CANADIANS MAKE BIG GAINS DESPITE HEAVY RAINSTORMS

Capture Wancourt and Monchy-les-Preux and Press on Beyond—British Take Towns West of Longueval—German Retirement Continues All Along the Front, While British Troops Overwhelm Enemy Rear Guards in Heavy Fighting.

CANADIANS MAKE BIG GAINS DESPITE HEAVY RAINSTORMS

Complete Capture of Important Towns and Make Progress Beyond—British Pressure Maintained and Line Advanced.

London, Aug. 26.—It was the Canadians who early Monday morning in the new offensive of the British southeast of Arras captured Wancourt and Monchy-les-Preux and pressed on beyond them, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication issued tonight.

The statement also records the capture by the British of Montauban and Basentin-le-Grand, respectively west and southwest of Longueval.

The text of the communication follows:

"At 3 o'clock this morning Canadian, Scottish and London troops attacked on both sides of the Scarpe River from Croisilles to the neighborhood of Gavrelle. On the south bank of the river Canadian divisions, attacking with great gallantry, passed rapidly thru the enemy's foremost defences and captured the high ground known as Orange Hill in the first rush of their assault.

"Despite heavy storms of rain the Canadian troops pressed on and at an early hour reached Wancourt and Monchy-les-Preux.

"During the morning the rain ceased. These troops completed the capture of both villages and have made progress beyond them.

"Meanwhile, north of the Scarpe

Scottish troops, advancing once more over the ground on which they fought in 1917, carried the German first defensive system south of Gavrelle, reaching the outskirts of Rouex. The chemical works north of Rouex are again in our possession.

"On the right of the Canadians the Scottish and London troops who, during the preceding days had fought their way toward Croisilles and Heninel, continued their attacks. A'cho they met with vigorous resistance from parties of German infantry and machine gunners, they have made substantial progress and have completed the capture of the high ground between Croisilles and Heninel. In this new sector many prisoners have been taken by us during the day.

"On the southern section of the battlefield our advance has continued on both sides of the Somme. Australian troops have taken Cappy and have made progress east of the village. North of the Somme they have entered Suzanne.

"Further north English troops have pushed forward in the direction of Montauban and Welsh troops have captured Basentin-le-Grand.

"On the remainder of the battlefield fighting has taken place at a number of points. Our pressure has been maintained and our line has been advanced in certain sectors."

RUDELY SURPRISED BY CANADIAN DASH

Enemy Taken at Disadvantage by Dense Waves of British.

HALF CIRCLE DRAWN Exit From Bapaume Almost Closed—Town Reported Deserted.

A. British Army Headquarters, Aug. 26.—This morning's attack eastward of Arras carried our battle flank towards the Scarpe at a moment when the eyes of the Germans were turned nervously elsewhere. Consequently the enemy was rudely surprised when, on a equally cloudy morning, dense waves of British swept forward, after a heavy passage has caused the enemy in this place few days to transfer reserves from this region towards the Bapaume sector. This morning's attack has progressed in the most favorable way and at the moment of writing the enemy's position comparatively few prisoners have as yet come back, but this does not convey any indication regarding the character of the fighting.

Canadians and other British troops have carried Monchy-le-Preux. Southward of the Somme, movement in the past 24 hours has been more restricted, but has been intensely active, especially on the part of the Germans, who have been repulsed in numerous counter-attacks and were unable to arrest our program.

Further west, Faverell last night we have drawn a half-circle around Bapaume, the exit from which is allowed closed, save toward the Cambrai river. Our airmen, who took this place in the fierce fighting of July 1918, while the capture of Miraumont stands as the finest feat to the credit of the First Lancashire Regiment.

Canadians participated in the capture of Monchy-le-Preux.

As a result of the enemy casualties, official figures show the enemy was subjected to which the enemy was subjected. Some battalions have been reduced to 100 men and even to 50.

The Welsh who penetrated the Mametz wood yesterday belonged to the 15th Welsh Brigade, who took this place in the fierce fighting of July 1918, while the capture of Miraumont stands as the finest feat to the credit of the First Lancashire Regiment.

GERMANS FORCED BACK IN BATTLE ON SCARPE

TWO VILLAGES TAKEN BY FRENCH IN ADVANCE UPON BANKS OF AVRE Fresnoy-les-Roye and St. Mard Carried—Six Hundred Prisoners Made by Allies in Operation.

Paris, Aug. 26.—French forces on the Avre have captured Fresnoy-les-Roye and St. Mard. They have also taken more than 600 prisoners, according to the war office announcement tonight.

The statement says:

"On both sides of the Avre we carried out two local operations which enabled us to occupy Fresnoy-les-Roye and St. Mard, despite spirited resistance offered by the enemy. Prisoners counted up to the present exceed 600.

"In the Vosges we repulsed several attempts at surprise attacks."

Suburb of Bapaume Has Been Captured

Outskirts of Thillois Also Reached—Carouy is Taken and the British Approach Two Big Towns.

London, Aug. 26.—Reuter's learns that the British have captured a suburb of Bapaume, Avesnes-le-Bapaume, and also Cappy, to the south of the Somme. Suzanne, on the north bank of the Somme, was also captured, and we have reached the outskirts of Thillois. There is an unconfirmed report that we have reached Montauban and the western outskirts of Longueval.

The line which is in our possession now runs as follows: Monchy-le-Preux-Wancourt-western outskirts of Croisilles-St. Leger-Mory-Faverell-Butte de Warlencourt-Baucourt and L'Abbaye.

We are fighting east and south of Martinpuch and west of Bazentin-le-Petit. We have captured Carouy.

THREE TORONTO MEN WIN MILITARY CROSS

Lieuts. Gwyn, Lamsburier and Ramsden Distinguish Themselves in Raiding Operations.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

London, Aug. 26.—Particulars are being given of the deeds for which the following have received the Military Cross:

Lieut. Roy Bailey of Harrow, Ont., during a raid, the wounded, carried the wounded man back.

Lieut. Gerald Cloutier, Montreal, left a trench with a non-com. and captured two of the enemy.

Lieut. Donald Gwyn, Toronto, showed fearless leadership during a raid.

Lieut. Henry Lamsburier, Dragons, Toronto, during a raid, set fire to all the enemy's dugouts in a trench.

Lieut. George Cruikshank, when about 50 of the enemy attempted to raid his platoon, held them up, capturing four.

Lieut. Herbert Cunningham of the dragons, led a successful raid with great dash.

Sergeant Major Tobin, when all the platoon commanders became casualties, rushed forward in the fourth wave of the attack to assist in leading the men to their final objective.

FRENCH DRAW BACK ALBANIAN LEFT WING

Slight Withdrawal Enthus After Austrian Attack to Keep Level With Italians.

Paris, Aug. 26.—A French official statement says: "Eastern theatre, Aug. 25.—There was increased artillery activity in the region of Lake Doiran, on both banks of the Vardar and in the neighborhood of Huma. In Albania the Austrians on two different occasions attacked the Franco-Italian positions near the confluence of the Devoll and Tomorica Rivers.

"Our troops repulsed these attacks, and then in conformity with orders withdrew slightly on the left wing in order to maintain liaison with the Italian troops. British aviators bombed enemy bivouacs in the region of Demir-Hissar. A Serbian aviator brought down an enemy machine in the region of Dobropolje."

