'Margaret,' The GIRL ARTIST, OR, The Countess of Ferrers Court.

CHAPTER XX.

"I only heard you singing," said Margaret.

The words and the gentle tone, together with the beautiful face with its sad expression, seemed to fascinate the girl, and she drew nearer, saying timidly:

"But I was making a tremendous noise! You are painting?"

"Yes," answered Margaret, with a sigh, "I am trying to do so."

"What a lovely spot you have chosen," said the girl, looking round, "May I see what you have done? I am so fond of art myself, but—and she made a little grimace—"I am a shocking stick!"

Then she closed furiously and laughed with pretty embarrassment.

"That's slang, I know. I beg your pardon! But I learn it from Ferdie! There—how stupid of me! Of course, you don't know who Ferdie is; he is my brother."

By this time she had looked at the canvas.

"Why!" she exclaimed, "that is beautiful! You are an artist!"

"A poor one," said Margaret, smiling in spite of herself at the girl's enthusiasm.

"Oh, no; you are a real artist!" she said. "I know the realm of the sham, because we have so many of the latter staying in Florence. Poor Florence! They make dubs of her all the year round, and send them about the world as true pictures, while they are only libels. But yours will be a beautiful picture! How splendidly you have got those trees there, and that bit of cloud. Oh!" and she sighed. "I would give ten years of my life if I could ever paint like that!"

"That would be rather a heavy price if your life should be as happy all through as it is now," said Margaret, in her sweet, gentle fashion.

The girl looked at her and pondered for a moment, then she flung herself on the grass beside Margaret, and said:

"Do you know, you reminded me of mamma just then. That is just how she speaks when she wants to scold me for one of my extravagancies. Of course I wouldn't give ten years—or one year—of my life for anything; who would?"

Margaret sighed. How gladly would she have given all the remainder of her life to be able to wipe out the past! never to have seen Blair, or to have known those few short weeks of happiness.

"It all depends," said Margaret, out clear and musical above the trees: "Florence! Florence!"

The girl laughed and sprang to her feet, then she sunk down again as quickly.

"It is Ferdie!" she said. "Let him find me if he can!" and in a falsetto which rang quaintly through the hills she called, "Ferdie! Ferdie!"

Margaret heard the dull beat of a horse's hoofs as the rider rode this way and that, misled by the echo, then, as tired of the sport, the girl sprang to her feet and shouted with a full round tone, Margaret saw a handsome young man ride pell-mell at them.

"Oh, take care, take care, Ferdie!" shouted the girl, but the warning came too late; the horse struck the leg of the easel with its fore hoof, and over went the whole apparatus, paint box, brushes, and the rest, leaving Margaret sitting smiling amidst the ruins.

The girl uttered a cry of dismay, and the young fellow, almost before he had pulled the horse in, flung himself from the saddle and stood bare-headed and penitent before Margaret.

"Oh, Ferdie, Ferdie, how could you be so reckless?" exclaimed the girl.

He put up his hand as if to silence her, then, as he went on his knees to recover the scattered implements, he said:

"Signorina, I am overwhelmed with shame! Believe me, I did not suspect that any one was here beside this mad-cap sister of mine! Pardon me, I pray you! Have I broken anything—have I frightened you? I shall never forgive myself! Is that right?" and he put the easel in its place with the greatest and most anxious care.

"Thank you, yes," said Margaret.

"No harm has been done. You did not see me; that bush hid me. Please do not mind; it does not in the least signify."

"Oh, but—" he said, arranging the palette and paints with the nicest carefulness—"it signifies so much that I shall not sleep in peace unless you will forgive me!"

It was an Italian speech, but it was spoken with an air of sincerity that was singularly English, and the speaker's eyes were fixed so earnestly and pleadingly upon Margaret's face that the color rose, and she bent down and got her brushes to hide it. The girl gilded to her side.

"Poor Ferdie! But it was very stupid of him, and he might have hurt you as well as the easel, and then I should never have forgiven him, whatever you had done. But you will forgive him, will you not?"

She seemed to set so much value on the expression of forgiveness that Margaret, with a soft laugh, said at once:

"Certainly, I forgive him!"

The young man's face cleared instantly, and with the slight foreign accent which was more marked in him than his sister, he said:

"I am deeply grateful! I do not deserve it. Florence, have you told the lady your name? Will you tell her mine?"

The girl at this direct invitation stepped forward, and with a little graceful movement of the hand, said:

"Madame, let me present to you my brother, Prince Ferdinand Rivani."

"And I, the Princess Florence, my sister," said the prince; and the prince bowed, and the young girl dropped a courtesy in courtly fashion.

"And now we have been formally introduced," said the girl, with a merry laugh. "We are friends, are we not, and you will come to see us? Ferdie, the lady—"

She hesitated and looked at Margaret, and Margaret, with downcast eyes, said:

"Miss Leslie."

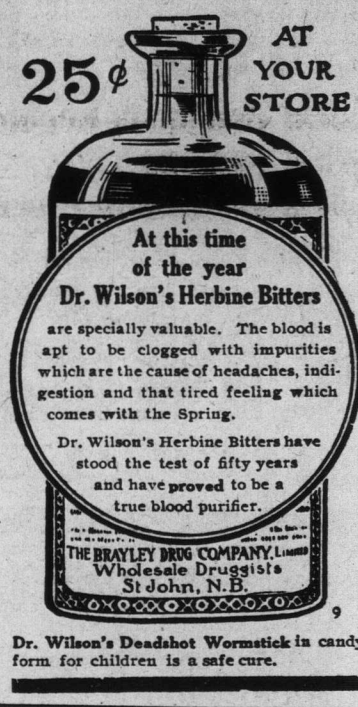

"Miss Leslie! What a pretty name! Why, it is more Italian than English, I think. Miss Leslie is staying at the hotel."

The prince drew himself up, and, with the same fixed regard of respectful, almost reverential, admiration, said:

"I shall have the honor of waiting upon Miss Leslie to-morrow—if she permits."

A servant who had been holding the horse came up, and as the prince mounted, the princess drew near and bent over Margaret.

"Mind! We are to be friends, you and I! I shall come with Ferdinand to-morrow!" then, laying her hand upon the horse's neck, she tripped off beside her brother.

Margaret sat and looked at the view with eyes that saw nothing. She had come to Florence for solitude and seclusion, and already that solitude was threatened. What should she do? The girl was so lovable that Margaret's tender heart already felt drawn toward her. All the more should she guard against the possibility of an intimacy between her—nameless and under a cloud of shame—and these high-born Italians.

With a sigh she began to put her easel together, thinking that she must leave Florence in the morning, when she saw a newspaper lying on the ground.

It was folded up and had evidently fallen from the pocket of the prince.

Half mechanically she opened it and found that it was an English newspaper of some weeks back. Still mechanically she let her eyes wander over the columns, when suddenly she saw amongst the provincial news an account of her own death off the rocks at Appleford.

Trembling and shuddering, for the lines brought back all the torture of that day, she read the succinct narrative, and found that in very truth the world had accepted her death as a fact beyond question. But a strange coincidence awaited her, for turning to the births, marriages and deaths columns, she saw this announcement—"At Leyton Court, on the 25th instant, Martha Hale, aged 68, the faithful servant of the Earl of Ferrers."

In one and the same paper was the account of her own death, and that of the only person whom she would have to acquaint with the fact that she was living! The last link between Margaret Hale and Mary Leslie was broken, and the past had slipped away as completely as if, indeed, the tidal wave had washed her out to sea!

CHAPTER XXI.

It was autumn, but such an autumn as often puts summer to shame. The skies were as blue, the air as soft, as those of July; but that the leaves had changed their emerald hues for those of russet-brown and gold, one might well be tempted to believe that the summer was still with us, and the winter far off.

How the Huns Treated Our plus Epidemic.

London, April 9.—The gov committee on the treatment of many of British prisoners of which the Hon. Mr. Justice is chairman, has issued a report the conditions prevailing in the tenberg camp during the typhoid epidemic of last year.

The report is based on information from repatriated prisoners, especially from Major Priestley, Vidal and Captain Lauder of the Medical Corps, who were in the camp shortly after the outbreak of the epidemic, and who were released from Germany.

The three officers mentioned only survivors of six British sent to the Wittenberg camp Germans, "to take up" support, "the place of duty about their own medical staff, when the sense of typhus manifested itself.

The records of the epidemic by the British officers, were from them before their departure Germany, but the report details the condition of the camp, treatment of prisoners and which the American Ambassadors James W. Gerard, in his report November, said was "even more favorable than I had been led to expect."

According to the released prisoners in the camp, which the committee says "is an enormous tent for so restricted an area and a half acre." There was proper heating arrangements, men were insufficiently clothed, overcoats having been taken from them, their other clothing was ragged. Many had neither socks. There was an insufficient supply of water and soap, and Priestly says he found the "gaunt, of a peculiar gray pallid verminous."

"The supply of food was also deficient, even in the hospital, the patients arrived from England, the only provision for the cleanliness made for the report, "was one cupful of soap, issued at intervals of weeks, to a room containing consequence the men became increasingly verminous, and the situation, coupled with cold and proper nourishment, was used the principal inducing cause of epidemic."

The epidemic broke out in her, 1914. "Thereupon," says

Suffering of British Prisoners in Germany.

