THE TRAFFIC BYLAW

Today the new traffic bylaw went into force in London. The main facts to be remembered by citizens are: Any vehicle, no matter what the means of locomotion, is subject to the new regulations, even a saddle horse for the purposes of the law, being termed a "vehicle." All traffic shall keep to the right, the slow-moving and heavy loads driving as near to the curb as possible.

Any vehicle shall pass another to the right, and in overtaking another shall turn to the left, the outfit in front moving over to the right at the same time. Stop with your right side to the curb and close in.

Slow up when going over crossings or turning, and in turning into intersecting streets do not "cut the corners." If you turn into a street to the left, do not do so until you have passed the centre of the intersecting street, or if you turn to the right keep in close to the curb, and avoid collisions with those who loom up unexpectedly around the corner. The fact that you have business to transact on the left side does not permit you to draw your vehicle in in opposition to the regulations. Either stop on the right side and walk across the street, or turn and face in the opposite direction.

North and south traffic has the right of way at intersections over vehicles proceeding either east or west. Police department vehicles, fire apparatus, ambulances and mail wagons have the right of way over all other traffic. Stop when you are signalled to do so by traffic officers or police in uniform.

Do not leave any vehicle standing unattended for more than 30 minutes on Dundas street between Ridout and Rectory streets, and on Richmond street between Horton and Oxford streets. Vehicles loaded with coal, bricks, lumber, earth, ashes, garbage or other heavy materials, or rigs carrying advertising signs, are not permitted on Richmond street between Fullerton street and the Grand Trunk, or on Dundas street between Wellington and Ridout, unless such loads are being taken or delivered to the district mentioned.

All licensed passenger vehicles must carry lighted lamps on the front between darkness and dawn. The police have also given warning that teamsters' and hucksters' licenses must be taken out immediately or prosecutions

nto the charges made by Michael Farr, hotelkeeper, against Wm. Patterson, chairman of the Centre Huron board of license commissioners, concluded at 10:35 this morning, and nake his report to the Government after reviewing the evidence.

Andrew Porter, local manager of the Sterling Bank, and Alfred Asquith, license inspector, were the leading wit-nesses examined at this morning's siting of the commission. Interesting incidents in the proceedings were the testimony of Asquith that he had recmmended Farr for a license twice after he had attempted to bribe him, and the announcement that E. Lewis, M. P., could not be secured as witness. License Inspector Alfred Asquith, who Farr alleged had told him had the trump cards, and had better play them, which Farr took to money to secure the renewal of his license, was somewhat at sea as to the dates on which he visited Farr's hotel. Commissioner Quizzes. He thought he was there on March 13 for the purpose of making an inspection of the premises and taking applications for renewal of the license.

"No," replied the witness. "We diseussed reduction on a previous occa sion. He asked who I thought would be cut off. I told him I knew nothing about it, as that belonged to the commissioners. I had nothing to do with

"Why did you tell him that when the commissioners might act on your recommendation?" demanded the commissioner.

Just in Jest.

The inspector said he did not know hy he had done so. In jest he had told Farr that if he were a commissioner he would cut off both Farr's hotels, as the rural municipalities had gone dry, and it would be wrong to put temptation in his way. Farr had seemed greatly perturbed over this. He admitted calling at Farr's hotel to see Patterson after midnight on a date him. which he could not give. He declared that Porter, Patterson and he had not separated, and that Porter had not been served a drink at Farr's with his knowledge. He said he had Commissioner Eudo Saunders will never advised Farr to play his cards. Farr was being prosecuted by him. Farr had offered him $50 to abandon the prosecution so that a conviction would not be registered.

"And did you tell the commissioners that before?" asked Mr. Seager, "No," was the reply.

"And you afterwards recommended im for a renewal of license in 1911 "Yes," replied the inspector.
"Did you consider Farr a proper person to be recommended for a renewal of his license when he had offered you bribe?" questioned the commissioner. "Well, I recommended him," said As-

"Mr. Asquith," said the commissioner, "How do you expect the license laws to be properly administered when you make recommendations like that? Commissioners are guided largely by your recommendations, and when you recommend a man who has offered you a bribe, how can you expect them to have faith in your reports?" Andrew Porter, local manager of the Sterling Bank, gave an emphatic denial to Farr's statement that he had approached him, and suggested putting up money to guarantee the renewal of his license. Farr, he declared, had come to him and asked him to use his influence, and he repued that he was out of that sort of thing now as it took all his time to run the bank. He had no knowledge of any attempt being made to hold up hotelkeepers for money for license renewals. He told a straightforward story, and all attempts f the crown to shake his testimony were fruitless. Adam Hayes, license commissioner for Centre Huron for three years, previous to January last, declared that he had taken meals at Farr's hotel while commissioner, and had always paid for them notwithstanding that Farr swore last night that he had made it a practice never to charge either inspector

r commissioner for accommodation. E. N. Lewis, M. P. for West Huron, was not in attendance, and the sheriff's officer, L. E. Dancey, announced that he had found it impossible to locate

George M. Elliott, whose examinaresumed, told Mr. Dancey that he had known Patterson for a number of years, and his reputation was excellent. John C. EMBALMERS BUSY WITH SHIP'S DEAD

The Unidentified List of the Titanic Victims Stands at Sixty.

POLICE GUARD MORGUE

Mr. Widener Satisfied That Body Buried at Sea Was Father's Valet.

[Canadian Press.]

