WILL MAKE A LAST EFFORT TO FIND CREAMER CHILDREN

Constable Thomas Will Once More Search the Woods—Work on the New I. C. R. Shops is Progressing Well—Scott Act Offenders Fined

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 6.—In what will be the last effort to find the Creamer children or their bodies, Constable Thomas, the local constable, who some time ago spent two or three weeks at the scene of the mystery in a vain search, will return to Bayfield next week. As before Mr. Thomas' expenses will be paid by F. E. Sumner, of this city, whose interest in the case has not yet died out and whose offer of a reward of $100 for the discovery of the children still stands. Mr. Thomas is who first advocated the idea that the missing party had been lost in one of the mud holes of which there are a number near the Creamer home. He is still firm in his adherence to this belief but thinks that with the falling of the leaves from the trees in October weather and the withering away of the undergrowth, a search in the woods will be much easier and the chances for finding the bodies if they are there, much increased. Mrs. Creamer has a couple of miles away from the spot where her two children wandered away. Some time ago Mrs. Creamer went to Dorchester to see if another search could be undertaken by parties there but this was the only occasion on which she was away from home.

With two hundred men at work and five buildings under way, the grading for the new yard which it will be necessary to establish as soon as the shops are completed. The weather sets in the work will be very far advanced. Before Margaret McQueen at Sheldiac parish was fined fifty dollars and costs for Scott Act violation. The case of Kennedy, of Moncton, was fined the same amount in this court last week, and two more Moncton cases against Eliot Ormond and O. S. Legers came up Monday.

SKELETON WAS THAT OF PADDY DONOHUE

Remains Found Near Moncton Identified—Mrs. K. Bezanon Dead.

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 6.—Little doubt exists but that the skeleton found in the woods here yesterday is that of ninety-year-old "Paddy" Donohue, belonging to Richibucto, who did odd jobs for farmers around this vicinity in the summer of 1907. This morning Oscar Gibson, with whom Donohue had worked off and on for the past ten years, positively identified the clothes which covered the bones and all other indications point to the remains being those of Donohue. He was last seen alive about the middle of May. At the inquest yesterday held by Coroner Garneau it was decided that there was no foul play.

Mrs. K. Bezanon, wife of the well-known jeweller, died last night after lingering illness of a year or more. She was a sister of I. C. R. General Freight Agent J. J. Wallace, and her husband and two sons, Frank, in Sydney, and Charles, in Moncton, survive.

The retraction was made in terms agreed upon by the papal nuncio and the government.

BRITISH OFFICERS SHOT BY THEIR MEN

Mistakes of Soldiers in the Zulu Campaign Costs Many Lives.

DURBAN, Oct. 6.—The return of the colonial militia from the Zulu campaign has brought to light a number of mistakes of soldiers which have cost many lives. With regard to the deaths of Captain Macfarlane, of the Transvaal Infantry, and Lieutenant Marsden, of Royston's Horse, both of whom were mortally wounded at the Mome Gorge, it is declared by members of the corps who took part in the engagement that Captain Macfarlane's head was shattered by a bullet fired from a ridge on the other side of the gorge, which a certain colonial corps was holding, the unfortunate officer being believed through a dreadful accident to have been killed by his own men.

The trial of William E. Clark before Judge Landry in circuit court was concluded today. J. B. M. Baxter, for the prisoner, and Attorney General Pugsley, for the crown, addressed a brief charge. This was ended at half-past one when the jury retired and court was adjourned for luncheon on the understanding that the judge would be notified whenever the jurors agreed on a verdict. In yesterday afternoon's session of the Clark case the prisoner testified in his own defence. He said that on Wednesday and Thursday the 1st and 2nd of August, he had been in Carleton. The prisoner denied being near the rifle range and never saw the Tuttle girl till after his arrest. On Saturday, Aug. 4th, the prisoner said he did not work in the afternoon. About two o'clock he went to the barber to get shaved. He had to wait fully an hour there, after which he went to the car sheds, where he waited for a short time. From the car sheds he went to a knoll a short distance from his home where he dined for a while. When there he saw some children picking berries. He returned home about four o'clock and slept till five when he went on a message for his wife. Witness explained how he was arrested and said that he never saw either of the girls till after his arrest. The attorney general cross-examined the prisoner who stuck to his original story.

POLICEMEN WILL BEGIN SUITS FOR DAMAGES

Sullivan and Perry to Take Action Against William Pyne on Account of the Recent Charges.

Officers Sullivan and Perry have decided to bring an action for damages against Wm. Pyne as a result of the recent charges made against them. The officers feel that in spite of the fact that Chief Clark has completely exonerated them there are still some people who think that they were concerned in the matter in some unlawful way. Officer Sullivan, speaking of the affair, said that he feels that he can never regain public confidence if he does not take the matter to the courts and have it completely threshed out. He further said that Mr. Pyne had brought the accusation more against Officer Perry than himself, and that he was only concerned in it because he was with Perry on the night the place was found open.

He Had Escaped from an Asylum—Was Confined for Shooting a Man the Day of His Marriage.

DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—One of the most thrilling Irish crimes of the last century was recalled the other day, when William Thompson, an escaped murderer, who had succeeded in eluding the police for eighteen years, walked into the police barracks at Market Hill, County Armagh, and gave himself up.

On March 2, 1888, a wedding was taking place in Knocknuckilly parish church, the bridegroom being a young widower named Thomas Thompson. His first wife, who was not long dead, was a sister to William Thompson, and there had been unpleasantness regarding the treatment of the woman by her husband.

