COLLEGE CITY.

COLUSA COUNTY. A post-office, 18 miles south of Colusa, 12 miles west of the Sacramento River, and 3 miles from Arbuckle. A thriving business is carried on here, and the schools are excellent, the Pierce Christian College possessing buildings amounting in value to over $10,000; the teachers able, earnest and experienced, so that the college affords superior advantages to those who have sons and daughters to educate. It is perhaps a remarkable fact that there is not a saloon in the place. The locality is elevated, pleasant and healthy; the community industrious, moral and temperate.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on Humboldt Bay, 230 miles north of San Francisco. Population about 3,000.
 Eureka is only second to San Francisco as a seaport in California. It is chiefly dependent upon the timber and stock interests of the county for support. The city is one of the most expensively and tastefully laid out on the coast. Many handsome business blocks and public buildings adorn her thoroughfares. The streets are rectangular and kept in good condition; while the facilities for numerous vessels "along the wharves" are quite adequate. Eureka is lighted with gas, and possesses many of the useful institutions of a metropolis. The advantages of her climate bring Humboldt County into prominence as an agricultural and dairying country. Never has drought interfered with the prospects of farmers here; in fact it is noticeable that when other parts of the State are suffering from extremely dry years, this favored locality yields larger crops than usual.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, and the second town of importance in the county. Its chief support is derived from the agricultural and stock interests. At an early day placer mining was carried on very extensively in the immediate vicinity of the place. Its population is put down at 1,000. Its schools are excellent. The branch State Prison is on the American River, two miles above the town. The quarries, in close proximity to the town, possess an illimitable amount of very fine building stone, which, when polished, presents a handsome appearance and is in great demand. The material used in the prison comes from them, whose existence accounts for its presence there.

FRESNO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, on the Southern Pacific R. R. (Visalia Division), 207 miles from San Francisco and 55 miles from Merced; population 3,000.

Fresno is the county seat, and is pleasantly situated in a fine agricultural district in the San Joaquin Valley. The surrounding country is rapidly being put into vineyards and fruit of all kinds; and it is conceded by all who visit it, to be the finest viticultural district in the United States. The colonies in Fresno County are famous the world over for productiveness and attractiveness. On visiting this active, thriving town, one is sensibly impressed with the indomitable spirit of energy displayed on every side. Difficulties, such as the burning of a large part of the business portion of the town, in July, 1882, did not affect the enthusiasm of the citizens, nor their determination to excel every other inland town on the coast. The burnt district is now covered with substantial buildings, including several first-class hotels and a theatre.

GRASS VALLEY.

NEVADA COUNTY. Situated 17 miles from Colfax, on the Central Pacific R. R.; is 88 miles from Sacramento and 161 miles from San Francisco. Population over 4,000 within the corporate limits, and about 6,000, including the immediate suburbs. The population of the township is over 7,000.

The town is beautifully situated at an elevation of 2,400 feet above sea-level. In Grass Valley "gold in quartz" was first discovered on the Pacific Coast, and gold mining has been since 1850 the principal and a profitable industry of the place. The gold-bearing ledges are numerous, and prospecting them has scarcely commenced. The town has numerous schools, both public and private, many churches, and almost all the benevolent societies are represented in the place. There are two newspapers—the Tidings, a daily evening paper, with a weekly edition, and the Union, a daily morning paper. In and around the town are numerous orchards and vineyards, and the trees and vines grow right above some of the most famous mines. The town is well supplied with pure, fresh water from the higher Sierra, and the water-works are so constructed as to give almost complete protection from fire. There are gas-works in the town. Grass Valley is the center of trade for the agricultural portion of the county, and is in the center of the mining business of the county. The Idaho Mine declared on the third of last July its 157th regular monthly dividend.

HEALDSBURG.

SONOMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. Situated on Russian River and North Pacific Coast R. R., 15 miles from the county seat. The famous Geyser, Skaggs and Litton hot and mineral springs and Magnolia Farm are adjacent, and a most wonderfully productive farming, wine, stock and wool-growing region surrounds. The rich bottoms of Russian River and its tributaries extend in every direction.
The mountains adjacent abound in minerals and the place has an air of solid prosperity, quite in keeping with the rich country with which it is surrounded. The purchase of the Healdsburg Collegiate Institute by the Seventh-day Adventist, and the establishment of a flourishing college during the past year, has added largely to the prosperity of the place.

SAN BENITO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. Situated nearly in the centre of the San Benito Valley, this town is of vast importance as a shipping point. The country surrounding it is agricultural, and in fair seasons rivals any of its neighboring counties, in the average yield of cereals. The town is located at the end of a branch of Southern Pacific R. R. It is the county seat and its business houses convince the visitor, by their business aspect, of its worth as a thriving place to locate. The population exceeds 1,500 and supports two excellent weekly newspapers. A short distance from the business center of town, may be seen one of the finest flouring mills in the State, which is constantly running.

AMADOR COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, 48 miles from Sacramento via Galt; 27 miles from Galt, and 12 miles from Jackson. Population 800.

It is one of the most pleasantly situated of the interior towns of California, and is located in the foot-hills of the Sierra Nevadas. It is the terminus of the Amador Branch of the Central Pacific R. R., and is the freight depot for supplies to Jackson, Sutter Creek, Amador City, Plymouth, Volcano, Drytown, and all other places of importance in Amador and adjacent counties. The Forest Line of stages run finely equipped coaches from Ione to Jackson and Mokelumne Hill, and also to Sutter Creek, Amador City, Drytown and Plymouth, over good roads and through picturesque scenery. The mines in the vicinity of the town are gold producing, though the chief pursuit engaged in is farming and fruit raising.

of 400 inhabitants, 63 miles north of Sacramento on the Colfax and Iowa Hill stage road; distant from Colfax 8 miles. Its altitude is about 3,000 feet above the sea level, the scenery in every direction is perfectly beautiful, the water is superior and the sanitary condition is excellent. The hills in the immediate vicinity are timbered with a heavy growth of yellow and spruce pine and fir, though facilities for rapid transportation to points on the railroad are made inferior by the presence of several steep places on the roads. The hillsides afford excellent facilities for fruit-growing and the culture of grapes.

AMADOR COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, and the county seat of the county. It is 12 miles from Ione City on the Jackson and Drytown Stage Road, has two weekly newspapers in a prosperous condition, telegraphic communication and a daily mail. The material used in the construction of its buildings is chiefly stone and brick, and it therefore presents a substantial appearance. The Court House is a neat-looking building, and is on a prominent elevation overlooking the principal portion of the town. The culture of fruit in the immediate vicinity is an important feature in its industrial attractions; it depends, some on the mining interest for its support. Population 1,200.

California—Los Angeles.

point of five lines of railway, it is made by the laws which govern trade the chief commercial center of the section. and with the increase in population which must follow the steady flow of immigration now directed to that quarter, her importance as an emporium of traffic must augment proportionately. Ten years ago the only railroad in Southern California was between Los Angeles and Wilmington—22 miles—and all the travel from this section of the State to San Francisco was by steamer—two days time being required, or by stage, for three days. Now we have the main trunk line of the Southern Pacific R. R. passing for 118 miles through the county with passenger trains daily to and from the Mississippi Valley; the Los Angeles and San Diego R. R., between Florence and Santa Ana, 27 miles; the Los Angeles and Independent R. R. to Santa Monica, 18 miles, and the road to Wilmington has been extended to the lower harbor, 3 miles; in all 25 miles.

In no respect has the growth of the county been shown more clearly than in the public schools. In addition to the public schools of the county, the State has appropriated $50,000 for a building for a Branch Normal School. The statistics of growth in population, in railroads, and in educational facilities, indicate the wonderful improvements in agriculture that have justified the progress in other lines of business. Dairy products of all kinds are a source of large revenue to farmers. At all seasons of the year the hills and valleys of the vicinity are covered with verdure, while flowers of rare beauty and fragrance blossom perpetually. The soil of the locality is very fertile and yields abundantly. It is the county seat, and has a population of 20,000 people, many of whom are of Spanish descent. The city is beautifully laid out, has some magnificent residences and charming yards, while the business portion of the place is quite substantially and tastily built. The drive to the Pacific Ocean, 17 miles distant, is an enjoyment any summer day that few, if any, who have experienced it, do not remember with expressions of ecstasy. If cloudless skies, lovely landscapes, balmy atmosphere, laden with the sweetest fragrance from the orange trees and an equable temperature, together with excellent society, are the only necessary elements in the "composition" of a Paradise, then certainly the "city of angels" is an exact counterpart.

LOS GATOS.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY. A post and express office. Los Gatos is pleasantly situated on the line of the South Pacific Coast R. R., 50 miles from San Francisco and 9 miles from San Jose.

The elevation is about 350 feet above tide water. The climate is very even and salubrious; figs, oranges and other tropical fruits flourish here. It is especially recommended for weak lungs, asthma, and kindred diseases. The scenery is grand and beautiful, and as a health resort Los Gatos and the adjacent hills are noted over the whole Pacific Coast. The country round about is especially adapted for fruit, grapes, etc., and fruits grown in this vicinity already command a higher price in the San Francisco market than any other fruit now being sold there. [Sketch by Mr. H. W. Van Der Vaart.]

The population of Los Gatos is about 500, the place having grown considerably since our last issue. Quite a business center has sprung into existence on the west side of the railroad. The improvements there include a handsome hotel building, which, on its completion, at once took rank as the first hotel of the town. It has been named Major's Hotel, after its genial landlord. The industries of Los Gatos include a flouring-mill, stone quarry, lime kiln and a fruit-canning establishment. Seantor's extensive planing and shingle-mill and carriage manufactory is also located here. The town has one newspaper, the Los Gatos News.

 nearly perpendicular from the green
 hor lers of the little gem called Lake Lundy. The mountain scenery in and around Lundy is beautiful beyond description, and makes it exceedingly desirable for human residence. The distance from Bodie, reached by stage line, is about 30 miles, leading along Lake Mono and its monotonous alkali fields. Popu-

MARYSVILLE.

