. W. Malcolm moved that the presbytery refuse to transmit Hon. Mr. Forbes' protest and appeal to the general assembly. This elicited from Hon. Mr. Forbes the answer that he would carry the case to the general assembly himself.

DIOCESAN W. A.

At a meeting of the diocesan W. A. yesterday afternoon, in the schoolroom of St. Luke's church, with Mrs. G. A. Kuhring in the chair, announcements concerning the annual meeting were given out. Rev. R. P. McKim led the devotional exercises and on Mrs. Thomas Walker's motion a letter of regret at her absence is to be sent to Mrs. McKim. Mrs. James F. Robertson wrote to thank the W. A. for sympathy and the letter said the life of her husband, Mrs. Kuhring acted as corresponding secretary and reported four new life members—Mrs. J. K. Schofield, Mrs. J. I. McAvity, Mrs. W. L. Gregg and Miss Shaw, a missionary in Japan. Mrs. G. C. McIntyre, treasurer, submitted a report. Mrs. George Hay, Dorcas secretary, also reported, as well as Mrs. Arthur Cotter, secretary-treasurer of the girls' branches, and Miss Portia McKim for the juniors. Miss Clara Schofield, E. C. D. treasurer, and Miss Sullies, as Leaflet editor. Mrs. L. R. Harrison gave an outline of the proposed programme for the annual meeting.

While hauling wood on the river of Milkish yesterday afternoon, a team of horses owned by Taylor & White broke through the ice. One of the horses was drowned.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

When the "Unknown Warrior" was buried in Westminster Abbey on Armistice Day a great many people said, "I wonder who he is?" There was no need to wonder. The answer to the query, "Who was he?" is so plain. The "unknown warrior" was the Man who won the War, writes Hamilton Fyfe in a London newspaper. "There are battles in history, the names of some of them, which were known as 'soldiers' battles.' The historians, usually anxious to give credit for victory to some general, admit that for once the rank and file had something to do with the result. In truth there are few results which have not at some moment depended upon the dash or the steadiness of the 'unknown warrior,' and seeing that throughout the operations which lasted the years between August, 1914, and November, 1918, it was so consistently the men rather than the generals who gained victory or prevented defeat from being disasters history will well call it a 'soldiers' war.'"

A Cheerful Spirit. In our unhappy opening, when after the Battle of Marston the English force that stood for England was driven back, it was the men who held together and kept a good heart and so made it possible to put to broken pieces together again. In those warm autumn days I came across stragglers continually all over the Amlens district, and the casual comical stories they told proved (without any effort on their part to prove it) that they had not lost their heads, but had resolutely struggled to rejoin their units. That spirit kept our army from melting away as many an army would have done under such heavy and repeated blows. In the battle of Ypres it was again the determined stand of the men against disheartening odds that kept the Channel ports secure. The line was fully thin, there were no reserves to throw in when it came near to breaking, yet it never broke. The unknown "warriors" stood their ground. They were a lack almost too much for the strength and endurance of mortal men. No skill in tactics could lighten it, not the ingenuity of the most brilliant dispositions could give any help. All depended upon the nerve and the unyielding character of the troops; those qualities kept the enemy at bay.

THE HARDING CABINET. (Bradstreet's.) General expectation has been borne out by the event in the announcement made by President-elect Harding that Charles R. Hughes is to be secretary of state in the new administration. The name of the latter has been mentioned in connection with the office since shortly after the election, and while no definite announcement was made before this week, people generally have regarded the selection of Mr. Hughes to head the cabinet as assured. His career is fresh in the public memory. He first came to wide notice as counsel to the state legislative committees investigating the gas and insurance companies in New York in 1906. The impression made by him, particularly in the insurance investigation, led to his nomination and election as governor of the state in the following year. He was re-elected in 1908, but before the conclusion of his second term was appointed by President Taft an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States. While serving on the bench he was nominated for secretary of the Republic national ticket and resigned to take an active part in the campaign. Mr. Hughes is an able lawyer, with a judicial cast of mind and a habit of intellectual independence which should make him an individual quantity in the management of the country's foreign relations. Since the announcement relative to Mr. Hughes, Secretary of Ohio has been accepted the attorney-generalship, and Herbert Hoover the post of secretary of commerce. At least tentative selections appear to have been made of heads of the remaining departments as follows: Attorney-General, Mr. Clegg; Secretary of the navy, Senator Fall of New Mexico, of the interior, Henry Wallace of Iowa, of agriculture, James J. Duff of Pennsylvania, of labor, and Will H. Hays of Indiana, postmaster-general.

THE PENNY BANK SYSTEM. (Ottawa Journal.) It is not easy for some people to acquire the habit of saving money. That is one reason why the penny bank system in Ontario public and separate schools is a good thing. It aims to make children form the saving habit.

Ottawa public school children have more than $88,000 on deposit in penny bank accounts, and a campaign is under way to increase these savings. The work of handling the money is divided between the teachers and some of the local banks which, though they have no direct gain, regard it as a public service. Penny bank officials are sent by Ottawa to establish an office for the transaction of penny bank business. The cost is estimated at $2500.

The request is reasonable enough, now that the work has assumed such proportions that it means a great deal of labor for the banks. Toronto has such an office, and regards it as a public service. The $88,000 saved by Ottawa public school children would never have accumulated had it not been for the penny bank scheme. For that reason it is deserving of municipal support.

