WHISKEY IN PLENTY FOR FLOATING VOTE

Turgeon's Supporters Using Questionable Methods to Secure Floating Vote--About Seven Hundred Will Vote--Bradshaw's Friends Expect Victory

Prince Albert, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Within four days of polling, the contest is getting very hot but the campaign is lacking in some of the objectionable features which characterized the general election two years ago. This is partly due to the fact that the element which did so much crooked work is intimidated through fear of the law. It has been made plain by the supporters of Mr. Bradshaw that if caught the guilty parties will not again go unpunished.

The total vote on Saturday next will be about seven hundred. Within the last two weeks over two hundred men have left the mills for the bush and elsewhere and they will not be on hand for the election. The Liberals claim that the new lists show a loss of one hundred votes for them compared with two years ago, and they have lost track of the absentees. There is a new vote which is being canvassed hard by both sides, but Mr. Bradshaw appears to be the stronger of the two candidates with these. The floating vote is being worked in a very questionable way by Mr. Turgeon's men, but beyond supplying plenty of whiskey, not much "fixing" has been attempted, but a big game is looked for during the last couple of days. The Provincial Rights party is on the alert, and they will prevent, as far as possible, any debauchery.

In his able speech on Friday evening last, Mr. Haultain fired Mr.

Bradshaw's workers with intense enthusiasm and those electors who appeared indifferent up to that time were quite pronounced against the government after the meeting. Mr. Haultain called upon Mr. Turgeon to give to the electors his opinion as to the constitutionality of the Saskatchewan Act and to say whether the Secondary Education Act is, in his opinion, an infringement of the autonomy legislation. The Provincial Rights leader scored Mr. Turgeon for playing the hypocrite with regard to his pure election statement when he accepted a nomination for Prince Albert district against Mr. Donaldson, knowing that the seat had been stolen and that the men who perpetrated the crime had been smuggled out of the country to evade the law.

The eleventh hour conversion did not become Mr. Turgeon, but if he and his party were sincere, Mr. Haultain had no doubt as to the result of the polls on Saturday when Mr. Bradshaw would be elected by a large majority. The candidate, Mr. Bradshaw, made his first political speech at Friday night's meeting, and he handled his subjects well, leaving a most favorable impression on his hearers. There is the best of evidence to show that the Haultain meeting influenced many electors who heard the issues discussed intelligently for the first time. The election depends now on the new vote and the floaters, but Mr. Bradshaw's friends expect a victory.

KIPLING IN CANADA

The Famous Writer Visits Canada After Fifteen Years—Speaks to Canadian Club at Winnipeg

Rudyard Kipling, the noted English poet, accompanied by Mrs. Kipling, passed through Regina on Thursday morning's train enroute to the coast. It is fifteen years since the famous poet visited this country and since that time, many changes have taken place. At Winnipeg, Mr. Kipling was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Canadian Club at which he delivered the following address in response to a toast.

Mr. President, gentlemen of the Canadian Club, fellow subjects. I am only a dealer in words, and you can scarcely wonder I can find no words speaking from the heart, no words to thank you for the honor you have done me. The experience to me is almost overwhelming. What Mr. Gordon has been good enough to say about such work as I have done, I can only hope that you will very kindly try to believe. But if anyone of you in his life has been called good he will perhaps recollect the thoughts that passed through his mind when he considered what he really was. To one portion of the indictment I plead guilty. I have, I confess it now, done my best for about twenty years to make all the men of sister nations within the empire interested in each other. Because I know that at heart all men are pretty much alike in that they have the same ambitions, the same aspirations, the same love, the same hate, and when all is said and done we have only each other to depend upon.

Through any good fortune any work of mine has helped to make the boys over the world a little bit interested in each other, then that is my reward. But I seem to have caught in the speech of Mr. Crowe a reference to snow. I explained, I assure you, the moment I landed at Quebec. I explained that if the lumber in the country was shovelled off in July, I pointed out that snow is unheard of all that was a mistake, for it was French oak. I have done everything I can. I do not wish to revive the dark past of our dark past. But fifteen years ago almost to a day, I was in Winnipeg. At that time the city was seriously considering whether she would be paved. But so far as I could gather from the inhabitants of the city, the men of that generation epoch snow used to fall within the city limits, and when it melted the streets were what I have heard called muddy. I left the city of Winnipeg discussing that problem chiefly Main Street, and I went away for fifteen years, which in the life of nations is equivalent to about fifteen minutes in the life of man. I came back and found Winnipeg of today a metropolis. This morning I do not think that I have been over more than sixteen or twenty miles of asphalt. I have looked at a small part of the portions of your city. I have seen all the fine buildings you have erected, looked over your conveniences for your trade, your institutions of which you are justly proud, and above all the institutions you have provided for the education of your children.

The vision that your old men saw fifteen years ago I saw translated today into stone and brick and concrete. The dreams your young men dream I expect are the ordinary effects of human life, and they in turn will give place to vaster and more far reaching works. This is a record of unsurpassed achievement, and my admiration for it is as keen as is my envy. I say envy because as you know I have spent many years of my life among men laboring with their brains and with the sweat of their bodies to build up new states, to make them firm, and to do the work of civilization. These things are not reached except by the hardest of toil, high courage, personal sacrifice and very often bitter disappointment. The mere buildings and the streets of a town do not tell the story to the outsider, but no man who has ever been present as I have at the building of a new city or the upbuilding of a new community, who has been at the birth of things any where can fall to be the story cried aloud by every building, by every store, and by every private residence he passes. Therefore my heart goes out to the city of your pride of your love because I know what lies behind the mere houses and stores and streets. I know the patience and sacrifices that went to the upbuilding of it, and will continue to go to its existence, and to all that its existence implies. But I found cause for deeper delight in other things than those you were good enough to show me today. I have realized here the existence of a spirit of assured nationhood, the spirit of a people contented, not to be another people, or imitators of another people, but contented to be themselves. That spirit of course existed fifteen years ago, but that spirit, as I remember, and I have not forgotten some of my walks and talks in the city, doubted a little, it found itself necessary to explain. I found another echo of that mood of mine here today. I could feel in the air, in the streets, by a thousand signs, here is a people in their own land, whose heart strings go down deep in the fabric of the land, the trustees of a nation. This is worth more than anything else, for there is no unflattering cross of a new people exposed to the idea of a weak or degraded nationhood. Neither commerce, not art, nor literature can make up for the loss of that spirit. The biggest city the world has ever seen is the effect of organized enterprise. With the national spirit the meanness of packing cases stacked together on the prairie can uphold a dominion or a continent. You are fortunate beyond most other communities, for your own labor, your own self-sacrifice has given you material property in overwhelming abundance. One is forced back to the old words—You stand on the threshold of an unbelievable future. No man can foresee or set limits to your destiny. But any man, even I, have a right to remind you, before I sit down, that to whom much has been given from them much shall be required.

