LORD SALISBURY'S END.

ALE BRITAIN MOURNS FOR THE LATE PREMIER.

London, Aug. 24.-Lord Salisbury died peacefully at 9.05 p.m. Saturday. For 48 hours it was seen that the end was inevitable. Even the administration of oxygen failed of effect this evening. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the former Premier turned slightly towards his favorite daughter, Lady Gwendoline Cecil, who was kneeling beside him, and then quietly breathed his last. All the members of his Lord-

The village of Hatfield, which still retains many features of the feudal period, was filled with anxious residents, awaiting the news of Lord Salisbury's mvaluable services to Queen Victoria, to the King, and his country in the highest offices of State, which he held for so many years, will ever dwell in the memory of his fellow-countrymen."

Messages of condolence are pouring in at Hatfield House. The senders include King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Queen of Portugal and President Loubet. Touching references were made to the dead statesman in the pulpits of almost all the churches in the United Kingdom. There were many visitors to the village of Hatfield to-day. The parish church was crowded this morning, the worshippers including Premier Balfour, the Earl and Countess of Selborne, the Marquis' sons and members of his family and household. The funeral has been provisionally fixed for the end of this week to enable Lord Edward Cecil, who is on his way home from Egypt, to assist.

errible Leamington Fatality Other Narrow Escapes
The Cause.

Leamington, Aug. 24.—A terrible act ident occurred here Saturday at No. 2 oil well, owned by the Leamington Oil Company. White making preparations for shooting the well a premature explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred, and two men were blown to atoms. The dead are Wm. Booth, and atoms. The dead are Wm. Booth, and expert from Petrolea, and Miller Kennedy, a driller, from Kingsville. The cause of the explosion has not yet been ascertained, but it is thought that the can slipped out of the expert's hand. They had lowered a quart of the mitro-glycerine to the bottom of the well, and were in the act of placing twenty quarts more when it exploded. The derrick was blown to pieces and a hole 15 feet square and ao feet deep torn up around the well. Pieces of the derrick and casing were blown for twenty rods in every direction. There were some very narrow escapes. Ed. Winters, one of the principal stockholders and promoters of the company, only left the well about a minute before the explosion occurred, and was only a rod or so away at the time. His escaping the falling timbers is miraculous. The other directors arrived on a special from Detroit a short time after the accident happened. The dead are Wm. Booth, and

"The amount of paved streets we have in Chatham or will have within the next two months, will surprise great many people," remarked one of Chatham's most prominent citizens to The Planet this morning. "I wast surprised myself. I took a notion to measure it off yesterday and when I had finished found that by the end of October Chatham will have four and one-half miles of pavement. This includes the asphalt block of King screet west, bitulithic of Queen street, block pavements and brick."

The ex-Premier, though retired from political life, was an important figure in many public ways. He was Warden of the Cinque Ports, High Steward of Westminster, and Chancellor of Oxford University. His death places an Order of Knight of the Garter at the disposal of King Edward.

London, Aug. 24.—King Edward's tribute to the deceased Marquis of Salisbury is given in the Court Circular, dated Marienbad, Sunday. It runs as follows:—"The King has received with profound regret the news of the death of the Marquis of Salisbury, and his Majesty deeply deplores the loss of so great a statesman. whose in the Bank of Commerce, and Harold Mackenzie, another clerk, staying with him in that bank, the deceased young men called at their rooms about 8,30. Later on Maddock proposed going up the river to visit one of the camps at Victoria Park, and return early next morning. The four agreed, and supplied themselves with blankets. They started out about 10'clock in two canoes, Mackenzie and Beck in one and Maddock and Bradley in the other. After proceeding up the river about a mile, Mackenzie and Beck leading about forty yards, they heard a splash and asked if all was right. Immediately after they heard Maddock cry out for help, and say, "We are not, we are not." On hearing this Mackenzie and himself jumped overboard and swam to where the others were. They saw them struggling in the water, and before they could reach the upturned canoe one of the men had disappeared. They could see one head above the water a short distance from the canoe, but before they reached him he disappeared. They searched around, but could see no trace of them again.

MONDAY, AUGUST 24, 1903. SUPPORTS MR. SORDEN

The Tribune says editorially :- "In reports to hand from Ottawa, Mr. Sifton represents the Tribune as having endorsed the Grand Trunk Patafic's project for a new line across Canada. He knows very well that the Tribune never, by inference or otherwise, favored such a rascally project as that proposed by the Government Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservatives, has joined the 'Extend-the-Intercolonial' party in Canada. It num bers thousands of old-time Leberals · in Canada, and the hosts of Independents who make and unmake Governments. There is simply no comparison between the proposition of Mr. Borden and the one now being jammed through the House by the Government. Mr. Borden's policy, so far as the railway problem from Winmipeg to the Atlantic is concerned, will, we are sure, commend itself to the people. It means the entry of the Intercolonial into Winnipeg. It means the extension of the Grand Trunk, if that road is anxious to enther the west. It means an outlet for the produce of the country through matural channels. It means that the Canadian people will not be handed over in bondage to a private railway corporation for the next fifty years for more. And among many other things, it means the saving of millions of money.' (The Tribune supported the Liberals at the last general election.)

The streets are full of "Come on in!" men, good fellows, good business men, careful living men, who have no desire to drink, but who labor under the delusion that other men are dry and that they are doing the genial thing when they "treat." Every man knows how great the evil is, what a nuisance the practice has become, but the average man feels too busy to make of himself a social reformer. Moreover, he doesn't want to be considered a "crank."

