Lieutenant Governor
 McDonald

With feelings of profound regret we find ourselves called upon to record the demise of Hon. Augustine Collins McDonald, Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island, which occurred at his residence, Brighton Road, on Wednesday afternoon last. He had been ill for some months, and his death did not come unexpectedly. But, up to the time he was stricken with his fatal illness, he had enjoyed remarkably good health and his step was ever elastic and buoyant.

Augustine Colin McDonald, the son of Hugh and Catherine McDonald, was born at Pamunee P. E. Island on June 30th 1837, so that he had entered on his 83rd year a couple of weeks before his death. He was educated at the Grammar School, Georgetown and the Central Academy, Charlottetown. Early in life he settled at Montague, where he built up an extensive mercantile business. He married on June 27, 1865, May Elizabeth, sixth daughter of the late Hon. John Small McDonald of Charlottetown. He was a Liberal Conservative in politics and was elected to the Provincial Legislature in 1870, and held his seat there until 1873, when our Province entered Confederation. In this year he was elected to the House of Commons, as a supporter of Sir John A. McDonald. He was re-elected in 1878, 1882, 1891 and 1896. He was sworn in as Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island on June 7th 1915.

During the greater part of his occupancy of Government House the cruel war raged, and some of his near relatives fell victims to the enemy, while patriotically discharging their duty to their country. In addition to this, he experienced much private sorrow and domestic affliction. First came the death of his unmarried daughter, the faithful companion of her parents, in their advancing years. Later his beloved wife and life partner was stricken down by the hand of death. Through all these vicissitudes, in joy and sorrow, the late Lieutenant Governor was always the true Christian gentleman.

The mortal remains of the deceased were borne from his late residence to St. Dunstan's Cathedral, on Friday Morning, followed by a large concourse of people. At the Cathedral Solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass was celebrated by his Lordship Bishop O'Leary, assisted by Very Rev. J. C. McLean V. G. as high priest. Revs. A. J. McIntyre and J. J. McDonald as deacons of honor; Revs. Maurice McDonald and William V. McDonald as deacon and sub-deacon of office, respectively, and Rev. Dr. Hughes as Master of ceremonies. Rev. Dr. McMillan, Rev. Dr. McLellan and several other priests occupied seats in the Sanctuary. After Mass the Liberation was sung and the absolution was given, his Lordship the Bishop officiating. A fitting eulogy on the life and character of the deceased Lieutenant Governor was delivered by his Lordship.

On Friday afternoon the remains were borne from the Cathedral, where they had rested since morning, to the Railway Station, whence they were taken to Montague for interment. The body lay in the family residence over night, and the final obsequies took place in the parish church Saturday morning. An immense throng of people from Charlottetown and from the surrounding country assembled at the town of Montague Saturday morning to pay their last tribute of respect to the deceased Lieutenant Governor, who had spent the greater part of his active manly life in this place. The funeral cortege from the house to the church was very large and embraced representatives of all classes of the community.

In the church solemn Mass of Requiem was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Father Croken, assisted by Rev. Father McAulay as deacon, Rev. Father Campbell sub-deacon and Rev. Maurice McDonald Master of ceremonies. Other priests present included Rev. Dr. Gillis, Rev. Dr. McMillan, Rev. Father McGuigan, Rev. Father Croken, also officiated at the Liberation and absolution. The mortal remains were then borne to the adjoining cemetery, where the final ceremonies were performed and the body committed to the tomb. The weather was beautiful and nature was arrayed in all her splendor: the rich verdure of the surroundings, the abundant fallage of the trees, the warbling of the birds, all lent grandeur and solemnity to the scene, as the mortal remains of the good and true man were solemnly committed to mother earth surrounded by his friends and numerous acquaintances, adjacent to the scene of his manly activities.

Three sons and three daughters are left to mourn the loss of a loving and exemplary father. They are Frank S. of Montreal, Louis of Montague and Ernest of British Columbia; Mrs. R. J. McDonald M. D. St. Peters, Mrs. William Bagnall, New York, and Mrs. D. J. Stole Brattleboro, Vermont. To these and all other friends we extend our deep sympathy. R. I. P.

