MORE THAN 30,000 CANADIANS

Have Returned From the United States During the Past Seven Months.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—During the past twelve months 134,189 immigrants have entered Canada which is an increase of six per cent. over the previous twelve months when 126,744 arrived. During the seven months ended October 31, 1924, 30,966 Canadians returned to this country from the United States, according to statistics issued here yesterday, by the Immigration Department.

Of the Canadians who have come home in the past seven months 25,985 were Canadian born citizens, 3,026 were British subjects who had acquired Canadian domicile, and 2,422 were naturalized Canadian citizens. Since last April the number returning each month has varied three to five thousand. July was the month which saw the largest number of Canadians coming home when there were 5,127, and October—the smallest figure for any of the seven months.

NEW HOCKEY CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED IN KENTVILLE

KENTVILLE, Nov. 25.—Kentville will have a new hockey club. This was definitely decided on at an enthusiastic meeting held at the Kentville arena last evening. It will be known as the Kentville Amateur Hockey Club, and will immediately apply for admittance to the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association.

Owing to the fact that all of the officers of the K. A. A. have been on the black list, along with the members of last season's baseball team, it was felt that a new start would be made. G. W. Lyons acted as chairman, and the following officers were elected:

Honorary President—Herbert Oylor.
President—H. O. Bishop.
Vice President—G. W. Lyons.
Secretary-Treasurer—S. Smith.
Executive—Harold Symons; W. S. Prince; Harry Vail, George Bishop, H. W. Porter.

The team, this year, will be practically the same as last year's runners up for the Provincial championship; only three will be missing—Charlie Wigmore and Quentin Leitch, who are on the black list through playing ball, and "Biddy" Burke, who is in Ottawa. Last year's senior players who have signified their intention of joining up are: "Buck" Bennett, Waldon Kennedy, Gordon Kennedy, Harry Barnaby, Ralph Walsh, Harry Corbin and Don Oylor.

A number of last year's junior players are expected to be fitted to travel in senior company this winter. A drive for membership for the new club will be made at once, and as Kentville is a red hot hockey town, a large number are expected to join in the new club on its feet.

Barry Lloyd, of Kentville, has made an attractive offer to take over the fine large Kentville arena for the season.

MRS. ALEXANDER FULLERTON

The death of Mrs. Alexander Fullerton, of North Grand Pre which occurred at the home of her son, Mr. Ross Fullerton on Wednesday of last week, recalled one of the oldest residents of Kentville. Mrs. Fullerton was seventy-seven years of age, and was the second wife of Mr. Fullerton, who predeceased her some years ago. She was a daughter of the late William Allen, of Fraserville, Cumberland county, and survived by two sons and six daughters, Oliver, in California, and Ross, in Ontario, California, Mrs. (Mrs. Stephens) in California, Mary (Mrs. Cogswell), Carrie (Mrs. Nickerson), and Lizzie (Mrs. Simson), all of Winthrop, Mass., and Stella (Mrs. C. F. Patterson), of Lawrenceston, Annapolis county, and Phoebe, at home. Mrs. Simson and Mrs. Nickerson were with their mother at the last.

The funeral service, which was held on Friday afternoon was conducted by Rev. W. A. Burbridge, pastor of the Lower Horton Methodist church, who was assisted by Rev. G. W. Whitman. The interment was in the old Methodist cemetery, at Grand Pre.

GIRLS, HAVE YOU GOT YOUR DOLL YET?

The beautiful doll which THE ACADIAN is offering the young people in return for a slight effort on their part is causing quite a sensation and the boys appear to be nearly as much interested as the girls. Already a large number of subscriptions have been handed in and our first shipment of dolls is already exhausted. We have another shipment on the way, however, and any boy or girl who complies with the requirements may be assured of securing the doll, the ownership of which would make any little girl wild with joy. A description of this wonderful creation will be found in another place in this paper, but it fails to give any correct conception of its many attractions. The doll is in the regular way at ten dollars and is given away to any person who secures five new subscriptions to THE ACADIAN.