The Massif of the Cornfields.

Fodder corn was planted late in many fields; some had to be replanted; for a time the outlook of full silos was anything but promising. Now it is a miracle: in its dark green bending color; its towering height (it grows a foot in two days after rain and scuffling); the thickness of the individual stalks, and the closeness of their massing. If it gets a chance to cob, and it looks that way now, it will be a surprising source of food for the dairy herds of Ontario, and more hay to sell for thirty dollars a ton!

NEW DEPARTMENT IN DINEEN'S

Dozen Villages Captured by New Blow of Field Marshal Haig South of Arras—French Capture Two Points Near Roye.

While the Germans were busily engaged in defending themselves against the attacks of the British and French armies from the Ancre River to the region of Soissons, Field Marshal Haig early Monday morning struck another surprise blow over a new front north of the old battle zone. The new offensive was launched from the east of Arras on the Scarpe River and southward to the Cojeul. All along the front the British pressed forward, at some places to a depth of more than two miles, and captured a half-dozen or more villages, among them Monchy-le-Preux, Guemappe and Wancourt.

Across the Cojeul the new British attacks on the old battlefield brought them the villages of Mory and St. Leger, and farther south—the small town of Faverell, one and a half miles east of Bapaume, from which the British pressed on eastward about a mile. Farther south the British are reported unofficially to have reached the western outskirts of Thillois in the nipper movement they are carrying out against Bapaume. With Haig's men now standing well within gun range of the town it seems likely that the Germans will be forced to evacuate Bapaume in short order.

Additional gains also have been made by the British east of Albert and on both sides of the Somme River. In fact notwithstanding the efforts of the Germans thru the use of large reinforcements to hold them in check, the British and French all along the line from Albert to Soissons have materially bettered their positions and carried further forward their plan of making the Picardy battleground untenable for the enemy.

The French again are hammering away at the environs of Roye, one of the strong points on the Somme-Oise front. Fresnoy-les-Roye, to the north, and St. Mard, to the south of Roye, have been captured by the French despite the desperate resistance of the Germans, and Roye, like Bapaume in the north, apparently is in danger of being pinched out of the line in an enveloping movement. More than 600 prisoners were taken by the French.

The Germans have thrown further heavy counter-attacks against the French in the region north of Soissons, where the French continue their pressure northward in manoeuvres which seriously threaten to outflank the Chemin des Dames and Leon sectors and to put the entire German line from Ypres to Rheims in jeopardy. All the attacks have been sustained by General Mangin's forces.

RECONNOITERING ACTIVE UPON ITALIAN FRONT

British and French Raid Austrian Trenches on Asiago Plateau.

Rome, Aug. 26.—The war office announcement today says:

"Along the whole front there was considerable activity by our reconnoitering parties. On the Asiago Plateau British and French patrols carried out raids on the enemy's trenches, bringing back prisoners.

"Other prisoners and material were captured by our patrols in the Monte Grappa region and the Piave islets."

MANNHEIM ATTACKED

London, Aug. 26.—Chemical factories at Mannheim and the railway station at Frankfort were successfully attacked Sunday night by the British Independent Air Force, according to an official communication issued tonight.

All the British machines returned safely to their base.

Steady Progress Is Made All Day

Canadians Take More Than 1000 Prisoners in Their Drive Along the Arras-Albert-Cambrai Road.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 26, 4 p.m.—With the battlefield widened by a surprise attack in the north, so that it now extends all the way to the River Scarpe, the British again have made steady progress eastward all day long.

The enemy's resistance, offered on many sections, has taken on more and more the aspect of rear-guard actions—stubbornly fought, but nevertheless rear-guard actions.

There are rumors that a counter-attack has been developed by the enemy in an effort to gain the time which he badly needs, as his main roads, especially in the centre of the battle zone, which are required for moving material to the rear, have been broken or are under fire from the British big guns, which have been shown up so that they range far behind the enemy's line.

In many localities the retreating Germans have left strong posts of machine guns supported by single field guns, in an effort to delay the advancing British. These field guns have had no effect.

Cappy, the little town just south of the Somme, was lined with machine guns when the Australians, in the middle of the night and during a driving rainstorm, attacked it. A lone field gun from the rear of the town threatened to do some damage until a daring group circled round and crept upon it from the rear and hurled themselves upon the gunners, killing them. Then, with the assistance of tanks, Cappy was cleared of the live machine gunners, and the Australians pressed on. About the same time Suzanne, almost across the river from Cappy, fell in somewhat the same manner.

FRENCH AID CANADIANS WHO LATER RECIPROCATE

Each Appeals to Other When They Find Themselves in Difficult Positions.

A French Army Headquarters in the Field, Aug. 26.—A certain portion of a line Canadian regiment, 80 per cent of whom spoke French, attacked alongside French troops. Subsequently the Canadians were hard-pressed by the enemy, who was strongly posted in a wood. They appealed for assistance to a French regiment on their flank. The French immediately advanced and completely turned the position. The French regiment shortly afterwards found themselves similarly situated. They appealed to the Canadians, and the latter also immediately attacked and saved the situation. The two regiments in the evening messed and bivouacked together.

TANKS AND CANADIANS.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 26.—The attack south of the Scarpe was delivered in co-operation with tanks. These steel monsters rolled thru the rain and shot their way thru the German first lines almost before the Germans realized they were being attacked.

RETIREMENT CONTINUING

German Rear Guards Overwhelmed by British in Heavy Fighting.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 26.—The German retirement is continuing along many parts of the battle front tonight. The British are overwhelming the enemy's rear-guards in heavy fighting.

Reports indicate that at least one counter-attack has been broken up by the British artillery concentrating its fire on massed enemy troops.

THIRTY-EIGHT GERMAN MACHINES SENT DOWN

London, Aug. 26.—The following communication dealing with aviation was issued this evening: "Thruout August 25 our low-flying machines continued to harass the enemy by means of machine gun fire directed upon his infantry, guns, transport and trains. Other machines kept in contact with our troops and observed for our artillery. Photographic work and reconnaissance were carried out as usual.

"Thirty-two tons of bombs were dropped by us during the day on railway junctions, such as Cambrai and Valenciennes; on enemy dumps and on the Bruges docks. A hostile air-drome was successfully bombed.

"Twenty-five German machines were brought down by us and one German balloon was destroyed. Thirteen hostile machines were driven down out of control. Five of our machines are missing.

CORONER IS ARRESTED FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

Dorothy Parfrey, (12), 82 Nairn avenue, attended the Hospital for Sick Children late last night in a critical condition, and Coroner Dr. W. M. McCormick is under arrest on a charge of negligence following a motor accident in front of the girl's home late last night.

It is said that the girl was struck while she was attempting to cross the street. The hospital authorities stated at 2.30 this morning that the girl's condition was critical. She has severe injuries to the head and the lower jaw is broken.

RAID ON CONFLANS.

American Machines Throw Bombs, Causing Enormous Explosion.

With the American Army in France, Aug. 26.—American bombing machines again raided Conflans, Sunday, dropping forty bombs on the railroad yards, despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. All the bombs were well together at the east end of the yards, one causing a big explosion, as if an ammunition car had been hit. The northern edge of the round-house also was struck.

CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION OPENS WITH GREAT SPIRIT

Veterans' Day Ushers in What Promises to Be Biggest Year in History of Fair.

