RAILWAY NOTES.

The new Credit Valley railway freight sheds will be ready for occupation by the end of this week.

The Northern railway company has decided to adopt the Westinghouse air brake on their line.

The bill passed in the house of commons last session, obliging railway ticket-brokers to cease business, takes effect July 1.

The following official changes on the Grand Trunk line are being made: Mr. Moore, assistant freight agent at Montreal, has been appointed general manager of the great eastern freight line, a position specially created for him. Mr. Burns, local freight agent at Montreal, has been appointed succossor to Mr. Moore. Mr. Martin, who was recently appointed to Burns' position at Montreal, John Main, Grand Trunk agent at Portland, will go to Detroit to fill Martin's position.

Two Strong Adjectives.

The new Credit Valley railway freight sheds will be readly for An Assessment.

LEGALITY OF AN ASSESSMENT.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the subject of the legality of the assessment of the different parishes for the widows and orphans' fund. Dr. Snelling, the burser, was asked if he had the written opinion of the synod's solicitors with him on the matter. The burser said that he opinion of the synod insisted on hearing it read before it was submitted to the court on contested seats. Dr. Snelling went after the document and it was read to the synod. It was an elaborately-prepared opinion and it held that the compulsory assessment was illegal, as was also disfranchisement of parishes which did not pay such assessment. [The opinion was received with appointed to Burns' position. George Smith, late chief clerk at Portland, takes

The bishop then delivered his opening address, of which the following is a synopsis:

Since we last met in synod in November two of our clerical brethien have been called away. Rev. John Burdett. ordained a deacon by Bishop Bethune, in 1872; the greater part of his ministry was passed in the extensive and arduous mission of Galway, and he enteren into his rest at the parsonage at Kinmount on Dec. 29 last. The dean of Toronto's demise was also appropriately and touchingly allude et to. There was no actual diminution to note in the clerical staff. The bishop had held 39 confirmations, in which 817 candidates were admitted, delivered 63 sermons and addresses, administered holy communion 31 times, attended 34 meetings, consecrated 3 churches, opened I new church, ordained 5 deacons and 6 priests, baptised 8 infants and 2 adults. With regard to the census of 1881 I had purposed to present a full analysis of those returns as exhibiting the growth or otherwise of the membership of the church of England in the various determines and parishes of the diocese as compared with the nuctuations of the population. An investigation of the figures leads me to the conclusion that the more prudent course is not to enter too closely into details in a statement that will be made public. The results are such as to arouse any earnest churchman to the serious conviction that we need to lay aside our differences, or our supinesces, or our self-complacency or whatever else hinders living growth and healthy expansion of the body if we desire to maintain even the position we now hold among the religious bodies of the country. (Hear, hear, from several rev. gentlemen.) The growth of the church, however, in the city of Toronte is he lithy and the present position of the figure designations of Methodists and grouping under the designations of Methodists and resbyterians all the sub-divisions of theose bodies.

Francis P. Weed of this city charges Hodges and Wm. M. Scott, who is now dying of consumption in California, with cheating at games and with conspiracy to defraud. It is stated that the three played poker in June last, each betting $150,000 on a single hand. Weed and Hodges lost. Weed alleges that the hands were put my by Hodges and Scott, they to divide the winnings. Weed had recently received from the estate of his deceased father half a million dollars. It is stated Weel paid the defendents during the year over $100, 000, having compromised for $120,000, and there is $15,000 yet due on an unpaid note. This Weed desires to avoid paying and has begun attachment proceedings against hodges and Scott to recover as much as possible of what they have already received.

THE MAIN QUESTION ..

