STOVES!

Well Known, Thoroughly Tried and Tested Heaters.

The New Silver Moon
gives more heat and is easier to manage than any other self-feeder on the market. Four sizes, with and without nickel trimmings, $20.00 to $28.00.

The "Hot Blast" for burning either Hard or Soft coal. A hand, some, powerful heater, very economical in fuel.

If a lasting fire is wanted, the draught and dampers are so arranged that one scuttle of coal will hold fire 48 hours.

The Sparkle Oak, for burning either wood or coal, has steel body which wears longer than cast iron, and radiates the heat more quickly; therefore full benefit is received for all fuel burned. Five sizes, $9.00 to $16.00.

We are selling agents for the Enterprise Foundry Co., Sackville, N. B., who make stoves for every possible requirement. No stove allowed to leave this foundry unless perfect in fit, finish and operation.

WAS IT SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT?

Manford Golding Relatives Believe the Latter.

Claim There's No Evidence He Killed Himself—Reason Why They Hold
Death Was Accidental.

There is a growing feeling among the friends and relatives of the late Manford Golding, street car motorman, that his tragic death in the closet of the Sussex Express a short time ago was purely accidental, despite the finding of Coroner Robert's jury, which stated that death was self-inflicted.

The family of the deceased young man at Wexham, Queen's county, have been making efforts to find out why their son and brother should take his life, but all attempts at fathoming the mystery have so far been futile. Frank friends have sought out every possible cause, but none were plausible.

Stephen Golding, brother of the dead motorman, who was in the city a day or so ago, says that he attaches no particular meaning to the note his brother left under his plate, which stated should anything happen to him (Manfred) the mother should get his life insurance, etc., for upon the young man's leaving for South Africa with the Second Contingent he left just such a mystic note.

The dead man's financial liabilities did not exceed fifty dollars, and he could have received that at short notice at his own home. He was in his sober senses at the time of the fatality and was bright and chipper. In fact, relatives at Hampton, where Manfred and his mother had been visiting, said the young man was in particularly jolly spirits.

Mrs. Gilbert Golding, the lad's mother, refuses to believe in the case of suicide, as Manfred was quite like himself when on the train. His telling her to wait for him at the St. John depot, as he was going to jump right off to work, is not one whit of evidence of premeditated suicide, as it is quite necessary that street car motormen shall be on hand sharply.

Golding carried the army pistol with him to use when visiting in the country. Had he thought of killing himself he could have done so when alone at Hampton and vicinity. It is quite possible he had to unfatten it from his belt—it was very bulky—when in the closet, and the idea of his tampering with it was not unreasonable. In a copped-up railway closet he may have bumped his arm against the wall when holding the firearm.

The coroner's jury had no evidence to work upon. They only considered the note in question as hearsay, as it was not produced in evidence. They found no plausible reason for the crime, yet a suicide verdict was rendered. The friends of Golding, however, believe such was the case. They say hundreds of men are daily found in close quarters with loaded pistols, and the wonder is there are not more and more stories to relate.

N. Y. PAPERS PRAISE

MARGARET ANGLIN.

"One of the Most Satisfying Artists on Our Stage" Says the New York Times.

The New York Times, describing Margaret Anglin's triumph in New York last week, says:—

"The success of 'Zola,' the new play on an old theme, which was presented for the first time at the Princess Theatre last evening, hung in the balance until the middle of the third act, when Margaret Anglin through the sheer force of her remarkable emotional acting moved the audience to such an exhibition of sincere enthusiasm as is not often witnessed even on the always enthusiastic first nights."

Miss Anglin's playing at this point was something more than a mere exhibition of the familiar hysterics of the theatre. It was a very faithful representation of the sort of emotionalism one might expect from a woman weakened by illness, maddened by the seeming culmination of a series of misfortunes, and goaded to despair by the unrelenting harshness of one to whom she had appealed for pity.

If what was said of her things go are not really the most difficult ones to play for any actress of temperament and experience. There are few few who do not possess more or less latent power in that direction.

But to play such a scene as Miss Anglin played last evening requires manifold resources in the expression of rage, scorn, grief, and defiance.

In her eyes charged with lightning, in her vibrant, convulsive frame, in the spasms of her voice, and in the ringing changes from a high-pitched melodious clearness to a rasping guttural harshness, the element of dignity was sounded clearly and unerringly. It was not surprising that the audience raved in transport.

If what followed seemed like an anticlimax, it was hardly other than might have been expected. But though less effective in its theatrical appeal, Miss Anglin's playing in the difficult scenes of the confession a moment later, and in the simpler passages in the other acts, was characterized by a simplicity and naturalness that justify the belief that she is one of the most satisfying artists on our stage.

STREET RAILWAY DEMANDS REPEAL OF LAST YEAR'S ACT

Won't Extend to Fairville Unless Released From Law Compelling It To Clear Off
Snow and Repair Streets.

The directors of the street railway this morning met the highway board of the Parish of Lancaster respecting the extension of the street railway system into Fairville. Speaking for the board of directors, Col. McLean said the company would extend the street railway system into Fairville provided the act passed last winter which required the company to remove all the snow in the highways down to four inches and to keep in repair all highways over sixty feet wide and further providing that the company should be liable to a fine of five hundred dollars on summary conviction on failure to obey the orders of the highway board was repealed.

It was pointed out that the law as it existed before the passing of the act last winter provided that the snow and ice should be removed from the streets and highways under the direction of the county authorities. The old act also provided that whenever a double track was laid in any highway that does not exceed sixty feet in width the company shall maintain and keep in good order the whole highway; but whenever it more than sixty feet in width the company shall keep it in repair for eighteen inches outside of the roadway.

It was pointed out that the highway board that the extension to Fairville would not practically increase the revenue of the street railway, while probably the Railway Commission would order that the street railway should pay a part of the cost of maintaining the gates at the railway crossing at Fairville. The people of Fairville by walking down to the corner and paying five cents can now get a transfer over the whole of the city lines.

After the board of directors withdrew the highway board considered the matter and through Mr. Vincent notified Mr. McLean that the highway board would be willing to have the law amended as far as the depth of snow was concerned making the depth of snow twelve inches.

Mr. McLean said that the resolution passed by the board of directors asked to have the law as passed last winter repealed so that the same law would be in force as was in force when the understanding which Mr. Lowell says he had with Mr. Robinson was made.

He said he would have to call the directors together again to consider the counter offer, but he personally strongly objected to the section in the act of last winter imposing a fine of $500 for every failure to obey orders of the highway board.

County Secretary Vincent, speaking about the meeting said the company's demand for a repeal of last year's act was absurd and was this morning left on the table. They were, however, willing to allow the depth of snow left on the street to be increased to 10 or 15 inches. Mr. Vincent said that the directors' answer this afternoon.

BURGLARY AT DORCHESTER;
ESCAPED CONVICT SUSPECTED

Man Broke Into F. C. Palmer's Store, Laid
Gas and Looted the Place, Staying
Two Hours.

(Special to the Star.)
MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 26.—The store of F. C. Palmer, 26-28 the corner of F. and C. streets, was burglarized last night. The front door was pried open with a bar, which the burglar held in his hand, while he was nearby, heard and saw a man, who went into the store, lift the acetylene gas and remained there for two hours, but she was too frightened to give alarm. Mr. Palmer's children also heard the burglar, and about $25 worth of goods are missing, including clothing, biscuit, canned goods, tobacco, etc. The burglar was not disturbed, nor the cash drawer.

The burglary is supposed to have been committed by an escaped convict, as the burglar, who was seen, was about as such as he was taken.

BLANCHE WALKER'S SISTER DECLARES SHE'S ALIVE.

Boston Police Were on the Wrong Trail—Suit Case Murder Mystery Is as Dark as Ever.