Premier Borden's Profits

Sensational stories concerning the Prime Minister's holdings in the Manitoba Cold Storage Company continue to appear in newspapers more concerned to make political capital against Sir Robert Borden, than with truth. When the Prime Minister referred to the matter in the House, it was necessary for him to speak largely from memory, as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Cold Storage Company was on vacation. Since the House adjourned, the necessary detailed information has been forthcoming. Briefly, it shows that the Prime Minister has been a shareholder for fourteen years. During eight of these years no dividend whatever was paid; during three years 6 per cent. was paid, and during three other years 8 per cent. Thus the average earnings of this cold storage stock during the fourteen years the Prime Minister has been a shareholder has been just 8 per cent. Notwithstanding this, the story that the Prime Minister made 50 per cent. on his stock last year, or nearly $8,000, continues its mendacious course.

That the Conference did not break down, that the immense range of controversies has been subdued within the four corners of an agreed and signed document, that a Peace affecting the vital interests of all the greatest nations in the world has been signed simultaneously by twenty-seven separate Powers—for this Mr. Lloyd George deserves a credit inferior to none of his compatriots. The part which he has played was that which his countrymen expected of him, and he has played it well. London Daily Chronicle.

Mr. Maurice Blake

Mr. Maurice Blake, of Blake Brothers of this city, died at his suburban home, Deavenport Malpeque Road, on Sunday afternoon last. He had been ill for some time. By his demise Charlottetown loses one of its best and most highly respected citizens. For many years he was head of the firm of Blake Brothers, which carried on an extensive meat business in this city. Mr. Blake was an enterprising citizen and was always foremost in all movements for the improvement of the city and the advancement of the people. He was a leading member of the Liberal-Conservative party, and for several convener for Queen's County. He was 70 years of age, at the time of his death having been born in 1849. His wife and a daughter predeceased him some years. He leaves to mourn one daughter and seven sons besides a large circle of friends. The funeral which took place yesterday afternoon was largely attended. After the service at St. Dunstan's Cathedral the remains were conveyed to their last resting place in the Catholic Cemetery. The following were the pall bearers—Chief Justice Mathison, Dr. S. R. Jenkins Messrs C. C. Gardiner, G. W. Wakeford, W. F. Tidmarsh, and Gilbert Gaudet. R. I. P.

"But lockouts and strikes are almost destructive as war itself in the waste and loss which they occasion and in their disturbing influence upon the industrial life of the country. They remove large numbers of men from productive employment; they react detrimentally upon other industries and create unemployment through lack of orders; they embitter relations between employers and employed; they discourage efforts to continue or extend business and to afford employment; and last, but not least they curtail production and increase the cost of necessities of life.

Sir Robert Issues A Timely Address To Canadians

Sir Robert Borden has authorized the following with respect to industrial and labor conditions: "As announced in the Governor General's speech at prorogation, it is the intention of the Government to summon, within a few weeks, a representative conference for the purpose of an intimate and friendly discussion of relations between employers and employed and for consideration of the report of the Industrial Relations Commission. The Provincial Governments will be invited to attend and the various organizations of employers and employed will be requested to appoint representatives. It is hoped that such a conference will be productive of better understanding and a more thorough co-operation. Production of the World Wasted for the Last Five Years. Meantime, it is most important that actual world conditions should be fully realized by the Canadian people. For five years the world has been waiting the productive capacity of about 50,000,000 men actually engaged in war-like activities. The remainder of the producing population has been to a considerable extent occupied in producing munitions and implements of destruction. Millions of men must now resume the normal activities of peace. The business of the world has been completely disorganized, and a long period will probably elapse before it can be completely re-established. After the present period of inflation has passed, Canada, in common with other countries, will probably face a period of depression.

Blockade Caused German Failure

London July 15—The Allied blockade was the cause of Germany's defeat, Admiral Von Scheer, former German fleet commander, declared in an interview given the Daily Chronicle's Welmar correspondent. "As everybody warned," von Scheer said, "the blockade triumphed over the U-boat campaign." Von Scheer claimed a German victory in the Battle of Jutland, saying his losses in material and men were a third of those suffered by the British. The ships were smaller and slower and out-pointed in gunfire, he said; but enjoyed better protection from shells, von Scheer admitted. The British shooting was most accurate, but characterized Admiral Jellicoe's book as "a mere apology," saying Jellicoe used strategy when he should have used tactics. The German fleet would have offered battle last October, according to von Scheer, but the crews were unreliable. "Thank God, von Reuter restored the honor of the navy by the sinking of the fleet, at Scapa Flow," von Scheer concluded.

TIRPITZ WRITES BOOK

Berlin, July 15—Germany, as a republic, will not be able to rise again. Admiral von Tirpitz declares in a book which he will publish soon. The revolution threw away Germany's chances for greatness, von Tirpitz says. He absolves the ex-Kaiser of responsibility for the war. The admiral expresses the belief that the German navy should have been strong enough to obtain a treaty peace. Bethmann-Hollweg is blamed with "monopolistic control" of the war. von Tirpitz charging that the former Chancellor kept the ex-Kaiser, himself (Tirpitz) and the army and navy staff officers away from Berlin.