Other questions may be important, but main one of all now before the country. Having begun this policy, and having had abandon it? The question is not decided yet, by any means, it is still the main issue pefere the country to-day. The vote of 1878 did not settle the question; for that purpose another vote has to be taken now. During the three years that the N. something wonderful. By the transmutation of raw materials into manufactures of various kinds an actual bona fide creation of wealth to a large amount is going on. In these three years the home production of textile fabrics has more than production of textile fabrics has more than the difference in the week's results. All comparisons of wages are at fault if they do not include the fact that there are now three hundred days' work in the year for production of textile fabrics has more than the difference in the week's results. All comparisons of wages are at fault if they do not include the fact that there are now three hundred days' work in the year for mechanics in all indooremployments against one hundred and fifty or two hundred days with finer articulation than yeu. She can please the men of fashion, only she with finer articulation than yeu. She can please the men of fashion of men of fashion sooner by methods say that it has trebled. In many other work that was the rule before. lines the present production, and consequently the labor employed, is double what it was three or four years ago. More capital and more labor are employed ness. On the vote of June 20th would you than before. Let us try to take a cool, expand or contract? If the N. P. was conbusinesss view of the matter. What would be the effect upon business and credit gen-tract your credits, and haul in sail? On erally, were the popular verdict now to reverse that of 1878, and to decree that the national policy had been found wanting and must be abolished? Why, everywhere there would be collapse, consternation and dismay. To use the strong and into poverty? Amongst all practical issues, expressive language of Scripture, all faces the foremost one to day is the tremenduous would gather blackness, in view of impend-business crash that would follow ing calamity. Such a gloom as falls upon a a popular vote reversing the National community when some terrible catastrophe Policy. italists could no longer be induced to risk it. There are two contingencies to be many millions of capital will be entered upon, and that right speedily. The millions are actually waiting in the States, in England and in Canada-waiting the event of June the twentieth. Let the verdict of that day be against the N. P., and immediately the intending investors will take flight. They will trouble Canada no more with either their presence or their proposals; they will simply leave a perverse country to its unfortunate fate. If the N. P. be sustained at this juncture, the expansion of industry and of production during the next three years will far excell that of the three years past. But let it be decided that the tariff to the very principles upon which it is framed -by Sir Richard Cartwright, for instance-no assurance that can be given will restore confidence in business circles. A popular vote now against the N. P.

would mean far more than a mere readjustment of the tariff. It would mean a crash, a tamble, the closing of many now prosperous hives of industry, the ruin of many homes, the banishment of thousands of our people. As for projected new enterprises they would all vanish at once, like the baseless fabric of a vision. It seems incredible that the people, having industry protected and prosperous, with all manufactured products supplied at reasonable prices, would willingly vote themselves back into the former condition of depression and suffering. We shall believe it when was a national folly, a national we see it. The national policy is em- crime; a party that has for its organ the phatically the main issue of all now before the country. It is the question of our subsistence—the question as to whence thousands of our people are to get their bread and butter. The boundary question is an important one, no doubt, but it looks small alongside of the great question of employment for the people. It is still the question of the day, even as it was in 1878; and it will continue to be such until the free trade folly is clean crushed out in Canada. Very probably a strong popular vote for the N. P. now would silence the free trade fanatics, and give the country rest.

But there are reforms of various kinds which are urgently wanted, it may be said. Well, probably there are, but just now the most pressing question of all is that of work and subsistence for the people. We have had a trial of the N. P. for three years, it has done wonders in giving to whenever he saw Mr. Phipps' name over "Rule Seven.—Always speak low. "I wonder why I put that down. It is so obvious. In support of it I need only quote your Shakespeare, who calls it an his speech last night at the amphitheatre whenever he saw Mr. Phipps' name over "Rule Eight.—A plain woman can never floor. The only trouble has been, indeed, that it did not it will soon be greatly extended; but if concmued, then what we already have will e taken away from us. After three years trial we are asked to say whether we like the N. P. well enough to take more of it, or whether we vote to sweep it away and go back to the old system. The second the main issue, the great question of all. When that has been settled, so as to stay settled, we shall feel like tackling various questions of reform with great vim and

Give the city workingman three days more work in the year and the account is balanced. The right way to look at the coal tax, from the workingman's point of trial of it for three years, shall we now view, is to put down on one side two dollars and fifty cents, and on the other side Ten Sound and Sensible Rules for Woall that the workingman has gained in wages and number of days work.

Perhaps he has not gained so much in wages by the day. There is a practical answer to this: he has six days' work now P. has been in operation the increased out- every week. Before he existed on three or put of Canadian manufactures has been four days' work per week. The wages

THEIR INHERENT WEAKNESS.

The World, keeping ever in view our speedy development into an independent nation, has always been an advocate of the N. P., or our commercial independence. Political independence will soon follow the firm establishment of commercial independence. The inherent weakness of the opposition on the question of fiscal legislation—the issue in this contest—is that that party is made up of doctrinaires like Sir Richard Cartweight and David Mills; of "practical men" like Alexander Mackenzies who have said that the N. P. was a national folly, a national crime; a party that has for its organ the Globe which is constantly abusing and believed and the sound of the constantly abusing and believed by the constantly abusing and believed by the constantly abusing and believed by the constantly nebold. ing the importer who is much more of a real, and John Macdonald of Toronto, all members of the preceding parliament—they went back on the encouragement of home manufactures and the development of native industries, and voted as Mr. Mackenzie and the Globe told them.

NEWSPAPER WRITING. NEWSPAPER WRITING.

