Laurier Makes Announcement at Dominion Day Dinner.

Canada's High Commissioner to Retire to Private Life -- Prince of Wales will Probably Visit the Dominion Soon.

London, June 30.—Two important announcements were made tonight at the Dominion Day dinner, which was attended by 400 Canadians. The first was by the Duke of Connaught, who said that the Prince of Wales probably soon would visit Canada and the other by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, who said that Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner for Canada, was about to resign his office. In his speech the Duke of Connaught said: "I can assure you that Queen Mary bears the most lively and most pleasant recollections of her visit to Canada, of the Queen Mother, Alexandra. I can only say this, that during the Coronation ceremonies, if she was not present in person, she was in spirit. The Prince of Wales is only a boy, but I think from what I saw of him during the past week he will walk in the footsteps of his father and his grandfather." The Duke of Connaught was moved by the ovation that was accorded him. He expressed his admiration for Canada and pledged that he would do his utmost for the Dominion and the Empire.

RECIPROCITY SURE TO PASS U. S. SENATE

Friends of Measure in U. S. States Upper House Say There is no Chance of De-

Washington, D. C., June 30.—The reciprocity situation cleared to a marked degree today and a canvass of the situation in the senate was in every way assuring to the friends of the measure. With not more than a dozen set speeches in prospect and with eight hour sessions of the senate on the programme to hasten action, many of the senators count upon a vote before the end of July and Senator Smoot holds to his original prediction of an adjournment of congress by that date. When the senate adjourned today after three hours of anti-reciprocity speech making by Senators Gumble and Cummins, there was an understanding that there would be no further effort at legislation until after July 4, and that when business is resumed there will be cessation until final adjournment, however long that may be postponed. The most formidable speech still to be made is that of Senator LaFollette. He will present his long promised tariff amendments to the reciprocity bill and will talk for three or four days discussing the tariff even more than discussing the reciprocity. The Wisconsin senator is now in seclusion and with the assistance of a number of experts is preparing elaborate data in support of his measure. Senators Stone of Missouri, and Burton of Ohio will be the only two speakers in favor of the bill.

ANNEXATION OF JAMAICA

People of West Indian Island Favor Either Annexation to Canada or Reciprocity With States.

Kingston, Jam., June 30.—A discussion of the annexation of Jamaica to Canada is being carried on by the local newspapers. The Telegraph argues that annexation to Canada or the giving by the home government to the colony of power to negotiate a treaty of reciprocity with the United States. The newspaper argues that it is impossible for the island to remain in its present backward position when Cuba and Porto Rico are flourishing. Another section of the press says that annexation with Canada is out of the question, declaring that Jamaica first must look to Great Britain and then to the United States, the latter for her natural markets. Public feeling seemingly favors a commercial understanding with the United States or the annexation of the island to Canada.

FIRES DISCOVERED ON A WHITE STAR LINER

Three Distinct Outbreaks on the White Star Liner Arabic in Liverpool Dock—Incendiarism is Suspected.

Liverpool, June 30.—Three separate outbreaks of fire in different parts of the White Star line steamer Arabic were discovered and quenched this afternoon. The vessel is due to sail from Liverpool tomorrow for New York by the way of Queenstown. The White Star officials are unable to account for the fires except that they were started by incendiaries. The flames were discovered in the store rooms and cabins, and were quickly extinguished. All crews from the Arabic has been stopped, and police are now on board the steamer searching for possible incendiaries.

CANADA'S CUSTOMS SHOWS AN INCREASE

Ottawa, June 30.—Canada's customs revenue for June aggregated $6,757,966, an increase of $704,967 over June last year. For the quarter year

CHINA TRYING TO PICK FIGHT WITH RUSSIA?

Conditions on Frontier Far From Reassuring—Looks as if Some One Was Trying to Start Something.

Monday, June 30.—The local papers report that 200 Chinese bandits attacked and drove back the Russian frontier post in the Amur district. The bandits retired upon the arrival of a Russian torpedo boat. St. Petersburg, June 30.—Disquieting news is pouring in from the Chinese frontier. It is asserted that the Chinese persist in shooting at Russian fishermen who approach the Chinese bank of the Amur and that they are also destroying the Russian navigation signs and light-buoys on the Amur and Ussuri rivers. The Russian consul in Moukden is reported as being besieged with complaints of hindrance to Russian trade augmented by now Chinese officials who are acting upon special instructions from Peking. Russian merchandise is closely inspected for contraband firearms, which it is said are being supplied to Mongolians. It is represented that the ports and other restrictions have been introduced virtually with an aim of driving out the Russian traders.

Conservative Leader Continues to Expose Weaknesses of Reciprocity pact.

"Worst Scheme Ever Put Before Country from a National Standpoint", is Way he Describes Laurier - Fielding Proposals.

North Battleford, Sask., June 30.—Mr. Borden is now touring Northern Saskatchewan along the line of the Canadian Northern, last night he spoke at Lloydminster, the home of the famous Barr colony, where he was heckled considerably by an audience largely composed of English settlers. A memorial was presented by Grain Growers denouncing protection, as grand larceny and favoring reciprocity. Mr. Borden again went on record as being unalterably opposed to the latter, branding it as the worst scheme ever put before the country, from a national standpoint. The audience seemed to be evenly divided on the question. Although the interruptions were many they were invariably good natured and showed a desire to get at all sides of the story. Today Mr. Borden addressed large meetings in North Battleford and Old Battleford. At each town he was given a hearty greeting, presented with civic addresses and listened to by large gatherings. Dominion Day, he will visit Saskatoon and Regina. People are driving in from surrounding districts to hear him. His speeches have been interesting and have been listened to with interest in discussion not only of the reciprocity issues, but the other planks of the Conservative platform.

GRAND TRUNK WILL RUN TO PROVIDENCE

Plans for Branch Line Filed Yesterday — Will Have Big Terminal Facilities in Centre of the City.

Providence, R. I., June 30.—The Southern New England Railway, the newly organized branch of the G. T., which will be extended into this city, filed its route from Palmer, Mass., to Providence, in the Superior Court today. Under the terms of its charter the road must be completed in 1915. Extensive terminal facilities in the heart of the city, a bridge across the New York, New Haven and Hartford freight yard, a tunnel under Capitol Hill, and a line to the Northern boundary of the state, shorter than that of the New Haven road, are features of the location.

HOW NEW YORK'S TRADE GROWS

New York, June 30.—Exports from the port of New York for the year ended today increased $125,000,000 while imports decreased $48,000,000. This was shown by the annual fiscal statement issued today by Collector Loeb. This year the total exports amount to $757,327,535, as compared with $634,288,335 for the previous year, while the valuation of appraised merchandise imported during the present year is $887,758,434, as against last year's total of $935,991,184. The duties collected are correspondingly reduced, the amount for 1911 being $294,902,729 compared with $218,009,817 for the previous fiscal year.