(Special to the Star.)
HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 26.—Sergeant Walker, of the Royal Canadian mounted police, is a telegram from Boston this morning, stating that his daughter Blanche was alive and well.

(Special to the Star.)
FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 26.—Miss Walker, a sister of Blanche Walker, who resides here denies the story that her sister is missing and says that she has received word that Miss Blanche is safe and well in the United States.

The Boston police are leaving no stone unturned to solve the mystery surrounding the finding of a woman's body in a dress suit case at Winthrop last Wednesday.

That to which the police are devoting the closest attention is the identification of the dress suit case, which is alleged to have been the property of a missing west end physician.

The physician, who is a former employee of the other a former landlady, have expressed the belief that the dress suit case in the possession of the police had belonged to the doctor. Both are very positive in their statements, particularly the former office boy. The landlady said that when she last saw it, some two weeks ago, the handle was loose. This is corroborative of the police contention that the handle had recently been repaired.

A description of Blanche Walker, the Fredericton girl who was reported as missing has been sent to the Boston police, viz., 110 to 120 pounds, 5 feet 2 inches tall, pronounced brunette with Roman nose. It is believed that the Walker girl was at the Hotel Savoy, in Chelsea, last Saturday.

JAPAN WANTS NEW GOVERNMENT.

SEATTLE, Wn., Sept. 26.—Kentaro Kayano, editor of Yordoku Choro, one of the leading papers of Tokyo, is in Seattle. Mr. Kayano stated that his personal observation led him to believe that practically all of the people of Japan are dissatisfied with the present treaty.

Haron Komura will not be received with funeral rites when he reaches Tokyo, nor will he be received with shouts of glad acclaim. Said Mr. Kayano: "I believe that the present ministry will be dissolved soon because the people are clamoring for the resignation of the cabinet, and the Emperor is giving personal attention to the memorials to the throne. The people of Japan demand a new cabinet and I think they will win."

Sir J. Beverley Robinson, of New York, is registered at the Royal. Sir Beverley is the grandson of the late Sir Beverley Robinson, chief justice of Upper Canada, and eldest son of Hon. Beverley Robinson, governor of Ontario. Sir Beverley is here on private business and also visiting J. Morris Robinson and other St. John relatives.

1,400 MEN STRIKE
AT SPRINGHILL.

Local Mines and Railway are Tied Up.

Men Demand 14 Cents an Hour and Refuse to Accept the Compromise Offered by the Company.

AMHERST, N. S., Sept. 25.—Another big strike is on at Springhill. Almost 1,400 men went out this morning and the mines of the Cumberland Coal and Railway Co. are tied up tight. No coal is being mined, no trains are moving and pumps and engines for water and ventilation pumps are being kept going by clerks in the company's offices.

This time the trouble is the refusal of the company to accede to a demand for an increase of wages on the part of the trainmen and also of the stationary engine firemen. Both classes of employees ask for an advance in their pay from 12 to 14 cents an hour. General Manager Cowan is willing to split the difference with the stationary engine firemen, and give them 13 cents an hour, but he will not treat with the railway men at all. The railway men's grievance is of long standing, and now it has got to a stage where all the coal miners will act with them.

INDRANI'S BIG CARGO.

The Donaldson liner Indrani, Capt. Martin, arrived this morning from Glasgow with 2,500 tons of general cargo, mostly consigned to this port. The ship also brought out some seven passengers. Mrs. Wilson and two children for this city and the other four for Baltimore. The ship had a fairly good passage out, with the exception of head winds. Among the cargo brought out were the following consigned to local merchants:

Schofield & Co., 24,256 bags anthracite coal; J. O'Regan, 30 cases whiskey; R. Sullivan, 30 cases whiskey; John O'Regan, 5 cases whiskey; R. Sullivan, 2 cases tea chests, C. H. Peters & Sons, 1 case advertisements; to order 775 cases whiskey, 8 cases do, 22 qrs. fire clay, 44 pots, 22 ovens, 22 covers, 25 bags Epsom Salts, 20 kegs do; 2,000 bags sugar; D. F. Brown Paper Box Co., 2 cases India; Blacklock Bros., 1 parcel paper; order, 1 case bottled ale; F. H. Tippet & Co., 1 case samples; order, 1 case cream of tartar; James Fleming, 10 bbls. black sheets, 75 single do.; W. H. Thorne & Co., 555 bbls. black sheets; Robertson Co., 25 bbls. black sheets.

There were also about 30 tons of cargo for other provincial ports. After discharging her cargo here the steamer will take on board about 450 standard of Beals for Baltimore.

GIRL WAS NEAR DEATH.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—Miss Mabel A. Stevens of Melrose, sister of Captain Walter C. Stevens of the Signal Corps, who is accused of having set fire to his house in Peabody, lies in a dangerous condition at the Melrose Hospital, suffering from the effects of gas poisoning.

Early in the morning Mrs. Clinton Fletcher, at whose home Miss Stevens was staying, noticed a strong odor of gas coming from Miss Stevens' room. Dress suit case in the possession of the police had belonged to the doctor. Both are very positive in their statements, particularly the former office boy. The landlady said that when she last saw it, some two weeks ago, the handle was loose. This is corroborative of the police contention that the handle had recently been repaired.

A description of Blanche Walker, the Fredericton girl who was reported as missing has been sent to the Boston police, viz., 110 to 120 pounds, 5 feet 2 inches tall, pronounced brunette with Roman nose. It is believed that the Walker girl was at the Hotel Savoy, in Chelsea, last Saturday.

GAYNOR AND GREEN MUST GO.

(Special to the Star.)
MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Two special officers will arrive here tomorrow from the United States, bringing the President's warrant for Gaynor and Greene.

JEEREMIAH SHEA DEAD.

The death occurred today at his home, 184 Chesley street, of Jeremiah Shea, a well known citizen of St. John. Deceased, who had been ill for about two weeks, is survived by a wife and a family of five, all at home with the exception of one daughter, who is studying nursing in Baltimore. He was a moulder by trade and worked some time with McLean & Hall.

FOUR-YEAR OLD GIRL BURNED HOUSE,

Narrow Escape of Little Girl on Millidge Street.

Set Fire to Paper in Disconnected Stove
—House of Andrew Wilson Badly Gutted.

The house at Millidgeville Avenue, the residence of Andrew Wilson, teamster for D. J. Purdy, M. P. P., was this morning set on fire by his little daughter and badly gutted. No trains are moving and pumps and engines for water and ventilation pumps are being kept going by clerks in the company's offices.

About ten o'clock this morning Mr. Wilson's four-year-old girl Clara went up to the front bedroom, where she was playing around, feeling cold she decided that she would light a fire herself, so going over to the stove, which had been disconnected, she lit the chimney since the spring, the little girl spread in flames. The escape of the little one was marvelous, as the flames shot out from the front part of the stove. An alarm was rung in from Box 154, and the North End No. 5 engine arrived promptly.

Mr. Wilson, when seen this morning, said that he was well satisfied with their work, and they brought the hose in quite quickly, notwithstanding the delay caused by having to get double length of hose, the nearest plug being on the other side of the Newmarket street bridge.

The bedroom was badly burned, the furniture and clothing being destroyed. The roof was pretty badly destroyed. Mr. Wilson has no insurance on his house, and his loss will be quite heavy. Another loss which was suffered was a woman's suit which was lying in the bedroom. This said Mr. Wilson, was undoubtedly stolen.

DYNAMITE USED BY JAIL BREAKERS.

Great Hole Blown Out of Prison Wall at Somerville by Three Desperate Convicts.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—By blowing out with dynamite or nitroglycerine an outside wall at the end of the corridor of the county jail at Somerville, N. J., at half-past six o'clock last night, "Black" Lacey, and "Red" Harrington and James Regan, members of the explosive made a desperate though futile attempt to escape. It is believed that the three prisoners had been in the prison for some time.