CRIMINAL CAUGHT
Port Arthur, Oct. 4.—J. H. Davis, an escaped American criminal was brought to this city last night. The story of Davis is interesting. Four years ago he was sentenced to serve seven years in Cooke county penitentiary, Illinois, for grand larceny. After serving three years and ten months he was let out on parole. About one month ago he took passage from Duluth to Port Arthur on the steamer America. While on route he robbed a passenger on the boat and at the next stopping place of the steamer, a steep rock he left the boat. After being eagerly sought after he was arrested and locked up at Grand Portage. After two days he broke jail and started to walk across the country to Pigeon River lumber camps. Word was then wired to the police at Port Arthur. Officer Tharlow who knew the prisoner, started out to look for him along the Duluth extension of the C.N.R., and on Saturday afternoon last he located the prisoner on a trail about two miles from Silver Mountain. Prisoner stated that Sheriff Carhart and Constable Jacobs of Minnesota, had passed him several times on different roads, but he had eluded them. Davis is being held here, pending the arrival of Sheriff Carhart from Grand Portage, Minn., where he will be taken across the line.

HEAVY FLOODS IN FRANCE
Paris, Oct. 4.—The papers are filled with accounts of the immense destruction caused by floods in the department of Herault, to which the damage is practically confined, and which is estimated to amount to $4,000,000. The waters rose so rapidly in the valleys that people working in the vine yards were cut off and compelled to seek refuge in trees and on the tops of houses and walls. A number of bodies have been recovered in various parts of the departments mentioned, but the exact loss of life is unknown.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO., ENOSBURG FALLS, VERMONT, U.S.A.

A dispatch from Marseilles says that an unprecedented rainfall there has flooded the lower parts of the city. Parliament will be asked to furnish relief for the sufferers, who were just beginning to recover from the losses sustained as a result of the crisis in the wine trade which led to the wine growers' revolt last summer. The correspondent of the Temps at Agde, telegraphed today that the country in the vicinity of the Herault River is completely submerged. Only here and there are little islands and the tops of houses visible, and upon these little row-boats are engaged in the ceaseless task of rescue. By the aid of a field glass the correspondent saw a little boy taken by a boat from the cross at the wayside, representing the crucifixion of Christ, where the lad had clung for thirty-six hours.

JAPANESE AT THE COAST
An English Writer, After Visiting the Country, Gives His Views on the Subject
H. Hamilton Fife, who has been writing a series of articles in the Daily Mail on his impressions in Canada, following an extended tour in this country, in a recent issue took up the question "the Japanese in British Columbia." No one, he writes, who has recently visited Vancouver city can have been surprised at the news of the anti-Japanese riots which took place on Saturday evening. I met a British Columbian acquaintance on the Stand the other evening. His only comment was: "Wonder it hasn't happened before."

As one gets nearer to the Pacific coast of Canada one is struck by the number of Japanese employed on the railways, as miners and in the hotels. At Field, the station in the heart of the Rockies, where passengers dine hurriedly by snow-capped giants peering down on them, all the servants are Oriental, and most of them seem dignified. Eastern dress. It seems an outrage to hear hungry tourists call out "waiter!" to these mild eyed intelligent creatures, clad in rich and beautiful silk robes and endowed with the stately manners of a mandarin.

I had not been in Vancouver an hour before I realised how near the city is to the far east. Slanting eyebrows are as common as turned-up noses. The Mongol type of face, with its demure expression seeming to hint that "it could be an, if it would," meets one at every turn. In the hotel the lift-boys, the boot cleaners, the boys and the bell-boys who sit in the hall ways ready to run errands, were all Japanese. Several of them seemed to be recent arrivals, and could scarcely speak or understand any English.

I noticed however, that most of the lift boys had books, over which they bent their shiny heads whenever they had a moment's leisure. I asked one of them to let me see what he was reading. With a pleasant grin and deferential eyebrows he showed me a Japanese-English phrase book. Slowly he turned the seat he had a hand in the war. If they were of the same type as the party with whom I crossed from Victoria to the mainland in June, I do not greatly wonder that the mob resented their arrival. My fellow passengers had been shipped to Victoria from Honolulu, where an active agency exists for encouraging Japanese immigration into Canada. They were by no means a prepossessing lot. Peasants, most of them, heavy limbed, heavy browed; quite a different type from the silky, polite, highly civilised Japanese one meets in Europe. Their features were cast in repellent, uncouth mould. Their tiny eyes, set in brown, sun-baked faces, gave them an animal look. Their hard voices chattered incessantly. It is easy to understand a constant stream of such immigrants settling themselves among British Columbians, whose affection for England is intense, and who are anxious about all things, that their splendid province, so richly endowed by nature shall remain a white man's country. A few years ago it was against the "Chinese danger" that the anti-Asiatic agitation on the Pacific coast was chiefly directed. As a result the Chinese exclusion act was passed and which now refuses admittance to Celestials unless they are in possession of £100. Now the people of Vancouver say they are worse off than before, for the Japanese are pouring in faster than ever the "Chinches" did. So far as my own observations went, each of the Oriental races seemed to be hardworking and energetic. I investigated both the Japanese and Chinese quarters, quite separate districts, where they have their own dwellings apart, with the shops, places of entertainment and joss-houses. The Japanese seemed to be cleaner and more European. The narrow streets of the Chinese location, with their closely curtained windows, and the creepy feeling that unseen eyes were watching all the time, gave much more the suggestion of the east—its inscrutable features and strange, exotic smells. In one lane were 11 houses were crushed together so as to almost shut out the sky. I stood on the old boardwalk, high above the mud of the roadway, and listened to the haunting music of tom-toms from a lighted upper room. A high wailing voice gave the monotonous melody, while the tap-tap of the drums went on with mechanical precision. It was interesting to find a slice of China only a few hundred yards from the brightly lit and handsome thoroughfares of a completely English town. But as I sniffed the enervating perfume of a joss stick and saw the cringing, loose robed figures sit here and there on cat-like feet, I could not help sympathising with the changing of the Oriental. The country which admits him must also admit his habits and his point of view.

