MISSIONARIES FROM LONDON IN GRAVE PERIL AT CHENGTU

Mr. and Mrs. Westaway, Miss Ethel McPherson, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer and Mr. Stewart Are Stationed in City of West China, Where Rioting Has Broken Out.

[Canadian Press.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—The disorders in Szchuan Province, Western China, have become very serious, in the opinion of the officials of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, which has its headquarters in this city. A few days ago the society officials received a cablegram from one of their missionaries stationed at Chengtu, the capital of the province, telling of the rioting on the part of the natives. Today another cablegram was received which said:

"American consul advises us to leave."

The receipt of today's message has convinced the society's officers here that the situation has reached an acute stage, and that the lives of the missionaries and the mission property are in danger.

Many of the missionaries endangered by the Chinese rioters at Chengtu are said to have been sent out by the Baptist mission board in Toronto, Canada.

Foreigners Are Together.

Pekin, Sept. 7.—Missionaries in the outlying districts of Szchuan Province have been ordered by the viceroy to concentrate in the larger towns, in consequence of the general unrest among the natives, arising from the Government's railroad policy.

All foreigners in Chengtu, the capital of the province, are taking refuge in the compound of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada.

Szchuan is a western province of China, bordering on Tibet. It has an area of upwards of 200,000 square miles. The region is very mountainous, some of the mountain ranges reaching a great elevation. The population is estimated at about 70,000,000, far exceeding that of any other Chinese province.

The people have risen in protest against the construction of the Szchuan-Hankow railroad. This railroad is to be built with foreign capital, a loan of $30,000,000 for this purpose having been made by British, French, German and American bankers.

At Chengtu, the capital, missionaries are maintained by the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada, and also by the Mennonite General Conference of North America.

Of the two outlying districts where missionaries are working, Kia Ting is a station of the Canadian Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, and also of the American Baptist Mission Union, while the Mennonite General Conference of North America has missionary workers at Chang-Klu.

SUPT. GILLEN CONDEMNS YARN REGARDING THE CAR SHOPS

"I Would Hate to Have the Starting of Such Stories on My Conscience," He Told the Advertiser Today—Speaks of the Local Strikers.

"Beyond any question, 1911 will be the greatest year the Grand Trunk has ever had," said Superintendent U. E. Gillen to The Advertiser today. "We have never been busier than at the present time. Conditions have been first-class throughout the year, and we expect they will continue so."

Asked regarding the reinstatement of the strikers all that the superintendent would say was that "You may depend upon it that London men will be well taken care of; very well taken care of."

Mr. Gillen said he understood that several of the strikers are now writing the rules.

Superintendent Gillen was greatly amused regarding stories that the car works men's positions would be jeopardized if reciprocity carries, and also the report from Sarnia that 125 railway men had left a meeting which was addressed by Hon. Mr. King.

"I would hate to have the responsibility of starting such stories as that on my conscience," he said. "In regard to the 125 men going out, things are so busy at Sarnia that it would be an impossibility for 125 railwaymen to get away at once to attend a meeting."

OLD BOYS WILL HAVE SURPLUS WITHOUT USING CITY'S $1,000

Finances of the Reunion Are Far More Satisfactory Than Had Been Expected—Gratuity of $300 for Secretary Weldon.

The Old Boys' Association will have a small surplus, without asking the city council for any contribution whatever.

For some time City Treasurer Bell has been going over the books, and it has been found that there is sufficient money in the treasury to pay all obligations without the necessity of receiving one cent of the sum of $1,000 set aside by the council for that purpose.

A meeting of the finance committee was held Wednesday night, and a rough estimate of the surplus was presented.

On motion of Mr. R. A. Carrothers, it was decided to allow Mr. J. O. Weldon, who acted as secretary, the sum of $300.

Votes of thanks were tendered President Dr. Harry R. Abbott, Secretary J. O. Weldon, Treasurer James S. Bell, and other officers of the association, who worked most energetically to make the affair such a success.

SMITH WILL LEAD TO GREATER RICHES

Herd of Cattle in North Middlesex Worth $2,100 More With Reciprocity.

ADVANCE FOR HORSES

Community Has Given Question the Closest Study—Will Give an Increased Majority.

[By Our Own Man.]

Alisa Craig, Sept. 6.—A second term in the Parliament of Canada, and a substantially increased majority for Alexander W. Smith, ex-M. P., is the outlook in North Middlesex.

Not only are the Liberal candidate's many staunch supporters canvassing the riding, as it has not been canvassed in many years, but there are scores of Conservatives who are supporting the issue of the day by their silence, or doing the Liberal interests good service by openly proclaiming that as reciprocity is the first big question in which the farmer has had his chance, they mean to give it a trial.

The foolish talk of the Government's bringing about a condition which can only result in disaster for the whole country is not taken seriously in this riding. Would the Government do anything so absolutely insane at such a critical time? Reasonable electors will not listen to such arguments in North Middlesex.

Only Two of Thirty Opposed.

HOW RECIPROCITY WILL HELP THE CITY PEOPLE

Mr. City Worker, do you think that reciprocity has no direct advantage for you?

If this is your opinion, it can be shown, without the slightest jugglery of facts and figures, that the proposed agreement is full of benefits for you.

It may be proven that it is not such an astonishing thing after all that the farmer may be given more for his products, and that you will, on a great number of articles, pay less than you are paying at present for prepared foods.

For instance, the Canadian farmers can secure in Buffalo for their prime bacon hogs more than is given on the Canadian markets. Consult the market reports of a Conservative paper and this will be proved. Yet the price of best bacon in Buffalo is 18 cents a pound. In London the price of best bacon is 25 cents a pound.

An Advertiser representative who purchased a pound of best bacon in a retail store yesterday was charged that price. The difference between the price in London and Buffalo is 7 cents.

The retailer is not reaping the big profit, however, it should be understood.

Glance over the following extract from a sworn statement in court and you will recognize that the big middleman—the Canadian packer—is securing dividends sometimes as great as 120 per cent per annum because of "cheap hogs and dear bacon." The figures are reproduced from a court record of the William Davies Company:

	Capital.	Dividends Per cent.	Total dividends.
1893	$250,000	65	$162,500
1894	250,000	34	85,000
1895	250,000	40	100,000
1896	250,000	45	112,500
1897	250,000	100	250,000
1898	250,000	120	300,000
1899	250,000	82	205,000
1900	400,000	60	240,000
1901	400,000	27½	110,000
1902	512,000	15	76,800
1903	507,000	30	156,000
1904	520,000	41	274,000
1905	670,400	25	168,750
1906	675,000	..	.....

Total dividends in 13 years.....$2,241,250

As Mr. Gordon Waldron, Liberal candidate in West Toronto, pointed out, "It came out of you and the farmer."

How is that going to make the price of bacon lower or even keep it at the same figure? you may ask.

The explanation is this: The present agreement would permit bacon to come into Canada at 1¼ cents a pound duty as compared to 4 cents a pound at present. So that unless our Canadian packer behaves and shaves off a few cents, the American dealer can send in bacon at the retail price of 18 cents, pay the duty of 1¼ cents a pound, and undersell the Canadian packer. Do you think the Canadian packer will give him a chance? There is not a possibility that he will. Rather, he will bring the price of bacon down to something like the figure for which he sells it in England.

The same condition will be found in other articles handled by the packer. Bacon is used as a demonstration of the benefit-to-both argument.

AS TO CANNED GOODS.

Down at Aylmer the canning trust pays the farmer $25 a ton for peas. If a resident of Aylmer wants loose peas he pays 20 cents a quart, or at the rate of $260 a ton. Across the line the farmer receives $45 a ton for peas, yet the consumer pays less and receives a larger can than on this side of the line. The American canner will be able to buy Canadian peas at an advance on the price paid at Aylmer, pay the duty on the canned product, and undersell the Canadian trust on its own market. Do you think the home canner will lose his market? Not a chance of that. The price of his products will come down. If that conclusion is not correct, why is Mr. David Marshall, Conservative candidate in East Elgin, fighting the acceptance of the reciprocity agreement tooth and nail?

AS TO EGGS.

The Toronto produce man charges 10 per cent. of the cost price of eggs to handle the eggs. On a dozen eggs costing 20 cents, his commission is 2 cents. The New York commission man charges 5 per cent. per dozen. That is a vast difference when eggs are handled by thousands of dozens. It will not be that the American farmer will enter into competition with the Canadian farmer in the egg business. But the American commission man will enter into competition with the Canadian commission man. Five per cent will give him a wide margin on which to operate, and the consumer will reap the advantage. Do you understand now why the commission man is obstructing the passage of the agreement?

Do you see how the middleman is "getting the best of it" in every way in Canada at the present time?

Do you think it worth while to have the duty removed on all early fruits and berries which now carry a heavy import burden?

Do you think it worth while to have oysters shipped into Canada duty free? (The present duty is 25 per cent.)

Do you relish early new potatoes and have sweet potatoes a good taste at certain seasons of the year? With reciprocity they will come into Canada duty free, and will be sold at a substantial reduction.

Can you understand why the Big Interests which have got between the farmer on the one hand and the consumer and retailer on the other, are opposed to reciprocity?

AMERICAN CHURCH PRESENTS ADDRESS TO GENERAL SYNOD

Message Was Signed By Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri—Archbishop Mathewson Replied—Synod's Doings This Morning.

At the morning session of the General Synod today, the upper and lower houses met together, while a deputation consisting of Bishop James D. Morrison, of Duluth, and Mr. William R. Butler, of Mauch-Chunk, Pa., was received from the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States. The Bishop of Dakota, who was to have been a member of the deputation, was unable to come.

Mr. Butler read a message from the American church, signed by Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, presiding bishop of the United States, of whom Mr. Butler spoke in eloquent terms. He referred to the wave of missionary enthusiasm which during the past year has swept the United States from Florida to Oregon and from Maine to California, and said he was glad to say that fire had been kindled in Toronto.

Canadian Churchman.

Among former Canadian churchmen now in the United States, Mr. Butler mentioned Bishop Anderson, of Chicago, Bishop Charles H. Brent of the Philippines, and Bishop Rowe of Alaska.

"We already have a reciprocity in the very best things," said Mr. Butler, "and so far as I personally am concerned I am perfectly willing to let well enough alone. Because two families live side by side on friendly terms, it does not follow that they should knock out the intervening partitions and start an experiment in co-operative housekeeping."

This statement was received with a great deal of applause.

Address From American Church.

The formal address from the American Church read as follows:

To the Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Primate, and the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada:

Dear Brethren—Whatever good reciprocity between Canada and the United States may indicate, the gracious depths of meaning are best reached in thought of the relations between the church in Canada and the church in the United States.

They are sisters, indeed. In one sense, daughters of the same revered mother Church of England. May they ever be lovingly grateful for their

SYNOD DELEGATES PERTURBED OVER AN ADJOURNED MEETING

Much Occasioned Because of the Fact That Missionary Meeting Called for Friday Evening Has Been Put Over.

A great deal of discussion arose in the genera lsynod today over the announcement that the missionary meeting, which was to have been held on Friday evening, had been postponed. One of the members wanted to know whether the holding in the city of an important political rally had had anything to do with the withdrawal of the missionary meeting.

No interference with a meeting of the synod, he declared, should be brooked on account of "any such political meeting."

Incidentally the question came up as to whether the synod would adjourn this evening on account of a garden party to which the members had been invited.

Hon. S. H. Blake was not in favor of adjourning the meeting tonight. He himself had sent his regrets at being unable to attend the social function.

"It is beneath the dignity of the general synod," he declared, "to allow garden parties and political meetings to be placed on the same basis as the grave and serious business of the synod. I have been brought up in a school which placed first things first, and I wish to express a negative voice in the introduction of less important things into the grave and great concerns of the synod."

Mr. H. L. Jones, of Weymouth, N. S., wanted to know for certain just why the missionary meeting had been postponed. The members of the synod were entitled to a reason, he said.

An Explanation.

Chancellor Worrell explained that it was owing to the expectation that the routine business of the synod would not be concluded in the afternoon, thus necessitating an evening session of the synod and so conflicting with the public missionary rally.

This satisfactorily explained the fear in regard to the political meeting, but the garden party debate was still undecided.

An attempt was made to have the discussion closed, but Mr. John Ransford moved that it be continued.

Chancellor Davidson pointed out that courtesy was at least due to those who had arranged for the entertainment, and pointed out that the constitution governing the synod provided for the adjournment of business at 6 o'clock each day.

On them otion of Mr. Lansing Lewis, seconded by Chancellor Davidson, it was decided by a large majority vote that when the synod should adjourn at 6 o'clock it would remain adjourned until Friday morning.

BIBLE TEACHING IN THE SCHOOLS

Synod Urged by the Primate of Canada To Consider the Matter.

FOR CHURCH UNION

His Grace Asked That a Strong Committee Be Named to Consider the Matter.

The opening session of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada was held Wednesday afternoon in Cronyn Hall. The meeting was opened by Archbishop Matheson, of Rupert's Land, metropolitan and primate of all Canada. In his opening address Archbishop Matheson called attention to the advantages of the general synod in co-ordinating the widely separated and scattered dioceses of the Dominion. It would be for the synod to decide whether the importance of the general synod did not demand that it meet oftener than once in six years, as had been proposed.

He referred to the present era in Canada as a history-making epoch.

Since the last meeting of the general synod the Canadian church had suffered the loss of three primates, Archbishop Sweatman, Bishop Dumoulin, of Niagara, and Bishop Dart, of New Westminster. Archbishop Matheson also referred to the bicentenary of the Canadian church recently celebrated, to the growth of the church's missionary work in China, and the recent consecration of the new bishop of Hona...

Referring to the neglect of parental teaching in the home, he urged upon the synod the need of supporting the Sunday school commission in their work.

Bible in the Schools.

He also expressed the hope that some steps towards Bible teaching, if not Bible reading, in the public schools would be urged by the synod.

In a reference to church union, he hoped that a strong committee would accomplish effective work in furthering the common bonds of faith and unity between the different Protestant churches. The Primate also emphasized the necessity of the church providing for expansion in the rapidly-growing districts of Canada.

Canada, he characterized as a "mighty nation in the making," and declared that a "mighty new nation was growing up in the West."

Bishops Meet.

Following the charge of the Primate to the synod, the bishops withdrew to meet in the upper house, and the election of a prolocutor for the lower house was proceeded with. Rev. E. E. M. Phair, of Winnipeg, acted as clerical secretary. Dr. L. H. Davidson was appointed temporary chairman, and nominations were called for. Those nominated were: Rev. President Powell, of King's College; Rev. Canon Tucker, of London; Very Rev. Archdeacon Pentreath; Very Rev. Archdeacon Cody, Toronto; Very Rev. Dean Evans, of Montreal; Very Rev. Dean Bidwell, of Kingston; Very Rev. Dean Donell, of Columbia; Very Rev. Dean Crawford, of Nova Scotia; Rev. Canon Paterson Smyth, of Montreal; Rev. Principal Lloyd, of Saskatoon.

Dean Crawford was allowed to withdraw his name, and a vote was taken with the other nominees standing.

The Vote.

Rev. F. H. Graham, Nelson, B. C., Rev. Canon Kittson, Ottawa, Chancellor Worrell, K. C., Toronto, and Mr. W. B. Carroll, K. C., Gananoque, were appointed scrutineers.

The first ballot gave 24 clerical and 13 lay votes to President Powell, 19 clerical and 12 lay votes to Canon Tucker, 14 clerical and 11 lay votes to Archdeacon Cody, and a total of 18 votes each to Archdeacon Pentreath and Dean Bidwell. In all, 94 clerical and 52 lay votes were cast, making a total of 146.

On a second vote, out of a total of 144 President Powell received 65 votes, Canon Tucker 49 and Archdeacon Cody 29, 73 votes being required for an election. The names of Principal Lloyd, Canons Paterson and Smyth, and Dean Donell having been dropped on account of the vote received, and Archdeacon Pentreath and Dean Evans being allowed to withdraw, a third vote was taken on the four remaining names of President Powell, Canon Tucker, Archdeacon Cody and Dean Bidwell. Archdeacon Cody asked leave to withdraw, but on account of opposition to this the chair ruled that his name should still stand.

On the third and final vote Rev. President Powell was elected by a majority of 72 out of a total of 142 votes. Rev. Canon Tucker received 39 votes.

Other Officers.

After expressing his thanks to the lower house for his election, President Powell was conducted to the upper house by Rev. Canon Tucker, Chancellor Davidson and Archdeacon Ingles.

Chancellor Davidson and Chancellor Worrell were nominated by the prolocutor as assessors. Archdeacon Ingles was appointed clerical secretary, Rev. Canon Plair and Rev. Principal Lloyd were also nominated, but declined.

For lay secretary, the nominations were: W. B. Carroll, R. B. Bansford, Chancellor Campbell, Campbellford; Lefroy; J. H. Jones, Toronto; F. H. Gisborne; J. G. Dagg, Winnipeg; Chancellor Conybeare and W. B. Carroll withdrew, and Mr. Gisborne was elected on receiving 26 out of 37 votes.

Judge McDonald, of Brockville, was re-elected honorary secretary, Mr. Lansing Lewis and Mr. R. J. Carson, K. C., were appointed auditors.

BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR NORTH SIMCOE

Premier and Leighton McCarty Speak at Collingwood.

IN SUPPORT OF PACT

Sir Wilfrid Declares Candidate To Be of Cabinet Calibre.

Collingwood, Sept. 6. — That Mr. Leighton McCarthy will carry the banner of reciprocity to victory in North Simcoe was the message today's mammoth meeting conveyed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It was punctuated by hearty enthusiasm, and emphasized by one of the largest and most representative gatherings in the history of the riding. Collingwood's welcome to the Premier was a wholesouled one. The town was thronged with enthusiasts, who lined the elaborately decorated streets, and cheered the big procession en route to the exhibition grounds. Stretched right across the front of the great factory of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company was a streamer: "Let us build the ships that carry the grain that feeds the mouths of millions." Outside of the public school the pupils were ranged as the procession passed, and Sir Wilfrid cordially greeted them. They responded by the hearty singing of "The Maple Leaf."