William Moore, a special watchman, was patrolling outside of the jail when, with a deafening sound, a great gap four feet square suddenly opened in the four brick wall of the prison directly above his head. Moore was so close to the wall that the mass of brick and debris blown from the wall passed over his head and was scattered one hundred feet about the jail yard.

Immediately Lacey, Harrington and Regan crawled partly through the hole in the wall and looked down into Moore's revolver. Moore fired at the first head that came through the wall and the three prisoners hastily drew back and dropped to the floor of the corridor unhurt.

The noise of the explosion aroused the town. Deputy Sheriff John Anderson rushed from his office in front of the jail to the cell room, armed with a shotgun, and held up the prisoners until the arrival of County Detective Totten. Then Anderson and Totten entered and forced the prisoners into their cells at the point of their revolvers, while Moore stood guard over the hole in the wall.

Twenty-six other prisoners were in a riotous mood, and it was with great difficulty that the officers held their ground as the prisoners circled round and watched for an opportunity to overpower them. Anderson and Totten were soon reinforced by policemen and a posse of several hundred citizens. The prisoners cowered in face of the mob and slunk into their cells.

Lacey, Harrington and Regan made a desperate attempt to escape at four o'clock one morning about three weeks ago. By mysterious means they got out of their cells in the night and dug through a partition wall to the west corridor. They were trying open another door of the corridor when they were discovered by Moore, who drove them back to their cells at the muzzle of his revolver. Lacey, Harrington and Regan had since been kept in close confinement in their cells and allowed the freedom of the corridor for thirty minutes in the evening. It was at this point last night that the explosion occurred.

Lacey, Harrington and Regan are among the most desperate highwaymen in New Jersey. They were recently caught asleep in a barn near Flanders and captured before they had a chance to fight. Lacey started to run across country with the police firing at him. He was finally run down by a mounted policeman and clubbed until he surrendered.

WHY HE MARRIED HER.

"Did he marry her for money?" asked the girl in white.
"Well, let's be charitable and say he did," answered the girl in gray.
"There's no use in casting aspersions on his taste and judgment."—Tit-Bits.

FIVE MEN KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—A rear-end collision today between the east-bound New York limited express, from St. Louis and a local passenger train which was standing at the foot station of the Pennsylvania railroad, 19 miles west of this city, resulted in the death of five men and the injuring of more than twenty others. The dead are:

Frank A. Brastow, of Haverford, a suburb of this city, general agent at Philadelphia of the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Co., and a distant relative by marriage of W. W. Atterburg, general manager of the Penna. R. R. Co.

Geo. M. Pennypacker, Philadelphia, foreman of car inspectors in the West Philadelphia yards.

S. S. Walton, Altoon, Pa., steam heat inspector at the Altoon shops of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Richard Y. Garland, Norberth, a suburb of this city, general foreman of West Philadelphia shops of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Carl Dunbar, a Pennsylvania railroad employee.

Four of those who lost their lives were killed almost instantly. The fifth man, Richard Garland, died in the Telford Hospital in this city to-day.

ELECTION EXPENSES
MORE THAN $5,000.

(Special to the Star.)
MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—In the examination of Dan. Gallery, M. P., of St. Anne's division of Montreal, in his contested election case, he today testified that the expenses of election were between five and seven thousand dollars. Of this he admitted putting up fifteen hundred dollars. He was asked where the balance came from, but his counsel objected, and the court sustained. Gallery was not compelled to tell. In his evidence he admitted making election payments himself and not through his agent.

WELL-KNOWN MONTREAL FIRM ASSIGNS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 25.—The Laysan Servier Company, Ltd., commission merchants, with general offices and warehouses at No. 119 Youville square, have made a private assignment in favor of their creditors. The firm, which is a general producer and dealer in extensive business, has, however, has proved unfavorable, and they have found it necessary to make an assignment.

CHELSEA CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE.

CHELSEA, Mass., Sept. 25.—The Mount Bellingham Methodist Episcopal church of this city, whose fifty-first anniversary celebration was to have been observed next Wednesday, was totally destroyed by fire tonight. The edifice with its furnishings and organ cost $30,000, and was insured for $10,000. A number of persons were injured, although none fatally.

The fire, which was caused by spontaneous combustion, started in a closet room of the kindergarten department.

ARCANUM.

The regular meeting of St. John Council, 133, will be held at their rooms, Charlotte street, this evening at 8 o'clock. Circulars from the Supreme and Grand Councils will be read, showing the changes that have taken place and amounts to be paid on the different options.

Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley of New York, will be the preacher at both services in Centenary Methodist Church on Sunday, Oct. 29th, that being the anniversary Sunday of the church. He will also deliver a lecture on the following evening. Dr. Buckley is one of the most prominent Methodist clergymen of America. He is ranked as easily the best deater in the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church and as a lecturer and preacher enjoys a very high reputation. He is also well known as a writer and is editor of the Christian Advocate. Dr. Buckley visited St. John some years ago. He was in the city at the time of President McKinley's assassination and inspired to a sermon on McKinley's life and death by Rev. L. G. Macneil on the Sunday following the president's death. So impressed was Dr. Buckley with the sermon that he published it in the Christian Advocate.

DIABLO NEARLY KILLED AT PTON.

Failed to Leap the Chasm and Fell.

But He Tried Again With a Broken Rib—
Races Postponed on Account of the Rain.

FREDERICTON, Sept. 25.—Rain to-day had a dampening effect upon the exhibition, and naturally affected to a serious extent the attendance. The weather was most disappointing.

The trains and horses brought an immense crowd to the city today, fully fifteen hundred people coming from the several points. The I. C. R. brought over half of this number, but on account of the weather the great majority of the visitors did not find their way to the exhibition until after dinner. The attendance during the morning was very slim.

DIABLO'S CLOSE CALL.

The great excitement at the grounds this afternoon was the leaving of the chasm by Diablo. On account of the wind and the dampness of the track he came within an ace of finishing his earthly career. The escape from instant death was just about as narrow as a man may ever wish to have.

The man got off at the word from his manager and rode down the one hundred feet incline at the usual speed of about sixty miles an hour. He shot off the end of the incline and into the air, but owing to the strong wind and the heavy downpour of rain in the valley, which he met squarely in the face, and the slippery condition of the track because of the rain, he failed to clear the thirty-two feet chasm over which he usually leaps with ease and safety. The front wheel of the bicycle landed on the second platform, but the leap was about two feet short and the rear wheel struck on the edge of the platform and the man was thrown to the ground with appalling force. The spectators were horror-stricken and thought the bicycle rider had been killed. He was picked up unconscious and Dr. W. C. Crockett responded to the phone message. He found that the rider had suffered only some bruises about the head and neck, neither of which are serious. After a short time the wonderful rider came to himself and with the exception of a few scratches seemed to be as well as ever.

RACES POSTPONED.

The races at the driving park had to be postponed today owing to the heavy downpour of rain in the morning, and intermittent showers during the day. The postponement was a disappointment to many who had come to the fair to see the 2.19 and 2.28 events.

ATTENDANCE 4,650.

In spite of the disagreeable state of the weather the attendance at the exhibition exceeded that of the fourth day two years ago. Today the attendance amounted to about 4,650. With a rib somewhat the worst for his afternoon's experience, Diablo leaped his loop at 7 o'clock as easily as on former occasions and will be on hand tomorrow and next day—tomorrow at any rate to attempt it again. The exhibition have decided on making Wednesday a citizens' day, to add to the proceedings a firemen's torchlight procession will be held and the people of the city will be asked to illuminate their residences and do everything possible to make the day a memorable one.