> THAT FLAG INCIDENT. Belleville Incelligencer.

It is a pity that the incdient occurred, but as it did occur, it may as well be used to point its own moral, which weems to be that Canadian vessels, when in Canadian waters, should be satisfied with the British flag, which either in beauty or glorious tradition, takes second place for none. United State vessels, when here on a visit of course, have the legal and moral right to fly their own flag, and it will never be molested in these wat ers, or any other waters in Canada Canadians are neither chumps nor churls, but it will be time enough for Canadian vessel owners to run up Old Glory on their flag | poles when our neighbors across the line show willingness to reciprocate, something they decidedly do not at present.

CONGRESS OF COMMERCE.

Passes Many Resolutions at the Closing Session.

Montreal, Aug. 22. — A busy morning's work in clearing the slate, ending with a sheaf of votes of thanks, concluded the empire's most noteworthy Commercial Congress shortly after noon yesterday. The closing hours were marked by the transaction of a great au-ount of business, touching a wide range of subjects and followwide range of subjects and following the important deliberations of earlier days. The delegates depart from Montreal with every feeling of satisfaction. Throughout the meeting the keynote has been: Strengthen the ties of the empire. This idea has been advanced by Britain's subjects from every party of His Majesty's dominions, but the strength that the holdest it was noteworthy that the boldest notes were struck by the representa-tives of Canada and from other colonies who have met the competition o the great industrial powers of the world and have learned to beat them at their own game in the battle for supremacy. The discussions and resolutions reveal and a desire to promote the empire's welfare, and the expressions of opinion from such an influential body of men must have great weight in moulding and consolidating British sentiment.

Yesterday's business included resolutions asking for an inquiry into the un-tions asking for an inquiry into the un satisfactory state of the trade marks regulations throughout the empire. Other resolutions favored the assimilation of the patent laws throughout the empire, codification of at least one branch of commercial law before next meeting, protesting against the British embargo on Canadian cattle, favoring a State-owned telegraph service gird-ling the empire, tavoring the promotion of commercial educaton, advocating the establishment of conciliation boards for the settlement of trades' disputes, also demanding the passage of a bankruptcy law in Canada. The Liverpool resolution on com-The Liverpool resolution on commercial education was accepted as an expression of their views on this subject and those from Belleville and Vancouver were dropped. Mr. Charles Lancaster of Liverpool moved, and Mr. H. Bell Irving of Vancouver seconded the resolution in excellent speeches, and after several addresses in its support it was carried as follows:—

"That this Congress is of the opinion that the utmost effort should be made throughout the empire to encourage and furnish facilities for commercial education as a branch of technical and scientific study and that the mercial education as a branch of techni-cal and scientific study and that the home and colonial Governments be ask-ed to give special grants in aid thereof, and, further, the Congress is of opinion that Chambers of Commerce should be represented on Boards of Education, in order to advance the interest of commercial education."

The opinion of the congress on trades disputes was expressed in a compromise resolution as follows:—Moyed by Mr. S. B. Boulton of London, and seconded by Mr. Bell Irving of Vancouver:—"It is resolved that the strained relations physically existing between couver:—'It is resolved that the strain-ed relations physically existing between capital and labor demand legislative ac-tion throughout the empire for the purpose of preventing strikes and lock-outs, which are disastrous to the in-terests of employers and employees, and to the whole country, and that this congress is of opinion that legislative action should include the giving of sanction and encouragement to the pro-motion of voluntary conciliation motion of voluntary conciliation boards, which have achieved a great measure of success in Great Britain, and further, that labor unions and mas-ters' trades associations in all cases be incorporated and registered."

ABOUT THE NEW POPE

A GREAT PREACHER AND REMARK-ABLE ADMINISTRATOR.

Policy of Pius K. Gives Cause for Some Speculation—A Compromise Candidate Who Represents All Parties—F. Marien Crawford and Maud Howe Throw Some Light on the Question-A Brisk Blaze.

"Who enters the conclave as Pope leaves it as cardinal," is the old saying, born of long observation. Its truth has seldom been more striking-ly illustrated than at the gathering which elected Leo's successor. Cardiwhich elected Leo's successor. Cardinal Sarto was mentioned as a mere possibility before the session of the college, an honor he shared with a dozen or more of his brethren, but never was his name placed prominently before the public as a likely candidate. A "deadlock" ensued, and then arose a demand for the best available man. He was found in Cardinal Sarto, the venerable Patriarch of Venice, and as Pius X. he mounts the triple throne and wears the ring of St. Peter.

What does his election mean? The career of Pius X. must be studied before we know what peculiar significance attaches to his election. As to the party he represents, the solution cance attaches to his election. As to the party he represents, the solution is to be found in the fact that he was undowbtedly a compromise cand-idate. In other words, he represents all parties—not one of them perfect-ly, but each to some degree. Other-wise he never had been chosen. One must await the first encyclical before indeping the divergence which

One must await the first encyclical before judging the divergence which is to be made from Leo's policy. It would be a grave mistake to assume that because he was not actively discussed as a candidate before the election, Plus X. was in any sense a nonentity. He has long been famed as the greatest preacher in the Church, and as a remarkable administrator. Indeed, in these two imistrator. Indeed, in these two imistrators. istrator. Indeed, in these two important respects he is probably the superior of any other cardinal, and though his talents as a pulpit orator may be lost to some extent in the office he has been elected to fill, the genius for administration could nowhere find such scope. He was bern in Riese, in the diocese of Treviso.