Halifax, N. S., May 1. - Thirty embalmers worked all night in the improvised morgue upon the hill preparing for inspection more of the unidentified dead, in whom centres the fragile hope that relatives still searching for Titanic victims may find their kin. Police guarded the silent building all night, and throughout the night there rolled away from time to time wagons with the claimed dead. The unidentified list, with the exception of two tentative identifications made last night, Arthur White Assistant Purser Clark, still stood at 60, when the work was resumed today. This was the official total, as estimated from White Star lists. George Widener, jun., of Philadel phia, has left Halifax in his private car, apparently convinced that the body buried at sea was that of hi father's valet and not that of Widener. Several others whose hopes were shattered by yesterday's develop ments started or are preparing to start for home, though many others whose quest has so far been without success will await the arrival of the cable ship Minia, with what promises to be a meagre addition to the list of bodies

Opening Display and Sale of Boys' Wash Suits TOMORROW, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY In the Basement

WASH SUITS, SCOUT SUITS, OVERALLS, SHIRTWAISTS, ROMPERS, ETC. 600 Boys' Wash Suits just opened up, and will be displayed for three cays in Basement before being placed in department on main floor. The object of this display is to give ample room for the showing of each and every line, new and fresh from their boxes. That you will have no difficulty in choosing and finding just what you want in this assortment you will readily understand when you look at the pretty styles illustrated on this page which are but a few of the many you will see, and every line complete ith all sizes. A man said last week, "I will give you double price if you hang my wall paper this week." We could not do it. The work must come in turn. "How foolish of me not to have had that attended to last month," he said. "Might just as well before this rush began."

It will be just the same with your Wash Suits. Many of the ranges shown now are bought from makers, the biggest in America, yet we cannot depend upon repeat orders when the rush season is on, and most mothers will profit by experiences of other seasons and make their selection now without trouble. Come tomorrow and see our entire stock of new 1912 Boys' Wash Suits displayed in the basement. You may pick your Suits and by making a small deposit have them laid aside and kept for you until you need them.

Don't let the trees outdo your boys. Nature is a proud mother. Some trees are already abloom, others are blossoming. In a few weeks all will have their new spring clothes. All mothers are proud of their boys, but some are a little slow about getting their summer suits.

Tomorrow in the basement will be assembled the finest collection of Boys' Wash Suits ever shown here, in fact, the space allotted to Wash Suits on main floor would not permit of the proper display of such an immense assortment. Ample room and accommodation will be provided in basement

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 1. THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Massachusetts is one of the few states in which the voters may dis rectly indicate their choice of a leader for their party. Under this system, called direct primaries, the Republicans and Democrats of the state, who had taken the trouble to register as party men, were permitted to vote on Tuesday for delegates to their respective conventions for the nomination of Presidential candidates. Taft received a small majority of the Republican vote over Roosevelt. Of the 28 delegates elected by districts, the President got sixteen and Roosevelt ten, with two in doubt at this writ-Roosevelt, however, appears to have captured the eight delegatesat-large. The equal division of the delegates is more favorable to Taft than to his rival, as the former needs fewer convention votes. He had aiready 407 of the 540 required to win The total number of delegates will be 1.078, of whom 658 had been chosen before Tuesday, as follows:

As a simple majority earries the convention, Taft needed only 133 delegates before the Massachusetts vote. while Roosevelt needed 337. It looks as though the President will get his quota by a small margin, but if he does he will lead a party torn by in-

Massachusetts Democrats went, 19 the primaries in small numbers. Clark defeated Wilson by two to one, but the Democratic contest is not far advanced. The winner in the Democratic convention must have a twothird majority, but from present appearance no aspirant will have twothirds of the delegates when the convention meets. This will give the spell-binders and the great opportunity. Not in quarter of a century has there be so much excitement and dramatic uncertainty in a United States presidential election. The fight over the Presidency, because of the personal element, will obscure the elections to Congress, the seat of legislative power. This is not a healthful state of affairs.

THE MULTIPLE SHOP

The individual traders of Great Britain, particularly the retail merchants, have hitherto looked upon the co-operative movement as their most serious competitor, but the multiple shop -the ownership of more than one shop by one company-is becoming far more formidable. After over half a century me of co-operation in England there are about 20,000 co-operative stores. But in a short time the number of multiple shops has reached the amazing figure of 70,000. One English firm alone had last year 714 branches. The amount of its subscribed capital was £985,000. Its net profit was £491,738, and it paid a dividend of 20 per cent. The private my wife shed tears that I wasn't retrader in English towns, says the Irish sponsible for." Homestead, is melting away before the multiple shop, just as the individual weaver disappeared before the factory and mill. The same journal

It can at- in it. tract capital far more than the cooperative movement can, because the latter limits the dividend, and the aim of the multiple shop company is to pay as huge dividends as pos-Capital will be on the side of the multiple shop company, and the small trader is bound to disappear before its advent.

"It is only a question of time be fore these multiple shop companies begin operations on a large scale in Ireland. There are branches already working and multiplying in our large Irish towns. The struggle for the control of distributive trade lies between these companies and the cooperative societies. This is so obvious a thing that we wonder the Irish middlemen strain at the co-operative gnat while swallowing without a murmur the multiple humped camel of the great company

The co-operative movement has not taken deep root in Canada. The multiple shop, though much a newer development, has made more rapid headway. The system has its economic advantages, but conditions are more favorable to its growth in Great Britain than in Canada. In a country of small area, every unit of a business can be in intimate touch with every other, but the distances in Canada impose a limit on the process of multiplication. There is no sign that in this country the tendency to concentration in production will be carried, or can economically be carried, equally far in the process of distribution. The business of distribution is more strengthen the weak places in-

ARGUMENT AGAINST RECIPROCITY.

Referring to President Taft's phrase as to Canada's becoming an "adjunct" of the United States through reciproeity, the Ottawa Citizen, Conservative,

"This letter that has now accidentally come to light, shows conclusively how necessary that alarm was and how true was the assertion of the Conservative leaders that British connection was about to be sacrificed."

