The vote in this city is very close, with Premier Fielding leading. It is generally believed that all the Liberals will be elected in Halifax county.

Particulars and returns from a number of constituencies indicate that the Government will be sustained,

A later dispatch from Halifax says: In Halifax county Fielding and Roche (Govt.) are no doubt elected, but the third seat is uncertain as to whether Black (Opp.) or Power (Govt.) is elected. The other counties returned the following:

Cahan, in Shelburne, the Opposition leader, and Webster, in Kings, two principals in the late Opposition, and McDon nel, member of the Government in Inverness without portfolio, are defeated. All the other members of the Government are elected. Three Liberals were running in Victoria, and also three in Yarmouth, which made some difference in the former and elected one of the Conservatives in the

The contest is very close in Halifax between Black (Con.) and Power (Lib.), with chances in favor of the latter.

Later returns from Colchester state positively that Lawrence (Lib.) is returned. Earlier reports indicated two Conservatives elected.

Imported 483 Chinese as Actors. CHICAGO, March 15 .- Ching Ming Sue, one of the Chinamen who brought to America the actors who performed in the Chinese theater on the Midway Plaisance last summer, has been arrested by United States Secret Service officials. He is accused of bringing into the country 483 Chinese laborers, whom he represented to the customs officers at San Francisco to be actors and performers intended for the exhibit on the Midway. Soon after the World's Fair opened Sue returned to China, and did not come back to Chicago until a few days ago. It was alleged that his theater was merely a scheme for evading the Chinese exclusion laws.

The Bank of England.

LONDON, March 15 .- At the meeting of he directors of the Bank of England to-day a statement was submitted by the governor of the bank saying that it was impossible to estimate the full amount of the bank's losses from Mr. May's transactions, but the sum of £250,000 had been set aside to meet them. Since August, 1893. the liabilities to the bank of the firm of Baring Bros. & Co., who failed last summer, had been reduced to £865,000.

The Standard says: "The bank directors" attitude is feeble. The Daily Chronicle says that the statement shows that May has brought not only ruiu and disgrace upon himself, but also discredit upon the bank.

Tragedy in an Australian Town. The steamer Warrimoo, from Australian ports, brings word that William Paisley, mayor of Rudwood, was shot and mortally wounded on Feb. 12 by William Redfern, city clerk, who, when he saw his victim must die, sent a bullet into his own brain. The reason for the tragedy was that the council clerk was smarting under a reduction of salary, and took revenge on the chief magistrate, who had sanctioned a general cut in the civic pay list owing to hard times. It was found that Redfern had no fewer than three loaded revolvers. and that in his coat he had a special pocket for a small French stiletto or doubleheaded dagger. It was also discovered that he had destroyed the minute books of the council since the incorporation of the city. Other facts seem to show that he

Few governors, if any, have ever evoked cheers from the satiated onlookers who view the spectacle annually. Among those in the Senate were Lieut. Gov. C. to the Queen, and Mr. Arthur Gordon, C.M.G., military secretary, drove up with his Excellency.

On the reassembling of the House of Commons the following new members were introduced amid the cheers of partisans: Sir James Grant, Ottawa, by Sir John Thompson and Mr. Robinard; Mr. H. S. Harwood, of Vaudreuil, by Mr. Laurier and Mr. Tarte: Hon. Joseph Martin, Winnipeg, by Mr. Lourier and Mr. Davies; Mr. A. Hassland, Vancouver, by Sir John Thompson and Mr. Mara.

Mr. Davies invited the Minister of Justice to state the attitude of the Government in respect to the resignation of Judge Palmer in New Brunswick. The resignation was surrounded by circumstances of an exceptionally grave and serious character. After a reference to the purity of the bench, Mr. Davies alluded to the grave charges made by a St. John newspaper against Judge Palmer. He believed that in fact the attention of the Minister had been drawn specially to the circumstance before the resignation had been accepted. Sir John Thompson agreed that this was a question of grave importance, but it could be better discussed after the papers were laid on the table. A copy of the St. John Globe containing the charges had been sent to him when he was out of the country. A statement had been made to him indirectly by the judge, who had absolutely denied the charges, and explanations were made which had satisfied him that Judge Palmer intended to vindicate himself if any attempt was made to follow up the charges in a regular way. The judge, who was 74, had tendered his resignation, which had been accepted. Medical certificates of failure of eyesight had accompanied the resignation. Under these circumstances the Government had been fully justified in accepting the resignation. The discussion went no further, and the House adjourned.

The Brazilians Incensed-Da Gama Coward-Never Meant to Fight.

RIG JANEIRO, March 16 .- The Portuguese officials here refuse to give up Da Gama or the other rebel officers who fled and were transferred from the French cruiser to the Portuguese corvettes Mindello and Albu-

President Peixoto's Minister of Foreign Affairs, Senhor Nasemento, has informed them that Da Gama is not an ordinary political offender but a rebel, a pirate, a conspirator against the law of the Government, and that it is the duty of the Portuguese authorities to deliver him and his officers up on the assurance of the Brazilian Government that they will be tried by a formal tribunal and are in no present danger of losing their lives.

Brazilians are incensed against the Portuguese over the affair, and there is much talk of a popular demonstration of disapproval in front of the Portuguese consulate here. A number of dynamite bombs were found among the ammunition of the rebel ships when they surrendered. Da Gama and his officers will sail for Lisbon if not prevented. The English get their share of the ill-feeling of the populace for aiding the rebels.

Da Gama sailors say they never thought he was such a coward as to leave them. After the surrender, President Peixoto sent food and water to the starving garrison on Cobras and Paquita Islands and ordered the ill and wounded to be taken care of. Da Gama never intended to make a fight against the loyal fleet. Steam had not been gotten up in his ships. They were not cleared for action and a large amount of water had been let into the flagship, the Tamandar, preparatory to sinking her. The whole conduct of the rebels in the fight is like an opera bouffe, though every one is surprised that they did not show some resistance at the last.

Hon. John Dryden Defends the Agricultural Department.

Mr. Woods Advocates Abolition of the Fee System.

