Today's Cabinet Meeting Sees Informal Discussion of Election Views.

MINISTERS RETURN

Liberal Ideals Gaining Prestige in the West, Motherwell Reports.

By E. C. BUCHANAN, Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.
Ottawa, July 27.—Members of the government will have an informal discussion of election prospects at the meeting of the cabinet council being held this afternoon. Some of the ministers who have been in various parts of the country have returned to the capital and are ready to report upon conditions as they found them.
There is little likelihood now, however, of a decision being made earlier than a couple of weeks hence.
Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, who has been on the prairies since prorogation, has returned with cheering word as to the prospects of government gains in the west whatever time an election is held. He is convinced, from the canvass he made of the situation in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, that western opinion is turning more toward the Liberal party and the King government.
Duncan Marshall, federal organizer of the Liberal party, is also in the capital today, and is acquainted with the political feeling in various parts of the dominion. Premier King has come down from his summer home at Kingsmere for the cabinet meetings.

Spanish Prisoner Letter Eludes Vigilant Posties

Chafing under the strain of his long prison confinement, the Spanish prisoner who has been chained in his imaginary cell near Madrid, has just made another appeal for help. Miss Olive Fitzgerald, the British street, was today the recipient of one of the famous letters.
The prisoner's appeal has not changed much in the last ten years. He was placed in a dungeon charged with bankruptcy. As a matter of fact, he is anything but bankrupt. In a secret pocket in his portmanteau are two checks payable to bearer. Their value is $260,000. The person who sends him a few thousand dollars to bribe the jailer will be rewarded with a third of the amount.
For years the appeals from this faker have been barred from the mails. Now and then one gets through. The one in question eluded the date stamping machines, as well as the postal workers.

BODY OF GREAT COMMONER LYING IN STATE IN DAYTON

Mrs. Bryan and Friends Invite Public To View Orator's Remains.

TRIBUTES POUR IN "Simple Folk, Simple Funeral," Tells Widow's Aversion to Pomp.

Associated Press Despatch.
Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—The body of William Jennings Bryan, who died suddenly in sleep here late yesterday, will move on a special railroad car from Dayton for Washington at 8:40 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. Bryan announced through her friends today.
Burial of the political and religious leader will be at Arlington National cemetery, New York, at a time to be determined later, it was said. The funeral party, which will include the widow and an escort of Dayton friends, is expected to reach the national capital early Thursday.

Associated Press Despatch.
Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—The body of William Jennings Bryan will lie in state this afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock, while the public will be invited to view the body of the dead political and religious leader, Mrs. Bryan and a council of friends decided today. The place will be the home where Mr. Bryan died, or the Rhea county court house, where he fought his last great battle.
Mrs. Bryan is insistent that the funeral and burial of her husband shall be without ostentation.
"We are simple people, and we want all arrangements simply made," she told a group of Dayton citizens who had asked permission to pay special honors. She declined with expressions of appreciation the offer of a military guard of honor from Dayton, a service man to accompany the body to the place of interment.
"Bring your white clothes; don't bring any black ones," Mrs. Bryan advised her children, with whom she talked over long-distance telephone before they left their homes for the east.
Guard of Counsel.
Members of local counsel for the state in the evolution trial have, at Mrs. Bryan's request, formed a special guard at Dayton citizens. Mrs. Bryan died, and are making all arrangements under the widow's direction. They are S. K. Hicks, Herbert Hicks, Gordon McKenzie and his father, Ben T. McKenzie, and Wallace Haggard. The fallen champion of religious orthodoxy lay this morning in the front window of the Rogers' home, with a silklike covering over his features. A light breeze stirred the covering as a few friends viewed the body.
In the front room across the hall, Mrs. Bryan rested in bed. Her attendants said she slept little if at all during the night, although she lay quietly most of the long hours. The national colors were displayed throughout the town's business portion today lying at half mast in honor of the dead commoner.

Mr. William Skinner was informed that his wife, who had been taken ill some days ago in Windsor, had suffered a turn for the worse. He left Saturday for the Border Cities. Mrs. Skinner died shortly after 5 o'clock this morning following a paralytic stroke.
Besides her husband, Mrs. Skinner is survived by three sons, Harold of this city, Fred of Detroit, and Allan of Los Angeles, and one daughter, Miss Marjorie, at home. Allan Skinner left London recently for California, where he is practicing osteopathy.
The remains will be brought to London this evening. Funeral services will be held at her late home either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Workers Unearth Skeletons On Ridout St., Near Carling

Two skeletons, inclosed in heavy wooden coffins, were unearthed by workmen in a plot of ground at the corner of Ridout and Carling streets in the rear of the O'Callaghan terraces this morning. The excavation reveals a burying ground used at a time when London was a settlement with few inhabitants. The burial is believed to have been made more than 200 years ago.
Charles Medley came upon the coffins when his shovel struck the heavy wood buried in thick clay about three feet below the surface of the ground. One coffin was made of heavy walnut, the other of pine. Both were in well-preserved condition, considering that they had been exposed in wet soil for years. The top pieces of wood bore no marks which would identify the enclosed skeletons.
The terraces were used as a barracks in the year 1860, and it is believed the burials were at that date or before.
One coffin contained the skeleton of an adult and the other the skeleton of a child. The skulls of both are well preserved.

PENSION APPEALS HEARD

Federal Board Meets Here To Deal With Any Complaints of Veterans.

LONDONER IS HEAD

Careful Inquiry Into Every Case Is Made by Visiting Body.

The federal appeal board, representing the department of justice, Ottawa, is in session at the court house today hearing appeals of ex-service men against decisions of the pensions commission, the S. C. R. and the imperial ministry of pensions. Half a dozen cases are scheduled for a hearing during the day.
Naturally these sessions are looked upon as being of a private and personal nature, but in order to demonstrate the methods used by the board and the soldiers' advisors in bringing out all evidence in the cases, The Advertiser was privileged to listen to a typical case at the court house this morning before three members of the appeal board, Major C. B. Topp, S. O. M. G., Capt. G. W. E. Meach, and Dr. H. A. Bowie, all of Ottawa.

History Lacking.
Owing to the fact that his medical history sheet during the war did not show that he had been in hospital, the pensions board did not feel that it had the right to allow George Deane any pension for tubercular trouble, which the latter declares he contracted overseas.
Capt. E. M. Erasmus, soldiers' advisor in this district, and appointed specially by the government to see to it that every veteran should have his case worked up properly, appeared for Deane and gave a concise history of the whole case.
He told the board, under the chairmanship of Major Topp, in the absence of Col. Bell, that Bray had been in London, Ontario, since 1914, and that he had been in the British command's train, William Russell (below), fireman of the train, who also met the field marshal in France.

Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in referring last night to the news of Mr. Bosworth's death in London, following an operation for appendicitis. He was chairman of the Canadian Pacific steamship lines.
"It is common knowledge that Mr. Bosworth was without equal in Canada as a railway traffic officer, and I think this position will be accorded to him as freely by his former employers as by the C. P. R. itself."

William Turnbull and Albert M. Masuret, wholesale grocers of London, are likely to be included in executive positions with the new wholesale grocers of Ontario merger, organization of which is now being completed.

THEIEVING IS COSTLY FOR CITY

Vandalism of Boys Responsible For Heavy Loss to Waterworks and Playgrounds.

FENCES COSTLY

Wire Barrier at New Sewage Disposal Plant Will Cost $1,500.

Loss of several thousands of dollars' worth of useful equipment is suffered by the city of London each year as a result of continued and increasing acts of vandalism and petty thieving. Parks playgrounds, waterworks, sewers and other civic departments are the sufferers.
On Saturday a waterworks department shed near Egerton street was broken into and tools and equipment taken.
"Only the well and the pump are left," declared E. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission. "There is no handle on the pump or it might have been taken, too."
City officials assert that acts of this sort are on the increase, and scarcely a week passes without property destruction. The equipment of playgrounds was the prey of young vandals last autumn on closing day.
Concerted efforts of public-spirited citizens, police officers and city departments are suggested today as the only effective measure to cut down the property loss, which is declared to run into larger figures year by year.

SLUR ON CITY AN 'OVERSIGHT'

Premier Ferguson's Secretary Comments On Omission of City From Booklet.

The fact that London was not mentioned in the tourist vacation booklet issued by the Ontario government was the result of a combination of circumstances, according to Carl Hele, secretary of Premier Ferguson, who had charge of the art work of the publication.
"In the first place," said Mr. Hele over long-distance to The Advertiser this morning, "pictures of London did not arrive in Toronto in time to be included in the booklet. There was some friction between the Southern Ontario highways association and the Blue Water highway association, as the result of which London might have been made the scapegoat, and lastly, there was unfortunate and certainly unintentional, and we are very sorry indeed that it so happened, you can bet your life that London will be in the booklet next year."
Mr. Hele explained that he forwarded a circular letter to the head of each municipality in the province requesting pictures to be sent to be inserted in the booklet, but that in one case was information asked for from the authorities. He added that a number of other centers in the province, including Galt, Kitchener and Hamilton, had complained of the lack of space given to them in the booklet, and that the oversight as regards London was first brought to his attention by Russell T. Kelly, Hamilton, president of the Ontario tourists' association.
Mr. Hele stated that London and entrances thereto, was shown on the map sent out on a separate sheet accompanying the booklet, entitled, "Your Vacation in Ontario, the Lake-land Playground," which was broadcast throughout the northern and central portions of the United States with a view to inducing American tourists to spend their holidays touring in this province.

ALL BUT $800 OF LOOT RESTORED

Friends of Hatheway Active on Behalf of Young Bandit.

The friends of Leslie Hatheway, self-confessed Thorndale bank robber, have not been idle over the week-end. They have secured, it is stated on good authority, all but $800 necessary to make complete restitution to the bank and this will be forthcoming before Magistrate passes sentence on the young man in police court.
J. M. McEvoy, K.C., Hatheway's counsel, was out of the city today, but will be back in time tomorrow to make representations on behalf of his client when he appears in court.
Mrs. Hatheway visited her husband again on Saturday afternoon to report progress in the campaign for restitution and has arranged for a sale of furniture at the house, 90 Windsor avenue, tomorrow. The proceeds it is expected will be more than enough to wipe out the $800 yet needed to pay the bank.
Hatheway still keeps up his cheerful demeanor, jail officials state. The prisoner eats and sleeps well and enjoys reading the magazines friends have sent to him.

Russian Is First White Man To Die Under Laws of China

Associated Press Despatch.
Harbin, July 27.—The first recorded case of an official execution of a white man by Chinese authorities occurred today when the notorious Russian bandit, Korniloff, was put to death by strangulation. His execution was carried out in the most secret fashion. The prisoner was given only a few minutes' notice and was scarcely able to articulate his last wishes. He pleaded desperately to be allowed to make his final appeal to the authorities for mercy.
Korniloff, when first arrested on a civil charge, escaped from the courtroom with the aid of confederates, killing several persons in gaining his liberty. He was later recaptured and sentenced to death Nov. 30, 1923, being the first white man to receive the death penalty in a Chinese court. His appeal was denied on Feb. 25, 1924.

MAY NAME SIMS' SUCCESSOR TODAY

Three Men Are Prominently Mentioned For Board of Education Post.

Every effort will be made by the board of education at a special meeting today to appoint an attendance officer in succession to Marcus M. Sims, who resigned that position several weeks ago.

The board will consider the report of the sub-committee, which selected seven names from the full list of 28 applicants for the post to be further considered by the board as a whole. Miss Dallas F. Radcliffe, assistant attendance officer, was not included by the committee in its preferred list and consequently a battle royal may ensue this afternoon.

The favorites with the committee are Thomas J. Holmes, bank messenger, and Edward G. Wood, clerk at the city hall, with Archie I. Siggins not far behind.

External repairs needed at the central collegiate, pointing of the stone and brick work, will also be considered by the board. It is proposed to make certain repairs to a house owned by the board in the vicinity of Victoria public school, at present occupied as a barber shop, with a view to renting it as a residence on a long-term lease, will be taken up by the board.

Matters pertaining to the East London collegiate may or may not be discussed, according to the time consumed in dealing with the other business coming before the board.

Seized Alcohol For Police Cars

Chief Birrell To Use Rubbing Alcohol in Radiators.

True economy is exercised in London's police court. Confiscated liquor is not disposed of by being emptied in the gutter. Bottles which contain a strong percentage of proof spirits are stored away until the winter months, then to be used as anti-freeze in the motor vehicles of the police department.

Numerous bottles of rubbing alcohol are being kept by Chief of Police Robert Birrell to be poured into radiators at the first sign of cold weather. Should the supply of rubbing alcohol become exhausted before springtime, quantities of synthetic gin will then be used. Both beverages make excellent anti-freeze solutions, the chief declares.

LOWER SCHOOL LISTS RECEIVED

Pupils of London South Collegiate Pass in Number of Subjects.

Results of the departmental examinations for lower school entrance to normal schools for the South London collegiate institute as forwarded to Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., are given below. Nine subjects in all, Canadian history, geography, art, botany, English grammar, physiology, arithmetic, zoology and Latin grammar, constitute the full lower school examination. The first four named subjects are usually taken and written off by the pupils at the end of the first year, while the latter five are regularly written off at the end of the second year.