YUBA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated at the junction of the Yuba and Feather Rivers, and also on the line of the Oregon Division of the Central Pacific R. R., 42 miles from Sacramento. Population 6,000.

It is surrounded by a very fertile and productive agricultural district, from the cultivation of which it derives its principal support, although in earlier days it depended mostly on the placer diggings. It is the county seat, has several beautiful business blocks, handsome churches, and well-built school houses.

It is one of the best business places of its size on the Pacific Coast, and its people are very enterprising and hospitable, and show great pride in their little city, which speaks well for their loyalty to its interests. The U. S. Hotel is first-class in every respect, and strangers will find it homelike and pleasant.

The city is on a level plain, about twelve miles from the foot-hills of the Sierras, and is surrounded by a broad extent of fertile and productive country contributory to it. The streets are broad and regular, the buildings of good style and generally of brick, the residences being usually surrounded by finely cultivated flower gardens, in which tropical plants and trees appear conspicuously.

It is favorably situated for commercial purposes, being at the junction of the Yuba and Feather Rivers, the latter navigable at all seasons for steamers of light draught. The California and Oregon R. R. passes through the city, crossing the Yuba on a fine bridge. The Northern California R. R., from Marysville to Oroville, 29 miles, gives accommodation to the mining region of Butte, Sierra and Plumas Counties, and brings their trade to Marysville. From its earliest settlement this has been an important center for staging, and although the railroads have transferred the travel, the business is still quite large.

The churches are numerous, and many lofty spires point heavenward. The public school buildings are capacious and costly, no city having finer educational institutions than Marysville. The City Hall and Court House are large and elegant structures of brick, and are ornaments to the city. Water is supplied by an artesian well, aided by powerful pumping machinery, and well-established gas works furnish the illuminating fluid.

PLACER COUNTY. A post and express office; a place of 500 inhabitants, 30 miles northeast of Auburn, the county seat, and one of the termini of Powell's stage line. The altitude is 3,456 feet above the sea level, the air is pure and light, the water is very fine and the general health most excellent. The scenery which is held up by the hand of nature on either side of the town is incomparable, and a description of it could hardly do it justice. Its lofty mountains, rich in mineral and timber, form a background to one of the finest panoramic views in the county.

MISSION SAN JOSE.

ALAMEDA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated 2 miles from Central Pacific R. R. (San Jose Branch) at Washington Corners, with which station it has connection by Baker's stage, connecting with every train. Population 400.

To visit Washington Corners, Centerville Alvarado, Niles, and Mission San Jose in one day, traveling men should engage a team at the Mission, to which place they can return in time for the evening train either way.

The Mission has a good hotel, brewery, and many live business houses. The old Mission, near town, is the third oldest in the State, and a great curiosity. The sloping country around the town is being devoted largely to grape culture, and no land in the State is better adapted to it. A Spanish gentleman of large fortune has recently planted 400 acres in vines, within a stone's throw of the town.

STANISLAUS COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. Is an active growing town of 2,500 inhabitants, situated in the San Joaquin Valley on the Southern Pacific R. R., 114 miles from San Francisco and 18 miles from Lathrop. It is a desirable place of residence, centrally located in the county of which it is the county seat. It is in a fine agricultural district, the principal products of the section are wheat and wool. Stanislaus County is noted for raising more wheat than any other county in the State. In the coast range of mountains forming the western boundary of the valley are paying deposits of quicksilver and in the eastern range gold discoveries are not rare. Modesto is a well built place, streets wide and shaded and regularly laid out. Water and gas works are in operation. The Court House is an attractive, substantial building, situated in a beautiful square where flowers and shrubbery abound.

NAPA COUNTY. Situated on a river of the same name, in a lovely valley. It is a pleasant ride of 46 miles from San Francisco on the California Pacific R. R. (Napa Branch). It has at present a population of about 4,500 and is growing in importance; it is well adapted for manufactures, of which there are several, as the railroad runs through the town, and vessels ply continually between there and San Francisco. Stages to Sonoma, Knoxville and other places run daily. Its chief support is from the unrivaled agricultural districts in its immediate vicinity. A branch of the State Insane Asylum is situated here. The climate is delightful and the little city beautiful.

NEVADA CITY.

NEVADA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; the terminus of the Nevada County Narrow-Gauge R. R., which connects with the Central Pacific at Colfax, 22½ miles distant.

It is the county seat and one of the most prosperous interior towns in the State, and contains a population of nearly 5,000 inhabitants. The town is picturesquely situated in a rough, broken valley, surrounded on all sides by rugged mountain ridges. Mining is the chief industry, although the fruit-growing, ranching and manufacturing interests are not inconsiderable. Large quantities of fruit are yearly shipped to other markets, and considerable wine is also made. Two foundries are kept busy manufacturing machinery and supplies for the mines. Four breweries, a planing-mill and sash factory and six blacksmith shops flourish. The stores and business houses compare favorably with those of larger places. There are many fine residences and the dwellings generally are neat and cozy, and the gardens and yards well kept. The Court House is a fine structure, erected at a cost of $75,000. Washington School House is a large two-story building, in the construction of which over $15,000 was expended. The schools are well conducted and the educational advantages afforded are unsurpassed by other towns of the same size. Five churches, all creditable looking edifices, adorn the town and show the moral status of the people to be up to the average. Two newspapers, a daily and tri-weekly, are published. The climate is healthy, and good, pure water is to be obtained in abundance. The streets are kept clean, and at night are well lighted. As a rule the inhabitants are an industrious, sociable and thriving class of people.

 As its name would indicate, this beautiful city of 40,000 inhabitants derived its appellation from a grove of live-oaks that once occupied its site. With very few exceptions, if any, there are no prettier places in the State. Its streets are all very broad and smooth, well shaded and ornamented by some of the handsomest private residences we have ever seen. There is an air of comfort and "luxurious ease" in the roomy yards that impresses the visitor with the pleasant assurances of an appreciation of life. There is an independence exhibited in her citizens that shows firmness of character, yet there is a courtesy of demeanor that is expressive of hospitality. There is an absence of want and poverty shown in her people of every class that speaks favorably of her progress and public spirit, elements essential to remarkable development. It is the county seat and her public buildings display a pride in her beauty that is decidedly commendable. There are many seminaries for young ladies as well as public schools and academies for the education of young gentlemen. The churches of the city are all handsome and costly edifices. It is distant from San Francisco, on San Francisco Bay, 6 miles, with which it has half-hour communication by elegant steam ferry-boats.

OROVILLE.

BUTTE COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, 28 miles north of Marysville, and on the east bank of the Feather River.

It is the terminus of the California Northern R. R., nesting in the foothills of the Sierras, and surrounded by a country as rich in scenic features as it is in minerals. It draws a great volume of trade from the two industries of mining and agriculture—the eastern portion of the county paying tribute in the golden treasures of the quartz ledge and the gravel bed, while the west pours in her wealth of grain and fruit. It is the point from which stages and freight wagons leave for all parts of the mountains, and the trade of the various sections thus tapped, renders the town a continual scene of bustle and enterprise.

PETALUMA.

SONOMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, on the San Francisco and North Pacific R. R., 15 miles from Sauta Rosa. Population about 5,000.

It is one of the most healthful towns of the State, and is situated about 37 miles northwest of San Francisco, at the head of navigation on Petaluma Creek. The town is in a very flourishing condition, owing much to its favorable situation, being accessible both by rail and water. Manufactories are numerous. The country round about makes this its market for all kinds of dairy produce, and it certainly can lay good claim as one of the chief entrepots for butter, cheese, poultry, eggs, etc. Having the advantage of location at the very head of navigation, and surrounded as it is with a country so rich in these products, it soon took the lead which it now holds, and is at this day one of the most flourishing of the inland towns of California. The town is excellently laid out, the streets are well graded; the public school and church facilities are ample for the inhabitants.

is nicely situated, beautifully laid out and the scenery is picturesque; fruit, vegetables and grain are grown to a considerable extent, though mining is the interest to which it looks for its support. The water, like its fruits, is excellent. It has telegraphic com-

PLUMAS COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office.

It is a mining and agricultural town, and county seat, pleasantly situated in American Valley, a very fertile region. It is reached by stages from Oroville, which is 65 miles distant. The town is surrounded by the Sierra Nevada Range, and the healthfulness of its climate is among its most attractive features. Quincy has a good weekly newspaper, the Plumas National. We are indebted to J. H. Whitlock, Esq., for favors. The additional names in the following list point to the considerable growth the town has enjoyed since our last issue of the directory.

TEHAMA COUNTY. Is the county seat of Tehama County, and has a municipal form of government under a charter of incorporation. Its topography is desirable for the extension of its limits, being on a natural esplanade on the west bank of the Sacramento River, at the head of navigation, and on the Oregon Division of the Central Pacific R. R., 135 miles from Sacramento, the State capital.

Its natural advantages for a permanent and steady growth are of such a nature and so multifarious as to warrant the belief that the place will become a city of considerable importance in a period not very remote. It is surrounded by a very rich body of agricultural land, and the opportunities for developing the stock-raising, horticultural and cereal-producing interests are manifold. These facts are being taken advantage of yearly by persons who engage in the pursuits of the husbandman. New lands are being opened up, and an increase in the acreage sown to grain and otherwise cultivated is annually being made. Everything indigenous to the latitude grows luxuriantly, and large crops are yearly harvested. It is mainly to the agricultural interests that the rapid growth of the place is due, though lumber of splendid quality is manufactured in great quantities. It would be an excellent point for the erection of extensive woolen mills, as the bulk of the wool grown in Southern and Eastern Oregon and Northern California passes through this place. The yearly product of wool of Tehama County reaches almost 2,000,000 pounds, which is a great source of revenue to its capital. With the superior facilities for the manufacture of woolen goods, offered by unexcelled water privileges, taken advantage of, we think an investment in such an enterprise would be a profitable one.