Geologist Says Town of Frank Will be Engulfed Unless Coal Mining in Turele Mountain is Stopped.

Ottawa, June 30.—That the town of Frank, Alta., is in grave danger of a landslide with heavy loss of life, owing to coal mining operations which have weakened the northwest shoulder of Turele mountain, is the gist of a report by Prof. R. W. Brock, director of the geological survey. It is considered that any further work on the coal seams may lead to awful results.

ENTERTAINED KING GEORGE

Premier and Mrs. Asquith Entertained King and Queen at Dinner Last Evening—A Pleasant Occasion.

London, June 30.—Herbert Henry Asquith, the British Prime Minister, and Mrs. Asquith tonight gave a dinner to King George and Queen Mary and many distinguished guests at the Premier's official residence in Downing street. A feature of the entertainment that followed the dinner was a performance of the third act of Geo. Bernard Shaw's "John Bull's Other Island" and of James M. Barrie's "The Twelve Pound Look". Granville Barker and his wife, Lillah McCarthy played the principal roles.

THE CAMPAIGN FOR A SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

New York, June 30.—With only one dealer licensed out of five hundred applicants to sell fireworks, New York's crusade for a "safe and sane" fourth of July went merrily on today. This afternoon fire commissioner Johnson addressed a letter to the chairman of the municipal fourth of July committee, leaving but few articles unprohibited except Roman candles and small fire crackers. The city will send $50,000 worth of fireworks up in smoke at 74 parks. Fifteen wagon loads of fireworks were confiscated today by the fire department.

THE KING'S THANKS.

London, June 30.—King George tonight issued a message of thanks to his subjects throughout the Empire for their loyalty unstintingly expressed by them during the Coronation period. His Majesty says it has encouraged him to go forward with the renewed hope that whatever perplexities or difficulties may arise he and his people shall unite in facing them and that the ultimate outcome will be to the common good.

Its Capitalization Was Far in Excess of its Assets, Says Report.

In Spite of This it Paid Annual Profits of 12 per cent.—Most of the Water Eliminated by Re-investment.

Washington, June 30.—The long expected report from the bureau of corporations on the United States steel corporation recently submitted to President Taft, was made public here tonight signed by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations. The report makes no recommendations and is almost wholly narrative in form. Mr. Smith declares that restriction of competition was a prime object of the organization of the steel corporation or so-called "trust." Capitalized at $1,402,000,000 the corporation, he asserts, had tangible property worth only $682,000,000. By a constant re-investment of earnings, however, the report points out much of the "water" in the company has been eliminated. The Steel Corporation now owns 75 per cent of the lake area, having recently concentrated its efforts to securing these properties. During the ten years of its operation, the report says, the steel trust has paid an average annual profit of 12 per cent on the money invested. In this connection attention is called to the fact that a considerable part of the investment is in undeveloped and unworked properties, showing that dividends from paying properties must be larger than the average would indicate.

TRIAL OF THE CAMORRISTS

Nephew of Assassins' Victim Called to Stand to Tell What he Knows of His Uncle's Murder.

Viterbo, June 30.—Esposito, a nephew of Maria Cuccolo, was called as a witness today in the trial of the Camorrista charged with the murder of Gennario. He said that during the original inquiry into the murders, he had seen the ring found in the possession of the defendants, but that he had failed to identify it as one taken from the hand of the murdered man.

The remainder of the sitting was taken up with the examination of Marshal Giuliano of the Carabinieri, head of the prison guard at Pazzanoli and the carabinieri under him. These witnesses asserted that they had obtained the names of the Camorrista alleged to have met at Baguola and there condemned the Cuccolo to death from Elvira Piperno and her sister, the latter of whom had since died. This assertion was denied by Elvira Piperno.

MILITARY SPY GETS SIX YEARS

Lepse, Saxony, June 30.—Capt. Lux, of the French army, today was sentenced to 6 years in a fortress for espionage. Lux was director of the French secret service at Belfort, near the Alsace frontier and attempted to obtain military secrets from German soldiers. He was arrested while visiting Friederichshaven last December.

Graphic Pen-pictures of The Coronation Festivities

By HON. GEORGE E. FOSTER

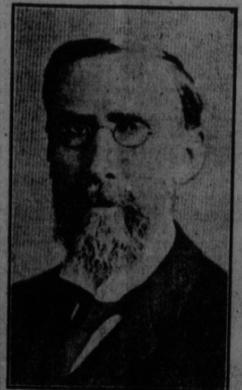

Special Correspondence of the Standard

Letter No. 1.

London in her pre-coronation days is impressive to a degree. To the millions of permanent residents and the normal hordes of thousands of temporary sojourners, are added, the hosts of gathering pilgrims from every quarter of the world. Many are simply on pleasure bent, many combine a judicious admixture of business and pleasure, but most are Empire citizens, whose chief motive is to witness the Coronation of King George. And not merely to see it and look upon the unique spectacle, but to assist at it, to enter into and become a part of the great transaction of paying homage to the Sovereign Lord of the world wide realm.

A Spirit of Loyalty.

The spirit of loyalty touches and animates everything, inspires articulate expression, and gives character to every material display. It is manifest among the very poor as among the very rich; no class has a monopoly of it, among all classes it abounds and overflows "G-O-D," "Long Live our King and Queen," "George and Mary" meet the eye on every side, by day in sober hues at night in all the splendours of illumination. The Royal colors are everywhere, houses hung, columns draped, streets festooned, flags flying and at night an untold brilliancy and affluence of electric display. The bugles blast, the blare of trumpets, the squads of soldiers, multi-colored and many-raided, drawn from every part of the wide-fung dominions, keep one constantly on the alert, add an indescribable animation to the scene, and keep you up till your heart beats and your eyes fill, and your whole being clamors to break forth in song or shout. What masses of moving humanity, close packed inside the huge ungainly motor omnibuses, and on their tops, and in the trim taxicabs that precede, surround and follow them in endless tireless procession, gliding in long lines as far as the eye can reach, passing and crossing each other with in half's breath distances, and with perfect precision, and what greater masses get on bicycle, on foot, in carriage or cart, silk hatted or bare headed, shimmering in fine raiment or clad in coarse and scanty garb, are orderly, tolerant, cheerful and good natured. It is wonderful that spirit of cheery humor which marks the London crowd and acts as a buffer to many a delicate situation, and as a lubricant in many a close entanglement where the friction otherwise would result in angry ire.

The London Police.

And the police, one never tires of admiring that unsurpassable body, which steadies and leads and drives the millions of the metropolis along the crowded lines of traffic. Cool headed, sparing of speech and gesture, ubiquitous in presence, hearty and kindly they are more loved than feared, more looked upon as guardians of the masses than as warriors of law, and more valued as indispensable friends than as stern monitors of order. London would be chaos if deprived for a day of their service, and it is safe to say that their unceasing and systematic direction is worth more to business and traffic than would be liberal additions to transport facilities of London.

