BLAZE AT TILBURY

Electric Light Plant Destroyed—The Village in Darkness.

Tilbury, Ont., July 19.—Shortly after midnight Sunday morning flames broke out east of R. H. Smith's electric plant, close by the M. C. R. depot, and owing to the dryness of the weather the frame building was an easy prey for the hungry flames. It is only a few weeks since this very complete lighting system was fitted up at an outlay of nearly $1,500. Mr. Smith estimates the loss at about $3,500; insured for $2,500 in the Waterloo Company. The arc light dynamo, which was owned by the corporation, $300, covered by insurance. J. J. Jackson, manufactured skewers, loss $350, no insurance. Albert Stevenson had a little engine and boiler stored there, loss $50. A. Semour Wymer bicycle also fell a prey to the flames, loss $50.

Lacrosse, Wis., July 19.—Fire on Sunday destroyed the sash and door factory of the Segelke-Kohlhaus Company and the lumber yards of the John Paul Lumber Company, and several blocks of lumber were burned. The Segelke-Kohlhaus Company lose $70,000. The John Paul Lumber Company's loss is estimated at $50,000. Other losers were James Vincent, lumber dealer; C. L. Coleman, lumber, and several others. The entire loss is estimated at $150,000.

A YOUNG HERO

Rescues a Lady Bicyclist From Drowning.

Detroit, July 19.—Victor Cody aged 18, is employed as a deck hand on the steamer Newsboy, which plys between the St. Clair Flats and McSweeney's. The bicycle path near McSweeney's slants toward the lake, which is quite deep at that point. Yesterday a young lady, who had just arrived from the Flats undertook to mount her wheel, but it slipped and carried her down into the lake.

Victor Cody, who had been idly watching the girl, reached the spot just as she was going down the third time. He dived and brought her safely to shore. He jumped in a second time and brought up her wheel, and the third time captured her hat. Then, without waiting for thanks, or to learn the name of the young woman, he walked modestly away to his duties.

The Conflict Will Continue

Gen. Miles Heads an Expedition for Porto Rico.

Details Perfected and the Troops Under Way.

Expected to Reach the Point of Landing on Wednesday Night.

Sampson's Fleet Will Co-operate With the Army In the Movement Against Porto Rico—Watson's Squadron To Be Soon Ready for a Raid on Spain.

Washington, July 19.—After three days' consultation between the president, Secretary Alger and Gen. Brooke, during which there was frequent communication with Gen. Miles at Siboney, the details of the Porto Rican expedition were perfected, and the expedition itself was gotten under way, Gen. Miles, with some artillery and troops, sailing yesterday for Porto Rico on the cruiser Yale, to be followed quickly by an army of about 30,000 men.

First, there will be practicany no naval convoys; the navy department has declared that they are unnecessary; that there is not a Spanish warship in the West Indies that dare thrust its bow out of port. In the second place, the expedition does not start from one point, but will be divided among several ports, thus preventing the tremendous congestion that was encountered at Tampa in the effort to start the big fleet. Lastly, there will be no effort made to get the ships away together, but the transports will be allowed to find their own way to their destinations without concerted movement.

GEN. MILES LEADS THE WAY.

He has been promised by the president that he should go to Porto Rico, and the promise was redeemed when the Yale headed from Siboney for Porto Rico, 800 miles distant. Gen. Brooke will be the senior officer in Miles' command and upon him will fall the responsibility for the execution of the details of his superior's plans.

It is estimated that Gen. Miles should arrive by Wednesday night at the point selected for the landing, and will hoist the American flag at once over Porto Rican soil. The point chosen for the landing is kept secret, as the general will land before the full body of the expedition is at hand, and it is consequently not desirable that the enemy should be able to assemble a superior force to meet him.

The distance from Charleston, where the first body of troops for Miles' expedition was to start, is more than double the distance from Santiago to Porto Rico, so that the transports which sail from the former city can scarcely reach Gen. Miles before the early part of next week. These Charleston troops are the first brigade of the first division of the first army corps, and are commanded by Brig.-Gen. George H. Ernst. The brigade comprises the Second Wisconsin, Third Wisconsin and Sixteenth Pennsylvania Regiments.

The Navy In It.

BOMBARDMENT OF SAN JUAN.

The part which the navy is to take in the assault against Porto Rico has been fully matured. The several transport fleets will have with them one or two auxiliary craft carrying strong secondary batteries of six or eight 6-pounders. No time has been fixed for the departure of Admiral Sampson's fleet for San Juan. As to the navy, they will co-operate in every way with the movements of the army. It is the general understanding, however, that the navy will rely mainly on armored ships for the bombardment of San Juan, as the big battleships and monitors afford the best means of offensive warfare, while their armor belts protect them from such fire as the San Juan batteries can bring to bear. The fortifications there are much

LIKE THOSE OF SANTIAGO,

with a Morro Castle at the entrance of the harbor, and a number of lesser fortifications leading up to the city. These, however, are viewed with less awe, since an examination of the Morro batteries at Santiago has shown them to be antiquated and capable of little effective resistance. The movement of the ships from Santiago to their fields of action will and it is probable that some of Admiral Sampson's ships proceeded with Gen. Miles' first expedition toward Porto Rico. They will be needed to cover the debarkation of the troops on Porto Rican soil. The others will follow as soon as the full army expedition is ready to make a landing, when the attack will begin simultaneously from land and sea.

UNITED STATES TARIFF AT SANTIAGO.

Washington, July 19.—The tariff for Santiago was signed by President McKinley after a brief conference late yesterday afternoon with Secretaries Gage and Alger. The instructions were immediately cabled to the authorities in charge of Santiago, so that the tariff can be put in force today.

SHORT AND DECISIVE.

Washington, July 19.—The purpose of Secretary Alger is to make the Porto Rican campaign a short one. An overwhelming force will be thrown upon the island, and it is possible that a bloodless victory will be achieved when the Spanish become convinced that they have no reasonable chance to resist successfully.

The expedition is to comprise 30,000 men at the start, and it will be soon swelled to 40,000 men, and, if necessary, to 70,000 men, the equipment of the volunteer forces having now progressed so well as to warrant the statement that that number of men can be ready for service in Porto Rico within a very short time. The entire body of troops at Tampa will be taken, numbering about 13,000 men, and including a lot of heavy and light artillery, under command of General Rodgers. The expedition will be particularly strong with artillery.

It has been finally decided that none of the troops participating in the actual fighting shall be employed on the Porto Rican expedition. There are two reasons for this. First, the men have suffered severely, and are entitled to a rest. Second, it is deemed to be very bad practice to allow the soldiers who have been exposed to yellow fever to be brought in contact with those fresh from the United States.

RIGHT OFF.

Gen. Miles' force which left Siboney, Cuba, yesterday on the Yale, comprised four batteries of artillery and a few seasoned troops. Two brigades now at Charleston, are embarking on transports to take them to Porto Rico. All the force at Tampa, 13,000 strong, embracing artillery, will be put aboard ship as rapidly as transports can be gotten there, and sent to reinforce the first and second divisions of his corps from Chickamauga to Porto Rico. Gen. Brooke left here yesterday afternoon for Chickamauga to get his troops started.

INVASION OF SPAIN

Washington, July 19.—The plans for sending Commodore Watson's eastern squadron to Spain have reached a point where naval officers are considering the exact day of departure, and it is said that positive orders have been given that preparations must be brought to a close at once with a view of having everything in readiness by the end of this week.

THE IRENE AGAIN.

London, July 19.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: United States Consul Wildman informs me that the German cruiser Irene was passing Mariveles, off Manila, the other day, the United States gunboat Hugh McCulloch was sent after her to ask her to stop. As the Irene refused to obey a shell was sent across her bows, and a small boat was sent to discover what she was doing. The German admiral protested and insisted that German ships had a right to enter the harbor without being searched, a claim which Admiral Dewey declined to recognize.

HAULED DOWN THE SPANISH FLAG.

Camp McCalla, July 18, via Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 19.—A launch from the Marblehead went up the bay this afternoon to Vayatika, opposite Caimenera, and gave formal notice to the Spanish commander of the surrender of Gen. Toral's troops, together with the conditions of the capitulation of Santiago. The American officer also gave notice that if the Spanish gunboat Sandoval was disabled in any way, or if any arms, ammunition, public buildings or barracks at Caiminera or Guantanamo were destroyed, the Spaniards would not be treated as prisoners of war. The flag was hauled down this afternoon. From Spanish sources it is learned that the total force in Guantanamo and Caiminera is about 5,000, of which number however, 2,000 are disabled by sickness or wounded.

At Manila.

DEWEY'S MESSAGE TO THE GERMAN ADMIRAL.

New York, July 19.—A dispatch to the World from Manila, July 14, by way of Hong Kong, China, says: Admiral Dewey sent a messenger to the German admiral recently to inquire whether America and Germany are at peace or at war. If they are at peace he demands that the German warships here pursue a different course. If they are at war he wanted to know it, so he could govern himself accordingly. Admiral Dewey was prompted to send this peremptory message by the action of the German cruiser Irene in preventing an insurgent attack upon the Spanish garrison at Subig Bay, which greatly displeased him.

Admiral Von Diedrichs, in command of the German fleet in the Pacific, returned a verbal answer, apologetic in tone and satisfactory. But afterward he sent to Admiral Dewey a note, stating that he objected to the Americans stopping German ships which have been in the bay once and been visited. The German ships have made a practice of coming into Manila and then making trips outside the bay, cruising among the islands and returning in two or three days. The German contention is that a ship should not be stopped after the first time.

Admiral Dewey replied that Manila is a blockaded port, and that he would continue to have all ships communicated with when he desired, whether on the first or the hundedth time of entering the bay.

The German admiral responded, still objecting, and saying that he would submit the question to the senior officers of his other warships.

The Germans continue to keep a large squadron of warships in the bay here and about the islands. The armored cruiser Kaiser and the protected cruiser Irene have remained at Manila. The protected cruisers Kaiserin Augusta,

In Spain.

A REIGN OF TERROR PREVAILS.

New York, July 19.—A dispatch to the World from Madrid says: In consequence of the reign of terror inaugurated by the government, the people believe the wildest rumors afloat. Everybody sees that the papers hint much between the lines affecting to know more than perhaps they really do. The universal impression is that the government is acting dictatorially simply because it has grounds to believe that the monarchy is menaced, not only by the Carlists and the Republicans, but also by a widespread popular and military discontent, in consequence of which a high-handed policy is deemed necessary in order to make peace quickly without the assistance of the cortes, which will only be asked to pass the agreement of indemnity, when the country is more agreeable to the sacrifice of her territory in the Philippines and other colonies. It is also thought that France, Germany and Austria have advised the ministry that an early peace is indispensable to Spain. The queen gave audiences to Romero Robledo and Gen. Weyler, expressly to obtain their neutrality, if not consent, to negotiations for peace, and to persuade them to prevail upon the generals to answer for the loyalty of the army in Spain.

IMPOSING SILENCE.

The capital of Spain presents a strange aspect under the extraordinary measures taken by the government to impose silence upon the press.

Gen. Chinella, the captain-general of Madrid, again summoned into his presence today ten of the principal editors of Madrid. He sternly warned them that he was not going to be trifled with; that he would suppress the newspapers and imprison and courtmartial the editors if they dared to disobey the rules laid down. He even forbade them to publish papers with blanks in the spaces in their columns where the censor had suppressed articles or paragraphs, intimating that the space must be filled up anyhow.

One of the leading Liberal statesmen explains the conduct of the government thus: Premier Saagsta had to resort to the severe policy of the state of siege (martial law), because several generals—even Weyler, Campos, Polavieja and Chinchella—told him that they could not answer for the consequences of an agitation fomented by the press and Carlist and Republican conspirators.