Thus the number of subjects written on by any individual student varies from one to five, six or more subjects each year. Space does not permit of indicating after each student's name the subjects he or she was successful in passing, and thus the list given below indicates that the candidate was successful in obtaining the necessary standing for admission in an unstated number of subjects. Certificates are being mailed to the students concerned.

He appeared in excellent health, however, and was planning to launch a great campaign this week in behalf of fundamentalism. Mrs. Bryan, who has been an invalid a number of years, bravely braved the shock of her husband's unexpected death. "It is happy that my husband died without suffering and in peace," she said.

Rev. A. E. Pearson and Mr. Thomas, of Andas United church, officiated at the services.

WM. E. WATSON DIES SUDDENLY

Commercial Traveller, Active in City Welfare Drive, Succumbs.

William E. Watson, well-known commercial traveller, died suddenly at his home, 1031 Richmond street, Saturday night.

Mr. Watson was exceptionally well known in Western Ontario, a district in which he had travelled for many years for the Helena Costume Company. He took an active part in the annual welfare drive campaigns in the city in recent years, acting as captain of his team of commercial travellers.

Surviving him are his widow and one daughter, Ruth C. Watson. The funeral will be held from his late home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment is to be made in Woodland cemetery.

OVER 240 ENROLLED IN VACATION SCHOOLS

Superintendent, Miss Young, Delighted With Attendance and Work Accomplished.

Attendance and interest in the daily vacation Bible schools continues to be very gratifying to those in charge of the four different schools in the city.

Entering the third week of the five weeks' course more than 240 boys and girls are enrolled. St. James' Anglican church school had 38, and Wellington street United 35 children. A mothers' meeting held last week in Wellington street church is expected to result in a marked increase in attendance at that school. Miss Mayme Young, superintendent of the schools, is delighted with the attendance and the work being accomplished at the schools, which, in her opinion, have already justified their organization. The interest taken by the parents is considered by Miss Young to express the desire of the parents that their children secure worth-while Bible training as part of their education.

THAMES PARK POOL READY AGAIN TONIGHT

Swimming Tank Has Been Scrubbed and Filled With Fresh Water.

Thames park swimming pool will be back in use again this evening after an overhauling on Saturday. The huge tank was drained of its hundreds of thousands of gallons of water, scrubbed thoroughly, and today is being filled again. Reports from the city health department show different degrees of bacteria content at different times. A recent test by Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, showed evidence of a risky count of colon bacilli, but this was said to be a temporary breakdown of the chlorinating apparatus. Today's overhauling is expected to greatly improve the condition of the pool.

THREE SUNDAY POKER PLAYERS PAY $10 FINES

Three Others Escape as County Officers Swoop Down On Game.

The county police netted 500 in a little game of hide and seek on the north branch of the Thames on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. In other words, the county officers arrested three and lost three prisoners in the bush near Cushing's ice-house.

CLAIMS HE DID NOT SEE VICTIM

That is no excuse for running a man down with your car. There are dozens of motorists in London who should be wearing glasses. A near-sighted person cannot tell whether a car a few feet ahead is moving or standing still, until he is on top of it. If your eyes give the slightest trouble when driving, it is a sign that you should let F. Steele, London's leading optometrist, examine your eyes. Twenty years' experience enables him to guarantee satisfaction with every pair of glasses he supplies. Office opposite Loew's theatre. Adv.

YEAR A RECORD AT SPRINGBANK

Never Before Were So Many Picnics Held There—Top of Hill Used.

This will be a record picnic year at Springbank park judging from the number of outings held so far at that beautiful picnic center. "It appears that there is more demand for reservations at the park this year," Mr. Buchanan said this morning. "But there have only been one or two days when there was so great a demand that reservations had to be carried over. There is an accommodation for 18 to 20 picnics daily at Springbank. The utilities commission have received complaints from picnickers stating that there are not sufficient tables, benches and drinking fountains at the park. Small family picnics have been held on the reservoir hill, but Mr. Buchanan said the commission did not encourage picnics on this spot because of being so near to the reservoir. No action would be taken unless picnics were held there in large numbers.

You Should Determine the State of Your Contemplated Executor's Finances

If THE person or persons you appoint as executors to your estate are not financially responsible, your life's earnings and the future well-being of your family are in grave danger. Even though your contemplated executors are now financially sound, are their assets sufficient to tide them over a prolonged depression or business reverse? Will your estate be illegally used as a support to their undiminished resources, unknown to your heirs? You can be positive of the financial responsibilities of your executors only when you appoint a Trust Company with resources and records such as those pridefully retained by The London & Western Trusts Company.

Next in importance to amassing an estate is the making of a will to insure its careful disposition. A consultation will be welcomed.

Attempting the Impossible.

It plans to go through for the amalgamation of all the unions of British workmen there will be brought under one management the greatest labor autocracy that Britain has ever seen. Under the plan full authority passes into the hands of a comparatively small executive body and all funds of the unions will be placed at its disposal.

The most drastic feature is that this executive will have power to declare a general strike, or to declare a strike by any one union without the members of that union being asked to take a strike vote. That arrangement creates something that is not far short of autocracy. The individual worker ceases entirely to have any point of contact with his employer; he surrenders that to a far greater extent than he does under ordinary union regulations.

There is a very grave possibility of a coal strike in Britain. If it were being managed under the proposed central plan, the executive could order the suspension of train services if it were considered desirable to do so; if it were further desired to tie up industry the men employed in making railway rolling stock could be called out, or a shop making a product used by the railroads could be ordered to suspend work. It is quite probable that in many of these trades there would be no point in dispute between employers and employees; wages might be all right and working conditions fair to the men. Yet when the order came from the executive of the central body to quit work all these favorable conditions would be brushed aside.

Such a plan would probably defeat its own purpose because it would be bad for both employers and employees. Labor unions have taken pride in the fact that they regard a contract made by them as binding. Employers sign these contracts because they recognize in them a definite basis on which to operate and determine costs of production. If a clause were inserted to the effect that the agreement become void if a strike were ordered by some outside organization, no matter if no reason existed for it locally, there would be no more contracts signed.

Too much autocracy in a labor organization is as undesirable as too great a centralization of power in a monarchy, and the common sense of the people will quickly decide when the line has been crossed in either direction.

Betting On the Horses.

During the 1924 racing season a total of $52,600,633 was wagered on horses in Canada. Ontario leads all the other provinces, and the figures in recent years are:

1921	$56,818,594
1922	44,249,242
1923	36,293,856
1924	36,392,027

Four-year total $173,758,819
 The other feature about that figure apart from its size is that it represents an amount greater than the people of this province can afford to bet on horse races. More than that, it by no means represents the entire amount put up. These figures are those bet in the pari-mutuel machines from which the government gets its rake-off and of which record can be kept. They do not include the amounts bet in other ways, which would probably run into millions more.