On the day of the wedding William Thompson sat near the aisle, and as the bridegroom was passing in on his way to the altar, drew a revolver and shot him. The wounded man threw himself on his assailant, and assisted by other men of the party, overpowered him after a desperate struggle.

The wound proved fatal, and William Thompson was tried for murder and sentenced to death. In addressing the court at the trial he explained at length his motive for the crime, alleging systematic ill-treatment of his sister. He expressly disclaimed any intention to set up a plea of insanity.

He was reprieved, however, on that ground, and was committed to Dunderdun Criminal Asylum.

A few months later the murderer escaped from the asylum. No effort was spared to trace him, but although in several occasions the pursuers appeared to be on the track, Thompson was not seen again till he gave himself up.

DISARMAMENT OF CUBANS TO BE FINISHED ON MONDAY

HAVANA, Oct. 5.—While the disarmament of the rebels will not be completed Saturday night, it is now confidently expected that the entire operation will be finished by Monday, with the exception of Puerto Principe province, which has been less affected than any other province by the rebellion, but which is now a favorite region for marauding bands which should more correctly be called bandits than rebels.
Although the surrender of guns has not been made compulsory, either by the provisional government or the disarming commission, the rebel commanders have all given their followers to understand that it was expected and that the laying down of their arms was a matter of duty. The result of this has been that the number of rifles surrendered is larger, in proportion to the number of men disbanded, than the government expected. For instance, eight hundred rebels disbanded in Pinar del Rio province up to today have turned in six hundred guns. Governor Tatt reports this proportion rather better than expected. The available reports from Santa Clara indicate that nearly all the guns of General Guzman's command have been surrendered. A great majority of the rebel rifles are old and poor and many dislodged weapons have been turned in. The general disarmament situation in the various provinces is as follows:
In Pinar del Rio, practically all the rebels have been disarmed and have returned to their homes. In western and southern Havana the work of disarming is going on steadily and probably will be completed by Saturday. Assistant Secretary of State Bacon and Capt. Hovey will visit Eastern Havana on Saturday and hope to complete the disarmament there without loss of life. General Montero, commander of the forces in Eastern Havana visited the palace today and agreed to the disarmament conditions. Matanzas province has no insurgents, with the exception of a few of Montero's followers. In Santa Clara Guzman's disarmament is going on victoriously, and the disarming commission and the provisional government are receiving with every evidence of good will, the disarmament has been completed in Sancti Spiritus, with exception of small forces in the vicinity of Manzanillo which will disband tomorrow.
Governor Tatt said today the only difficulty there was a possibility of trouble by the Cimarrones. Cattle lift now consists of Sir William Van Horne (chairman), Lord Strathcona, Richard B. Angus, E. B. Daley, M. P., Sir Thomas Shaughnessy (president), and David McNicoll.

He was born in Athol, Scotland, in 1852, and in August, 1896, he began his railway career as a clerk in the goods department of the North British Railway. He pointed constant general manager in 1898, and in 1900 was elected general vice-president and general passenger agent. MISS HELEN AUBREY will present for the first time in St. John the grand drama THE OCTOPUS dealing with the power of the trust, supported by her New York Company, MONDAY, Oct. 15th, the great southern romance THE RED ROSE.

WANTED FULL DETAILS.
A small boy was being vehemently upbraided for walking close along the edge of a cliff. In order to emphasize the enormity of the danger, the remonstrating parent drew a picture of a little girl who had so walked there, fallen over, and been dashed to pieces below. The small boy listened with all his ears, and seemed duly impressed. When the climax was reached a look of disappointment came over his face. "You didn't say how many pieces," he murmured.—Liverpool Post-Mercury.

SOUTH AFRICAN TROUBLES
OVER RAILWAY RATES
Cape Government in a Struggle With the Corporations—Rebating Carried on on all Lines.
JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 6.—South Africa, like the United States, is having a vast deal of trouble over railway rates. In this particular case, however, the deadlock appears to have arisen between the various South African railway administrations as a result of the opening of the new line from Bethlehem to Kroonstad. It will be remembered that the line was constructed by the Natal Government under an agreement which has long been public property, the rates which the Central South African Railways were prepared to allow Natal to charge in respect of it were based on that agreement, and were published last February. Briefly, they represent "the most-favored-nation treatment"—that is to say, the Cape rates were always certain to enable Natal to capture a certain amount of the traffic of the Orange River Colony which was previously given to the Cape. In other words, the Cape has now been placed in the same position with respect to that area as the construction of the Klondike-Fourteen Streams Railway had already placed Natal in with respect to the western Transvaal. The two cases are precisely parallel, though there is no official connection between them.
In June the Cape Government began a tremendous protest and very soon thereafter the protest into action by announcing that they would grant rebates on traffic in the disputed area. This sudden move seems really to have spoiled their case, seeing that it absolutely violated the agreement. Moreover, it was made immediately after an appeal to Lord Selborne to act as mediator in the whole controversy. Nevertheless, Lord Selborne devoted the whole of July and August to an effect an amicable arrangement either by way of conference or by submission of the case to arbitration. His efforts proved abortive owing to the refusal of the Cape Government to suspend their rebates meanwhile, and the High Commissioner has now yielded to an appeal from the authorities of the Central South African Railways to allow them to contract these rebates by the imposition of countervailing rates on their own section of the line.
That is the present position of affairs.
Advertising even moderately well managed, is one of the shortest roads to success.—Artemus Ward, "Sapolo." T.

CENSUS OF THE WEST.
Total Population of the Prairie Provinces Exceeds Eight Hundred Thousand.
OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 5.—While the census returns of the three prairie provinces are incomplete, enough is known to make a close approximate possible. The whole population of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, as is known will come close to $85,000. By provinces it will be: Manitoba, $50,000, with three or four subdivisions to be heard from, which will make the total about $6,000; Saskatchewan, about $29,000, the returns from this province being the least complete; Alberta, $4,000, with one sub-division to come in.