How the Huns Treated Our Men in the Wittenburg Camp During Typhus Epidemic.

London, April 9.—The government committee on the treatment in Germany of British prisoners of war, of which the Hon. Mr. Justice Younger is chairman, has issued a report on the conditions prevailing in the Wittenburg camp during the typhus epidemic of last year.

The report is based on information from repatriated prisoners, and especially from Major Priestley, Captain Vidal and Captain Lauder of the Army Medical Corps, who were sent to the camp shortly after the outbreak of the epidemic, and who were recently released from Germany.

The three officers mentioned are the only survivors of six British doctors sent to the Wittenburg camp by the Germans, "to take up," says the report, "the place of duty abandoned by their own medical staff, when the presence of typhus manifested itself."

The records of the epidemic kept by the British officers, were taken from them before their departure from Germany, but the report gives in detail the condition of the camp and the treatment of prisoners and patients, which the American Ambassador, James W. Gerard, in his report last November, said was "even more unfavorably than I had been led to expect."

According to the released officers, there are 15,000, and sometimes more, prisoners in the camp, which the committee says "is an enormous population for so restricted an area as ten and a half acres." There were no proper heating arrangements, and the men were insufficiently clothed, their overcoats having been taken from them before their departure from Germany. Many had neither boots nor socks. There was an insufficient supply of water and soap, and Major Priestley says he found the men "gaunt, of a peculiar gray pallor, and verminous."

The supply of food was also insufficient, even in the hospital, until supplies arrived from England.

"The only provision for personal cleanliness made for the men," says the report, "was one cupful of soft soap, issued at intervals of many weeks, to a room containing 120. In consequence the men became increasingly verminous, and that condition, coupled with cold and want of proper nourishment, was undoubtedly the principal inducing cause of the epidemic."

The epidemic broke out in December, 1914. "Thereupon," says the outside the camp.

"What the prisoners found hardest to bear in the matter were the jeers with which coffins were frequently greeted by the inhabitants of Wittenburg, who stood outside the wires and were permitted to insult the dead."

After the middle of April the conditions commenced to improve, and with the arrival of warm weather the cases rapidly decreased, and by the middle of May all the British were convalescent. Adequate provision was made to deal with any future outbreaks, improvements being effected, according to the committee, as a result of the visits of Ambassador Gerard and members of his staff.

The committee condemn the retention of Aschenback, head of the camp, and as evidence of his attitude cite an incident. When one of his staff supported the request of Captain Lauder for medical requisites, he curtly refused the request with the words, "schweine Engländer."

The report continues: "The cruelty of the administration of the Wittenburg camp became notorious. Savage dogs were habitually employed to terrorize the prisoners; flogging with a rubber whip was frequent. Men were struck with little or no provocation, and tied to posts with hands above their heads for hours. Captain Lauder reports that many of these men went so far as to look upon the typhus, with all its horrors, as a God-send. They preferred it to the presence of German guards."

Kansas!

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slawash."

Kansas, the geographical mid atmospheric center of the nation, is a large rectangular state of mind situated just east of the Rocky Mountains, just north of the color line and just west of the plug hat belt. It has 1700,000 people and would have more but for the fact that citizens fitted by temperament to become Kansans are scarce and cannot be imported by boatloads like New Yorkers.

Kansas consists of a large number of ideas revolving at a high rate of speed. Even the weather has brain storms in Kansas and when a collection of wind gets dizzy and starts across the state in a funnel-shaped gyroscope, the alarmed citizens rush for the polls under the impression that another populist campaign is imminent. Everyone in Kansas thinks and thinks out loud into his neighbour's ear with a megaphone. Reason is King in Kansas—almost any old reason. Senator Ingalls, the greatest reformer of epidemics ever known in the United States Senate, is the state's greatest hero, and William Allen White, who once condensed an essay on "What is the Matter with Kansas" into two columns and 789 adjectives, is its prophet.

Kansas once produced corner lots, grasshoppers and whiskers almost exclusively. Thirty years ago the rich men of the state were those who could put their possessions in their pockets and walk out of it while the poverty stricken masses had to stay behind and pay taxes on 1,000 acres of land apiece. But the wild, free air of the prairies produced thought and conversation, and this in time curled the atmosphere and produced rain. After that, Kansas turned its attention to wheat, literature, and legislation, and has made a marked success of all three. The Kansas farmer would blush if he were seen in a last year's automobile and the Kansas legislature regulates railroad appetites, weather, chorus girls and politicians with equal skill and energy. Kansas is also famed for its red literary stars White, Howe and Walt Mason, who only visit New York once a year and then with return tickets safely tucked away.

Kansas is a semi-arid state in its small towns that visitors from St. Louis have to drink spring tonic all summer to keep their throats from season-cracking. The state has more college students per thousand people, sends more editors to Congress, and has more jails which are being used for hep houses than any other state. It was once the home of bad men with nervous and hasty revolvers. But by allowing these citizens full play upon each other they were gradually exterminated, and Kansas now produces best sellers and reformers, and is acquiring not only tall brows, but deep pockets. It will never outvote the nation, but it has been out-talking it already for many years.

Princess to Kitchenmaid.

DEVOTED TO A GOOD CAUSE.

It is characteristic of Princess Alexander of Teck that she should be content to act in the humble capacity of kitchenmaid at Princess Christian's Red Cross Hospital at Englefield Green, near Windsor, where she helps to cook the meals, washes up the dishes afterwards, and spares herself none of the drudgery of kitchen work. Like her husband, Prince Alexander, who accepted the chairmanship of Middlesex Hospital, in which she might continue the beneficent work of his late brother, Prince Francis, the Princess devotes a good deal of her time to practical philanthropy, and few charitable schemes are launched in which she does not take a personal interest.

The daughter of the late Duke of Albany, the Princess married Prince Alexander in 1904, when she was 21 years of age. Exactly how much truth there may be in the romantic stories that are told of the foreign aspirants to the hand of the Princess "Alice in Wonderland," as she was called in her younger days because of her fervent devotion to the works of Lewis Carroll, it is difficult to say. That she early determined, however, like her cousin, the Princess Louise, that she would not marry a foreign Prince, is certain, and her marriage with Prince Alexander gave general satisfaction in this country.

Hired Hands.

Upon the farmers' rolling acres, the hired men, h u s k y harvest makers, n o w push the gleaming plows, all day above their t a s k s they're bending, a n d when the twilight is descending they milk three thousand cows. They rise before dawn is breaking, and give their sweat-stained mules a raking, with brush and currycomb; with pails of swill they go a-reeling, to feed the porkers, loudly squeaking as they blow off the foam. They feed the calves and groom the chickens, and milk more cows to heat the dishes, before the rise of sun; and while the rest of us are snoozing, the glory of the morning looting their day's work is begun. The eight-hour day? Don't josh or mock them; such levity would pain and shock them; some eighteen hours they toil, between the hour of their appetizing, and their feeding; tired and sweating, and caked with fertile soil. We boast and praise the festive farmer, and say he is the honest charmer who keeps the nations fed; but, by the boosters, bards and sages, if him who tills the land for wages, there's mighty little said.

New Purchase.

The three masted schooner Lawson has been purchased by Messrs. Balne, Johnstone & Co. She will be used for foreign fish carrying trade and is capable of taking about 5,500 drums of fish for a load. At present she is in Boston and will go to New York to load general cargo for here. The Lawson was built at Port Gravelle, N. S., seven years ago. She is 311 tons gross and 274 net.

ANNUAL OVERHAULING.—On her return from the Western route the S. S. Prospero will undergo her annual overhauling.

Nervous and Almost Crazy With Pains in the Head

Clergyman Certifies to This Cure of Nervous Prostration by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

No ailment is more discouraging than Nervous Prostration. You may feel better for a day or two, only to find the next day that you have lost ground and are worse than ever. The headaches are worse, languid feelings are terribly depressing. As you lose strength you lose hope and courage and look to the future with fear and trembling.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest blessing that has ever come to the sufferer from nervous exhaustion. It is not narcotic in its influence. It does not deaden the trembling, irritated nerves, but through the medium of the blood nourishes them back to health as nothing else can.

Mrs. Alonzo B. Eisner, Billtown, King's county, N.S., writes:—"I was very low with nervous prostration and was about discouraged as I could not sleep nights and was almost crazy with the pain in my head. I had tried many doctors, but seemed to get little benefit from their treatments.

"A friend handed me Dr. Chase's Almanac, so that I might read about the Nerve Food. A single box of this treatment convinced me of its value. For I was better. I cannot tell how many boxes I used, but the results were so highly satisfactory that I cannot praise it too much. My health and strength have been restored so that I can do all my own work, and I recommend the Nerve Food to all who suffer from nervous prostration."

"This is to certify that I am acquainted with Mrs. A. B. Eisner and believe her statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to be true and correct." Rev. Arthur A. Whitman.

Some patience is required in the treatment of nervous prostration, but you will not be using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food long before you begin to find your strength and good cheer returning. You will then be encouraged to continue the use of the food until cured. 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

RUTH CAMERON.