A RISKY GAME.

On the other hand, the papal nuncio and foreign ambassadors told him that no step could be taken towards peace unless President McKinley was assured the government could enforce the conditions imposed by events. For the same reasons Senor Sagasta and the minister of war affected to ignore the progress of negotiations for the capitulations of Santiago, although Generals Blanco and Toral telegraphed every day the successive stages of the parleying, Blanco washing his hands of all responsibility, and Toral begging Sagasta to authorize him to act, while the government in Madrid took care to state officially that Toral acted entirely on his own responsibility, and could not undertake to surrender all the forces of the whole Province of Santiago. When all is over, Sagasta will spring the news on the country. He intends to act in the same way in regard to the conditions of peace. He will only let them out when they are signed. It is a very risky game; but it is the only means of saving the monarchy and the regency if the army remains loyal.

EPHONE COMPETITION

ntatives of the Bell and People's Companies

t Their Claims at the Council Board.

The New Company Secures a Fifteen-Year Franchise.

Bylaw Passed to Increase the Number of Liquor Licenses.

Mayor Wilson's Casting Vote Carries the Third Reading—More Junketing Proposed.

Competition it will be. The People's Telephone Company of London were last night granted permission by the city council to carry on a telephone business in London for the next 15 years. The work of constructing a plant to compete with the Bell Telephone Company will be started at once, and by Jan. 1, 1899, the system will be in operation, when a telephone service, at rates greatly reduced from the present, will be supplied to the citizens. It is estimated that the building of the plant will cost about $50,000, most of which will be spent in London during the next five months. This important piece of legislation kept the city fathers up till 1:15 a.m., when the bylaw granting the franchise was finally passed. A fair-sized grist of general business helped, of course, to make the session of such unusual length. Fortunately the sewer question was deferred. The mayor presided, with every chair filled around the board.

CITY TO RUN IT.

The Socialist Labor Party sent the following communication asking the city to control its own telephone system:

"London, Ont., July 16, 1898.

"To the Mayor and Aldermen of the Corporation of the City of London:

"Gentlemen,—Whereas, the past existing franchise of the Bell Telephone Company has recently expired, and the road is open for the city of London to construct and operate its own local telephone plant; and

"Whereas, a corporation of private capitalists have made application to the city council for a franchise to operate a telephone plant, with a view to deriving personal profit therefrom; and

"Whereas, resolution 3 of the clauses attached to the platform of the Socialist Labor Party of Canada demands that municipalities shall obtain possession of and operate all industries requiring municipal franchises;

"Section London of the Socialist Labor Party of Canada hereby submits to the mayor and aldermen of the city of London that steps should at once be taken to construct and put into operation a citizens' telephone plant, in accord with resolution 3 of the Socialist Labor Party platform, as above noted. Section London, S. L. P. of Canada, also hereby enters its emphatic protest with the mayor and aldermen of the city of London against any charter being granted to the private corporation styled 'The People's Telephone Company'; also against any renewal of the past existing franchise to the Bell Telephone Company. Signed for the Socialist Labor Party of Canada, Section London. "F. J. DARCH,

"Secretary Executive Committee."

No one spoke in behalf of the communication, and it was filed.

COMPETITION FAVORED.

The application of the People's Telephone Company for a franchise and of the Bell Company for an extension of franchise were considered. For the former Mr. Bayly again addressed the council. The Bell in this city, he said, would not have offered $1,000 if it had not been for competition. The People's Company were before the council as pioneers of the popular telephone system in this part of the province. The stock would be locally held. The company took all risks. The city none. If the citizens did not want it, the company alone would lose. He referred to the guarantee of the company to furnish the most modern telephone service, and said it was the duty of the council to encourage the enterprise of the local business men.

Mr. E. Meredith, Q.C., for the Bell Company stated that both the Bell Company and the People's Company would each do the best they could for their shareholders. It was a matter of business with each, and the council should consider only the interest of the ratepayers. He argued that in New York and other large cities there was only one system; there should be only one in London. To pay for the two companies' phones it would cost $66, which would be harder on the business men than at present. Further, the new company had no trunk line. He complained of what he called "indecent haste" in rushing this thing through, and said the new company gave no security. He was instructed to repeat his statements that no less than 1,800 repeaters and dummies appeared on the Detroit list, and that nearly all the business men there used the Bell Company's telephone.

Mr. T. H. Purdom replied that the Bell Company were opposed to a fair field. They "want the whole hog." But it had been proven in Michigan that the people had been supplied with better service, at reduced rates, through competition. The citizens owed nothing to the Bell Company for their long-distance service. They paid well for it—about as much as for telegraphing.

Mr. S. J. T. Brown, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, said that the People's Company at Port Huron was a failure practically, having only 240 subscribers as compared with the Bell Company's 700. In this city there were over 600 telephones rented on the "limited call" system—$15 a year and 2 cents a call. The average cost of these was slightly over $27, and some did not go over $16.

Ald. McCallum asked if any information had been received from Port Huron, and the city clerk said a letter had been received in reply to one sent at Ald. McCallum's suggestion. The letter stated that there were two companies in operation there now, which had resulted in a reduction of rates.

Ald. Cooper spoke in favor of the city taking control of its own telephone system. He moved a reference to No. 2 committee.

Ald. McPhillips made a lengthy and telling attack upon the Bell Company. London, he said, was charged a higher rate for telephones than any city in Canada or the United Kingdom, and gave a comparative statement in support of his bold assertion. The "toll" system, he said, existed in a few other cities, and altogether the system in London he considered "wretchedly bad."

Ald. Graham said the citizens were anxious for competition, but did not realize what this competition would mean. He had no personal grievance against the Bell Company, but would vote for competition because it was the wish of the people.

Ald. McCallum had found but one person opposed to competition.

The bylaw was considered, to fill in the blanks. The first blank was as to the length of the franchise.

Ald. McPhillips moved a grant of 20 years.

Ald. Winnett moved that the time be 10 years.

Ald. Stevely proposed 15 years. Carried.

The amount of underground construction specified was one mile.

The company shall be bound to replace the overhead construction within one month after being notified by the council to do so.

Not more than one block shall be broken up, opened or interfered with at one time.

Ald. Carrothers wanted the company obliged to put underground construction wherever macadam roads were built.

The mayor said this would be unjust to the new company, and Ald. Carrothers' motion was lost.

If the new company fail to operate the telephone system for fifteen days their franchise may be forfeited.

The time to be specified in making cheap rate contracts with subscribers was considered.

Ald. McPhillips moved that the term be five years. Lost.

Ald. O'Meara wanted the term fixed at one year.

But on motion of Ald. Stevely and Hunt, the term of three years was decided upon.

Mr. Bayly said the company could not accept a less term than three years. They had already 120 contracts signed here for five-year terms.

The bylaw was given a second reading.

Ald. Nutkins moved to provide that all connections with outside places be furnished at a rate of 10 cents for each 30 miles. Carried.

The bylaw was then given its third reading and passed. It will be signed by the mayor when the city solicitor approves of the amended clauses.

TO WELCOME THE OLD BOYS.

Messrs. F. Love and E. M. Flock appeared on behalf of the London Old Boys' Association, and asked that the council extend a civic reception to the visiting Old Boys on Aug. 6, and also grant them the use of Victoria Park for the holding of the band concert, with the privilege of collecting voluntary contributions. The Toronto association will bring with them the Queen's Own Band, said Mr. Flock, and a big crowd is expected. Associations are being formed in Buffalo, Detroit, and other places, and the importance of the occasion was urged. The requests were granted, on motion of Ald. Stevely. The mayor, and as many of the aldermen as possible, will welcome the visitors on their arrival at the C. P. R. station.

Several petitions for the remission of taxes and for and against local improvements were sent to committee.

SEWER QUESTION DEFERRED.

The report of No. 2 committee passed without objection. The recommendation that the tender of the American Sanitary Engineering Company to install a complete sewage disposal plant on the international system, for $41,800 be accepted, provided that the company give a guarantee of 50 per cent as to satisfactory operation after erection, and also a guarantee that the annual cost will not exceed $3,800, was read in connection with the following recommendation:

That Consulting Engineer Chipman be instructed to give a written report upon the new system at once.

Ald. Douglass moved the adoption of the latter clause. Ald. Carrothers seconded, and the motion carried.

Then on motion of Ald. Carrothers and Ald. Greenlees the preceding clause was sent back to the committee until Mr. Chipman's report be received.

The recommendation to purchase from Mr. George Heaman the one-horse water-cart at present in use on the asphalt pavement carried. The price is $175. The re-christening of the market bazar to "market house for butter, eggs, poultry, etc," was confirmed.

THE DUNNETT PROPERTY.

Ald. Carrothers held that the sewerage committee's offer of $2,500 for that portion of the Dunnett property fronting on King street, with 60 feet frontage on Thames street, was too high. He moved to settle the difference by arbitration.

Ald. Taylor held that the Misses Dunnett were fully entitled to the amount they asked—$3,000.

Ald. Greenlees was strongly in favor of the $2,500 offer.

Ald. O'Meara opposed it. The land was not worth $800, he said, and seconded Ald. Carrothers' motion.

Ald. Taylor moved to defer action to admit of the appearance of the Misses Dunnett before the council. Ald McPhillips seconded.

Ald. Cooper upheld the action of the committee.

The motion to refer the matter to arbitration carried.

TOO MUCH JUNKETING.

The hospital building committee's recommendation "that the committee, the architect and the city engineer be appointed a deputation to visit Detroit and other places to inspect the system of heating explained by Mr. Huyette

A Martyr to Diarrhoea.

Tells of relief from suffering by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

There are many people martyrs to bowel complaints who would find Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a wonderful blessing to them. It not only checks the diarrhœa but soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated bowel, so that permanent relief is obtained.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Houghton, Ont., sends the following letter: "For the past two or three years I have been a martyr to that dreadful disease diarrhœa. I tried every remedy I heard of and spent a good deal of money trying to get cured but all failed until I happened to read of a lady who was cured by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it according to directions and was cured in a very short time. I cannot praise the remedy too highly for what it did for me."

HAIL TO THE AUTO-CAR!

Successfully Tried on Yonge Street Toronto—Will be Utilized by the Postmaster-General.

Mr. A. H. St. German has made another step forward in his auto-car project. At first he intended importing the cars from England, but latterly he decided to have them built in Toronto. Before giving orders for the construction of a large car suitable for public traffic, Mr. St. German ordered a Gladstone to be built by the Canadian Motor Syndicate. This machine was completed some ten days ago and Mr. St. German sends the World a photograph to show that it is no myth, but a working reality. The photograph was taken at Mr. St. German's park, Yonge street, North Toronto. In the car are Mr. St. German, his wife and a young lady. Mr. St. German appears as if it was the proudest moment of his life. A pleased and satisfied smile prevades his genial countenance. He looks like a man who has at last solved a great problem. One hand leisurely reposes on his knee, while the other quietly grasps the circular lever by which the auto-car is controlled and directed. One has to look at the picture for an instant to discern that a sense of victory has taken possession of the energetic Yonge street pioneer. The auto-car is a compact, small and not uncomely vehicle. That it will go is evident from the fact that it had climbed the Yonge street hills, some four or five miles, to Mr. St. German's house. Mr. St. German states in the letter that he has placed orders with the Canadian Motor Syndicate to have several auto-cars built and completed before the Industrial Exhibition is held next September. He gives the public to understand that the St. German auto-car line will soon be an accomplished fact. In a postcript to the letter, Mr. St. German states that a letter has been received from Ottawa from the postmaster-general, informing the Canadian Motor Syndicate that their tender has been accepted for carrying mail from the Don postoffice to Toronto postoffice, a distance of eight miles, by motor carriage. Long live Mr. St. German and his auto-car!—Toronto World.

