

The Quebec and Ontario Railway.

The large and influential meeting held at the Court House on Tuesday night, to hear explanations from Mr. Fowler in reference to the construction of the Quebec and Ontario Railway, is the best possible evidence of the deep interest which the business men of Guelph take in the scheme.

In these days of almost incessant railway agitation—some of it of a very visionary description—it is worth something to have an enterprise of this kind brought forward, not only large in its dimensions, but thoroughly practical in its character, and involving as it does the development of trade through a large portion of the Province hitherto almost entirely neglected.

We need not go over the ground covered by Mr. Fowler's speech, a report of which appears in another column; but for the better understanding of the scheme, we will briefly sketch the proposed route. The line of the Ontario and Quebec Railway proper is to start from Ottawa, but in reality, it is merely a continuation of the Northern Colonization Railway, which is now under construction from Montreal to Ottawa; this again connects with the North Shore Railway, now being built between Montreal and Quebec.

The Quebec and Ontario Railway, starting from Ottawa, will run on the track of what is at present known as the Canada Central, part of which is finished and trains are running on it from Ottawa city to Carleton Place. From Carleton Place it pursues its way westward through the new Township of Nepean, Goulbourn, Beckwith, Dalhousie, Oss, Kalada, Elzevir, &c., and through the rear parts of Madoc, Marmora, Asphodel, Douyo, &c., till it reaches the town of Peterboro.

Private information from the County of Simcoe represents that Saunders, the Reform candidate, is almost certain to be elected by a good majority over D'Arcy Boulton. The Reform banquet is fixed to come off at the Music Hall, Ottawa, on the 8th of January. It is calculated that five hundred persons will be present.

Yes, 'Twas a Spell.—There is an individual in this office who has the proud privilege of sending off the Daily Mercury to our exchanges. He found the task a little monotonous the other day, and varied it by giving rein to his luxuriant imagination whilst writing the name of the Brantford Expositor. That lively sheet thereupon moralises as follows:—

"INSULTS.—The Guelph Mercury comes to hand, directed to the 'Eggspositor.' Now that's enough. We are ready to admit that we are not just what we should be. We lie sometimes and steal a good deal, and perhaps now and then set a bad example, but what have we done to deserve such an attack as that? We say emphatically, it is not true."

The Collingwood Bulletin expresses an editorial opinion that canvassing electors for votes is a mean thing, although it has to be done as things are now, and wishes there was a law against it.

The little Evening Recorder, of Brockville, has enlarged already, from sixteen to twenty columns, and though its only a few weeks since it began publication.

Private information from the County of Simcoe represents that Saunders, the Reform candidate, is almost certain to be elected by a good majority over D'Arcy Boulton.

The Reform banquet is fixed to come off at the Music Hall, Ottawa, on the 8th of January. It is calculated that five hundred persons will be present.

The Rival Clansmen A Scottish Vendetta.

"When I reached the summit of the shoulder I found that I had lost distance in climbing, for the Caterans were now a considerable way in advance, and could be but dimly seen moving like spectres along by the side of the ridge where the mountain runs up to its sheer height.

"But, breathless and panting as I was, I darted forward. Here a loud rushing noise was made by the mountain streams leaping and bubbling downwards over the rocks, and there was less fear of being detected. Sheltering myself for a brief moment behind each boulder and jutting crag to fix my route to the next, I rapidly gained upon them. But when they had got to the far end of the corrie the men in advance halted and waited on Ian and your son to come up.

"When Ian had joined them a consultation took place which was heard by neither myself nor Hector, for he was removed to some distance in charge of two of the Caterans until the consultation was finished.

"By this time I was convinced that I knew their destination—the cave. For it was just beside the concealed entrance to it that the group with Ian in their midst was standing. And in my suspicion I was soon proved to be right. A signal was given to those in charge of Hector to come forward, and then advanced to the entrance, where Ian gave a peculiar cry resembling the cry of an owl. This was answered, and I then became aware that a party of Caterans had been already stationed in the cave.

"In a few seconds every man of them had entered, and, treating as softly and cautiously as I could, I approached the entrance and listened, but I heard no more, and dreading to stay longer, I turned and descended the mountain by another way than that by which I had ascended, for I was afraid that I might have met others of the Caterans by taking the same path to return by."

"It was bravely done," said the Chief, gazing admiringly at the old woman. "Many men would not have ventured on a mission so fraught with danger."

"Ah, but M'Leod," she replied earnestly, "one will do much when there is a great interest at stake—much for the fulfilment of an object upon which their heart is bent."

"You speak truly." And, as the Chief replied, a tear dimmed his eye. "But," he continued, "I do not understand what your interest could have specially been in following the Caterans to their hiding-place."

