"Not so fast," said the reporter. "There's no hurry."

"The boss said he give you orders to sign it," said Hiram.

"Quite so—quite so," said the reporter, "but I want to see the contract first. I don't want to sign anything unless I know what I'm signing."

"Look-a-here," said Hiram, "I guess you must be spendin' your spare time down to City Hall, where them fellers is tryin' to get Mayor Fisher off the track. I want to say right now that if you don't sign it—right there—do it now—I'll knock your block off. The boss told you to do it—ain't it? You gonto stand no foolin'—no, sir. Yes—that's the place—right there on that line. Now you kin hold on as long as you like—by Hen!"

GET BONAR LAW POLICY AS TO REPARATIONS

Paris, Nov. 21.—Sir John Bradbury, British minister to the Reparations Commission, is going to London tonight to learn the definite policy of the new British Government regarding reparations. The indications, as seen here, are that the policy will not be material, but that it will be in line with the Lloyd George ministry, except that it is thought Great Britain probably would agree now to declare Germany voluntarily bankrupt if she failed to carry out the eventual decision of the Allies as to reparation payments.

BRACKEN TELLS WHY RESOURCES PARLEYS FAILED

None of Methods of Adjustment Advanced by Dominion Acceptable to Manitoba and Not Enough Common Ground For Arbitration.

Winnipeg, Nov. 20.—Dealing with the breakdown in the natural resources conference at Ottawa last week, Premier John Bracken issued a statement here today. The statement says: "In the memorandum which we submitted on Nov. 14 we stated and formally accepted the agreement of April 21 last, as outlined by Premier King in the House of Commons and this mutual acceptance was the base of all our subsequent negotiations at the conference."

"The procedure outlined in the agreement of April 21 last provided in the first instance for negotiations by mutual consent, and failing such adjustment it provided in the second instance for arbitration. "We are reluctantly compelled to admit that the first of these stages broke down."

"The province of Manitoba submitted a detailed basis of adjustment which was discussed at considerable length, but was found in the end to be unacceptable to the Dominion government."

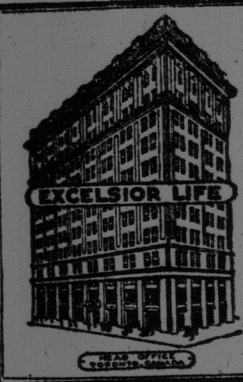

"The Dominion government then advanced several methods of adjustment, (1) To return the unalienated resources and discontinue the subsidy in lieu of lands; (2) To return the unalienated resources, to discontinue the annual subsidy in lieu of lands and to make a cash payment to the province (no sum was mentioned in this connection except the amount of two or three years' subsidy); (3) to return the unalienated resources with an accounting of receipts and expenditures in respect of Dominion lands; (4) to modify such accounting by taking into consideration certain alienations of land made for purposes outside the province. "None of these proposals proved acceptable to the province of Manitoba. "With no prospect, therefore, of complete mutual agreement, by negotiating, the discussion turned to arbitration. In none of the proposals from the Dominion was there enough common ground in the view of the province to warrant arbitration of details with regard to the basis of adjustment proposed by Manitoba. The Dominion government was, likewise, unprepared to arbitrate."

SAYS RACES DECAY WITH PROSPERITY

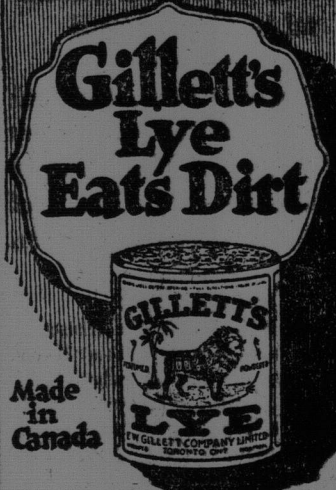

Swedish Professor Declares That Degeneration Follows Wealth and Luxurious Living.

Stockholm, Oct. 21.—(By Mail)—Too much prosperity is a bad thing for a race because it is one of the first steps towards degeneration, is the opinion of Prof. Herman Lundborg, head of the Race Biological Institute at Upsala, Sweden, and well known for his investigations into eugenics and racial biology. Prosperity brings with it the gradual elimination of the good old middle class, the professor declared in a recent address, and this in any country is a sure sign of decay. "There is grave doubt," the speaker continued, "whether a people really gains any profit when millions of money begin to pour into the country. Experience, past as well as present, shows that when wealth is suddenly increased it brings endless new needs. Luxuries are demanded, latitude sets in, and the interest in work and production falls off. Women begin to avoid maternity. All of these processes, beginning in the middle and upper classes, gradually work downward and in time destroy the race. Thus they are as much a menace to a country as a powerful political enemy."

The professor approves of birth control, however, especially among the less desirable elements of a country's population, and he believes that the reproduction of a race should be limited, as far as possible, to those who are "well born." He is stoutly opposed to the mixing of races, and gives this as one of the reasons why populations in larger cities tend to degenerate, except in so far as racially replenished from the country districts. "Europe is decaying, not only as a trial and trade make it possible to feed a larger population, but at the same time brings about a serious change in the structure of society. The old middle class decays and finally disappears. A new middle class is formed, to be sure, but it is of poorer substance. Meanwhile, there is numerical gain in both the upper and the lower classes, especially the latter. In time the working class becomes the largest, and underneath this comes a layer of human trash."

SAYS EDUCATION MUST PAVE WAY FOR CITIZENSHIP

Vincent Massey Scores Low Salaries Paid to School Teachers in Ontario, Says Pupils are Neglected.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Education must not become academic and remote from practical life, according to the statement of Vincent Massey before the Rotary Club, in the course of an address on the purposes of the National Conference of Education and Citizenship, which is scheduled to be held in Toronto during Easter week. If education were not practical, that is, if it did not result in preparing the young for their future citizenship, then Mr. Massey declared he would not be interested in it at all, and he went on to point out that the idea of the educational conference was formed three years ago and that it came into being owing to the conviction of some of the leading educationalists that while the systems in Canada are working effectively in educating boys and girls with knowledge, the element of character building is being sadly neglected. Three years ago much was accomplished at the conference in Winnipeg, so Mr. Massey extended an invitation to all members of the Rotary Club to take part in promoting the success of the next gathering. "Everybody but the highbrow will be welcomed at the coming conference," said Mr. Massey, and he explained that some two thousand delegates from all over the Dominion will be present. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, head of the Boy Scout movement; Sir Henry Newbolt, famous British poet, and Sir Michael Samuel, head of Leeds University, are three of the prominent delegates who will attend. After quoting some of the salaries of teachers in Ontario, Mr. Massey wondered how the people of this province can be serious about the education of their children, "when we leave the training of the future citizens to an unpaid profession whose remuneration is so small that it can only attract, in too large a proportion, immature girls." So education, as the speaker viewed it, is a national problem, and he felt that there is one thing which can do as much in the way of offsetting crime as education. Lend-a-Hand Circle of The King's Daughters held its regular meeting last night in the Guild with the leader, Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, presiding. With considerable enthusiasm the work for the Christmas season was undertaken. It was decided to raise funds for providing Christmas cheer by having a social reunion at which members should contribute to a thanksgiving. The date for the social was fixed for the end of this month. A sum of money was voted to a destitute family. Each year the Circle makes garments for the children in the orphanages and presents these as Christmas gifts. Plans were made for carrying out this work as usual. There are 2,964 counties in the United States.

A Fuel Saving Secret. This is a message to conscientious housewives, and a piece of advice to all. The shortage and high price of cooking fuel has brought to light many things which might never have been known otherwise. Here is one thing, for instance. Did you know that good enameled ware cooking utensils heat more quickly than utensils made of metal, such as copper, brass or aluminum? It's true. Try it! Take a good grade of enameled ware saucepan, and a similar sized saucepan made of copper, aluminum or brass. Put two quarts of cold water into each. Set them on the fire and time them—see how long it takes each to boil. Over a moderate heat, water in the enameled ware saucepan will boil in approximately ten minutes. But the water in the all-metal saucepan, with the same heat will take approximately eighteen minutes—almost double the time—to come to the boil! Think of the wasted heat and the amount of wasted money it must represent! Just figure what this would run into in a year! Use enameled ware utensils for cooking and save heat and money. Don't purchase cheap, flimsy enameled ware. Get the best, either Diamond Ware, which is sky blue and white outside with a snowy-white lining, or Pearl Ware, which is a beautiful pearly grey and white mottle inside and out. Another enameled ware of really super qualities is snow-white outside and inside with deep blue trimmings. It is called Crystal Ware and is now used in many of Canada's finest homes. All three of these wares carry a green and red shield shape SMP trade mark on every utensil. Don't buy enameled ware unless it carries one of these trade marks. You can buy SMP Crystal Ware, Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware at any hardware store. Don't accept substitutes.

JUDGMENT IN THE NEVINS WILL CASE

Finding in Favor of Contestants—Genuineness of the Contested Will Not Established.

In the Probate Court yesterday afternoon Judge H. O. McInerney gave judgment in the matter of the contested will of Charles Nevins. His Honor found for the contestants on the ground that it was necessary for the proponents to prove the genuineness of the documents purporting to be the last will and testament of Charles Nevins and in his opinion, they had failed to do this.

The case has excited much interest locally. According to the evidence given no will could be found immediately following the death of Mr. Nevins, but one, purporting to be his last will and testament, was found in the safe of the drug store of Howard Mowatt at the corner of Haymarket square and Waterloo street. The safe was alleged by the proponents of the will to be the property of Mr. Nevins. Mowatt, one of the witnesses to the document, was a beneficiary under the will as was also Francis Kerr, the solicitor who drew up the will. The other witness was George Cox, a partner of Mowatt's. In the absence of a will practically the whole property would go to Mr. Mowatt.

In reviewing the evidence, Judge McInerney said that the testimony furnished by the proponents of the will, in his opinion was certainly not sufficient to establish its authenticity. He thought it very strange that the wedding ring should have been attached to the will, when it was deposited in the safe and could not believe that this was the act of a man who intended to get married, as to say the least, it was a very peculiar place for a wedding ring—attached to a document which was not to be produced until after the death of the testator.

