PALOUSE CITY.

WHITMAN COUNTY. A post-office, Situated 45 miles north of Lewiston and 67 miles from Cheney, the nearest point on the N. P. R.; reached by Ladov & Mooney's Stage Line.
Palouse City has a population of about 200; a weekly newspaper, flouring-mill, two planers and several saw-mills. If the efforts of the genial editor of the newspaper were rewarded, this would become an important business center, but we fear that the place is located in too close proximity to its more enterprising neighbors ever to achieve any remarkable progress. We presume that the present expressive title borne by the newspaper of the town—the Boomerang—was adopted by its editor because of the tendency of the enterprise to strike back at its projector, and force him to call to his aid the more appreciative neighboring towns. Mr Orcutt, "we mistrust," is of the same school of humorists as our friend Bill Nye, of Wyoming.

POMEROY.

GARFIELD COUNTY. A post and express office. The county seat. Population 600. Situated on the Lewiston and Dayton Road, 29 miles from the latter town.

Pomeroy has sprung from nothing into a bustling town in less than four years. On the organization of Garfield County, it was at once made the county seat. The new county is of nearly twice the dimensions of the present Columbia County, and is rapidly increasing in population, the land being fertile and greatly in demand. Pomeroy possesses two newspapers, the Pomeroy Republican and the Washington Independent, both of which are bright, newsy and prosperous-looking sheets, keenly alive to the interests both of the town and county. The public school is in the charge of Mr. F. M. McCully, a graduate of the Willamette University, who is also one of the editors of the Republican. The principal manufacturing businesses are a flouring-mill, brewery, furniture and cabinet shop, and several wagon and carriage shops. The St. George is the principal hotel. It has recently been enlarged and newly furnished, and is popular with both towns-people and travelers. Mr. Harry St. George is the worthy host.

PORT TOWNSEND.

JEFFERSON COUNTY. A post and express office; port of entry for Puget Sound District; county seat and contains about 1,000 inhabitants.

It is well laid out, the business portion of the town being situated under and the residences being above on a high bluff, which gives the town a pleasing appearance from a distance. Communication is had by means of O. R. & N. Co's steamers, daily, with New Tacoma, Seattle and all way points, and three times each week, via the same line, with Victoria, B. C.

The harbor is excellent, and together with the good warehousing facilities, the town is the nucleus of the district. The District Court is held here, and the place is garrisoned by United States troops and has the Marine Hospital among its establishments.

KING COUNTY. A post office and telegraph office. Situated on the east side of Elliott's Bay, about 30 miles from New Tacoma, the terminus of the Pacific Division of the Northern Pacific R. R. Population 6,000.

Seattle, the county seat, is the largest town in the territory and the principal shipping point of Puget Sound. The city is built on a hill, which besides being a healthy location, is quite a picturesque one. Since the revival in the lumber trade, experienced some two years ago and continuing up to the present time, Seattle has enjoyed a marked era of prosperity, for the manufacture of lumber is her principal industry. Her production and shipments of coal from the neighboring mines are also an important business, her daily shipments being 500 and 600 tons. The other manufacturing businesses of this city are varied and extensive. There are several large foundries and machine shops, a soap factory, a sash and furniture factory, and several minor enterprises. Her educational institutions, churches and newspapers are of a superior order. In the matter of hotels the town is well provided for, the Arlington being particularly worthy of mention.

JOE POHEIM, THE TAILOR. Suits made to order from $20. 203 Montgomery & 724 Market.

It is one of the finest hotels in the Northwest, and decidedly the best in the Territory. It is conducted by Messrs. Smith and Farrar, two gentlemen who do not overlook minor details, while exercising great foresight in building up for the house a permanent reputation. Seattle is the outfitting place for the Skagit mines.

SPOKANE FALLS.

SPOKANE COUNTY. A post and express office, situated on the Northern Pacific R. R., 161 miles from Wallula Junction. Population about 1000, and rapidly increasing.

 The situation of the town is perhaps the most eligible of any on the Northern Pacific, and we predict that its natural and acquired advantages will assure for Spokane a growth unprecedented in the northwest. It is already attracting the attention of manufacturers to the immense power of its falls—a body of water of unlimited force, and capable of running an incalculable amount of machinery. Then the location of the town is almost in the center of what will, eventually be a thickly-settled county, rich in agricultural resources and heavy stock and timber interests. It is also—and will become more so—a point of great interest to tourists, possessing especial charms for both lovers of the beautiful in scenery, as well as for devotees of the piscatorial art and hunters. To attempt to describe the scene of the mighty rush of waters known as Spokane Falls—its turbid currents and eddies, its sun-glinted spray and frowning rocks—and by description give an idea of its sonorous roar and grandeur, would be almost as futile as to do justice to a fine musical composition without a rendering. It must be seen by a lover of the majestic in nature. To see the tumbling, seething mass as it comes roaring down is a revelation of one of earth's greatest wonders. We spoke of the fishing hereabouts, also, and it is no exaggerated fish story to say that the sport here is the best in the land, the pastime (or vocation) having the most encouraging results of any fishing we have ever witnessed. Trout is very plentiful.
 As a hotel town Spokane Falls ranks very high. Besides the two older houses, the California (recently enlarged and newly furnished), and the North Pacific (a popular family house), there has just been completed and opened the Sprague Hotel, a magnificent structure, near the depot. Its appointments and furniture are of the most elegant description and its general arrangements and cuisine are second to none in the Territory. The town possesses a bright and prosperous looking weekly newspaper, the Spokane Falls Chronicle, two banks, a saw and planing-mill two flouring mills, and several minor manufacturing businesses. Its buildings in course of erection are at present writing, the most important in the town's history. Besides the new Sprague Hotel and the important addition to the California House, there are being erected Cannon's bank building and store on Riverside Avenue, at an estimated cost of $10,000, and in dimensions measuring 54x90 feet; Ziegler's three-story building for a hardware store, 26x70 feet; a large brick building on Riverside Avenue; a flour-mill on the island and a spacious new freight depot by the R. R. Company. The town site was first settled in 1873 by a Mr. J. N. Glover (still a resident). It did not begin to assume the aspect of a town until 1879, so that in less than three years' growth it has become a full-fledged city, with an exceedingly bright outlook.

SPRAGUE.

SPokane County. A post and express office, situated on the Northern Pacific R. R. 120 miles northeast of Wallula. Population about 600.

Headquarters for Pend d'Oreille Division of the N. P. Railway, having a fine building for railroad offices, round-house and large foundry and machine shops located there. The office building is a stately affair and the marked architectural feature of the town. The building, furniture and appointments cost $32,000. The shops are for constructing and repairing, and employ, on an average, about 180 men. The other manufacturing businesses are a brewery, furniture factory and several minor establishments. The National Hotel opposite the railroad depot is the principal hotel and is popular both with the traveling public and with residents of the town. The celebrated Big Bend country, adjacent to Sprague, is conceded to be the richest in the Territory, and it is comparatively unsettled. Government land in this rich virgin country is open for pre-emption. It will not be long before this locality is settled up, forming settlements contributory to Sprague. Messrs. Smallwood & Armstrong, land agents, offer to give information regarding government land or improved farms on application. The altitude of Sprague is 1818 feet.

C. W. WHEELER,
 Editor and Proprietor.

The Times is in its fifth year of publication, and under the management of Prop. C. W. WHEELER, Superintendent of Public Instruction for Washington Territory, is daily increasing its circulation. It is devoted to matters of local interest and general news, and has a large local circulation, besides being extensively circulated throughout the Territory, and in fact the entire Pacific Coast. Its large and increasing circulation makes it one of the very best mediums for all advertisements. Advertising rates made known on application.

WALLA WALLA.

WALLA WALLA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated 31 miles from Wallula, on the Columbia River, and 268 miles east of Portland. Population over 4,500, being the largest town in the eastern part of the Territory and the metropolis of all the wide expanse of country east of the Cascade Mountains.

It is growing rapidly and is becoming a financial center since the means of outlet for the rich products of the district are being multiplied and consequently cheapened. Formerly it cost so large a proportion of what the stuffs were worth to lay them alongside ships at the seaboard that very little margin remained for the farmer, and it is only a few years ago that an undoubted financial stringency existed in the midst of the most fertile country in the United States. We can perceive a change for the better taking place, as the means of transportation are being increased, and we hope the time is not far distant when Walla Walla will enjoy the same advantages as do the great wheat-producing States of the West. The outlook for it is very promising, as the lines of transportation will be enhancing their own interests while favoring this prolific region. The city is handsomely built especially as regards its residences, schools and churches, while many substantial brick and iron business blocks are taking the place of the old structures, giving the city a very fair appearance indeed. Among the improvements there should be included a good theater building and a large hotel. These would add greatly to the city's attractions, and the need of them will be very great ere long. A theater owned by the citizens and conducted in such a manner as to include Walla Walla in the Oregon circuit would enhance the importance of that circuit and add greatly to the pleasure and profit of all classes of the community. The leading hotels at present are the Stine and St. Louis,—very good houses and well conducted, but shortly they will be found totally inadequate for the accommodation of the increasing business. There are several important manufacturing businesses in the town, including several planing-mills, sash and furniture factory, four flouring-mills of large capacity, several breweries (chief among which is Stahl's, which supplies beer throughout the neighboring Territories) and several minor enterprises in the aggregate employing a large number of men. Of the flouring-mills the Eureka and Standard, both located at the west side of town, manufacture celebrated brands of flour. The newspapers are numerous and excellent by reason of the live competition. The Union, daily and weekly, is published by Messrs. Johnson & Herriif, and is widely read and quoted both in the vicinity and abroad. The Daily and Weekly Statesman, edited by Mrs. F. J. Parker, enjoys a large circulation, especially its weekly being a great favorite from Walla Walla to Lewiston. The Events, by Mr. M. C. Harris, is, as its name implies, a daily chronicle of local affairs, while the Watchman, an able weekly by Mr. C. Besserer and the Washingtonian, a piquant Sunday morning social sheet by Mr. W. L. Black, complete the list.

THE COUNTY AND CITY OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER.

OFFICE DAILY AND WEEKLY STATESMAN, WALLA WALLA, W. T., April 10, 1882.

GENTLEMEN: The circulation of the STATESMAN is much larger than any other newspaper in the Great Northwest Interior, and extends from tide-water on Puget Sound to the most remote settlements on the Pacific Slope of the Rocky Mountains, besides a large incidental subscription list embracing nearly every State and Territory in the Union. In the neighboring State of Oregon, which adjoins Walla Walla County, and which to all intents and purposes is an integral part of this Territory, the circulation is very large. In Idaho Territory the same.

In order to convince you of the fact of the circulation being larger than any other Newspaper published here, I append the following certificate from the Postmaster at this place.