"Oh, dear, I'm so excited!" said my little neighbour, when I dropped in to see her one day last week. "Why, what has happened?" I asked. "I didn't know whether to expect bad news or good, for though her cheeks were pink and her eyes starry, there was an anxious, strained expression on her face. "Nothing has happened," she said. "It's just what's going to happen—or isn't. That's the trouble. My sister and I have been talking over some plans for the summer. We have a perfectly dandy scheme, but there are so many people to be considered, and I'm so afraid they won't all fall in with it. I'm trying to think how to handle them all, and how to arrange things so that everybody will be happy, and I'm so excited that I haven't done a bit of work this morning. Just look at my kitchen! It seems as if I couldn't wait for the summer to come, so I can be sure we can have things the way we want them." As I looked at that flushed, eager face, I was full of sympathy for my little neighbour. She Just Ached To Get At The Future I know just how she ached to get at the future, just how her brain burned with plans, and her heart alternately soared with hopes and sank with fears. Indeed, I'm sure no one who is or ever has been young, and intense can help knowing just how tormenting that restless, eager state of mind can be. If the future were a material thing and by standing on tiptoes one could get hold of it, how we would strain and stretch until we reached it and could mold it to our heart's desire. And since we can't stand on tiptoes in the body, we do it with the mind, and that's why it tires us so to get worked up over plans. How Indignant She Would Be! Now if I should tell my little neighbor that three months from now she may feel very different about this scheme of hers I know just how indignant and incredulous she would be. And yet that is true. One spring some years ago I was seized with a desire to spend the following winter in a certain place. In a frenzy of planning I began to attack everything and everybody that stood in my way. Several things I did and said in this frenzy I am now heartily ashamed of. The way was finally made clear—I could have what I wanted. But the summer brought changes in conditions and in my point of view, and lo! when the fall came I no longer wanted it. That has been a lesson to me, not my only lesson, but my sharpest.

Letting Things Work Themselves Out To be sure, I still get excited over plans, but I try to recall that experience and have a little more patience, a little more trust that if I let things work out until it is time to act they may have partially adjusted themselves. "All things work together for good of them that love the Lord," you know. And if you think that only means Church members, and you aren't, translate it as the angel did for Abou Ben Adhem, into "those who love their fellow-men." In other words, be a little less selfish and a little more patient and trusting, and see if things don't adjust themselves pretty well without so much pushing and pulling on your part.

Address to Mrs. R. H. Anderson.

Dear Mrs. Anderson—The members of the Ladies' Patriotic Association desire to express to you their great regret at your approaching departure from St. John's. Ever since the formation of the Society you have given unstintingly of time and effort to advance its interests and we recognize that much of the success which has undoubtedly attended its operations, has been due to your wise and competent leadership. We feel that you are to be congratulated, not only for the amount and quality of the work done, but even more on the good spirit which has prevailed among the workers. We have all felt the influence of your genial personality and your willingness to do your utmost in every patriotic effort has been an example to us in the past and will certainly prove an inspiration in the days to come. St. Andrew's Church is suffering a great loss in your removal, for, not only in our Society, but also in other departments of the congregational work, you and your family have ever played a prominent part. We are grateful for all the help you have rendered and would assure you that we shall follow you to your new home with our best wishes for all possible happiness throughout your future life. We ask you to accept the accompanying gifts as a slight token of our appreciation of your work among us and of our personal regard. We would like you to use the gold to procure for yourself something which might serve as a reminder of the pleasant hours we have spent together in the service of our King and Country. In behalf of the Association, CECILIA D. SUTHERLAND, E. MELVILLE, Secy.-Treasurer. St. John's, Nfld. April 11, 1916.

REPLY: To the Officers and Members, St. Andrew's Women's Patriotic Association:—I am afraid that anything I can say will very inadequately express my feelings on this occasion. These gifts and the kind expressions accompanying them, are the climax of the many kindnesses and unflinching courtesy from one and all which have characterized our sojourn in Newfoundland. I regret that circumstances over which we have no control, compel us to move from your midst as I feel that we are leaving many warm friends in Newfoundland. Our nine years' residence here has passed all too quickly, my children have spent the impressionable years of their lives in your midst and will always look upon Newfoundland as their home. I shall always look back to the hours spent with you, endeavoring in a small way to assist those who are fighting our battles, as some of the happiest I have experienced, and the success achieved by us as a Society is in a great measure due to the harmony and good fellowship existing among its members. Again thanking you for your gifts and kind words, and also for the many kindnesses received during my connection with the Society, I am, Very sincerely yours, ETHEL ANDERSON. St. John's, Nfld. April 11, 1916.

The Patriotic Spirit at Topsail

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—Kindly avail me permission through the columns of your widely-read paper to give the general public an idea of the patriotic spirit prevalent here at Topsail. When the European War broke out in 1914, and recruits for the First Nfld. Regt. were called for, Topsail was represented in the first company that left for England by Privates Alan Moyles, George Miller, Charles Dawe, Walter Kearley, Lieut. B. Butler, all who have witnessed pigmacion operations at the Dardanelles. The latter has been promoted to the rank of captain since crossing the herring pond, and therefore deserves congratulations on his promotion. When recruiting recommenced on a somewhat wider scale, a patriotic wave was again eminent here, and the result was John Hibbs, Maxwell Barnes, Cecil Parmiter, Richard Gleeson, Gregory Neville, Andrew Brien, Alan Brien, Thos. Druken, James Brien, William Kearley responded nobly, and are now on active service in France, except the latter who was rejected on account of physical defects. Recently when activities in recruiting circles seemed to be on the decline, and measures were taken for a more active campaign five more of our stalwart boys in the persons of Ernest Barnes, William Hibbs, Fred Parmiter, Jno. J. Neville, Alex. Edward and Philip Ernest, the former with the St. Francis Xavier Hospital Unit and the latter with the Lachine Regiment of Montreal. With regard to the Navy, the response from here has been feeble when compared with that of the army, Charles Barnes being the only Naval Reservist, who offered his services shortly after war was declared. "Charlie" has seen active operations in the North Sea and the Dardanelles. And, by the way, the women here are not behind either in patriotic work. The members of the W.P.A. under its efficient officers, has achieved wonderful results in the way of providing comforts for our soldiers, and the constant click of the knitting needles in the various homes, reminds us that they are solving the difficult problem of—to use the words of one of our local composers—"Socks, socks, and still more socks, soft grey socks for Tommy." The members of the above Association are intending to provide a tea shortly, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Patriotic Fund. Well done, W.P.A.

The wounded heroes from the front passed through here on Sunday about midnight. Although there was some misunderstanding as to when the train would be due, nevertheless quite a throng of people surrounded the station and anxiously waited for hours to give the wounded lads a hearty welcome. The brass band of the L.O.A. was present and as the train pulled in at the station "Home, Sweet Home" was splendidly rendered, followed by patriotic airs, suitable to the occasion. Private Tibbs, of Trinity, gave a short inspiring address, and after about an hour's delay amidst vivacious cheering, the train pulled out for the city. One very marked characteristic of these heroes—was their cheery good-humor and light hearted manner in which they conversed, despite their physical weakness. Surely, on men of this stamp and so dependent on the future well-being of our Empire, therefore it behoves us, who enjoy the privileges these valiant soldiers and sailors are fighting for, to cast pessimism aside, and view this great struggle in an optimistic light, knowing that our cause is a just one, and that "Britons never, never shall be slaves."

Thanking you in anticipation, Yours etc., G. Topsail, April 18th, 1916.

"Cascarets" for a Cold, Bad Breath or Sick Headache

Best for liver and bowels, for biliousness, sour stomach and constipation. Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that's horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT; I should dazzle the motes until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X Lamp and GASTEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

COMMENT ON PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

LONDON, To-day. Although the text of President Wilson's message of Congress did not reach London in time for the morning papers to comment fully, all devote considerable space to the American situation. The Daily Chronicle says editorially, it is difficult to suppose the German Government, elated by submarine successes of the past few weeks will accept President Wilson's terms and diplomatic relations between Berlin and Washington will be broken off. The resulting situation will not be a state of war but may easily develop into war. This is obvious by both parties. Wilson has counted the cost. Presumably the Kaiser has also counted it. If Germany decides that continuation of submarine is worth a diplomatic breach with America, it will also probably decide it is worth war too. If the Kaiser decides to avoid war with America, he would naturally make his concessions at a stage when they would also avoid breaking off of relations.

WHOLESALE MASSACRE OF THE GREEKS.

LONDON, To-day. Wholesale massacres of Greeks at Adrianople, Constantinople and Smyrna are reported by a Salonika despatch to the Morning Post. In Adrianople and Demotica Turks and Bulgarians are acting together, says the despatch and killed 400 and wounded many Greeks. After pillaging the homes in the Smyrna district, several Greek villages were raided, 200 persons killed and many wounded. Constantinople was likewise a scene of serious massacres, no figure pertaining to which, adds the correspondent, are available. All the massacres occurred on April 11.

MORE HUN FALSEHOODS.

BERLIN, To-day. The Foreign Office transmitted yesterday to the American Embassy a supplementary note in regard to the Sussex, containing affidavits sworn to by a Swiss passenger on the Sussex that the steamer was not torpedoed.

What About Starch?

Aren't starchy foods the cause of indigestion? The starch of grains is energy.

But some stomachs are as presented in ordinary white flour products, which cause of digestive troubles, indigestion and gas, biliousness, anemia, and other common ailments.

One food that supplies energy in easily digestible form is Grape-Nuts.