The question of the safe, in which nothing had been found but the will and the ring, was also peculiar circumstances as was the fact that a locksmith was engaged to open it when Miss Smith knew several people who knew the combination and which she, herself, admitted that she remembered at times. Why should Mr. Nevins have a safety deposit box when he possessed such a safe?

LADY ASTOR SAYS
BREWERS' CRY GOT
NO RESPONSE

Declares Result Shows Plymouth Conservatives "Not in Their Pocket."

Plymouth, Nov. 21—Lady Astor, successful in her fight for re-election to the House of Commons from the Sutton Division of Plymouth, declared in a talk with an Associated Press representative:

"I know the battle was won before it started. You can't throw a moral challenge to Plymouth and not get a reply. The reactionaries forget that this is 1922, not 1912. They have a lot to learn and a few more Dr. Baileys will 'learn 'em'."

"I represent," continued Lady Astor, "what the average man or woman wants—social reforms in a sane manner. Plymouth always has been my Virginia in England, and I could not say more of any place. The anti-American cry which is being used by the brewers all over England got no response here. I don't believe you can fight for what is highest and best without getting a response, especially if people feel that you mean it in your heart."

"Mine is a victory for Plymouth not for myself. I am deeply grateful for the courageous stand the Liberals have taken, and the steadfastness of the overwhelming mass of Conservatives will show England that they are not in the brewers' pockets."

"I appreciate the workman's and workingwoman's confidence in me. It is high honor to represent Plymouth and above all to fight for the children whose voices have cheered me on for twelve years."

You Can Buy the Very Phonograph That Amazed St. John!

THE New Edison which sustained the test of direct comparison with Helen Davis' living voice at the Imperial Theatre on Monday last week was not a special exhibition model. Reports to this effect are not true to facts. The instrument was an Official Laboratory Model taken from our own stock.

A similar test applied to each Official Laboratory Model in our stock would prove the uniform perfection of these remarkable phonographs.

Perhaps you were one of those in the audience who thought how enjoyable it would be to have a phonograph just like that for your very own. You can have an Official Laboratory Model to perform in your own home the miracle demonstrated on Monday last week.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph With A Soul"

May we show you, at the store, the unbelievable realism of the Official Laboratory Model? Let us tell you about the Budget Plan, which will bring this model to your home for a small cash payment, the balance arranged to suit your convenience.

NOTE.—The test at the Imperial Theatre on Monday last week, made by the world-famous mezzo-soprano, Helen Davis, proved that the New Edison alone can Re-Creat the living voice. Miss Davis sang in direct comparison with the Re-Creation of her voice—there was no difference. No other phonograph has ever sustained this test.

NEGATIVE GRID POTENTIAL IN AMPLIFICATION.

In order to secure proper amplification of the tones of music or speech, received by radio, it is essential for the magnification of the radio wave to be performed at the most desirable point on the characteristic curve of the vacuum tube.

For the purpose of audio-frequency amplification it is desirable to operate upon the straight line portion of the characteristic curve to that a small change in grid voltage in either direction causes the plate current to increase or decrease an equal amount.

In Figure 1 of the accompanying diagram is shown a portion of the "Grid voltage-Plate current" curve and of the "Grid voltage-Grid current" curve—values of grid voltage being measured along the horizontal axis and corresponding values of plate current and grid current measured along the vertical axis.

It is apparent from an examination of the characteristic curves that when the grid is positive, with respect to the filament, a current flows in the grid circuit due to the attraction of the grid for the electrons, or negative charges of electricity given off by the heated filament. This current, as shown by the "Grid voltage-Grid current" curve, increases with increase in the positive voltage of the grid.

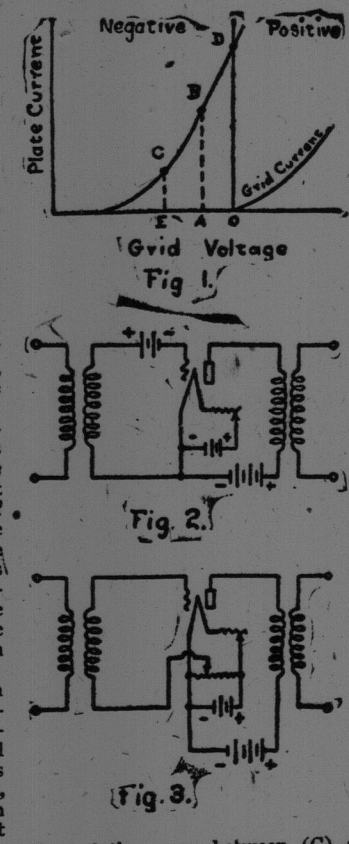

When voltage variations are impressed upon the grid so that it becomes alternately positive and negative there will be an intermittent flow of current in the grid circuit, these pulsations of current occurring during the minute intervals when the grid is positive. Due to the fact that the grid current reaction upon the positive input voltage variation, the grid receives unequal positive and negative voltage variations and the resultant input voltage is distorted in character.

The remedy for this non-uniform condition is to apply a constant negative voltage to the grid so as to maintain the grid at a negative potential with respect to the filament. This negative voltage, as shown by (OA), should be adjusted to a value which will provide an operating point (B) at the centre point of the straight line portion of the curve between (C) and (D). With the grid potential adjusted to the value (OA) the incoming variations will produce equal changes of grid voltage on both sides of point (A) and amplification will be accomplished without distortion.

Figure 2 shows a method of connecting a small battery, usually of dry cells, having a potential of three or four volts and known as the grid bias or "C" battery, with the negative terminal connected to the grid.

Figure 3 shows the connection across the filament battery terminals of a potentiometer having a resistance of approximately 200 ohms, the adjustable contact being connected to the grid.

Either of these methods will provide a means of maintaining the grid at a suitable negative potential with respect to the filament so that the resultant amplification is not distorted. (All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited.)

NIGHTLIGHT HOLD-UP YIELDS SIX ROBBERS $20,000 IN JEWELRY

Louis Kramer, a jeweler, of 514 Washington street, Hoboken, New York, and Otto Solberg, his assistant, were in Kramer's store last Thursday morning when two men entered and asked to see the counter. Kramer reached under the counter for a box of the goods asked for, and when he straightened up again found himself looking into the barrel of a revolver. The second man, looking like a customer, appealed for help. They laughed at him, and after removing their coats, they opened his windows and proceeded methodically to clean them out of the display of safe jewelry.

The first two shoved Kramer and Solberg into a back room, where they gagged and bound them and left them trussed up on the floor. Then they returned to help the other members of the gang ransack the store.

After half an hour of struggling, Kramer freed himself and helped Solberg out of his bonds. The door to the rear room had been locked. Kramer and Solberg broke it open and telephoned to the police. So far, no arrests have been made.

The street was crowded when the robbery occurred, and dozens of passers-by glanced casually at the men who were taking the window display out without thinking anything amiss. On a corner a few feet away a policeman

In connection with the recent commemorative issue in Italy of three postage stamps to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the death of the patriot, Mazzini, Fred J. Melville gives some interesting information in The London Telegraph of the influence exerted by Mazzini upon the postal history of Great Britain.

During this agitation Mr. Melville cites the fact that Punch issued a satirical "Anti-Graham envelope, extra strongly gummed," and "Paul Pry wafers," which are now very rare. The three Mazzini stamps are designed by Vittorio Grassi, the artist of the Italian jubilee issue of 1911. They will only be available for postal purposes until Nov. 1 and are only on sale, it is stated, at a few of the post offices in the leading Italian cities.

LADY DUFF-GORDON GOES TO WALL

Whole Assets Required to Meet Claim for Taxes—Business in States First Collapsed.

London, Nov. 8.—(By mail.)—Interesting statements were made at Bankruptcy Buildings when creditors met under the name of Lady Lucy Christina Duff-Gordon, dress designer, of Hanover Square, W., and Ville d'Avray, near Paris. Lady Duff-Gordon filed her petition on October 11.

The official receiver reported that a statement of the debtor's affairs showed liabilities and assets consisting of furniture, a gold watch, a motor car, and other property, together valued at $8,000. The whole of the assets were required to meet a claim for income tax and super-tax.

The debtor had stated that she began business as a dressmaker and designer in 1893, when she adopted the trading name of "Lady Duff-Gordon."

GAINED 65 POUNDS!

"Five years ago when I was first married, I had wonderful energy. I could be on the go all day long without feeling the least bit fatigued. I had a great appetite and could eat anything. I weighed 147 pounds. I used to be busy every minute of the day and when the day was over, I could go to bed and never wake up during the night. Thirteen months ago my first baby was born. After that my energy seemed to leave me. I was tired all the time. I had to force myself to do my household duties. Instead of being a pleasure as formerly, these duties became a real task. I lost all desire for food and nothing would tempt me. I had to make myself eat. I would go to bed at eight and toss from side to side for hours at a time. After a while I would doze off only to find that I was being sleeping for ten or fifteen minutes. Naturally when morning came, not having slept, I started the day completely tired out. I was shaky and nervous. The least noise would startle me and make my heart race. I could see that my husband was worried. I was losing weight every week and had already lost 84 pounds. I tried all kinds of tonics, but they didn't help me. One night, a night I shall never forget, because it started me on the way to health and happiness again, my husband brought in a bottle of Carnal. A friend told him that Carnal had saved his wife's life, so he insisted upon my trying it. Six weeks after I began taking Carnal, my weight increased from 95 pounds to 168, an increase of 65 pounds. And, am I well these days? Every morning I fairly jump out of bed ready to tackle anything and every minute of the day is a joy to me now."

Carnal is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

The company was a family concern, and she remained in charge of the business. The business flourished, the turnover amounting in 1920 to $800,000.

CANADA WANTS WOMEN WHO WORK

Mrs. Rogers, M. L. A., of Manitoba, speaks on the question of emigration in London. London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail.)—At the Lyceum Club, Mrs. Rogers, the only woman M. P. of the Manitoba Parliament, was the guest of the United Empire Circle of the club. Speaking on the question of emigration, she pointed out that only women who were prepared to work hard should go to Canada. There was plenty of room for domestic servants, both in the city and on the farms, but girls should not have the idea that they would be received as members of the family or on an equality with their employers.