It Is Extreme Folly

To use medicine to cure effects instead of using Paine's Celery Compound to get rid of the cause. Paine's Celery Compound will make you well and strong. All the while you are using it the nerves gain in power and strength, the digestive organs are fully toned, and lost health is rapidly returning.

It is extreme folly to neglect the insignificant ills, aches, pains and tired feelings that some people look upon as merely trifles. You should remember that the hot summer weather aggravates the little ills of life, and these little ills frequently develop serious disturbances and deadly diseases. Paine's Celery Compound should be used at once to brace up the diseased nerves, purify the blood and fortify the system. Weak children, frail and weary women, and tired and broken-down men find a new existence in Paine's Celery Compound, nature's true lifegiver.

The importation of madder root is chiefly from Holland.

TO PRISON ONCE MORE

Zola's Farcical Trial Results in a Verdict of Guilty.

Madrid Newspapers Appear With Blank Columns—The Censor's Handiwork.

ACCIDENTS TO THE PRINCE OF WALES.

London, July 19.—The newspapers are creating a great deal of talk over the mishaps, more amusing than serious, which have befallen the Prince of Wales. While passing Sunday at Wadedeson Manor, Aylesbury, the prince slipped on a stair and sprained his knee. While being conveyed to the railway station today in a chair the latter broke up, and his Highness received a shaking up, but no injury.

ZOLA'S TRIAL A FARCE.

Versailles, July 19.—The second trial of M. Emile Zola and M. Perreaux, publisher of the Aurore, on the charge of libel, brought against them by the officers of the Esterhazy court-martial, was recommenced here yesterday in the assize court.

M. Labori raised several objections to the trial proceedings which the court overruled. The public prosecutor charged M. Zola with shunning the trial, to which his counsel replied: "We will not shun the trial if we are allowed to bring our proofs."

This statement led to a great uproar in court, and cries of "Down with Zola!" "Down with the Jews!" "Out of France with them!"

After the court had refused to suspend the trial while the defendants appealed against the ruling, M. Labori anounced that he would allow judgment by default, and he and the defendants left the court. The trial then proceeded and MM. Zola and Perreaux were each sentenced to a year's imprisonment, to 3,000 francs fine, and to pay the costs of the suit.

WORK OF THE PRESS CENSOR.

London, July 19.—A special dispatch from Madrid says that the appearance on Friday night of several newspapers with blank columns, representing portions of news suppressed by the censor, caused a sensation. The following day, however, Lieutenant-General Chinchilla, military governor of the city, had interviews with the leading editors and managers, and discussed the situation. He expressed a desire to apply the new regulations with the least possible rigor, but the result is that a bitter feeling prevails, and as one effect of the censorship the papers insinuate that they know more than they dare assert. El Nacional suggests that the entire press should cease to appear until the censorship is abolished. El Liberal significantly reminds the government that the last time the newspapers appeared with blank spaces was the eve of the September revolution, when the revolutionists were headed by Senor Sagasta, Queen Isabella's implacable enemy.

Some papers publish distressing accounts of the condition of Admiral Camara's squadron.

Ministers in their statements to the newspapers continue to declare that peace is impossible on the conditions America imposes. Though Spain appears reconciled to the loss of Cuba, there is much ill-feeling at England's supposed territorial designs on Gibralter.

CARLIST ACTIVITY

Indications of a Rising—Precautionary Measures Taken by the Government.

London, July 19.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "It is well-known here that for some time past the Carlists have been secretly placing stores, arms and ammunition in many of the smaller towns along the French side of the frontier. When the signal for a Carlist rising is given, the taking of these supplies and munitions across the frontier, will occupy at the most a single night, as the men are ready, and know where they must go to receive arms and equipments. The Basque provinces seem very quiet, but this is expected by the fact that the orders of Don Carlos are most stringent in the sense that nothing must be attempted until he gives the signal, when the rising is to begin. The government has taken measures of precaution to nip in the bud any attempt of the kind. During the last few days more troops have arrived at Tolos and Vergara, two points of strategic importance in the last civil war. The signal for the rising will probably be given in the country between Catalonia and Valencia (the "Maestrazzo country") and in Navarre, where Don Carlos has his most fanatical followers. The Basque provinces will follow when the garrisons there have been weakened by the necessity of sending troops to fight the Carlists in Navarre. I have also information that the Republicans, especially those in Valencia and at Ubia, are buying arms. Gen. Weyler is reported to be in communication with both the Carlists and Republicans.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

THE BISLEY SHOOT

Canadian Scores in the Competion for Prizes.

Bisley Camp, July 19.—All save two of the Canadian team—Lieut. Forbes, 73rd, and Capt. Runion, 59th—competed for the Prince of Wales' prize, squadded competition, 10 shots, at 200 and 600 yards respectively. This match is open only to winners of N. R. A. gold, silver and bronze medals (not recruits' medals). The aggregate value of the prize is £300, of which £100 is given by the Prince of Wales, and a badge and £200 added by the National Rifle Association. Following is the score of the Canadians:

The shooting of the Canadian team during the past week does not compare favorably with its marksmanship last year.

Shooting in the first stage of the competition for the Queen's prize, the biggest event in the whole meeting, began yesterday. The prize is to be competed for in three stages. The match is open only to volunteers and retired volunteers. Altogether there are 500 prizes, with an aggregate value of £2,420, the first prize being that of her Majesty the Queen, £250; the National Rifle Association gold medal and the National Rifle Association gold badge. No retired volunteer may take the first prize. The second prize is £60, the third £40, fourth £30, fifth £20. BASEBALL.

LONDON LOST.

London proved a windfall for the visitors yesterday. It was an odd game from start to finish, full of flukes. It was lost by Carey's misjudgment of Phillips' long hit to center in the third, which allowed three runs to score. Mohler, the new second baseman, and Lohman, the new backstop, made their debut on the London diamond. This makes in all sixteen changes since the team was organized in the spring, viz.: Grim, Bach, Accorsini, Saunders, Bates, Beal, Carson, Krampf, Clark, Grimshaw, Jones, Howell, Secnrist, Rock and Smith; yet more changes are anticipated. The new acquisitions to the team are not in any way a tower of strength, if yesterday's play was an exhibition of their best efforts.

London went first to bat. Meara was hit by Baker; Mohler stepped to the rubber for the first time in London, and did the grand by striking out; Laroque went to first after being hit, and Keenan flew to right field. A beautiful shower of 28 minutes' duration ensued, and it was with some reluctance that the Hams continued the play. Their first inning resulted in two runs, and London followed up with scoring one in the second.

The fireworks began in the third, when Smink, Laroque, Keenan and Carey found Baker a mark. The Hams went in to bat in the last half of the third with a determination to tie the score, and they did, but it was on most abominable errors on the part of the home team. Baker was succeeded by Bradford, who went to bat first in the third. He drove a hot one in the direction of center field, which Ward followed out, but did not get. Carey should have taken the fly. Hagerty hit safe to left, Meara failed to gather it in, and Bradford was advanced a bag. Elton drove a hot liner, which hit Umpire Beal on the leg, giving the batsman a safe hit, and filling the bases. Congalton was presented with a base on balls, and Bradford was forced home. Laroque took advantage of this condition of affairs to retire Johnson from the game, putting in Kelb. Johnson was not to blame for the sloppy playing, but he is not the first innocent to be made a scapegoat. Kelb entered the box, pitched a couple of wild ones, and Phillips spoiled the next by smashing it out to center. Carey misjudged this, and allowed Hagerty, Elton and Congalton to score.

In the sixth London scored two more —their last runs. The visitors went in to win. Elton went out to Carey, and lessened the chances. Congalton got to first on a scratch hit; Phillips followed a moment later on a hit to center, and Schrall's punt forced Phillips out at second. McKevitt hit to center, and the ball on the bound went through Carey's legs. This was a costly manœuver, as Congalton and Schrall scored, and McKevitt went to third, and home on Dean's hit. Score:

NOTES.

Come down a peg, Hamilton!

Carey had no fewer than six put outs.

Ward's running backward catch in the eighth was the best play of the game.

"Just look at the champs play," said Hagerty more than once.

Yesterday the London club received their two weeks' salary.

All the right-hand batters yesterday planted nice ones in right field.

Beal's decisions yesterday were the worst of any game he has officiated in.

London was thirteen men on its pay roll. With three catchers and four pitchers, somebody has to travel.

The new catcher needs an extension to his bat. He stands further from the plate than any other man in the league.

Carey's magnificent batting and fielding was marred by two very disastrous plays, which gave Hamilton a total of four runs.

Dean fumbled two slow ground hits, but luck was his way, and nothing resulted, but the runners being left on their bases.

Lohman's first throw to second caught Umpire Beal on the head, gave Elton a base and allowed Hagerty to take second.

Of late there has been altogether too much clap-trap on the stand. It robs the game of much of its pleasantness, bothers the spectators, and is often insulting to the players. At yesterday's game Dean was subjected to many insulting cries from the bleachers. Dean is only human, and has his faults, but such comments as were heard yesterday reflected less on him than on the ignorance of his critics.

CHATHAM STILL LOSING.

St. Thomas, July 19.—The locals won from Chatham yesterday through a big streak of luck. The visitors outplayed the home team, both with the stick and in the field. They had the game well in hand when, in the ninth, after two men were retired, Hicklin, who pitched for Chatham, forced two men across the plate. Then a two-bagger by Reid netted three runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Thomas..4 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 3—10	9	3
Chatham ....0 0 1 0 2 0 2 3 0— 8	15	3

Batteries—Pears, Reid and Baker; Hicklin and Phelps. Umpire, Grim. Attendance, 400.

BERLIN VS. STRATFORD.

The Stratford team visited Berlin on Saturday afternoon and a very good game of ball was witnessed. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Stratford	3	5	5
Berlin	9	8	6.

THE WIND-UP APPROVED.

Hamilton Times: President Davis, of the Canadian League, has received from Mr. N. E. Young, president of the National board the latter's approval of the winding-up of the International League and the organization of the Canadian League. The approval carries with it protection to the four Canadian clubs and all the players until the National board meets, when the president's action will be confirmed, unless good and sufficient reason can be advanced for withholding approval. As Bay City, the only objector, has no valid reason to offer, there can be no doubt that the new league is on a firm foundation.

KILLED IN A BALL FIELD.

Newcastle, Ind., July 19.—At the conclusion of a ball game here yesterday, Charles Presnall and Geo. Bramble became involved in a quarrel over the ownership of a bat. Presnall finally struck Bramble on the head with the bat. Blood poured from Bramble's mouth and nose, and in a few hours he died. Bramble was 29 years of age and Presnall 17.

FLYS.

All of the National League teams have been shut out, except the Chicagos.

The United States war tax of $10 is payable alike by all baseball clubs, professional, semi-professional, or amateur, where an admission fee is charged. While the theater fee is charged only to towns of 25,000 or over, the baseball tax will have to be paid by clubes in every city, town, borough or village.

The once famous Chicago pitcher, Fred Goldsmith, who retired in 1884, is now postmaster at and owner of the only store in Clawson, a village near Detroit. Goldsmith played with the Tecumsehs in the 70's.

You hear of cut prices in bicycles, and in sporting goods generally, but one does not hear of cut prices in baseballs and bats. There is a steady, even demand for first-class baseballs and well-turned wagon tongue bats, and the price seldom, if ever, varies either way.