One reason Mr. Phipps writes so well is that he writes little; the articles in the Mail and Globe are by men who are good for two to three columns a day, such as it is. The World has a much larger list of editorial writers than either of these journals; six different hands wrote the articles in these columns on Mondry last and on many other days not less than four different pens appear. And so with our reports and rote on the N.P. is absolutely necessary to elitorial writers than either of these joursettle the question. The question of subsistence and daily bread for our people is in these columns on Monday last and on pens appear. And so with our reports and descriptive writing. The World can say with some degree of pride that there is not one incompetent man on its staff and that her own discourse—"here was a woman who, excepting a fairly any arrange, had no written, but they are fair and accurate, this worth our thinking about—those of us something that can be said of neither of our It touches the Toronto workingman to the big and partizan contemporaries. INSURANCE

Cheap Life Insurance. [From the Ætna Quarterly.] The co-operative assessment associations have secured a large membership from their representations that they furnish cheap insurance. Men have been induced to join these associations because they recognize the uncertainty of life, and their duty to provide for their families in event of death. They have been led to believe it is the only true form of insurance, and superior to the well-tested plans in use by the legitimate companies. We have frequently shown through the columns of this paper that the representations of these associations and their over-sanguine agents are delusive and untrue, and that they are unworthy of confidence or patronage, having no permanent basis to stand upon.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE CO'Y, of Hartford, Conn., was early in recognizing that a considerable number of those seeking insurance desired it upon the most inexpensive plans. With a view of meeting the popular demand it organized a copyrighted system, which combines the utmost cheapness, safety and equity. The plan requires only a minimum rate, and avoids the necessity of taking large premiums for the sake of returning large dividends. It gives all the advantages obtainable under more expensive policies. It is peculiarly adapted to those who desire to secure the largest amount of insurance at the least possible cost; to those who want immediate protection, but are not ready or able to pay for endowments or other plans more expensive, and for those who wish insurance for a limited time, or for a specific purpose. The accumulations under this plan are kept distinct and separate, and the insured receive the benefit of them by the application of the sui plus at stated periods.

There is, therefore, he further necessity or excuse for trusting the future happiness and support of dependent ones to the deceptive and uncertain system of passing round the hat after the funeral, for the ÆTRA LIEE INSURANCE Content issues policies secured by an accumulation of

to back up its promises, and at less expense than the article obtainable of any co-operative company, whose certificates are of no permanent value.

Circulars giving the full particulars of the plan above referred to, can be obtained by addressing the company,

He had been reading in the World news-ing emmigration. Then it was that the national policy was flashed before the eyes of the people of the Dominion. They accepted it as an experiment. It succeeded, and nothing succeds like success. The government of Sir John Macdonald had been emphatically one which had fulfilled ts promises. Canada had not, as threatened, been flooded with tramps from the United States, a danger of the national policy, which only existed in the imaginations of its opponents. Under that policy 151 new industries had been started in the country, employing over 7000.

It was a difficult thing to build up a manufacturing business without protection. He did not see how manufacturers could be monopolists while the whole market of Canada was as open to one manufacturers as to the other. The government to-day had fulfilled its pledges; the opposition, while it is pledges; the opposition, while is its sectional policy, had resorted to appeals to prejudice and to bullying. The speaker was not afraid to assert that the manufacturers deserved as much of the country as the importers. The question came to be which party should be supported them?

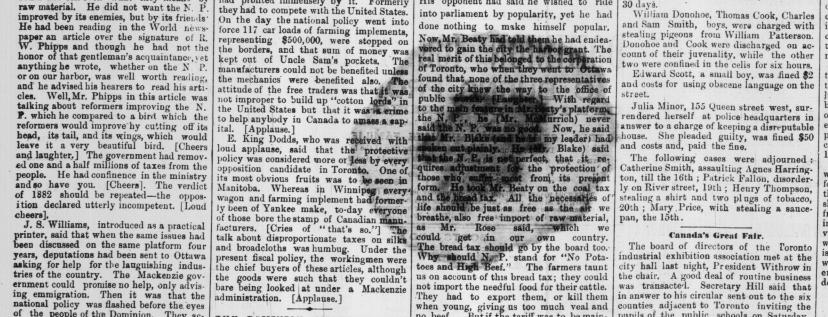

Edward Gurney, jr., was introduced as a leading founder of Toronto, president of the Manufactyrers' association, and nursed and brought up a grit. He said they had come to the meeting as business men to discuss with business men whether they had are dollars to turn over or a thousand. From over the way they head a hymn here it would be Canada. When is the "George Munro" for Toronto university and University college to make his appearance, and where is he to come from? Has what Dr. Grant at the University dinner called "flabby talk about a magnificent endowment of $60.000 a year," had the effect of drying up all the sympathies of their alumni? If so it is indeed time to stop it. The committee appointed at last meeting of convocation to consider the financial position of these two institutions should meet as soon as elections are over and organize by adding to their numbers and appointing sub-committees. An adjourned meeting could then be held early in the fall, or a series of meetings if more than one were found necessary. If anything is to come of the movement it must be prosecuted with energy and persistence.