Mr. John Birnie, president of the Collingwood Liberal Association, was chairman, and short addresses were delivered by Messrs. F. W. Harrison, Liberal candidate for North Grey, and C. W. Hartman, Liberal candidate for East Grey, while Mr. Manley Chew, Liberal candidate for East Simcoe, sent a telegram.

The Great Chance.

"Opportunity is knocking at the door of every farm house in Canada," was the way Mr. Birnie put the reciprocity issue. "It is all very well for the monopolists and corporations to say, 'Let well enough alone,' after they have made their millions out of you and me. The farmers and laborers want their turn."

"As a fruit-grower myself," declared Mr. Hartman, "I say that reciprocity would be the greatest boon this district could secure."

Mr. Harrison expressed assurance of redeeming North Grey by three hundred.

"There has been an attempt to mislead the people of North Simcoe," said Mr. McCarthy, who was given an enthusiastic reception. "You have been told that it does not matter whom you elect, you are assured of reciprocity anyway, and that the question won't need to be voted on in parliament. That's not right. If you want reciprocity, you have got to put up with McCarthy."

(A Voice—Well have both. (Cheers.)

Mr. McCarthy described an interview he had had with a well-known and respected Conservative farmer on a rail fence the previous day.

"How are you on reciprocity?" asked the candidate.

"Well," replied the Conservative farmer, "what was good enough for John Macdonald is good enough for me." (Cheers.)

"The present anti-reciprocity policy of Mr. Borden," declared Mr. McCarthy, "may be good enough for the corporations and monopolists, but it's not good enough for the farmer." (Renewed cheers.) Mr. McCarthy stated that the cry of "let well enough alone" was unpatriotic. True loyalty was in progress in building up and developing Canada.

Mr. McCarthy said he was going to speak frankly. The principal objection he found being used against him in the byways was that he was a supporter of a Prime Minister who was a Roman Catholic. "It is unworthy," declared the candidate. "No man in all Canada has done more than he has to unite all creeds and all races by doing justice to all. These things are insidious. They are said in the dark; never in the open. Let us be fair and decent. If Major Currie is determined to make this kind of thing an issue, let him come out in the open. You know where I stand, and I will debate the matter publicly with him at any time. The campaign is dishonest from men who seek to unite the Orangemen of Ontario and the Nationalists of Quebec in an effort to destroy the great man who has done so much to build up a united Canada."

Mr. McCarthy said he stood where his uncle, the late D'Alton McCarthy stood, heartily supporting reciprocity in natural products.

Sir Wilfrid's Speech.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was greeted with cheer after cheer. He expressed his appreciation, and took it as an earnest intention of the good people of North Simcoe to send to Ottawa "my worthy and able and good young friend, Leighton McCarthy."

"Sure," shouted the audience amid renewed applause.

Alluding to the negotiations which preceded the reciprocity agreement, Sir Wilfrid stated that the overtures of the United States for reciprocity in manufactured products had been rejected. "The policy of the Government in this matter," said the Premier, "is to maintain stability of tariff. We will make no change in manufactured products until ample opportunity has been given for examination."

The Premier recalled that scores of Conservatives were supporting reciprocity. In so doing they were standing by the principles of their great leaders. "It is not for us," said he, "to quarrel with the present Opposition. They are their own masters. But if Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster think they can change the Conservative teaching of two generations, they do not know the human conscience."

Sir Wilfrid dealt freely with the objections urged against him on the grounds of race and religion. In the leadership of the Liberal party, and throughout his whole public life, he had known no race or creed. He had appealed to the conscience and principles of Canadians. "Leighton McCarthy," concluded the Premier, "is my friend of long standing. He belongs to an able family. He is himself an able man. Leighton McCarthy is of cabinet rank, and I may tell you he has a future before him as your representative in Parliament." (Prolonged cheers).

Capt. Alexander McDougall, president of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, was the closing speaker. "Sir Wilfrid Laurier," he said, "is the great, wise man of Canada. Trust him and he will not lead you astray."

What is universally declared to have been the largest and most successful political gathering in Simcoe's history was brought to a conclusion with the hearty singing of the National Anthem, and cheers for the Canadian Premier and the Liberal candidates.

TOADSTOOLS AND GUN WIPE OUT A FAMILY

Mother and Son Poisoned, and the Griefstricken Father Suicides.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Toadstools and a revolver wiped out an entire family in West New Rochelle. The mother died last night of vegetable ptomaine poisoning, caused by eating toadstools in mistake for mushrooms; the father shot himself for grief, and this morning their 8-year-old son died from the same cause as his mother.

Thinking to have a feast of mushrooms for dinner, Michael Loprete, 27 years old, living at No. 64 Fourth street, went into the woods Sunday morning with his son, Michael, jun., and gathered a bunch of toadstools, thinking they were mushrooms. Mrs. Loprete cooked them and served them. She and her son ate them with relish, and toward evening all were attacked with pains, nausea and vomiting. Mrs. Loprete, who was 25 years old, died last night. When her husband realized that his wife was dead he tore his hair and screamed as he ran about the house and into the street. Dashing back into the room where his dead wife lay, he tore open a bureau drawer, snatched up his revolver, and before anyone could prevent him, he rushed to the bed, placed the muzzle of the revolver against his right ear and pulled the trigger. He fell dead across the bed with a bullet through his brain. Their son, who was lying ill from the toadstools in the same room, tried to get up to protect his mother, whose death had been kept from his knowledge. Shortly after the double tragedy the boy sank into a state of coma and died.

BOURASSA CHALLENGED BY LIBERAL NOMINEE

Mr. Devlin Wants to Meet the Nationalist Chief in Joint Debate.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 6. — E. B. Devlin, the Liberal candidate in Wright County, today sent a letter to Mr. Bourassa, the Nationalist leader, challenging him to a meeting on the platform in Hull for a joint debate. Mr. Devlin was not allowed to speak at the Bourassa meeting in Hull last night. "Mr. Bourassa stated," said Mr. Devlin today, "that he did not come to Hull to speak against me, but to explain his platform. I should like to have a chance to attack this platform of his, which I believe will make for the disintegration of the empire, and I have sent him a challenge to meet me on nomination day in Hull."

A LIBERAL SWEEP IN NEW BRUNSWICK

A Prominent Conservative, Ex-M. P. P., Takes Stump for Reciprocity.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 6.—At a big Liberal rally here tonight, addressed by Hon. Dr. Pugsley and others, Dr. Silas Alward, K.C., a prominent Conservative, who was elected to the Local Legislature from St. John several terms as a Conservative, made a ringing speech favoring reciprocity. Dr. Alward declared he had not deserted his party, but his party had deserted him. Several other prominent Conservatives had a place on the platform. The outlook is bright for a Liberal sweep in New Brunswick.

MINISTER OF LABOR JUST TO TELEGRAPHERS

President of Organization Says They Always Received a Fair Deal.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Mr. James Richards, the Labor candidate in the four-cornered contest in East Toronto, addressed a meeting of workers in Poulton's Hall last evening and pointed to the necessity for direct labor representation in Parliament.

He was supported by Mr. D. Campbell, Canadian vice-president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, who first explained to the audience his reasons for supporting Hon. Mackenzie King at Berlin last Saturday, when he repudiated the aspersions which had been cast upon the work of the Minister of Labor by the Conservative party. Mr. Campbell stated that he had no party leanings other than for the I. L. P., but Hon. Mr. King had always given the telegraphers a fair deal when he had been appealed to, and therefore the speaker felt it his duty to stand by him when he knew that the charges made were false. This announcement was received with applause.

"I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs. M. I. Basford, Poolesville, Md. For sale by all dealers. 2

FORMER SHAH LOSES

His Principal Lieutenant and Many Guns Were Captured.

Teheran, Sept. 6. A force of government troops has suppressed and routed the Turkoman forces of former Shah Ali Mohammed Mirza a few miles to the eastward of this city. The Government troops captured the Sirdar Arshard, four guns and a quantity of rich booty. Arshard, who was wounded in the fighting, will be put to death.

This is considered the gravest blow which the cause of the former Shah has yet received.

MR. PARDEE'S MEETINGS

On Thursday, Sept. 14, J. W. Curry, K. C., Toronto, will address a public meeting in the Moore Township Hall.

These speakers are well worth hearing, and the public are cordially invited to attend these meetings. Mr. F. F. Pardee, the candidate for West Lambton, will also be present and deliver an address.

VAST TREASURE FOUND.

Oporto, Portugal, Sept. 6. — Agents of the Government, while taking an inventory of church property, have found in the underground vaults of the cathedral here a great amount of treasure, the property of ancient friars, most of which the authorities of the church had little idea existed.

The accumulations of wealth date from centuries when Portugal was a rich colonial power. The chests discovered are filled with gold ingots and plates and gold ornaments studded with enormous rubies. The altar furniture is of pure gold.

The discoveries have caused a sensation in this city. It is presumed the treasure will revert to the state under the separation law.

BODY RECOVERED.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 6.—The body of R. H. McCoy, division engineer of the C. N. R., drowned on Sunday, Aug. 27, has been recovered and sent to his former home at Spokane, Wash.

LONDON, THURSDAY, SEPT. 7.

THE LOCAL CANARD FACTORY.

The life time of an election canard is one evening in the Free Press. Or at the most it may stretch out to an evening and a morning. There was the bluff about agricultural implements, which The Advertiser called at once, showing that the reduction of duties by the pact was but slight, and satisfactory indeed to the manufacturers, while the Conservative party had been making a dead set on the farm implements tariff. Then came the dressed lumber announcement, the Free Press declaring that the pact would make this item duty-free! The Advertiser has been chasing its inventive contemporary from pillar to post in an endeavor to extract a retraction, but without success. In its issue of Aug. 30, under the heading "A Challenge," the Free Press shouted bravely in capital letters:

"WE CHALLENGE THE LONDON ADVERTISER TO PRINT THE PRESENT AND PROPOSED SCHEDULES RELATING TO PARTLY FINISHED AND FINISHED LUMBER."

Well The Advertiser responded to the challenge and printed the lumber schedules taken directly from Hansard—the official record. Beyond a feeble whine that Hansard was "sometimes imperfect," there has not been a syllable from the Free Press on the subject since.

Would it not do the Free Press good to lift some of the load off its mind? An open confession is good for the soul. It should, in common honesty, inform its readers without further delay that the pact does not touch the duty on dressed lumber.

Another cry was raised on the one night stand that numbers of men would be laid off at the Grand Trunk carshops. This stupid fabrication was blown up at once by a dispatch to The Advertiser from Grand Trunk headquarters.

The other day the Free Press announced that Canadian plums were being sold in Canada at 25 cents for an 8-pound basket, and contrasted this with the lower price in the United States. Lambton fruit dealers pointed out that the Canadian price was 25 cents for a 17-pound basket, and asked for a correction. The request was refused.

In its misreport of Hon. Mackenzie King's meeting at Sarnia on Tuesday night the Free Press stated that 125 railwaymen left the room. This also has been called a falsehood by Mr. Cowley, a Grand Trunk conductor at Sarnia.

Such are the fancies that steam out of our contemporary's presses, flit forth like moths of an evening, bump their wings into the flame of Verity's lamp, so get their quietus even before their brief span would be run, and are heard of no more—by readers of the Free Press.

MINNESOTA MAD.

Mr. Fieg, chairman of the Minnesota delegation (Page 183 Senate Committee Report), reported the following resolution adopted by a mass meeting of farmers held in Minnesota on April 11:

"That this trade agreement, this proposed trade agreement with Canada, would be of inestimable damage and injury to the people of our section of the country, and to all the agricultural interests, whatever they may be in this country!"

HAULTAIN HEDGES.

In appearing on Mr. Lake's platform, Mr. Haultain, the Conservative leader in Saskatchewan, who last spring indorsed the reciprocity agreement, put himself in accord with the candidate by taking the position that reciprocity does not go far enough. Except for Mr. Herron, who broke over the traces because everybody in his riding insisted, this is the view professed by all prairie Conservatives.

Mr. Haultain complains that Liberal speakers and writers have been quoting only what he said last March in favor of the pact, and not what he urged against it. He pretends that after some months he has come to see that even as "half a loaf" it is not better than none. The disadvantages which last March he saw outweighed by the advantages, now seem to him to depress the scale the other way. But at that time after over a month's study of the pact he decided in its favor in a very emphatic manner. Every business proposition can be criticised. Objections may be urged, especially by faint-hearts, against any conceivable project. But Mr. Haultain decided for reciprocity last March. Why should he object to reciprocity advocates quoting rather his positive arguments for decision than the misgivings which his better judgment overruled?

The machine has at last squeezed Mr. Haultain in. But even now it is mainly because the agreement "does not go far enough," does not "go at the tariff wall with an axe," that Mr. Haultain lines up with such mates as Major Beattie, who wishes a general tariff advance of 20 per cent. Mr. Borden's omnium gatherum holds all sorts of fish, from whales to skates, pike to gudgeons.

AMERICAN FRUIT-GROWERS OPPOSED.

Mr. C. E. Bassett, secretary of the Michigan State Horticultural Society, said at Washington (Page 295 Senate Committee Report):

"During the last fourteen years I have been the secretary of the State Horticultural Society, and since the time of the World's Fair in St. Louis, I have been the secretary of the National Federation of Horticultural Societies, which have made it necessary for me to visit many of the States, as well as Canada, in investigations along the lines of horticulture.

"In the meeting at Toronto two years ago the question was discussed. . . . and a gentleman spoke nearly the whole evening there before the fruit growers, and the whole sum and substance of his talk was, 'The thing we need is markets, markets. We can produce the fruit, but the question is to get rid of it.' And now we do not propose that they shall have our markets. We do not wish that it should be so, and that is why the fruit-growers, not only of Michigan, whom I have the power to represent, but the fruit growers of the State of New York, the fruit growers of the State of Ohio, and the fruit growers of other states, do not desire any such condition, and do not desire to give to them the markets which we have helped to build up."

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC EXTREMES MEET.

At St. Andre Avellin, on Monday, Mr. Bourassa again spoke against reciprocity, as no doubt his deal with Mr. Borden now compels him to do. As a matter of fact, however, he has never been much of a Liberal; fanatics are seldom Liberals even by mistake. His following is much like himself, the difference between Nationalist and Conservative being simply that of a new and an old name for the same thing. Even the anti-British sentiment of the Nationalists is very little different, if analyzed, from the spirit of those Conservative leaders who opposed and still oppose the British preference; and Mr. Borden easily accommodates himself to his part of the deal by which he renounces all aid to the mother country by navy or by contribution.

Mr. Bourassa again expressed his anti-British feeling at St. Andre Avellin, as the following passages show:

"I predicted in 1899 that the policy of Laurier (in sending troops to South Africa) would be dangerous, and today is the time to smother the chicken in the egg. . . . .

"I say that we are obliged to take part in England's wars in this country, but not elsewhere, because England does not consult us in the just or unjust wars which she wages. . . . One is not a bad citizen because he wishes to keep his money. Let each colony defend itself and the empire will be safe, that is the Nationalist doctrine which I have preached and defended against all."

Does this need comment? When will Great Britain be waging wars "in this country," that we should aid her? And how can we effectively face a European or Asiatic attack without coast defences, including ships? This is the sort of rot that Mr. Borden stands for: be a good citizen but keep your money.

At Buckingham, Mr. Bourassa complained of the English "judging the Nationalist group by what certain of their fanatical (English) journals say of it." Our quotations are from his own paper and himself. What more is needed? As for "fanatics," the Tablet, chief Roman Catholic organ of the English-speaking world, calls Mr. Bourassa a fanatic, and Le Devoir wonders what the Tablet can be thinking of: surely not his demand for the original autonomy bill of 1905, for recognition of French language alongside of English in the western provinces, and for the prohibition of non-French immigration! Take the beam out of your eye, Mr. Bourassa. Help him, Mr. Borden.

In the Borden-Bourassa alliance there is in fact a meeting of extremes, the Orange fanaticism of Ontario joining with the Franco-Catholic fanaticism of the Nationalist group, against the policy of moderation and conciliation steadily and consistently pursued by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Canada will continue to see the wisdom of the golden mean, the virtue that proceeds as a highway between the ditches of hatred and fanaticism on either hand.

BRITISH STATESMEN APPROVE RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT

While Canadian partisans fill the air with their mischievous and insincere cries of disloyalty and treason, the statesmen who now control the destinies of the Mother Country look on the reciprocity agreement with a serene approval.

Mr. Asquith, Prime Minister, in a speech in the House of Commons on Feb. 9, 1911, defended the action of Canada in making the reciprocity agreement and said on that occasion:

"When she had an offer from the United States to lower the wall and open the door, was she to continue in her own interest or in the interest of this country or in any supposed interest of the British Empire, to refuse to her manufacturers the natural outlet for their products and the natural inlet for the things they need?

He added that the negotiations between Canada and the United States had been most carefully watched by Ambassador Bryce, and went on to say:

"I need not say that it was not necessary for him to urge upon his Canadian colleagues the necessity of safeguarding the special interests of British trade. They were always most ready to accept and anticipate, or if not to anticipate, at any rate to consider, if not to accede to, his suggestions."

Mr. Sidney Buxton, president of the British Board of Trade, another member of the cabinet, in discussing the matter, said:

"The Government could not regret any fiscal arrangement which tended to break down the tariff wall of any particular country, and under which, in this particular case, the trade of Canada, as the Canadians themselves think, would be increased. The Government believed that the greater the trade of Canada the greater would be the trade of the Empire, and the greater the trade this country would send to Canada. They certainly felt strongly that there was no question involved in this reciprocity agreement of the allegiance and loyalty of the Canadians themselves. (Hear, hear.) But it was said that the Government, by their inaction in the matter, were reducing the existing preference which Canada gave to British goods to the vanishing point. That pessimistic view was very greatly exaggerated. The Government highly appreciated the attitude of the Canadian Government, who in this proposed arrangement with the United States had done their best to affect in the slightest way possible the preference which they were giving to this country."