A PRESCRIPTION. If you are poor—work. If you are rich—continue to work. If you are burdened with seemingly unfair responsibilities—work. If you are happy—keep right on working. Idleness gives room for doubts and fears.

If disappointments come—work. If sorrow overwhelms you and loved ones seem not true—work. If health is threatened—work. When faith falters and reason fails—just work.

When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead—work. Work as if your life were in peril. It really is.

No matter what ails you—work. Work faithfully—work with faith. Work is the greatest material remedy available.

Work will cure both mental and physical afflictions.—The Client Partner.

OUT OF THE USUAL. (New York Outlook.) Not all city landlords object to families with children. A newspaper paragraph says that in a western city a landlord announces that "whenever a child is born in one of his houses the rent for that month will be returned to the tenant."

AGREE ON OSTEOPATHY. It is said that representatives of the Ontario Medical Council and the University of Toronto, on one side, and the Ontario Association of Osteopathy on the other, after several conferences, have practically reached an understanding by which osteopaths can be licensed to practice their profession in Ontario.

RECENT DEATHS
Miss Annie E. Smith.
The death occurred late yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Annie E. Smith, widow of Jacob Smith, after a lengthy illness, at her residence, 126 Waterloo street. The late Mrs. Smith was in the seventy-sixth year of her age and had been for many years an active member of Waterloo street Baptist church and at one time was president of the Women's Missionary Aid Society of that church. She leaves one sister, Miss Jane Buckman, of this city. Her late husband for many years conducted a grocery store in Waterloo street. She was a very highly respected member of the community and she will be especially missed by her co-workers in the church.

Arthur O'Leary died at his home in Richbucto on Saturday afternoon after a short illness, at the age of seventy-eight. He leaves three sons, one daughter, two brothers and one sister.

The death of Abner Jonah of Dawson, Albert county, occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Stevens on Saturday. He was seventy-five years of age and leaves his wife and three daughters.

William Anderson died at his home in Walker Settlement, Waterford, N. B., on Feb. 26, at the age of 78 years. Besides his wife he leaves six daughters and four sons. DR. PARKHURST DEAD

W. H. ELLIS DEAD.
Victoria, B. C., March 2.—W. H. Ellis, broker, former manager of the Daily Colonist, well known in western Canada, died here yesterday at the age of sixty-one.

TWIN SISTERS JOINED MORE FAST THAN THE FAMOUS SIAMSE TWIN
Twenty-five physicians in New York to Make a Study of the Remarkable Trick in Nature.

New York, March 2.—Twin sisters, joined together more fast than the famous Siamse pair, exhibited some years ago by Barnum, came to town this week from Prague, once Bohemia, but now Czechoslovakia. The sisters, who are joined, from the neck, from above the hips almost to the knee, are Rosa and Josefa Blazek.

The inseparable twins, who speak English, Bohemian, Russian, Polish and German, have conflicting tastes and also ailments. On the way to the United States Rosa became seasick while Josefa remained well. But Rosa found ice cream sodas as concocted in New York rather palatable, whereas her sister didn't.

The sisters are in New York for scientific reasons. Twenty-five physicians are to make a study of the remarkable trick of nature in joining them to each other. They will stay here some months. The "Bohemian Twins" were famous in Europe for more than a generation. They are well accomplished in music.

In order to come to the United States the twins had to cancel a contract in Germany. They were sued for breach of the agreement and the German police had to take both to court in order to assess damages against Rosa.

The sisters were born on January 20, 1878. They began to travel when they were three years old.

AFTER "BABY VAMPIRES" WITH CURFEW LAW
Rutland, Vt., March 2.—A startling increase in "baby vampires," youthful curfew loungers and other juvenile offenders has caused a revival of the curfew regulation here. Reports of flirtations, pranks by night and petty misdemeanors caused the chamber of commerce and city women's clubs to call for enforcement of the ordinance which requires all persons under the age of sixteen years to be off the streets by nine p. m.

Chief of Police Hyland blames the indifference of many parents for the present wave of delinquency. Draconic action will be used in the case. They say any youthful loiterer caught will taste jail fare for the night with good prospects of hickory stick dessert in the morning.

SENATOR FOWLER UNCOMFORTABLE
Ottawa Citizen—Senator Fowler is in an unhappy position. The "w" senatorial chamber is annoying to him. It is reported to have described it as "a crime perpetrated on the country." The galleries are too small to satisfy the senator's capacity for talking to them. He is reminded of a circus, when he looks at the ceiling. How is Senator Fowler to be comforted? He has to serve a life sentence in this chamber, surrounded by beautiful architecture and the restraining influences of art and refinement. In the House of Commons, he might have been consoled by being told that the next general election would probably bring his release. But, as a senator, he must go on and on, year after year, making daily visits for perhaps several months each session, at least, to the precincts of the senate chamber. Appearing to the galleries will, apparently, give him little satisfaction. When he gazes up to the ceiling, the sight of honest parliament will be an offence in the eyes of Senator Fowler. Would he feel more at home under a ceiling decorated with 8 signs in gold paint? Could it not be arranged to fill the galleries with an audience of docile listeners from the holy adits. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkened shades and the smell of flowers, the tread of soft footsteps and the crunching of wheels in the yard—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple—"HERE LIES A MAN."