Grape-Nuts

It is made of the energy-malted barley, the starch converted by long baking into energy. Grape-Nuts digests readily assimilated by the system.

This food comes ready to eat, and as it retains all the energy of the original material, including the mineral elements of the usual dietary—it is a brain food, nerves and brain tonic.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, (Official) To-day. Last night the enemy exploded a small mine east of Neuville, at St. Vast, our trenches were not damaged. During the night the enemy attempted to bomb our posts, craters and quarry in the sector, but were driven off. During the day there was heavy shelling northeast of Carney about Carny, St. Eloi and Vermelles. The enemy was also active in the quarry sector. We shelled the enemy's trenches at Masnes.

CABINET CRISIS STILL VERY GRAVE.

LONDON, To-day. After ministerial conferences last evening more hopeful feeling that the break-up of the Government will be avoided prevailed in the Parliamentary lobbies. Based on nothing tangible, the general opinion among the public, owing to the unexpected grave state of Asquith's statement in the Commons is that the life of the Ministry hangs by a thread. Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, controls the situation and according to best information declines to reconsider his position, unless it can be proved to him that the needful men for the service under colors can be secured without compulsion. He submitted to the Cabinet a proposal of a universal conscription bill to be put in operation only if fifty thousand men per month are not forthcoming under the voluntary system of untested married men. The Labor Party met last night and resolved to ask the Government to hold a secret session of Parliament to discuss the recruiting problem. Parliament still being in the dark as to the number the military authorities consider essential. In the event of the Conscriptors carrying the day and breaking up the Government it is possible that Asquith might attempt the reconstruction of the Cabinet with Liberals and Laborites or he might appeal to the country by a general election. On the other hand, Asquith and Ministers favouring voluntarism might retire and recommend the King to summon Bonar Law to form a Cabinet. In some quarters a Unionist Ministry with David Lloyd George as Premier is considered not impossible.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT NOTE TO GERMANY.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Copies of the American Government Note to Germany will be sent immediately to other neutral nations, on the assumption that they are as much interested as the United States in the protection of neutral rights. For the present the document will not be given to the representative of Austria or Turkey or the Entente Allies, although it will reach them in time in the usual way. The controversy is regarded as being solely between the States and Germany.

COUNTRY BEHIND PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, To-day. Editorial opinion expressed by the leading newspapers throughout the country strongly support the President's action. Exceptions are noted in the comments by German language newspapers and a few others in certain sections of the west, where large German-American populations are the rule. For the most part, however, the comment shows that the entire country is overwhelmingly behind the President.

MEMBERS BACK PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, To-day. A Washington despatch says: Senators and representatives to-day generally expressed hearty approval of the President's course with regard to Germany. Republicans and Democrats united in saying that although they deeply regretted that such a decision should be necessary, there was nothing else the President could do. There were a few exceptions to this rule.

German Stowaway on Charge of Piracy

Took Possession of British Ship and Crew at Sea.

New York, April 11.—Clarence Hudson, who under the name of Ernest Schiller, took possession of the British ship Matoppo at sea, was held for removal to Delaware by United States Commissioner Houghton to-day, to answer to a charge of piracy. His bail of $25,000 was continued. His counsel declared he would seek a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his client's removal. Counsel for Hudson decided today to resist his client's removal to Delaware to answer to a charge of piracy. The decision was based upon the discovery that there were grounds upon which Hudson could be deported to England, where he might be hanged for his exploit. After Hudson's counsel had abandoned his plan of seeking a writ of Habeas Corpus, Judge Hand signed a warrant upon which the German sympathizer will be taken to Delaware tomorrow.

Household Notes.

One of the most popular sleeves is the bell effect. Paraffine rubbed on the wrong side of a cushion tick will prevent the feathers from working through fine covers. If you are short of baking powder, sift together one part of bicarbonate of soda and two parts of cream of tartar. Lime mixed with a little sulphur and stirred into the soil about plants is said to be an antidote for fungus diseases. To save the top of a stocking from being worn by suspender clasps, sew a piece of tape on the stock, where the clasps come, and sew small tape loops on the pieces; then fasten the suspenders through the loops. After washing the lamp chimney, polish it with dry salt to make the glass brilliant and prevent it from cracking. The ground about a plant or shrub should be frozen to a depth of at least two inches before winter protection is applied. See that the small child gets food which requires chewing; this will give his teeth proper exercise and they will grow strong.

What About Starchy Foods?

Aren't starchy foods all right? They certainly are. The starch of grains is one of the chief sources of food energy. But some stomachs are not able to digest the starches as presented in ordinary foods, such as white bread and white flour products, which are often the unsuspected cause of digestive troubles—imperfect assimilation, fermentation and gas, biliousness, headache, constipation, anemia, and other common ills. One food that supplies the valuable starch elements in easily digestible form is

Grape-Nuts

It is made of the energizing grains, whole wheat and malted barley, the starch cells of which are largely converted by long baking into dextrin and grape-sugar which are readily assimilated by even weakened digestive organs. Grape-Nuts digest in about one hour. This food comes ready to eat, nourishing and delicious; and as it retains all the nutrition of the grains—including the mineral elements largely lacking in the usual dietary—it is a wonderful builder of well-balanced bodies, nerves and brains.

The Sealing Bill.

After a heated debate during its last two days, the Committee Stage of the Sealing Bill was passed yesterday. Among the amendments passed yesterday was one which permits the Florizel to engage in the fishery, but prevents her from being cleared until 48 hours after the smaller ships are cleared. The permission for the Florizel to go to the ice was secured on an amendment moved by Mr. Devereaux, and carried by a majority of one, two Ministers of the Crown being in the minority, Messrs. Piccott and Woodford. The delay in sailing was passed on the motion of the Leader of the Opposition and passed unanimously. The latter also proposed that it should be deemed an offence for a captain or officer to send men on the ice, when weather conditions might endanger life or limb, and that it should be deemed a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum of one year's imprisonment, if total disablement lasting three months ensued, and that it should be deemed a felony if death resulted, punishable by a maximum punishment of three years. This amendment of the Leader of the Opposition was also carried unanimously. Mr. Coaker moved that no contracting-out should prevent the men from disposing of their share of the catch to others than the owners of the steamer in which they sailed, if a majority of the men so decided. In other words, no clause in the ship's articles, signed by the men, which purports to take away the right of the men from disposing of their catch by a majority vote, shall have any legal force in the Courts of the land. This matter also passed unanimously.

At the suggestion of Mr. Higgins, a right of appeal to the Supreme Court from an Inferior Court was given, in case of the latter depriving a captain or officer of his sealing certificate.

Schooner Safe.

A message was received this morning by the Marine and Fisheries Department from Whitbourne enquiring about the schooner St. Clair, owned by L. H. Simmons & Sons. Destructive Fire.

At Royal Stores Clothing Factory.

A fire that threatened to destroy the whole building, and one of the most expensive fires for several years, occurred at the Royal Stores building at the corner of Duckworth and Prescott Streets at 5.15 p.m. yesterday. The damage is estimated at $50,000. The fire broke out on the southeast corner of the second flat, where the reserve stock of furniture fittings, bedsteads and mattresses were stored. At the time mentioned a lad named Gillis who first saw smoke rising above the furniture, immediately called Mr. Heber Pearce, who is in charge of that department, who in turn informed Mr. Hirst, of the tailoring department, that the building was on fire, who ordered his assistants, about seventy in number, to leave the building, and without confusion or delay an exit was made by Duckworth Street door. The motors in the cutting department were shut off. In the meantime an alarm had been sent in from a box at the foot of Prescott Street. The East and Central Fire Companies quickly responded, and assisted by fire reservists, four streams were poured into the building, but not until 6.30 was the fire under control. The firemen did their work splendid, and in that cool and quick way, characteristic of our fire fighters, prevented the blaze from doing further damage, and from spreading to the adjacent building occupied by the Atlantic Bookstore and Parson's Photographic Studio. The flames eating its way through to the third flat were extinguished before any headway was gained. The damage to stock is large, and in the clothing department, everything is saturated with water, and chemicals. The top floor, or the cutting department is but slightly affected, the delicate machinery is covered with a thick greasy surface caused by the dense smoke, but no water was poured into the flat. The third flat or customs tailoring and general clothing department, is heavily affected, having on hand one of the largest stocks of serges, tweeds and khaki, preparatory to the spring trade. The following completed stock being damaged. General clothing department about 150 men's short coats, 150 pairs men's trousers, 140 boys' coats, 509 pairs of overalls, 50 suits to order, 12 in customs tailoring partly finished, and a large quantity of cloth cut ready to be made up.

The second flat where the fire originated, has on the north side of the building facing Duckworth Street, the parlor show room where valuable chairs, etc., are to be seen. The upholstery of which is so saturated with water that it decreases largely in value. The ground and basement floors where the furniture is stored, ranging in value from one dollar to one hundred, were covered with filthy water, which penetrated through the ceiling of the upper floors and lodging on the furniture, has stained the surface so badly that in places the gloss or polish is completely removed.

Shortly after the fire broke out several truckmen were on the scene, and assisted by volunteer labor some pianos and valuable furniture was removed. The loss to the owners will be heavy as the insurance carried in different companies is small, as at the time of insuring there was not much stock in the building.

