IT ENDS PAIN!

Have you a sore place? Have you any skin disease, old sore or cystic wound, that has defied all efforts at healing? If so, apply Zam-Buk and prove its merits.

A Woman's Message to Women.

Mrs. James Elsworth, 902 Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg, Man., says: "Four and a half years ago ulcers started on my left ankle, and spread until the top of my foot and limb, to the knee, was well-nigh covered. I used ointment after ointment, until everything I knew of had been tried, but I received little or no benefit. I was laid up in bed for a long time, and had no rest or sleep, night after night, from the acute pain and irritation."

"I consulted doctors, until I had taken treatment from at least five. After using their ointments and preparations until I was positive I could get no cure, I almost gave up in despair. I was next persuaded to try a course of treatment supplied by a company operating in this city, for as much as thirteen dollars and a half in one week for ointments, which proved of no use whatever."

"One day a sample of Zam-Buk was left at the house. This seemed to soothe the pain, almost instantly, and encouraged me to get a supply from the druggist and give it a fair trial. Zam-Buk had a wonderful effect in a very short time. The irritation and the pain were quickly relieved, and gradually the ulcers were cleared of all poisonous matter. The discharge then ceased, and the ulcers began to show signs of healing. I kept on using Zam-Buk until every ulcer had been completely healed."

TEST IT FREE.

Zam-Buk cures piles, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, burns, scalds, eczema, cuts, scalp sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box all druggists and stores.

CHAPTER IV.

GOLDIE'S SECRET.

There was a mournful accent in her once happy, ringing voice, which did not escape the notice of the proud, handsome Belle, whose heart, nevertheless, failed to thrill with a thought of pity or tenderness. She only closed her lips firmly, and whispered, under her breath:

"Her punishment has begun. Let her suffer."

"What were you saying, Belle? I did not hear."

"I say that you are a fool for your pains, when you went to the post office upon such a night as this for a letter from Frank Whitney."

Goldie glanced into her sister's face with pained surprise, then replied, in a tone scarcely above a whisper:

"He wrote to me last month, you know, Belle."

"Bell laughed scornfully, and replied hastily:

"But he will never write again. He will not remember you long."

"Oh, please, Belle, do not say such cruel things! Frank will not forget me. When he gets my last letter he must come home at once," murmured the poor child, who was scarcely conscious of her words, so strong was her desire to shield her loved Frank from the imputation of inconstancy, and assure her own heart that he must be true.

"Why should he come home when he receives your letter? I thought he was not coming home for three years," answered Belle, looking with unwavering glance straight into Goldie's truthful eyes.

Even in the moonlight Belle saw the painful flush creeping from Goldie's cheeks up to her transparent temples, and even to the roots of her golden hair, while her small hands clasped more tightly the shawl in which she was wrapped.

She made no answer to Belle's words until Belle shook her roughly by the arm, and hissed:

"Why should he come home when he gets your last letter? What did you write?"

"I wrote that he must come—that I should die if he did not return to me. And he will! Oh, I know he will! He must—he will come!" moaned Goldie, rocking her beautiful form to and fro, with clasped hands held closely to her breast.

"You act well!" sneered Belle. "Oh, Belle! you gave him up to me—or me to him, I don't know which—and—and, oh Belle! if you would love me now, I might tell you all."

"I know all without your telling," was the cold reply.

"Get up, you silly child!" was the contemptuous reply. "Get up and behave yourself! Wouldn't mother go crazy if you were to run away?"

"Yes, I suppose she would. Couldn't you find a place for me to go?"

"I know what you mean. No, I cannot find a place where you can go and bring disgrace upon us all. The best way will be to stay at home."

"But mother will know, and father, too. It would kill him!"

"Humph!" was the only reply. For a few moments a silence fell upon the pair. It was broken by Belle, saying:

"You had better tell mother tomorrow. It would keep her awake to-night."

"I cannot! Oh, I cannot! I will take my own life first! I will drown myself in the dreadful pool! It will be better—"

"Pshaw! you little coward! You will do no such thing. You will keep on as you have begun—with your deceit and your efforts to hide your guilt—until it is too late; then you will be sorry that you have broken all our hearts and covered us with shame. I am afraid that Ned Cameron will not keep his engagement with May when he learns how low her sister has fallen."

Goldie clasped her thin hands and raised her eyes imploringly to her sister's face.

There was no trace of pity there, colder and more icy than the scene without was that relentless face, while the cruel eyes glittered like steel as they seemed to dive into Goldie's heart for its inmost secret.

"You loved him, Belle?" asked her sister, looking down at the carpet.

"I loved him," was the calm reply. "Do you love him now?" ventured the timid voice.

"No! Neither Frank Whitney nor Goldie Mellen has any place in my affection. I put them away, and cursed them both when they proved how base they could be. This is my revenge! Your last letter to Frank Whitney lies in my writing desk. It was never sent. So you will not be likely to receive one from him to-night. In reading your letter to him I discovered your secret, but I think he will not be able to return in season to save you from disgrace, as you implored him to do. If he knew your situation he might have honor enough to come, but he does not know it, owing to my carelessness in neglecting to send the letter."

"Oh, Belle! how could you be so cruel?" moaned Goldie.