F. J. PARKER, Editor and Publisher.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., March 30, 1882.

I hereby certify that the circulation of and the amount of postage paid on the "Walla Walla Statesman" from this office exceeds that of any other newspaper published in this city or county.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

See, also. List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

The Province of British Columbia is the extreme Northwest of the American British possessions. Although explored by Captain Vancouver on behalf of England in 1792, no immediate results, as regards any attempt to colonize, followed, until the Hudson Bay Company sent a party to Victoria in 1843. This party built a fort and laid the foundation of a very important trading post. The Company obtained a grant of the island (Vancouver) from the British Government six years later. The corporation had at the same time possession of the main-land, under charter and conditions. On the termination of the grant, which had been for ten years, the British Parliament constituted British Columbia and Vancouver a Crown Colony. By 1858 there were supposed to be 20,000 miners in the country, and a complete colonial system was organized, with James Douglas as Governor. Subsequently the main-land and Vancouver became united.

In 1871 the system of Crown Colonies, as regards the British possessions in Northwestern America, passed away, on the admittance of British Columbia into the Canadian Confederation, and thus ended the first part of the history—by no means an uneventful one—of the youngest British colony in the New World.

We predict a brilliant future in store for this beautiful region. With a genial climate, an acreage of 200,000 square miles, a wealth of island, coast, woodland, pastoral and mountain scenery; with inexhaustible mineral and forest treasures; with beautiful rivers, spacious bays and land-locked harbors, forming a seaboard for trade that is unsurpassed, this Province presents inducements alike to capitalists, miners, merchants, artists, tourists, farmers and artisans, such as no person with an eye on the Pacific Coast region should disregard.

The country has had innumerable drawbacks, chief among which has been the difficulty of communication with her home market. Her hopes are now fixed on the great transcontinental railroad, which approaches nearer day by day, and which will people the country with settlers, hasten its development and create and transform cities on the gulf and great river as if by magic. Then also will the river and harbor advantages of the Province become many times more valuable.

There is a general business revival in British Columbia as the annexed extract from the Victoria Colonist of June 9, 1881, shows:—

"In spite of the gloomiest forebodings, business interests are surely and steadily reviving. The workshops are nearly all busy. In some branches suitable hands are not obtainable, and the fulfillment of orders is somewhat delayed in consequence. In the wholesale trade there is an active inquiry for goods, and shipments to the main-land are large and daily increasing. In the retail trade an improved demand for many descriptions of goods is reported, and milliners and dressmakers have not been as actively employed for many years as now. In the clothing and boot and shoe factories there is a manifest improvement, and some of the proprietors are preparing to enlarge their premises and increase their facilities for manufacturing.

The building trade is the only one that is not feeling the benefit of the improved condition of affairs, but it must be remembered that the city (Victoria) was largely overbuilt from 1876 to 1879. The town in those three years grew faster than the country and the former is now having a breathing spell until the country shall have had time to 'catch up.' The large railway expenditure on the main-land has caused the gratifying change which it affords us much pleasure to note. It has placed ready money in the hands of the interior producer. It has given the trader the wherewithal to wipe old scores from the slate, and has infused new life into many channels that previously suffered from stagnation."

We may commend the steamer R. P. Rillet of the Pioneer Line, for a trip up the Fraser River. She leaves Victoria for Yale and way-ports twice a week and affords excellent accommodations and fare, which are so essential to the traveler if he would enjoy grand scenery.

NANAIMO.

VANCOUVER DISTRICT. An important seaport of British Columbia, boasting a good harbor and wharfage facilities. The array of colliers and steamers along its water front generally gives to the city an imposing maritime appearance. Just adjacent to the town are some of the richest coal fields of the Pacific Slope—in fact, we may venture to say, the most productive—bearing coal that commands as high a price as any found in North America. The supply, also, is inexhaustible. Nanaimo has connection with Victoria twice a week by Mr. Spratt's steamer, Cariboo Fly. Population 1,500.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

NEW WESTMINSTER DISTRICT. Situated on the right bank of Fraser River, near the north arm, and 15 miles from the entrance proper. Population 3000.

Vessels drawing 18 feet of water may ascend the river to New Westminster, which has excellent wharfrage and anchorage. The salmon fisheries of the Fraser River, as well as its important canneries, are chiefly within a range of ten miles of New Westminster. At present there are eight of these latter industries with capacity to put up a million dollars' worth of fish in the season. The establishment of one of the termini of the Canadian Pacific Railway (the other one being at Burrard Inlet, an arm of the Gulf, 9 miles distant), will make New Westminster a city of the first importance.

VICTORIA.

A post, express and telegraph office. The "Queen City" is beautifully situated on Vancouver Island, nestling in a group of picturesque and evergreen hills. Her surroundings are exceedingly interesting and her climate salubrious, while her convenient location as the chief town of the Province could not have been better chosen.

The city is gracefully laid out and substantially built; her churches, schools and public buildings have an aspect of English solidity about them, while her suburbs and approaches are possessed of drives that are unsurpassed anywhere. Without exaggeration, it may be said that this delightful locality may be viewed by the traveler at any season whilst driving over roads which for solidity, smoothness and breadth will compare with the suburban drives of populous Eastern cities. At present the revival of business in the Province, caused chiefly by the great railway construction, is telling on the appearance of Victoria. Although the town was previously overbuilt there is a considerable demand for real estate and the low rate asked for money is resulting in many improvements. The most prominent public buildings are the Post-Office, City Hall, Engine Houses, Custom House, Odd Fellows and Masonic Temples, which will compare favorably with similar structures on other parts of the Pacific coast.

The most unique in architecture are the group of bright red bricks known as the Government buildings. They are located in a beautiful well-kept park, and call to mind a combination of something Swiss and Japanese. The public school, a very handsome $35,000 structure, furnishes remunerative employment to a corps of learned teachers, whilst numerous private schools and academies, all occupying costly buildings, are in a flourishing condition. As a summer resort Victoria has a peculiar combination of unequaled advantages, and is to be especially recommended to health-seeking invalids—beautifully situated on the southeastern extremity of Vancouver's, the largest of the group forming the North Pacific archipelago; the city's atmosphere is charged with ozone, peculiar to the place only. It originates in the snow-cooled breezes of the Olympian Range, mixes with the salt sea-air of the Pacific, and has peculiar health-restoring and life-prolonging qualities, which need only to be known abroad to make Victoria the sanitarium of the Pacific. The city has three daily newspapers and two commercial banks, besides the Dominion Savings Bank, all doing a flourishing business. The Pioneer Line steamer R. P. Rithe runs between Victoria, New Westminster and Yale, and touches at all way-ports. She leaves Victoria on Wednesday and Saturday, and returning leaves Yale on Monday and Friday. The Pioneer Line also run the steamer William Irving between New Westminster and Yale. Tourists visiting British Columbia will find the boats of the Pioneer Company unsurpassed for speed, elegance and fare. The Hudson Bay Company's steamer Enterprise, running between Victoria and New Westminster, leaves Victoria Tuesday and Friday and New Westminster Wednesday and Saturday. Mr. Joseph Spratt's steamer Cariboo Fly makes the trip each way between Victoria and Nanaimo twice a week.

YALE DISTRICT. A post-office, situated at the head of navigation on Fraser River, 110 miles from its mouth. The location is in a narrow gorge, backed by mountains 2,000 to 2,500 feet high. There are rich creeks and streams in the vicinity, abounding in trout. Yale attained its original importance in 1853, as a trading point for the mining district. It is now important as the temporary construction headquarters of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The river and rocky scenery at this point is magnificent. Steamers of the Pioneer Line ply twice a week each way, connecting at New Westminster with Victoria steamers. Yale has a population of 600.

Alaska Territory—Fort Wrangel—Nino City.

ALASKA.

See, also, List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

THIS Territory presents to the eye the general outlines of a beautiful peninsula much enhanced, however, by its line of islands, which dot far out into the grand Pacific toward the shores of Asia. During 1865-67 Alaska was explored to some extent by a party of scientists sent by the United States. As a result, negotiations were made with the Russian Government for its purchase. The treaty was finally ratified by the Senate, and the sum of $7,200,000 was paid by the United States, and Alaska was annexed as a Territory. The Yukon, or Kwickpah River, as it is called by the Russians, rises in British Columbia and flows in a southwesterly path across the entire territory, paying its tribute to Behring Sea. It is more than 1,800 miles in length, and 600 miles from its mouth it boasts of a breadth greater than a mile. Its current varies at different stages of its course and also at different seasons of the year. In the Yukon Valley a sturdy grass is found, which affords fodder for large numbers of cattle. No grain is raised, however, and only the hardy vegetables grow; the fertile lands being near Cook's Inlet. Properly speaking, Alaska may be called a Territory of volcanoes. The loftiest peaks are found in the Coast Range. Mount St. Elias is estimated to tower 17,850 feet above the sea-level; this being so, it is the highest cap in North America. The chief source of revenue is derived from the skins of wild animals, the fisheries and the growth of the forests. The capture of seals is now regulated by law, and the United States derives a large revenue from those to whom the monopoly has been granted. During the summer months Alaska and its islands become the home of myriads of birds of all species. Lakes, also hot and mineral springs are found in the interior. Merely the coast and the islands dotting the coast have been explored to any extent, and thus very little is known of the interior. The climate is not nearly as severe as has often been said.

NEVADA.

See, also, List of Towns Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

Situated between latitude 35 deg. and 42 deg. north and longitude 114 deg. and 120 deg. west. Bounded on the north by Oregon and Idaho, on the east by Utah and Arizona, and on the south and west by California. Its area is 104,125 square miles, being third in extent of territory, Texas and California preceding her in the rank of dimension. Nevada was the thirty-sixth State admitted to the Union under the Constitution. Its counties are only fourteen in number, and necessarily large. The population, which is variously estimated at from 60,000 to 75,000, is decidedly cosmopolitan, Americans predominating largely. The general surface is a table-land, with an average altitude of 4,500 feet above sea level, traversed with great uniformity by nearly parallel ranges of mountains, rising from 1,000 to 8,000 feet higher. These ranges have for the most part a north and south direction, and are separated by valleys from five to twenty miles wide, the bases of the mountains having also about the same width. The mountains are frequently intersected by ravines, which form easy passes, and in some places are broken into confused and detached masses. The valleys sometimes extend more than 100 miles, uninterrupted except by an occasional butte or projecting spur, and frequently, where the mountains disappear or contract, unite with other valleys, or expand into broad plains or basins, some of which are unobstructed, while others are dotted with buttes or covered with groups of rugged hills. The rivers of the State are small and not navigable, some of which disappear in "sinks" or sloughs. Others again find their way to the surface after "losing" themselves. This is occasioned by the porous soil that is found there. The vast productions of silver ore which her mines have yielded have resulted in the acquirement of the title of the "Silver State." The stock raising interests of Nevada are a source of revenue that few States or countries can boast. The cattle raised for beef command a higher price in Eastern markets than those of any other "Far West" State or Territory, while the wool clipped from her many flocks of sheep is said to be inferior to none that ever passed the scrutiny of the argus-eyed inspector at the greatest factories in the world. Besides her deposits of silver there have been discovered lodes of copper, iron, and other metals of remarkable richness. The future of the State, while it is perhaps not so promising as it was during the excitement incident to the discovery of the precious ores in such large quantities, cannot be considered otherwise than flattering. Her progress, we predict, will be steady and permanent, and ere the close of the present decade her population will show an increase not anticipated by her most sanguine citizens. Her schools are superior, her people enterprising and intelligent, and her public institutions will compare favorably with those of States that have worn the "cape of time" so many years longer. The valleys are very rich for agricultural purposes, vegetables, grain, tobacco, hay and other products, as experiments show, yielding quite an income to those thus engaged. There are quite a number of industrial enterprises throughout the State, such as saw-mills, breweries, flouring-mills, wagonmakers and blacksmiths, sash and door factories, smelting works, etc., etc.