NORWAY AND SWEDEN SETTLE THEIR DIFFICULTIES.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 25.—Almost without a dissenting voice the people of Sweden, so far as can be judged by the opinions of the press here and elsewhere, accept with satisfaction the terms of the agreement between Sweden and Norway reached at Karlstad. The general opinion is voiced by the Social Democrats, which in its leading editorial this morning says:

"Our principal objection to the agreement was that the frontier fortifications having been attained, we trust that every day in both countries the members have not yet been waited will recognize that the two Scandinavians ultimately will need each other's friendship and that the agreement will bring more happiness to both."

According to information received by the Associated Press the neutral zone provided for in the agreement includes an area varying from three to twelve miles on each side of the frontier. On the Norwegian side the zone runs from the northwestern point of Kirkenes to the point where the Ulfen crosses the sixty-first meridian. The coast zone meet rather closely because of the possibility of having to fortify against a foreign enemy. The arrangement with regard to the fortress, it is believed, will be satisfactory to all parties.

CIGAR FACTORY

BURNED LAST NIGHT.

A Serious Fire on Prince William Street.

Imperial Tobacco Factory Gutted—Franklin Printing Office and Tilley & Fairweather's Damaged by Water.

The series of tragedies and calamities which made yesterday unusually eventful locally culminated in a rather serious fire which did considerable damage to the stock and machinery of the Imperial Cigarette Co., whose premises are in the Etna & Gardner building on Prince William street. The building was also badly damaged by fire and water.

The fire was discovered by John Montague, who rang in an alarm from box 4, and the flames quickly responded. The two chemical engines and the apparatus from each of the four stations in the city appeared on the scene. When the firemen arrived the flames seemed to be bursting through the whole width of the roof. It was an awkward fire to handle, and at one time the situation looked rather serious. One line of hose was taken up through the Canada Life building, which adjoins, and two other streams were turned on from the burning building, having been carried up the stairs. In all eight streams were playing on the ground floor, sustained more or less damage by water.

In the Canada Life building there was considerable water floating over eleven o'clock, and it was after midnight before it was extinguished. The stock and machinery of the cigarette company was badly damaged, but Mr. Isaac was unable to make even an approximate estimate of his loss.

Roger Hunter, proprietor of the Franklin printing office, occupies the next floor, which also was considerably damaged by both fire and water. Other offices in the building, including Tilley & Fairweather's on the ground floor, sustained more or less damage by water.

DOWIE CLAIMS KING EDWARD

WAKEGAM, Ill., Sept. 25.—At St. John's Tabernacle, St. John's, this afternoon, John Alexander Dowie gave out the information that King Edward of England had been converted to the belief of the Christian Catholic church. According to Dowie's story, a woman member of the London Restoration Host, in the course of her duties in visiting houses and distributing Zion Hymns, went to King Edward's palace and demanded admission to see the King.
This was granted her, and after several visits Dowie says that the King was converted to his belief.
Through the King's influence, he says, his literature is now being read in every royal household in Europe. It was not long ago that Dowie was mobbed by a mob of 100,000 in Australia for denouncing the King.

A little dignified-looking man was knocked down by a horse in the street the other evening, and while brushing his clothing let forth a stream of abuse. "You ought to have the driver arrested," said a passer-by.

"That's not what makes me mad," said the man, straightening up. "It's the idea of being run over by a horse when there are so many automobiles in town!"

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

Or, The Love Story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, the King's Sister, and Happening in the Reign of His August Majesty King Henry the Eighth

Re-written and Rendered into Modern English from Sir Edwin Cook's Manuscript

By EDWIN CASKODEN [CHARLES MAJOR]

Copyright, 1898 and 1901, by the Zibon-Merrill Company

"You did well to employ my Lord of Buckingham. It will make matters more interesting when I tell you it was he who attacked you and was caught by the leg under his wounded horse; he was lame, I am told, for some time afterward. I had watched him following you from the gate at Bridewell and at once recognized him when his mask fell off during the fight by the wall. You have done well at every step, I see."

"Oh, God; to think of it! Had I but known! Buckingham shall pay for this with his head; but how could I know? I was but a poor, distracted girl, sure to make some fatal error. I was in such agony—your wounds—believe me, I suffered more from them than you could. Every pain you felt was a pang for me—and then that awful marriage! I was being sold like a wretched slave to that old satyr, to be gloated over and feasted upon. No man can know the horror of that thought to a woman—to any woman, good or bad. To have one's beauty turn to curse her and make her desirable only—only as well fed cattle are prized. No matter how great the manifestation of such a called love, it all the more repels a woman and adds to her loathing day by day. Then there was something worse than all—she was almost weeping now—I might have been able to bear the thought even of that hideous marriage—others have lived through the like—but—but after—that—that day—when you—it seemed that your touch was a spark dropped into a heart full of tinder, which had been lying there awaiting it all these years. In that one moment the flame grew so intense I could not withstand it. My throat ached; I could scarcely breathe; and it seemed that my heart would burst. Here the tears gushed forth as she took a step toward him with outstretched arms and said between sobs: 'I wanted you, you, for my husband; for my husband, and I could not bear the torturing thought of losing you or enduring any other man. I could not give you up after that—it was all too late, too late; it had gone too far, it was lost!'"

He sprang to where the stood leaning toward him and caught her to his breast. She held him from her while she said: "Now you know—now you know that I would not have left you in that terrible place had I known it. No, not if it had taken my life to buy your freedom."

"I do know, I do know. Be sure of that. I know it and shall know it always, whatever happens; nothing can change it. I will never doubt you again. It is my turn to ask forgiveness now."

"No, no. Just forgive me. That is all I ask." And her head was on his breast. "Let us stop out into the passage-way, Edwin," said Jane, and we did. There were times when Jane seemed to be inspired.

When we went back into the room, Mary and Brandon were sitting in the window-way on his great cloak. They rose and came to us, holding each other's hands, and Mary asked, looking up to him: "Shall we tell them?"

"As you like, my lady." Mary was willing, and looked for Brandon to speak, so he said, "This lady whom I hold by the hand and my self have promised each other before the good God to be husband and wife if fortune ever so favor us that it be possible."

"No; that is not it," interrupted Mary. "There is no 'if' in it. It shall be whether it is possible or not. Nothing shall prevent." At this she kissed Jane and told her how she loved her, and gave her hand, for her love was so great within her that it overflowed.

Upon every one, she, however, always had a plenitude of love for Jane, and though she might scold her and appear to mislike her, Jane was as dear as a sister and was always sure of her steadfast, tried and lasting affection.

After Mary had said there should be no "if" Brandon replied: "Very well, Mrs. Destiny. Then, turning to us, 'What ought I to do for one who is willing to stoop from so high an estate to honor me and be my wife?'"

"Love her and her alone with your whole heart as long as you live. That is all she wants, I am sure," volunteered Jane sentimentally.

"Jane, you are a Mrs. Solomon," said Mary, with a tone of her old time laugh. "Is the course you advise as you would wish to be done by?" And she glanced mischievously from Jane to me as she laughed bubbled up from her heart.

"Now you know—"

"I have no secrets from her."

merry and soft, as if it had not come from what was but now the home of grief and pain.

"I know nothing about how I should like to be done by," said Jane, with a pout, "but if you have such respect for my wisdom I will offer a little more, I think it is time we should be going."

"Now, Jane, you are growing foolish again," I will go, and Mary made manifest her intention by sitting down. She could not bring herself to forego the pleasure of staying, dangerous as she knew it to be, and could not bear the pain of parting, even for a short time, now that she had Brandon once more. The time was soon coming but I am too fast again.

After a time Brandon said: "I think Jane's wisdom remains with her, Mary. It is better that you not stay, much as I wish to have you."

She was ready to obey him at once. When she arose to go she took both his hands in hers and whispered: "Mary, I like the name on your lips," and then, glancing hurriedly over her shoulder to see if Jane and I were looking, lifted her face to him and ran after us.