PRESENT DAY SCENES ON THE HISTORIC BATTLE FIELD AT GETTYSBURG AND COLONEL ANDREW COWAN, WHO LED TROOPS TO VICTORY.

DOUBLE cannon at ten yards. These words are graven on the monument to the First New York battery of the Sixth corps, which stands on the battlefield of Gettysburg on the spot where, on July 3, 1863, the battery met Pickett's division of Longstreet's corps at the crest of its magnificent charge, the "high tide of the Confederacy," the crisis of the civil war. At the famous clump of trees was regulated the dower of Lee's army, which the Confederate leader had hurled at the federal centre and which rolled back shattered after prodigies of valor. The First New York battery, which had such a great part at Gettysburg, was commanded by Colonel Andrew Cowan, today's honored citizen of Louisville, Ky. In this group of scenes on the Gettysburg battle field No. 1 shows the memorial to the First New York Battery erected by the State on the spot where the battery met Pickett's great charge. Colonel Cowan, who commanded the battery, is pointing out the direction from which Pickett's division advanced. At his right Professor John A. Himes, of Pennsylvania College. In front is Mr. William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, Ky., son of a Confederate soldier, and at the left is the monument erected by Congress in honor of all the regular army regiments taking part in the three days' battle. The shaft surmounted by a bronze figure of Liberty is the Pennsylvania State Monument. Photograph No. 2, taken on the battlefield in October last, is of the commission appointed by Congress and State Governors to arrange for the fiftieth anniversary of the battle. General Sickles is seated in the centre of the group and General Horatio C. King, of East Orange, N. J., next to him being Colonel Cowan. Among others in the group are United States Senators Heyburn and Oliver, Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, and General Grant, who commanded the Union army. Photograph No. 3, stands at the right of General Sickles, next to him being Colonel Cowan. Among others in the group are United States Senators Heyburn and Oliver, Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, and General Grant, who commanded the Union army. In No. 4 is seen the "High Water Mark" Monument, surmounted by an open book of bronze, on which the names of all the federal organizations that took part in the repulse of Longstreet's assault are inscribed on one of the pages and the names of all the Confederate organizations on the opposite page. The background is the famous copse of trees. The old time "ambrotype" of Colonel Cowan was taken in Washington in January, 1865, after the return of the batteries of the Sixth Corps from the Shenandoah Valley campaign.

WHY NOT RAISE MORE YOUNG BEEF CATTLE.

Interview with Local Butcher Indicates Possibility of Good Field for Beef Cattle Raising Here. The amount of beef brought to St. John from Ontario has been increasing, indicating that the farmers of the province are not fully alive to their opportunities. Speaking of the matter yesterday, a local butcher said that it was rather difficult to get good beef cattle in this province. "Much of the beef sold in St. John is cow beef," he said. "The farmers keep a cow as long as she gives milk, and when she is old and useless for milking purposes they kill her and sell her for beef. Old cow beef is pretty tough, and not at all satisfactory to the fastidious. Hence large quantities of beef are imported from Ontario, where they make a business of raising beef cattle. Years ago before there was any talk of scientific farming, we used to get good beef in St. John from the country. Then the farmers used even to work in the woods and on their farms, and as they were always raising young steers they usually killed two or three fat and comparatively young ones each year, and sent the beef to the city. Now when they see

HORSES, THEY HAVE NO SPECIAL INCENTIVE TO RAISE STEERS, AND SEEM TO PREFER TO RAISE COWS, WHICH GIVE A RETURN, WHILE THEY ARE GETTING OLD AND TOUGH ENOUGH TO KILL. AT THIS RATE THE SUPPLY OF STEERS IN THIS PROVINCE HAS NOT KEPT UP WITH THE DEMAND, AND ST. JOHN IS A GOOD PLACE FOR INDUSTRIOUS DISTRICTS.

Important Judgements In the Supreme Court

City Wins the Appeal in the Case Against Chief Clerk, Growing Out of Hotel Metropole Raid—Decision in the Gordon Case and in Other Actions.

The supreme court met at Fredericton at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and delivered a number of judgments in cases argued last term. Hepper vs. Clark. This case was tried at the St. John circuit before Judge Barry with a jury and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff for $250, the action being for illegal arrest from the Hotel Metropole. The appeal was made by the defendant against the verdict of the jury and the action brought against the chief clerk. From this verdict the defendant appealed. Justice White rendered the judgment, which the full bench concurred in (Barry no part) allowing the appeal and making an order to have the judgment entered in favor of the defendant.

By the judgment of the Supreme Court the plaintiff succeeds in his contention and a new award must be made unless the city grants a renewal of the lease. M. G. Teed acted for the appellant Gordon, and Recorder Barker for the city. The King vs. Allen Ex Parte Gorman. Gorman had been convicted under the C. T. act for the illegal selling of liquor, the case was appealed on the ground that the council had decided to postpone the trial. The magistrate took no notice of counsel's objection and heard the case at the time appointed, the defendant's counsel being absent. The court, per Chief Justice Barker, delivered judgment, dismissing the appeal in both cases. His honor stating that the magistrate, as long as he acted within his jurisdiction had full power to conduct his own court independent of any counsel.

LeBlanc vs. Laporte Martin and Co. This was an appeal taken from the St. John county court wherein Laporte and Martin recovered a verdict, the action being for goods sold and delivered. The court, per Chief Justice Barker, delivered judgment, dismissing the appeal. Campbell vs. Donaldson et al. The court ordered that the verdict entered for the plaintiff in this case be set aside and a new trial granted. McIntyre vs. White. This case was tried before Justice McKeown without a jury and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff. From this the defendant appealed. The chief justice said that the verdict was found on matters of fact and there was no reason why it should be disturbed after the presiding judge having heard the evidence had passed upon it. The appeal was ordered to be dismissed with costs.

HE TAUGHT SCHOOL CHILDREN TO SAVE. New York, June 23.—John H. Thiry, originator of the system of public schools savings bank, died at his home in Long Island City today. Since the start in 1885 of this system for inducing children to save, it was generally adopted, there now being according to recent estimate made by him, approximately $2,000,000 on deposit in school banks. Mr. Thiry was born in France 90 years ago and was twice married. His eldest son is 68 years old, his youngest three years. CAUSE OF BOILS EXPLAINED. Even in health there is a large accumulation of matter in the system, which if not destroyed, breaks through the skin in the form of pimples and boils. No remedy so cleaning, so sure to drive out boils as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They brace up the system, rid it of humors, restore health, and absolutely prevent swellings, pimples, blotches and boils. Because mild and certain, anyone can use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold by all dealers. A very attractive feature for this week is a silk sale at F. A. Dykeman and Co.'s store. # CARTOONISTS ON RECIPROCITY

THE RECIPROCITY BAND

THE COUNTRY—Darn it just as the team is going right that band has to start.

