A STRANGE STORY.

There lately died in a country house in Ohio a man with a record so strange that it should be preserved in history. He was recorded under the name of Alfred Brit, and his age was recorded as 26. He was partially paralyzed, the result of a bullet wound in the back, and although he was an inmate of the house for a year or more, it was not until a few days before his death that he related any facts about himself.

Brit was born in Boston, and when three or four days old was put into a basket with a supply of clothes and $100 in money and left on the doorstep of a humble mechanic named Alexander Gray. It was not until a few years later that he was discovered by the boy being bundled off to the poorhouse or an asylum he was taken in and adopted. Gray was doubtless decided in his action by the money, which, to men in his circumstances, and in those days of a dollar-a-day and store pay at that, seemed a fortune.

One day, when the baby had grown to be a child 3 years old, and of an age when he was playing in the back yard when a man sought to steal him away. The man was a stranger, and the alley gate and picked little Alfred up, but a savage dog owned by Gray attacked the man and made him drop the child. Mrs. Gray saw it all from a window, and the man's actions convinced her that abduction was his object. A week later, while the boy was in the yard again one afternoon, a large stone was hurled at him and barely missed his head. Some boys saw the miscreant and he crept up the alley to throw the stone, and the police were furnished with a description, but the search for him availed nothing.

The detective employed in the case was told about the child, and he concluded that some one had an object in putting the boy in the alley. Little Alfred was remarkably handsome, and perhaps it was feared his features would betray his relationship to some one. Gray was cautioned to keep him close, and he did so for seven years. One day, however, evening after twilight the boy pulled aside the curtain from a window looking out upon the yards of a house and barely missed the watch from that point for several nights.

There was a patient search but no reward. It was clear now that the boy's life was sought, and as Gray had had an offer of a good situation in Cleveland, he decided to move to that city. With the help of the detective he made his preparations very secretly, his goods being taken on the train dressed as a girl. He reached his new home without adventure, and enjoyed a quiet life for a year before the enemy made another move. One day a man came into the shop where Gray was at work and made some inquiries. He was ascertained that he was Alexander Gray. Two days after that, the man returned with a closely bandaged hand and a copy of clear, graceful penmanship. Then there are many ways of breathing and one-sided ways of breathing, and the particularly bad habit of breathing through the mouth. Now, the nose was meant to breathe through, and it is a marvelous arrangement for filtering the impurities out of the air and for changing it to a suitable temperature for entering the lungs. The mouth has no such apparatus, and when air is swallowed through the mouth instead of breathed through the nose it has an injurious effect upon the lungs.

A story is told of an Indian who had a personal encounter with a white man much his superior in size and strength and who was asked afterward if he was not afraid. "No, never afraid of man, who keeps mouth open," was his immediate reply. Indeed, breathing through the mouth gives a foolish and weak expression to the face, as you may see by watching any one asleep with the mouth open. It may be noted that an anemic or low condition of the blood is seldom found when there is an established habit of full, deep breathing with the mouth closed.

GROWTH OF THE 12 WARDS

FACTS AND FIGURES THAT WILL INTEREST THE CITIZENS OF TORONTO.

A Remarkable Anomaly in the Noble Division of St. John-Curtis East of the City of Toronto.

It is remarkable yet true that in this city, in the older wards, while the value of real estate is considerably increasing from year to year, the population is diminishing. Now, who would believe it, that in the Noble Ward of St. John, which is considered one of the most populous and profitable in the city, the population has decreased in a year to the extent of eighty-four. In St. John's Ward it is ten of eighty-four. In St. John's Ward it is ten of eighty-four.

This is a matter that would bear investigation. That there is a great mortality among children in St. John's Ward is a fact that cannot be denied, and the cause is not far to seek. In his daily rounds the well-to-do while escape, that indicates a young person's death, on the door of many a home. The sanitary methods in St. John's Ward are bad, and the "old oaken bucket" can be found in hundreds of homes where the water tap and sink should be used. Other sanitary arrangements are in an equally crude state and need remodeling.

Yet physicians will tell you that right here the birth rate is greater by three to five than the death rate; the houses are all occupied as of old, but the assessment commission, in his report to the council, states that the population of St. John's Ward is decreasing. Tell that to the Honorable Harry Fisher, who so long and bravely represented the ward at the Council Board, and he will smile and say: "You're off your base, my friend. Tell it to the noble Captain Carter, who, although not a resident of the ward, has the interests of a colored portion of the population greatly at heart, and he will remark: 'You're mistaken, Mr. Mayor, so far as do do called population count on the count' or tell it to the sturdy mechanic, whose youngsters swarm around him as he sits on the steps of his door, and he will assure you that so far as he has knowledge personally, the population of the ward is increasing."