"As you could be so cruel as to accept his love when it belonged to me!" was the reply.

"And you read my letter to him?"

"Yes, answered Belle: "I read it all."

"Oh, Belle! False, cruel sister! May Heaven grant that you never know the bitterness of this hour!" sobbed Goldie.

Belle made a scornful gesture, and replied:

"The bitterness was when he threw aside my heart for another. It is past now, and revenge is very sweet."

"The jingle of bells warned them of the coming of Tim from the post office.

"What can be the matter with Goldie? I must call father!"

"The words aroused Goldie. "Mother, dear!" she exclaimed, throwing her arms about her mother's neck. "Mother, dear! You will always love Goldie, and not blame her? Say 'Yes, mother.'"

"To be sure I shall always love you, Goldie. But lie down, now, and try to get some more sleep. I'll be up again in a few minutes with your hot ginger tea. You've got a bad cold."

With a tender, motherly embrace, Mrs. Mellen laid the slight form of her daughter back upon the pillow. Was it a presentiment of the gloom to come that caused her to kiss her brow and whisper:

"God bless and keep you always, my darling!"

The Evening Chit-Chat

By EVELYN CAMERON

"Success," says the epigram maker, "is a failure more men than failure ever does."

Now, someone has defined an epigram as a "foolish person's acceptance of a truth, simply because it is easy to remember, so that I heartily endorse that myself with the first epigram as very true."

Incidentally, I want to add that I think the definition of an epigram is itself an epigram, and fulfills its own definition remarkably well.

To return to terra firma after that somewhat dizzying convoluted, the other I grow the more I am impressed with the danger of success.

I do not think there is anyone who cannot call to mind at least half a dozen acquaintances who have been spoiled by success.

"I never dare to look back over what I have done," says a man who has risen in about twenty years from poverty to the junior partnership in a business which brings in two hundred thousand a year, "for fear I shall be contented."

That is one of the dangers of success and a pitfall moreover into which ten thousand men fall where one wise man alone avoids it.

Another danger of success is a young girl whom I know illustrates with painful perfection.

"During several years of humdrum, unprofitable labor, this girl was a modest, livable, likeable young person. A quick turn of the wheel of fortune whirled her into financial and artistic success, and incidentally, made her conceited, overbearing and self-centered."

She is losing friends to-day as fast as she once made them. She does not care just now, because she is too busy and too triumphant to feel the need of them. But there will come a time to her—and to thousands like her—when life shall have become less crowded and active, and they will realize that success can bring loss as well as gain.

How many men and women who can drink of the bitters of failure and be the better for the hard draught, lose their heads at the first sip of the champagne of success!

Oh, yes, success is what we all want, and I do wish it for you, my good friends, and for myself, but I also wish that it may not come so fast as to be dangerous and that both of us may keep ever in mind old Horace's sage advice:

"If hindrances obstruct thy way Thy magnanimity display. And let thy strength be seen; But, oh, if fortune fill thy sail With more than a propitious gale Take half thy canvas in."

—Horace.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food; build up the body and thereby throw off lingering, obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—his pants, belt, etc. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

Draped effects appear in turbans and toques and small hats galore; these are most attractive in the long-haired cloth and ribbed silk.

Fichus are seen in every possible soft material, from chiffon to handkerchief lawn, from wash net to embroidered lawn or allover lace.

The tiny coats attract now. They are made amusing by their quaint little hats and their ligs, which is shorter in front than at the neck.

We are most assuredly to retain the slim, clinging draperies of the First Empire that have proved so successful during the past 12 months.

There is a new version of the kimono waist which is draped in soft folds so that there seems to be no break between bodice and sleeves.

The new evening sets of scarf and muffs are all the delicate tints of the rainbow, and have hints of ostrich in their fluffy marabout depths.

Flounces are again in fashion for

Eczema on Face and Hands

Gave up work—Could not shave—Relief and cure obtained from DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

"I had eczema nearly all over the body," writes Mr. John Gordon Campbell, foreman Holland Grove Lumber Co., Sudbury, Ont., "blisters and itching with it. I could find absolutely no cure until I obtained Dr. Chase's Ointment. After using this ointment I was almost instantly relieved and soon completely cured."

"So bad was the eczema that I had to give up work. Could not shave. I was so bad that they had to take me out of camp in a wagon and send for a new foreman. I cannot recommend this ointment too highly."

As a means of soothing raw, burning, irritated skin no treatment can be compared to Dr. Chase's Ointment. It often heals in a single night. You can see for yourself each day the good it is doing. Sample box free. Get a box at all dealers or W. A. Slattery, 225 & 227 Queen St., Toronto.

walking skirts of heavy fabrics, but they are without fullness. The division at the side continues popular.

Two-toned velvets are very smart, so also are striped velvets with plain borders. Still others have Oriental borders in Persian and cashmere patterns.

Both velvets and velveteens alike will be in high regard for costumes and three-piece toilettes. Plain colors, of course, are in most frequent demand.

Panne velvet will be seen principally in connection with opera cloak development, for costume suits and for the trimming of cloth or satin garments.

Thick cordings continue to play a conspicuous part in trimmings. Some of the best gowns have the heavy cord girdles and all the edges outlined with cord.