Italy, on June 2, 1835, and on June 12, 1898, was created a cardinal. In the Sacred college he held the rank of priest. To-day he stands as the equal of Kings, the Pope of the new century. Of the tremendous infuence for good or evil a Pope can exert it is unnecessary to speak. It may be mentioned, however, that Pius X. exerts more authority than any three individuals in the world.

Of the new Pope Pius X., F. Marion Crawford, an authority on Italy, ion Crawford, an authority on Italy, writes in the current number of Everybody's Magazine:

"Cardinal Sarto was much talked of in Italy when, on his preferment to the Venetian Patriarchate in 1893, he encountered a determined opposition on the part of the Italian Government before he could take possession of his see. The Government maintained that the Patriarchate was part of the King of Italy's Patronage, and that it was the King's right distinctive, but not to be ranked among present his own candidate. difficulty which ensued was in reality solved or shelved because Cardinal Sarto, though chosen by the Pope, was a favorite with the Italian Government and with King Humbert was a layorite with the Italian Government and with King Humbert himself—a rather singular case in Italy. The Cardinal has, therefore, ruled his diocese undisturbed during the last ten years, beloved by Catholics, esteemed by the Government, and respected by his enemies."

The probable policy of the new Pope may be gathered from an article by Maud Howe in the current number of The Outlook. In the Church, she says, there are three parties, the men of action, the men of inaction, and the Italian party, The first and the second represent extremes of policy, the last standing midway between. Cardinal Sarto was the candidate of the Italian party, and of him the writer says: midway between. Cardinal Sarto was the candidate of the Italian party, and of him the writer says:—
"While never directly opposing the policy of Leo XIII., he is noted for his abstinence frem all aggressive action; and his influence is always exerted to keep the peace between the opposing factions. When King Umberto went to Venice to meet the Emperor of Germany, Cardinal Sarto announced his intention of making a State visit to the King. A hint was sent him from the Vatican that his course might not be a wise one, and that he had best be absent from Venice at the time of the King's visit. The decision was left, however, with Sarto, who carried out his original plan, made his State visit to the King, and, it is said, mentioned the fact that the Vatican had advised against it."

Ingenious persons are already be-the fact that the Vatican had advised against it."

Ingenious persons are already beginning to speculate how the famous prophecy of St. Malachi can be made to apply to the new Pope. "Ignis Ardens" (a brisk blaze) is the motte new to be applied. In what way can this thought be fitted to the life, family, career, character or circumstances of Pius X.? Thus far no satisfactory explanation has been made, but there is no doubt it will come in time. Sarto's coat of arms is an anchor, surmounted by a six-pointed star, illuminated with rays of light. This is the nearest the new Pope comes to fulfilling the prophecy of St. Malachia

MILLINERY NOTES.

Styles of 1830 In Chip and Chiffon. Gainsborough Hats.

Some very picturesque 1830 hats are being introduced in chip and chiffon, and indeed several are composed entirely of lace. They are very large, with strings, and therefore very closely resemble the picture hat finished with a single feather and a rose.

The best hats are still of the Gainsborough type in fine chip, in black, white and pale shades. Some are simply trimmed with wonderful choux of ribbon and an equally wonderful osette, while the others have a long,

An all black hat is a necessity with the up to date woman, but she can relieve the somberness of this if she chooses by applications of ecru lace.

French sailor hats of rough straw are worn with pale tinted veils of chiffon, a delicate blue and lavender being the newest thing.

An exquisite robe is of plisse crepe de chine in a greamy tint, and over this falls a tunic of black chantilly lace, applique with lozenge shaped motifs of ivory d'alencon lace. The bolero-of the black lace—is heavily incrusted with ivory lace, and the neck is cut low to show a transparent yoke of ivory lace, fastened with straps of narrow green velvet and diamond buttons.

A broad belt of the velvet shows beneath the short bolero. Several gowns of nut brown crape and chiffon have been seen, one of which had a pronounced admixture of apricot yellew, while another was liberally applied with champagne tinted lace and had slight touches of orchid pink panne. The dressy hat in the cut is of fine white chip trimmed with black velvet and a white feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

UNLIGHT

Amusing Anecdotes of Celebrated English

"Apropos of witnesses and counsel," says the writer of a most interesting article on "Lawyers," in The London Blackwood's Magazine, "I think the most scathing retort that I ever read was the following, which I saw in some country newspaper report of an assize case: A counsel had been cross-examining a witness for some time with very little effect, and had sorely taxed the patience of the Judge, the jury, and every one in Judge, the jury, and every one in court. At last the Judge intervened with an imperative hint to the learned gentleman to conclude his cross-examination. The counsel, who received this judicial intimation with a very bad grace, before telling the witness to stand down accosted him with the parting sarcasm: 'Ah, you're a clever fellow, a very clever fellow! We can all see that!' The witness, bending over from the box, quietly retorted, 'I would return the compliment—if I were not on oath!'" oath!

