LONDON PRESS ON SITUATION IN BALKANS

Think German Design is to Make Greece Helpless by Disunion.

NO TIME NOW FOR FINE DISTINCTIONS

King of Greece Can Recall Venizelos or Risk the Gravest Disaster.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Oct. 7.—In an editorial this morning on the Balkan situation, the Morning Post says:

The German design is probably to make Greece helpless by delay and disunion, while Bulgaria is being pushed forward to the betrayal of the Balkan cause.

TAKE A BOLD STAND The Morning Post demands that the British government take a bold stand, and realize that it is not sufficient to have lofty views and a right cause, but to strike for them.

ANOTHER BELGIUM "Let us not look on and see the Balkan cause betrayed as the Belgium national cause was destroyed," says the newspaper.

FREE GREECE FROM FACTION "In these times," the Morning Post adds, "we must not stand upon the order of our going."

KING HAS CHOICE "The King of Greece has the choice of recalling Venizelos on his own terms, or risking the gravest disaster to his country and throne," says the Daily News.

THE DUTY OF THE ALLIES MEANWHILE is to do everything possible to end an intolerable situation and the obvious method is to increase to the maximum with all rapidity the army already landed at Saloniki.

HER SEQUESTERED LANDS According to statistics which have been received from Sofia, Serbia then annexed a Bulgarian population of 204,344 souls and 595 schools.

SITUATION GRAVE. "The situation is as grave as well could be. The hour has come for the British Government to break its implacable silence and tell the nation how vast and imperious are its needs in men."

GREEK LEADER'S INTERVIEW GIVEN TO ASSOCIATED PRESS SAYS THAT HE WAS INSISTENT GREECE SUPPORT SERBIA

By Special Wire to the Courier. The following statement was made to the Associated Press correspondent at Athens Tuesday, by M. Venizelos before his resignation as Premier, and was filed at the Greek capital a short time before the unexpected change in the situation took place.

Athens, Oct. 5.—1 p.m.—Bia Paris, Oct. 6, 7.15—At the close of a decisive meeting of the Greek chamber last evening and early this morning Premier Venizelos gave the Associated Press a statement of the policy Greece would pursue in the impending Balkan conflict.

WILL ABIDE BY THE TERMS "One thing is absolutely certain," said M. Venizelos, "Greece will abide by the terms of her alliance with Serbia not only in letter, but in spirit to the last man and the last drachma."

More, the Greco-Serbian treaty foresaw only the possibility of a Balkan war. When it was made none could predict the present European conflict with all its widespread complications.

But the spirit of alliance was one of mutual defense and because the dangers threatening our ally increased with unforeseen conditions there is no excuse for hiding behind the verbiage of the treaty to escape the responsibility of our pledge.

"Though the entire available forces of the Central empire be added to those of Bulgaria in an attempt to crush Serbia, Greece will unflinchingly remain true to her passed work. The honor of Greece is at stake. You may be certain it will not be betrayed."

THE PEOPLE ARE WITH THE ALLIANCE "Nor, indeed, has there ever been at bottom the slightest wavering about the Greek people respecting their responsibility to enter the war in defense of their ally under the terms of alliance although every desperate effort has been made to be-cloud the issue."

DREAM OF AGES. "It must not be forgotten that while no sacrifice has been asked of Greece to which her international obligations (Continued on page 4.)

NO GREEK CAN FORGET FRANCE. "Respecting the landing of French troops at Saloniki, there is but one thing to be said, we have protested of course, for we have wished to remain neutral in this European struggle and we wish it now if it were consistent with our rights and duties. But the Greek people cannot war on France and wouldn't if they could. What France has done for Greece, no Greek can forget. Comes now France, asking nothing of Greece, declaring her sole intention to be to support Greece's ally in the case of a need wherein Greece herself would be bound to support her neighbor. It is something offered, not something asked. Indeed, since I have been premier, I may say quite frankly, the entente has asked not one concession of Greece. Therefore when France gives every guarantee respecting the integrity of Greece, when France's motives for landing troops on Greek soil are explained as in the nature of accomplishing the very purpose of Greece's treaty of alliance with Serbia, we can see no reason why Greece should resist what she cannot help and what ultimately cannot fail to be to her advantage."

MAY REALIZE THE DREAM OF AGES. "It must not be forgotten that while no sacrifice has been asked of Greece to which her international obligations (Continued on page 4.)

ALLIES COULD HAVE TREATED WITH BULGARS A Year Ago Bulgaria Would Have Joined the Entente.

London, Oct. 7.—A twelve-month ago it would have been a relatively easy matter to draw Bulgaria within the orbit of the Entente if the members of that international concern had but exerted themselves proportionately to their influence and control over the hugheness of the interests potentially involved. But it is worse than useless to cry over spilt milk.