THE VIRGINIA AND TRUCKEE,

Connecting the Comstock and Carson City with the Central Pacific at Reno. Length 52 miles.

The management of this road is always deserving of the thanks of the public for its efforts to make the concern in every way a convenience. The road-bed of this line is said to be unexcelled by any in the United States, while the coaches are models of comfort and beauty. The approach to Virginia City is one of the finest pieces of engineering we have ever seen.

CARSON AND COLORADO

Branches from the Virginia and Truckee at Mound House, eleven miles from Carson City. Is constructed in a southerly direction, its ultimate objective point we believe, the head of navigation of the Colorado River. Hawthorne is but thirty-six miles from Bodie, California, and is connected with that place by a beautiful wagon road, constructed at a cost of $60,000 by the railroad company. This magnificent piece of mountain road building at last renders the celebrated Mono district easy of access. The Carson and Colorado Railroad will hasten the development of a large section of Southern Nevada; it extends 158 miles, from Mound House to Candelaria.

NEVADA CENTRAL RAILWAY.

This road is a three-foot gauge, running from Battle Mountain, Nevada, a point on the Central Pacific, 362 miles west of Ogden, to Austin, 93 miles south. The road was begun in September, 1879, and completed in February, 1880. For the first year it was unsuccessful, but was sold to the Union Pacific in June, 1881, since which time it has been put in first-class condition in every particular, and is now one of the best three-foot gauge roads in the United States. Besides being the natural route for Austin and intermediate points, it is the nearest possible rail route to Kingston, Belmont, Silver Peak, San Antonio, Lone Mountain, Grantsville, Ione, Ellsworth, Downeyville, Lodi, Gold Park, and to all places in Smoky, Reese River, and Smith Creek Valleys, commanding the business of 300 square miles in Southern Nevada. Under the new management the road is very successful, putting forth every effort to secure business and please its patrons; and its officers enjoy the advantage of having the friendship of all with whom they come in contact. It is therefore one of the few roads that can truthfully say: "Our patrons are our best friends." The road will be extended 100 miles south in the near future, thereby opening up one of the richest mineral districts in Southern Nevada. All trains on this road make close connections with trains on the Central Pacific in both directions, both for freight and passengers; and from present indications we would conclude that the enterprise has a bright future before it.

EUREKA AND PALISADE,

Constructed in 1864-5, connecting Eureka and the famous Ruby Hill (generally believed and gradually proving itself to be the richest mining district in the world) with the Central Pacific, at Palisade. This line is a well appointed and substantially built narrow-gauge. Length, 90 miles. The recent discoveries in some of the mines of Eureka have largely increased the business of the road, which is enjoying the prosperity so well deserved by its public-spirited managers. Close connections are made by the Eureka and Palisade with all trains on the Central Pacific Railroad. Freight for Ward, Osceola, Hamilton, Pioche, Tybo, Morey, Hot Creek, Tem Piute, Mineral Hill, and Bullion, is shipped by the Eureka and Palisade Railroad. The road will be extended south in a short time, with the object of connecting with the Carson and Colorado Railroad. There are productive ranches for thirty miles south of Palisade, raising grain and large quantities of hay—several of the ranches produce about 600 tons each of hay annually.

It has a fine Court House and jail, school house and two public halls, Masonic and Odd Fellows. The following promising mines are located near the town and destined to increase its population very much in the near future: The Cortez Mine, opened one year ago, has a large body of good ore in sight, a milling test of 97 tons yielded $9,270. The Lewis Consolidated shows a rich vein of ore which gives great promise. The Humboldt West, The Centennial, The Thanksgiving, and Silver Hill Mines are being opened with very flattering prospects, and no doubt, with the outlay of capital, Aurora will again become an important and prosperous mining town.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN.

LANDER COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated at the junction of the Reese River and Humboldt Valleys, at an elevation of 4,511 feet. It is a station on the Central Pacific R. R., 517 miles east of San Francisco, and 93 miles north of Austin, the county seat. It is also the northern terminus of the Nevada Central R. R. and a daily line of stages which run to Tuscarora. The place is supplied with water from magnificent springs, distant about 3 miles south of the town. Also here is situated the mountain from which the station derives its name. Population about 400. There are two good hotels, a school-house, and the various orders of lodges are well represented.

CARLIN.

ELKO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; is a place of 500 inhabitants, pleasantly situated on the Central Pacific Railroad 121 miles from Winnemucca at an elevation of 4,897 feet. Copper mining is a pursuit that promises to be one of its features of support, while stock raising is carried on to a certain extent. The principal support, however, is derived from the machine shops of the Railroad Company, this being the end of the Humboldt division. The copper ore mined in the vicinity is of excellent quality, and prospects for an unlimited quantity are quite encouraging. Carlin has a good school house, a fine library association with building, piano, and fifteen hundred volumes.

CARSON CITY.

ORMSBY COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The capital of the State of Nevada; is situated on Virginia and Truckee R. R., 31 miles from Reno, 21 miles from Virginia City and about 15 miles from the Mound House, connecting with the Carson and Colorado R. R. to the southern part of the State and Colorado. Population about 4,000.
 Public buildings are the State Capitol, United States Mint, State Prison, Orphan Asylum. Three good hotels with fine accommodations for the weary traveler and moderate charges. J. M. Benton is the proprietor of a daily stage line to Lake Tahoe, connecting with steamer to all points on the lake. The celebrated Hot Springs, about 2 miles from the city, have fine bathing facilities and are well patronized at home and by people from abroad. These springs are increasing in popularity. The water is noted for its curative properties in cases of rheumatism and skin diseases. A free hack conveys parties to and from the Springs hourly. There are excellent accommodations for guests at the Springs. The State Prison is about 2 miles from the depot of the Virginia and Truckee R. R., where at the quarry of the former, footprints of mammoth birds have recently begun to attract the attention of scientific men who have visited the place and taken casts for study and investigation. The extensive machine shops of the Virginia and Truckee R. R., are located here and give employment to a large number of men. The United States Court is held at Carson. It has four churches, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Catholic. Public schools, two large and commodious buildings—the Central and South—containing the different class grades and are well attended. A great deal of wood and lumber is conveyed in flumes from Lake Tahoe. The Comstock is principally supplied from this source. There are three daily papers published here. The Nevada Evening Tribune (Republican), The Morning Appeal (Republican), and the Evening Bee (Democratic). There is considerable good farming land in the county and about the City of Carson which is being improved by settlers, and will ere long be the home of many thrifty farmers.

The location of the town is desirable, being on a natural esplanade. It is the site of the State University, which is under the control of a Board of Regents; T. N. Stone President. The building is of brick, commanding an excellent view of the town and surrounding country. The Depot House, of which Mr. James Clark is proprietor, is a well-kept hotel, and the terms are reasonable. There are two flouring-mills located at Elko. The exports, principally copper, malts and grain. About 200 tons of the former and 15,000 tons of the latter are shipped from here annually. The Springs (a group of six, three hot and three cold), one and a half miles from Elko, are a great attraction. Mineral waters of different temperatures are utilized for bathing purposes, and are considered very beneficial.

EUREKA.

EUREKA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. Population 4,500.

The town is the county seat of Eureka County, and is situated about two miles from the principal mines, in a canyon between Diamond and Prospect Mountains, and has an altitude of 7,000 feet above the level of the sea. Adams Hill is west 2½ miles on the north slope, which runs from Prospect Mountain to the Flat. McCoy Hill lies directly south on the first ridge to the west of the canyon. Ajax Hill is southeast of Ruby Hill, and 5 miles south of the town is Hoosac Mountain, east of the road leading to Secret Canyon. It has one of the finest public schools to be found on the coast; the public school building and Court House are both elegant structures. Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Catholic Churches are to be found here. Two daily papers are published, which are fully awake to all the interests of this section of country. and they are well sustained by the people of Eureka County. Two good hotels are known as the Parker House and Jackson House. The principal mines are the Richmond and Eureka Consolidated. At the present writing Eureka gives promise of continuing as it has for the past, two years as one of the principal mining towns of Nevada. The town is connected with Palisade, on the Central Pacific R. R., by the Eureka and Palisade R. R. (narrow gauge), 90 miles from Palisade and 8 miles from Carson. There are some rich lands in the vicinity, which are a mine in themselves, as Eureka is a good market.

ises to become of great importance as a railroad center, being one of the principal stations on the Carson and Colorado Railroad, 100 miles from Mound House and the only connecting point for Bodie, Bellville, Candelaria, etc.; distributing also from there the farming products of Mason Valley and the wood trade of the surrounding pineries. It has a population estimated at 200, not counting the large number of teamsters and woodchoppers employed in the wood camps. Its near vicinity to Walker Lake gives it a healthy and beautiful location.

WASHOE COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The county seat. Situated on the Central Pacific R. R., at its junction with the Virginia and Truckee R. R., 155 miles from Sacramento and 31 miles from Carson City. Population 1,500. Reno has been twice visited by serious conflagrations, which have each time completely devastated the business portion of the town; but it would appear that the development of the place has only been advanced by these disasters, for no town in the State enjoys such a steady growth, or presents a more substantial and beautiful appearance to-day architecturally. It is situated in quite a fertile valley, from which it derives much of its support.

VIRGINIA CITY.

STOREY COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. Situated on the side of Mount Davidson at an average elevation of 6,150 feet, 52 miles by the Virginia and Truckee R. R. from Reno (junction with Central Pacific) and 21 miles from Carson City. Population 11,000.

The elevated position of this world-renowned city is always a source of consolation to its inhabitants, for in truth its climate is invariably bracing and delightful and never oppressive. The Sutro Tunnel will also be a source of future wealth to this historic locality when mining men come down to the working of the lower grade ores. It takes considerable reflection to realize the magnitude of this vast tunnel enterprise, its cost and the scientific skill necessary to bring it to completion. It is four miles in length, terminating at Sutro, at the foot of the range. Its history is of great interest, and visitors to the Pacific Coast should not fail to inspect it, as it is one of the greatest triumphs of modern engineering.

WADSWORTH.