RECIPROCITY RASH

SIR WILFRID—"Somehow I don't feel as well as I did."

FARMER FIELDING—"It's all right, Uncle Sam only wants pasturage the length of the rope."

THE BRITISH INVESTOR—"Call off your dog or we can't talk business."

ASPECTS OF RECIPROCITY

When the editorial writers on the Toronto Globe were not looking the financial editor published in his department a striking argument against reciprocity. It was headed, "Wall Street Fears Reciprocity Delay—Railroad Stocks Lost Ground on Rumors of Possible Obstructions." The despatch itself was dated at New York, described a sharp break in stocks and took in part, "The chance that further obstructions would appear in the way of the Canadian reciprocity agreement reacted with special severity against the stocks of railroads which were expected to benefit by the agreement and the northwestern roads were among the heaviest losers of the day." Naturally capitalist interests in the United States are eager to make Canada their own particular commercial preserve, and with any check to their plans, Wall Street stocks decline.

As Mr. Bordeu said at Brandon: Minneapolis interests "speak in glowing terms of American railways carrying their wheels to their mills, and thence carrying the flour to the seaboard; of American banks with increased deposits; of factories turning out increased mill supplies; of increased pay rolls for American mill operatives; of more American elevators and mills; of added value to real estate; of more money in circulation and substantial development of every American undertaking and enterprise that makes a community prosperous. May we not reasonably ask why this development should not take place in Canada rather than in the United States?"

The Northwestern Miller of Minneapolis, said the other day: "The miller who is able to grind the Canadian crop will be the miller of the future, and where he is there will be the great mills of the world." Why not keep these mills in Western Canada, to build up Western Canadian centres, to furnish the Western livestock industry with feed, to enrich the soil of Western Canada, and to infuse new life into every artery of our national trade and commerce? Under present conditions the Canadian flour milling industry is growing to great proportions. Why should we check it in its full career and hand it over to our United States competitors? Why should American millionaires instead of our farmers and workmen get the benefit of an industry that under present conditions is certain to experience enormous expansion?"

Writing from Winnipeg on June 19, Prof. Thomas Shaw, an agricultural expert, said the trouble in Manitoba is that "the farmers are shipping away the essential elements of agriculture and they are not retaining them. They are taking what they call the fibre from the earth and the result is the plowing which is witnessed every summer; then, in addition to this as a result of the continual cropping there is a fungus, which attacks the root of the wheat. These causes will do much to lessen the yield of wheat this year in this province, and the yield will be less than the farmers expect." Prof. Shaw adds that he finds it exceedingly difficult to persuade the farmers of the necessity for more careful methods of tilling the soil. Reciprocity will encourage them in this unwise policy. "Why establish an expensive observation Commission if our fiscal policy is to place a direct premium upon the impoverishment of farming lands?"

MANY DOWN WITH PLEURISY.

Doctors say the country is full of it. First comes a chill, then cold develops—the inflammation grows—you can't draw a long breath—lungs and sides get sore, and pleurisy sets in. A good home-cure consists in taking twenty drops of Nerviline every four hours. Supplement this by vigorously rubbing the sides and chest with Nerviline, and when warmth and circulation are established, put a Nerviline Porous Plaster over the aching spot. Nerviline Treatment is always successful in colds, neuralgia, and pleurisy. Try it yourself.

In Earnest Now.

Penelope—Does Billy seem to have serious intentions?
Mehitabel—Indeed he does! He's trying to back out of the engagement. He says now he was only in fun.—Chicago Tribune.

Evening Up.

He—But couldn't you learn to love me, Anna?
She—I don't think I could, Harry. He (reaching for his hat)—It is as I feared—you are too old to learn.—Harper's Bazaar.

Two To One Shot.

Father, I am not sure whether I shall be a specialist for the ears or the teeth.
Choose the teeth, my boy; every one has 32 of them, but only two ears.—Sacred Heart Review.

Force of Habit.

Pottle—Why did you break off your engagement with that school teacher?

Sunday School Lesson

A Wireless Message Which Brought Spedy Relief.
B. S. Lesson by Evangelina,
July 2—Isa. 37:14-38.

The little kingdom of Judah, or all that was left of it, was in distress. God had sent the king of Assyria to punish it for its insubordination to Him. Sennacherib had fallen under the power of Assyria and thirty talents were being paid to him. Eight years later while the Assyrian king was putting down rebellions in Babylon, Hezekiah formed an alliance with the Philistines and the Phoenician states and backed by a promise of help from Egypt, refused to pay further tribute. Hezekiah in the meantime had built a wall of Jerusalem almost impregnable and had built an aqueduct by which abundant supplies of water could be brought within the city. Having subdued the revolt in the east, the Assyrian king moved swiftly westward to the Mediterranean coast, conquered the Phoenician towns one after another, defeated even the Egyptian army and then attacked Jerusalem.

Sennacherib's account of this may be read today on a six-sided stone cylinder in the British Museum. The interpretation is as follows: "Hezekiah, king of Judah, who has not bowed down at my feet, forty-six of his strong cities, his castles and his smaller towns in his neighborhood I besieged; I captured; also two hundred thousand, one hundred and fifty persons small and great, male and female, horses and mules, asses and camels without number I brought forth from the midst of them. As for himself, like a caged bird in Jerusalem, his capital city, I shut him up, for he had given command to renew the bulwarks of the great gate of his capital city.

To his former annual tribute I added an impost of presents and laid it upon him alone. His silver talents of gold ($436,260) and eight hundred talents of silver ($776,000). I caused to be brought after me precious stones, elephant hides and tusks, all sorts of things and his own daughters the women folk of his palace to Nineveh the city of my lordship and he despatched his envoys to pay tribute and to do homage."

Only a remnant of Judah survived this invasion. Hezekiah became the vassal of Assyria. Eleven years later Sennacherib again moved westward with his army, determined to take Jerusalem and conquer Egypt. When in the neighborhood of Judah with a vast army he sent a letter to Hezekiah as follows: "Let not your God in whom you trust deceive you saying, 'Jerusalem shall not be given into the hands of the king of Assyria.' Behold you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands by destroying them utterly and shall you be delivered? Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have destroyed as Gozan, and Haran, and Razeph, and the children of Eden which were in the land of Shinar. Where are the kings of these nations?"

When Hezekiah read the letter he was at His Wife's End. At not at his faith's end. What was to be done? Disaster stared him in the face. Egypt was a broken reed. So was Philistia. When he became so cornered that he could find no human arm to lean upon, he had no other alternative than to do what he should have done twenty years before—cast to the winds political and diplomatic alliances and less absolutely upon the arm of God.

See him as with nervous and steady step he goes up to the temple, anguish of spirit written on every line of his face! See him as with trembling hand he reopens the letter and spreads it out before the Lord!

See him as he prostrates himself in the dust before God! He would enter no plea against the enemy, but that based upon his own handwriting.