Mr. Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking of the reciprocity agreement, in the House of Commons, on Feb. 16, said:

"I rejoice that it has been negotiated, and heartily trust it will carry to a successful conclusion. I regard it as a great triumph of common sense, and an immense stride in the cause of free trade, inculcating a step toward the fraternity and co-operation of the English-speaking family."

On April 18, the Canadian reciprocity agreement was discussed in the House of Lords, and on that occasion Lord Haldane, secretary of state for war, spoke in these unmistakable terms:

"The policy of the Government is to give every facility to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the people of Canada to do the best they can for themselves, to enter into this agreement, and, as they think and we believe, to take thereby the best step they can for the development of Canada. (Hear,hear.) We hold that it is not a disadvantage for us that Canada should develop by the growth of trade relations with the United States. We hold that an enlarged Canada—a Canada with a great trade of this kind—cannot fail to be a more prosperous Canada, a Canada which will be a better market for our goods, and which will do more trade with ourselves. Therefore, from every point of view, we look upon the step which Canada has taken as being probably a very good step in our own interests, as well as in the interests of Canada."

And here is briefly stated the views of three of the leading English dailies whose "loyalty" will not be questioned:

London Daily Chronicle: "We may safely assume that mutual affection between us is undiminished by the commercial arrangement, adding prosperity to the Dominion."

The London Times (Unionist): "We cannot tell how far the sporadically raised cry of annexation is influencing Canadian opinion, but THERE IS NO REASON TO SUPPOSE THAT THE RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT WOULD PRODUCE ANY TENDENCY IN THAT DIRECTION. On the contrary, bargaining on equal terms with the United States might tend to foster rather than diminish the self-reliance and independence of the Canadian people."

London Spectator (Unionist): "The desire to make Canada permanently a tied house comes from the delusion that two countries cannot be prosperous at the same time. IT IS CHILDISH TO SAY TO CANADIANS THAT IF THEY AND AMERICANS BOTH BECOME RICHER through new opportunities of trading with each other, CANADA WILL BE GUILTY OF A DISLOYAL ACT TO GREAT BRITAIN."

INSULTING THE FARMERS.

Hon. Adam Beck, speaking at Thorndale, said:

"I charge that the great delegations of grain growers from the West came down to Ottawa primarily at the instigation of J. J. Hill. He is good enough, may be, to pay their expenses."

"May be?" This is an unworthy sneer from Mr. Beck. The charge has already been made in obscure quarters that Mr. Hill instigated or financed the western farmers' delegation, and the charge has been publicly and indignantly denied by officials of the Grain Growers' Association. What of the scores of Ontario farmers who joined with their western brethren in the descent upon Ottawa? Were they hirelings of James Hill, too?

In expressing this contemptuous opinion of the farmers, Mr. Beck may be compared to Col. Sam. Hughes, who insulted them in the House of Commons. Mr. Beck insults them to their face. Mr. Beck should have been above repeating a flimsy charge already officially denied, without offering some evidence for it, especially when there were in his audience men of the very class that he affronts. He has lined up with the big interests.

WHAT MR. HULL TOLD CONGRESS.

The farmers of Ontario will remember Mr. N. P. Hull, master of the Michigan State Grange, and president of the American Dairy Farmers' Association. Mr. Hull has for two years in succession visited Ontario to deliver addresses at our Ontario Dairy Farmers' Association east and west. He is recognized as one of the best posted men on agricultural and dairy questions in the United States. What did he state in his testimony before the committee of the United States Senate? (Page 74, United States Senate Committee Report):

"Now, as the general rule, upon the great commodities in the market centres you will find they are considerably higher in this country than they were in Canada. . Now there can be no question that if this committee and the United States Congress want to 'o a thing that will benefit the Canadian farmer all they have got to do is to pass this reciprocity measure."

Beattie, Borden and Bourassa.

Mr. McEvoy and a square deal for Great Britain.

Mr. Beattie follows a leader who follows Bourassa.

Mr. Beattie has not yet denied that he voted against the British preference.

The leader of the Conservative party in Saskatchewan is Haultain between two opinions.

Mr. Borden and his party are quite willing to give three cheers for the British flag but not three cents to protect it on the ocean.

As a busines deal the trade agreement is not open to attack. That is why its opponents have dragged in the annexation scarecrow.

The president of the Dominion Free Trade Association denounces the reciprocity agreement. So does every high protectionist in the country.

The Guelph Mercury says: "For a catalogue of market misinformation, the London Free Press can have the leather medal without any opposition."

"Be a good citizen, but keep your money," says Mr. Bourassa on the naval question. He might as well say "be a good citizen but don't pay taxes."

Mr. Haultain laments that the reciprocity pact does not go far enough toward reducing the duties all round. Mr. Haultain once spoke in London. Can't Mr. Beattie bring him here again?

When Mr. Marshall, of East Elgin, switched his orders for cans from Wales to Pittsburg, no one accused him of disloyalty. In fact his loyalty became so acute that he feared the farmers of his riding would become tainted with treason if they sold more hogs and wheat in Pittsburg.

ON THE SURFACE.

[Philadelphia Telegraph.]

A comely young woman named Jane,
While walking was caught in the rain.
She ran—almost flew;
Her complexion did, too,
And she reached home exceedingly plain.

TRADE CANDOR.

[London Punch.]

All honor to the Strand draper who exhibited a cautionary notice in his shop window the other day: "These ties will only last a few days."

GREEN BE THE ROOF ABOVE HIM.

[Washington Star.]

He mowed and sprinkled. Wet and lame,
He toiled at eve and dawn;
So let his epitaph proclaim:
"He had a lovely lawn."

THE CORSET KEEPS ON.

[Philadelphia Press.]

We are getting the information from Paris right along now that the corset is going to be abandoned the coming season. Every few years something of this kind is given out, but it doesn't appear to affect the corset. Paris can do almost anything with the fashion, but it has never yet been able to put the corset out of business.

WOMAN PROFESSOR IN GERMAN UNIVERSITY.

[London Globe.]

The first lady university professor in Germany has just been created in the person of Mlle. Gertrude Jeanne Wockler, D.Ph., of Berne University, who has been appointed assistant professor of physics at Leipsic University. It is true that a year ago Countess von der Linden, privat docent at Bonn University, also received the title of professor, but the Prussian authorities opposed her nomination to the chair of assistant professor of zoology. Mlle. Wockler, who has been more successful, is a Swiss, 33 years of age, and will be the youngest professor in the only Saxon university. She has for several years taken a very active part in the feminine emancipation movement.

STUDHOLME FOR RECIPROCITY.

[Toronto Star.]

Comrade Studholme, of Hamilton, is a workingman who has known what it was to be "down on his luck." His sympathies are all with the laboring classes, and he is the most independent member of the Ontario Legislature, for all Sir James Whitney's jibes at him. And Comrade Studholme comes right out for reciprocity. He knows that it is being fought by the monopolists.

CHOICE BETWEEN TWO EVILS.

[London Punch.]

To refute the allegation that women would only vote for the best-looking men, Sir William Lyne, former premier of New South Wales, declares that there are ugly men in the Commonwealth Parliament who have been sent there by women's votes. But this does not prove anything. The unsuccessful candidates may have been uglier still.

A CONFESSION.

[Toronto News, Six Months Ago.]

"As was expected, the Government, whose leader claims to be a free trader, has laid a gentle hand on manufacturers. At least, the alliance of the Government with the manufacturers is as close and intimate as with the farmers' organization."

THE BORDEN-BOURASSA ALLIANCE.

[Ottawa Correspondence Manchester Guardian.]

One of the features of the campaign in Ontario is the formation of a British League, composed of persons born in the United Kingdom, for the purpose of opposing the reciprocity agreement on the ground that it threatens the integrity of the Empire, but not much importance is attached to it. The Conservative party in the English-speaking provinces is always profoundly loyal except when it is in office legislating against the British manufacturer; but in the present contest it is "tied up" with the Nationalists and with a French Conservative forlorn hope under Mr. Monk, a very estimable man, who are apparently opposed to our rendering any kind of assistance to England in case she should become involved in old world wars.

ON THE FREE LIST.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

Mr. Borden says that Canadian ideals are higher than American ideals, we understand, are on the free list, anyhow.

FOR HIS OWN INTERESTS.

[St. Thomas Journal.]

Every Conservative who is seeking to advance his own and his country's interests before his party will vote for reciprocity.

WORTH TRYING AGAIN.

[Brantford Expositor.]

Reciprocity was a great blessing to Canada for 13 years. Why not give it another trial? The pact can be cancelled at any time.

INDUSTRIES STILL COME.

[Hamilton Times.]

The National Cash Register people of Dayton, Ohio, are about to build a factory in Toronto. Another practical way of giving the lie to the anti-reciprocity campaigners.

AN ENGLISH VIEW.

[Manchester Guardian.]

The Ontario farmer is in a transition state, getting out of grain culture, in which he cannot compete with the West, and turning to dairying, fruit-growing, and other lines where the scarcity of farm labor is severely felt, and, on top of it, the exactions of the tariff. The free British market has been a godsend to him, but a free American market, the right to trade without tax with the 90,000,000 people at his door, is obviously desirable, and no doubt thousands of Conservative farmers will vote that way.

A TRADE EXTENSION.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

The reciprocity agreement is merely a trade extension. It has, and can have, nothing to do with Canada's loyalty to the mother land or with her determination to buy what she wants from the old country if the old country will sell her what she wants.

MR. BORDEN'S POLICY.

[Regina Leader.]

"Great Britain now admits Canadian products free, but Mr. Borden objects to Canada lowering its duties in favor of Britain. Mr. Borden agrees to change its entire fiscal policy, impose a tariff against the world, and thus place a tax on the food of its own people. Yet this is what Mr Borden calls a truly loyal and British policy."

Correspondence
Edited by Cynthia Grey

Dear Miss Grey,—I am 19, and keeping company with a young man who waits for me every evening when I get off duty, and takes me to theatres twice a week. Do you think he cares for me? BRIGHT EYES.

A.—He is evidently interesting in you, or he would not take pains to be with you. If he takes more than a friendly interest in you, he will tell you so in time.

Brittle Nails.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. My finger nails are brittle and I have hang-nails all around them. What will cure them? The half-moon does not show on them. What can I do? 2. Please tell me what will stop the pain in bunions. G. E. R.

A.—1. Manicure the nails regularly and rub cold cream thoroughly into the skin around the nails every night. In drying the hands after washing them, push back the cuticle at the base of the nails with the towel. This will help keep the "half-moon" in sight. 2. Cure the bunions by wearing loose, comfortable shoes, keeping a pad between the first and second toes to relieve the pressure on the joint, and massaging with cooling lotion.

To Cure Warts.

Dear Miss Grey,—What will cure warts, and what will relieve cold sores? J. T.

A.—Nitric acid applied two or three times with a small feather or wooden toothpick will eat off the warts, but it is necessary to be very careful, as the acid burns badly. Keep it out of the reach of children. Camphor or peroxide of hydrogen will, if applied during the early stages of a cold sore, usually cure it.

Four Ways to Cook Peaches

Peach Pudding.—Peel and stone six large ripe peaches, fill the centres with Maraschino cherries. Put them on the ice to get cold. Make a custard of one cupful of milk with one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, yolks of three eggs and a tiny piece of butter. When this is cold, flavor it with almond. Line a dish with lady fingers, put in the peaches, then the custard. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and then add them to ne-half of a cupful of cream whipped stiff. Sweeten and flavor. Cover the custard with a garnish of cherries and serve cold.

Peach Shortcake.—Make a rich baking powder crust; roll out about a fourth of an inch thick, cut with a cutter into rounds, butter half of these, and place the unbuttered ones on top. Bake them, split them open, butter them, and fill and cover each one with fresh peaches cut in slices and sprinkled with powdered sugar. Serve hot, surrounded by plenty of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with almond extract and filled with chopped amonds, about one-half cupful.

Peach and Fig Preserves.—Take perfectly ripe freestone peaches and perfectly ripe figs; with a chopping-knife chop each to a mush and mix in equal proportions. Add three-quarters of a pound of sugar to every pound of mixed fruit. Put in a granite kettle and cook to a jam, stirring often as it gets thick. Put up in small glass jars. Serve with rich clotted cream.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Salt dissolved in alcohol will take out grease spots.

Common dry salt is the best thing to clean marble.

Rugs, when shaken, should be handled by the middle, and not by the ends.

Ants can be driven away if the places they frequent are sprinkled with oil of pennyroyal.

The smell of onions may be removed from the breath by eating parsley moistened with vinegar.

Mildew stains can be removed by rubbing plenty of soap and powdered chalk on the garment and placing it in the sun.

If white clothing, say a dress, is put away in a dark closet or drawer, it will in time become yellow. But if it be placed in a box lined with blue paper, or even wrapped in dark blue cloth, it will come out as white as ever it was, no matter how long it lies.

A New Idea.

Instead of using pork in baked beans try olive oil. It is delicious and can be digested by people who have given up baked beans on account of the pork. For two cups of beans, after soaking and parboiling, use two tablespoonfuls of best olive oil and a piece of butter the size of an English walnut; one teaspoonful of mustard, one of salt, one tablespoonful of molasses; fill pot with boiling water and make as usual (covered); uncover the last hour and brown. A small onion may be placed in the bottom of the pot if desired.

NECK FIXINGS.

The dainty fichu lately introduced has become more than popular.

Very deep sailor collars and cuffs of broderie anglaise, made severely plain and entirely unruffled, are the newest of accessories for sailor suits.

White chiffon collars, with a hemstitched edge, are one of the pleasing bits of neckwear. They are considered a trifle smarter than the collar of batiste and eyelet embroidery, although the latter are very good-looking.

One of the very latest novelties from Paris is the frill jabot of pleated muslin, in which a pleated piece of material about twelve inches long is caught together in the centre with a strip of muslin and pinned at the front of the lace collar, forming a semi-circle or spreading fan-shaped jabot. Another new jabot which is very similar has the lower edges graduated by being cut obliquely. This is made of marquisette with insertions and edgings of Valenciennes or Cluny lace, between which a hint of color is introduced.

HOBBLE SKIRT.

Among the notes of this month's Revue des Francais is a somewhat alarming report of the effect of modish dresses upon commerce, says a Westminster Gazette correspondent. The Chamber of Commerce of Tarare, in a recent report, draws attention to the slump in local manufacturers, and suggests Parliamentary intervention. Tarare is especially celebrated for its cotton linings, but scanty skirts have brought about what is stated to be un chomage agonisant, an agonizing stoppage of work. Dresses which formerly required from twelve to fourteen metres of lining now need only five, with the result that many mill-wheels do not move, and that numbers of weavers and dyers are thrown out of work altogether, or are put upon short time. The hope is expressed that leading dressmakers will come to the rescue, and that more becoming fashion will antidote sumptuary laws. Certainly the popularity of the hobble skirt is a thing to marvel at in these post-Ruskin aesthetic days.

THE SEVENTH NOON

BY FREDERICK ORIN BARTLETT,
Author of "The Web of the Golden Spider."

"Do you not suppose that he knew it? Do you not suppose that it took the strength of a dozen men to go alone to what he thought was waiting for him?"

"I know nothing."

"And yet you saw his eyes as he stood before you then? And you saw his eyes as he left you five minutes ago?"

"I won't see. I can't risk—again!"

"Yet you love him?"

Once again the flaming scarlet in her cheeks. Her lips trembled. She turned away from the mirror.

"I said nothing of love," she insisted.

"Yet you love him?"

"Why did he do it?" she moaned.

"Yet you love him?"

"He did so bravely—he spoke so bravely, yet——"

"He learned, if, of all the world of men, you were to choose one to stand by your side when hardest pressed, whom would you choose?"

"I would choose him," answered the girl without hesitation.

"Why?"

"Because——"

"After all, isn't that enough? You would trust him to fight an eternity as he has fought for you these few days. Twice he staked his life for you—once his good name."

"But he thought he was soon to die."

"All the more precious the time that was left."

Her eyes brightened.

"Yes. Yes. I had not thought of that."

"Yet he did this and further risked what was left to save an unknown messenger boy."

"Oh, he did well."

"Then he came to you like a man and told what you might never have discovered, just because he wished to stand clean before you."

"Yes," she breathed.

"Why did he do that?" demanded her reflection.

"I—I don't know."

"Why did he do that?"

"Because——"

"After all, isn't that enough?"

"But he said nothing. If only he had turned back."

"What right had he to say the thing you wish? If he had been less a man he would have turned back."

"Where has he gone? What is he going to do?"

"Why don't you find out?"

"It would be unmaidenly."

"Yes, and very womanly. Do you owe him nothing?"

"I owe him everything."

"Then——"

"I must send Ben to find him. I must—oh, but I needn't do anything more."

"No. Nothing more."

Her heart pounded in her throat in her eagerness to finish her toilet. Her fingers were so light that she could scarcely hold her comb. She hurried into a fresh gown and then downstairs, where she found Ben anxiously pacing the library. He appeared greatly agitated—anchorless.

"Ben," she began, "I had no right to allow Peter Donaldson to go away as I did."

"Little sister," he demanded, "was he unkind to you?"

"No, no," she broke in eagerly, "he was most generous with me. But for the moment I couldn't see it. It was my fault that he went."

"But what was the cause of it?" he insisted, puzzled and dazed by the whole episode.

"It was nothing that counts now. I want you to promise me, Ben, that you will never refer to it, that you will never permit him to tell you of it."

His face cleared.