The population of the place is put down
at 2,500 people, and it has a full complement of factories, mills, etc. The public schools are spoken of in the highest terms, a perfect system for the education of pupils seeming to be the result most sought after. All the religious denominations are represented.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office.

Situated on the east bank of the Sacramento River, in the lovely valley bearing the same name, is the handsome capital of the Golden State. Her position geographically is decidedly favorable, renouncing the business men of the city invaluable aid in enlarging their trade, which, in their absence, must be circumscribed to very narrow limits by the competition of San Francisco merchants. By the energy and enterprise of her citizens, who have always been alive to the development of their city, she has reached the second place as a commercial emporium, and we bespeak for her a continual growth and an honored place in the rank of the most substantial cities of the coast. Her many avenues of trade are ornamented with splendid structures, well paved with cobble stones and brilliantly illuminated with gas, while many of them are traversed by lines of street railway, and well drained by an excellent system of sewerage. In the residence portions of the place the roomy yards, studded with palms and ferns, and ablaze in most seasons of the year with rare flowers, there are many objects of attraction. In the possession of magnificent private homes, Sacramento will compare favorably with any city of the same size in the Union. The railroad depot, constructed in the summer of 1879, and the beautiful capitol building are features of the place that deserve special notice. The former is composed principally of iron and glass, is upwards of 300 feet in length, and is conveniently subdivided into compartments peculiar to itself. The latter is a handsome structure, very commodious and attractively situated in lovely grounds, and surmounted by a dome 180 feet in height. Its cost was in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. The city is also well supplied with daily and weekly newspapers. The press of the city is a credit to it, and the circulation of the papers show an appreciation that is commendable. The construction in the past year of many substantial business houses and residences, and the contemplated investment of capital in similar improvements the present year, is a happy commentary on her future growth. The population is estimated at 26,000.

SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; is the county seat; situated on a bay of the same name near the southern extremity of California, 15 miles from the Mexican line. It is 480 miles by sea, and less than 500 miles, via the Colton all-rail route, from San Francisco. Population 2,700.

There is no question but that San Diego is destined to become the metropolis of the new State of Southern California. Her natural advantages and added facilities point clearly to this fact. She possesses one of the only two land-locked harbors on the Pacific Coast of the United States, carrying twenty-three and a half feet of water over the bar at lowest tide, and of capacity to accommodate 1,000 ships of the largest class. It is to this valuable feature that San Diego is indebted for the attention and appreciation bestowed upon her by railroad capital. San Diego is the Pacific terminus of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. The California Division, known as the California Southern, from the bay of San Diego northward to San Bernardino. A road is also projected from a point on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe R. R., at or near Tombstone, Arizona Territory, to San Diego, giving the shortest line to New York and all points north and east. The location of the city fixes its position as the seaport and commercial center of all that great and variously productive region embracing Southern California, Southern Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Lower California and Northern Mexico. The overland distance from all points on the Atlantic side to steamer at San Diego for Mexican and South American ports, the Sandwich Islands, Australasia, China and Japan is just so much shortened. This saving of nearly 500 miles distance on a line never closed by snow, is a fact that makes its own argument. In natural resources, capacity for great variety of products, including mining and facilities for manufactures, San Diego acknowledges no superior on this coast. In point of climate it is conceded to have no equal among the health resorts of the world. Winter mean 62 degrees; spring mean, 66 degrees; summer mean, 72 degrees; fall mean, 68 degrees.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; situated in the Santa Clara Valley, in the line of the Northern Division of the Southern Pacific R. R., 50 miles from San Francisco. Population 13,000.

More than a century has elapsed since the Spanish missionaries settled the place whose name, "The Beautiful," is so well applied. In point of size and wealth the city ranks fourth among those of the State, while in appearance none are so handsome "but do it reverence," and concede its superiority in its pleasing attractiveness. The city is embowered in a dense growth of shrub-berry, plants and trees, and its homes of elegant architectural design give it an air of comfort, luxury and retirement.
 Its streets are broad and smooth, intersecting each other at right angles, and brilliantly illuminated with gas. Its schools and colleges are of a very high order; its churches are models of beauty, and its Court House the finest in the State, is in keeping with the wealth, intelligence and enterprise of its citizens.
 The country immediately surrounding it presents as fine a landscape as ever formed the subject for a sketch of the most eminent artist. The ever changing and ever beautiful scenery along the route, made up of lovely hills and dales, dotted with charming country homes and well cultivated gardens, makes the ride from this city to the metropolis one of constant pleasure. Its growth is of a steady and permanent nature. It is supplied with daily newspapers and good hotels, and all its conveniences, and attractions of nature and art make it emphatically the "loveliest city of the plain."

24 POST STREET,

Opposite Mechanics' Institute,

SAN FRANCISCO.

E. P. HEALD, President.

F. C. WOODBURY, Secretary.

The Leading Commercial School of America!

The BUSINESS COURSE will include Book-keeping in all its forms, by both single and double entry, comprising practical work in Banking, Jobbing, Importing, Commission, Railroading, Brokerage, etc.; Arithmetic, including abbreviated forms of commercial calculations in use by good accountants; Penmanship, with complete analysis and movement exercises; Correspondence, comprising all the different forms, with rules for use of Capital letters and punctuation; Mercantile Law, with lectures on all the important topics; English branches, including spelling, grammar, composition exercises, rhetoric, etc.; French, German and Spanish; Drawing in its various forms; Business forms of every variety; actual practice in all kinds of business; Lectures on Book-keeping, Penmanship, Business Customs, Political Economy, and various other topics calculated to impart to the pupil habits of industry, promptness in business affairs, and reliability of character.

INSTRUCTION FOR LADIES.

Ladies are admitted into all the departments of the College on the same terms and conditions as young men. Their progress in all branches thus far has been most flattering.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Pupils can enter the College at any time and pursue their studies to graduation, without interruption, if they see fit to do so. Pupils not sufficiently advanced for the Business Course can enter for instruction in the English Department.

Modern Languages and Drawing are optional studies, and may be taken or not, as the student may see fit, but no extra charge will be made for them when pursued.

The discipline of the school is very careful, in order to impart such habits as shall conduce to the future success of graduates.

Visitors will be always welcome at the College, as we are pleased to have the public inform itself of the merits of our school.

LIST OF FACULTY.

E. P. HEALD,	C. S. HALEY,	MISS V. PATCHETT,

SAN LUIS OBISPO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The town is pleasantly situated, having ample drainage by the creek that passes through the entire length, thus making it exceedingly healthful. Water is supplied by a splendid system of water works, and the streets and buildings are lighted with gas. The first settlement was made in 1772, when the old mission church, which still stands, was built. The county Court House was erected in 1874. On the outskirts of the town is a county hospital.

SANTA ANA.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, 33 miles south-east of Los Angeles, the present terminus of the Southern Pacific R. R. Population about 3,000.

The town is situated in one of the most fertile tracts of land to be found in the world, nine miles from the Pacific Coast and about 10 miles from the foothills. The temperature and climate are unsurpassed, even in California. All kinds of fruit do well, especially the orange, lemon, apricot, fig, peach, walnut and grape. The town is being rapidly built up with fine brick blocks. It contains five church buildings—Baptist, Methodist, North and South, Presbyterian and German, a beautiful school-house and as fine a public hall as is to be found in Southern California. The following secret societies have lodges here; G. A. R., F. & A. M., I. O. O. F., A. O. U. W., I. O. G. T., A. L. H., P. O. S. A., and last but not least, a public library, which owing to the untiring efforts of its founder, Dr. J. G. Bailey, is an acquisition to be justly proud of, proving a great boon to strangers and newcomers.

SANTA ANA

Weekly Standard

Issued every Saturday at Santa Ana, Los Angeles County, Cal.,

T. S. HARRIS.....EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

The STANDARD is an eight-column folio sheet, 24x36, printed in clear cut brevier and nonpareil type, and its typographical appearance is not excelled.

Its circulation is equal to any other paper in the county, and is rapidly increasing, and mostly through the influence of its spicy and able articles and the fear less course it pursues.

Its editor and publisher has established on this coast five other journals, and his experience enables him to please the public and gain for his paper a large circulation.

The WEEKLY STANDARD is the only legitimate paper and advertising medium in the Southeastern portion of Los Angeles County, thirty-five miles from Los Angeles City, and the paradise of this portion of the State.

TERMS.

One Copy One Year.....	$2.00
One Copy Six Months.....	1.25
One Copy Three Months.....	.75

SANTA BARBARA.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The county seat; is easily reached by Pacific Coast steamers, sailing every five days from San Francisco, or by the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific R. R., from San Francisco or Los Angeles to Newhall, and Telegraph Stage thence, 78 miles.

The town is delightfully situated in a smooth valley sloping from the high mountains on the north to the sunny beach on the south. These mountains effectually shut off all north winds, and make the town site one of the finest imaginable. The effect and contrast formed by these rugged barriers in the background rising so abruptly from an evergreen and fertile valley must be seen to be appreciated. The climate of Santa Barbara is quite mild, and is beneficial for invalids and persons having weak lungs. The pleasures of Santa Barbara consist in driving, horseback riding, hunting, fishing and bathing, for the enjoyment of all which she affords the best facilities. The improvements of the town are very considerable. There are eight churches besides the old Mission, that was built over one hundred years ago.

SANTA PAULA.

VENTURA COUNTY. A post-office. The young and thriving village of Santa Paula is located 15 miles east of San Buenaventura and 30 miles from Newhall, on the Southern Pacific R. R.

The town is situated on the north side of the Santa Clara Valley near the junction of the Santa Paula, a beautiful mountain stream, that empties into the Santa Clara River.