Already we have had a number of applications to sell these dolls to parents looking for Christmas gifts, but they are not for sale. The way to secure one is to get the necessary subscriptions. All over the county there are still those who are not regular readers of the paper and it should be a very easy thing for any girl who desires one of these beautiful and wonderful dolls to have her desire gratified. Tell the girls about it and get them started. A slight effort will be necessary to ensure their success.

LAW AND ORDER

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN
Mr. Editor,—With distress I would like to call your attention to appendings in our town.

At two recent funerals where burial was made in our beautiful cemetery, the floral offerings, exponents of love and sympathy, were attacked by a horde of so-called "street Arabs" in one case, while the sexton was still in the cemetery, and the flowers ruthlessly torn from their fastenings and ribbons likewise. On being spoken to "they" relinquished their devastation only to return with renewed vigor when their critic had departed.

The contempt with which "Law and Order" is treated in this town seems to have permeated even this section of the population.

Surely something can be done to preserve the sanctity of the resting place of our dead and prevent the vandalism now prevalent.

Thanking you for your space,
A. B. C.

PICTURE HAS WIDE RANGE

"His Children's Children" Has Story of Human Interest.

A picture with a wide range of scene and a story of great human interest is "His Children's Children", Sam Wood's Paramount screen version of Arthur Train's successful novel which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday. The cast is an extraordinary one and among the featured players are Bebe Daniels, Dorothy Mackall, James Rennie and George Fawcett.

The story, which deals with the foibles of modern society life, high finance, and parental neglect of children, gives wide scope for sympathetic and picturesque treatment. Scenes in the picture range from Wall street to the Denver freight yards with many others, including Long Island homes, English mansions, Broadway cafes, subways, elevated roads, beaches, Greenwich Village, and Long Island hunting lodges. Director Wood asserts that the picture gives a more complete view of New York city and its life as a background for the gripping story than any production ever filmed.

OUT IN FRONT

(By the Pioneer Sergeant)

WE were parked before
THE Post Office
ONE morning recently,
WATCHING the sights—
AND there are some
SIGHTS—
AND Some are not
AMONG other things
WE noticed half a dozen
CARS
COME trailing out.
THEY all appeared to have
ABOUT the same sized feet—
POSSIBLY
ABOVE the average.
WE noticed that three
TROD upon the cement walk
AND three upon the soft, wet
LAWN.
WE couldn't just
TELL why.
PERHAPS they had sore feet.
NOW the Caretaker
IS worrying years
OFF his life
EVERY day
ABOUT that grass.
RECENTLY he harvested
THE line of little
GREEN posts.
WOULDN'T it be a
GRAND and glorious
STATE of affairs
IF he didn't need to
PLANT them again.
AND besides—
SAVING the grass
WILL add years to the
CARETAKERS life—
AND he's worth saving
TOO.
WE thank you.

 In the by-election in West Hastings, Ontario, on Tuesday, the Liberal candidate, Charles Edward Hanna, was elected by a majority of nearly 500. E. Guss Porter, the Conservative candidate, has represented the constituency at Ottawa for nearly twenty-four years, and the turn-over was a great surprise to both parties.
 In our adv. columns this week appear a number of Christmas announcements which should be of interest to our readers. With the big anniversary only four weeks off it is certainly full time to be considering Christmas shopping and of course those who get first choice are most likely to find what they want. Wolfville merchants have made abundant preparation and already the stores are putting on a decidedly attractive appearance in anticipation of the Yuletide season.
 "The Light That Failed", at the Orpheum Theatre last night and to-night, is one of the best pictures ever shown at Wolfville. The acting of Percy Marmont is wonderful and the picture of intense interest, and should have been witnessed by a much larger audience than was present last evening. There was a good attendance, however, on Tuesday evening, when in addition to the picture, which was a clever burlesque on "The Three Musketeers", there were two vaudeville acts which were quite a novelty for Wolfville.
 AN ENJOYABLE EVENING
 The senior classes of St. John's Church School invited a number of their friends to a Social at the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening. The hall had been prettily decorated and presented a charming picture when filled with the young people. The programme consisted mainly of old-fashioned square dances and games. It was a pleasure to those in charge to note the grace and courtesy shown in these dances, and it is to be hoped that they may once more come into fashion.

 Mrs. H. Chipman, who has been ill with a severe cold, is now improving.