Another story is told in the same article of Edwin James, a famous barrister, who was disbarred for unbarrister, who was disbarred for unprofessional conduct just as he was about to be made Solicitor-General.
Edwin James was noted for his consummate impudence. At one time he lived in some West End Chambers, for which the unfortunate landlord could never succeed in obtaining any rent. At last he had recourse to an expedient which he hoped might arouse his tenant to a sense of his obligations. He asked him if he would be kind enough to advise him obligations. He asked him if he would be kind enough to advise him on a little legal matter in which he was concerned, and, on James acquiescing, drew up a statement specifying his own grievance against the learned counsel and asking him to state what he considered the best course for a landlord to take under such conditions. The paper was returned to him the next morning with the following sentence subjoined:

"In my opinion, this is a case which admits of only one remedy: Patience.—Edwin James."

The single defect of that genius

The single defect of that genius among Judges, the late Lord Bowen, was perhaps an undue proclivity for frony, which on one occasion he indulged in from the bench, with disastrous effect on the jury. Shortly after his appointment as a puisne Judge he was trying a burglar in some country town, and by way of mitigating the tedium of the proceedings summed up something in the following fashion: "You will have observed, gentlemen, that the prosecuting counsel laid great stress on the enormity of the offence with which the prisoner is charged, but I think it is only due to the prisoner to point out that in proceeding about his enterprise he at all events displayed remarkable consideration dulged in from the bench, with disas displayed remarkable consideration for the inmates of the house. For instance, rather than disturb the owner, an invalid lady, as you will have remarked, with commendable have remarked, with commendable solicitude he removed his boots and went about in his steckings, not-withstanding the inclemency of the weather. Further, instead of rushing with heedless rapacity into the pantry he carefully removed the coal scuttle and any other obstacles which, had he thoughtlessly collided with them, would have created a noise that must have aroused the indnoise that must have aroused the jaded servants from their well-earned re-

After proceeding in this strain After proceeding in this strain for some little time he dismissed the jury to consider their verdict, and was horror struck when, on their return into court they pronounced the acquittal of the prisoner!

Mon Swim With Clothes On. The casual stroller by the banks of The casual stroller by the banks of the Serpentine, London, the other morning must have been somewhat startled to have observed twenty-eight voung men, fully attired, waiting apparently to end their days in the liyde Park lake. Yet nothing of the nature of suicide was in their minds, for each of them waited for the starter's signal to plunge into the water, and each was a competi-tor for The London Daily Telegraph Cup. The object of the race is to promote swimming under difficulties. Most men and women swim nowadays, but swimming for pleasure, entirely unencumbered, is a very days, but swimming for pleasure, entirely unencumbered, is a very different sort of pastime from that which took place in the Serpentine. Each competitor had to carry not less than seven pounds of wearing apparel, and the nature of the handicap will be best understood when it is mentioned that five very good swimmers—men who under normal conditions would make light of a mile or so—had to be assisted normal conditions would make light of a mile or so—had to be assisted out of the water by the boatmen before half the distance had been completed... The race was a handicap and the winner turned up in P. R. Bennett, whose allowance was the very substantial one of 50 seconds, but the back markers were by no means out of it, as H. Wilson (12 seconds) and E. D. Whittle (5 seconds) were respectively second and third.

Beyond the fact that all the competitors had to carry the established weight of seven pounds, choice of costume was a matter of taste. Several wore tall hats and affected eveneral wore tall hats and affected evening dress; others went in for fancy costumes, ancient and modern. Indeed, a more motley crowd it would be difficult to imagine. Still, the object was a good one and Sir Vincent Barrington, who gave his services as one of the judges, informed an Express representative that the sole object of the donor of the cup was to inculcate into the present-day youth the value of learning to swim so as to save life under any conditions.—London Express.

EXPLOSION IN THE POWDER MILL AT TWEED.

Three Men Killed-County for Twenty Miles Around Shaken-Packing House of the Ontario Powder Powder Company Destroyed.

Tweed, Aug. 24.-At 10.10 a.m. or Saturday a terrific explosion took place in the pack-house of the Ontario Powder Company's plant, which is located just outside the town limits Three employees who were in the building were literally blown to pieces and the building was entirely demolished. So complete was the destruction that there was nothing left to in dicate that a building had ever been erected on the spot.

The unfortunate victims of the accident are Charles Moon, aged 27 years; Lyman Moon, aged 26 years, and Edward Tebow, aged 24 years. The first two, who were consing were married. two, who were cousins, were married and each had two children. Tebow was also married, but leaves no chil-dren. All told, about 100 pounds of dren. All told, about 100 pounds of the three bodies were gathered together in small fragments after the explorer

Although between twenty and thirty people are employed in the plant, all escaped without injury except the three whofwere killed. This is accounted for by the fact that the plant, which was only erected last year, consists of a dozen or more frame buildings, separated from one another by about 100 yards, and the other employees were scattered about in the various buildings. Many of the employees received violent shocks, and some were completely knocked off their feet.

The town, which is separated from the plant by the Moira River, was badly shaken, and many window-panes were broken, including two plate glass windows, one in Preston's dry-goods store, and another in Mrs. Osterhout's millimery parlors. The shock was so colout the treatment of the plant the treatment of the plant the statement of the plant of the statement of the plant of t Although between twenty and thirty millinery parlors. The shock was violent that people rushed into the streets in all parts of the town, thinkthe appearance of a huge cloud of smoke in the air in the direction of the powder works, following the shock and the report, told to the frightened citizens what had happened. The excitement for a few minutes was intense, and hundreds hurried to the scene of the disaster to ascertain the number of fatalities and the extent of the destruction.