It is claimed in some quarters that if all the racing sheets that give information on horses were suppressed it would put a crimp in betting on horse races. We doubt it. It might cause some slight falling off, but the real cure is for the person who is starting out to bet the races to take a look around and see what has happened to those who have tried it before. He will find that he is tramping around in a place that looks very much like a poorly-kept graveyard, for the victims are many and those who come to care for their broken fortunes are few.

All For a Drink.

Week-end excursions have turned out to be a profitable undertaking for the New Haven and the New York Central railways, particularly those that make the circuit from New York to Montreal and back. The first trip carried 2,003 persons at $10 per head, and since then the number has been increased.

The railroads, of course, do not label their trains as "booze specials," but that is exactly what they are. These roads operate in a "dry" country, whose government is spending millions of dollars to keep it dry. It would be illegal for them to carry liquor to the people of New York, so they carry the people to the liquor instead.

An 11-hour trip packed into the day coach of an excursion train in order to get a drink, or many of them, and then another 11-hour trip back in the same way seems a questionable way to have a good time, but thousands are doing it, and the railroad companies continue to supply the coaches and rake in the revenue.

The Wall Street Journal, commenting on the new development, says: "Last week these two roads carried so many hot and arid New Yorkers on an education excursion to the famous old Canadian metropolis for $10 a head, and delivered back, that both refused for several days to make public the number of excursionists for fear an envious public might demand excursions every day. The trains were operated on fairly fast schedules, but not as limited trains, and the cars were day coaches, but the eager tourists didn't mind that at all. They returned Sunday night the same way, arriving in New York Monday morning—and minded the trip back even less."

The Offer Still Stands.

Both J. Allen Gilbert of Portland, Ore., and his wife were inclined to believe in spirit manifestation. Before her death in 1917 Mrs. Gilbert promised her husband that she would, if possible, communicate with him under test conditions that they agreed upon in order that he might not be deceived. A password was written, known to them both; this was placed in a safety deposit box, and Mr. Gilbert made a standing offer of $500 to any medium who would bring to him a message from his wife, the only stipulation being that it should contain this password in order that he might know it was genuine.

The Scientific American gives the results from the $500 offer that has been standing now for several years. Mr. Gilbert has received 139 messages purporting to come from his wife, but he is satisfied none of them are genuine, because not one has been characteristic of her, most of them are trivial to the point of being silly, and never at any time has there been anything approaching the password agreed upon before his wife's death.

Mr. Gilbert's offer and the whole arrangement appears fair. If these mediums who make such remarkable claims of communicating with those in the spirit world are genuine, they have here a chance to establish their claims in this case.

A Poor Way To Finance.

Walkerton is preparing to issue debentures for $14,000 to take care of deficits which have been accumulating since 1920. An audit of the town's books, the cost of which was about $1,300, showed that in 1920 the balance was on the wrong side by $821; in 1921, $4,300; 1922, $875; 1923, $3,300; 1924, $5,514. Last year's deficit, it is explained, was largely accounted for by the expenditure of $3,800 which had not been provided for in the estimates.

It is explained that the entire shortages of these five years will be covered by a debenture issue "spread over a term of years so the taxes of the town will not as a result be boosted to any extent this year." That may be so, but if the debentures are for ten years the town will have to pay interest and sinking fund for that period for something that should have been paid up regularly.

A town may now and then be forced to the position where it will face a deficit, but it is difficult to conceive of the same thing being tolerated five years in succession. A deficit from 1920 should certainly have had first place in the estimates for 1921 and so on right through. Walkerton was not well served by those who allowed such a condition to exist and keep on existing.

Note and Comment.

If Loeb and Leopold were crazy why shouldn't Scott be the same?

One advantage of squeaky brakes is that it makes the traffic officer think you are making a supreme effort to be careful.

Johnny Hunter has apparently started a column in his Kincardine Review-Reporter to give advice to young people, for he writes: "A homely face is the best chaperon."

The St. Thomas Times-Journal remarks that "Toronto boys were summoned to the police court for playing ball on Sunday. Their elders, perhaps, were golfing with officials of the court."

New words are continually coming up to claim standing room in the English language. Thus when the dog catcher in Hamilton resigned, it was recorded that the city was dog-catcherless.

Iowa in 1920 had fifty-six bank robberies and losses of $250,000. The bankers armed vigilance committees with 2,289 pistols, 1,200 rifles and 240 sawed-off shotguns. Last year there were six robberies with losses of $2,500. Robbers as a general thing prefer to do all the shooting themselves, but this line-up was too stiff.

In case there are any readers who do not understand exactly what is meant by evolution, we quote Herbert Spencer's famous definition: "Evolution is an integration of matter and a concomitant dissipation of motion, during which process the matter passes from an indefinite, incoherent homogeneity to a definite, coherent heterogeneity, and during which the motion undergoes a parallel transformation." Nuff said!

One of the most notable English divines recently preached a sermon on "Social Sins." They were so clearly enunciated that even their enumeration is a discourse in itself:

1. Politics without work.
2. Pleasure without conscience.
3. Knowledge without character.
4. Industry without morality.
5. Science without humanity.
6. Worship without sacrifice.

In the last ten months 17,000 more common laborers left United States than entered it. Years ago the Greek or Italian went to United States, worked and saved until he could send for his family. Today he finds the quota that can enter from his country filled up for six or seven years to come, so he takes his savings and goes home. The New York World puts it bluntly when, after reviewing the situation, it asks "Who's going to do our dirty work?"

On Evolution

In simple way we prove to you how evolution is not bunk, for once I had a motor car, today I have a pile of junk.

To make things plain for folks to see it's often far the safest plan to illustrate it so it comes as plain as mud to any man. So evolution we'll explain in ways as plain as A, B, C, and put it out upon a plate where all you do is look and see.

Five years ago I bought a car, it was a dandy in its day, it cost me seven brindle cows, ten bags of oats, a load of hay.

And when I drove upon the street the neighbors rushed to see me pass; it was a pleasure in those days to feed it linned oil and gas. For I was driving in a car that purred just like an old tom cat, the same sensation that you get from wearin' out a tall silk hat.

Now that's the lesson number one, I've tried to make that plain to you, and now that we have bought the hack we'll start on lesson number two.

I drove that car ten thousand miles, I made it climb a mountain side, I never paid much heed to what was takin' place beneath its hide. It came quite clear as how that car was not like what she used to be, so now we'll start upon the next, which in this lesson's number three.

When I had gone four years or more a dealer came to me one day, and made an offer unto me to take my rattletrap away.

For when I went to start the thing it roared as though the boiler bust, and when it rolled upon the street it raised an awful cloud of dust. And neighbors laughed as I pulled up and parked beside the corner store—so now we'll turn the page and start upon the lesson number four.