EXHIBITS ARE IN PLACE

Seldom Have Arrangements Been as Complete as the Very Beginning.

MONDAY'S ATTENDANCE.

Monday's attendance ..... 33,400
Same day last year ..... 36,000

For the fifth time during the war and the forty-first time in its history, the great Canadian National Exhibition opened its doors at eight o'clock yesterday morning and called the opening day Veterans' Day in honor of the men who have kept the firing line in France and Flanders. Formally, the Exhibition wheels commenced revolving at precisely two minutes past three, when Lord Shaughnessy said, "I now declare the forty-first Canadian National Exhibition open."

Beautifully warm summer weather favored the first day of the fair, the early morning clouds giving way to bright sunshine as the day progressed. Almost all the exhibits were in order from the very beginning, and by noon the midway had grown into a busy place. There were very few spaces not occupied, and in fact it is not remembered when the Exhibition was more complete at its opening.

Lord Shaughnessy, the distinguished guest of the day, arrived on the grounds shortly before one o'clock, and was escorted to the administration building by T. A. Russell, president. There he met the officers of the association, Mayor Church and members of the city council, Hon. T. W. McClary, provincial treasurer; Hon. C. C. Cuddy, minister of education; Major-Gen. Logie, Col. Bickford, members of the board of education and others prominent in the life of the city and province.

At the Luncheon. A brilliant array of notables occupied places at the head table during the luncheon. Presidents in occupied the chair, and Lord Shaughnessy was seated at his right. The company included Sir William Mulock, Sir Edmund Walker, Right Rev. Dr. Colin Fletcher, general moderator of the Presbyterian Church, Hon. Dr. Cuddy, Hon. T. W. McClary, Sir William Mackenzie, Sir John Willison, Mayor Church, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Sir Henry Pellatt, Major-Gen. Logie, Col. Bickford, W. K. George, Col. Noel Marshall, Dr. Hastings, M.O.H., J. J. Englehart, George Wright and W. B. Howard.

The luncheon over, Mr. Russell welcomed the guests by declaring that while this was opening and Veterans' Day, yet every day was their day, and that through the entire Exhibition they would be welcome as the guests of the association. "It seems impossible to believe that it is our fifth opening during the great war," he said. He wondered if it realized how the Exhibition had become a wartime exhibition and centre of mobilization. This was not a war by proxy, as other wars might be termed, but one in which all the man power, woman power and mechanical power of the nation was involved.

He held that the Exhibition had helped the country in its hour of trial in many ways. Department of agriculture as well as other essential had found the Exhibition a wonderful medium through which to attract the attention of the people. It had brought forward lessons in conservation of food and had taught the necessity of substituting that of which there was little in order to help in the successful prosecution of the war. By devoting space to the exhibits on vocational training the Exhibition was trying to help in the solution of the returned soldier problem, but he claimed the greatest asset in winning the war was in the morale of the people, and here the Exhibition was doing its biggest work. "Today is Canada," he said, "when we tend to grow weary and need something to bring back our old vigor, the Exhibition is a grand influence in helping us determine to see it thru to the end."

In introducing Lord Shaughnessy, Mr. Russell referred to his 36 years' connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, declaring it to be the greatest Canadian asset. The guest had lived to see his dream come true, to see his railway fulfilling the demands of the country at a time when it was most needed; he had lived to see the ships carry aid to the mother country.

Canada's Development. Replying, Lord Shaughnessy said, when the strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" had died away: "It is true I have not visited Toronto often in recent years. We used to put in our time squabbling over the explanation. It took many years to accomplish the Union Station, with had resulted in (laughter). Continuing, he said: "I have had a very long and very interesting connection with Canadian affairs. The enterprise represented most closely helped something in the development of Canada. It was able to put down railways and branch lines, to build ships, and wait for profits. If it grew, it meant Canada would grow, and in that respect our work was national. I am glad to say that our tonnage on the sea is almost as large today as it was before the war, although we have lost about twelve large ships. After the war we will still further extend our ocean lines, for I believe that the Russian markets will be open for all kinds of Canadian manufactures."

Because he was to speak at more length at the opening ceremonies, the speaker concluded by saying: "I have the greatest possible admiration for Toronto. I was gratified to look over the new harbor plans in the mayor's office this morning. Toronto is and will continue to be an attractive city and a centre of industrial development. The guests then went to the amphitheatre in the dairy building, where the formal opening was conducted.

LORD SHAUGHNESSY OPENS EXHIBITION

Declares He is Not Opposed to Nationalization of Railways.

CANADA'S PROBLEMS

Return of Soldiers to Civil Life Will Bring Up Great Questions.

Lord Shaughnessy expressed himself as not opposed to the nationalization of Canadian railways when replying to the address read by T. A. Russell, president of the Canadian National Exhibition, at the opening ceremony in the amphitheatre, dairy building, yesterday afternoon. "I would prefer to postpone the subject of transportation at this time," he said. "Decision is needed only after a careful analysis and consideration. We may gain experience from our neighbors to the south, but I do not wish it understood that I am opposed to the nationalization of railways. When the people want it—we are democratic—we must have it—but we must be sure of our footing before setting out."

The military band, playing sprightly patriotic airs when the party reached the building, and when the distinguished visitor and party had taken their places, it played "Rule Britannia" while the assembly remained standing. Right Rev. Dr. Colin Fletcher invoked the divine blessing upon the Exhibition, after which Mr. Russell read the address, as follows:

Address of Welcome. To Lord Shaughnessy. It is most fitting that the opening of the forty-first annual Exhibition is by you, sir, for your thirty-six years of service in the great transportation system over which you preside is almost concurrent with the history of this Exhibition.

In coming as you did to Canada to assist in the building of the first railway connecting the east and west of our country, you have played a large part not only in unifying the provinces of Canada into a nation, but in uniting her more closely to the motherland and to the other overseas dominions. Within these grounds you will see evidence of development and progress in almost every activity of this young nation. In the many demonstrations to be found valuable lessons of increased production and of greater conservation of our natural resources; in the exhibits of the work done by returned soldiers, and in our model camp and elsewhere, on every hand you will see eloquent evidence of the part which the nation, to a man—and to a woman—is lending its support to the prosecution of the war.

Canada is confronted with the problems more far-reaching than ever before. These call, first, for the most earnest and efficient mobilization of all our resources for the successful prosecution of the war; and, secondly, for the expression of great courage and high patriotism in meeting the conditions which must soon be faced on the farms, in the factories and in the homes, when the country turns from its organization to the pursuit of peace, and the tremendous readjustment takes place. To you, in this epoch-marking time, we turn with confidence for counsel and leadership.

We hope, sir, this occasion will, in small measure at least, let you see that the people of your adopted country are not unappreciative of your great service to Canada, and we trust that you will long be permitted to reap the benefit of your wise counsel and ripe experience.

Appreciate Spirit. In reply Lord Shaughnessy expressed his appreciation for the friendly spirit shown in the address. "During the 36 years of my residence in Canada have been both interesting and bringing Canada more into the notice of the world than it was previously. To assist in bringing people to our shores. With the assistance of most complete staff we have been able to bring ventures to success. The success of the Canadian Pacific means the success of Canada."