QUEST FROM SCHOOLS

Kentucky Baptists Open a Fight Against the Theory of Evolution.

Middlesboro, Ky., Nov. 21.—The Kentucky State Association of Baptists, at its annual meeting here, went on record against the teaching of the Darwin theory as to the origin of man. The association represents nearly 300,000 men and women of the state. Its action marks the beginning of a campaign against instruction in evolution in the Kentucky public schools.

Resolutions passed at the Baptist convention were offered by Dr. J. W. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Louisville, largest in the state. The Rev. Dr. Porter led the fight against teaching of evolution waged in the Kentucky legislature last February and March. Dr. Porter also attacked the campaign in this state led by William Jennings Bryan who made several speeches in favor of continuing the teaching of evolution. Porter and Bryan are almost doubles in appearance.

Women of Middle Age. THE critical stage of a woman's life usually comes between the years of 45 and 55, and is often beset with annoying symptoms such as nervousness, irritability, melancholia, heat flashes which produce headache and dizziness, and a sense of suffocation. Guard your health carefully, for if this period be passed over safely, many years of perfect health may be enjoyed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It exercises a restorative influence, tones and strengthens the system, and assists nature in the long weeks and months covering this period. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics. Its value is proven by many such letters as these: Viscount, Saskatchewan—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female weakness. I had pains in the back and bearing-down pains in the abdomen and was in a general run-down condition. I could not sleep, rest, or work, and was quite unfit to do even slight household tasks. A friend told me about your Vegetable Compound and I in my turn truly recommend it, as my severe symptoms vanished and I am better in every way. I do my own work, look after my children and see to chickens, a cow, and my garden. I also recommend it for young girls who are weak and run-down, as my 16-year-old daughter has taken it and is quite her own girl again."

CAN MAIL LIQUOR - THROUGH OTTAWA

But it Must be a Non-Stop Trip from Montreal to Hull, Says Postmaster.

(Ottawa Journal.) Major A. Payette, postmaster of Hull, delivered a timely and instructive address before the Rotary Club of Hull at yesterday's luncheon of the club during which he offered the suggestion that every person should do his Christmas mailing early to relieve the terrific congestion which prevails in the postal department at the Christmas season.

"The Post Office Department is the most important branch of the Government today and it is the goat for much criticism," he declared. The staff at the Hull Post Office, he pointed out, started work at 6 a. m. each day and sometimes did not finish until 8 or 9 until 4 a. m. in order to have all possible mail delivered on Christmas Day. Major Payette explained the new C. O. D. postal service and also described the insurance plan for parcel post, pointing out that parcels had to be packed according to official regulations.

Mailing Liquor. "The ordinary person cannot mail liquor in the Province of Quebec, but it can be mailed by the Quebec Liquor Commission when it is officially stamped by the commission," was another interesting point which he brought out. "Liquor can be shipped through Ottawa, providing it is going from Montreal to Hull or from Montreal or Hull to Ville Marie and Amos, where the postal channel runs through the Ottawa post office." Major Payette explained that this matter had been taken up with the Ottawa office and that he had been requested to have such liquor enclosed in separate bags so that it would not be handled in the Ottawa post office. Special delivery letters were delivered from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. in cities where there is a local delivery, except on Sundays. No cartridges could be mailed and letters could not be enclosed in parcels. He advised all persons to place their names on all letters and parcels. It did not cost anything to do so and it insured the return of a letter in case of difficulties.

"The letter rate will never go back to two cents," declared Major Payette. A prominent visitor at yesterday's luncheon was H. Dypuis, former Major of Hull. Jack E. Evans was introduced

NARROW ESCAPE OF LAUNCH CREW

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 21.—Wrecked on a rock at McLellan's point on Lake Ontario, four miles from Colborne, the crew of the "Sonora" a motor cruiser owned by Jearle McQueen of this city, had to swim for their lives, hours before dawn, and had a narrow escape from death by drowning by reason of the rough sea and dense fog. Capt. A. Wilson, George Keegan of Belleville, and James McGinnis were the members of the crew. This is Keegan's second wreck in 18 months. He is one of the two survivors of the Oliver Jovast, which was rammed and sunk in Lake Ontario early in the spring of 1921.

The Sonora was returning empty from a United States port in a heavy fog. The crew had lost their bearings, and no danger was anticipated until the boat struck against a huge boulder, the craft being wedged between this rock and others about it. Wilson, Keegan and McGinnis jumped overboard and, although they could not see the shore, they took the chance, as the waves were dashing over the cabin of the cruiser. At great risk from being dashed against rocks they found footing on shore. One of the men, in jumping overboard, had picked up a waterproof tin box containing matches, and with these the shipwrecked trio started a fire of wood and leaves and weeds they found on the shore. When dawn broke the three saw a farm house, where they were warmed and fed.

The Sonora is well known here, having carried light cargoes out of this port. Last word from the scene was that she would be a total wreck, being dashed to pieces on the rocks.

New Beauty Came A story that millions know

Millions of people have gained new beauty through a new teeth cleaning method. You see them everywhere. Their teeth now glisten, and they show them when they smile. If you don't know that method, make this test.

Combats the film

It is film that makes teeth dingy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. Film also holds food substance, which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Under old methods, very few escaped them. Beautiful teeth were less often seen than today.

Old ways failed

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats film. So much film remained to night and day threaten serious damage.

But dental science has now found two ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise their use. A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Fights acid, too

Pepsodent brings other much-desired effects. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth before they ferment and form acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Each use of Pepsodent gives them manifold power. These combined effects mean a new era in dental hygiene. Careful people of some fifty nations now share it, largely by dental advice.

You'll be amazed

The effects of Pepsodent are quick and apparent. They will amaze and delight you. A short test will convince you that this method is essential, both to you and yours.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Then judge by what you see and feel. Cut out the coupon now.

FIGHTS LOSING BATTLE WITH DESPERATE BANDIT

Windsor Woman Choked and Robbed by Unknown Negro.

Windsor, Nov. 21.—Batting desperately with a thick-set negro, whom she surprised at work on the silver cabinet in the dining room of her home at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. Annie Griesinger, wife of Captain William Griesinger of Indian Head, Sandwich, was choked and beaten by the negro, and forced to hand over the wedding ring and a $1,000 diamond ring which she wore.

Her assailant fled, but tossed the wedding ring aside at the front door, where it was recovered by the police.

Mrs. Griesinger was upstairs in her bedroom, dressing, when she heard a noise downstairs, and, going to investigate, discovered the negro in front of the silver cabinet.

Bridgeburg, Nov. 21.—Provincial Officer Frank Creedy of Bridgeburg today received an interesting but apologetic postal. It was from Earl Lonsberry,

The postal card was written from Buffalo, and bade adieu to Officer Creedy. The escaped prisoner wrote that he regretted parting in such a hurry, but said that the circumstances must condone his offence. He is still at large.

Buy Eggs by Grade

CANADIAN standard grades for eggs intended for the export market have been in force for four years. The system has proved to be a great success in establishing confidence in the quality of Canadian eggs abroad. It will have a similar effect in establishing confidence in Canadian eggs at home.

The Government advocates standard grades for domestic consumption. Ask your grocer for graded eggs. To determine the quality of eggs, the dealer "candles" them, and puts them in the grade to which they belong. The Government has laid down specific definitions by which Canadian eggs are graded. In grading eggs, the following are the principal factors taken into consideration: Weight, size of air cell, firmness of white, and density of yolk.

Four Grades of Eggs

- 1. Specials Eggs grading as "Specials" are attractive in appearance when cooked alone or in combination with other foods, and give a delicious flavor to the prepared dish. These eggs are not found on the market at all seasons.
2. Extras Eggs grading as "Extras" are very satisfactory, giving good results when cooked alone, or in combination with other foods. These eggs can always be obtained and should prove very popular as the housewife can be sure of the results from this grade.
3. Firsts Good eggs, which may be scrambled, fried or used for any other cooking purpose, but not of the uniform quality of "specials" and "extras."
4. Seconds This grade consists of eggs which may be used for baking and dishes in which eggs are used in combination. This grade includes stale eggs and eggs with watery whites and heavy yolks.

A similar resolution has been adopted by the St. John, Fredericton and Moncton boards and action has been taken by all three to bring the matter strongly to the attention of the Federal Government. The resolution passed by the Bathurst board is as follows:—

"Be it therefore resolved that the Bathurst Board of Trade, having in view the fact that one of the principal winterports of Canada is situated in New Brunswick, that a large portion of the railways is in New Brunswick, and that the general offices of the eastern lines as well as the shops are located in Moncton and that a very considerable portion of the traffic of the road has its origin in this province, hereby urges on the Government of Canada its just claim to representation on the Canadian National Railways Board.

"Further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the Premier of Canada, the Minister of Railways and Canals and the Secretary of State."

The Halifax general death rate had been reduced from twenty to fourteen a thousand, he said. It was twelve a thousand in the rest of the province. The meeting was in connection with the opening of a Red Cross membership drive in Halifax.

N. Y. Health Commissioner Warns of Typhus, Cholera and Bubonic Epidemic Spread from Russia and Poland.

New York, Nov. 20.—The United States is in danger of an invasion of typhus, cholera and bubonic plague from Russia and Poland, it was declared by Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland, United States Sanitary Inspector, at a meeting of the Board of Health in New York City today.

Copeland's statement was made in the course of an announcement that steps to combat the European disease would be discussed at a meeting to be held on the night of December 2 in the Town Hall, at 121 West Forty-third street. Two such steps, he said, are the strictest sort of medical examination of all immigrants at the various points of entry and measures for sanitary relief in northeastern Europe.

Copeland made Health Survey.

"Last summer," said Dr. Copeland, "I made a survey which took me to the Russian border in Poland. This gave me first-hand information of conditions there.