Read his sublime prayer in VSS. 16-20. In modern phraseology—"O, God of Heaven, the Creator and ruler of the universe!

Look At This In Black and White. Did you ever see such unparalleled blasphemy—such inconceivable infamy—as to place your trust in God on a level with the gods of Gozan and Haran and Razeph?

Not for my sake, nor yet for the sake of the remnant, but for the sake of Your Own Prestige Among the Nations save us from his hand!

The greatest heroes the world has ever known are the prayer heroes—those who discovered wireless telegraphy to heaven long before Marconi discovered it on earth.

As the receiver will respond only to a special transmitter which radiates the same number of vibrations a second as the sender, so God will answer only to the prayer which comes from a heart which has made it possible for Him to send the answer which came through Isaiah. What was it?

It was the word which the Lord hath spoken concerning him (Sennacherib): "The Virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee and looked thee to scorn; the daughter of Jerusalem hath shaken her head at thee."

Just as though Canadians would say to an insolent invader: "My Lady of The Snows will laugh you to scorn for presuming to set foot upon her soil. She will toss her head in derision."

"Whom have you reproached and blasphemed? Ask the Lord. One who cannot be intimidated by your vain boasts nor terrorized by your threats—One to whom your intolerable arrogance is unpardonable. You have ragged and belittled like a wild bull, therefore will I put my (hook) or ring in your nose and I will turn you back by the way you came and you shall not come, nor will I defend this city to save it for my own sake and for my servant David's sake."

Nothing could have seemed more improbable than the fulfillment of such a prediction, but in one night God let the King of Terrors loose upon him who had been the terror of the whole community, and with one stroke wiped out his army, leaving behind him a hundred and eighty thousand dead upon the field.

It was not the first time nor the last that a nation was saved through the intercession of one man. We are only awakening to the almost infinite power committed to us to gain great triumphs for God through defiance, believing prayer.

"If the history of all that prayer has wrought in the century now closing," says Dr. Pierson, "could be written and read it would be as startling as the opening of the books in the last day."

Inspired by the magnificent triumph of Hezekiah let us claim the promise: "If ye abide in me and my words abide in you ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you."

SPECTRE IN SKIRTS SCARES POLICEMAN INTO RESIGNING

Greenwich, Conn., June 30.—Just why any enterprising spook should select this lonely place to do its nocturnal road work in preference to New York, where plenty of congenial company can be found at all hours of the night, is hard to conceive. But if Thomas Scully, up to a few days ago a member of the police force, can be credited a spook of the feminine gender is now among those present.

Scully's former associates place so much reliance in his story they have explained their shields and carry them in their hands, prepared to hand them in at the first sight or sound of the invisible intruder. Since the night that Scully uncoiled his alleged experience with the skirted spectre the other members of the force are exhibiting the finest line of gooseflesh seen in this city in several seasons. Fearful that some of his men will turn into tripe unless their fears are allayed, Chief Ritch is investigating Scully's serial.

The occasions when policemen have resigned are so few as to wreck the memory of the person foolish enough to try to recall them, and that is another feature which insures Scully a respectful hearing. He had been on the force but one month, and his friends are certain he must have seen something which tempted him to back away from the city treasury. Some of the older policemen say if he had been asleep on duty and minding his own business, as he should have been, he would still have a good night's rest coming to him every night.

Such policemen as are able to discuss the uncanny affair without loosening their teeth, say the ghost appears to be up to date in every particular. She has the high, shrill voice of a suffragist in distress, uses a fine line of profanity and smokes cigarettes. While no one has caught sight of her, a stuttering rule of skirts makes it certain that she is encased in a hobble gown. Up to the present time she has spent most of her time prowling about the summer homes of wealthy New York folk on the road leading to the Country Club.

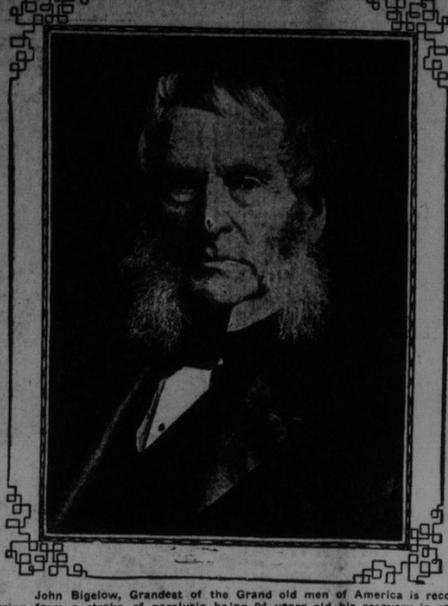

According to the story which Scully is alleged to have inserted in the press of a horrified comrade, he was passing the house owned by William Frawley Hyde, of New York, when a woman's piercing shriek rang out on the still night air, as they say in the story books. Knowing that the Hyde were away from home, Scully started to investigate. As he approached the front porch a low, rakish, raucous voice informed him that the owner had an engagement with a girl and that at that particular place and that if Scully had any desire to take part in Greenwich's annual police parade he had better beat it. A large section of fence now lying on its back shows that Policeman Scully galloped through the barricade as if it had been a cobweb. As he scooted away from the ground the shriek was repeated, and locking over his shoulder, he caught the reflection of a red glow which convinced him that the spook had "the makings."

Passing the same way a few hours later Scully heard the woman's voice hurling questions at other invisible persons. He says the replies sounded like an arctic explorer running on the soles of the feet to make sure his was awake, as he did not want to libel a hard working ghost. When he heard the organ going in the Congregational church and failed to find any one in the edifice he decided to cut down the supply of policemen by one.

"ORIENTAL" PALACE OF GEORGE V. SURVIVES

Relic of Period in Which East Was Touching West With New Force is Interesting, but Has Little of Beauty--Styles Are Mixed -- Ceilings are Star-Lit Skies; Dragons and Peacocks are Quaint.

London, June 29.—Some time ago the paperhangers that were busy stripping old wall paper from a certain room came upon the following address inscribed in thick black lettering on a large square of packing canvas:

Nov. 1st, 1819
H. R. H. THE PRINCE REGENT, THE PAVILION, BRIGHTON.

(For the paperhangers.)
BY CROSSWELLER'S COACH.

The room referred to was one of the many in that grotesque and curious palace that was built by King George IV. at Brighton when he was prince regent, and this particular inscription formed no doubt the wrapper of some great bundle of wall paper that had been despatched by mail coach along the London road and may still be seen among the other curios collected in this quaint pavilion by the sea. Style is Eastern.

The style of these buildings is obviously "oriental" in use. King George IV's own term for it. Originally it has been said there was something of the Grecian, and even something of the Gothic, in its elaborate composition, but the domes of a Turkish mosque, the Moorish arches and minarets, the Chinese decorations within, as well as hints of Egyptian and Hindustani, bring out the eastern character of architecture in a pronounced degree.