Cockman, who is now covering short in fine style, would be great help to some national League club which is in need of a short stop or third baseman. How about Brooklyn and Louisville; are they all filled?—Sporting Life.

It is now First Lieutenant E. Arlington Pond, United States army, no longer "Arlie" Pond, the Oriole pitcher. The doctor went to Washington on the 7th inst., and reported to the surgeon-general and to the surgeon in charge at Fort Myer, who ordered him on duty at once. Dr. Pond has the rank of first lieutenant, with $130 per month, rations, and other perquisites as compensation.

Smith and Beckley, chased out of Pittsburg by the grand stand managers, are keeping the Reds in first place by their first-class stick work.

The croakers who insisted Cy Young, of Cleveland, was a has-been are referred to the rail-splitter's record: Games pitched, 20; gamse won, 15; games lost, 5.

Burkett, of Cleveland, is the eighth player to make five hits in a game this season. The others are Selbach, Isbel, Everett, Lajoie, Cooley, Keeler and Elmer Smith.

Old Billy Nash is trying to convert himself into a pitcher. It doesn't take much of a man to fool the batters this year, and there is hope for the ex-king of third basemen.

A telegram has been received from Manager Irwin announcing the First Baseman Beaumont, of the Pawtucket club, has been signed by Toronto. He is said to be a good batter and clever fielder.

"Tip" O'Neil, of Woodstock, and "Bob" Emslie, of St. Thomas, are recognized as the best umpires in the Eastern and National Leagues respectively.

Arlie Latham has been chosen as the successor of Dan Brouthers, at first base, for Toroneo.

Kinslow, who was with London in the old International League, and who has been out of the game for some time, has re-entered the ranks, and is now catching for the Washington National League club.

CRICKET.

D. A. C. ELEVEN WON AT WINDSOR.

The Detroit Athletic Club cricket eleven played a match with the Victorias of Windsor on Saturday and won. They went to bat first, and scored in all 104 runs against the bowling of Wigle and Stuart. Bamford, Ridgley and Dale accumulating 86 of that total. The Victorias ran up against some very good bowling by both Bamford and Dale, who divided honors, each getting five wickets, and were content with 74 runs.

ATHLETICS.

Dan Creedon, of Australia, and Jack Bonner, of Summit's Hill, Pa., have signed articles to meet in a 25-round bout before the Greater New York Athletic Club, Coney Island, on Aug. 15. The club has guaranteed a purse of $3,000 for the bout.

John L. promises to find $2,000 backing for Spike Sullivan against Lavigne. The ex-champion has taken a great fancy to his namesake.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment...

Endorsed by Dr. C. M. Harlan of the American Journal of Health

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE....

He says:—Among the proprietary medicines recognized is Dr. Chase's Ointment, compounded by Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, as a remedy for Piles, Eruptions and Eczematic Skin Diseases, for which it has been used with marked success and has effected remarkable cures. It is not the practice of the Medical Profession indiscriminately to use proprietary medicines, but there are hundreds of physicians throughout this country who are using Dr. Chase's Ointment in their practice. We handed out during the last month 2,700 boxes of free samples of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the thankful results have been something astonishing. Here is what one of the cures says:

MR. O. F. ST. JOHN, 346 Shaw St., Toronto, in his letter states: I suffered for some years from Itching Piles, at times being unable to sleep for the annoyance caused by them. After trying almost every remedy known, I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can say one box entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of it, and have recommended it to several of my friends, to whom have been cured by its use.

...ge Results of the War Already.

It is surely interesting to observe, as we are all observing today, the large makings of history. Half a dozen considerable results have already flown from the war between the United States and Spain. They are the following:

1. Spain has lost all her possessions in the Western hemisphere, and will probably lose all of her outside possessions.

2. The war has thoroughly destroyed any sectionalism that had survived as between North and South.

3. The view of the United States has been withdrawn for ever from merely local or parish politics. The day of a necessary widened or world-view has arrived.

4. United States now denotes a colonial, or imperial, power. Like England and France, she is now the possessor of colonies.

5. The war has been the incidental means of creating a strong bond of friendliness, and a sense of mutuality of interests, as between the United States and Great Britain.

6. The destruction of two Spanish fleets, and the capture of Santiago, have resulted in an enormous increase in respect for the power of the United States on the part of the nations of Continental Europe.

Mr. Whitney, Be Honest and Trust in the Right.

Mr. Whitney has addressed a letter to the public, bearing the date of July 14, in which he denounces Mr. Hardy for having called the Local Legislature together. There can be no doubt whatever that those who are returned to the Legislature have, at the present moment, the right, under the law, to sit and vote in the Assembly. But Mr. Whitney thinks the Legislature ought not to meet until after the courts have dealt with the Contested Elections. This view is one which has never been acted upon. The law assumes that the Legislature is legally constituted, and that each person returned, is entitled to sit there, until his right to do so is negatived by a judicial decision.

Mr. Whitney declares that the action of Sir John Macdonald in 1887, and the acquiescing of the Dominion Parliament in his proposal, is not a precedent. It is interesting to note the reason which Mr. Whitney gives for the view which he has expressed: that the passage of the Dominion act was found to be necessary because it was feared that under it deputy returning officers and poll clerks were disqualified. How in the world does this destroy the Dominion act of 1887 as a precedent? If there were three classes of officers disqualified, all appointees by the Government, is it not as plain as the nose on Mr. Whitney's face, that a very large number of the members returned to support the Dominion Government, would be disqualified if the courts took the view that these officers were not entitled to vote. To prevent the expression of such an opinion by the courts, Sir John Macdonald proposed a declaratory act, affirming that these officials were qualified voters, and thus put it out of the power of parties to raise the question in the election trials. Is there anything different in the case of the constables from that of the deputy returning officers or poll clerks? If the intention of the Legislature was that all should vote, is there any greater reason for interfering when all may, by a strict construction of the law, be disqualified, than if only one of the three classes were so disqualified?

Mr. Whitney knows right well that in the Dominion elections of 1887, it is extremely doubtful if Sir John Macdonald could have maintained his position, if these three classes of officers had, in the election trials, been held disqualified to vote. It was not disputed that the actual intention of the Legislature was that they should all vote, and so the declaratory legislation was not objected to. Mr. Whitney should be equally fair on this occasion. He knows that looking at the policy of the law, there is no more reason for disqualifying a constable, than for disqualifying a deputy returning officer or a poll clerk. The intention of the Legislature was that all should vote. Why, then, should Mr. Whitney any more protest against the action of Mr. Hardy, than the Liberal party representatives in the House of Commons should in 1887 protest against the action of Sir John Macdonald?

The manly course for Mr. Whitney to take is that which was adopted by the Liberal members in the House of Commons in 1887—honestly declare the law to be what it was intended to be, and having thus cleared the ground, to proceed with the election trials on their merit, which certainly would not be done if this wooden nutmeg element was introduced. Mr. Whitney must be perfectly aware that the constables have been voting for 30 years. Everybody has assumed their right to vote. No one has questioned it. The long uniform practice shows how the law was understood, and the Government would be wholly wanting in its duty if it permitted their right, after this long lapse of time, to be questioned. The attempt to succeed by such a quibble, no matter how Mr. Whitney may personally regard it, is unworthy any great political party, and the Administration and the Government would fail in their duty, if they did not call the Legislature together, to say that the law must stand as it has been understood, and acted upon during the whole period of the Union.

The Summer Holidays.

The holiday movement is now in full vigor. This year cheap railway rates may have accelerated it. We are not going to utter one word against the holiday. It is one of the established features of the British constitution—the social constitution. To say that people should not holiday because they spend their money while away, is local patriotism turned sour. If that view prevailed generally, attractive places like the Forest City would be the losers. Of London it may safely be said that the influx of holiday-seekers is greater than the efflux. The loyal Londoner, returned from his travels, admits having seen no prettier spot than his own city. The average visitor will pay London the same compliment, unless a policeman runs him off the grass at Victoria Park, and prejudices his opinion. London is a thing of beauty and a joy all the year round, but especially in summertime. There is nothing in local conditions, therefore, to impel people to go away. They simply fly from the pleasures that they have to experiences they know not of. They go chiefly because it's the custom. There is no doubt, too, that a change is often as good as a rest.

Those who are forced by the nature of their business, or their bank account, or for other reasons, to stay at home against their inclinations, may derive much consolation if they look at it philosophically. It is better to keep cool under one's own vine and fig tree than to perspire in the house of a stranger. At home, a man may luxuriate in a soft shirt, without violating the starched conventions of a fashionable summer resort. If he can't take a surf bath like his neighbor at the seaside, he may at least get a sea-foam from his barber. If he can't go fishing he may gaze at the sturgeon in the park without digging bait or the other penalties of angling. He can't lie beside lovely streams and cascades, but he may sprinkle his lawn every lawful day for two hours (vide bylaw), and occasionally run down to Springbank and Port Stanley. Speaking of lawn sprinkling reminds us all that we enjoy external and internal applications of the coolest, purest spring water that ever refreshed mankind or laid the dust. It has only one disadvantage: after being used to it the water in most other places leaves a bad taste in the mouth.

The ladies who forego their summer holidays also find many compensations. A woman at this season has no social obligations to vex the spirit and the flesh. She has no calls to make, no frills and furbelows to wear, no frigid appearances to keep up—none of those reluctant concessions to society which she might not escape abroad. The children are more manageable at home. The ingredients of the pie, the quality of the cookery, are beyond suspicion. In short, there are all the comforts of a home which cannot be transplanted.

Let the stay-at-home reflect on these things, keep cool, avoid worry, observe good hours and read the cheerful Advertiser, and he or she will survive the summer, and be just as fresh as the holiday-seeker, and have more money ahead for that trip across the Atlantic which everybody intends taking some day.

The Stratford Beacon disputes The Advertiser's claim that London is an unrivaled railway center. It hints that there are others. Says the Beacon: "Stratford is not very far from London, and it also possesses fine transportation facilities." We admit Stratford's railway facilities are proportionately fair. It is connected with one trunk line; London with four. That is about the ratio of population. As for being "not very far from London," that is one of Stratford's chief advantages. It is pleasant to be near a metropolis.

British revenues for the quarter ending June 30 were $129,527,205, as compared with $127,079,300 in the corresponding quarter last year. The receipts in 1897 were the largest in the history of the kingdom, but Sir Michael Hicks-Beach evidently had good ground for saying that the apex had not been reached.

The Advertiser has been complimented in many quarters for having taken the editorial pains to sift out and boil down the mass of war news into reasonable and understandable shape. The public is weary of the too-large newspaper, and will live to see newspapers more convenient in page, not so much like a barn-door in size, with more work given to intelligent condensation.

President McKinley has appointed five able men to represent the United States side on the International Conference:

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana;

Senator George Gray, of Delaware;

Representative Nelson Dingley, of Maine;

Hon. John A. Kasson, of Iowa;

Hon. John W. Foster, of the District of Columbia.

Some of our contemporaries regret that Mr. Dingley, the strong protectionist, is among the number. The Advertiser takes a different view. Better meet Mr. Dingley first in Conference rather than in Congress.