"Quiet a little tiff! But he took it hard. I never saw a young man so worked up over anything."

"It belongs to the past," she hurried on, eager to allow it to pass as he interpreted it. "It would be cruel to him to bring it up again. Will you promise me, Ben?"

"I will promise. But I'm afraid you overdid it. It is going to be hard to straighten him out."

"No. It is all straightened out now. All that remains for you to do is to find him and say that I—that I wish him to come back for lunch."

"Is it that simple?"

He smiled, his easy-going nature glad to seize upon anything that promised relief from such a jumble as this.

"You must say nothing more than that," she put in, frightened at the sound of her own words. Supposing that he would not come—supposing that even now she had presumed too far?

"You will tell him just that?"

"Yes," he agreed, "and this morning I would have thought that it was enough."

"It is enough now—whatever happens," she said hastily.

"I must hurry back to Marie," she concluded breathlessly. "You must not delay. It may be that he is planning to leave town. If so, you must catch him before he starts."

He placed his arm tenderly about her slight waist and led her to the foot of the stairs.

"You will let me know as soon as you come in?" she pleaded.

"Yes, and don't worry while I am gone."

Cut it in quarters, roll each piece in a thin sheet not thicker than letter-paper and the size and shape of an ordinary roasting-pan. Brush the bottom of the pan with melted suet, put in a sheet of the paste, brush it lightly with melted sue. Have ready a quarter of a pound of shelled almonds, blanched, chopped fine, and mixed with a cupful of chopped raisins, half a pound of chopped apples, and a cupful of brown sugar. Put a layer of this mixture on the paste, cover with another sheet, brush with suet, and so continue until all the sheets of paste are used. Brush the top sheet with melted suet, dust with sugar and bake in a quick oven for three-quarters of an hour. Remove very carefully from the pan to a flat dish and send at once to the table. If properly made this is one of the most delicate of all puddings.

[By Anita Norris.]

Do you covet luxuriant tresses? Then bear in mind that the general health has a great deal to do with the well-being of your hair, and live sensibly.

The woman who is run down will have much difficulty in keeping her hair glossy, thick and vibrant with life. She should devote two-thirds of her efforts to correcting improper blood and stomach conditions.

Elect to live on plain, well-cooked foods and stay in God's out-of-doors as much as possible.

After the inner woman has been taken in hand it is time to devote your attention to local scalp treatments. It is wonderful how quickly it responds to coddling and rubbing. Try this daily method of gaining hair health and see if your special trouble does not disappear like dew before the morning sun.

Dry massage is intended for scalps that are in normal health and wish to remain so. The woman with thin falling hair or with a scap covered with a thick crust of dandruff, needs to use good hair tonic in conjunction with this life-giving massage.

Let me tell you just how to take this energizing massage.

Begin by placing your thumbs firmly on your head, first moistening the fingers well with this tonic:

Sulphate of quinine, 20 grains.
Tincture of cantharides (alcoholic), 2 drachms.
Extract of jaborandi, 2 drachms.
Deodorized alcohol, 2 drachms.
Glycerine, 1 ounce.
Bay rum, 6 ounces.
Elderflower water, sufficient to make a pint.

Push the scalp backward and forward gently with four fingers. Continue this for five minutes, then pick up a small fold of the scalp between two fingers and squeeze it gently, just enough to bring the blood in a rush to that particular spot.

Pinch your way over the scalp until every portion has had attention. Then take a towel and smooth the scalp and hair. This is to remove whatever oil the follicles have not absorbed, thus averting stringly tresses.

A few of these treatments will cause the refractory scalp to become healthily pink, and how the hair will grow!

The question of a helpful shampoo is one that occupies many feminine minds, and this is as it should be.

A simple scalp cleansing liquid, which commends itself to one's common sense, is made by melting half a cake of white toilet soap in three cups of hot water, and adding one-half teaspoonful of powdered borax and six drops of oil of geranium. This geranium liquid makes the hair fluffy and clean.

Do not wave your hair with curling tongs, as the hot irons are warranted to take out all the gloss and life. If you feel that wave it you must, use harmless but effective kid curlers.

In case you object to artificial curliness, there is a way out of this beauty dilemma. I know of an excellent fluid which gives it an effective and permanent curl. It is easy to compound, and a large jar of it should be on every woman's dressing-table. If you wish it, write me and I will tell you this beauty secret.

Do you like scented hair? You think it is exquisite? I agree with you. When milady is desirous of giving the hair a delicate, elusive scent, she should sprinkle it well at bedtime with rose sachet, don a pretty night cap, so the powder will have to "stay put"—and slip into her snowy cot.

In the morning her hair will give out a faint but sweet perfume which will linger for seven or eight days.

BEAUTY

is the right of every woman. If Nature has been kind to you, then it should be your privilege to help retain your loveliness. If, unfortunately, you are not fair of face, then it is your duty to do all possible things to make yourself lovely.

Mrs. Anita Norris is an authority on beauty, and she is anxious to help you. She will gladly reply to any questions you may put to her in your search for beauty. Address your letter care of The Advertiser, and accompany it with a stamped envelope. There is no charge for consulting this department, and communications are regarded as strictly confidential.

IRISH AUTHORESS DEAD

Katherine Cecil Thurston Dies In a Hotel at Cork.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Katherine Cecil Thurston, the Irish authoress, was found dead this morning at a hotel in Cork.

Mrs. Thurston was a native of Cork, and married in 1901 Ernest Charles Thurston, with whom she was the joint author of several popular novels. The couple lived happily until 1907, when, according to Mrs. Thurston, her husband informed her that it was necessary that he should live his own life, and for the purpose of literary work should go down into the very depths of society. The authoress was granted a divorce in the spring of 1910.

Younger Than He Looks

This man looks older than he is. Every woman on earth absolutely abhors such a condition. You may be thirty in years, but if you are baldheaded or gray, people will surely take you to be may years older than you are. A timely use of Parisian Sage will prevent this.

Dandruff is the root of all hair evils. If it were not for the little destructive germs working with a persistency worthy of a better cause, there would be no baldness. Parisian Sage, America's greatest hair restorer, will keep you looking young and attractive.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed by Fred A. Taylor, 399 Talbot street, opposite market, to make hair grow and stop falling hair; to cure dandruff in two weeks and to stop itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Parisian Sage is the most invigorating, satisfying and pleasant hair dressing made; it makes the hair soft, luxuriant and handsome; it is especially praised by women who have beautiful hair. Parisian Sage is for sale by all druggists, 50 cents a large bottle or postpaid from the Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn Hair is on every bottle.

DOUBLE HEADER HOODOO ON JOB

Tigers' Old Jinx Remains With Them in a Pair With St. Louis.

TAYLOR MAKES DEBUT

Austin, Texas, Man Twirls Winning Ball, But Gets Poor Support.

Detroit, Sept 7.—Still the double-header hoodoo hangs over the Tigers. The best chance they have had this season to take a bargain day bill was presented to them yesterday against the St. Louis rBowns, and they had to throw the second game away, after they had comef rom behind in the opener, and tucked it safely in their pockets. The scores were 3 to 2, and 2 to 0.

Give Poor Support.

Wiley Taylor, the recruit from Austin, Texas, made his big league debut. Had the Tigers supported him well, he would have done to the Browns what "Lefty" George did to the Tigers, held them runless, for both tallies made by Wallace's men would not have counted with perfect fielding back of Taylor. A half dozen scattered hits, not any two of which were made in the same inning, were all he allowed his opponents, and although he was in bad holes on a couple of occasions he pitched himself out of them like a veteran.

THREE TWIRLERS FAIL TO STOP THE SENATORS

New York Yankees Are Beaten 6 to 2 by Washington.

New York, Sept. 6.—Manager Chase of the Yankees had to use three twirlers before he could stop the hard-hitting Nationals today, but the damagew rought in the early part of the game could not be overcome, and the visitors won, 6 to 2. After scoring two runs in the fourth on aWlker's single to centre that tallied Elberfeld and Gessler, the visitors added two more in the sixth on Hartzell's wild throw, a double steal that scored Schaefer, and Hemphill's single to centre that sent over Gessler. The Nationals added two more runs, one in the eighth and ninth on timely singles. The Yankees scored their only runs in the eighth on Knight's single, Blair's double, Fitzgerald's sacrifice and Daniel's single to centre.

ATHLETICS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM BOSTON

Oldring Scores Winning Runs in the Both Contests—5 to 4 and 4 to 3.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—The Athletics won two games from the Boston Red Sox today, but not until after hard fighting. In the first game Boston took an early lead by rapping Bender for three runs in the opening inning, and they added a fourth tally in the fifth, these being the only innings they could find the Indian. The Athletics came from behind and tied the score in the sixth on singles by Baker, Murphy and Barry and a sacrifice fly. With two out and Oldring on third in the ninth Boston walked both Baker and Murphy purposely, but McInnis singled, scoring Oldring with the winning run.

Both Collins and Plank pitched great ball in the second game. Boston tied the score in the seventh on Henrickson's pass and Nunamaker's triple. The game went into the tenth a tie when Boston took a one run lead on Yerkes' triple and Speaker's single. The Athletics won the game, however, on Barry's single that scored Oldring and E. Collins.

RETURN WRESTLING MATCH IMPROBABLE

Hackenschmidt Starts For Home "Never to Return to America."

Chicago, Sept. 5.—George Hackenschmidt left for New York today after offering to post $5,000 for a private return match with Frank Gotch. He was accompanied by Americus and Koch, two of his wrestling partners. Hackenschmidt will sail from New York, Sept. 9.

Hackenschmidt's offer for a return match with Gotch was offset later by his contradictory statement that after leaving New York he would never return to America. In the meantime, the offer had been carried to Gotch, and accepted with the provision that the match be within two months. This was not accepted by Hackenschmidt on the ground that his injured knee would not permit his return to the ring in that time.

Gotch will leave for Humboldt, Ia., either Friday or Saturday. He was ready and eager to return tonight, but his mother and wife were not ready to leave until they had a chance to combine the pleasure of the wrestling trip with the business of their fall shopping.

Gotch's plans are incomplete, but he stated today that he would not begin the world tour for several months. He wants to spend that much time in Iowa.

BACKER OF J. L. SULLIVAN AND MULDOON IS DEAD

Cusack, of Brooklyn, Is Said to Have Lost $68,000 When Corbett Won in 1892.

[By Canadian Press.]

New York, Sept. 6.—John H. Cusack, of Brooklyn, who was John L. Sullivan's backer when the former champion was defeated at New Orleans in 1892 by James J. Corbett, died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn. He is said to have lost $68,000 on Sullivan in that fight. Cusack's wealth was at one time estimated to exceed $300,000.

Cusack was well known as a wrestler in his youth. He took Wm. Muldoon off the police force and taught him wrestling until his apt pupil became world's champion. Cusack gave away a small fortune in his early days.

His friends believe he is dead.

O'TOOLE PUTS OVER HIS THIRD VICTORY

Marty Gives Another Grand Demonstration for the Pirates.

THE DOUBLE IS DIVIDED

First For Pittsburg, But Cincinnati Takes Second, 6 to 1.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—For the fourth consecutive time the Pirates broke even today in a double-header, Pittsburg won the first game, 4 to 3, and Cincinnati took the second, 6 to 1.

Marty O'Toole gave another wonderful pitching demonstration in the first game, holding the Reds to 7 hits and fanning 8 men. He allowed 4 walks, however, 3 of these netting runs. The Reds played hop-scotch around home plate, swinging vainly over and under the spitter, and the $22,500 prize package toyed with that throughout. The Pirates, in the meanwhile, were having their troubles with George Suggs, who also pitched fine ball. They won out in the ninth when McCarthy sent a long smash over Bates' head, scoring the winning run.

Keefe pitched elegant ball for the Reds in the second game and Adams was hammered off the rubber. Robinson, a Texas recruit, took his place and made a bright debut by fanning the first three men who faced him. He is a left-hander and comes well-touted. The game was called in the sixth inning to allow the Pirates to catch a train for St. Louis. Score:

SULLIVAN RESIGNS FROM COMMISSION

Governor Dix Accepts Resignation of Chairman of Fight Board.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Governor Dix tonight received and accepted the resignation of James E. Sullivan as chairman of the state athletic commission. The resignation, which came by wire, was as follows:

"It is with regret that I forward you my resignation as a member of the New York state athletic commission, to take effect at once. I am confined to my room with injuries received in the Fort Wayne, Ind., wreck, and will be confined for some time. The work of the commission is at this moment of the kind that will require a member who can have his hand at the helm. I had hoped to be able to help the state to regulate a sport that certainly requires regulation, and he who accepts the post should be one able to work. At present I am not."

The commission has called a meeting for Friday, Sept. 8.

TWIRLER CHAPUT BLANKS LONDON

Berlin Man Drafted by Phillies Allows Tecumsehs Four Hits.

RAPP WAS ERRATIC

Given Indifferent Support in Pinches, But at Other Times Backed Sensationally.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Four hits was the best the Cockneys could do with Chaput, who wafted them over for Berlin in today's game, London being whitewashed. Chaput had ten strikeouts.

Rapp, the London southpaw, was erratic. The Philadelphia recruit sent them off in puzzling style, and the visitors were completely at his mercy.

The London twirler was supported indifferently at times, but at that the visitors worked sensationally at times, a great double play by Brant and Nicholls featuring.

The same teams will meet tomorrow in the second match of the series, which has been transferred to Galt.

St. Thomas, Sept. 6. — The Saints won from Brantford here today by connecting with Big Tasker with men on bases. Conley, for St. Thomas, held the visitors air-tight, not allowing a man to reach second base after the first inning. Kopp's hitting was a feature, he lacing out two three-baggers and a single. ONE HIT IN EIGHT ROUNDS ALLOWED HAMILTON

Big Schuman, of Guelph, Touched for Four in Seventh, But Is Otherwise Airtight.

Guelph, Sept. 6.—Big Schuman was too much for Knotty Lee's Kolts here this afternoon, and they were defeated by the Maple Leafs by 6 to 2. The game was an exceptionally fast one, and was played in an hour and twenty minutes. Barberich pitched for the Kolts, and was touched up for ten hits, while all they got off Schuman was five, four of them coming in the seventh, when they scored two runs. Tomorrow's game will be Hamilton's last appearance here this season. The score—

FAILED TO LIFT THE FISHER CUP

Patricia Defeated Seneca in the Deciding Race by 3 Minutes and 41 Seconds.

DEFENDER LED ALL WAY

Rochester Yachtsmen Will Make Attempt to Win Cup Next Year.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Patricia, the R. C. Y. C. defender, and Seneca, the Rochester challenger, met in the third and deciding race yesterday for the Fisher Cup, and the Canadian yacht defeated her fleet rival by three minutes and forty-one seconds over the 21-mile course.

Seneca's skipper and crew declared after the race that the Rochester Club would make another effort next year to lift the cup.

Buffalo, Sept. 6.—The Maple Leafs bid Buffalo fans good-bye today for 1911, but left the final game in Buffalo's keeping. It had been intended to make a bargain-day of it, but heavy rains spoiled that arrangement, and the teams were considered very fortunate in being able to wade through one. Hard work on the part of the ground-keepers was needed, and about 3 o'clock sponges, pails, spades, sawdust, and dry earth were replaced by bats and balls.

The Bisons proved the better mudders. The Maple Leafs did not appear to take to the going as did the Bisons. Their usual ginger was lacking. It may have been the weather, and again it may have been the fact that Brennan was pitching. It was errors undoubtedly that lost for the Toronto nine. Every one of the three runs brought home by Buffalo was assisted along its way with an error, while the lone score secured by the Maple Leafs came to them as the result of Smith's single and Shaw's triple, one of the grandest hits ever seen at the old ball park.

Tesreau was a bit wild at times, and very steady at others. There was no question about it's being a pitcher's fight. The hits were the same in number on each side, Toronto getting the call on total number of bases made on hits, as the result of Shaw's triple, whereas Buffalo's hits were all of the single denomination, so that, with the misplays cut out, it would have been a serious question about the victory.

FOOTBALL IN RUSSIA

Male Population of St. Petersburg Are GoGing, Mad Over the Game.

London, Sept. 5.—The male population of St. Petersburg between the ages of 10 and the early twenties has gone football mad. In a trip of a dozen miles in any direction outside the city you will find two dozen football clubs practicing the game any evening by the railroad side. Ordinary rye fields supply good enough football fields after the crops are cut, and the young enthusiasts enter into possession with no undue delay.

In one of Max O'Rell's essays he told how an English family, after getting for nothing the use of his field to play cricket on from a farmer in France, went up to the Frenchman in a few days and ordered him to take his cattle off their cricket ground. The Russian sportsman, as he insists on calling himself, is a kindlier citizen. His football team and its followers will clear off the stacks of rye to the threshing yards if they get the use of the field afterward.

The football game that has captured Russia, as it has Eastern Europe, is according to the English Association rules. They have taken over the terminology bodily without translation, and it sounds astonishing at first to hear a crowd of Russians excitedly following a game, youngsters who really know no language except Russian shouting "offside," "corner," "foul," "free kick," "goal," and so on.

The critics expect that in a very few years the standard of football will be high. At present the players are too slow on their feet, and their newness at the game denies them the skill for mastering as yet the finer combinations of play. But there is abundant muscular strength and good temper, and as at most things they are great triers.

CASCADE GIVES DOPE AN UPSET

Murphy Pilots the Winner to an Unexpected Victory Over Major Wellington.

SIX HEATS ARE REQUIRED

The Harvester and Willy to Perform Before President Taft at Hartford Today.

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 6.—The grand circuit races today were long drawn out, and two of the events, the 2:09 trot and the 2:11 pace, went the limit in heats. The surprise of the afternoon was the defeat of Major Wellington in the 2:09 trot by Cascade. The former misbehaved in three heats by going into the air at critical moments.