A MAN'S PRAYER.
(From an exchange.)
"Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces one pound and 100 cents one dollar. Help me so to live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and that in carrying it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and to the rattle of unholy adits. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkened shades and the smell of flowers, the tread of soft footsteps and the crunching of wheels in the yard—make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple—"HERE LIES A MAN."

The day before she was to be married the old negro servant came to her mistress and intrusted her savings in her keeping. "Why should I keep it? I thought you were going to get married," said the mistress.

"So I is, missus, but do you s'pose I'd keep all dis money in de house wid dat strange nigger?"—Exchange.

COMPETITION OF GERMANY KEENLY FELT

Still a Perfect Industrial Machine Though Slowed Down—Increasing Exports—Seeks World-wide Trade.

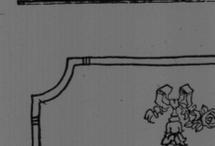

The menace of German competition to industry is real and immediate. Despite German mourning over the supposed chaotic condition of German industry, evidence is accumulating rapidly that German manufacturers in many lines are regaining trade which was lost to them during the war.

Spread on bread, it always delights the children. Use it also in cooking, in place of sugar. In use for more than half a century.

countries such as the United States and Canada, by competition of products of countries whose currency is greatly depreciated in international trade. It cannot too strongly be emphasized that in selling to this continent European countries have the advantage of a considerable part of the exchange in the cost of labor and in the cost of raw materials of native origin.

Despite readjustment difficulties, German manufacturers are undoubtedly swelling themselves to the advantages which the exchange situation gives to them in international trade. In a recent statement, a British Government official said that "Germany is still a perfect industrial machine, running at low speed, it is true, but undamaged as yet in its vital parts, and would respond readily to any stimulus."

German exports for the first five months of 1920 were valued at 23,688,000 marks, as compared with 10,037,000 marks for the entire year of 1919. The writer points out, however, that these export figures include goods delivered to the Allies under the Treaty of Peace and also that from the signing of the Armistice in November, 1918, until March, 1920, an enormous volume of goods was smuggled out of Germany through the occupied territory, the so-called "hole in the West."

The analysis continues as follows, in part: "Thousands of German salesmen are reported to be at work not only in the former neutral countries, but in all the European and Asiatic countries with which they were at war, offering low prices and long credits and promising quicker deliveries than their competitors. Buyers from many of the larger nations are now in Germany placing substantial orders for motor trucks, dye-stuffs, toys, iron and steel products, pianos, glassware, knit goods, sewing machines, electrical goods, and hundreds of other items."

"Some months prior to the end of the year warehouses in all the large cities in England were filled with German toys of all kinds. Representatives of German firms, including many Norwegians, Swedes, Danes, and Swedes, canvassed the trade thoroughly, offering their wares at an average increase in price over previous days of about 100 per cent, and promising quick deliveries. With the exception of dolls, which were priced at about 60 per cent cheaper than the English make, the general run of these German toys were priced at about the same price as the British toys of similar character.

German nets, silk embroidered, are being offered for sale in Nottingham at a lower price than cost of manufacture in that center of the British lace industry. Mr. Godfrey Chestman, the secretary of the National Union of Manufacturers, states that he has in his possession scores of business letters received by British firms from German manufacturers. The correspondence and catalogues are attractively written in English and most of the articles offered for sale are at about half the cost at which they can be obtained in Great Britain. One firm in Berlin offers Borch magnets at 50 each in cases of five. These magnets cannot be purchased in England at less than £12 each. These instances could be multiplied tenfold. Among the articles mentioned in the catalogues are German tools offered at 4 shillings each, which cost 15 shillings each in London. One German house offers vacuum flasks which are without any mark whatever. A London company has received an offer from Charlottenburg of three or four ton lorries at £200 each. A consignment has been bought by a British dealer to resell. Most of the English makes are double this figure.

"The slowing down of some of Britain's new industries, such as dyes and chemicals, photographic materials and scientific instruments, and in some cases the actual closing of factories as the result of German competition, have brought forth vigorous protests to the Government and appeals for protection. The National Union of Manufacturers has been deluged with communications from its members giving specific examples of German price cutting. One manufacturer complained that children's rackets were being sold at 72 shillings a gross, while the British article could not be sold under 150 shillings a gross; a three-quart kettle of British manufacture is being sold for three shillings and sixpence, while the German article is being sold for sixpence; a fine grade of German nail scissors is being sold at nine shillings a dozen, while Sheffield is selling them at twenty shillings; German pianos were being sold at seventy pounds while British instruments could not be purchased in England for twice that money; German milling machines were being offered at seventy-five pounds against an English factory cost of one hundred and eight pounds. German first class spectacle lenses are offered at nine shillings per dozen pairs, a price one shilling lower than the cost price of English third quality lenses; German hooks and eyes are being sold at four and one-half pence per pound, while the wire alone costs British firms six and one-half pence.

"Agitation against German 'dumping' is active in all the former neutral countries. The Stockholm Iron Institute demands that duties be raised as much as 500 per cent, pointing out that German daily wages are about four crowns, as against a Swedish daily wage of almost sixteen crowns in Sweden. The Swedish Electrical Industries Association has also petitioned the Government, stating that production cost in Germany is between two-fifths and two-thirds that of Sweden. Finland is faced with a similar problem.

"Germany is flooding Holland with her industrial machinery, agricultural implements, wrought iron cutlery, hardware, fancy goods, cotton piece goods, foodstuffs. In recent months German exports to Holland have increased to such an extent that the railways and parcel post offices have had great difficulty in keeping up with the work involved. German manufacturers are invading the colonies of the Netherlands to such an extent that some branches of the overseas business in Holland are becoming alarmed.