Two Sessions and a Long Debate Without Reaching a Vote.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, March 15. -Mr. Dryden, resuming the debate on the budget this afternoon, spoke for an hour, creating an admirable impression. He referred to the criticism made on his department and remarked that, while he did not object to fair criticism, he had a right to complain of censorious and unjust fault-finding. It had been suggested that the Department of Agriculture should be amalgamated with some other branch of the Government. Every member of the Administration took issue upon this question. The necessity for an agricultural Minister was imperative and approved throughout the Province. Referring to the charge that there was no return for the large expenditures made on the Agricultural College, Mr. Dryden pointed out the enviable position Ontario had taken in agricultural products at the World's Fair. He then met the criticism that during the past ten years an increase of over $10,000 a year had necessarily been made at the college on new services. He instanced the importance of the dairy department, in which 100 young men and women were receiving instruction. Mr. Dryden compared the salaries paid at the Agricultural College with those of the Experimental Farms at Ottawa and in the United States. The principal at Guelph got $2,000 a year. At the Ottawa Experimental Farm, Prof.

Saunders received $4,000 a year and a free house, while the professors each got $1,400 a year and a free house. At Lansing, Mich., the principal got $3,000 with a free house, and twelve professors each received $1,800 with free houses. At Cornell, N. Y., all the agricultural professors received $3,000 and free houses. In comparison with these figures the salaries at Guelph were not high. If the best men were to be kept in Canada they would have to be paid good salaries. The revenue from the Guelph College in 1893 was $4,240, while at Ottawa in the same year the revenue was $2,553. The Opposition had said that the attendance at Guelph was not large. The attendance would never be what it should be while the college was being belittled for political purposes. There were, however, more pupils in attendance now than at any other period in the college's history. It had been said that pupils left the college and never returned because they were disgusted with it. This was not true. The present time was one of depression and the farmers found it hard to spare their sons. The Guelph College was the best equipped one of its kind on the continent, and this fact had been subscribed to by innumerable visitors from the United States and Europe. While an advocate of economy, he was an equally strong advocate of efficiency, and he did not intend to sacrifice efficiency for the sake of making a cheap-Jack school at Guelph-the only one of the kind which the farmers of Ontario possessed. (Great cheering.) Mr. Wood (Hastings) here sprung an amendment to the motion "That Mr. Speaker do now leave the chair." The amendment called for the abolition of the fee system of paying all public officials, and he advanced it in a speech of an hour's duration. His remarks were mainly an elaboration of those which he had made at previous sessions. Sir Oliver Mowat replied. He thought that Mr. Wood's statement that $250,000 would be saved to the Province were the fee system abolished was absurd. The Province would undoubtedly be the loser were such a change made. He had often before justified the present system on the ground that where the large salaries were procured there was a corresponding increase in the responsibility and work. He had no reason to change this judgment now, and he had no hesitancy in saying that the fee system was greatly superior to the salaried system.

EVENING SESSION. For three hours this evening the want of confidence motion was debated. A vote was not reached. An incident of the discussion was Mr. Whitney's suggestion that all officials should be elected either by the people or by the county councils.

Mr. Ross thought that if such a proposition were carried into effect numerous evils, as in the adjacent Union, would re-Mr. Meredith pointed out that there was

Branch-Corner Richmond and Piccadilly streets. London, Ont. Mr. Grossmith enlivens the way in a manner of his own. Under his hands the piano talks, and it talks in Grossmith's own funny way. He tells of the agonies endured by the great world of the enter-tained and of the trials of the goodly fellowship of entertainers, of whom he is one. He sings the words of "La Marseillaise" to the air of "Rule Brittania" and vice versa. He sings "Daisy" with a Schumannesque accompaniment, and displays in rather marvelous fashion the latent beauties of the popular air. He makes "The Bowery" also romantic and classical after the schools of Strauss and Gounod respectively. "How I Discovered America" is a clever sketch. He tells about the way an American instructed him in the use of the English language, and says something of the peculiarities of the American upper classes. Then he sings his new and original song, "The American Girl." He outlines an American drama of "The Old Homestead" type and sings another original song, "I'm His Daisy," built upon the "Annie Rooney" and "Maggie Murphy" plan. "The Paderewski Craze," a sketch at the piano, shows his complete mastery of the instrument and a very considerable humor. His illustrations and imitations, with which he concludes his performance, are all good. Mr. Grossmith appears at the Grand Opera House for one performance only, on Monday, March 19. Prices 50 cents, 75 cents and $1. Plan opens this morning at box office. Be early for good seats.

Conclusion of the Seventh Annual Session-Missiopary Service at Cronyn Hall.

CLOSING SESSION-THURSDAY. There was a large gathering at Bishopstowe this morning, being the last session of the meeting of the W. A. M. A. After evotional exercises the Bishop of Huron addressed the meeting, taking for his text the 32nd chapter of Genesis, from the 24th verse to the end of the chapter. He dwelt on the subject of burdens, and explained how they may best be borne. The ladies were highly edified by his lordship's eloquent remarks.

Petitions for prayers and thanksgivings for prayers answered were received and read by Mrs. Baldwin, after which the minutes of Wednesday's sessions were read by the recording secretary and confirmed. The association expressed their sincere thanks to Mrs. Finley for her past services, and regretted that she is unable to continue her work on account of her removal from Toronto. A standing vote of thanks was tendered Bishop Young, of Athabasca and Canon Richardson, of this city, for their excellent addresses delivered Wednesday evening. Mrs. Young said a few parting words to the society, and expressed the great pleasure it had given her CINCINNATI, March 15 .- A 4-year-old son of Edward Murphy, a millwright living in Newport, swallowed a toy balloon and his sufferings were terrible. The child, while blowing into the balloon; inhaled it, and it lodged in the lad's throat. The end could be seen in the windpipe, and the object seemed to increase in size as the child gasped for breath. All efforts to dislodge it were in vain. A doctor was summoned and instruments used, but the obstruction could not be removed in time, and the child died in a frightful paroxysm.

Notable New Books-Striking Articles in the Month's Magazines.