The 2:25 trot was featureless, each heat being a procession, with Mamie Guy a fair second and Miss Normandie a poor third. Lettie Hall was distanced in the first heat.

Forest Prince and Longworth B. fought it out in the 2:11 pace, the former winning by superior staying qualities. Head and head and whipping finishes marked each heat.

Tomorrow will be President Taft day at the fair, and as a special event for the President The Harvester, the fastest stallion in the world, and Willy, the half-miler, will have a brush probably of half a mile.

BRITISH CHAMP PLAYS WELL

Covers Essex County Course in 75 Strokes on First Time Around.

Manchester, Mass., Sept. 6.—The British golf champion, Henry H. Hilton, of Hoylake, pushed a nosed aluminum putter into his golf bag on the eighteenth green of the Essex county course today, with the satisfaction of having played that course in 75 without even seeing it before, and of having accomplished a still greater task earlier in the day of covering Myopia in 79 strokes on his third round of those difficult links.

Mr. Hilton expects to play the Country Club at Brookline tomorrow and then start in to learn Apawamis, where he will try next week to win the amateur championship of this country.

GOTCH WILL TOUR.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Frank Gotch broke camp today, and left tonight for St. Paul. He was accompanied by his wife, and will spend several days at St. Paul at the Minnesota State Fair. Then he will go to Humboldt, Ia. A question of a match with Zbyszko was unsettled, but Gotch expressed his willingness to take on any of a half-dozen wrestlers who are now clamoring for a match. The champion will start on his wrestling tour in about two months.

RUTHERFORD WON THE RACE.

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 6.—John M. Rutherford, driving a National car, won the 100-mile Beach race today, the feature event of the three-days' automobile meet here which closed tonight. He made the course in 98 minutes and 4-5 seconds, with Louis Disbrow, driving a Pope-Hartford, 1 minute and 17 1-5 seconds behind him. Disbrow lost a tire in the 51st mile, and this cost him nearly two miles. There were six starters in the event and four finished.

Oscar Stanage, Detroit, A. L., Catcher.
Christy Mathewson, New York, N. L., Pitcher.
"Nap" Rucker, Brooklyn, N. L., Pitcher.
Edward Walsh, Chicago, A. L., Pitcher.
Walter Johnson, Washington, A. L., Pitcher.
Edward Bender, Philadelphia, A. L., Pitcher.

Hans Wagner, Pittsburg, N. L., Utility.
Sam Crawford, Detroit, A. L., Right Field.
Tris Speaker, Boston, A. L., Centre Field.
Ty Cobb, Detroit, A. L. Left Field.
Sherwood Magee, Philadelphia, N. L., Utility.

No. 1, Wagner; 2, Mathewson; 3, Rucker; 4, Chase; 5, Magee; 6, Cobb; 7, Bush; 8, Crawford; 9, Speaker; 10, Johnson; 11, Bresnahan; 12, Lord; 13, Bender; 14, Dooin; 15, Collins; 16, Stanage; 17, Walsh, 18, Manager Hugh Jennings himself.

It is a waste of words to tell WHO Hugh Ambrose Jennings is. Everyone knows. But everyone doesn't know WHAT he is. In addition to being one of the first string managers, the Detroit leader practices law during the close season for baseball, at Scranton, Pa. He was a member of the old Baltimore team, when McGraw, Keeler and Robinson were great stars. In his palmiest playing days Jennings was greatest of shortstops. He jumped into managerial fame in a season, transforming the Detroit team from a bunch of household kittens into snarling, ferocious jungle cats that really deserved the name of "Tigers."

BY HUGH AMBROSE JENNINGS.

Giving an opinion of the merits of the players in the major leagues, or picking an all-star team from these organizations, is difficult, in view of the fact that I have to pick the men from the National League on the work they have done and what little I have seen of them on "off" days or in the fall of the year after the American League season closed.

In selecting the men, I have tried to pick those who would form an ideal combination; whose work as a team would bring the best results; they would make a team as near my ideal of what a baseball team should be, as any crowd that could be gotten together.

This team would combine all of the elements that go to make up a winner. There would be no doubt about its success against any other team that might be picked, providing, of course, the players worked in harmony and did not become jealous of each other.

In the catching department there can be no question as to the worth of the three men named. Bresnahan combines three qualifications seldom found in a catcher. He possesses courage, speed and brains, and being a good backstop as well as a good thrower, would be a valuable man for any team in the country. He is a first-class hitter and a fine base-runner.

Dooin possesses all the Bresnahan qualities except speed. He is more gingery, is a good thrower, works his pitchers with good judgment, and is a wonderful judge of foul flies.

Stanage is the right build for a catcher. He has a good arm, works his pitchers intelligently, and is not afraid to throw the ball to any base to catch runners napping. He is a good hitter, but not fast on the bases. He can catch every day.

In Walsh I think I have selected one of the best, if not the best pitcher in the country. He is master of the spit ball and has good control and speed. Being a big, strong man, he can work every third day. He fields his position in first-class style and has a lot of courage.

Mathewson is a grand pitcher. He is master of the situation, and uses excellent judgment in figuring the weakness of the batsmen who face him. His drop ball is his strongest point, although he has good speed and a fair slow ball.

Johnson possesses more speed than any other of the pitchers I have selected. He has a good curve ball, but his slow ball is just fair. He has good control, and with the support behind the bat would prove to be a wonder.

Bender is a pitcher with good speed, a fine curve and excellent control. He fields his position in grand style.

Rucker is the only left-hander I have selected for the staff. He has fine control for a left-hander, plenty of speed and a fine drop ball.

Chase on first would have no rival for the position. He is a sensational fielder, covers an immense amount of ground, is a good thrower, a fine hitter and fast on the bases.

Collins was given the preference over Lajoie on account of his speed. He covers more ground than Lajoie, and while he may not bat within twenty points of the Frenchman, he overcomes this by his work on the bases. He is a brainy player, and will fit in any company.

Lord is a wonderful third baseman. He is good on hard hit balls to his left or right, fields bunts well and is a hustler every minute during the game. He is a first-class hitter and a fine base-runner.

Bush, at short, may not be as hard a hitter as some of the other shortstops, but he is a good walter, gets on the bases often and is a first-class base-runner. He is a sensational fielder.

Wagner would be an ideal man for the utility role on this team, as he can play any of the infield positions. He can hit hard and for a big man is fast on the bases.

Crawford in right, Speaker in centre and Cobb in left make a trio in the outfield that cannot be equalled. They are fine fielders, good throwers and are among the leaders as batters and base-runners.

I do not hesitate to say that this outfield is the very best in all departments that can be gotten together.

Magee is picked as utility outfielder, not alone because he is a fine outfielder, good thrower and fast on the bases, but because he is a right-hand hitter, and in case a left-hand pitcher was troublesome for some of the left-hand batsmen, he and Wagner could be used, making the team strong against left-handers as well as against right-handers.

The team I have picked would be strong in fielding in every position; strong in batting, and the strongest and fastest collection of base-runners in either league. I would like to see another team picked from the players in the two leagues, and no matter who the players were, I cannot see where they could hope to have any great success against the team I have picked.

A ROUSING RALLY FOR A. W. SMITH

Farmers in North Middlesex Turned Out in Large Numbers on Wednesday Night.

H. H. MILLER'S ADDRESS

Reciprocity Will Result in Higher Prices for All Lines of Farm Products.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Komoka, Sept. 6.—There was a large rally here tonight in the interests of Mr. A. W. Smith, Liberal candidate for the north riding of Middlesex. The hall here was crowded to capacity, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. There was no question as to the attitude of the farmers of this district on reciprocity, and it is expected that a much larger vote will be polled for Smith than has ever been given a candidate here.

Strong addresses were delivered by Mr. Smith, H. H. Miller, former member for South Grey; T. G. Turnbull, Komoka, and Mr. C. McKinlay, the president of the Reform Association of Lobo Township.

Mr. McKinlay presided. He expressed his appreciation of the large attendance at the meeting, and declared that it augured well for the success of the cause of reciprocity. The issue was particularly of interest to the farmers, and he was delighted that they were responding to the call of duty in so large numbers.

A Telling Address.

Mr. T. G. Turnbull delivered a telling address. For many years he has been connected with the grain trade in this county, and he was in a position to speak with knowledge on the subject. He declared that the farmer stood to benefit to a very large extent by the passage of reciprocity, and undoubtedly it would be to his advantage to have the pact passed by the House. Higher prices in practically everything that the farmer produced would be given him, and his prosperity would be wonderfully increased.

Candidate Is Popular.

Mr. Smith was given a cordial reception. He pointed out that the farmers of Canada constituted 69 per cent of the population of the country. The enormous production from Canadian farms must of necessity receive an outlet, and the Laurier administration by reciprocity tended to give them that outlet. On the other hand, the United States was rapidly becoming a consuming, not a producing, nation, and it would be necessary for them to make large importations of food stuffs. That was the basic principle of the agreement, and that was the very best proof that the farmers would profit by the enactment of the agreement.

Mr. H. H. Miller.

Mr. H. H. Miller delivered a stirring speech. He took up the markets of both countries, item by item, and demonstrated that in practically every line, there would be better prices for Canadian farmers, a steadier market, and better returns for the producing class of the country. That it would also be good for the consumer was shown. The competition in certain lines of products would tend to lower the price to the consumer, at the same time bringing the Canadian market for the raw material up to the standard of the United States.

A Sweeping Victory.

A sweeping victory for the Laurier Administration was predicted, and it was felt that the opportunity of the farmer had come.

The speeches evoked the greatest enthusiasm, and when the meeting broke up, cheers were given for the King, the Liberal candidate, and others.

CHARGES AGAINST PITCHER HOGG TO BE INVESTIGATED

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 6.—Because President Daniel Clehecy, of the Haverhill Club of the New England League, made the charge that Pitcher C. Bradley Hogg had "deliberately laid down to the Lowell Club in the last game he pitched for Haverhill before he was transferred to the Boston National League Club, the national baseball commission today remanded the case to the national association for investigation. President Clehecy charged that Hogg had been paid off before he pitched the game against Lowell, but that he was fined $50 for indifferent pitching. Clehecy asked that he be compelled to pay the fine.

THE TIDE OF RECIPROCITY GROWING IN EAST MIDDLESEX

Dr. Routledge and Other Speakers in Crampton Meeting Show Clearly That Farmers and Breeders Will Benefit by the Agreement.

[By Our Own Man.]

Crampton, Sept. 6.—The tide of reciprocity is growing in East Middlesex. From every section of the riding the most glowing reports are heard of the progress made by the people's cause. Tonight Dr. George A. Routledge, the Liberal candidate, addressed a meeting at this village. There was an excellent crowd present, and the closest attention was paid the speakers. The pact is making ground here all the time, and is constantly growing in favor.

Mr. James Crate, of this place, was made chairman. He briefly introduced the speakers, and gave his approval to the agreement.

Dr. Routledge.

Dr. Routledge was the first speaker. He was given a most cordial welcome on rising. It was a great pleasure, he declared, to appear before the farmers on such a question as reciprocity. For the first time in many years the legislation of the Dominion was proposed for the especial benefit of the rural population. It was a question of much importance to this class, and he was certain that it would be of great benefit to them.

The Opposition had been persistent in claiming that the reciprocity agreement was a treaty. There was no truth in that statement, as the document clearly states that the agreement could be abrogated at any time either party to it desired. That was explicitely stated in the pact, and was the right and proper conception of it. No harm could come then if the farmers of the Dominion of Canada decided to adopt it.

Improve Horse Market.

Dr. Routledge dealt with the matter of horses, and gave it as his certain opinion that the horse market in Canada would be improved if the pact were ratified.

"I am convinced after an observation of some years, that the horse market would be greatly benefitted by reciprocity," said Dr. Routledge. "It will open the big markets of Boston and New York to Canadian horses, and larger returns would inevitably come to the Canadian farmer if free access were given to the American market. I have discussed it with all the breeders and dealers with whom I have come in contact, and I find that they, too, are of the same opinion. Mr. Yeager, of Simcoe, one of the best-known breeders in America, has come out strongly in its favor. Lot Edmunds, of Blenheim; Art Bedford, of Chatham, and scores of other men prominent in the horse business in Ontario, have come out strongly in favor of the agreement. They are not Liberals but Conservatives, but they are convinced that the farmer and the breeder would obtain much more for their horses. That is of much importance to the farmers of Middlesex, who are known for the excellent quality of horses they produce."

Mr. J. H. Fowler followed, and pointed out that this agreement was made at the behest of the farmers of Canada, irrespective of party affiliations. The deputations that visited Parliament Hill last session, and demanded that the Government do something for them, found a response in reciprocity. That agreement did not go so far as the farmers demanded, the Government desiring to protect the manufacturers of the Dominion. In the main, however, it gave the farmers just what they wanted.

In Canada, the farmers' organizations, the agricultural press, the agricultural experts of the Dominion, were a unit in declaring that the pact was a good thing for the country. Every farmers' organization in the United States, every agricultural journal, every representative from purely agricultural states were opposed to the agreement, declaring that it would work altogether to the advantage of the Canadian farmer, and not to their interests. The unity of opinion of the agricultural experts of America was sufficient evidence that reciprocity was undoubtedly a great thing for the Dominion of Canada.

Not a Treaty.

Mr. Jared Vining also emphasized the fact that the agreement was terminable at a moment's notice. Opposition speakers had done everything possible to convey the impression that it was a treaty and would last five years at least. That was nothing more than misrepresentation, and was not true.

He dealt with comparative prices of the Canadian and American market and demonstrated that in practically all lines the advantage was in favor of the American markets.

The Bean Market.

He read a letter sent out by the Canadian Canners, Limited, showing what effect the agreement would have on the bean crop. It was as follows.

Hamilton, July 31, 1911.

Dear Sir,—The effect of the reciprocity treaty with the United States, if it goes into effect, and it looks altogether likely that it will, will mean an advance of about 40c per bushel in the price of white beans, consequently prices of baked beans must advance accordingly.

We have at the present time limited stocks of the very finest quality baked beans in Canada. Our prices, as you know, are right; our sales have been steadily increasing throughout Canada, which is proof positive that the quality is right, and also the price.

A word to the wise is sufficient. If you have not already booked your orders would respectfully recommend you to wire promptly.

We inclose price list and await your valued orders, subject to confirmation.

Yours respectfully,
DOMINION CANNERS, LIMITED.

The Horse Market.

A farmer asked Mr. Vining if the agreement would not ruin the western horse market.

"The only market that will be affected will be that for common or scrub horses," he answered. "There is no question but that the poorer class of animal will be disposed of easily in the West if reciprocity goes through. It will not affect the market for good horses. There is a demand for them, and that demand will continue. Horsemen are agreed that good horses will be as easily disposed of at good prices in the West after reciprocity is passed.

"There are few inferior horses in Ontario at the present time, so that the farmers of Ontario will not suffer. In addition, there will be opened up the best market for Canadian horses, the eastern market. Last year $450,000 worth of horses were shipped to the United States, on which duty amounting to $120,000 was paid. Had the market been free $100,000 of the duty would have gone to the farmers' pockets, and he would have been able to sell many more horses."

FOOD RIOTS DUE TO TOO MUCH GOLD

Enormous Output Has Upset the Balance of Prices.

MAKING FOOD COSTLY

As a Consequence British Scientist Predicts Many Strikes For Three Years.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 6.—An interesting suggestion is made in regard to the increased cost of living, which, like an earth wave, has sent a tremor throughout Europe, causing food riots in France, an outcry against the butchers in Belgium, and protests against dearer meat and milk in Germany, while it is largely responsible for the labor unrest in England.

This suggestion is that the enormous output of gold in recent years has upset the balance of prices, and that the world has not yet shaken itself down to a true adjustment.

Statistics show conclusively that in England, on the continent, and in North America nearly all the commoner and most necessary articles of food have been steadily rising in price since the century opened. Meat, especially bacon, in England the poor man's favorite food; milk, bread, and sugar, all cost more. It is calculated that there is a ten per cent. increase in the weekly budget of household expenses in England.

Professor Chapman, at yesterday's meeting of the British association, predicted that the next three years would be an era of strikes, due to the fact that, whereas up to 1896 the cost of living had been falling, it had since then been rising.

SMITH WILL LEAD

tles—many of them were Conservatives—and only two of them were opposed to the agreement. The pair who came out straight against the agreement were what might be called "rank party men." To all convincing argument their replies were: "I don't believe it." Neither of these men was a subscriber to an agricultural paper, and one, to use his own words, "did not care whether reciprocity made the country prosperous or not."

It happened that a neighbor of this man was close by, and when the first man declared his opposition in the manner stated, his neighbor joined in.

"John," said he, "you remember that storm out here last Saturday? Well, you might as well have tried to stop that storm with your straw hat, as to try to stop reciprocity with your little vote. Because you never saw a time when the farmers were more ready for reciprocity than at the present."

Great Gains in Cattle.

And especially are the farmers of North Middlesex ready for reciprocity. Did anyone ever see finer fat cattle or larger herds than those around Alisa Craig? Every man's farm is two-thirds pasture, and some have herds that run as high as 175 head—210,000 pounds of beef on the hoof and worth one cent more for every pound on the Buffalo market than on the Toronto market at the present time! A gain of $2,100 on a single herd! Does anyone think for a minute that the hundreds of farmers who will pocket such a difference in dollars will vote for George Elliott on Sept. 21?

Thousands of the animals that graze on the rolling fields today are destined never to toss their horned heads in the stock yards of the Queen City. They are being held for the big prices of the American market.

The get of great sires is found among the horseflesh of North Middlesex. It is one of the best industries the farmers have. That the great markets of the east will provide an even hundred dollars better than any price the breeders have hitherto secured is known to the men who take pride in hitching the best pairs that can be found in Western Ontario.

Send a Man to Find Out.