TRYING TO MAKE THE SILK HAT FASHIONABLE
London Manufacturers Thankful to King Edward for Wearing One of These Recently.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—Among manufacturers much satisfaction is being expressed today when it was learned that had appeared at Doncaster in a silk hat. They complain that for a long time past their industry has been under a cloud, to a great extent because the wearing of other types of headgear has been sanctioned. In most distinguished society, and they are inclined to believe that the step taken at Doncaster by His Majesty will prove a wholesome corrective. There is no question that the sale of silk hats has fallen off in recent times to an extraordinary degree, and that now a few producers of the article have been hit uncommonly hard by a crisis of fashion which certainly appeared to have attained its zenith at Goodwood. There is a disposition to anticipate that a turn of the tide will now be observable, more especially as the hot summer weather is at an end, and to predict that before long the Paris hat, despite all the depreciatory words which have been said respecting it, will shortly establish itself in public favor.

RUSSIAN ELOPERS ARRIVE IN PARIS
Lieutenant Essipoff and Wife of General Ouchakoff Fleeing From Husband's Ire.
PARIS, Oct. 5.—Great interest was created today when it was learned that the fugitive Russian Lieutenant Gabriel Essipoff, accompanied by the wife of Gen. Ouchakoff, had arrived here today from New York. They had come on the steamship Savoie, fleeing from the vengeance of the husband and former friend of Lieutenant Essipoff.
Landing at Havre, this morning, the couple arrived at the St. Lazare station tonight. They travelled under assumed names, and were accompanied by an elderly woman. The passengers on the Savoie were not aware of their identity but Essipoff was recognized at the station here. He was completely surprised, and in reply to inquiries said: "I have nothing to say. We wish to be left alone. We are quite happy."
"Do you know General Ouchakoff threatened to kill you?" was asked.
"Yes," was the answer, "but he will never find us. We will be gone before he arrives here."
The fugitives then took a cab to a hotel in the Rue de Rivoli, but later changed their quarters several times and succeeded in hiding their tracks. It is believed they intend to take another ocean steamer.
The elopers fled from St. Petersburg several weeks ago, closely pursued by the general, who tracked them to various cities in Europe and finally reached Hamburg two hours after they reached for New York. The general followed on the next steamship, only to find upon arrival there that his wife and the lieutenant had returned to Europe on the Savoie. General Ouchakoff is now on board the steamship Provence on his way here.

EUROPEAN NEWSPAPERS
ROAST THE GIBSON GIRL

Say She Is Not an American Type, Is a Freak and a Monstrosity—Miss Clifford Denies That She Is the Model.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—No sooner has Mr. Dana Gibson turned his back on Paris than European newspapers commenced to cast doubts on the hitherto unquestioned beauty of the "Gibson Girl."
One scribbler actually likened the figure and carriage of the "Gibson Girl" to what he scornfully terms "an emaciated kangaroo."
After all the popularity that the "Gibson Girl" has enjoyed this denunciation comes as a shock. When therefore, it was as delicately as possible suggested to Miss Clifford that the "Gibson Girl" in general—not Miss Clifford, of course—was inclined to be "kangarooish" in her characteristics, the fiancée of the Hon. Lyndhurst Bruce was startled.
Unfortunately, too, it has to be confessed that to some extent Miss Clifford hedged.
"I am not a 'Gibson Girl,'" she said. "I never was a 'Gibson Girl.' Why people call me a 'Gibson Girl' I cannot imagine. There are plenty of 'Gibson Girls,' but I am not one of them." "Then you have been libelled, Miss Clifford."
"No, it is not I who have been libelled. It is the real 'Gibson Girl.' But are they really like kangaroos?" was the next question.
"I am sure I don't know," answered Miss Clifford a little doubtfully. "I really could not say. I've never seen a kangaroo. All I know is that I think

THE CHINESE BOYCOT OF AMERICAN GOODS. Younger Men Were Chiefly to Blame for the Agitation

But the Ordinary Chinese Did Not Care Much for Sentiment and the Agitation Made No Difference to Him.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—According to the British Consul at Fochow, H. F. Brady, the agitation to boycott American goods, which showed its most prominent during the summer throughout China was vigorously supported locally. One or two trivial cases occurred in which coolies engaged on cargo boats lighting steamers struck work when called upon to handle goods of American origin, and on one occasion a British firm was compelled to use its own employes to remove goods to its warehouses, but it was found that it was only when emissaries of the Boycotting Committee were present that this occurred, otherwise, as long as they received their wages, the coolies were not particular what class of merchandise they handled, and, on the whole, no practical inconvenience was experienced. The local committee, however, met by the British Consul, and the organizing committees, established at Shanghai and centres, accusing them of being lacking in spirit and patriotism, conducted the campaign with much energy, and were successful in working up a "very lively sense of the

GERMANY NOT A SUCCESS AT HANDLING COLONIZATION. Enormous Expenditure Necessary—Some Feeling Being Aroused Against Poor Returns

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The continued revelations of Herr Erzberger on colonial mismanagement, and his statement that he has yet to play his trump card, have created a general feeling of uneasiness. The Board of Railroad Commissioners at a hearing of the petition of the company for authority to install a third track on Washington street near the Dudley street terminal. According to the testimony of Simon Berenson, a real estate dealer, of No. 71 Lambert street, Roxbury, the revived corpse was not only able to converse to some extent, but lived again for twenty-four hours, and then died for good. Berenson, speaking in a low, earnest voice, caused all at the hearing to listen intently.
"A near friend of mine had peacefully passed away," said he, "and preparations were being made for his burial. A few of us were beside the body assisting the family in their sorrowful duties, when we heard the approach of an elevated train which was backing upon a siding. For some unaccountable reason the motorman began the blowing of his whistle and continued while the train passed the room in which lay the body of my late friend. To our great consternation we saw the body stir and a slight nervous twinkle in the eyes opened slowly and a painful expression passed over the face. We were actually frozen with fear, and as the train passed we were unable to utter a word. Finally the man arose and asked what all the racket was about. When at last we regained control of our tongues we replied that an elevated train had just passed the window with the whistle blowing. He seemed satisfied with the explanation and settled back upon the couch. He lived for twenty-four hours and then passed away forever."