The Advertiser has received the programme and menu of the Dominion Day dinner in London, England, given by Lord Strathcona. This is what they had to eat:

British papers arriving confirm the cabled impression of the Hon. Edward Blake's great speech in the Imperial Parliament on the financial claims of Ireland. The brilliant Westminster Gazette says:

"The Hon. Edward Blake has been a member of the Imperial Parliament since 1892, and entered the House of Commons with a brilliant reputation as a Canadian statesman. He has on rare occasions intervened in debate, and his most notable performance hitherto has been his speech last year in stating Ireland's financial claims, which occupied two hours and ten minutes, and was heard without a single interruption, Mr. Blake receiving, on resuming his seat, from all quarters of the House, an ovation which lasted several minutes. Last night, however, Mr. Blake made his first great debating speech in the House of Commons. He followed the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and analyzed his arguments with great skill, proving himself a master of Irish financial statistics, and an adroit and dexterous opponent in controversy. The House of Commons—to whom Mr. Blake appeared in a capacity in which he has been hitherto unknown in that Assembly—showed its admiration of his abilities by frequent applause, and in lobby subsequently, some of the most generous tributes to his powers were offered by his political opponents."

The Parliamentary editorial correspondent of the Freeman's Journal is equally complimentary. He wires as follows to his newspaper:

"Mr. Blake immediately replied to the Chancellor of the Exchequer in a speech of splendid debating power. He took Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's main points and demolished them seriatim in the completest manner. His grasp of the material facts of the financial relations question is only equaled by the skill and effectiveness with which he marshaled them."

It is gratifying to all parties in the Dominion to have the great abilities of a great Canadian so ungrudgingly recognized.

CONTRACT LABOR IN HAWAII.

It is interesting to learn that in anticipation of annexation large numbers of coolies have been imported to the Hawaiian Islands recently. A dispatch states that 1,176 entered Honolulu as contract laborers in one day recently. Another batch is expected shortly. Thus are we benefited and thus is the population increased that we are to Christianize, educate and elevate. But it is a good thing for the sugar planters and they are the important people.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

CHEAPEST WAY OUT OF IT.

The plan of taking the Spanish soldiers home to Spain is a good one, just as the plan of sending tramps out of town is preferable to fining them for vagrancy and feeding them while they are serving out their sentences.—Indianapolis Journal.

A HARD BARGAIN.

Spain knows what we have set out to do. Her government has no illusions about our purposes. We have undertaken to set Cuba free, to take and keep Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, the Ladrones and the Carolines. If the doing of these things is to involve the continuance of war, it is for Spain and not for us to decide.—New York Sun.

WAR CRAFT OF DOUBTFUL VALUE.

The last naval bill contained an appropriation of $6,900,000 for the building of sixteen torpedo boat destroyers and twelve torpedo boats. In view of the somewhat problematical value of these craft—as shown by the few successes won by the automobile torpedo in the past, the total failure of the Spanish destroyers in the existing war and the lack of results from our own torpedo fleet in Cuban waters—the wisdom of this expenditure at this time may be questioned.—New York Tribune.

HE HAD TO GO.

"If I should go to war," he cried,
"And mingle in the fray,
I fear that someone else might come
And win your heart away.
'Tis not that I lack courage, love,
Believe me, but the fear
Of being robbed of you, sweetheart,
That makes me linger here."

"Then put your fear away," she said,
"And go and get your gun—
Go, mingle in the fray and help
To make the Spaniards run;
I've formed a resolution, and
I'll tell it unto thee—
"I want to be a warrior's love,
No stay-at-homes for me."

AN EGG-EATING SNAKE.

The other day, William, son of John Catton, of concession 9, Chatham township, found a huge snake asleep in a guinea hen's nest. Besides the snake the nest contained 24 eggs, and his snakeship had evidently come to the conclusion it was the sort of boarding house he wanted. William killed him, and, on cutting the snake open, an unbroken guinea hen's egg was found. The snake measured five feet three inches. Mr. Catton thinks it was a copperhead.

The World's Wheat.

London, July 19.—The Statist today thinks the world's wheat crop for 1898 will be 45,000,000 million quarters larger than the crop of 1897, reaching about 325,000,000 quarters. Continuing, the Statis remarks: "We think America has entered upon a period of great prosperity, which will last for years, if no great folly is committed. We hope the Republicans will have the firmness and patriotism to resist the politicians and refuse to allow unwise currency legislation."

BRUTAL ASSAULT

James Godwin Tells How Prodgers and Harris Ill-Used Him.

Broke Into His House, Robbed Him and Then Tied Him Up—Both Prisoners Committed for Trial.

John Prodgers and John Harris (colored) were this morning committed for trial for a brutal attack on James Godwin, aged 74 years, on July 11. Godwin lives alone in a small house at the corner of Trafalgar and Adelaide streets, and according to his evidence the prisoners' conduct was most inhuman. Godwin testified that he retired between 8 and 9 o'clock, after locking the door. Early in the morning he was awakened by loud talking. A large stone struck the front of his house, and he got up and asked what was wanted. Witness then heard Prodgers say: "Oh, we're all right; the old ——— is in there." This had no sooner been said than half of the porch over the front door was torn away, "and the next," said Mr. Godwin, "the door come bust open." Prodgers, he said, grabbed hold of him and said, "Now, you old ———, we're going to have your money or your life in two minutes." Prodgers is then alleged to have sprung on the bed, taken the old man by the throat, and demanded to know where his money was. Witness told them he didn't know, to which Prodgers replied, "Well, then, we'll cut your head off, you old ———, if you don't tell us." Prodgers held him, he says, and Harris searched his clothing hanging on a chair, and found 50 cents in his trousers' pocket. They both started to hammer the old man, and he cried out, "For God's sake, don't kill me." The men told him they would cut his head off, and started to saw his neck with the back of a sharp instrument. Prodgers then suggested that they tie the old man up, which they did by tearing a sheet into strips, and bound him hand and foot. The pair then left the exhausted and bleeding victim and went in search of drink. Mr. Godwin then crawled to John Anderson's place a short distance away and gave the alarm. He had known both prisoners for fourteen or fifteen years.

Mrs. Mary Harris, of Dame street, said Harris and Prodgers were at her place at 3:30 on the morning of July 5. Prodgers put his hand up to his face and exposed a stain on the back of his hand which looked like blood or paint. The men had come there to sell her a boiler, said to have been stolen from Mrs. Heigh, of Nelson street, on the night in question. She told them she did not wish to have anything to do with the boiler, as she thought they had not obtained it honestly. Both men had been drinking.

Dr. W. J. Tillman, house surgeon at the hospital, described the cuts and bruises which appeared all over Mr. Godwin's body after he had been removed to the hospital in the patrol.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER

Kidney Disease Man's Deadliest Foe Dodd's Kidney Pills Its Only Cure.

Toronto, July 18.—Yellow fever and smallpox combined, do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease does, was the assertion of a prominent Toronto physician recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney Disease, the number of victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death rate from this complaint to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used in every case of Kidney Disease there would be no deaths from it.

A DINNER PILL. — Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

THE RAILWAYS

C. P. R. Trainmen's Wages Increased in the O. and Q. Division.

G. T. R. Getting More Stock Cars—Heavy Business on Western Roads.

The C. P. R. authorities have increased wages all around about ten per cent to the trainmen in the Ottawa and Quebec division.

The Grand Trunk Railway has ordered 1,050 double-deck stock cars from the Michigan Peninsular Car Company.

The C. P. R. is willing to spend $75,000 on yards and shops at Calgary, N.W.T., but object to the conditions which the council sought to attach to the $25,000 bonus. The conditions suggested by the council included the inspection of the company's time sheets and a forfeit if the C. P. R. shops moved from Calgary before 25 years.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has put into effect a special freight traffic on its Ontario division, in connection with the Galt, Preston and Hespeler road, the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo, the Michigan Central, the Erie and Huron, and the Lake Erie and Detroit. The tariff is on grain and grain products to West St. John, N.B., when consigned through to ports of call of the Selby Packet Line.

A Chicago dispatch says: The business of the western roads for the past six months of the present year was phenomenally heavy. Earnings made new records, the grain traffic alone presenting surprising aggregates. The deliveries at Chicago by the western lines of all kinds of grain amounted to 134,176,000 bushels, an increase of 40,449,000 bushels over the corresponding period of last year, or a gain of more than 40 per cent. The outward movement was equally heavy, reaching 135,998,000 bushels, an increase of 50,955,000 bushels, or over 50 per cent. The car movement was the largest on record, aggregating 142,733 cars, an increase of 53,070 cars over the previous year.

KILLED IN ST. LOUIS.

The Victim of the Affair a Former Canadian—The Slayer Acquitted by a Coroner's Jury.

Toronto, July 19.—The following dispatch was received by the police yesterday: St. Louis, Mo.—To Police Magistrate Denison, Toronto: Please notify B. J. Sandys' relatives he was murdered Saturday. Answer what must be done with his remains. (Signed) Mrs. M. Taylor.

A St. Louis dispatch says: The jury at the coroner's inquest this morning exonerated Samuel H. Taylor for the killing of Benjamin Sandys, whom he shot and instantly killed on Saturday evening. The verdict was that Taylor had killed Sandys in self-defense. There was no testimony to show that the killing was done in self-defense, all the evidence for the prisoner being confined to the relations existing between Sandys and the wife of Taylor.

Soon after the inquest Taylor was arrested on a charge of murder. Sandys was suspected of being intimate with Taylor's wife, and to have aided in the abduction of Taylor's little daughter from the Episcopal Orphans' Home at St. Louis.

There is little doubt that the murdered man is a son of the late Venerable Archdeacon Sandys, of Chatham, and a brother of Mr. E. W. Sandys, well-known to Canadian sportsmen as the editor of Outing, and of Mrs. A. Denison, of Toronto. A leading Chatham citizen, who was stopping at the Rossin, however, said that he remembered B. J. Sandys, who was, he thought, the archdeacon's eldest son. He left Canada many years ago, and little has been heard of him in Chatham since that time.

DISASTROUS FLASH

Oswego, N. Y., July 19.—During an electric storm this morning the large malt house owned by the Stevenson Brewing Company, of New York, situated on the west bank of the Oswego River, was struck by lightning, and in a few moments was ablaze from end to end. The building cost $100,000; machinery, $10,000, and improvements, $40,000. Over 200,000 bushels of malt were in the building, all of which is in ashes except the east wall and a few thousand bushels of malt which fell into the river. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

STRANDED!

Hundreds of Gold Seekers in Need of Assistance—Starvation Threatened.

Seattle, Wash., July 19.—An official letter from Captain Abercrombie, U. S. A., now at Copper River, Alaska, contains the statement that there are now 200 destitute men there. The captain says he has fed 500 persons thus far, and that if means are not devised to relieve the country of those who have failed to get to the Yukon, and have lost their outfits in trying to ascend the Copper River and the tributaries, there will be actual starving this fall. Capt. Abercrombie says in conclusion that the transportation companies refuse to carry the stranded miners without compensation.

NEARLY JUMPED THE BRIDGE.

Paris, Ont., July 19.—The Buffalo and Goderich Railroad was blocked yesterday by a wrecked freight train, which narrowly escaped jumping over the bridge into the Grand River. A damaged refrigerator car en route to the shops in London caused the wreck. The hind trucks struck an abutment of the overhead bridge on Broadway and displaced it. The bridge is a new one. Wrecking crews from Brantford and London were sent for.

WENT WILD!

Passengers on the Grand Trunk Express Had a Lively Time With a Crazy Man.

Hamilton, July 19.—Passengers on one of the cars of the G. T. R. express which arrived here on Sunday had an exciting experience with a lunatic. The man became wild this side of London and chased everybody out of the car and smashed some of the windows. Some of the officials seized him, and, after a hard battle, overcame him and held him on the floor till this city was reached. The crazy man's clothes were all torn off in the scuffle, and an old pair of overalls had to be secured for him before the police could remove him to the patrol wagon.