If there are any men in doubt that the horse market will be even better than that which the west offers at present, let them appoint a delegate to visit Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, Schenectady, New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, and the scores of cities of 100,000 and more within easy reach of the border. He will return with a story more glowing than any ever brought from the west. Horses in the thickly populated districts beyond the border are worth an even $100 more than anywhere else on the continent. Why didn't Canadians send their horses over before, then? Simply for this reason, as Mr. Yeager explains, and offers to back the explanation for $2,000, that the American customs man knows a good horse. When a team is taken across the line, he, not the dealer, puts the valuation on the team, and Canadian horses going across the border are never undervalued, and are often overvalued by the customs officer.

Canard About Horses Nailed.

Some of those who would like to control the horse market at Toronto have sent out a canard among the farmers of North Middlesex to the effect that with the carrying of reciprocity the value of horses would drop $25 a head through the loss of the western market. The middlemen did not remember to state that a great eastern market that uses more horses in a month than the west does in a year would be opened. Neither did he remember that the farmer of today, and especially the horse dealer, is not exactly a person who nails his faith to the counsels of the man who has regulated the price for many years.

One finds an unusual keenness of knowledge on the Dominion situation in North Middlesex. The farmers there know the Bourassa end of the campaign as well as they do the Borden side. They know that the western Conservatives are crying for more, that the middle Conservatives are crying for less, and that the down east section is talking the rankest rebellion Canada ever heard. They find it hard to believe that Canada can digest such a conglomeration. It is a case of attempting to mix antidotes. An attempt to assimilate such a combination salad, would be positively nauseating.

HISTORY OF THE DIOCESE OF HURON

Some Interesting Facts Concerning the Anglican Church in This District.

DIOCESE FORMED IN 1857

First Bishop Was Rev. Dr. Cronyn—Was Consecrated in England.

In the Jubilee Memorial, published in 1907, there is an account of the growth of the Diocese of Huron that is particularly interesting, in view of the meeting here of the general synod of the Anglican Church in Canada.

The diocese was formed in 1857. Prior to that time all this portion of Ontario was a section of the great Diocese of Toronto, and whenever there was a confirmation in London or Chatham or any other place in the district the Bishop of Toronto had to come and hold service.

The work soon proved an impossibility for one man to accomplish, and in 1857 it was decided to form a new diocese comprising thirteen counties. It was named Huron, after Lake Huron, to the shores of which it stretched.

The First Bishop.

The first bishop was Rev. Dr. Cronyn, who was elected at a meeting of the clergy and laity held in St. Paul's Church on July 9, 1857. It was necessary for him to go to England to be consecrated, and in Lambeth Palace this was done on Oct. 28 by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Since the diocese has formed London has always been the very heart of it, and the leading centre of its growth. This is shown by the fact that there are in the city eight independent, self-supporting, flourishing parishes. Up to 1862 St. Paul's was the only Anglican Church in London. In 1863 Christ Church was built, and Rev. G. M. Innes was its first rector. In 1873 St. James' Church in South London, was built, and opened for service in November. Very Rev. Dean Davis left his mission work at Bayfield to become its rector in February, 1874. His work has been most successful, as the splendid condition of his parish and the growth of the church show. In 1877 it was necessary to build a newer and larger church, and in 1893 and 1897 it was found necessary to add large extensions.

The Churches.

The Memorial Church, erected as a monument to London's pioneer missionary and first rector, was built also in 1873, and opened and consecrated on Dec. 14, of that year. It was designed and built by Bishop Cronyn's children, and has ever since been supported by the steadfast care and generous gifts of his eldest son, Mr. Verschoyle Cronyn. In the Memorial Church is to be seen the old oak pulpit which stood in St. Paul's from the commencement of its history, and from which Bishop Cronyn preached for 32 years.

The Church of St. John the Evangelist had as its beginning the Old St. John's Chapel, which formerly stood in the Huron College grounds. The old chapel was built in 1863 by Mrs. Hellmuth. The present church of St. John the Evangelist was opened on Nov. 11, 1888.

In the Suburbs.

The present St. George's Church in West London was built in 1890, although the building now used as a Sunday school was built in 1876, and services had been held there regularly. Rev. G. B. Sage has been in charge of the work in the parish ever since 1888, and has been most successful in his efforts.

St. Matthew's Church was built in 1895. The parish is an offshoot from the Memorial, and previous to 1879 was ministered to by its rector. In 1881 a church was built near the city boundary, where service was held until the present church was erected.

All Saints is another offshoot of the Memorial. In 1887 services were first held in an old building formerly occupied by the Methodists. The congregation grew rapidly, and in 1890 a new church was built. In 1907 the present splendid church was built, and Rev. T. R. Clarke has been in charge of it ever since.

Church History.

Prior to the formation of the Diocese of Huron there is also some very interesting church history. The first clergyman to come into the wilderness of those days was Hon. Dr. Stewart, who came here in 1820, and during the first six months of that year travelled through a circuit of 1,880 miles. He was most favorably impressed with the locality and its prospects, and wrote glowing accounts of the work to be done. In 1822 he recommended that a resident clergyman be sent to the district, but it was ten years before his advice was acted upon. In 1824 Rev. Alex. McIntosh was appointed rector of St. Thomas, having as an out station London Township. Services were held in a building used temporarily as a courthouse, and although often the meetings took place on week days, and people had to drive for miles they were well attended. The first settled minister was Rev. Benjamin Cronyn, who came from Ireland in November, 1832, with his wife and two little children.

A Village of 400.

London at that time was a village of 400 people. Mr. Cronyn was on his way to Adelaide, but tarried and spent a Sunday conducting a service in a farm building. On the earnest solicitation of the inhabitants to remain and minister among them he decided to do so, and took up his residence in the village. He lived here for several years before removing to a new rectory in London Township. St. Paul's Church was built in 1835. That building was destroyed by fire in 1844, but a new one was built next year.

MANY ELGIN CONVERTS TO THE AGREEMENT

Dr. H. H. Miller Meeting With Great Success—Starting Second Series of Meetings.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Aylmer, Sept. 6.—Dr. F. H. Miller has commenced his second series of reciprocity meetings throughout the riding of East Elgin, and as was the cas in the first series, the greatest of enthusiasm prevails. In every case, the attendance has been extremely large, and converts to the cause of reciprocity have been very numerous.

The first meeting was held at Lyons on Monday night. The hall was filled to capacity, and the closest attention was paid to the excellent expanation of the subject given by Dr. Miller. Large numbers were unable to get inside the building. The attitude of Mr. David Marshall, the late member, on the question, is not at all pleasing to the farmers of this district.

The second meeting was at Corinth, and it too was a great gathering. Dr. Miller showed in a most convincing way that reciprocity would be a great benefit to the farmers of Canada.

Mr. Marshall and T. W. Crothers had a meeting at Straffordville on Tuesday night, but it proved to be a frost, although a Conservative stronghold.

The greatest orator on Kettle Creek failed to find the farmers in sympathy with his propaganda, and he is not so outrageous in his opposition to the pact as he was heretofore.

Tonight Dr. Miller will speak at Vienna, and a large crowd is expected.

MANUFACTURERS GAVE SPACES ON BILLBOARDS

Something About the Lurid Posters Which Are Against the Pact.

Manufacturers of Toronto and Montreal are the financiers of the present billboard campaign that seeks to turn the city dweller against reciprocity.

Some time ago application was made for space on the bill-boards controlled by the London Bill Posting Company. The company refused the business because of the fact that all of its space was contracted for.

Immediately the advertising agency which is sending out the literature got busy and succeeded in having a number of manufacturers cancel their contracts for a few weeks, so that the anti-reciprocity posters might be put up.

The posters are being displayed in London, Stratford, St. Thomas and other Western Ontario points.

ENGLISH LABORITES AGAINST CITIZEN ARMY

Big Majority Rejects Proposal for Organization.

[Canadian Press.]

Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Sept. 6.—By half a million votes to 93,000, the Trades Union Congress, now in session here, today rejected the proposal for the organization of a citizen army. The subject was introduced by the London Glass Blowers' Society, in the form of a resolution, as follows:

"This congress, realizing that militarism and the existence of a regular standing army constitute a menace to popular liberty, is of the opinion that the time has arrived for the institution of a real citizen army, free entirely from military law during times of peace, officered entirely by the selection of the rank and file. Such citizen army to be used for defensive purposes only."

Will Thorne, Labor member of Parliament for West Ham, was the principal advocate of the proposition. He declared that if the principle of the right to work bill was granted it must be accompanied either by conscription or by a citizen army; otherwise, if everyone were assured work there would be no army.

Opponents of the measure twitted Mr. Thorne with being a "comrade" of Lord Roberts, who is such an ardent conscriptionist.

The Cunard Liner Cacmania Runs Short of Fuel.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 6.—The Cunard liner Carmania arrived here this morning short of coal. She sent a wireless to her agents that she would require coal. On entering this harbor a slight accident happened to her machinery. She will have to remain here for two or three days. She has 1,300 passengers, some of whom will leave tonight for New York by rail. The Carmania is the largest ship which has ever entered Halifax harbor, with the exception of the Great Eastern. ALL BENEFITED BY AGREEMENT

Mr. McEvoy Makes Point Clear to East London Workmen.

DISPOSES OF HECKLER

Shows How Consumer Gets Worst of the Bargain Under Present Conditions.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy, Liberal candidate for the city of London, addressed the workmen at noon today at the Empire Manufacturing Company's plant in East London. Mr. Stevens, the proprietor, gave Mr. McEvoy permission to speak. Shortly before the meeting Mr. Chester Stevens hung up a card stating that the firm was opposed to reciprocity.

Mr. McEvoy, in his opening remarks dealt with the question of reciprocity from an historic standpoint. He quoted from the various speeches of Sir John A. Macdonald, from 1866 to 1891, showing that the Conservative leader was in favor of reciprocity in natural products.

He also quoted from the London Free Press of Oct. 27, 1900, showing that that journal accepted the position of the Conservative Government of that date. In regard to reciprocity, the Conservative party of that date declared to the United States Government at Washington that if the Americans would open their markets to Canadian farmers, the Government of the Dominion would open their markets to American produce.

Mr. McEvoy quoted statistics to show the prices of farm products in the leading markets in the United States. The figures of the Free Press of Aug. 17, Aug. 19 and Aug. 21, and the Mail and Empire of Aug. 21, showing that in every case the price of meats were lower to the consumer in the United States than in Canada.

Heckler Answered.

"Under this agreement, how is the farmer going to come out, if your arguments are true?" asked Mr. Stevens.

"You see, he is more anxious about the farmer than about you as a consumer," retorted Mr. McEvoy. "I will show you how he will come out."

The Liberal candidate quoted many statistics showing that the farmer of the United States received more for his produce than the Canadian farmer although the cost of the finished article was much less. In the issue of the Mail and Empire of Aug. 21, when the Canadian consumer was paying from 2 to 8 cents a pound more for his meats, the American farmer was receiving $8 10 per hundred for his cattle, while the Canadian farmer was receiving but $6 20.

"The published statement of the dividends of the William Davies Packing Company will show where the consumer gets the worst of the bargain," said Mr. McEvoy. "In a certified report of the dividends of the company, it was shown that the profits amounted to from 20 to 120 per cent. No wonder that both the consumer and the producer both get the worst of the deal."

Mr. McEvoy quoted a letter written by Mr. John McClary in 1896 in which it was stated that the manufacturers of Canada would be ruined if the tariff were tampered with. The Liberal Government did revise the tariff, and instead of bringing ruin, the McClary plant had trebled in the interim.

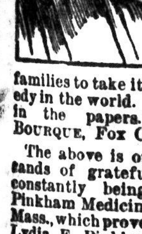

In conclusion Mr. McEvoy gave a short story of an employer who came to one of his men, and informed him that the company was against the platform of a certain candidate. The workingman said nothing, and in a few days the employer again informed the man most emphatically that the firm was opposed to the policy of the candidate mentioned.

"The young man in reply said, "I waited 21 years for this vote," declared Mr. McEvoy. "Now that I have it, I intend to use it for myself. Every workingman in the city of London should work this question out for himself, and make a decision on the merits of the case."

PAVING WORK WILL NOW BE RUSHED BY COMPANY

Street Railway People Have Their Special Work in Readiness.

The street railway company has at last placed in position the switches and lay-out of rails at the corner of Dundas and Ridout streets, and it is now expected that the paving of the company's allowance will be completed in short order.

The Barber Asphalt Company, which some weeks ago came to the city and finished up the resurfacing job as far as possible, will then have an opportunity to place the streets in proper repair.

The street railway ordered the steel for the corner of Dundas and Ridout street months ago, but it was found impossible to secure the special work until a few days ago.

Certain portions of the business streets will, of course, again be torn up for Fair week, but both residents and the exhibition visitors have become accustomed to this.

NOT WORRYING OVER THE CHINESE SITUATION

Secretary of Foreign Missions Doesn't Take a Serious View of It.

Toronto, Sept 7.—When interviewed today regarding the disturbances reported from Chengtu, Rev. Egerton Shore, general secretary for foreign missions, was not disposed to take a serious view. "It is merely a matter of political unrest among them—the Chinese," he said, and has really little to do with the missionaries. The latter will probably take refuge for a time with the foreign legations at Chungking, which is about 500 miles down the river.

"There is a great deal of political unrest in China at the present time," Mr. Shore continued. "It is a part of the evolution of the new civilization."

He then read a dispatch just received from Chengtu, which, after mentioning that the missionaries will take refuge at Chungking, adds: "Think it best to postpone departure of outgoing missionaries."

Mr. Shore, however, in spite of the omnious nature of this dispatch, reiterated his belief that the present disturbance will amount to little, and that there is not much danger to missionaries.

He cited some instances of his own experiences in China, showing the quickness with which political disturbances are quelled there.

Including the Women's Missionary Society, there are about twenty missionary families in Chengtu, and altogether about 150 foreigners.

There are members of the Friends' Society, also some from the China International Inland Mission, as well as the Methodist Episcopal Church, but no Baptists.

The Canadian Methodists work in cooperation with the Baptists of the United States.

PAPER BAGS FOR COOKING

May Be Obtained at the London Advertiser Office.

A NEW, CLEAN METHOD

No Special Oven Is Required—Any Stove Will Do the Cooking.

The growing popularity of paper-bag cooking is proving better than anything else that the experimental stage of the process is past, and the new method is fast becoming a permanent institution in the kitchens of thousands of households. The simplicity of the new process is a point that appeals to every housewife. No special oven is required. The ordinary kitchen stove or range will do. The method is particularly a clean one. There are no dirty and greasy pans to bother with and afford places for microbes to gather. The clean paper bag is at hand, and when used can be thrown into the fire and burnt up.

No Waste.

It not only secures a clean kitchen, but by cooking the food in the bag, the nutritive properties are retained and there is absolutely no waste. It is also claimed for paper-bag cooking that a considerable saving is effected in the use of fuel, inasmuch that it requires so much less time to cook by means of the paper-bag than by the other method. This saving of fuel has been estimated at 40 per cent, and applies to the use of coal, gas or electricity. Little instruction is needed for paper-bag cooking. Anyone can use it, and it is especially adapted for people who have small houses, and employ only a few servants or none at all. Only the ordinary care that must be given to all cooking is required for this new method.

Anything May Be Cooked.

Fish, flesh, game, pastry, etc., may be cooked together in one oven without the use of pans or dishes. A small pound bag will hold a chicken, while the largest size bag handled by The Advertiser is ample for large joints, stews, etc. If the bag, in which the article is being cooked, becomes charred, it makes no difference in the effect upon the food, and in the case of a joint or a stew the bag retains the gravy. When potatoes or other vegetables are cooked the bag retains the water and preserves much of the flavor that is lost in ordinary cooking.

Adds to Flavor.

M. Sover, the chef who originated this novel method of cooking, states that it adds greatly to the flavor of the food; it insures that the essential nutritive elements are not wasted; it does away with the unpleasant smell of cooking which attends the old system; it reduces the shrinkage caused by ordinary cooking; it effects a great saving of labor, as it dispenses with the need for so many utensils; it is more economical, because it requires less time, and, therefore, reduces gas bills. It is pre-eminently clean.

The Ermaline paper cooking bag can be obtained from The London Advertiser.

AMALGAMATION WILL BE RATIFIED TODAY

Ontario Loan and Agricultura Loan Are to Join Hands.

The amalgamation of the Ontario Loan and Debenture Company with the Agricultural Loan and Savings Company will be consummated this afternoon, when there will be a meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Loan, and the question voted on.

A careful canvass of the situation leads to the belief that there will be no opposition whatever to the agreement. Practically all the shareholders are in favor of it, and it would not be surprising if the vote in favor of it is unanimous.

Some weeks ago the shareholders of the Agricultural Loan Company held a meeting, and it was decided to support the amalgatmation on the terms offered. There was sofe opposition, but it was not strong enough to prevent the acceptance of the agreement.

"The Ontario Loan shareholders will ratify the agreement," an official of the company stated to The Advertiser today. "The meeting this afternoon will be largely a matter of form, as there is practically no ovposition to the deal. I think the arrangement is a mutually satisfactory one, and it will be ratified."

CANADIAN CLUB

Fall Season Will Be Inaugurated on Monday Next.

The Canadian Club will inaugurate their fall season on Monday noon next, when the guests of honor will be Archbishop Lloyd of Saskatchewan, and Canon Frederick George Scott, of Quebec. The luncheon will be held in the Masonic Temple.

Archbishop Lloyd achieved considerable fame on account of his connection with the Barr Colony in Saskatchewan. A number of Englishmen were brought to Canada to form a colony, but on their arrival they were left practically stranded. The archbishop heard of their plight, and succeeded in establishing them on homesteads.

THE WESTERN CROP

Enough Binder Twine Needed To Tie World in a Knot.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 6.—With the statement that with ten days' sunshine in the three prairie provinces, $200,000,000 worth of wealth in grain and cattle will be assured to Western Canada, H. L. Haycock, Dominion inspector of binder twine, arrived in the city yesterday. Travelling on the train from Port Arthur to Calgary, Mr. Haycock declares he saw nothing but waving grain turning and about to turn.

