BELL IS CONFIDENT OF LOWER TAX RATE

Thirty-Four-Mill Rate Now Appears Probable Following Caucus Held Last Night—Members Now Optimistic—Outlines Difference Existing Between Toronto and London at Present.

MAYOR SEEKS FURTHER REDUCTIONS

Cheerful information to the ratepayers is forthcoming from City Treasurer James Bell, who is confident that the 1923 rate of 34.7 mills will be reduced for the current term. A 34-mill rate is within the realm of probability after a reasonable consideration of the proposed expenditures from the several boards.

At a special caucus last night, Mayor Wenige, the treasurer and Ald. Douglass, chairman of the finance committee, reviewed all the estimates again and taxed their reckoning powers in an effort to evolve plans for a substantial reduction in the rate.

Ald. Douglass is also optimistic with the city treasurer after last night and believes that he can see a reduced rate on the horizon, not including of course the proposal to place one mill in the estimates for the welfare fund.

Neither of them are quite as enthusiastic as Mayor Wenige, however, who slashed at the figures right and left, tentatively of course, bringing the rate down to 32.8 mills. His colleagues did not see eye to eye with this arrangement, however, as there are certain items which must be met in the tax rate this year, they feel, although the mayor seems inclined to cut or eliminate them all together.

I am quite pleased with the estimates to date as I reviewed them last night," Ald. Douglass stated. "I feel safe in predicting that our rate will not be increased and there is every hope now for a reduction."

The general opinion at the city hall now appears to be that it would still be possible for the city council to bring in a tax rate, not in excess of last year and possibly lower, with provision for one branch high school.

While considerable prominence has been given to the fact that the city council of Toronto has reduced its tax rate to 30 mills, and the city treasurer has a communication from that municipality reminding him of that situation, he points out that there are several phases of the situation to consider before any criticism can be directed at the local council.

"Toronto has a 30-mill rate for this year," he explained, "but upon the same basis of assessment and valuation as we have in London, it would have been possible for last year's council in London to have brought down a 25-mill rate."

"Toronto's assessment per capita last year was about $1.477 while upon the same basis of assessment and with the latest population figures London's rate would have been 25 mills."

TWO ENGLISH YOUTHS TO WORK ON FARMS

Arrive in City Today To Take Up Positions Near Dresden.

Two stalwart, young Englishmen arrived in the city Tuesday morning to take up farm positions secured for them by John Farrell, Western Ontario immigration superintendent of the Ontario government. They left in the afternoon for neighboring farms near Dresden.

M. G. Coffin stated he came from London, England, and was anxious to try conclusions with the farming game as practiced in Canada. There was no work to be had in the old country, he stated, and Canada looked like the land of opportunity to him. These statements were agreed to by C. Trentham of Birmingham, who met Mr. Coffin aboard the Montrose, which docked at St. John's last Sunday.

Referring to the Ramsay MacDonald government, the young men stated the new premier was being closely watched regarding his attitude towards the Socialists.

"If he does too much for them, there will be a great row," predicted Mr. Coffin.

NO CHANCE FOR EPIDEMIC OF SMALLPOX IN LONDON

There is slight chance of a smallpox epidemic in this city, assures Ald. L. H. Douglass, member of the board of health, but he would recommend, however, that every citizen take advantage of the vaccination at the earliest opportunity.

"In London, Brantford, Hamilton and other centers on the railroad leading in and out of Windsor, the odd case of smallpox is bound to develop," he stated, "but there will be no epidemic. It would be advisable, however, for everyone to be vaccinated in order that they would not be that possible odd case."

CASEY YOHN TRIAL PROCEEDS TODAY

Strong Evidence Is Brought In Against Former Londoner at Detroit.

Special to The Advertiser
By a Staff Correspondent.

Detroit, March 11.—Strong evidence against Jack "Casey" Yohn, alias Downey, formerly of London, Ontario, charged with murder of Floyd Johnson, local oil station attendant, was given before Judge Edward J. Jeffries today.

The trial, delayed for months, did not open until yesterday and was adjourned until 3:30 this morning after an exhaustive evidence against Yohn was heard. It is probable the case will go before the jury this afternoon.

One of the sensational features of the trial was the assertion of Edward Attix, Yohn's attorney, that the alleged confession of the murder made by the prisoner was written under coercion. He advocated that this evidence be struck out. Yohn pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Yohn is said to have shot Johnson at the corner of Harper avenue and Grand boulevard on August 28, 1923. Please See Page 2, Column 6.

DENBY SURRENDERS NAVAL PORTFOLIO

U. S. Cabinet Minister Will Return to His Home in Detroit.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, March 11.—Edwin Denby surrendered his naval portfolio yesterday but retained a connection with the naval establishment, of which he has been the chief for three years. When he left the office late in the day he was again Major Denby, fourth class, marine corps, reserve.

Departmental affairs were turned over to Acting Secretary Roosevelt until such time as Mr. Denby's successor is nominated and confirmed. The former secretary will leave for his home in Detroit Wednesday afternoon, returning to Washington about March 30.

Coal Petition Is Gaining Big Headway In Alberta

Drumheller Board of Trade Will Circulate Forms in District.

The petition for Alberta coal is gaining headway in Alberta as well as throughout Ontario.

The Advertiser has received the following telegram from T. S. Branson, secretary of the board of trade of Drumheller, Alta.:

"Drumheller Board of Trade is undertaking to circulate the Advertiser's petition to Premier King regarding Alberta coal.

"One thousand copies are being put in the hands of parties who will have them signed."

"The Drumheller Board of Trade passed a resolution thanking The Advertiser for their action in this matter."

"(Signed) T. S. BRANSON, Secretary."

All signed petition forms should be returned to The Advertiser by the end of March.

CITY THEFT SUSPECT IS NOW HELD IN NEW YORK

Extradition Proceedings Are Being Started To Bring Back Clarence Gould.

THOUSANDS TAKEN

Petty Thieving and Serious Charges Held Against Youth.

Clarence Gould, young Londoner, who is alleged to have stolen thousands of dollars worth of valuables back in 1921, has been captured by New York police and is being held there pending extradition proceedings being taken by the Ontario government at the instigation of Chief Robert Birrell of the local force and Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd.

Petty thieving as well as serious robberies which took place in the early months of 1921 were proving a source of worry to the local force which worked quietly and unobtrusively on the robberies. When the trail finally grew warm, Gould became scared and disappeared entirely. It was learned that he had fled to the United States, and circulars were broadcast, giving a full description of the young man.

Chief Birrell, when interviewed, stated he had no official information to give out. He stated he had been in communication with the New York police for some time and that extradition proceedings were being taken through the British consulate at New York. He could not say when the young man would be brought to London to stand trial.

The articles so far have been stolen by Gould are found on the premises of a relative residing in East London. Packed away in huge packing cases were found a dozen or more expensive motor rugs, several valuable fur coats, automobile tires almost without number were discovered, some of them brand new.

Altogether the proceeds of over 30 thefts were found by Inspector Nickle who was mainly instrumental in the discovery of the goods.

Early in January 1921, Gould is alleged to have driven an automobile owned by M. P. Clatworthy.

On May 17, 1921 he spirited away a huge truck belonging to the Webster Construction Company, it is believed. Shortly after this occurred the police became suspicious of Gould who departed for safe fields in the United States.

A. MITCHELL PALMER,
who was attorney-general of the United States in the Wilson cabinet, is accused of having turned over $500,000 worth of oil lands to an American railroad.

CONTRIBUTIONS MADE TO GET GRAMOPHONE

Mrs. R. G. Goldston Opens Campaign To Bring Happiness to Little Patients.

As the result of a story published last Saturday in The London Advertiser, local citizens have interested themselves in the procuring of a gramophone to be placed in the wards of the War Memorial Hospital for Sick Children.

Mrs. R. G. Goldston of 724 Elms street (phone 7513) who immediately offered to conduct a campaign and has already received subscriptions for this purpose.

The entire sum necessary to accomplish this exceptionally useful task only reaches about $50, and Mrs. Goldston and those who are giving her support are quite confident of receiving the necessary support. Contributions may be received either by The Advertiser or by Mrs. Goldston and will be acknowledged through the news columns of the paper.

RECTORY SCHOOL COULD BE CLOSED

Ald. Gordon Drake Declares Accommodation Can Easily Be Found For Pupils.

Ald. Gordon Drake is responsible today for the interesting declaration that the Rectory street public school could be closed up entirely and accommodation found for the pupils in other institutions, without much trouble.

"And that was told me yesterday by a member of the board of education," Ald. Drake stated. "I would not care to mention his name, for obvious reasons. But I was certainly surprised to hear of such a situation."

"The trustee explained to me that the school district entirely and send the students to other schools and that then there would be plenty of room to spare. The information was certainly set me thinking about this collegiate institute problem."

Ald. Drake still insists that the collegiate proposal of $700,000 could be cut to $160,000 by adding to the central collegiate institute.

ASHPLANT DELAYS RECOMMENDATIONS

Prefers To Have Plan Considered at Next Session of Commission.

City Auditor Henry B. Ashplant did not care to publicly discuss his report of yesterday concerning the accounting system of the L. and P. S. Railway. He stated that he would prefer to say nothing until such time as his recommendations are considered at the next session of the commission.

As pointed out yesterday, the city auditor raises at the connection with the bookkeeping system of that department. It appears that his opinion conflicts with that of other auditors in the past. The fact was stressed yesterday that no charges were hurled at the department. The question appears to the average person to be one of strictly accounting.

Revised List of Votes Published On Wednesday

First Day of Last Lap in Contest Shows No Slackening.

TWO WEEKS MORE
Twelve Candidates Enter the Home Stretch Level and Going Strong.

Coming down the home stretch in the greatest race ever held in Western Ontario more than 100 candidates are so close to one another that the winner cannot be determined until the final day of the contest. A remarkable revival of salesmanship spirit characterized the first day of the last lap.

The man or woman who continues working hard this week and next is almost sure to win the $500 in special prizes. The candidate who wins the first award of $200 in this subsidiary contest will have his average boosted to such an extent he will stand a splendid chance of annexing the grand prize of $2,000.

Very shortly the 250,000 extra vote offer for every two subscriptions will close.

In the final analysis the race will narrow down to twelve of the hardest workers. All that is required to be numbered among that dozen is continued hard work.

The 200 free vote coupon will appear for the last time next Thursday. Candidates may send in all their coupons any time now.

A new revised vote standing will be published in Wednesday's Advertiser.

COLLEGIATE ESTIMATES EXPECTED TO BE CUT

Council Members State, Action Proves $700,000 Program Unnecessarily High.

WORK NOT THOROUGH

See Slight Hope of Council Supporting Such Large Expenditure.

The $700,000 building estimate for two new colleges advanced by the Board of Education now seems likely to receive a decided cut at the next meeting of the board.

This probability was announced last night by Dr. A. J. Grant, chairman of No. 3 committee.

Dr. Grant, who has been active in sponsoring and urging the $700,000 building program, received architect's plans last Saturday, and explains that examination of these plans led him to believe that a different idea in last night's meeting. The new plan will be submitted at the next general meeting of the Board of Education.

Dr. Grant states that there is no change, however, in the conviction that two new schools are required.

Members of the city council seem inclined to believe that Dr. Grant's change in plan is proof that the $700,000 program which he previously urged was unnecessarily high, and that if it can now be reduced a step it is capable of further reductions.

Work Not Thorough.
"It looks to me," stated one man, "as if Dr. Grant and his committee hadn't gone into things very thoroughly. Apparently they hadn't even seen the plans of the proposed buildings when they stipulated $700,000. Further inquiries are made perhaps more economies will be discovered. We mustn't waste money these days."

Ald. Edmund Hayden expressed surprise that it has been possible to find reductions after this lapse of time.

"Dr. Grant and the board should take their proposals to the people," stated Ald. Hayden. "I think one has had extravagant ideas and been too anxious to lead other people around by the nose, and the city council would not be justified in approving so large an expenditure of the people's money."

Further Reduction.
Ald. John Groer, chairman of the board of works, stated that he has yet to be shown good and sufficient reason why Dr. Grant's proposal for two new high schools during 1924 should receive the support of the council.

"I am still ready to hear what they have to say," he stated. "Although from what I gather from my associates in the council, there appears to be slight hope for any $700,000 program. I would like to see Dr. Grant make further reductions in his plan."

CONFERENCE ON LIGHTING.
As a preliminary move for the inauguration of "ornamental lighting" throughout the downtown section, Mayor Wenige and General Manager Buchanan of the public utilities commission conferred at noon today. The utilities department will take the initiative and sell the proposition to the storekeepers.

NO ACTION YET TAKEN IN MURDER APPEALS

Department of Justice Has Not Received Evidence in London Cases.

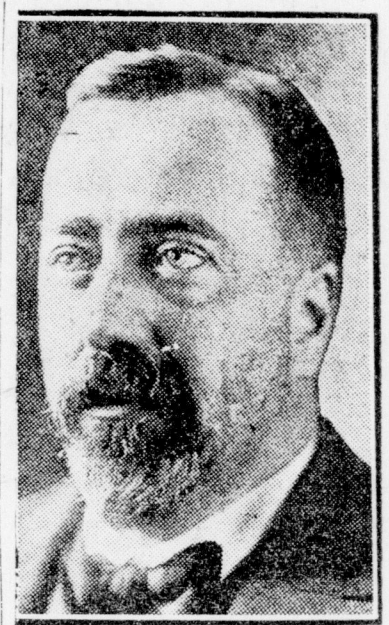

Special to The Advertiser
By a Staff Correspondent.
Ottawa, March 11.—No concerted move for leniency has yet been made in the case of Murrell, Williams and Topping, sentenced to be hanged for murder at London on April 10 next. As a matter of fact, the evidence in the cases has not yet been received by the justice department.

After it has been received it must be carefully reviewed by the minister and his officers, whereupon recommendation is made to cabinet council, which decides whether or not the law shall take its course. It is regarded here as likely that community spirit generally would look with disfavor upon any move for clemency.

READY FOR INVESTIGATION OF RELIEF DEPARTMENT

All is ready for an investigation of the city relief department tomorrow by the members of the finance committee, Mayor Wenige stated, but he is not prepared to specify his charges definitely.

"I'll present my case to the committee, and they can deal with my charges. I feel that I had justification for my action."

DR. BERNARD DERNBURG,
former "unofficial" German agent in the United States, denounces France and Russia as instigator of the world war.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WARNS COUNCILS

Nickle Declares Ignorance of Law Not To Be Accepted as Excuse.

Toronto, March 11.—Hon. W. F. Nickle, chairman of the private bills committee of the Legislature, gave warning this morning that ignorance of law would hereafter be no excuse for municipalities coming to the Legislature for ratification of their actions.

Two towns, Trenton and Colborne, had private bills covering infringements of the provincial law in by-laws passed by their councils. The chairman gave the warning, so that these two cases would not be set up as precedents by other municipalities.

PROPOSED HYDRO LINE TO LUCAN DISCUSSED

Residents of Village and Surrounding District Interested in Project.

Lucan town hall was crowded to capacity Monday afternoon with residents of Biddulph and London townships who were anxious to hear more particulars regarding the proposed hydro line from Lucan along the Proof Line road to the second concession of London Township, thence to Iderton.

J. A. Hughes, superintendent of London and Westminster townships, hydro lines, and Miss Mary Grant, clerk of London Township, were present and answered a number of questions to the satisfaction of all present.

A number of contracts were signed by farmers and at the end of the meeting it was made known that with the signing of 12 more hydro contracts the line would be proceeded with. It was explained that there must be three hydro customers to every mile.

J. M. Ross, reeve of Lucan, and C. Hodgins, reeve of Lucan and Township, were present, Mr. Hodgins acting as chairman.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from his parents' residence to Christ Church, Delaware, where services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Crowley. Interment will be made in Delaware Cemetery.

BRANTFORD RESIDENT ENDS LIFE WITH ACID

Body of J. B. De Wolfe Found This Morning Near Lumber Yard.

RETURNING HOME

Left Work and Believed To Be On His Way From Flint.

The lifeless body of J. B. De Wolfe, a former resident of Brantford, was found in a box car at 8 o'clock this morning on a C. N. R. siding adjoining the lumber yard at George St. Belton. An empty bottle labelled carbolic acid was lying close to the body, mute testimony of the man's method of ending life.

Coroner Dr. Cameron Wilson, who was called to the scene by lumber yard employees who found the remains, decided an inquest was not necessary, declaring it was a plain case of suicide.

Employees who had partly unloaded a car of fibre board late Monday afternoon, left one door open last night and were horrified to find the body on entering the car this morning. One man thought De Wolfe was just a tramp who had sneaked in during the night for a sleep. He advanced toward the prone body and gave the shoulder a shake, expecting the man to wake with a start.

The empty bottle was then discovered and a hurried call sent for the police. Detective Harry Dunn was soon on the scene and made a careful examination.

A little pocket dictionary was found in an inside pocket bearing the name of J. B. De Wolfe, 196 Nelson street, Brantford. Another book with a leather cover had the name of the Cockshutt Plow Co., Brantford on it. Inside were some formulas used by moulders, while in the man's pockets were found a moulder's trowel and other tools used in the business.

An "X" finger ring was found on one of the fingers of the dead man, while $16 in bills was found in his trouser pocket. Half of it was American currency.

London police believe that the man was on his way to Brantford from Flint, Michigan. The bottle labelled carbolic acid bore the name of A. E. River, Flint, Michigan, druggist and grocer, the police stated. What, please see page 2, column 1.

GREAT WAR VETERAN, W. R. LOWTHIAN, DIES

Passes Away at Byron Sanatorium Yesterday—Funeral Thursday.

William R. Lowthian, a veteran of the great war, died at Byron Sanatorium yesterday. He was born in Middlesex County, near Delaware, 23 years ago, and resided there his whole life. He was a member of the A. F. and A. M. Lodge, No. 353, Delaware.

Mr. Lowthian is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Lowthian, and two sisters, Mrs. Ivel Minnett, city, and Marie, at home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from his parents' residence to Christ Church, Delaware, where services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Crowley. Interment will be made in Delaware Cemetery.

PROHIBITIONISTS PLANNING CAMPAIGN

ONTARIO'S DRY FORCES PREPARE TO OPPOSE VOTE

General Organization Planned Against Any Referendum in Province.

APPEALING TO POWERS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 11.—General organization in opposition to the submission of either plebiscite or referendum in connection with the present Ontario temperance act is being perfected by the prohibitionists throughout the province, and it is the intention that the culmination of the effort will take place at the general convention and conference called to meet in Massey Hall, Toronto, on Tuesday next.
In the meantime the Ontario government and the members of the legislature have been heavily bombarded with resolutions of various church and other organizations urging that the enforcement of the Ontario temperance act be given a fair trial by the Ferguson government under the direction of Attorney-General Niekke before the question is again submitted to the people.
The mass conference here next Tuesday has been summoned under the name of the "annual convention of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance." R. J. Fleming is the president and J. Bailey acting secretary.
The convention will consist of a committee of 20 persons representative of different organizations and interested after many weeks of careful study has arrived at a basis of agreement, upon which it is sincerely hoped that all persons interested in the prohibition cause will unite.
It is announced that "the present situation in Ontario" will be the subject of discussion and that the situation in provinces where there is now a system of sale of liquor under government control will be outlined by representative speakers.

LOT WISER NOW.
A Detroit came into direct conflict with the Ontario temperance act yesterday and emerged $200 out of pocket. He was found in possession of a bottle of whiskey by Police Constables Berryman and Shell, but being unfamiliar with the province's laws, thought he was acting in a perfectly proper manner.
Informed that the minimum penalty for the offense was $200 and that he had to appear at Police Court Clerk Mowle with good grace.
"I'm a lot wiser now," he observed.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectively banishes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood.
Mr. Conrad Anderson, Kelsfield, Sask., writes: "A year ago I had an awful attack of pimples. I lay broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burdock Blood Bitters and let me have a bottle to try. After using it I noticed a change. So I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples."

Yesterday In Ontario's Legislature

Yesterday in the Ontario legislature Premier Ferguson announced that the government would bring in legislation to stop bonusing of industries by municipalities; to put embargo on export of pulpwood; to tax summer resorts in unorganized territory; to prevent sale of fraudulent stocks; to define different types of hotels and create regulations for them; to further hydro rural extensions.
Bills establishing separate department of health passed, and establishing quarantine for imported bee colonies passed committee.
In discussion of estimates the premier announced that the fiscal year of the University of Toronto would be changed from June 31 to October 31, to conform with other government departments. He also announced that the T. and N. O. Railway would not be built to James Bay. Branch lines were under consideration.
House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

DOMESTICS IN DEMAND BY SIX CITY FAMILIES

W. J. Spencer, Employment Agent, States Many Applications Received.

All applications received at the employment bureau today for help from out-of-town firms, including tool designers and draughtsmen in steel construction. In all cases first-class men were asked for.
W. J. Spencer stated he has applications from four cotton workers who are seeking employment and all are experienced in their work.
The demand for female cooks brightened up somewhat with six families requiring some one to prepare the meals.
The custom of changing the gangs employed on the construction of the Wellington-High street sewer was carried out this morning when 80 more men replaced the crew sent out last week.

MAYOR EJECTS REPORTER FROM THE CITY HALL

Charges Articles Appear Are Unfounded and Gives Out Warning.

ASKS FAIR CRITICISM

Gently but firmly the Free Press representative at the city hall was ejected from the mayor's office this morning, Mayor Wenige officiating as the guide to the doors.
Later in the morning the mayor again encountered the same representative from the Free Press, this time in the city engineer's office. The order was repeated and the visitor withdrew.
"When we want you, we'll send for you," the mayor explained, "but you should have a good idea by this time that you are not wanted around my office."
Taking exception to certain articles which have been appearing, he states, in the Free Press from time to time, the mayor announced at noon that he would not be responsible for anything in the Free Press credited to him unless followed by his signature.
A resident of East London called the mayor by telephone this morning, asking if it were true that he proposed to suspend practically every city official. The mayor replied that the latest charge was absolutely without foundation.
Mayor Wenige does not mind legitimate and fair criticism, he stated, but he does object to what he terms "articles which have been appearing in the Free Press and which are as far from the truth as the moon is from the sun."