The town has a fine Methodist Church, water works, fruit dryer, and the Farnor Canal and Water Company's Ditch pass through the place.

Being in the centre of the semi-tropic orange belt of Ventura County, and near the extensive oil wells of the Ex Mission, Oil Center and Herculanium, it is shortly destined to be one of the most thriving business towns in Southern California. Oranges, lemons, apricots, peaches, apples, and all the semi-tropic and other fruits flourish abundantly, while the lands in the vicinity of the town are remarkably productive of corn, barley, wheat, beans and all kinds of vegetables. Lands are worth from $50 to $200 per acre. Population 450.

SANTA ROSA.

SONOMA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the north side of Santa Rosa Creek, and about 2 miles from the foothills. Population about 5,000.

It is the county seat, and was laid out as a town by F. G. H. Luman, Julio Carrillo and their associates in 1852. To the south, west and north lie the splendid valleys of Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Russian River, unexcelled for productiveness in the State, and filled with a prosperous population. The climate is mild and equable, and the soil produces crops every year—the dry seasons being the best in this valley. The public schools have two commodious buildings,
with a numerous corps of teachers.
There are also two fine collegiate buildings, eight churches, one foundry and machine shop, one first-class woolen mill, two tanneries, one flouring-mill,
one planing-mill, and numerous carriage and smith shops. The Santa Rosa Re- publican, the Sonoma Democrat, Daily Republican, and the Daily and Weekly Equal Rights newspapers are published here. The plaza is one of the finest in the State, and the location of the city is unexcelled for beauty. Its main trade is derived from the vineyard and agricultural interests of the locality.

THE DAILY  WEEKLY
EQUAL RIGHTS

GREENBACK, LABOR ANTI-MONOPOLY JOURNALS.

They are of the Boldest, Freest Outspoken Journals on the Pacific Coast.

Conducted upon a basis of high moral character, they seek to elevate the lowly, right the wrong and correct the errors and abuses of the evil-disposed, in all the walks of life. They strive to ELEVATE LABOR and adjust its relation properly with its foster brother CAPITAL, believing that the two are not, and of right

Ought Not to be Antagonistic.

THE DAILY AND WEEKLY EQUAL RIGHTS

Are purely REFORM journals, and will strive to maintain the true Democratic and Republican Principles of and for an entirely free government, that the interest of one is the concern of all, and that the greatest good to the greatest number is the cardinal principle of a Republic. All who take an interest in the upbuilding of the cause for the emancipation of labor are respectfully invited to support ours and all other journals for the above objects.

the Bonanza, owned by J. G. Divoll & Co., who are said to have taken out over a million in the last year. The place is at an altitude of 2,000 feet above the sea, is well built and the streets are lined with shade-trees. Its climate and features are attractive, and is quite a resort for invalids. The schools are good and the churches well attended. There are two newspapers published, the Union Democrat, established July 1, 1854, by A. N. Francisco and now edited by Judge C. H. Randal, and the Tuolumne Independent, established in 1872 and now edited by J. C. and W. A. Duchow.

SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated at the head of Stockton channel, about two miles from the San Joaquin River, and touched by the Central Pacific, ninety-one miles from San Francisco, and 48 miles from Sacramento. The following description of the city is quoted from N. M. Orr's Board of Trade report, published in 1874:—

"The country adjacent to the city is level, extending to the foot-hills of the Sierra Nevada Range on the east, the Coast Range on the west, while on the north and south stretch the vast inland plains of California, known as the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys, which extend nearly the whole length of the State. On the east and north of Stockton the Sierra Range of mountains is clearly visible in the distance, and as the higher peaks of this range are covered with snow at all seasons of the year, the residents of this valley, in which snow seldom falls, are afforded a view seldom obtained in any other locality of the same latitude on the continent. On the west and south, the Coast Range can be seen, its most prominent peak, Mount Diablo, adding materially to the beauty of the scenery."

The corporate limits of the city at present extend over four square miles, and its streets run at right angles, dividing the city into blocks three hundred feet square. The principal streets are graded and graveled, and compare very favorably with those of other interior cities of California. Viewed as a commercial centre, Stockton has few rivals and no peers. While Sacramento gathers in the harvests of the north, to a limited extent, Stockton, with its immense warehouse facilities, opens wide its doors and bids the farmer walk in and store his grain at a small percentage. The city is widely known as an entrepot for the deposit of vast quantities of grain from many sections of the State and it has some of the largest and most commodious grain warehouses in the State, and no city outside of San Francisco has equal storage capacity. The warehouses are all of brick, built in the most substantial manner. There are several foundries, planing and flouring mills, furniture factories, tanneries and other places of industry. It is also rapidly taking rank as one of the chief manufacturing cities of California.

TRUCKEE.

NEVADA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the line of the Central Pacific R. R., in the heart of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and on the border of the river that bears the same name; it is 119 miles from Sacramento and 80 miles from Nevada City, the county seat; population 2,200.

It is a lively, enterprising and pretty place; the great lumber interests of the vicinity are a source of heavy revenue, about 40,000,000 feet of this article being manufactured annually, beside 30,000 cords of railroad wood. The railroad also tends largely to its support. The scenery in and around Truckee is spoken of as grand and beautiful in the extreme; the snow-capped mountains, the deep, fertile valleys, the rough, winding streams and picturesque lakes, which have given to the Sierras such world-wide reputation at this place, form a picture of surprising splendor. Hundreds of tourists yearly come from all of the States to witness the bright views and enjoy the sporting and trout-fishing which here abound. Truckee is also the starting point to Lakes Tahoe, Independence, Donner and Weber. Lake Donner is especially noteworthy, from the fact that it derived its name from a party of emigrants under the leadership of Mr. Donner, who in early days camped on the borders of the lake, where they were overtaken and blockaded by heavy snow storms, and suffered the most terrible privations, most of the party perishing from cold and hunger. The lake itself is a pretty body of water, nestled among high mountains. Lakes Independence and Webber should also be mentioned for beauty, picturesque scenery, and fine fishing; but Tahoe, or, as it is sometimes called, Lake Bigler, is by far the greatest resort of travelers, on account of the magnificence of its splendors, being surrounded on all sides by high, overhanging mountains, which are reflected in its smooth, placid waters, resembling a giant mirror set in a framework of green hills. This lake is 30 miles long, 13 miles wide, and in places of vast depth. Its waters are cold and sparkling, and so clear that the variegated colored bottom is plainly visible at a depth of from 60 to 80 or 90 feet. Trout of a superior quality are also here, and in great abundance. Around its emerald banks are numerous small hamlets and villages, foremost among which are Tahoe City and Hot Springs, both places having first-class hotels. Another feature of peculiar interest that at once strikes the attention of the stranger is the want of buoyancy of the waters. This is probably due to its great height, its altitude being 6,247 feet above the sea level. The Governor Stanford, a fine and commodious steamer, plies daily on the surface of the lake, taking parties to Carnelian Bay, Rowlands, Glenbrook, and other romantic spots, affording the traveler every facility to view the beauties of this truly wonderful place. The people of Truckee are energetic and enterprising, and proud of the high standing of their excellent schools and business houses. There are two churches, a tri-weekly newspaper, and good hotels, chief among which is the "Truckee," with its corps of polite and experienced attendants, furnishing to tourists and guests the best of good cheer and first-class accommodations. Daily stage lines are run from this hotel by its popular proprietor, John F. Moody, to the different lakes and places of resort in the neighborhood.

UKIAH.

MENDOCINO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; the county seat and one of the oldest towns in the State.
Geographically it is in the center of the county, thus making it the most desirable for the honor it bears. It is a prosperous town of 1,500 inhabitants,
well built and pleasantly located; altitude about 800 feet.
The Court House and jail, built in 1872, cost $40,000. It has six churches and excellent schools. Situated in the heart of a rich agricultural and pastoral region, the productions of which contribute largely towards swelling the exports of the State. It is also the distributing point of mail matter for a large section of country.

It is the central point of J. L. Sanderson & Co's stage lines to Eureka, Cloverdale, Mendocino, Lakeport, Upper Lake, Bartlett Springs, etc. There are a number of springs, both hot and cold, possessing medicinal properties that are highly prized by invalids.

LAKE COUNTY. A post and express office. Is distant from Cloverdale 25 miles, and is reached via Cloverdale and Clear Lake Stage Line. It is beautifully located at the foot of Uncle Sam Mountain, and is the central point of the county, 7 miles from the county seat, Lakeport, and on the border of Clear Lake, distant 1 1/2 miles. The population is about 250, and the resources are chiefly agricultural. There is a mound here from which issues a natural gas, a hole being dug a few feet in diameter, and one or two feet deep. Upon throwing in a piece of lighted paper, the gas at once ignites, and a beautiful blue flame appears, burns fiercely a short time, and then gradually dies out.

telegraph office, on the Vaca Valley and Clear Lake Railroad, about 6 miles from Elmira, the junction of the above-named road with the California Pacific. It has a population of 500 and has quite a reputation on account of its excellent schools. The country surrounding the place is rich agriculturally, and depends on the farming interests for its support. The Davis Hotel, kept by a very genial and hospitable gentleman by the name of I. F. Davis, is a very pleasant one and the host knows how to cater to his guests. Fine croquet grounds and drives are features that are at once made attractive to the tourist or visitor. The healthfulness of the place is remarkable, and as a summer retreat it is very fine for families. Fruit is grown in the vicinity in abundance.

W. J. Stevens' California Normal and Scientific School is situated here.

A post, express and telegraph office, situated near the junction of the Southern Pacific and Santa Cruz Railroads, about 2 miles from Pajaro station; distant from San Francisco 99 miles. Population 1,800. The Pajaro Valley, of which Watsonville is the commercial center, is one of the richest agricultural regions in the State. There are also large quantities of valuable redwood timber lands in the immediate vicinity, the products of which are disposed of at Watsonville. The agricultural and lumber interests being extensive, make Watsonville the center of a large and valuable business. In addition to the business attractions of the town is Camp Goodall, a watering-place on Monterey Bay, four miles distant from the town. Its public schools are well maintained, and its business houses and private residences are handsomely built, indicating thrift and refinement.