The Chinese are valued as servants. The cooking at the hotel was so good that I inquired the nationality of the chef. He was a Chinik, had been there seventeen years. Of the Japanese as servants I heard no good word at all. Lying, grasping, impudent, indolent, untrustworthy—these are samples of the epithets applied to them. And as business men were equally disliked. "A Chinaman" said a Vancouver merchant to me, "will try to get the better of you in a bargain, but once it is struck he will fulfil his obligations." The Japanese trader cannot be relied upon to keep his engagements. I expect that was too sweeping a charge, just as I find it hard to believe that all Japanese servants are as black as they are painted. I could see that one cause of grievance against them was their quickness to seize every chance of demanding higher wages, though they will work for very little when there is no chance of getting more. Thus the employers in Vancouver dislike them because they push the cost of domestic labor up, while the white working men are infuriated with them for keeping the price of other kinds of labor down. The lieutenant governor of the province must therefore have been prepared for demonstrations when he refused to sanction a fresh exclusion measure directed equally against the Japanese and Chinese. There is no question about the heat of feeling on the subject. Only a grievance very near their own hearts could incense the easy-going, easeloving population of the Pacific, slope to the rioting point.

British Columbia and California have the same problem to puzzle over. Professor Goldwin Smith is almost certainly right when he predicts that "before many years there must be a supreme contest between Europeans and Asiatics for supremacy on the Pacific coast." How that contest will finish we cannot tell. One thing is certain, however, no good can be done by mob violence. However great the provocation, British Columbia has everything to gain by being patient. And let us in this country do all we can to help her by sending as many Britons as possible to the Canadian far west. If the province could be filled up with white people there would be no room for the Oriental. The Asiatic danger would become automatically settled.

Sirs, I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to allow me to use it for a very bad strain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you would let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain, PROSECUTE C.P.R.

Edmonton, Oct. 2.—Attorney General Cross has announced that the C.P.R. will be prosecuted for operating freight trains at Wetaskiwin and Strathcona contrary to the provisions of the Lords' Day act. It is that this case will be more successful than the prosecution of the C.P.R. at Clareholm for a similar contravention of law a few months ago by which the appeal of the company against the judgement of a justice of the peace was allowed on a technicality that the attorney general had not personally given leave to prosecute. This circumstance will not be overlooked in the pending prosecution which will take place shortly.

FORWARD WORK ON C.P.R.
Sir Thos. Shaughnessy Speaks on Western Trade at C.P.R. Annual Meeting—Officers of the Company
Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in the course of his remarks at the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the C.P.R. last Wednesday, in moving the adoption of the annual report, stated in referring to the crops in the Northwest that the backward spring had caused a shrinkage of 25 per cent. in the marketable nature of wheat compared with last season. There will, however, be a very considerable increase in the quantity of oats and other grains, so that with the higher prices of wheat, the farmers of western Canada will receive in aggregate quite as much for their products as they did last year.

Referring to the forward work on the different sections of the C.P.R., Sir Thomas said that unless the business of the country had a serious set back, and there was no present grounds for such an apprehension, the forward policy will proceed from year to year. In carrying out these plans, the shareholders will be asked to assist in the issue of balance of ordinary shares capital already authorized to be used as required. Speaking of the company's land asset, Sir Thomas stated that the 8,900,000 acres of the original grant which now remains unsold, will yield on an average price per acre considerably higher than heretofore realised. By the end of the present season 291 miles of canals will have been completed in the western section of the irrigation block. The cost of this work would be about $6.50 per acre. Sir Thomas believes that it will be possible to irrigate far larger tracts along their main line east of Calgary. There are now in the service of the company 74,000 officers and employees with a monthly pay roll of $8,700,000.

Estimated on the ordinary basis of five persons to a family, these would represent 350,000 souls, or more than one-twentieth of the population of the Dominion, and if there be added the men in the rail and rolling mills, car and locomotive manufacturing and other industrial establishments who are engaged in the manufacture of material in large quantities for the purpose of the company, one-fifteenth if not one-twelfth of the people of the country directly or indirectly receive their income from the company.

The president pointed out because of the late harvest and consequent delay in the movement of grain, the road carried to the ports of Lake Superior during the month of September only 1381 carloads as against 4898 carloads in September last year, but notwithstanding this large falling off in this particular kind of traffic the comparative week earnings have shown no diminution. He anticipated an extraordinary rush of grain to the head of Lake Superior before the close of navigation. The issue of four per cent. debentures were authorized for the following purposes:

For acquisition of Bonds of Northern Colonization Railway, thirty-four miles, not exceeding twenty thousand dollars per mile.
For additional use of Subsidy branch, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile for 226 miles.
For two lake steamers, one hundred and eighty thousand pounds sterling, and one Pacific coast steamer, one hundred and twenty five thousand pounds sterling.
For Regina-Saskatoon branch one hundred and sixty-five miles, and for the extension of the Moose Jaw branch, one hundred miles at four thousand pounds sterling per mile.
The board was authorized for the construction or acquisition of two additional steamships for the Pacific trade, or to build two larger and faster boats for the Atlantic trade, transferring the Empress of Britain and the Empress of Ireland to the Pacific, and to incur the necessary capital expenditure therefor.
At the C.P.R. meeting the directors met immediately after the meeting of the shareholders, at which meeting Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was elected president of the company, and David McNeoh, vice president, and the following were appointed the executive committee: Sir William Van Horne, chairman; Right Hon. Lord Strathcona, and Mount Royal, Richard B. Angus, Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., Mr. Thomas G. Shaughnessy and Mr. David McNeoh.

TO TRY INDIANS
Selkirk, Man., Oct. 2.—The court to try John Pa-Cje-Quen, charged with the murder of his step-daughter by cruel Indian rights and Jose Pa-Cje-Quen with being an accessory, leaves here by the steamer Premier for the head of Lake Winnipeg.
Commissioner Perry, R.N.W.M.P., with D. W. Mercher, crown prosecutor, Winnipeg, and Dr. O. T. La Croix, of Quebec, make up the party. The witnesses of the crime are at ready at Norway House and include Consts. O'Neill and Casham.
The court will be held at Norway House as soon as the party arrive at the head of the lake. The crime was the outcome of an old, savage, tribal custom and was particularly cruel and inhuman.

MUNICIPAL COMMISSION SUBMITS REPORT

Many Recommendations Made Regarding Size and Administration of Municipalities--Full Report of Rural Section

The commission appointed by the provincial government to investigate and bring in a report dealing with urban and rural municipalities have submitted their reports. We give herewith a full report of the recommendations made by the rural section:

UNIFORM DISTRICTS
1. That the districts shall be uniform in area and shape as far as survey and topographical conditions will allow. This is the wish of nearly all those who have appeared before the commission, and we believe it to be in the best interests of the province.

AREA AND SHAPE
2. That nine townships forming a square of eighteen miles, be the unit for the new districts both as to size and shape, and that the whole province be laid out on a uniform plan so that any isolated districts that may be in existence at the present time may eventually become a part of the uniform system without any readjustment of boundaries. It is our opinion that a district comprising a square of nine townships can be more economically managed than any other.