Taffeta of a supple softness, glaces of unworked colorings and surah, often mistakenly called "sage silk," are back with added attractions and the novelty of being new.

Handsome ribbons of satin and silk background, against which stand out wonderfully natural roses and floral designs, will play a conspicuous part in the fall millinery.

Envelope tunics are shown again for cloth and chiffon, and are especially effective in bordered materials. These lapped effects appear anywhere from the hip line to the knees.

Taffeta, satin, marquisette and chiffon are used for the smartest of the separate waists and these are variously trimmed to correspond with the general style of the costume.

Braid, beads and buttons are all to be seen in the decorations of blouses, while tiny vests of tucked chiffon or net give an air of smartness to many of the more elaborate blouses.

Voile, Henrietta, Panama, serge of many qualities and characteristics, fancy chevrons and suitings are all for fall wear, with serge, chevrot and broadcloth especially for suits.

Toques and turbans in two colors are very smart and may be of all cloth or felt, or combined with satin velvet or other ribbed silk.

Parnell Statue

Mr. John Redmond in Dublin Predicts Home Rule in Two Years.

Dublin, October 2.—The bronze statue of Parnell, one of the finest achievements of the great sculptor, Augustus St. Gaudens, which has been erected here largely through subscriptions by American admirers, was unveiled yesterday by John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party.

The scene of Irish patriotic enthusiasm was only paralleled by those which attended the unveiling of the O'Connell statue at the opposite end of Sackville street, thirty years ago.

Richard Croker accompanied Mr. Redmond throughout the day's proceedings, and the young and old chiefs received a stirring ovation. A monster parade of patriotic societies formed in Stephen's Green, and made its way through the mass of people at the north end of Sackville street, where the statue was erected.

Mr. Redmond was the only speaker. He paid a glowing tribute to Parnell.

"Twenty years, he said, seems a long time to wait to erect a monument to Parnell. But is this not the inevitable hour? A chosen hand guides us in the sequence of events. What moment more fitting than that when we are back to the point to which Parnell led Ireland before the cause was submerged?"

Mr. Redmond declared that there would be an Irish Parliament within twenty-four months, and he advised his hearers to remember the chief's words: "We cannot spare a single Irishman." He made a plea also for a conciliatory attitude toward Ulster.

As the statue was unveiled a great cheer was raised. The crowds, accompanied by the bands, pipes, bugles and fifes, sang the hymn, "The Memory of the Dead," and "God Save Ireland."

Cal's 133-Mile Walk Home.

A cat taken from Glastonbury (Somerset) to Kingston (Surrey) by Miss L. A. Ewens, Superintendent of the Kingston Nursing Association, on April 4th, disappeared a few days later, and was advertised as lost. Information has now reached the owner that the cat has found its way back to its old home, 133 miles away.

DOCTOR ADVISED HOSPITAL

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had black-dust trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me."

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health."

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANBURY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too late, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

Beneath the fig-tree's bough he sat, and dreamed of some fair place, where never heartless pluckers, can grind the poor man's face; his vision placed before his eyes, a region fair and good; and while his spirit roamed the skies, his wife was splitting wood. THE DREAMER dreams some fine bouquets from poets and their kind, who picture him "as one who lays his treasures in his mind. But when it comes to old brass tacks, I like that pilgrim best, who sheds his coat and takes the axe, and gives his wife a rest. Like the man who's wide awake until he goes to bed, who hustles in the market to make the price of prunes and bread. That man is hardly worth his cheese who loafe the hours away, and basks on downy beds of ease while others bale their hay; and if he lets the hausfrau sweet in soap and suds and steam, while he proceeds to prouette in cloudland, on a dream, he is so punk that some one near should give the knock-out punch; for men like that are mighty dear at one kopeck the bunch.

A Broken-Hearted Man

Great sympathy is being expressed to-day towards Capt. Morgan of the Attila by his acquaintances. He arrived here yesterday from the Brasils. He had made arrangements to meet his wife and daughter here. It will be remembered that in coming across in the Allan boat Miss Morgan was swept overboard and drowned. Capt. Morgan, her father, knew nothing about this and affair till the pilot boarded her in the Narrows yesterday. He broke down completely. Rev. Mr. Thackeray went on board afterwards and consoled him as far as was in his power to do. The Telegram joins with his many friends here in tendering its sympathy to him and Mrs. Morgan.

Foot Crushed.

Mr. A. Harvey, of Brigus, was the victim of a painful accident just before leaving Labrador. He was tearing up part of an old vessel, when a heavy piece of plank fell on him, crushing his foot. He received medical attendance at the Indian Harbor hospital. Another person, Mr. John Leslie, of Coley's Point, also had his foot very badly crushed during the summer. On arrival here he was conveyed to his home in a carriage.—Guardian.

Man Killed on Railway Line

News reached town shortly before noon to-day of a dreadful fatality on the new branch railway line to Trepassy, when one of the labourers, John Thomas White, was killed while working in a ballast pit this morning. The deceased was a native of St. Mary's, and was working near Bay Bulls.

Serious Accident at Bell Island.