WOODLAND.

YOLO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, on the California Pacific R. R. It is the County seat, and distant from Sacramento by rail 22 miles, having a population of nearly 5,000.

The place is a little elevated above the surrounding plains, and derives its name from a beautiful grove of oaks that once occupied the town site, which have nearly all been felled by the merciless hand of the woodman, who would not spare them. The streets are generally very well shaded by nearly every variety of shade-trees of uniform growth; are wide and smooth and run at right angles. The growth of the place has been steady and in keeping with the development of the county, whose soil, for agricultural and horticultural purposes, taken on the whole, is inferior to none in the State. The business and public buildings will compare favorably with those of places whose pretensions are much greater. Her Public Square, studded with shrubbery, rare plants, palms and ferns, is a very attractive feature of the place. Her Court House and Jail, combined, is a well constructed building and an ornament to the place. There are several substantial and well-designed churches, all having creditable congregations; and an institute of education. The schools are in the first rank among those of the Coast. The town's support is derived from the agricultural interest, whose yearly exportation of enormous amounts of grain, vegetables and fruit, is sufficient to warrant its permanency as one of the important places of the State. The water is good, and the health splendid.

YO SEMITE VALLEY.

MARIPOSA COUNTY. A post and express office.

To the tourist, pleasure-seeker, student of nature, or traveler, there is no spot on earth, either in the old or new world, which is equal to Yo Semite Valley. No other place can compare with its natural, sublime, and majestic grandeur; language proves weak and fails in attempting to portray its many beauties. This place has attained one of the most meritorious places in the world's catalogue of natural wonders. To "do" America and not visit Yo Semite, places a blemish upon the foreigner's tablet of sight-seeing, while to leave New York and other eastern cities and make this trip to Yo Semite is becoming a matter of regular occurrence. Only a few years since the visitors were received by the hundreds; now they are counted by the thousands from all parts of the world; it is also visited by a great many camping parties from far and near.

At present there are three regular roads leading into the valley, the most popular being what is known as the Madera Turpike Road, which is the most liberally patronized and affords the best conveniences, and is the most direct, having the least staging and passing through the most picturesque country. It also passes directly through the world-renowned Mariposa Big-Trees, which is without doubt the largest grove in the world. By this route the visitor leaves San Francisco at 4 P. M. by the Southern Pacific R. R., and on the way passes through Modesto, Merced, etc., arriving at Madera at 12 P. M., where first-class hotel accommodations and an obliging host will make everything pleasant. Leaving here at 6 A. M., by stage, and after a very cosy day's journey, we arrive at the Big Tree Station. The traveler will find this one of the most pleasant pleasure resorts in the world and as good hotel accommodations as can be found in any part of the State. Hunting and trout fishing are the main sports indulged in by the tourists, many of whom make this their home for months during the summer. Continuing the journey through as fine mountain scenery as can be found in the world, we arrive in the valley during the afternoon. We, speaking from an uninterested point of view, most heartily recommend the Madera Turnpike Road, and if all the tourists are treated only half as well as we were by stage companies, hotel proprietors, etc., we are sure they will return to their homes well pleased with their trip to Yo Semite. In the valley ample accommodations are afforded by three hotels, viz., Leidig's Sentinel Hotel, the Yo Semite Valley Hotel, and Barnard's Yo Semite Falls Hotel, the latter having been known formerly as "Hutchings," and it has the finest location, being built on the bank of the Merced River and directly opposite the Yo Semite Falls, commanding an excellent view of the surrounding scenery. A number of cottages have been erected near the hotel for the use of guests. It also has the advantage of being in the business part of the valley, and is the starting-point of all the stages, and is only a few steps from the celebrated Cosmopolitan Saloon and Bath House, and A. Sinning's fine collection of mountain woods, made into all kinds of boxes, cuff buttons, rulers, etc.

Any one visiting the valley should not fail to call at the Cosmopolitan and see the great register weighing 108 pounds, which contains a list of all the visitors to the valley for the past ten years. There is also connected with it the only barber shop in the valley, and the finest baths in the State. A fine reading room and many other comforts are at the disposal of guests. Travelers should call on G. Fagerstein and Geo. Fiske and get a collection of their Yo Semite views. Mr. Fagerstein is located near the Cosmopolitan, and Mr. Fiske near "Leidig's" Hotel. The valley is seven and a quarter miles long, and from three-fourths to a mile and a half wide, and is surrounded by peaks or perpendicular walls of rock, averaging 3,500 feet. The altitude of the valley is 4,060 feet above the level of the sea, and its highest peaks are Cloud's Rest, 6,150 feet, Mt. Starr King, 5,100 feet, South Dome, 5,000 feet, and Sentinel Dome, 4,125 feet. There are also numerous other peaks which are over 3,000 feet in height. The Merced River runs through the valley. The waterfalls form one of the principal attractions of the scene. The leading ones are the Yo Semite Falls, 2,634 feet, which is composed of three falls, the first being 1,600 feet (the largest in the world), second 434, and the third 600 feet, Bridal Veil, 900 feet, the Vernal, 400 feet, and the Nevada, 700 feet. The whole Merced River composes the last two named falls. Beside these there are countless other things to interest and instruct. Never was a place found in nature which better repays the exertion of visiting than the Yo Semite Valley.

SISKIYOU COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; one of the oldest and most important places in that section of the State. It is on the line of the California and Oregon Stage Road, 115 miles from Redding, situated in the Shasta Valley, on the west bank of Yreka Creek, whose supply of water is sufficient to drive the machinery of the State, and which contains some of the finest fish in the world. Its mines are still being profitably worked, and the pursuit of stock-raising is engaged in. It is the main point of supplies for that region, the county seat, the headquarters of the Overland Stage Co., and contains a population of 2,000.

OREGON.

See, also, List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

Oregon is situated between the parallels of 42° and 46° 18' north latitude, and between the meridians of 116° 33' and 124° 25' west longitude from Greenwich. It is the most northwesterly State of the Union. On the north it is bounded by Washington Territory, the Columbia River forming the boundary to the point where that river crosses the parallel of 46° and the line running thence eastward along that parallel to the Snake River. Eastwardly it borders on Idaho Territory, the Snake River being the boundary to the mouth of the Owyhee, and thence by a line drawn due south along the meridian of 116° 50' west longitude to Nevada. On the south it is bounded by Nevada and California, the parallel of 42° north, forming the boundary line. The Pacific Ocean bounds it on the west.

The average width of Oregon from east to west is 350 miles, and from north to south 275 miles. Its full shore line is 285 miles. Its area is 95,274 square miles, or nearly 61,000,000 of acres. It is as large as all the New England States and two-thirds of the State of New York added to them, and larger than New York and Pennsylvania combined.

The population of the State, according to the official returns of the census of 1880, was 174,761, not quite two inhabitants to the square mile. The census of 1870 gave a population of 90,973, thus showing an increase of 83,794 in a single decade. If Oregon were proportionally as thickly settled as New York she could sustain ten millions of people.

The discovery and exploration of Oregon and Washington Territory is credited to Spanish navigators early in the sixteenth century.

In 1804, an overland expedition under Captains Lewis and Clark, U. S. Army, crossed the Rocky Mountains, and having followed the Columbia River from its head-waters, reached Cape Disappointment in November, 1805. The valuable resources of the Pacific Coast were first made known by this expedition.

In 1810, the first attempt at a settlement was made in Oregon at Oak Point, on the south side of the Columbia River, by Captain Nathaniel Winship, a New England sailor. A freshet soon after carried away the buildings and the enterprise was abandoned.

In 1811, a trading post was established by John Jacob Astor, of New York, at the mouth of the Columbia River, and the place was called "Astoria," in his honor.

In 1824, the first fruit trees were planted in Oregon. In 1831, some servants of the Hudson Bay Company abandoned hunting and trapping and attempted wheat growing in the Willamette Valley. The fields then ploughed have been in constant cultivation ever since, and, after the lapse of half a century, one of them at French Prairie, Marion County, still yielded, in 1879, thirty-five bushels to the acre. This indeed must be superior soil, and the fact is a striking illustration of the strength and productiveness of the land. In 1832, the first school was opened. Between 1835 and 1837, missions were established under the auspices of various religious societies and denominations, and the missionaries brought cattle with them. In 1838, the first printing press arrived in Oregon.

In 1841, Captain Wilkes, U. S. Navy, at the head of an expedition, surveyed the coasts, bays, harbors and rivers of the Territory. In 1843, Lieut. Fremont, U. S. Army, reached Vancouver, on the Columbia River, and so connected his reconnaissance with the eastern terminus of Captain Wilkes' explorations.

In 1846, the first newspaper was established. In the succeeding year a massacre of settlers by the Indians occurred. This was the beginning of much subsequent trouble with the aborigines, which retarded the development of the country to a great extent. Indian difficulties, however, have happily ceased in recent years, and the Indians are now quietly situated on reservations where they are provided for and educated.

In 1859, Oregon was admitted into the Union as a State, with a population of 52,465 souls. Her progress for many years thereafter was comparatively slow. The chief difficulty which her people encountered was to find a market for her abundant agricultural productions. But this serious obstacle to her rapid advancement has been surmounted, as already explained, by affording the proper means of railroad transportation.