MILD FORM OF GRIPPE IS FELT IN LONDON

Doctors Advise Splenty of Rest and Quiet as Cure For Disease.

A mild form of la grippe, which in most instances has proven invulnerable to serum inoculations, has been visiting London and vicinity. Local doctors claim the prevalence of gripe this season has reached pronounced proportions, but fortunately it is a relatively mild type.
"Most of us acknowledge that antitoxins for gripe have not been a success," one doctor said. "The only effective remedy is plenty of quiet, rest and good nursing."
There are so many types of gripe that it is impossible to isolate each particular form. The popular variety this year, however, seems to be of a nature which permits an individual to do light work without suffering bad effects.

YOUNG COUPLE HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Remanded For Week Until Case Is Investigated by Authorities.

Living in a local hotel together, Arthur Iutzi, 22, and a young woman, 20, were arrested by police yesterday and remanded a week for investigation in police court this morning.
The young woman, although she gave her age as 20, looked no more than 14. She and Iutzi took a room at the local hotel after registering as man and wife. The young man hailed from Emmet, Mich., and the girl comes from Tavistock. Iutzi pleaded guilty to the charge.
"You have been making the hotel practically a place of prostitution," Magistrate Graydon told Iutzi. "I'll remand you a week for investigation."
Orders were given to get in touch with the girl's people. If her age proves to be 14 or 15, another and more serious charge will likely be laid.
Iutzi had nothing to say other than that he had "got in wrong." The girl, wearing a tan o'shelter and dilapidated red coat, looked like a miserable child as she told her story to a member of a local charitable institution. The couple will spend the next seven days in jail.

ALLEGED BANK ROBBER IS ON TRIAL AT MOUNT FOREST

EDUCATION BOARD REQUESTS SCHOOL PLAN INDORSED

Will Wait On City Council, Requesting Building of Two Collegiates.

EXPECT REDUCTION

Tomorrow night the board of education will wait on the finance committee of the city council and request the reduction of the plan for the building of two collegiates in London this year.

This was learned this morning following the announcement that a special meeting of the board of education had been called for tomorrow afternoon, at which the final details of the matter will be thrashed out, and the amount needed decided on.

At first it was estimated that $700,000 would be required for this purpose, but it is understood this amount has been reduced. The actual figures could not, however, be secured.

The special meeting follows a caucus of the collegiate committee held last night, at which it was announced that the committee would require no more than $700,000. The caucus lasted till well after midnight, and when the members adjourned, the matter was in such shape that it requires but the final touches of the board before coming to the council.

It has not yet been decided whether the board will appoint a deputation or will visit the committee in a body. Several of the trustees favor the latter arrangement, and it is possible that all twelve of the trustees will urge the question before the aldermen.

SCHOOL FLOOR WILL AGAIN BE DISCUSSED

No. 2 Committee of the Board of Education Meeting Today.

When No. 2 committee meets this afternoon the question of the floor at Boyle Memorial School will probably be again thrown to the center of the arena.

For the past two meetings of this committee the condition of the floor, whether it was made according to specifications and whether it is good or not, has been a bone of contention between Trustee Rev. R. D. Moss and Architect L. E. Carothers. It is, therefore, more than likely that the members will be called upon to discuss the matter.

Other matters that will be taken up are of a routine nature, and include the passing of accounts. There was practically no business referred to the committee by the board.

Toronto, Ont.—"I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric acid) Tablets to all those who suffer in any way with their kidneys or bladder. Anuric is by far the best medicine of the kind I have ever taken. My kidneys were congested and inflamed, my back ached something awful, my bladder was weak, and I suffered from a scalding and burning sensation. I was almost down and out—but, thanks to Doctor Pierce's Anuric (kidney) Tablets I do not suffer any more. Those who suffer as I did will find Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets just the medicine they need."

LEWIS AUSTIN UNMOVED AS THEFT CHARGE READ

The Mount Forest Courtroom Is Crowded to Capacity as Trial Opens Today.

CRIME REVIEWED

Man Held Was Apprehended in New York and Later Extradited.

Special to The Advertiser.
Mount Forest, March 11.—Fourteen months ago, the quiet little town of Mount Forest was thrown into a whirl of excitement when robbers broke into the Royal Bank of Canada at dead of night and got clear away with $40,000 worth of Victory Bonds.

Today excitement again reigns supreme, for the morning train brought with it a carefully guarded prisoner, Lewis Austin, who this afternoon is being given a preliminary hearing on the charge of being responsible for the theft of the bonds. The robbery bore every evidence of being carefully planned, except in one respect, the strength of the main safe was underestimated. It was tax collection time in Wellington County, and the vaults of the bank were well loaded with money. It is thought that it was the knowledge of this fact which prompted the thieves to make the attempt when they did. An easy entrance to the building was gained by forcing the bars of a back window. The condition of the snow on the ground the next morning indicated that the time must have been around 4 o'clock in the morning.

Secured Victory Bonds.
After working for a considerable time on the main safe, the thieves evidently found themselves frustrated and concentrated on the bond safe. Here they had better luck. The heavy lock gave way to their efforts, and they removed Victory Bonds valued at $40,000.

The next morning the police followed their motor tracks for a considerable distance, but presently lost the trail.

It was in January, 1923, that Austin first became associated with the crime. Apprehended in New York for another offence, a search revealed some of the stolen bonds among his possessions, and the provincial authorities were immediately notified. Subsequently, nearly all of the other missing bonds were discovered by accident, carefully cached in an orchard near Agincourt, but the police were not able to definitely establish who hid them there.

After Austin's apprehension in New York, the attorney-general of Ontario waived extradition proceedings, and the United States authorities a chance to try the prisoner on a charge of murder at Little Rock, Arkansas, when this charge exploded, and the attorney-general's department immediately re-opened extradition proceedings and with the co-operation of the United States federal department, their efforts were greeted with success.

Courtroom Crowded.

Austin was brought back to Ontario by Inspector Boyd a few weeks ago, and has since been retained in custody at Guelph. The station platform was crowded with people when Boyd arrived at Mount Forest with his prisoner. The crowd today, and when the court was called to order a short while later there was hardly standing room left.

The prisoner was immediately driven to the courthouse. A girl passed over the courtroom floor and Lewis Austin was brought before Magistrate Albert Hyler, securely manacled to a provincial constable.

On the street outside, half a hundred people craned their necks in an effort to catch a glimpse of the man who had been retained in custody at Guelph, was present for the defence, J. M. Kearns, crown attorney for Wellington, conducted the prosecution.

Austin presented an air of complete indifference as he entered the courtroom. He is of average height, he was well-dressed in a suit of brown tweed with an orange-tinted tie, bearing a conspicuous tie pin.

His clean-shaven face, of more than ordinary intelligence, bore a dreamy expression throughout the early stages of the hearing.

Prisoner Hears Charge.
"You are charged that on the 15th day of December, 1923, the town of Mount Forest you did by night, contrary to law, break into the Royal Bank of Canada with intent to steal therein and did steal from Canadian Victory Bonds, Province of Ontario bonds, and other securities to the value of $50,000," said Magistrate Hyler.

The first witness called was Arthur Keals, a former employee of the bank. On entering the bank the morning of the 15th, he had found the vault door open with the combination ripped off and most of the safety deposit boxes forced open.

Austin Keelan, a former clerk of the bank, had found a similar state of affairs when he arrived around 9 o'clock.

"I arrived at the bank about 8:45," said Robert Powrie, the present manager. "I found the vault door open, the bars on the rear windows had been cut and forced apart. The back door was locked. Most of the safety deposit boxes were open. Some boxes were forced by a chisel and the locks were removed from others."

R. O. Kilgour, Mrs. Gertrude Armstrong, Joseph Goodyear, J. E. Armstrong, and Mrs. Addison, all testified that they had had bonds in safety deposit boxes of the bank previous to the robbery. Some boxes after the robbery these bonds were missing. Most of the bonds had since been restored to them, but some were still missing. Constable in the front row of the court was Lewis Austin's wife, a bright-faced young woman, attractively attired in a coat of gray velvet, and a blue and white hat. Outwardly she preserved the same appearance of unconcern as her husband.

N. Y. Detectives Testify.

When the court adjourned at noon Austin accompanied her husband and the constable up to the Empress Hotel,

New Hydroplane Record Is Made

Associated Press Despatch.
London, March 11.—A Havas despatch from Paris says Sadi Lecointe, the noted French ace, in an eight-hour flight on a hydroplane, reached the height of 9,000 metres, and thus established a world record for a hydroplane flight.

MARKET PIGEONS' HOME IS FAVORED

Douglas States Question Will Be Decided On Its Merits.

Members of the finance committee cannot be stampeded warns Ald. Leonard Douglas, chairman. It is his opinion that the "pigeon question" will be decided on its merits by the committee, "as are all other issues, great and small," he says.

What the finance members propose to do in this regard, however, is a puzzle, and while Market Clerk Maker was directed to bring a report Wednesday as to the best means of the elimination from the market square, it appears now as though a compromise will be effected.

Ald. Gordon Drake suggests that a "roost" be constructed on the top of the market house, where the pigeons would be allowed to roost, and the birds to meander around the square as in the days of yore and until the present time, but he would not be a party to any extermination order.

"Let them have a thousand of them," he advises. "Let them walk about and we built a roost over the market house for them. I can recall any person authorized the market clerk, at the meeting when this question was first introduced, to find the best place for the roost. Keep them away from the stores and they will be all right."

Ald. Edwin Smith can furnish an "air tight" alibi. He has proven conclusively that he was out of the city at the time of that "first awful meeting" when the "pigeon question" was raised. While he has no information as to the nature or extent of the complaint, he would say off-hand that he has no objection to their presence. He is taking no definite stand in the matter, however.

It is the general opinion, however, that some permanent habitation will be found for the market birds still to be seen about the square, and the ground "all abuzz" to the minor irritation at the city hall.

LOVE CONQUERS LAW IN THE POLICE COURT

Arrested Two Months Ago, Married Yesterday, Girl's Case Dismissed Today.

When the clergyman asked the time honored question and Violet Wimperis replied "I do," she automatically tied one knot and untangled another. Three weeks ago she was in police court charged with fraud. Now she is a married woman in her own home charged with responsibility.

For, as a result of her marriage yesterday, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon decided to let her off on suspended sentence this morning. The case had been pending for some time and Miss Wimperis might have received a severe sentence but for her sudden marriage.

Love, however, conquers all things, according to poets. It certainly conquered the law in Miss Wimperis' case. Now, if her behavior is above reproach she will, like the heroine in the fairy tale, live happily ever after.

Two months ago on complaint of E. L. Maine and J. G. Bull the girl was arrested on a charge of fraudulently obtaining money. J. M. McMeekin, K.C., her counsel, pleaded guilty for the prisoner. Miss Wimperis' parents stated they would look after her if suspended sentence were granted, because she was not finally disposed of until this morning.

ISSUES "HEAVY" WRIT.

The "heaviest" county court writ filed at the courthouse in some time was received Tuesday morning. W. G. R. Bartram, on behalf of the Peerless Oyster Company, Baltimore, is suing Charles E. Santo, of this city for $23.75, the price of 25 tons of oyster shells sold and delivered to the defendant.

where they had lunch. She joked with him on the way as hundreds of curious town folk, who had been unable to get in the courtroom, lined the sidewalk outside to catch a glimpse of the prisoner as he passed. After the noon hour adjournment, Capt. Jas. J. Greagan and Lieut. Jas. J. Greagan, of the bomb and radical squad of the New York police force, who brought with them the $3,600 worth of bonds found on Austin in New York, were busy engaged turning over the bonds to Manager Powrie of the bank.

Each number had to be carefully verified with the list in the possession of the bank. While at Mount Forest, Austin was carefully watched by Provincial Inspector A. B. Boyd, who brought the prisoner up from Little Rock, Arkansas; District Inspector Jas. McCaffrey and Provincial Constables Frank Melville of Guelph and H. Gardner of Kitchener.

At the left is shown Leonard Wood, Jr., who declares the nomination for the presidency of the United States was offered to General Leonard Wood.

At the right is Clara Smith Hamon, who says she was the political confidante of Jake Hamon, says Leonard Wood Jr.'s statement is "undoubtedly true."

PRINCIPLES IN RECENT SENSATION.

"U" LIT. SOCIETY GIRLS PLAN LEAP YEAR EVENT

Placard in Arts Building Says "A Man Worth Having Is Worth Going After."

"Every great man has been married once. It can't be a coincidence. Hurry, girls, and put Western men on the map. A man worth having is worth going after. Get a man."

The above sentiments on a notice placarded in the Arts building this morning announcing a literary society meeting to be held this evening, would seem to indicate that Western co-eds are in earnest regarding the leap year proposals. Western girls, questioned on the exact meaning of the notice, were very reticent on the subject, only mentioning that there would be various "skits" put on by the girls of the literary society to-night, and that many surprises would be in store for the men attending the meeting.

FIREMEN ASK HOW TO GET RID OF ANTS

Little Pests Are Cause of Endless Worry at Fire Hall.

Who can rid the central fire hall of ants, little red ants by the million who play havoc with the firemen lunch boxes? These pests are the cause of endless worry to the fire fighters, who are forced to pick up their lunches both day and night and run to a new place of hiding.

Just one continual game of hide and seek, said one of the firemen, with the ants getting the better part of the play. One even ventured to-day that they were getting so bold that trouble was encountered in sleeping.

The firemen have their ants stowed away in every available nook and cranny of the building and some have gone so far as to suspend them in mid-air by means of a cord. "Why we change places so many times during the night," said one of the firemen, "is because when lunch time comes we forget where we last put them," said one veteran member.

BODIES OF 78 MINERS HAVE BEEN RECOVERED

Preparations Are Made For the Burials of Victims Today.

Associated Press Despatch.
Castlegate, Utah, March 11.—Seventy-eight bodies of coal miners have been removed from mine No. 2 of the Utah Fuel Company, in which 173 men were entombed Saturday by a series of explosions. One hundred and five men known still to be in the mine were sought by numerous rescue crews.

All the bodies are expected to be recovered before night. The work was slow yesterday because many inside the mine and all were removed by stretcher bearers.

An augmented staff of undertakers worked all night in the temporary morgue. An express car filled with corpses arrived last night and a large force of men carried them to the morgue through long lanes of crying women and children who braved the cold night blasts that swept through the canyon. At the company cemetery within the confines of the area of mine No. 2, a force of 78 men worked under the lights throughout the night to prepare graves for the burials which will start today.

SPANIARDS REINFORCE SOLDIERS IN MOROCCO

Associated Press Despatch.
London, March 11.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Tangier says Spanish reinforcements are arriving in Morocco and are checking the progress of the rebellious Rifian tribesmen. The Spaniards have recaptured several positions taken from them by the Moors.

The Daily Telegraph says adventurers from every nation in Europe have made enormous profits selling wild contraband to the Rifians. It adds that the chief place from which cargoes of arms have been sent to Morocco is Malaga, Spain, and that the Spanish military directorate seems unable to stop the traffic.

News From City Churches

DUNDAS CENTER W. M. S.

Under the convenerhip of Mrs. R. M. Blair, a particularly successful program was presented at last night's meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Dundas Methodist Church. Mrs. W. E. Milson, the president, was in the chair. A talk on "Nation Building," by Miss Bessie McCann, was an inspirational feature of the program, which included, together with the opening Bible reading by Mrs. D. N. McCann, a solo by Mrs. B. E. Wilson, and a reading by Mrs. R. E. Grant. The meeting was well attended.

KNOX CHURCH CHOIR.

The Knox Church choir are planning special musical ventures for the spring months. At a meeting of the executive held recently at the home of the choir leader and organist, Mr. Charles E. Percy, plans were outlined for these. It is proposed to hold a congregational service of praise early in April, and this is to be followed by the presentation of unique musical programs on two occasions. The choir social committee are planning a social held shortly. At the conclusion of their business, which included a satisfactory report from the treasurer, the choir members were treated to the evening refreshments were served.

PRESBYTERIAL EXECUTIVE.

The executive of the Presbyterian W. M. S. did a fitting honor recently to one of its most faithful friends in presenting Rev. F. Ballantyne with a handsome umbrella. For eleven years, Mr. Ballantyne has aided the Presbyterian books, and apart from this capacity, he has been a valuable with the work as a whole by means of ready advice and support. His resignation, owing to ill-health, was accepted at the recent annual meeting with the deepest regret. As representatives of the executive, Mrs. S. B. McEachern and Mrs. H. Peterman visited Mr. Ballantyne at his home and presented the gift, together with the expression of appreciation which came unanimously from officers and members of the church. Mrs. McEachern has been a co-worker for eleven years with Mr. Ballantyne.

COLBORNE STREET Y. P. L.

An interesting and pleasing talk was given last night by the Young People's Society of Colborne Street League by Mrs. Albright of the university staff. Mrs. Albright spoke on the part of the series of lectures, stressing the personal duty of every individual toward the building of a greater nation. The meeting was held in the hall of the Young People's Society of Colborne Street League, with Miss Olive Hobbs in the chair. Miss Huttel, in her usual pleasing manner, conducted the program arranged by the missionary committee. Miss Burgess. An address was given by Rev. S. Edworthy of Alberta, a missionary in the home department of the Methodist Church. His theme was, "If Christ Had Not Come." The program included a solo by Miss Ruby Fitch.

A. Y. P. A. RALLY.

Anglican Young People's Society of the Eastern Districts united last evening for the Lenten service in St. Matthew's Church. This commenced a series of Lenten rallies the next of which will be the young people of the various districts. Rev. A. Bice, rector of All Saints' Church, preached a most inspirational sermon, especially suited to his audience of young people. His theme was "To What End Was I Born, and For What Came I Into the World?"

By the statement that all men were meant to be witnesses for Christ, and to fulfill that great purpose which Christ left with his disciples. With God, Mr. Bice said, nothing was impossible, not even the task of the present which was the bringing of all men into Him. After nineteen thousand years he said, there were still millions without Christ, millions who did not know the way or wherefore of their presence on earth.

Jack Appleyard was at the organ and Rev. T. J. Charlton, rector of St. Matthews, conducted the service. The subject of the rally is to be held in All Saints' Church next Monday night, with an address by Rev. A. L. G. Clarke.

ASKIN STREET W. M. S.

Arranged under the convenerhip of Mrs. A. W. Johnston, a successful program was carried out at the meeting yesterday afternoon of Askin Street Methodist Church W. M. S. Mrs. James Brown presided, and commenced the program by reading a letter from Miss S. Smith, who is in charge of the foreign mission station in Hamilton, and in which were related many interesting features of the work. Other home missions were introduced in letters read by several of the members. Mrs. Salton read a paper on Nelsb House, an Indian mission, Cross Lake, Manitoba, and Mrs. H. Baker read of the work at the Hastings Hospital, Fort Simpson. Acknowledgement of a bale sent to Muncy Reserve was made in a letter from Rev. S. Robinson, the missionary in charge there. There was a period of special interest, when the auxiliary paid tribute to one of its most valued members, Mrs. Wm.

Westlake, in presenting her with a life membership. The solo by Mr. Carmen Lindsay was also a delightful feature. At the business session the members planned for the W. M. S. union meeting, which is to be held in Dundas Center on the last day of the month, and also for a special service at Easter, of which Mrs. J. Wallace has been made convener.

HARVEST REAPERS BAND.

The Harvest Reapers' Mission Band of Empress Avenue Methodist Church carried a difficult task to a successful conclusion last evening in undertaking the program for the regular meeting of the Epworth League. Miss Irene Guymer, assistant superintendent of the band, presided over a program, which included two excellent given topics, one by Edith Bowie on "The Heroine of Morley," a mission story of the northwest, and another by Geraldine Eicher on "World Friendships." Fred Rossiter gave a solo. The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks on the part of the league members for their young visitors. The band held their regular meeting in the afternoon and listened with interest to a talk by little Chinese boys, Mrs. McLean, the leader, instructed them concerning the mite boxes.

C. E. S.

The regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor of the Southern Congregational Church was held last evening, with the president, Dr. H. Taylor, in the chair. Mr. Wilfred Clarks gave a splendid paper on "Dangers of Trifling With Life," and this was followed by an open discussion on the part of members. Mrs. S. Angles gave a delightful solo.

CONGREGATIONAL Y. P. S.

Following a short business session the Young People's Society of the First Congregational Church held an annual meeting last night. The speaker was the pastor, Rev. M. Kelly, who spoke on "Protective Coloring in Animal and Insect Life." The meeting was held in the hall of the Young People's Society of the First Congregational Church.

DUNDAS CENTER Y. P. S.

The meeting last night of Dundas Center Young People's Society was in charge of the devotional committee, with Mr. Jack White in the chair. Miss Bessie McCann gave an address on "The Sincerity of the Master," based on the study book for the season. Miss Dorothy Cahill gave a violin solo. The Push side in the membership contest added to their score by winning last night.

FIRST CHURCH Y. P. S.

Miss Bessie Rain presided over last night's meeting of the Young People's Society of First Methodist Church, conducting a program arranged by the missionary committee. Miss Burgess. An address was given by Rev. S. Edworthy of Alberta, a missionary in the home department of the Methodist Church. His theme was, "If Christ Had Not Come." The program included a solo by Miss Ruby Fitch.

ST. JAMES' A. Y. P. A.

A large attendance greeted Professor Kingston of the Western University last night in St. James' A. Y. P. A. meeting, when he gave a wonderful illustrated address on "Glorious of the Heavens." The speaker, in which he explained the sun's eclipse, the planets, comets, and the different phenomena found on these planets, also the immense distances and sizes of these planets. The address was a revelation to the people. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Prof. Kingston for his interesting address.