Bulgaria's demands turned upon territory inhabited by people of her own race in the west, in the southeast and in the southwest of her present boundaries. The districts in question became hers by right of conquest in the year 1912, and were forfeited to her as allies at the conference of Bucharest through her own fault and the unconcern of the great powers.

The Situation.

The mix-up and the potentialities with regard to the Balkans have become more and more intense. The French and the British continue to land troops at Saloniki, a move which infringes upon Greek neutrality, while at the same time the step is on behalf of Serbia, the ally of Greece. Meanwhile a coalition government has been formed with the strongest man in the country—M. Venizelos—left out. It remains to be seen whether or no the new Ministry will allow the King to act as dictator. Some may be inclined to think that the recent events have still further proved that the drive at Constantinople was a mistake. The sufficient answer is that Russia wanted the step taken in order to hold the Turks and events have thoroughly shown that this diversion in her behalf was of prime necessity. Any probable final action on the part of these Balkan States is always so problematical that even the outcome of a horse race is not more uncertain.

The French commander has once more been able to give some good news. His troops have made a breach in the second line of the enemy in Champagne and have captured a most important point. The idea that matters had ended with the big drive of several days ago is thus happily disproved.

Russia is still staying with the game undaunted and undismayed. Her marvellous powers of recuperation are receiving a most notable demonstration and instead of having become obliterated for a while as a factor, as the Germans fondly hoped, she seems to be waxing stronger and more aggressive each day.

What Electricity is Doing for the Home.

Reference has more than once been made to electricity having recently become to a large extent a hired man for the farm, but few have probably stopped to think how much the same force can also be used in connection with the duties of the home.

Electric appliances have been continually reduced in price so that they are now within reach of the humblest cottage. In addition Ontario's great public ownership project has spread with startling rapidity, until now dozens of towns have the enormous advantage of very cheap electricity—cheaper in most cases than oil, gas or coal. This is particularly true now, as a new system of rates came into general use at the beginning of the year. These rates are especially designed to enable the general use of electricity in the home for every purpose, thereby giving a considerable impetus to the successful solution of the servant problem.

The cost of operation of an electric iron is surprisingly low, partly due to the fact that when once heated the iron holds heat for a long time, so that current need only be kept on part of the time.

Electric ranges have been wonderfully improved during the past five years, so that they have now become entirely practical. Many homes, especially in larger cities and towns where there is no gas, are cooking entirely by electricity.

The entire family washing is done quickly and conveniently by an electrically-driven washer. The only part which electricity plays in this appliance is to furnish power to clean the clothes and also to drive the wringer.

The dining-room of the electrical home is provided with a coffee percolator, also an electric teapot. Percolating, the French process of making coffee, has long been recognized as the only perfect means of extracting the undesirable things, such as caffeine. Perfection in percolating is only obtained by an electric percolator.

Another very handy device for use in the dining-room is a combination toaster, grill and stove. The element which produces the heat is mounted in a horizontal circular frame, with a bright plate mounted under the coils so as to reflect the heat upward. This reflector may be taken out when desired and in its place may be inserted a deep dish, in which grilling or other cooking may be done. The top of the stove may be used for boiling a kettle, making toast, or a small special oven can be obtained at a very low price in which baking or roasting may be done quickly and economically. For auxiliary heating during chilly evenings of summer or fall, or when the furnace is low, a portable "radiator" heater is provided. This heater gives a pleasing, ruddy glow, quite replacing the fascinating flame of the mussy open fireplace. The cost of operating the heater is two cents per hour.

These are only a few of the many things which might be enumerated.

General Kuropatkin.

The appointment of General Kuropatkin to command a Russian army corps brings again into prominence one of the most notable and at the same time the most unfortunate of the Czar's commanders in the Russian-Japanese war. He retired then as commander-in-chief of the Russian armies after a series of ill-successes to General Linievich, in the disastrous conflict of 1904-1905.

These ill-successes, astonishing as it seemed at the time, were largely attributable to his objection to the superior command of the Czar's vicerey in the far east and to the internal friction amongst the generals, though in his history of the war he frankly admitted his own mistakes and paid the highest tribute to the gallantry of the troops who had been committed to battle under conditions unfavorable to success.

After the defeat at Mukden, Gen. Linievich took command, General Kuropatkin becoming head of one of the three armies in Manchuria.

General Kuropatkin was born in 1848, and entered the army in 1864. After college, he spent a time with the French troops in Algiers. In 1877 he earned a great reputation as chief of staff against the Turks. Later he was in command of the Turkestan rifle brigade, and in 1881 he won further fame by a march of 500 miles from Tashkent to Geok-Tepe, taking part in the storming of the latter place.