 The ladies of the Lower Horton Methodist church will hold a Hot Chicken Supper in the vestry on Wednesday, Dec. 3rd, at 6 o'clock. Admission, 10c. Supper, 40c. It will be too good to miss.
 The Acadia Conservatory of Music has arranged for two performances by visiting artists during the winter months. On Jan. 23rd the Russian Sextet will visit Wolfville, and on Feb. 7th a concert will be given by the Apollo Duo. Further particulars will be given later. Remember the dates and keep them open.
 CROSS WORD PUZZLES
 THE ACADIAN begins a new feature this week in the form of Cross Word Puzzles, which are taking the country by storm. These puzzles have been appearing in the daily papers for some time and we have made arrangements whereby we will be able to give them to our readers also. The first one will be found on page eight and the solution will appear in next week's paper.
 The problem is to fill in the squares in the large cut with synonyms for the words given in the key. For example: In the horizontal column the first word is box, being a synonym for "wooden receptacle". No. 3 is "toast", which is "proposed at a banquet". No. 7 is "use" being a synonym for "utilize", etc., etc. When the proper synonyms are filled in the squares will spell names, words, or abbreviations, horizontally as well as vertically.
 FRENCH CLUB ORGANIZED AT ACADIA
 The recently organized French Club of Acadia University held its first regular meeting last Friday evening for the purpose of electing officers, accepting the constitution as drawn up by a previously appointed committee and discussing plans for the coming winter. This club, which is restricted to thirty members, has been started under the direction of Prof. Paul Rogers, instructor in French at Acadia. Its aim is to study the different phases of French intellectual life and to help the students in conversing French. The meetings are to be held once a month. The officers elected were:
 President—Beatrice Smith, '25.
 Vice President—Theodore Roy, '25.
 Secretary—Virginia Virginia, '25.

HOME DRYING OF APPLES

There is no conflict between the advocates of canning and of drying for each has its field, separate and distinct. Many products may be canned more advantageously while with others there is a distinct advantage in drying. Then, too, the number of glass jars in the average home is limited when these are filled, home canning must stop unless additional jars are purchased. Dried food products require far less room for storage and for shipping and there is little or no danger from freezing because the greater part of the water content has been removed.

It has been estimated that half the garden products raised in this country are never used because we do not know how to save them for winter use or do not think it worth while. Any manufacturer with as diversified a field as the farmer, will tell you that his staples barely take care of the running expenses of his plant, and that the profits of the company are derived from a restricted menu all winter because they allow valuable homegrown food products to rot at harvest time, and lack the time, foresight, or money to purchase commercially canned and dried foodstuffs to take their place.

Just as in home canning, one must not expect to improve the raw product. If no attempt is made to select good quality fresh material for drying, if the products are not carefully graded before being put through the drying operation, then the result will be a poorer quality of dried product.

Get the Moisture Out. Successful drying depends to a surprising extent upon the amount of moisture, the humidity in the air. All fresh food products contain a very high percentage of water, much higher than the surrounding air. Just as water seeks its level so moisture equalizes itself if given an opportunity. Nature provides skins for apples and potatoes to help retain the moisture in these products, and we therefore usually store them in their raw state. However, if the surrounding atmosphere is reasonably dry sufficient

CLAIMS CARSON COOPER

Carson Cooper, crack forward of the Hamilton Tigers seniors of the Ontario Hockey Association, whose services have been sought by practically every manager in the National Hockey League, is no longer free, according to the claim of Newey Lalonde, manager of the Saskatoon Sheiks, who says that he has Cooper under contract and that he may trade him to Canadiens of Montreal.

moisture will escape through the skins to cause the products to shrivel or wither, and occasionally enough moisture evaporates so that the products will not rot. This is the fundamental principle in drying. By means of various apparatus, by removing the hard surfaces, and by increasing exposed surfaces, the moisture is released and then, when the products are to be used the process is reversed and they are soaked in water to restore the moisture, just as we soak withered radishes or celery to make them crisp again. Warm air absorbs more moisture than cold, and most drying operations therefore include raising the temperature. Likewise stagnant air soon becomes saturated with all the moisture it will hold and hence successful drying demands some method whereby a circulation of air is maintained.