Canada Points With Pride

Sir George Foster, acting Prime Minister, on Friday issued the following Peace Day message to the Canadian people: Tomorrow through the world-wide realms of the British Empire, the advent of Peace will be greatly acclaimed with mingled feelings of sorrow and gladness. For nearly four and a half years this Peace has been fought for and prayed for by countless war-worn millions, who in the meantime have been called upon to make incalculable sacrifices of life and property. The conclusion of the armistice of November 11th last brought this peace within sight and the signature of the Treaty at Versailles on June 28th last practically assured its advent. Tomorrow we celebrate its actual establishment; we close the long terrible chapter of the Great War and enter upon a new international era with a new charter of liberty and security.

In our Canadian rejoicings we will do well to take note in passing of the wide area covered by this celebration. In every quarter of the globe the joybells will ring out the notes of peace to the unfurling of the flag of the Empire in realms included within its sway. No other participating nation covers such wide space or appeals to such an aggregate of humanity combined under one rule, and all those who will thus take part in the celebration of peace have been active partners in the toil of warfare which has made this peace possible. We must not forget, either, the ponderant part taken by the components of the empire in the water struggle, by land and in air, and under sea, nor the tremendous expenditure by them in blood and treasure so freely offered and so bravely borne.

Only an adequate appreciation of that effort can give us the full measure of the value of the ideals pursued and the results obtained during the war, and of the consequent trust committed to our hands in conserving both. The sacrifices endured set the measure of the obligations now resting upon us in the days of peace. For, though the war has ceased, we know well that its consequences persist and our peace celebration will indeed lack completeness if it does not combine with the rejoicings for victory the prayerful consideration of what remains to be done in the reconstructions of peace. As Canadians we are devoutly thankful that no enemy force has profaned our soil and that we have been spared the horrors of a war within our own territory.

We point with pride to the deeds of our soldiers and the imperishable records they have made. We mourn those who sleep in foreign fields and greet with sincere hearts those who have returned in honor to their homes. For them and for those of us who supported them in the long war for liberty and humanity there remains an even more arduous and glorious settlement for the establishment of real and abiding peace among ourselves, for the conservation of the well known principles of moral, social, economic and constitutional development and for the upbuilding thereupon of a great and prosperous nationality. If by unselfish service and sacrifice the war was won, surely it is by the same paths that we, as a people, must approach and perform our task of community and nation building.

Let us, therefore, as a people celebrate the morrow with deep thankfulness to Almighty God for the victory achieved and with a profound sense of our responsibilities in the great peace work now ready to our hands. And above all let us cultivate the thoughtful and the same reasonableness and moderation of expression and the prudent wisdom of action so necessary at this period of our national existence. May the peace today celebrated bring perpetual healing and comfort to the whole world.

Opponents of Nation's League Losing Ground

Washington, July 15—Admitting that any effort to amend the Covenant of the League of Nations would be futile, the opponents of the League in the United States Senate are now endeavoring to align their forces on some acceptable program of what they term "interpretative or explanatory reservations." Delaying tactics that are meant to embarrass President Wilson are foreshadowed in a resolution proposed by Senator Johnson, of California, before the Foreign Relations commission today. This resolution requests that all documents, proceedings, drafts or forms relating to the League of Nations presented at Paris be transmitted to the commission.

Any hope the followers of Senator Borah, who leads the opposition may have had of so emasculating the covenant by amendment as to withdraw from it the essential power that would make it a vital force in international affairs, evaporated over the week-end. With the knowledge that among the Democrats, Senator Reed, of Missouri, and Gore of Oklahoma, were against any League, and the belief that among others King, of Utah, and Underwood, of Alabama, might be won over, they felt that they had more than a fighting chance of gaining their ends. But King's bold announcement that he was for the League as it stands, and Underwood's speech yesterday in which he unhesitatingly affirms his belief in the necessity of the League and his unswerving support of the covenant as drafted, proved to the cautious Senators developed the fact that a straight party line-up on the amendment as foreshadowed, could not be expected, and that not a few are listening more carefully to public opinion which grows more articulate daily than to the arguments of the party leaders.