We were a little in advance of the princess, and as we walked along Jane said under her breath: "Now look out for trouble; it will come quickly, and I fear for Master Brandon more than for me. Her role and manner said more than her words. The hall was almost dark, and I have always considered that occasion one of my lost opportunities, but it is no wonder she loves him."

This made me feel a little jealous. "Jane, you could not love him, could you?" I asked.

"No matter what I could do, Edwin; I do not, and that should satisfy you." Her role and manner said more than her words. The hall was almost dark, and I have always considered that occasion one of my lost opportunities, but it is no wonder she loves him."

The next evening Brandon and I, upon Lady Mary's invitation, went up to her apartment, but did not enter it. Her role and manner said more than her words. The hall was almost dark, and I have always considered that occasion one of my lost opportunities, but it is no wonder she loves him."

"The king had pardoned Brandon for the killing of the two men in Billingsgate, as he was forced to do under the circumstances, but there his kindness stopped. After a short time he deprived him of his place as courtier, and all that was left for him of royal favor was permission to remain with me and live at the palace until such time as he should sail for New Spain."

CHAPTER XIII. A GIRL'S CONSENT. THE treaty had been agreed upon, and as to the international arrangement, at least the marriage of Louis de Valois and Mary Tudor was a settled matter. All that needed was the consent of an eighteen-year-old girl—a small matter, of course, as marriageable women are but common in the sixteenth century, and theoretically, at least, acquiescence in everything their liege lords ordain.

Wolsey, whose manner was smooth as an otter's coat, had been sent to fetch the needed "yes," but he failed. Jane told me about it.

Wolsey had gone privately to see the princess and had thrown out a sort of skulking line by flattery her beauty, but had found her not in the best humor.

"Yes, yes, my lord of Lincoln. I know how beautiful I am. No one knows better. I know all about my hair, eyes, teeth, eyebrows and skin. I tell you I am sick of them. Don't talk to me about them. It won't help you. Wolsey continued: 'His majesty could not have given me a more disagreeable task. You doubtless think I am in favor of this marriage, but I am not.'"

This was as great a lie as ever fell from the mouth of a man. "I have been obliged to tell him the king's mind set on it from the first mention by De Longueville."

"Was it that head-eyed little mummy who suggested it?"

"Yes, and if you marry the king of France you can repay him with usury." "It is an inducement, by my troth."

"I do not mind saying to you in confidence that I think it an outrage to force a girl like you to marry a man like Louis of France, but how are we to avoid it?"

By the "we" Wolsey put himself in alliance with Mary, and the move was certainly adroit.

"How are we to avoid it? Have no fear of that, my lord; I will show you." "Oh, but my dear princess, permit me. You do not seem to know your brother. You cannot in any way avoid this marriage. I believe he will imprison you and put you on bread and water to force your consent. I am sure you had better do willingly that which you will eventually be compelled to do anyway; and, besides, there is another thought that has come to me. Shall I speak plainly before Lady Jane Bolingbroke?"

"I have no secrets from her."

"Very well. It is this: Louis is old and very feeble. He cannot live long, and it may be that you can by a ready consent now exact a promise from your brother to allow you your own choice in the event of a second marriage. You might in that way purchase what you could not bring about in any other way."

"How do you know that I want to purchase anything in any way, Master Wolsey? I most certainly do not intend to do so by marrying France."

"I do not know that you wish to purchase anything, but a woman's heart is not always under her full control, and it sometimes goes out to one very far beneath her in station, but the equal of any man on earth in grandeur of soul and nobleness of nature. It might be that there is such a man whom any woman would be amply justified in purchasing at any sacrifice—doubtless so if it were buying happiness for two."

His meaning was too plain even to pretend to misunderstand, and Mary's eyes flashed at him as her face broke into a dimpling smile in spite of her.

Wolsey thought he had won, and to clinch the victory said, in his careful manner: "Louis XII. will not live a year; let me carry to the king your consent, and I guarantee you his promise to your brother. I believe you can reach his heart even now if you were to make the effort. You have not tried in this matter as you did in the others."

"Perhaps you are right, Jane. I will go to Henry."

Mary waited until she knew the king was alone, and then went to him. On entering the room she said: "Brother, I have a message to give you from the bishop of Lincoln this morning, and have come to ask your forgiveness."

"Ah, little sister, I thought you would change your mind. Now you are a good girl."

"Oh, do not misunderstand me. I ask you for forgiveness for the message. As to the marriage, I came to tell you that it would kill me and that I could not consent. But do not tell me that. You cannot. You cannot."

Henry flew into a passion and, with oaths and curses, ordered her to leave him unless she was ready to give her consent. She had but two courses to take, so she left with her heart full of hate for the most brutal wretch who ever sat upon a throne, and that is making an extreme case. As she was going she turned upon him like a fury and exclaimed:

"Never, never! Do you hear? Never!" Preparations went on for the marriage just as if Mary had given her consent. The important work of providing the trousseau began at once. When the queen went to her apartments, she was told to go to the king's chamber, and she found him there, looking at a picture of a woman.

CANADIAN EXPORTS TO SOUTH AFRICA.

Have Greatly Increased Since Institution of Direct Steamship Line.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—C. M. KILTON, Canadian agent at Cape Town, in a report to the department of trade and commerce, received today, says that since the institution of the direct steamship line to South Africa, the value of Canadian exports has wonderfully increased. In 1903 the value of Canadian exports was $299,674. Last year the total had reached $1,907,962.

It was suggested that a hand-picked race in the harbor between the various motor boats would be a good drawing card, and R. O'Brien and S. R. Emerson were appointed a committee to see the owners of the boats for the purpose of arranging for the contest.

R. T. Hayes, on behalf of the committee appointed to interview the fishermen, reported that Chief Kerr and Capt. White were in favor of having a sham fire, at which the whole brigade would be called out. All the members of the executive were greatly taken with this idea, and it will no doubt prove one of the most exciting and interesting of the many attractions of the carnival.

The carnival committee is making excellent progress in arranging for attractions which will give the people of the province a good excuse for visiting the city during the days from Oct. 28th to Oct. 31st.

A meeting was held yesterday afternoon at which the chairman, R. R. Angus, Mr. J. D. Macdonald, R. Emerson, R. O'Brien, R. T. Hayes, W. G. Scott, F. A. Dykeman and H. B. Schofield were present.

Mr. Macdonald reported that he was co-operating with Col. G. W. White with reference to arranging for a church parade of the men from the warships at the harbor during the season of the exhibition there. He read a telegram from Mr. Spencer, who said he expected to have interesting information, but not in time for the meeting.

The C. P. R., I. C. R. and D. A. R. will meet the wishes of the committee in the matter of special rates for whatever dates are desired.

THE TURF.

GRAND CIRCUIT MEET.
CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—A six day grand circuit race meeting opened at Oakley Park here today with a large crowd in attendance. The track was in excellent shape.
The first division of the Horse Review Futurity trotting (three in five) was the attraction of the day. It was a two horse race between Sule N, the favorite, and Bon Voyage, the second choice. In the first heat Bon Voyage broke near the wire and Sule N won easily. Bon Voyage had no trouble winning the second heat. Sule N took the third and fourth heats of the race.
The second division of the Horse Review Futurity for two year olds (two in three) went to Ed Outton, the favorite.
Sule took the first two heats of the 2000 class pace. While scoring for the third heat, Ed Outton threw her driver, W. McCarthy, and ran away two miles and a half. Neither driver nor horse was injured. The race, however, was postponed until tomorrow on account of darkness.