Special to Evening Telegram EAST WABANA, To-Day. Fred Taylor, driller, aged 23, residing on Bell Island, met with a serious accident this morning at the D. I. & S. Co.'s plant. Taylor whilst on his way to work was walking on main slope when he was struck by a runaway trip of ore. A full trip which was coming up from the slope collided with an empty trip going down, causing the full one to break away. Taylor has right arm, right leg and head badly injured. He was taken to the company's surgery where everything possible was done to relieve the sufferer.

Michael Mahoney, of Flemming St., coming home along Queen's Road a few nights ago was set upon by five toughs near St. Patrick's Hall and badly served. He was knocked down and kick and his face is badly marked.

The S. S. Tellus, a sister ship of the S. S. Themis, in the ore trade from Bell Island to Rotterdam, arrived here this morning. Her propeller blade was broken off in the recent storm, and the captain decided to come on to this port for repairs. The Themis, which is at the R. N. Co. pier disabled in the same way, is having a new propeller put on to-day without going on dock. By shifting her water ballast forward her stern is being raised out of the water.

The Portia brought two people to St. John's this trip to go to Hospital, viz., Mrs. Alban Litchon, of North Harbor, St. Mary's Bay, and George Gregory, of Brigus South. Both were taken to the institution this morning by Mr. E. Whiteway. Besides those, Fred Rose, a 15 year old boy of Portugal Cove, was taken there. James Coffey and W. Kenny are waiting to go in. There are no more vacant beds.

The west bound express reached Port aux Basques at 11.20 p.m. yesterday.

The incoming express arrived at St. John's at 6.50 p.m. yesterday. The local from Carbonear arrived at St. John's at 1.20 p.m. to-day.

Murder Convicted

Condemned Man Set for Order New Trial

For the first time since the Court of Criminal Appeals began its sittings, in May 1908, a person convicted of murder and sentenced to death has successfully appealed and obtained the setting aside of the conviction. The court was composed of the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Darling, and Mr. Justice Hamilton.

The successful appellant was Chas. Eliaom, a pale-faced, black-haired young man, who had been convicted of the murder of a woman named Rose Renter by stabbing her. The woman was murdered on August 29, in Wilmington Square, Clerkenwell. On behalf of the accused it was contended that his identification as the murderer was mistaken. The case was tried before Mr. Justice Avery at the Central Criminal Court.

Murder Conviction Quashed.
 Condemned Man Set Free -- Power to Order New Trial Desired.

For the first time since the Court of Criminal Appeals began its sittings in May 1908, a person convicted of murder and sentenced to death has successfully appealed and obtained the setting aside of the conviction.

The court was composed of the Lord Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Darling, and Mr. Justice Hamilton.

The successful appellant was Chas. Elsom, a pale-faced, black-haired young man, who had been convicted of the murder of a woman named Rose Rander by stabbing her. The woman was murdered on August 20 in Wilmington Square, Clerkenwell. On behalf of the accused it was contended that his identification as the murderer was mistaken. The case was tried before Mr. Justice Avey at the Central Criminal Court.

Mr. A. S. Comyns Carr, for the prisoner, said there were serious inconsistencies between two statements made by a witness named Fletcher, who said the prisoner confessed his guilt to him. He had no opportunity of cross-examining Fletcher on the differences between the two statements, and the differences were not taken into account by the judge in summing up.

Mr. Bodkin, for the Crown, contended there was ample evidence to go to the jury apart from Fletcher's statements, and the jury must be presumed to look at the whole circumstances of the case. Such a document as that containing the first statement made by Fletcher would have been given to counsel for the defence if it had been asked for.

Their lordships retired and considered their decision.

Mr. Justice Darling, giving the judgment of the court, said this case, besides being one of great gravity because it was a capital case, was of exceptional importance in regard to that court, because it was the first capital case in which the court had felt it necessary to set aside a conviction.

They thought it necessary to say that they did not express the slightest opinion as to whether the appellant was really guilty or not guilty. They were only dealing with the conviction and the question whether that could stand. That a brutal murder was committed there was no doubt; but they thought it fair to say that in nothing the court was doing or saying they were in the slightest degree wishing to convey that there was any suspicion in their minds that Fletcher had anything to do with the commission of the murder. They desired to emphasise what the Lord Chief Justice had said on other occasions, that it was greatly to be regretted that they had no means of ordering a new trial, as could be done in a civil court where there existed grounds for appeal similar to those in this case.

Whatever the merits of the case, unless there be given sufficient legal reason for the conclusions arrived at by the judge and jury, then the conviction must be quashed, and no further proceedings could be taken. It appeared to them there had been many such cases, and here again was a case in which it would be desirable that all the facts should be again submitted to a jury after an adequate and proper direction on the facts. They hoped that what they now said would be considered by those who had the power to amend the law in this respect.

With regard to the particular facts in this case, Fletcher was a man who was pointed out by the judge as a witness who gave most important evidence against the accused. His character was such, and his part in the affair was such, that his evidence must be corroborated before it could be held sufficient by the jury to enable them to act upon it. He was, if his own evidence was to be believed, an accessory after the fact, and possibly also an accessory before the fact.