BARNS BURNED

During the neavy electrical storm which accompanied the downpour of rain Saturday afternoon, the barns of Wm. Pollock, lot 12, concession 10, Chatham township, were struck by lightning and set on fire. In spite of the efforts of Mr. Pollock and his neighbors to extinguish the blaze, the flames spread rapidly until all of his barns were consumed. The unfortunate circumstance in connection with the fire was the complete loss of with the fire was the complete loss of Mr. Pollock's crops. He had just completed his harvest and all of his grain was stored in the barns. The loss on the barns is partly covered by insurance, but, unfortunately, his crops were not insured.

There are certain things pertaining to the inner man that are said to preserve greater refreshing stimulant by being husbanded upon ice, and when Joseph answered re-val-ley, if you please, and fell in upon his nightly vigil in the direction of the ice-house, his many friends expressed marked cordiality and said several complimentary things.

But Joe was wary and proceeded on his mission alone. Reaching the ice-house, and having borrowed the key thereof, he entered and proceeded to secure the necessary commodity. He was about to depart when startled by the sudden advent of a sleuth-like quadruped—a study in black and white—that sniffed and scouted somewhat ominously.

white—that sniffed and scouted somewhat ominously.

The appearance of the skunk had an immediate influence on the manoeuvres and evolutions of the ice-seeker. He sought—and sought rapidly. J. W. White never moved more quickly. In the twinkling of an eye Joe had become the most elevated and yet most modest man imaginable. He was up on the highest ice pile and crowded into the remotest corner. There was nothing forward about him in cultivating new acquaintanceships.

For a full half hour matters remained in statu quo. The unwelcome visitor showed no signs of taking a hint, and the young man rapidly melting into the ice with coat-collar turned up and blue nose and ears, endeavored to keep himself from freezing by a series of vocal gymnastics. Alas, the friends of a few moments ago had deserted and the zephyrs alone answered hie strenuous shouts.

But Joe is athletic. At the end of the first hour he was butting his an-

Lady Cowell-Stepney has sought and obtained a judicial separation on the ground of desertion.

This step, which it was stated Lady Cowell-Stepney took "with the profoundest reluctance," was brought about by the fact that the baronet recently obtained a divorce in Idaho, United States, the validity of which was now challenged and which might injuriously affect the right of Miss Katherine Cowell-Stepney, the only child of the marriage, to the entailchild of the marriage, to the entail-Her Ladyship, a dignified woman

In opening the case the Hon. A. Lyttleton, K.C., M.P., said that Sir Emile was a large landowner in Wales, formerly M.P. for Carmarthen, and had houses at Llanelly and Ascot. He was forty-one when, in August, 1875, he married the Hon. Margaret Warren, daughter of the second Lord De Tabley, his present wife.

There were certain eccentricities, continued counsel, about the baronet that his wife overlooked. He absented kimself from home, made vague insinuations against her, and disciplinations ed kimself from home, made vague insinuations against her, and dismissed her maid without giving a reason. He showed the greatest delight, however, when his daughter was born, in September, 1876, but within three weeks of that event he left his home and had never since lived with his wife.

Certain suggestions made at the time by Sir Emile against Lady Cowell-Stepney were investigated, and were found to be absolutely baseless. They were the result really of mental delusion, for which he was treated by

They were the result really of mental delusion, for which he was treated by Sir William Gull and Dr. Maudsley. This resulted in his being sent abroad with a doctor in 1877.

Lady Stepney wrote back, treating this as a transitory delusion. "You may go abroad with a quiet mind," she said in the letter. "You know well that my whole life has been devoted to her since she was born. It is not likely I should allow such a thing."

Mr. Gladstone Intervenes husband, however, took

The husband, however, took Chancery proceedings to secure custody of the daughter. His case was met by affidavits by his own personal friends, including Lord Currie and the late Mr. Gladstone, and the action was absindanted.

Then there was an incident of a luncheon at which Sir Emile entertained his tenants in 1889, and at which he introduced Miss Cowell-that I cheerfully agreed to aration." Friends made good-natured but in Friends made good-nature of the effectual efforts to bring about a re-conciliation. At length on Jan 1, 1901, the beronet wrote from Dakota informing his daughter that he had commenced the new century in a way that might startle her. New "Mr. Stepney."

He had, he said, become an American citizen, and letters to him should be addressed "E. Stepney," as, following the example of Lord Fairfax, he had dropped his title. His wife he invited to come out and join him, leaving their daughter in England, but that invitation, said counsel, was clearly insincere. Sir Emile next went to Idaho with the chiest of getting a divorce. His Emile next went to Idaho with the object of getting a divorce. His longest stay there was two and a half months, and in March last he obtained a divorce decree on the sole ground of his wife's desertion of him ground of his wife's desertion of him for over a year.

"I always hoped things would come right," said Lady Cowell-Stepney, giving evidence in a low, clear voice. She had no other complaint than desertion to make against her husband, she added. Out of his net revenues of £5,000 a year he allowed her and their daughter £2,000 a year.

Emile, and therefore could not prove the American divorce. Sir Emile wished to state that he made no charge against his wife. In granting a judicial separation, with costs, Sir Francis Jeune ob-served that the desertion on the part of the husband was proved, but, on the other hand, no evidence had been given that he sequired the given that he acquired the American domicile necessary for the Idaho di-vorce. It was not necessary, there-fore, to consider the point whether a husband could succeed who, against the will of his wife, sought to ob-tain a foreign domicile for the pur-pose of obtaining a divorce.