WASHOE COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the Central Pacific R. R., where that road crosses and leaves the Truckee River, going east, 69 miles from Truckee. It has a population of 660 and an altitude of 4,077 feet.

The railroad company's machine shop, round-house, car repair shop, and division superintendent's office for Truckee and Winnemucca Division are located at this point. Improvements in these are soon to be made by the company. This may be considered mostly a railroad town, although several valuable farms are in near proximity on the line of the river, and it is the shipping point for Churchill County, extending 100 miles southeast, and also for Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation, situated 16 miles north on the Truckee River, noted for its extensive trout fisheries during the winter; about 100 tons are shipped from here each winter.

WINNEMUCCA.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office and county seat. Situated on the Central Pacific R. R. 414 miles from San Francisco, 324 from Sacramento, and exactly 200 miles by rail from Carson City. Altitude, 4,332 feet. Population about 1,200.

It is supported by the important stock raising interests of the vicinity and Idaho (being the chief shipping point on the railroad for that Territory), as well as some rich agricultural country. 33,000 cattle and 600,000 pounds of wool were shipped last year, and considerable bullion is also shipped from here. It contains a good flouing and quartz-mill, Court-House, and a spritely daily paper, The Silver State, which looks after the interest of this section of country and is appreciated by the people. Paradise Valley, 35 miles from this town, is exceedingly fertile and highly cultivated. Stages run daily from this point to all parts of Idaho and Eastern Oregon, and connect with stages for Montana.

See, also, List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

Situated between the 37th and 42d parallels of north latitude, and the 109th and 114th meridians west from Greenwich, lying north of Arizona, south of Idaho and Wyoming, east of Nevada and west of Colorado and Wyoming, and having an area of 84,476 square miles. It is divided almost equally by the Wasatch Mountains, which intersect its whole extent from north to south. On the east side of these lofty sentinels are the Green and Grand Rivers, which, with their several branches, form the Colorado; while on the west side are Jordan, Weber, Bear, Timpanogos, Sovier and Salt Creek Rivers, to whose waters the cultivation of many thousand acres of land and the reduction of vast quantities of ore can be attributed. The interests which involve the destiny of this promising Territory are dependent on these beautiful and valuable streams. Without their presence, the many blooming orchards, fields of rustling, ripening grain, and the hum of commerce would be represented by desolation and waste. Irrigation is a necessity for the production of cereals and fruits, of which she can consistently boast in terms of enthusiasm and pride; for in all markets where the products of her soil have been introduced, they have acquired a reputation, both for quality and size, that is encouraging. These facts, in addition to the one which experiments in mining industries have demonstrated, are worthy of the consideration of all seeking profitable investment in that direction, and certainly augur most favorably of her future. She is possessed of a multiplicity of features which must prove of advantage to her rapid and permanent growth, and not the least important of these is her climate. In the southern part of the Territory, cotton is grown without risk, and experience proves that the silk-worm can thrive almost anywhere within her confines. Oranges and other tropical fruits have been grown also in some localities, though in some sections the temperature reaches a degree of cold that is disastrous to stock. Lead, copper, iron, silver and gold are all found in paying quantities almost anywhere in the mountains, whose summits also at the present time are rich in the possession of a fine growth of timber, which is confined, however, to the fir, pine, cottonwood, and a few other varieties. Heavy falls of snow are annually witnessed in the northern portion. The mountains are covered during the greater portion of the year with a luxuriant growth of nutritious grasses, on which large herds of cattle, flocks of sheep, and droves of horses grow sleek and fat, and become a source of great revenue to their owners. Another of her attractive features is the dryness and purity of the atmosphere, while the water which courses constantly down her mountain-sides, is cool, sparkling and delicious. The sanitary condition of the Territory is highly gratifying, and her public school system is spoken of in the highest praise. The Great Salt Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, though so strongly impregnated with chloride of sodium as to render it unfit for use in the promotion of the agricultural interests. Very valuable salt is made by evaporation from the water which comes from it. So extremely salt is it that nothing endowed with animal life can exist in it. Its dimensions are 75 by 30 miles, and during the warm season it is visited by thousands of people, for the purpose of bathing in it. The buoyancy of the water is so great that it is found impossible for persons to sink in it. Each succeeding year witnesses an increase in the development of her mines, and the time is not remote when she shall wear the crown which credits her with being the leading bullion-producing dependency of the Union.

RAILROADS.

Through the spirit of enterprise which largely predominated in the men who were identified with the history of Utah, her progress was accelerated by the introduction of railroads. The progressive spirit of the people of Utah is nowhere so fully displayed as by the enthusiastic manner with which they adopt proposals for this kind of enterprise. The number of miles of railroad in operation at present is quite large, and increasing as rapidly in proportion as the systems of many States far east of here. The railroads in operation are as follows:—

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC

Terminates its track at Ogden and joins hands with the Union Pacific 895 miles east of San Francisco. The completion of this transcontinental roadway of steel was a success unparalleled in the history of railroad engineering and construction. Its machine shops at Ogden give employment to hundreds of men, and through its regular distribution of money the Territory is greatly benefited.

THE UNION PACIFIC

Also has its shops in Ogden. Some of the most difficult and costly railroading on the line of the Union Pacific is in this Territory. The pass of Echo Canyon is made in sight of the most delightful scenery, many celebrated views and objects lying along the road. Substantial iron and stone bridges are used exclusively in this canyon, and the road-bed is as even and the steel rails as smooth as the finest New York railroad.

THE UTAH CENTRAL

Is a consolidation of the Utah Central and Utah Southern, having Ogden for its northern and Frisco for its southern terminus, passing through Salt Lake City; total length, 230 miles; completed July 1, 1881. Two railroads are being constructed west, in Colorado, with the ultimate object, we believe, of connecting with this important line. The Utah Central is all that could be desired in the matter of accommodations and consideration for the traveling public and shippers. Energetic and intelligent men are at the head of affairs in all the departments. Close connections are made with the trains of the Central and the Union Pacific Railroads.

THE UTAH AND NORTHERN (NARROW-GUAGE)

Is 416 miles in length, running north from Ogden 78 miles through Utah, 205 miles through Idaho and the balance through Montana, completed to Butte City, Montana. The grading for a branch from Dillon, on the Utah and Northern, to Helena, Montana, is also in progress. The distance is only 150 miles, and the line will be completed shortly. Connecting Montana with the great transcontinental railway system, means the development of the immense riches of that Territory, and does credit to the enterprise of our railroad builders. The Utah and Northern makes close connections at Ogden with the Central Pacific, Union Pacific and Utah Central Railroads. It is also the route for the Yellowstone Park region, and passes through some of the most magnificent scenic country that the human eye ever beheld. There is superior agricultural land along this line.

THE ECHO AND PARK CITY

Branch of the Union Pacific is 26 miles long, running between the above points.

THE SALT LAKE AND WESTERN RAILWAY

Incorporated in May, 1891. Building from Lehi Station, on the Utah Central, across Utah to the State line of Nevada; crossing State line about the 40th parallel, and then running southwesterly through Nevada and crossing the California State line near Gold Mountain, with the intention of making San Francisco the western terminus. One hundred miles of the road is at present writing under contract, and track will be laid before the winter closes (1891). Steel rails are to be used the entire distance.

THE UTAH AND NEVADA,

Organized June, 1874, as the Utah Western Railroad, and changed to the present name, February, 1891. Its present length is 37 miles, and it runs from Salt Lake City to Black Rock, Garfield and Lake Point on the shores of the great Salt Lake, receiving freight for Stockton, Ophir, Grantville, etc. An extension of this road will shortly be operated to Tanner's Springs and Tintic District, Utah, distance 87 miles.

from eastern terminus. Black Rock, Garfield and Lake Point are bathing resorts on the lake shore, and in the season cheap and fast excursion trains are run between the city and these points several times a day. These trips are very popular, nearly everybody turning out in the evening to enjoy a bath in the lake.

THE OTHER LINES

Are the Wasatch and Jordan Valley, Bingham Canyon and Camp Floyd, and Pleasant Valley Railroads. There is also a narrow-gauge, running from Park City to Coalville, named the Utah Eastern. This road is a feeder of coal to the important Park City Mines.

THE SCENIC LINE OF AMERICA, THE DENVER AND RIO GRANDE RAILWAY.

The connecting link between the east and the west running through the most sublime and interesting mountain and valley scenery in the world, penetrating all sections of Colorado and northern New Mexico and the most fertile portions of Utah, affording to the tourist, the business traveler and to freight shippers the shortest, quickest, most reliable and best route to the leading pleasure resorts of the Rocky Mountains and to the richest mining regions and principal cities of the continent.

Leaving Salt Lake City, the railway runs nearly parallel with the Wasatch Range of mountains through the beautiful and fertile Salt Lake Valley, sending out branches on the east to the famous silver mines of Alta, which are reached at an altitude of ten thousand feet above the level of the sea, and on the west to the gold, silver and lead mines of Bingham, in the Oquirrh Range. On the western side of the track runs the Jordan River, the outlet through which Utah Lake discharges into Great Salt Lake, the Dead Sea of America. Twenty-four miles south of Salt Lake City a low range of mountains is reached, dividing Salt Lake basin or valley from Utah Valley.

After leaving point of mountain, the railway skirts for sixteen miles Utah Lake, a pretty sheet of sweet water thirty miles in length and about fourteen in breadth, with broad grassy slopes from the water's edge to the feet of the enclosing mountains. Into it empties the American, Provo and Spanish Rivers, and in its waters may be found an abundance of large speckled trout.

Diverging eastward, the road passes through the flourishing cities of Provo and Springville and ascends the foot-hills of the Wasatch until the mouth of Spanish Fork Canyon is reached, at a distance of fifty-six miles from Salt Lake City. At this point a magnificent view is presented. At your feet stretches away to the north the broad valley, dotted with orchards, farms, gardens and towns; to the west Utah Lake; while above and beyond the lofty peaks, Utah's great landmark, Mount Nebo, may be seen towering its magnificent proportions to the height of twelve thousand feet in the southern sky. At this point the railway leaves the rich agricultural section of Utah, and for the next two hundred and twenty miles runs through ever changing mountain scenery and boundless plains until the Colorado border is reached.

Entering the mountains at Spanish Fork Canyon, a scene of indescribable beauty is unfolded at every curve in the road. Towering on either side are its majestic walls, snow clad in winter and late into the spring; in summer carpeted with green foliage, that, at the first touch of an autumnal frost, presents, wherever the eye rests, upon every slope to the topmost peak, a mass of color as varied as the rainbow. Near the junction of Spanish Fork River and Thistle Creek, are a number of boiling mineral springs, containing iron, sulphur, soda and magnesia; beyond are the Red Harrows, a vast mass of conglomerates, rising almost vertical and worn by the elements into infinite shapes. Here may be found the black-tailed deer, and occasionally the noble red man; the road crossing near Thistle, their trail, over the mountain to the Ute Indian Agency in Strawberry Valley.