Just yesterday I tried in vain, for all that cart would do was stall, and though I sputtered for an hour the thing it wouldn't go at all.

So those who hold there is no thing like evolution on the map, come gather round 'n my back yard and view my ancient rattletrap. For then no longer you'll declare that evolution is all bunk, for once I had a motor car, today I've got a pile of junk—A.R.K.

St. Thomas Official Promises Stern Action Against Parents in Future.

Special to The Advertiser.
 St. Thomas, July 26.—The practice of allowing young boys to drive motor vehicles must be stopped, it was stated by Magistrate Maxwell, Saturday morning. A Yarmouth farmer paid $10 and costs for allowing his son, under 16 years, to drive his car. Too many young boys and girls are allowed to take their parent's cars to Port Stanley, it was pointed out, and in future, parents will be severely dealt with.

Boon to Farmers.
 Installation of a grain cleaning machine at the Empire Flour Mills, Limited, will enable farmers in this locality to obtain a higher grading on their wheat.

Grain weighing 58 pounds as it comes from the threshing machine will weigh 60 pounds after passing through the new apparatus, and the price received by the farmer will be accordingly be higher. The fee charged by the mill for the service is minimal, and the screenings may be used as chicken feed.

Failed to Pay Fees.
 Coincident with the presence in the city for the first time of a female doctor, a local physician appeared in police court Saturday morning, on the unusual charge of issuing liquor prescriptions without having paid his fees to the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

The charge was withdrawn when the fees and costs were paid. The physician had failed to pay the annual medical fee for the past six years.

The woman government agent, together with a male colleague, is investigating reports of large liquor shipments being unloaded in local railroad yards, it is understood.

Line Nearly Completed.
 Erection of a new hydro-electric line between Sarnia and St. Thomas, is almost completed, and a number of motorists are stopping their cars on the highway towards Talbotville to notice the poles laid three abreast. Five hundred and thirty-seven sets of poles are being used.

Hotel Stock Sold.
 A large block of stock in the proposed hotel at Port Stanley, has been sold by J. Anstey, of Detroit, who is acting for a promotion firm in that city, and erection of the hotel is practically assured, it is understood. The expected expenditure will be about $50,000.

First Apples Appear.
 Apples appeared on the local market for the first time, Saturday, and small quart baskets were selling for five cents. Butternut beans which have also been scarce, were selling for 10 cents a quart.

C. N. R. Clerk Collapses.
 Over-exertion of the heart, due to playing softball and tennis, is regarded as the cause of the fainting of Vale Wimbush, a C.N.R. Wabash clerk, Saturday morning. After Mr. Wimbush had been helped to his feet by two fellow employees, and again collapsed, he was removed to his home, 6 Edward street. He complained of peculiar numbness of the lower limbs, and it was at first feared that he had suffered a stroke. Dr. Porter attended him.

High Wheat Averages.
 Reports of excellent wheat yields in the surrounding country continue. Eight acres on the farm of John McFarlane, South Delaware, showed the remarkable average of fifty-one bushels to the acre. John D. McWilliams, of Dutton, reaped 46 bushels from ten acres. R. D. Hamilton, Aylmer, reports an average of 40 to 44 bushels in that locality.

Many pigeons loosed in this locality by owners living in other cities refuse to go home and are becoming a nuisance. Too often they are mongrels, according to a local fancier, and are not worth feeding.

Gives Organ Recital.
 A short organ recital was given Sunday evening in First United church, following the services, by Stanley Oliver, musical director of St. James' United church in Montreal. The program consisted of strains by Mendelssohn, Bach and Rheinberger.

WOMAN HURT IN CRASH FOLLOWING BLOWOUT
 Thrown Through Windshield of Detroit Car Near Hensall.

Special to The Advertiser.
 Hensall, July 26.—When a front tire blew out, a large Detroit car, one of a party of three which were on their way to London after a day's fishing up north, and which was said to have been travelling at a fast rate of speed, took to the ditch, dashed several rods, and smashed into a telephone pole, breaking it in two places, about half a mile south of Hensall. A young woman occupant of the car was thrown through the windshield and was severely cut about her arms and face.

The telephone wires became tangled in the car and caused the machine to take fire, damaging it to quite an extent.

It was some time before a doctor could be secured, but finally Drs. Hyndman and Dougall of Hensall were brought to the scene of the accident, and the injured woman was removed to the home of John E. McEwen on the London road, where her injuries were attended to.

Three or four other people were in the car at the time but were uninjured. The car was towed into town, and is almost a complete wreck.

"BLIND PIGS" RAIDED.
 Canadian Press Despatch.
 Windsor, July 25.—Twenty-five men were arrested as frequenters of "blind pigs," and 100 cases of beer and a quantity of whiskey seized in a series of raids over the week-end by provincial and city police.

MAGISTRATE WARS ON YOUNG DRIVERS

St. Thomas Official Promises Stern Action Against Parents in Future.

Special to The Advertiser.
 St. Thomas, July 26.—The practice of allowing young boys to drive motor vehicles must be stopped, it was stated by Magistrate Maxwell, Saturday morning. A Yarmouth farmer paid $10 and costs for allowing his son, under 16 years, to drive his car. Too many young boys and girls are allowed to take their parent's cars to Port Stanley, it was pointed out, and in future, parents will be severely dealt with.

Boon to Farmers.
 Installation of a grain cleaning machine at the Empire Flour Mills, Limited, will enable farmers in this locality to obtain a higher grading on their wheat.

Grain weighing 58 pounds as it comes from the threshing machine will weigh 60 pounds after passing through the new apparatus, and the price received by the farmer will be accordingly be higher. The fee charged by the mill for the service is minimal, and the screenings may be used as chicken feed.

Failed to Pay Fees.
 Coincident with the presence in the city for the first time of a female doctor, a local physician appeared in police court Saturday morning, on the unusual charge of issuing liquor prescriptions without having paid his fees to the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

The charge was withdrawn when the fees and costs were paid. The physician had failed to pay the annual medical fee for the past six years.

The woman government agent, together with a male colleague, is investigating reports of large liquor shipments being unloaded in local railroad yards, it is understood.

Line Nearly Completed.

MOTHER ARRIVES TO FIGHT FOR SON

Chicago, July 26.—A friend and an enemy came to Chicago yesterday to help and to fight Russell Scott, twice saved from the gallows within the past ten days, almost at the hour set for his execution. Mrs. Rilla May Scott of Cleveland, mother of the former Canadian financier sentenced to hang for the murder of Joseph Maurer, 15-year-old drug clerk, came to add her help to that of Scott's wife and father, who have worked unremittently four months in his behalf.