It was thought that he was corroborated in various ways. Witnesses were called who spoke as to some of the things that he had spoken to, and there was further corroboration. In the early morning of the very same day on which the murder was committed he made a statement at the Scale of Cab Fares.

The following scale of cab fares was adopted at a special meeting of the City Council held last night. A few changes have been made in the schedule that was drawn up at a previous meeting, and the rates do not apply to the winter season absolutely. This tariff will come into force on April 1912, and will not apply to the city limits on Regatta Day. Drivers of carriages can procure copies of the new scale by applying to the City Hall. Drivers will have to wear numbered badges in order that they may be identified by the public who may need to do so in case of violating the rules. There will also be a regular inspection of carriages. Here is the list:—

BOY ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

A fourteen year old boy was arrested last evening for drunkenness and was taken to the lockup. There will be an investigation to find out where he got the liquor. Everybody now seems to be drunk according to the Daily News—men, women and children, and in its issue this morning we read even that "Labrador fish takes a drop."

It was now complained of the way the judge dealt with that statement. There was no doubt that he did deal with it as though it were tantamount to Fletcher's depositions given in subsequent proceedings and his evidence at the trial. The judge told the jury that the documents were open to the inspection of counsel, and that if there were any substantial difference between Fletcher's various statements attention would have been called to the fact.

Fletcher's original statement, however, had not, in fact, been produced, and counsel for the defence had not got it. Therefore, he could not point out to the jury any discrepancies between that statement and Fletcher's subsequent evidence. Consequently, very powerful observations made by the judge on points which he described as vital were ill-founded and based on a misapprehension as to what were the facts. If that statement had been referred to it would have shown in the most material particulars that some of the most fatal points made against the prisoner were omitted.

His lordship enumerated various important discrepancies between the first statement and the evidence given at the trial. The judge had, nevertheless, had assumed over and over again that all these matters, with much more, were in the first statement, and that they were therefore important corroboration of a man on whose evidence the jury could not act without corroboration.

The court thought it impossible to say with anything approaching certainty that the jury would have returned a verdict of guilty if they had been properly directed on the points to which reference had now been made. Therefore the only judgment they could give was that the appeal be allowed.

The appellant was immediately released.—Daily Mail, Sept. 26th.

Italy Lost Abyssinia.

Menelik Won Independence—Fifteen Years Ago Since the Disastrous Defeat at Adowa Ended Italian Aggression in Ethiopia.

Italy's last attempt at conquest in Africa was disastrous, and the final campaign in Abyssinia will long be remembered for it involved, in the rout at Adowa, the worst defeat ever sustained by a European army in Africa.

To go back, an advance by Italians from Massowa was being resented by King John of Abyssinia, and in 1887 a force of over 500 was wiped out, except one man, who reached the coast, stripped and wounded. The Italians had fought until their ammunition was gone. A large reinforcement was despatched from Italy, and during the "wars of succession" following the death of John, took possession of Keren and the Asmara country. The Italian Government supported Menelik II., who had always beruffled Italian explorers.

Menelik became Negus, or Emperor of Ethiopia, in 1889, under a treaty which virtually made Abyssinia an Italian protectorate. Menelik, however, had ideas of his own. By Italian intervention he obtained arms and ammunition from Belgium, and soon organized an army of 70,000 men, abundant war stores, and 20 cannons, as well as having the support of numerous feudal lords, who paid tribute to Menelik, and had troops of their own.

Italian Claims.

The Italian Government, in pursuance of its own aims, claimed possession of the Red Sea littoral from Cape Kasar to the Strait of Bob-el-Mandeb. The Sultan of Obbia, on the Somali coast, and another Somali ruler were, by their own desire, under Italian protection, and by an arrangement with Britain the protectorate extended along the coast of Somaliland to the Juba River. Brigandage was repressed, commerce and tillage encouraged, and native troops organized, who were devoted to the Italian officers. In 1894, after a warfare with Derwishes, the western frontier of the Italian colony was extended 250 miles inland from Massowa.

Menelik Moves.

Menelik, meanwhile, was entreated by the feudal princes to act against the Italians, who had, they asserted, occupied Kassala in order thence to attack Abyssinia. Gen. Baratieri, an old Garibaldian, who commanded the Italian troops in Abyssinia, when informed in 1894 of the intrigues, sent out troops, who defeated the rebels in the field, and concentrated for the defence of Massowa, at the same time occupying Adowa. He had hundreds of spies, who kept him well informed of the Abyssinian movements. The marching and counter-marching among swamps, passes, and tangled thickets were very arduous.

Battle of Adowa.

At last Baratieri, in January, 1895, with 4,000 natives and 100 Italian officers and men, took up a position at Coatit and awaited Ras (or Prince) Mangascia, who had been told by Menelik to "go and drive out the Italians first," when he had prayed to be made "King" of Tigre. Mangascia had 42,000.

A Victory.

At sunrise on January 13 the Italian battery opened fire on the native camp at the foot of the mountain, who then occupied the lofty hills to the north. Fighting was resumed next day, and Mangascia sent a priest asking for terms, which Baratieri, informed that the Abyssinians had suffered great losses and were running out of ammunition, refused. In the night the enemy fled, and Baratieri disbanded his troops. In September, 1895, Mangascia took the field with a new army, and was again defeated, and his territory promptly annexed by Italy.