It is but stating a fact, that no one has ever visited Oregon without becoming deeply impressed with the natural beauty of the country. It is indeed no exaggeration to say that it is not surpassed by any other part of the United States in attractiveness and variety of scenery. Nowhere east or west of the Rocky Mountains can there be seen at once such grand and picturesque landscapes as one finds all over Western Oregon. The combination of mountain and valley, woodland and prairie, river and ocean, is beautiful beyond description. Lofty peaks raise their snowy heads far above the horizon; beneath them stretch out fir and pine-clad ranges of mountains; between them extend great undulating valleys, dotted with timber, and traversed by fine rivers.

Furthermore, Oregon presents far better opportunities for acquiring good lands cheaply, and holding them under simple and secure titles, than California, where lands are monopolized in enormous tracts by comparatively few owners, and the derivation of titles under Spanish and Mexican grants renders them insecure, and gives rise to much litigation. And lastly, the very fact that Oregon has so far attracted less immigration than California, leaves a wider field and better chances for new-comers within its limits. The Oregon & California Railroad Company sell their lands at very low prices, and on favorable terms; and an abundance of Government land can be had under the Homestead Law.

Oregon possesses other substantial advantages over California, in lower taxation, and in the insignificant State debt.

There are numerous lakes in Southeastern Oregon, the principal of which are Klamath, Goose, and Warner's Lakes and Lake Harney.

Oregon and Washington Territory have not, until within the last three years, evinced the enterprise of other sections in railroad construction; but since the advent of Henry Villard, with his aides—all energetic, practical and far-sighted men—railroad building has been so vigorously pushed that in the march of development the New Northwest stands well to the front, and bids fair to make up for years lost. It was apparent to those acquainted with the inexhaustible resources of this portion of the United States, that the attention of capitalists could not be long delayed, and that the North Pacific had come to be an absolute necessity. The new blood infused into the enterprise has enlisted the faith of capitalists, and the grand scheme, with its numerous tributary feeders, is being laid at a rate that ought to satisfy the most exacting. Not only have railroad facilities been increased and improved of late, but ocean and river transportation has also been expedited, and rendered considerably more comfortable and safe, by the constant addition of new vessels, and the admirable, common-sense management of the new company. When we take into account the newness of the country, the number of its inhabitants, and the amount of travel, we affirm with confidence that the railroads are as good and as well managed, the steamships as elegant, as safe and as swift, and the river boats as numerous and as finely equipped as those modes of travel and transportation are in any State in the Union.

ALBANY.

LINN COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the Willamette River and on the line of the O. & C. R. R. (East Side), 71 miles south of Portland. County seat. Population slightly over 3,000.

Albany in its growth has outrun every other city of the Willamette Valley, and at present it is second to none as a trading center and manufacturing town. The town site is a handsome level prairie, which extends back from the river bank to the foot-hills of the mountains, 15 miles distant. Just west of the city the Calapooia River empties into the Willamette. The city is finely laid out and adorned by the numerous fine business blocks, schools, churches and private residences. The most prominent of her manufacturing enterprises are two iron foundries, several flouring-mills of great capacity, a planing-mill and sash factory, a carriage factory operated by Mr. F. Willert and several minor manufacturing shops, all alive with the hum of industry. The foundries are the largest shops of the kind south of Portland. They possess the improved machinery and are constantly running at full blast. Mr. L. Putnam is about to establish a factory on a small scale for the manufacture of raw-hide chairs. Albany has two weekly newspapers, the Herald, Messrs. Porter & Pottinger, editors and proprietors; and the States Rights Democrat, published by Messrs. Stewart and Chamberlain. Both papers are ardent workers to enhance the city's prosperity. A printing-office recently established by Messrs. Watts & Godfrey is a model in its way and not behind metropolitan offices in its perfection of detail and in its capacity for difficult and artistic work. Albany is the dinner station for both the north and south bound overland express trains. Messrs. Burkhardt Bros. will cheerfully answer communications regarding the real estate of this locality by mail or on application. City property and farms in Linn County continue to be in active demand but the above firm claim to have some desirable bargains on hand.

JACKSON COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, on the line of the California and Oregon Coast Overland Stage Route, 315 miles south of Portland, and 160 miles north of Redding. Population 1,000.

It is a very pretty little town, growing quite rapidly and substantially, and its facilities for manufacturing being of a superior nature, its future cannot be regarded with any but favorable eyes. A woolen-mill and marble works are located here. The valley in which it is situated is very rich agriculturally speaking, and the stock-raising interests are gradually developing. The scenery in the vicinity is picturesque, and the hum of machinery in the saw-mills, sash and door factory, and woolen-mill, are sounds that give it an air of manufacturing importance and leave an impression of its permanency that is decidedly encouraging. The power derived from Ashland Creek would be sufficient to drive the machinery of Birmingham. Its climatic features are most favorable and the sanitary condition of the place is superb.

ASTORIA.

CLATSOP COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated near the estuary of Columbia River, 95 miles below the city of Portland.

It is the oldest town of English settlement on the Pacific Coast, having been used as a post by the Hudson Bay Company as early as 1808. Its permanent population approaches 4,000 but that number is greatly augmented in the fishing and canning season by the large number who engage in those industries. The town depends mainly upon the salmon interests for its support, though a large number of deep water vessels regularly receive their cargoes here, where excellent wharfage and storage, is enjoyed. The manufacture of lumber is also an important industry. Astoria possesses a live daily and weekly newspaper, the Astorian, published by Messrs. J. F. Halloran & Co.; several churches and schools, two good hotels, beside a full complement of restaurants and boarding-houses, and a fire department that cannot be beat in the State. In the latter institution the whole male population take an enthusiastic interest—not spasmodically but all the time; and this popular zeal is commendable, for the town is peculiarly circumstanced in that its main business quarter is necessarily built of wood on piles at the foot of the hill and exposed continually to the ocean's breezes. The Portland department will bear testimony to the efficiency of the "fire lads" of Astoria. Astoria is partly built on the steep side hills that surround it (from which may be enjoyed an extensive view of the incomparable scenery of the vicinity) although the greater and most important portion of it has been constructed upon piling above the water. The Custom House and post-office, situated in a pretty square, is a handsome two-story stone building with an observatory. Some of the largest salmon canneries on the Columbia River are located here, and in the season thousands of men are employed, the fishing affording employment to a large number. The interior of the State, every summer sends large numbers to Astoria, where they may enjoy the cooling and invigorating breezes of old ocean. Doctor Hicks, an esteemed citizen of Astoria, is our authority for the statement that salmon weighing as much as 100 pounds each are frequently brought to town by the fishermen. The doctor also tells other fish stories, but then he is always so sociable and pleasant that we are glad to meet with him and listen to them.

Besides the many canning establishments of Astoria, there is the Variety Packing Company, which puts up the salmon in oil after salting and smoking. Mr. Borchers's process is admirable, and while it enriches the fish, it does not detract from its natural flavor.

The fast propeller steamer Fleetwood, Captain U. B. Scott, plies between Astoria and Portland, making the trip—98 miles—in the remarkably fast time of 6 hours, including stoppages. The Fleetwood affords excellent accommodations for passengers.

The O. R. & N. Co. also run two steamers a day (a freight and a fast passenger) between Portland and Astoria.

BROWNSVILLE.

LINN COUNTY. A post and express office. Brownsville is a thriving country town, situated on the Calapooia River, about 5 miles from Halsey. It is also on the line of the narrow-gauge railroad, about 12 miles south of Lebanon and 100 miles from Portland.

The original town site was surveyed in the spring of 1853, by James Blakely, and ten years later the town of North Brownsville was laid out and surveyed, and it now contains most of the population and busi ess houses. City charters were granted to both towns by the Legislature of 1876. In 1861 the Browns-ville Woolen Mills were erected by a joint stock company. Since that time extensive improvements have been made to these mills. They give employment to a large number of workmen, and annually turn out a hundred thousand dollars worth of the best woolen goods, which command the highest prices in Eastern and foreign markets. Last year over 200,000 pounds of wool were used, for which the highest market price is always paid.

Is a county seat, nicely situated on the west bank of the Willamette River, and is spoken of as one of the pleasantest towns in the "Webfoot State."

Its population is about 2,000. It is the seat of a college established by the M E Church, an academy for young ladies, and other schools. The State Agricultural College is also situated here and is in a prosperous condition. It contains several nice churches, all well attended. It is distant from Portland 85 miles by river, which is navigable for light draft steamers to this point. Yaposite bank of the beautiful Willamette River, is located the thriving town of East Portland, whose inhabitants claim the honor of being second in point of population in the State. Notwithstanding the sloughs and bottoms which overflow in winter along her water front, health is excellent, and the resident physicians have ample time for rest between calls, save one or two favorites. Within the past year, improvements have been many and substantial, hundreds of new houses having been erected; rented, before work was fairly begun, and occupied ere the plaster on the walls was dry. The future seems even brighter still, as the railway routes will for the time being at least find a terminus within her boundary. Real estate is in demand and changing hands at steadily advancing figures. Many business men and laborers from Portland reside on the east side on account of the cheapness of rents, which makes it to Portland what Oakland is to San Francisco. East Portland now boasts a handsome city hall, a number of substantial brick business houses, and many elegant residences, some of them approaching the palatial grandeur of the conspicuous ones of the metropolis. Her schools are conducted upon a system similar to those of Portland, and in consequence are excellent. None but competent teachers are employed, and discipline enforced alike in every department. The people of Multnomah County take great pride in their schools, which is a mark designating the high intelligence and refinement of the masses. She has a well organized fire department.

JOE POHEIM, THE TAILOR, 724 Market and 203 Montgomery Streets, S. F.

Do you KNOW?
 Some people have been heard to SAY
What is the "VINDICATOR"?

WE WILL EXPLAIN:

That is what we have taken this space for.

It is a newspaper, the official paper of the City of East Portland, Oregon, where it is published. It is the visitor to three thousand (3,000) homes weekly, sixteen hundred of which are farmers who not only subscribe but recommend it to their neighbors. Send postal card for copy. It is one of the liveliest, spiciest and white-wake newspapers in Oregon. Just the paper for advertisers to reach the farming class.