At the same time, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, returned from a vacation to take charge of the state's case when Scott is brought into court on a sanity hearing, the latest move to save his life.

Defence attorneys spent the weekend in seeking facts to uphold the contention that Scott has become insane while in jail, a plea that won him a stay of execution from Judge Joseph B. David, four hours before his scheduled hanging Friday. At the insanity hearing on August 3, they will attempt to prove Scott a victim of prison psychosis.

Alienists, including some who testified in the trial of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jun., will be called by the defence. Among these will be Dr. Douglas Singer and Dr. William O. Krohn, who have discussed prison psychosis in their book, "Insanity and the Law."

BALL BATS TO SWING—NO ANVILS WILL RING

Horseshoers and Carriage Workers Will Hold Picnic at Port Stanley.

Horseshoers and carriage workers and their families from London and Western Ontario will hold their annual picnic at Port Stanley next Wednesday, July 29. Instead of anvils ringing, baseball and bats will swing, and a real good time is in store for all who attend this picnic. An excellent program of sports has been arranged to please both young and old, 30 events and handsome prizes. A strong committee has been selected to carry out the details of the program.

Old Rattles Scares Billy Mink Who Wants To Gobble His Babies

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.
 Probably had Billy Mink not stopped to talk with Peter Rabbit he would be likely to have a few painful reminders that he had no business there.
 Leaving Peter Rabbit, Billy swam swiftly the length of the Smiling Pool and a little way down the Laughing Brook below the Smiling Pool. At this point there was a sandy bank. It was a high bank. Billy went ashore at the bottom. He looked up. There, just a little below the top of the bank, was a hole. It was the entrance to the nest of Rattles the Kingfisher. Billy knew because he had seen Rattles and Mrs. Rattles go in and out. Far down the Laughing Brook Billy heard the sharp, rattling voice of Mrs. Kingfisher. Instantly he darted out of sight. In a little bunch of weeds. He saw Mrs. Kingfisher coming just above the water. He saw right away that she had a small fish in her bill. She swung right up and disappeared in that hole.

THE FISH STARTED TO DRINK THAT LIQUOR - IN LESS THAN AN HOUR EVERY FISH IN THE LAKE WAS STEWED TO THE GILLS - A LITTLE MINNOW TOOK JUST ONE SIP AND TRIED TO WHIP A FORTY POUND MUSKEY - YOU SHOULD HAVE HEARD THAT DRUNKEN BUNCH OF BASS SINGING, "HAIL, HAIL, THE GANG'S ALL HERE!" ALL NIGHT LONG THEY DANCED AND STAGGERED AROUND THE LAKE PULLING DOWN PIERS AND TIPPING OVER ROW BOATS - THE SHERIFF WAS CALLED BUT HE COULDN'T DO THING 'TILL HE CALLED OUT THE STATE MILITIA -

WELL, THE NEXT MORNING THEY STARTED TO SOBER UP AND YOU NEVER SAW SUCH A SAD-LOOKING BUNCH OF FISH IN YOUR LIFE - I STARTED TO FISH - I USED CRACKED ICE FOR BAIT AND THEY FOUGHT LIKE TIGERS TO GET HOLD OF IT - BUT IT WAS A GOOD LESSON FOR THEM - WOULD YOU BELIEVE FROM THAT DAY TO THIS NOT A FISH IN THE LAKE HAS DRUNK A DROP OF ANYTHING STRONGER THAN WATER -

RABBITS GIVE UP COATS FOR HATS

Sweaters Are Also Popular For Sportsman Who Shoots.

By ALLEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, July 25.—Coney Island seems to high hat the other summer resorts, but Coney Island is the source of supply of most of the American beaver hats because of its innumerable rabbits. The very latest small sport hat is also of coney, or rabbit skin, but its sponsors have the affrontery to claim it is produced from the skins of Angora rabbits. Danbury, Conn., and Orange, N. J., are far from Angora, but the hats are right at hand.

When a girl nowadays says shoot, she may really mean it. For scores of women are taking up trap shooting. It is one of the few sports for which women still wear sweaters. The trap shots, tight wristbands and an Eton collar, tight wristbands and a leather pad covering the right arm, are the outfit.

BIBLE SCHOOLS AGAIN HAVE SPLENDID AVERAGE

The various vacation Bible schools being held in the city have been most successfully carried on during the past weeks, and last week brought, once more, a splendid average in attendance. St. James' Anglican headed the list with 95 per cent, while Egerton street Baptist had 75 per cent and Wellington United 38 per cent.

Mothers Are Also Taking Enthusiastic Interest in Work.

Mothers are also enjoying the vacation schools. Recently a most enthusiastic meeting of interested women met in the Wellington United church and discussed the work being done. They were delighted with the success and praised both leaders and children in their interest.

Rev. Mr. Hilbert, the new pastor of the church, was highly commended for his interest in the system by Mrs. Morris, who spoke briefly on the encouragement Mr. Hilbert had given the mothers after a recent prayer meeting in the church.

The afternoon was varied in its program. Mrs. D. A. McKay sang delightfully. Miss Douglas told of her daily program, which is being enthusiastically taken up by the children. Miss Mamie Young, in a short address, told of a little church in which was instituted interest in the children. From this the present vacation schools have been worked up to its present success.

Closing the afternoon was a cup of tea, over which the guests chatted informally on the "table." Mrs. F. B. Gorwill poured out tea. So greatly was the afternoon enjoyed that the mothers are more than willing to have another session, at which time they will supply the afternoon tea instead of the instructresses of the schools.

NO BURNS OR SCOTT HAD KNOX NOT LIVED

Continuing his study of leaders of Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches, Rev. C. S. Miller, M.A., B.D., Beecher United church, chose John Knox, "the champion of Protestantism in Scotland," as his subject yesterday morning.

Pointing to the fact that Carlyle has placed Knox as the peer of all Scotchmen, Mr. Miller observed that had it not been for Knox, there probably would not have been a Robert Burns or a Sir Walter Scott. He commented on Knox's steadfastness of principle in the face of great physical hardships, and declared him to have been just the type of man his age and ages since needed. John Knox, Mr. Miller affirmed, lived full of faith in God, and so he died full of trust and peace.

Women Who Scorn Housework and Pity the Girls Who Work in Offices Fail to See Who Are Happiest Women on Earth.

Why do we hold to the theory that work is a blessing to men, but a curse to women?

We know beyond all questioning that the necessity of earning his bread by the sweat of his brow was the consolation prize that Adam was handed along with his eviction papers when he was turned out of Eden.

We know that the only happy man is the busy man. We know that only in constructive labor does a man find an interest that never palls and a game in which there is a perpetual thrill. We know that work is the greatest antidote for sorrow and the best protection against temptation.