The tenth edition of the Canadian Accountant, published by the principals of the Ontario Business College at Belleville, has just been issued. It is certainly a most complete work and will make a capital text book for any office. It deals exhaustively with bookkeeping in all its branches, supplies useful and valuable information for the merchant, manufacturer, bookkeeper, mechanic and farmer. To the young man commencing business life it is invaluable, as he can procure thorough and reliable information on subjects which otherwise might take him years to acquire. This Canadian book has a wider demand than any other work on bookkeeping and accounts published in the English language. It is a reliable and complete work on bookkeeping and business forms of all kinds. The price is only $2.

Archdeacon Farrar has revised his "Life of Christ" throughout, and has added copious notes, and the new edition will soon be brought out by Dutton,

"The Book of the Fair" is a most remarkable publication. It is the only work in any wise attempting to reproduce in print the World's Columbian Exhibition at Chicago entire. It aims to present in attractive and accurate from the whole realm of art, industry, science and learning, as exhibited by the nations. The work has been issued in monthly parts, of great artistic beauty, with magnificent cuts, printed on heavy paper of the highest enameled finish. Part I. now before us consists of 40 pages, each of which is hand-somely illustrated, and graphically descriptive in accompanying letter press. The fairs of the past are pictorially represented, including the World's Fair at London in 1851; an Egyptian Fair; a fair in Norway; an English fair; an Irish fair; World's Fairs in Lendon (1862) and in Ireland (1853), World's Fairs in Paris in 1855, 1867, 1878 and 1889. The World's Fairs in Munich, Vienna and Turin are illustrated, while the scene at the great market of Novgorod is illustrated. Then follows splendid introductory views of the World's Fair at Chicago, street scenes in that wonderful city, and an interesting description of the rise and progress of the Corticelli Best 10 place. The illustrations are really magnificent. The work will be furnished in 25 nificent. The work will be furnished in 25 parts of 2,000 pages, and the price is $1 a part. The Eancroft Company, publishers, Auditorium Building, Chicago.

Dr. John Bradshaw, the editor of "Lord Chesterfield's Letters," and of the Milton n the Aldine Poets series, has just died in India. He left a completed "Concordance to Milton," which is to be published soon, and which is said to be so thorough a guide to the poet that it will contain every word he has used in his writings,

Mr. Walter Besaut's new novel is to be called "The Inquest of Ages." It is a story of modern English life. A newspaper paragraph to the effect that the author was having difficulty in finding a good title brought various suggestions from strangers. Among them was a long list of titles from a person who had no idea what the book was about, any one of them being offered at $10.

The American Humane Education Society is doing a splendid work in promoting proper views of the treatment of dumb animals among the rising generations. The series of cheap story books, inculcating these views, should be in every household. The latest story issued is "Our Gold Mine at Holly Hurst." It is a sequel to the very attractive story of "Black Beauty; his Grooms and Companions-The Uncle Tom's Cabin of the Horse." Over a million copies of this work have already been circulated. Each of these works can be had for 10 cents a copy. Geo. T. Angell, 19 Milk street, Boston, publisher.

Some years ago there was published under the auspices of the Hamilton Literary and Scientific Association a book on the "Birds of Ontario" by Mr. McIlwraith, of that city. The book was very unpretentiously gotten up, and there was no attempt made to push its sale. But it was soon recognized as the work of a master, and became at once an accepted authority. The book has been for some years out of print, and copies could be found only in the libraries of those whose tastes were similar to those of Mr. McIlwraith himself. We are glad to be informed, however, that, encouraged by the reception accorded to the first edition, the Methodist Book and Publishing House of Toronto have undertaken to bring out a second, which they have now in press and expect to issue at once. This new edition has been carefully revised and enlarged, and will present a concise account of every species of bird known to have been found in Ontario (316 in all), with a description of their nests and eggs. Mr. McIlwraith has added to the new book "instructions for collecting birds and preparing and preserving skins," also "directions how to form a collection of eggs." The publishers are embellishing the volume with numerous illustrations, distributed over some 420 pages of letter press, and have wisely decided to issue it in popular form at $2.

It is claimed that not only did Sarah Grand, the author of "The Heavenly hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections." not write "A Superfluous Woman." but that her friends and relatives are very much incensed that anyone should think so. She will soon publish a volume of short stories called "Our Manifold Nature."

Donahoe's Magazine for this month is headed "Easter Number," and purports to he particularly fine. -This is a bad year for leaders of Provincial Oppositions. Mr. Cahan, the Conservative leader in Nova Scotia, was among the slain in the Nova Scotia Provincial attle yesterday.

-Hon. Edward Blake. M.P., is spoken of by the Toronto Empire as a "Hoodoo." The "organ of gentlemen," as it likes to have itself called, is nothing if it is not "refined" in its editorial remarks.

-The very satisfactory balance sheet of the London Water Commissioners is an effective answer to those who cppose civic ownership of other departments of public service that practically are monopolies.

-The Manitoba Free Press, after sizing up the financial management of the Ontario Government, volunteers the statement that no Province. State or county can make better showing. This is the invariable outside, disinterested verdict. It is only in Ontario that a contrary opinion is expressed, but as it comes from jaundiced political opponents, almost mad with lust for power, it is easily discounted.

-In reference to recent squabbling between Toronto newspapers, the Kingston News (Conservative) says:

"One thing is certain. The Mail of late has assumed a tone distinctly hostile to the Mowat regime, and seems anxious to be allowed to drift gradually back to its old position as the Toronto organ of the Dominion Government.'

That has been evident for some time past. Liberals who took stock in the Mail's "independence" can no longer be misled.

-A cablegram from London says that the British Canadian Stores Company (limited), of which a prospectus was recently issued, has found so little support among the investors that the few subscriptions which were made to launch the company in business have been returned. Perhaps the capitalists have vivid recollections of the dead meat speculation, to which Sir Charles Tupper gave a certificate, only to be disgraced, or they believe that the Dominion has plenty of stores now. Few will regret their decision.