At a distance of six and three-quarter miles from Clear Creek Station and ninety miles from Salt Lake City, the road reaches Soldiers' Summit, an elevation of seven thousand four hundred feet above sea level, thence descends for the next ten miles to Fish Creek, when a branch line leaves the main road and again ascends the mountain to the Pleasant Valley coal fields. Here are located thousands of acres of the best coal lands west of Crested Butte. The coal mined here is rapidly supplanting the product of the Wyoming mines, in the Utah and Nevada markets. The valley is also a noted resort for fishermen and sportsmen. The creeks abound with trout and the mountain with deer.

Utah Territory.

Beyond the Colorado border the road extends eastward into what is known as the Gunnison Country. It includes the Elk Mountain region and is drained by the Gunnison River and its numerous tributaries. Here the railway runs through the Black Canyon; and, one who has recently made the journey from Denver, Colorado, thus describes its wonders:—

"From Gunnison City the railway follows the river of the same name, passing through three canyons with intervening valleys until Sapinero, at the mouth of Soap Creek, a romantic stream endowed with a most unromantic name, is reached. A mile or two below Sapinero the Black Canyon begins and extends for nearly thirty miles. For ten miles the road runs through the Canyon, the last twenty being avoided by a turn to the southward up Cimarron Creek. It is a mile and a half up this stream to the mouth of Squaw Creek, rising one hundred and twenty-five feet, the five and a half miles to the top of the divide between the Cimarron and the Uncompahgre rising 1,116 feet.

"From this point it is seventeen miles down Cedar Creek to the Uncompahgre at Montrose. The business of Ouray, San Miguel and Telluride will be done at this point. The San Miguel is a fine stock country and Ouray and Telluride are already famous for their mines.

"The grand canyon of the Gunnison, or as it is more generally known, Black Canyon, is sui generis. It is more lovely than any of its rivals, and in some parts of its bold and rugged course is quite as grand and awful; Its towering, rocky walls are veiled in verdure by clinging pines, amidst whose swaying boughs the mountain breezes make marvelous melody. Here and there slender waterfalls come trailing down waving in the wind like white banners on the outer wall of some mediæval keep. The river rolls below, now fretted into foam by narrowing walls and cumbering rocks, now broadening into peaceful pools reflecting each soaring pinnacle with the blue skies over all.

"In the canyon's deepest recesses, midway in its course, a noble mountain raises its spires to heaven. Isolated, inaccessible and lone, the haunt of the black eagle, this solitary peak awes the beholder with its solemn grandeur.

"Above Currianti is the culmination of all these wonders. The towering walls close in and frown darkly down upon the struggling stream, here breaking into impetuous rapids, which the railway crosses at a dizzy height. As the train moves down the narrow iron trail, a monolith of weather-stained and blackened quartzite, springing into the air a thousand feet above the swirling cataracts, challenges the attention. Other towers, less perfect but more massive, rise upon the right and guard the entrance to this tremendous pass.

"For variety of scene, for majesty in form, for beauty in coloring, for soft effect of foliage, for lovely waterfalls, for foaming cataracts, for weird and darkling dells, for solemn solitudes, for majestic and cloud-piercing peaks, for heights, for depths, for all that delights the eye, or thrills the soul, or satisfies the heart, the Black Canyon of the Gunnison is pre-eminent among the wonders of Colorado, the land of wonders."

Direct connections are made at Denver and Pueblo for Kansas City, St Louis, Chicago, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and all Eastern and Southern points.

IN CONSTRUCTION AND EQUIPMENT,

This great, popular line is not surpassed by any road in the country and is not equaled west of the Missouri River. Its palatial trains composed of Pullman Palace Sleepers, Horton Parlor Reclining Chair Cars, model observation cars, elegant regular coaches equipped with Westinghouse Automatic Brakes, Miller Platforms and Compers, and running over steel rails, iron bridges and rock ballast insure the highest type of rapid, safe and luxurious railway travel.

BOX ELDER COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office on the Central Pacific R. R, 24½ miles from Ogden.

It contains two hotels and three churches. The lands surrounding the town are very fertile, and with the facilities for irrigation improved upon the country must undergo a very great and permanent development. Bear River is a stream whose waters would be ample for the cultivation of all the available land in the valley, which takes its name from the river, and which is fifty by forty miles in extent, thus being capable of supporting many hundred families who might turn their attention to farming. The grain and vegetables produced in this section attain an enormous size, and do not lack in quality. It is strictly a Gentile town, and claims the credit of being the first among the number built by that class. Population is about 250.

OGDEN.

WEBER COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; is the county seat and has a population of about 7,000.

The eastern terminus of the Central Pacific R. R., western terminus of the Union Pacific R. R. and northern terminus of the Utah Central R. R. and the southern terminus of the Utah and Northern Railway, which railroads contribute very materially to its support, although the agricultural, mining and manufacturing interests are an important factor in the growth and prosperity of this young city. It is well laid out; its streets wide and regular and lined with beautiful shade and ornamental trees. The houses are mostly built of brick and many of them fine specimens of architectural skill. Its schools are numerous and generally well attended, while all the religious sects are represented. In point of morality the city of Ogden will compare favorably with any in the West or East. The hotel accommodations are good.

The Chamberlin House, on 5th Street near the Depot, is a good hotel and its charges moderate; while the Junction City Hotel is centrally located to the business part of the city, is well kept and its prices reasonable. A fine brick hotel is being erected on the corner of 5th and Main Streets, to be called the Brown Hotel. The bank of Harkness & Co. is doing a large business, which is increasing with the growth of the place. There are other banks in the city. The newspapers are two—"The Pilot" and "The Ogden Herald," both bright and enterprising papers, and look well to the interest of this section of country. Ogden has a flouring and woolen mill and several planing-mills, lumber yards and extensive agricultural implement houses, which prove a striking feature of the mercantile business. There is said to be an abundance of good ore, lime and coal on the line of the railroad, and within a short distance of the city. Ogden, with its railroad and manufacturing facilities, has a bright future before it, and is destined to become a city of importance.

SUMMIT COUNTY. A post-office situated on the Echo and Park City branch of the Union Pacific R.R., 26 miles from the junction (Echo), and 66 miles from Ogden.

It derives its support from the silver mines of the neighborhood, than which there are none more prolific in America. Besides the Union Pacific R. R. connection, Park City possesses a narrow gauge road, the Utah Eastern, running 18 miles to Coalville, the county seat, where it touches the valuable coal fields that are the main source of the fuel supply for the mills and mines.

CACHE COUNTY. A post-office, on the Utah and Northern Railway, and the last town in Utah on this road, 71 miles from Ogden. It is a pretty little town of 1,500 inhabitants, the second in point of population in Cache County. The country surrounding it is rich in scenic features, while the soil is susceptible of a very high cultivation, though the facilities for irrigation at present are not as good as could be wished.

SALT LAKE CITY.

SALT LAKE COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. It is the metropolis and capital of the Territory, the county seat of the county bearing the same name, is situated on the Utah Central R. R., 37 miles south of Ogden, and has a population of 25,000 people.

Its streets are of unusual width, bordered by a beautiful and uniform growth of shade-trees, while along the curbs there is a constantly flowing stream of pure and sparkling water, which comes from the mountains that shut out the beautiful valley in which the city is situated from the cold winds of the north. Of course that peculiar class of persons known as Mormons predominate, and it is due to them to state that the city's beauty and growth is traceable only to their presence. Had not such men as Orson Pratt buckled on their armor of courage and self-reliance a quarter of a century or more ago, and defied the dangers of the tedious journey across the uninhabited plains, Utah could not boast of the cities and happy country homes which everywhere present themselves to-day to gladden the heart of the stranger and make his visits enjoyable. No such monuments of pride and of devotion to religious doctrine as have been erected would be seen; no such development of the mining interests as she has experienced would be apparent; no such traffic as is carried on by the railroads would be witnessed, nor would the merry music of clanking engines, ringing anvils, the hum of saws and the clashing trowel be heard in the land. But, on the contrary, a solemn silence would reign supreme, and the bustle of the hour would be supplanted by "nature's desolation." The Tabernacle and the Temple, whose mute, yet suggestive fingers point heavenward the whole year through, and "watch the lonely vigils of the night" in courtship with the stars, would be numbered with the "things that are to be," while the mountains, solemn and majestic, would keep sole company with the companions of long ago. No theater such as she possesses would have reared its roof to witness the acting of the best histrionic talent the country produces, nor would the country have been so far advanced in settlement had the "wandering tribe of Mormon" been denied the passage across the plains that stretch out to the eastward so many weary miles.

Besides the Mormon churches, nearly all other denominations are represented in the city, some having very creditable congregations. The hotels are all under the management of efficient landlords and are good in every respect. The hot springs is another feature of the city that deserves special notice. The temperature of the water as it comes from its subterranean home is 102 degrees Fahrenheit. The water is strongly impregnated with sulphur and for bathing purposes is very valuable.

The city as will be inferred, takes its name from the great inland sea, which is but a short distance from the suburbs, and from whose waters salt is taken in vast quantities.

St Mary's of Utah, under the direction of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, is situated in one of the finest localities of the beautiful city of Salt Lake. The building is of brick, well heated, spacious and commodious, is the best constructed in the country for educational purposes. The salubrity of the fresh air from the mountains contributes greatly to the health of the inmates.

The Sisters offer the advantages of a thorough education to young ladies entrusted to their care, sparing no pains to promote the best moral influence, as well as the health and happiness of their pupils.

Pupils of all denominations are received, and while the utmost care is taken in the religious instruction of the children of Catholic parents, there is no interference with the children of those of a different belief, for the sake of good discipline, however, all are required to be present at the public religious exercises.

VETERINARY SURGEON,

MANUFACTURER OF THE CELEBRATED

BLACK OIL*FOR MAN OR BEAST.

1272 KIMBALL BLOCK.....SALT LAKE CITY.

P. O. Box 967.

Profit! Profit!

DEAR SIR—We want a good salesman in your vicinity to sell our celebrated BLACK OILS. These oils are having an extensive run and so much sought after where they cannot be had. We are determined to stock every territory and State in the Union, and our agents are now realizing from ten to twenty-five dollars per day. They are becoming a favorite family medicine. They are used for man and beast for diseases and ailments as described in wrapper. We want good, reliable men to handle this medicine. It is the best offer ever offered to agents to make money, and not be ashamed to meet the buyers again. Our goods are staple and will not spoil. We furnish advertisement and sample free on application. In order to protect ourselves from dishonest persons taking advantage of this mammoth sample outfit we require each applicant to send seventy-five cents to pay postage and packing. We only require persons who intend to become agents to send for our sample. Reply as early as you can as we must secure some one in your section soon.

TESTIMONIALS.

SALT LAKE CITY.