In 1882 he was promoted major-general at the early age of 34. In 1890 he was made lieutenant-general and thirteen years later, having acquired the reputation in peace and war of being one of the foremost soldiers in Europe, he quitted the ministry of war, which he then held, and took command of the Russian army in Manchuria for the contest with Japan, which ended disastrously for Russia. It is not often that a discredited general thus becomes rehabilitated to such a notable extent.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

President Wilson is marrying again in quite short order. When a widower does that it is a great compliment to his former wife—shows that she made married life much more happy than the other kind.

Toronto always has tried to take everything which wasn't screwed down and riveted. She wants now to do Brantford out of half a battalion for the winter, and that too by false pretences.

There cannot be much doubt that in the matter of the Balkans the Kaiserites have played a pretty shrewd hand.

They have a coalition government in Greece. A coalition state is also commencing to be prevalent in these parts with regard to keeping up the heat.

HE STRUCK IT RIGHT AT LAST

After Suffering Almost Two Years, "Fruit-a-lives" Brought Relief.

MR. WHITMAN, 883 St. Valier St., Montreal.

"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years. I was in constant misery from my stomach and my weight dropped down from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Several of my friends advised me to try 'Fruit-a-lives' and I did so. That was eight months ago. I began to improve almost with the first dose. No other medicine I ever used acted so pleasantly and quickly as 'Fruit-a-lives', and by using it I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble, and all pain and Constipation and misery were cured. I completely recovered by the use of 'Fruit-a-lives' and now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise 'Fruit-a-lives' enough." H. WHITMAN, 883 St. Valier St., Montreal.

The Honor

do not already impel her, the realization of the dream which cleaves in the heart of every true Greek has been held out to her without conditions. For centuries the Greeks have wanted two things: A free and united Greece and freedom for Greeks wherever they might be. The former we have gained with blood, heroism and sacrifice extending over thirty centuries. The latter, in a larger degree than we could hope to achieve unaided for centuries at all, perhaps, is suddenly made possible to us.

AMERICANS OFFER HELP

"Who thinks what it would mean to Greece that those of our blood-line on the opposite shore may one day soon come under our flag, cannot be indifferent to the realization of a greater Greece for which we are asked to pay nothing save the keeping of our pledged word to which our honor binds us in any case. This is the position of Greece to-day, which I am more glad to make clear to America, because I have just been approached by Mr. William Hamilton of New York with a most generous offer of assistance for Greek refugees on behalf of the American mercy and relief committee. I scarcely know how to express the profound gratitude which I am convinced each of my countrymen will feel over this new evidence of the great heart of America."

GOVERNMENT AIDING

THE HOMELESS "The Greek Government is doing all it can to help more than 300,000 homeless refugees from Asia Minor, Macedonia and Thrace. Seventy thousand now are in Mytilene, 22,000 in Chios, over 50,000 in Saloniki and the remainder scattered over Macedonia, all in direct want, especially of clothing. The government is able to keep them from actual starvation, but an expense of 3,000,000 francs ($600,000) a month is very heavy for a small country. That help should be offered from America at this juncture is a source of most sincere joy to me.

"For don't forget that I am a Cretan. I remember the war for the liberty of Crete and puissant aid and generosity of America in 1906. No Greek, certainly no Cretan could ever forget, whatever the destinies of Greece may be in the way upon which she is now embarked, her debt to America is and will be unpayable."

GREAT BRITAIN WARNED BULGARIA OF CONSEQUENCES

Official Statement Issued From Sofia Shows That Britain, France, and Russia All Acted Together.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, Oct. 7.—The circumstances which attended the presentation of the notes of the entente powers to Bulgaria are set forth in an official communication received here to-day from Sofia. This announcement, filed in Sofia by the correspondent of the Havas News Agency on Tuesday and delayed in transmission, was issued by the Bulgarian government before it made reply to the notes. The statement follows:

ALLIES PRESENTED NOTES "On Monday between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, the president of the council received a visit from the representatives of France, Russia and Great Britain. The first two presented notes not identical of the character of ultimata, in which, after giving a false interpretation of the armed neutrality proclaimed by Bulgaria and of the object of Bulgaria's mobilization, it was insisted under threats of the rupture of diplomatic relations, that Bulgaria break off openly within 24 hours its relations with the central powers and send away the German and Austrian officers said to be among the staffs of the different Bulgarian armies.

BRITAIN'S THREAT "The representative of Great Britain presented a verbal note declaring that Great Britain would break with Bulgaria if hostilities should occur in the Balkans as a result of the Bulgarian mobilization.

"In consequence of the absence of instructions, the representative of Italy has not yet joined his colleagues in this action.