WINDOW CLEANERS

HOUSANDS OF INFANTS Working In Skyserapers Is Hard on

"The reason that we are always advertising for window cleaners," said the foreman of a company that em-ploys 200 men in this business, "is that so many men throw up their jobs after they have been at it a week or so. Some of them even do not last so long as that. A window cleaner can make as good wages as a mechanic or a mo-torman. The work is steady because nearly all the window cleaning in New York's big buildings is done by con-

"Any number of likely young fellows really in need of work who promise well enough at the start give out with-in a few days. Sometimes it is their nerves that go back on them, but more often it is their stomachs. We send away half the men who apply for jobs without even giving them a trial. If a man drinks or is so nervous that he has to dodge trolley cars he should keep out of this business.

"When we take a man on trial the foreman breaks him in gradually. We don't put him on a skyscraper job right away. A great many private houses in this city have their windows cleaned by contract, and we start him in on that. If a man is no good at ladder work it is no use bothering with him. From private houses the beginner is sent to department stores and finally to the tall buildings. Once in awhile we find a man who can start in on skyscraper jobs right away without any

'Don't look down. Look up all the time,' is the constant admonition of the foreman. Not one man in ten is able to obey that order. The temptation to look down is irresistible. If a man can't break himself of the looking down habit it is all up with him. He is sure to come around sooner or later and give up his job."

YOUNG ALLIGATORS.

They Feed but Once a Month and Then Prefer Live Food. The thing of it being difficult to induce an alligator in captivity to eat is a mistaken idea," said a man who owns a young alligator and knows all about them. "The question is how. First of all, an alligator feeds but once a month and then prefers to eat any "The thing of it being difficult to ina month and then prefers to eat anything that suggests life—anything that moves. For this reason angleworms, besides being good food for it, prove attractive to the eye of a small gator and later disappears with the same relish it would were the alligator in the streams of its native regions. Again, a small portion of raw beef makes excel-lent food for it, and the alligator never refuses to eat of a piece that is tied to a string and slowly drawn along in a string and slowly trawn are front of him, in this way giving a suggestion of life to the food. Another thing very important to know in the care of an alligator is to exactly understand how to make it comfortable. The best and simplest plan is to secure a box, any ordinary wooden box, and fill the bottom with sand, which is then covered with moss. Also have placed inside of the box, which must be kept in the sun as much as possible, a flow-erpot saucer filled with water. This must be changed frequently. All of which makes the alligator very com-fortable, for in case it should become tired of the water there are the moss and sand for it to get out upon. So with a properly arranged home or box and a little care as to its diet there is no reason why the little alligator tourists so frequently delight in sending their friends from Florida should not thrive

Never Touched the Scotchman. It is related of the late Shirley Brooks that he had at one time a very faverite pig who, alas, went the way of all pigs and was converted into bacon. Brooks sent some of the delicacy to a friend, with a note as follows:

"His end was peace, and I send you a piece of his end." The joke was related to a Scotch-man, who laughed very heartly and shortly afterward having occasion to kill a pig of his own sent some to a rel-ative, with the remark, "His end was peace, and I send you a piece of the pig." And he wondered why nobody aw the joke.-London King.

"Barker is not much on form," said the first commuter. "Why, the other day I saw him eating breakfast food for supper. And that wasn't the worst

"What could be worse?" broke in the econd commuter. "Why, this," replied the first com-muter, with a grin: "He actually had on evening dress at the time, with a morning glory in his buttonhole."

In finding fault it is very easy to be untruthful and unfair. - Atchison

We are all partisans by nature, and the judicial habit of study of both sides of a question must be acquired. But few acquire it. The average man takes his opinions exparte from some biased authority and never bothers to inquire whether they are right or wrong. He accepts statement of fact inquire whether they are right or wrong. He accepts statement of fact without question, and once having adopted them and lodged them in his mind, it is not unusual for him to resent any attempt to correct them. It is a matter of observation that the most violent and fanatical advocates and partisans are those who know least about the other side. Ignerous is the mother of highests by norance is the mother of bigots, but knowledge tends to make a man tol-

No man has a right to have opinion and no man's opinion on any question is respectable unless he has studied both sides. A man ought to be ashamed to give judgment on any question unless he has heard and con-sidered the arguments for and sidered the arguments for and against.

We decide the weightiest matters without either information or reflection. How many citizens are in favor of free trade or of a protective tarifi and yet cannot argue intelligently the great problem involved in the tariff question?

Value of Charcoal.

Permit me to urge all breeders of poultry who wish healthy fowls to be liberal in supplying their birds with charcoal. It is one of the best preventatives of disease and purifiers of the animal system we have, or at least that we know of. It helps to purify the digestive organs and acts as a stimulus by purifying the blood and toning up the system in general. It does not need to be crushed fine, mixed with other food and compet them to eat it, but all that is necessary is to break it up in small pieces convenient for them to swallow. They will produce more eggs if they have plenty of charcoal of if they have plenty of charcoal of easy access. The cost of charcoal is but a trifle, even when bought, and if you burn wood in your stove the fire ashes may be sifted out and the black coals saved and pounded in pieces about the size of a grain of corn and placed in small piles where the fowls can get it easily. It is especially valuable during the spring and summer months, for then it is that the blood is sluggish and needs something to purify it, and it is from this reason principally, that most of the poultry diseases come during these months.—Poultry.