The Citizen shows remarkable hindsight. It was a friend of the Taft-Fielding agreement at the outset, and hided its contemporaries for professng to scent any danger to British conection in a policy advocated by Sir John Macdonald until his death. The Ottawa Journal, the other Conservaive newspaper at the capital, was equally well disposed to the pact, and called it a triumph of common sense That was before an election loomed up and before they came under the lash of the party whip. They were expressing their honest opinion, after eighing the agreement impartially. Nothing that Mr. Taft has since said has affected the arguments for or against reciprocity. If reciprocity was a good thing in September, it is a good thing now. What folly and unpatriotism for any Canadian to admit that the free entrance of Canadian farm products into the United States would have political consequences! If this were true, the United States could simply make Canada an "adjunct" by taking down the tariff dyke and permitting a great volume of Canadian trade to flow into American channels as the surplus funds of the Canadian banks flow at present. Canadians who talk of imperilling British connection 203 therefore imply that the destiny of Canada is in the hands of the United States. Shame on so craven a spirit!

> The Queen of the May is considerng whether she may safely put her urs in storage.

The reciprocity agreement is as ound as ever and needed more than ever. Ask the western farmers whose wheat is rotting because it was shut out of its nearest market.

hold Bennett has been making quite a stir in the world of letters. He was born in the pottery district of North Staffordshire, the region which, for the purposes of his fiction he has named "The Five Towns," on May 27, 1867. Like Dickens he has come to the novel by way of the lawyer's office and the newspaper desk. He is not a college man, and is calmly supercilious in his attitude to polite learning. the subject of severe condemnation lous in his attitude to polite learning by certain Toronto newspapers which. In his youth he gave himself up to at the same time heartily applaud and the study of French fiction and came to entertain a scorn of the English novel which he has never yet quite lost. Probably it is because of his close study of Balzac and Flaubert that Arnold Bennett has such a faculty of investing the drab and the commonplace with a wonderful fascination. He has an eye for the local color, or rather the local soot, of those Midland towns, but while he sees life steadily and sees it whole, he has an abounding vitality and humor which suggest Dickens. And like Dickens, he loves to give life stories. In "The Old Wives' Tale" for instance a story pronounced a masterpiece by Sir W Robertson Nicoll and Max Beerbohm. he follows the progress of two sisters Dorothy (looking up from her book) from the age of fifteen till they sank into their graves. There is no nonexactly. Something in a cathedral, I sense about Mr. Bennett; he is the apostle of common sense; he makes you see life as it really is in mean streets: he entertains no illusions, and, in spite of his comic side, disillusonment is the final impression of his novels. This paragraph is characteristic of the tone of the whole story. It is a tragic work of art. Even in the vivid description of the ball match where a host of fifteen thousand cheer on their matador, Jos Myatt, there is an awful intensity, a grim and terrible exposure of the transiency of a football hero's reputation, and of people's foolish seriousness over their sport. The irony of the story is heightened by the fact that the celebrated Jos -"Good old Jos!" the crowd loved to call him-is anxious to get home to a sick wife and hastens from the field to his "pub," consumed by carking care. Later on in the evening, Dr. Stirling has to make a visit there, and leaves his friend below to talk to Jos while he is busy above. Jos shows the doctor's friend the fruits of his victories as a bicycle racer. "I could see him straining along endless cinder-paths and highroads under hot suns, his great knees going up and down like treadles amid the plaudits and howls of a vast population. And all that now remained of that glory was those debased and vicious shapes, magnificently useless, grossly ugly, with their inscriptions lost in a mess of flourishes."

That is a good sample of Mr. Bennett's grim humor. He makes the people's here seem even more grotesque, however, when he describes his difficulty in casting up his accounts in his grimy ledger, And this Hercules,

The London and Port Stanley Railway board will go to Port Stanley on Monday afternoon to consider a proposition for a new roadway to Fraser Heights, the closing of Smith street, which runs directly through the picnic grounds, and the opening of a new street along the beach. Eight years of Bad Eczema on Hands nine years ago I noticed small pimples breaking out on the back of my hands. They became very irritating, and gradually became worse, so that I could not sleep at night. I consulted a physician who treated me a long time, but it got worse, and I could not put my hands in water. I was treated at the hospital, and it was just the same. I was told that it was a very bad case of ezema.

"Well, I just kept on using everything that I could for nearly eight years until I was could for nearly eight years until I was advised to try Cuticura Ointment. I did so, advised to try Cuticura Cintment. I did so, and I found after a few applications the burning sensations were disappearing, I could sleep well, and did not have any itching during the night. I began after a while to use Cuticura Soap. I stuck to the Cuticura treatment, and thought if I could use other remedies for over seven years with no result, and after only having a few applications and finding ease from Cuticura Cintment, it deserved a fair trial with a severe and stubinding ease from Cuticura Ointment, it deserved a fair trial with a severe and stubborn case. THE CHRONIC KICK

A Prevalent Disease

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water.

'Kicking" is, I know, a slang term, but it has been used so much that those who frown upon vitiated language have become accustomed to it and permit it, or, at all events, pardon it. It describes just what I mean in my present little talk so much better than does any other expression that I venture to use it. For-do you ever stop to think of it?-everyone is icking about something. "Everybody's Doing It" runs the refrain of a song of which we have all grown weary, although the first two lines of this refrain are the only words of the choice ditty that many of us have ever heard. But the phrase "Everybody's doing it" might be applied to kicking. We all do it.

Complaints about the weather have been in fashion so long that it is trite to call attention to them. In act, we have become accustomed to them and don't disbute them. Says De Morgan in his novel, "Joseph Vance," a pleasantly warm day coming in the middle of a disgreeable January, "When a sudden mild fit of this sort omes in midwifter, people are ungrateful and call it unseasonable, and pretend they like frost. They are liars and hypocrites, as they enjoy it thoroughly." Of course, ost of them do, but they enjoy kicking more.