Quite out of place though it may be, standing hard by the old St. Peter's at Brighton, and with little that is really beautiful to recommend it, this palace is none the less interesting as a relic of the period when east and west were coming daily into closer touch with one another, and of a consequent endeavor, however crude, to make "the oriental" the fashion of the day among the courts of Europe.

Early in the nineteenth century Brighton was not the huge city that it is today, but it was quite as much a place of fashion as Bath, and the 60 stage coaches that drew up daily and departed from the old Castle Square bore certain witness to its popularity.

Entrance Arched. Passing into the grounds and gardens that surround the pavilion, as it stands now, by way of the great entrance archway built by William IV., in the style of Tangier, Fez, or the Alhambra, the entire effect is just what it was intended to be, oriental throughout.

The large rotunda or mosque-like dome that lies opposite the main building and now used as a concert room, was originally the royal stables. Leaving this and the bright flower beds behind and entering the pavilion itself beneath the massive portico, the first impression is one of semi light and gloom. The ceilings are painted like a starlit sky, or thickly cased in silver scales; there are immense crystal chandeliers, the weight alone of which must be enormous; uncounted Chinese dragons in gilt, flying peacocks that support quaint looking lanterns that might have come from Peking and the Forbidden City; gorgeous colored panels representing mandarins and others in various attire, and so throughout the length and breadth of the banqueting hall, the grand saloon and the corridors.

Bedroom Curiously. Even George IV's bedroom is more or less of a curiosity. One out of the seven doors this room contains led formerly to a bath that was 16 feet long, 10 feet wide, and 6 feet deep. It is said, has long since been removed to Buckingham palace, but in the days when the pavilion was the royal residence the bath was filled directly from the sea by pumping.

The mixture of styles, the "oriental" of it all, and the general character of this curious mansion are well right bewildering to the stranger; it is a writer of that period seems to have most aptly described it when he said: "It has neither beginning, middle nor end."

U.S. Twang in London

Wherever you go you see and hear Americanisms. The Strand, Piccadilly, Oxford street, Regent street and other centres of London life and business are full of faces that are familiar in Herald Square, and wherever one turns one can hear the "I guess," "You bet" and other familiar catchwords that remind one of the land where they have root and growth. Corn that is fit to eat and the seductive water bottle.

In the "near-American" bars of the leading hotels "whiskey and root beer" are given way to the palatable Martini, Manhattan and Bronx cocktails, the refreshing gin fizz and gin rickey and other alluring beverages that bespeak the advance of civilization.

The presence of so many Americans in the city is a godsend to the so-called funny writers of the English press. One who has worked Joe Miller and Josh Billings to death. One of these gentlemen, in telling of a conversation between "two pilgrims from the Great Divide" gives this as a specimen of their language:—"What d'ya think of it, Joe?" said the first gentleman, waving his hand to take in all the scene at the bank. "Such a Language."

"Waal, I'll tell you what's got me beat morn'ny thing else, it's that second gentleman replied, pointing out a number of smart city men in very fancy hats, orthodox morning attire and immaculate spats. "Why, some of them got waists like cat raplins," he added, and presently he distributed the reflection that the majority of Londoners are not so smart as they are made out to be. "I do a good day's work," "I'm tired of bein' in 'ose cutaway jackets," his friend contributed.

St. Paul's, they agreed, looked like it would do with a sponge down, as the first gentleman likened the burring of bees in Fleet street to a collection of cells in it. The status of "Mr. Gladstone" on the summit of the Nelson column commanded their admiration, but it was their comment on the timbering of the interior at Westminster that I applauded most.

"I told this story, anyway, have I?" remarked the first. "I don't think it was the best," "if it wasn't for the bits of old stones peeping out like looks more like an Oklahoma rush than in the boys' time than any other time," said the second. "I don't think it was the best," "if it wasn't for the bits of old stones peeping out like looks more like an Oklahoma rush than in the boys' time than any other time," said the second.

"Waal, I don't call much on cul," I said, and the cards began to deal. "I don't think it was the best," "if it wasn't for the bits of old stones peeping out like looks more like an Oklahoma rush than in the boys' time than any other time," said the second.

THINGS WHICH THE KING CANNOT DO

(Horace Wndham in The Bellman). It may sound a little curious. All these are quite a number of things which, despite his exalted position as sovereign of the realm, King George V. cannot do.

These disabilities range over all sorts of matters and concern etiquette, political religion and law. To begin with etiquette, it is an established practice that His Majesty must never call upon or grant an audience to a foreign monarch except in the presence of a responsible minister. Etiquette also precludes him from accepting a gift which a royal subject wishes to make him. Should, however, the gift be a joint offering, the prohibition does not apply. This enables King George to accept coronation gifts which are subscribed for by a number of people together.

A king never writes a letter to anybody outside his family circle. All other correspondence has to be conducted through one of his secretaries. Nor does King George accept invitations to dine or stop with a subject. What he does when he wishes to pay such a visit is to invite himself. Another strictly observed point of etiquette is that on ascending the throne a king shall withdraw from any clubs to which he has hitherto belonged. Similarly, he cannot become a Free Mason, and if he happens to be a member of an existing lodge he must resign from the craft. King George, however, has not been invited.

Even in affairs of the heart a sovereign must bow to the will of others. Although King Cophtua might have loved and shared his throne with a royal subject, the law would not permit the king to marry a subject. Members of the blood royal must have the sanction of parliament before they can marry; and this would certainly not be accorded unless the birth and position of the lady were such as to make her a peeress.

An English king's position toward the law is somewhat peculiar. Theoretically he is above the law. In practice it is not so. He is bound by the law as have his subjects. He cannot serve the established legal system of the country. Any royal proclamation issued to the public is only binding in so far as it is founded upon an existing law. It cannot alter the common law, or create a new offence. Nor can a king set up private tribunals, such as the Star Chamber, or interfere with the jurisdiction of a court. By a special act of parliament it has also been declared that His Majesty were to issue an action brought against him the revenue authorities would be liable for the payment of costs.

By the law of the land the king cannot possibly commit an offence. Any injury or wrong suffered by a subject at his hands has to be attributed to the mistake of his advisers. Hence it happens that King George is the only person in Great Britain who cannot arrest a suspected felon, even if such a one were to be seen entering Buckingham Palace or St. James' Castle. The reason for this is because no action for wrongful arrest could lie against him; and, therefore, if the person arrested were proved innocent, there would then be a wrong without a remedy. Another legal disability of the king is that he is barred of all rights in matters relating to land after a lapse of sixty years. He is also prohibited from serving on a jury, or from giving evidence.

Until so comparatively recent period as 1870, if a subject were convicted of treason or felony, the king could claim his property. Another known prerogative of the Crown is called "corody." During its existence a king who wanted to advance the interests of a royal chaplain could compel a bishop to support such a clergyman until a benefice had been found for him. Nowadays he has not even the right of founding a bishopric or creating ecclesiastical jurisdiction. Similarly, he must always be a member of the Church of England and cannot change his religion.