-It is stated that M. Jules Simon, the distinguished French statesman, fast approaching his 80th year, afflicted as he is with cataract on both eyes, and no longer able to read, has consented to an operation which, despite his age, gives every hope of success. There is cheer for Gladstone in this declaration. The Grand Old Man may live to get over his eye trouble and resume his accustomed place as leader of the House of Commons. Sir William Harcourt would not be averse to such a course. Sir William likes to be a sort of Parliamentary free lance. As leader, he has to remain, comparatively speaking, on his

of the Lieutenant-Governor at Toronto, be abolished?" This question will be put to every one of the constituencies in the ensuing general elections for the Provincial Legislature, and on the instructions which the voters give to the candidates will depend whether or not the residence shall be longer maintained. In the Legislature, a section of the members wished to declare that Government House should be abolished several years from now; indeed, there was a concensus of opinion that it should not be abolished while the present Lieutenant-Governor holds office. That being the case, the settlement of the question, practically on the plebiscite plan, immediately on the new Assembly meeting, as proposed by the Pre- forever with the expense and corruption in mier, will be objected to by few electors who are not opponents of the present Administration, bent on trying to get up a catch cry by which to capture the unwary voter. For ourselves, we have for years advocated the abolition of Government House, and would have been glad if | On the readiness of the Administration both sides had agreed to abolition now, instead of waiting, as all were agreed, for several years to come. The one advantage in delay is that every candidate for election can be put on record as to his intentions when the question is definitely before the Assembly for settlement, which it has never yet been.

PARLIAMENT AND THE VOTERS LISTS.

If either friend or foe expected to learn much from the Speech from the Throne, put into the hands of Lord Aberdeen by Sir John Thompson on the opening of Parliament yesterday alternoon, disappointment has been the result.

The speech tells us that there will be tariff changes, but that they will be made without destroying the principle of "protection," which is simply a means for restricting commerce and of giving to a few in the community wealth that belongs to the many. It promises a new insolvency bill, a demand for subsidies to steamboat owners on the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, and a few minor bills that may or may not be proceeded with. All of which measures have been foreshadowed in the public

A very large section of the electorate will be dissatisfied if a radical measure for the amendment of the Dominion Franchise Act is not gone on with. The best way would be to destroy the enactment altogether, and permit the constituencies to revert to the municipal lists, as demanded by the Liberals and the Patrons of Industry, but that is too much to expect from men who were elected chiefly by the unfair working of these lists, coupled with the gerrymander. Last year an act to amend the obnoxious and expensive measure was heralded by Mr. Costigan with a great flourish of trumpets, but when the amending bill was brought in, it was found to be a mere insult to the intelligence of the House; it made but affew verbal alterations, and left the great blots complained of on the face of the act. It was soon made apparent that the most determined opposition to the continuance on the statute book of the Franchise Act would be made when the amending bill was considered, and Mr. Costigan promptly pigeon-holed it and de creed that the Dominion lists should not be revised last year. The result was that in Winnipeg and other places where bye-election were held many hundreds of electors were disfranchised, and nearly as many more who had removed to the United States were enabled to return and participate in the contest. The scandalous pro-

they were voteless. If the Liberals at Ottawa do not make one of their best fights of the session to bring about a remedy for this state of affairs, in accordance with Liberal principles, we will be ashamed of them. When the act was adopted in 1885 they made a long struggle against the inequitable measure, and succeeded on some points; but they failed to secure the incorporation in the measure of the democratic principle of "one man, one vote," with residential suffrage, which has proved so signal a success in Ontario Provincial elec-

ceeding was witnessed of these foreigners

The act requires amendment in many respects, but two amendments should be insisted on at all hazards: 1. Plural voting should be abolished and the elector should vote only where he lives, thus doing away cident to bringing in the "foreign vote." 2. It should be made impossible for a partisan judge to steal a seat from the man elected by the majority of the qualified voters and give it to his friend and patron.

LORD ROSEBERY'S DECLARATION. So persistent is the attempt to misrepresent the new British Premier's attitude in regard to the extension of a full measure of local self-government to Ireland that it may be well to print his declaration as no doubt that the Liberal Administration | made in the House of Lord the other

"The noble lord (Lord Salisbury) has made one remark on the subject of home rule with which I confess myself in entire accord. He said that before Irish home rule could be conceded by the Imperial Parliament, England, as the predominant member of the partnership of the three kingdoms, must be convinced of its justice. sion, because your lordships well know home rule.

"I believe that the conviction of England regarding home rule depends upon one point alone-the conduct of Ireland herself. I believe that if we continue to show the absence of agrarian crime, and continue to point to harmony in Ireland, the Liberal party of the country will continue to give proofs and pledges that Ireland is entitled to 'the boon,' which she has never ceased to demand since the act of union was passed. I believe the conversion of England will not be slow or difficult. "The question of home rule has a triple aspect: First, Ireland will never be conented until home rule is granted, and the policy of administering palliatives is bound to fail; second, we have not merely to satisfy those living in Ireland, but for the good of the Empire and the continuity and solidarity of relations with their brothers across the Atlantic it is necessary to produce an Irish policy that will be satisfactory to the Irish people; lastly, from the highest of imperial grounds, because I believe that the maintenance of the Empire depends not upon centralization, but decentralizathis path you must give satisfaction under the same condition, certainly in the case of Scotland, and possibly that of Wales-not in the same degree, nor in the same way, but so as to relieve the Imperial Parliament of the burden of legislation."

If Lord Rosebery had been less explicit regarding the trend of the Liberal policy, the attempt to make believe that it radically differs from that hitherto espoused might not have been made. To give home rule to Ireland is the policy of the Liberal party. Because that policy has been misrepresented, and some of the electors in England have been misled in regard to its ultimate aim, Lord Rosebery and his colleagues now mean to set about converting them to Liberal views on the subject. With co-operation from the people of Ireland and continued progress towards decentralization in England and Scotland, Lord Rosebery looks for a speedy consummation of that project which the Liberal party has set before it, and without which. the Premier confesses, Ireland will never

There may be some delay in bringing about the reforms to which the Liberals are thus committed; but when was any great change accomplished without delay? Sufficient it is for Liberals that there is a determination not to shirk the doing of justice to Ireland at the earliest possible moment, and that Lord Salisbury has sense enough to see that what will be good for Ireland will, in a modified sense, be good for Scotland as well, while the Imperial Parliament will be relieved of an enormous burden of petty legislative questions continually pressing upon it in increasing

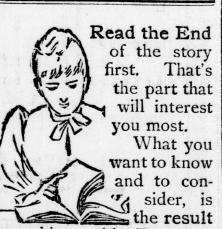

Clear it is that Lord Rosebery aims at trusting the people to manage their ocal affairs, and at making the British Parliament imperial in reality and not merely iu name. It is a statesmanlike

The sugar duty, imposed to put money in the pockets of a couple of Canadian millionaires, yielded to the national treasury last year $10,335. British Make Things Lively at Bluefields-American Government to Inquire.