"I have been visiting this western country for seven years in succession," he said, "and I have never seen anything like the fields this year. The prospects are dependent now upon weather conditions, but I have no doubt that if the crop is ever harvested the three northwest provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, will turn out at least $200,000,000 worth of wealth in wheat, oats, barley and cattle."

Being the twine inspector, Mr. Haycock naturally sees the great prosperity reflected in the twine industry, and he declared that if the bumper crop materializes in the Northwest, probably 20,000 tons of twine will be used. Figuring with this as a basis he calculated that there would be 3,861,003 miles of twine used, or sufficient to go round the world 154 times. This is enough to tie the whole world in a knot.

HAMILTON HOTEL MAY CHANGE HANDS

Price of the Waldorf Has Been Fixed at $30,000.

Hamilton, Sept. 6.—There is a deal on for the transfer of the business of the Waldorf Hotel, and the outlook today was that it would go through. The prospective purchaser is Harry Barnfield, proprietor of the Strand Hotel, who has secured a five-day option on the big hotel from Robert B. Gardner, the present owner, who is a former resident of London, Ont. The option expires tomorrow, and, as Mr. Gardner has just returned from a fishing trip, the deal will necessarily have to be fixed up in the remaining two days which the option is good for.

The price that has been placed on the Waldorf goodwill and business is said to be $30,000, over double what Mr. Gardner is said to have paid for it about six years ago. The business is in a flourishing condition, and with the rapid expansion of the city is bound to increase still further in value. Those in the know expressed confidence today that the deal would go through as Mr. Barnfield was understood to be satisfied with the price asked.

INJURED MAN THOUGHT DRUNK

Police Had Him Locked in Cell With Fractured Skull.

[Canada Press.]

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Milian Brinzak, a Roumanian, aged 34 years, now lies in Notre Dame Hospital in an unconscious condition with a fractured skull, and will probably die.

Before he reached the hospital, however, the police, following a fight between the victim and Louis Zoborek, a Pole, had locked the unconscious man up in the cells on a charge of drunkenness, and it was not until friends, who had come to offer bail, insisted that the man was injured, that the police called in a doctor. Zoborek, who struck Brinzak with his fist, knocking him to the sidewalk, is held pending developments.

Toronto, Sept. 6.—Professor Charles O. D. Honan, president of the Cincinnati College of Embalming, delivered an address before the delegates of the Canadian Embalmers' Association at this morning's session on "The Blood: Its Ante-mortem and Post-mortem Action." A very large audience was present. This afternoon an address of welcome is to come from a civic representative. On Friday a lecture will be given on casket trimmings, and it is also hoped to have a body on hand for the edification of the delegates, so that the embalming process may be scientifically explained.

Ontario, Cal., Sept. 7.—"Tom," a Hindu laborer, employed in an orange grave here, failed to put in an appearance yesterday, and the only information the foreman could obtain from co-workers was that "Tom, ver seek."

The foreman investigated "Tom's" absence, and was astounded to learn that "Tom" was the mother of a 3-days-old baby, born since the gang quit work Saturday.

The foreman'sd iscovery led to the disclosure that many Hindu women work in men's clothes when they can deceive the foreman. They are nearly as large and strong as the men, and not greatly unlike them in physical appearance.

His decision was made known at a meeting of the Presbytery yesterday. Messrs. Bryant and Johnstone, of Moosejaw, represented the western congregation.

BOTH HOUSES WILL NOT SIT TOGETHER

Synod Defeated a Motion to This Effect Last Night.

DELEGATES WELCOMED

Mayor Beattie Tendered Them the Freedom of the City—A Lengthy Discussion in Cronyn Hall.

At the evening session of the general synod the freedom of the city was tendered to the delegates by Mayor Beattie. In his address of welcome he referred to the large number of leading churchmen who have come from the Diocese of Huron.

The civic welcome was replied to on behalf of the synod by Archdeacon Matheson, and Rev. Pres. Powell, prolocutor of the lower house.

Bishop Morrison, of Duluth, as a representative of the American church was called to the platform.

Mr. F. N. Gisborne, of Ottawa, was re-elected registrar of the lower house.

Chancellor Worrell, of Toronto, asked leave to withdraw a resolution to have both upper and lower houses meet together in one body.

Dr. Hoyle asked that the resolution be laid over, rather than withdrawn.

Mr. Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, favored the withdrawal of the resolution, declaring that he believed in the principle of a second chamber, which added a conserving influence that offered a safeguard against popular surges of emotion or changes of feeling to which a popular assembly like the lower house is liable.

Mr. W. B. Carroll favored laying over the resolution.

Able Men Together.

Judge Fitzgerald, of Charlottetown, expressed the opinion that it would be better for the church as a whole, and for all orders to have the bishops and the lower orders meet together. The trend of modern thought was to bring able men together, and not to segregate them. It would be a retrogression to take the resolution off their books.

Chancellor Conybeare also objected to withdrawing the resolution. It would probably take some time to make the bishops see the matter in a favorable light, and it would be well to keep the matter before the synod for consideration.

Chancellor Davidson, of Montreal, strongly opposed the resolution, and favored its withdrawal.

Mr. John Ransford thought the time had come for some plainness of speech in the matter, but he feared that speech would not be so free and untrammeled on the part of the clergy in the lower house if the bishops were present.

Rev. Canon Murray favored an immediate discussion of the resolution.

Dr. George Frederick Scott, of Quebec, objected to anything which would weaken the house of bishops. The church would be strengthened by strengthening rather than by weakening the upper house.

On a vote being taken the motion to withdraw the resolution, was defeated by 70 to 59 votes.

Chancellor Worrell, failing to secure the withdrawal of his resolution, moved its adoption. A great advantage in expediency and time-saving would be gained, he contended, by the two houses meeting together. In his opinion, in order to facilitate the business of both houses, the lower house ought to urge upon the bishops the adoption of the resolution.

Time Uselessly Consumed.

Dr. J. W. Hoyles seconded the motion for adoption of the resolution. He contended that a great deal of time was uselessly consumed in sending business first to one house and then the other. He was loath to believe that in the presence of the bishops in the lower house, the clergy in the lower house would be restrained in their discussions. He believed the clergy were men of independence.

Mr. W. B. Carroll spoke in favor of the resolution.

Mr. E. G. Henderson opposed it, holding that the separate meeting of the upper house served as a check on unwise and hurried legislation.

Dr. Scott contended that it was desirable for the bishops to view matters from a different standpoint, as they do in the separate chamber.

Dr. Paterson-Smyth favored the resolution and pointed out advantages derived from the single chamber system in the church in Ireland.

Mr. Thomas Mortimore, of Toronto, supported the resolution, claiming that the experience and judgment of the bishops would strengthen the deliberations of the lower house.

Rev. Principal Lloyd, of Saskatoon, thought that the influence of the matured minds of the bishops ought not be lost to the lower house. He contended also that if any comparison was to be made, the lower house was more representative of the church than the upper house. If discussions take place in the upper house not fitting the knowledge of the lower house, it is not a sound practice. If the laity and lower clergy can meet together, why not the higher clergy along with the other orders? As representatives of the church, the members of the lower house were entitled to hear the discussions of the bishops.

Archdeacon Gilmour thought that the presence of the bishops in the lower house would be helpful and inspiring rather than tending towards restraining the utterances of the lower clergy.

Chancellor Davidson strongly opposed the resolution.

Resolution Lost.

Here a resolution to adjourn the discussion and defer the taking of a vote was overwhelmingly defeated. It was pointed out by the prolocutor that a two-thirds vote of each order would be necessary to carry the resolution. On a vote being taken the resolution was lost by the clerical vote, which stood 35 in favor and 33 opposed to the resolution. The lay vote was 31 in support of the resolution, and only 8 against it.

The text of the resolution read:

Moved by the Rev. Canon Welch, seconded by Mr. Chancellor Worrell, and resolved, that in order to secure the adequate discussion of the question of joint sessions of the two houses of this synod, the synod shall consist of two houses, the bishops constituting the upper, and the clergy and laity together the lower house. Both houses shall sit together, but each house shall vote separately, and the upper house may at its discretion consider any matter in private. The sittings of the synod may be in public or in private, as the synod may order. The primate shall preside at all meetings at which he is present. In the absence of the primate one of the other bishops shall be elected to preside.

Nominating Committee.

A nominating committee was appointed, including: Dean Crawford and R. J. Wilson, Nova Scotia; Canon Shreve and Dr. J. Hamilton, Quebec; Archdeacon Cody and Dr. Worrell, Toronto; Dean Schofield and W. G. Tweed, Fredericton; Dean Evans and Dr. Davidson, Montreal; Archdeacon Mackenzie and Charles Jenkins, Diocese of Huron; Dean Eidwell and R. J. Carson, Diocese of Ontario; Rev. C. W. Hedley and Mr. Allen, Algoma; Canon Abbott and Hon. R. Harcourt, Diocese of Niagara; Canon Kittson and F. H. Gisborne, Ottawa; Rev. Canon Murray and J. G. Dagg, Rupert's Land; Archdeacon Renison, Diocese of Moosonee; Rev. E. B Smith and W. J. Bell, Saskatchewan; Archdeacon Robins and Mr. Richardson, Athabasca; Archdeacon Johnson and H. D. Pickett, Qu'Appelle; Dean Paget and Chancellor Conybeare, Calgary; Archdeacon McDonald and Mr. Grisdale, Mackenzie River Diocese; Rev. Mr. Hawksley, Yukon; Rev. Mr. McKim and Mr. Pope, of Keewatin; the Dean of Columbia and Mr. Clark, Diocese of Columbia; Archdeacon Pentreath and M. A. McCreery, of New Westminster; Archdeacon Reer and Chancellor Crease, of the Diocese of Kootenay.

Mr. W. B. Carroll moved a resolution to have the prolocutor appoint a press committee co-operate with the press representatives. A committee was appointed, consisting of Rev. Dr Sage, of London, Mr. John Ransford, Clinton, and Mr. W. B. Carroll, Gananoque.

Interesting Exhibit.

In connection with the meeting of the synod an interesting exhibit of missionary and Sunday school literature is being made in Cronyn Hall by the various missionary societies of the church. The exhibit is in charge of Mr. R. E. Randall and Miss Jolliffe, of Toronto.

HAULTAIN MAKES RIGHT-ABOUT-FACE

He Turns Against Reciprocity After Voting In Its Favor.

Francis, Sask., Sept. 6—"If reciprocity were a much more important matter than I believe it to be if it were very much more valuable to this province, if it were much more good, yes, ten times better, I should still be on the platform speaking on behalf of Mr. Lake and against the Laurier Government. A resolution was brought down in the House, we were called upon to vote for it, and I voted for it, and also made a speech, which is now being sent around as campaign literature by the other side. In a general way I will say that, in common with 90 per cent of the men of this province at this time, I believed that the reciprocity pact was a good thing for the province. If an election had been held, or if a referendum had been taken, on that bare subject, at that time, 90 per cent of the electors would have held up both hands for it. I do not think that 90 per cent will hold up one hand for it now. Reciprocity appeared to me strongly as a western man. I do not know how a man can be a real westerner and be able to say that he absolutely believes in the fiscal policy of Canada. That was the sentiment last March when the resolution came up. I looked upon the pact as it was proposed at that time as a good thing for Saskatchewan. I thought this for two reasons: first, because it seemed at least to be a step towards tariff reform, which every man in the west wants; second, that it opened up, or seemed to open up, what would be a natural market for the people of the west."

Working for Lake.

In these words Mr. F. W. G. Haultain, leader of the Conservative Opposition in Saskatchewan, who several days ago gathered a resolution in the Provincial House indorsing the reciprocity pact, last night, opened his first stump speech in the federal campaign in the interests of Mr. R. S Lake, candidate for Qu'Appelle.

The temper of the audience was not such as is calculated to inspire and warm the heart of a speaker, and judging from the absence of applause or even the average enthusiasm, Mr. Haultain's methods of demonstration were not a great success. He was given a perfectly fair hearing, undoubtedly, but with the exception of a little clapping of hands at the start the address was received in cold and stony silence.

In the course of his speech Mr. Haultain said he had been mistaken in his first estimate of the value of the American market to the Canadian farmers, and he had since learned that so far from the States' export trade decreasing it was increasing. He considered that free trade within the empire would be worth all the reciprocity parts that could be got together.

HILDRETH SELLING OUT

Famous Stable Goes Under the Hammer at New York.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Sept. 7.—Racing men from all sections of the country are in New York today for the auction sale of Sam C. Hildreth's great stable of race horses, twenty-two in number. The superlative quality of this string of thoroughbreds is testified by the fact that during the seasons of 1909 and 1910 they placed their owners at the head of the winning list, with a total of $250,000.

The sale of thes stake holders disperses the greatest lot of thoroughbreds in America. They are the victims, the owner says, of the adverse laws passed against racing in this state. With only a few race courses open to them in the United States, and a small circuit in Canada to race over, Hildreth found that it would not pay to keep them.

Just how much they will bring under the hammer is a matter of conjecture. Fitz Herbert, as an untried stallion, is not worth as much as he was when in his prime as a race horse.

Other notable offerings, with their winnings on the turf, are: King James, $167,546; Novelty, $73,676; Montgomery, $66,020; Joe Madden, $55,765; Firestone, $38,000; Dinna Ken, $28,780; Zeus, $20,565.

DEATH ROLL OF AIR

Two Aviators Killed and One Injured in Germany.

[Canadian Press.]

Mulhausen, Germany, Sept. 7.—Two more names were added to the long roll of persons killed this year in aeroplane accidents.

Lieut. Newmann, a German military aviator, started from this city this morning in the direction of Straasburg, carrying as a passenger M. Lecente, a French aeronaut. The aeroplane hardly had gone fifteen miles when the gasoline tank exploded. The explosion was audible for a distance of several miles.

The machine dropped at Bilzheim from an altitude of sixty feet, and both aviators were instantly killed. Their skulls were broken, and they were frightfully injured about the body.

Lieut. Newmann, who qualified as a pilot last spring, had been detailed to participate in the army manoeuvres which are to be held next week in the Grand Duchy of Baden.

The Frenchman Leconte was an instructor at the aviation school at Mulhausen.

THREE BOYS WERE SENT TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The Lads Were Found Guilty of Breaking Into M. C. R. Car.

At this morning's session of the juvenile court three boys who were arrested last week for breaking into a Michigan Central car and stealing a quantity of olives and other articles, were sent down to the Industrial School at Mimico by P. M. Judd.

The boys have been causing considerable trouble of late, and it was decided that it would be in the interests of all if they were put in the institution, where they could learn a trade. Mr. Michael Heenan, M. C. R. detective, St. Thomas, represented the company.

VERY NARROW ESCAPE ON CLARENCE STREET

Mr. Harry Storey, of The Advertiser, Almost Struck by String of Cars.

Mr. Harry Storey, of 942 Waterloo street, head driver for The Advertiser circulation department, had a remarkably close call from being killed at the Clarence street crossing of the Grand Trunk.

At the present time Mr. Storey is confined to his bed with serious injuries to his back, occasioned by his being struck by the rig he was driving.

Mr. Storey was going south across the tracks, the gates having been raised, when he suddenly heard a shout, and turned just in time to put his horse's head around and prevent the animal being killed, as the cars shot by, within a couple of inches of the animal.

The sudden turn caused the rig to topple over on one side, and the brass railing struck Mr. Storey a heavy blow in the back. He has been laid up ever since and is now under the doctor's care.

EGGS AND DAIRY PRODUCE FEATURES OF THE MARKET

Supply Was Not Large, But the Demand Was Very Keen.

The marked activity of eggs and dairy produce was a prominent feature of the local market today. As high as 24 cents per dozen was asked for eggs by the basket, and butter was steady at 27 cents per pound.

The supply was not large either in butter or eggs.

Hay sold this morning as high as $15 50 per ton, although a few loads brought from $14 to $15 per ton. Straw is greatly in demand at $7 a ton.

Old oats are still worth $1 50 per cwt. for good quality grain. New oats sold yesterday at from $1 25 to $1 32 per cwt.

The fruit market was large and peaches were plentiful. The arrival of Elberta peaches on the market, however, is regarded as a sign that the season is drawing to a close. First-class peaches are worth $1 a basket.

LOOKED OVER LONDON AS INDUSTRIAL SITE

Prominent Englishmen In This City Seeking Information.

Mr. W. Farnsworth, of London, England, and Mr. Charles Hook, of Toronto, were in the city today. Mr. Farnsworth is an engineer and is looking over the Dominion for a proper place to establish a number of manufactures, in which British capital is interested.

They were met by Ald. Mitchell and shown around. They paid particular attention to the price of sites, the number of workmen employed in the city, the different kinds of manufactures here and other matters in connection with the proposition.

No definite announcement was made as to the report they intend to make on London as a manufacturing centre.

"They were evidently impressed with the city," said Ald. Mitchell. "I have not been able to obtain any information as to their intentions, but I am hopeful that something good will come of their visit."

AMERICAN CHURCH

high and holy parentage, and may they earnestly strive to become, if possible, "Matre pulchra filiae pulchriores." In another sense, growing out from daughterhood to the Church of England, and into the relation of sisterhood, they are becoming alike sisters of the loved elder sister of the island home.

In the real depths of a sisterly attachment we come to bid you all hail and godspeed.

Not alone by my feeble pen but by the strong voices of those officially appointed to represent us. I beg to present to you the best wishes and the affectionate greetings and the heartfelt prayers of the general convention of the church in the United States for the health and wealth of the general synod of the Church of England in Canada.

In being permitted to say these things, I beg to assure you that I am to you and to all of the church in British America, your and their loving brother and servant for Christ's sake and the church.