Generally speaking, flavor and cooking quality are best preserved when products are dried at a low temperature and it is also true that rapid drying tends to improve the quality. Manufacturers of dried milk appreciate this and therefore force the liquid milk through tiny pinholes, converting it into a spray or mist which floats through a current of warm air until the necessary moisture is removed. By reducing the liquid to a spray they make every particle subject to the action of the warm air and as this air becomes saturated with moisture it is forced from the drying room and more dry air takes its place.

Blanching and cold dipping of all products are now recognized by most authorities as necessary steps in drying, for much the same reasons as in cold-pack canning. By the addition of these steps a more uniform and higher quality finished product is secured and what is still more important, weevils and other insect life are eliminated, thus removing one of the great drawbacks in home drying operations. Sun drying is the oldest form of evaporation used in food preservation.

Indians have for many years utilized the dry, sultry days of mid-summer for "jerking" meat. It is the cheapest method of home drying and requires less labor than some of the other methods, but of course is not adaptable to localities having a humid atmosphere or at seasons of frequent showers. In its simplest form it consists of spreading the products in thin layers upon racks in the sun. Usually cheesecloth, mosquito netting, or better still, strips of glass are placed over the products to keep out insects, dust, and dirt. Any home-made rack for sun drying purposes must be so constructed as to provide for the elimination of saturated air by circulation. Those products which dry quickly are most successfully handled in this type of outfit.

Fan drying to be uniformly successful must be combined with heat in a m m manner. While it is considered a method of drying, is used independently to some extent, and is successful under certain conditions, it must be considered largely as an efficiency factor in sun and artificial-heat drying.

Drying by artificial heat is the most practical for home use. The usual method is to use a rack holding sliding trays, and suspending this apparatus over the kitchen stove or setting it upon the back of the stove. One can thus be independent of weather conditions and the work is done in the kitchen where one can watch developments closely. A sudden shower will ruin a batch of products in a sun dryer but does not interfere with stove-drying operations. Products dry more rapidly by this method and the work is therefore completed in a shorter time or a larger amount may be prepared in the same length of time. Stove dryers are not expensive and can easily be made at home. Care should be taken to make the dryer fireproof by building the bottom of the rack of metal. Another type of stove dryer consists of a flat, inclosed shallow pan which is filled with water, the products being placed upon the top and dried from contact with the heated metal.

Equipment in Home. Very little equipment is necessary for home drying, and aside from the dryer itself is usually found in the home. Paring knives, pans for blanching and cold dipping, and tightly inclosed containers for storage are the necessary materials. All products except berries should be blanched by plunging in boiling water for from two to five minutes, cold-dipping in water immediately, and placed immediately upon the dryer. Of course potatoes, beets, and other thick-skinned products should be peeled or scraped before cutting. In fact the preliminary steps are almost identical with those used in cold-pack canning. Products should be dry and completely dry until most of the moisture has been extracted. A very little experience will teach one when to remove the materials. Apples and many other products are finished when they will bend without breaking and yet not show moisture upon the broken surface. Berries should not show moisture when crushed between the hands. Fruits intended for drying should be handled carefully for bruised spots dry dark and make an inferior product. Care should be taken always to prevent burning, especially during the winter stages when the product is almost dry. With a fan the dryer until most of the moisture has been extracted. All dried products should be packed in air and insect-proof containers, and if these are of glass, they should be stored in a dark place for light affects all dried products. There is little danger of properly dried products absorbing enough moisture from the air to cause trouble. Carefully sealed paper bags, hard cans with close fitting covers, cereal boxes ressealed with pasted paper strips, etc., may be used for storing the dried products.

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to 500 per month.

Blue broadcloth makes the girl's coat shown here. The model is built on the perfectly straight lines that are so smart, and fastens with one button at the side. "HALF-A-DOLLAR-BILL" IS NEW METRO-GRAF SPECIAL

"Half-a-Dollar-Bill" Max Graf's new production for Metro release, is announced to be shown next week at the Orpheum theatre, is said to be the finest sea story ever screened. It not only has a cast of such prominent players as Anne Q. Nilsson, William T. Carleton, Raymond Hatton, Mitchell Lewis, George MacQuarrie, and Alec B. Francis, but it introduces a new juvenile actor in four-year-old Frankie Darro, who gives an exceptional performance as the young boy who is nicknamed "Half-a-Dollar-Bill", because as a baby he is found abandoned with a torn dollar bill pinned to him.