NOISY BOSTON PUT LIFE IN A CORPSE. Testimony That Man Was Brought Back to Life by Tooting of Train Whistle.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—That the Boston elevated railroad train made so much noise that the racket brought a man back to life to inquire what all the confusion was about was the testimony presented before the Board of Railroad Commissioners at a hearing of the petition of the company for authority to install a third track on Washington street near the Dudley street terminal. According to the testimony of Simon Berenson, a real estate dealer, of No. 71 Lambert street, Roxbury, the revived corpse was not only able to converse to some extent, but lived again for twenty-four hours, and then died for good. PLAYS COMEDY PART WITH THE UTMOST SOLEMNITY. William Morris Made a Hit by Letting His Audience Find Out the Fun for Themselves.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—William Morris, the actor, whose imperturbable manner of playing a leading part in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," at the Waldorf Theatre, made what Americans would call a "strike," declines all intention of personifying a type in this character of Frank Fuller.
"In America," said Mr. Morris, "the character was not intended to be an American, but here, of course, you took it that he was so. The part was quite a new departure for me, as previously to rehearsing it I had always played romantic heroes in such plays as 'The Adventure of Lady Ursula,' 'The Red Robe,' and in dramas of the Adelphi type."

NEW LABOR PARTY FORMED IN TOKIO. Demand Universal Suffrage and Many Other Things

Remarkable Journey Made by Officers of the Chinese Forces Over the Desolate Gobi Desert.

TOKIO, October 6.—A Labor Party has been formed in Tokio, and a strong manifesto has been issued, declaring that the existing labor conditions are deplorable.
The new party's programme includes opposition to monopolies, universal male and female suffrage, a general increase of wages and reduction of hours, the abolition of capital punishment and of titular distinctions, fundamental reform in taxation, and arbitration in all international questions.
The organizers are not men of much influence, but the movement is significant in view of the recent increase in labor troubles and Socialist disturbances concerning the raising of tramway fares. The Socialists have been showing much activity lately at the capital.
Details of an extraordinary journey accomplished by Colonel C. D. Bruce, of the Chinese Regiment, at Wel-hal-hel, and Capt. Layard, of the Northamptonshire Regiment have been published.
Starting from Simla, in August, 1905, the two officers made their way to Crinagar, the capital of Kashmir, and from there east to Leh, the last outpost of British rule. Thence they

A Member of Westminster Health Committee Who Visited America Makes a Very Favorable Report on His Return.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—"I assert most positively that the Chicago methods (of slaughtering animals) are more humane and more cleanly than the London methods. I saw nothing that would warrant this wild scare about Chicago canned meats."
The above striking statement is made by Mr. F. J. Bridge, a master butcher, of Denmark street, Beigravia, and a member of the Westminster city council, in an interview in which he describes his impressions of a visit to the Chicago stockyards.
Councillor Bridge, who is a member of the Westminster Public Health Committee, was asked by his council to visit Chicago.
He arrived home a few days ago, and was interviewed by a representative of the local government journal.
"I saw everything," he said. "No department escaped me. I saw the slaughter men at work. To say they are filthy in their habits is ridiculous. I saw the lard made. All of it is absolutely good and wholesome. I visited the cellars where the meat is stored and the various parts prepared for consumption; and here the methods are again superior to ours."
"Altogether I saw nothing that would warrant a suspicion of the canned meats. The whole process is clean, wholesome, sanitary and expeditious."
Mr. Bridge said that on each floor of the packing and slaughtering houses there was at least one government inspector. On some he saw as many as three. One of them told him that the system of inspection had been "going on for donkey's years."

EMPEROR WILLIAM WANTS NO PESSIMISTS IN GERMANY. Advises Them to Get Out and Look for Some Happier Land.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The Kaiser's Breslau speech suggesting that the pessimists should quit the Fatherland and betake themselves to happier lands has caused an avalanche of newspaper criticism, which tonight spreads itself over the Imperial orations and deeds of the last eighteen years.
The writers are one and all convinced that the mistakes of the present reign, both as regards domestic and foreign politics, are the outcome of an irrevocable spirit of optimism. The Roman Catholic "Volkszeitung" observes that the German Government embarked upon the stormy seas of world policy like a navigator who had forgotten his compass. "The inconsistent course steered by the ship of state on those seas," it adds, "has resulted in exciting against it the suspicions of all foreign observers."
Journals of all shades of political opinion join in the Roman Catholic tirade against the dramatic political methods of the German Government, and argue that a healthy dose of pessimism is urgently needed in the councils of the empire.
Inquire the use of it and take up with another — no matter how much the trader may vaunt the superiority of another class. It was not, therefore, difficult for them to blink at the external wrappings and make use of the contents, and this appears to have been the course pursued as regards loans and four, the two great staple articles of American trade in this district.