NEW YORK, March 15 .-- A special from New Orleans says: The steamer Gussie has reached here from Bluefields, Nicaragua, bringing news that the marines from the British cruiser Tamar were in possession of the town, and that the British marshal had raised the martial law declared by the Nicaraguans after they occupied the place and suspended the Mosquito Government. The British cruiser took 325 of the Nicaraguan troops to Greytown and put them ashore, and ordered whatever remained to leave the place. They did so, going up the river to Rama. The British are now in power, and their action is said to be indorsed by the American residents. WASHIP V, March 15 .- The Administration not only intends to have all the facts about that landing of British marines at Bluefields, Nicaragua, but proposes also to be prepared to prevent any ir ference with the sovereign rights of icaragua over the Mosquito territory. A United States man of war will be sent to look after American interests and to ascertain all the facts of the reported British aggression. A vessel has been ordered from Rio for this purpose.

It is the purpose of the Administration to pursue a vigorous policy in this matter. The authorities are fully alive to the importance to American supremacy in all parts of the Western Hemisphere, especially in Nicaragua because of the great canal project.

The Bogus Blarney Stone.

NEW YORK, March 15 .- It is said about 25,000 visitors kissed the bogus blarney stone which was exhibited in Blarney Castis at the World's Fair. It has been shown clearly that the alleged talisman was a limestone paving block dug up from a Chicago street and placed in a case received from Ireland. The customs officers were deceived and collected a duty on it on a valuation of $500.

THE WESTERN FAIR

Will Be Held This Year From September 13 to 22.

Machinary Hall Will Not Be Moved-Working Committees Appointed-London Bicycle Club Will Get the Grounds for May 24.

The board of directors of the Western Fair met yesterday afternoon te discuss matters in connection with this year's ex-hibition. There were present: Messrs. A. W. Porte (president), A. M. Smart, D. Mackenzie, Geo. Taylor, Ald. Nutkins, Chas. Trebilcock, John Kennedy, Wm. Jackson, Col. Lewis, Ald. Pritchard, Allan Bogue and Secretary Browne. The date set for the holding of the fair was Sept. 13 to 23, and Mr. Joseph Hook was appointed superintendent.

The manager of the Montreal Exhibition, Bir S. C. Stevenson, asked for information re checks, and stated that he thought the Western Fair system of paying prizes was superior to any he had seen. The desired information will be supplied.

James F. Moyles, on behalf of the Lon-don Bicycle Club, asked for the use of the park or May 24 instead of Dominion Day, as previously asked. The request was granted in so far as the board has power, subject, however, to grand stand conditions.

Communications from the Dominion Swine Breeders' and the Dominion Sheep Breeders' Associations re the election of delegates and amendments of rules were referred to the appropriate committee. Messrs. E. Leonard & Sons informed the board that the boiler used in the fair through a communication from Stephen Noxon, of Ingersoll.

Secretary Browne had replied, stating that the finances of the board at the present time would not allow of a change, and also that the machinery men should look at both sides of this question. Col. Lewis-Did you receive any reply

Secretary Browne-No; I guess I knocked him out.

Capt. Porte said he always liked to have good display of machinery and implements, but now there was no revenue from it. The board furnishes exhibitors with power to drive their machinery and all the board charged was a 25 cent entrance fee on each machine-the same as anyone would pay for putting a picture in the main building. The matter was finally disposed of by Mr. Trebilcock moving that in view of the present condition of the finances no action in the direction of the request can be taken.

The report of the striking committee was presented and recommended the appointment of the working committees as follows: Finance-Messrs. A. M. Smart (chairman), J. W. Little, W. J. Reid, W. R.

ALL authorities agree in stating that the ancient inhabitants of Ireland must have been very familiar with gold and well accustomed to its use. Native gold occurs in geological deposits in many parts of Ireland, Until lately the gold mines of Wicklow were the most productive of the British Isles, and besides this there are six other known goldproducing localities-Antrim, Derry, Tyrone, Kildare, Dublin and Wexford. It is probable, however, that many of the earlier auriferous deposits have been worked out or are unknown. It is a fact that no country in Europe possesses so much manufactured gold belonging to early ages as Ireland. In the museum of the Royal Irish Academy alone there are nearly 400 specimens of Irish gold antiques. The gold antiquities in the British Museum illustrative of British history are, without exception, Irish. The museum of Trinity College, Dublin, contains many fine examples, and there are several large private collections. But there is no doubt that much greater quantities of gold ornament than are now known as existing have been lost forever.

The following reference to one of the most successful companies in Canada is taken from the Montreal Gazette. Mr. Macfarlane, the able president, is one of the best known business men of the Dominion, while Londoners will see with pleasure that the new board of directors includes one of our old London boys, Mr. W. D.

Gillean. The Montreal Gazette says: "The shareholders of the Canada Paper Company assembled in annual session yesterday afternoon at the company's offices, 580 Craig street. A satisfactory report of the year's business was presented, and the shareholders tendered a vote of thanks to the officers of the company. The following directors were elected: Messrs. Andrew Allan, John Macfarlane, Hugh McLennan, H. Montagu Allan, Robert Anderson and W. D. Gillean. At a subsequent meeting of the directors Mr. Maciarlane was elected president, Mr. Andrew Allan vice-president, and Mr. J. G. Young secretary-treasurer."

DROWNED IN A CISTERN.

Four-Year-Old Gordon Everett Fetherston the Victim.

He Was the Second Son of Mr. J. W. Fetherston and Was Staying With Friends Because There Was Diphtheria at Home.

Little Gordon Everett Fetherston lost his life in a lamentable manner this morning.