The theory that the king "reigns but does not govern" is amply borne out by the political system of the country. While the members of parliament are His Majesty's "Faithful Commons," they have certain privileges which he does not possess. Thus King George can summon or prorogue parliament at will; but he cannot prolong it beyond a definite period. Similarly, he is absolutely barred from imposing any sort of taxation whatever, without the sanction of the consent of parliament. So jealously guarded is this privilege that a king cannot create new officers with new fees, or annul existing officers, as such a course would be like imposing a fresh tax. In 1825, however, when an English monarch was in want of money he would levy taxes right and left without asking anybody. The prerogative of conferring compulsory knight-hood upon a subject has also been abolished. This prerogative, a substantial source of income, as individuals who refused the honor were compelled to pay fines. Before Charles II. mounted the throne a sovereign had several other ways of keeping down his bills. One of these was the right of purchasing provisions at a valuation—generally his own—and a second was that of impressing for the royal use any horses or carriages that he fancied. Crown lands, too, are now held in trust, and King George cannot dispose of or give away a single acre of such property.

While it is possible that before very long there will be "votes for women," there will never be "votes for kings." The franchise does not extend to English monarchs. King George is one of the few men possessing a genuine stake in the country without the privilege of recording a vote.

Seeking. (Hazard). "I've been looking for my husband for the last two hours," said an agitated woman to a calm one. "Don't be excited, madam," replied the latter; "I've been looking for a husband for the last twenty-five years."

Nearly Got Her. (Princeton Tiger). "Mr. Cleverton? You saw some old ruins in England this summer, I suppose?" "Miss Struckett-Rich—Yes, and one of them wanted to marry me."

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and an enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I did my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is wonderful. ## A DALSY CENTERPIECE

Designed by
F. E. HAY

HERE they are in a pretty ring, growing up from the outside and holding their little heads toward the center. This is a beautiful centerpiece in either white or color, and is very effective in that it has a contrast of solid work on the flowers and line work in the stems and circles.

Select a medium-weight linen and transfer the pattern to it, following the directions given on another part of the page. Soft, mercerized cotton will do for the working of the design.

Pad the petals by using the stitches lengthwise with soft darning cotton. Work across the petals and fill in the center of each flower with French knots. The buds should be a combination of French knots on top and solid work on the lower part. Work the circles on the band that surrounds the center in solid work, or alternate a solid dot with an eyelet.

The stems you will do in outline stitch, which is so quick that I am glad to offer it to you, knowing the results are almost that of solid stemstitch. Continue the stems from the bottom along daisies. If you prefer the yellow ones with brown centers, you will find that tan lines of a medium weight is good. In this case make the scallops and dots of brown and the circular lines in brown outline stitches.

This design is one-half of the centerpiece. When you have multiplied it by two in your mind you will be convinced of its attraction for embroiderers and colorists.

Soldiers' Back From Camp. The 71st Regiment from York county arrived in the city by special train last evening from Sussex Camp, where they have been putting in their season's drill. There were 10 cars in the train and the redcoats left early this morning for Fredericton where they will disband this morning.

Five Escape; Three Recaptured. Thursday evening five boy inmates of the Industrial Home escaped. Yesterday morning they were seen walking along the I. C. R. tracks near Model Farm and train hands on the suburban train captured three of the young fellows, and brought them to the city and they were handed over to the superintendent of the home. The other two boys took to the woods and up to late last night there was no word of their capture.

The Lancaster Sewerage. Excavation work in connection with the installation of the sewerage system in Lancaster has been started. Yesterday City Secretary Kelley issued the first permit to connect with the sewers, to William Golding. Although it will be some time before the sewer mains will be put down, many residents have already begun to make arrangements to connect their houses with the mains. The contractors who are doing the work are Pollock and Knight, Chas. Wheaton, and John Kane.

Attractive Show Cases. There has been great improvement in George A. Kiecker's drug store on Charlotte street and chief among the improvements is an all glass silent salesman, manufactured by the St. John Drug Co., of 23 Brunswick street. There are two of these in the store and they are the first shown in the province. They are 9 1/2 feet long, 4 1/2 inches high and 2 1/2 inches wide. The joints are cemented together and they are dust proof. There is a marble base, but otherwise they are entirely glass cases and something out of the ordinary.

New Pastor Arrives. Rev. J. T. Tucker, the new pastor of the Congregational church, accompanied by his bride arrived in the city yesterday and will immediately assume charge of the church, preaching at both services tomorrow. Mr. Tucker has just completed a course of study at the Congregational college, Montreal, and comes highly recommended. His wedding took place in Zion church, at Montreal, on Friday last on the arrival of his bride from England. A formal reception will probably be tendered the next pastor and his wife next week by the members of the Congregational church.

S. S. Premier. The busy men and women, the clerks who cannot join those favored by a Saturday half holiday can enjoy a pleasant outing trip Sunday on the regular Sunday ferry trip of the steamer Premier that leaves Millidgeville at 10 a. m., for her usual wharf stops on the New Brunswick coast: Long Island, Clifton, Fair Vale, Moss Glen, Gondola Point and The Willows, Reed's Point. The Premier leaves Millidgeville on the Sundays for the benefit of those who cannot leave for these points early Saturday and make connections by rail at Rothesay. The return trip is made to Millidgeville, leaving The Willows, Reed's Point at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Judge Savary's Book. A neat brochure, entitled the "Ancestry of General Sir William Fenwick Williams of Kara, and incidentally a maternal line of the present Marquis of Poughkeepsie," has been issued from the press of William Pollard & Co. of Exeter, England, and is sold for the sum of $1. The subject matter was written by Judge A. W. Savary, M. A., of Annapolis, and originally appeared in The Genealogist, when it attracted much attention. Besides an elaborate account of the ancestry and family connections of the General and a short sketch of his career, the booklet contains genealogical sketches of the histories of Annapolis Royal families of Winniett, Dryson, Williams and Walker and their connections. Judge Savary's account of the ancestry of the famous soldier who was born at Annapolis Royal evidences careful research, and is a valuable contribution to the genealogy of the province of Nova Scotia. It is interesting to note that O. R. Arnold of Sussex, N. B., is a nephew of the General.

Sunday School Picnic. Centenary Church Sunday School picnic will be held at Balleentyne's Grounds, Rothesay, on Tuesday, July 4th, 1911. Trains leave Union Depot at 9 a. m., and 1:15 p. m.

PLENTY OF ATTRACTIONS FOR THE HOLIDAY SEEKERS TODAY

Ball Games at 10.30 and 3 p. m., and a Band Concert the Principal Local Features -- Many Excursions Planned to Rail and River Resorts.