A unique Lenten contest has been inaugurated, where points are given for A. Y. P. A. attendance, church, Sunday school, and week night meetings. The contest will be held by Miss Myrtle Richmond, are leading with 86 points; the other four teams are running very close.

The members are looking forward to the mock trial which is to take place next week. Norman Campbell is the prime minister, and he has gathered a strong cabinet together. The defeat of the government is looked for. Mr. Allan is the Opposition leader.

ROBINSON MEMORIAL.

The Epworth League of the Robinson Memorial Church met last night with Miss Watson occupying the chair. The attendance numbered 25. Miss Hall read the lesson while Miss Glyn sang a solo. Miss Hazel Thompson gave a reading on the life of a mission in China, which was listened to with much interest. Rev. Mr. Hiles gave a short talk entitled "Where and What is God."

ASKIN STREET LEAGUE.

Under the auspices of the missionary department of Askin Street Epworth League, a successful program was presented at the regular meeting last night. Rev. Mr. Garbutt gave an address dealing with many phases of mission work.

TAKES UP DUTIES.

E. J. Jenkins general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. is back at his usual duties again after being confined to his home for a few days suffering from a severe cold.

ASKS FOR FUNDS FOR DR. BANTING'S RESEARCH WORK

Appeal Made For Research Foundation Through F. Lorne Hutchinson, Secretary.

BEING CONSTRUCTED NOW

An appeal for funds has been broadcasted by the Banting Research Foundation through F. Lorne Hutchinson, secretary. A letter to The Advertiser from Mr. Hutchinson asks that all those who appreciate the importance of medical research send in contributions to the institution.

Announcement of Dr. Banting's idea to establish a research foundation was made by the former London doctor on his visit here last autumn. Since then organization of the foundation's executive has proceeded and now a research institute second to none is in the course of construction at Toronto.

The purposes of the foundation have been defined to be:

(1) To provide, in the first instance, further funds for the support of the Banting and Best chair of medical research at the University of Toronto.

(2) To establish a fund for the adequate financial support of such scientific workers as may have produced definite problems of medical research, and for whom funds are not otherwise available.

All financial arrangements in connection with the foundation, and the operation of the principal

BIBLE MEMORIZING BEING ENCOURAGED BY PRESBYTERY

Report Shows That Contributions During Year Have Been Increased.

DISCUSS PROGRAMS

From a mass of statistics which occupied attention of London Presbytery for the greater part of its meeting this morning, two points were outstanding. These were the total sum given for the past year, which amounted to $48,513.60, and the total increase of this sum over that given the previous year, which amounted to $8,518.69. The large number of items on the day's agenda probably accounted for a presbytery attendance rather larger than usual.

As the result of action taken this morning the Presbytery are encouraging the system of public school Bible memory work, introduced by Inspectors Greer and Wneable of the London public schools for use in urban and rural public schools throughout the Presbytery.

Inspector J. B. Thompson of South Middlesex, a representative elder to Presbytery, has been in consultation on this matter with his executive and other inspectors in the district, all of whom have promised co-operation. The minister and elder of each congregation were urged this morning to co-operate with the other denominations and with the school trustees to establish a favorable public opinion to the carrying on of this work.

Inspector Thompson said that the 23rd Psalm, the Beatitudes, the Ten Commandments, and the story of the Prodigal Son had been outlined as a suitable course, and the pupils would be required to learn a verse a week. The London system would be followed where grading permitted.

The Presbytery authorized resolutions of sympathy to be sent to Rev. D. C. Soules of St. Thomas, and Rev. Dr. Smith of Blenheim, both of whom have recently suffered bereavement, and a resolution of sympathy is also to be sent to the family of the late R. W. Waters of Finsbury.

On motion of Rev. Dr. McCrae the Presbytery adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to Rev. H. H. Geddes of Alisa, Craig, and Carlyle, who is retiring after a life-time spent in the ministry.

Chief among the items listed on the agenda for this afternoon is the consideration of the report of the Rev. T. A. Symington, appointed moderator by the Presbytery, to a meeting of the congregation last evening, from which a report is to be presented. Union with the Methodist congregation of the village has not been found feasible, and the Presbytery are to consider this afternoon whether a Presbyterian minister shall be called.

BRANTFORD RESIDENT ENDS LIFE WITH ACID

duced the man to commit suicide when he was so close to his former home is a complete mystery.

The man was about five feet eight inches in height, fair hair and complexion, fully dressed in a dark overcoat, tweed suit and brown peaked cap and sweater.

The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of George E. Logan, pending further identification.

QUIT HIS POSITION.

Special to The Advertiser.—Brantford, March 11.—J. B. De Wolfe who was found dead in London, resided at 72 Chatham street, Brantford. He had just recently purchased a new home, which was only partially paid for. He had been employed as foreman of the core room, Cockshutt Plow Company for the past fourteen years, and last Tuesday gave in notice and left the factory Friday night. His family, however, stated that he feared, owing to rumors that he would be asked to accept a lesser position as assistant to foreman in the tooling shop, although no official notice of such a change had been given him.

He left home Saturday morning apparently for work and did not tell his wife that he had quit his job. He was last seen at the Canadian National Railway station Saturday morning, and in conversation seemed to be worrying over the fact that he had quit work, and that he would not be able to finish paying for his home.

He was 45 years old, a member of Gore Lodge, O. O. F., and took a very keen interest in sports. He served in the Boer war and received promotion to corporal. While there he caught fever, and had to be invalided home. Fever set in his limbs and ever since he has had serious trouble in this regard. He was of highly strung and serious disposition, worrying considerably. He was very popular with all, and highly respected. He moved to Brantford from his home town, Ingersoll, some twenty years ago.

When interviewed this morning, Mrs. De Wolfe was still unaware of the sad fate that had befallen her husband, with whom there had always been most amicable relationship.

DR. C. A. BRISCO'S FUNERAL IN CHATHAM TUES., MAR. 21

Word was received yesterday by Roy Brisco that the funeral of his brother, the late Dr. Clarence A. Brisco, M.C., would be held in Chatham on Friday, March 21.

The remains are being brought from London, England, where Dr. Brisco died a week ago.

The late Dr. Brisco was well known in this section, particularly among military men.

APPLICATION GRANTED.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, March 10.—Application to put the Soulanges Waterpower Company into liquidation was granted in practice division of the superior court today by Mr. Justice Coderre.

SENATOR DANDURAND.

DENTAL SURGEONS TO CONSIDER CURE

Will Discuss Allegations of Dr. McDonagh As To New Pyorrhea Treatment.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, March 10.—The directors of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons will meet on Tuesday of next week to take action on the circular letter of Dr. A. R. J. McDonagh, which alleged both that the pyorrhea cure of Dr. Harold Box was but an elaboration of theories already known to the dental profession, and that its announcement by the minister of health was but an instance of politics entering into the conduct of the dental college.

Meanwhile, however, Dr. Stillman and McCall of New York and Buffalo respectively, regarded as leaders in the dental profession, have issued a signed statement giving their unqualified indorsement to the Box treatment.

Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, minister of health, this morning repudiated the suggestion made by Dr. A. L. McDonagh that the Royal College of Dental Surgeons is becoming involved in politics.

"As for my mixing up in the internal politics of the dental college, nothing is further from my mind," said Dr. Godfrey. "I know nothing about them. My one desire is to see that this brilliant young Canadian (Dr. Harold Box) receives credit for his work in connection with research regarding pyorrhea."

Chief among the items listed on the agenda for this afternoon is the consideration of the report of the Rev. T. A. Symington, appointed moderator by the Presbytery, to a meeting of the congregation last evening, from which a report is to be presented.

Union with the Methodist congregation of the village has not been found feasible, and the Presbytery are to consider this afternoon whether a Presbyterian minister shall be called.

WILL VIVIAN, MITCHELL, SUFFERS FROM STROKE

Special to The Advertiser.

Mitchell, March 10.—William Vivian of this town who has been staying with his son, John Vivian, on the homestead farm in Logan, suffered a paralytic stroke on Saturday. It has affected his speech and left him almost helpless. Mr. Vivian had been enjoying fairly good health up to this time.

ARMED REBEL BOAT GIVES CHASE TO MEXICAN SLOOP

Associated Press Despatch.

Vera Cruz, March 11.—The sloop Morales was chased yesterday for four hours by an armed rebel boat. The pursuit ended near this port.

General Jose Gonzales Escobar, with 4,000 men, has reached San Marcos under orders to reopen the Jalapa-Vera Cruz division of the inter-oceanic railway, which the rebels badly damaged together with much rolling stock when they abandoned Jalapa.

WILL NOT AFFECT.

City Treasurer James Bell stated today that in all likelihood the increase of several thousands of dollars in the board of works estimates, accounted for by the transfer of special rates into the general rate, would not affect this year's general tax rate.

DONATE TROPHIES.

Lieut. Col. George H. Gillespie, district cadet officer, announces that Laura Secord candy shops have donated several trophies for rifle shooting among the cadet corps of No. 1 military district.

ASSISTANT URGED.

Certain members of the city council are urging, as a compromise, that an assistant be appointed for Relief Inspector J. W. McCallum, and his reinstatement directed at tomorrow's session of the finance committee.

LONDON DOCTORS KEENLY INTERESTED IN CANCER CURE

Announcement of a cancer cure by Dr. M. J. Scott of Butte, Montana, has aroused much interest in the medical profession here. Past announcements of a similar nature, which proved to be unfounded, bred a certain amount of skepticism, but in this instance doctors believe there is a possibility that a definite form of treatment and an ultimate remedy has been discovered.

Dr. Scott says it has been determined that cancer originates from a germ, and claims to have segregated that germ. The germ theory would tend to classify cancer along with defilement, and examination is the cause of smallpox, and it is probable that the same type of infection makes for cancerous conditions.

There is a strong likelihood that cancer is an infection, a London doctor said this morning. "Apparently Dr. Scott worked on the theory that the so-called germ was so infinitesimal it could not be seen through a microscope. In smallpox, and apparently cancer, the germs are what is called 'filterable virus.' That is

DO GIRLS PROPOSE DURING LEAP YEAR?

"Wouldn't have nerve enough," says "Bachelor"—"Kindness is the thing to look for in a husband," says "Mrs. T. H."—"All men are conceited," says "Nineteen"—What do you think?

Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Mr. Editor—I have never heard of any girl actually "popping the question" in Leap Year until I saw the letter from A. C. B. in The Advertiser. I don't know whether to believe all his story or not, but I don't think many girls would have nerve enough to ask a man to marry them.

It does not seem a proper thing to do and if a girl proposed to me I would say "no" right away. It would embarrass me the way it did A. C. B.

The kind of girl I want for a wife is short and dark and fond of home. I would expect her to listen to me as head of the house. Deliver me from these modern women with equal rights and bobbed hair and cigarettes. I want the old-fashioned kind in a gingham gown.

BACHELOR.

Editor of The Advertiser: Dear Sir—I read A. C. B.'s letter about his girl proposing to him and I think he would have said "yes" and been glad of it. Any girl who has courage enough to propose would make a good wife.

Hon. Dr. H. H. Godfrey, minister of health, this morning repudiated the suggestion made by Dr. A. L. McDonagh that the Royal College of Dental Surgeons is becoming involved in politics.

"As for my mixing up in the internal politics of the dental college, nothing is further from my mind," said Dr. Godfrey. "I know nothing about them. My one desire is to see that this brilliant young Canadian (Dr. Harold Box) receives credit for his work in connection with research regarding pyorrhea."

Chief among the items listed on the agenda for this afternoon is the consideration of the report of the Rev. T. A. Symington, appointed moderator by the Presbytery, to a meeting of the congregation last evening, from which a report is to be presented.

Union with the Methodist congregation of the village has not been found feasible, and the Presbytery are to consider this afternoon whether a Presbyterian minister shall be called.

MAN FROM MISSOURI ORDERED DEPORTED

Harry Steel, An American, Must Rest Awhile Before Heading South.

Special to The Advertiser. Woodstock, March 10.—Harry Steel, a man from Missouri, appeared before Magistrate Ball today on a charge of vagrancy. The accused, who is thirty, was sent to jail for a month and will be deported.

Horses Sold.

E. O. Waite of Alberta, conducted an auction of twenty horses on Saturday, receiving $1,922 for the lot. The lowest price was $50, and the highest $334, for a team sold to C. Hutchinson.

Children's Fund.

A retiring collection was taken up throughout the Woodstock churches on Sunday for the "Save the Children Fund," being carried on under the local branch of the National Council of Women.

The evening services in the Oxford Street Baptist Church were conducted for missionary purposes. Mr. Bickle of the Woodstock Baptist College, led in prayer. Mrs. Henry Catg gave a brief address on "Oxford Street Baptists," and Miss Isabella Hatch who has been laboring in India for over 35 years, in charge of a leper asylum. Rev. Mr. Jones spoke on the beginning of Canadian foreign missions in India.

He honored the names of some of the early pioneers, mentioning Rev. John MacClary and his wife, and Rev. W. Timpany, Rev. G. Churchill, Rev. W. Armstrong, R. Sandford and Miss Briggs.

CATTLE DISEASE HITS FAMOUS ENGLISH FARM

Associated Press Despatch. London, March 10.—The foot and mouth disease has broken out among animals on the Oaks Farm at Newington, near Shoreham-by-Sea, and Folkestone, Kent County. The farm is owned by James Quested, a world-famed breeder of pedigree sheep and winner of many trophies for cattle exhibits at the principal cattle shows throughout the country. Owing to this latest outbreak of the foot and mouth disease, the cattle markets at Ashford and Canterbury, Kent, have been closed.

to say, they are so small that they can pass through a filter."

Cancer "cures" announced last year were done with the best of intentions it was said, but the "discoverers" were self-deluded.

If the source of cancer has been traced to a germ the big problem in connection with the disease is solved. The finding of a serum was evident, a comparatively easy matter. Dr. Scott claims the serum, developed by an unnamed Canadian doctor and himself has proven effective whenever and wherever tried.

Later this month it will be known for a certainty whether the cancer cure is all that the term implies. As soon as it receives indorsement from reputable hospitals it will naturally be put in use here. Persons suffering from cancer are urged, however, not to place any faith in the announcement. So many have been disappointed within recent months that it would be futile to expect a remedy with such vague information as has been broadcasted by Dr. Scott and his associates.

Many Germans Are Expected

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, March 11.—Emigrant traffic from Germany to Canada during the coming season should reach unprecedented proportions, according to officials of the White Star Dominion Line, as the result of a license granted that company by the German government to bring forward third class passengers without restriction, intimations of which has been received here.

SENATORSHIP GOES TO ANDREW HAYDON

Well-Known Ottawa Lawyer Is Appointed To Fill the Vacancy.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, March 10.—Andrew Haydon, well known barrister of this city, and partner in the firm of McGivern, Haydon and Ebbs, was today appointed to the Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death recently of Hon. Valentine Ratz of New Hamburg, Ontario.

Mr. Haydon was born in Pakenham, Ontario, in June, 1867, and received his education at the Almonte High School and Queen's University, from which he graduated in 1892 with double honors in English, history and political science. He has granted the degree of LL.B. in 1895.

Since 1902 he has been a member of the firm in this city above mentioned. Mr. Haydon was secretary of the National Liberal Convention in Ottawa in August, 1919, and from December of that year to March, 1923, he was secretary of the National Liberal Organization Committee with headquarters here. He is an Anglican in religion.

Groundhog Fails, Bear Takes Try

Comes Out of Winter Quarters To Study Weather.

Canadian Press Despatch. Lindsay, March 10.—Signs of spring are innumerable ten miles north of here. Settlers have seen robins, ladybugs, butterflies, groundhogs, and even old bruin. Dallas Wright, fifth concessionaire of Eldon, saw a large bear pass by his door on Friday last.

INCREASED EXEMPTION INCOME TAX FAVORED

Windsor Council Approves of Suggestion—Economy Is Slogan.

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, March 10.—A move by the fire committee to increase the tax on the firemen from 10 to 14 days was blocked tonight by the city council. Alderman F. L. Howell, who led the attack on the recommendation, argued that it was bad business to have an additional 160 days to the firemen when the taxpayers were clamoring for reduced taxes.

Another economy cry was raised when the market committee asked power to construct pavement at the market at a cost of more than $4,000. Mayor Frank J. Mitchell succeeded in inducing the committee to amend its report in order that the expenditure may be considered when the estimates are prepared.

Petitions similar to that favored by St. Thomas will be sent to the Legislature asking that the income tax assessment exemption for householders be increased to $3,000 for municipal purposes. Aldermen A. W. Strong and A. E. Hooper, Labor representatives, differed on the question, the first-named contending that there would be no change.

The board of education will be asked to appoint a committee to confer with the finance committee of the city council regarding the appointment of a city architect.

bylaw ratifying all acts of the council previous to the proceedings to declare the municipal election invalid was passed.

SALARY INCREASES DENIED BY WINDSOR SCHOOL BOARD

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, March 10.—A determined effort will be made to cut the public school and collegiate tax-rate by at least half a mill, school trustees said today. All applications for salary increases, with the exception of those from the caretakers, have been given the cold shoulder and are not likely to come to life again this year, it is said.

THIRTY SUCCESSFUL.

Examinations in cadet instructors' qualifying course were held in Stratford on February 27 when 30 candidates were successful said today. Military headquarters said today. The course which terminated in London on the first of this month resulted in 34 candidates passing.

all members and prospective members are invited. Plans for the balance of the year will be made, and a regular night of meeting will be decided upon.

LITTLE DANGER OF LACK OF WATER IF MAIN CUT OFF

There Would Be Ample Pressure and Capacity in City's Water Supply To Fight a Fire.

$300,000 FOR NEW MAIN

Even though the main between Springbank and the city were cut off there would be no danger of lack of pressure or capacity in the city's water supply available to fight a fire. This statement was made by General Manager E. V. Buchanan in answer to the statement of the fire underwriters that one of the reasons for imposing the surcharge on London was that there was only one main between the city and Springbank.

The cost of constructing another main to Springbank would be about $300,000, possibly more, and the expenditure of this amount would not be practical at the present time, in view of the fact that the future development of London's water supply is to the east of the city and not at Springbank.

As an alternative, the general manager suggests that a Diesel oil engine be installed at number one substation, together with a 1,000-horsepower generator. This would enable a private supply of additional electricity during peak load hours on the hydro system and would also act as an auxiliary for the waterworks, the electricity generated being distributed to the well pumping equipment, should the hydro power at any time break off. The cost of such an installation would not exceed $100,000.

RURAL HYDRO LINES FAVORED NEAR LUCAN

Meeting Held in Town Hall At Lucan Enthusiastic Over Prospect.

Special to The Advertiser. Lucan, March 10.—The construction of rural hydro lines in this section was given considerable impetus today at a meeting held in the town hall when the problem was thoroughly discussed. The outcome of the meeting appeared to be that the lines would be constructed if sufficient consent for service can be secured in Hilderton.

A large delegation was present from Hilderton, and they were enthusiastic over the prospects. The village has already voted in favor of the installation of hydro, and the outcome now seems certain.

Reeve A. C. Hodgins of London Township was chairman and spoke of the advantages of hydro. He said that the Reeve Roycraft of Hilderton Township was also an enthusiastic supporter.

The main addresses were given by Miss M. Grace of London Township, and Mr. Hughes of London, rural superintendent of hydro lines. They gave valuable information and when the meeting was closed, weather conditions the attendance at the meeting was good, nearly 100 gathering to discuss this very important topic.

THERE ARE NO REFUSALS TO SIGN COAL PETITION

Special to The Advertiser. Palmerston, March 10.—The Alberta coal petition is being ably supported in this district, not one citizen so far approached and asked for signature has refused to attach the signature to the petition. It is felt locally that the farmer element are not getting the chance they should have to sign the petition, as their mail is delivered generally by mail carriers to the same time, and it is therefore impossible for the farmer to have the privilege of signing the petition that the residents of the thickly populated cities and towns have had. At the same time the considerable cost of the move to ask that Alberta coal be brought into the province as speedily as possible and at as low a rate as possible.

PETERBOROUGH CHURCH CALLS MITCHELL PASTOR

Mitchell, March 10.—On Sunday, Rev. J. W. Gordon preached his sermons to his congregation and ended a four-year pastorate of Knox Church, Mitchell. Mr. Gordon has not only been popular with his congregation, but with the citizens of the town of Mitchell in general. Mrs. Gordon, who is just as well liked, has been a great worker in the church. Mr. Gordon has received a unanimous call by the congregation of Knox Church, Peterborough, to become their minister at a salary of $2,500 a year and a free manse. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and children will leave for Peterborough on Thursday.

CHEERY SUFFERER KNITS AND CARES FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Teresa Greenfield Has Been Confined in St. Joseph's Hospital Three Years.

ALL SORTS OF WORK Enjoys Making Articles and Wins in Great Uphill Struggle.

The man who dashes in front of a street car and saves a child from death under grinding wheels is considered brave, but Mrs. Teresa Greenfield, who has been confined to a bed in St. Joseph's Hospital for almost three years, is just as brave, but in a different way.

Mrs. Greenfield was without funds when she was taken to the hospital. She was against a terrible proposition, but she was financially. She would never be able to walk again owing to spinal trouble, and she had no means of support. The Sisters of St. Joseph took her into the hospital, where she has received the same care and attention as the woman in the highest-priced room. The city, at first, paid the usual $1.50 per day for the upkeep of Mrs. Greenfield, but on the recommendation of Relief Inspector McCallum the grant was cut off.

Mrs. Greenfield wanted to pay her way in the hospital, and although she had no experience in knitting, she started in to knit sweaters, babies' jackets, slippers, etc., as well as crochet work. The Sisters of St. Joseph, however, would not take any of the money she earned, but she turned towards buying clothes for her son in the Mount St. Joseph Orphanage. She has a daughter living with some friends on London avenue.

Mrs. Greenfield is the personification of cheerfulness. She greeted an Advertiser reporter with a sunny smile and stretched out a wan, thin hand in greeting.