The printed statement therefore furnished to the City Council in the above regard is subject to dispute. The value of personal property in St. John's Ward has also increased some $4000, while real estate is worth nearly half a million more than it was five years ago.

In the wealthy ward of St. James, too, an alarming falling off has apparently taken place in the population, the decrease amounting to almost 500. Perhaps Ald. Steiner could say whether the extra number of handcartmen and muckers he has disposed of during the year would account for this state of affairs. He that as it may, personal property has increased in value to the amount of $100,000, and real estate nearly a million and a quarter.

No one will be surprised to learn that the venerable Ward of St. Lawrence has been depleted of its inhabitants to the number of 154, but how then has personal property increased $400,000, and real estate three-quarters of a million? The figures in St. Mark's and St. Stephen's Wards are bulged in the report, and while personal property has decreased in value by some $6000, real estate has gone up one and three-quarters millions, and the population over 1500. This looks bad for the prosperity of the inhabitants.

St. David's Ward, in the East End, has added to its population 87 souls; to its real property $633,000, and to its personal property $23,000.

St. Paul's Ward boasts of an increase of population to the number of 278, yet its personal property has decreased last year and its real estate value has only increased $450,000. A more glaring instance than that, however, by which the population has increased, is in the real estate and personal property does not increase pro rata with the increase in population, is in St. Thomas' Ward. Here the population has increased 799; the value of real estate only $300,000, and of personal property only $68,000. How is this?

Away over the Don, in the ward of St. Matthew, the dwellers there are numerically stronger by 444 than they were one short twelve months ago, while their personal property is only worth $2000 more and the real estate $246,000.

Steady going St. George's Ward has added 261 to its population, a quarter of a million to its personal property, and a million to its real estate value. These figures are more in keeping with the generally expressed understanding that as the population of a locality increases its personal and real estate value should also increase.

St. Andrew's Ward, would it be believed, has increased its population by 1410, its personal property by $200,000, and its real estate value by over a million. Evidently there is not much the matter with St. Andrew's.

It must, however, be gratifying to a certain alderman of Baxterian proportions to know that so far as increases in population and the value of real estate are concerned, the Ward of St. Patrick has increased more than any other in the city. There are no less than 1978 more residents in that ward now than when the last assessment was made, and real estate has increased up nearly a million and a half in value. Personal property has, however, only increased $40,000. The building boom struck this ward last year, and whole streets are now built up, where but a year ago were vacant lots, and the well known signs displayed, "this property for sale."

But while the increase in the value of real and personal property has been nearly eleven millions, and while the population of the city has increased 6200, the value of "property from taxation" has gone up a million, and stands at the colossal sum of twelve millions of dollars, one-seventh of the whole value in the city of Toronto on which taxes are paid. If this property was exempt from the present taxes would be reduced more than two millions on the dollar, while if it were taxed the receipts at the City Treasurer's office would be increased a quarter of a million. Here, too, is food for reflection.

Toronto, at all events, may safely be said to be one of the most prosperous cities on the continent of America to-day, and although the able assessment commissioner may not always have struck the mark in his ratios of the values of real estate and personal property, to the increase or decrease of population, by wards, the figures he has laid before the council go to show that Toronto and its citizens belong to a progressive age, and that half a century hence a second Chicago will have arisen, where half a century ago only a muddy little town existed.

Rare Building Sites. On another page will be found a plan of Mr. John Hoskin's property, part of which has been laid out in lots suitable for building purposes, and which he now offers for sale through his agents, Messrs. John Stark & Co., on favorable terms. This property possesses peculiar advantages for residence purposes which are not usually found in the ordinary class of building sites offered to the public. The proprietor has spared neither time nor money in making "The Dale" one of the most beautiful spots in Rosedale. On all the sites will be found lawn, shrubbery and trees, to a greater or less extent; and it may be said without exaggeration that the sites cannot be surpassed for beauty of situation, commanding as they do the view over the Castle Frank ravine.

Life Insurance as Actual Cost. An announcement of the Northwestern Life Assurance Co. appears in another column giving certain figures respecting its Commercial Plan of Insurance. It correlates some evidence of rapid progress on behalf of the Company, which is due to the fact that the Company, when first introduced into the market, gave protection for the family, at actual cost. To those requiring the most liberal plan may be had at the usual rates charged in ordinary policies. Mr. Robert Lovell is the city agent.