BARBICIDE THEATRE RIOT BECAUSE LADIES WOULDN'T REMOVE HATS

BURKE, Sept. 25.—The refusal of some ladies to remove their hats led to an extraordinary tumult during the performance of William Tell at a matinee at the Barbicide theatre this afternoon. The ladies took no notice of the indignation of the audience and an attendant forcibly removed the hat of one lady. She attacked him furiously with her sunshade and this was the signal for a free fight. The scene was developed into a riot, was rendered more alarming by the strange measure adopted by the management which switched off the electric light while the tumult was at its height. Finally the house was cleared by a force of armed policemen, the offending ladies making their escape unobserved in the confusion. A civil engineer named Becker, who was kicked on the head in the fight late at the hospital in a precarious condition. Before Mr. Becker had time to answer there was a shout from several hundred men and women in the audience. "Down with Becker," "Down with tyranny," came the shouts. While the excitement was at its height the doors of the synagogue were locked and some one telephoned to the police.
In a few minutes several patrol wagons filled with officers were on hand. The ladies were arrested and the meeting was dispersed.

CATHOLIC BOMBS AMALGAMATE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Commanding officers of the Catholic Knights of America and of the Knights of St. John took the day yesterday toward amalgamating all Catholic military orders in the country under the general name of Catholic Military Federation of America.
The federation was organized by a committee from each order at a meeting held here.
Officers and an executive committee were elected, headed by officers of the Knights of St. John, who were members of the Knights of St. John and the remainder members of the Catholic Knights of America. The federation will hold its national camp at Buffalo next June.

Author: "It's a wise man who knows when he's well off."

"Oh, that's told me that everybody was talking about my new book."
"And what then?"
"It was foolish enough to ask what they said."

PLAYS BASEBALL IN CHRISTIAN SPIRIT.

"I have tried to take Christ into the baseball field," said David L. Pultz, billed as "the crack centre fielder of the New York American team," yesterday afternoon at the West Side Y. M. C. A. hall, in West Fifty-seventh street.
"You may believe," continued the speaker, "that such association is incompatible, but I have not found it so. Perhaps my Christianity has not helped baseball much, but it has helped me. Some men in the association do not understand my aims and my position, and some have no conception of my motives, yet I can say that I have the respect of every one of them."
I believe there is no business, no sport, no pastime, that cannot be carried on in a Christianlike spirit. Every man can conduct his business in this way; if he does, just so sure will he succeed. His success may not make him a great money king—God help him!—but it is his ambition."

AQUATIC.

NEPTUNE ROWING CLUB ALIVE.
All doubts as to whether the Neptune Club is a moribund organization were dispelled at the enthusiastic meeting held in their rooms last evening. The meeting was called by President Frith for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the members as to whether or not the rooms now occupied by the club should be retained. There never was any doubt as to the continuation of the club as a rowing organization, but it was thought that some of the members had become apathetic with reference to the welfare of the club as a social organization. There had been some talk of subletting the upper flat, which is now utilized for the purpose of the club, but the members decided that this would be unwise, as the finances of the club were shown by the treasurer's report to be in a satisfactory condition. The liabilities have been decreased $300 since the first of May. The assets of the club now are $2,400, and the liabilities $1,900.

About fifty members were present, and the president called upon each one to express his opinion on the advisability of retaining the rooms. There was a two hour discussion. All were enthusiastically in favor of continuing them. It was also decided to make an effort to increase the membership. The football committee was instructed to advertise for a game with some outside team during carnival week. The suggestion was made that the club's annual ball be held during carnival week, but this matter was not definitely settled.

Frith was delivering a speech when the fire alarm sounded, causing a break in his flow of oratory. The members dispersed rapidly and enthusiastically in favor of continuing them. It was also decided to make an effort to increase the membership. The football committee was instructed to advertise for a game with some outside team during carnival week. The suggestion was made that the club's annual ball be held during carnival week, but this matter was not definitely settled.

LUNATIC KILLED WIFE AND SELF

GENEVA, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Wm. A. Harvey, 27 years old, living at Harpersfield, shot and killed his wife yesterday and then killed himself.
Harvey had been confined in an insane asylum in Cleveland but escaped a few days ago and came home. He was to have been returned to the asylum tomorrow.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

The complete novella in the October Lippincott's is "A Mania Madness." Its author is Frederic Reddick, whose earlier works, "The Other Man" and "A Transaction in Rubies," have also been brought out by this Magazine. His latest production is primarily a mystery story possessing an intense love-interest. The plot is hatched at Manila, but quickly shifts to New York City for the scene of its unravelling. In his portrayal of the character feminine Mr. Reddick seems to be particularly meticulous, and in the dramatic situation he excels. A millionaire, whose one cross in life is a neurotic son, tries to draw up his will so as to control the future of his boy and anchor him to civilization. In distant Manila, the wanderer learns of his father's taking off and of the fortune that has been left to him with "a string to it." Remorse and resentment fight for supremacy in facing these conditions. Then something happens—this something is the absorbing tale of "A Mania Madness."

Lippincott's is happy to be able to present fiction by the Hon. John May. "The Blood Seedling" is a good story, well written, and rests not only upon the late author's distinguished name, but upon the sympathetic treatment of a strong plot.
In addition to the two longer stories there are eight shorter ones of clever variety.
The verse of the month is plentiful and of excellent quality; and the bright department called "Walnuts and Wine" produces choicest specimens of autumn vintage.

BOTH GIRLS WHO TRIED SUICIDE ARE RECOVERING.

ANNIE CRAFT GETTING BETTER.
Annie Craft, the Carleton girl, who attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon in King Square, as described in the second edition of the Star, was reported at the hospital this morning as resting fairly easy and it is now fairly expected that she will recover.

As far as can be learned Miss Craft was dependent over the non-arrival of an important letter that she has been expecting for days.

DEATH RATHER THAN MARRIAGE.
Rather than be forced into a marriage with a man she did not love, Esther Spicer, a native of Nova Scotia, and latterly employed as a chambermaid in the Aberdeen hotel, made two attempts to commit suicide on Saturday night.

According to the story told by the girl's mother, she was at the hotel, the girl received a letter from her mother on Saturday, telling her to come home to Nova Scotia and be married.

This so affected her that during the afternoon she secured a bottle of carbolic acid and drank it. A few minutes later she was in a serious condition. The cook, Mrs. Deane, sent at once for Dr. Levin, who administered emetics. It seems that the acid was diluted, for the effects were not before very long and in a short time the girl was about the house as usual.

It was decided to ask the council to reconsider the market repair report, and that other plans be provided by the committee for the next meeting of this board.

Ald. Bullock made a report on auxiliary telephone fire alarm system which he had examined in other cities. A committee of chairman McCarthy with Director Wisely, Chief Kerr and Ald. Macrae and Bullock was chosen to look into the matter.

The committee, as explained to the aldermen, is somewhat as follows: A private wire runs from the central telephone exchange to each of the fire department stations, and the switch is so arranged that any or all of these stations may be called by the operator at the same time.

A special operator is employed, who is thoroughly acquainted with the exact location of every fire alarm box, and who has a good idea of the situation of every building in the city where a telephone is in use.

Ald. Bullock said the plans worked well in other cities. Out of 108 calls in London, Ont., 107 were by telephone.

ALIENS ON BRITISH SHIPS.

In a letter to the secretary of the Scottish Shipmasters and Officers' association at Glasgow, Mr. Chamberlain says: "It is a foolish policy, and inimical to the interest of the nation, to encourage the commanding and offering of British ships by subjects of a foreign government. Could the custom be shown to be common, or were there any apprehension of its becoming unlawful, the supremacy of our merchant fleet, its very existence in time of war, should cause arise, would be jeopardized, and the completely external and offering of our mercantile marine demands reconsideration, and the reversal of our present policy is urgently called for."

Mah-Pu Mineral Water.