Lord Shaughnessy was afraid he could not be of as great a help as the address might indicate, owing to advancing years but, he said, "to the extent that I can be of aid to Canada my services will always be for my beloved country. I am president of Montreal and other parts of Canada and added, "but we will concede that your Exhibition is infinitely superior to anything of its kind on the continent, if not in the world, as an annual event. Canada has every reason to be proud of it."

There was everything here to teach the farmers advanced methods, to teach the housewife economy and to enlighten those who wish to keep in touch with industrial progress. It was difficult not to speak of the war, at this time, for Canada had taken a heroic part. It had made gallant sacrifices. "We owe everything to our country," he said, "and must deny none of our country's demands."

Recent events were ground for jubilation. To his mind the situation on the battle front had completely changed, and henceforth he believed the initiative would be with the allied forces and not with the enemy. There was reason to be grateful for the help given by the determined country to the south at what appeared to be the turning point in the war.

from every man as to his destination and intentions before he leaves France. There must be co-operation between the manufacturers and leaders in every line.

Relations between employer and employe should be strengthened, he said, for the best work could not be done when periodical seasons of unrest were experienced. It was necessary that some scheme should be worked out whereby labor and capital would come to a lasting basis for the settlement of differences. Both should meet with the idea of giving the maximum rather than the minimum. In this regard the railway war board was mentioned. Farmer and manufacturer alike should be given the benefit of expert knowledge.

Need of Unity. Special emphasis was laid upon the necessity for unity through the Dominion because all were working for a common cause—the welfare of Canada. By producing and saving—the motto was quiet, busy, and aged wealth could be materially increased. "We should save just as we would to pay the mortgage of the farm," he said.

Referring to the transportation question, he said: "I prefer to postpone the subject of transportation at this time. Decision must come only after careful analysis and consideration. We will gain experience from our neighbors to the south, but I do not wish it understood that I am opposed to the nationalization of railways. When the people want it—we are democratic—we must have it—but we must be sure of our footing before setting out."

"We must meet our difficulties intelligently and if we pull hard and pull together they will all be overcome and we will be able to go on in the future to build a great, prosperous, peaceful happy Canada. I now declare the forty-first Canadian National Exhibition open."

The ceremony concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

FEW LOST CHILDREN ON OPENING DAY

Police Report a Quiet Day and No Fires Occur to Mar the Pleasant Event.

Police and fire headquarters at the Exhibition grounds were quiet for the first day of the Exhibition. No fires in any form were reported, and only one article—a rug valued at $10—was reported as missing. It was found in the station by its owner, J. Skaret, 125 Church street, who was counting on it to decorate his office when it was lost off the delivery wagon.

In the tent for lost children, which is under the care of Mrs. Chas. Harrison and her daughter, Mabel, children were also quiet. Mrs. V. M. Harrison, from the Dovercourt children's home, was the first lost child to be brought to the tent. Mrs. M. J. Blocker, street, was the second. He had come with his mother and sister, and the child's father, who was at the front, Norman was quite content with Mabel and seemed to be hungry rather than sorry.

YOUNG GIRL FLYER VISITS EXHIBITION

Marion Cassidy, Toronto's young girl flyer and the first Canadian woman to attempt the work of aviation, was an attraction at the Exhibition on opening day. In her trim khaki suit Miss Cassidy made an attractive picture, the short dark curls that border her sunny cap and the large eyes that light up her bright face when she chas giving her a disarming smile. She was accompanied by a law has just been made that until the law is over no civilians are to fly either in Canada or the United States, and no money is to be made by the pilot. I suppose that is the reason said Miss Cassidy, who has just returned from taking a course in training.

The young student astonished her audience when she admitted that she had performed a "no flight" which to the uninitiated, at least, seems a feat of marvelous. She also had the privilege of going up with Constance Soule, the noted French aviator, and had met Catherine Stintson, one of America's noted air women.

Cuba will be the next ground where she will continue to test herself for the work, about which she is so enthusiastic and in which she intends to overcome all obstacles that might prevent her from becoming a professional and become a mail-carrier.

Toronto's young girl aviator is seemingly devoid of all fear and has acquired a splendid stock of information during her late studies. She is fond of the attractive blue-capped girls of Rosary Hall, who were present under the direction of their president, Miss Florence Boland.

TORONTO CARPET CO. SHOWING FINE RUGS

Beautiful rugs have always been a feature of the Toronto Carpet Company's exhibit, and this year is no exception. But a welcome note sounded in the efforts of this company to produce these exclusive effects at reasonable prices in view of present trying conditions. Despite the scarcity and high price of wool and other ingredients, stylish designs and colorings are being produced in quantities constructed to meet the careful housewife's demands for service at moderate price. That full advantage is being taken of such enterprise is quite evident, as the company's bins have been unable to keep up with the demands for their products.

J. A. MUMBY IS SERVING FIRST-CASSING MEALS

There are three locations where real good meals are obtainable all under the supervision of J. A. Mumby. The cafeteria under the grand stand at the western entrance is meeting with favor by those who desire efficient service and an extensive menu. The government restaurant, specializing in properly prepared fish dishes, at the eastern end of the grand stand, is an excellent place to dine. The fish is of the best and the chefs know how to prepare it. Then there is the dining hall opposite the dairy building where J. A. Mumby has for years been serving a full course meal at reasonable prices. At meal time look for the Mumby restaurant.

TAKE THE PLUNGE, OLD LADY.—The United States and Great Britain have taken over the control of all railways and telegraphs with satisfactory results, while Canada still hesitates to follow their lead.—Winnipeg Grain Growers' Guide, Aug. 7.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR SENDS GREETINGS

First Message Received Over Special Wire at Exhibition.

Deep interest and concern was manifested by Lord Shaughnessy, the guest of the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday, at the exhibits in the railway building, where the Canadian Pacific, of which he is the head, has working models in operation. He did not confine his attention to the exhibits of his own road, but spent considerable time viewing those of the competitive lines.

Here he was handed a bulletin containing the latest war news. The first message, on the opening of the wire, was from John P. Hylan, mayor of New York. This was read at the luncheon and was as follows: New York, N.Y., Aug. 26, 1918. Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Ont.

I have been informed that Lord Shaughnessy is to open the National Exhibition today. May I take this opportunity to wish the Exhibition success and to express the hope that it may result in great benefits to Canada. John P. Hylan, mayor.

From the railway building the party proceeded to the grand stand, where the famous French trench band was playing. After a brief stay the party where tea was served under the grand stand. The guest of the occasion was accompanied by the president of the Exhibition, and John G. Kerr, manager. Hon. Theo. McGarry, Senator Claude Macdonell, and others, and was received by Miss Marie Macdonell, president of the Rosary Hall Association, Mrs. W. A. Kavanagh, Mrs. G. P. Magann, and members of the committee. Tea was served by the attractive blue-capped girls of Rosary Hall, who were present under the direction of their president, Miss Florence Boland.

EDUCATION CONTEST FOR CHILDREN

All children should get the leaflet at our booth, No. 91, under the grand stand, explaining the free educational contest, open to all children of Toronto who have not yet attended high school.