"Large and varied consignments have reached South America—particularly Argentina and Brazil—from Germany, recently, deliveries including machinery, cutlery, enamelled ware, electrical supplies, weighing appliances, musical instruments, fancy goods, stationery, toys, clocks and watches, paints and chemicals. In general, the quality is reported to be as good as before the war. The League of German-Brazilian Firms, with offices at Rio de Janeiro, has recently resumed activities after suspension during the war.

"A small but steady stream of German goods is arriving at Far Eastern ports. The recent arrival in Yokohama of one thousand cases of German indigo created consternation in the new dye industry in Japan. . . . Japan has recently passed a law to prevent dumping. A growing volume of imports from Germany is reported from Chinese ports. Germans are undoubtedly well received by Chinese business men, partly on account of the long credits which they are willing to grant. German goods are also entering Egypt in considerable volume, while Egypt is exporting to Germany large quantities of raw cotton. . . . In the German bid for world trade Russia, of course, occupies a prominent part. German salesmen are to be found in the most remote parts of Russia renewing connections and making expert investigations. . . . The German Ministry of Foreign Affairs has recently organized a Foreign Trade Bureau to gather and disseminate commercial information. The bureau is governed by a council of thirty members drawn from other Government departments. . . . New suitable for immediate publication will be printed daily in the Nachrichten für Handel, Industrie, and Landwirtschaft (Information for Commerce, Industry and Agriculture). Confidential information will be transmitted to interested persons in special bulletins. . . . German newspapers are supplied with a special service. The Foreign Trade Bureau is now issuing a series of booklets dealing with foreign markets for certain commodities. German diplomatic officers, consuls and commercial attaches are supplied with up-to-date information concerning conditions in Germany.

"All the firms and associations engaged in foreign trade were recently welded together into one great organization known as the Association of German Export Firms, with headquarters in Berlin. This organization includes manufacturing and shipping. One of the most important activities of the Association of German Export Firms has been the classification of export markets for machinery and engineering products into two categories—those engaged in operations in which the competition of the United States and Great Britain is likely to be negligible and those in which the competition is expected to be keen. In the first classification the German plan is standardization and simplification of all machines and tools, and for the latter a policy of shaping output to meet the exact needs of individual markets. While Germany lacks raw materials and her labor is not yet as efficient as in pre-war days, industrial plants are being operated to their utmost capacity by the systematization of every process and by the amalgamation of allied lines to an extent never before attempted. Concentration of industry is the keynote of the German industrial reorganization. . . . With the exception of East Africa, East Asia and Australia, all important parts of the world are again being served by German steamship lines, with chartered ships, ships of their own, or in collaboration with foreign shipping companies. . . . Many vital items of production cost are far lower in gold, than before the war, this although gold prices in all free markets have risen greatly. Herr Dahlberg, an official of the Import and Export Licensing Bureau, estimates that German production cost is about a third of English. . . . German manufacturers have, of course, an advantage over the manufacturers of other countries owing to the low value of the German mark."

Industry—The Basis of All Wealth

WITHOUT industry neither Victory Bonds nor any government or municipal security would have value.

The products of industry create, sustain and recreate wealth, making good the principal and interest of bonds and securities of every description. But, industry must come first. It is the main-spring of national life. It must go on and it must prosper. Therefore, industrial bondholders are the world's fundamental creditors. These truths are not always recognized, but they are basic.

Because world business is undergoing readjustment it is no time to sell one's sound industrial securities. Rather is it the time to buy. For this reason:

Severe reactions always bring prices below intrinsic values. Consequently, those who buy the high-grade bonds of sound industrial corporations at this time obtain securities at far below their actual worth.

This advice applies particularly to those who buy the mortgage bonds of established and profitably operated companies in Canada's greatest manufacturing export industry—Pulp and Paper.

It is most essential at this time to secure reliable investment advice. Write to us about your problems.

acter. One German firm sold thirty different kinds of dolls in England, three of them at prices considerably below the English dolls. It is estimated that the sales of German toys in England in 1920 amounted to over 19,000,000 compared with $1,850,000 in 1919.

In this connection it is pointed out that toy making in Germany is "a highly specialized industry, liberally supplied with grants for scientific research, with technical schools maintaining special classes to teach toy-making, and it is for the greater part an industry run on up-to-date factory lines where the advantages of large scale production are fully appreciated."

"All the firms and associations engaged in foreign trade were recently welded together into one great organization known as the Association of German Export Firms, with headquarters in Berlin. This organization includes manufacturing and shipping. One of the most important activities of the Association of German Export Firms has been the classification of export markets for machinery and engineering products into two categories—those engaged in operations in which the competition of the United States and Great Britain is likely to be negligible and those in which the competition is expected to be keen. In the first classification the German plan is standardization and simplification of all machines and tools, and for the latter a policy of shaping output to meet the exact needs of individual markets. While Germany lacks raw materials and her labor is not yet as efficient as in pre-war days, industrial plants are being operated to their utmost capacity by the systematization of every process and by the amalgamation of allied lines to an extent never before attempted. “NIGHT WATCHMAN SHOT SEVEN TIMES

While Lying on the Floor Wounded Man Emptied His Revolver at Escaping Bandits.