Despite the fact that holidays have been of frequent occurrence this season, and though the echo of the Coronation Day celebrations has scarcely died out, Dominion Day will be observed throughout Canada as loyally and on as elaborate a scale as ever. The day will be observed as a national holiday. Coming as it does on Saturday, the holiday is doubly welcome, as it means a day of celebration followed by a day of rest, and should the weather be propitious the weekend will no doubt be thoroughly enjoyed.

The reduced fares on railway and steamboat lines have been taken advantage of by many, and the outward and inward bound trains and boats yesterday were crowded. An excursion to Hampton will probably draw a number. Victoria Street Baptist Church, and Centenary picnics will take place today, while many private outings have been arranged. For persons who will remain in town an enticing programme of attractions has been arranged. The Opera House will not open, but the moving picture houses will be in full swing with holiday bills.

Should the weather prove too warm for indoor amusement, a band concert will be given on King Square by St. Mary's Band when the following programme will be discoursed: March—Salute to Whitman, F. E. Sharp. Overture—Norma, V. Bellini. Fantasia—From East to West, J. A. Browne. Euphonium Solo—The Favorite, J. Hartman. Soloist, James Rafferty. Waltz—Dream on the Ocean, J. Gungl. Selection—Southern Airs, H. Solomon. Intermezzo—Merry Maiden, E. E. Bagley. Valse—L'Etelle Polaire, Waldteufel. March—Heads Up, B. G. McFall. God Save the King.

The baseball match between St. John's and the Marathons at 10.30 and 3 o'clock will prove a popular attraction. Both teams are now in fine trim and a battle royal is looked for. The holiday on the river will appeal to many. The R. K. Y. C. will hold a long distance race to Upper James. A large number of entries have been received and as many fast ones are included in the race, considerable interest is being taken in the event. Owners of yachts and motor boats and other craft are anticipating an enjoyable time on the river.

At the summer resorts special holiday features have been arranged for today. The Renforth Outing Association will hold quoft matches in the morning. In the afternoon water sports will take place, and the celebration will finish with a dance in the evening.

The Westfield Outing Association's Dominion Day programme will consist of two sailing races during the afternoon, followed by a dance in the pavilion. Class "A" two sail or salmon boats, will start at 3 p. m., and the entries are: Mona—John Frodsham, Chinoak—Church Bros. Class "B" all yachts under twenty-five feet in length, will get away at 3:15 p. m. The entries for this class include: Rosamond—G. McA. Bilzard, Lakeside—Chas. Knowlton, Drednought—D. Arnold Fox.

Dancing will start in the pavilion at sharp eight o'clock in the evening. Special attractions will also be held at Rothesay. On the tennis courts a game will be played between a team from Fredericton and the Rothesay team. With such attractions in the city and suburban districts, prospects for a gala day are particularly bright.

MANY DOG OWNERS TO PAY EXTRA FEE

Price of Dog Licenses will be Doubled After Today—Only 1013 have been Taken Out to Date.

Over 60 people took out dog licenses yesterday, the last day upon which the single rate was obtainable. On Monday the double rate of $2 for male and $4 for female dogs goes into effect, and it is the intention that July 7th will be nominated as dog day when the police will get busy and summon delinquents to court where they will be fined $4 as well as compelled to put up the money for licenses. Only 1013 licenses have been issued this year as against about 1500 this time last year.

The city authorities estimate that there are about 3000 dogs in the city and say the reason that only about one half this number of licenses are taken out, is that about the time the police get busy, a large number of people send their dogs on a vacation to the country. It is probable that a dog day will be declared in the fall, after the dogs have returned from the country. It is an interesting fact that notwithstanding the large number of dogs in the city the number of licenses issued for female dogs upon which the tax is double that of the males, seldom exceeds 30.

NEW FERRY BOAT HAS COST $30,000 TO DATE

This is Estimate Submitted by Supt. Waring to the Meeting of Ferry Committee, Yesterday Afternoon.

At a meeting of the ferry committee, held yesterday afternoon, the superintendent reported that the total cost of the new ferryboat so far was $30,000, and that she would be ready for service in about two weeks. Ald. Smith presided, and there were present Ald. Elliott, Kierstead and Green, with the Common Clerk and Supt. Waring.

The superintendent submitted a report on the voyage of the Newport—a ten days' passage with 75 steaming hours. In two weeks the alterations to the boat would be completed and she would be ready to relieve the Ludlow for its usual cleaning and overhauling. According to the report the money spent on the new ferryboat to date, including purchase price, duty and repairs, amounts to about $30,000. The superintendent's report was adopted.

In reply to Ald. Kierstead, the superintendent said the fantails, hoods and clamps on each end, the alterations to the pilot house, the engine room work and electrical installation were well advanced. No preparations to alter the shaft had been made as instruction had been received from Ottawa.

The superintendent said he did not think that a new shaft was necessary, and he had hoped that the inspectors would not insist on one. He had been unable to find anything in the regulations requiring a larger shaft. Some discussion on the advisability of using the new boat to run excursions on Saturday afternoon took place, but no decision was reached. Ald. Kierstead raised the old question of giving the mates on the ferry boat more money than the deck hands. He moved that the mates be given an advance of $10 per month and this was adopted.

HAPPY BOYS HERE ON WAY TO UTOPIA

J. B. Byrne's Annual School Boy Camping Party, in City -- Others will Arrive During Summer.

Utopia is a pleasant place. But how shall I get there? Go straight across the corner. Then curve around the square. A happy party came to St. John and it is the intention that July 7th will be nominated as dog day when the police will get busy and summon delinquents to court where they will be fined $4 as well as compelled to put up the money for licenses. Only 1013 licenses have been issued this year as against about 1500 this time last year. Mr. Byrne has been visiting Utopia with parties of American youth for some summers past, and he has about concluded that there is no other place like it for an outing on the face of the globe. Other parties will arrive during the summer, and it is expected a baseball team will be organized to play some of the provincial teams. The party stopped at the Dufferin last night and will leave for Utopia this morning.

ACCIDENT AT A SCHOOL PICNIC

Frank Thomas Broke His Ankle Through Motor Boat Accident, at Maine St. Baptist Church Picnic.

The Main Street Baptist Church Sunday school picnic was held yesterday afternoon to Western Landing and was largely attended. The weather was all that could be wished by the picnicers for a very pleasant outing. About three o'clock in the afternoon there was a regrettable accident at the landing. Frank Thomas, a young man from the North End, with a few friends were trying to land at the wharf in a motor boat, and through some mistake the power was not shut off and when the youth attempted to land the boat off from colliding with the wharf, one of his feet was crushed between the bow of the boat and the wharf. It was immediately seen that he was badly injured and he was taken on board of the steamer May Queen, where he was attended by Dr. James A. McIntyre of Douglas Avenue. It was found that the young man's ankle had been broken and he was brought to Indiantown on the steamer and taken to his home at 537 Main street. He will be confined to his home for some time.