Over sixty persons employed in the clothing department will be temporarily out of work and about 10 others in the furniture department. However, we are assured that within a few days everything will be in full swing in the same building or some other place while repairs are going on.

Honor the Heroes of Merchant Ships

It has been said of Haklupt's "Voyages" which enshrine the story of the English seamen of the Elizabethan day that it is the real epic of our race, but the men of our modern merchant service are writing in their acts a new and grander version. Yet it is an epic which is in peril of being lost, says the London Daily Mail. The deeds of our glorious navy are embalmed in the book of history and are emblazoned forth in official reports. The deeds of the merchant service and the fishermen, who now man so large a number of the merchant-shaunted seas and in the deadly business of mine sweeping and submarine catching, have no eager chronicler and are too often lost in obscurity. Not seldom for military reasons the well secrecy cannot be lifted, and thus with the ravages of time and death many of the very bravest feats may be forever forgotten.

It is only now and again, as it were from a distant land, that some faint echo of these men's valor reaches the ears of their countrymen. We know that they have carried on the sea business of Great Britain throughout the war, and that they have very loyally and faithfully dedicated themselves to the protection of the lives of the women and children not only of England, but also of all the Allies, and to their maintenance by the safe conveyance from overseas of every form of supply. A little cowardice on their part would have deranged the whole machinery and it was such cowardice that the Germans sought to instill by all their apparatus of carefully planned sabotage and murder. But there has been no cowardice. In the manifold defensive actions which have now been fought between the British merchantmen and well armed German submarines we hear of no British seaman turning tail. Their spirit has been the spirit of the heroes of the Clan McFavis, and when they succumbed in the unequal fight—

Their unblanched lips drank up Death from the sea.
They quaffed this loving cup, England to see.

Courage so noble, so disinterested, so altogether beyond the reach of human recompense and reward seems yet to merit some signal honor from the King and country. If for these men there is no Westminster Abbey at the last let us at least know them and be able to take off our hats to them in their life.

New Municipal Bill!

LETTER FROM PREMIER.
Mr. Puddister's Resolution—Election in June—Public to Decide on Ward System or at Large.

The fourth meeting of the Citizens' Committee on the new Municipal Bill took place in the Board of Trade Rooms last night, the assistant Chairman, Mr. W. A. O'D. Kelly, in the chair, the Chairman, Mr. A. Soper, not being able to attend. After the minutes of the last meeting were read the Secretary read a letter from Mr. J. C. Barter, Architect, further informing the Committee that he had fully intended resigning as a member of that body. The following letter was then read from the Premier on behalf of the Select Committee appointed by the Legislature:

Prime Minister's Office,
St. John's, Nfld.,
18 April, 1916.

Dear Sir,—
I now desire to confirm in writing the statement I made to you last evening when you called on me at the House of Assembly, namely, that a meeting of the Joint Select Committee appointed by the House of Assembly and the Legislative Council to consider the report of the Bill to amend and consolidate the laws in relation to Municipal affairs, made by the City Commissioners, was held yesterday in the Speaker's room.

The Committee unanimously recommended that, owing to the early closing of the present session of the Legislature, and the necessity of a careful consideration in detail of the various provisions of the Municipal Bill, as recommended by the Commissioners, it was not desirable to attempt to consider and report upon the proposed Bill for adoption during the present session, but that it was advisable that a temporary bill be passed at the present sitting of the Legislature, under which an election may be held during the coming month of June such bill to provide that the Council should be elected only for a period of two years. Further, that the Committee be given authority to continue their deliberations after the closing of the present session, and until the next meeting of the Legislature, during which period they would consider any representations made to them by the Citizens' Committee.

Had you not called at the House of Assembly, I would of course have made it a point to have informed you of this by writing you previously to the holding of your meeting last evening. Since seeing you last evening my attention has been drawn to the report of the proceedings of the meeting of your Citizens' Committee held last evening in the Board of Trade Rooms, which appeared in this morning's issue of the Daily News. I gathered from a perusal of the report that some members of your Committee were of the opinion that a slight had been cast upon the Citizens' Committee by the action of the Joint Select Committee of the Legislature. Permit me to say that nothing was further from the minds of the members of the Joint Select Committee. On the contrary the Committee appeared most anxious to co-operate in every way with the Citizens' Committee. I made a statement to the Committee myself of the public meeting recently held in St. John's, the interest manifested at that meeting by citizens, the appointment of the committee, and the deliberations that had since taken place by them, and generally, the status of the committee. Indeed, I feel that, without so expressing it, every member of the Joint Select Committee who signed the report felt that they were working on the same lines as the Citizens' Committee.

I gather from the report of the meeting that your Committee meet again on Wednesday evening, and as the legislation proposed by the Joint Select Committee will not be ready for introduction into the House of Assembly until after the Easter recess, and as a consequence the House of Assembly will not be considering the report of the Joint Select Committee for some days, I desire to say that if, in the meantime, your committee have any suggestions to make and will forward them to me during the present week, I will be glad to lay them before the Joint Select Committee for consideration.

I thought I made it quite clear at the public meeting that the status of the Citizens' Committee would be to consider the proposed Municipal legislation, and keep in touch with any committee of the Legislature that would be appointed to deal with the matter, who would consider any recommendations made by the Citizens' Committee. As I am quite satisfied that both committees have the one object in view, namely, the improvement of the system of civic government, I would be exceedingly sorry if by any mere apparent conflict of procedure in the work of either committee, any misunderstanding should arise. I remain,

Yours faithfully,
E. P. MORRIS,
Albert Soper, Esq., Chairman of the Citizens' Committee on the Municipal Bill.

German Financiers Convinced

GERMANY HAS NO CHANCE OF FINAL VICTORY.

New York, April 13.—A cable from Paris to the Sun says: "William Foley, the Geneva representative of Halsey and Company, of New York, arrived in Paris to-day. He says that he saw at Frankfurt on March 6th a partner in a firm of New York bankers, who told him that German financiers are convinced that Germany no longer has any chance of final victory, although the war may continue for eighteen months more. Germany is fighting for the best possible terms."

The banker instructed Mr. Foley to sell $2,000,000 ($2,000,000) worth of Japanese bonds for New York account. He confirmed report of food riots throughout Germany. There has been troubles in Frankfurt, but are particularly bad in Wurtemberg and Bavaria.

German Financiers Convinced

GERMANY HAS NO CHANCE OF FINAL VICTORY.

New York, April 13.—A cable from Paris to the Sun says: "William Foley, the Geneva representative of Halsey and Company, of New York, arrived in Paris to-day. He says that he saw at Frankfurt on March 6th a partner in a firm of New York bankers, who told him that German financiers are convinced that Germany no longer has any chance of final victory, although the war may continue for eighteen months more. Germany is fighting for the best possible terms."

The banker instructed Mr. Foley to sell $2,000,000 ($2,000,000) worth of Japanese bonds for New York account. He confirmed report of food riots throughout Germany. There has been troubles in Frankfurt, but are particularly bad in Wurtemberg and Bavaria.

COMMONS ADJOURNED

LONDON, April 19.—The Commons adjourned at 10.15 p.m. after a session during which there were still some points of disagreement in the House and if they were not settled must be a break of government. It was the break-up of the Government that he believed might be averted by a few days of deliberation, and that he would adjourn the Commons till Tuesday.

Although the Cabinet was more than three hours to-day, able to reach an agreement on recruiting problem, when the Commons met, Mr. Asquith was able to postpone his statement until day next, saying that unless a meeting could be reached, it would be to break-up the government. COMMONS ADJOURNED.

LONDON, April 19. In the Commons this p.m., Asquith stated there were still some material points of disagreement in the Cabinet, and if they were not settled the result must be a break of government. The Government, he added, is united in believing that such an event would be a national disaster of the most formidable kind. It was the hope that the break-up of the Government might be averted by a few days more of deliberation, and that he proposed the adjournment of the Commons until next Tuesday.

Although the Cabinet session of more than three hours to-day was unable to reach an agreement on the recruiting problem, when the Commons met, Mr. Asquith was compelled to postpone his statement until Tuesday next, saying that unless an agreement could be reached the result would be to break up the coalition government. The Premier promised that there would be no further delay beyond Tuesday. In view of this promise, Sir Edward Carson consented that his motion, demanding compulsory service for all men of military age, should stand over until the Premier had made his statement. When the Premier said that the Cabinet was split in believing that dissolution of the coalition government would be a national disaster, he was loudly cheered, only a few Unionists dissenting.

NO HOLIDAYS FOR DUTCH SOLDIERS.

LONDON, April 19. The Daily Mail's Rotterdam correspondent telegraphed to-day that owing to the gravity of the situation no Easter holidays are being granted Dutch soldiers. A Dutch merchant who travels regularly between Holland and West Germany confirms the fact that the Germans have concentrated large bodies of troops near the Dutch frontier, especially facing the province of Limburg, thus making a short cut between Belgium and Germany.

WILSON'S WARNING NOTE.

WASHINGTON, April 19. President Wilson has sent a note to Germany warning her that unless attention to merchantmen, carrying Americans in violation of international law are stopped, diplomatic relations will be severed. The President in his address at 1 p.m. to-day will reveal fully what he has told Germany. The note and his address, Congress leaders say, contains a plain statement that the alternative is breaking off of friendly relations. The President explained that the note practically is an ultimatum, but does not contain a time limit. Demands are made, however, that Germany reply immediately.