New York, March 2.—Samuel Cook is lying in the Newark City Hospital from seven bullet wounds inflicted by two men who attempted to rob a Newark garage. Lying critically wounded on the cot of the garage, Cook, a negro-fired his shots in return, but the bandits got away unhurt.

One of the automatic pistols, dropped by Cook's assailants, was picked up by a Newark boy. The boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Treasome, later was accidentally shot by her son-in-law, Harry Lippe, who was unaware that a cartridge remained in the weapon after the bullets had been removed.

Cook is employed as night watchman in his father's garage at 48 Little street. At two o'clock in the morning he was stepping on a cot in the office. Pounding the door awakened him. An arc light beside the cot threw two forms against a glass panel. Without moving from the cot, the watchman shouted that the garage was closed.

"That's all right," came back the answer, "we only want a few gallons of oil."

"I don't care what you want," said Cook, "the place is closed."

"Come on, be a sport," said one of the men, "we're got to get to New York. We haven't a bit of juice."

The watchman went to the door, and in a sudden push, both men got in. Two revolvers were aimed at Cook, and he was ordered to put his hands up. Instead he jumped back toward his cot, trying to get a revolver from under the floor. Then both men began firing at him.

The bullet went through his forehead, and he fell back. Another went through the right cheek and out the other side. The two others lodged in Cook's right arm and his left arm and the seventh was sent into his left hand. But the watchman struggled across the floor and got his weapon and returned the fire.

The bandits then attempted to get out, but the spring lock held them virtually prisoners. While one sought to open the door, the other reloaded his revolver. Neither paid any attention to the wounded man, just a few feet away, confident that he was too weak to hit them.

Finally Cook's revolver was empty, and giving up the attempt to open the lock, the men turned to get out the main entrance of the garage. Before going, however, the man with the reloaded revolver, turned and emptied it at Cook. All the shots missed.

Unable to get out the main entrance and fearful that the firing had aroused the neighborhood, the men put their shoulders against the panel of a small door next to the main entrance and smashed a way out. They had disappeared by the time Policeman Buesch arrived. He removed Cook to the hospital, where the wounded man was unable to describe his assailants.

P. E. I. POLITICS

Matters Likely to Come Before House at Session This Month.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., March 2.—(Canadian Press)—The provincial legislature will meet here this month for the second session of the new Liberal administration, headed by Premier John H. Bell. Although no definite information as to what legislation will be brought down for consideration is yet available it is thought that business this year will be comparatively light. Large part of the government had a very heavy programme, inclusive of increased taxation, roads and the establishment of an agricultural and technical high school.

As substantial increase in revenue was secured by the passage of the new taxation act last session and it is quite probable that the income and expenditure of the province for the year will about balance, something that has not occurred for some time in Prince Edward Island. The opposition press since the last session has been persistently attacking the government taxation measures which, they contend, were uncalled for. The contention of the opposition leader, A. E. Arsenault, was that with deavoring to kill them. They appeared to be able to carry on without materially increasing taxes of other kinds.

Under the 60-40 highways arrangement with the federal government, Premier Bell's government has expended $100,000 on roads, the automobile license fees being funded to pay the interest on the money spent.

The establishment of a provincial agricultural and technical high school with the assistance of the Dominion grant for technical education was one of the features of the government's agricultural policy. This on the whole seems to meet with popular favor, but it is expected that opposition will be taken on the ground that the school should have been established in some rural community rather than in Charlottetown where students of city life.

The selection of the building which was formerly the Rena MacLean Memorial Hospital was made by the federal government.

The opposition will probably direct their fire on the government's policy in connection with the recent teachers' strike at the Prince of Wales College. The strike was finally settled by the government granting the staff of the college almost all they asked for, but the opposition will have the opportunity of complaining of delay in the matter.

AMHERST AND THE NEW SENATOR

(Amherst News)

The News has been asked why it has not expressed an opinion on the appointment of Mr. J. A. McDonald to the senate. The implication seems to be that we should follow in the footsteps of the St. John Standard and other New Brunswick papers and denounce the appointment as a political and a violation of the constitution. We do not know why we should do so. The issue is not a New Brunswick issue, but a federal one and while people here may have their own opinion in regard to the merits of the appointment, they certainly cannot express disapproval on the same grounds as used in the columns of our St. John contemporary. That claim is that Mr. McDonald is not a present resident of New Brunswick, but a resident of Amherst. This is not a very good ground for disapproval in this community. Our people, as we know them, are not hoggish in connection with such matters, and are quite satisfied with their own representation in the senate in the person of Senator Curry; but if through the aggressiveness of a Railway Brotherhood, another resident of Amherst should receive an appointment to the upper chamber, why should the News or the people of this community join in a hue and cry in denouncing it? Mr. McDonald, we believe, will endeavor to prove true to the trust imposed in him as a senatorial representative for Westmorland, the county of his birth, but we have no doubt his sympathies will be wide enough to take cognizance of the interests of this community and that any proper claims of this province or of this community will find in him active support. We have every appreciation of the viewpoint ex-should have recognition of long years of faithful party work; but the issue raised by the Canadian Railway Brotherhood that labor is entitled to a more sympathetic representation in the senate is one that cannot be so easily laid aside, and we have every sympathy with Premier McEwen in his difficult position of making a choice between various old party claimants and a man who had the active support of an influential labor organization.