NAMES
3. That the name "Municipality" be used for the new districts to be created for the purposes of self-government. This name is in general use all over Canada, and suggests the nature of the organization, its privileges and its responsibility.

REGULARITY IN NUMBERING
4. That the new municipalities shall primarily be created and known by number; that such numbers shall be consecutive commencing in the south eastern corner of the province, and that a uniform plan of numbering be adopted so that the number will be an index of the location of the municipality. Twenty-two districts of the size we suggest would cover the province in width. These could be numbered 1, 2, 3, etc. from east to west. Then we suggest that the second tier should begin on the east with 31, the third 61 and the fourth 91, and so on.

COUNCILS TO CHOOSE NAMES.
5. That authority be given to the councils of the municipalities to choose names for the various municipalities subject to veto by the municipal commissioner. Such name shall by proclamation in the Saskatchewan Gazette eventually become with the number of the district the formal style of the municipality.

DIVISION FOR MUNICIPAL ELECTION PURPOSES
6. That for municipal election purposes each municipality shall be divided on a basis of six sub-divisions for a municipality consisting of nine townships. Each sub-division to be as far as possible uniform in size and shape.
That the council may at any time by bylaw provide that councillors shall be elected by a general vote of the electors of the municipality instead of by sub-divisions. Such bylaw before coming into force shall require the assent of two-thirds of the electors voting thereon, to be ascertained in the same manner as that in which the assent of voters is obtained in case of debenture bylaws and that power to revert to the prior method be granted under a similar procedure.

APPOINTMENT OF EXPENDITURES
7. That the council shall cause at least one-half of the amount estimated to be expended in the municipality in each year for general purposes to be apportioned among the sub-divisions thereof in proportion to the amount of rateable property therein respectively as shown in the assessment roll and the amounts so apportioned shall be expended in works in each sub-division.
Provided that the council by resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the whole council may decide that the amount so apportioned as aforesaid, may be reduced to an amount of not less than one quarter of the said municipal estimate or increased to an amount of not more than three quarters of the said municipal estimate. All works shall be executed on order of the council only and not on the order of any individual councillor or any committee.

CONSTITUTION OF COUNCIL
8. That the council for the normal municipality of nine townships consist of six councillors and a reeve.
That the number of councillors be increased or decreased in proportion to the size of the municipality.
That the reeve is chosen by general vote of the electors of the whole municipality.
That a deputy reeve be elected by the council every three months who in the absence or incapacity of the reeve will have full powers of the reeve.

OBLIGATORY VOTE
9. That the reeve when present, and that all councillors present, must vote in council on every division.

ELECTED FOR ONE YEAR
10. That both the reeve and councillors be elected annually.

BRITISH SUBJECTS OR DECLARATION TO BECOME SUCH.
11. That persons eligible to become councillors be British subjects if qualified by residence to become so, but that if they have not the necessary residential qualifications they shall make a statutory declaration of their intention to become naturalized as soon as they are so qualified. This declaration might be in form as follows:
Canada.
Province of Saskatchewan.
I, _____, in the Province of Saskatchewan, (occupation) _____, having been nominated for municipal office in the said province, do hereby solemnly declare:
(a) It is my intention to become naturalized as a British subject as soon as the legal conditions of qualifications by residence permit me to do so.
(b) Until I become so naturalized, and thereafter, I solemnly promise and bind myself to faithfully obey and conform to all the laws and constituted authorities of the British Empire and of the Dominion of Canada forming part thereof.
(c) I am in all other respects than naturalization eligible and qualified for the said municipal office.
And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, 1898.
Declared before me at _____ in the Province of Saskatchewan, this _____ day of _____, 19__.
(A Justice of the Peace or Commissioner for Oaths.)

QUALIFICATIONS
12. That the residential and property qualifications for reeve be defined as follows: "A resident male ratepayer of the full age of twenty-one years on the last revised assessment roll of the municipality and the owner at the time of nomination of not less than 140 acres of land within the municipality."
That the residential and property qualifications for councillors be defined as follows: "A male ratepayer resident within the sub-division for which he is nominated, of the full age of twenty-one years, on the last revised assessment roll of the municipality, being owner at the time of nomination of not less than 140 acres of land within the said sub-division."
"Residence" may be complied with by residing within any city, town or village the area of which adjoins or touches at some point the limits of the municipality or sub-division for which the candidate is nominated.
Homesteaders and purchasers under an agreement of sale shall be considered "owners."

PLACE OF MEETING
13. That all meetings of the council shall be held either in the municipality or in some city, town or village, the area of which touches or adjoins at some point the limits of the municipality.
PAYMENT OF TAXES BEFORE VOTING
14. That the council have power to pass a bylaw making provision for the payment of taxes at any definite time before voting.
PLACE AND DATE OF NOMINATIONS AND ELECTIONS
15. That the nomination of reeve and councillors shall take place at some point within the municipality or within some city, town or village the area of which adjoins or touches at some point the limits of the municipality, such place to be fixed for the first by the Lieut. Governor in council and for all subsequent elections by bylaw of the council passed at least one month prior to the day of nomination.
That nominations shall be held on the first Monday in December with elections one week later (section 21, M. O.)
QUALIFICATION OF VOTER
16. That the provisions of the local improvement act are satisfactory.
METHOD OF VOTING
17. That the voting at all elections shall be by ballot.

That the council may at any time by bylaw provide that election may be carried on by open voting. Such bylaw shall before coming into force require the assent of a majority of the electors voting thereon, to be ascertained in the same manner as that in which the assent of the voters is obtained in the case of debenture bylaws.
Voting may be by printed ballot in accordance with the provisions of the Municipal Ordinance, or by a written ballot in a form to be prepared. Such written ballot must be signed not simply initialed--by the deputy returning officer before being delivered to the voter.

REMUNERATION
18. That the remuneration of the reeves and councillors shall not exceed $4 per diem and 10 cents a mile coming to and returning from the meetings of the council.
That payment shall not be made for more than fifteen days.
That no reeve or councillor shall receive remuneration for his services in that capacity in any way whatsoever except as provided for attendance at the meetings of the council.
That a councillor may act as overseer of works without remuneration when appointed by bylaw of the council.
That a councillor shall not be eligible to be appointed secretary-treasurer of the municipality nor to hold any paid office under the municipality.