KAISER DECORATES SUBMARINE COMMANDER.

PARIS, April 19. Information has been received from reliable sources to-day to the effect that Emperor William has decorated the commander of the submarine which is said to have torpedoed the Sussex. It is understood that Washington has been informed of the developments. The award of the decoration to her commander it is believed here, would make it difficult perhaps impossible for Germany to punish him in case such a demand were made by the American Government.

GREEK PROTEST.

ATHENS, April 19. The Greek Government has made a formal protest to the Entente Allies against establishing a naval base in Suda Bay.

ASSISTANT WAR SECRETARY.

WASHINGTON, April 19. William M. Ingraham, former Mayor of Portland, Maine, has been selected by President Wilson for Assistant Secretary of War.

MAY 15th FIXED.

WASHINGTON, April 19. Receipt of a letter from the British Embassy, stating that the Foreign Office has fixed May 15th as the day which all permits authorized last year for the shipment from neutral port of goods of German and Austrian origin, will expire, is announced by the State Department.

WILSON'S NOTE.

WASHINGTON, April 19. President Wilson's long expected and final warning to Germany that the United States will break off dipomatic relations unless she abandons her present methods of submarine warfare immediately, declares that the intention to do so was delivered to-day in the note to Berlin, which was announced by the President in his note to Congress. The President demands nothing less than the abandonment of submarine warfare against commerce. The President's address and note to Germany are virtually identical. Wilson declares that only by Germany acceding to the demand can the breaking off of relations altogether be prevented. The President considers that the next step depends upon Germany, and that three or four days will constitute a reasonable time for the reply. He is willing to discuss how the submarine warfare may be conducted within the limits of international law and humanity after Germany abandons the present methods. Diplomatic history records but one instance as yet where the breaking off of relations between two first class powers, did not eventually bring war, that which now exists between Germany and Italy.

Local Poet

Recognized by Sealing Captains.

Yesterday Capt. A. Kean called at the Board of Works Office and on behalf of the captains of the sealing steamers presented to Mr. James Murphy a handsome gold watch and chain in recognition of his references to them in the press. The watch is suitably engraved with the words:—

Presented by Sealing Captains to James Murphy, 1916.

The gift was accompanied by the following letter to which the recipient replied:—

St. John's, April 19th, 1916.
Mr. James Murphy, City.

Dear Sir,—
For a long time the people of this country have been favoured with many excellent things which have emanated from your "Pen," especially is this true of the Sealing Captains. And the one thing we all admire about your articles and poems is that you have a good word for everyone. Any man in this, or any other country who sees the good in others, and tries to make the most of it instead of looking for the faults is to be admired. And the Sealing Captains want to demonstrate to you in a practical way how much you have said about them by asking you to accept this Watch and Chain, and the earnest wish of them all is that you may long be spared to wear it. On behalf of the Sealing Captains and myself,
Yours respectfully,
A. KEAN.

REPLY.

St. John's, April 19, 1916.
To Captain A. Kean and Sealing Captains of 1916.

Gentlemen,—It is recorded that in ancient days the Romans wreathed a chaplet of roses around the brows of those who performed chivalrous deeds. Let me tell you that I believe that in elation, they could not have felt more so than I, when on this afternoon, your representative, Capt. Kean, presented to me, on your behalf, a handsome gold watch and chain, in appreciation of my toil, done in the commemoration of the labours of our forebears on the frozen foe, and further as Capt. Kean says, "for the many good things I have said about yourselves." The gift I received this afternoon is a token of your sincerity, and a substantial one at that, and let me inform you and truly so, that so long as the Lord lends me breath, I will treasure it, and further while I am capable of saying a kind word in your behalf in "song or story" my "Pen" won't rust for the want of doing so. Again thanking you gentlemen, from the bottom of my heart for your kind present, I have the honour to remain,
Yours sincerely,
JAMES MURPHY.

Our Volunteers.

The volunteers spent yesterday at indoor drill. One section received instruction in bayonet fighting from Lieut. O'Grady. Rifle practice could not be held at the Southside yesterday owing to adverse weather conditions.

Sudden Death.

Last night, while Sergt. Long and Constable Emberley, who were doing duty on Water Street, noticed an elderly woman named O'Grady fall to the ground, while proceeding up Adelaide St. Going to her assistance they saw at a glance that she was seriously ill. Placing her in a cab they drove to the police station, where Supt. Grimes phoned for Dr. Cowperthwaite and also for a priest, both of whom arrived shortly after, but too late to be of any help to the poor woman, as a few minutes after reaching the station death had claimed its victim. Dr. Cowperthwaite pronounced death due to heart trouble. Rev. Dr. Carter, who attended broke the sad news to the relatives of the deceased, who will take charge of the body. Her husband Henry O'Grady, is a seaman, and at present on a foreign voyage.

At the House.

A STORMY SITTING.

WEDNESDAY, April 19th, 1916. Petitions were presented by Mr. Coaker from Triton for a shed on the coastal wharf; by Mr. Halfyard from Barr'd Island and Joe Batt's Arm for a half way house at Birch Pond, and from the Anglicans of Fogo for a road to a cemetery; by Mr. Cashin from Bay Bulls for the dredge.

The Premier gave notice of introducing a Bill confirming Prohibition Plebiscite. He had been advised by the Minister of Justice that the petitions filed against the Bill had not been withdrawn.

Mr. Halfyard asked the Minister of Finance and Customs for an answer to his question regarding appointments made by him (Mr. Cashin).

The Minister promised to look into the matter.

The House then went into Committee on the Sealing Bill.

Mr. Jennings availed of the opportunity while the atmosphere was clear to make a few observations. He supported the Bill in the form it was introduced. He considered the sending of the Florizel to the seafishery as unfair to other ships. He also pointed out that it was equally unjust for a captain of a sealing steamer to get $5,000 for a trip, whereas another man's share would be 50 times less than that amount.

The amendment allowing the Florizel to prosecute and limiting her catch to 35,000 was then put and on a division of the House was sustained by a majority of one vote. Those who voted for the amendment were:—

|                  |              |
|------------------|--------------|
| For              | Against      |
| Mr. Bennett      | Mr. Lloyd    |
| Mr. Emerson      | Mr. Coaker   |
| Mr. Cashin       | Mr. Halfyard |
| Mr. Crosbie      | Mr. Stone    |
| Mr. Kennedy, Sr. | Mr. Clapp    |
| Mr. Kennedy, Jr. | Mr. Hickman  |
| Mr. Devereaux    | Mr. Dwyer    |
| Mr. Morris       | Mr. Grimes   |
| Mr. Higgins      | Mr. Targett  |
| Mr. Currie       | Mr. Abbott   |
| Mr. Walsh        | Mr. Winsor   |
| Mr. Downey       | Mr. Piccott  |
| Mr. Moulton      | Mr. Woodford |
| Mr. Moore        |              |

Mr. Piccott, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Mr. Woodford, Minister of Public Works, crossed the floors and voted against the amendment.

Mr. Lloyd then moved as an amendment to section 13 of the Bill in order to give the wooden ships a better chance of competing, prohibiting steel ships over 450 tons net from sailing for the seafishery before 48 hours after the wooden ships sail. This amendment was carried unanimously.

The bulk of the afternoon was taken up in a hot discussion on matters irrelevant to the Sealing Bill, which was the subject of discussion. Mr. Cashin began the trouble by reading a report from the Mail and Advocate, in which he claimed he had been misrepresented and the proceedings distorted. He accused Mr. Coaker of responsibility for the contents of the report. Mr. Coaker denied the charge and said he had not written the article. He still, however, assailed Mr. Coaker and abused him, and later said if you didn't write it, you control the paper and had no right to have it published. Severe cross-firing followed between the latter, Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Coaker. Improper language was made use of and unfounded charges made by Mr. Cashin. Repeatedly the Chairman of Committee and Speaker were appealed to for justice, but in vain. The only ruling promptly given was when Mr. Cashin accused Mr. Lloyd of stating on Tuesday that Mr. Cashin's conduct was backwardly. Mr. Lloyd promptly said he had used the words and would repeat them, if Mr. Cashin wished. Mr. Lloyd repeated them. The Chairman promptly had them taken down and reported to the Speaker, who asked Mr. Lloyd to withdraw them. Mr. Lloyd said he would do so, as the Speaker had directed him to do so, and then the Speaker ruled the matter was closed. Immediately the House went back to Committee. Mr. Cashin raised the matter again to which Mr. Lloyd took exception and continued to do so, until Mr. Cashin desisted, as he (Mr. L.) could not get the ear of the Chairman. Mr. Cashin then started to bring up other matters, relevant and irrelevant issues, concerning people inside the House and out of it. Mr. Lloyd rose to points of order on many occasions and each time he did Mr. Cashin said he took it back and withdrew the expressions objected to, still he continued by stating the report in the Mail and Advocate was written by a blackguard and he would like to know who wrote it. The reporter for the Mail and Advocate stood up and said he wrote the report and he was no blackguard and he would accept his (Cashin's) challenge which the latter had been flinging around. The Sergeant-at-Arms ordered the reporter to withdraw and he did so. Referring to the Captain Kean episode, and the cod oil measurements Mr. Cashin again made charges against Mr. Coaker who told him to tell all he know about the famous Tobacco Libel Case while he was at it. Mr. Cashin mentioned the words "suspended sentence" and Mr. Coaker rejoined "surrounded by four stone walls."