"Ah! that ye may live to know yet, M'Leod; and marvel not though it may turn out to concern you or yours. I heard Ian M'Kenzie utter words to your son which told me it was time to act. Think not, M'Leod, that I have wandered about all these years without a mission. I have suffered much, borne much; but the one idea have I clutched with my whole strength, and the time has well nigh come when I must strike, and fearlessly. It takes a bold, fearless determination to meet the wiles of such men as Donald Cameron and Ian M'Kenzie."

The old man was silent for a second or two. Then he said— "The M'Kenzies have already caused me much suffering, and, if they appear, appear willing to cause me more. With Donald Cameron I have had stormy words long ago, but thought not that he was a man to keep alive enmity as he has done. But from me and my kinsmen, as well as from you, they need expect nothing but fearless, determined action. The M'Kenzies already have felt the weight of my arm, and Black Cameron may yet bring it down upon him. If I succeed in finding my son none the worse of his being in their hands to-night, I will retire without more action in regard to the matter; but if I find him not, then will my vengeance overtake all who may have had to do with his capture."

"M'Leod," said the old woman, looking up into the face of the Chief, after apparently musing upon something which concerned her much, "do you know aught of this niece of Cameron's with whom your son is in love, and whom Ian M'Kenzie seems so desirous to marry?"

"I know but little of her; my son has scarcely ever mentioned her name before me, unless perhaps during a banter with his aunt. Diffidence, I suppose, kept him from speaking of her to me."

"Do you know that she is a penniless girl, and said to be ill-begotten?"

"I have heard it. Hector has opened his heart freely to my sister, who communicated much of what he had said to me."

"And do you think he does no wrong in bringing as the lady of Castle M'Leod a girl who is a bastard and who cannot bring a merk to either her master—cannot point to the name of the family of her sire—who may have foal blood in her veins?"

The old man replied for a moment. "A wife in Guelph, Ohio, has demanded a divorce from her brutal husband that upon one of the family of her sire—who may have foal blood in her veins?"

"Manufacturers of the family of her sire—who may have foal blood in her veins?"

"Manufacturers of the family of her sire—who may have foal blood in her veins?"

CONSTITUTION BROKEN DOWN
with fatty degeneration of the liver and kidneys, from the use of alcohol; exhaustion of the vital forces, from the use of tobacco; irritability and restlessness of the nervous system, from the effects of strychnine; impaired nutrition and loss of energy, from the use of opiates; and nervous and physical prostration, from impure and unwholesome food. The only remedy of any kind can be restored by the use of DR. WHELAN'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALICAYA, a purely physiological remedy—perfectly harmless to adult or infant—that builds up all the organs and tissues of the body in a rational and permanent manner.

BOOK FOR EVERY MAN.—The "SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION," a Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Exhaustion, Vitality, Impaired Health, Nervous and Physical Debility, Hypochondria, Impotency, Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness, and all other diseases arising from the errors of youth or the indiscretions of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Thousands have been taught by this work the true way to health and happiness. It is the cheapest and best medical work ever published, and the only one on this class. It is now in its 10th edition, revised, much enlarged, illustrated, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $1. Sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price. Address: PRABRO MEDICAL INSTITUTE, No. 1, Baiter Street, Boston, Mass., or Dr. W. H. PARSE, Assistant Physician, N.B.—The authority may be consulted on the above as well as all diseases requiring skill and experience. apd5w

TO BUILDERS.—Wanted by the Trustees of School Section No. 5 of the Township of Nassau, a contractor to execute the mason, carpenter, and plasterer's work of a new school house, to be built on the west half of Lot 20 in the 3rd Concession of said township. Plans and specifications of the work may be seen by applying to Mr. John Hanney, near Eden Mills, on and after the 10th inst., and with whom offers must be lodged up to noon of Saturday, the 27th inst., on which day the job will be let. The trustees do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any offer.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1874—7th YEAR
THE ALDINE;
AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY JOURNAL, UNIVERSALLY ADMITTED TO BE THE MOST INTERESTING AND VALUABLE IN THE WORLD.
A REPRESENTATIVE AND CHAMPION OF AMERICAN TASTE.
Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill in black and white. Although on a succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.
The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its superior execution, in the examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The woodcuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the more costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original. To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representations of the productions of great painters. In addition to the designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will produce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus, the subscriber enjoying in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art. The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward. The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.
Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil by the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view of the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. THE ALDINE will produce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus, the subscriber enjoying in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art. The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward. The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

THE SUN.
WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND DAILY.
THE WEEKLY SUN is too widely known to require any extended recitation; but its readers will be glad to know that it is now published by Messrs. J. S. Sutton & Co., Newark, N. J., Sept. 20th, 73.
Gentlemen, I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully,
(Signed), THOS. MORAN.
These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with materials of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American Art Journal. If no better because of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any the worse if by reason of peculiar facilities which they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold single for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible. If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14 x 20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.
$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free. For 50 Cents Extra, the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid by mail. THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no retail sale of the chromos, and subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of James Sutton & Co.

CANVASSERS WANTED.