The atmosphere of the sea pervades the whole picture, some of the general views of the good ship "Grampus" seeming almost to shed salt.

Curtis Benton wrote the story and W. Cohen was photographer and Alfred A. Cohen wrote the titles. Max Graf personally supervised the production.

To be shown this Friday and Saturday.

The wife deposits

In a joint account

For the children, too

—so a business man writes us. "She can do it better than I. Each pay day she always deposits our savings first. We never buy anything unless we have the cash to pay for it and each year our savings are growing." A Joint Account in the name of husband and wife allows the wife to deposit or withdraw money during her husband's absence or when he cannot get to the bank during business hours. A Savings Account for the children will teach them the value of keeping their money, thus helping them to form the habit of saving.

FUNERAL OF LATE A. W. PATTISON

The funeral service of the late Andrew W. Pattison took place from his late residence on Saturday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. A. B. Higgins, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Outerbridge and Rev. J. W. Prestwood. The music was furnished by the choir of the Methodist church. A duet, "Some Day in Silver Cord Will Break", was impressively rendered by Messrs. Hugh Kolob and Cyril Harvie. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, among them being the three links (floral), from Belvedere Encampment, Windsor. The impressive Odd Fellows committal service was used at the grave. Interment was in River Bank Cemetery. The pall bearers were old members of Edwards Lodge, Capt. W. McKinley, G. Comstock, G. Beazley, E. Coldwell, George Frizzle and A. Murray.

DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

Feb. 6th, 1850. This has been the coldest day we have had this winter. I only kept school half a day as the funeral of Rebecca Treacy took place at two o'clock p.m. There was a large gathering. It is a great bereavement to the husband and three children; she was much beloved.

10th. Sunday afternoon. Last Thursday morning Simeon and I and Ezra started to drive to Cornwallis; Joe and Olivia went in another sleigh. As we got along to Mr. Treacy's a fog ran out and frightened the horse so we upset in the snow. Mr. Treacy soon ran out and Joe also came to our assistance so we were soon on our way again. We stopped at Hancock's and got warm and then drove on to David Dickie's, where we arrived shortly after twelve o'clock. They had not been to dinner so we were soon partaking refreshments from their hospitable board. At four o'clock we went over to Mr. Barnaby's and spent the evening, accompanied by all the family except Maria, Martha Somerville and Sam Borden also were there. We returned to Mr. Dickie's and stopped all night. In the morning we went to Uncle David Dickie's. After dinner Joe and Olivia drove to Scotts Bay. In the evening we went to William Dickie's; Nancy is keeping house for him. John Belcher went with us. Mr. David Dickie and Mr. Chism appeared a little later, he having come for Martha Somerville. We spent a very pleasant evening, then returned to Scotts Bay. In the morning Mr. Chism and Martha went to Horton. We then went over to Mr. Hardwick's for a short time, and went to George Dickie's for dinner. There is a beautiful view from their windows of the water. On returning to Mr. David Dickie's we found Joe and Olivia there; in a short time we started for home after having had a most enjoyable time among a very kind, sociable people. We met a great many out for a sleigh ride; we saw Grace and Nelson going home. We got to Father's just dark. Joe and Olivia went on home but we stayed all night. This morning we found quite a change in the weather, warm and raining. We went to meeting and had a good sermon from Rev. McKeen. Brother John came home with Josephus.

16th. The past week has been a busy one with me, having over 20 scholars Jolly. The weather has been like spring. We happened to strike just the right time for our trip to Cornwallis, as the snow has nearly disappeared. I have been studying Navigation this week whenever I could get any spare time. Monday evening we had callers; Tuesday at Matilda's, as we went for us to come and have a sing; Louisa Brown, W. Lynch, Rob. John and Ann all came home with us for a call. Wednesday evening at meeting; Thursday we were at Father's; he, with Mother, Joe and Olivia were at Lydia's. A daughter was born to Mary Sam Thursday night. Friday evening a temperance lecture and Saturday at Father's again; had a good sing and some fun, as Joe and Olivia were also present. This morning we went to meeting and heard Rev. Vaughan preach from the text, "Set your affections on things above", etc.