POWERS OF MUNICIPAL COUNCILS
19. That municipal councils may pass bylaws for the following purposes:
Raising revenue.
Temporary debt.
Prevention of cruelty to animals.
Aid to agricultural societies and boards of trade.
The protection of the public health and the appointment of boards of health.
Prevention of abuses prejudicial to agriculture.
Relief of the poor.
Providing for and regulating the planting of trees within the municipality.
Taking the census of the municipality or any part thereof.
Appointing the necessary officials.
The expropriation of lands for public purposes--the initial step to consist in the passing by the council of a bylaw setting out fully the lands required, and the purposes for which they are so required, but the actual proceedings to be undertaken by the provincial department in charge of public works.
The purchase of lands for all public municipal purposes.
The lease of lands for temporary roads (C. 27, 1903, Manitoba Statutes).
The laying out, constructing, repairing and maintaining of highways, roads, streets and bridges.
The erection of public buildings.
Granting leases for a term of not exceeding _____ years.
The establishment of public scales and grain testers, for weighing, testing and measuring anything sold by weight or measurement anything sold within the municipality or within any village the area of which adjoins or touches at some point the limits of the municipality.
Making and regulating the use of public wells, cisterns and reservoirs, and generally making provision for a supply of water.
Abatement of nuisances.
Storage of gun powder and other explosives.
Prevention of defacement of buildings and natural scenery, and controlling the erection of unsightly or dangerous billboards, etc. (C. 10, 1903, Ont.).
Making provisions for the carrying out of the provincial law, regulating the regular pace for riding or driving over bridges.
Restraining dogs.
Rebate on taxation.
Exemption of taxation for the then current year.
Compelling assistance at prairie fires under the provisions of "The Prairie Fires Ordinance."
"Compromising arrears of taxes."
Destruction of weeds under the provisions of the provincial law and with the co-operation of the provincial inspectors.
Government of municipality.
Granting aid for the erection and maintenance of hospitals. (Note: Your commissioners beg leave simply to raise the question whether contributions to the cost of paper patients should be made compulsory on the municipalities.)
Prevention of pollution of the water supply.
Controlling the burial of the dead and purchasing cemeteries.
Drainage in accordance with the provisions of the North-west Irrigation act.
Procuring land for parks, recreation ground and exhibition grounds; but no expenditure for the above purpose of more than $500 in each case shall be incurred until a bylaw shall have been submitted to the vote of the ratepayers and passed by a vote of at least two-thirds of those voting thereon.
Procuring land for quarries, gravel and sand pits, but no expenditure of more than $500 in each case shall be incurred until a bylaw shall have been submitted to a vote of the ratepayers and passed by a vote of at least two-thirds of those voting thereon.
Restraining and regulating the running at large of animals. (The provisions of the sale of animals should be embodied in a provincial act binding in all municipalities. The provisions of the Pound Ordinance are satisfactory.)

Disposing of municipal property no longer required.
Creation of debt--subject to a limit of $27,000 for the normal municipality of nine townships. The said limit to be increased or decreased according to the number of townships over or under nine. No bylaw shall be finally passed until it has been submitted to a vote of the ratepayers and passed by a two-thirds majority of those voting.
Note--The powers and responsibilities enumerated in the above sub-clauses represent the almost unanimous demand of the delegates and others appearing before the commission.

TAXATION OF LAND
20. The land should be taxed at a uniform rate per acre regardless of valuation and that the maximum rate shall be six and one-quarter cents per acre or $10 per quarter section. And that the minimum rate to be collected from a quarter section or less be $2 except in hamlets.
Note--The proposal of your commissioners is that the maximum rate of taxation shall be increased from 5 cents to 6 1/4 cents per acre, and that the minimum shall be the lump sum of $2 for 160 acres or less.
The returns for 1906 show that of 298 local improvement districts, 48 imposed the maximum of five cents per acre, and 27 imposed the minimum rate of 1 1/4 cents. The average rate of taxation for the year was 3 cents. This shows that the fact that there is a maximum, has not unduly increased rates of taxation throughout the country.
CONTROL OF RAILWAY TAXES.
21. That the provincial government have sole control of railway taxation.
NO STATUTE LABOR
22. That no provision be made for statute labor or for the working out of taxes in any way.
TAXATION OF HAMLETS
23. That the general provisions of the local improvements act respecting taxation are satisfactory, but that provision be made for assessing and taxing hamlets as follows:
That the registration of a plan of subdivision or any part of a plan of subdivision into building lots shall once create the land covered by the plan into a hamlet under the control of the municipal council.
That a schedule of taxes shall be assessed against all buildings and lands within the area in accordance with the following table:
Hotel $25.00
Lumberyard 15.00
Store 10.00
Implement warehouse 10.00
Livery, feed and sale stable 10.00
Boarding house or office 5.00
Restaurant 5.00
Blacksmith shop 3.00
Dwelling 1.00
Unoccupied building lots, each 50 feet at least 50 per cent. of the amount collected shall be expended in public improvements within the area.
That such taxes shall be a lien on the lands and that all arrears of taxes shall become payable to the village whenever such area is erected into a village.
INCLUSION OF INDIAN RESERVES.
24. That provision is made if possible that the lands now forming the Indian reserves, shall, when sold or in any way alienated, automatically become a part of the municipality to which they would otherwise have belonged, and as such be liable for all current taxes, provincial and municipal, but not for arrears in any way.
DISTRAINT FOR TAXES
25. The Secretary Treasurer shall have the usual powers to distrain for taxes, but the period for so doing shall be extended from the first day of June in the following year. The council may by bylaw instruct the secretary treasurer not to collect the taxes by distraint.
That the provisions of the Municipal Ordinance for the sale of land for taxes be adopted subject to an amendment that the last notice may be served at the last known address of the original owner.
LIST OF EXEMPTIONS
26. That the exemptions provided in the Local Improvement Act are sufficient, but that a full list of all such be inserted in the Municipal Act.
APPEAL AGAINST ASSESSMENT.
27. The provisions of the Local Improvement Act respecting appeals against assessment are satisfactory, but that provision should be made for an appeal to a judge which shall be final. Provision should also be made for costs in the hearing before a judge on similar scale to that provided in section 770, Criminal Code, of 1906.
FINANCIAL YEAR
28. That in order to make possible the giving of a full audited statement to the ratepayers at the annual meeting, the financial year shall end October 31st.
UNIFORM AND COMPULSORY SYSTEM OF ACCOUNT.
29. That provision be made for a uniform system of accounts which shall be compulsory.
AUDIT
30. That the accounts be audited by an auditor to be chosen by the council.
That a "firm" of accountants may be appointed as auditors.

That the auditor of the municipality be auditor for all school districts wholly or chiefly within the bounds of the municipality.
GOVERNMENT INSPECTION OF MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.
31. That all accounts of rural municipalities and school districts be subject to inspection by permanent government inspectors, and that sufficient provision be made so that all municipal accounts may be inspected once each year, but if such inspection is not made it shall not in any way affect the affairs of the municipality. (Note--Without implying the existence of abuses your commissioners are persuaded that the adoption of this plan will result in a noticeable toning up of our whole system of municipal accounting. The local auditors will be more disposed to call the attention of the secretary treasurer of the municipality to matters connected with his method of keeping the accounts, because, he, (the local auditor) will be aware that his own work is to be passed in review by the government inspectors.)
Provision should also be made for the appointment of temporary inspectors, but in case of such appointments an inspector should not review the accounts of the municipalities in the neighborhood of which he resides.