Tells of Work.

"You want to know about my work?" she asked in a voice that was little above a whisper. "I have been here a long time, you know, and the time would be very heavy on my hands if it were not for the knitting and crocheting. Here is a breakfast jacket I'm knitting now. It's a nice shade of purple, isn't it?"

"I have lots of kind friends, who get me orders for things. I do a lot of babies' jackets and bonnets and lace for table centers. How many have I made? I can't tell you that. I am working constantly when I am able. There are some days that I can't do a thing, but I try and make up for it when I am feeling better."

"When I am well, I use up 20 to 25 balls of yarn a week. I sell a baby's jacket and bonnet for $2, and a sweater for $3. A child's sweater costs $2, while I charge $4 for a man's sweater. I like knitting men's ties and slippers very much. It is easy work."

Dickey Her Companion.

Mrs. Greenfield stated it took her four days to make a sweater and two days for a baby's set.

"Dickey Diner," a perky, little canary, is her constant companion, and sings an accompaniment to the swiftly-moving needles. "Dickey" was owned by one of the sisters, who left him in charge of Mrs. Greenfield when she left the hospital.

The sisters and nurses take an exceptional interest in the cheery little woman on the third floor of the hospital. The nurses have told her story far and wide, and are continually bringing orders to Mrs. Greenfield.

"You can tell the readers of your paper that I am feeling better and the more work I have the better I like it," assured Mrs. Greenfield, as a reporter shook hands in farewell. "I hope you will come again, for I am never too busy to receive visitors."

At the time of his arrest the prisoner was severely wounded and confined to hospital with a bullet in his hip. Today Yohn claimed the shooting was accidental, saying he was "pushed" into Johnson when the revolver exploded.

It is nearly two years since Yohn was acquitted at Sarnia when charged with the conspiracy in the robbery of the Wyoming branch of the Bank of Toronto. Edward McMullen, William Ayres, and George Anderson were found guilty in this affair and sent to Kingston Penitentiary.

George Harris, alias Lavelle, formerly of Hamilton, Ontario, will come up as soon as Yohn's case is finished, being tried separately from the same offense. Lieutenant Edward Little of the Detroit detective department is in charge of the state's case.

If found guilty Yohn will probably get life imprisonment. The technical charge is first degree homicide.

C.N. Pays $3,540 To Immigrants

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N. S., March 10.—Exactly $3,540 was paid yesterday by the paymaster at Halifax of the Canadian National Railways to 236 immigrants who landed at pier No. 2 from the White Star liner Cedre and who met with the requirements which entitle them to cash bonuses upon their landing in Canada.

Under the provisions of the new ruling, suitable English, Scotch and Irish immigrants over twelve months of age, travelling as third-class passengers, are, on their landing at any port in Canada, entitled to a cash bonus. All children between the years of one to ten receive $7.50, and all over ten years of age, $15.

ANTI-UNIONISTS OPPOSE PETITION

Association Claims Moderator Has Not Necessary Legal Status.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, March 11.—The Presbyterian Church Association, which is opposed to organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches, has notified the federal government, through the Ottawa counsel of the association, H. P. Chrysler, K.C., of its intention to file a petition for the necessary legal status of a petitioner for such a bill.

The petition is presented in the name of the chief officers of the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Alfred Gaudier of Toronto, moderator. The anti-unionist organization points out that as the church is not an incorporated body the moderator has not the necessary legal status of a petitioner for such a bill.

Robert Foike, Progressive leader, has stated that he will introduce the bill in the House as a private member.

NO QUEENSTON BOULEVARD UNLESS GOVERNMENT AIDS

Canadian Press Despatch. St. Catharines, March 11.—Unless the provincial government comes to the assistance of the Niagara Falls parks commission, it will be impossible for the federal government to complete the construction of the boulevard from Queenston to Niagara-on-the-Lake this year," declared E. C. Graves, M. L. A., in addressing the Men's Club of Queenston at the second annual banquet held in the Laura Secord Memorial Hall last evening.

Mr. Graves urged the residents of the district to come to a compromise with the commission in regard to the latter's request for land to straighten out the road, and then to urge their case before the provincial government, promising them his support in the latter endeavor.

Moffats Electric Ranges are the Speediest Heating Electric Ranges Manufactured

Turn a switch on a Moffat Electric Range. Instantly, the wires, coiled in the burner plate, begin to heat. In no time they are red hot! Without exception, the elements in Moffats Ranges are the fastest-heating elements to be found on any range.

Is this important? Decidedly! Any woman's time is valuable. She can't wait around for slow-heating elements. Slow-heating elements increase your monthly bills. Some slow-heating elements may hold the heat a little longer after the cooking has been done. But what good is it, then?

SPEED! It's a treat to watch a Moffat element or "burner" heat up. On the snap of the switch a faint pink tinges the black wire elements evenly all over the coil. The pink intensifies and rapidly becomes a glowing red. Full heat almost before you know it!

The Explanation

Note the circular element illustrated. See how the wire is coiled in the grooves in the plate. Little projections in the groove keep these wires from lying flat on the bottom. This allows air to circulate round the wires, with the result that the current heats up the elements much more quickly.

Why the Moffat Oven Is So Efficient

Moffats patented oven elements are proved and tested under the sternest conditions. They have a record of fifteen months continuous night and day service in Moffats "Electra-Porcelain" enameling furnace at 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit, while the highest temperature required from a range in the home is only 400 degrees! Just imagine how long they will last in our Electric Ranges.

Write for Booklet

Any Moffat dealer will gladly demonstrate the Moffat to you, proving its unquestioned superiority and leadership. Write for free booklet and full details to Moffats Limited, Weston, Ontario.

which attended the opening yesterday.

The play is one procession of gorgeous costumes, with much comedy thrown in at regular intervals. The scenes are well thought out and the color arrangement of each setting really original. Songs, dancing, acrobatics and humorous skits make "Silk Stocking Revue" eminently entertaining.

A rather novel and apparently effective form of advertising was conceived by the producer when he decided to offer free pairs of silk stockings to women in the audience holding corresponding seat tickets to several taken out of a hat on the stage.

Frank X. Silk, heavyweight comedian of the shows, proves appealing and well versed in the particular vintage of comedy which delights burlesque patrons. He is the central figure in numerous skits, the most popular of which was "The Express Office." Frank Martin, Earl Root and Frank Silk make a splendid singing trio, and their songs received greater applause than any other feature. The Busch sisters in a series of Oriental dance steps displayed talent. The setting in which they performed was the most beautiful of the show, dazzling costumes and bizarre dress creations worn by the chorus giving a fitting touch to the preceding dancing exhibition.

Bob Carney was the best male dancer of the show. He was also the best male dancer seen in burlesque this season. Seemingly inexhaustible he combined excellent foot movement with varieties of Russian reels and capped everything with acrobatics of a high order. "Silk Stocking Revue" practically satiates the spectator with its innumerable bright scenes, costumes and lights. The chorus are well-trained kickers and do their stuff with zest. As usual with every burlesque that comes here, the Grand yesterday was almost packed.

BOARD OF HEALTH TO SEE ALL NURSES

Resolution Passed At Meeting After Investigation of Ald. L. H. Douglass.

Routine business claimed the greater portion of attention at last night's meeting of the board of health.

At the instigation of Ald. L. H. Douglass, the board directed the nurses under the supervision of the local department of health appear at the next session.

"We should at least see the employees of the board of health once a year," he stated, "and hear from them just what is going on. As a physician and a member of this board for two years, I am sometimes at a loss to give a definite answer to certain questions from ratepayers. The board should know its employees."

Upon recommendation from Sanitary Inspector R. H. Sanders, the employees of all Chinese laundries must not eat their meals in the workshops. Other rooms for this purpose must be provided. Chairman Charles Mitchell and all members of the board, however, commented upon the general excellent condition of Chinese establishments in London.

Sanitary Inspector Sanders was instructed to seek the tenants who just moved from a certain residence, leaving it in an alleged filthy condition. Police court action was threatened.

An account for $23 from the board of works for the 1923 collection of dead animals, cats, dogs, etc., from city streets was referred back to that committee. Ald. Douglass recalling that a resolution was passed last fall whereby this charge was to be shouldered by the engineering department.

PROMINENT SPORTSMAN PASSES IN TORONTO

Dr. C. V. Snelgrove, Well-Known Dentist, Succumbs to Heart Trouble.

Canadian Press Despatch, Toronto, March 10.—Dr. C. V. Snelgrove, prominent dentist and well-known curling and bowling enthusiast, died suddenly from heart trouble at his home here today. For the past two weeks Dr. Snelgrove had not been enjoying his usual good health, but had been able to attend to his practice.

Born at Ingersoll, Ont., 65 years ago, Dr. Snelgrove commenced to practice dentistry in Toronto about 40 years ago. He was a lover of all outdoor sport and on three occasions was a member of teams that won the Ontario tankard. He was an active member of the Victoria Lawn and Bowling Club and a life member of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Rosedale Golf Club and the Canadian Club. Dr. Snelgrove is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Isabel K. Sinclair, of Toronto, two daughters, Misses Edith and Elinor, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Della West and Mrs. John Kennedy of London, Ontario.

INVESTMENT BROKERS WILL FACE CRIMINAL CHARGE

Associated Press Despatch, Boston, March 10.—George F. Redmond and John S. Lamont, treasurer and president of G. F. Redmond Company, Inc., investment brokers, whose offices in New England and elsewhere were closed last week by federal injunction, will surrender tomorrow to federal officers on warrants charging use of the mails to defraud, it became known tonight.

DR. J. O. GREEN DIES
Associated Press Despatch, New York, March 10.—Dr. James O. Green, whose daughter, Eleanor Margaret Green, is betrothed to Prince Viggo of Denmark, died today at his home.

OLD-TIME STORY, WITH NEW SETTING, PROVIDES THRILLS

Excellent Program of Pictures and Vaudeville Pleases At Loew's.

"FLAMING BARRIERS"

The elements combine to make excitement for "Flaming Barriers," the film feature at Loew's for the first half of the week. Air, water, and fire all lend color. In addition to being a picture of smooth interest, "Flaming Barriers" has more than the usual quota of thrills, none of which have merely the virtue of being of the near-genuine variety.

The story is one of that time-honored class, as old as the art of story-telling itself, in which the central figure is a villain, a maid and the inopportune mortgage. To complete of course, there must be the dashing heroine and all the thrilling circumstances which at last throw the heroine into his arms.

Added to the real interest of this sort of plot, "Flaming Barriers" has all the advantages of a strictly modern setting, an evidence of which is the first arrival of the heroine, in a la aeroplano. It is one of the nicest pictures seen here in weeks, and one which may be advised with sincerity as the type most likely to suit all manner of tastes. The cast is excellent, and includes Antonio Moreno, Jacqueline Logan, Charles Ogle, Walter Heirs, Robert McKim and others.

Vaudeville commences with a unique bicycle act, which won its share of laughs. In the second act colored dancers won the heartiest applause of the bill. Their dancing is nothing if not up to the minute. Songs and sketches of comedy drew their share of appreciation.

Bob La Salle & Co. are the headliners. Mr. La Salle is a trifle daring with some of his comedy, but it has the virtue of being highly original. His songs were extremely catchy.

RESIDENCE AND CONTENTS ARE TOTALLY DESTROYED

Special to The Advertiser.

Tiltsburg, March 10.—The residence of William Burwell near the town limits was completely destroyed by fire about 10:30 tonight, with the contents.

The fire started in the kitchen, and when Mr. Burwell first saw it after a brief absence from the place, was burning very briskly, so that nothing could be done to save the structure. The local brigade answered promptly but had to use chemicals.

Furniture owned by Arthur Hicks and stored in the front part of the house was taken out.

The loss will total about $2,500, partially covered by insurance.

CRIMES LEAD TO CAPTURE.

SPINNERS' STRIKE MAY BE AVOIDED

Cotton Operatives in Manchester District Expected To Resume Work.

Associated Press Despatch.

Manchester, Eng., March 10.—The strike threatened by the Cotton Spinners' Federation is believed to have been averted through the action of the carding room amalgamation, which today withdrew from the dispute.

This arose out of the introduction into a mill at Royton of an extra machine, imposing extra work.

The lockout would have involved 150,000 operatives. It is expected now that workers on strike will return to their machines, and that lockout notices will be withdrawn.

You Lose Much

If you don't fight film on teeth
Coated teeth are dingy

Do you admire the whiter teeth seen everywhere today? Don't you think they add to beauty and to charm?

Then learn how people get them. Millions now combat the film in a delightful way. Make this test and note the changes which it brings to you.

The chief enemy of teeth

Film is the teeth's great enemy—that viscous film you feel. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it. Much of it clings and stays.

Soon the film discolors, forming dingy coats. Then teeth remain unsightly and unclean.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Very few people escaped such troubles in the old ways of teeth cleaning.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Modern science has discovered two effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

The results have been proved by many careful tests. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

The use of that tooth paste quickly spread the world over. Careful people of some 50 nations enjoy its benefits today.

Watch it act

This test will bring you quick results which you can see and feel. The book we send tells the reasons for them.

You will find that Pepsodent brings new and desired effects. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to better digest starch deposits on teeth.

Every use brings these combined effects. You will know at once that they mean much to you and yours.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

The test will be a revelation. Cut out coupon now.

ENGLISH WRITERS AND PAINTERS ARE DESCRIBED

Emily Warren, A.R.B.A., Gives Delightful Lecture in St. Andrew's Hall.

EXHIBITS PAINTINGS

To have been taken on a visit to the haunts of the great English writers by one of the foremost artists of the day, and to see her impressions of them through her pictures, was the privilege of the interested audience who attended the illustrated lecture, given by Miss Emily Warren, A.R.B.A., in St. Andrew's Hall last evening.

Miss Warren, who is known as the 'English artist adopted by Canada,' is a lecturer of note, due to her delightful personal personality, and as an artist her works have been recognized both in her native country and in Canada. Some of her best works have been done in this country, a number of which were exhibited last evening, including Niagara Falls and many brilliant autumn scenes.

Many of her illustrations last night were dim interiors, in which work she excels. The mellow lights of cathedrals and the blended splendor of the indoors divided honors with brilliant landscapes and garden scenes where the poets found their inspirations.

Portraits of the writers which she had copied from originals hung in the National Gallery of old London were shown, followed by the houses in which they were born, their last resting-places, and the many favorite places chosen by them to write.

Shakespeare's Country.

Her talk commenced with the immortal Shakespeare, and her illustrations showed Stratford-on-the-Avon, and Anne Hathaway's cottage, where he courted his wife. Here could be seen the family plate and the original 'tinder-box.' The halls where Shakespeare's plays were acted were shown, and also the church at Stratford-on-the-Avon.

The room in which Bunyan wrote his famous Pilgrim's Progress, was next exhibited, also the Palace Beautiful, and the great gateway, where this pilgrim passed, Wesley's house and Wesley's church were shown. The favorite spots of John Milton, of William Wordsworth, who wrote chiefly of nature, and who also loved Westminster Bridge (which was vividly painted by Miss Warren, showing Big Ben and the Parliament Buildings in the distance); of Sir Walter Scott, whose works were chiefly written of the Borderlands of Scotland; including Loch Katrine and St. Mary's Loch, all were delightfully described by word and picture. The haunts of Thomas Carlyle, Charles Dickens, whose favorite spot was London, were also pictured.

Mrs. A. C. Skelton of Hamilton who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ambrose, is returning home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCallum of St. Thomas were week-end visitors with Messrs. J. B. Ireland and Harry McLean.

Mrs. Firth Buller, Piccadilly street, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Buller in Brantford has returned home.

Mrs. J. A. Jackson, Becher street, was the hostess when five tables were in play.

Miss Alice Tilley of St. John, N.B., who has been visiting Mrs. J. G. Boucher, Richmond street, left last week for Hamilton.

Mrs. W. J. McLean is going to Toronto this week where she will be the guest of Mrs. J. A. Robinson, Braemore Gardens.

Mr. A. E. Cooper, Waterloo street, is leaving this week for Holland, sailing from New York by the Holland-American Line for Rotterdam.

Miss Edith Wynne-Pryce arranged an enjoyable supper party at 'Lennorm' last evening in honor of the members of her interpretative dancing class.

Mrs. Harold Hatheway, of Bear River, N.S., accompanied by Miss Patricia Hatheway, is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Reynolds, Bruce street.

Following the basketball game between the home team of arts '25 of Western and the Normal men's team, played last night at the Oxford gymnasium, an informal dance was enjoyed. The funds of the dance are to be devoted to giving the convocation dance in May. The music last evening was supplied by the brass orchestra, and Dr. J. D. Detwiler and Mrs. Detwiler chaperoned the affair.

In honor of their guest, Major-General McBrien, chief of staff at Ottawa, General W. B. Mc King and Mrs. Shuttlesworth King entertained at a small luncheon yesterday.

The guests were: Hon. C. S. Hyman, Col. Ibbotson, Leonard, Col. Eric Reid, Col. F. B. Ware and Col. C. H. Hill. In the afternoon, General and Mrs. King entertained the officers and their wives at the tea hour.

Mrs. W. McAdams of Elias street entertained last week at a children's party in honor of her son, Criville, who celebrated his thirteenth birthday.

The evening was enjoyably spent in contests and games, and later Mrs. William Glyn assisted the hostess in serving a dainty lunch. The dining-room was prettily decorated in orange and green, the same color scheme being carried out on the table. The young guests present were: Frank Ryan, Allan McNaughton, Tom Wrenshall, Howard Johnston, Willie Toole, Ross Neil, Arnold Johnston, and Robert Wilson.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

How Can a Shopgirl Earn More Money?
The Daughter Who Objects to Her Sixty-Year-Old Father Re-marrying — The Lovely Young Girl in a Strange City.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a girl nineteen years of age, and work in a store downtown. I am not making a very big salary, but I like the work and my boss is awful good to me. I would like to take a business course, but my people are very poor and have many children, so all I make is to go to the family. Can you suggest how I can earn more money? UNDECIDED.

Answer:

The one sure road to a better pay envelope is more efficiency. The better you do your work the more money you can command for it. You have only to deliver the goods.

So, inasmuch as you are employed in a store get busy and improve your salesmanship. Watch the people above you and study their technique. Find out all about the goods you handle, so that you can talk convincingly and interestingly about their merits.

If you sell lace, make yourself an expert so that you can tell real lace from imitation by a touch. Know so much about lace that women will depend on your judgment and wait to buy from you. If you sell kitchen things, study them also. Know what every pot and pan is for, so that you will be able to draw such an alluring picture of the convenience of a chopping bowl, and what can be cooked in a casserole, that any woman will feel that she is just bound to have them.

Keep on your job. Don't stand with your back to the counter and tell another salesgirl what "she said" and "she said," while a customer waits to be served.

And when a customer asks for a thing, don't fling over your shoulder, "We haven't got it," without even looking for it. Make a pretense of searching for the article and nine times out of ten the customer will take a substitute. Don't assume a high and mighty air every time a customer asks for a cheap article, and act as if you despised everybody who had to consider economy.

Be interested in trying to find customers what they want. You have no idea how grateful they will be. Don't call a customer "dear" or "honey," or tell her that some rich woman has bought that kind of a hat or dress. It makes her fighting mad. Don't try to sell people more than they can afford, or inappropriate things. You may land one or two sales that way, but they will be boomerangs. The customers will never come back.

Remember that a soft answer turns away wrath, and that you can change a grouchy customer into a pleasant one who will buy by saying something soothing and agreeable, instead of scratching back at her. Also remember that appearances are deceitful, and that sometimes a shabby old black handbag has more money in it than a gold mesh one.

Never forget that a smile does it, and that everybody likes to deal with a friendly, bright alert girl who is interested in her work, and interested in her customers, and who makes friends of all who come to buy of her. Put your head and your back in your work and you can ask for a raise in salary on the strength of your sales slips, and get it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My father is sixty years old, and he is going to marry a woman fifteen years younger than himself. She is a fine-looking woman, a widow with lots of admirers, and what she sees in father is more than I can tell. But he says he needs a wife, and that he will live longer and be happier while he is alive if he marries.

There are six of us children, all married, and he could make his home with any of us. My father has money enough, and goes to business every day. I think it is disgraceful for him to marry at his age. What do you think? TROUBLED DAUGHTER.

Answer:

I think father is dead right, and that you are altogether wrong. A man in his sixties, in these days, is still in the prime of life, with many years of life before him, and he is quite right to marry and provide himself with a suitable companion, as your father seems to be doing.

Consider the situation from his point of view. Ever since he was a young man he has been the head of a house. He has had a home of his own that was run according to his notions; a place where he was the supreme authority. How can you ask him to give this up and go and live around among his children, where he would have no status except that of a more or less welcome guest? He would have to adapt himself to his children's and his grandchildren's ways, which are not his ways. And, however much his own children might like to have him about, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law are not always overjoyed at having an old man about, with an old man's whims to which they have to cater.

People need companionship in old age far more than they do in youth.

When you are young, you can find diversions in theatres, parties and running around, but when you get to the sit-by-the-fire age, you want a person of your own generation to bear you company and be interested in the things that you are interested in. And selfish are the children who would deprive their father of this consolation in the last lap of the journey.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a girl of eighteen who has just come to the city to work. I haven't any parents, and I don't know any one here, so it is very lonely. Under the circumstances do you think it would be wrong to go riding with fellows I haven't been introduced to? It seems the only way I have of getting acquainted.

FRIENDLESS.

To go riding with the men you pick up on the street, my girl, is to take a joy ride that ends in destruction. A girl who lets men take away is any man's prey, because decent girls don't do it. In a city a girl who is alone has to watch her step every minute of the time.

She has to learn to be suspicious of friendly strangers, and to remember that for every proffered courtesy she has to pay. And sometimes she has to pay for an evening's amusement with her soul. It is hard to be young and lonely, but it is better to be lonely than to make dangerous acquaintances. Soon you will get acquainted and the loneliness will be gone, but one mistake may wreck your life forever.