BULGARIA'S ANSWER "The Bulgarian government to-day will hand to the representatives three notes not identical, in which it will explain the spirit of armed neutrality of Bulgaria, while pointing out the danger that may arise from fresh encouragement given to Serbia. Rejecting categorically the accusation relative to the pretended presence of German and Austrian officers in the Bulgarian army, it will declare that it cannot drive away officers who do not exist.

"At the same time the government will present a response to two preceding notes of the entente powers of which their representatives have been advised through the French minister.

"The Bulgarian government proposes to publish a green book on the conversations and negotiations with the powers of the quadruple entente."

TAKE 1,000 PRISONERS. Paris, Oct. 7.—The text of the French night official statement follows: "Our action in Champagne attained today new results. Our infantry troops, after strong artillery preparation, captured by assault the village of Tahure and reached the summit of the small hill of the same name on situating a point of support in the second line of the enemy resistance. We likewise made progress in the environs of the Navarin Farm. The number of prisoners taken exceeded 1,000.

HEAVY GUN ACTIVITY. "On the rest of the front only artillery engagements are reported. These were especially intense in Arras, in the region of the Givenchy Wood, and in the Argonne to the north of La Harazee to Le Pretre Wood, in Lorraine, near Le Intrey Reillon and Bonyville, as well as in the Vosges, on the Metzrail ridges.

RED SOX STRONG IN INFIELD POSITIONS

Annual Alignment of "Keystone Combinations" Ready for Use.

Compared with their Philadelphia opponents, the roster of the Boston Red Sox includes many world's series winning veterans, which naturally gives the New England team the advantage at least of experience. Ten of the players who were on the championship eligible list for Boston three years ago are still wearing the Boston uniforms. Jack Barry, who was with the Athletics of Philadelphia through victory and defeat, is an additional help this year. Only two of the old pitchers, Wood and Collins, are now with the team. The former, however, may not be called upon during the coming conflict, while the latter, southpaw Collins has not been able to reach the standard of merit he attained in previous years.

Manager Carrigan has a fine staff from which to select mound men, and looks as though the bulk of the work in this department will be entrusted to Leonard, Shore, Foster, and Ruth during the series. Shore and Foster are right-handers and the other two are left-hand twirlers. Then there are Gregg and Mays, who with Collins and Wood form a strong reserve to be called upon in case it became necessary. Ruth and Gregg stand among the 300 hitters this season, while Leonard, Wood, and Foster also have proven themselves to be very useful batters. Certainly Carrigan as no need to worry as to the strength or ability of his pitching force.

THE GREAT SPEAKER

This speaker, the player most talked of on the Red Sox team, together with Lewis and Hooper, make up the great outfield, considered by many to be the best in the country. These three have been playing together for several years, and understand each other so well that there is never a hitch or jolt to mar the smoothness of their play. Speaker, of course, is the pillar of strength on the team, and while he has not been credited with a home-run hit this season, his batting average of .332 speaks for itself. Twenty-four two-baggers and twelve three-base smashes, in addition to 171 singles, make up the sum of singles accredited to the centre fielder so far as the records go this year. These, together with 17 sacrifice hits and 28 stolen bases, as well as a fielding average of .975, testify to the usefulness of the big Texan, who at bat and in the field has earned a place among the greatest players in the history of the national game.

Leftfielder Lewis, who has been with the team half a dozen years, also has a fine season's record. With a fielding average of .933, Lewis made 106 base hits, 29 doubles, seven three-baggers, two homers, sacrificed 29 times, and stole 14 bases. His batting average is .295.

Hooper, the other member of the outfield, has a fielding average of .974. His contributions with the stick include 130 singles, 18 doubles, 14 triples, two circuit wallops, and 16 sacrifice hits, a batting average of .242. Besides, he pilfered bases 17 times.

As to the infield of three years ago, Gardner and Wagner still remain, but the latter is not likely to be seen in the coming series. Gardner, at

BARRY "MADE" THE TEAM.

The Red Sox did not "find themselves" as a league-leading combination until the accession of Barry. His conversion from shortstop to second base was the deciding factor in Boston's progress penantward. The coming of Barry resulted in an unusual alignment of "Keystone" combinations. As preparation against accidents, Manager Carrigan has an interchangeable combination in the infield. Four shortstops are available—Scott, who plays the position regularly; Jaurvin, his understudy; Barry, who played a star game in that position for so many years with the Athletics, and Heinie Wagner, Red Sox regular at short in the world's series of 1912. The three latter men are available also as finished second basemen, and Jaurvin and Barry can bring experience to relief of Gardner at third base if necessary. First base is protected by the reversible pair, Hoblitzel and Gainer. Both are good fielders, but Hoblitzel is stronger as a batter against right-hand pitchers, while Gainer gets best batting results off the delivery of left-handers.