Mr. Lloyd remarked that when appeals were made for rulings there was justice shown on one side and none on the other. Speaking for the Opposition he threatened that if British fair play was not shown they would withdraw from the House and take another course.

When the thrills and climaxes had finished Mr. Cashin resumed talk on the Kean episode and contended that no blame was attachable to Capt. A. Kean for the disaster. Mr. Lloyd countered by reading a paragraph from the finding of two judges of the Supreme Court, who were acting as Commissioners on the Enquiry, in which they had found him guilty of a grave error of judgment.

The House then adjourned till Tuesday next.

Charged With Making Fire Bombs

TO PLACE ON STEAMSHIPS.

Four men arrested by the New York Authorities—One of them Confesses that he was the Agent of Von Papen, Former Military Attaché at the German Embassy, Washington—Bombs Shipped to all parts of the United States.

New York, April 12.—Four men were arrested here last night by agents of the department of Justice, charged with having manufactured "fire bombs," which were placed in sugar bags in the steamer Kirk Oswald, of the Fabre Line, on or about May 2nd last year. One of the men arrested gave the name of Charles Von Kleist, and declared he was a brother-in-law of General Von Briesen, of the German army, who was killed in battle in December, 1914. He gave his age as 67 years.

The others were Ernest Becker 32 years old, an electrician on the steamer Kaiser Friedrich der Grosse; Captain Otto Wolpert, 44 years old, superintendent of the Atlas Line steamship piers, and Captain Enno Bode, 49 years old, superintendent of the Hamburg-American line steamship piers at Hoboken, N.J.

According to the officers who made the arrests, Bode confessed that he was the agent of Captain Franz Von Papen, former military attaché at the German Embassy. He is said to have asserted that Von Papen sent him to the plant of the Agricultural Chemical Company, in Hoboken, where Kliest was employed, to find fault with the shipments of lubricating oil which were being sent to Germany by way of Holland, as fertilizer.

Acting Captain Tunney, of the "bomb squad," declared 200 bombs were found in the offices of the Agricultural Chemical Company and confiscated.

Evidence in the possession of the police, according to Captain Tunney, tends to show that similar bombs were shipped to all parts of the United States. Many of them were transported, he said, in suit cases as ordinary baggage.

When the steamer Kirk Oswald returned here July 10, 1915, from Marcellus, it was disclosed that four fire bombs had been found in her cargo of sugar, and that bombs found aboard the Bankdale, the Devon City, the Lord Erne and the Cressington Court, which had loaded at this port for destinations in France, had been of a similar nature. The prisoners will be asked to explain fires on a score of ships among which are some of the best known liners.

The bombs were composed of highly inflammable chemicals, intended to burst into flames in the heat of the steamships' holds. Had they not failed of their purpose, experts declared, the bombs themselves, as well as the cargoes, would have been consumed and no trace of them would have been left.

Captain Tunney asserted funds for the manufacture of the bombs were supplied by a wealthy man, whose name he refused to divulge. This information, he said, was imparted to him several months ago, by Robert Fay, already under indictment in connection with alleged bomb plots against steamships.

"GOOD CLOTHES."

We all like to wear what we call "Good Clothes." Now good clothes are costly—not dear—but they become dear if they have to be discarded practically unworn. The French Dry Cleaning Process meets the difficulty. We can afford to buy the best and most beautiful fabrics without being extravagant, because of their quality we can rely on being able to have them restored by this process to their original beauty quite often enough to enable them to be eventually discarded without a lament.

LONDON GOSSIP.

ECONOMIES ON ROYAL PALACES.

The economies to be effected out of the public purse in connection with the Royal Palaces will amount during the year to £10,000. Last year the urgent need for such savings had not been realized by the departments concerned, and the result was that the expenditure was planned upon the same lines as in time of peace. Some of the proposed reductions now are only postponements, because it is not to be inferred that there is normally any extravagance in such outlays, which are designed to maintain these public buildings in a state of efficiency, and have no reference to the palaces in the occupation of the King. By way of illustrating the direction in which thrift is being exercised it may suffice to say that at the Scottish Palace of Holyrood, £1,000 is saved by suspending some repairs and furnishings, and curtailing the staff, and thereby the wages bill. At Hampton Court Palace the savings include a substantial reduction in the police service, and amount to no less than £2,500. Kensington and St. James' Palaces each ask for £2,000 under the usual amount, the former being content with a staff costing £500 less. Corresponding economies are being effected in His Majesty's residences, though in this case the expenditure does not come in detail under the immediate purview of Parliament.

SIR EDWARD GREY TO GO NORTH NEXT WEEK.

I hear that Sir Edward Grey has taken a fishing on the Spey, and is going there next week. This visit to the north in troubled times has, of course, no political significance. Sir Edward Grey, I believe, always goes north every year for the anniversary of his wife's death. She died ten years ago, and the anniversary fell this week. Even a time of political crisis in the past has not restrained Sir Edward Grey from this yearly observance. I understand that neither Lord Lansdowne nor anybody else from outside the Foreign Office will act as his locum tenens during his short absence. Lord Robert Cecil, as Under Secretary, will take charge, and Lord Newton will answer in the House of Lords.

SCOTS SONGS AT THE FRONT.

Elsie Loubert, who has been with Lena Ashwell's concert party at the front, gives a touching account of the effect of the singing of the "auld Scots songs" upon the Scottish soldiers at the front. To Miss Loubert it was a wonderful experience to find the men in their enthusiasm calling for "Annie Laurie" and "The Bonnie Banks o' Lock Lomond" and joining softly in the rendering of the latter ballad. Sometimes the men took her by the hand and were greatly affected.

T. J. EDENS.

After one of the concerts a kittle waited for her. "Thank God, you've brought me near home." A song, "The Heather Hills," had been composed especially for the visit. Miss Loubert told of another impressive occasion when a thousand Scots concluded the concert with a solemn and beautiful rendering of "Lead, Kindly Light," and then went forward to a dangerous part of the front.

A TAX ON ADVERTISEMENTS.

If, as it is stated, the Chancellor of the Exchequer has appointed a Treasury Committee to inquire and report as to the practicability of taxing posters on the public hoardings, he has abundant material to hand in regard to the practice of other countries. In 1903 the Marquis of Lansdowne requested British representatives abroad to furnish returns. From these it appeared that the estimated revenue in France amounted to about £5000, the advertisements taxed including theatre curtains, blinds, tables in cafes, railway carriages and boards carried by sandwichmen. In Italy there was a municipal tax, hoardings for posters being rated in Rome at 25 centimes per square metre per annum. In Belgium, again, advertisements likely to attract crowds and obstruct the traffic are alone authorized by the municipal councils, who appoint municipal bill stickers, who have the monopoly of posting advertisements. In Amsterdam there are 45 communal advertisement boards, the use of which is leased for a period of five years. In Zurich the tax ranges from 25 centimes for an area of five square metres or less to 45 centimes for an area exceeding 15 square metres.

THE UNCLE OF DUKES.

If circumstances could make a man happy, the life of Lord Ronald Sutherland Gower, who died on March 9th, must have been near to bliss. He had everything that civilisation could give a man, and for it all little was demanded of him. He was the uncle and great-uncle of the "Dukes of Argyll, Sutherland, Leinster, Westminster, etc." (That astounding "etc.") Queen Victoria wrote to him as "Dear Ronald." The houses of all great, in nearly all countries were open to him—even the old Sultan's palace at Constantinople opened its doors, and he was shown round by an A.D.C. He had a taste for travel, and to him nearly every journey ended in a great man's house. Until he suffered from the Shackleton frauds about four years ago he was a fairly wealthy man. He came of a house that claimed to be the most ancient in Scotland. Whenever a great man visited England he was sure to meet him at the house of one of his relatives. He was a sculptor of parts at a time when people were not very critical, and his artistic tastes added another field of interest and acquaintance. On the other hand he was never married, and as a trustee had no service or responsibilities to pay for what the world gave him. He was a golden life in a golden age that only England, and Victorian England, could give.

NEWS OF THE REGIMENTS AT LAST.

I hear that plans are being matured to appoint an executive to compile actual records of the experiences of battalions in trench fighting. This necessary step is being taken in consequence of incessant representations to the War Office of the material damage done territorially through the ignoring of the unit and the consequent loss of the local interest. The Canadian contingent acted in the reverse spirit from the start, and apart from the action of Sir M. Aitken, have been feeding their local press with abundant accounts of what has been achieved. The Irish regiments, thanks to individual incentive and the action of the recruiting element in the Irish Parliamentary party, have done something in this respect. The Black Watch has been pretty regularly chronicled in the newspapers of its regimental district, and some of the Sussex regiments seem to have been helped by anonymous writers. Now the whole army will probably be dealt with on systematic lines.

BUYERS, SELLERS, AND WAR CONDITIONS.