DR. C. W. NUNN :—

DEAR SIR—My colt jumped on picket fence and tore his shoulder half off. I purchased your Black Oils, and they cured it so nice and no scars left. I take pleasure in testifying to you and the public. They are the best medicine ever offered the public. I intend keeping them always.

Very truly, your well wisher,

J. LANGFORD.

SALT LAKE CITY.

DR. C. W. NUNN :—

DEAR SIR—We, the undersigned, testify to the public, the curative properties of your Black Oils. C. W. Lyman's Colt tore his whole hip away, and after putting in place and stitching, dressing every day for six weeks, was cured so well you can scarce detect the place. We recommend to the public the Oils. They have no equal. No files will come near the sore when dressed with the Oils.

Signed,

C. W. LYMAN.

IDAHO.

See, also, List of Towns Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

Is bounded on the north by Montana and British America, on the east by Wyoming, on the south by Utah, and on the west by Oregon and Nevada. The word Idaho, as we are told by those familiar with the language of the Indians who inhabit that section of the country, means the "gem of the mountains," a title that is perhaps well-deserved, on account of its pastoral, scenic and sanitary features. It was organized in 1863, at which time it included that vast area which has since been given the name of Montana. The general character of the surface is exceedingly mountainous, though there are quite a number of valleys, whose soil is said to be remarkably fertile and productive. The finest section of the Territory for agricultural purposes is probably that found in the Owyhee region. Weiser Valley, which is perhaps limited to 200,000 acres in extent, contains excellent land, with an abundance of very fine water, and capable of being profitably cultivated. It is being rapidly settled by an industrious and thrifty class of farmers, principally from the Western States. The Boise and Payette are also considered most desirable valleys, as the land is arable and of a superior character. Gold was first discovered in Idaho in 1852, on the Pend d'Oreille River, which, however, excited but little attention until the renowned Oro Fino Mines were discovered, in 1860, from which time a steady flow of immigration has been directed towards that quarter. The Wood River mines have caused even a larger influx of people than either of the above-mentioned. Camas Prairie, in the northern portion of the Territory, is spoken of as being inferior to none other, where extensive agricultural lands exist. The Territory is 400 miles long north and south, by about 300 miles wide at its broadest part, and contains upwards of 86,000 square miles. The population is only 25,000. With the completion of railroad lines through its interior, and when a general knowledge of its mineral and other resources is imparted through the medium of its own merits, the Territory must become a populous and progressive empire. Each successive day presents her more favorably, which must result in a prosperity especially flattering. The capacity of its inexhaustible soil and its excellent climate for a wide range of productions must be admitted in face of the fact that cereals, vegetables and fruits of every description are surpassed in no particular by any other quarter of the globe. Its latitude seems specially adapted to the culture of fruits, whose flavor is remarkable in its richness. The grazing lands are very rich in all varieties of wild nutritious grasses, and the almost illimitable bench and mountain lands present a tempting bait for the stock raiser. We wish that our space would permit a thorough discussion of every particular feature, since there are so many that can be most favorably presented. The Territory also boasts of one of the three greatest Falls in possession of North America—the Shoshone—which make an unbroken descent of nearly 200 feet, and measuring more than 300 feet in width in their narrowest part. It is also rich in mineral springs, whose curative properties for almost every disease that flesh is heir to, although not generally known, are said to be a feature that must become an important factor in its development. Timber is also plentiful, and many other advantages, with improved facilities, must form the sequel which will be revealed in a glorious destiny.

IDAHO CITY.

BOISE COUNTY. A post and express office; the county seat; distant from Boise City, the Territorial capital, 36 miles, in a northeasterly direction.

There are daily stages connecting it with Winnemucca on the Central Pacific R. R., and Umatilla, Oregon, on the Columbia River, passing through Boise City. It is the second city in size, as well as in commercial importance, of the Territory, and its location is decidedly superior, having gold and silver bearing lodes, besides an extensive agricultural and grazing district, to maintain its supremacy. There are several warm springs in the vicinity of the place, that are the source of much pleasure and health to the residents who bathe in and drink of their waters. The population is 800 or more.

NEZ PERCES COUNTY. A post and express office; the county seat. Present population about 1,200.

Situated at the head of navigation on the Snake River and at the mouth of the Clearwater, 400 miles above Portland. The town is one of the oldest in the northwestern country. It was first settled in 1856, and incorporated as a city as early as 1867. It is in a favorable position as a trading point, and has always enjoyed prosperity. It has sustained some set-backs by reason of Indian depredations, which have scared off the farming community from the adjacent country and kept out immigration. But trouble from this source has not been apprehended for the last four years, as the settlers and Indians have acted more in accord with one another. At present, on the reservation, a few miles from town, there are between 700 and 800 of peaceable aborigines as can be found. Some of them have adopted American customs to a certain extent, and not a few have embraced Christianity, having spiritual comfort administered to them by preachers of their own race. So the country is settling up with a confident and stalwart class of agriculturalists, whose prosperity has a marked effect on the growth of Lewiston. Many buildings, for business purposes and for residences are, at present writing, being erected. Mr C. C. Bunnell's new brick stove and tinware factory, just approaching completion, possesses a peculiar feature and one highly recommended by fire underwriters. The peculiarity is a heavy wooden frontage, entirely covered with thin sheet iron, which is said to be the most effective fire-proof front extant—better than the wrought or cast iron front because not liable to warp. We can see the philosophy of this and think, in case of fire, Mr. Bunnell has the proper protection.

The town possesses two flouring mills, several churches, two excellent weekly newspapers—the Nez Perce News, edited by Mr. A F. Parker, and the Teller by Messrs. A Leland & Son—and an extensive brewery, besides several of the largest mercantile houses of this or the neighboring Territories.

Stages start from this place for every inland point—the line from Lewiston to Cheney (on the Northern Pacific R. R.) passing through the important towns of Moscow, Palouse City, Farmington, Spangle, and connecting at Palouse City

MOSCOW.

NEZ PERCES COUNTY. A post and express office.

It is situated in the midst of the Paradise Valley, 30 miles north of Lewiston, and just within the Territorial line. It is reached from Lewiston by Ladow & Moonty's stages, which ascend nearly 2,000 feet to the rich, rolling prairie of the Palouse country. Moscow is perhaps the most thriving town in the county. The Paradise Valley is from ten to fifteen miles in extent, and the most beautiful spot in the district, besides which, it has contributory to it the fertile Genesee Valley, twenty miles long. Moscow will be the terminus of one branch of the O. R. & N. Co.'s road, laid out through the Palouse country from Twin Wells, on the North Pacific. It is 120 miles by survey from point to point, and it is expected to be finished early next season. The manufacture of lumber is an important industry along the mountains of this vicinity. Considerable flax has been grown in this neighborhood, and its cultivation is increasing until it is the principal product. Mr. W. J. McConnell of Moscow, who handles a large proportion of the crop, informs us that the shipment of flax from this vicinity, for the year past, exceeded 150,000 bushels. Moscow, for its age, has grown amazingly, and is still rapidly advancing. Its spirit of enterprise is commendable. It boasts a large flouring-mill, a good weekly newspaper, the "Moscow Mirror," a brewery, a bank, a furniture factory, and the following business houses:

MOUNT IDAHO.

IDAHO COUNTY. A post-office; the county seat; is 3,500 feet above the level of the sea. The county seat was moved from Warrens to this place in 1875. The town has a picturesque location on the south side of Camas Prairie. It contains about 300 inhabitants. A large hotel, a substantial Court House and jail add to the many features of the place. A thriving trade is carried on with the Florence, Salmon River, Warrens and Clearwater mines. Large quantities of lumber and flour are manufactured at this place every year.

KOOTENAI COUNTY. An express and telegraph office.

A small town, prettily situated on Lake Pend d'Oreille, 230 miles from Wallula, at the point where the lake is crossed by the two-mile tressle bridge (the present longest tressle work in the world). Sandy Point has a population of about 200, a railroad round house and machine shop (employing a number of mechanics), a saw-mill, two hotels and the following business houses. The principal hotel is the Lake View House, kept by Mr. A. T. Weeks, a new building, cleanly kept and offering good accommodations.

In all the varied landscapes along the line of the Northern Pacific system of railroads, there is perhaps none more interesting than those of this charming locality, with its beautiful lake and its banks of stately woodland. What a myriad of picturesque surprises the new route is opening up!

See, also, List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

LYING between latitude 44° 15' and 49° north, and longitude 104° and 116° west, is one of our most isolated dependencies. It is bounded on the north by British America, on the east by Dakota and by a short distance along the 111th meridian by Wyoming, on the south by Wyoming and Idaho and on the west by Idaho. Its length east and west is 540 miles, and its average breadth is 275 miles, having an area of 145,776 square miles, or, in round numbers, 93,296,640 acres, of which 38,000,000 are unexcelled for grazing purposes, 16,000,000 are of exhaustless fertility and susceptible of a high cultivation, 14,000,000 are rich in the possession of an excellent growth of timber and the remainder, that which is not covered by streams and lakes, can be classed as mineral lands, from which more than $150,000,000 were taken during the first seventeen years following its settlement. One cannot form an adequate conception of its extent until the fact is stated that its area is equal to more than that of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland combined, or the six New England States and the State of New York in our own country. When we consider, therefore, that a population numbering many millions is supported by each of those sections, with no natural advantages superior to those which can be obtained in this vast empire, it cannot be doubted that in a few years this must be the scene of equal commercial and manufacturing activity over the broad bosom of whose majestic rivers an interchange of the respective productions must be had with our foreign consigns. Its great diversity of resources, its genial, healthful climate and the magnificence of its unequalled scenery are features that cannot long be lost sight of. A destiny that every patriotic citizen would feel a pride in must be the crown that will adorn the history of the young Territory in the near future.

Montana is conceded to be by eminent authority second to none as a stock-raising region, although experiments, it is true, in this direction have been somewhat limited; yet enough has been done to satisfy good judges conclusively that her standing is unassailable. The lands are all open to entry and actual settlers should bear in mind the importance attached to a speedy location in this El Dorado. It is to be regretted that the nature of this work is such that anything more than a brief notice of the attractive features is rendered impossible. There is sufficient material to fill a volume of no mean proportions.

Malaria diseases or epidemics are never known, while the winters generally are exceedingly mild.

SILVER BOW COUNTY. A post-office; the second city of importance of the Territory, situated on the slope above Summit Valley, seven miles above Silver Bow. The discovery of rich lodes in January, 1875, and the introduction of sufficient capital to warrant their development to their greatest capacity, cast the glorious sunlight of a permanent growth over the place, and it now has a population of 4,000. With improved facilities for transportation, and an outlet by Utah & Northern Ry. to the Union Pacific, she must become a city of no little importance. Her schools are good and the health is remarkably fine.

FORT BENTON.

CHOTEAU COUNTY. A post-office; the county seat, at the head of navigation on the Missouri River. It was named after the distinguished Senator from Missouri. It has a population of 2,000, and there is more business transacted than in any town in Montana, or any in the United States of its size. Its location is beautiful, being on one of the low bottoms bordering the river. Its future cannot be otherwise than bright, since it is the entrepot of a very extended trade.