You have no papers to sell or money to pay; just learn about your feet and write. This company, the Natural Tread Shoe, Ltd., 310 Yonge street, are giving a pair of shoes, valued at from $8 to $10, as a prize for each ward (seven pairs all told), for the best essay on the subject of "Footwear on leather," and as this is educational as well as profitable every child eligible should call and ask for particulars. Some hold in each ward will earn a pair of the most scientifically constructed shoes in the world, and at the same time every child writing the essay will have learned many useful things about the feet. Children and parents will also have learned that it is now possible to get shoes with the low heel and broad toes for any age of child, in any width, and this knowledge will remove one of the biggest troubles our parents have had to contend with. Call at our booth, No. 91, under the grand stand, and ask for leaflet explaining contest, and a 40-page booklet entitled "An Exposure—Feet and Shoes." This booklet shows feet in all their beauty as well as their ugliness; their comfort as well as their pain; and tells the reason why. Natural Tread Shoes, Limited, are the producers of the best shoes on earth, and are the leaders in footwear reform. Their exhibit is important to the nation, for their shoes conserve strength in the feet and health in the body. Mr. Taplin, the manager, is in charge.

W.C.T.U. DINING HALL

Just as surely as you go to the Exhibition you will call at the W.C.T.U. dining hall, south end of government building, for the good old-fashioned hot meal, served by the members of the organization. Everything is so clean and well cooked that it makes you think of home without any worry over the meal. Go once and you will go again.

EXHIBIT OF FINE FURS

"Carrying on" is what the firm of Furter and Dalton, manufacturing furriers, are doing, for while the senior partner is in khaki, the other one is still making the beautiful wraps in which the feminine heart so delights. At the Exhibition this firm has a luxurious display of furs made from skins purchased direct from the trappers in the far north country. Among the furs shown, the combinations of seal and light colored furs have a large place.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 27.

By Land and Sea.

What is the strength of the nation may be at the same time its greatest menace. The control of the ocean merchant service means eventually the control of wealth and of trade, and if that control be not vested in national trustees and for the national benefit the nation may be reduced to an abject economic slavery. In the early days of the war this was only too clear in Britain. The remedy was applied. It was the virtual ownership by the nation of the mercantile marine.

When we hear that the C.P.R. steamships may merge with the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co. we are not alarmed at the prospect, if the people appreciate what is implied, what may be the possible result, and what is the remedy. It will not do to throw off the shackles of land transportation to find ourselves bound faster than ever by ocean freightage.

The Wall Street Journal and those it represents may minimize as much as they please the results of nationalizing the railways of Canada. "The bitterest foe of public ownership," says The Journal, "would not wish for the Dominion's new railway (the C.N.R.) such fate as has been the lot of the Intercolonial." The suggestion is not its present fate, nor is there any excuse for supposing that the public service of railways may not be as efficient, as economical and a great deal more satisfactory by private parties of the United States roads, which brought them all to virtual bankruptcy. They are all in the melting-pot at present, and no one has suggested any satisfactory remedy for the situation but public ownership. It will gradually be borne in to the citizens of this continent that service as faithful and capable may be obtained for national control as for any private system that has ever been operated. There is enough honesty and intelligence left among the English-speaking races to ensure this.

The only trouble is that we may not go far enough in our consolidation. The private managers, with all their vaunted efficiency, found it necessary to organize co-operative trusts of all kinds in order to maintain even the bankrupt efficiency of which they boasted. Subsidiary companies of all kinds camouflaged such linked operation of land and sea communication. Public ownership may as well accept the lesson at once, and consolidate all the great public services that make the people a nation and give them a national life, before the wasteful methods of divided and multiple management force us to adopt as a remedy what is obviously the natural way to avert trouble.

Lord Shaughnessy at the Exhibition luncheon yesterday said that the C. P. R. fleet was to be added to, and he expressed himself as not opposed to public ownership—"when the people want it." Did he imply that they do not want it, or that it is a bad thing for them to want?

New Spirit Evident.

For the fifth occasion the Canadian National Exhibition has been opened under the pall of the great European war, but at yesterday's ceremonies there was a change in tone easily apparent to those who had been present at the openings of the fair since 1914. Especially was this so as compared with 1915, when there were rumors that some consideration was being given to closing the fair during the period of the war.

At the opening luncheon yesterday there was a plain disposition to be buoyant and cheerful, although it was somewhat suppressed. Recent war news accounted for the change, and it scarcely required President Russell's remarks on the war service rendered by the Exhibition to convince those present of the foresight of the directors in carrying forward their work.

Unrepentant Germany.

Somewhat inept is Sir Robert Borden's remark that the news from the front is too good to be true. Of course he did not mean that, but the change that has come over the people and the armies of Germany is sufficient warrant of the accuracy of the reports we have been receiving. It is not to snatch victory but to avert defeat that Hindenburg is now striving. His armies have "simply disintegrated," the despatches say, and the fact that Austrian troops are now fighting in France proves the straits to which he is reduced.

The fighting is now over the ground on which the Canadians distinguished themselves two years ago when they swept over Courcellette, Contalmaison, Martinpuich and other points now being rushed by the British. Bullecourt, around which so many fierce battles raged, is once again a centre of conflict. Its capture means a breach in the Hindenburg line, and another token of the disaster impending for the German forces.

Meanwhile the military party of Germany has lost none of its brutality. It may howl for mercy, but it knows not what mercy is. The last reports from the American front tell of the crucifixion of Sgt. A. B. Cole of East Liverpool, Ohio, against a barn door, with bayonets thrust thru his hands and his feet. It was his brother who discovered him—dead. In America the Ohio sergeant is just as important as the Kaiser, and consideration of these things will not temper the justice which is due to the German nation.

Germany themselves appear to be unconscious of the effect of their evil deeds on other nations. Brutality seems so natural to them they cannot understand the moral revulsion it causes among civilized people. So the German leaders are preparing for trade after the war as the war and all its horrors will be forgotten forthwith. Great vessels are being built to capture the trade of the world, in other words, to take advantage of the scarcity of shipping which the submarine campaign has caused. The Bismarck, of 50,000 tons, the Tirpitz, of 32,000 tons, the Columbus and Hindenburg, of 35,000 tons, and two score others of a tonnage from 12,000 to 25,000 are being built in various yards. Do the Germans think that these names will commend them to the citizens of the world? Did they never hear of the British seamen's boycott? Have they no thought of the settlement which even Spain has demanded and to some extent exacted by the forcible borrowing of interned German vessels, and which is a thousand times more urgent in Britain, America, France?

When the wicked man turneth from his wickedness there is pardon and mercy, but there is no sign, even the slightest, that the German Kaiser, or his people have the slightest regret or remorse for the dreadful deeds they have committed, or for plunging Europe in this catastrophic war.

After the War.

Great industrial interests in enemy countries, and also in Great Britain, the United States and Japan, are combining their resources and organizing machinery for the trade struggle which will follow the declaration of peace. It was estimated in January, 1917, that the loss of industrial, agricultural and public property in France and Belgium would total $3,735,000,000, and in the eastern theatre of war $3,250,000,000. Since then, revolution in Russia and war developments in the west have added billions of dollars to the bill of losses. The demand upon the new world to reconstruct the old will be tremendous. There will be an unparalleled market for lumber, for agricultural and textile machinery, for electrical machinery and equipment, for machinery in the mining industry, the wood-working and furniture industries, the food industries, the chemical industry, and the paper-making industry. Vast quantities of building supplies, of railroad equipment and road bed material will be required. Altogether the demands will be enormous. These demands will come from nations organized as never before for purchase. Europe will be the closest buyer this continent has ever known.