What a Montreal Analytical and leading Chemist says of it:

"This water, which is of the saline mineral class, compares most favorably with other well-known Springs. The marked proportion of the rare compound, lithium chloride, present, together with the bicarbonates of iron, magnesia, lime and soda, and phosphate of soda, render the new water of decided medicinal value. The water is clear, odorless and of pleasant taste. If aerated with Carbonic Acid Gas the water will be rendered still more valuable and palatable. Apart from its medicinal features it would be a most agreeable beverage whether used in its natural condition or aerated."

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) MILTON L. HERSEY,
"Analytical and Consulting Chemist."

MUTILATED BODY OF GIRL IN TRUNK.

VIENNA, Sept. 25.—The Neue Freie Presse publishes details of a gruesome murder which has just been brought to light by the discovery of a trunk hidden amongst the bushes in the park adjoining the imperial castle at Schenbrunn, near Vienna and containing the dreadfully mutilated body of a young girl. Investigations made by the police show that the murderer is a tram driver named Prugel. The girl, who was a servant, made the acquaintance of Prugel, and although a married man with two children, he made love to her. Some time afterward she eloped with him, and he was arrested during the temporary absence of his wife. Prugel took the girl to his apartment where he brutally murdered her, first strangling her and then despatching her with a hatchet. Afterwards he packed her body in the trunk, and in the dead of night made his wife assist him in carrying the trunk into the park. Prugel was calmly driving his car when arrested, and has since made a full confession.

PRINCE OF BATTENBURG A PRINTER.

Prince Louis of Battenberg has given the Canadian press a most interesting story of his life and of the earlier part of the evening quite a struggle took place between her, Mrs. Donohue and a boarder, Mr. Haskin, the latter endeavoring to prevent her from leaving the room. They thought she was all right and were convinced that there would be no more trouble, when the girl appeared with a half ounce bottle of laudanum, which she promptly poured down her throat. Then she became sick again, but assistance was rendered and she was brought round all right.

Esther Spicer's father is Captain Spicer, in command of a schooner running to St. John. He is in the city now and will probably sail today on a return to Nova Scotia. He will take his daughter along with him.

A report to this effect reached the star office yesterday afternoon, after the regular edition had gone to press. To confirm the story before incorporating it in the second edition a reporter was sent to the Aberdeen hotel and was informed by inmates that the report was without foundation. Consequently a statement to that effect appeared in the second edition together with the story of the attempted suicide on King Square.

BRUTAL ASSAULT AT MISPE.

Late Sunday evening two laborers, Alexander Goake and John Carr, called at John Lockhart's home, Mispe. They had liquor with them and offered some of it to Mr. Lockhart who refused their offer. Chief Kerr and Ald. Macrae and Bullock was chosen to look into the matter.

MURDER IN OYSTER BAY.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—In a quarrel between two men over the affections of a negro woman a murder was committed last night in Oyster Bay. The victim was John Murray, a laborer. He was shot by an Italian who escaped with the authorities in pursuit. The murder occurred in an ally just off one of the principal streets of the town.

Old Gentlemen: "I'm afraid this day doesn't agree with me; I've scarcely eaten anything since I've been here."
Polly Youth: "Well, that's all right; you came for a rest, didn't you?"

"You may go," said the magistrate; "and I advise you, in future, not to threaten your wife."
The individual, who had his head in bandages and his arm in a sling, turned away solemnly. "An' he gits twelve hundred sovereigns a year for saying things like that!"

"Why have you never married, Miss Antique?" he thoughtlessly inquired.
"You never asked me before," she said, coolly, as she drove him her hand.

For Every Woman According to Her Needs

PRETTY STYLES IN NEGUGLES

Shirring at the Waist Gives a Princess Effect

THE term lounging-robe really covers a multitude of styles, from the traditional type of kimono that Hubbard-through the legions of filmos to countless extravaganzas of lace and silk, and even embellished by a wealth of hand embroidery.

There's one woman—a very occasional one—who has an elaborate robe hanging in the closet of every room in her big house—ready for her guests. She wears it as she indulges in her "dreams," indeed.

Heavy crepe de chine (there's a wide difference between crepe de chine and crepe de chine), in exquisite pale shades, is embroidered all over, Japanese fashion—like the Japanese. It's the French fashion, all in a single tone, the exact shade of the robe itself. In Japan, the robe is made of the stuff of the jumble of French and Japanese ideas, it's the loveliest creation imaginable, but it's not made for use for some slight indisposition—just enough for an excuse to pose picturesquely.

Real Japanese robes are there, too, with a background of some pale tint, lined with a group of butterflies, or other decorative, or even fantastic decorations of the mysterious, alluring East, done in the gay colors that signalize that work.

There is a certain pale, iridescent heap of exquisite robes and shawls; lingerie styles, with the waist either tucked into the long, graceful lines of swishes, with lace, or embroidery, set in—In odd, beautiful ways; there are box-pieatas, and some of delicate French stuffs, airy and beautiful, that are almost too queer, and she owes him of fine lace that continually form and break over them.

There is an exception, of course. There aren't many of us who can afford to indulge our whims in such luxuries as these. But I don't want to let anyone for our gowns; but every woman has to have at least one of some kind or other, and she owes him of herself to have as pretty a one as possible, and to keep it in the daintiest sort of order.

Kimonos—like the Japs—are constantly winning new laurels, long and short kimonos being far and away the most

One-act plays are best—there's no troublesome attempting to set scenes; no having to rig up a curtain, whether or not it is convenient. When you've arranged your "properties," the responsi-hard. The curtain goes down to the wild ringing of the doorbell—her letter was just in time—and the wild dash of the madcap to open that door herself.

Writers for amateurs have been very accommodating, writing plays with any number of characters from one to a

The newest kimono—pretty and as ingenious as the stunning variety of awes, embroidered with rather large floral designs, and with elaborate patterns. In some of them the sleeves are so wide that the wearer is liable to slipping around the wrists that some of them are.

Next to kimono, a different class in design, the tsurumono, or "flowered" skirts to match, both trimmed plain with valences, and with flowers, and flowered skirts, with plain valences, and having the skirts to match, takes away the main portion of the wardrobe, and is so marked in the wearing of a dress.

But, naturally, there's a far cry between the tsurumono and the kimono. A kimono belongs to a room, just as a dress belongs to a wardrobe. It is a possible dress for your own backbreaking.

Kimono of cotton crepe are worn by the most fashionable women in the round, and the prettiest of them are made of the finest crepe. The most Oriental of Oriental shops had for awhile. They were priced according to their exclusiveness, but, now are to be had almost anywhere for very small sums. They are made in a variety of plain crepes, for they wash, and wash, and wash.

As to the winter styles and styles—these are the tsurumono made of albatross, or French merino, or worsted, or silk, and with enough cotton in them to successfully prevent shrinking.

There are also those of white China silk, lined with pink albatross—these are the most popular. They do up well, and are extremely extravagant. They are made in a variety of styles, to launder, but beautiful enough to pay for.

Both princess and empire styles have been worn for many of the new styles.

In saques, the very short, very full ones are best liked. Put any one of a hundred materials, and trimmed simply or elaborately, as you wish, on the machine, and you are doing the simplest ones, trimmed exactly to be prettiest, and those that will wear best. As to colors, use only white or the darkest shades of blue, and the richness must be neglected to make the robe acquire a success, and it is never present with a dark green.

when he's constantly made the centre of attraction.

"Character sketches" are clever if they do even fairly well; they're really done very little more than a monologue, delivered with action and scenery, and getting up a play, select some one as stage manager, but let them choose one with plenty of scenic ability. Another girl should be "property man," and should keep the little things all together, ready to produce at the different moments they may be needed. Some one should prompt at every rehearsal, and, as far as it is possible, make a rigid rule, no one should be allowed to carry her lines with her over at the first rehearsal.

The going on with the book in her hand at almost all the rehearsals, and then suddenly being deprived of it at the last one or two, is responsible for a good many serious cases of stage-fright.