BEAVER HEAD COUNTY. A post-office. Is a lively mining camp in the southwestern portion of the Territory, having communication with the adjacent places by stage line. It did not attract a great deal of attention until its importance as an ore-shipping point became known, when it rapidly climbed the ladder of notoriety, and in a very short time gazed upon an array of money-seeking population. The mines in the vicinity of the place are producing an abundance of bullion, and give employment to quite an army of men and a great deal of machinery. Very costly furnaces have been erected. The population of the place is about 1,500 persons.

MISSOULA.

MISSOULA COUNTY. A post and express office; has a population of 800; is distant from Deer Lodge City 86 miles in a northwesterly direction, and is the county seat of Missoula County. There is a national bank, a flouring-mill, a fine church, where several congregations of various denominations worship, and a weekly newspaper, the Missoulian, published by D J Armstrong, Esq. It has communication with adjacent towns, by stage routes, one leading through the Bitter Root Valley, and one to Helena and Deer Lodge City. It will also soon have connection with the Northern Pacific Railway by stage line, as there is one under process of construction to the terminus of that road. The means which contribute to the development of a mining and agricultural section will result in its steady growth.

In 1863 the present site was a "raging wilderness," where nothing save the moaning winds and the noises emanating from the throats of the dusky savages and wild animals broke the stillness and awakened the echoes. The news relating to the discovery of rich placer and quartz diggings, spread like wildfire throughout the whole world. It boasts the finest Court House in the Territory and possesses excellent schools. The population is about 750. The support is derived principally from the mining and stock raising interest, though that of farming is attracting some attention. The altitude of the town is greater than that of any other place in the Territory, it being 5,778 feet above the level of the sea. It is in a very healthy location and should command favorable notice in this connection.

ARIZONA.

See, also, List of Towns Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

ARIZONA has for its sister States and Territories, Utah on the north, New Mexico on the east, Sonora of Old Mexico on the south, California and Nevada on the west. Its area is as much as all of the New England States put together, and two or three times as large as almost any one of the Western States.

Of all the Territories of the United States there are none that are exciting more interest than Arizona. Although it has been known for many years that her mountains are teeming with minerals, very few have had the courage to face the trials of a settlement there. Her remoteness from commercial centers, and the expense attached to the transportation of articles of use, have always been an obstacle to her development. Since the advent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, however, a flow of the tide of immigration has set in toward the new El Dorado. The railroad is certainly entitled to the credit of civilizing this dependency, and to its presence alone a development of her resources is attributable. The time is not far distant, we predict, when her claims to Statehood will be recognized, for very soon she will be the possessor of a population that will entitle her to admission to the Union. Already experiments have proven that the production of cereals can be most profitably engaged in, while the nutritious grasses of luxuriant growth on her grazing lands afford an argument incontrovertible as to the feasibility of stock raising.

There is in many quarters of the Territory an abundance of fine timber, and in the manufacture of lumber to supply the heavy demand for building purposes an army of men is engaged. If a diversity of resources such as Arizona is fast becoming noted for can contribute to a rapid and permanent growth, then her near future will be crowned with that glory. Her destiny will place her in the front rank of the prosperous States.

Prescott is the capital. The laws of the Territory are similar to California. Arizona lies between latitude 31° and 37° north, and longitude 109° and 114° 40' west; 67,098,366 of its 72,906,240 acres are unsurveyed. The part lying north of the Gila was acquired by the treaty with Mexico. Arizona became a Territory in 1863, prior to which time it was part of New Mexico. It is divided into ten counties. Mountain ranges are numerous, having a northwest and southeast course. Mount San Francisco, a volcanic cone, is 11,000 feet above the level of the sea. The Colorado, a remarkable river, is the largest one in the Territory, and finds its beginning in Utah. It flows southerly along the western border, emptying its waters into the Gulf of California. It has worn its bed to such an extent that some of its banks are perpendicular walls 7,000 feet high. Steamers traverse its waters for a distance of 612 miles.

The climate of the Territory is equable, and her altitude an assurance against disease. The mines of the Territory are as yet undeveloped, though capital seeking investment is by no means timid. Notwithstanding that the mines of Arizona are generally in their infancy, more bullion has been produced in proportion to the money invested than in any other mining district except California.

Now that machinery for mills and mining can be brought into the Territory at something like a reasonable price for transportation, we expect to see some wonderful productions. Prospectors are swarming through the gulches and on the mountain sides, locating claims, and immigration is rapidly coming in.

Travelers and tourists of the highest authority have pronounced this to be one of the richest scenic sections of the globe. With the charms of nature spread out in so many ways to make Arizona attractive, there can be no doubt that in a short time this quarter of our happy nation will be populated by her representative citizens, under whose care and nurture it must become a great source of pride and revenue. At no distant day every section of Arizona, it is presumed, will be awakened by the clanking of engines and the bustle of traffic. This wilderness will have undergone a change as if by magic; its stillness will have been broken by the joyous sounds of the church bells ringing out upon the balmy air, and the musical sounds of the mechanic will keep "time" with the progress of civilization.

PIMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated 10 miles west of Tombstone, on the San Pedro River.

On the north can be seen the Whetstone Mountains, on the south the Sierra de San Jose Range in Sonora, and in a westerly direction the lofty peaks of the Huachuacas. The town has a population of about 400. On the opposite side of the river are situated the Gird and Corbin Mills, belonging to the Tombstone Mill and Mining Co, where is crushed the rich ore taken from their mines at Tombstone. Considerable trade is carried on with Sonora by means of pack-trains.

PINAL COUNTY. A post and express office.

A beautiful, thriving and prosperous town containing over 1,400 inhabitants, handsomely situated on the south bank of the Gila River, in Pinal County, and almost in the center of the Territory. It is the county seat of the county, and lies about 35 miles from the far-famed Silver King Mine. Recent additions have been made to the Court House, a new jail built, which has no equal in the Territory excepting Yuma. A new Catholic Church will shortly be constructed. The Sisters of Mercy of Tucson have established a day and boarding school, and there are ten public and one private school. Every educational advantage can be had here known to the outside world. The climate, healthfulness and sanitary condition of the town is unequalled by any place in the Territory. Farming and grazing abound on all sides, and it is now a settled fact that any cereal or vegetable may be grown successfully here. Connection is made with the Southern Pacific Railroad at the station of Casa Grande, 25 miles distant. The mail service is daily, and is carried by the Texas and California Stage Company, Griffith & Stevens proprietors.

is located 2 miles north of Salt River, in the center of the valley of the same name, and has been the seat of government since the formation of the county, February 4th, 1871. The town site of Phoenix covers an area of one mile long and one-half mile wide. The streets fronting on the plaza are 100 feet wide; the balance are 80. The streets run at right angles with the cardinal points of the compass. The blocks are 300 feet square. Owing to its close proximity to the best developed mining districts in the Territory, its location as a base of supplies is unequalled. The town is amply supplied with churches and educational facilities. It has a handsome new school house, costing $15,000. The Masons, Odd Fellows, Red Men, Knights of Pythias and Good Templars are organized and have large lists of members. Population about 2,500. The principal industries of the surrounding country are farming, mining and stock raising. Phoenix is located in what is generally considered the finest agricultural valley in the Territory.

seat of Yavapai County, is beautifully and healthfully situated in a mountainous flat surrounded by groves of stately pines, at an altitude a trifle over a mile above the sea level. The surrounding mountain tops are snow-capped, and breezes wafted from their heights to the valley below are loaded with a freshness that often drive the people from the streets to the refuge of their household fireplaces. Prescott is decidedly an American town, and her buildings, both public and private, are models of comfort and elegance. The surrounding forests of pine furnish material of superior quality in abundance. Her chief resources are mining, stock raising and lumber manufacturing. Her great disadvantage is her isolated position, which it is believed will be shortly overcome by the establishment of railroad connection that is now made a probability in the construction of a line from Santa Fe, N. M. Whipple Barracks, one of the pleasantest military stations in the Territory, is situated about three-quarters of a mile from Prescott. Prescott is reached by Gilmer, Salisbury & Co.'s stage coaches from Maricopa, on the S. P. R. R., at a distance of 150 miles. The population of Prescott is estimated at 3,000.

TOMBSTONE.

COCHISE COUNTY. A post and express office, situated about 30 miles south of the Southern Pacific R. R., with a branch track which takes one from Benson to within 10 miles of the town. It is the county-seat and an incorporated city, located at the foot of a very low range of rolling hills, on a nearly level table-land. To the northward, for many miles, the country is a rocky plain, deeply cut into the numerous gullies and shallow ravines. Like most other places in Arizona, Tombstone is surrounded by irregular and broken ranges of mountains, making a mountain fence, consisting of the Santa Catarinas, Whetstone, Mustang, Huachuca, Mule and Dragoon Mountains. In the latter range, twelve miles distant, and in plain sight, is one of the noted Apache dens—"Cochise Stroughold." It is one of the liveliest of the Pacific slope towns, and has a population of about 8,000. It is well laid out with broad streets, and for a mountain town is well built. Its climate is healthful, although the days are warm in summer, but the nights cool and pleasant. There are three water companies which supply the city with water. They get their supply from springs, three to twenty-six miles distant. The water is clear, sparkling and sweet, but is very hard. The most prominent mines are about nine miles east of the San Pedro River, in the low range of hills sometimes called Tombstone Mountains. Several of these mines on the San Pedro have already produced such a large amount of silver ore as to give this district the lead of all others, and to form an era in the silver production and material progress of the whole territory.

TUCSON.

PIMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, on the line of the Southern Pacific R. R., 978 miles from San Francisco, and 247 miles from Yuma.

It is one of the oldest places in the Territory, has a population of 10,000, and is the county seat of Pima County. The place supports several extensive commercial establishments, whose trade reaches far into some of the Mexican provinces. Mining and stock raising are the interests which support it, and the country that surrounds it is said to be capable of sustaining a much greater population than is at present found there. The beautiful valley of Santa Cruz, in which it is situated, was settled as long ago as 1560, making Tucson the next oldest town in the United States, Santa Fe, New Mexico, having been built five years before. A few miles below Tucson there seems to be the ruins of an old town, but no information can be obtained as to its history, or circumstances of its destruction. It is thought by some that Tucson was once a Spanish military station, for the purpose of protecting the Mission of San Xavier Del Bac, a short distance to the south. The land near Tucson is very rich. The town has been infested by from one to two thousand Indians, and attempts have been made to take it, but without success.

YUMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the Colorado River, where the Southern Pacific R. R bridge is located, 247 miles west of Tucson, 250 miles west of Prescott, and 731 miles southeast of San Francisco. Population 1,500.