Little Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse Are Safely Home At Last

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

All day the great man-bird, carrying Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse and their family, had been in the air. Strangely excited were Danny and Nanny. They couldn't have told you why, but they were possessed of a feeling that something was going to happen. What it was they didn't know, but they were sure that something was going to happen. And something did. It was one of the greatest happenings in their lives. Late in the afternoon the great man-bird began to go down. At length the noise of the engine stopped. Down, down, down, the great man-bird glided, and presently it came to rest gently. There was a shout from outside. It made the heart of Danny Meadow Mouse leap. It was strangely familiar, was that voice. There was an answering shout from the aviator, and then the latter hastily climbed out of the

DR. MACKLIN ADDRESSES PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES

A splendid talk on motherhood was given last evening by Dr. Madge Macklin of the University of Western Ontario at the regular meeting of the London Public Health Nurses' Association.

During her address Dr. Macklin spoke of the old superstitions regarding prospective mothers, which are still in existence. She explained that these superstitions are handed down from generation to generation, and that doctors and nurses should do everything in their power to disabuse the minds of the mothers of these foolish ideas.

She urged the best possible care during the prenatal period, as under-nourishment, brooding, unhappiness and lack of power of exercise were most harmful to the mother and also would influence the health of the

DENNY BROOKS

A STORY OF COURAGE
By ELENORE MEHERIN.

CHAPTER CXXXIV.

Dunlap Exposed.

Denny sent a telegram to Berne Melrose: "Call a meeting of the irrigation board for tonight at 8 o'clock. I'm bringing you a traitor and proofs."

"DENMAN BROOKS."

Dunlap listened as he "phoned" and clung to Denny's arm. "Mr. Brooks—my God—they'll kill me. You understand? Mr. Cummings, you're a lawyer, you understand. Frightful, unfortunate affair—not my fault—Blumens insane. You saw him, Miss Lewis—insane—a madman."

"Look here, Dunlap, you're going to keep your mouth shut!"

But Dunlap's feet shuffled under him. He put his hands in his pockets to hide their frantic shaking, took them out again, twisting them wildly. Before they could get him from the room Stephens had to take one arm, Denny the other. He slouched in a corner of the machine, burying his face in his hands.

Cummings whispered to Denny: "Will you get this Blumens and the fellow who paid the money to Loop?"

"No, not my affair. Let the irrigation board get them. Dunlap and the letters are enough for me. Anything can happen if we stall around."

Then no one spoke. Dunlap hid his head in his hands, worked his hands wretchedly at his head. After half an hour he stared from the window, flinging suddenly back against the cushions, the whispering voice laden with terror. "They'll lynch me! A mob—lynch me. My God, Mr. Brooks, are you going to throw me to them? What did I do to you? Nothing personal. My God—lynched!"

Denny said nothing.

The rope might have been already wound about Dunlap's neck the way his pale eyes bulged and the shiny face spotted with purple. Every dozen miles he sat up with that frantic wobbling of the bald head, imploring now Cummings, now Joan to hear him.

Joan kept her eyes averted, but Denny saw that mingled with her contempt and abhorrence was a deep touch of pity. He turned from it.

As they drove into the town, he sank, a groaning, inert lump in the corner. But when the lights of the main street flashed he was grabbing wildly at Denny's sleeve, making a last plea, "Think, My God, Brooks, you know the man!" In another hour I'll be lynched. My God—save me."

"Dunlap, you're going to walk in there and tell them what you did and tell them what Anson did and what Macey's doing. It's not up to me to save you, but don't ask me to be your accomplice."

"But Brooks—I'm their lawyer—My God—"

Denny was half choked with repugnance, the fight in him blunted by the cringing helplessness of this fellow who had a dozen times stuck the hot brand into him, but who now covered on his knees begging for mercy.

"Think Brooks—Anson will settle. He'll pay! A million. Mr. Cummings, you understand—"

They drew up at the town hall. A crowd of men and women packed about the entrance. As the big closed car stopped they pressed to the curb. Some one called out, "Him! It's Brooks! He's here!"

Dunlap dug his nails into the leather, clinging to it, mumbling, "They'll kill me! Brooks, don't throw me to them!"

Trees, hills, clouds like a silver filigree against the sky, flashed a moment, the breeze hushed and the tranquil quiet of evening came down upon the valley.

But there was that huddled, half-whimpering form in the corner, the whole body growing limp as they sped into the valley. Dunlap's forehead pressed against the window, staring into the darkness and the trees moving like spectres in shadowy converse.

Suddenly he slipped from the seat to the floor, the soft hands twisting at Denny's knees. "Here! Hide me! My God, lynch me!"

Denny pushed him in a fury of disgust. "Get up, Dunlap. Damn coward you!"

"Mr. Brooks— for God's sake listen, you don't understand. Blumens did it. Insane. You saw him, Miss Lewis. Murder—no one more horrified than I. What good will it do you? Throw me to them! I'll tell the truth! You've got the confessions. Mr. Brooks, what good will it do you to have me hanged?"

"Get up, Dunlap! It's nothing to me to have you hanged. It's not up to me to save you."

"Mr. Cummings! Miss Lewis—speak to him. Mr. Cummings, you understand. Farmers incensed—outraged—"

His hands were now dripping, his collar crumpled out of sight. He mopped his face, but it was so moist, so heavy and colorless he seemed about to collapse.

Rising, "He's back! He's back!" He was shoved up the steps into the big, barren room where four months previous Dunlap had shouted, "There's what produced your friend! There!"

Berne Melrose was sitting at the rough pine table. Denny made out the tall, rugged form looming through a low-hanging cloud of tobacco smoke. A hush dropped over the room—a tense, breathless excitement. He swung to the table, faced them, unaware until that moment that a wild turbulence shook and gripped him.

Then he saw Martin Loop sitting next to Melrose, and the editor, with his sneer and his yellow pad, leaning forward, his eyes glinting with expectation.

Denny turned from the straining avid eyes of the hundred men and women, turned sharply and flung at Melrose.

"You kicked me out, Melrose. You called me a murderer, an incompetent and every damnable name you could find. You broke your contract. Your lawyer, James Dunlap, stood here four months ago, and charged me with criminal negligence. You and every man in this room, blamed me for the death of my friend—yes, my friend, Martin Loop. The editor of this town's paper went further and called me a traitor and a blackguard afraid to face the courts. Berne Melrose, four months ago you called me a murderer and a traitor. You accused me of trafficking with the Consolidated."

"Now, Berne Melrose, your new engineer, S. Macey, repeats that I tried to wreck this job that was my job—that was my life. He's the liar—he's the traitor. That dam is all right. But I've brought you the man who planted S. Macey on the dam and planted him there to wreck it—to cripple the project and then to turn it over to the Consolidated."

"I've brought your traitor!"

"You think I went over to the Consolidated? I took a job with the Independent because you fellows up here made me penniless—you drove me to it. It's none of your damn business what need of mine forced me to take this job. And no one paid the piper but I."

"I've got papers and a signed confession to prove every word I've said. There's your man, Melrose."

The faces pressed forward in such gaping, silent astonishment, the entire room seemed but one white, open mouthed circle. Melrose stood up, the viking form trembling, following Denny's outflung hand as it pointed to the rear of the room where Stephens and Jerome Cummings tried vainly to get Dunlap to his feet.

Denny shouted, "Dunlap, you come up here!"

A terrible, palsied moment, then the hush splitting with a shocked cry, "Dunlap!" Men on their feet, others wheeling in their chairs, Melrose thundering, "Order! Order! Hear it out! Shall we hear? Order!"

Shoving and lifting the half prostrate form, the two of them got Dunlap to the table. There he leaned, a man without bones, the shiny face appalling in its dead whiteness, the mouth sagging. Denny was white with disgust, with a half contemptuous pity.

"Speak, Dunlap. Tell them."

But Dunlap hung there, his pale blue eyes bulging, no word coming from the twisting lips.

"Is what I've said the truth, Dunlap? You and Murray Anson, chief of the Consolidated conspired to wreck this 'Twin Falls' project?"

His head wobbled.

"Is it?"

"Yes—my God—listen!"

But the room was in an uproar—vells—the table knocked over, someone thundering, "Him! Dunlap! Get him!"

Dunlap crumpled at Denny's feet, his arms wound and clinging to Denny's legs.

MRS. D. A. M'KAY SPEAKS AT CLUB

Manor Park Mothers Enjoy an Inspiring Address Last Evening.

An inspiring address was given last evening by Mrs. D. A. McKay, at the regular meeting of the Manor Park Mothers' Club. The subject of her talk was "Wisdom and Folly in the Home," and she dealt with it from the standpoint of a mother, who has found out for herself, the wisdom and folly of a home-life.

One of the foolish attitudes, taken by a mother in her estimation, was that of thinking that they know how to deal with children without trying to learn, and depending too much upon their own knowledge. "Allowing outside interests to enter too much into home life, is another great drawback," she continued. "By this I do not mean that we should not have outside interests, but first things must come first."

Insincerity was another fault spoken of by Mrs. McKay, who showed how easily it is to criticize others.

In dealing with wisdom in the home the speaker highly recommended family worship. "We too often let things interfere with this splendid practice, and often set it aside to accomplish other things, but the only way is to sacrifice something that the worship may be held for it is from sacrifice that we benefit," she continued.

She went on to speak of originality which is a gift every mother possesses, but does not exercise. The art of story telling was also spoken of and she encouraged the mothers to develop this art, and read aloud to the children, and encourage them to read. In conclusion she told the story of "Acres of Diamonds," explaining to the mothers that each one of them had acres of diamonds at their command if they only stopped to realize it.

During the business part of the meeting plans were made for a bazaar to be held in April. Dainty refreshments were served following the meeting.

CATHOLIC WOMEN HELP NEWCOMERS

Girls From British Isles Enjoy Liberties of the Club.

A new venture of the Catholic Women's League, namely the forming of a club for newcomers from the British Isles, which was commenced several weeks ago, is proving a most successful one. Under the direction of the immigration department of the league, with Mrs. J. J. Roach as convener, these girls, from all parts of the British Isles are invited to St. Peter's Parish Hall every Thursday afternoon. The play was such a delightful one that the girls formed a club, choosing as their honorary president, Mrs. J. J. Roach.

Each Thursday afternoon these girls meet in the club rooms, cook their own suppers, and later enjoy games and sports, or spend the evenings sewing. The girls have found it such a delightful way to spend a lonely afternoon that each week new members join, and the club now boasts of a membership of 29. Although the name of the organization is the Scotch-Canadian Club, girls from every part of the British Isles are welcome, in fact newcomers of any denomination are invited to attend, every Thursday afternoon, from four to ten.

The officers who were recently elected are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. J. J. Roach; president, Mrs. H. Brennan; vice-president, Miss Annie Morgan; secretary, Miss Mary Hurrell; treasurer, Miss Katherine Stewart.

SPLENDID PROGRAM FOR MUSIC CLUB

Arranged by Mr. Thomas Martin, Concert Last Night a Complete Success.

Under the auspices of the Women's Music Club, a quintet of artists appeared last night in the Central Collegiate auditorium in a most successful program. It was possibly as artistic and as delightful a program as any to which the members have listened for months past. Arranged so skillfully by Mr. Thomas Martin, the concert included the work of such artists as Miss Laura Kirkwood,

Mrs. Harris-Elliott, Walter Carpenter of Brantford, Miss Nancy Poole of St. Thomas and Mr. Martin himself.

Mrs. Elliott and Mr. Martin contributed a strikingly brilliant part of the program, with their two piano work, opening the concert with the andante allegro movement from the Sonata in D major and closing it triumphantly with a selection from "The Emperor" of Beethoven's works.

Miss Kirkwood's playing was of characteristic loveliness. Technique polished to a high degree and a rare gift of interpretation combined to make a thing of beauty of each number. Among other things, she played "By the Sea," Schubert-Liszt; "The Goldfish," by Debussy, and the Chopin "Scherzo in C sharp minor."

Mr. Carpenter combined both vocal and dramatic ability in "He Alone Charmed My Sadness," from Gounod's "The Queen of Sheba."

Miss Nancy Poole of St. Thomas was the other artist, and her violin numbers were most happily chosen. She selected quaint, haunting airs, which colored the entire program with their own beauty. "O Danny Boy," an old Londonderry air by O'Connor Morris, was a bit of fascinating violin work, and equally popular was an English dance, the

Mothproof-

A Destructive Pest is Defeated At Last!

MILLIONS of dollars are lost yearly to Canadian families through the destructive activities of the house moth. With the introduction of Snyder's "Sani-bilt" Guaranteed Mothproof Upholstered Furniture, the moth is banished from upholstered furniture, one of its favorite breeding grounds.

Moths cannot live or breed in the fillings or coverings of Snyder's "Sani-bilt" Mothproof Furniture. We stand behind this statement in the sweeping guarantee here reproduced.

"Sani-bilt" Furniture is made mothproof by a remarkable scientific process. We believe that the preparation used in this process is the only mothproof solution that contains no arsenic or bichloride of mercury. It is, also, colorless, odorless and will not evaporate.

All materials used in making "Sani-bilt" Furniture are brand new (not renovated), are clean, fresh and sanitary. The construction is strong and of such excellence that it ensures comfort of the permanent kind.

Wouldn't you like to drive the destructive moth from your home? Begin right. Purchase a guaranteed mothproof "Sani-bilt" suite of upholstered furniture. The prices are moderate and cover a wide range of furniture suitable for the most modest or the most luxurious home. Every suite of genuine "Sani-bilt" is well built, has brand new fillings, is comfortable and is guaranteed mothproof. Now sold by the leading stores throughout Canada. Look for the trade mark under the cushion.

How YOU Are Protected

Read the above guarantee. A strong firm stands behind it. It protects you against imitation mothproof furniture. It is your insurance policy against disappointment or dissatisfaction. For, if your "Sani-bilt" Furniture does not live up to its guarantee, you can take your suite back to the dealer and get a brand new "Sani-bilt" suite entirely free of charge, in replacement.

No furniture is genuine "Sani-bilt" without this guarantee tag and the "Sani-bilt" trade mark label sewed to the furniture under the cushion.

MARITIMES URGING WEST INDIES TRADE

Hance Logan Would Abolish Tariff Wall Between Two Dominions.

INJURE NO INDUSTRY

Hocken Attacks Government Proposal To Lower Duty On Farm Implements.

Ottawa, March 10.—Debate on the address in the House today touched on problems the Dominion wide. It opened with the Maritimes, passed to more central provinces, then turned to the west.

Hance Logan of Cumberland, N. S., pressed for the "old Laurier policy" of tariff for revenue. He pictured the Maritimes as being squeezed to death between the two walls of the tariff and freight rates.

He urged efforts to improve trade with the West Indies. It might be well to admit West Indian imports free; he would put a duty on bananas entering Canada via the United States; he would have trade agents at every important point in the West Indies, and here Mr. Logan drew an amusing picture of a Jamaican like a lone sparrow on a treetop, surveying a vast territory from aloft over a broken-down warehouse pervaded with the smell of centuries.

As to coal, Mr. Logan thought a commission should at once be appointed to investigate transportation costs.

Hocken Speaks.

From Conservative ranks, H. C. Hocken of West Toronto, then stressed the difficulties of manufacturers of agricultural implements in Ontario. The speech from the throne had put the industry in a state of suspended animation. Mr. Hocken held, further, that savings depositors in the Home Bank should be indemnified. He argued that what western farmers needed more than tariff reduction was the cheapening of transportation.

Viewpoints from the west followed. D. F. Kelner, Progressive, of Edmonton East, stressed for Canadian National branch line construction in the west, suggesting that construction might be financed by an issue of Dominion notes.

D. M. Kennedy, the other member from Edmonton, argued that if, after the protection they had received, Canadian industries were not able to stand alone, then the protective system was a failure and ought to be scrapped.

Forbids Reference.

A plea for the maintenance of the amenities of debate between the Senate and the House of Commons was made in the lower chamber this afternoon by Hon. G. P. Graham, acting leader of the House, at the opening of the debate on the address. He called attention to the rule which forbids reference in one chamber to a debate in the other, and remarked that this rule had been frequently violated during the past week. He asked members of the Commons to observe the old rule with a view to preserving good relations between the two houses.

Debate on the address was then resumed by Hance Logan (Liberal).

ARCHBISHOP MUNDELEIN of Chicago, who, with Archbishop Hayes of New York, has been nominated as cardinal. The consistory will be held March 24.

Cumberland, who said the speech from the throne had given new light and new hope for the welfare of the country.

Mr. Logan found plenty of evidence of prosperity in Central Canada, but remarked that in the West and the Maritime Provinces conditions were not so encouraging. The Maritime Provinces were "being crushed between the twin millstones of the tariff and the high freight rates."

What had protection ever done for the fishing industry, the lumbering, the coal mines, or, for that matter, the agricultural industry? The Maritime Provinces had gone reluctantly into confederation on a promise that if protection robbed that section of the country of its trade with the United States railways would be built to provide another and bigger market throughout Canada. The Maritimes did more trade in those days than Central Canada.

They did little or no trade with the rest of Canada now. Exorbitant freight rates effectively prevented that.

Trade With Indies.

He advocated measures to encourage direct trade between Canada and the West Indies. One method he suggested was to place a duty on bananas when imported through the United States, but allow them to come free if shipped direct to a Canadian port. Mr. Logan favored complete reciprocity with the British West Indies on a free trade basis, and said that it would not harm any Canadian industry.

At the time of confederation there were 14 banks in the Maritime Provinces, but they had gone and were now centralized in Toronto and Montreal. He denied that the Maritime Provinces had received high protection on coal, iron and steel.

Mr. Logan thought that Canada should ascertain from the United States roads, who now bring so much coal here from the Pennsylvania fields, what was the actual cost of carrying it. We should find, he thought, that coal could be brought from the Maritime Provinces of Canada for about $2 a ton, and the present rates of $3.60 and $3.80 could be reduced.

Protest Against Spotters.

The member for Cumberland protested against the introduction of spotters on the Canadian National in the Maritime Provinces. As a result of their work, he said, a number of old and trusted conductors had been dismissed without a trial.

H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West), told Mr. Logan that he was quite in sympathy with the idea of bringing Nova Scotia coal to Ontario if it would be done at a reasonable price. He was informed, however, that the Nova Scotia operators had an arrangement with the Pennsylvania men allowing them to ship to Montreal.

Mr. Logan replied that he was confident no such arrangement existed, and that Mr. Hocken was "absolutely misinformed."

The reference in the speech from the throne to a reduction in taxation on implements of production had been interpreted, said Mr. Hocken, as implying to removal of the duties on agricultural implements. There had been no protest against this interpretation on the part of the government and therefore he assumed that it was correct.

Much Invested.

This industry had invested in it $100,000,000, and had dependent on it 150,000 people. In these circumstances the action of the government looked like the work of legislative amateurs. Mr. Hocken expressed deep sympathy with W. G. Raymond (Liberal, Brantford), in view of the government action, and suggested that if he wished to remain in public life he should at once file an application for a seat in the Senate.

The indemnification of the savings depositors in the Home Bank by the government was advocated by Mr. Hocken. He would differentiate, he said, between the savings and business deposits. The savings deposits were of the nature of a lifetime. These people had placed their money in the Home Bank in the expectation that Parliament was going to take certain steps to protect those deposits, and therefore they were entitled to be indemnified for their losses.

H. E. Spencer (Progressive, Battle River), suggested that six provinces favored free trade, while only three were opposed.

Mr. Hocken replied that was not the result of elections held on the issue. The present indications of reduction in the tariff by the government, he charged, were the result of a secret diplomacy at the time that Messrs. Crear and Dunning visited Ottawa in January.

"It only exists in your mind," put in Hon. Jacques Bureau. "There is no secret diplomacy."

DOMINION RELUCTANT TO SEEK RETALIATION

Acting Premier Denies Any Move For Revenge On U. S.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, March 10.—"Retaliation is a bad word," replied Hon. G. P. Graham in the House of Commons this afternoon, when questioned what action the government proposed to take by way of retaliation or otherwise in view of the increased United States tariff on wheat and wheat products.

Mr. Graham was leading the House in the absence of Premier King, and the question had been raised by W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative member for New Westminster, B. C. "The purpose of trade is to make a profit," added Mr. Graham. "I would not like to say the government is even considering retaliation."

The president is said to have made this known in notifying the Mohammedan leaders in India of the Turkish government's decision to abolish the caliphate.

SMALLPOX CAME OUT OF DETROIT

Dr. J. J. Heagerty Says No Vaccinated Person Has Contracted Disease.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, March 10.—There is no reason at the present time for the establishment of an international quarantine at Windsor, states Dr. J. J. Heagerty of the department of health, in a report to the minister of health, following a thorough investigation of the smallpox epidemic at Windsor and Detroit.

The outstanding feature of the whole situation is "the absolute proof of the efficiency of vaccination," states Dr. Heagerty. The Windsor epidemic appears to have originated in Detroit, possibly in the Highland Park district, although there is a possibility that it came from the north country.

The type of smallpox in Windsor is the worst type that has broken out in Canada since 1855, when an awful epidemic swept Montreal and 3,500 deaths occurred. Dr. Heagerty states that people may expect additional cases during March, but that the epidemic will diminish as summer approaches and people get out into the fresh air.

Every death occurred among unvaccinated people, states the doctor. No person vaccinated within a period of 20 years, directly or indirectly exposed to the Deneau case, contracted the disease. In no case, either in Detroit or Windsor, did smallpox occur in anyone vaccinated within the last five years.

CHILDREN'S STORE PLACE OF BIRTH ON ITS BIRTHDAY

Huge Birthday Cake, Guessing Contest and Games Entertain Young Patrons.

AT ROWLAND HILL'S

Possibly there never has been an enterprise or source of amusement that has been so popular with the children of London and district as the big birthday party now being held in the Rowland Hill main store, 189 Dundas street, or to be more exact, in the "Children's Own Shoe Shop," located on the second floor.