"PHILS" SECOND CATCHER PUT INTO THE BREACH

Capable Substitute for Killifer is Ready for the Big Series.

New York, Oct. 7.—Sparse has been the reference in the experiential ante-mortem affidavits to Eddie Burns, the podgy little second-string man on Pat Moran's backstopping staff. Much has been said of injunction Bill Killifer, yet Burns will probably be wearing the mask and apron for the Phils throughout the world's series. He may not show up in the season's batting averages as well as Bill, but he has something on Bill. Close followers of the Phils declare that during the closing stages of the campaign Burns was the "brains of the club" whatever that may mean.

Eddie is a game lad. Much is heard of the gameness of the boys connected with these world's series pastimes in the past few years. It is difficult to recall any particular incident where extreme gameness was essential, and the experts are waiting to concede that attribute to them all. A gentleman can afford to be game for one short week at $3,000 per.

It appears that the Philadelphia club is the favorite in the betting for the opening game at about 6 to 5. This is probably due to the fact that Alexander is expected to work the opener Friday.

As a matter of fact, most persons are guessing this series on the basis of last year's massacre of the Athletics. Had the so-called "form" of the Braves and Athletics been fulfilled, and the Athletics victors—or even if they had been beaten in a close fight—the Sox would to-day be favorites at from 2 to 1 to 3 to 1. The bettors who are taking the Philadelphia end now are playing the upset of last year—and Alexander's throw out to Nebraska and then figure a comparison between the clubs!

BOSTON FANS ENCOURAGED.

Boston, Oct. 7.—Encouraged by the showing of the Red Sox twirlers in the games with New York yesterday, the gambling element in this city again offered odds on a Boston success in the world's series. Ten to eight were the figures most frequently mentioned about town, with a fair de-mand for the short end by Philadelphia supporters. Odds of 10 to 7, however, had disappeared yesterday, when even money was the general proposition, but yesterday's RIVAL MANAGERS OF WORLD'S SERIES TEAMS. Carrigan and Moran represent two types of leaders—the playing manager and the bench manager. Carrigan has been one of the real good catchers of the American league for years and takes his regular turn behind the bat. Moran, after he went to the Phils from the Cubs, became coach and later manager. He is always in uniform on the base lines and his baseball knowledge is one of his teams big assets.

RED SOX BEST TEAM, BUT "DOPE" MISLEADS

Calculations Apt to be Upset in Any Short Series of Games.

Boston's Red Sox are the best baseball team in the world this year but that does not mean they have any cinch on the world's pennant of 1915. It is doubtful if the Carrigans are as great a team as were the Athletics in their prime, but they are the best equipped, the strongest all-round, most evenly balanced and well tormented aggregation in the land this season.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—The Philadelphia Nationals had some good practice yesterday in preparation for the world's series game which begins here on Friday. They wound up the regular playing season by defeating Brooklyn twice, while a small but critical crowd looked on. The early part of the day was rainy and there was some doubt whether the Phillies would get any real practice before the big series starts, but early in the afternoon the weather cleared. The playing field, however, was very heavy and the champions consequently did not extend themselves.

The team got good batting practice against left-handers in the first game, and left-bowling pitcher Malin hard. Cravath put his 24th home run of the season over the right field wall with two men on bases. There was some curiosity to see if the slugger would equal the major league record of 25 home runs made by "Buck" Freeman in the American League years ago, but the big right fielder did not play in the second game.

ALEXANDER HAS WORKOUT

Alexander, who is expected to carry the pitching burden of the Phils, worked only one inning yesterday, the ninth of the first game. He merely went in to warm up and made no effort to extend himself. He is in as good condition as he has been at any time this year. He has done comparatively little twirling in the last two weeks, Manager Pat Moran preferring that the Nebraska conserve his strength for the heavy work to come.

WHAT ABOUT KILLIFER?

The one great mystery that apparently remains to be cleared away is the condition of Bill Killifer's arm. The catcher's throwing arm "went dead" several weeks ago, and while he has since appeared in uniform, he has not attempted to catch in any regular games. Killifer says his arm is "coming around all right," but the skeptics would feel much better if they could see him in action. Burns, who has been given a good rest, is again in trim as was shown by his work in the first game of yesterday's double-header.

FOUR BOSTON PITCHERS SHOW EXCELLENT FORM

Hold Highlanders to Three Hits and no Runs—Ruth Weakens.