P. C. Bainbridge and P. C. Cable had a difficult job to get him to the jail. The man acted as if under hypnotic influence, and made speeches about McKinley and the Cuban war. The jail surgeon said he thought he was suffering from the effects of liquor. He told the governor of the jail that his home is near Boston, and that he had been working in an institution near Mount Clemens, Mich. He is about 37 years of age, and is apparently well-to-do. He frequently says: "Mother, come to Will!"

The police have learned that Smith recently left St. Michael's Hospital, in Detroit, and that he was on his way to Buffalo. Some time ago, it is said, Smith got a terrible electric shock, which almost destroyed his nervous system.

Why He Was Awake.

One of the best of the Scotch stories Mr. John Johnston tells is that of a certain sermon in a Scotch church, at which nearly the whole congregation went to sleep.

"The minister pounded on the pulpit," says Mr. Johnston, "and cried them shame to be all asleep when he was preaching the word of God, and then he looked up in the gallery and saw there an idiot boy who attended divine service regularly. He chanced to be wide awake, and the minister pointed to him in admiration.

"See there," he shouted, "even Jamie the idiot is awake and drinkin in the word!"

"Yes," shouted back Jamie then, "but if I hadn't been an idiot I'd 'a' bin asleep too!"—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Some Kipling Maxims.

A Kentish school budget gives a series of maxims from the pen of Rudyard Kipling, among which are found the following: "If you have any doubts about a quantity, cough. In three cases out of five this will save you being asked to 'say it again.'" "When pursued by the native farmer, always take to the nearest plowland. Men stick in furrows that boys can run over." "If it is necessary to take other people's apples, do it on a Sunday. You can put them inside your topper, which is better than trying to button them into a tight eton."

The snail's mouth is one of the most extraordinary objects in nature. By the time the snail has worn out the last one of its 30,000 teeth a new set has been provided for it to begin all over again. These teeth are all on the snail's tongue, which is coiled up in the back part of the mouth.

Mercier, the celebrated French tenor, of Toronto, and Edwin C. Crane, basso, of the Mendelssohn Quartet, and formerly basso of the Meehan Male Quartet, of Detroit.

—A very successful garden party was held at the residence of Mr. Murray last evening in connection with the Hill Street Methodist Mission. Rev. Mr. Uren occupied the chair. Among those who contributed to the excellent programme were the following young artists: The Misses Sanborne, Gillet and Johnston, and Messrs. Strongman, St. George, Wonderley, and London's musical trio, Messrs. Corbin, Williamson and Maynard. Ice cream and cake were served by the ladies during the evening. The proceeds go to the mission fund.

SENT DOWN

McKenna Sentenced to Two and a Half Years in the Penitentiary and Mavity to the Central Prison for Three Months.

Judge Edward Elliott disposed of two criminals this morning. One was Edward McKenna, alias "Detroit Red," who pleaded guilty to having received stolen goods from the house of David Dales. Dales' house, on the Wharncliffe road, was broken into on June 18 and robbed of $30 in cash and a number of articles, among which was a pair of gaiters that McKenna wore when arrested in Detroit by Detective Tom Lally a few days later. The judge, in sentencing McKenna, took into consideration the prisoner's past record, and the fact that through his falsehoods the county had been put to over $100 expense. The crime of which McKenna had been proven guilty, the judge said, was punishable with fourteen years' incarceration, but he considered the pleading of counsel. The judge then sentenced McKenna to two years and six months in Kingston penitentiary. McKenna left the court, muttering curses.

George Allen, of Kincardine, alias Johnston, alias Mavity, formerly of the Military School here, was also arraigned for sentence, having been convicted of stealing a bicycle belonging to Albert Fishleigh from Ferguson's veranda on May 25. The judge spoke of the frequency of bicycle stealing, and said the crime must be put a stop to and society protected. He sentenced Allen to three months in the Central Prison.

WAR MATERIAL IN ABUNDANCE

Immense Amount Captured at Santiago.

Its Disposal Proves Somewhat of a Problem.

Destruotion and Misery in the Cuban Capital.

Gen. Toral Hands Over 22,780 Prisoners to Shafter—Camara's Fleet Heard From—The Pelayo Damaged.

PLENTY OF WAR MATERIAL.

Washington, July 19.—The ordnance department of the war department is considering what to do with the large quantity of arms, ammunition, guns and ordnance stores which have come into possession of the American Government through the surrender of Santiago. Gen. Shafter reports that about 7,000 Mauser rifles were turned over the first day, and the number will reach probably 20,000 when the troops at other points in the surrendered zone turn in their guns. The reports made before the surrender indicated that the Mausers handled by the Spanish troops were not in very good condition. The poor care they received, principally from the volunteers, left many of them rusty and defective. Ordnance officers believe that the greater part of the guns can be put in good order. The Mauser has a calibre of 7 millimetres, or .278 of an inch, while the American gun has a calibre of .3 of an inch. This difference in calibre makes it impossible to use American ammunition in the captured guns. The surrender also covers a large stock of ammunition, rifle balls, etc., of the calibre suitable for the Mausers, so that when the guns are repaired there will be an ample stock of cartridges to use in them. The ordnance officers expect to make very little use of the old fortification guns mounted in Morro Castle, Socapa, Cay Smith and other fortifications along Santiago. These, it has developed since the capture, are guns of antiquated patterns, most of them muzzle-loaders.

LEARNED A LESSON.

Washington, July 19.—The military and naval experts say that several important lessons in ordnance have been learned in the campaign at Santiago. When Admiral Sampson was chief of the ordnance bureau of the navy department, he held that the most effective means of defending coasts was by means of warships rather than coast defenses. It is said, however, that the Spanish defense of Santiago has rather demonstrated that coast defenses are even more effective than warships. The batteries of Morro Castle, Socapa and others, aided by the mining and torpedoing of the Spaniards, was effective in preventing the American fleet from entering the harbor, and this despite the fact that the Spanish guns were in no sense a fortification armament. It is said by some of the experts that if Morro had possessed the large modern fortification guns such as those protecting New York or Boston, it would have been able not only to have defended Santiago, but to have done serious damage to the attacking fleet.

A HOME FOR CERVERA.

Port Tampa, Fla., July 19.—A movement was started here today to present Admiral Cervera with a home on Tampa Bay, in recognition of his humane and chivalrous treatment of Hobson and his crew, and a desire to save him from insult and possible death if he returns to Spain.

Misery

PREVALENT IN HAVANA.

New York, July 19.—Under date of June 28, the Havana Diary correspondence of the Associated Press says: Six hundred and fifty-nine retail provision dealers went to-day to the Grocery Exchange, but bought nothing. Correspondence from the interior of the island says that the misery in some quarters is horrible. Some people have committed suicide because they have not means to feed their families. The price of provisions is so high that the daily salary of a workman is not enough to buy the most necessary article of food. It is reported from Neuvites that a steamship from Bourdeaux, France, has arrived there, bringing 20,000 bags of flour and rice, and 60 hogsheads of codfish.

Senor Vasselo, civil governor of the Province of Puerto Principe, has sent an energetic circular to all the mayors of towns in that province ordering that extra vigilance be observed with reference as to the condition of all articles of food sold. The unripe fruits, as well as great quantities of dried meat and horseflesh have developed many diseases among the poorer classes. On the 20th, the following entry was made: All wagons passing through the streets of the city loaded with provisions taken from the warehouses of the Villa Nuva Railroad depot this morning were seized and taken to the main police station, where the inspector took note of their contents.

A freight train from Batanabo has arrived here with 117 bags of coffee, 142 bags of chick peas, 485 bags of rice and 312 bags of black beans.

It is reported from Cardenas that 29 retail provision dealers have been arrested for failing to obey the orders given by the military commander of that place.

A report from Matanzas says that in the cistern of the house on Santa Teresa street, were found the head, skin and tail of a dog that had been killed, and the flesh had been sold for food.

22,780 SPANISH PRISONERS.

Washington, July 19.—The war department has received a dispatch dated yesterday from Gen. Shafter, saying that the roster of prisoners was handed in yesterday afternoon by Gen. Toral, and that the total is 22,780 men.

Gen. Shafter's dispatch added that the prisoners turned over to him far exceeded in number the strength of his own army.

CAMARA'S SHIPS SEEN.

Marseilles, July 19.—A steamer which has just arrived here reports having sighted on July 16, off the coast of Tunis, the Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Camara. As the steamer passed the battleship Pelayo, a column of smoke suddenly shot from her, and from the fact that a cruiser had to take the Pelayo in tow, it is evident that the most powerful warship of Spain has been damaged.

GEN. MILES DELAYED.

Washington, July 19.—Gen. Miles did not start for Porto Rico yesterday, as was expected, but either has sailed this morning or will get away during the day. The delay was owing to a failure to receive the necessary orders through some mistakes of persons through whose hands they traveled. Gen. Miles telegraphed here last night, and the orders were repeated to him, and he was told to start for Porto Rico immediately.

SANTIAGO AFTER SURRENDER.

Santiago, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 19.—Santiago is now a city of silence. The American flag waves over the military headquarters on Morro's flagstaff, and Red Cross emblems are as plentiful as church spires. Almost the entire population this afternoon gathered about the wharves, where the Spanish shipping, now prizes of the United States, will soon be augmented by a large fleet of transports flying the american colors. There are few civilians left in the city, but it does not seem to be in a bad plight. Some stores, mostly for the sale of liquors and drugs, are open, but their patrons are few. Beggars are in evidence, of the same importunate sort which makes Havana unpleasant for foreigners. Now and then a man or woman of the better class beg the correspondents for "milk for my little one, in the name of God."

CHEERFUL.

There is no evidence of gloom on the faces of the Spanish men and women. These mercurial people are already laughing, and are pleased at the military and naval show, and at the prospect of getting food other than salt meats. Nearly all the better classes of houses are closed. The residents evidently have not yet returned from El Caney, and other suburban places to which they fled on the threat of bombardment by the land and naval forces of the United States.

Filth is noticeable everywhere, and, strange to say, the city is healthy in spite of it. But if Santiago is to continue healthy, much sanitary work is necessary. Arrangements, therefore, are now under way to remove the most dangerous features, and to improve those that tend to purify the city. The harbor of Santiago de Cuba is a very beautiful place, with its high ramparts of mountains.

MANZANILLO BOMBARDED.

London, July 19.—A special dispatch from Havana says: Seven American warships heavily bombarded Manzanillo this morning. Three steamers of the Mendez line were set on fire. Several gunboats that were in the harbor issued for the defense of the town, but were stranded. The result of the bombardment is not yet known here.

In the Net.

The thought passed her mind that she would like to see an American doctor—a man who would be gentle, soothing, and considerate, and on whose skill and honesty she could depend. These doctors seemed to her very strange people. Little Dr. Kraus was all the doctor she knew, except Dr. Lacelles. She would certainly never have employed Dr. Kraus in a critical case; and she quite as certainly had never dreamed of employing Dr. Lacelles professionally, however agreeable she might have found him as a gentleman.

This doctor who was questioning her had thin, white hair and red eyes, and he looked sickly. By contrast, he recalled the figure of the doctor she had had at home, tall, strong, clean, and full of life and of gentleness. She could have dropped into his hands with strength enough for only one word, "Protect me!" and been sure that her house would have been a fortress against all intrusion; that whatever need she had would have been found out, every care provided, and her smallest flickering spark of life fed till it reached the full flame.

There were such men in Rome; but she could not reach them. She had been taken possession of, and there was no help for her.

The doctor went, but other people came.

A gentleman and his wife came, seated themselves in two chairs, and looked at her. They were familiar acquaintances, but none the less unwelcome now. They did not talk, and she tried to talk to them, having nothing to say.