A Defeat.

In November Mangascia declared his intention of recovering the lost provinces. Orders sent to Major Toselli, who had 2,400 troops at Makalla, to retire to Adigrat were not received, and though his force repulsed an attack of 8,000 men, 12,000 reinforcements for the enemy came up next day, and in the attempt at retreat the army was almost wiped out, Toselli shooting himself. The prisoners taken were not harmed, and the wounded were cared for. After this defeat the Italian Government decided to attempt no further extension of territorial influence in Africa. An immense force of Abyssinians, under Menelik himself, beleaguered Makalla, which was defended by 1,500 natives under Italian officers, who finally surrendered and were allowed to go to Adigrat with arms.

Peace Efforts Failed.

There was an understanding that the King of Italy was to treat for peace and pay a sum of money as a ransom for the officers. Menelik, with his 70,000 men, were to be free to march on Adowa, while Baratieri, who had 30,000 men, was to abandon Adigrat. But the peace negotiations failed because Italy refused to abrogate the clauses in the old treaty, by which Menelik was to recognize an Italian "protectorate" and to treat with foreign powers only through the medium of Italy.

Then those native princes who had been friendly to Italy joined Menelik, the conquered provinces were roused to revolt, and Baratieri found himself surrounded, his caravans seized, and his troops unprovisioned. In February, 1896, he decided to retreat, but was induced by a majority of his officers, most of whom were new to Africa, to attack the enemy.

On March 1st three columns advanced. One reached a wrong point, and was utterly crushed. A second, marching to the rescue, was overwhelmed. A general rout followed. Two generals and over 200 officers were killed or wounded, and nearly 10,000 native troops slain. Sixty cannon were captured.

The people of Italy resolved to have no more sacrifices of men or money in Africa, and the King was forced to accept the resignation of the Crisis Ministry, who had roused the utmost indignation by acting in defiance of Parliament.

In October of the same year Italy recognized the independence of Abyssinia.

MEETING POSTPONED.—At the request of the Lord Bishop the proposed meeting of the Executive Committee of the Diocesan Synod was postponed yesterday as a tribute to the memory of the late Sir James Winter, who was senior lay member of the Committee.

When Nerves Need Fixing

"There's a Reason"

Look back to the cause, for one can never get well until the cause of sickness is removed.

Perhaps it's the drug, caffeine, grain in tea and coffee.

That thing which makes the heart of the tea and coffee drinker flutter and fail; also slowly breaks down the nerves in many people (not all).

If you are one of the many affected by tea and coffee, and really want to get well, suppose you leave off the drink which has caused the trouble, and take on well-made

WORRY.
 A Sure Starter for Ill Health.

Unless worrying (a form of nervousness) is indirectly the result (through the nerves) of improper feeding. A furniture man of Memphis says:

"About a year ago I was afflicted with nervous spells, would worry so over trivial things.

"I went to consult one of the best physicians in Memphis and he asked, among many questions, if I drank coffee.

"His advice was: 'Go to some provision store and get a box of Postum, drink it in place of coffee and as you are confined to your desk to a great extent try and get out in the open air as much as possible.' I followed his instructions regarding the Postum.

"At that time my weight was 142 and I was taking all kinds of drugs and medicines to brace me up but all failed. To-day I weigh 165 and all of my old troubles are gone, and all the credit is due to having followed this wise physician's advice and cut off the coffee and using Postum in its place.

"I now consider my health perfect and that it is all due to my having used Postum in place of coffee." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ontario.

There's a reason for quitting the drug-drinks tea and coffee, and there's a reason for drinking Postum. Trial ten days proves them all.

PIONA ALL READY.—The S. S. Fiona's repairs are now completed and she will be ready to sail west on the customs and fishery service tomorrow evening. The repairs were done in an efficient manner by Mr. R. Hopkins, ship's carpenter.

DIED LAST NIGHT.—Mrs. R. Byrne, a very respected old lady of New Gower Street, died at her late home there last evening. Deceased was a daughter of the late Richard Coady, and was highly respected. Funeral takes place to-morrow.

MAYOR ELLIS ILL.—We regret to learn that Mayor Ellis was taken suddenly ill last night when he returned home from the meeting. Two doctors are attending him and he is very weak. His many friends in the city hope that he will soon recover.

C. L. B. CELEBRATION.—A committee of the ex-members of the C. L. B. met last night to arrange a programme for the Twentieth Anniversary Celebration. They will report to the general committee on Friday next. No stone is being left unturned to make the event a success.

COW INJURED.—People who came from Portugal Cove this morning report seeing a cow near Kent's Pond on that road, that was evidently run over and knocked down by an automobile. The cow could hardly walk and was staggering as if its back was broken. It was all covered with mud.

CARD TOURNAMENT.—A card tournament was held at the Green Hill Club Rooms, at Batters' Hill last night. The players numbered 100. The first prize, a barrel of flour, was won by J. Tibbo; the second, a half ton of coal, by P. Power, and the third, a tub of butter, by J. Minnett.