New York, Oct. 6.—The new league champions had a fine workout today and defeated New York in both sections of a double-header, the scores being 2 to 0 and 4 to 2. Manager Carrigan worked out four of his leading pitchers in the first game, when Shore, Leonard, Wood and Mays, held the New Yorks to three hits and struck out twelve men. Shore pitched only one inning and struck out three men on eleven pitched balls. Wood worked in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, and allowed two hits and struck out three men. In the second game Ruth and Tipple were invincible for four innings, after which both weakened. Tipple did not permit a hit for five innings, but allowed nine in the last four. The scores:

BRANTFORD PEOPLE GET INSTANT ACTION

Those who have used it in Brantford are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adfer-ka. Because it acts on BOTH lower and upper bowels, ONE TEASPOONFUL of Adfer-ka relieves almost ANY CASE constipation sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising food matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. M. H. Robertson, Limited, Druggists.

INDIA REMAINS TRUE TO CROWN IN THIS WAR

Not an Indian Leader of Repute Who Does Not Forget Grievances Now.

The proposal of the Bombay Chronicle that it would be unwise to publish the report of the Public Services Commission at the present time throws an interesting side light upon another of the points at which the war touches the life of the people of India. Reference has already been made to the Indian Public Services Commission. This is a royal commission appointed under the auspices of the Secretary of State for India some three years ago, to inquire into the conditions of the public service of India, with special reference to the question of increasing the Indian element among the personnel.

The commission visited every part of India, holding a number of public sittings in various places, at which a large number of people of every race, class and profession came forward and expressed their views as to the best method of re-organizing the present system.

Two things speedily became apparent from the public evidence tendered. The first was a complete divergence between European and Indian opinion, as to the desirability of increasing the Indian element in the various services. The second was that the members of the Indian Civil Service, which is certainly the most highly paid and probably the ablest body of its kind, intellectually, in the world, consider that they are not paid nearly enough for the work they do.

REVIVE OLD BITTERNESS.

As to the first point, the controversy which immediately sprang into being threatened to revive the old feeling of bitterness and sense of injustice which has been the main grievance of educated Indians against the British Government for generations. The old cry was raised that India was being governed, not for the benefit of the Indians, but in the interest of a few thousand Britishers. The Queen's proclamation of 1858 (the Magna Carta of India, as it has often been called), was invoked for the hundredth time, and the apology for British rule was invited to reconcile the policy chiefly set forth in that document, with the alleged opportunities afforded to Indians of rising to high office under the crown. On the other hand European officials and non-officials roundly declared their opinion that the responsibility for the present position of affairs was far as it had been

At the Shrine of Bobby Burns

The legions who worship at the shrine of Robert Burns will feel grateful that the little house in the back causeway in Mauchline, where the poet and his wife, Jean Armour, first began housekeeping, in 1788, has been saved from wanton destruction by the Glasgow and District Burns Association. The house is much the same as it was in the days of Burns. It is built of Ayr red sandstone, and has a thatched roof. The architecture is eighteenth century Scottish, plain and substantial. Mrs. C. Cowie, wife of Mr. Charles Cowie, of Glasgow, treasurer of the Burns Clubs, was presented with a silver key for opening the Burns' house. The key is a copy of the one still in use. It was enclosed in a box made from the flooring of the house and bore the following inscription: "Presented to Mrs. Charles Cowie, on reopening Burns' house, at Mauchline, 28th August, 1915. Letter a wee bush than nae bield." Mrs. Cowie, accompanied by officials of the Burns' association and members from several districts in Scotland, opened the door with the silver key. The house is now a place of pilgrimage and rest for aged and frail folks. After the opening a grand evening was spent, and many of Burns' poems were recited, including the verses which read:

Dal's haughty Gaul invasion threat,
Then let the louns beware, sir,
There's wooden walls upon our seas,
And volunteers on shore sir,
And Terriers on shore, sir,
Dare Germany invasion threat,
Then let the Huns beware, sir,
There's Ironclads upon our seas,
And Terriers on shore, sir.

No Babies Die at Villiers Le Duc

Commenting upon the coming into force of the Early Notification of Births Act, a writer in the London Times says: "It appears to give sufficient powers to enable the local authority to set about the task of reaching the ideal that lies before each and every mother, that ideal being simply a zero infant mortality rate."

"The mention of such an ideal will perhaps raise a smile of incredulity. But that ideal has already been reached. There is the example of the small French commune of Villiers le Duc where for ten years together the infant mortality rate was zero. Not a baby died for ten years, not one child died; every child born in that commune was at the end of those ten years, 'vivant et vigoureux'."

The numbers are small but the period is long. So that a zero infant mortality rate is not impossible. Within my own experience I have knowledge of an industrial town of over 100,000 inhabitants where the average of the deaths of babies is five per week several times for more than one period of a week together—for one period of ten days together—the infant mortality rate of that town was zero. The numbers in this case were large, but the period of time was, alas! very short. Also within my experience, out of over 100 babies born within a specified time, amongst these hundred babies, under a year old, during a continuous period of twelve months, not one of the hundred died; amongst these 100 babies for twelve consecutive months the mortality rate was zero. The means by which the zero infant mortality rate was secured in the commune of Villiers le Duc, are set forth in a report to the French Academy of Medicine, and they are perfectly simple, and, under the new Notification Act, they are perfectly practicable."