They went, and presently some man came about a repair needed in the house, and another with a little household bill, and she had to see them both. It would appear that the servant took no orders from her mistress; and whatever directions Miss Pendleton might have given her, to keep out visitors was not among them.

Later Burton, the artist, came, bringing her something that he thought might tempt her appetite. She was glad to see him, though she could neither eat nor talk. He was such a good fellow when left to himself. She thought if she had him to see to her and keep everybody else away, she would soon get well.

The day passed, and the night. "Oh, if I could only be let alone today!" she said to her servant the next morning. "Don't let anyone come near me! Don't open the door to anyone. I want to lie still and not speak all day, except to you. That will make me feel better."

They did not mean that she should be any better just then. They had plans which her health, if too quickly established, would have interfered with.

Miss Pendleton was shown in, and there was a repetition of their former interview. And again she went away, leaving Valeria exhausted.

The next day she came again, bringing with her an American friend of Valeria's, who had just come to Rome, and was going immediately away again.

Mrs. Marvin was one of the sweetest of women, and as gentle as a dove. She had but just entered the church, and had all the enthusiasm of a convert, not only for the church, but for Catholics. She invested her Catholic friends with all the beauty of the doctrines in which they professed belief, and the virtues which they professed to practice. Simply and transparently honorable, she had no conception of dishonor under the garb of religion. Theoretically it might be possible, but surely not of anyone whom she had ever seen.

She had been talked to and prepared for this interview, and in adding her influence to further the object of it she verily believed that she did service to God and to her neighbor.

Valeria was urged to leave her house, and go to a certain hospital where she would have every care. She was told that she could never recover where she was.

It was again a siege, with two voices instead of one.

"You are nervous, and you need a particular cure," Mrs. Marvin said, in her sweet, soothing way.

Valeria thought that she was not nervous. She felt no excitement whatever, but only weakness and lassitude; but she did not contradict them.

"I will go, if I can be quiet," she said at last; "but I cannot see to my apartment, nor to anything. I don't want to think. Cannot you see that after such an illness one needs perfect quiet for a while?"

"Everything shall be done for you," Miss Pendleton said eagerly; "we will take all the responsibility. I know a nice family who will take your apartment till you want to come back. They would like to have a place for the rest of the winter."

"I think I may go to America in the spring," Valeria said. "I have had a letter from Sister Veronica, who is a nun in a Southern convent, and my dearest friend. I wrote them this summer that I was not well. They invite me to go to them and stay till my health shall be perfectly restored. I long to be with them so that I would like to fly there this moment. See! this is her letter."

Miss Pendleton took the letter, read the address written at the top, and gave it back.

"All shall be done for you," she said. "If you wish to go to them in the spring, we may know some one who is going, so that you shall have company, and now you will be well taken care off, and tomorrow I will take you to the place we have spoken of. Don't think of anything. Leave all to me."

It was such a rest to think that she might leave all to some one.

Her visitors both kissed her affectionately.

"I am so grateful to you," Valeria said to Mrs. Marvin.

"Oh, it is nothing! Christians must do for each other must they not?" was the gentle reply.

As they were going out of the door Valeria thought to ask, "Where is the place to which you will take me?"

"In the Lungara! And she was to go there because she was nervous! In the Lungara was the great lunatic asylum of Rome, and they must have meant that. She had passed by its great iron gate more than once.

Valeria started up and began to walk the floor. She tried to think of some one to whom she could appeal. She remembered the American consul, and put her hand on the bell-knob to call her servant to go for him. But no, the girl would go to Miss Pendleton instead. And even if he should come, could she talk to him in a way to convince him that she should not go there? This fear and distress, added to her weakness, would confuse her, would agitate her.

She seated herself, and wrote a letter to the superior of the convent where Miss Pendleton lived. Her letter was blotted and her hand trembled so that she could hardly form a letter; but the meaning was plain.

She begged Madame de la Roche to let her come to them for a little while. "All I want is rest and quiet," she wrote. "I do want care, but not the care of a lunatic asylum." Her letter was imploring, and showed that she was terrified. When it was ended, and she had sent the servant with it, she sank fainting on the floor.

"They could easily drive me crazy, or kill me in a short time," she thought, when she recovered.

The note was left, but no reply was sent then.

The next day Miss Pendleton and Miss Marvin came again.

They expressed warmly their regret for having disturbed her so much when they meant to do her good. She was soothed, and reassured, and coaxed. Madame de la Roche was very sorry not to be able to take her. Then Mrs. Marvin said that she had that day seen another place which she thought would suit Valeria. Did she know anything about Villa Barberini?"

No, she had never heard of it. But the word villa was pleasant. It promised a garden.

Mrs. Marvin then described the place. It had large grounds and gardens, extending over a hill near St. Peter's. The house was fine, and Valeria's room would be the best in it. There were a few ladies there, who were not quite well, and wished to live quiet for a while. She need not have anything to do with them unless she wished to. Her meals would be served to her privately, and she would have the attendance of a servant who would be the same as a maid, and every care necessary from a doctor and nurse. The view from the window was lovely. Over a near hill quite in the garden looked the dome of St. Peter's, not more than twenty rods distant; from the other window she would see processions of great pines climbing the hill to a second villa.

It was an enchanting picture.

"I will go today, if I may," Valeria said. "I am impatient to be quiet and silent."

It was arranged that she should go the next day. Miss Pendleton would come for her at 2 o'clock, would take the keys of her house, and dismiss her servant, and Valeria had nothing to do but to let herself be taken care of.

The rest of the day and the night seemed too long in passing. But at last the longed-for day came.

It was the 18th of November. Looking over her papers she put some of them into her trunk, Valeria saw by her diary that she must have taken sick on the evening of the 27th of October, making thus 22 days from the first, without counting the weeks that she had suffered from fever without being aware of it.

After her trunk was prepared she wrote a letter to those having the care of her affairs in America. Mentioning her illness, she said that Miss Pendleton would take charge of her affairs, and she was to be trusted like herself.

The letter written, after resting a while, she sat down by the window looking westward up Via Nera to wait.

It was a wild day, the sky full of sunshine and black clouds. Now a dash of angry rain came flying through the air and splashed itself, as sharp as hail, against the window-panes; then suddenly a rush of sunbeam broke through the clouds and turned the drops to gold.

It was the first time that Valeria had looked up to observe nature since the tramontana struck her three weeks before.

Miss Pendleton was long in coming, she had promised to come at 2 o'clock, and she did not come till 4. When she came the storm had subsided into a mournful calm. A watery sunshine shone through the windless sky, and now and then a few rain-drops fell.

There is a star that points every woman to the pathway of happiness. It is the "Star of Health." It is the duty of every mother to point out this star and indicate this pathway to her daughters. There are too many unhappy—too many unhealthy women in the world. At every gathering where women meet alone, the story is heard of sickness and nervousness and despondency.

The woman who suffers in this way makes a mistake to consult the average obscure physician. If she does so, the chances are that she is told that her trouble is nervousness or insomnia or indigestion or heart trouble. It does not happen very often that this diagnosis is correct. When by some fortunate chance she is told the truth, that she is suffering from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism, she is told at the same time that she must submit to the obnoxious examinations and local treatment so embarrassing to a sensitive woman. All this is unnecessary.

The wise woman will seek the advice of some specialist of world wide reputation. Dr. R. V. Pierce is such a man. For thirty years he has been chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. During that time, with the assistance of a staff of eminent physicians, he has treated thousands of ailing women. He is the inventor of that wonderful medicine for women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine acts directly on the delicate and important organs that make maternity possible. It cures all weakness, disease, internal ulceration and inflammation and debilitating drains. It has transformed thousands of weak, suffering women into healthy, happy, robust wives. It is for sale by all good medicine dealers.

Never fail to cure constipation—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

and other systems," attracted Ald. Greenlees' attention. There was a good deal of humbug, he believed, about deputations. They were more ornamental than useful. From past experience it had been found that a report from a delegation was never presented, and he was opposed to the expense of a large deputation in this case. He moved that no more than four members of the committee go.

Ald. Winnett said the clause gave the committee too much scope. Their trip should be restricted to Detroit.

"As it is, they might get to Cuba," said Ald. O'Meara. "We'd better keep a check on 'em."

Ald. Cooper moved that the chairman, architect and city engineer form the delegation.

"Why the engineer?" queried Ald. Graham, with feigned surprise. "He has never been consulted with regard to hospital matters before, and is it the intention to hold him responsible for the heating apparatus?" Continuing, he scored the aldermen for arranging this little junketing trip, and said the council never seemed to want any report from the deputations which they sometimes made a lot of fuss about appointing.

Ald. Stevely argued that at least four members of the committee should go on the deputation. He also pointed out that a new hospital at Cleveland should be visited.

Ald. Hunt said this deputation was a recommendation of the physicians of the city.

Ald. Taylor said the architect should not be included. It was all right for three or four members of the committee to go, but the architect got his percentage.

Ald. Cooper's motion was lost, only Ald. Douglass, O'Meara and Winnett voting with the mover.

Then Ald. O'Meara moved that the architect visit Detroit and report. "This is too thin," he said. "These deputations will so sicken the city that we'll certainly have to enlarge the hospital. (Laughter.) There's not a man on the committee that knows anything about heating apparatus. All they can do is to go and gape around. Not a deputation that has left here this year has brought in a report.

The motions of Ald. Greenlees and Ald. O'Meara were lost, and the clause was adopted.

INQUIRIES.

To Ald. McCallum, the chairman of the board of works said work on the McFaulds drain would be started at once.

Ald. McCallum had another question. It was as to what had been the cost of deputations this year, and as to a comparison with the expenditure of a similar nature in the preceding two years.

The mayor ruled that this request for the statement should be put in as a notice of motion.

Ald. Taylor reported re ambulance fees that ex-Mayor Little, in his letter to the police commissioners when he donated the new ambulance, instructed them to make a charge for the ambulance, but not from indigent patients. The object was to have a fund for repairing the vehicle.

Ald. O'Meara said this had just been a recommendation by ex-Mayor Little.

Ald. Taylor asked for a report of the investigation committee re the alleged boodle case, and Chairman Winnett had none to give.

NUMBER OF LIQUOR LICENSES INCREASED.

When motions were in order Ald. Carrothers sprung a mine. There were two license-holders in West London, he said, and the term of their licenses would expire before the next meeting of the council. They had supposed that their licenses would, after amalgamation, still be dealt with by the commissioners for Middlesex, but later they found out their mistake. It would be an injustice to them if the council did not grant them the licenses, he said. As it was a case of urgency, he asked that the mayor allow the bylaw to raise the number of licenses in the city from 34 to 36 be read a third time and passed at once. Ald. McPhillips seconded.

Ald. Winnett said the matter had been sprung very suddenly. He had never heard it mooted before. Legal complications might arise. The effect of the bylaw passed some time ago to reduce the number of licenses should be considered. It was a serious question, he said, especially when there were so many who were in favor of keeping down the number of licenses.

The division on the first reading was: Yeas—Ald. Taylor, McPhillips, Belton, Douglass, Jolly, O'Meara, Carrothers, Hunt and Dreaney—9. Nays—Ald. Winnett, Cooper, Wilkey, Nutkins, Gerry, McCallum, Greenlees, and Graham—8.

Ald. Greenlees objected because all the members did not vote.

The second reading went through, and Ald. Winnett asked for the ruling of the chair.

The Mayor—I will have to rule, as the council has sanctioned it, that the third reading can be given tonight.

Ald. Greenlees—I must protest against this hasty legislation. It looks to me like a fluke. There was no reason why this should not have been brought up two months ago.