ENJOYABLE DANCE.—An enjoyable dance was held at McDonald's on the Cove Road last night. Twenty young people from town attended. Dancing was kept up till 5 o'clock this morning. The affair was in honor of Miss Wareham, who is going away to supper was served at midnight. Songs were sung by Miss Bonnell and others. Mr. McDonald rendered the music.

Pressure on Turkey.

Special to Evening Telegram.
ROME, To-day. The crisis at Constantinople is due to pressure brought upon the Sultan by the Powers to make him realize that any trouble in European Turkey might be fatal to the whole Turkish Empire. The realization of the probability of such an outcome may lead according to reports from reliable sources, to a complete surrender. Turkey may choose this particular situation also as a means of saving her face. It is semi-officially announced that, following the intervention of the German Ambassador, the Ottoman Government suspended the order for the expulsion of Italians from Turkey. It is expected that the Government will now abandon this measure absolutely.

Newfoundlander Dead.

Mr. Henry Downs Passed Away at Brooklyn, New York.
Superintendent Dunn, of the Central Fire Hall, received a letter on Saturday last announcing the death of his brother-in-law, Mr. Henry Downs which occurred at Brooklyn, on Saturday night, the 30th ult.

Mr. Downs was born in Freshwater Valley, St. John's, and worked on his father's farm until the decease of his parent, when he took it over and continued to occupy and work it until twenty-six years ago, he then decided to try his fortune in the Great Republic, having two brothers already there, viz., John, a large contractor, and Michael, who was owner and manager of a soap factory.

Mr. Downs was a man of high character, sterling integrity, and a most consistent and exemplary Catholic. By honest industry, perseverance and economy he succeeded in surrounding himself and family not alone with a comfortable freehold residence but also sufficient to keep him and those depending on him in thorough independence.

About three months ago Mr. Downs was attacked by illness, but it was not considered very serious until a few days before his death, when his friends recognized the fact that he would soon be removed from amongst them, and surrounded by his wife, two daughters and one son, fortified by the rites of the Church, he passed peacefully away on the date mentioned.

Mr. Downs always took the deepest interest in the affairs of his native land, and nothing gave him greater pleasure than to hear of her advancement and prosperity. Besides his own family he leaves three sisters in St. John's, viz., Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. John Ellis (mason) and Mrs. Joseph Murphy (engineer). His brother John died in Brooklyn some years ago, and Michael was accidentally drowned on the Delaware River. To the relatives and numerous friends, both in the United States and Newfoundland, the Telegram extends its sincerest sympathy. Requiescat in pace.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.—Out of respect for the late Sir James S. Winter, "O Rest in the Lord," by Mendelssohn, and "Dead March in Saul" were played by the Organist, Mr. Lloyd, at the close of morning and evening services on Sunday in St. Mary's Church.

In all its Forms Can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no time to care for myself, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable battle."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Oct. 9. From all parts of the Turkish Empire messages are arriving in Constantinople urging the Sultan to declare Holy War. Turkey has sent another note to the Powers asking for intervention, and offering to grant every reasonable concession to Italy. The Turkish forces in Tripoli have been withdrawn to the interior, where they will either wait the Italians, or, if possible, return to attack. Rumor has it that they are short of provisions, and may be forced to surrender.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LISBON, Oct. 9. General Castro, the Minister of War, has resigned. The Government has asked the President to summon Parliament in order to secure consent to certain measures for the speedy trial and punishment of the conspirators in the attempted revolution. The Premier declared that the Republic up to the present has treated the Monarchists with forbearance. Henceforth no indulgence will be shown.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Oct. 9. A startling item of war news comes from Constantinople to the effect that the Turkish Governor of St. Jean de Medua, on the Atlantic Coast, has informed the Porte that a vessel flying an Austrian flag, carrying an Italian officer and Italian soldiers, has been sunk by the forts, all on board perishing. An Italian warship then came up and bombarded the town, doing much damage to property.

Special to Evening Telegram.
BERLIN, Oct. 9. A note from the Turkish Government, asking whether they consider that the time has arrived to seek a basis for negotiations looking toward peace between Turkey and Italy, and under what conditions, has been presented to the Foreign Office. The note contemplates the cession of Tripoli, to Italy under certain conditions.

Special to Evening Telegram.
CHIASSO, Oct. 9. News from Turkey is of the gravest character. The Italians there are threatened with expulsion. If a massacre occurs, war in that quarter will again burst forth, as it will be almost impossible to prevent an attack on Albania, and that would mean the intervention of the other Powers.

Stops a Deep-Seated Cough in a Hurry

A Family Supply of Unequaled Cough Remedy for 50c—Money Returned if It Fails.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain large proportions of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one that anyone can make. A pint of granulated sugar, with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

A 90-cent bottle of Pinex, mixed in a glass, bottles with Eucalypti and other ingredients, gives you 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-mixed for $3.00. There's a clear saving of $2.00. Full directions in package.

And money couldn't buy a quicker, better remedy. This selection, one, gives almost instant relief, and usually stops the most obstinate, deep-seated cough in 24 hours. It stimulates the appetite, is slightly laxative and has a pleasant taste—children take it willingly. Specially good for hoarseness, asthma, chest pain, and other throat troubles, and unequalled for prompt relief in whooping cough.