IT'S YOUR LIVER!
YOU'RE BILIOUS
HEADACHY! SICK!

To-night sure! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarats from the drug store now? Eat one or two to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarats never gripe or bother you all the next day like calomel, salts and pills. They act gently but thoroughly. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascarat any time. They are harmless and children love them.

WHOLE ARMY MUST ENLIST EVERY WEEK

So Says in Effect the Appeal That British Labor Has Issued

London, Oct. 7.—An appeal for recruits for the British army was issued yesterday by the authorized representatives of three national committees of trades unions—the Parliamentary Committee, the General Federation of Trades Unions Committee and the Executive Committee of the Labor party. The manifesto states that tens of thousands of men of military age and fitness have not yet joined the colors. Stating that equipment and supplies of munitions for these men are ready, the manifesto urges that they assume immediately their share of the burden. Their failure to do so is attributed to the fact that they do not appreciate the seriousness of the situation.

"Thirty thousand recruits weekly," the appeal declares, "must be raised to maintain the efficiency of our armies and secure such a victory as will free the world from the fear of that military tyranny which Germany would impose upon it."

The manifesto, which is addressed by the joint labor board to its "fellow-countrymen," points out that at no time in the history of the nation has it been faced with a crisis of such gravity as now exists.

"Aggression, carefully planned," it continues, "has after fourteen months of war brought German forces into Belgium, France, Poland, Turkey and the Balkan States. We are convinced that Germany is prepared to involve every country in the conflict in order to attain her ends."

The signatories of the manifesto express pride in the achievements of the voluntary system, but add that if the system is to be vindicated, at least 30,000 recruits weekly must be raised.

The appeal concludes: "We know that defeat or an inconclusive peace means for us not only loss of prestige as a nation and the certainty that the conflict will be renewed in a few years, but the loss of those personal liberties and privileges which it has taken centuries of effort to win. Responsibility for victory or defeat rests on those who have not yet responded to the call."

CHATTY NOTES ABOUT VARIOUS ROYAL PEOPLE

Princess Eulalie of Spain Gives Some Interesting Gossip.

The Infanta Eulalia of Spain, whose volume of reminiscences, "Court Life from Within", has been published, is, as everybody knows, a rebel against royalty, remarks the London Daily News. Nor that she is intolerant of royalty in other people. King Edward, the Czar, and the Kaiser are all the subjects of her appreciation. But she refuses to be a royal personage herself in more than name. "People tell me," she observes, "that princesses are stupid. I wonder that we are not all idiots. During my life in Madrid almost my only public duty was to help lay corner-stones. I helped lay enough to pave the city with gold. She depicts the royal life as an intolerable case in which one is, as it were, looked after by a keeper until one is married. And even on the throne royalty is stiff with its want of freedom. "I have seen," she writes, "a king talking even with his mother, get himself unexpectedly into his royal manner and speech as stiffly as if he were giving his mind, to some lower of human being." The Infanta's prepossessions on the subject of royalty, however, are more than powerful. She even interprets Shakespeare in the light of them as a king-mocker. "We studied that play," she writes, "to perfect our English, and, of course, I realized that his verse was beautiful; but when his kings and queens spoke their lines they seemed to me to be playing parts that had been written to make fun of the claims of royalty. My governess was indignant when I told her that. She said it was not true, that the speeches were meant to be taken seriously. "But no!" I would cry. "Don't you see? Shakespeare is making fun of us. He knew we were not so, but he could not tell it in those days. He is laughing at us. He knew it was absurd."

"I still," she adds, "feel the same about Shakespeare's royalties."

THE CZAR AS A MAN.

In spite of Shakespeare's—and her own—view of monarchs, the Infanta's enthusiasm for the Czar of Russia as a man is unbounded. "He has more human tenderness," she declares that I ever saw in any other man. She says further:

"It is his tenderness that distinguishes him from most of the sovereigns I know. His affection for his mother, his devotion to his wife and children are the outcome of this quality, and its exercise is not confined to his domestic life. I have heard him speak on more than one occasion with the utmost feeling of persons who had been condemned to exile in Siberia. It was perfectly clear to me from the way in which he spoke of them that he had followed the dictates of his own heart, he would have cancelled the sentences and pardoned the offenders. I could see that the thought of their sufferings made him stern himself, and that it was only a stern sense of duty that made him acquiesce in penalties he regretted."