COLLECTION OF SCHOOL TAXES
32. That all school taxes be collected by the municipality on demand made by the board of school trustees. (Note--The advantages of having just one tax collector in a municipality are obvious, and your commissioners beg leave to report that opposition is manifested in all parts of the country to the system of having more than one.)
That where a school district is situated in two or more municipalities, such demand be made on the respective municipalities in proportion to the area assessable for school purposes in such municipalities.
CONTROL OF BRIDGES
33. That careful provision be made defining the provincial and municipal control and responsibility for all bridges. (Note--The law at present is vague and indecisive.)
REGISTRARS OF VITAL STATISTICS.
34. That the secretary treasurers be ex-officio registrars of vital statistics within their municipalities.

RUSHING THE G.T.P.

Collingwood Schreiber, consulting engineer to the department of railways at Ottawa, arrived in the city on Saturday, and will today proceed to Pottage la Prairie, whence he will go over the new track as far as it is laid which is some 160 miles. He will then return to Winnipeg and meet F. W. Morse, the general manager, and the two will afterwards travel to Edmonton. Mr. Schreiber will inspect the new work in that section and subsequently return to his home.

Accompanying Mr. Schreiber is Dr. Fletcher, the entomologist of the Dominion government, who will go through to Edmonton on the present trip.

In conversation with a reporter Mr. Schreiber stated that the object of his trip was to inspect the completed portions of the G.T.P. railway, was being built as rapidly as the government of Canada required, with the object of bringing pressure on the contractors in case the work was not being carried forward with sufficient energy. The country beyond Edmonton will not be visited on this occasion, Mr. Schreiber having seen it thoroughly on the occasion of his last visit. At that time he rode on horseback for several hundred miles, making the journey through from Edmonton to the Yellow Head pass.

The party will drive for long distances. Certain portions of the dump which have been inspected, and which have been fully completed, will not be before the end of the year. "Before the end of the year the track will be covered from Winnipeg to Saskatoon," said Mr. Schreiber last night. "At least I have Mr. Kelliber's word for it, and what he says I know they will carry out."

"I think we may also be satisfied that they will certainly reach Edmonton next season, and have the track in good order for traffic. But, of course, we are not always correct in our forecasts."

Mr. Schreiber would not say when the work would be completed through the mountains, but he seemed to put full reliance in Mr. Kelliber, the company's engineer, who, with his accustomed Irish modesty, sat blushing like a rose, but mute as a sphinx despite an invitation of Mr. Schreiber for him to take over the interview.—Free Press.

NEW BRIDGE FOR BATTLEFORD

Battleford, Oct. 8.—Mr. Champagne M.P.P., returned this week from a visit to Regina, having made the following trip. He was in Regina, who succeeded Kelly Bros. in the construction of the traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan river. The work on the structure must be commenced not later than October 15, and the north channel work completed by March 1. The entire work of completing the structure must be completed by August 1 next, but as the new contractors intend to put on a day and night gang it is hoped that the work will be ready for the steel early next summer. Mr. Champagne also interested the local government regarding the providing of an adequate coal supply for next winter, and steps are to be taken to prevent an occurrence of last winter's suffering.

PROVINCIAL SUPREME COURT SITS

The first sitting of the supreme court on banc of Saskatchewan was held yesterday afternoon when Chief Justice Wetmore and Justices Johnstone, Newlands and Lamont appeared on the bench.

Nearly all the lawyers of the city were in attendance. Geo. H. Barr, was admitted a member of the bar, being introduced by Hon. F. W. G. Haultain.

The three new King's Counsel, F. W. G. Haultain, Norman Mackenzie and Frank Ford were called by Chief Justice Wetmore. The customary speech making at events such as this with lawyers and judges taking part were short and appropriate. The Regina bar was represented by Mr. Haultain who in his address dealt with the evolution of the judicial system of the province.

RAILWAY MEN HERE

On Monday evening members of the board of trade and city council held a conference in the King's hotel with W. B. Lanigan, general freight agent of the C.P.R., and G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-President of the same company. Questions referring to subways, drainage, siding construction, to warehouses, and new schedule of rate for distributing houses were talked over. Arrangements were made for a conference with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C.P.R., who was to reach here the following Wednesday.

The citizens present were Mayor Smith, P. Cooper, president of the board of trade; Ald. Beverett, Ald. Cowan, P. McAr, Jr., H. W. Laird, J. F. Bole, M.L.A.; D. O. Taylor, H. C. Lawson, publicity commissioner, and others.

PRISONER ESCAPES

A young man by the name of McDonald, who was brought here from Broadview a short time ago charged with burglary, and who was here awaiting his trial, made his escape from the jail yard last Friday morning.

This man, with several other prisoners was out in the yard, under guard, when he scaled the wall by aid of a ladder which was in the vicinity.

The R.N.W.M.P. aided by a number of citizens who were sworn in, patrolled the country for miles around but no trace of the prisoner has yet been discovered.

The supposition is that McDonald boarded the east bound train which was due about the time he escaped.

A great deal of sympathy is expressed for Constable Levy, who was on guard, and who, no doubt, will be called upon to pay the penalty of his negligence.—Mooseomin World.

NORMAL LITERARY

The literary society of the normal school held their usual meeting on Friday afternoon, Oct. 4. The meeting opened with the president "Mr. Huff" in the chair. After some business matters were attended to a lengthy program was given.

The programme consisted of an instrumental by Miss Gehl; speech by Mr. Wm. Trant; instrumental by Miss B. Browne and song by the Glee Club. Mr. Trant gave a very interesting and instructive address on Goethe's Faust. His effort was very much appreciated by the pupils who tendered him a very hearty vote of thanks.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

See that the car is clean. See that the inside doors fit properly, and that the floor and sides are in good repair.

After finishing loading go around the outside of the car with a hammer and tap the boards gently, and if any leaks are discovered see that they are mended before the car is fitted.

TRAGEDY AT BATTLEFORD

North Battleford, Oct. 8.—A shocking tragedy marred the hunting season Thursday night, when Bert Hunter, aged fifteen, accidentally shot and instantly killed his brother Frank.

Frank was twelve years old. The boys lived with their parents about two miles north of town.

The dead lad was killed with a shot gun at close range. The entire top of his skull was blown off.

Frank and Bert were out hunting chickens and were returning home when the accident happened. They were walking down a steep grade close to their home, Bert ahead carrying the gun over his arm, his brother close behind.