SUCCESSFUL MERCHANT. Berlin, Oct. 5.—With characteristic enterprise and with a tendency toward the American which some of his subjects do not appreciate, the Kaiser has appointed Herr Dernburg, the famous business man, head of the German Colonial Office, in place of Prince Ernst Hohenhausen-Langenberg, who has retired. Herr Dernburg started business life as a clerk, and has risen to be a banker with an income of $25,000 a year. He sacrifices for an income of $2,750 a year and an official residence. He was a director of several banks, and the leader of a dozen or so industrial enterprises in Germany, as well as a director of the Consolidated Mines Selection Company.

INDIAN NEWSPAPER DEMANDS NATIVE RULE. Says the Time Has Come When the Country Should be Free from British Control.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 6.—The native newspaper, "Bande Mataram," publishes the following:
"The time has come when our British friends should be distinctly told that, while we are thankful for all the kind things they have done for us already, we cannot any longer suffer ourselves to be guided by them in our attempts at political progress and emancipation."
"Their point of view is not ours; they desire to make the government of India popular without ceasing in any sense to be essentially British. We desire to make it autonomous and absolutely free of British control."

WIRELESS MESSAGES FROM CORNWALL TO SWITZERLAND. GENEVA, Oct. 6.—The Marconi wireless station at Fort Stockli, on top of St. Gotthard, has been receiving messages daily from the Marconi station at Polkhu, Cornwall.
No attempt has been made to communicate between these stations, and the messages received at Fort Stockli have evidently been intended for other stations. The distance between the stations is about 650 miles as the crow flies.

THE OATH OF ALLEGIANCE. Globe Thinks American Settlers in North West Should Take It
LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Evening Globe says if American farmers are allowed, as our correspondent informs us, to come and acquire lands in the Northwest and Canada, without taking the oath of allegiance and without becoming British subjects, it certainly is an exceedingly unwise remiss of the Canadian authorities.
It is absurd and unjust that while men clamoring in England for a chance of getting back to the land, aliens should be allowed to take up property while still subjects of another state. It is a matter that needs to be enquired into.

a 'Gibson Girl' very very pretty. So please don't associate me with 'Gibson Girls.' And Miss Clifford rang off.
Mr. Eustace Miles, the exponent of physical culture, said in an interview: "I think the 'Gibson Girl' not only untypical of the American female, but also far from the ideal of womanhood. In the first place, she has an unpleasant expression, as if she were far superior to the people around her. Such an expression may not be intentionally haughty; it may be the result of dyspepsia. The American woman is not—and does not look—haughty. So far as externals are concerned, she is pleasant and facile.
"In the second place, she has an exaggerated and almost grotesque carriage. Although it is a common fault of women to protrude the elbows and abdomen forward, and not to hollow the back sufficiently, the 'Gibson Girl' goes to the other extreme, she appears unnatural.
"The average American girl of the age of the 'Gibson Girl' is, I think, not only more agreeable in expression, but also less exaggeratedly stately in pose. She has larger hips and larger ankles."

Industries to which their fellow-subjects in America were being subjected by the harsh enforcement of the exclusion laws in the States." This feeling found expression at many public meetings where the young China element, or youths who had some slight training in foreign missionary schools took a prominent part. Much vapouring was indulged in, but the only actual outcome of it was the dissemination of placards calling upon the people to refrain from buying American goods, and warning shopkeepers against stocking them; any stocks they had they were allowed to dispose of. The trade in American goods, however, is entirely in the hands of British merchants, as there are no American firms established at Fochow, and they say that so long as the impress of American origin was not too conspicuously stamped on the goods, little difficulty was experienced in finding purchasers. The ordinary Chinaman is of an eminently practical turn of mind, and he is not easily influenced by sentiment where his material welfare is concerned or his pocket is threatened, and once he has accustomed himself to one particular class of goods it requires strong inducements to make him re-

Marked Differences in the Crowns of Hats

FROM the time she ties her hair back in its cluster of curls, or its loose braids, the question of her hat becomes a thoroughly absorbing one to the average girl. The soft tam-o'-shanter crowns that have come in again, in bold contradiction to the tiny crowns of a year ago, are particularly suited to the 12-year-old girl's hat, although there's many a girl who looks better, because of the shape of her face or her general build, in a small crown. For her, there are small hats with rounded crowns—some what of a modification of the derby shapes that were seen in such profusion last spring and summer. The favorite trimming of all is ribbon—ribbon or a narrow silk scarf, drawn and twisted into loose, graceful folds and tied or draped into an odd, effective bow. Upon the placing of that bow—whether in front, or back, or at the side—depends the whole style of the hat, and whether or not it is becoming. Directly in back is the newest position for it to take, the hat tilted ever so slightly, and the bow made to rest on the hair quite as much as it does on the hat. But in this point, as in that of the size of the crown, the widest latitude in style prevails. If the bow is more becoming at the side, it is deftly adapted to give the effect of a bow at the back, one side of the brim is rolled up, and the ribbon is massed at the side as well. These scarfs, by the way, have assumed a tremendous importance. Often they are of striped silk, even oftener of a gay, pretty plaid, and sometimes a single color will have coloring sprinkled lavishly over it. Wings and quills hold their own for young girls' hats, principally because there is nothing else which at once gives service and style at a minimum of cost. A modified form of the Peter Pan hat is having a small furore all by itself. It is not the extremely narrow hat, which, strange to say, is enjoying undeserved popularity among the first fall hats, but a hat as wide as is the usual toque, with the trimming made to add just a little more to its width. Yet, in spite of these changes, the idea of the quaint little shape is anything but interfered with.