The feature of the debate in the Peace pact which began in the Senate yesterday afternoon was the exhibition of the manner in which any reference to plutocratic control excites the Senate. The mere mention of Wall Street is like a bomb in the august assembly. Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, who leads the proponents of the League, was interrupted while putting into the record documents proving the public support of the League by Senator Fall, of New Mexico, who stated that in a speech he intended to make he would quote from a former speech made by Hitchcock in which the latter asserted that the proposal for a League of Nations was being favored by the Carnegie Foundation. Senator Fall replied he would prove it in his speech and would also produce proofs that public sentiment was against the League.

The Democrat challenged the Republican to measure proofs, and so they stood like two small boys, shouting what they would do to each other at some future time, to the amusement of the galleries crowded with summer tourists. One of the arguments of the opponents of the League is that big business is behind it, in order to guarantee the collection of war debts, and Senator Fall's mention of the Carnegie Foundation was evidently intended to serve as an opportunity to introduce this theory. The speech of Senator Swanson, though a strong and well considered effort, contained little that was new with the exception of the argument that the League would be the best protection for the Philippines and the Panama Canal.

An arial mail service to foreign countries is being seriously considered by Great Britain, the assistant postmaster announced in the House of Commons on the 18th. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, announced in the House of Commons Friday that the recent issue of the funding loan amounted to $274,000,000. He said the Victory Bonds issued amounted to $285,000,000. The total conversions of old issues to new were $169,000,000, making a grand total of $708,000,000 for the loan.

New snowfalls on both sides of the Andes mountains have resulted in further landslides of large proportions, adding to the difficulties of repairing communication over the mountains. The tunnels on the trans-Andine railway have been destroyed in the latest landslides. The blizzard in the mountains is said to be continuing, forcing repair gangs to abandon their efforts. Such is the intelligence from Buenos Aires, under date of July 17th.

Two men, T. Boisvert and Peter Morrel, were severely burned and several families rendered homeless by a fire which broke out at Rock Island, Que., early on the morning of the 15th, doing damage estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000. The fire began in the three-storey factory of the Telford Garment Company and spread very rapidly, soon reaching a tenement building nearby. Men, women and children fled to the street for their lives, unable to save any of their belongings.

Marshal Foch, in a telegram to Berlin demanding reparation for the murder of a French sergeant there, pointed out that the incident was not an inter-Allied affair, but was purely a French question. France is demanding 100,000 francs for the family of the dead sergeant, and an indemnity of one million francs.

Canadian reparation for half the month of July totalled 15,295 troops of all ranks and 2,080 dependents. The total program for July calls for 27,000, plus an $8,000 balance from June. From Spokane, under date of July 17th, comes the following: Forest fires, fanned by heavy winds, are threatening timber and live stock in western Montana and Northern Idaho, according to reports received today by federal forest officials here. Several small towns are also reported in danger of destruction. The flames have caused the fire fighting crews to retreat.

Ottawa advises this refer to the Prime Minister's vacation. It is regarded as significant in political circles that Sir Robert Borden is spending his vacation in Quebec, and that accompanying him is Sir Henry Drayton. Rumor associates the two incidents with reports that Sir Henry has been asked to succeed Sir Thomas White as minister of finance, and that the prime minister is surveying the ground in Quebec for possible French Canadian cabinet timber.

Maimed Heroes

Stumble Along Streets

Paris, July 14.—The conquerors in the great war marched today in a victory parade under the Arc de Triomphe, through which only victors must pass. Picket units and individual heroes represented each of the allied armies. Several million grateful people, mostly French, but with many thousands of their allies, struggled forward along the line of march for an opportunity to wave and shout their gratitude to the men who saved them from German Imperialism.

The great triumphal arch, conceived by Napoleon to commemorate his victory at the battle of Austerlitz, took on new historic importance when the allies marched through the massive pile of masonry which dominates all Paris, and moved down the Champs Elyses toward the Place de la Concorde.

The place of honor in the procession was not accorded to the generals and the smartly equipped troops. It was given to the thousand maimed soldiers who passed under the arch and in front of the reviewing stand where stood President Poincare, moving haltingly and out of step as best they could.

The wounded soldiers were a surprise to the crowd, which were slow to realize who the men were, because of their disorganized and non-military appearance. But when the great throng grasped the situation cheers rose, slowly at first, and were taken up by the crowds far from the line of march, which caught the shouts of "the wounded!"

Marshals Joffre and Foch followed, Joffre riding slightly in advance of Foch. There had been so much speculation as to whether Joffre would be in the parade that his appearance with the commander-in-chief provoked wild enthusiasm. Neither wore the dress uniform of a marshal, Joffre wore the black tunic and red breeches of pre-war days. He carried a baton of a marshal, with seven stars, and sat his horse with a vigor which disproved the rumors that he was not able to ride. Foch wore a gray uniform.