I fancy that one of the things about which people kick most universally is the particaular work they are called upon to do. It is really amusing to hear the many complaints, the subject of each of which is "my job." I say amusing" because the irony of the situation lies in the fact that if one of the grumblers were to lose the said job he would implere his friends and acquaintances who had any "pull' to use all the means in their power to get him another just like it, if nothing better turned up meanwhile. The man groans when he has no work, and complains when he has it that it is not the kind he wants.

Ask a man in almost any profession or line of business what he thinks of your placing your son in that same line. "Don't do it." he will protest "It's a dog's life!" Try the experiment of putting this question to a physician, a lawyer, an architect and a business man. As to employers-it is well that they cannot hear what is said of them. If one of the saints of bygone days were to open an office in the city the men in his employ would complain that he was "foo strict" or "infernally patronizing." They might even accuse him of being a "tight-wad," or "a slave-driver." I do not for a moment believe that the employee means all the unkind things he says of "the boss," but simply has the prevalent disease. Men and women have a manner of speech that would seem to imply "whatever is is wrong" In business matters. Somehow they appear to feel that it would be an unwise concession to say "I like my work, and I like my employer.

It is not only in the outside and business worlds that one hears growls about one's work. The wife and mother complains of the "cares of the home," and sighs when she says that she has had to spend a whole afternoon in darning and mending. It was not that there was any other thing that she wanted particularly to do on this afternoon, but since the time was taken up with legitimate work why not grumble? It is a mood of discontent, and is so old chump of a German professor," or "the meanest man in town, our math. much a part of one's self that it passes, as a rule, unchallenged. The school and college sons and daughters are allowed to talk of "that

The parent seldom offers any rebuke when these expressions are used, and yet the studies conducted by these instructors might be pleasanter to the student if he was not encouraged to condemn them

Yet we housekeepers feel vexed and chagrined when we overhear our domestics complain about us. The wife listens to and sympathizes with her husband's murmurs against his employer's methods, thereby adding to the smoldering fire of his discontentment.

But if her maid is overheard confiding to an intimate friend that "her lady is awful cross sometimes," said lady discourses upon "the ingratitude of the lower classes," and tells how her servant talks about the very person from whom she makes her living. For until our attention is called to our symptoms, each of us is ignorant to this inconsistent mental or spiritual disease of ours.

When we were very little children and complained, when we should have rejoiced, we were punished. I remember as far back as I can remember anything the look of a parental hand stretched out to remove from in front of me the saucer of ice cream which I declared was "too cold." "Then Tea Biscuits. I will take it away" was the wise warning.

It was only after promises on my part "never again to pretend not to After which it was eaten in rapturous and enlightened silence. But, when we are older, there is nobody who dares warn us that we are, to quote the very apt phrase, "quarreling with our bread and butter."

"Well," said the woodpecker at last "apartment houses are really the Now, I will make a fine big apartment for you, friend bluebird, and the neatest little one for you right bove it, neighbor chickadee.'

Since apartment houses were really he thing both birds agreed to this plan and the woodpecker made a big coomy home for the bluebird and a snug little one for the chickadee. The bluebird's door looked round and black and small in the big tree, and the chickadee's looked rounder and blacker and smaller, but both birds considered them the very best of their kind. Sometimes, however, no door could be seen-only a beautiful blue head or a small black one, thrust out of either house, as the owners com-

HOME MISSIONS ARE IMPORTANT

Dr. MacKay, of Toronto, Addressed Men's Meeting In the First Presbyterian Church.

THE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

Contributions For Missiens Have Been Levieds on Each Church in Canada.

The Synod of Hamilton and London neld a mass meeting last night in the First Presbyterian Church, and was addressed by Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay D. D., of Toronto, the moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyerian Church in Canada.

Dr. MacKay said that he was not going to state the condition of the various missions. All departments church work are connected with each other, and one should not be neglected for another. Home missions are just as important as foreign missions, and one cannot get along without the other, The General Assembly has promised to look after 14,000,000 people in the foreign mission fields, and needs assistance of the whole church to carry out its plans. Although home mission committee had a deficit of nearly $40,000, and the foreign mission committee had a deficit of nearly $26,000, the outlook for the present brought to the attention of each con- practice, and the same rule is made gregation during the year.

The Spiritual Side. Dr. MacKay stated that he wished to lay emphasis on the spiritual side of mission work. There was a grea danger, he stated, of paying too much attention to the financial side of the question. Prayer is the foundation of all missionary work. The greatest works done by the greatest men in the history of the world have been the result of prayer, examples to bear this statement out are, Christ, whose life was a life of continued prayer, and Paul, who after Christ, was the man of prayer. The main drawback, however, is that men generally do not know how to pray and, therefore, the goal that every Christian should seek is to learn how to pray.

In closing, the speaker stated that the church will not be able to me its obligations in the home and foreign mission fields if not assisted by the earnest and continued prayers of the members of the church. the members of the church.

Other business that came before the meeting last night was the presentation of the reports of the home mission and foreign mission committees of the synod. The report of the home mission committee, as read by Rev. J. R. Hall, of Sarnia, told of the work among the Italians in Flamilton, Welland and Niagrara Falls. The adoption of the report was seconded by Rev. Mr. Graham, of ara Falls. The adoption of the report was seconded by Rev. Mr. Graham, of Parkhill, who said that home missions should stir the people more than any-thing else in connection with the work

Leave of absence to travel cabroad has been granted to Major S. C. The chief one was that reports be sent to each congregation early in the year, the claims of foreign missions be brought before each congregation by the pastors, mission study classes be held in connection with the Sunday schools, and that each school be provided with a suitable missionary library, and that the study of missions by the young people's societies be encouraged.

HOW ALL WOMEN CAN PRE SERVE GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD LOOKS.

Too many women and girls look old long before they should. In nine cases out of ten it is a matter of health, Work, worry, confinement indoors and lack of exercise cause the health to run down. Then faces become thin and pale; lines and wrinkles appear; there are headaches, backaches and a constant feeling of tiredness.