Headgear For Grown Folks

A SAILOR of crepe suitable for a young widow who has just removed her long veil has a long bow of crepe under the brim, and folds of crepe around the crown ending at each side in three stiff ear-shaped tabs, held by buckles of jet grapes. One turban with a fancy coronet of braid had choux of uncut velvet and silk resting low on the hair in the back, with two wings just in front of them, one falling on the hair, the other erect and slanting sharply to the back. A rather severe little toque, entirely of braid, slightly raised at one side, has a soft crown and stiff brim. The only trimmings are flat folds of silk, with two long ears of silk beneath two broad black jets held in place by an oval, dull-jet buckle. Very stiff little hats with low, round crowns and straight shallow brims are simply bound with silk, and have a plain band and flat bow to one side. Radium silk that wonderful stuff that is a cross between silk and chiffon, comes in the most exquisite gray shown in any material for

TAILORED SUITS FOR THE GIRL OF TWELVE

EVEN the girl of 12 has her little suit, smartly tailored and with the emphasis of style laid upon the buttons, which, though plain, as becomes everything in tailor fashion, are often very rich. Buttons, by the way, figure very largely upon the clothes that girls of all ages wear, from the tiny tot, with great fur buttons set upon her coat, to her debutante sister, whose suit has its greatest beauty spot in them. Plaids are even better liked for the small girl's suits than they are for her older sisters. Often she wears a plaid dress, with a thoroughly boyish top coat of covert cloth or of melton. But the little plaid suits are most girlish and attractive, and, best of all, from a mother's standpoint are preferable to plain cloth in that they seem not to spot nor soil so readily. Like her older sister again, the little girl's skirts are carefully shaped—gored and made to flare. Circular models, for obvious reasons, are tabooed for her. As to jackets, they are loose, or, at the tightest, are little blouse coats, belted in and clasped with a plain buckle. Few of them are trimmed, braiding being the usual thing where trimming is used at all; or, following older fashions again, the collar and cuffs may be of velvet—usually of a good, strong shade; even a bright shade is good. A favorite jacket for a twelve-year-old is very like the pony jackets which were so popular last spring and Norfolk styles are as perennial with her as is the sailor suit. Both double and single breasted effects are good, only if she's a chunky little mortal don't have a short, double-breasted coat for her. It will emphasize the "chubbiness" to a most unpleasant degree. For separate coats, box coats, full or three-quarter length, are usually worn, made of slightly rougher materials than were worn by even the young girls last year.

SOME INTERESTING NOTES OF FASHIONS

AN EXQUISITE crepe de chine gown, worn by a very fair woman, was the wine color in fashion in our grandmother's day. A host of new reds are about—the soft dahlia shades, really not red at all, but a wonderful deep, "different" pink, loveliest of all. Black promises to be very popular for every sort of thing, from the richest of evening gowns to the plainest of walking suits. As is usual when black comes in fashion, all sorts of intricate treatments are planned to bring out subtleties of material or trimming. Shadow effects are among the most popular of the many striped stuffs shown. Tulle and mulls and the rest of the many diaphanous stuffs which promise to be exceptionally good this winter, show embroidery applied in lavish ways. Going to the other extreme, stockings, even those for winter, stay as chifony as they were last summer. Silk stockings, by the way, are enjoying an almost unprecedented popularity. Where a woman used to indulge herself in an occasional pair, by way of an extra bit of daintiness, she's apt to have them by the half dozen. When a monogram is used, it is almost invariably of an involved sort—the individual touch got without making it too prominent. Embroidery upon stockings; better liked all the while, even when the embroidery match stocking in color. THE most fascinating shirtwaists are about, meant entirely for mornings, of course, and as tailor-made as anything can be, yet delightfully feminine in their whole make-up. They are of madras—the thin, gingham kind used for men's negligee shirts, and follow the fad for stripes set by Paris. Pink and white, blue and white, gray and white, lavender and white—all the changes of color possible are combined with white, the stripes of color exactly the width of the white, and the prettiest stripes are fully three-eighths of an inch wide. One stunning shirt was pink and white—a true rose pink, and worn by a very rose of a girl, whose hat rose-trimmed, exquisitely but simply, seemed the last picturesque touch to the simplest morning costume. Plenty of fulness was in the shirtwaist, and a ruffle of the material ran down the front. Even the sleeves, although modeled upon the stiff shirt sleeves of the old-time tailor-made girl, utterly belied their own masculine character by being full—"easy," a maker called it—then came in demurely to a stiff cuff made for links. Nothing could be more attractive for the softhearted suits we are to have with us this winter than such shirtwaists, in the color of the suit and white or in a contrasting color, like that rose shirtwaist, which, by the way, lived up to a suit in the soberest of bronze tones.

Stunning Colored Shirtwaists

LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING COMPANY.

Net Profits For Year Amounted to $375,152.12, a Favorable Increase.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, Limited, was held yesterday at the head office of the company in Montreal.

The report of the directors for the year ending August 31, 1906, with statements, were placed before the meeting, the net profits for the year being $375,152.12.

The profit and loss account for the year shows that an amount of $165,000

A BANK JUST FOR THE WOMEN.

Early in October the ladies of New York will have at their disposal a bank that will be devoted first and last to the interest of the fair depositors. The bank will be in connection with the Night and Day Bank, Fifth Avenue, which is reported to have been a distinct success. The directors decided on this new idea after careful study of the methods and designs of the average feminine financier.

It was well enough they understood, as other bankers do, to have a separate room for women, presided over by a matron, but which was most needed was a distinctly separate bank for women depositors, many of whom were apt to become thoroughly confused by figures, unless they were certain that their hats were on straight, and that no men were near to listen to questions in attempts to figure out just where their accounts stood with the bank.