Suddenly, for some cause not yet learned, the gun went off. The full charge struck Frank in the forehead, terribly mutilating him.

Bert looked around, and at the terrible sight, ran screaming to the house of Mr. York, a neighbor.

Meanwhile the boys' father hearing the screams ran to the spot. He picked up the dead body of his son, and carried it home.

Both of the parents are completely stunned by the accident, which cost the life of one of their sons. Bert, who did the shooting is prostrate with grief.

The community is greatly shocked at the accident, and heartfelt sympathies is expressed towards the bereaved parents.

PRINCE RUPERT THE TERMINAL

President Hays of the G.T.P. Says It Is Settled—Lots Will Be on the Market in the Spring

Vancouver, Oct. 8.—President Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific, spent four days in Prince Rupert lately, and when there he stated that lots in Prince Rupert would be placed on the market in the early spring; that they would be sold outright to purchasers; and that no favoritism would be shown. The plan of the townsite is practically completed, and surveys can be made at any time. The work of clearing a portion of the townsite will be commenced as soon as the contract can be awarded. A temporary water system will be laid at once, as the pipe is now on the way.

Respecting the commencement of construction work on the west end of the Grand Trunk Pacific, President Hays said that the company was ready to let contracts, and that on his return to Montreal, details now under consideration could be arranged so that contracts could be awarded at once. There were no difficulties in the way other than finding contractors able to carry on the work expeditiously. The large contractors in Canada had their hands full, and nearly all of them were behind in their work.

As to the employment of Asiatic labor, President Hays may be quoted as saying that it was not a question for him to deal with or settle. If he let a contract for construction, it would be up to the contractor to get labor.

President Hays' views on the operation of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and the handling of the town site of Prince Rupert can be summed up in a few words: A free field to everyone who has muscle, and no special favors to anyone who has money. To develop northern British Columbia both money and muscle are needed, and the Grand Trunk Pacific railway must have a developed country in order to get traffic.

Whether the lots in Prince Rupert will be sold at auction or at a fixed price, has not been definitely settled. But it is settled "unalterably and forever" that Prince Rupert will be the Pacific end of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway; that the harbor one of the finest on the north Pacific coast, will have every modern facility for the cheap and rapid transit of freight and cargoes; that the townsite will be laid out on a comprehensive plan, to conform with the topographic features of the ground, and not laid out as a checker board; that every man who buys a lot can erect thereon a building to suit his taste and according to his own pocket book, leaving the future city authorities to deal with fire limits and other necessary building restrictions; that Prince Rupert, as far as President Hays can help it, will be one of the big cities of the Pacific coast and second to no city in British Columbia.

HUBBARD, THE PHILOSOPHER

Elbert Hubbard, writer, philosopher and founder and controlling head of the famous Roycroft shop at East Aurora, New York, is one of America's remarkable men. Recently at the invitation of the Cosmopolitan he wrote an article about himself and his work for that magazine, in the course of which he gives this account of himself and his career:

I was born in Illinois, June 19th, 1858. My father was a country doctor whose income never exceeded five hundred dollars a year. I left school at fifteen, with a fair hold on the three R's, and beyond this my education in "manual training" had been good. I knew all the forest trees, all wild animals thereabouts, every kind of fish, frog, fowl or bird that swam, ran or flew. I knew the different breeds of cattle, horses, sheep and swine.

I could teach wild cows to stand while being milked, break horses to saddle or harness, could sow, plow or reap; knew the mysteries of apple butter, pumpkin pie, pickled beef, smoked side beef, and could make lye at a leach and formulate soft soap. That is to say, I was a bright, strong, active country boy, who had been brought up to help his father and mother get a living for a large family.

Country Boys. I was not so densely ignorant—don't feel sorry for country boys. God is often on their side. At fifteen I worked on a farm and did a man's work for a boy's pay. I did not like it, and told the man so. He replied, "you know what you can do." And I replied "Yes." I went westward like the courses of the empire and became a cowboy; tired of this and went to Chicago; worked in a printing office; peddled soap from house to house; shovelled lumber on the docks; read all the books I could find wrote letters back to the country newspapers and became a reporter; next got a job as travelling salesman; taught in a district school; read Emerson, Carlyle and Macaulay; worked in a soap factory; read Shakespeare and committed most of Hamlet to memory with an eye on the stage; became manager of a soap factory, then partner; evoked an idea for the concern and put it on the track of making millions—knew it did not want them; sold out my interest for $75,000 and went to Harvard college; tramped through Europe; wrote for sundry newspapers; penned two books (couldn't find a publisher); taught school at Buffalo; tramped through Europe some more and met William Morris (taught it); came back to East Aurora and started "Chautauqua Circles," studied Greek and Latin with a local clergyman; raised trotting horses; wrote "Little Journeys to the Homes of Good Men and Great."

University of Hard Knocks. So that is how I got my education such as it is. I am a graduate of the University of Hard Knocks and I've taken several postgraduate courses. I have worked at five different trades enough to be familiar with the tools. In 1899 Tufts college bestowed on me the degree of Master of Arts; but since I did not earn the degree it does not count. I have never been sick a day, never lost a meal through disinclination to eat, never consulted a doctor, never used tobacco or intoxicants. My work has never been regulated by the eight hour clause.

Horses have been my only extravagance, and I ride horseback daily now a horse that I broke myself, and has never been saddled by another, and that has never been harnessed. My best friends have been working men, homely women and children. My father and mother are members of my household, and they work in the shop when they are so inclined. My mother's business now is mostly to care for the flowers, and my father we call "Physician to the Roycrofts," as he gives free advice to all who desire his services. Needless to say, his medicine is mostly a matter of the mind. Unfortunately for him, we do not enjoy poor health, so there is very seldom anyone sick to be cured. Fresh air is free, and outdoor exercise is not discouraged.

Fortune Favours. The Roycroft shop and belongings represent an investment of about three hundred thousand dollars. We have no liabilities, making it a strict business policy to sign no notes, or other instruments of debt, that may in the future prove inopportune and tend to disturb digestion. Fortune has favored us. Besides being a workshop the Roycroft is a school. We are following out a dozen distinct lines of study, and everyone connected or working in the place is enrolled as a member of one or more classes. There is no fee to pupils, but each pupil purchases his own books—the care of his books and belongings being a part of one's education. All the teachers are workers in the shop, and are volunteers, teaching without pay beyond what he receives from his regular labor.

The idea of teaching we have found is a great benefit—to the teacher. The teacher gets most of the lessons. Once a week there is a faculty meeting, when each teacher gives in a verbal report of his stewardship. It is responsibility that develops one, and to know that your pupils expect you to know is a great incentive to study. Then teaching demands that you shall give—give yourself—and he who gives most receives most. We deepen our impressions by recounting them, and he who does teach others teaches himself. I am never quite so proud as when someone addresses me as "teacher."