Subscription price, $2.50 per year; six months, $1.50, or 25 cents per month.

Send for sample copy, and address

LANE COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The county seat, situated on the Oregon & California R. R., 124 miles south of Portland. Eugene is a well-built town of about 1,500 inhabitants. The country around is admirable for farming. A sufficiency of schools, churches and social organizations render it a desirable place of residence. It is the seat of the State University, and promises to be the educational center of the Pacific Northwest. Hotel accommodations are good. Travelers receive excellent treatment at the St. Charles.

LINN COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office; situated on the line of the Oregon & California R. R., 17 miles south of Albany and 98
 miles south of Portland. It is situated in the prairie several miles from timber, and is surrounded by rich fields from which are raised thousands of bushels of wheat. It is a total abstinence town, it being unlawful to sell liquor within the corporate limits in less quantities than a quart. Since the city was incorporated there has not been one-half dozen arrests and convictions for violation of city ordinances. In 1879 a number of the business men combined together and built the Halsey Water Works. A large tank was raised to a suitable height and supplied with water pumped into the tank by an improved wind-mill. New buildings are being erected, and the city is in every way in a prosperous condition. Population 400.

LEBANON.

LINN COUNTY. A post and express office, situated about 13 miles east of Albany. Population about 500.

In 1880 the Oregon and California R. R. Co. built a branch road from the main line at Albany to Lebanon, and daily trains now run between that city and Portland. Since the completion of this road Lebanon has enjoyed an "age" of progression, and the business men are apparently all happy. Many improvements are being made and the city has a bright future. This place is the first town of any size that travelers strike after coming across the Cascade Mountains by the Lebanon Pass. Since the town was incorporated there has never been a city tax levied, sufficient money being raised from licenses, fines, etc., to run the city government.

Oregon—Oregon City.

OREGON CITY.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, and the county seat. It has a healthful and pretty location on the Willamette Falls, 12 miles south of Portland by the Oregon and California R. R. (East Side).

The grandeur of the surrounding scenery makes the town a desirable place of residence, while the immense water-power afforded by the Falls renders the site the very best for manufacturing purposes in the United States. If one-hundredth part of the power were utilized this city would be as important a point as Portland. As it is only a question of time until the power of this Leviathan stream shall be harnessed, the future of the Falls City must be prosperous. The manufactures at present being operated are a woolen mill, with 48 broad looms, and employing 225 hands, of which 85 are Chinamen; and a flouring-mill (The Imperial), of 550 barrels per day capacity, manufacturing a brand of flour celebrated both at home and abroad. The carriage factory, plow works, and undertaking establishments of Mr. C. P. Wineset are worthy of mention. All three of the industries are continually running, and keep employed a number of artisans. The present population of the city exceeds 1,500, having increased since the census of 1880. We notice a decided improvement in the appearance since our last visit. We are informed that business is brisk, and the town is in a healthy condition. City property and Clackamas County land is in good demand. Messrs. Johnson, McCown, & Walden, real estate men, will cheerfully answer any inquiries respecting the same.

A THOROUGH PRACTICAL BUSINESS EDUCATION

At the lowest possible rates. The school is supplied with all the conveniences for the great work. Everything is new, neat and pleasant, and the instructions the most practical and thorough. The Telegraph Department has all the necessary appliances for imparting a thorough knowledge of that science. All kinds of pen-work, such as engrossing resolutions, filling diplomas, visiting or wedding cards, etc., executed in a workman-like manner at living rates.

MULTNOMAH COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the left bank of the Willamette, 12 miles above its junction with the Columbia, 90 miles above Astoria and 105 miles from the Columbia bar.

Chief city of the Pacific northwest and of the State of Oregon. As a seaport it ranks second on the coast, which position it also occupies as a city and commercial metropolis. The present population (estimated by close observation since the '80 census), approaches 26,000. It is the distributing point of the Willamette, Rogue River and Umpqua Valleys, as well as for the settlements of the Columbia River and the immense and fertile districts lying east of the Cascade Mountains. The Columbia and Willamette Rivers are navigable up to Portland for deep water vessels of the largest size at nearly all seasons of the year. Portland has been improved in the last few years until we may venture to say that she is the handsomest and most substantially built, perfectly paved and cleanly kept city on the coast. This much without exaggeration. Her churches, embracing every denomination, schools, public and private, newspapers, hotels, gas and water supply, post-office and customs' building, exposition pavilion and rink, theatres, halls and public market, are all worthy of a city of the first order.

The public spirit evinced in the establishment and support of the above institutions is to the lasting credit of her citizens who have made Portland so attractive to visitors that her immense floating population crowds the city hotels and stores at all seasons.

As a business centre judging from the number of wholesale houses, occupying stores of prodigious dimensions, and carrying merchandise aggregating in value many millions of dollars, Portland would seem to control the northwestern trade to a great extent. Her business firms are of excellent average standing financially, and her business community may be said to sustain fewer internal shocks than any centre west of the Missouri. Her thoroughfares devoted to the heavy shipping interests constitute the most solidly constructed quarter of the city and are quite metropolitan in their character. Her wharves, constructed for the accommodation of vessels at either high or low water, are amply sufficient, while her warehouses are of large capacity.

As a hotel town it has made giant strides in the last few years, having now several hosteleries capable of accommodating an army of sojourners without any strain on their capacity. The latest additions are the Esmond, a beautiful establishment by Mr. J. H. Brenner. The Holton House (European plan), by the popular Dan., and the St. George, a large family hotel up town; while the St. Charles (European plan), by Mr. Thomas Guinean, formerly of Sacramento, California, is still a leading house as well as a marked architectural feature of the city. Besides all these Portland possesses a number of hotels and boarding houses of the second class which constantly enjoy a great patronage. In the hotel capacity of Portland and in the demand for accommodations of all kinds, we see reflected unexampled and solid prosperity.

Socially she is the Oregonian center of refinement and culture, her society being made up generally of a kindly, hospitable and charitable class of men and women, who are stylish without ostentation, and who reflect in their manner the admirable manhood and womanhood of the west, blended with the constantly inflowing stream of Eastern immigration that seeks homes in cities.

Her means of communication with the outside world will soon be greatly augmented, railroad connection from three points of the compass being almost established. Every mile of road that has been constructed so far has tended to place Portland in the enviable position she occupies, and the horoscope of the future plainly marks out for her a career eminently prosperous and brilliant.

The traveling public will find it advantageous to obtain a copy of Lewis and Dryden's Travelers' Guide before setting out on their travels. It is a complete hand-book of northwestern lines of travel, reliable, concise, and worthy of the good reputation it has won. The Guide is also a favorite advertising medium, as it is put into the hands of so many buyers when coming to the metropolis.

THE DANDELION TONIC

Is strictly an Oregon production. It is recommended by almost all the physicians to be the best and purest Tonic in the world. Forty-seven persons cured of Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Twelve thousand bottles sold in one year, and the sales increasing. It is a pack of nonsense to pay out thousands of dollars for foreign goods when we can produce better goods here at home. THE DANDELION has stood the test, and I challenge the world for $5,000 to beat it. Sold everywhere, and at wholesale by

SALEM.

MARION COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office. The capital of the State and county seat of Marion County, situated on the Willamette River and on the Oregon and California R. R., 53 miles south of Portland. Population about 5,000.

The town is well laid out, the streets being broad and well shaded with trees. It is substantially built, both private and public buildings possessing many fine architectural features. The most noticeable among them are the Capitol, County Court House, Reed's Hotel and Opera House Building, the State Insane Asylum and the Chemeketa Hotel. The State Asylum is just approaching completion at present writing (August, 1882), and will be ready for the admission of patients about the 1st of December. It will have a capacity for 400 and its cost represents $150,000, exclusive of $30,000 worth of convict labor. The buildings and grounds are an immense affair, being nearly a half a mile in circumference. There is being erected by the City of Salem Co., at the north end of town, a large woolen mill and also a flouring mill. It is anticipated that these industries will greatly add to the prosperity of the city, as it is agreed between the citizens of Salem, (who have subscribed liberally to the enterprises), and the projectors, that none but white labor will be employed in their operation.

Salem possesses two weekly and two daily newspapers. The Statesman is of thirty-two years standing as a weekly, the daily being now in its twenty-second year. The daily and weekly Talk is a bright local sheet. Besides the projected manufacturing enterprises above mentioned, there are several others worthy of note. They include B. F. Drake's Foundry and Machine Shops and the Pacific Agricultural Works and Stove Foundry, both possessing excellent facilities in the way of machinery, etc. The Agricultural Works have been established since our last issue, but have grown until now quite a force of men are employed. The works produce about $20,000 worth of implements and stoves annually. The Holman Fanning Mill Factory, manufacturing warehouse cleaners and fanning mills for cleaning wheat, is located here. It turns out a large and increasing number of machines.

LINN COUNTY. A post and express office. Scio is situated on Thomas Creek, one of the tributaries of the Santiam, and between the north and south forks of that river. This is one of the oldest towns in the State, the first settlement having been made in 1848. The present population is about 500, and the property is assessed at about $30,000. Excellent water power is afforded by a race constructed from Thomas Creek. The narrow-gauge railroad passes within one mile of the city. The country tributary to Scio, as a trading point, is quite extensive, and embraces an area of good farming and grazing lands.

WASCO COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the Columbia River, 110 miles above

Portland. County seat of Wasco County. Population 2,100.