Just one year ago the opening of the "Children's Own Shoe Shop" was heralded with joy and enthusiasm by both child and parent. It has been a year of continued and remarkable growth; and now to celebrate its first birthday this energetic firm is giving a novel birthday party to the party which commenced Saturday, March 8th, and continues all this week, and to which every child is invited. The department was literally besieged all day Saturday by hundreds of eager children who flocked to the party almost 2,000 guesses were registered during the day on how long the candle on the birthday cake would burn. The children's eyes filled with wonder and amazement when they saw this huge five-story birthday cake which is now on display in the main store window.

Leach of 329 Cochrane street, to see the real joy and excitement that these children experienced during their visit and upon receiving their free souvenir and piece of birthday cake would do anything for good.

Mr. Hill is offering the choice of any pair of shoes to the child turning in the nearest guess on the length of the candle on the cake. The prize, also 10% off the regular price of any footwear purchased in the "Children's Own Shop" during the anniversary.

The "Children's Own Shoe Shop" is an innovation of up-to-date merchandising, a big playroom and "slide" afford the children heaps of fun, the entire surroundings with its juvenile decorations make the child "feel at home"; even a bubbling drinking fountain and lavatory are to be found here.

However, Mr. Hill says that the biggest feature is the service, the delight of the parent to find that here is a place where the child's footwear wants are as carefully and expertly cared for as his or her own. It is no wonder that mother expects to find a greater variety of real nice strap shoes and Oxfords, better wearing school shoes, and after all, better value.

Mr. Hill believes that by this principle of socializing he can give the parent better values and better service. The wonderful business that this department has done during the past year he attributes to this cause.—Advt.

JEWELER'S NERVE THWARTS THUGS

Defies Three Armed Men, Who Order Him To Open Vault.

Special to The Advertiser.

Detroit, March 10.—Facing what seemed like certain death when three armed men entered his jewelry establishment on the second floor of Book Building on Washington avenue this afternoon and threatened to blow his head off unless he opened the big vault containing diamonds and other gems valued at upwards of $100,000, John Kay, veteran manufacturing jeweler, looked calmly at the thugs and defied them to do their worst.

"Go ahead and shoot if you want to; I won't open vault," Kay told the leader of the bandits. His nerve apparently affected the robbers, for after binding Kay hand and foot with cord and gathering up jewelry to the value of some $7,000 that was on display in showcases, they left. The jeweler was able to give police close descriptions of the men.

AEROPLANE WRECK IS DUE TO SNOWSTORM

Investigation Into Death of Former Canadian Air Force Pilot Concluded.

Associated Press Despatch.

Bellefonte, Pa., March 10.—Officials of the air field have concluded their investigation into the wrecking of the air mail plane at Curwensville, near here, Saturday. Brooks Hyde Pearson, former Canadian air force pilot, lost his life when the plane crashed to the ground and burned.

The investigation has disclosed that Pearson, who was flying from Bellefonte to Cleveland, encountered a thick snowstorm while flying over the Allegheny Mountains. He was forced to descend, and the plane ran into trees. The ground where the wreckage of the plane was found is very high, with many peaks. Pearson's lower limbs and feet were partly destroyed by fire. A small amount of local mail being carried to Cleveland was destroyed.

Thirty-Six Bodies Have Been Recovered—Rescue Parties Busy.

GOVERNOR VISITS SCENE

Sorrowing Relatives Follow Bodies To Morgue For Identification.

Associated Press Despatch.

Castle Gate, Utah, March 10.—Fifty-five bodies have been recovered at this hour. Work is going ahead very rapidly now.

Associated Press Despatch.

Castle Gate, Utah, March 10.—Belief was expressed by company officials tonight that tomorrow all inner recesses of Utah Fuel Company mine No. 2 will have been penetrated and the fate of 173 miners entombed by the explosion Saturday determined.

While little hope is held that any of the men are alive—and thirty-six bodies had been recovered at 6 p.m.—there is a bare possibility that some escaped by barricading themselves in a recess of the mine.

George Wilson, member of a rescue crew, was killed and several rescue men were overcome Saturday and yesterday while trying to reach those in the mine, adding to the number of casualties.

Governor Charles R. Mabey of Utah visited the mine today with company officials, and the executive afterwards announced that he will issue an appeal for funds for relief among the families of the stricken miners.

Picked rescue crews worked in the escapeway of the mine throughout the day and night in search for bodies of the victims.

Dead were brought to the surface for identification, and then taken to the morgue, where relatives came seeking word of their loved ones.

Despite the great disaster, people here, and every family affected, have made no demonstration other than that of profound grief. There has been no wild confusion, which attends many disasters.

HENRY FORD'S BID SUITS CONGRESS

House Agrees To Offer For Muscle Shoals and Nitrate Lease.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, March 10.—The House today passed the McKenzie bill providing for acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals.

Mr. Ford had informed the committee he would accept the terms of the McKenzie bill, which now goes to the Senate.

The vote was the first action by either the House or Senate on the Detroit manufacturer's bid for the government's vast power and nitrate projects on the Tennessee River, which has been pending for more than two years.

The bill directs the secretary of war to sell nitrate plants No. 1 and 2, and Waco Quarry to Ford, and to lease dams 2 and 3, including power stations to him for 100 years.

NEW DEVELOPMENT ARISES IN BOND QUERY

A. H. Pepall Declares He Suggested Idea To Drury Government.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 10.—New interest was added today to the controversy over the purchase of succession duty free bonds by the Drury government by publication of a statement from A. H. Pepall, formerly of Toronto, but now of California, that he had suggested the idea to the government.

It is also recalled that Mr. Pepall appeared before the public accounts committee a couple of years ago and disclosed that he had been engaged by Hon. Peter Smith, then provincial treasurer, at a salary of $50 a day to go to England to purchase the bonds in the London market.

Mr. Pepall was paid about $4,000 for his work. Mr. Pepall was a glass salesman here and was not made clear with qualification as to how to carry out a transaction in bonds running into millions.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy lumpy feeling in the chest, we are eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-crust, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week.

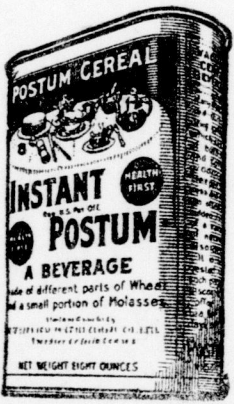

relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-masses, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.—Advt.

T. N. O. RAILWAY EXTENSION IS BEING DELAYED

Premier Ferguson Declares the Work Must Wait Until Benefits Assured.

YEARS WILL ELAPSE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, March 10.—During the discussion of estimates for the T. and N. O. Railway, Premier Ferguson announced that there was no intention just now of extending the road to James Bay.

He said that the road would probably be completed for 70 miles north of Cochrane to Tin Can Passage. Forty miles of this is now complete. The completion of the other 30 miles would depend on the action of the Spruce Falls Pulp and Paper Company. If the company decides to go ahead with its plant at Smoky Falls then the 30 miles will be completed. It is already graded. In any event the road would be kept from deteriorating.

"To go to James Bay," said the premier, "would be building a con-

THOMAS FURNISS,

St. Thomas baker who met a terrible death at an early hour this morning when he fell into an automatic dough mixer while engaged in his duties at a St. Thomas baking plant.

siderable time ahead of necessity. It will be some years before the road is extended that far. We have unlimited areas now for agricultural and timber purposes. Why should we scatter the settlements more?" He said that going down the rivers 100 miles to James Bay one got out of the timber country into muskeg. There would be further building until the government had more information.

Gives No Concessions.

Malcolm Lang (Cochrane) spoke of oil possibilities, and the premier said that although he had been approached he would not yet grant concessions. Neither was he yet convinced of the much-talked-of fishery possibilities of James Bay.

Mr. Lang asked if the government had considered the extension of the Swastika branch into the Rouyn mining fields in Quebec. If the line were not extended the C. P. R. would reach it first and the business go to Montreal, instead of Ontario. The premier replied that the T. and N. O. engineers were reporting on the matter. Personally he favored getting it there if he could. He was willing to have deficits on the roads if there was a great general advantage to the province. However, the government would take on huge expenditures without visible signs of proportionate return.

The bill establishing a department of health passed through committee. The premier said it was not the purpose to have two ministers. There was no department of health now by statute.

Enlarges Cabinet.

Mr. Raney said the legislation was being asked to vote approval of an enlarged cabinet, and asked what practical advantage there would be.

"I think that public health has become important enough in this province to be dignified with a ministry," said the premier. "In the second place, if the work should ever become so heavy that health and labor need two ministers, the machinery will be ready for their creation."

The bill to establish quarantine for imported bee colonies also went through committee.

In committee of supply the premier made a statement regarding the training schools for French-speaking teachers when an item of $40,000 for such schools was being considered. He said that many who attended these schools, at which the government paid board, did not live up to their part of the bargain. They took these courses so that they could teach in French schools. However, many of them never taught, and went into other business.

The premier announced when university estimates were being discussed that the fiscal year of the university of Toronto would be changed this year from June 21 to Oct. 31, the same date as other government departments. In the past, he said, the house had no control of university estimates, and had to be content "with a kind of post-mortem." "Next year, with the new fiscal year, we will get the university estimates in the same form as other departments, so the province and the House will know where the expenditure is made."

A grant of $25,000 to the British Association for the Advancement of Science also passed. The grant goes toward a huge convention to be held in Toronto this year, which will be attended by the leading scientists of the world.

UNEMPLOYMENT THREATENS LABOR

Sons of Lloyd George and Hall
Caine Deliver Maiden Speeches.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, March 10.—In the debate in the House of Commons tonight Conservative members challenged the government on the vote for the civil service estimates to disclose its policy with respect to a remedy for unemployment. Stanley Baldwin, the late premier, declared the unemployment question had killed his government and would kill any government that failed to deal effectively with it.

Labor Minister Thomas Shaw in reply said unemployment was a national responsibility which the nation must shoulder to the fullest degree, even if it meant heavy payments on the part of those possessing means to pay. He then proceeded to outline a number of tentative proposals that bore such a strong resemblance to the proposals previously made by Mr. Baldwin's defunct administration that the opposition burst into ironical cheers and laughter, which provoked Mr. Shaw to ask:

"Does anyone expect that after six weeks we can produce schemes like rabbits out of a hutch?"

Other interesting incidents were the maiden speeches delivered by the sons of Lloyd George and Hall Caine, respectively. Mr. Lloyd George was sitting two seats away and watched his son's performance with intent solicitude.

WENTY MILLION BUDGET REDUCED FOR RAILROAD

Road Moves To Help Federal Government.

APPEALS TO COUNTRY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, March 10.—The budget of the Canadian National Railway this year will ask the government for $20,000,000 less than last year, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, told the Canadian Club this afternoon.

"I am advised," said Sir Henry, "that the budget will be balanced this year by the government. Towards that cheerful work the Canadian National Railways has played its part. The net earnings for the system last year were $22,200,000, as compared with slightly more than $3,000,000 in 1922. The Canadian National Railways will ask the government this year for $20,000,000 less than it asked last."

Sir Henry, in his address, appealed for an intelligent, nation-wide effort to develop the Dominion, for the subjection of all sectional differences, and for a broad outlook upon the problems facing Canada.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, March 10.—Among the interesting points raised in debate in the House of Commons today, were Mr. Baldwin's prediction that the collapse of the franc would mean fierce competition from France and Belgium in the iron and steel trade, and the novel point raised by Margaret Bondfield, who maintained that many industrial factories started in China by British and United States capital were run under worse conditions than the conditions prevailing in British factories at the beginning of the factory system.

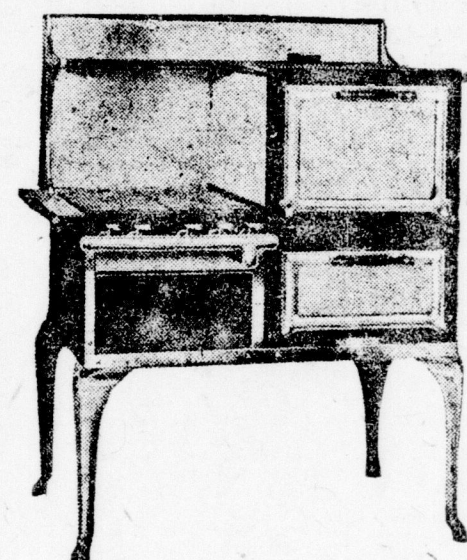

She suggested that it would be necessary to insure that British investors, as well as British traders,

Speeches at Ottawa.

Looking over the House of Commons debates as they come in day after day, one cannot fail to notice the similarity between them and the debates of a year ago or two or three years ago.

Here is one speaker who starts in shortly after three in the afternoon, discusses Canadian history from the time of Confederation, turned to that fine old soup bone, the tariff, went on from that to a long talk about the way in which the election in his riding was fought—and wound up about five.

The next speaker started in to show that the present government had inherited its debts largely from the previous one; he reviewed the way in which horses were bought during the war. After recess he went on about the position of the Maritimes, with references to England's attitude toward the north in the fight against the south over the abolition of slavery; then came the tariff until 9:15.

At that hour a westerner started to discuss conditions in his country, spoke on transportation and the folly of a tariff until 10:15, when the day was over.

There probably always will be speeches in the Commons, because there always have been speeches there, but to what extent have they a definite, formative effect on the business of the country? They do not change votes one way or the other. They represent a lot of action that is many times removed from being a positive force in the planning of policies and making more real and efficient the agencies of a government in grappling with the actual problems of the people.

Running through nearly every speech is an unrecurrent of justification for the past history of the party to which the speaker owes allegiance. That is why debates in the House of Commons have not reached a higher level or become a more potent factor in the making of Canada.

A government would be better advised to employ considerable of its time in gathering first-hand information from a wide range of sources as to how present enactments were operating. A certain tariff is made to meet a particular condition. Does it work out as anticipated? Has it been fair to the consumer and beneficial to the manufacturer? Is a government, under existing plans, in possession of enough reliable, impartial information to enable it to intelligently alter the conditions or sanction its continuance.

The average speech in the Commons is not a constructive document; it is built along political lines; it has its thrust for the political opponent and its recital of past political grievances. All these things in too many cases preclude the possibility of it acting as a safe guidepost for intelligent, formative action on the part of those whose business it is to shape policies.

Constructive speaking, having in view the urgent need for the full development of this wonderful but very much undeveloped Dominion, should be encouraged, and even insisted upon, in the Commons.

The School Situation.

The announcement is made following a caucus of members of the board of education that it may be possible to cut the estimates for the two new colleges which the board desires to build.

For the present there are two municipal bodies in whose hands this matter rests—the board of education and the city council.

It is quite natural to appreciate the fact that it is the business of the board of education to stress the need of the educational institutions; they are close up to the situation; they see things from day to day that the general public do not know about, and they are quite within their rights when they seek to guard to the utmost the educational system that the citizens of London have entrusted to their care. That is why they ask for as much money as they can; it is well that there should be an aggressive spirit on the part of the board. The city council, on the other hand, is faced with the stern business of taking money from the citizens to meet the running expenses of the community including the amounts needed for the upkeep and building of the schools. The council, through its operations, from its knowledge of the finances of the city, its ability to pay taxes, are the custodians of the public purse. They know how much added burden the people can carry from year to year; they can study the tax returns; through the court of revision they get another view of the ability of the people to pay taxes. They have access to information that the citizens in general and the board of education know little or nothing about. The two positions are quite logical; one seeking for money and the other determining the ability of the people to grant it.

Back of it all, as the connecting link, should be the idea, always kept in mind, that these two bodies are working together for the same purpose, drawing from the same purse—that of the ratepayers of London.

The council, in this instance, should ask the board of education to try again before granting $700,000 in addition to the building program already under way this year. The board, we believe, will lend its best efforts to such a suggestion. It is not a question of barring any class of the community from an adequate education; there is no such sentiment in the city. It is more a matter of being positively certain that we are making the very best use of the space we have, and of settling once and for all the question of adequate facilities for secondary education in keeping with the needs of the case and the ability of the ratepayers to meet them.

The Right to Work.

A Kitchener man poisoned himself, and passed away before medical assistance could do anything for him.

Scanty information points to the fact that he was worried because he could not secure employment.

For that reason there was no wood in the house, there was no coal, clothing for his wife and children was scanty, and food was the same.

We are at the stage now where we speak about the problem of unemployment as though we were participating in some academic discussion. It has ceased to cause us to shudder as though we were in the presence of a thing that should have no place in this young country.

We even speak of men as though they didn't want to work, and intimate that their troubles are the result of their own indifference.

Allow for all the exceptions, and the fact remains to face us that the average man does want to work—he does want to provide for those who are dependent on him—he does want to feel that he is paying his way.

These cases that come to the surface in the tragic light of an empty bottle of poison at the side of a man who has in him the possibilities of a bread-winner are not to be passed over lightly. They are horrible blots on our system of doing things; they are a reflection on our methods that pile wealth high here and spread poverty thick there.

Better Leave It Alone.

Windsor sends out a despatch to the effect that opponents of the Lord's Day Act are going to form a society to combat the measure, with the view of asking for its repeal.

There have been some petty prosecutions under the act, but there is no evidence that it is a failure. Nor is there any evidence to show that there is any particular need for keeping candy stores open on Sunday.

The biggest value of the Lord's Day Act is not from its spiritual power—for it has none. It is an economic safeguard around the day of rest, and there are plenty of forces at work to break it down.

Canada does not want a seven-day working basis, nor does it want anything approaching a wide-open Sunday.

The manner in which Sunday is observed in this country—at least as far as cessation from work is concerned—constitutes an asset that is well worth preserving.

Note and Comment.

If Winston Churchill would come out and announce himself as a straight Conservative, it would simplify matters.

Toronto man in court said his wife threw a chair at him. She used poor judgment, as chairs are such awkward things to throw straight.

Toronto Globe says "Lava of Oratory" flows at Ottawa. The words sound well, but the comparison is poor. A stream of cold soup would be nearer the mark.

The smallpox outbreak cost Windsor $32,000. That city did well to bring under control a situation that at first threatened to assume alarming proportions.

The Los Angeles Times writes warning its readers to get all the weeds pulled out of their gardens following the recent rains. Up here we glory in the fact that when the snow and ice lie heavy on the garden it's the one time in the year when the weeds don't bother us.

Tavish Mactavish

MAN DOES NOT CHANGE.

"THE Cudshy Packing Company in Chicago is installing an electrical patent slaughtering appliance to replace the old system of killing by clubbing." Is the heading of an article in the paper.

So the two historical extremes of achieving death seem to meet in one sentence. The club was probably the first weapon used by man in the district his hands solely. Electrocuting is the last word in the same process.

For centuries he has been experimenting with various engines and inventions to bring death to man and beast, but through all the material changes the spirit of man has dawned of his history, after he ceased changed little. If as evolutionists say, the physical body of man, after countless centuries, has reached its final stage of development, how long will it take the race to achieve mental and intellectual maturity?

TO BUFFALO BILL.

THE granddaughter of Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) will, on July 4, unveil a statue of the famous plainsman in the City of Cody, Wyoming. What more fitting place could there be than this little town in the cattle country named after him for a memorial of one of the last of our cowboy heroes?

Nothing shows the tremendous rush of modern development in this North American continent in the last fifty years like the tale of this man, who died but a few years ago, and try to imagine him living in any of the communities we know. Almost overnight the race has changed. The conditions under which he lived are dead as far as his own country is concerned. He could find no place in the commercial conditions of today unless he became a bank messenger or a Pinkerton operative. In place of the pony express through the hills he would be a clerk in a store, or driving an armored bank car through some crowded city. Thank heavens the statue in Cody represents him as he really was, on horseback in frontier costume, burly, bearded and, above all, laughing.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK.

ONCE again an innocent bystander in the republic to our south has paid the price of carelessly walking between a wild and determined prey with a gun and his fleeing prey. Now comes the "great city on earth" was the scene of the latest reduction in the population by this steadily-growing practice.

Edgar McCormick of 36 Aberdeen street was going home from business along State street when one Raymond Fales, a passenger in a patrol wagon, momentarily evaded the iron grasp of the law and streaked for home. This story of American everyday life says quite calmly: "Hugh McCormick, the veteran van driver, fired. The bullet hit Edgar McCormick, a passer-by in the back. Fales was caught by Patrolman Waxberg and was later given 20 years in Sing Sing by County Judge Martin as a reward for his liberty drive."

You see there is scant attention paid to poor McCormick. Probably he had to pay his own doctor's bill. Policemen look very efficient armored, but a little more target practice in their curriculum and a little more leg pressed in case like this would have saved a perfectly good American a stiff back.

South Sea Folks

A CHAP brought in a magazine and marked a page or two for me, about some tribe what dwell and thrive in one small land called Kasashe.

Of course they're savage boys and girls, and not trained up like me and you, and it is awful for to read the things that these people do.

They haven't got a parliament to grind out brand new laws each year, and if a man picks up a fuss, why some big native grabs his ear, and leads him to a public spot, I know it's most almighty queer, and then the natives get a slab and spank him soundly in the rear.

They haven't got an army there, they haven't got a public debt, they never wrangle over the quest if they shall vote for dry or wet.

And when a young man wants a wife, he prances forth all fresh and brave, and with a club he nails his spouse and drags her captive to his cave. And there she serves him as she should, and forthwith leaves her kith and kin, he clothes her as he thinks best, most likely in a tiger's skin.

And thus they live their lives apart, while fruit and things grow all about, and when they want a dainty dish they go and hit a lion a clout.

"The cutting upon the neighbors then, to bring along each hungry troop, nor do they worry like we do about the microbes in the soup."

It must be great to live like that without so much of show and fuss. I'm thinkin' too, that in their way they get along as well as us—ARK.

Good-by, Apache

A RECENT government bulletin mentions the fact that a saw-mill has been set up on one of the Apache reservations to provide lumber for the modern homes that are being built for the Indians.