"Seven hostile armies passed through Poland, and there were twenty-five days during the war. After that the Poles had a three-year war with the Russian Bolsheviks. When the Russians were finally driven out of eastern Poland they destroyed every village, took away the stocks and herds and carried 3,500,000 Poles into captivity. Under the Treaty of Riga, these refugees must be returned to Poland, and there were selected, seven border points through which they are being brought back. The chief of these is Bystrzyca, which was the main objective of my trip.

"The town, I found, was practically like a prison camp, having little more than a few wooden shacks surrounded by barbed wire. One trainload of refugees was being sent to the States, but only 600 arrived in Poland alive.

"There are no hospitals at three of the seven border points, and there is grave danger of the plague diseases passing through Germany, Holland, France and England to the United States.

"While I am as interested as any one in alleviating the sufferings of the people of Poland, my chief interest, as the Health Commissioner of this city, is the fear of the plague diseases which in New York should they become epidemic here.

Would Raise Fund Here.

"I believe that at least 500,000 should be raised here to provide the necessary hospitals at the Polish border points. Every one of these refugees is a candidate for American citizenship, and just as many of them as can get the money and pass the requirements will come to New York. It is because of the effect of disease on our population that I feel it imperative our citizens should know the facts and be permitted to contribute something to the small sum needed to guard our port by wiping out disease at its source."

Important Phases of Meeting Today in Moncton

Four Sections in New Brunswick Talked of, With C. F. Inches President—A Maritime Association, with Allen Cup Possibilities, is Suggested.

(Special to Times)

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 21.—Representatives of various amateur hockey clubs in the maritime provinces were assembled here today for the annual meeting of the New Brunswick and P. E. I. hockey league this afternoon. Dr. Allen Sterling, of Fredericton, the president arrived Monday and with other delegates who arrived this morning there will be a large and representative body present from New Brunswick and island towns.

An important and interesting session is looked for. A new feature in the organization of the league will likely be the formation of a separate section on the island with at least three teams. Should this materialize Sackville, Dorchester, Shediac and Moncton teams will make up the section of the league with St. John, Fredericton, Sussex and St. Stephen making up the third section and the towns in the northern part of the province that were in last year forming the fourth and northern section.

It would be a four cornered league with playoffs between the section winners to decide the championship.

An interesting rumor in connection with the meeting today is that Cyrus F. Inches, barrister of St. John will be nominated as president. It is understood Mr. Inches has been requested to act. He is regarded by followers of hockey as one who knows the game well, and would make a strong candidate to head the destinies of the league during the coming season.

Murray Jarvis, well known in hockey circles in the province, is here to represent St. John. Also A. W. Covey, president of the M. F. B. A. U. is here, and C. G. F. Nicholson, first year law student at Kings college, St. John is representing St. Stephen. This is the border town's first appearance in a hockey league for some years. It is understood that a get-together of the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia amateur teams will be urged at the meeting so that a maritime province association may be formed which would affiliate with the Canadian Hockey Association, thus entitling the maritimes to compete for the Allen cup.

HOME

One of the most sacred of words; a haven of rest and refreshment; a shelter in time of storm; a character mold where future citizenship is shaped and formed.

What can be more important and far-reaching than the influence of the home?

What can be sweeter than the memory of a home worthy of the name? Poor furniture has no place in a good home. Good furniture doesn't necessarily mean the most expensive; it's mostly a matter of taste and judgment.

It should be not only attractive, but solidly made, substantial, harmonious and a true reflection of the character and ideals of the buyer.

In this store, furniture is not merely furniture; it has a deeper meaning. Every piece must play its part in a harmonious whole; must render a genuine service of utility and satisfaction.

Such furniture is always by far the most economical in the truest sense. Let us think and plan with you in the furnishing of your ideal home. It will be a real pleasure.

DRY NAVY BOAT EXPLODES GIANT HIGHBALL AT SEA

Captain Tawes, of the Hahn, with Aid of Depth Charge Mixes 9,600 Quarts of Scotch with Salt Water.

(New York Tribune.) Captain Tawes of the good ship Hahn, of the Prohibition Navy, mixed a mighty high ball Thursday, of the capacity of about a cubic acre, twelve miles off the Long Island shore. It became known yesterday that the Scotch whisky was mixed with 9,600 quarts of Scotch with the surrounding sea water.

Similar tactics had been employed two days before by prohibition enforcement agents operating in Puget Sound, but Captain Tawes hit upon the expedient without knowledge of this incident, while pondering on the problem presented by 9,600 bottles of Scotch which had been seized at the bottom of the Atlantic about the spot.

The whisky went to the bottom early last week. There were 800 cases of it. A launch had run alongside a whisky runner and was starting shoreward with the whisky when it was overtaken by heavy seas and sank. The two men who comprised the crew were rescued by a boat from the whisky runner, but the cargo went to the bottom.

Suspects Salvage Plot. Captain Tawes heard of the incident and suspected that salvage operations might be undertaken promptly in the development of the bootlegging industry, such wrecking crews have found a secure place. They are made up of skillful and daring men and demand and receive top-notch wages for their work.

The Hahn cruised for several days in the vicinity of the spot where the launch went down. A tug was observed following the same tactics and once the lookout on the Hahn caught its crew taking soundings.

By that time Mott had discovered that his witnesses could be seen from without. So the plaintiff stand was changed and later the curtains were drawn.

Another Incident. While the grand jury was in session newspapers printed a letter from Mrs. George Sipek, wife of a farmer of Middlebury, which brought a new character into the already overcrowded case. The letter stated that she had been the victim of a murder, and that she had been killed by her husband, George Sipek, on the night of the shooting.

NEW WITNESS IN THE NEW JERSEY MURDER CASE

Grand Jury Hears Twelve Witnesses in the First Day—Incidents of Interest.

(Canadian Press.) Somerville, N. J., Nov. 21.—The case which Special Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott has woven out of the mystery surrounding the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, had its first official hearing yesterday, when twelve persons told of their stories to the Somerset county grand jury.

Mr. Mott expected today to offer the evidence in more or less witnesses. Three women are sitting on the grand jury.

The proceedings were more than usually guarded. A squad of state troopers patrolled the court house and surrounding grounds. They established a "dead line" around the jury room, and beyond it no one was permitted to pass.

Women, scores of them, came early. They hung over the dark railed balcony which is built inside the court house on the second floor, in the vain hope that Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain minister, or Mrs. Jane Gibson, who raises pigs and has become the most important witness in the case, would appear.

At the opening session, Mr. Mott, aided by A. M. Beckman, prosecutor of Somerset County, outlined to the grand jury the salient features of the case.

A. J. Cardinal, a New Brunswick newspaperman, was called to tell how the bodies of the murdered pair lay when he first saw them stretched out under a crab-apple tree on the lonely Phillips farm. His story was to the effect that he picked up letters and until the police arrived. Dr. E. L. Lobelin, a veterinarian, succeeded him on the stand.

By that time Mott had discovered that his witnesses could be seen from without. So the plaintiff stand was changed and later the curtains were drawn.

Consider by contrast the American situation, or rather the one government of the earth around the sun. It is expected to last for several months.

IT MEANS LITTLE TO AVERAGE CONSUMER

Have you analyzed the new schedule of rates announced by the New Brunswick Power Company for next January? It will pay the average consumer of light to do so.

Another example: A consumer using forty-nine k. w. h. at present is confronted with a bill for $7.25, less 10 per cent discount, or $6.62 net. Under the new rate this amount of current will cost as follows: Twenty-five k. w. h. at nine cents, or $2.25; and twenty-four k. w. h. at eight cents, or $1.92—total, $4.17. No discount.

Under hydro, with 1,500 square feet of floor space at three cents a hundred, the charge will be forty-five cents, plus forty-five k. w. h. at four cents, or $1.80, plus four k. w. h. at two cents, or a total of $2.22, less ten per cent discount—a net bill of $2.10. This is less than half the new rate promised by the Power Company.

And so on. And it must be remembered that with hydro the consumer will double, at the least. In many cases in Ontario it has risen in a very short time from sixteen k. w. h. to sixty k. w. h. a month. Think what that means all round.

JEWELRY OPENING SALE DELAYED BY RUSH OF ARRIVALS

The sale slated to celebrate the grand opening of the new stock of L. L. Sharpe & Son with a complete replenishment of the jewelry stock just cleared out by auction has been postponed till Thursday. The unexpected arrival of stocks that would lend extra class to the initial display has taxed the efforts of the staff of nine engaged in unpacking and it is not expected all will be completed until late tomorrow night. Some very sensational values will be offered by this old established firm to advertise their new exhibits of gift jewelry.

Yesterday was nomination day for candidates to fill the five vacant federal seats. There will be contests in only two constituencies, Lanark, Ontario, and Halifax. John G. Robichaud sits for Gloucester, N. B., by acclamation. Eusebe Roberge is the new member for Megantic, Quebec; and Theodule Rheaume will represent Jacques Cartier. These men are Liberals and their constituencies were represented by Liberals in the last Parliament. In the Legislature since 1909, it has been a straight fight between Dr. R. F. Preston, Conservative, and David Findlay, Liberal. Halifax will see a three-cornered fight. Hon. R. E. Finn, member of the Provincial Government without portfolio, who has been in the Legislature since 1909, is the official nominee of the Liberal party. J. J. Power, K. C., will run as Conservative, and James O'Connell is the candidate of the Labor party.

SAYS VACCINATION CAME FROM TURKEY

Wife of British Ambassador Introduced Inoculation in England.

London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail)—In the old Dorset churchyard of Worth Matravers there is an inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Benja. Jesty, who died in 1816, and was noted for being the first person that introduced the cowpox by inoculation, and made the experiment on his wife and sons in 1774." Jesty was not the first to give attention to the matter. The famous Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, whose husband was British Ambassador at Constantinople in 1716, introduced from Turkey (where it was already a common practice) the method of inoculation with smallpox.

Suggesting the Idea. There is in Egham Cathedral a monument to Lady Mary recording this act. But in spite of the claims of Lady Mary, Jesty, and other early inoculators, the credit for introducing the wonderful discovery of vaccination to the world and for performing thereby an inestimable service to humanity is due to Edward Jenner (1749-1823).