The Dalles is a thriving agricultural town, dependent upon the really rich farming and fruit interests of the vicinity, which, in importance, are second to none in the State. The soil is of the richest quality, and the climate mild and sufficiently humid. As a manufacturing town it is also worthy of mention, for besides the O. R. & N. Co's R. R. shops located here, and doing the constructing and repair work for a large section of the road, there are numerous smaller manufacturing establishments in constant operation. They include two large flouring-mills, a planing-mill, an extensive brewery, several carriage factories and an iron and brass foundry. These shops in the aggregate employ a large number of men and contribute to the city's prosperity. A prettier site for the city and a more healthful one could not have been selected. It is situated where the river runs swiftly and where the summer breezes the most frequently penetrate through the Cascade Range. The view of scenery from this locality, and especially from the stand-point of a few miles west of town, is remarkably fine and inspiring. The great fire of 1879 gave the town a serious set-back financially, from which it is said not to have yet entirely recovered; but its appearance is greatly improved by the erection of many new buildings in place of the old ones. While its growth may be slow, we think its location will insure a steady and substantial advance to prosperity. The schools, churches, newspapers and hotels are good. Among the latter the Umatilla House and the Cosmopolitan stand pre-eminent, and will compare favorably with any in the State. The Umatilla House, kept by Messrs. Handley & Sinnott, is a large and commodious hostelry, overlooking the river. Since the fire, in rebuilding the house has been enlarged and re-modeled after the most approved plans, and furnished with modern improvements. It contains 140 rooms. The ticket and baggage office of the O. R. & N. Co. are in the building, as well as the Western Union Telegraph office. The Cosmopolitan is conducted by Mr. Thomas Smith, formerly of the Occidental, in Portland, which is a guarantee that it is run in a satisfactory manner.

WASHINGTON.

See, also, List of Towns Received Too Late for Regular Insertion.

Before Alaska, which is not yet organized, was added to the domain of the United States, the most northwestern portion of the country was Washington Territory. This Territory lies between the parallels 45° 32' and 49° north latitude, and the meridians of 117° and 124° 8' west longitude from Greenwich. On the west it is bounded by the Pacific Ocean. On the north it is divided from British Columbia by a line running through the centre of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the Canal de Haro and the Gulf of Georgia as far as the 49th parallel; thence along this parallel to the west line of Idaho. This northern line is, therefore, quite uneven. It was run so crookedly, after a tedious arbitration, in order that Great Britain might not be deprived of important settlements which her subjects mainly occupied. On the south, the Columbia River, to about the 119th meridian, and thence, eastwardly, the 46th parallel separate the Territory from Oregon. Its limit on the east is Idaho along the 117th meridian to Lewiston, and then the line follows the Snake River till it intersects with that of Oregon.

The length of Washington Territory, from north to south, ranges from 200 to 250 miles and its greatest breadth from east to west is about 360 miles. Its coast length is 245 miles, and its full shore line 1,738 miles. It is smaller than most of the Territories and several of the Western States, having an area only of 69,994 square miles, or 44,796,160 acres, but is, nevertheless, one-and-a-half times as large as New York or Pennsylvania. Exclusive of the area covered by the waters of Puget Sound, and the mountainous region, which is unfit for cultivation, there would probably remain 35,000,000 acres. Of these 20,000,000 acres are timber lands, about 5,000,000 acres are rich alluvial bottoms, and 10,000,000 are prairies and plains. Of the latter, a large proportion is well adapted for wheat culture, and all of it for stock raising.

The tenth census of the United States, taken in 1880, gave the Territory 75,120 inhabitants, or about one to the square mile. The official returns of the Territorial census of 1881, however, show a decrease to 70,728. On this head the Auditor of the Territory remarked in his biennial report, dated October 1, 1881: "The census returns for the last two years have been very incomplete and unsatisfactory. Experience clearly shows that assessors in several of the counties have failed to do their duty. We have every reason to believe that the population of the Territory, under a correct enumeration, would show an increase of from ten to twelve thousand over the reports presented."

In the whole Territory there are now about 14,000 Indians, who are domiciled at various reservations, where they live peaceably and are gradually advancing in civilization. In 1858-9 there was a great accession to the population, in consequence of the discovery of gold on the Frazer River, British Columbia, in the preceding year. Large numbers of people flocked into the Territory in 1861-2 during the time of excitement incident to the gold discoveries on the Salmon River. In 1863 the Territory of Idaho was taken off from Washington, and the area of the latter was thus reduced to one-half its former limits. During recent years there has been a constantly increasing development of the varied and abundant natural resources of the Territory. Farming, mining, lumbering and fishing offer infinite opportunities for the successful display of enterprise and energy.

CHENEY.

SPokane County. A post, express and telegraph office, situated on the Northern Pacific R. R., 145 miles northeast of Wallula. It is the county seat. Population 300, and increasing.

This bustling town, though new, is already of great importance. It has a fine country contributing to it, and is growing rapidly. New buildings of a substantial kind are going up on all sides. Among the institutions already possessed by the town are a bank, two newspapers, a large flouring-mill, a brewery and a furniture factory and some smaller shops. The newspapers are the Sentinel, edited by Mr. F. C. Montgomery, and the Northwest Tribune, by Mr. L. E. Kellogg; a gentleman thoroughly conversant with matters appertaining to the territory and county, the interests of which he ably advocates. Mr. Sam Vinson, formerly of the Commercial, and Mr. Porter Watson have joined issues in the construction of a fine building (The Oakes House) near the depot. The new hotel occupies a large area, is of three stories, and possesses all of the modern conveniences. The Oakes House was very much needed in Cheney to keep pace with its growth, and as conducted by Messrs. Vinson and Watson it is the attraction of the town. The following is from the Northwest Tribune of July 14, 1882: "Cheney is so fortunately situated on the Northern Pacific R. R. as to be the business point for the entire country known as the Big Bend country and to divide the trade of the Palouse country. When it is seen what a vast extent the above-named regions are, and their natural accessibility to Cheney, it can be easily explained to the satisfaction of the most careful business man, that Cheney will continue its present degree of prosperity, and very soon be the most important town in Eastern Washington. In addition to the twenty-six buildings in course of erection mentioned in the Tribune last week, something like a dozen more have been commenced since; real estate has never been more active in Cheney than during the present week. On Tuesday alone about thirty residence and business lots changed hands at prices considerably in advance of prices asked for a few weeks ago. All kinds of business is greatly improving and capital is seeking investment here. Nor is this prosperity caused by undue excitement, as is sometimes the case in new towns. Cheney has passed over its dull period, and is now enjoying a solid prosperity. The demand for more and larger business establishments is being answered, and now branch lines of railroad are being located to intersect the Northern Pacific R. R., Cheney will surely be made the commercial center of the northwest.

WHITMAN COUNTY. A post and express office; county seat; population 800. Situated 45 miles from Lewiston, 56 from the railroad at Cheney, and 17 from the Snake River at Alnota. The district around is rich in stock and agricultural properties, being some of the finest wheat land in the Territory. At present writing (September, 1882) the town is rapidly recovering from its disastrous fire of a few months ago. Buildings are going up as if by magic, the energy displayed being very commendable. A large brick hotel is to be one of the town's principal features, its cost to be partly defrayed by public subscription. Colfax has one newspaper, the Palouse Gazette, which enjoys a circulation all over the county.

COLUMBIA COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office and county seat, situated in the fertile Touchet Valley, 38 miles from Walla Walla by O. R. & N. Co's Railway.

It is situated favorably from many points of view, as it has a great scope of the richest farming land in the Territory contributory to it, besides being blessed with a copious water power already utilized to a considerable extent for manufacturing purposes. The site of the town is the prettiest imaginable, the choicest spot in the valley having evidently been selected. The growth of the town, notwithstanding several serious setbacks by fires, has been remarkable. In five years it has grown out of the irregular scraggling village into a full-fledged city, with streets regularly laid out, uniformly paved and provided with spacious walks. Its business blocks and residences are commanding, substantial and of a permanent character, several of the latter being in elegant taste and ornamenting the streets whereon they are erected. The principal manufactures of the town consist of three flouring-mills, a brewery, two planing-mills, and a foundry about to be established by Messrs. Pringle & Co., who have already a machine-shop in operation with steam power and improved appliances. Bloomer, Carr & Co's planing-mill is run in connection with their furniture factory, another important industry. Dayton was incorporated as a city in January, 1882. Its population is estimated at 1700. It possesses good churches and schools, a free library and reading-room and two weekly newspapers, the Columbia Chronicle, published by Mr. O. C. White, and the Democratic State Journal, by Mr. T. O. Abbott. We are indebted to Mr. J. W. Jackson the watchmaker of Dayton, for additional names sent us since our canvas of the town, for which he has our thanks.

PIERCE COUNTY. A post and express office.
It is situated on Puget Sound, at the northern terminus of the Pacific Division of the Northern Pacific R. R., 105 miles from Kalama and 145 miles from Portland, Or. The Northern Pacific R. R. also has a branch from this point up the Puyallup Valley to the coal fields of Carbonado, which are very prolific in a good article of coal. With its advantages of its coal fields adjacent, and its position as a deep water terminus, New Tacoma cannot fail to become a city of vast importance. The headquarters of the Pacific Division Northern Pacific R. R. are located here. It has a population of nearly 2,500, and is the county seat.

THURSTON COUNTY. A post, express and telegraph office, county seat and capital of the Territory.

This is perhaps the prettiest town in the Northwest, because of its myriads of shade trees, handsome dwellings and picturesque location at the extreme southeastern part of the Sound, all contributing to render the place extremely beautiful. It is the terminus of the Olympia and Tenino R. R. (Narrow Gauge), which intersects the Northern Pacific at Tenino, 16 miles distant. Olympia also enjoys frequent communication with all parts of the Sound by steamers. The principal industry of this town, like that of most others on the Sound, is lumber, though at Olympia there exist some valuable oyster fisheries. The oysters are small but possess a most delicious flavor. Clams also abound. There are three weekly newspapers, the Olympia Transcript, published by E. T. Gunn; the Puget Sound Courier, by C. B. Bagley, and the Washington Standard, by J. M. Murphy. Population of Olympia 1,500.