A prominent manufacturer tells me that the high-handedness of some of his suppliers of raw materials and accessory parts in the matter of prices, while it is acquiesced in just now, will not be forgotten. He has compiled a list of firms with whom to break off business relations as soon as peace restores normal competitive conditions. While not resenting high prices in cases where to his knowledge the vendors are themselves at the mercy of war conditions, he is not oblivious of the spite in which the national emergency is being exploited by some short-sighted firms. This complaint, typical of many that are being made, is by no means limited to the case of certain merchant ship-owners, who have earned the resentment of the general public in a special degree. The existence of this spirit of self-seeking, not by any means limited to the ranks of capital, makes it difficult for well-meaning business men to take forward contracts as they would normally do, because of the impossibility of measuring the extent to which the element of greed will enter into the cost of their essential supplies.

WAR ECONOMIES AT THE CLUBS.

There are few institutions that are more hardly hit by the war than the greater political and social clubs of London. Men who have been members for years have now discovered that in war-time their duty is to spend their few hours of leisure in the bosom of their families, when they are not serving the State as special constables or other similar vocations. Hence from 5 p.m. onward most of the club rooms are half empty, and in particular dining and smoking rooms, which yielded the larger portion of the revenue, secondary only to the subscriptions, display a number of vacant seats. Men servants have disappeared, and their places have been taken by women. Staffs, of which there was formerly a lavish supply, is now doled out by the single sheet and envelope, fires and lighting are restricted. Ladies are catered for in order that there may be a new source of income, and afternoon teas take the place of heavy dinners—a change which may become permanent since it has health and commonsense on its side. Members are allowed to pay their subscriptions by instalments, and very generally avail themselves of the appreciated privilege. Tall stories of the spendthrift salaries paid to chefs are no longer in vogue. On the contrary, wherever agreements are lapsing, managers with four-figure salaries are no longer found to be indispensable, and management committees count themselves fortunate in securing an opportunity of a substantial saving. And clubland in the midst of it all is doing much for our fighting men by entertaining the wounded and raising funds for all sorts of good service to our naval and military heroes.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing. I've about given up trying to cure it."
 "That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your Druggists."
 Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Joffre on Wheels.

(From Answers.)
 They are now building at the L. & N. W. Railway Company's works at Crewe, England, a series of powerful express passenger engines which are to be christened after eminent persons connected with the war, the names chosen for the first four being General Joffre, Czar of Russia, King of the Belgians, and King of Serbia. This is merely a new adoption of an old custom of railway companies, for some reason or other, having always been partial to naming their engines after famous fighters.
 Thus one of the earliest of the Great Western Railway locomotives was the Iron Duke, built so long ago as 1847. The same company has also owned a Marlborough, a Duke of York and a Duke of Cambridge; whilst amongst other names famous in naval annals that they have chosen for their engines are Nelson and Sir Francis Drake.
 Lord Kitchener is commemorated by the Sirdar, one of the Brighton Company's engines.

Fish Carrier Ashore.

A message to Bowring Bros., Ltd., states that their vessel Nellie Louise, Capt. Burke, was ashore at Barbadoes and likely to become a total wreck. The vessel had loaded molasses at Barbadoes and it is supposed that while leaving there she went ashore. No particulars are yet to hand. The Nellie Louise was 14 years old, built at 14 Have, N. S., and was 242 tons net register. She was a well known fish carrier in the mercantile marine.

Hr. Grace Notes

Private Albert Horwood, of the 2nd Regiment, is on a visit to his parents and friends.

Mrs. Patrick Moriarty died last evening at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ambrose Clarke, Stratford Hill, aged 74 years. Mrs. Moriarty leaves three daughters and six sons to mourn the loss of a good mother.

We would like to congratulate the Government on the increase in the grant for old age pensions. There is no doubt at all about this money, small as it is, being a grand thing for the aged and helpless fishermen. We hope soon to see a similar amount granted to the aged and helpless female portion of our population. Why is it that a fisherman is allowed $50 a year as an old age pension, while his wife if she survives him is often compelled to live on $10 or $20 a year? Were we answering the question in asking it, we would be tempted to say it is because she has no vote.

Mr. John Newhook, of New Harbor, is in town on business.

It is said that Riverhead is soon to have a new post office erected there.

Mr. E. Stannons has a stock of excellent halibut just in from the West Coast, and he is fast disposing of it to our townspeople.

People going to and from the cemeteries on the hill, complain of the bad state of the road at the junction of Military and Carbonar Roads. We are looking forward to having all these little grievances fixed up as soon as our new Road Board gets to work.

Mr. M. Leary, who returned from Sydney a few weeks ago, is now sufficiently recovered to be able to be about, and he will no doubt soon be as active as ever.

The Fighting Cornicks.

The name of Cornick is well represented among the fighting families of this proud Old Colony and that of the Empire. Mrs. F. G. Cornick, 29 William Street, is the proud mother of five sons, two with the Canadian troops and three with "Ours" are doing their bit for King and Country. Herbert, who was wounded in France, is now in hospital; Will is now with the Canadians in England doing light duties, convalescing after wounds received at the front; Fenwick with "Ours" in Ayr or France; Edwin is now in Wandsworth Hospital, leaving here with the first draft of "Ours", and Ray now in training at the C. L. B. Armoury. Frank and Stan cousins are also serving the colours.

Pansy League.
 Government House, St. John's.

To the Editor,
 Dear Sir,—I write to thank you for your kindness in publishing my letter. I had many very nice letters and generous subscriptions. I have up to this date 64 members with 30 dollars to hand. Khaki and his chum Tom Fly's letter and nice present was the first letter to be opened. Dear little Chinaman named Chin-Chin also sent me a generous gift and has promised the same yearly. I do hope he has a long and happy life. He looks a happy chappie. Then I feel very highly honored, one of my members has the jolly name of Brock, is on H.M.S. Briton—I really must ask the mascot of the regiment to join—Dear Brock, please ask all your friends to join. Your sister Ruth wrote me a nice letter and sent me 12 members. Even your mamma and papa have joined, and brothers and sisters. You are a busy family, no wonder you get your white coats so dirty. I hope you use "Perfection Soap" that is made at our own Standard Oil Factory. Do they keep a cat or dog there? Just ask them to become members of our league. I had a nice poem sent from a cat named Tricksey. He lives at Bowring's grocery shop, that must be a nice shop, everyone cheerful and obliging. Also some nice rats, says Tricksey. Any more nice tabbies in some nice shops in Water Street? All welcome. Then my friend Humphrey also came along with all his chums as members. Many thanks dear Scotty for so sweet a remembrance (you gave no address). I have a friend called Toby, working so hard for me at Grand Falls. That must be a real nice place; for in and all around there they sent such a lot of jolly boys to the dear old flag. And now members for the Pansy League are coming along too. Well done, I am looking with longing eyes at nice ponies I meet, they too have some little girls and boys to drive them. I hope they will all be members. I heard that it cost 25 cents a day to keep one child in the Orphanage, and there are 365 days in a year. So we really want some more members to help us, but I know they are coming, even from England. I was asked the other day by a little girl and big boy if they could join themselves as they are not allowed to have pets. Why yes! We are only too pleased for all to join. Come girls and boys. The more the merrier. We are having just a little sale of toys and candies and ices here on Saturday, 6th May. The small sum of 5 cents will be charged for admission. Proceeds to be divided between the W.P.A. and the Pansy League. Will you come?
 With love to all, and many purred, miow, miow.
 Your loving friend,
 PANSY.

The following have joined:—
 Cats—Khaki, Bobbie B., Trickie, Jim, Flossie, Biddy, Peggie, Jelliloe, Pansy, Forget-Me-Not, Fuses, Bonnie, Fluff, Dolly Grey, Beauty, Betty.
 Dogs—Tom Fly, Chin-Chin, Humphrey, Friend, The Flapper, Nancy, Rennie, Rex, Grouse, Mister Panch, Ruth, Sue, Mamma, Papa, Jack, Slick, Kenneth, Maurice, Joffre, Bruce, Nero, Laddie, Winkie, Frisk, Scotty, Snipe, Bandy Boy, Flora, Wog.

 Ponies—Doctor, Nellie.
 Lemurs—Sally, Flora.
 Goats—Bluebell, Mary Contrary.

The Monroe Doctrine Again.

Boston Advertiser.—The one thing to prevent Germany from taking her "place in the sun" in the development of any colonization plans for South America is, of course, the Monroe Doctrine. While the United States has been sponsor for the Monroe Doctrine, no great show of force or power by this country has upheld that doctrine in recent generations. The one great Power with a navy adequate to the enforcement of that doctrine, and the one Power which has been standing behind it, really, has been Great Britain. While the British Government has given tacit assent to the declaration of the United States that Europe shall not colonize further on this hemisphere, no other Power has dared to challenge it. But British interests are now more important elsewhere. Great Britain will practically control Africa and Asia now. She may share her spoils with her Allies, to some degree, but she will still have the lion's share. She will have the development of Canada in mind for the rest of this generation. There would be nothing unreasonable, then, in a decision of Great Britain to allow Germany, as a consolation for the loss of the "Berlin to Bagdad" dream, to look to South America to recompense for losses elsewhere. And Great Britain would no longer have much interest in upholding the Monroe Doctrine. She owes the United States nothing, as the result of this great war, which has been marked by constant British irritation over the protests of the Government at Washington against the British naval policy. Great Britain's Allies, also, may feel that, as they have no further interest in upholding the Monroe Doctrine.