Friday, March 1st. This has been the most stormy day we have had all winter; it began snowing at day light. The weather has been very changeable. Now blustering March has come, the welcome harbinger of spring. There was a lecture last evening by Mr. Winter both on temperance. He is to speak again this evening but the going is too bad to venture out. Capt. James Curry from Newport is here to tea with us.

5th. Capt. Beckwith called this morning to visit the school. Ann has a quilting today and in the evening Simeon and I went up there.

8th. This evening we have been studying Geography and talking over the news of the day, the boys and Ann with us.

9th. We spent the evening at Capt. Beckwith's. It has been the coldest day we have had all winter.

10th. Rebecca Elder came home with us from meeting and stayed till the evening service.

12th. Mr. Kirk came to day to see if I could take Harriet to board and attend school, so I have another scholar. Last night we were at Father's again studying with the boys and Ann.

14th. We were invited to George Holmes' for the evening, also Father, Mother, Maria and Mr. Curry.

15th. Attended another Temperance meeting; sang some good songs and enjoyed ourselves well.

16th. Ruth and Abigail Holmes, Louisa Brown, John and Louisa Davidson and Mr. Kirk came and spent the evening; the subject discussed was mesmerism.

17th. This has been a lovely day. Mr. and Mrs. Elkanah Harvie from Newport came and took dinner with us after meeting. Mrs. Eleazer Lockhart went to Emily Ann's. After dinner we went over to see Maria and Mr. Curry. They looked well in their wedding attire. When the guests had all assembled Rev. Vaughn performed the marriage ceremony. We heartily congratulated the happy couple and hope they may long continue so, and be a blessing to each other. We then partook of cake and cheese without the former accompaniment of wine, which was laid aside for the better and purer drink of water. Mrs. Harvie, Asa Davidson and I sang some and at sunset the company dispersed, except the Newport guests.

WHALING ON THE PACIFIC COAST

This photo shows a whaling gun, loaded and ready for action. The harpoon which is fired from the gun, is attached to the boat by the rope lying under the gun. This rope uncoils as the harpoon travels through the air, and after piercing the whale enables the crew to hold their catch and bring it up to the ship. Whaling is a very hazardous occupation and provides plenty of thrills.

VANCOUVER SAYS NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING PAYS

Vancouver city has found that advertising its trade advantages in the great papers of Canada pays. On an expenditure of $1,172 out of an advertising proposition of $2,000 the city has been able to interest seven big firms in city property available for industries. One of these offered to erect a building and pay $1,800 rent for three lots and submit to a $60,000 assessment. The advertising campaign will be extended. In addition to this small civic expenditure the Vancouver publicity bureau spent $24,000 in display advertising, and the Puget Sound and B. C. Association another $33,000, of which Vancouver contributed $9,000. They found newspaper and magazine advertising the most profitable in presenting British Columbia to the travelling public. With the development of better roads and better hotels, this city and province will find it profitable to widen its publicity efforts, both in the search for new industries and in influencing tourist travel.

The average man's politics and religion are either inherited or accepted at second hand.

SALT DEPOSITS IN CANADIAN WEST

MONTREAL, Nov 18.—That Canada had approximately 100,000,000 tons of salt deposits in its Western Provinces, principally in Saskatchewan, was the statement made here of L. H. Cole, of the Mines branch of the Dominion Government, Ottawa.

Despite these great resources, the speaker held little hope for their development, owing to the competition of Great Britain and the United States, unless, he added, "freight rates from the West were low enough to permit of shipment".

Why Advertise?

Bruce Barton relates a story about a friend who approached the proprietor of a retail store to sell him an advertising contract. "Why should I advertise?" asked the dealer. "I've been here for twenty years. There isn't a man, woman or child here who doesn't know who I am and what I sell."

The advertising man promptly asked, "What is that building over there?"

The proprietor answered, "That's the oldest church in this town."

"How long has it been there?" the advertising man asked.

"Oh, I don't know, seventy-five years probably."

"And yet," explained the advertising man, "they ring the church bell every Sunday morning."