The child was the second son of Mr. J. W. Fetherston, organist of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, but on account of diphtheria prevailing at the Fetherston residence on Colborne street he was staying with the family of Mr. R. J. C. Dawson, 546 Talbot street. The little fellow's aunt, Miss Fetherston, and his youngest brother, Elmer Stewart, were also staying with the Dawsons for the same

About 11 o'clock this morning little Gordon was playing happily in the yard, when the family suddenly missed him. A search was commenced through the house and outbuildings, but he could not be found. The gates leading to the street were securely fastened, and the child, who was only 4 years old, could not possibly make his way through them.

Ten minutes were probably consumed in the search, and as a last resort the heavy lid of the yard cistern was lifted by Miss Dawson. A horrified cry followed as the young lady discerned, far down in the well. the head of the little boy. Together Miss Fetherston and Miss Dawson procured a ladder and dropped it through the opening of the cistern. Miss Dawson descended and tried to raise the lad, but her strength was not great enough. Ropes were then fastened around the body and it was drawn to the surface. Dr. Ferguson was the first medical man

Eccles, but it was all of no avail. The child was dead. There was hardly three feet and a half of water in the senses could possibly have utilized to keep bis head above water. A peculiar feature of the accident was the fact that the lid of the well was undisturbed. It is a heavy, cumbrous affair, and the wonder of all is how a 4-year-old child could even lift it. The body was conveyed to Ferguson's undertaking rooms and then to the residence of the doubly-afflicted parents on Colborne street. Mr. and Mrs. Fetherston will have the sympathy of all in their affliction, THE WILLIAMS MURDER. Counsel for Prisoners Think They Will be Acquitted-The Crown

Case Closed. BRAMPTON, March 15 .- In the Williams murder trial this afternoon, Alex. Shaw, turnkey in Brampton jail, deposed that Walker had handed him a paper with the picture of a horse upon it and the letters W. O. O. H. E. R. pricked upon it with a pin. In Walker's handwriting was written: "I told them that when you left me on Friday you said that you was going to see a man at the exposition grounds. I told them he had side whiskers. They kept me alone to try to frighten me to see if I would tell anything more, but I won't. I am not so easy frightened." This is new BRANTFORD, March 16. - (Special.)-The crown to-day concluded the prosecution of their case in the trial of Macwhirrell and Walker, the alleged perpetrators of the Williams tragedy.

The detectives who had charge of the case have given the statement of the prisoners made when arrested. These are not incriminating. The evidence of 50 crown witnesses is all circumstantial. There are many missing links in the chain, and if prisoner Macwhirrell's published statement of his movements, as cleverly given to the jury through the medium of a newspaper reporter's interview, is believed, it will be because it is supported in part by several witnesses for the crown who have identified him. Evidence that would strongly allege Walker's complicity in the tragedy has not been forthcoming and his acquittal is certain. He refuses to accept his release in return for his presence in the witness box, and in a letter discovered on his person it was shown that he had written while in jail to "Me partner Mac" assuring him that he could not be so easily frightened into telling any more than he had already told. The case presented is not as strong as that which the crown authorities claimed they would show, and counsel for defense feels confident they will have their men acquitted.

Treated Her Like a Lady. OMAHA, Neb., March 16 .- Banker Johnson, who is being sued for $50,000 by the Rev. Mr. Campbell for ruining his wife, filed his answer yesterday. He declares the case is one of blackmail, and that he always treated Mrs. Campbell as a lady. He alleges he has proof of this in the preacher's own handwriting.

International Episcopal Conference. New York, March 16 .- On the invitation of the Archbishop of Canterbury, a number of bishops, prominent Englishmen and laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States will visit London this summer to attend a missionary conference of the Anglican Church. The proceedings will begin May 28, in St. Paul's Cathedral. The lord mayor will attend in state. From St. Paul's the members of the conference will proceed to the Mansion House, where they will be formally received by the lord mayor, and missionary addresses will be delivered. The regular meetings of the conference will be held in the hall of St. James, Piccadilly, and will continue from May 9 to June 1.

A Theosophical Funeral and Sermon in New York-Charles Wright's Address.

New York, March 16 .- The first theosophical funeral held in this city since the funeral of Baron De Palm and the Hindoo Sattay, fifteen years ago, took place yesterday afternoon in the residence of Dr. H. V. Barclay, on 116th street, over the body of Miss Mary Olson, a Swedish theosophist 29 years of age, who died in Chicago a few days ago.

Charles F. Wright, a theosophist of London, officiated. Mr. Wright said that death was an experience all present had gone through many times before, it being inevitable that all things in nature should change form. When the soul abandoned the body he said it proceeded to heaven, not to a material heaven, but to a spiritual state of consciousness. In this state the soul lived an idealized life, absorbing the experiences of its last earth life. The stay in heaven in the average case was about 1,500 years, after which the individual was born again on earth to live another life. Death, he said, was less sorrowful to the soul than birth into this "vale of sorrow." The body was taken to a crematory on Long Island where it was cremated, the ashes being placed in the headquarters of the Theosophical Society in this city.

HALIFAX, March 16 .- The Liberals of Halifax held a mass meeting in the Lyceum last night, from the stage of which the returns were announced as received by telegraph operators. The building was packed, hundreds blocking the streets leading to the Lyceum and being unable to obtain admission. It was a great meeting for the Liberals, the speakers including many prominent party men and all the candidates except Mr. Power, who has been in a delicate state of health all through the campaign.

Premier Fielding received congratulatory telegrams on his splendid victory from all over Canada.

"Turn to the Right.

The two rose, snarling and feeling for their weapons, and for a moment stood facing me, looking now at me and now askance at Fresnoy. But as he gave no sign, and their comrades only laughed, the men's courage failed them at the pinch, and with a very poor grace they sneaked over to the other side of the fire and sat there scowling. I seated myself beside their leader. "This gentleman and I will eat here," I cried to the man at the foot of the ladder. "Bid your wife law for me and of the best you your wife lay for us, and of the best you have; and do you give those knaves their provender where the smell of their greasy jackets will not come between us and our

The man came forward, glad enough, as I saw, to discover any one in authority, and very civilly began to draw wine and place a board for us, while his wife filled our platters from the black pot which hung over the fire. Fresnoy's face meanwhile wore the assumed smile of one who comprehended my motives, but felt sufficiently sure of his position and influence with his followers to be indifferent to my proceedings. I presently showed him, however, that I had not yet done with him. Our table was laid in obedience to my orders at such a distance from the men that they could not overhear our talk, and by-and-by I leant over to him.