The history of Jenner's investigations is extremely interesting. He was born at Berkeley, in Gloucestershire, in 1749, of which parish his father was minister. He served an apprenticeship to a surgeon named Daniel Ludlow. One day a young country woman came for medical advice, and smallpox being mentioned, remarked: "I cannot take that disease, for I have had cowpox." This made a deep impression on Jenner and started in his mind the meditations which ultimately led to his epoch-making discovery. In the year 1770 Jenner went to London to become the pupil of John Hunter, the celebrated surgeon and anatomist, with whom he had a life-long friendship, and who encouraged him to pursue his investigations.

His First Experiment. On May 14, 1786, he made his first important experiment in connection with smallpox. He vaccinated a boy of eight named James Phillips, with lymph taken from the hand of a woman suffering from cowpox. Phillips developed cowpox. On July 1, Jenner inoculated the boy from a smallpox patient. The plucky doctor had much to do to encounter before his new method of discovery became accepted by the large majority of medical men and the general public.

From January, 1790, onwards vaccination became fairly common, though its adoption was at first slow. Jenner's discovery was recognized by the Emperor of Russia, and in the year 1800 successfully vaccinated about 200 persons at the latter's seat in Susest. On March 7, 1800, Lord Berkeley presented Jenner to King George III, who accepted the dedication of the second edition of his "Inquiry into the Cause and Effects of the Variolae Vaccinae."

Napoleon's Thanks. Jenner's fame soon spread to the continent. In 1801 vaccination was sent to Moscow. The Dowager Empress of Russia took great interest in the experiments, and at her request the first child in Russia to be vaccinated was called Vaccinot, and a provision was made for the child for life. In 1802 Jenner was invited to give a diamond ring as a token of the importance attached to his discovery. Napoleon's thanks to Jenner were given in the form of a letter, which was released some of the Englishmen who had been detained in France on the termination of the Peace of Amiens.

Jenner petitioned parliament for financial assistance to carry on his researches, and he received a grant of $50,000 and subsequently $40,000. Vaccination was first made compulsory in England in 1853.

Found in The Ruins. "The Eye" is supposed to have once formed the eye of Cyclops, a golden image found among the ruins since then it was taken to Ceylon and there formed one of the eyes of the great statue of Buddha. Being stolen from Ceylon, it was hidden in a well by a Sepoy. By various means and each transfer accompanied by the bill was used by Congress today to relieve the government of present financial embarrassments. There is a rumor that it had been sold to the late Czar Nicholas and gifted by him to a general favorite. It was also said that it was re-cut and shaped by the skilled lapidary and placed in one of the small corners of the dome of the great dome of the House and Senate he declared an actual monetary saving to the government would result from the proposed bill.

He challenged every insinuation of favored interests and the enriching of the special few at the expense of the public treasury. The legislation, he asserted, automatically purged against enrichment or perpetual bestowal.

GREAT DIAMOND MAY BE THE GEM OF LATE CZAR

Jewel Offered for Sale in London Apparently is a Rare Orphan—Is Similar to the Famous Hope Diamond.

London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail)—(What romantic history lies behind the great glittering yellow diamond, weighing forty-four carats, and worth a king's ransom, which is being offered for sale by auction by Messrs. Wallrock, at their Bleanthe Galleries, New Bond Street, London?)

The owner, Gordon Nathan, of Hatton Garden, has had it for two years. He bought it through a broker, but received no information as to its history. It is cut similarly to the famous Hope diamond of civil fame, while his curiously rich golden hue is reminiscent of the Russian Imperial gem. Mr. Nathan thinks it may have belonged to the Russian Imperial gem. The close examination of this wonderful diamond as it shines in its plush bed in the thick morocco case affords some clues that may perhaps lead to an identification; for gems of this size are very limited, and are pretty well known to students of precious stones and their fascinating histories.

Some of Famed Gems. Among world-famous gems it is easy to account for "The Koh-i-Noor," the replica of which is in the Tower of London, and the regalia and the original in the strong room at Windsor; the "Orlov" is supposed to be still in the possession of the Soviet, but an unconfirmed report states that it is in America—probably a replica; the "Cullinan" in the British Crown; the Hohenzollern "death-stone" as still in the safe of a certain country; the "Tavernier Blue" in Madrid; the "Lake of Fire," sold to the King of Siam; the "Casade of 1799, onwards vaccination became fairly common, though its adoption was at first slow. DEAD MAN SAT IN FRONT SEAT

Carried Upright in an Automobile Past Policeman

Accidentally Killed Himself With Revolver—Companions Feared They Would be Charged With Murder and Hid Body.

New York, Nov. 21.—Three persons suspected of being implicated in the death of William J. McNally, agent for the Holmes Protective Agency, whose body was found in a vacant lot in Brooklyn with a revolver in his hand, were released after they had convinced the police that McNally had killed himself by accident, and they had disposed of the body for fear they would be charged with murder.

McNally apparently killed himself in the home of Charles Valent, at 49 South Oxford street, Brooklyn, while handling his revolver. Valent and Mrs. Valent and William McCormick, 21, a clerk, who lives on Fifth avenue, near Seventh street, Brooklyn, were in the house at the time, and all told the same story of how they carried the body to an automobile and drove through the streets past policemen, the dead man sitting upright in the front seat.

The body of McNally, who lived at 183 Forthill avenue, Brooklyn, was found yesterday morning in a lot on First street, near Fourth avenue, Brooklyn. It was covered with an overcoat and in the right hand was a revolver with two cartridges discharged. There was a hole in the right temple with powder marks under it, which let the police to believe might have been a suicide. But they were puzzled because of the arrangement of the coat and the lack of blood on the ground.

All Tell Same Story. In McNally's pocket was found a piece of paper with Valent's address on it, and when Valent returned to his home last night he was taken to the Bergen street police station, where he was questioned for hours by Assistant District Attorney John Huey, Captain John J. Sullivan, Captain Daniel Carey and Detectives McCluna, Prilling and Grattano. After Mrs. Valent and McCormick had been sent for, they corroborated in every detail Valent's account of the manner in which McNally met death.

McNally "broke" the revolver and showed Valent the empty cartridges, then replaced it in his pocket again. But he must have turned the cylinder when he did so. He took it out a few minutes later and put it to his head and pulled the trigger. This time it did go off and he fell to the floor, with a hole in his temple.

SCIENCE MAY STAMP OUT MOST GERM DISEASES

Dr. John Matheson Holds Out the Promise of a Life Without Ailments—Fresh Air and Wholesome Foods are Helpful.

London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail)—Medical science may one day stamp out disease as surely as gangrene has been stamped out in surgery by the work of Lister and Pasteur. These words, which carry the promise of a life without disease, terminated only by senile decay, formed part of the presidential address of Dr. John Matheson at the annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Society in London.

Medical science, he thinks, can never abolish, or even largely modify, the cycle of existence—growth, maturity, and decay. But he has a profound belief that the process of decay may be, to a very large extent, postponed—but not by drugs.

Healthy dwellings, personal hygiene, fresh air and sunshine (weather permitting) in large doses and a sufficient supply of wholesome food, in which those elusive compounds called vitamins must be well represented, are the finest preventives.

CROW NOT SO BLACK AS HE IS PAINTED

His Evil Deeds Not So Many as His Good, Says Ornithologist—Some of Their Tricks.

The crow, after all, is the great American bird, however much he may be abused and unappreciated, according to the State Ornithologist of Massachusetts, Edward Howe Forbush, who asks: "Who sees the American eagle, and who does not see or hear the crow?" The crow has a bad name, but possibly he is not as black as he is painted, says Mr. Forbush, who, under the title "Corvus the Crow," tells in the magazine of the American Forestry Association some of the good points of the unpopular Mr. Crow.

The crow has his uses. He destroys many a pest, including the destructive gypsy moth, and he also destroys mice, the enemies of song birds. He eats white grubs and cutworms. While it is well to shoot crows, says the writer, when they are doing injury to one's crops, the shooting, even under circumstances, the following instance is cited.

The owner of a large sheep farm found that crows were killing his young lambs, first pecking out their eyes and then eating more or less of their carcasses. When he had lost about two hundred lambs, he offered a bounty of fifty cents a head on crows, although the State Ornithologist advised Mr. Forbush. As a result, the crows were almost exterminated from that immediate region. Within a space of three years, the owner of the sheep farm found that the grass in his pastures was dead, destroyed at the roots by white grubs, which had multiplied and flourished since the violent removal of their crow enemies.

It is pointed out that possibly some of the dead lambs on which crows had been feeding in the past were already dead before the crows tackled them, as they may have succumbed to disease, and both lambs and pasture might have been saved if a watch had been set to kill the few culprits.

A similar sequence of events occurred in the New England Colonies, when in the fourth decade of the eighteenth century, laws were enacted for the destruction of crows and blackbirds, the friends of the birds were accused by banking of dogs, the squawking of crows, and the efforts of a young cocker to crow are credited to crows in reports coming from New Hampshire. Another crow honked like a goose, while still another reproduced the drumming noise of the woodpecker. Even when the bird is not imitating any other bird, he makes a variety of notes of his own, it is pointed out, and in the love season, can boast some very melodious notes.

Throughout Southern New England, it is shown, it is no uncommon thing to see three crows about one nest and in one case at least it is recorded that three crows were actually observed feeding the young in one nest. This was in Fairfield, Conn., in 1920. Last year three Boston crows played up and down Commonwealth avenue with sticks in their beaks for a week before they decided just where to build. The three cooperated in the building of the nest, two of them working in the nest while a third stood by as inspector, the third doing a shift of his own, while the other two went off. When the eggs were deposited, one assumed the duties of incubation, while the other two came and went. "Whether this was bigamy, polygamy or polyandry, dependent saith not," says Mr. Forbush.