Women and girls who feel well look Therefore improve your health and you will look better. It is a fact that thousands of Canadian women and girls owe the robust health they enjoy to Dr. Williams' Pink Plls. They well and enjoy life as only a healthy person can,

The smple reason for this is that Williams' Pink Pills make new rich, red blood, which strengthens al the vital organs, brings brightness to the eye, a glow of health to the cheek, and bracing strength to every part of the body. Description of ible, stamped in gold on back and sides, printed on Bible paper, with red edges and corners rounded; Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary With the Latest Census

This most convenient and latest of all Dictionaries is based on Noah Webster's Dictionary, revised and brought up to date by the most recent American and English authorities, designed to meet every demand of a modern and reliable Dictionary.

It includes all words in the English language that do not properly belong to a Dictionary of Technical Terms. In fact, its recent publication and careful revision enable it to define and treat a large number of words of recent coinage that cannot be found in any other Dictionary, no matter how cumbersome and pretentious.

Surprising results are obtained in looking up the spelling, pronunciation and definition of a host of words which have been incorporated into our language only yesterday, as it were. Take, for instance: Aero, Aeroplanist. Aviation, Aviator, Biplane, etc., introduced as a result of recent aeronautical activity-also such new words as: Brainstorm, Billiken, Cordite, Denatured, Dunnite, Joy Ride, etc.-also Okapi, an animal allied to the Giraffe, and brought into prominence through ex-President Roosevelt's explorations in Africa-also Hookworm, Lettergram, Nickelodeon, Stovaine, Hangar, Equili-

LONDON PLAYERS HOLD STIFF PRACTICE AT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON SESSION

MANAGER BOWERMAN'S SQUAD PUTS IN A GOOD DAY'S WORK

About Twenty-Five Players Took Part In Afternoon Practice-Bierbauer and Brant Are Showing Up Fine-Brant Wrenched His Ankle In Morning Work-Out.

Old Sol must be a baseball fan. The way he assisted Manager Bowerman and the local management to get a line on the players they have signed up yesterday was beautiful to behold, and if he will only keep it up for a few more days, he will earn the gratitude of the local management for all time to come. It was an ideal day for baseball. And it did not come a moment too soon. Had the rain kept up for another day, Manager Bowerman would have had a bunch of physical wrecks on his hands instead of a lot of embryo ball players. Rain is one of the most ardor-dampening influences that a young ball player has to deal with. He begins to get the feeling that it is never going to clear up, and

By the way some of the players cavorted around the diamond at Tecumseh Rootenay Fairy Queen sun is the greatest unbottled stimulant in existence. Had not Manager Bowersun is the greatest unbottled stimulant in existence. Had not Manager Bowerman distributed a few words of warning to the foolish ones, it would have been necessary to start a hospital list right away, and hire a doctor who knew all about the cures for stiff joints and limp arms. But Frank kept his weather eye open, and any little outbursts of enthusiasm that result from an overanxiety to make good, were promptly nipped in the bud. However, do not take it that fast work was tabooed. By no means. Only the first day is not the correct time to shoot off all your fireworks, as any small boy will agree, and besides one of the reasons why Mr. Rowerman was hired was to develop the besides one of the reasons why Mr. Bowerman was hired was to develop the FAST WORK IN THE AFTERNOON. The work was stiff for the first day. The morning practice was comparatively light, but in the afternoon a little ginger was injected into the affair, and fively light, but in the afternoon a little ginger was injected into the aftair, and Brant, Nichols, Bierbauer and Manager Rowerman gave an exhibition of fast work that brought frequent applause from the three hundred or so loyal fans who gathered in the stands to watch the first day's work. And right here let it be said before somebody beats us to it, that when it comes to injecting ginger, Manager Bowerman is the whole syringe. Nothing escapes him, not even the ball, and he has a habit of keeping everybody on their toes that is going to be a valuable asset when the pennant race begins.

With the exception of "Lefty" McDonald, the pitchers are all here, and they were given ample opportunity to McDonald, the pitchers are all here, and they were given ample opportunity to get a good workout yesterday. Furssedon is in the best of condition, and he showed up to the most advantage yesterday. Brant was unfortunate enough to wrench his ankle in the morning practice, and he limped for the rest of the day. He was cavorting around second at the time, when his foot sank into a small hole in the loose dirt, and he went over on his ankle. The injury is being doctored, and it is likely that

COBB'S QUICK WIT WINS A GAME

The Georgia Peach out did himself yesterday, scoring the winning run of a ten-inning game by some of the quickest thinking and acting ever seen on the dlamond. As he was running to third base he spied the ball, thrown there to head him off, lying on the baseline, or near it. Diving feet first into the leather, with malice aforethought, knocked it to the Detroit bench and scored in a common canter. Manager Callahan, of the White Sox, has protested the game on the ground that Cobb deliberately interfered with the missile of play illegally and that he should have been sent back to third. Hamilton Spectator: The Hamilton baseball club has a new manager. Knotty Lee is laid up at his home in Toronto suffering from a severe attack of grip, and during his absence little Jo-Jo Keenan is acting in the capacity of manager, a job which is not at all strange to him. Yesterday Joe took his players for two long hikes, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, and although the weather was raw and cold, some good work was put in at that. Keenan is a great believer in walking and he had little mercy on the squad who were very eager for a break in the weather and a chance to get out on the ball field again. With the welcome change this morning Acting-Manager Keenan had his bunch out early, and a good lively practice was enjoyed, especially as the squad was augmented last evening by the addition of four more players, one of these being Billy Garlow, the Carlisle indian, who reported during the afternoon, two days ahead of time, not being expected until Wednesday.