The redskins are finally leaving the comforts of the nifty bungalow with its open plumbing. For 9,000 years or more the pious Apaches dwelt much in the open. They despised the sheltering roof of a soft and pampered civilization.

They lived in the wide spaces where men were men, and they scorned the safety razor, the silk suspender, and the can-opener of the effeminate whites.

But now they are indicating a disposition to participate in the luxuries of modern civilization. They have had some contact with their bronzed companions in Oklahoma, who have cleaned up some millions in oil lands and learned the use of the salad fork and the cocktail shaker.

It is the beginning of the end with the Apaches. The grim warriors of the desert and the plain have succumbed to the lure of modern housekeeping and are crying for more closet space in their new homes. They want a bath with every guest chamber and they want the new jazz treatment on the walls and ceilings of the music room.

The name of the Apache tribe used to be whispered with terror by the white pioneers of a former generation. Now it is played on the puny piccolo.

DR. FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

The Servant Problem

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

SOME time ago I wrote an article in which I told about how to manage the hired girl. It was a good article because, not knowing anything about the subject, my creative imagination had a clear run.

After I had written it I saw a piece in E. W. Howe's Monthly, in which Brother Howe told some of his experience. As he probably knows as little of the subject as I do, his remarks are interesting.

He said that he recently had spent some time with a man who had begun life as a poor boy and worked his way up to affluence. He had married a good girl who had developed into a very capable wife.

"Being rich," writes Mr. Howe, "they have built a fine house, and are trying to live more comfortably than they did when poor. Lately they began talking in my presence about the servant problem. Their experiences would make a good magazine story and probably a book. Smart as both the husband and wife are, they cannot successfully manage their servants; they work harder at this than they ever did at making a fortune, and less successfully. They have tried Japanese, Chinese, Scandinavian, negro and most other races, but the results have always been the same: they pay servants big wages, and both are overworked, although they pay for having their work done."

"And how careful my friends must be with their servants! They must not, above all, 'patronize' them; this is the one thing servants will not put up with. And they must feed them well and furnish plenty to 'do' with. I have seen the room of the cook, the stepmother of five children; it was shown to me one day when she was out for the afternoon. She has a private bath, and is about as good a room as was ever out of five children. Two other servants are man and wife, and they have equally good quarters: a suite. I did not see this as both were around the house and we were liable to be caught if we looked at it."

"Generally, the story of this worthy couple and their servant problem was about the most interesting and amusing thing I have heard in years. And it isn't fiction; it is true."

"Here is a rich man who is having the 'good time' we hear so much about. He is one of the 'idle rich'."

"Idle! He works like a slave trying to get justice from his servants and, being an intelligent and just man, cannot sleep nights from thinking of the manner in which they impose on him."

"One of his slaves was much devoted to the Salvation Army. To avoid friction the chauffeur was frequently asked to take her to the meetings, and he made a fuss about it, as he was a club man, and wanted to get off nearly every night to attend a meeting. On one occasion the Salvation Army slave wanted to entertain her fellows, and permission was granted her to give a picnic in her employer's grounds. To avoid being accused of pettiness, the slave was permitted to feed her guests from the family kitchen. The members of the Army brought their drums, trombones, cymbals and tamborines, and held a service on the grounds. Passers-by thought my friends had been converted. The captain, a burly fellow in uniform, requested permission to hold a service in the parlor, to pray for the family. This my friend refused, and the entire party left in high dudgeon, taking the household with them. That night, on the street, the captain told of the wrongs of the poor, and said that if anyone present wanted the services of a kind, patient housemaid, driven to desperation by the brutal methods of an employer, he could supply one."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Advertiser welcomes letters discussing matters of public interest. It is necessary that the name of the writer be sent as an evidence of good faith, but not necessarily for publication.

Recalls Old Days.

There Were 5 to 1 Chances That Colored Candidate for Office Would Not Be Elected.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir—I was much interested in reading the flight from freedom of Peter and his wife from Kentucky to Canada, aided by Dr. Ross, as related in The Advertiser a few days ago. This was one of many episodes occurring during that period.

When residing in the Township of Camden there lived in Dresden a freed negro by the name of Joseph Hanson. He was the reputed Uncle Tom of Mrs. Stowe, and escaped from slavery stowed away in a barrel labeled "This end up with care," and got to Canada after many dire experiences. He was a clever negro, and on more than one occasion had been nominated for the council. This township was not divided into wards as townships generally were, but every elector had five votes; this was for the purpose of preventing a negro being elected in that part, containing the village of Dresden, but for amusement a colored man was often put in nomination, as on this occasion at which I was present.

His address to the electors was exceedingly clever and witty. After referring to his chances for election and his determination to remain in the field, he alluded to the invariable practice of raking up public men's characters. Addressing the returning officer, he said: "I have only been in this contest one short half hour, but as I walked up here to deliver this address a gentleman whispered in my ear, 'Mr. Hanson, do you know that your mover and seconder are two of the meanest men in Camden?'"

Will Continue Canvass.

Presbyterian Claims That Fresh Fuel Comes From Opposition to Their Plans.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir—In your paper of Friday, there appeared a letter, signed by certain of the leading union clergymen of the city, together with three union laymen, which, to say the least of it, was rather insulting and bold. In my humble judgment, it was the brandishing again of the big stick, threatening to subvert the union people who do not think with them on all this important question of church union.

Why, before entering into print on this question, did not one of the said ministers or elders not have the question brought before their session, and have it condemned, as was done by the unionists in other cities. Then they would have been up to date with their bossing, but we would have gone along with our canvass just the same as they did in Galt and Toronto. One thing worthy of notice in connection with the list of names attached to the letter is that of one of the men who wishes to dictate to the Presbyterian people of London is a man who was admitted to membership from the Methodist Church. In my not too ancient memory, Mr. Gorwilly (the known as Squire Gorwilly) was one of the leading lights of Salem Methodist Church. The Presbyterian Church not only admitted him to membership, but bestowed upon him the greatest honor she can bestow upon any lay member. Now he is not only dissatisfied with her, and is willing to obliterate the home that took him in, but he is even endeavoring to do so in the grand old church (and I hardly hope to aspire to so high an office) then, sir, I would have respect for my solemn obligation and would ever strive to defend and maintain the same church, and its reverend and honored sirs, we will sign and continue to sign the cards for the continuance of our beloved church, and anything that you may try to do to either hinder or intimidate us will only act as fuel to the fire of our enthusiasm. Whatever sessions may regard as their duty, the members of the church have rights, and they are to maintain them. Presbyterians are slaves to gone save to their Lord.

Jesus Christ, and a mighty army of them are to stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made them free.

"While at this hour leading Toronto unionists are asking their non-unionist friends how they can undo the harm they have already done, a few unionists here seem to be seeking how much more harm they can do. Autocracy in the church must pass, and democracy must enter."

Still Hopes For Oil.

Kincardine Man Thinks Oil and Gas Should Be Found Several Places in Ontario.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir—I am always pleased to read any articles in your valuable paper on the development of Canada's resources.

In today's issue I see that some are as sanguine of Ontario's resources as I have been, and I am in touch with the idea that we may yet get gas and even oil anywhere on a line across this peninsula south of the Manitoulin Island and Kingston. I have studied geology since a boy and I am not very young today—and my conviction remains that beneath us, wherever an anticline may be found that gas and probably oil may be found.

It may seem strange that our kerosene resembles very closely the coal oil belonging to the coal measures, and which is being distilled from the shale overlying and underlying the used-up coal fields of Europe, and which I have seen worked in Scotland, and retelling the oil therefrom cheaper than we got it at that time in Ontario.

There is no coal in Ontario which is known to be found only in the Devonian system, whereas our oil is a product lying below the coal measures, and it is well known by geologists now that beneath the system named no coal exists. Coal is a well known product of vegetation. Kerosene often called rock oil, has been found in the lower strata of the Silurian system, and some noted geologists affirm that it has been found in some of the igneous rocks. If this is correct we may fairly assume that it is a chemical product and not of vegetable or animal origin.

Be that as it may, I am inclined to the belief that gas and oil may be found in many places in Ontario, but only in exceptional places is it likely to be got as near the surface as at Petrolia.

I am inclined to the belief that the source from whence the oil comes is hundreds of feet lower than the bottom of the salt deposits, and that some hitch in the rocks near Courtwright occurred before the glacial period, and that the glacier clay covered the crack which became impermeable to the oil from the lower strata.

This idea seems quite probable when we learn that gas and oil is now got at a depth of more than 2,000 feet. Not only in the oil belt but away from it altogether, and still new fields are being tapped at about 2,000 feet or more.

When we understand that our salt area extends over a larger extent than Lake Huron and that the salt beds are impermeable to water, gas or oil, it is quite reasonable to assume that anticlines may be tapped with vast stores of gas or oil.

I have called the attention of officials of the drilling department at Ottawa, but they would rather that private enterprise would take hold of it.

WILLIAM WELSH.

Is London Selfish?

Dorchester Resident Reviews Some of the Things That Have Taken Place Here Recently.

Editor of The Advertiser, Sir—Since last summer I have seen several things in the papers that makes me think London is lacking in kindness.

Last year a law was passed prohibiting autos from driving in the park. No one believes more in keeping such places for the benefit of the citizens, who have only this way to enjoy the fresh air and beautiful things in nature than I do. But why shut out those who can only get there in autos by the kindness of those who own cars? Invalids who have to be carried to and from them enjoy an outing in the lovely gardens among the trees.

I know of more than one poor invalid who enjoyed the park in this way, till a year ago, some driving in from the country and the car owner would drive in some quiet place and leave the car in the car, resting on pillows while the others would go and do their shopping, some business-man going to the wholesale while the others visited the retail stores, then come back to get the sick one who had enjoyed the outing so much.

But last summer the press notified the people, visitors too, that if they drove in or parked in the shade of the trees they would be fined. Result: Many who would trade in London have gone to Ingersoll or St. Thomas, places not so selfish.

One dear old lady who used to go in from the country and rest and enjoy the day several times during the summer (did not go last year for she said: "If I must stay on some back street I may as well stay in our own lane, but, oh, it was such a delight to see the lovely flowers." No all her large family go to St. Thomas to do their trading.

Then, when that poor old man whose only crime was he had lived too long and had no money or friends, was put in jail—30 years old, and yet no pity shown him. Surely among the wealthy men there, they could have raised the small amount necessary to put him in a hospital where he would be cared for during the few years left him.

Then in your paper one day this week is the account of the poor old woman who wandered from her home and was killed on the railway. Her friends could not give her the care needed, and a lady had tried to get her in a home, but the string of red tape was too long and before it was untangled she was killed. No blame could be attached to those who had looked after her as best they could, but the only wage-earner was a man of 77, and he only able to earn a few dollars. Only a few dollars per week would have saved her life. Selfish again!

Now comes along a man who wants all the birds and squirrels killed, especially the pigeons. What kind of a specimen is he? Would it not be better to send this man to some remote region where he could have his morning sleep? I am glad to see that others have taken up the matter in your columns and ask to have the pigeons saved.

"ONE WHO WOULD KNOW." S. Dorchester.

Stratford Sextet Succumbs Before Tigers' Onslaught

Indians Lose 3-1 in Heart-Breaking Final O. H. A. Struggle.

TAKE BUMPS GAMELY

Winners To Defend Allan Cup As Senior Division Champions.

By C. S. GRAFTON, Sporting Editor London Advertiser.

Hamilton, March 10. — Hamilton Tigers defeated Stratford Indians, 3-1, here tonight, winning the round 4-2, and the right to defend the Allan Cup as senior O. H. A. champions. Over 5,000 wild-eyed fans, mostly Bengali, watched the two teams stage one of the most terrific struggles ever seen on Hamilton ice—a battle which brought grudging praise for the Indians' calibre as seniors.

The Indians were constantly striving to break a round tie from the time in the first period when Carson Cooper, sharpshooter de luxe of the Yellow and Black, watched the two teams stage one of the most terrific struggles ever seen on Hamilton ice—a battle which brought grudging praise for the Indians' calibre as seniors.

Toronto Pitcher Shot In Havana

Associated Press Despatch.

Havana, March 10.—Elisio Gonzalez, second baseman of the Toronto International League Club, will be unable to play baseball for some time while recovering from a bullet wound in the left hand received yesterday in an encounter at the baseball park. Pepe Conte, sporting editor, charged with the shooting, was released in $200 bail.

provided the most consistent bumping duel of the night, and though Carson got the best of it with Stanley, he got off into some side issues where he didn't fare so well. Stanley and Nelson, subs up to tonight, but who were given plenty of chances to show their stuff, both turned in regular games. Stanley, figure of two of the goals the Tigers got, kept a fairly close eye on Carson, and was a big cog in the back-checking machine of the Tigers. However, it was Day and Carson Cooper who ran away with the honors of the night—any left lying around by Stewart. Day not only stepped into nearly every Indian attack and on it, but he made some dangerous rushes.

The Indians were without Brickman again, who appeared only at intervals, but Griffin, though an object of some of the Tigers' heavy stuff, gave a great display of courage, good stick work, and was in at the kill when the Indians nabbed their only legitimate goal of the night.

The Indians played a super game of hockey. They were far more flashy in their work than the Tigers, but again had nothing of the Hamilton machine-like play. They managed to feed Carson more, but Carson shot from mostly outside the defence, and these drives were mere apple sauce for the Hamilton goalie. Carson gave a great exhibition of wing playing, despite the avoidpoups flung in his direction all night.

Kelterbourne slipped away from the Hamilton mid-line players and made monkeys of them at times. Ashley's performance was the outstanding one of the night. He did some wonderful defence work, and feinting the Hamilton wing-men into the boards, whirling in the same direction in the same motion, and facing them, forced them into the corners. He had little luck on the offensive, though four or five times during the game he and Carson worked their criss-cross pass up the right side of the ice, but from too far out for effectiveness.

This play fooled the Tigers several times in the first game, but last night they were apparently set for it. Carson and Stewart, pulling the big fellow to a stop numerous times before he could get started on his sallies.

Larry Berger's speed had the Bengal supporters pop-eyed, and the Tigers themselves were getting a taste of his speed. He had no luck on goal, though giving Stewart some of the hottest stuff he had to handle.

Even Struggle.

Dolson gave a great exhibition in the Stratford Nits. In every period the spotlight man had to turn the ray on Dolson, who worked coolly, and in several instances made saves that were nothing short of miraculous.

There was nothing to choose between the battling crews in the first two periods, until Tigers opened the scoring at 14 minutes. It was an end-to-end and even up struggle. Indians deliberately side-stepped the obvious bumps Tigers had all nicely sorted out and ready to hand out, and Dolson gave Indians a chance to set the pace. Short-handed twice to the extent of one man, when Berger and Ashley drew penalties, Indians showed a streak of good defensive play. Just before the end of the first, when the Indians were pressing Dolson tight, he had two hard shots from Cooper to handle, and just before the period ended Stanley passed to Cooper, who missed the scoop with Dolson drawn off to the other side of the net.

Griffin Tallies.

Tigers opened the second on the offensive, but Ashley and Carson combined on dangerous combinations. At 1:55 Kelterbourne was slipping through the Tiger defence like a shadow when he was nipped in the defence just as he shot. Griffin shot through the lifted rebound over Stewart's shoulder.

Carson was getting away regularly on nice Indian combination plays, but shooting from too far out. He was cut over the eye with a stick, and the game was held up for a few minutes while he put in for repairs.

In Indians were still getting the best of the play when Mitchell went down with Stanley as partner, and they outguessed the Stratford defence, Stanley lifting a high waist cross-fire right past Dolson.

There was no frills to the Hams' set-piece style of play. They made business-like passes clear across the ice to waiting Bengalis, whose checks were wandering. Ashley went down on one of his nice wide circling rushes, just before the Indians pulled one of their nicest plays of the night. The Indian line broke fast. Kelterbourne getting the puck at mid-ice, shot through the checkers like a flash, and in on Hamilton's defence, flashing as he hit them full tilt, and beating Stewart cleanly, but Berger skated across in front of Stewart just a moment before, and the goal was called back for offside. Ashley fooled the whole Tiger team and got in for that wicked drive, and then Berger went down in a mix-up, out of which came Stewart's stick aimed at the Stratford defence man, and Stratford's big chance of the night with the Hamilton goalie doing time.

Stewart's minute fairly flew as the off-sides were called. Tigers managed to stave off even one shot.

HAWKS CHAMPIONS OF JUNIOR LEAGUE

Hold Orioles To 1-1 Tie, But Win On Round by One Goal.

Askin Hawks are champions of the London Junior City League for 1924 having held Orioles to a 1-1 tie at Westminster Rink last night in the final game of the play-off series and defeated their rivals 1-0 in the first encounter.

From the start it was a hot contest with Jack Penny, Hawks, scoring the first tally at 12 minutes in first period. This canto was a series of back and forth rushes with both outfits showing more combination than in the first game, with the Hawks having a slight edge. Hall and Gordon were both called upon to stop hot ones from all angles, with Hall handling a larger number.

The second period was all Orioles with the East Enders bottling the Askin street boys up in their end of the rink and raining a constant fusillade of shots at slight edge. Hall and Gordon were both called upon to stop hot ones from all angles, with Hall handling a larger number.

In the third Orioles started out on the offensive and after five minutes Woods registered for the East End when the rubber jumped over Gordon's stick.

Nighbor Termed Most Valuable

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, March 10.—By the narrow margin of one point, Frank Nighbor of the Ottawa Hockey Club, wins the Hart Cup, presented to the outstanding player of any league.

The final aggregate gave Nighbor 37 points, Cleghorn 36 points, and Roach 35.

Next in order were George Boucher, Ottawa; Billy Burch, Hamilton; Morzen, Canadiens; Forbes, Hamilton; Producers, Hamilton; C. J. Desjardis, Ottawa; Babe Dye, St. Patricks.

The cup will be formally presented to the winner at the Ottawa-Canadien game in Ottawa Tuesday.

pected and hard shot, but the Hamilton, goalie moved quickly and deflected the rubber. At 8:20 the Hamilton forwards broke away together, Cooper shooting, Nelson battling a rebound and Cooper getting the second rebound with Dolson flat on the ice. With a goal to the good, Tigers settled back into the mass defence.

The game ended with both teams engaged in a shooting duel at about 100 paces, or the length of the arena cushion.

Between the first and second periods $1,101.38 was collected for the Brackenborough fund.

Hamilton—Goal, Stewart; defence, Mitchell and Redding; center, Day; wings, Cooper and Stanley; subs, Sturgeon and Nelson.

Stratford—Goal, Dolson; defence, Ashley and Berger; center, Griffin; wings, Carson and Kelterbourne; subs, Brickman and Battersby.

WARREN ELKS HAVE IMPOSING STRING OF CAGE CONQUESTS

Ohio Girls' Team Which Meets L. A. A. A. Here Saturday Is Rated Among Topnotchers in United States.

Saturday night London supporters of girls' basketball will witness the grand climax of international games in with local ladies' quints have played this season, when the Warren Elks of Warren, Ohio, rated as one of the three or four really top-notch girls' fives in the States, meet the L. A. A. girls in the local armories.

The Elks have an imposing string of victories to their credit this year. Among the conquests are listed wins over the New York Celts, considered the best in the big town; Pennsylvania Railroaders, whom the Shamrocks defeated here; Pittsburgh and Youngstown. The last-mentioned team, it will be remembered, won from Shamrocks when the local colleens played in the Buckeye State last.

Each of these wins for the Elks has been by a decisive score, so London fans can draw their own conclusions as to the class of basketball they will witness here Saturday. Elks drew 15,000 spectators in two games in Cleveland recently.

Y. M. C. A. Aces and the London A. A. A. quintet will probably meet in the main preliminary game to decide the intermediate championship of the city, and if this set-to is arranged the customers will see one of the best all-around cage bills ever staged here.

PETROLIA HIGH TEAM DEFEATS FOREST 2 TO 1

Special to The Advertiser.

Petrolia, March 10.—Playing on soft ice that made fast hockey impossible the local high school hockey team paved their way to the championship of the interschool series this afternoon when they defeated Forest High School 2 to 1. The locals protested the game at the start claiming that Todd, left wing for the visitors, was a non-student of the school and played under an assumed name. He was responsible for the Forest students only tally which was scored in the first period.

The game was keenly contested with the locals having a slight edge. The locals opened the scoring at five minutes when Foresthill scored on a rush. Forest evened up with a goal this period and the game seemed a tie until the last minute of play when Thompson shot one past Burke for the winners. Both goalies played a nice game, but Burke had more work to do.

Doolittle and Todd were the best for the visitors, while Boges and Wilson were the mainstays of the locals. The teams: Petrolia—Goal, Donald; defence, Boges, Churchill; forwards, Wilson, Bryant and Thompson; subs, Odell, Howlett, Lindsay.

Forest—Goal, Burke; defence, Doolittle, Craive; forwards, E. Todd, Roach, A. Todd; spares, Kimble and Rawlings.

Pro Exhibition Game Laid Over

State St. Pats, Hams Will Not Appear Here.

A despatch from Toronto yesterday stated that the Hamilton and St. Patricks' pro hockey teams would play an exhibition game here next Saturday night, but officials of the local arena asserted last night that this report was previous and that these two teams would not appear here this week. It was intimated, however, that St. Pats and Tigers would mingle here, probably next week.

The reason given for passing up the scheme was that a hockey match on that night would deflect from the attendance at the basketball games in the armories and up this reason the former plan was called off. St. Pats and Hamilton may possibly appear here later on.

TEESWATER WINS.

Special to The Advertiser.

Teeswater, March 10.—Salem High School team fought out a very close, contested game here Friday night which resulted in an 8-7 win for the local high school after ten minutes overtime.

HARRY CONFIDENT OF LEADING PUTH

Heilmann, Detroit Slugger, Proposes Selling Golfers Insurance On Game.

By JOHN B. FOSTER, Copyright.

(This is the first despatch from Mr. Foster on his annual tour of the major league training camps to size up the various teams in order to form an opinion as to their relative chances in the approaching championship race.)