The young crow eats continually, or almost continually, and, in the little space of time between, he devotes entirely to mischief. Besides general thieving of small trinkets and lancious objects, he plays many pranks. There are tales of tame crows stealing the master's pipes and hiding them in the woodpile of a crow who pulled up all the plants in the garden beds and laid them out neatly along the rows. Another pecked at the bare legs of children. Another learned by observation what happened when the old hen scolded and soon the eggs disappeared, with Mr. Crow lending them wings.

No less than ten tame crows are recorded who learned to distinctly pronounce words. One said "Fred," and "father," and "mother," also he learned to call the crows "Boss, boss, boss!" The late Nelson R. Wood, taxidermist at the National Museum at Washington, D. C., is reported to have had crows who could repeat phrases, among them "Come on, Jack," "Hello Joe," a crow at Roxbury, Mass., could say and also call the cat. After an election, it was found that he could say "Hurrah for Robinson." The same bird is said to have laughed "like a person" and especially liked to do this after a trick. "Oh, go on!" "Now you do it!" and "Tom, get up," are among the phrases that these birds are said to have mastered and used frequently. One tame crow at Roxbury, Mass., raised a whole family every morning at daybreak. The bird learned the phrase from Tom's father, who used to stand emphatically every morning and shout the crow took up the task and flapped to the water exactly the usual manner.

Ornithologists, observing the talent of the tame crow for mimicry and imitation, are not surprised when they see the same gift in wild crows. Some have learned to catch fish and fly down and snatch the fish from the hands of the anglers, while others do what the gulls do to break open the shells of hard-shelled mollusks. One crow at Roxbury, Mass., flying high with one of them in their claws they drop it on the rocks or hard ground. If they are not successful, they repeat the shell gives way. Crows have been seen to do this four or five times.

Grasping an Opportunity. Crows not only imitate but learn to take advantage of the habits and customs of others. An instance of this is recorded: Years ago when hogs were allowed to run at large about Faget Island, Mass., and other marine crows, razor clams and other marine food at low tide. Often a crow might be seen perched on a hog's ear, from which clung a piece of fat which would snatch a juicy clam from the hog's champing jaws. The crows were not afraid of the inhabitants, either white or red, and a patient clam-digging squaw might be seen with a large black crow perched on the highest point of her "rear elevation," the crow as usual being on the lookout for his dinner, which he hoped to gain by the toll of another.

Crows are wise in other directions also, and they are cunning and help each other. The case is recounted of a crow which fell into the Merrimack River. With plunage soaked he was carried along in the chilling flood when his cries brought a flock of crows overhead. The incident is recorded by Mr. Forbush: "Suddenly one flapped down to the surface, seized the drowning comrade and laboriously bore him a short distance toward the shore. As the strength of the first rescuer failed, the soggy bird was relinquished to another, and so one after another seized and carried landward their unfortunate comrade until he reached the shore. There he spread out his soaked plunage in a sunny spot and dried them, when all flew happily away to the woods.

"The well known propensity of the crow to come to the aid of a stricken comrade seems to be recognized by eagles, hawks and owls, and so on

Present Year Proving Clearing-up Period on Canadian Prairies—Tremendous Grain Crop.

Special to The Montreal Gazette. Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—The year 1932 is proving to be a clearing-up period on the prairies. It opened up under conditions which inspired economy and industry. The three previous years had been lean ones, for the producers had seen the deflation in prices of all farm products in much larger measure than in other lines which they had to buy, and in many instances the farmer was in hard circumstances. But the 400,000,000-bushel wheat crop which is being marketed is working wonders in a marvellously quiet way. Trade conditions generally are far from satisfactory. There is general complaint among retail men and wholesalers as in no other month. The fine weather has lasted right through until today, when it is warm and bright, the temperature at 50 degrees in the shade. The farmers are busy with fall ploughing and have been all their time to raising their grain on to the market, consequently there will be plenty of wheat to draw out after it freezes up. It is estimated that about 150,000,000 bushels of wheat have been marketed so far, and that about 20,000,000 bushels more will come out before navigation closes. It is safe to state, as one wholesaler did to The Gazette representative, that if the railways could continue to haul out a million bushels of wheat daily through the winter there would still be plenty left in the farmers' hands to cover seeding and have a surplus for export. At the present time there are 1,600 cars of wheat daily moving out to the Twin Cities, equal to nearly two million bushels of wheat, which is worth over a million and a half net to the farmer. November wheat is going at $1.12 1/2 today, with a 15c premium for spot. December is worth $1.08, so that if the farmer wants to sell or hold the crop it is quite good, for it is still a bull market with some features that inspire the men of speculative qualities.

TOWN MODEL OF HEALTHFUL LIFE

Framingham, Mass.—Card Index System, Careful Inspection, Healthful Environment, Made Model Town. How Framingham, Mass., a town of 15,000 inhabitants, 21 miles west of Boston, came to be a model of healthful living is told in a recent number of Physical Culture. The first thing the people of Framingham learned about themselves was that they could buy health and prolong life as readily as they could buy potatoes at the corner grocery. So convincing was the health demonstration that the ruling market quotation for a year's health with the prospect of postponing indefinitely the journey to the cemetery, has gone up more than four hundred per cent.

DEVELOPMENTS OF WEEK FAVORABLE

Capital Stock Increase by Textile and Advance in Glass Dividend

List Generally Off—Brazilian Again Leader in Activity, With Dominion Textile Strong Spot—Bell a Weak Feature.

(Montreal Gazette) A review of the financial happenings of the past week is a story of constructive developments almost throughout, despite the checking of some gains in the list of trading in the local market during that period. Volume of business showed considerable expansion, but not to the extent that the total shows, as a large proportion of the total was furnished by Crown Refiners, an issue that sold at 90 cents. Brazilian continued to be by far the most active stock and was one of the week's strong features. Publication of the annual financial statement of the Canadian Connecticut Cottons showed net profits of $1,000,000 for the year, the first since 1928. The production of steel ingots for the present year will surpass that of last year by 10 per cent, and that of the two largest tonnage years before the war, 1912 and 1913 by 10 per cent, according to reports from Pittsburgh. Should production continue during November and December at the October rate, the year's production will close at 34,000,000 tons, or 76 per cent of estimated capacity. High cost of material is now the important item in production, not only in the United States but also in Canada. Coal and coke are still high. For example, Pittsburgh quotes Connellville coke at $7 to $7.50 as against an average of $5 in January and February, 1931. This cost has also been a weak feature of 40 per cent.

IRON, STEEL, METAL AND MACHINERY

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment in its Nov. 16 issue: The production of steel ingots for the present year will surpass that of last year by 10 per cent, and that of the two largest tonnage years before the war, 1912 and 1913 by 10 per cent, according to reports from Pittsburgh. Should production continue during November and December at the October rate, the year's production will close at 34,000,000 tons, or 76 per cent of estimated capacity. High cost of material is now the important item in production, not only in the United States but also in Canada. Coal and coke are still high. For example, Pittsburgh quotes Connellville coke at $7 to $7.50 as against an average of $5 in January and February, 1931. This cost has also been a weak feature of 40 per cent.

FUEL SAVING TEST.

Experiments on United States Liner America Prove Successful.

Fuel conservation tests recently conducted by prominent marine engineering experts on a round trip of the United States liner America, indicated a possible saving on vessels operated by the Shipping Board of more than $500,000 yearly in bunker supplies, according to an announcement by Captain C. A. McAllister of the American Bureau of Shipping, who is chairman of the committee in charge of this investigation. The committee was named by Vice President Joseph E. Steady of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, in charge of operations in line with the board's recently announced policy of economy and with a possible idea of the board at some future date establishing a fixed salary for its operators in the matter of bunkers. The coal and oil bill representing the bunker supply of Shipping Board-operated vessels is at present one of its largest items of expense. A recent statement by one of the members of the board familiar with the situation put the annual consumption cost at approximately $85,000,000. The largest ship under the American flag burning coal, was selected. Prior to her departure, she was taken to a shipyard where installed a certain form of grate-bars and appliances calculated to obtain from the coal used a greater degree of combustion and efficiency. Particular attention was given to the application of consumption of energy that is generally wasted in the round trip of the America was carefully watched, the chief engineer of the vessel and his assistants entering heartily into the programme evolved by the technical engineers. As a result of these operations, the following items of the outstanding facts which Captain McAllister said the round trip test showed: An average saving of twenty-three tons of coal a day, based on the record shown by the trip in eight previous voyages. An average increased speed of .84 knots over that shown by the eight previous voyages. Proof that the saving in coal for the America alone would be $200,000 a year. It was made clear by Captain McAllister that no change was made in the quality of coal for the test trip. It was the same, he asserted, as had been used on previous voyages, and he further pointed out that, in addition to saving money for the Government and obtaining...

20 TANKERS TO MOVE OIL FROM PACIFIC COAST

Standard Oil Co. Will Charter Shipping-Board Vessels for One-fourth of the Shipments to East Coast.

About twenty-five tankers will be called into use in connection with the U. S. Shipping Board to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey under a contract to supply 10,000,000 barrels of fuel oil on the Atlantic Coast next year. The company has agreed to charter from the board, and in addition will put into operation a number of its own ships, including the larger ones, ranging up to 20,000 tons. The Standard Oil Company has a fleet of sixty tankers, of which about forty are now in operation. The new contract will further reduce the number of idle ships. As a result of the recent failure of wells in Mexico, the company will draw upon its stocks in California. The long voyage from the Pacific Coast through the Panama Canal will make necessary the use of a much larger number of vessels than on the short route from Mexican ports. The company has a number of tankers ready at north Atlantic ports from which it can begin furnishing fuel immediately to the Shipping Board. The movement by ship from the west coast is not expected to begin until the first of the year. Washington, Nov. 21.—Additional contracts for more than 9,000,000 barrels of fuel oil as announced by Chairman Lesker of the Shipping Board, call for the United Oil Company to furnish during the next eighteen months 6,000,000 barrels a year at Pacific ports at prices ranging from eighty-one to ninety-two cents a barrel. The Standard Oil Company of New York will furnish from 600,000 to 600,000 barrels during the next year at Far Eastern ports at $1.75 a barrel. As a result of the contracts announced for 11,000,000 barrels awarded the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Texas company it was said at the board's offices that the Standard company had agreed to charter six Shipping Board tankers to transport one-fourth of the oil called for in its contract.