Several others will arrive by Wednesday. The following players worked out today: O'Brien, who came along on their own hook, keen on getting a chance. Teed and Mueller were still among the missing this morning, but are expected in at any time, while a letter was received this morning from Marty Killiea, in which the little infielder stated that he had been detained at home owing the the serious illness of his mother, but that he expected to leave for Hamilton on Tuesday evening. Teed was due to leave Boston last evening and is sure to be in today.

Barton May Come Back.

The fans will be surprised when they have a chance to size up Billy Garlow, the Indian recruit. Unlike the majority of the redskins, William is short and stocky, with a pair of shoulders on him like a wrestler. The Dayton baseball club, of the Central League, which secured Catcher Fred Barton, from the Toledo club, after the latter club had drafted the player from Hamilton, wired the local club this morning offering to place Barton up here this season under the optional agreement with privilege of recalling before the season ended. As the league has placed the ban on this optional agreement business the offer had to be turned down. ST. THOMAS NEW MANAGER

"Dad" Stewart, the St. Thomas manager of the Saints, to succeed Chaucer Elliott, is a good player, and knows the game thoroughly. He is one of the most popular players in St. Thomas, and under his leadership the Saints should be a strong pennant contender in the Canadian League race this summer. "Dad" has been busy for the past week or so signing up players, and he has gathered together some like-ly looking youngsters. The Saints will begin work today or tomorrow, some of the players having arrived in St. Thomas already. The St. Thomas fans and management are giving Stewart every support, and the team is liable to prove a dark horse. Great interest is being dis played around the circuit as to what kind of an aggregation Stewart has gathered together, and the St. Thomas team will be watched with

CHAPTER XVIII.

In Which I Again Come to Command. Dade awoke me, the gray light of the Antaretic day streaming through the porthole.
"I pounded the door twice, sir," he explained quickly, "but you was sleepin' so hard I had to come in. Somethin' 's gone wrong in Mr. Tuttle's state-room, sir."

"Wrong! What do you mean?"
"Well, sir, a gun went off in there just

I was already upon my feet, pulling on my clothes.
"Run up on deck and ask De Nova to come down here at once. Lively now, my lad." The two had already reached the foot of the companion-stairs when I came out, and Dade had evidently made the situation clear to the mind of the creole.

"Have you been in zar, monsieur?" he asked anxiously.

"No, not yet, but I fear the worst, and thought it would be best for us to go together. Stand by, Dade, for we may after."

The ex-whaleman was lying on the floor in a curled-up heap, a revolver resting beside him, perhaps a foot from his hand. The pungent odor of powder was still in the room. We turned him over, revealing a bullet wound just in front of the ear. Beyond all doubt he had shot while sitting on the edge of the highest as before. My one advantage helpless as before. My one advantage lies in the fact that I am the only navigator on board. Yet they have power to compel me to do their will. I cannot battle against them alone."

"But you no longer believe in Tuttle's story." some way he appeared younger, happier, than I ever remembered seeing him. I glanced towards De Nova, who stood staring sliently down upon the dead man, and at Dade, almost yellow with terror, peering cautiously in through the open "He is beyond further trouble," I said solemnly. "The poor devil. Help me lift him back into his berth."

Dade held aloof, but De Nova took hold Dade held aloof, but De Nova took hold with me, and together we covered over the body, covering it decently with a sheet, and then we passed out into the main cabin and closed the door.

"Oui, oui," gesticulating, "but w'at we do now? W'at we do now?"
"Well, that depends entirely upon you and your crew," I returned shortly, "Mr. Tuttle is dead, beyond recall. I am the only competent navigator left on board. For the sake of my own life, as well as the safety of those women in our care, I purpose assuming command. Have you purpose assuming command. Have voi

"Well, you had better decide," I_went on stoutly, "and, anyway, the only thing for us to do is to put this matter straight before the crew. Keep quiet about what has happened until after breakfast—you too, Dade—and then have the whole crew piped aft. "Go on about your work until then, and keep your tongues still."

I sat down on the divan, watching Dade as he bustled from the table to the pantry, ever casting furtive glances toward the silent state-room in which the dead man lay. I endeavored to reflect, ar-

She listened silently, her breath quickened from excitement, her face colorless. I dwelt upon the man's mental condition, his ghastly hallucinations, my discovery of him in the mental condition. of him in the main cabin, and his final mad act of self-destruction. I felt it bet-ter to relate all this frankly, and my condence in her womanly strength was fully justified. "It is the one thing needed. Thus armed can fight it out."

The meal following was far from cheer-ul, although the bright sun streamed down through the deck transom to fall in golden bars along the table, as our thoughts would constantly recur to that silent figure lying in the near-by bunk, while our conversation was largely about him, and the consequences of his death. A New Road Bylaw

To the Editor of The Advertiser: farmers delivering produce, bakers, butchers, milkmen, heavy trucks autos, etc., in short, every one who may have occasion to make stops "at left side of any street, lanes, or alley," instead of as hitherto being permitted to cross from right side diagonally, easily and safely ahead to the point they want to make will now have to perform a circle around across, merely in order that the right side of their vehicle, auto truck or wagon, as the case might be, "shall be turned towards the curb," and which will necessitate a second half-circle through the traffic to resume their place at the right, and by such wheeling and crossing of a crowded street, besides oss of time, will materially endanger their own and other people's lives by a mix-up with rigs and street cars instead of being able to go onward diagonally back again, just as if it would make the slightest difference regarding the room they might take up whichever way minds away.

Finally, bidding both mistress and maid stopping, and farmers, city deliveries, their horses heads were turned while etc., might require to make several stops necessitating a perpetual circling and impeding of traffic by any number so occupied. There are also many streets not more than 25 to 30 feet wide from curb to curb, on which it would cause any long wagons or team of large horses considerable backing up, pulling and cramping of wheels to make the two required half-circles—just fancy a big ce wagon trying it.