DANIEL SYLVESTER TUTTLE,
Presiding Bishop.
Wequetonsing, Mich., Aug. 12, 1911.

Archbishop Replies.

Archbishop Matheson replied to the address from the American Church in very kindly terms. He would always favor reciprocity in brotherliness and friendship between Canada and the United States.

President Powell and Hon. S. H. Blake also spoke following the address of Mr. Butler, both expressing indebtedness to the American church for the lead it has taken in missionary work.

Mr. S. H. Blake referred especially to the work being done by the American church among the Esquimaux of Alaska. He was proud of the boundary line extending from ocean to ocean, on either side of which not a sentry walked or a fort stood guard, but two nations dwelt side by side in love and friendliness. He expressed great admiration for President Taft.

A vote of thanks was passed to Bishop Morrison for his opening sermon.

The Prayer Book.

A memorial was presented from the diocese of Quebec asking the synod to take no steps in the revision or change of the prayer book, on the ground that the prayer book is a bond of union throughout the empire, which a change in the prayer book might weaken. The memorial was referred to the committee on prayer book revision.

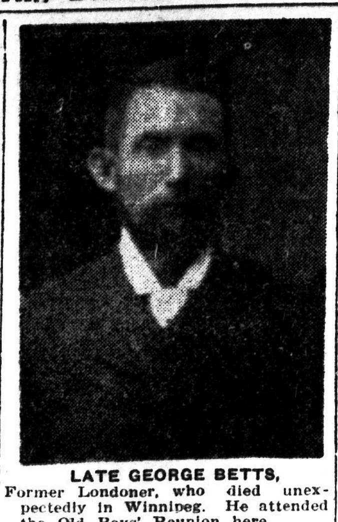

A motion was carried to pay the balance of royalties up to Sept. 7, on the Book of Common Praise to the treasury of the M. S. C. C.

Provision was made for the appointment of a committee to receive visitors on the floor of the house, the committee including Dean Evans, Dean Davis, Chancellor Worrell, and Dr. Hoyles.

In connection with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting Dean Crawford expressed the opinion that the minutes should contain more than merely a bald statement of the transactions of the house.

Business Today.

Among the important business of this afternoon will be the consideration of a motion by the Ven. Archdeacon Ingles re the changing of the name of the Church of England in Canada, and a motion of Judge Ermatinger, of St. Thomas, re the appointment of a standing committee on Church Union to co-operate with other Christian bodies in the furtherance of the common aims and work of the several Christian churches whose doctrines are practically the same.

LATE GEORGE BETTS,
Former Londoner, who died unexpectedly in Winnipeg. He attended the Old Boys' Reunion here.

LOCAL ITEMS

A Quiet Wedding.

A quiet event took place on Thursday, Aug. 31, when Miss Margaret Martin became the wife of Mr. S. Roy Leathorn. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Mgr. Aylward, only the immediate relatives being present, after which a dainty wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride's parents, Kensington street. Amid showers of confetti, hearty cheers and congratulations from their numerous friends, the happy couple left on the evening train for a trip east.

Power Prices.

Hamilton Times: In the schedule of proposed power rates which Engineer Sifton has submitted to the board of control provision is made for a floor space charge of four cents a hundred square feet. There will likely be a kick over this. In London there is no floor space charge, but a flat rate, and some of the aldermen will hold out for the same thing here. Being so much closer to the source of power than London, this city should naturally enjoy an advantage in the matter of lower rates. If there is no necessity for a floor space charge in London there should be none here. In St. Thomas there is strong opposition to the floor space charge. Engineer Sifton declined today to make public his schedule of rates, which, he explains, will not be final until the board passes on it.

ASH PAN WRECKS PERE MARQUETTE TRAIN

Two Coaches Derailed While Express Was Running Rapidly.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Walkerville, Sept. 7.—Pere Marquette special No. 5, which runs between Leamington and Walkerville, was wrecked a short distance east of Walkerville this afternoon, when the ashpan of the engine dropped. The pan went under the wheels of the baggage coach following, and before the train could be stopped both the baggage coach and one day coach had been derailed. The express was going about 20 miles an hour when the accident happened. No one was hurt. The trucks were torn off both of the wrecked coaches.

THOMAS F. M'CARTHY DIED IN WINNIPEG

Well-Known Former Londoner Passed Away Unexpectedly.

Word was received yesterday by Mrs. T. F. Gould, 413 King street, telling of the death of her brother, Mr. Thomas F. McCarthy, at Winnipeg. Mr. McCarthy was a former Londoner, leaving this city about two years ago. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

No particulars as to Mr. McCarthy's death have been received, and the last heard from him he was in good health. He was employed by the T. Eaton Company in Winnipeg at the time of his death. When in London Mr. McCarthy travelled for the shoe firm of Sterling Bros., and was formerly with the London Shoe Company. He was about 42 years of age, and unmarried.

$20,000 SURPLUS FOR CITY COUNCIL

It Is Expected That This Sum Will Be on Right Side of Ledger.

HOW COMMITTEES STAND

Board of Works Has Been Very Economical This Year—Finance Committee Has $5,000 Surplus.

The city council will finish with a surplus this year.

Over two-thirds of the financial year have been completed, and the aldermen have been doing a little bookkeeping to see where they will come out.

From present indications, the surplus will be fairly large. At the present time it can only be approximated, but it is expected that at least there will be $20,000 to the good.

All the committees are well ahead of their appropriations. The board of works will show the largest surplus of any of the committees. Little has been expended this year on roads, and there is now $16,000 to the credit of the committee on this matter. Other funds will also show a surplus.

There will be an overdraft in the street-cleaning department. When the council inaugurated "White Wings" on the pavements or residential streets it was in the nature of an experiment, and the cost will run about $1,000 more than the first estimate.

The street watering account of No. 3 committee will be overdrawn somewhat, owing to the fact that the parks of the city were oiled. However, the committee will break about even.

The Finance Committee.

The finance committee will be well ahead, probably as much as $5,000. They will save $1,000 placed in the estimates for the Old Boys' reunion, and in other ways they will effect a saving. The reception committee will be behind, but the exact amount cannot be determined as yet.

The other spending bodies will be in about the same position as last year. The water commissioners will show an increase in surplus from the waterworks account, and they claim they will have no overdraft from the electrical end.

The hospital trust will not have any surplus to speak of, and the board of health will finish with a clear sheet, unless some epidemic, not dreamed of now, runs the expenditure up unduly.

The council of 1912 should have a good sum of money to begin operations.

LONDON MISSIONARIES

Among the Londoners who are known to be at present in the affected districts are the following: Dr. Wallace and Mrs. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer, Mr. and Mrs. Westaway, Miss Ethel McPherson, of West London, and Mr. Stewart. Miss Sparling, of St. Marys, who went out a year ago, is also known to be in the Chengtu district. Mostly all the Canadian Methodist missionaries in China are gathered in this distrct, although lately a second mission was formed in another part of the province of which Chengtu is the capital, and a few of the missionaries are stationed there. During the Boxer uprising this district was unharmed, and not a Methodist missionary lost a life, although the Presbyterian and other missions in the other districts suffered heavily. The Methodist Mission Compound, in which the foreign population of Chengtu has taken refuge, is the largest compound in that district, and is well constructed. Since the Boxer uprising the Chinese Government have been more alert, and it is thought that they will be able to provide protection to the imperilled missionaries.

LIVE STOCK ENTRIES

Continue To Pour Into the Western Fair.

Entries for live stock in all departments are pouring into the Western Fair office at such a rate that although Secretary Hunt has increased his staff to the limit of the office room it is difficult to keep up with the work. The staff will move out to the grounds on Friday morning early, and the business of the ehibition will be conducted from there until its close. The phone number will be 336 instead of 732. If the weather proves favorable this will without doubt be the most successful exhibition ever held. Exhibitors are busy at work fixing up their exhibits.

Everything will be in readiness when the time of opening comes. The band concert should be well patronized on Saturday night. There will be an admission at the gates, but no other charge. The programme during the week will be carried on with a vim that will keep something doing every minute. Special trains will wait till after the fireworks. Single fare over all railroads in Western Ontario, also special excursion days. All citizens should take an interest in the exhibition, and help to make it a great success.

Excursion to Detroit.

On Saturday, Sept. 9, the Grand Trunk Railway will sell round-trip tickets to Detroit at $1 85. Good going at 11:35 a.m., returning on any regular train (except No. 16) not later than Monday, Sept. 11. Tickets and full information at "Clock Corner."

WORST STORM IN YEARS HITS CHICAGO HARBOR

A Tug Capsized, But the Crew Rescued by Life-Savers.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—One of the most violent storms experienced in many years struck Chicago harbor early today. Between fifteen and twenty launches, motor boats and sloops were caught in the storm. One tug, battling against the giant waves, in an effort to reach the freighter Lagonda and Christopher, lying a mile out, was capsized. Captain McCleavey and his crew of five were rescued by lifesavers.

Several passenger boats due here early today have not been accounted for. Shortly before daylight distress signals were heard from some large boat out in the lake, and the lifesavers have thus far been unable to identify the craft. According to Captain Carland, of the lifesaving service, this was the fiercest storm in twenty years. It abated at daylight.

ONLY THREE TEACHERS LIVE OUTSIDE CITY

And All Are Ladies—The City Loses Eight Dollars a Year.

The city council were after big game when they made a report to the board of education asking that body to take steps to see that the school teachers living outside the city limits should be compelled to pay income tax into the city treasury.

It was thought when the question was first mooted that a considerable number of the teachers lived outside the limits, and that the sum the city would derive from this source would be large.

Upon investigation it was found that only three teachers, young ladies, lived outside.

There was one of the teachers in the Collegiate living in the township, but he moved in some time ago.

The total sum that the city would receive from income tax from these three ladies would be about $8, not a very large sum of money over which to stir up a row.

A Distinguished Delegate.

Among the delegates to the General Synod is Judge Savary, of Annapolis Royal, N. S., who carries the distinction of having been a member of Canada's first Parliament in 1867. Judge Savary was elected by the constituency of Digby, and had the honor of moving the reply to the opening address.

A Presentation.

At the regular monthly meeting of Kensington Sunday school, a very pleasant surprise was given to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wade, when the members of the congregation and choir presented them with two beautiful upholstered chairs as a token of the esteem in which they are held. A short programme, followed by a dainty lunch, brought the pleasant evening to a close, all wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wade every happiness for the future.

Big Advertising Contract.

One of the largest individual advertising contracts ever obtained by a Hamilton newspaper was negotiated by the Spectator with the Thomas C. Watkins, Limited, department store. The terms and prices of the contract were published by the Spectator a few days ago, and call for a full page of the Spectator, to run every day, for three years from the 1st of September, 1911. In the first year, on a total of 756,400 lines, the price is 2¼c per agate line, or $17,019; for the second year the rate is 2⅝c per agate line, amounting to $17,964 50, and the third year, 2½c per line, or $18,910. The Thomas C. Watkins firm thus pay the Spectator for three years' advertising, $53,893 50. Notwithstanding this is one paper's contract, newspaper space is also used in the other Hamilton papers by the Watkins concern.

Prize Chickens.

Mr. Frank C. Dulmage, of Waterloo street, had some of his famous White Rocks at the Toronto fair poultry show, and almost swept the boards winning ten prizes with an entry of twelve birds. He was awarded first, second, third pullets, second, third, fourth cockerels, second, third, fourth cocks, second hen, and the special for best collection.

Dixon's Arrest.

A Hamilton dispatch says: About a week ago the police received a number of complaints about a bogus check artist who was at work in the city. His operations were usually on a large scale and his forging of signatures were of such a high-class nature that a determined effort was made to land him in the tolls. Detective Cameron and Acting Detective Bleakley were detailed to work on the case. After a great deal of strenuous investigating the officers decided to apply for a warrant for a young man named Robert Dixon, 23 Locomotive street. Dixon could not be found, however. Yesterday morning the officers received a tip that their man had shipped some suitcases to London under the name of Gower. The London police were notified to place him under arrest if he attempted to secure them. That he walked into the trap was shown this morning when the London police sent word that they had apprehended the man. An officer will be sent to London to bring Dixon back to face the charge.

W. B. Lawson, boot and shoe merchant, of 198 Dundas street, is clearing out his entire stock of $25,000 worth of boots, shoes and leather goods at the prices the public will pay for it. The sale commenced this morning at 9, and will continue till the whole stock is sold. b

AMERICAN PRICES ARE SOARING

That "Invasion" of Canadian Markets a Phantom.

EVERYTHING AWAY UP

Draft Horses Will Bring $400 to $500 Per Head in Buffalo.

The Toronto Star says: The "American Invasion" is a phantom. The following letter received by Messrs. Beswitherick Bros., live stock dealers, Hagersville, Ont., from a firm of Buffalo dealers is self explanatory and shows what are the actual conditions. The letter has created something of a sensation in Haldimand County, where it has been read on the platform. It is from the Crandall Horse Company, of which H. P. Madden is president and A. D. Cronk, treasurer and general manager.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 25.

Messrs. Beswitherick Bros.,
Hagersville, Ont.:

Dear Sirs,—In reply to your inquiry in regard to the prices of horses on the Buffalo market:

I don't think it would be possible for you to buy horses here that could be sold in Canada to get the money back, to say nothing about the duty.

A good draft horse, weighing from 1,600 to 1,800 pounds would bring on this market, if we could get them, from $400 to $500 per head, and we could sell any number to the New York trade, if they could be bought. They are very scarce, and it is almost impossible to get hold of a top draft horse at any price.

The Ohio feeders are not feeding them this fall, something that has not occurred before in a long time; on account of the high price of feeders, and of hay and corn, etc.

Ohio Hay Poor.

Hay is worth $20 a ton, in the barn in Ohio, and not a good quality at that.

It looks as if corn would bring 65c and oats 50c before they stop.

There is a great shortage of cattle, hogs and all classes of feeders, and the farmers of this country are getting all the money.

I fully believe if the reciprocity bill passes, and I have no doubt that it will in Canada, that you had better get yourselves in condition to ship everything in the line of stock to this country for a time at least.

If I were in your place I would contract grain, horses, cattle, hogs, and everything I could buy in the live stock line to take immediately after the bill passes.

Remember Apples.

I would not overlook apples, as they are going to be high, and scarce. Also potatoes are bringing $1 50 on this market at present.

Now get busy, and if you can contract a lot of stock, to be taken after the bill passes, and want a partner, I would be glad to take an interest with you. I believe it is the time of your life to make a lot of money quick and easy.

If you can get hold of a good farm, that you think will suit me at a fair price, secure it, as I am sure if I did not want to take it myself, I would be able to sell at a good profit.

There will be a great immigration into Canada no doubt.

Now keep this to yourselves, and take advantage of conditions, and let me know what you are doing.

We have had a good and prosperous year, and the boys all want to be remembered to you. With best wishes, I am, yours very truly,

(Signed) A. D. CRONK.

INCARNATE BIBLE INTO ONE'S LIFE

Stirring Address by Dr. Campbell Morgan, Great English Preacher.

ON VISIT TO TORONTO

Speaks in Interests of South American Mission Work.

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Stirring and insistent was the message rung out to the ears of the vast audience thronging Knox Church to the farthermost corner of the gallery last night, as to the place and value of the Bible in the life of the nation. The speaker, Rev. Dr. George Campbell Morgan, the great English Nonconformist divine, held the rapt attention of his hearers for almost an hour with burning eloquence, as he rapidly argued his leading propositions, concluding with an earnest plea for a return on the part of the church to the study of the Word of God, not merely to know it intellectually, but to obey it and to incarnate it in the everyday life of the individual and of the nation.

The occasion of Dr. Morgan's presence in the city was the desire on the part of the board of directors of the newly-formed Evangelical Union of South America, of which he is one, for a personal consultation in Toronto with the North American Council of the Regions Beyond Missionary Union, whose work in Peru and Argentina the new organization is taking over.

Value of the Bible.

"In the midst of the strenuous and remarkable days in which we are living," said Dr. Morgan, "it behooves us to regard the value of the Bible to the great Empire to which we belong, and to the Canadian nation which is in the making. When a country is in the making it is the most fascinating thing in God's world. See to it that in the making this Book is not excluded."

Four values, he urged, in the life of the nation were created by the Bible: it furnishes the moral standards which make for great civilization; it gives that conception of God which has inspired the great philanthropies; it affords that view of the nature of man which has stirred the heart of man to serve and help the bruised, the broken, the unfit among men; and it supplies the only evangel of the forgiveness of sins which is demonstrated true by the results it produces. "These," he said, "are values in the national life which we cannot afford to do without, but which we shall most assuredly lose if we lose the Bible, and which we shall give to every nation to which we give the Bible."

Quotes John Wesley.

Speaking of the emblems on the two great London publishing houses of the Times and the British and Foreign Bible Society, Father Time, with his sickle, and the open Bible, bearing the legend, "The Word of the Lord endureth for ever" Dr. Morgan declared with emphasis that "no man can be a true Christian who fails to read both these things: the daily newspaper, which chronicles the practices of time, and the Divine Library, which contains the principles of eternity." He quoted the words of John Wesley: "I read my newspaper to see how God is governing the world." "But no man can see that if he reads only his newspaper," added the preacher. And he insisted on the truth of the old motto of Glasgow: "Let Glasgow flourish by the preaching of the Word."

Dealing briefly with the evangel of the Word, Dr. Morgan said no man was ever born of God without the movement of the Divine life within him being a missionary movement. "Let reciprocity take you," said he, "as quickly as possible across the United States to Argentina, where nations are in the making. We shall be guilty unless we see that they have the Bible. How is a nation to get the Bible? Print it, publish it; but not that alone; you must incarnate it in your own life to give it to others. When it thus becomes a thing incarnate in the life of the individuals of the nation it becomes a dynamic in the national life. There is nothing more important than that we should know, obey and study this Book."