NOON REPORT FROM NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Nov. 21.—(Noon).—The absence of support for General Asphalt and U. S. Rubber discouraged bullish efforts in other quarters and induced a resumption of experimental bear selling in shares whose technical position was believed vulnerable. Corn Products dropped 3/8-4, and American Cotton Oil preferred and Piggly Wiggly Stores 2 3/4 each. Declines of one to 1 1/2 points were registered by Coca Cola, American Cotton Oil common, Philadelphia Company, Continental Can, Atlantic Gulf and Public Service of New Jersey preferred. Buying of the Sugar Group, which advanced one to two points, and a rise of 2 1/2 in Consolidated Gas later induced some short covering in the active issues, but speculation became very quiet on the rebound. WINS ROAD RACE REQUIRING NEARLY TEN HOURS TO RUN

Italians Making Preparations For Distance Events in Olympic Games of 1924

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Milan, Nov. 14.—Donato Pavesi, of Milan, won the 100 kilometre road race from Brescia to Milan, the first of a series of races in preparation for the marathon event at the Olympic games in Paris in 1924. Pavesi's time was 9 hours 51 minutes 37 seconds. Fifty-eight of the ninety-one starters finished.

The next race will be held in February over a distance of eighty kilometres, the third contest to be at sixty kilometres, and the final test, in January, 1924, at the regulation marathon distance, the first five men from each of the preceding races participating.

Italy's preparations for the Olympic games are especially directed at the marathon and other distance running events. The Italian newspapers have Pavesi as a second Dorando Pietri.

NOTED ACTRESS SPEAKS ON WOMEN SPORTS CRAZE

London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail.)—"People in England are getting a little too fond of sports," said Mrs. Kendall, famous actress, in opening a sale of work at Hove.

"Lawn tennis, which used to be a boy's or a man's game, and when I read that young women go to boxing matches, I rather blush.

"Early Victorian women, if she saw two men blacking each other's eyes, ran away.

"Young people today do not behave with the propriety and allround goodness of early Victorians.

"They think we older women were born imbeciles, that we have lived a life of senile decay, and that we ought to have been exterminated at 45."

ROCKEFELLER JR. BOOSTS STATE'S RENT 400 P. C.—TO $5

Bedford, N. Y., Nov. 21.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has increased the rent to the State of New York for the use of his social hygiene plant alongside the State Reformatory for Women here.

"The increase is not going to profit young Mr. Rockefeller much. It is a raise of but $4 a year. Heretofore he has allowed the state the use of the plant and grounds, rated as worth several hundred dollars a year, for $1 a year.

The lease expired three months ago. Under the new lease the state has agreed to pay $5 a year. The state has opened negotiations to buy the plant.

As Mr. Rockefeller has proved to be a pretty generous landlord to the state, the officials will gladly pay the increased rent.

TAX APPEAL HEARD

At a meeting of the Common Council held yesterday afternoon in the matter of the tax appeal of the Harris Abakott Co., Ltd., it was decided to allow the civic assessors more time to conduct a searching investigation into the accounting system of the company.

E. M. Olive, chairman of the assessors' board, said the company was doing a business of nearly half a million dollars through the St. John branch, and he thought that the returns of the company that no income had been earned was wrong. He said he assessed the company by the authority granted in the amending section of the Acts of 1918. E. C. Weyman, assessor of the company, said he would welcome a complete investigation.

SWINDLED BY SPIRIT THREATS

Terrified Girl and Fiance Give All Their Money to Avert Misfortune—Three Women Arrested.

New York, Nov. 21.—A story of the domination of a credulous couple by fortune tellers, who obtained from them all the money they had or could borrow by threats of strange things which would happen to them if they did not appease the "spirits," was told to Acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora. He said it was the most remarkable case of its kind that had come to his attention, and that he would ask indictments for grand larceny against the two women fortune tellers and another woman who was aided by Magistrate Oberwager in $25,000 bail each.

Some time ago Katherine Deotti, twenty-three years old, of 242 Mott street, who was engaged to Edward Stoppello, twenty-seven years old, of 246 Mott street, received a letter which said that if they married both would become crippled and all their children would be deformed. The girl told her step-mother, Marie Aguro, of 242 Mott street, who, she said, advised her to go to Rose Santora, said to be a fortune teller, of 228 Timson street, the Bronx.

The Santora woman and Clemente Carbo, who lived with her, it is alleged, frightened the couple so that they gave up all the money they had, $30. The money was put in an envelope and in a dark room was burned, and so they thought, to appease the spirits. Then, it is asserted, they were told that if they didn't get more Edward would drop dead and Katherine would get up in the night and walk out doors with no clothes on, and Katherine's brother would become a cripple, and they mustn't forget to sprinkle salt all the way from the subway station where they left the train to their home in Mott street.

It worked so well, it is stated, that Stoppello gave up $750, all he had, and was trying to sell his trucking business to get $2,000 more, while the girl gave the fortune tellers $15 a week from Sept. 1 until this week.

The man Stoppello tried to sell his business to was Ralph Pape, a real estate man of 283 West Thirty-fourth street, who, when he heard the story, showed Stoppello after hard argument that his fears were groundless, and went with him to the Mercer Street Police Station, where the story was told to Detective Kelly, who arrested the step-mother and the other woman. Later they went to Mr. Pecora.

"The spirits made us hook our engagement rings," said Stoppello. "Once when we were unable to raise the money to be burned and hung in bags around our necks as a charm Mrs. Santora loaned us $200. Rosa had to get in contact with the spirits often while we were with her. To do that she used to spill two glasses of water on the floor and get down on her hands and knees and lick it up again.

"They said we would have to raise $2,000; they demanded $5,000 at first, but when we couldn't raise that they came down to $2,000. If we couldn't get the $2,000, we were to give Katie's step-mother $20 every night for her to throw outdoors.

"The last time we gave money was on election night. I borrowed $50 that night and gave it to Rosa, and after she had burned it, as I believed, she told me to lift up my shirt and she rubbed the ashes on my shoulder. Then she told me I must not take the shirt off or take a bath for ten days or I would die.

"These spirits used to call up on a telephone in a candy store and tell us what to do—always it was to get more money. They used to tell me what clothes I was wearing, how much money I had, and what pocket I had it in, and what we ate for supper. I remember now that we always told these things to Katie's step-mother.

"Spirits" Broke the Dishes. "Two weeks ago the voices over the telephone said that the spirits were angry because I had not got the $2,000, and that a lot of dishes would be broken in the house that night by the spirits. In the dead of night there was a terrible crash, right side of Katie's bed, and when she jumped out, fright-ended, there were the broken dishes, and her step-mother sleeping beside her. We had to keep springing salt over our shoulders from the subway to the house, so the spirit would not follow us home. One time Katie's step-mother told her she would have to walk absolutely naked in the street, without knowing what she was doing, if the money was not paid. A negro was sent to ride around on my truck so as to pick my body up when I fell dead.

"Finally, I got so desperate that I decided to sell my interest in the trucking business for $2,000, and I went to Mr. Pape. He got the whole story of the spirits from me, but then I realized I was to die if I told anybody, and I told me to say nothing about the visit to him to Katie's step-mother, and then to call up the spirits and see if they knew about it. I did, and they didn't tell me a word about my visit to him. But I didn't feel so frightened, and I went to the Mercer Street Station.

"Katie had to give up her wedding trousseau. They kept telling us that her mother had died because she disobeyed the spirits."

"When Stoppello finished, Mr. Pape said to Mr. Pecora: "This is the first time I have seen Katie smile in two months. Eddie was wild with fear, and told me the strain was making a maniac of him. It may be funny to us, but it was no joke to these young folks."

Manitoba Drys Say Reign of Terror Exists Along the U. S. Border.

Winnipeg, Nov. 21.—Towns along the Manitoba and Saskatchewan borders are experiencing a reign of terror at the present time in which neither life nor property is safe, according to a statement in a resolution passed unanimously at the concluding session of the Manitoba Temperance Convention, at which the prohibition forces have been preparing to fight the referendum on government liquor control slated for next year.

An appeal is made to citizens of Winnipeg and other parts of the province to combat a re-establishment of liquor sales which would allow this condition of affairs to continue.

The resolution stated that the proposed moderation act would allow breweries the private sale and delivery of liquor for beverage purposes and the government store system would make possible the purchase of liquor along the borders and thus establish a legal condition of supplies for bootlegging on the borders of the United States, and draw to our boundaries the crooks of the continent, threatening our life, our banks, our stores and our homes.

The Centenary church Young People's Association met last night in the church parlor with Rev. R. G. Fulton presiding. The officers elected recently were as follows—Miss Heta Brittain, president, and Charles Baker, secretary.

MANY USE MENTAL TESTS FOR WORKERS

Psychological Experiments are Common in Industry, Says Research Head.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 21.—Systematic training of workers to promote efficiency in gaining ground in American commerce and industry, according to a report presented to the convention of the National Personnel Association, held here recently, by the committee on psychological tests and rating scales, of which Dr. E. K. Strong, Jr., director of the Bureau of Educational Research, Carnegie Institute of Technology, is chairman.

The report, dealing with psychological tests and rating scales as used by the training staffs of corporations, embodies results of a nation-wide survey and shows that seventy out of 102 companies questioned give instructions to their employees. Thirty-one of these, which include industrial and public utility corporations, life insurance companies, banks, and railroads, employ psychological tests to measure intelligence, aptitude, and progress.

Twenty-seven companies "have some proof" of the value of psychological tests and rating scales. If only the companies reporting training work are considered, the committee, "we find an equal percentage—58 per cent.—of both industrial and public utility companies using psychological tests, and approximately 19 per cent. are contemplating their use, whereas twice as many industrial companies—29 per cent.—are employing rating scales, as are public utility companies—18 per cent.