Ever since the war began, committees representing the British Foreign Office, the British Board of Trade and representative commercial and financial houses have been devising programs for closer co-operation in British export trade. The British Trade Corporation has been created with an authorized capital stock of $50,000,000. In France a similar enterprise, The Association Nationale d'Expansion Economique, has been organized. The United States has the Webb bill authorizing co-operation in export trade.

Hundreds of millions of dollars will reward adequate measures by Canadian industries and financial interests to capture a fair share of this trade. There should be warm support of Senator Nicholls' movement for the creation of a Canadian Trade Corporation. The Canadian Industrial Reconstruction Association is doing good service in directing the attention of the country to the vital problem of export markets and in urging industrial organization and government co-operation for trade development.

Lost International Respect.

Col. Roosevelt has been warning his countrymen in a speech at Springfield, Ill., against the insidious influences of the pacifists, the internationalists and the pro-Germans, the latter the most dangerous of all. We have equal need in Canada for the warning.

Do not trust the pacifists, says the colonel; they are the enemies of righteousness. Do not trust the internationalists; they are the enemies of nationalism and Americanism. The pacifists and the internationalists have worked together in the past, and will do so in the future. The pro-Germans furnish the most powerful and most sinister element of the combination. The colonel adds characteristically that the pacifists and the internationalists prance around in the foreground and furnish the rhetoric. Cries for clemency, appeals for mercy for the brutal murderers in the pay of the Kaiser and his Kultur will have no effect on men that have seen their crucified companion, and the spirit is strong against any compromise with the author of all this iniquity. Only the defeat of Prussian militarism and its dispersion from the German nation will ever enable the German people to regain international respect.

A Line of Cheer Each Day of the Year

By John Kendrick Bangs.
FAIR WEATHER.
When for fair weather I shall pray,
I shall not ask the kind of day
That please the sort of skies
I'll rather seek the sort of skies
That to the ordinary eyes
Are fair for one as for another.
For if the farmer needeth rain
Why should I pray to parch his grain
Because some peasant
Demands that Father Sun shall shine?

From the Papers of the United States

Makes Bad Impression.
New York World: Nothing that German propaganda can do in the United States could produce half the evil results of censored despatches that mislead the public as to the actual achievements at the front and finally create a cynical state of mind in which good news as well as bad news is immediately discounted.

Sweden's Eyes Opened.
New York Herald: Sweden knows that instead of being "bleed white" France is undaunted. It hears of the ever-growing power and might of Britain on land and sea. News is also filtering in of the falling strength of the German people and army, and the ever-growing alarm of the leaders. These are the influences behind Sweden's new pact with the entente powers and nothing Germany can say or do will prevent its being carried out.

Adequate Indemnity Impossible.
New York Sun: The Germans are wasting time and brain power in speculating about what they are to get back when the war ends. The serious question for Germany is going to be what more it will have to give up by way of indemnity. It hears of the most wicked war in the history of the world. Adequate indemnity to Belgium or France or England or Serbia is impossible. It hears of the relinquishment of her colonial possessions in a very small portion of the price Germany is to pay for what she has done. The Boers and the Anzacs will have something to say, we imagine, about giving these German colonies back.

From Canadian Papers

They Gloat Always.
Brockville Record: Lloyd George says: "Don't gloat." Quite right. Leave that to the profiteers.

Make the Criminals Pay.
Quebec Herald: A peace that did not require Germany to make good every dollar of damages of this kind would be as great a triumph for Germany as a verdict of "not guilty" would be to a criminal caught in the act of murder and robbery.

What Ails the Germans?
London Press: "If one would go to Shakespeare for terms one would find that the Germans are lacking in 'honorificabilitudinitatibus.' It's lifted from the Latin. Means that the Germans are 'without honor,' which we knew all the time, didn't we?"

Siberia Vital to Us.
Ottawa Journal: Siberia is vital to us because in war anything that matters to the enemy matters to us, and Siberia matters to Germany.

Ruth Tells Brian She Has Accepted a Position. He Objects.

CHAPTER XX.

Ruth's feet were winged as she returned home. Twenty dollars a week to commence, and the promise of more as soon as she proved her worth! No fears as to being able to satisfy an employer entered her mind. She was no inexperienced girl, going in to study the principles of something of which she knew nothing, but she was going to do the thing she loved—the thing she had studied, for years, just for the love of the study. Her fingers had itched to handle the beautiful stuffs; to be busy with them, and to be almost recompensed enough, she thought, as she looked around her little home with a feeling very near to disgust.

What would Brian say? Would he be reasonable about it, or would he be disagreeable? Long before he came home she had determined to go, no matter how much he objected. But she hoped he would look at the thing sensibly.

Her home had never seemed so mean, she never had felt so discontented as she did that afternoon while she waited for Brian to come home. She tried to have the things he liked for dinner. It put him out, when his meals were not fairly good. She noticed at once that Brian was in unusual good humor. He ran up the stairs whistling.

"I collected that ten dollars today, Ruth. We'll go to the movies after dinner!" pleased as a child that he had ten dollars, and ready to spend it at once, he had declared they must have cheaper quarters.

Ruth waited until they were nearly thru dinner. Then she said: "Let's stay home, Brian. I want to have a good talk with you."
"My, how serious! Well, fire ahead. I guess you can say all you want to and we can go to the movies after."

"No," then "Brian, I have decided to take a position—in fact I have already taken one."
"What? The world are you talking about? A position?"
"Yes," her heart thumped so she was sure he must hear it, but she kept her voice steady. "I have taken a position in an interior decorator's shop."

"But—Ruth—why? I don't understand. Brian, there is no use pretending; I can't live this way any longer. I have housework, dish washing, sweeping, and I have to be up at five o'clock, you even claim we can't afford to live here, even when I do all the work. I have had twenty dollars more, doing work I love. Why should I do what I hate for nothing—and do it badly at that? Wait"—as she started to speak, "I shall hire a good woman to do the work, and I will be far more comfortable than you, now, and, I at least, will be happier."

"But I don't understand yet, Ruth. You take care of you. Why should you care about me? Why should you work outside of your home?"
"Why should you humiliate me by making me, wanting me to do a sewing and dusting, and a wash and a scrub, even to start with, almost as much as you do?" Then, more quietly, "Be sensible, and be fair, Brian. Hasn't it been for some time, given me for work of the same kind I propose to do, you would not have been able to pay your debt?"
"That was very different," Brian got up from the table and paced back and forth, "very different. To do things for your aunt is the same as doing them for me. I won't allow it, Ruth, so you may as well give up the idea."

"No, Brian, I shan't give up the idea. I hoped you would be sensible and see my point of view. But you will, I am sure, later, if not at once. Suppose you had for months, done something that you hated, from which you recoiled in disgust, and then you found a way to earn money at something you enjoyed doing—enough to pay someone else for doing the disagreeable work; wouldn't you do it?"
"That's different! I'm a man. A woman's place is in the home."
"Yes, Brian, under certain circumstances I agree with you. But not as we are situated. With what I can earn, and what you DO earn, you can keep this flat and hire a woman to do the work. When I am able to earn money—which will be soon—we can perhaps have a more attractive place to live."