As for the Kaiser, the Infanta was especially struck by his religiosity as a monarch. And, next to this, by his love of Berlin, which he regards in the light of a daughter. One morning, while she was staying at the Schloss, she relates, the Kaiser came into her room and asked her to come out with him, as he wished to show her something interesting.

"I put on my hat at once, and we went down to a carriage which was waiting and drove away. I was wondering what surprise the Kaiser had in store for me."

"Look!" he cried suddenly, "look at the streets! There have been torrents of rain and the weather only cleared up a few minutes ago, but do you see that there is not a speck of mud on the road?"

"It was true. The streets were surprisingly and absolutely clean."

"You appear to dry as well as to sweep them," I said.

"I have an army of road sweepers," he said. "Here they are," and he pointed to a group of men energetically plying their brooms. "I wanted you to see how clean I keep Berlin."

"And is that all you have brought me out to see?" I said teasingly.

"Yes, all," he said, and we both laughed."

The Infanta is willing to bear with the strict formalities of the Kaiser's Court, but she objects when lesser princelings imitate that strictness. "I once," she complains, "had such a sovereign send an aide to order me to put down my parasol in a royal procession for no other reason except to exercise a petty authority." She refused.

Her first impression of England was unfavorable. She thought the people looked as if stupefied as if they were all just recovering from a fit. Queen Victoria, the greatest of monarchs, was an especial disappointment.

"She was so small that I thought at first she must be sitting down. And she was not only feeble with age but evidently ill, her eyes dulled, her hands swollen, her face as if feverish. Her merely human aspect of infirmity was increased by the black dress of mourning and widow's cap that she wore; and standing with her two Indian servants behind her, leaning on her short cane in that magnificent apartment that would have dwarfed a giant, holding out a tired hand to you vaguely, as if she did not clearly see you—it brought a lump to the throat. Here was Royalty then! The greatest and most famous of us all! Queen Victoria.

King Edward, however, was one of the author's enthusiasms, though his love of punctuality was rather startling.

Hood's Pills

"I stayed with him and Queen Alexandra at Sandringham. One of the first things to impress me there was the King's extreme punctuality. Somebody used always to come and warn me ten minutes before meal-times that I must not keep him waiting. For some unknown reason he had all the clocks in the house set half an hour in advance of the right time, and one of the first things that guests at Sandringham learnt was the existence of this curious practice. Of English life generally the Infanta has become on the whole enamored. She likes the open air life, though she objects to the excessive luxury.

The Infanta Eulalia, indeed, in spite of her horror of being a princess, seems to have enjoyed herself thoroughly. Her body is free from scandal and malice, and makes excellent light reading. Most people will be interested to read of the adventures of the mildly Socialistic princess for whom the Kaiser himself went out of his way to order a special breakfast of eggs and bacon and marmalade.

BEAUTIFY HAIR, THICK WAVY FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy fluffy, abundant and appears as soft lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Her body is free from scandal and malice, and makes excellent light reading. Most people will be interested to read of the adventures of the mildly Socialistic princess for whom the Kaiser himself went out of his way to order a special breakfast of eggs and bacon and marmalade.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to the vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

BULGARIA ISSUES DECLARATION

Will Fight For the Will Give Her Believe in Prot

By Special Wire to the Courier, Berlin, Oct. 8.—(By wire Sayville)—A declaration of intention to enter the war with many and her allies is contained in a declaration of Bulgaria, as given out here to the Overseas News Agency. The manifesto as given out by the agency follows:

"The central powers have pursued their policy of aggression against the Balkan states, creating a Balkan border line, which is absolutely necessary for the independence of the Balkan states. We do not believe in the quadruple entente. It is of the allies, treacherously broken in 1914. We believe Germany is fighting the whole of the world. Bulgaria will fight for the victors. The Germans and Austro-Hungarians are victorious on all fronts. Soon will have collapsed. Then will come the turn of Italy and Serbia. Bulgaria will not permit suicide if she did not fight on the side of the central powers, offers the only possibility of a fair desire for union of all Balkan peoples."

Berlin, Oct. 8.—The Foreign Office has issued a manifesto announcing its decision.

GERMANS GAIN AGAINST RUSS ABOUT DV

Concentration of Forces in Vicinity Tarnopol.

By Special Wire to the Courier, Petrograd, Oct. 8.—There is a new military activity on the eastern end of the Russian front. Fighting is in the neighborhood of Dvinsk, to the south of which the Germans have had some success. The whole, however, has been able to withstand the assaults. The Germans have succeeded in crossing Viliya, north of which enabling them to co-ordinate forces north and south of the concentration of considerable man forces in the vicinity of Tarnopol, in Galicia, about 25 miles from the frontier, is believed to