Ald. Winnett said that when the temperance people worked for the reduction of the number of licenses in the city they were not underhand about it. It was an unmanly thing for the council to do. A step they should not take. A very large majority of the people had voted for the reduction of the number of licenses, and to rush this bylaw through in spite of the protests was unjust and improper.

Ald. Hunt said that in reality they were not adding to the number of licenses in the city.

Ald. O'Meara said he would vote to cut off every hotel in the city, but he thought an injustice had been done.

Ald. Stevely wanted the matter laid over.

The division on the final reading was a tie, as follows: Yeas—Ald. Taylor, McPhillips, Belton, Douglass, Jolly, Carrothers, Stevely, Hunt and Dreaney—9. Nays—Ald. O'Meara, Winnett, Graham, Cooper, Wilkey, Nutkins, Gerry, McCallum and Greenlees—9.

The mayor decided in favor of the increase, on the ground that it was a matter of justice for the West London hotelkeepers to have a license.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Ald. Greenlees gave notice of motion to grant permission to No. 2 committee to introduce a bylaw to regulate the riding of bicycles in the city.

Ald. McPhillips spoke of certain fines which had been imposed by the police court magistrate some time ago, and paid to the Ontario Government. It was also the opinion of the city solicitor, he said that the fines had been illegally paid to the government, as he had advised that the better way would be to petition the governor-in-council, he (Ald. McPhillips) made that as a motion, and withdrew his motion to take legal proceedings.

Ald. Gerry gave notice of motion to repair the cove bridge.

THE HOSE AGAIN.

Ald. Taylor put in a notice of motion to reconsider the purchase of 1,000 feet of Maple Leaf hose for the fire department. His object was to prevent payment of the account until an investigation.

Ald. McPhillips urged that the matter of an investigation be referred in the ordinary way, to come before the county court judge.

Ald. Taylor thought they might instruct the city solicitor to examine all witnesses in the matter under oath.

POTTERSBURG PROGRESSING.

An effort is being made to change the name Pottersburg to one more suitable and euphonious. As the district has become as respectable as any part of the city, it is desirable that the old name associated with the tough element be obliterated. A generous resident of Pottersburg and an adherent of St. George's Church, has given the pastor, Rev. Geo. Gilmore a gentle hint that he should no longer remain in the unfortunate and pitiable state of bachelorhood by deeding his fine two-story brick residence to the church for a manse. The reverend gentleman has failed to see the point, and as a result, the trustees have leased the property.

GRAIN CROPS IN MIDDLESEX.

Mr. Daniel Shoff, of Clandeboye, the veteran observer, was in town today. To an Advertiser representative he estimated that the Middlesex hay crop would be perhaps one-third greater than usual. On three and a half acres of his own land, Mr. Shoff took off nine tons of hay.

"BIKE" ACCIDENT.

Dr. James D. Wilson, met with a very painful accident last evening while out wheeling. He was proceeding up Richmond street, near Carling, when a horse attached to a buggy shied and struck him, knocking him to the pavement. His injuries consisted of a badly-bruised knee and wrist. His wheel was badly bent. After having his injuries attended to in a nearby store, he was removed home in a carriage. The accident occurred about 9:30.

WORK OF TRAMPS.

The fire brigade was called out last night at 11:30 to extinguish a blaze in a vacant cottage belonging to and adjoining the residence of Michael Donohue, Regent street, near George street. The nearest hydrant to the burning building was 1,100 feet away, and the fire gained headway while the hose was being laid. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $200, which is covered by insurance. The fire is thought to be the work of tramps, as two tough-looking individuals were seen in the neighborhood before Mr. Donohue retired.

PORT STANLEY NOTES

Monday, July 18.

When the summer sun is blazing from a sky of copper hue,
And the dazzling, dusty pavement makes you swelter through and through;
When you head is almost reeling with the awful city heat,
Don't you envy Orchard Beachers, and their pleasant cool retreat.

When with perspiration oozing from almost every pore,
You swear by wilted collars it was ne'er so hot before;
When to breathe becomes an effort and you're shaky in your knees
Don't you envy Erie Resters and their pure Lake Erie breeze?

After days of busy worry, when the
sultry sun goes down,
And you seek in vain for comfort in the close, congested town;
When a bed becomes an oven and you toss upon the floor,
Try a night with Orchard Beachers where the soothing breakers roar.

When an item in The 'Tiser says the city springs are low,
And the streets are seldom sprinkled,
for it wastes the water so;
When a water famine threatens, you need have no cause to fear,
Just come down and see Port Stanley—you'll find lots of water here.

Would you flee from city's traffic, trolley's clang and business care,
To a place that's calm and peaceful, free from dust and sultry air,
Then away to old Port Stanley, Orchard Beach and Erie Rest,
To the fresh air on the Fraser, to the breezes on Hill Crest.

TRAGIC DEATH

Of George W. Routledge, a Well-Known Letter Carrier.

Was Drowned at the Rear of the City Hospital

In Water Only Three Feet Deep—Was Temporarily Deranged—Inquest To Be Held.

The treacherous River Thames claimed another victim yesterday in the person of Mr. G. W. Routledge, of Gunn street, West London, a well-known letter-carrier.

Mr. Routledge had been for a few days past temporarily deranged, and on Tuesday last was removed to the city hospital for treatment. He was rapidly recovering, and it was thought would be out again in a few days.

Yesterday morning he got up earlier than usual and wandered out in his nightclothing and a pair of slippers, and apparently made his way to the river. He reached there by descending the steep bank in the rear of the hospital, and either fell or deliberately walked into the water.

The body remained in the water from about 5 o'clock in the morning until 3:20 in the afternoon, when two small boys named John Marks and Frankie Westhead, who were fishing for crabs, discovered it. They took it to be a bag or something of that nature, and started to draw it in with a pole, when they found it to be a human body. The boys' cries brought Mr. J. Brazil, of Front street, a laborer engaged on the new hospital, to the scene, and he waded in and brought the corpse to land. The drowning was a very peculiar one, the water being only three feet deep where the tragedy occurred. The man's back was above water, the body resting on the hands and knees. When brought to view it was found to be bloated and blue, showing that the deceased must have gone straight to his death when he left the hospital at 5 a.m.

Mr. Routledge had been connected with the postoffice department for six or seven years, and was an efficient employe, well liked by all his fellow-workers. He was brought up in Carlisle, township of East Williams, and removed here some eight or nine years ago. He at one time kept a hotel on the Proof Line road for a short period. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn their heavy loss.

The father of deceased, Mr. Henry Routledge, was at the scene shortly after the finding of the body.

Coroner Ferguson viewed the remains and had them removed to the hospital, where an inquest was called for the evening, but was adjourned until next Monday night at the police station. The coroner's jury included: George W. Pitt (foreman), Joseph Sippi, Thomas A. Parkinson, Walter Graham, James T. Dalton, Thomas Blanshard, William Stein, E. Sutton, William N. Waldock, Emerson T. Stevens, John W. Fletcher, William H. French, James A. Gard.

Routledge was 46 years of age.

Pain Around the Heart,

AND ALL OTHER SYMPTOMS OF HEART DISEASE ARE TOO DANGEROUS TO NEGLECT.

An Ingersoll, Ont., Man tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Restored his Heart to Healthy Action.

SOMETIMES a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it will burst. Once and a while you have a dizzy or faint spell, feel weak, nervous, irritable and depressed. There is no other remedy will do you so much good, restore your heart to a natural condition, build up your strength and give you back vigor and vitality as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Here's what Mr. Hugh Moore, Ingersoll, Ont., says about them: "Last year I was sick with Malaria. Since then I have had serious heart trouble, such as sharp pains beneath the heart, violent palpitation, shortness of breath, smothering spells on going to bed, etc. My rest was broken and disturbed, and I often woke up gasping for breath, while my heart beat so violently as to make me fear sudden death.

"I heard that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were a good remedy for heart troubles and therefore got a box from Mr. G. A. Ionson's Drug Store, and to my surprise and delight obtained almost instant relief. My heart is now all right, the pain is gone, the heart beat is natural, the shortness of breath has vanished, and I have had no attack of smothering since beginning their use. I now get unbroken, restful sleep, so that I am feeling strong and well. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have wrought this gratifying change, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

NEW MAIL ROUTE

A Much Needed Postal Change Effected Through Lobo Township.

The change in the mail service through Lobo, which has been vigorously agitated for months by the progressive farmers throughout that fertile section of country, was inaugurated yesterday, and great is the satisfaction of the residents, for now they receive two mails a day. By the change business will be greatly facilitated, and the department is to be commended for giving the afternoon service. The only place left out of the second delivery is Ivan, but no doubt the patrons of that office will object to being behind their neighbors before very long. R. Sharp, postmaster of Lobo, who has given such good service to the residents, will continue the new route.

THE NEW MAIN

Will Cost $5,500, and Enter West London Below the Coves.

The tender of Harding & Leathorn, for the laying of a ten-inch main across the river, from the big main at the Pipe Line road, below the coves, to connect with West London, was accepted at a meeting of the water commissioners yesterday afternoon. This main could temporarily supply the city in the event of a break in the big main, and will cost $5,500.

A deputation from the London Rowing Club, with Messrs. Milne & Lancaster, boathouse proprietors, were present, and asked the board to take steps to raise the water in the river, as it was impossible to use it at present for boating purposes. They were informed that the river was lowered on account of the water main being laid across it, and that it would be at its level in a day or so. This satisfied the deputation.

The usual accounts were passed.

It Is Safe to Follow

The example of the millions of women who have made the Diamond Dyes their chosen and only dyes for domestic dyeing. The faith of all is so firmly established in the powers and excellence of the Diamond Dyes that they would not use any other make, even if the common dyes were given free of cost.

Valuable and useful goods should not be experimented on with poor and untried package dyes. Ruin and loss of goods and money will meet the users of adulterated dyes.

Follow the safe example of earth's millions, and use the Diamond Dyes, and success, happiness and pleasure will be your reward.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

The annihilation of Cervera's fleet with the loss of but one American is indeed wonderful enough to be designated a "miracle." This victory, coupled with Dewey's brilliant achievement at Manila, will seem to many to attest the righteousness of this war undertaken in the name of freedom. Indeed the reports of American successes read more like the romances of mythical lore than modern history. A good point was scored by Lyman Abbott for the historical credibility of the Bible, in his address before the alumni of Bangor Theological Seminary on "The Relation of Nature and the Supernatural to the Christian Thought of Today." "If," he said, "the Old Testament told the story of a naval engagement between the Jewish people and a pagan people, in which all the ships of the latter were absolutely destroyed, and not a single man killed among the Jews, all the skeptics would have scorned the narrative. Every one now believes it—except those who live in Spain." And if the skeptics would have rejected the Dewey story how much more would they have scouted the story of the remarkable victory of Sampson's fleet under the leadership of Schley.—Union Signal.

Cobourg, Ont., July 19.—Dr. John Beatty, for 65 years a resident here, died Sunday morning. WONDERFUL ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Chatham, Ont., July 19.—Andrew Finlay, of Harwich township, was driving his binder, with three horses attached, when one of the animals got its leg over the traces. Mr. Finlay attempted to cut the horse loose, and as he stood right in front of the horses, the animals started off at a full gallop, with Mr. Finlay hanging on to the harness. He was unable to hold on, and fell directly in front of the rapidly moving knives of the machine. His escape from injury was miraculous. Just as the knives came near him one wheel of the reaper was thrown upon a sheaf of wheat, raising the bar of knives, and the machine passed over Mr. Finlay. His hat was torn from his head and cut into shreds.