The work is rapidly finishing for the opening of the women's department of the bank. There is to be a general banking room, and a sitting room adjoining, with all the magazines and newspapers at hand, and then there is to be a dressing room. In this there is to be a long looking glass, a pair of looking glasses that will reveal lovely women to herself from the top feather of her headpiece to the sole of her shoes.

There will be nothing gaudy, and the whole effect will convey the idea of established and certain wealth.

After mature consideration the directors decided that the teller must be a man, as women would be more easily convinced by his figuring.

FINANCING THE LINES.

An important step towards the confederation of the Montreal and Maine Railway system will take place on October 22nd, when the shareholders of the Canadian Northern Railway and the Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Railway Co. will hold a special meeting at Toronto for the purpose of authorizing an issue of four per cent, permanent debenture stock, secured by mortgage, sufficient to take the place and be exchanged for bonds of the authorized issues of the Great Northern Railway of Canada, the Chateaugay and Northern Railway Co., and the Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Railway Co., the predecessors by amalgamation of the new company. These bonds will be guaranteed by the property of the company, and will be presented by $20,000 per mile hereafter constructed or acquired by the company. The terms of the issue and of the mortgage securing the debenture stock are to be such as the board of directors think best, and the payment of the debenture stock is guaranteed by the Canadian Northern Railway Co. in accordance with an agreement made by that company.

OCTOBER DIVIDENDS.

During the month of October 185 American industrial, railroad, street railway, lighting and miscellaneous companies, not including banking and trust companies, will disburse $81,146,521 in dividends.

Interest payments during the month will also be heavy, sixty-one railroads alone being called upon to pay out $10,106,022. The payments of interest by other companies and the disbursements in dividends of companies not included in the 185 mentioned above will bring the total dividend and interest disbursements for the month to more than $10,000,000. A large majority of this amount will be paid out on the first day of the month.

The dividend payments of the 185 companies will be summarized as follows:

Industrial and miscellaneous companies. . . . .	$32,490,438
27 steam railroads. . . . .	$4,919,704
27 street railway and light- ing companies. . . . .	$2,800,969
12 mining companies. . . . .	$1,148,388
185	$81,146,521

The largest dividend payment by any company will be $1,068,021 by Union Pacific, which will pay out $4,946,231, making $15,004,232 for the two Harriman roads.

United States Steel will disburse $5,082,025, an amount larger than any other industrial. The Lake Superior corporation will disburse $2,000,000; Western Union, $1,217,125; American Tobacco, $1,180,336; and General Electric, $1,055,755.

RICHES AND SQUALOR

IN A MISER'S HOUSE

Not Cleaned for Ten Years, as He Did Not Like to Spend Money.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—George Wing, of Harbarn, near Salisbury, was worth thousands of pounds, but the house in which he lived had not been cleaned for ten years, because, according to his own statement, he had no liking for spending money.

He was 77 years old when he died suddenly on Tuesday night. The strange fact in his mode of life were brought to light at the inquest yesterday. His house, once occupied by Lady Middleton, stands back from the Northampton road, in its own grounds, which are extensive. It is picturesquely situated, but the neglected trees and lawn that surround it give the place a desolate appearance.

The interior of the dwelling is thick with dust and littered with refuse in the most extraordinary manner.

Wing used to go about at night only, presumably because the dirty rags he wore would have brought him into trouble if he had worn them publicly by day. He had been an invalid for two years, but would have no doctor. He sent for one at last on Tuesday night, but fell dead under a table before the doctor arrived.

The jury returned a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

JUDGE, BAR AND JURY

IN PEALS OF LAUGHTER

The Wiles of Allen "Witch" to Oring Back Sweetheart Couvance Court.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—There was much merriment in Chester Jones' court at the Clerkenwell sessions on Saturday when the wiles of the middle-aged alien "witch" were described.

Rachel Neuhais, a Russian, was charged with obtaining money by false pretenses from Mrs. Annie Samuels and Rosie Silberberg, who gave their evidence in Yiddish. It was stated that the money was given her to bring back by magic arts Mrs. Samuels' husband, and to call Rosie Silberberg's sweetheart from Russia.

After the girl had described how she

THE CLARK CASE.

The Tuttle and Adams girls and Mr. Green must have been mistaken in their identity of the prisoner. It is clear that in these two cases five were mistaken. Then why should not two be mistaken in the identity of the prisoner in the Train case? He dealt with the evidence of the Short girl and said it seemed strange that the little girl should take in every particular at such a time when she was very much excited. It was odd that the Short girl or the Train girl should remember all the particulars of the man's clothing and yet they could not tell whether the man was shaven or not. The man who kicked the berries must have shown his hands plainly. Mr. Baxter then made the prisoner hold up his left hand and showed that part of the thumb had been cut off.

"It is not strange," he said, "that witnesses able to see every article of clothing should not notice the absence of the prisoner's thumb? He thought it queer that if Clarke was out on the Millidgeville Road that day nobody knew how the man was dressed but Ethel Train and May Short told of the blue coat which he wore and also the canvas shoes.

In conclusion the attorney general said that the evidence was too strong and irresistible for the jury to find the prisoner innocent.

JUDGE LANDRY'S CHARGE.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Landry said as in all criminal cases this one presents the same difficult questions, namely the importance of the verdict of the prisoner and to the public. He charged them strongly not to be moved by sympathy. As to the punishment, that rested with himself. Their duty was to find a verdict according to the evidence. His honor said he was not in a position to express any opinion as to whether the prisoner was guilty or not. The counsel for the prisoner had expressed the opinion that he was innocent and the attorney general had expressed just as strongly the belief in the prisoner's guilt, but it was not for him to form an opinion much less express one. His honor directed them to consider each of the three charges in the indictment separately.