"Psychological tests and rating scales are used today by a considerable number of corporations, and it is very evident that their use is being extended deeper into the mine and made the name of Canada a by-word along the Pacific Coast. Escaped Convicts Find the Transgressor's Way is Hard.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—In order to clear themselves of suspicion in connection with the murder on August 24 last of a girl in New Jersey, three men, Alfred Dagenais, Armand Beauvais and H. Prunau, were forced to admit that they were escaped convicts from Socié, Quebec, and had been in prison at the time of the girl's death. The American authorities got in touch with the Canadian institution and substantiated the story, which resulted in the men being escorted back to finish their sentences. The trio were all serving three year terms for theft. They arrived in Montreal today under guard.

ATTACKS B. C. LIQUOR ACT

Winnipeg, November 21.—A vigorous attack against the British Columbia Liquor Act was launched at the temperance convention here by Rev. A. E. Cooke, of Vancouver, president of the British Columbia Prohibition Association, who said the measure had made British Columbia the sinkhole of the dominion, plunged much of the social and moral life into debauchery, was forcing the Government deeper and deeper into the mire and made the name of Canada a by-word along the Pacific Coast. He was enthusiastically applauded by delegates who are organizing to fight the coming referendum in this province.

WHAT CHEAP POWER WILL MEAN TO ST. JOHN

Some Comparisons By Mr. Kribs of Pleasing Interest To Power Users Here—The Case of Calgary.

Gordon Kribs, Chief Electric Engineer for the New Brunswick Power Commission, gave the Telegraph the following statement last evening:

In the various discussions which one hears from time to time on the subject of hydro, it is often said by those who are opposing hydro for St. John, from one motive or another, that the capital cost of the Musquash development was excessive. Such, however, is certainly not the case. The capital cost to date is $1,899,057.37 for 11,000 horse power, or $182 per H. P. installed. Now compare these figures with the cost of developing other water powers in Canada:

Rideau Development, Ontario	$210	per H. P.
Severn (Big Amite)	246	per H. P.
Eugenia Falls, Ontario	218	per H. P.
Wassdells Falls, Ontario	268	per H. P.
High Falls (Muskoka), Ontario	296	per H. P.
The average for Canada	218	per H. P.
as follows:—
Alberta	168	per H. P.
British Columbia	182	per H. P.
Manitoba	200	per H. P.
New Brunswick	192	per H. P.
Nova Scotia	203	per H. P.
Ontario	229	per H. P.
Prince Edward Island	298	per H. P.
Quebec	226	per H. P.
Saskatchewan	195	per H. P.
Yukon	343	per H. P.

From a perusal of the foregoing figures, it will be seen that Musquash is not by any means an expensive development.

Furthermore, the cost of power at St. John is very reasonable.

Misleading statements have been made from time to time regarding the cost of Musquash power. The New Brunswick Electric Power Commission has stated in the contract submitted to the city that the cost will not exceed 1.2c. per K. W. Hr. Now under the same conditions as at present existing in the city and on the system of the New Brunswick Power Company, the city could supply a peak load of 3,424 kilowatts, or 4,600 H. P., at a cost of $120,000 a year or $26 per H. P.

In other words, the actual cost of Musquash power to the city is only $26, which everybody knows is cheap power. Owing to the possibility of a competitive fight as between the city and the Power Company in which the city would have to build up its load; the proposed retail rates were based on $38 power instead of $26 power; but it should be borne in mind that when the 10,000,000 K. W. Hrs. are being consumed the actual cost of power is only $26, so that rate reductions are not only possible but certain.

Compare this price of $26 with the cost of power in other municipalities. Take Calgary for instance. Calgary buys power at $25 per H. P. year as compared with the hydro rate for St. John of $26, and Calgary considers they have cheap power. Calgary's population is almost about the same as St. John and in 1920 the city municipal distributing system sold 30,000,000 kilowatt hours as follows:

Lighting	8,728,649	K. W. Hrs.
Power	15,594,966	K. W. Hrs.
Street Railway	8,240,010	K. W. Hrs.
Street Lighting	2,825,920	K. W. Hrs.

And yet some of the good people of St. John are worrying over signing a contract for 10,000,000 K. W. Hrs.!

The average cost to consumers in Calgary was as follows (1919):

Power	1.24c.	per K. W. Hr.
Light and Heat	3.58c.	per K. W. Hr.
Street Railway	1.22c.	per K. W. Hr.
General average	1.94c.	per K. W. Hr.

Compare these rates with the rates recently submitted by the New Brunswick Power Company.

The surplus for 1921 was $50,000.

The total debentures issued amounts to $2,949,480 in addition to which improvements to the extent of $369,393 have been financed out of surplus revenue.

In Calgary only 9.5 per cent. of the industrial plants generate their own power, and these are in operation in laundries, breweries, etc., where steam is required in the process.

Compare this with St. John where there is approximately 10,000 H. P. being used in industrial plants generating their own power, DUE TO THE FACT THAT THE POWER RATES ARE EXCESSIVE.

EARTHQUAKES AND THE ETERNAL HILLS

(New York Tribune)

Earthquakes are undoubtedly the most terrifying trick that our usually calm and benign earth plays upon man.

The terrible tragedy that has befallen our fellow Westerners, the Chileans, sits at once sympathetically and uneasily. What is going on deep beneath these quiet fields and colossal, snow-capped mountains to cause such havoc? When Lisbon was destroyed in 1755 it was a common view in Protestant England that the Almighty was punishing a city of Catholics; and with that ingenuously which man always displays when his prejudices commence to interpret natural events, the Catholic survivors of Lisbon blamed their catastrophe upon the fact that a few Protestant heretics were in their midst. How better do we of today understand earthquakes, thanks to science?

It should be clearly understood at the start that the nature and composition of the earth's interior are almost as completely unknown as they ever were. A hard, fairly rigid shell envelops the earth beyond question. The earlier hypotheses were based upon the theory that within this shell was an intensely hot molten core and that the gradual cooling of the interior contracted the whole body of the earth and wrinkled its surface very much as the skin of a dried apple is shrunken and wrinkled. For various reasons the molten theory of the earth's interior is today viewed with considerable doubt. The most that can be accepted is that some change in the earth's interior is taking place which sets up terrific stresses and strains upon the earth's surface along certain lines. Probably cooling and contraction are the causes, and molten material is clearly present at certain points, as volcanoes prove; but the precise condition of the earth's core must be left for future scientists to determine, if they can.

What is clear is that this crumpling of the earth's surface—which has folded aloft on great mountain ranges—has usually taken place along certain clearly marked lines. The backbone of North and South America is one such line, and the western coast of the Pacific, from Japan south, presents traces of similar foldings. As a result, the Pacific is more or less surrounded by high mountains or their remnants. The other great link of folding runs east and west across Europe and Asia from the Pyrenees and the Alps to the Himalayas.

Now, wherever these crumplings of the earth's surface have been greatest lie the weakest spots in its crust. Consequently it is at spots along these lines that the strains upon the shell are likeliest to produce violent results, cracking great faults, shifting huge areas, opening holes through which whatever is seething within can blow off steam, literally and figuratively.

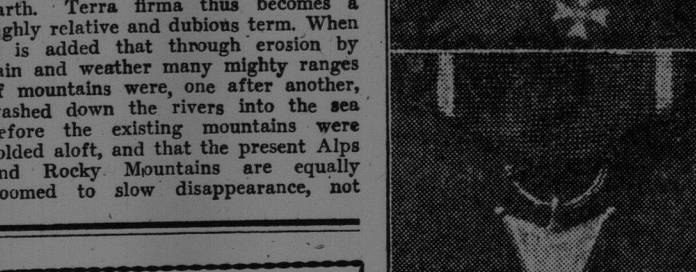

When the heaving of the earth includes an area of sea bottom a great sea wave is added to the terrors of land—as at Messina and now along the Chilean coast.

Thus, while science has been able to locate the areas within which the earth plays its most violent tricks, and has worked out fairly clear theories as to their manner of occurrence, the basic causes are still hidden many miles deep within the mysterious heart of our earth. Terra firma thus becomes a highly relative and dubious term. When it is added that through erosion by rain and weather many mighty ranges of mountains were, one after another, washed down the rivers into the sea before the existing mountains were folded aloft, and that the present Alps and Rocky Mountains are equally doomed to slow disappearance, not much is left of the apparent security of our earth. The hills, so far from being eternal, mark the weakest and most destructible parts of our planet.

TRACE SLEEPING SICKNESS CAUSE

Dr. Flexner Tells Scientists of Progress Made Toward Cure for Puzzling Disease.

(New York Times.)

An advance toward the cure of encephalitis, popularly but mistakenly known as "sleeping sickness," was reported yesterday by Dr. Simon Flexner, head of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, one of the speakers at the closing session of the National Academy of Science's fall meeting in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth street.

"The origin of this inflammation of the brain, causing lethargy or coma, is still in doubt," said Dr. Flexner, "but we have found that there is some connection between the secretions of the nose and throat and the fluid membranes of the brain. A clear solution of an ordinary cold sore in a man, known scientifically as herpes, injected into the mouth, nose or eyes of a rabbit, caused the symptoms of encephalitis to develop. We do not know where this discovery will lead, but it is very interesting."

The first habitation of man and of the giant land mammals of prehistoric time is indicated to have been on the Asiatic continent by results of the recent expedition to China and Mongolia of the American Museum of Natural History under Prof. Ray Chapman Andrews, it was said by Dr. W. The United States Navy's recently developed device for measuring ocean depths by the echoes from the sea bed of sounds sent from a transmitter on board ship was described to the Academy members by Dr. Harvey C. Hayes, physicist and sound aid of the navy engineering experiment station at Annapolis.

"If we had measured ocean depths where the sinking of the ocean bed caused the Chilean earthquake," he said, "we could measure the spot now and perhaps learn something of value."

In the afternoon session the manufacture and use of electronic tubes for the transmission of high power were described by H. D. Arnold. Other speakers discussed the gyroscope's uses for stabilization of ocean steamers and airplanes, and the methods of carrying multiple telephone and telegraph messages on a single wire. The closing address was by Dr. Charles G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution, "Spectrum Energy Curves of the Stars."