N. S. DEFENCE OF McDONALD APPOINTMENT

Amherst, N. S., March 2—(Canadian Press)—The attack on the appointment of Senator McDonald by the St. John Standard is discussed by the Amherst News.

"As J. A. McDonald enters the Senate he not only takes thither his own keen intellect but he carries with him a backing that no other appointee ever had when entering the Red Chamber. He goes to the upper house the choice of Canadian labor. Is the St. John Standard so steeped in the dregs of partyism that it cannot concede to Canada's great mass of workmen the privilege of approving of one member out of the ninety-six that go to make up the Canadian Senate? Labor as a body has endorsed Mr. McDonald. He has tollers from the east to the west standing solidly behind him. Should not such a representative be an asset in Canada's Senate?"

The News deals with the disputed question of eligibility, saying: "J. A. McDonald is a Westmorland county boy, being born and educated at Shediac, N. B. He was station agent at Shediac at the time he decided to go into the music business. He started business in Moncton, N. B., and even when he started a store in Halifax he maintained stores in St. John, N. B., Moncton and Sackville. A few years ago, having established a piano factory in Amherst, which is practically on the border line of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, he bought a farm in Shediac, N. B., built a home there and he and his family lived there. Just recently he purchased a house in Amherst so that during the winter season, when he does not have to be in closer touch with the factory there, he could have his family with him.

"He has always had business interests in New Brunswick and has for some time been vice-president of Atlantic Underwear Co., one of Moncton's most important industries. Besides this he has, as before mentioned, his home residence at Shediac, N. B."

POWER BOAT CLUB ENJOY SMOKER

The St. John Power Boat Club smoker held in the club house last evening, was a big success with Commodore Barton in the chair. One of the features was a talk on the proposed buy survey of this city, given by Dr. H. L. Spangler, who said that 1,600 willing workers could make the survey and gave many reasons for its being held. Two members of the club were appointed to give aid to the proposed work. During the evening a silver cup, presented by Hon. W. E. Foster, was handed to Harry Baker, owner of the Anzac, the speediest boat in the club. J. C. Chesley made the presentation and applause.

"Ice-Commodore George Lake announced a programme of social activities, including a club dance to be held in the Pythian Casino, when the speech will appear in their report. Those who aided in the entertainment were Harry Johnson, DeWitt Cairns, Percy Warren, William McKenzie, James Duffy and Harry Collins. Refreshments were served to the large number present and the affair voted a high success."

NEWS NOTES ABOUT PROMINENT BAPTISTS

(Maritime Baptist). Rev. R. M. Brown will soon close his work at Weymouth, N. S., having accepted the call to Zion Church at Hartington. Before going to Weymouth he was pastor of the River Glade-Forest Glen field.

Rev. W. F. Parker was at Hampton one evening last week and delivered an impressive evangelistic address. About thirty-nine years ago he was ordained in this same church. Though injuries received during a German air raid upon the hospital at Elizabeth Town, necessitated his retirement from the active work of the ministry he still preaches with all his old time earnestness and unction.

Our hearty congratulations are extended to Rev. C. S. Young, pastor of the Millstream field. The new pastor's wife will receive a very hearty welcome, first for her husband's sake, and, as acquaintance advances, for her own worth and worth.

Rev. C. F. Bolster opened his pastorate in Wainplog on February 23. Rev. W. H. Porter writes from his home at Alta Vista, B. C., that he is gradually recovering from the effects of a serious accident which befell him a few months ago.

Most encouraging results are reported from Prosser Brook, where Rev. C. W. Corry, of Lewisville, has been assisting Chas. J. B. Scoble in a three weeks' campaign.

We have received notice of the marriage of Rev. D. Matheson and Miss Sylvia Grace Matheson, both missionaries under our Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board. The ceremony was performed at the Union Baptist Church, Amherst, India, by Rev. R. E. Gullison.

The Tabernacle church, St. John, is rejoicing over the return of its pastor, Rev. A. L. Tedford, after his year's leave of absence in evangelistic work in the west.

Rev. E. S. Mason, superintendent of home missions for the maritime provinces, spent Sunday in the city. On the morning he spoke before the German street church. In the evening he was with the Central church. He is in the midst of another great work of grace. Nineteen have already been baptized and more have been received for baptism.

We greatly enjoyed a brief call last Friday from Rev. F. O. Ebb, Ph. D., of Philadelphia. Dr. Ebb holds the responsible position of editor of the young people's publications of the Maritime Baptist Publication Society. As his work called him to Boston he availed himself of the opportunity thus presented of making a flying trip to St. John to visit his parents here.

Our readers will learn with deepest sympathy that Mrs. R. E. Gullison, one of our devoted missionaries, is again seriously ill. Writing on January 12 her husband says that her suffering is intense and quite unbearable except for the relief received from hypodermic injections. The doctors fear it is a return of the old trouble.

Rev. M. S. Richardson, of Bridgetown, supplied the pulpit of the First church, Truro, one of his former parishes, on Sunday, February 20. In addition to two strong sermons, the preaching at the Fairview Mission, returning in time to address the Sunday school at the closing exercises.

BEWARE OF BRONCHITIS

Bronchitis is generally caused by neglecting a cold, or exposure to wet and inclement weather. It begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty in breathing, and a wheezing sound comes from the lungs.

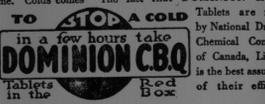

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, thereby prevent it becoming chronic, and perhaps developing into some more serious lung trouble.