It is easy to see that whoever insert-ed or supported this unnecessary clause had little experience and no judgment Point out the blunder to one of them and his answer will be, "Oh, if this necessity of circling and wheeling around creates delay and danger to the driver and the public, why cannot rigs deliver all their orders up one side of a street and back on the other." What would a baker, whose route was to deliver along the full length of Dundas street to Egerton and back Queen's avenue, say to that? By doing so he would have to double his distance of travel, or a farmer with his heavy wagon, would have to make all these circles on his way before he could go on to his home on Governor's Road order that he might turn the right side of it and facing west "each time to the curb," or be "pulled" and have to stay in London overnight to answer the charge.

I would suggest that this clause be at once eliminated, and so published as a mistake, else if enforced and people from the country around prosecuted it will drive away the trade of those equally near to St. Thomas, Ingersoll and other market towns. Report goes far and wide through rural districts. Yours truly. H. TAYLOR.

INTENSIVE FARMING AT ITS BEST IN THE ARKONA FRUIT DISTRICT

Peach Orchards Are Increased by Thousands of New Trees.

HONEY AND SYRUP NOT EXCELLED

Record of Large Profits From Small Farms Is Most Satisfactory.

(By The Advertiser Commissioner.) Arkona, April 29. — Almost every London householder who visits the market during strawberry season is sure to have seen big, white-covered wagons, leaded with dozens of crates of delicious truit. Ten chances to one, wagons came from the Arkona fruit belt, one of the most favored spots in Ontario, and one which today holds out some of the best induce. ments to the "back to the soiler."

Here, as in few places in the western peninsula, the problem of intensified farming has been worked out, and here from a few acres the farmer gets more money than his more unfortunate or less progressive neighbor is able to realize from many times more land The Arkona fruit belt occupies the highest elevation of land in the district between Strathroy and Lake Huron, in Warwick and Bosanquet Townships of Lambton County. This strip of sandy loam, extending a distance of about five miles from east to west, and about two miles wide, enjoys freedom from frost due to its height above the surunding country. The rain squalls blowing up from Lake Huron, a few miles away, give a copious supply of water for thirsty crops, and the light, sweet soil produces the best of all kinds of fruit. Strawberries, peaches, raspberries, blackberries, fomatoes and a dozen other varieties, flourish here as well as all kinds of vegetables.

Fruit-growing, although practiced for many years in this district, has grown especially good here, as there are inof peach trees were set out near the of peach trees were set out hear the girls to help in the berry trees willage of Arkona last season. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

On my return from the South I have found the copies of The London Advertiser which you have kindly forwarded me. I have read with much interest all the articles on the agricultural revival of Western Ontario, or perhaps we should say Southwestern Ontario. The opening up of the West has so monopolized the attention of the people of Canada, as well as of Europeans, that there has been an overlooking of the wonderful opportunities for agriculture in Ontario. It looks, however, as though we are beginning to "discover" Ontario, North, East, West and South. Some day we will awaken to the possibilities of this province and there will be great things doing.

Very truly yours. C. C. James. Toronto, April 15.

In addition to their principal function of honey-producing, the bees are of great value to the farmers and horticulturist. The system in which more farm help, they handle their farms by rotation of West Middlesex, April 30. they handle their farms by rotation of crops, dairy herds, the fattening of the land, as mostly all the hay and grain grown is fed and turned back to the soil. For that reason most wellkept Middlesex farms command a high value. The best horses that leave Ontario come from Middlesex and such prices as $600 to $800 or even are not uncommon for good

From $3.00 to $3.50 per barrel is paid for the best quality apples. We know it will be a benefit to farms, as it means more for our cheese, butter, hay, beef and pork, Many 100-acre farms in the county are selling for $8,000 to $12,000, and some of the best command still higher

A. W. LYDIATT, PRESIDE

TORONTO April 26th 1912

The " Advertiser," London, Ont.

I sm very glad to note the campaign you are running to educate the advertising of the Province of Ontario. This is a matter that has engaged the serious attention of a committee in our Toronto Ad Club, and we are planning to include all the Ad Clubs in the Province and work in whatever way will accomplish results.

You are to be congratulated on being the first to your readers.

If through our id Clubs we can not only work up an agitation for an advertising campaign for Ontario, but also a plan for doing it, we will want the co-operation of as many newspapers as possible to back us up while the committee and pushes its proposals before the legislature probably at the next sesson.

Now, in regard to another matter in which you should be Now, in regard to another matter in which you should be interested. As you know, the Convention of Ad Men meets in Dallas May 19th to 25th and at that convention probably one of the subjects to be gone into mest thoroughly is that of the subjects to be gone into most thoroughly is that of Municipal Advertising. I think your local papers should interest themselves in seeing that Mr Henderson is sent to this Convention, not only because he will be one of the representatives of a great many manufacturers but also because he should be able to learn something from the discussions on Municipal Advertising. I think you should also send someone from the "Advertiser," and if you can do anything to have London represented at this Convention you will see the advantage of doing it of anyone going.

The above reproduction of a letter received by The Advertiser speaks for itself. The president of the Canadian Division of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America announces that publicity methods such as The Advertiser has been making are to be undertaken for the province as a whole. The Canadian Division represents the advertising interests of the whole province, and when Mr. Lydiatt says "You are to be congratulated on being the first to seize this strong issue," it is praise indeed. The intention is announced to approach the Legislature with a view of securing an appropriation for the proper advertising of the bander province of Canada

Winnipeg, April 30 .- Committees from both sides of the line, representing train orders of conductors, engineers and firemen, trying to settle the trouble imminent over the Hill lines operating trains from the border to Winnipeg with American crews run through from Grand Forks, combined in session today. To-morrow the Great Northern and Northern Pacific begin to operate their own trains into Winnipeg. In the past these U. s. trains have been operated with Canadian crews from the border to the city. The management claim it is the part of economy to bring trains through with Grand Forks and Fargo crews and are determined to ignore protests. There is no law to stop them, but railway orders on Canadian roads say they will prevent it even by a strike if necessary.