The Horse's Manger. In feeding hay to horses, arrange the manger so as to be the most convenient height to suit the horse sonvenient height to suit the norse so it will be high enough for him to reach the bottom, which is made of slats and about inches from the floor. The fine dust, etc., goes through and is easily cleaned out. The horse, of all animals, is most easily hurt by dust and fifthy food, wet we commonly see a horse's manyet we commonly see a horse's man-ger half full of dust and trash. The top of the manger and feed box should be so arranged that the top of the horse's headswill be even with his back when he is eating. This his back when he is eating. This plan gives the horse most comfort and he seems to take his feed with more ease than any other way. In giving him the most comfort in the stable, he will show himself off better in the harness. It seems unreast onable to expect a horse to hold his head high when he must twist his neck in all shapes to get his hay out of a rack or stand on his tiptoes to reach over in a high manger. Do you use a high table and low chairs to make your children walk with head and shoulders erect and a quick, smart step?

Building a New House. The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen who have been in London most of the season, are building a new house for themselves on their Aberdeenshire estates. It is in a different part of the country from their shief seat, Haddo, which gives the title to their eldest son, Lord Haddo. On one occasion Mr. Gladstone visited it, and it has of course, associations with another of course, associations with another Prime Minister, the fourth Lord Aberdeen. He was Premier about the time that Queen Victoria and Prince Albert first went to Balmoral. Lord Abordeen has a second estate towards that beautiful quarter of Aberdeenships and he is replacing the erdeenshire, and he is replacing the old mansion on it with a new one. As it happens, a neighboring pro-prietor is Sir John Clark, whose As it happens, a neighboring proprietor is Sir John Clark, whose father, Sir James Clark, the eminent physician, had a large voice in determining on Deeside for a Royal residence. The west coast of Scotland had been thought about, but Queen Victoria and Prince Albert accepted Sir James' view in favor of the Aberdeenshire Highlands as having a drier and more bracing climate.

The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and conduct is marked in many a familiar expression. We speak of there being "bad blood" between people at enmity, of "blue blood" as indicating ancestry, of "black blood" as idearing a treacherous nature, and in many arather phrase mark our belief that in a mental, moral and physical man, "the blood is the life." The one basis of a healthful, happy and useful life is pure blood. With the blood pure, disease has no permanent lodging place in the system. For this reason the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery rids the body of diseases which have their origin in impurity of the blood. It absolutely purifies the blood, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter, increasing the action of the blood making glands, and building up the body by supplying the blood in quantity such as is essential to a condition of health. It cures ninety-eight people out of every hundred who give it a fair trial. fair trial.

RUSSIA HAS RECALLED HER BLACK SEA SQUADRON.

Reports of Fighting Throughout Macedonia-Insurgent Victories Are Reported-Miles of Burning

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—The Russian Black Sea squadron, which was ordered to Turkish waters, and which arrived at Iniada, eastern European Turkey, on August 19, in order to support Russia's demands on the Sultan port Russia's demands on the Sultan growing out of the assassination of M. Rostkowski, the Russian Consul at Monastir, has been recalled to Sebastopol, the squadron's point of departure, and has already sailed. The recall of the Russian squadron followed on a notification from the Porte that the Sultan had ordered all the Russian demands to be complied with in less than twelve hours after they were made. In addition to the condemnation and execution of M. Rostkowski's murderers, and the punishment of their ac-In addition to the condemnation and execution of M. Rostkowski's murderers, and the punishment of their accomplices, Turkey agrees that those officers who made disrespectful allusions to M. Rostkowski are to be dismissed. A careful search is being made for the persons who fired at the Consul's carriage. All the officials, twenty-five in number, whose names were handed to the Porte as objects of unfavorable comment by the Russian Ambassador, are relieved of their posts and handed over to justice. All private persons mentioned in the same list as guilty of various offences will likewise be tried. Ismal Haki Pasha, the Chief of Police at Palanka, Province of Uskub, is restored to his post. The persons under arrest for accusing vince of Uskub, is restored to his post. The persons under arrest for accusing Mussulmans of outrage and abuse are liberated. Hussein Hilmi, Inspector-General of Macedonia, is reprimanded. The chiefs of gendarmerie and police at Salonica are replaced "The Porte has ordered the appointment to the gendarmerie of several foreign officers, whose names will be announced later; and, finally, all the military, civil and judicial authorities have received the strictest orders to take measures to and, finally, all the military, civil and judicial authorities have received the strictest orders to take measures to secure order and tranquility."

The news has reached St. Petersburg from Brussels that the Porte has requested Belgium to nominate four officers for the Turkish gendarmerie.

Sofia, Aug. 24.—There is no confirmation of the persistent reports of alarming massacres at Monastir.

Officers of a Russian warship, who called at Burgas, in Bulgaria, north of Iniada, for provisions, have reported that all the villages along the coast of Adrianople from the Bulgarian frontier to Iniada have been burning for the last three days. Iniada is deserted. A Russian warship which passed Kuri Burun, a short distance north of Iniada, was saluted by the insurgents. A strong force of Turkish troops has been despatched from Adrianople to the coast districts.

Sofia, Aug. 24.—At Stoiloro the insurgents defeated a detachment of Turkish troops, which lost twenty kill ed and wounded. At Chanagoski, near Surovicovo, the insurgents are reported to have annihilated an entire Turk ish regiment. At Buianlkzera, near Ternovo, 75 revolutionists are credited.