Mrs. Alice Calhoun, Sheffield, Ont., writes: "In December, 1919, I was very sick with bronchitis, and had to stay in the house all winter. One day I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised, so I got a small bottle which helped me very much. I then got a 60c. size, and it completely relieved me. I cannot praise Dr. Wood's enough for what it did. Two of my neighbors are now using it for colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; the genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; three glass boxes the trade mark, price 30c and 60c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Depend upon them to break up colds and ward off "Flu".

JUST a word of caution—don't believe the evil effects of a cold. Realize its seriousness. Once a cold fastens its clutches on you, it seems as if you can't shake it off. Many very serious illnesses often have their beginning in a cold which could be readily rid of promptly if the proper remedy is taken in time. Colds come quickly and develop rapidly. Don't take any chances. At the first onset of cough, or chilly feeling, start right in to take DOMINION C.B.Q. in the

In a dingy little courtyard General Obolesky, formerly architect at the Russian court, chops wood for a living with several officers of the crack Imperial guards, one of whom has lost his reason and must be watched.

Working in an American Red Cross warehouse are twenty officers of the Imperial Guards regiment headed by Mr. Reckienisky, a lawyer of Kiev, who arrived in the Polish capital without underequipping or footwear.

SAV'S CAPTAIN PERRY WAS IN FEAR OF DEATH

Neighbor Testifies Yarmouth Victim Had Told of Previous Attempts on Life.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Yarmouth, N. S., March 1—A man continually haunted by the deed of a violent ending to his life drama, suffering from an inexplicable premonition that he would be poisoned; a man whose life had been twice menaced in insidious ways by an unknown foe; a man whose domestic life was not ideal, and centered in the gloom of a happier heart, such a man was the late Captain George Perry, according to the sensational testimony of a neighbor and friend at the inquest on Perry's murder today.

The neighbor was Thomas Nickerson, at whose house the murdered man had spent his last evening of life, and to whom Captain Perry had often indirectly expressed his fear of foul play and doubt if his ability to protect himself in the domestic life of the Perrys; of the separation between the children and his wife and their later reconciliation; of Perry's wishful longing for a home that was happy. An arrest is expected soon, according to Inspector Kennedy.

I had constant pain in my stomach and back, and was so nervous I couldn't sit down and study or read for any length of time. I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep, and many nights I just had to walk the floor until I became exhausted."

"So many others were getting relief by taking Tanlac that I decided to try it, and it was certainly a wise move, for the medicine has rid me of all my troubles and built me up to where I feel like my old self again. Why, I have gained ten pounds in weight and I'm certainly thankful to Tanlac for my good health, for it fixed me up when everything else failed me."

DANDERINE HOTEL MUST PAY $115 FOR A GOWN

Waiter Spilled Plate of Soup on Woman's Dress

Detroit, March 2—An unusual lawsuit was decided here, when Justice Richter awarded $115 damages to Mrs. Catherine Seymour against Hotel Statler for damage done in a costly gown she wore one evening when a waitress spilled a plate of soup in her lap.

The accident occurred during a dinner tendered Mrs. Louise Roosevelt Robinson, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt, last fall. At the first hearing of the case the hotel asked for a retrial on the ground that Mrs. Ralph Alsworth, one of the guests, "liggled" the arm of the waitress, causing the soup to be spilled.

The court held that, as the damage was done at the hotel and was caused by one of the hotel employes, the owners must stand the loss.

FATAL DUEL IN KENTUCKY TOWN

Man Who Resisted Arrest Killed—Deputy Sheriff Mortally Wounded.

Lexington, Ky., March 2.—While scores of people stood at a comparatively safe distance to watch the battle, Deputy Sheriff John Smith of Hazard, Perry county, Ky., and Kelly Robinson, a professional "bad man" who had terrorized parts of the Kentucky mountains for years, fought a duel at Hazard with pistols, that resulted in the death of Robinson and the fatal wounding of Smith.

The duel followed the attempted arrest of Robinson, who was thirty years old, by Smith, who is twenty-two, being the youngest deputy sheriff in the state. Robinson had just been paroled from the penitentiary, where he was serving a term for murder. He reached Hazard and invaded his brother John's restaurant, where, with drawn pistol, he created terror among the diners and threatened to shoot them.

Officers ordered him to leave town and a squad escorted him to the outskirts. Robinson later came back into the town by a different route and met Smith in the street. Smith started toward Robinson and he began firing. Smith replied promptly. Robinson got first blood and shot Smith twice. Smith put two bullets into Robinson, with both men still on their feet. Then Smith got in a third shot and Robinson fell dead. Smith then collapsed and it was found that he was mortally wounded.

DIGBY SHORTAGE IS NOT SERIOUS

Digby, N. S., March 1.—That the much advertised "shortage" of the town clerk and treasurer of this town was but $465.30 at the end of the year and that $426.68 has since been paid into the town's chest, causing the deficit to be spilled.

The court held that, as the damage was done at the hotel and was caused by one of the hotel employes, the owners must stand the loss.

NUXATED IRON

Helps make rich, red blood and revitalizes weak nerves

YOU MAY BE A BETTER MAN AT 45, THAN THE YOUTH OF 25

If you keep your blood rich in iron to give you plenty of "staying there" strength and endurance.