TOUCHING TRIBUTES TO REV. JAS. LIVINGSTONE

Brother Clergymen Spoke Words of Eulogy at Kincardine Burial Service.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Kincardine, April 3$. — The remains of Rev. James Livingstone were interred here today. The body arrived on the late train last night and was taken to Miller's undertaking rooms, from whence it was taken this morning to he Methodist Church, where a very large congregation listened to splendid eulogies of the deceased, as given by some of the reverend gentlemen who spoke from the pulpit. The following Kincardine ministers attended: Rev. Messrs. McArthur (Presbyterian), Wright (Episcopal), and Davis (Baptist). After a hymn Rev. Mr. Ferguson referred to the service held at Mitchell yesterday, where 60 brother clergymen had gathered. He doubted if there was another man whose influence had been so great as to draw so many clergymen to an obscure town, with poor railway facilities. Mr. Livingstone's influence is still felt here, he said, and his name is ever spoken of with respect. Rev. Mr. Pomeroy said he had known deceased for forty years, or throughout his ministerial career. Only few weeks ago he preached from this pulpit, and everyone was pleased to listen to their old pastor. He quoted from Edwin Arnold regarding death of his father, and said that he could not feel that he was dead, but that he still lived, amid the plenitude of nature.

Rev. Mr. Reid said he never knew grander or nobler man, upright and true. He did not think that he could feel the loss so much of that radiant face, beaming with kindliness and love, warm hand, and brotherly sympathy His love was never mixed, his influence came from the pureness of his

Rev. Mr. Vance said there was a man from God, named John, whose many attributes seemed to have fallen to the deceased, God made him, as he had been, his noble and majestic appearance. He loved the flowers, he loved the birds, all nature was enjoyment to him, and he learned lessons from them, which he used with effect. He was imaginative and poetical, and had filled a large place among the people. Life is more pleasant by his having been with us. feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as' if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best-known merchants:

"In the fall of 1903," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold, which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the revision of the process o

HAY TOOK JUMP ON LOCAL MARKET

Sixteen Loads Sold Today at $22 Per Ton.

The price of hay went up another notch on the market today, and the majority of the 16 loads that were sold today brought the price of $22 per ton. This rise in the price of hay is due to the fact that the farmers cannot spare the time from their seeding to bring the hay to the market. It 's expected, however, that as soon as the seeding operations are finished, the price of hay will decrease.

steady stream of visitors. It is understood that after the raid one of the officers remained at the house to await the coming of others, and that shortly afterward he engaged in a footrace with two young women who were bent on spending a pleasant evening at the resort. The pair, however, scented trouble, and started away at a lively pace, with the sergeant in pursuit Each sprinted in an opposite direction and both got safely away.

This Company has been formed for the purpose of taking advantage of the exceptional investment opportunities arising through the rapid development of the Peace River District.

At the present time there is a very great influx of settlers to this district, and active construction operations are now under way on four distinct lines of railway which are competing to secure first entrance to this fertile territory. The bonds of these railways have been guaranteed by the Governments of Alberta and British Columbia

The Company has already acquired a large area of selected agricultural land in one of the best parts of the district at a very attractive price.

Many of the leading Land and Investment Companies have made enormous earnings in recent years through the rapid development of the West. During the next five years the Peace River District will undoubtedly show greater development than any other part of Western Canada, and this Company is in an exceedingly favorable position to profit through such development.

As there are no bonds or preferred stock, the holders of the ordinary shares of the Company will reap the full benefit of all profits

An investment in these shares, therefore, offers in addition to absolute security the promise of very large returns.

We have prepared a descriptive circular, containing map, reports and other information, which will be gladly mailed upon request.

The Last Case. The trial of the last case to be discosed of, Richard Williamson ,et al., against Calvin Hodgins, of Plyanpton Township, is still in progress at the ourthouse this afternoon.

The defendant, when 6 years of age was placed with the late John Anderson, a farmer, of Plympton, and worked from that time until a couple of years ago, receiving his clothing, but no salary. However, he obtained deeds to both sections of the Anderson farm from the old man before his death. these are now the cause of the trou The relatives, represented by the plaintiff, Williamson, ask that these deeds be annulled as having been obtained by the exertion of undue influnce upon a man of feeble mind. They then desire that a will made in 1905, in which the property was disposed

The evidence today showed some rather peculiar cfrcumstances concerning the maintainance of the old gentleman in his declining years. He was unable to care for himself, but lived with Hodgins, who had been his farm helper. At one time, after trouble with Hodgins' wife, Anderson left the place and lived for three weeks in his barn. Secretary Webster, of London Association, Is Now in Toronto, Fighting the Plan of the Railways.

An attempt made by the railways to raise the freight on anthracite coal exposure at Toronto Tuesday at the "Brown, of Harvard," is dying at meeting of the Dominion railway commission, that created a sensation. Mr. to advices received by friends here. M. K. Cowan, K. C., solicitor for the Retail Coal Dealers' Association, declared that the railway companies and the age of 9 years as a chorus boy in some dealers had entered into a compact to raise the price of coal 25 cents a ton, of which 10 cents would go to the railways, and the remainder to the dealers interested. In conversation with a number of local dealers they declared that they would not submit tamely to the increase, but would fight it as long as possible.

Opposed to the Boost. "We are utterly opposed to the in-rease," said Mr. William Heaman. Some three or four months ago the railways notified us that they would raise the rates. However, it was decided that in justice to the coal men the increase would not go into effect until May 1. Of course, we protested. We took the position that we re paying the companies all we can stand. They charge us enough at any time. We could not get any satisfaction, so we appealed to the Dominon railway commission, who are hearing the case now.