Watch your company. If you are stage managers, to see that they don't all huddle together in one part of your improvised stage and so spoil the "balance."

OLD-FASHIONED NECKLACES AND ANTIQUE JEWELS ARE NOW THE FAD

Beads of Roman Gold

Topaz - For a November Girl

Pearls and Old Silver

Rhinestones Set in Gun-metal

A New Use for Old Corals!

THAT elbow sleeves are responsible for the present vogue of bracelets is pretty well known; but just what brought necklaces and jeweled collars in nobody knows. However, they come in, they are wonderfully becoming, and, in consequence, they are in with a vengeance. Exquisite ones come, fit for a queen, and as rich and costly as gold and gems can make them. But we've got over the feeling against "Paris jewelry," and wear it as frankly and as freely as it is worn all over the continent of Europe.

Among the necklaces set with real gems almost everything is modeled after old-time jewelry, and the old jewelry itself was never more popular, even when it was first high in fashion. These old-time necklaces of dull silver, with stones given an odd, dull look by time, are most artistic, and are hard to find. Oddly shaped pendants add to their beauty—relics of a period when pendants were necessary to the style of every sort of thing, from brooches and bracelets to necklaces.

Slim chains, woven in front into a lattice-work of fine links, are perhaps the most becoming of all the new necklaces, especially for that type of neck which is smooth and white, but just faintly shows those two little "knobs." In the lattice-work, where the fine chains intersect, stones are set—birthstones being the favorites.

An interesting necklace is really more like a collar than a necklace. It is just two chains joined, at intervals, by great oval stones. Worn over the collar of a dress, or on the bare neck, it is a most striking style.

The same idea is carried out in a longer necklace—the first fits closely around the throat—set with fewer stones, and those graduated, the largest being directly in front.

As to the odd Egyptian styles, there is no end to them. Curious designs, made of odd, swirling lines, and executed in metal—silver and gold seeming equally good, and set with opal-matrix, and with every sort of stone that will take on strong blues and greens. The bits of opal matrix are the darker bits, those which are a subtle mixture of blue and violet and green, with an occasional flash of fire.

Wonderful things are done with coral. Pendants, carved like old Egyptian mummy cases—gruesome in thought, but quaintly artistic when actually made—hang from the simplest of chains, the heaviest directly in front and the others balancing the sides.

In the bead world, Paris has taken hand. Some of the loveliest of the necklaces are her inspiration. Pale blue beads—big ones, too—with corrugated sides and as dull as Venetian glass, are strung on strong cords, and give a life and character to the gown they are worn with.

Coral beads—everybody who has an old set is hunting them up, and wearing them.

This summer the trick of wearing stockings and girdle and beads that match has been carried out in almost every color and shade imaginable to

But there are blue beads—every sort from the palest of turquoise through every shade of opaque or clear, to dark rich sapphire blues, and violet—strawberry and lavender and white opaque beads, and strings of every shade of amethysts, and green beads—jade and its imitations, and every other imaginable sort of green bead; and—but there's no describing the piles of almost barbaric ornaments that pass as necklaces.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR MISPEC ASSAULTERS.

Two Policemen Left This Afternoon to Arrest the Two Men Who Assaulted Mr. and Mrs. John Lockhart.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lockhart, who were brutally assaulted by two ruffians at Mispec Sunday night (see page 3), and who were referred by the city police to Squire Bowes, of Golden Grove, for justice, returned this morning in company with Mr. Bowes and appeared at Chief Clark's office. After about an hour's discussion warrants were issued for the arrest of the assaulters. Then the question was put by the chief that if he was to send officers to Mispec to arrest the men, who would be responsible for the cost of team hire. This was finally arranged satisfactorily to the chief, and this afternoon about 1:30 o'clock Sergt. Campbell and Policeman Lee, in plain clothes, left the city for the Mispec mill to make the arrest.

When seen this morning Mr. Lockhart showed marks of the conflict, and said it appeared to take a long time to have justice delivered, and that he had been chasing all over the country looking for it. He almost believed that robbery was the cause of the assault, and that during the time that he has been from his home looking for officials to make an arrest of his assailants' stamp could loot his house, murder his children if they wished and get many miles away from the scene.

The matter was reported to the police yesterday morning.

POLICE KNOW NOTHING ABOUT ASSAULTED GIRL.

The police this morning state that they have learned nothing further than the press has had on the case of Ada Williams being assaulted, bound, choked and gagged in a barn off Orange street, Saturday night as described in yesterday's Star. The girl claimed to have been choked, bound, choked, assaulted and robbed of two dollars. The girl has been quite nervous since the alleged assault but the doctors have not found that any criminal assault has been committed and there were no marks on her throat to bear out her story that she had been choked to insensibility.

The girl has always borne a good reputation and has been in the employ of Mrs. J. E. Rogers for some time as a nurse girl. The case has not yet been cleared up by the police who were notified on Sunday morning and the case was put in the hands of Detective Killen.

DREDGE WILL ARRIVE TOMORROW.

G. S. Mayes said this morning that he had received a telegram from the boss in charge of the dredge Beaver, being towed here from Boston, to the effect that the tug with their tow sent the night in Chance Harbor and will proceed today by what is known as the inside passage. With the present weather conditions it is expected that the dredge and tow will reach here sometime tomorrow. Mr. Mayes is well pleased with the progress made and considers that the most difficult part of the long tow has been safely navigated. When the dredge arrives it will take but a few days to equip her for active mud sifting.

FIXING FERRY FLOATS.

The East Side ferry floats were removed from the dock this morning and passengers are embarking and disembarking at the McAvity wharf. Besides the service of the city dredge is digging out the slip the services of Diver Lahey and the city hoisting scow are engaged in removing an old sunken wharf that has been in the dock for the past 40 years. It will be some days before the dock will be ready for the ferry service again, and in the meantime teams will have to cross the harbor by the bridge.

STOLEN CANDY FOUND.

John H. Allen, of Kimball street, called at the police station this morning and made a report to the police that his 12-year-old boy, while looking for a ten cent piece that a man lost under the Sunnyside milk stand, in the L. C. R. yard, found two boxes of candy. One box contained sticks of candy and the other conversation lozenges. It is surmised that some thieves have been at work and have taken the candy from one of the cars in the yard and have hidden the boxes under the platform until they could be conveniently removed. Detective Killen will be placed on the case and may solve the mystery.

PROBATE COURT.

Today in probate court a petition was presented of C. D. Trueman, a creditor of the late Mrs. Jane Clarke, for administration in her estate. A citation was granted for service upon Albert R. C. Clark and Samuel H. Clark, sons of the deceased, Mrs. Wm. J. Irons, a daughter of the deceased, and her husband, Wm. J. Irons, returnable October 30th next. Stockton and Price, proctors for the petitioner.

MORE DIPHTHERIA.

LIVELY INTEREST IN FREDERICTON RACES.

(Special to the Star.)
FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 25.—Today is fine with a cold west wind blowing. The trotting track is in good condition, and much interest is being taken in the races scheduled for this afternoon. In several places about town evening quite a number of bets, some of them pretty large, were made on today's races. The horse Shamrock had many admirers, and money was not found wanting in backing this steed. The city seems to be full of St. John people today, the early morning train bringing up hundreds. The boats, the C. P. R. at noon and the I. C. R. brought large crowds to the city.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE LOSS WAS $7,000.

The total loss in last night's fire will not exceed $7,000, at least that is the opinion of those who examined the premises this morning. In addition to the insurance as published in another column there is $500 in the Connecticut and $200 in the Norwich Union on the Franklin Printing Company's plant and stock which gives a total of $2,500 on that company's premises. There is also $1,700 in the Halifax Insurance Co. on the tobacco in bond, the sole property of A. & L. Isaacs. Some furniture stored in the Isaacs' building is insured for $400 in the Western Assurance Co.