In an account of a severe nervous condition, a New York newspaper states that 20 per cent. of those who completed the feat were 44 years an over. It is therefore shown that you may be a better man at 45 than the husky strapping of 25 if you take care of yourself and keep your blood filled with iron. Prize fighters, wrestlers and athletes have learned the value of plenty of plain coarse foods in their training. Such a diet helps supply their blood with iron. Nature put plenty of iron in the husks of grains and the peels of vegetables to enrich your blood, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence the alarming increase in recent years in Anemia—in iron starvation of the blood, with its devastating weakness, nervousness and other attendant ill. If you are not strong and well, if you lack bodily and mental vigor, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration or in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but take some organic iron like NUXATED IRON. Once to help enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves. Organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron you need and like the iron in spinach and apples. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. You can even eat it if you wish. It offsets increased acidity of the stomach. It is a sure substitute. Look for the "Nuxated" on every package and to N. I. on every tablet. At druggists.

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular. If I did any house cleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed. My husband thinking every minute was my last, after reading your textbook for women I took Dr. E. P. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sarsaparilla Wash, and never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak—but after taking Vegetable Compound it strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight pound boy. I was well all the time, did all my work up to the last day of my natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they saw me they made me strong as a horse. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Use this testimonial at any time.—Mrs. ELIZABETH SMAR, 142 W. Sixth St., Lowell, Mass. This experience of Mrs. Smart is surely a strong recommendation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is only one of a great many similar cases.

CONSTANCE BINNEY
IN
"39 EAST"

FROM THE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME BY RACHEL CROTHERS
DIRECTED BY JOHN S. ROBERTSON
SCENARIO BY KATHRYNE STUART

What Are Boarding House Cats?

ARE they the felines who assist Madame to keep the kitchen clear of food scraps? Are they the noisy serenaders who make the back fence a target for male boarders' missiles
They are neither of these! They are THE WOMEN BOARDERS WHO SPREAD UGLY STORIES—Stories, for the most part, that are minus all foundation. Stories which benefit no one and harm the innocent. Stories that are hard to kill because they are hard to trace. When you see "39 EAST," you'll agree that there should be a special punishment for such gossipers.
CONSTANCE BINNEY portrays the object of their gossip. Sweet and innocent, with faith in the deceptive people of a wicked world, she finds her actions misinterpreted by her neighbors at the boarding house.
They seek to sully this spotless flower. They almost succeed—but their activities bring an unexpected champion and—Yes, it brings her—true love!

LOCAL NEWS

SPRING.
 With the gutters miniature brooks, the sun shining brightly and the temperature about fifty above, St. John felt today like putting its winter overcoat into the mothball-scented parcel and stowing it away until next winter. Best of all was the note of the robin, which was heard today in more than one part of the city.

HORSE DROPS DEAD.
 A horse owned by James Beckwith, dropped dead this morning at eleven o'clock at the corner of King Square and Sydney street. It was one of a double team hauling an empty cart. The driver procured an attachment for a single team and drove on, and the dead animal was taken away about one o'clock.

THREE NEW HOUSES.
 Indications of a resumption of building activity in this locality were shown this morning when W. L. Fenton made application to the water and sewerage department for water pipe connections for three houses that he contemplates building in the near future, in Champlain street. It was learned that it is the intention to build three houses of the two-beneath type, valued at approximately $400 each, and operations are expected to start within a few days. It was said that lack of sufficient accommodation, in conjunction with soaring building costs, have been factors in causing the houses to be built.

STREET WALKERS.
 According to an anonymous letter received by Magistrate Ritchie this morning "street walkers" in this city are making a practice of "picking up" married men and taking them to dance halls and other places of amusement, thus causing a great deal of sorrow in happy homes. The magistrate said the letter was nicely written. He said if he had his way every girl or woman who was on the street after nine o'clock in the evening and could not give a satisfactory account of herself, would be brought to the police station. A law passed in 1916 is still in effect.

ST. JOHN BRIDE.
 The society column of the Norfolk, Va., Ledger Dispatch contains the announcement of a wedding of interest to St. John friends of the bride, Miss Flora Mildred Kierstead. At the residence of her brother, F. P. Kierstead, 3208 Lewellyn avenue, Norfolk, she was united in marriage with Charles Joseph Currier of West Point, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. D. S. Knight. The bride was given away by her brother and was attended by Mrs. F. P. Kierstead as matron of honor. The groom was supported by his brother, Walter Currier. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Currier left for a wedding trip to New York and other northern cities. Miss Kierstead is a daughter of I. T. Kierstead, 866 Union street.

MANY ATTENDED FUNERAL OF ALEX. MACAULAY TODAY

In the presence of hundreds of people from all ranks of life the last respects were paid to the memory of Alexander Macaulay in St. Andrew's church this afternoon. The service was very impressive and a warm tribute was paid to the many estimable qualities of a man who for so many years occupied such a prominent place in the business and social life of the community. Rev. F. S. Dowling, in a very sympathetic manner, spoke of the deity of human life and the happiness that comes with confidence in God.

POLICE COURT

In the police court today a case against liquor to John Fitzgerald, was resumed, but again postponed until Monday afternoon. Fitzgerald, who was in court, took a bad spell and was taken to a doctor for treatment, and so the case was not proceeded with. J. Wood, a witness for the defence, commenced his evidence, in which he said Fitzgerald had not been on the premises of the accused on the day in question. W. M. Ryan conducted the prosecution and E. S. Ritchie the defence.