As to the charge of common assault, his honor did not think it necessary to review the evidence on that count, as the counsel have both gone into the evidence thoroughly. His honor highly complimented both Mr. Baxter and the attorney general on their conduct of the case. "Consider the evidence of Miss Vaughan and her little companion. Consider the evidence of the prisoner at the bar. Consider that of the witnesses. Consider their motive. Consider his."

burned a strange powder made up in packets fixed to the points of a hairpin in order to find out if her lover loved her, she made some statement which threw the interpreter into a fit of laughter. He tried hard to stop, but could not, and his shrieks of mirth were so infectious that after a few seconds the jury began, then the bar followed suit, and lastly the judge. The latter eventually had to bury his face in his handkerchief, but even through its folds his laugh rang out.

The laughter continued while Mrs. Samuels described how Rachel had given her a magic liquid, clippings from the back of a magic black cat and pins and sealing wax to sew into her dress—all with the object of restoring her husband. But Mrs. Samuels got frightened, and went to the police, when the "witch" threw something into the fire, "and it came out with a squeak."

"It is the funniest case I have ever heard," said the judge, and he was still chuckling when he sentenced the "witch" to nine months' imprisonment and deportation.

Mr. Baxter—"There is no evidence to show that it was on Wednesday."

Dr. Pugsley—"I know there is no direct evidence, but everything points that way."

In the Train case the defence have made no effort to prove an alibi except by the evidence of the prisoner himself. It does seem a strange coincidence that on the afternoons that these crimes were committed the prisoner was idle.

OFFICERS PERRY AND SULLIVAN EXONERATED AND REINSTATED

Investigation Into Charges Made by William Pyne Against These Officers Concluded Yesterday — Chief Clark Addresses Force, Sharply Cautioning Them Along Various Lines — Officer William White's Resignation Accepted.

The investigation conducted by Chief Clark into the charge of burglary preferred against Officer Thomas Sullivan and Ins. D. Perry was concluded yesterday, and last night the two officers were reinstated and were again on duty on the beat in which the trouble took place.

While these officers are thus restored with their records unblemished by the incident, the resignation of Officer Wm. White was accepted by Chief Clark. This officer has been reported a number of times for sleeping while on duty, and only on Tuesday was reinstated after such a charge being made by the sergeant. It would seem, however, that the officer again fell from the path of duty on Thursday evening with the result mentioned.

"One of the funniest ball players who ever worked for me," says Manager Armour of the Detroit Club, "was Tacks Latimer, who was with my Dayton club in the old interstate. A record of his quaint ways would fill a large book, but here is one: "We had Tacks down in Fort Wayne one year. Mautner got Hill Sink soon after Latimer arrived and Tacks sent round a petition among the Elks, asking Mautner to be good and not release him in Sink's favor. While his case was under advisement Latimer was catching one day in a close game with men on first and third. I pitched the ball to him and noticed that he fumbled it a little. Then what was my surprise to see him shooting what I supposed was the ball, away over the head of our first baseman. The fellow on third came running home. Tacks prugged the real ball from somewhere and tagged him out. What he had thrown into the right field was a potato and there was Doggie Miller chasing it like mad."

Col. Davidson Did Not Know Foster Was Making Personal Profit on Land Deal With Trust Funds—His Opinion of Fowler's Transaction—Peculiar Entries in Minute Books.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 5.—John I. Davidson was the first witness at the insurance investigation this morning. He said he had been a director of the Union Trust Co. almost from its inception. He took $1,000 of stock, which he paid for in cash, as well as a premium of 10 per cent. This, he said, was to be repaid to him by the company.

Mr. Foster wished to go into the witness box and make a statement regarding what he considered an important discrepancy between the minute book of the Union Trust Co. and the book containing the signatures of the directors attending board meetings. Water Main Burst in Two More Places

Test of High Service System Resumed Today

And Ended Disastrously--The Pipe Broke at Both Silver Falls and the Hickey Road.

The residents of the high parts of the city will be without water on Sunday.

And now another happy situation--a dash of romance--is introduced into this little drama.

When baby Worden was born the Baywater man and wife were still occupying the dead general's house, one of the most commodious and desirable in that section of South Africa.

Before leaving South Africa, however, Mrs. Worden travelled over 2,500 miles, part of which was in proceeding to Durban, where the family embarked.

By the way of the north of Ireland the Worden family started out for St. John. Navigators will tell you this trip spools 3,500 miles.

So come on fond parents, tell all about your babies who have gone long distances. Can any child the age of "Pottle" Worden equal her record.

Any remaining tickets that are not sold by the Neptune Club members for their carnival on Monday night at St. Andrew's Rollaway will be gathered together tonight, and on Monday morning they will be placed on sale at the box office of the rink together with skate checks.

BABY WORDEN TRAVELS 15,000 MILES

Baywater Infant a Wee Globe Trotter

Born in General Joubert's House in South Africa and Cut Her First Tooth While Crossing the Equator.

There's a new star in the firmament of baby travellers.

Whatever other little ones may have done in covering land and water this sweet little creature beats them all.

The Star is quite pleased to introduce to its readers Olive Lillian Worden, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. John Worden, of Baywater, who at the age of not quite nine months rolled up a mileage in travelling of over fifteen thousand miles.

Not only is this dimpled miss a long-distance tourist, but the circumstances attending her birth are equally interesting.

After faithful service during the early stages of the struggle, he was appointed a high constable in the vicinity of historic Majuba Hill.