"Have you thought what my friends would say, could they see me cleaning and scrubbing?" she retorted angrily. "How you must love me, Brian, when at her words, 'but it is time to mince matters. If I am to be happy, you must let me do this, feeling you are not opposed to it, otherwise—'"
"You mean you would do it anyway?" he interrupted, his face flushing angrily. "How you must love me, Brian, when at her words, 'but it is time to mince matters. If I am to be happy, you must let me do this, feeling you are not opposed to it, otherwise—'"

Tomorrow—Brian is Jealous of Arthur Mandel, Ruth's Employer.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.
Into one of the largest and oldest established wholesale dry-goods warehouses in Toronto an elderly lady entered. Going up to the cashier, she said: "I have a pleasant surprise for you," and with these words she handed him an amount due to the firm, dated 1894, and paid it, saying, "I didn't forget you."

The total Toronto city casualties since the commencement of the present heavy fighting is past the 800 mark. Over 100 of these soldiers listed have either been killed or died of wounds.

Lieut. Arthur Wilson Pike, reported killed in action, was on the staff of the Bay street branch of the Moisons Bank prior to enlisting and going overseas with the 225th Queen's Own Battalion. On reaching France he was attached to another Toronto battalion. He had resided in Toronto for eight years and was a native of Middlesex, England. A brother has been also killed in the war, and another severely wounded.

Capt. E. T. Morrow of the Royal Air Force, who enlisted in May of last year, is reported to be seriously ill with gunshot wounds in the leg.

The cable telling of his being a casualty was received by his widowed mother at 607a College street. Capt. Morrow has "seven Boche fiers" downed to his credit, and had a rapid promotion being made a captain within six months of when he commenced to fly. He learned to fly at Deseronto and Camp Borden.

Lieut. F. H. Paul of the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles was seriously wounded in the foot on Aug. 9, and is now in Exeter hospital. He is an old Trinity College student who went overseas with a draft of officers from Camp Borden. He is a nephew of Mrs. H. Faulk, 995 College street.

Lieut. A. B. Pike, of Bethesda, Ont., who went overseas from Toronto with the 198th Canadian Butts Battalion, and was reported missing last June, is now a prisoner of war in Germany. In the years 1914-15 he was a student at the University of Toronto.

Pte. Victor Oliver Hart is officially reported to have died of wounds. He was the son of the late Victor E. Hart, former manager of the Bank of Commerce, and a grandson of the late A. D. Thomas Hart. A sister of Pte. Hart resides at 533 Dovercourt road.

TO SHOW GIRLS PROPER COOKING

Feature in Connection With Exhibition is This Phase of Work.

CONSERVATION IS IDEA

Chef Derouet Will Hold Competition, for Which All May Enter.

Food today occupies such a large place in the mind of even the busy man of affairs that the public will not be surprised to learn that among the visitors who signed the register at the department at the Exhibition where Chef Leony Derouet presides were Lord Shaughnessy, Senator Barreca, the Cuban consul, and Snook Thompson, Spanish consul.

Speaking to representatives of the press, Monsieur Derouet expressed his opinion that Toronto could feed itself for three days from the material it wasted in one. "I went to the abattoirs," he said, "and from what I saw I think that only about ten per cent of the meat is used, ninety per cent is wasted."

While this scientific cook is in Toronto his mission will be to try to eliminate some of this waste by showing the housekeepers how to make new and tempting dishes from the portions of the meat which up to this time they have discarded. The lungs commonly called the lights—the brain, feet and other portions will all receive treatment that will place them in the list on appetizing menus.

To increase the interest a challenge is being sent out by the department by which girls and young women may acquire exceptional knowledge in domestic science and at the same time stand a chance to make a visit to New York as guests of the biggest hotel in the world—Hotel Commodore. A day will be selected on which the chef will make a dish at which the girls in question will be witnesses and close students. Afterwards they will be supplied with ingredients they too will make a dish, copying the lesson they have just received. Monsieur Derouet and other judges will determine the best and second best the verdict entitling the winners to two weeks and one week respectively at the hotel. Plans regarding the competition will be published later thru Roy S. Hubble, who now has the matter in hand.

From now on Chef Leony Derouet will give his interesting demonstrations every morning and at intervals in the afternoon during the days of the fair.

WANT MARINE SOUVENIRS. To Be Used in Connection With the Sailors' Week Campaign.

"In this city there are doubtless many naval and marine souvenirs that we could use to good advantage in the Sailors' Week campaign," remarked Lieut.-Col. C. G. Williams, head of the campaign. "If the good people who have these treasures, or interesting letters from sailors would loan them to us for the campaign, they would be giving us great assistance. He wants those who are willing to thus oblige to communicate with him at once at Navy League Headquarters, 24 West King street. He will see that the articles entrusted to him are safely returned when the campaign is over."

GOLDEN WEDDING. Mr. and Mrs. Thackray, of 233 Broadview avenue, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding at the home of their eldest son, 622 Pape avenue, on Saturday. All the immediate relatives and friends of the couple were present, excepting their youngest son, Edgar, who is with draft of the 71st Battery, C.F.A., in England. Singing and instrumental music enlivened the occasion. Many valuable presents were received, including a purse of gold.

TO MAKE CHANGES IN SCHOOL STUDY

Hon. Dr. Cody Makes Announcement Regarding Next Year's Tests.

Hon. Dr. Cody, minister of education, made the following announcements yesterday in reference to next year's examinations. "The reinstatement of British and Canadian history as one of the subjects in the junior high school entrance examination for 1919 is a matter of importance to the teachers and the schools. The department has made arrangements which, it is believed, will stimulate and direct the study of history in the schools. The value of the subject in promoting patriotism, in providing material for a clear grasp of Canadian civics, and in expounding Canada's imperial relations and her place in the empire, is generally recognized. A circular will shortly be issued which will contain a definite outline of the course both in British and Canadian history with selected periods and topics, a minimum of chronology and a statement of the particular sections in the text books dealing with the topics and sub-topics to be examined upon. The circular also contains a special list of books suitable for school libraries and for the teacher's use in preparation of the lessons. The introduction to the circular will be found a brief and instructive exposition of the method of teaching history. The course, as laid down, should prove to be easily within the compass of any teacher and fascinating to the pupils. As an illustration that the modified course is not too heavy, it may be noted that while the present text books contain 567 pages of reading matter, a total of only 227 pages is assigned for study in Form IV.

TOOK MACHINE GUNS SINGLE-HANDED

Individual Acts of Bravery by Canadians During the Recent Fighting.

GALLANT OFFICERS

One Organized and Personally Led Dashing Assault on Strong Position.

With the Canadian Forces, Aug. 25.—Numerous stories are coming to hand of individual gallantry and initiative in the field during the recent fighting east of Amiens. A Manitoba battalion was held up in an attack on Fouquetcourt, which lies within the old Somme defenses, and was very strongly held by its elaborate trench system of machine guns and wire. Realizing, however, that the capture of the stronghold was essential to success of the entire operations, the commanding officer collected all the men available and personally led a dashing assault into the heart of the enemy position. A tank coming up behind him inspired all ranks that their advance was irresistible, and after the village had been mopped up the battalion consolidated a position to the east and held it against all counter-attacks for two days. A Central Ontario battalion did equally good work in front of Beaucourt on Aug. 8. The cavalry had been held up here by converging machine gun fire from the south of the Rye road and the woods to the north and east. The battalion was similarly held up, but its commanding officer realized that the key to the position was a small wood to the north-east, which was alive with machine guns. Taking advantage of the smoke screen afforded by a burning tank, he led in a hastily collected party and rushed the wood, capturing 18 machine guns. The battalion then took the town with a dash, the enemy retiring routed.