"M. Fresnoy," I said, "you are in danger of forgetting one thing, I fancy, which it behoves you to remember. "What?" he muttered, scarcely deigning attempt to recruit my fortunes, and I will let no man-no man, do you understand, M. Fresnoy?—thwart me and go harmless." "Who wishes to thwart you?" he asked impudently.

"You," I answered unmoved, helping myself, as I spoke, from the roll of black bread which lay beside me. "You robbed me this afternoon; I passed it over. You encouraged those men to be insolent; I passed it over. But let me tell you this. If you fail me to-night, on the honor of a gentlemen, M. Fresnoy, I will run you through as I would split a lark.

"Will you? But two can play at that game," he cried, rising nimbly from his stool. "Still better six! Don't you think, M. de Marsac, you had better have waited

"I think you had better hear one more word," I answered coolly, keeping my seat, "before you appeal to your fellows there." "Well," he said, still standing, "what

"Your orders?" he shrieked, growing suddenly excited. "Yes, my orders! I retorted, rising as suddenly to my feet and hitching forward my sword. "My orders, sir," I repeated fiercely, "or, if you dispute my right to command as well as to pay this party, let us decide the question here and now—you and I, foot to foot, M. Fresnoy."

The quarrel flashed up so suddenly, though I had been preparing it all along, that no one moved. The woman, indeed, fall back to her children, but the rest looked. fell back to her children, but the rest looked on open-mouthed. Had they stirred, or had a moment's hurly-burly heated his blood. I doubt not Fresnoy would have taken up my challenge, for he did not lack hardihood. But as it was, face to face with me in the silence, his courage failed him. He paused, gloweringly at me uncertainly, and did not speak. "Well," I said, "don't you think that if I pay I ought to give orders, sir?" Who wishes to oppose your orders?" he muttered, drinking off a bumper, and sitting effectual. If your druggist has none in down with an air of impudent bravado,

He was very sulky with me for a while. fingering his glass in silence and scowling at the table. He had enough gentility to feel the humiliation to which he had exposed himself, and a sufficiency of wit to understand that that moment's hesitation had cost him the allegience of his fellow ruffing. cost him the allegience of his fellow-ruffians. I hastened, therefore, to set him at his ease by explaining my plans for the night, and presently succeeded beyond my hopes; for when he heard who the lady was whom I proposed to carry off, and that she was lying that evening at the Chateau de Chize, his surprise swept away the last trace of resentment. He stared at me as at a

"Mon dien!" he exclaimed. "Dou you know what you are doing, Sieur?"
"I think so," I answered. "Do you know to whom the chateau belongs?"

"To the Vicomte de Turenne." "And that Mademoiselle de la Vire is his relation? 'Yes," I said.

"Mon dieu!" he exclaimed again. And he looked at me open-mouthed.
"What is the matter?" I asked, though I had an uneasy consciousness that I knewthat I knew very well. Man, he will crush you as I crush this hat!" he answered in great excitement. "As easily. What do you think will protect you from him in a private quarrel of this kind? Navarre? France? our good man? Not one of them. You had better steal the king's crown jewels-he is weak; or Guise's last plot-he is generous at times; or Navarre's last sweetheart—he is as easy as an old shoe. You had better have to do with all these together, I tell you, than touch Turenne's ewe lambs, unless your aim be to be broken on the wheel! Mon dieu, yes!"

"I am much obliged to you for your advice," I said stiffly, "but the die is cast. My mind is made up. On the other hand, if you are afraid, M. Fresnoy—"

"I am afraid, Your much of aid." he 'I am afraid; very much afraid," he answered frankly.

"Still your name need not be brought into the matter," I replied, "I will take the re-sponsibility. I will let them know my name here at the inn, where, doubtless, inquiries will be made."

"To be sure, that is something," he answered thoughtfully. "Well, it is an ugly business, but I am in for it. You want me to go with you a little after two, do you? and the others to be in the saddle at three? Is that it?"

I assented, pleased to find him so far acquiescent; and in this way, talking the details over more than once, we settled our course, arranging to fly by way of Poitiers and Tours. Of course I did not tell him why I selected Blois as our refuge, nor what was my purpose there; though he pressed me more than once on the point, and grew thoughtful and somewhat gloomy when I continually evaded it. A little after eight we retired to the left to sleep; our men remaining below round the fire and snoring so merrily as almost to shake the crazy old building. The host was charged to sit up and call us as soon as the moon rose, but, as it turned out, I might as well have taken this office on myself, for between excitement and distrust I slept little, and was wide awake when I heard his step on the ladder and knew it was time to rise. I was up in a moment, and Fresnoy was little behind me; so that, losing no time in talk, we were mounted and on the road, each with a spare horse at his knee, before the moon was well above the trees. Once in the Chase we found it necessary to proceed on toot, but, the distance being short, we presently emerged without misadventure and stood opposite to the chateau, the upper part of which shone cold and white in the

There was something so solemn in the aspect of the place, the night being fine and the sky without a cloud, that I stood for a minute awed and impressed, a sense of the responsibility I was here to accept strong upon me. In that short space of time all the dar ers before me, as well the common risks of the road as the vengeance of Turenne and the turbulence of my own men, presented themselves to my mind, and made a last appeal to me to turn back from an enterprise so foolhardy. The blood in a man's veins runs low and slow at that hour, and mine was chilled by lack of sleep and the wintry air. It needed the remembrance of my solitary condition, of my past spent in straits and failure, of the gray hairs that swept my cheek, of the sword which I had long used honorably, if with little profit to myself; it needed the thought of all these things to receive the sword which I had long used honorably.

things to restore me to counge and myself. Ijudgedatalater period that my companion was affected in somewhat the same way: for, as I stooped to press home the pegs which I had brought to tether the horses, he laid his hand on my arm. Glancing up to see what he wanted, I was struck by the wild look in his face (which the moon invested with a peculiar mottled pallor), and particularly in his, which glittered like a madman's. He tried to speak, but seemed to find a difficulty in doing so; and I had to question him roughly before he found his tongue. When he did speak, it was only to imp'ore me in an odd, excited manner to give up the expedition and return.