Augusta, Ga., March 10.—Some clubs send their pitchers to Hot Springs to get ready for the baseball championship season. The Yankees send their Babe Ruth. The Detroiters send their Harry Heilmann. Heilmann arrived here from Arkansas, Sunday, as a huge army of golfers arrived from the east.

"Ty Cobb won't let us play golf," said Heilmann sadly, as he looked them over. "But I think I can sell them some insurance on their game. They look to me as if they needed insurance, say fifteen maximum for any one hole. I bet I win at that. You know, I'm a regular insurance man now."

"Will you take out a policy on a 400 batting average this year?" "Who, that's something else."

"You look fit enough to make it." "I'll tell you. I have never felt better fit to start a baseball season in my life. But that isn't the old oratorio, either," said the Tiger lugger.

"I am sound, shaped up well, eve like a telephone arm never stronger, swing so good that I can't see a fly without wanting to take a swat at it, and appetite invigorating. That should help. But about 400. There's where you never can tell. I wonder like to make it again. Who wouldn't? I think I would have made it before 1923 if I hadn't been injured. I'd like to have three years left. It's worth something to me."

Babe Ruth went to Hot Springs and came down with the flu. Heilmann went there and came away with so much robust health that the beams with it.

"I understand Ruth is coming after me for the batting championship this year," said Heilmann. "I'll race him, but there is another championship I'd rather have. Those boys will be lucky devils if they get away with that pennant four years in succession."

The Detroiters have given up their ambition across the river, which is an atmosphere of aristocracy to the team.

Now the players are at a hotel and are not taking their morning grump and oatmeal beneath the stern smiles of doughty old generals looking down at them from the wall. The Detroit players think they can win the championship. They have had bad luck, but they have shown enough wit to come back despite it.

Officials Point To Team As Real Advertisement For City.

There is a possibility of London losing its franchise in the M.-O. League, unless, at the meeting of the club tonight, to which all Londoners, Kiwanians, Lions and Chamber of Commerce members in the city are invited, some scheme that will lift the burden from the two or three men who are now carrying it is advanced.

President Heard, of the Tecumseh Baseball Association, said that this body is in full to the organizations represented.

It is pointed out by present backers of the league that the London Mint Club is as great an advertisement for the city as a whole as the Western Fair, and for this reason it is known that this city was spoken of as a more whole-hearted and consistent support from all semi-public and public bodies, as well as all citizens to whom a more widely-known and progressive London means something.

In the days when the London Mint League nine was winning pennants the name of this city was spoken wherever baseball held sway as the best sport center in the best Class B league in the country. Furthermore, more than one former London player has made good in the big time, and it is not a far stretch of the imagination to conjure up two or three big majors in New York or Chicago or Philadelphia telling one another: "This boy looks pretty good. You say he came from London, Canada. Must be a pretty fair town. What say we build our new Canadian factory there?"

This is just one of the ways in which the big numbers are advancing this city far and wide. Now it is up to the foresighted people of the city to heed the call of the directors and put both shoulders to the wheel.

The meeting tonight starts at 7:30.

INGERSOLL BOWLERS SEEK PUBLIC GREEN IN NORTH END.

Ingersoll, March 10.—An agitation has been commenced for establishment of a public bowling green in the north end of the town. Two or three years ago green was provided on the Separate school property, Thames street north. The location is very central for north side residents and it is believed a club will be formed with an encouraging membership. Thursday night a meeting will be held to discuss the situation. Much interest is being shown in the movement, and if the feeling is sufficiently strong the green will be thrown open to the public.

ST. JOHNS ROVERS CLUB ORGANIZES FOR SEASON

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 10.—St. John's Rovers Football Club held their annual election of officers tonight with the following results: A. Brickman was re-elected president; A. Grundy, vice-president; and J. Grantham secretary-treasurer. The executive board is composed of W. Farr, E. Andrews, R. Mayne, W. Buchan and J. Bannatyne. Trainer J. Watts was returned unanimously.

Permission was given the Junior Corinthian team to use the practice grounds on Woodworth avenue. A message of condolence was sent to Mrs. T. E. Furness on the tragic death of her husband, who was a member of last year's executive.

A letter was discussed from the L. and D. F. A. re the inter-city league proposition of making an equal division of proceeds after all expenses had been paid. The members did not approve of this method, stating that they were under heavy expense this year and were compelled to pay for permission to play games in St. Thomas, which was not considered a legitimate expense, while London games were given ground free to teams in the Forest City.

HEALTHY FOOD POISONS MANY

Excellent Meal Turns to Poison, Causing Poor Digestion, Constipation, Sick Headaches and Nervous, Run-Down Condition.

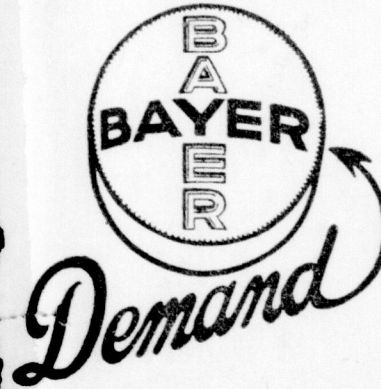

Eating too much and too rapidly clogs the liver and weakens it. When in this condition, the liver fails to supply the juices so vital to proper digestion and elimination and it fails to filter and purify your blood. The result is self-poisoning which makes you feel dull, tired and run-down.

This explains why a sluggish liver is attended by such symptoms as constipation, biliousness, sick-headaches, sourness and gas on a weak stomach, loss of appetite, pains in the back and sides, and a nervous, rundown condition—symptoms that lead to the dangerous and expensive sick-bed unless corrected in time. Dr. H. S. Thacher, noted medical practitioner, perfected a wholesome vegetable prescription to keep the liver healthy. It is giving quick relief and renewed strength, energy and vigor to numbers here. This prescription, known pharmacologically as Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, doesn't cost much, pleasant to take and contains only ingredients that are known to physicians for their corrective and health-building properties.

Try this great prescription, yourself. Notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise, there will be no cost. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by R. A. Mitchell, 114 Dundas street, and Taylor's Drug Store, 330 Richmond street, one half block south of Dundas in London; J. W. Craig in Dresden; E. M. Crosthwaite and W. A. McIntyre in St. Marys; John E. Warner in Alvinston and by leading druggists in every city and town. —Adv.

NEED OF THE HOUR IS NATIONAL UNITY

Kiwanians Are Told Present Conditions Demand a Solution.

SALES TAX SCORED

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, March 10.—S. R. Parsons, speaking at the Kiwanis luncheon today on "Canada—National, Commercial and Industrial," said: "So long as men and women are arrayed against each other industrially, socially, politically, religiously and racially there will be no national unity."

In speaking of the tariff, he said: "Generally speaking, I believe that increased tariff would not mean anything so much to the ultimate consumer in the cost of the goods as that 6 per cent sales tax does today."

Survivors are two sons, James at home and Herbert C. of San Francisco, California, and two daughters, Lillie of Goderich and Mary at home, and one aged sister, Mrs. Alex. Drummond, who is in her 80th year. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. Interment in the Lake Road Cemetery.

TEN PUREBRED BULLS FOR ESSEX COUNTY

Provincial Live Stock Train Brings Grand Selected Animals To Farmers.

Special to The Advertiser.

Essex, March 10.—Over 2,000 people visited the Ontario better live stock train here today. The train was made up of cars that were of interest not only to the farmer, but also to the town and city man. This train brought the ten better bulls, which have been ordered by farmers and groups of farmers throughout the county through the local branch of the Live Stock Improvement Association. Nine Holstein bulls and one Ayrshire bull are left to better the herds of Essex County. Of the fourteen cars in the train, twelve were devoted to live stock, and the rest were used as lecture coaches. R. W. Wade, of the provincial live stock branch of Toronto, was in charge, as well as acting as lecturer. J. A. Sinclair of Cannington, veterinary surgeon, gave a lecture on horses. This afternoon, Edwin Newcome, in charge of the farm sanitation plant, was prepared to demonstrate the water system for farms on request. The train left here this evening for Tilbury, where it stays till tomorrow noon and then moves to Ridgetown.

FERGUSON LISTS PROPOSED BILLS

Move To Abolish Municipal Bonusing of Industries To Be Submitted.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, March 10.—Premier Ferguson briefly outlined in the legislature this afternoon legislation which the government would introduce within a few days. Included in the new legislation are bills to abolish municipal housing of industries, to put an embargo on the export of hardwoods, to secure revenue by taxing of summer resorts in unorganized districts, to make minor changes in the highway act, to prevent as far as possible the sale of fraudulent securities, to provide better hotel accommodation and to amend the hydro act so as to provide greater facility for rural extensions.

The premier explained that the act to prevent fraud in stock sales would not touch the lines of the blue sky measure of last year. "We will not establish a board to report on securities," said the premier. "In view of the judgments given by the courts in Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, that companies with federal charters do not come under provincial laws, we have been obliged to make changes in our intended bill."

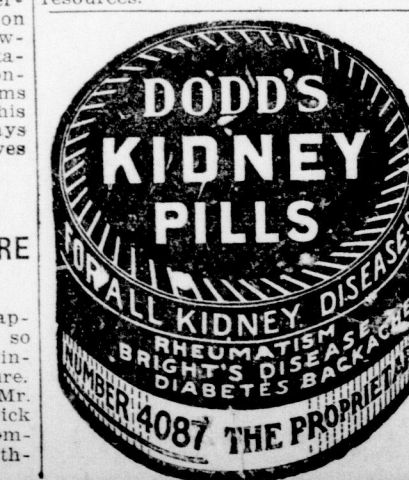

The hotel bill will define types of hotels and the regulations will be elastic to cover all types. It is obvious that we cannot demand the same type of hotel in rural places as we can in cities, said the premier, who also announced that the Gregory commission report would be tabled in the house this week.

MINISTERS ADVERTISE ONTARIO IN ENGLAND

QUARTER MILLION FOR NEW SCHOOL

Vocational Committee Reports To Board of Education On Problem.

ELEVEN CLASSROOMS

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, March 10.—The advisory vocational committee reported this evening to the board of education recommending a vocational school of eleven rooms, including laboratories and shops, with a gymnasium and small assembly room.

The estimated cost is $250,000 complete. Of this, $198,000 is for the building, and the government would pay $119,000, the county $13,000, and the city $118,000.

The site recommended is the same as previously, alongside the present Collegiate Institute.

A special meeting of the board will be held to further discuss the report and recommendations.

Drive To Open.

It was announced at the regular weekly meeting of the Stratford chamber of commerce at noon today that about 50 young men are ready to join the young men's section of the chamber, which is being organized this month. Prospects for the drive for 300 members of the chamber of commerce proper look bright, according to reports made today by R. S. Morgan, chairman of the drive committee.

Denies Knowledge.

Todd, who previously pleaded guilty to attempting to defraud P. J. Kelly, was called in as a witness, and swore that he did not know Pollock, and that there was a third party, Bob Stewart, who was his confederate in crime.

Found Guilty.

James Pollock, alias Palcomb, who was arrested with a young man named Todd some three weeks ago, was found guilty of attempting to defraud Cummings, the clothier, in the city police court. He faces other similar charges of defrauding.

The identification of clothing bought from the Cummings store with a bogus check found in Pollock's room brought Pollock's downfall.

Injury Fatal.

Word has been received in the city of the death of Mrs. Eli Hodgins, formerly of Stratford, now in Detroit. She died following a fall in Port Huron when she broke her hip. She was born in Stratford and lived here until the death of her husband twenty-five years ago.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Mrs. O. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross street, St. Thomas, Ont., writes: "In the fall of 1921 I was taken ill with my heart, but I did not pay much attention to it. I kept on with my household duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I was all run down, and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would move over to my heart, and it became so bad I could not lie down, as when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed till it passed away.

"I tried several remedies, but with no good results. Finally, I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took seven boxes, and I am now as well as I was 30 years ago, and I am now 65 years old."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box, at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price, by The T. Milburn Company Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

until the death of her husband twenty-five years ago.

Mrs. Donald Ross.

Mrs. Donald Ross, a lifelong resident of Stratford, passed away on Sunday night at her home. Her husband, well-known C. N. R. railroad man, was spending a vacation with his daughter in Washington at the time. Six sons and three daughters survive.

SEALING FLEET BREAKS BLOCKADE

Newfoundland Ships Bottled Up Since Friday Escape—Three Lose Lives.

Canadian Press Despatch.

St. John's, Nfld., March 10.—The Newfoundland sealing fleet, which had been blockaded in this port since last Friday, escaped through the ice fields encircling the harbor today. At sundown the seven vessels were clear of the ice and making their way northward. Seals are reported plentiful.

Three men lost their lives while the sealing steamers won their way to freedom. The Terra Nova, a ship of the fleet sent word by radio tonight that three members of her crew were drowned while out on the ice assisting to make way for the vessel through the floes.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor so I took the Vegetable Compound and am still taking it right along. I recommend it to my friends and to any one I know who is not feeling well."—Mrs. Thompson, 808 Lizzie St., Winnipeg, Man.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cohasset, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women."

Canadians Exclusively Control this Treasure of Peru—

In the heart of a sun-baked desert of Peru, a little community of Canadian pioneers are engaged in the development of the petroleum resources of this richest of all lands.

To these Canadian-Peruvians, Canada owes possession of oil fields which supply her motorists with the finest lubricating oil in the world—Imperial Polarine Motor Oils, made from the famous crude petroleum of Peru.

Why has Imperial Oil Limited secured control of these Peruvian

Oil fields at a great expenditure of money and effort? Why is this oil transported to Canada from far Peru in preference to using supplies nearer at hand?

These are questions you can answer for yourself after you have your crank case cleaned and operate your car for a short time on the grade of Imperial Polarine Motor Oils specified on our Chart for your particular make and model of car or truck.

Make this test today and see how perfectly your motor responds to this better type of lubrication.

MINISTERS ARE ENTERTAINED BY ORGANISTS' CLUB

Outline Relationship to Musical Program Carried Out in Church.

VALUE IS STRESSED

An interesting meeting of the Organists' Club took place last evening. It was called "Clergymen's Night," when each member was requested to invite his clergyman or minister to be present. Quite a number responded, and these ministers with the members were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler for the evening at their home on Waterloo street. Dr. James H. Smith presided, and in a short opening speech welcomed the ministers present and requested them to feel perfectly free to express their opinions with regard to matters pertaining to the musical side of the church service. He then called upon Charles E. Wheeler, F.C.C.O., president of the Canadian College of Organists, to explain briefly the objects of the college. Having thus cleared the way, the chairman called upon the various members to introduce their own clergymen to the meeting.

The first was made by O. Leo Herbert, organist of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, who introduced the Rev. P. W. Holland, the newly appointed minister of that church. Other ministers who addressed the meeting were Rev. (Capt.) J. Garbutt of Dundas Centre Church, introduced by the organist, J. Parson Morris, A.C.C.O.; Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., and also Rev. J. Harris of St. Andrew's Church, introduced by Charles E. Wheeler; Rev. A. Burgess of Eglinton Street Baptist Church, introduced by L. G. Starling; and Rev. J. T. Cosby Morris, B.A., B.D., of Askin Street Church, introduced by Dr. James H. Smith.

Following are extracts from the speeches: "I think it best to leave the musical part of the service to the organist. My place is to stay in the pulpit and I leave the organist to stay in his place. The preacher should not interfere with the music. The ministers are greatly dependent upon the music. The music should be a unit with no outstanding feature, all should be to help in the worship. The music should be worshipful. The organist and choir have always given me the atmosphere in which I can do my best preaching. The same sort of people will not suit all people. All folks are not the same; we should have the type of people who best suits the people amongst whom we work. Problem: How to get the people in church before the service starts. Organists should be interested in the training of the child in the service of praise. Is the song service really helpful in bringing the people on time? A man told me his minister always referred to the choir as the war department of his church, but I always refer to the choir as my auxiliary in the work of the church. Overheard at the table: The dear fellow (minister) is so ignorant of music that he leaves us alone, and we get along splendidly. I never had a row with a choirman or organist in my life. I do not choose my hymns; I give the organist my subject, and he selects hymns suitable for the occasion."

During the evening refreshments were served by the hostess, and the ministers expressed themselves as being delighted with the warm reception given to them, and for the opportunity of discussing freely from their point of view the organist and choir.

MATRICULATION WORK LIKELY TO BE CHANGED

Dean Fox Returns From University Committee Meeting in Toronto.

Radical changes in certain branches of matriculation work are promised for the forthcoming school year, according to Dean W. Sherwood Fox of the University of Western Ontario, who returned yesterday from a committee meeting of university and high school representatives held in Toronto.

Both Dr. K. P. R. Neville, registrar of Western, and Dean Fox welcomed the meeting as the two representatives of the local university. According to Dean Fox, many proposals were made which, if adopted at a general conference to be held at Easter, will greatly affect the matriculation system in Ontario.

RETURNS TO TORONTO.

Fully recovered from his recent illness of a week or more, Sir Adam Beck, M.L.A., chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, returned to Toronto last night to resume his responsibilities.

SPRING FABRICS FOR FASHIONS OF SIMPLE LINES

It's springtime here if the new fabrics are to be taken into consideration. For all the lovely weaves which will make the new frocks for spring and summer are gathered here in imposing array—new patterns, new colors, new beauty, sheer cottons of radiant colors; bright gingham, printed and plain; voiles, ratines, crepes and muslins, carefully selected by us that you may choose with confidence.

84-Inch English Sheeting, 59c

Tomorrow at 9 a.m. we offer you 300 yards only of stout, durable Sheeting. This wonderful value came our way, and we pass it on to you, but you will need to be early, for a matter of sixty pairs of Sheets will not last long. The saving off regular value is fully a third. The cotton has a little dressing, but we had a piece washed and find it washes up very well. You will certainly appreciate a value so much below what you expect to pay for English Sheeting. For big double beds, note width, 84-inch. Special price ..... 59c yard

Featuring White and Black Materials

In the smart New York shops, is noted both in piece goods and ready-to-wear for pretty summer frocks. "Breath of the Avenue" gives white and black effects a place in their selection of most favored or popular colors for 1924. Therefore, our Wash Goods Department is ready to show you some new arrivals that are most attractive, as well as distinctly different in texture and design. Be sure you see display in department.

WHITE AND BLACK CREPE—A most delightful weave. This is made by the firm of Courtaulds, famous for beautiful crepes. We show it in stripe or check effect of black on white ground; 39-inch ..... $1.65 yard

RATINE OVERCHECK of black, on white voile with broad subdued stripe, in white glos. Glos is the new name for artificial or imitation silk, recently described in our columns. It washes better than silk—we have tested it—and you will certainly like this charming fabric; two pleasing patterns shown; 39-inch ..... $1.25

BLACK AND WHITE VOILE—It's a fine Voile of fine texture, with broad fancy stripe; also similar check of white glos. It must be seen to appreciate the chic style a smart frock for the matron will be of the fabric; 40-inch ..... $1.25

RATINE CHECK VOILE—It's a good black Voile with attractive square line check, of fancy ratine yarn; guaranteed fast black; 36-inch ..... $1.35

NORMANDY VOILE is shown in dainty pattern, of black and white; 39-inch ..... 85c

GENUINE SWISS HAND-WOVEN DOTTED MUSLIN of fine quality, black and white; 30-inch ..... $1.00 yard

NAMRIT VOILE—It's another feature in our fast color fabrics, guaranteed fast to sun or washing, in pretty black and white patterns for elderly ladies; very fine Voile; 40-inch ..... $1.00

FINE BLACK VOILES, good Voiles and good blacks; both wash nicely and are the production of one of the best English Voile manufacturers, absolutely reliable; 40 inches wide, at 85c and 50c yard

BLACK AND WHITE GINGHAMS—It pays to buy good Black and White Gingham. Its black stays black, and white stays white. The so-called cheap line too often looks muddy after washing. Our range of the best quality. William Anderson's is really better than ever this year, but it's moving quite fast now, so make your choice early this season for house or street wear; 32-inch ..... 50c

Paragraphs From Fashion's Notebook

Scarfs Are a Dominant Note in New York

The bandana was never more in evidence than all kinds of scarfs are now. Scarfs that are oblong and sometimes square—large and sometimes small. As an accessory with the dress or the tailored suit or for a trimming note for the frock or coat.

The printed or painted scarf is usually preferred, but the scarf of solid color has its innings too on fashion avenue.

White scarfs for black or black-and-white satin frocks are decidedly smart. One of the most striking women seen recently at the Ritz at a luncheon wears a slim satin dress with a separate scarf. And she wears it a new way—knotted close about the throat, with a very short end in front, and the long streamer floating over her left shoulder. An unusual way of giving distinction to the simplest black dress.

The Cloche Is Taking a Turn at Being a Tricorne

It turns its brim up in three points and calls itself brand new. It is an important fashion at the smartest of Park Avenue restaurants at the luncheon hour. Its first trimming is a buckle, just as the favorite detail of the fashionable shoe is a buckle too.

Fifth Avenue, Giving Her Preferences in Daytime Colors

Says that the touch of red is the newest note for the navy blue dress or coat, that red is a rival of white as a color combination with black.

Fifth Avenue says that the brick-dust reds and the soft gray-greens are the shades that score in colorful coats and dresses. And there are many of them! Fifth Avenue says that the browns are important in Paris now and women of fashion should be sure to include a brown and tan costume in wardrobes that look to the future.

RED—lacquer, brick or cherry red—is rivaling the popularity of white as a trimming note. Black dresses or coats are newest when appliqued, embroidered, banded, or braided in red. Even the staple navy blue attracts more than its usual share of attention when it appears with red.

Red in applique or embroidery is often used with white for sports wear. And red is even used for the heading of white evening dresses.

THE VOGUE FOR RED used as a solid color is increasing. All of them—from rust to flame—with particular emphasis on the brick tones—are more and more seen in street and sports frocks of crepe or flannel or for coats of fleece or suede cloth. And many, many overblouses choose these shades.