We know that a Stevenson says, "if a man loves the labor of any trade apart from any question of success or fame, the gods have called him, and he is of all men most enviable."

So manifold are the benefits that men derive from work, so salutary are its effects upon them, that we have a contempt for the idle, purposeless man and feel that, no matter how much money he has, he has no right to spend his life in loafing.

We are eager to get our boys to work so that their restless young energy may find a legitimate outlet, instead of being employed in devising new forms of dissipation, for the young man must have something to do, and if he isn't bending his back in honest farming he will be breaking his neck in sowing a wild-oats crop.

Our attitude, however, toward women and work is diametrically opposite. We do not regard work as a good thing for women. On the contrary, we consider it a misfortune for a woman to have to work. We have even coined a phrase for it and speak of the woman who must earn her own living as a "poor working woman."

Worse still, the woman who works pities herself. The mother whose daughters go down to business every morning bewails their fate and feels that destiny has dealt most unkindly by them.

WEDDINGS

HOWITT-CROWLEY. St. Mary's church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, when Miss Mary Crowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Crowley, Horton street, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Roy Howitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Howitt of Newmarket. The Rev. Father Chisholm officiated in the presence of only the immediate friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of honeydew crepe de chine, a large white crepe hat and shower bouquet of sunset roses and baby's breath. Miss Eva Murphy attended her as bridesmaid, wearing a pretty frock of mauve georgette, large white crepe hat and pink roses. Mr. Thomas Crowley, jun., attended the groom. The church was effectively decorated for the occasion with gladioli, roses, carnations and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony the party retired to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding breakfast was served. Here again gladioli, roses, carnations and sweet peas were used with pretty effect. Later Mr. and Mrs. Howitt left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto, the bride travelling in a smart ensemble of olive green, with small white hat. On their return they will reside on Rectory street, this city.

STARVED HEARTS

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

CHAPTER XXV. The Wedding Day.

In response to Chandler's urging, Madelon set the following Wednesday for their wedding day. It would still leave them a few days leeway before the arrival of Stephen Lane. Chandler seemed more anxious than Madelon to have the marriage performed before Lane could enter his objection. He planned to motor on to Los Angeles to a church of Madelon's faith. Chandler confessed himself indifferent in the matter of religion; that he was an agnostic.

Rather tentatively, Madelon acquainted Barbara with their plans, and asked her to accompany them. She wanted Barbara's presence desperately, but did not wish to involve her in any way which might later bring upon her the wrath of Stephen Lane. Barbara, however, laughed away her fears.

"Of course, I'll go with you. I wouldn't desert you at this time for the world. I'm not such a slave to Stephen's will as all that. And I hope I'm not a coward."

She was sitting on the floor before a gaudy trunk, laying into it carefully folded chiffons and silks. Suddenly she stopped and dropped a heap of rosy gauze into her lap.

"How I shall have to go back without you! You've brought me youth and laughter again. I've learned to live, since you came. 'Never mind,' Madelon dropped a kiss on the soft, dark hair. 'We'll make Uncle Stephen let you come to visit me in Hawaii. As a married man, and he won't dare boss me, I'll sic my husband on him.' She declared, with a flash of mischief, 'I'll tell him that you and Ann in my own home!'

Her face darkened suddenly. "Home," she repeated, "why? I haven't thought that since the day Julian and I—"

She broke off and went quickly into her own room and closed the door. She had not thought of her companionately. She was so young to find her life in such a muddle.

Strongly Barbara doubted the wisdom of Madelon's means of escape. How little she knew of Chandler after all! True, he seemed charming enough, but might he not later exhibit some unexpected traits which were as bad, or worse, than Stephen Lane's tyranny?

Barbara was beginning to think of her husband in a new light. Madelon's suggestion that behind that stern mask might lie a deep and abiding loneliness, a hunger for companionship mingled with her. Suppose she should try with tender fingers to find a weak point in that icy reserve? Suppose she should eventually break through, and discover a warm, yearning heart beneath?

It was spring now at home, late April, and the forsythia would be blossoming on the terraces, and the lilacs and early roses in the garden. She would have to open all the windows to their fragrance. Wherever possible, she would dispense with heavy silks and tapestries and let in the sunlight, she wanted to see light, crisp curtains fluttering in the warm spring wind.

It was many months now since she and Madelon had parted, except for a few things would be different. Perhaps Lane himself had changed. Certainly, she herself had. She felt the well and strong, alert and buoyant thought of Duane Farley, she believed that she might find contentment, if she could win Lane from his isolation.

Sitting there, before her opened trunk, she made a vow with herself to try as she had never tried before. Madelon's wedding day was all that the most hopeful bride could desire. She awoke to a cloudless sky, sparkling over her with a laden breath of flowers.

She was very young and lovely in some leisure labor that they haven't leisure in which to consider whether they are satisfied or not.

Mother "poor Marys" and "poor Sallys" her daughters who have to earn their living, but nowhere else will you see healthier, happier girls than you find holding down good jobs in stores and offices. Nine times out of ten the girl behind the counter is brighter, more alert and finds life a far more exciting proposition than does her purposeless idle sister before the counter.

Nor is the domestic woman who has to do her own housework entitled to shed any tears of self-pity on our necks. There is no more reason why a husky young woman shouldn't do her share of the work of the domestic partnership than there is why her husband should not do his. It is no more of a hardship for her to have to work than it is for him and many with empty hands that she for occupation will tell you that her happiest days were the busy, crowded ones when she got up at 5 o'clock to cook her husband's breakfast and sat up until 11 o'clock washing and patching his clothes so that he could make a decent appearance next day.

It is a significant fact that the women who fill sanatoriums and enrich nerve specialists are not the overworked, hard-driven wives and mothers. They are the middle-aged and elderly women, who have nothing to do but to canvass their systems for symptoms of every disease they read about in the magazines.

Let us hope that the time will soon come when we will have enough intelligence to perceive that work is a woman's salvation even as it is a man's, and when we will congratulate the woman with a job instead of pitying her. DOROTHY DIX.

W. I. MAY HAVE SECTION AT FAIR

Arrangements Are Being Discussed For This Entry—Suggestions Offered.

The central W. I. organization of Western Ontario and the Western Fair board are considering an interesting entry for this year's exhibition. A women's institute section is a possibility at the Western Fair.

For a number of years the women's institutes of Canada have had a special and important place at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. So far, however, the Western Ontario division of this dominion-wide organization has had no particular place at the Western Ontario Fair, which is held each year in this city.

It has been proposed that a reserved section at the fair be occupied by the institutes, and that a daily program be organized by this organization. As yet the plans are tentative only. Mrs. George Edwards of Kincora, provincial vice-president, suggests a series of addresses and demonstrations. The former might be given by leading women of the city or province on

DOZERS NOT ALONE IN THEIR SLEEPINGS

If Working Late Keeps You Away From Church, Don't Work.