A Man Made Happy.—Gentlemen,— For five years I have been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vege-TABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim for it.

The ball room was artistically decorated and the costumes of the ladies exceptionally fine, making, with the bright regalias of the members of the camp, a very gay and festive scene. The Boys' Turn. The annual banquet given to the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. is an event always looked forward to by the boys with much pleasure, as on these occasions they take the building by storm and are masters of the situation. Last evening the banquet for 1894 was held, and at 6 o'clock upwards of 100 boys were seated around tables in the large room used for such purposes. Besides the boys were several members of the senior branch, who had come to assist in making the time enjoyable. The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary had undertaken by no means an easy share of the workthe preparation of a bountiful and tempting spread, to which full justice was quickly done. Then the youths were given some good advice by Messrs. J. W. Hobbs, president junior department, W. M. Spencer, Wm. Bowman, W. J. Lind, R. Kirkpatrick, A. McPherson, W. J. Doherty, Bert Lind, George Laing, T. Partridge, Norman Wright and Frank Briscoe. With the concluding address the assembly was dismissed, some repairing to the gymnasium, where exercise on the bar. ladder, rings and dumb-bells was indulged in, while others went to the reading room and perused the journals and many excellenta books contained in the library. Hoolihan vs. Draper, the breach of promise case, was continued this morning. This case is one in which the plaintiff, a woman of about 36 or 38 years of age. brought action against the defendant, a young man some ten or twelve years her junior, for breach of promise of marriage. The plaintiff had become the mother of twins. The evidence was conflicting, and the jury gave a verdict for defendant. Draper was then charged with seduction, damages being placed at $5,000.

A SLICK SWINDLE

Frustrated by the Postal and Police Authorities Here.

An Attempt to Fleece People Through the Mails in This City,

By Wm. Harvey and His Pal-Their Victims Chiefly in the Western States-They Make a Little Money, But Get Sadiy Leit.

"We do not expect the money refunded, but please protect other unsophisticated suckers."

Such is the pathetic appeal which Geo. T. Harris, proprietor of the Fort Snelling Hotel, Fort Snelling, Minnesota, addresses to the police of this city. And thereby hangs a tale.

A few weeks ago two well dressed, dashing young fellows arrived in the city and engaged rooms at the Metropolitan Hotel. They took life easy and appeared to have no particular occupation. The eagle eye of the police discovered and watched them and the strangers aroused suspicion. Questioned about their business they blandly replied that they were agents of Toronto publishing or book firm.

About the same time the outgoing mails from the city were flooded with letters chiefly for an impromptu boxing match after hours in the Western States. There may have been a Richmond street shop last night. Al- thousand in all. One of the strangers callthough the hour was between 11 and 12 ing himself Wm. Harvey, hired a box in the hey soon had an interested audience on post office. Not long after there was a return tide of mail pouring into that box and now -Tre funeral of the late Mr. Daniel the postal authorities began to entertain Bacon, son of Mr. Chas. Bacon, of 110 suspicions, which subsequent events prove inclosed: "As liquidator of 'The Ladies' Home Monthly' I find on looking over the books of the said company that you are credited with a prize which has never been claimed by you.

"The uniform charge for casket and packing (75 cents) includes the expense of delivering prize to your address free; upon receipt of this amount I will have same forwarded promptly.

"If not claimed by Jan. 22 prize will be forfeited and marked off the books. You will please consider this a formal notice to that effect.

"Be sure and write your name and post, -About 30 members of Court Star, of Lobo village, paid Court Forest City, No. 5.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the control of the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday evening the court Forest City, No. 15.744, a friendly visit on Tuesday e 'Accountant and Liquidator, London, Canada." In the above the sum asked is 75 cents; in other circulars it was $1 or more, and different dates were mentioned. This was after which the visiting brethren departed the bait offered, and hundreds bit the hook.

The Ladies' Home Monthly was a -The fifth anniversary of Pride of the periodical published in Toronto, and it East Circle, No. 55. Companions of the worked the prize racket for all it was much enjoyed. Mr. Fred Rossiter acted | this city and vicinity, were induced to send as chairman, and made a short address in money for subscriptions and tickets in the which he showed the circle to be in a prize lottery. Harvey, so-called, must prosperous condition. The programme have secured a list of their names and this opened up a great field for swindling operations. Hence the circular.

As already stated those who received them, whom Mr. Harris, of Fort Snelling, facetionsly terms as "unsophisticated suckers," lost no time in sending in their cash to Wm. Harvey, postoffice drawer 449, London, Ont., in order to be within the time limit set by that gentleman. Then they waited for the beautiful prizes with pleasant anticipations, alas! never to be realized.

A nice little stream of dollars trickled into Harvey's pocket for a time, but the postal people soon broke the current. Convinced of something fraudulent they took possession of further letters and notified the police. Harvey was interviewed, maintained that all was right, and promised to bring his principal to the city to explain. Then he and his partner disappeared. They never came back. Stacks of the letters from their victims, with money inside, were sent to headquarters in Ottawa, opened there, and returned to the writers.

Harvey & Co. were too cunning to operate much at close quarters. They addressed themselves chiefly to people in the United States-mostly in the far west. The few in Ontario were in the distant parts. But for the vigilance of the local authorities hundreds would have been fleeced.

Some of the letters from the bitten ones are amusing. In justice to the Mr. Harris afore-mentioned, it should be stated that he was not the "unsophisticated sucker" indicated. He applies the polite term to a young lady at his hotel who wrote to Mr. Harvey, in all innocence, that she had mailed the money and stamps, that she had received no prize, that she would like to know the reason why, and that if it was not forwarded at once she would like her money refunded, etc., and adds that she is 'respectfully yours, Mary Newhouse."

This letter is returned to her marked 'Fraudulent" at Ottawa, and Mr. Harris sends it to the police here with the affecting postcript, already published. Thos. Skillcorn, of Roscoe, Penn., also writes to the police that it will be well for them to look after the person described as Wm. Harvey. It is a swindling firm, he says. He sent them the sum stated-and here there appears to be a tear blot on the page-and he was willing to give evidence to the same.

There are many more equally sad. Meanwhile Harvey & Co. are somewhere else, perhaps seeking pastures new.