Surovicovo, the insurgents are reported to have annihilated an entire Turkish regiment. At Buianlkzera, near Ternovo, 75 revolutionists are credited with defeating a Turkish battalion. The villages of Amdermis and Enrik near Vasiliko, have been burned to ashes. The Turks have bombarded and destroyed the monastery of Constantine, near Losengrade, where so insurgents had fortified themselves. Eight villages are reported burned. A specia criminal court has been organized at Monastir to try insurgents.

The general outlook in Maccdonia shows no sign of improvement. A despatch from Rubnitza asserts that the situation on the frontier is extremely critical. The insurgents have killed several Turkish soldiers at Dnvijk-Boris Saraíoff is reported to have seized a Greek priest at Pesoder. He was pursued by Turkish troops, who bombarded that village. Saraíoff and his companions escaped.

New York, Aug. 24.—The Sun says Misses Eva and Annie Smith, of Stewart, are the guests of their cousin, Miss Ruth Powell.

Miss Fannie Stinson, of Croton, spent Sunday here with her sister, Miss N. Stinson, and left to-day to attend Detroit millinery openings.

A. A. Wilson, who is in possession of a fine Jersey cow, lately purchased, was surprised yesterday morning at the absence of the bovine. Search around the premises being fruitless, was finally dissovered comfortably emconced in the hay loft, to which she had ascended by the steps leading thereto, and was, with great difficulty, removed to the ground.

Miss Lou Parnell, of Chatham, spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. J. Beno, and left to-day to visit relatives in Learnington.

R. H. Smith of Detroit forwards Lillie Spitznadel, a pretty Austrian child, eleven years old, who has been totally blind since she was three years old, has been made to see slightly as the result of an experiment in using a combination of radium and X-rays. The experiment was tried only last Wednesday night, and at the time of appli-cation it gave little or no promise of being even moderately successful. The child's sight has not been restored, but she has in three days emerged from a condition of total blindness to one in which she can distinguish moving objects and can plainly discern ordinary electric lights at night. Dr. Amon Jenkins of 17 State street, this city, who is connected with the Marine Hospital Service and whose patient the child is, and William J. Hammer, a well-known electrical engineer and experiment on the blind child, and while they decline to commit themselves to the prediction that the little girl will ever entirely recover her sight they argue being even moderately successful. the most trimphant creation of the genius of Fife of Fairlie splendidly vanquished in a fifteen-mile tussle to windward and a fifteen-mile run home in a roystering breeze, through choppy, foam-fringed seas.

The inflexible Irish Knight surely will have to try again with a ship of greater sail power if he wants to accomplish what now seems to be the chief aim of his existence. After all the shouting is over, however, he may return to England with the assurance that he has brought over here the swiftest, handsomest and best-sailed yacht that has ever engaged in battle with a Yankee racing craft in seas off Sandy Hook. She did marvellously well in the windward work, but the immense and superior volume of the Reliance's picturesque sailspread made the challenger's run home seem something in the nature of a procession.

The Reliance beat Shamrock III. over the 30-mile course by nine minutes, elapsed time, and by seven minutes and three seconds, corrected time. The Reliance allowed Shamrock III. one minute and 57 seconds. As the challenger is to be remeasured, because she did not, as the rule requires, have an anchor and chain aboard when she was first measured, she may have to give up a few seconds of her allowance. This, naturally, will affect only the races in which Shamrock III. may be close astern of the cup defender.

"The Beer That is Brewed In Glass"

Steel tanks, glass lined, are cleaner than wood can ever be, and an inspection of our closed, glass lined tanks will convince anyone of their undoubted advantage in that great essential of a successful brewery, viz., CLEALINESS.

Our beer differs in no way from a beer perfectly fermented in open tanks, providing the cellars, the tanks and the atmosphere in which the beer is fermented are absolutely free from bacteria or contaminating infection. These conditions are seldom possible and THE CLOSED TANK SYSTEM IS THE ONLY INSURANCE AGAINST RISK OF CONTAMINATION.

To be presently successful an oner fermentation system should have form

To be reasonably successful an open fermentation system should have floors, walls and cellings lined with vitrified tile, and wooden fermenting vats must be without the slightest flaw and renewed frequently. The ordinary wood and brick cellars generally become impregnated with foul ordors known as "cellar smells which is absorbed by the beer, in an open fermenting vat. WATCH FOR IT a KEJECT BEER that has any aroma other than hops and malt.

A loose knot or stave joint, or shaky wood in a stave, will secrete enough bacteria to render every brew unhealthy and unfit to use.

A cellar or vat once infected can never be purified, except by destroying them, and most brewers will keep on using them, rather than incur the great expense of reconstruction.

DARING JUMP

"While I was down in Detroit last week," remarked P. O. Jim Dodson to The Planet this morning, "I saw Fird Snyder, son of the late John Snyder, of this city. Fird met with a very senious accident on December 31st last and has been laid up since. 31st last and has been laid up since. He was compelled to jump from the roof of a burning building and in so doing broke one ankle and badly sprained the other. He has not been able to use the broken one since. His pay goes on just the same and he has been given the job of watchman at No. 19 fire house."

BAD FALL

Henry Gregg, a young man in the employ of Wm. Parton, Dover Township, on the town line about two miles out, met with a very painful and quite serious accident ion Saturday afternoon. He, in some way, fell from a building a distance of about 15 reet, lighting on his arm. Suffering great pain, he was immediately brought in to the office of Dr. Fleming where, upon examination, it was found that his arm was broken between the elbow and shoulder and his shoulder dislocated. After the injured member was set, the unfortante man was removed to his home.