We try to find out what each person can do best, what he wants to do, and then we encourage him to put his best into it—also to do some thing besides his specialty, finding rest in change. Help One Another. The thing that pays should be the expedient thing, and the expedient thing should be the proper and right thing. That which began with us as a matter of expediency is often referred to as a "philanthropy." I do not like the word, and wish to state here that the Roycroft is in no sense a charity—I do not believe in giving any man something for nothing. You give a man a dollar and the man will think less of you because he thinks less of himself; but if you give him a chance to earn a dollar, he will think more of himself and more of you. The only way to help people is to give them a chance to help themselves. So then the Roycroft system is one of reciprocity—you help me and I'll help you. We will not be here forever, anyway; soon death, the kind old nurse, will come and help one another while we may, we are going the same way—let's go hand in hand.

Kootenay Steel Range

If you purchase a Kootenay without the reservoir and decide later that the reservoir is a real necessity, why, just order it and attach it yourself. It's easily done. Merely remove the screws and take off the plate marked "REMOVE FOR RESERVOIR" (see top illustration), which provides an opening for the hot air to come through and circulate under the reservoir. Then attach, by means of screws, the reservoir and the flue box shown in lower illustration. A screwdriver is the only tool required.

WILL ATTEND OXFORD

Trooper Mulloy, Who Lost His Sight in the Boer War, Will Attend Oxford University

Every Briton knows the story of the brave Canadian volunteer, Trooper Mulloy, who lost the sight of both eyes through being shot at the battle of Rietfontein on July 16th, 1900, and Canadians everywhere will be interested in following his course through life, which genuine grit and determination promises to make as brilliant in the educational world as courage made his career as a soldier. L. W. R. Mulloy, B.A., as the gallant trooper is known in college circles, was in Montreal calling on his friends, and he sailed for England recently in company with two friends, N. Macdonnell, a Canadian Rhodes scholar, and C. Laidlaw, who is going to London to pursue research work in medicine.

Mr. Mulloy graduated in arts at Queen's University, Kingston, in the summer of 1906, taking the B.A. degree with honors. As a matter of fact he did the work necessary for the degree of master of arts, but his period of attendance did not entitle him to the degree, which he will proceed to through extra-mural work. During the past year he has been at home on his farm at Winchester, Ont., where his mother and sisters reside. The inconvenience resulting from his lack of eyesight has been largely overcome by the assistance of readers, who go over his studies with him and his lessons and examinations are done, so far as writing is necessary, by the aid of a typewriting machine, on which he has long been proficient.

When it became known that Mulloy wished to pursue his studies at Oxford, financial assistance was proffered by several friends, but this he felt obliged from personal reasons to refuse. However, another proposal has since been made, which would probably be acceptable to him. It has been suggested in influential quarters, that a portion of the balance still remaining of the Canadian Patriotic fund, which was raised to aid persons who had been injured in the Boer war, could very properly be appropriated towards defraying the cost of the three years' post-graduate course which Mr. Mulloy intends taking at Oxford. This suggestion has met with the hearty support of a large number of subscribers and directors of the fund. This being a national fund, raised in recognition of a national service, it is understood that Mr. Mulloy would regard the offer of its advantages in an altogether different light from private contributions.

The special subjects which Mr. Mulloy intends to study at Oxford are political science, history and jurisprudence, in which field he sets a promising opening with a possible literary or professional position at the end of the course. The good wishes of Canadians will go with him.

HARDING-CASWELL

South Qu'Appelle, Oct. 4.—Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Peter's pro-cathedral, the Ven. Archdeacon Harding, of Indian Head, was united in marriage to Miss Emma Caswell, of Qu'Appelle.

The cathedral was crowded to the doors with interested spectators and the beautiful decorations of flowers and ferns added to the interest of the occasion. The bride was given away by the Very Rev. Dean Sargent, and the officiating clergymen were the Right Rev. Bishop Grisdale and Rural Dean Dobie, both of Indian Head. The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Talbot, sister of the bride, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Boyle, manager of the Imperial Bank at Balgonie.

In addition to the relatives living here, there were present from a distance, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Clark, of Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Miller of Fort Qu'Appelle; Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Grisdale. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents which testify to the great esteem in which she is held as a leader in social, church and philanthropic circles. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome cabinet and an oil painting of the Madonna, and to the bridesmaid a prayer book handsomely bound in white. The bride's present to the bridesmaid was a beautiful gold bangle.

The music was rendered by Miss Mabel Morgan and Marion Henley, the latter of whom rendered the wedding march effectively. Holy Communion was taken by the bride and groom from the hands of the bishop. The happy couple accompanied by some of the relatives, went to Fort Qu'Appelle this morning to spend the day, after which they will spend an extended honeymoon in the eastern provinces. Their place of residence will be Indian Head.

The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Cupid Objects.

Dan Cupid refuses to allow his sentiments to be expressed on a cheap flimsy writing paper. To show respect and refinement and to pass Cupid's O.K. we must pen our words on a good substantial paper—one which takes the ink easily and of which we need not be ashamed.

It is easy to write on a bad paper; but it is easier to do so on a good one. The cost is so little and the benefit so large, that you can't afford to use the bad. Carry your personality into your correspondence. Try our popular

Mr. E. A. McCallum appears quite disfigured these days, the result of an automobile accident on Sunday evening.

President Roosevelt says "It is not a kindness to bring up a child in the belief that it can get through life by shirking difficulties. The child that is going to be worth its salt must be taught to face difficulties and overcome them." This he gives as one main reason why country boys who get their early training on the farm so often make the greatest men.

Mackenzie & Mann's bridge gang have arrived at Prince Albert to commence the construction of the joint railway and traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan river there. Eight cars of outfits have also arrived from Erwood, and other bridge plants are on the way from the Elbow, near Langham. Men are now at work laying the track from the C.N.R. terminals to the site of the bridge. Construction will proceed throughout the winter and will give employment to a large number of men.

FEDERAL BUSINESS COLLEGE Bank of Ottawa Bldg., Regina

One month's salary pays the entire cost

It is not necessary, nor is it wise for young people to spend years of the best portion of their lives in preparing for professions which are not so remunerative as is the work for which they may prepare in a few months. The majority of our graduates receive as much for their services in one month as would pay the total amount of their college fees. Our courses form a short cut to business success. During the last six months the Regina Federal Business College has placed more than sixty students in excellent situations; with initial salaries ranging from $50 to $60 per month. Every capable student is guaranteed a good situation upon graduation. The Federal Schools are open the year round and students may enter for instruction at any time. Free catalogue. Write today