It is an important river trading-point and transfer depot and is the county seat. Opposite the town, on the California side of the river, is Fort Yuma, garrisoned by several companies of troops. The place, including across the river, was first called Colorado City, then Arizona City, and afterwards by its present name. It is nicely located, and is surrounded by a fertile grazing and agricultural district. As a home for consumptives, persons troubled with lung and other complaints, Yuma is destined to become the resort par excellence of the Pacific Coast. In 1870 the county seat was removed to this place from La Paz. The Territorial Prison, located at this place, was begun in 1877. In May of the same year, the Southern Pacific R. R. reached the California bank of the Colorado, and late in the fall the bridge was completed across the river. The draw, a Howe Truss, is provided with improved machinery, by which it can be opened and closed in three minutes by one man. Yuma is 126 feet above the sea-level, and 178 miles from the mouth of the Colorado. The river is about 500 feet wide at this place. Yuma as a sanitarium attracts some attention. For bronchial, lung and kidney diseases the climate is unsurpassed. Sun-baths can be obtained with ease. The nights are delicious, and the steady unbroken therometrical range of fall and winter make it almost unapproachable. The Southern Pacific Hotel, kept by Henry Weaver, is a fine commodious building containing accommodation enough for the traveling public. It is first-class in every respect; large, airy rooms, furnished throughout in a style superior to any other house in this Territory, and fitted up with all modern conveniences. Travelers who have crossed the hot, scorching desert of the Colorado are agreeably surprised to find an oasis like this—a place too remote as it may seem, to be containing all the luxuries as well as the necessaries of life.

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK. ECONOMICAL MANAGEMENT. CAREFUL SELECTION OF RISKS.

NEW MEXICO.

See, also, List of Towns Received too Late for Regular Insertion.

On March 2, 1867, that portion of New Mexico north of the 37th parallel of latitude was by an act of Congress attached to Colorado, leaving the New Mexico of to-day with the following boundaries: north by the 37th parallel; east by the 103d meridian; south by the 32d parallel, except a few square miles lying to the south of the latter on the southwest; and on the west by the 109th meridian. The Territory thus having an average breadth of 335 miles; length of eastern boundary 345 miles, and length on western boundary 390 miles; the whole covering an area of 121,201 square miles. By geographical divisions it is bounded on the north by the State of Colorado, on the east by the public domain and the State of Texas and the Republic of Mexico, and on the west by the Territory of Arizona.

THE RESOURCES OF NEW MEXICO.

There are three interests in New Mexico worthy of consideration: the mineral, the grazing, or pastoral, and the agricultural; and they may be said to constitute the resources of the Territory, as manufacturing is confined almost exclusively to jewelry, of which very exquisite work in filigree is produced in Santa Fe, mostly from gold and silver native to the Territory.

AGRICULTURE.

Agriculture in New Mexico is yet in its primitive condition. The wooden plow of the Mexican fathers holds preference with the majority of farmers. Development is barely sufficient to serve anticipation. Corn, wheat, oats, barley, and the table vegetables generally are raised with a view to the home market, which is quite limited. Corn is produced best in the valleys along the banks of streams. I have seen wheat and oat-fields 6,000 and 7,000 feet above the sea level as rich as any in Illinois and Minnesota. It is not possible to state even approximately the area of such productions. All irrigable lands, wherever they may be in the Territory, belong to the productive or farming class. The depth of the soil is something wonderful. With rains as in the Mississippi Valley, the results of intelligent labor would astonish the world; as it is, no one thinks of land for cultivation except it be irrigable. In this sense water is king.

THE MINERALS OF NEW MEXICO.

New Mexico will come quite up with her neighbors in the yield of precious metals. A variety of causes have heretofore contributed to prevent her thorough exploration for such wealth. Both Mexicans and Indians are indifferent to discoveries in this line; in fact the latter yet make it a capital offense to show a prospector anything of the kind. A Pueblo might be induced to part with his eye-teeth; no inducement could prevail upon him to take a white man to a mine; and in the hands of these people the golden keys have been held in tight grips ever since the expulsion of the Spaniards. Hence the ignorance prevalent with respect to the mineral riches of the Territory, and the heretofore utter failure of attempts at their development. It is absurd to say that an arbitrary geographical line marks a silver or a gold limit. With productive mining districts on the south, west and north, and with geological formations identically the same, the best of the scientists will be hard put to, to give a reason why New Mexico is barren, and Chihuahua, Arizona and Colorado are rich beyond computation in gold, silver, copper and galena. There are more traces and signs of ancient mining in New Mexico than in either Colorado or Arizona.

Already enough is known to warrant assertion that the Territory is well stored with gold, silver, iron, copper, lead, zinc, mica, gypsum, coal, marble, precious stones, and stone of every variety for building.

SPRINGS, MINERAL AND HOT.

Few parts of the world are as bounteously supplied with healing water as New Mexico. They are found by Fernandez, in Taos County; at Los Vegas, San Miguel County; at Ojo Caliente, in Rio Arriba County; near Jemes, in Bernalillo County; near Fort McRae, Socorro County. Fort Selden, Doña Ana County; and at Mimbres, in Grant County. Those at Jemes are probably unexcelled in the world. At Las Vegas elaborate preparations are in progress for the care and entertainment of guests and invalids. Any and all of these springs are equal in curative qualities, if not superior, to those in Arkansas. They have certainly the attraction of an unsurpassed climate.

RAILROADS.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad, entering the Territory through the Raton Mountains, just south of Trinidad, Colorado, has traversed the Territory in a southwesterly direction, and is completed to our southern boundary, its course lying along the Rio Grande. It has formed a junction with the Southern Pacific at Deming, whence it is rapidly pushing forward to meet its own southwestern extension building north from Guaymas, Mexico. Another branch proceeds down the Rio Grande from Rincon, through Las Cruces to El Paso, thence to extend direct to the City of Mexico.

The Denver & Rio Grande (narrow gauge) has entered the Territory south of Alamosa, Colorado, and is now completed to San Juan, twenty-five miles north of Santa Fé. Its projected course is down the Rio Grande, with a branch to Santa Fé. A branch also extends to the westward almost on the line between New Mexico and Colorado, to the "San Juan Country" of the northwest.

The Texas, Santa Fé & Northern Railroad is soon to connect Santa Fé with the Denver & Rio Grande, and is expected also to run down the rich valley of the Pecos. The Atlantic & Pacific road is rapidly building west from near Albuquerque, on the Rio Grande, forming a junction there with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad. It is already completed to near the Arizona line.

The Southern Pacific has entered our borders in the southwest from Arizona and is completed to El Paso. Other projects are in contemplation, and soon New Mexico will have a network of railways that will eclipse those of many of the States.

LAS VEGAS.

SAN MIGUEL COUNTY. A post and express office, situated on the River Gallinas and touched by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé R. R., 770 miles from Kansas City and 83 miles from Santa Fé. County seat. Altitude 6,452 feet. Site of railroad repair shops, and several manufacturing enterprises.

Las Vegas depends for its support upon the mining, wool and lumber interests, and its rapid growth and increasing business point to it as the most progressive town in this region. The old town is a mile from the depot, the new town, East Las Vegas, having sprung up since the railroad was opened. There is a street railway connecting the two towns, and numerous buildings in the intervening space, make them virtually one town. The city also possesses gas-works and water-works, two daily newspapers, two national banks and several commodious hotels. Well water and river water are both used here. The Gallinas River is a clear mountain stream, with a pebbly bottom, coursing through the heart of the city. The population is at present estimated at 7,500, and increasing daily. Building is very brisk. The Las Vegas Hot Springs, situated a few miles from the town, are a favorite resort for invalids and pleasure seekers. A magnificent hotel has been erected and bathing facilities added.

office; situated on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, 659 miles southwest of Kansas City, and 194 miles from Santa Fe. The railroad just north of Raton passes through a tunnel 2,100 feet in length, of solid rock. The railroad company, in addition to the shops and tenements, have new works at which all the new and repair work is done for the line south and west of La Junta, and for the Mexican extension. The immense coal products of the Raton Mines, as well as her excellent water facilities, are favorable for large manufacturing operations. The water supply is brought six miles in pipes from a mountain stream, and lodged in a reservoir of 2,500,000 gallons capacity. All trains stop at Raton twenty-five minutes for meals.

ANAHEIM.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, 26 miles southeast of Los Angeles, on the San Diego branch of the S. P. R. R., thirteen miles north of Anaheim Landing.

The town is situated in the center of a level plateau, 160 feet above the sea level. It is thirteen miles from the Pacific Ocean, and on three sides is, more or less, enclosed by foot-hills four miles distant, and little mountains ten miles distant. To the eastward, sixty miles off, are the high mountains of the Sierra Madre, with snow-capped tops. To the westward is the ocean, with a fine sandy beach thirty miles in extent. The surrounding country is very fertile, and is planted in fruit orchards, vineyards and orange groves. Owing to the great fertility of the soil, and the extraordinary quick growth of trees and vegetation in Southern California, homes may be raised in a very short time whose beauty it would take scores of years to attain in less favored localities. Game is plentiful, from grizzly bears in the mountains to quail and wild duck on the plains and creeks. The temperature is very equable, and though the days are warm and sunny all the year around, they are never oppressively hot. The nights are bright and starry, and cool in midsummer. Rain falls at intervals during the winter months, and almost invariably at night, the mornings being fresh and invigorating.

SAN BERNARDINO.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, beautifully situated in a lovely valley, and surrounded by the most fertile and productive bodies of agricultural land in the State. Its schools and churches are well supported, the climate is perfect, and the sanitary condition decidedly superior. There are quite a number of manufacturing and industrial enterprises permanently established, and the elements so essential to the steady and substantial development of a city are found in this locality in the form of good grazing and agricultural soil, plenty of water and timber, and a pure, stimulating atmosphere. It is the county seat, and is reached by a stage drive of three miles from Colton, on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

SELF-REGULATING WINDMILLS

HORSE-POWERS.

Manufacturers and Patentees of the Latest Improved Tanks and all kinds of Pumping Machinery.
Factory and Office, 51 BEALE ST., bet. Market and Mission, San Francisco.

Krogh's Patent, latest improved self-regulating Windmill, and first premium Horse-Power, for all purposes, such as pumping water, chopping feed, churning, sawing wood, running machinery for manufacturing, mechanical or other purposes.

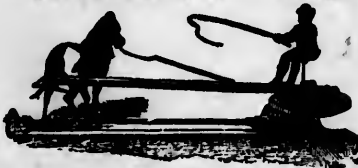

Our latest improved self-regulating Windmill was patented March 15, 1881, is warranted to be the best wind machine ever invented, very simple in construction, strong and durable, will pump more water than any windmill now in use, and once put up they require no attention whatever except oiling. They are built to withstand and adapt themselves to the fury of the gale, as well as to light breezes, and to work steadily without expense.

Our Horse-Powers are complete in every detail, and possess every improvement and advantage that can be combined in such machines. They are provided with air-tight, dust-proof, self-oiling journals. Two men can take either of them apart and put them together with ease.