Brilliant Work. Very brilliant work was done by the scouting officer of a British Columbia regiment during the operations of Aug. 8 to 10. On one occasion he single-handedly rushed an enemy machine gun which was holding up the advance. He shot two of the crew and took the other two prisoners, but received a severe wound himself.

These cases of single-handed attacks on machine gun positions are by no means rare. The corporal of a western Ontario battalion on Aug. 10 worked his way up a deuced trench to an enemy machine gun post, which he bombed, killing two and taking four of the crew prisoners. He then turned the gun on the retreating enemy.

Work of Signaller. Through the battle signaller did splendid work by pushing ahead their lines of communication and maintaining constant touch with headquarters, enabling the latter to make the dispositions necessary to success, and so rapid was the advance of the Canadian forces in the early stages that this task was very perilous. A private of an Alberta battalion is a typical case. This signaller was one of a party responsible for the maintenance of the brigade signal communication, and was continually in the front line, working under heavy shell and machine gun fire. His devotion and courage were an inspiration to the rest of the party.

Very valuable work was done by regimental intelligence officers. Such was the case of a Quebec battalion who established his observation post with the forward companies, and hence directed his snipers where they were able to inflict very heavy casualties on the enemy and put several machine guns out of action.

Worked Continuously. Men of the Canadian Royal Engineers worked continuously throughout the whole battle, repairing and broken wires under heavy fire. One of the most notable exploits of the battle was the establishment by the observation officer of a maritime battalion of his post in a house at Queuel. While the enemy still held the village, he was able to direct a devastating fire upon them, contributing materially to their defeat.

Some wonderful deeds are related of a Nova Scotia battalion which was set one of the hardest tasks of the battle. In front of Rosieres, on our left flank, there was a perfect labyrinth of machine gun nests, making the advance of the infantry very difficult. During the night, however, on the part of company commanders and all ranks cleared the way steadily and with a minimum loss until this very strong position was captured.

HURT BY EXPLODING TIRE.

London, Ont., Aug. 26.—Archie Connolly, a traveler, was rendered deaf and suffered a severe gash in the head this morning when a motor car tire he was inflating at a local garage exploded.

A Baby's Skin

What is so beautiful as baby's soft, smooth, velvety skin? And how is it to be kept free from chafing, irritation and distressing eczema? This is every mother's question. Many have found the answer in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Applied after the bath, this soothing, healing ointment overcomes irritation of the skin and prevents the development of eczema and other annoying skin diseases.

TEN AIRCRAFT LOST IN MANNHEIM RAID

Seven British Machines Are Brought Down by Enemy's Defence.

CHEMICAL WORKS HIT

German Armies Deprived of Needed Supplies by Attack.

London, Aug. 26.—The British independent air force operating on the west front lost seven airplanes in the bombing of Mannheim last Thursday. The frank report of the loss has caught the public imagination here. The outstanding feature of the exploit was the heroic determination of the British squadrons. They were heavily attacked as they flew to their objective, they knew that equally stern fighting would await them on their way back, but nothing daunted them. It takes more than the risk of danger to halt British airmen when they have made up their minds to reach an objective, says one newspaper.

It is pointed out that the Germans were in largely superior numbers and had only to think of fighting, whereas the British had both fighting and bombing to attend to. The odds were all on the German side, but the British aviators reached Mannheim and did their job.

Newspaper editorials point out that the bombing was well worth the risk, for Mannheim is the centre of the great chemical industry, and the raid is believed to have done damage which will compel the German armies, for a time at least, to do without supplies of war materials from that quarter.

The British aviators did not suffer without hitting back, the newspapers also point out, for three German fighters, planes were beaten down.

Officially, it is noted the Germans are now making most determined efforts to protect their towns by concentrating large numbers of fighting machines and anti-aircraft guns. Commenting on the raid, a British air officer today said: "We suffered losses, but we won a splendid victory. We set out to bomb Mannheim and no German efforts could frustrate our intention."

15,000 MERCHANT MARINE MEN MAKE THE SUPREME SACRIFICE

Germany and her dastardly submarine campaign never have prevented, and never will prevent, our brave seamen from "carrying on." Transports sail the seas unceasingly; merchant vessels carry the food vital to the success of our cause.

• Many of our seamen have been on torpedoed ships, not once only, but several times. Death lurks in the way of every ship. The submarine and loathsome mine have claimed over 15,000 men of our Merchant Marine. They died for us!

What of their dependents—the widows and orphans? Governments make no provision for them because the Merchant Marine is not a recognized arm of the service, like the Army and Navy. That is why we hold

That is why you are asked to give—and give liberally. The soldier goes into battle knowing his dependents are provided for and will be cared for if anything happens. Our 300,000 merchant seamen face peril just as great, in a service just as vital. A grateful public must look after their families, and keep their dependents from want.

Think of the crime of the Lusitania! Shall the dependents of her lost crew live in poverty? Think of Capt. Fryatt, "Murdered by Wilhelm the Damned" on July 30th, 1916! Think of the 176 merchant ships of which all trace has been lost, since war began!

CANADIAN FRONT VISITED BY KEMP

Overseas Minister Impressed by Vast Quantity of Spoils.

PARK OF ARTILLERY

One Hundred and Fifty Guns Captured by Dominion Troops.

London, Aug. 26.—Sir Edward Kemp, Canadian overseas minister of militia, has returned from France, where he visited the Canadian corps and went over the ground captured by the Canadians in their victory before Amiens. The object of the minister's visit was first to personally congratulate General Currie and his officers on the magnificent success and, secondly, to discuss with General Currie important questions affecting the administration of the corps. From the corps commander down all Canadians in France are most optimistic over the result of the present operation. As one officer remarked: "We have got Fritz guessing—he does not know where he is going to be hit next and his morale is consequently badly shaken."

Sir Edward was greatly interested to hear from the different officers the story of the park which each branch of the Canadian forces played in the great battle. He was impressed with the enthusiasm each had for his own branch of the service, also by the spirit of team play evidenced on all hands, and without which the rapid move on very short notice of the whole Canadian corps, culminating in the hammer blow which overpowered the Boche at Amiens, would not have been possible.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MEETING.

The session will be held in the city hall, and the members of King Baldwin preceptory have completed arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the 200 delegates expected to be in attendance.

Out of 372 A2 men paraded by Brigade-Major A. C. Lewis, for the purpose of ascertaining how many would volunteer for the Siberian expedition, 133 offered, and in addition there are 13 non-commissioned officers ready to serve. The recruiting for the machine gun company is also well on the way. Seventy-seven men reported in camp under the amnesty granted until Aug. 24, there being 31 defaulters, 22 absentees, and 14 deserters.

"STREET" TOPICS

C. P. R. at 1874, yesterday's lowest level in the New York market, showed a decline of nearly 5% points from the high point of Saturday, but the closing price, 1874, was firmer, and in view of the stock's tendency last week to reach new high ground after a material setback, it is by no means certain that the price of 1874 on Saturday represented the apex of the current movement.

Also trading in stocks on the Canadian markets has shown considerable expansion this month, Toronto brokers state that the great bulk of the buying has been on a cash basis.
