A Great Flight.

Telling of his trip, after greeting his family last night, Dr. Thomas said: "It was a great journey in every way, particularly in the successful work of the propeller. We cleared the gas works at 6:05 o'clock in the evening, and, after throwing away one bag of ballast, had no need to waste more for a long time. The first bag was used so that we could dodge a macnine shop near the strating point. When we were fairly in the air I began using the propeller. I found that I could turn the St. Catherines, Aug. 30.—The 32nd balloon completely around with it, hold annual session of the Grand Lodge ing it back against the breeze, which Loyal True Blues were brought to a was moderate, and that by racking I close this evening after an all-day ses- could even advance the big bag and

The motors will have to be so fixed that the fluid will not be affected by the oxygen supply. In my experiments going over New York I found that with the propeller I could give a steady pull up; ward or downward of fifteen pounds. This means a tremendous saving both in gas and ballast.

R. J. YOUNG @ CO.'S SWELL NEW CLOTHES

This week has seen quite a large output of our New Fall Clothing and tomorrow's selling must put the finishing touch on a good week's business.

The advance styles for fall are now here awaiting your inspection. We show the best productions of six of Canada's best clothing makers, also the choicest product of the two best American clothes makers on the continent. These eight firms constitute the world's best and largest producers of fine clothes for men, and their productions are well worthy of your serious consideration as you have the continent's best to choose, not merely the choice of one or two small manufacturers. These facts partly account for the phenomenal success of Young's Clothing Store, because we have the right clothes and the right prices. You may as well dress in style as not-doesn't really cost any more to have your clothes correct as well as good. If you come to Young's you'll be sure to have both.

You don't need to be told that a man's clothes may help him to success, or to failure; if they're right, to the former; if they're wrong, to the latter.

We can't promise you success, but we can promise the clothes that will help it. They look good and they're as good as they look; they're all wool and they're all right in price.

$7.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00

The four prices above represent four of the greatest price ranges of Men's Fine Suits ever offered in London. In each price you have a big choice of patterns and clothes to choose from. We are quite within the mark in saying that no such styles and values have ever been shown before, and it won't do you any harm to see them.

Special Pant Values

Probably we show the largest stock of Pants in the city. The Pants we sell are well cut and they fit. The prices are very moderate $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50 If you need a pair, better see what we offer.

TORONTO, ONT. SEARCHING FOR THE BODIES. Selkirk, Man., Aug. 31. - Last night a party of three was sent out on the steamer City of Selkirk to search the shores of Swampy Island for possible survivors or for bodies of the drowned, which may have been washed ashore from the wreck of the steamer Princess. It is considered possible that Capt. Hughes and the two girls may have clung to the deckhouse when this

A heavy freight train was close to the crossing. The engineer saw the sleeping man and slow-moving horse, and sounded his whistle loud enough, he said to awaken a graveyard. Johnson slumbered on and the horse refused to quicken its pace. The engine hit the wagon, tossing Johnson in the air, and when he came down he landed squarely on the pilot. He was wide awake then and excitedly clutched the headlight. When the train was stopped and the frightened engineer ran up to look at the supposed dead man. Johnson exclaimed:

"What did you want to wake me up that way for?"