People who doze in church and then wake up shamefacedly are not according to Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, M.A., B.D., preaching in Ridout street United church last night, the only people who sleep in church. There are dozens and hundreds of Christians who are not awake, affirmed Mr. Thomson, in urging upon his hearers the importance of awakening to their full responsibilities.

Mr. Thomson advised that sermons "ordinarily should be brief, bright and brotherly," for if they are otherwise, the preacher either does himself out or does his congregation out, and they may not return. The speaker, while urging that the church be made as comfortable as possible day or night, summer or winter, sharply criticized people for being willing to smother or perspire in the theatre or the dance hall when they grumble over the church being too hot or too cold.

"If a man can work till 12 o'clock Saturday night and get up to go to church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock," declared Mr. Thomson, "then he has no business to work until 12 o'clock, or till 10 o'clock, or until 8 o'clock. In my candid judgment any man who works so hard or so late on Saturday night that he can not go to church on Sunday is breaking the Sabbath day."

Favors Recreation.

"And just so with pleasure," continued the preacher, "young folks have no right to go to the concert or the theatre on Saturday night as not to have the desire or the ability to go to church on Sunday morning. Fun that does not recreate is dissipation, whether it be ordinary condemned or not. Pleasure that takes out and destroys is not recreation, but dissipation and destruction, and that fact makes a sin."

"It is not always a poor sermon that puts people to sleep. An expectant hearer is absolutely necessary to a good sermon. If some men were to get up in church and give all the latest accounts of some futile battle between Fitzsimmons and Corbett, though of course they are gone now, perhaps not so many people would go to sleep. The might of sin is here, and we are losing great fights we should have won. We lost the last fight for prohibition not because the people were against the O. T. A., but because we folded our arms and stood believing that we were none of our particular responsibility."

Somnambulists.

"We have somnambulists by the score," concluded Mr. Thomson, "who will never wake up to the fact that they touch the church of their death. We must awake to the fact of life, to the fact of our responsibilities and duties, to the fact of sin and its terrific consequences, but that Christ has invited us to be saved; to the fact that manhood was not made to be frittered away, but to tell for the general good in which we live, and to the fact that righteousness, and nothing else, counts in God's world."

PENSION BOARD HEARS APPEALS

passed a life insurance examination three months prior to his enlistment in the 1st battalion, 1915. In 1916 Bray had contracted pleurisy in France, and been sent to hospital. Despite the fact that his medical sheet did not show this, Capt. Fremlin backed up this statement with documentary evidence from Bray's officers in the battalion, who remembered the matter.

From that time on Bray had a continuous cold, and was transferred to the railway battalion because he was not fit for front line fighting, Capt. Fremlin declared.

Board Interested.

In 1919, Bray was discharged and worked for several farmers in the Isle of Jersey. His condition at this time was bad and he had to give up work on the farm. Sworn documents from these employers were read by Capt. Fremlin and listened to with great attention by the board members.

Bray then came back to Canada and worked for farmers near St. Catharines, and was examined by several doctors. The jobs he held were traced carefully by the board's advisers until the time Bray was admitted to the Byron sanatorium in 1922 as a city patient.

Questions were asked by all the members of the board from time to time and were answered by Capt. Fremlin and Bray, who was present at the sittings held in the courthouse. Bray's medical history sheet at the Byron sanatorium showed that he was in an advanced state of tuberculosis when he was admitted to that institution.

Case Summed Up.

Capt. Fremlin summed up the case concisely and presented the board with carbon copies of all the evidence he had been able to gather. A spectator could hardly leave the courtroom without feeling that if any mistakes had been inadvertently made by the pension board, the federal appeal board, aided by evidence gathered by the soldiers' advisers, would rectify those mistakes and give the veterans the liberal government under Hon. Mackenzie King.

COMPENSATION ACT PROVES BENEFICIAL TO THOUSANDS

Safety Movement Not Theory, R. B. Morley Demonstrates in Rotary Talk.

MILLIONS PAID OUT

"The safety movement is not a theory," declared R. B. Morley, Toronto, head of the industrial accident prevention association, speaking before the Rotary club today at noon. "It is a crusade, and there is no plane on which employer and employee can get together so well as in connection with the problem of accident prevention, because they are both keenly interested in it."

"When the workmen's compensation act was first thought of ten years ago," said Mr. Morley in beginning a most informative address, "it was thought that it would prove a great mistake. On the contrary it has proved beneficial to literally hundreds of thousands of injured workmen. The act has avoided litigation as between employer and employee, and has guaranteed prompt payment of damages to incapacitated workmen. In paying 66.66 per cent of the average earnings of the individual up to $2,000 per annum, the Ontario workmen's compensation act makes the most generous provision of any act of its kind in the world. Provision is also made for permanent disability, and for death, by way of pensions to widows and dependent children. To meet the demands of this latter phase of the act, the compensation board has built up a pension fund amounting to more than $12,000,000."

Employers Assessed.

"The compensation board is maintained by employers' assessments," continued Mr. Morley, "and these vary from 5 cents per $100 pay roll to $10 per $100 pay roll, according to the hazards of the industry, slightly over 80 per cent of the employers of the province paid in excess of $100 assessment last year.

Accidents to All.

"During the past ten years 442,002 accidents have occurred to the 460,000 employees under the compensation act," concluded Mr. Morley, "which means that every employee was injured once in the ten years. During the same period there were 2,953 deaths. Last year there were 57,732 accidents, with 402 deaths. Of the accidents reported to the board in the last ten years the average cost has been $100, with the total of damages awarded to injured and disabled workmen amounting to $16,000,000, including also pensions to dependents."

SUMMER COURSES AT WESTERN NEAR END

The summer is over. That is, as far as the students of the summer school at the University of Western Ontario are concerned. Since June 23 they have been studying during the mornings and afternoons. In the evening they have had their social engagements. On Friday the last social event of the season takes place. This is just a matter of examinations and packing up. Aug. 8 is the day set for the close of the school. On Friday night more than 100 students and members of the faculty will go down to the banks of the Thames, where they will have a bonfire, a marshmallow roast, coffee and pie. It is expected that all students will be present. Dr. H. R. Kingston, director of the summer school, is in charge.

A particularly shady bower on the north branch of the Thames, near the old Cushing ice house, known to county police as "Hobo Paradise," is deserted today. Last night there was a holow revelry, but today there is a holo silence. The seven owners are still together, however, and will grow on beef bones instead of chicken bones for the next thirty days in the Middlesex county jail, as the result of an early morning raid on a warrant sworn out by G. E. Bray, Tampa realtor, who said he endorsed the draft and later had to make it good.