Many were injured—some were blind—some were in wheel chairs and others were on crutches, or limped along with the aid of canes. Few of them were in uniform. They represented all the provinces of France, all branches of the military service and all walks in life, as was indicated by the variety of their civilian attire. They made no effort to maintain military formation, but marched as well as they could to the airs played by the military band which led them. Great crowds filled every inch of space in the many streets and boulevards that commanded a view of the line of march. Balconies were packed and roofs were black with people. Many hung in the trees which lined the boulevards.

The Belgians were greeted with much enthusiasm throughout the line of march. The crowds, of which many had stayed up all night to get places, never seemed to tire of applauding. The British, Americans, Italians, Japanese, Portuguese, Serbs, Rumanians and Poles were all greeted warmly.

Look! Read! Realize!

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor.

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat [would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!!
We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W. H. Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

Sacrifice

Sing not to me of earthly power, For winds make sport of the dust of kings; Men fought and bled for trivial things...

A Striking Instance of Providence

(The Ave Maria.)

That a prominent part in the events detailed in the following narrative was taken by the late venerable Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto...

Among the students in the Grand Seminary of Autun (France) in 1850 was a youth named Jean Pierre Antoine Captier...

The perspective was plainly a sorrowful one. Could M. Captier be admitted to sacred orders, either at present or at any future period?

On July 7, the same year, Madame Captier and her afflicted son arrived at Ars. The mother alone first approached the Cure to explain the sad situation.

"Tis not your son's body, but his imagination, that is sick. You must not count on him to help your family."

On the following evening, as the Cure was preparing to give Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, Jean Captier presented himself at the door of the sacristy.

"Well, Father, at what time will this take place, and must I return to the Grand Seminary?"

Pains in the Back

The symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning...

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures kidney and liver troubles, relieves the back, and builds up the whole system.

When, on July 9, M. Captier went to say good-bye to the Cure, the latter remarked with impressive benignity:

The good God will bless you, my young friend.

Somewhat surprised, the youth gave the priest a glance of inquiry. Then taking him by the arm, M. Vianney said, with combined force and suavety:

"Yes, the good God will bless you."

Two years went by. Tired of waiting, M. Captier entered the Third Order Regular of St. Dominic at Soresse.

"Never mind," said he; willy-nilly, one day you will be a priest."

"But, Father, the difficulties appear insurmountable."

"Not at all necessary. Your ordination will be your cure."

"And how can I be ordained? Everybody tells me that it is impossible."

"You will find some one who will understand you well,—a stranger, I think, who will remove every obstacle."

This prediction was verified at once. From that day the agents of the Government seemed to have forgotten all about the illegal situation of the ex-seminarist.

The journey to Rome was bootless. One circumstance, however, offered some little hope.

"Sell it. This vocation is so important that everything must be sacrificed for its sake; and the good God will indemnify you."

A purchaser was found who paid for the house fifteen thousand francs. (The precise amount is a detail to be remembered.)

Cramps in Stomach

Never Suffered Worse Pains.

There is no other kind of bowel trouble that comes on so quickly and with so little warning as an attack of cramps in the stomach.

family was advised not to submit to this demand, and His Eminence could do no more.

You will certainly become a priest, despite your indisposition and all other obstacles."

Fortified by this statement, and furnished with the recommendation of the Cardinal, Jean Captier set sail for the Island of Scio, in the Aegean Sea.

Inaction exasperates certain temperaments, and waiting becomes impossible to them.

"You will be a priest; the Blessed Virgin will do everything; live beforehand as if in thanksgiving."

Your Soldier Boy Wants

HICKEY'S TWIST

No matter where he is, or what other tobacco he can get, the Island soldier who chews tobacco is never satisfied with anything but HICKEY'S TWIST.

In hundreds of letters from the boys in Flanders, France, England and the training camps, they ask for HICKEY'S TWIST—and the 105th took along 20,000 lbs with them.

Send your soldier boy a pound of HICKEY'S with the next parcel.

OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER

Important Daylight Saving Change of Time at 2 a.m. Sunday, March 30, 1919

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railway will at 2 a. m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time:

If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the new Railway time, all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave Railway Stations on present schedule, such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time. Therefore any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers must reach Railway Station ONE HOUR EARLIER than shown in current folders and public time posters.

Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change.