Pinex is a special highly concentrated compound of imported Norway White Pine extract, and rich in quack and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix it as directed with sugar syrup or strained honey, and it is ready for use. Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Our drug stores has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mrs. Chas. Golden and children are visiting friends at St. John's.

Mrs. John Telford and her two sons, of Carve's Beach, who were visiting friends here, returned home last week.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Luke Hayden on Friday last.

Mr. J. Nunn is still busily engaged repairing the organ at St. Andrew's Church here. The instrument needed quite a lot of attention, but when finished will be in first class order.

Dr. Chas. Cron arrived from Labrador by the Stella Maris on Saturday night. He had been on the boat all summer attending for Boston on a visit to her son and daughters there. He will probably be away until Christmas.

We are sorry to report that the genial Dr. W. H. Parsons has been confined to his home for the past week through illness. The doctor is very much missed and we hope soon to see him on his rounds again visiting his patients and relieving them by his skill and kind and encouraging words.

Mrs. Joseph Moriarty and child arrived in town last week from Conche, where she spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Norris.

Mrs. Ash, wife of Mr. Charles Ash, of the H. G. B. & S. Factory, expects to leave next week for Boston on a visit to her son and daughters there. She will probably be away until Christmas.

Miss Maggie Banville, of the Cochran House, is just now visiting friends at Western Bay. Maggie is a favorite at this popular home and her quick step is greatly missed just now. Her friends wish her a pleasant holiday.

Mr. Thomas O'Neill, formerly station agent at Badger Brook, but for the past year or so at New York, arrived on Tuesday night on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Neill.

A number of young ladies of this town are very much interested in the work of the new dock and visit the scene quite often, especially when the diver is preparing to "go below." Perhaps it may be the diving suit, the general dock work, or even the diver himself, that attracts the fair ones; but anyhow they are there.

We were shown on Saturday some very fine cabbage, potatoes and beet grown by Mr. James Gorman, of the electric light service. This is Mr. Gorman's first venture in farming and a very creditable showing he has made, which will no doubt inspire him to greater efforts in the future.

We were approached on Saturday by a young man who requested us to explain to him what reference had the appearance of the item about the disappearance of the electric light wire referred to in Friday's paper. He had read about the "lark," and mistaking the joke for a bird, he had thought of it some time after as a sparrow. When the grocer began skylarking with the electrician he little thought what complications would arise.

Miss Lizzie Power is at St. John's on a visit to friends. She expects to be home on Friday next.

Miss Bride Dicks returned from a very pleasant month's visit to her people at Odehly by the s.s. Argyle on Friday, arriving here the same night. The trip down on the little steamer was considered by the officers as the most stormy for several years, but even that was made enjoyable by the kindness of all on board.

Mr. Albert Rogers, President of the C. B. B. Society, was apprised by wire on Friday evening that Mr. Henry Clow had passed away at Bell Island on that morning. Mr. Clow was 67 years of age. He joined the British Society in 1864, when he was 20 years of age, and has been a member ever since. Mr. Clow was well known, having been caretaker of St. Paul's Church for a number of years.

Death ensued the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Snow yesterday and removed one of the number, Miss Sarah Snow, aged 15 years. Consumption was the cause of death. Much sympathy is felt for the surviving family.

Preparations are now being made for the Agricultural Exhibition to be held here about the end of the month. It is safe to say that the "show" this year will eclipse all former efforts. We would like to see the Reid Nfld. Co. arrange for excursion rates on these days so as to allow people to come from all quarters and see what can be grown in this town and bay.

The ladies are still working, quietly it may be, but nevertheless determinedly, in connection with the hospital movement, and we may expect to hear something good from them soon. Here is a chance for people with money to do something noble. We cannot realize what a great benefit an hospital would be here until some of our friends are compelled to go to St. John's to hospital, the shaking on the train being sufficient to tire a healthy person, and even then perhaps find that institution so crowded that admittance cannot be gained. Had we the money and our present desire to help the noble work, then the hospital would soon be an accomplished fact.

A trio of ladies of the East End, accompanied by a gentleman who is temporarily residing here, took quite a long walk away to the N. W. a short time ago in an endeavor to hunt up a fortune teller, and thereby dive into the future. The revealer of the future told them many interesting things, but when asked if the gentleman was a married man, she got out out of the dilemma by remarking: "Oh, I can't tell things like that." The gentleman was told that he would soon hear a sad story of death, &c., and he was a bit worried over this for a few hours, when he met a charming young widow, who seemed delighted to relate the life history of her departed husband. He was greatly relieved.

THE NICKEL.

The Original Picture Theatre! One day only, in order to comply with many verbal and written requests:

GEO. IRVING and P. J. McCARTHY will repeat the popular vocal success: "LIFE'S DREAM IS O'ER" (Duet).

"THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR."

(Selig). An absorbing story of transgression, conscience and remorse, carrying with it a strong moral. Splendidly acted by a superb company.

"HER CHUM'S BROTHER!"

(Produced by the Kalem Stock Company during their season at Florida). A refined and beautiful story, interestingly told in strong dramatic pictures.

AND OTHERS, TOO.

NOTE: Our evening shows are so arranged as to give every store employee an opportunity of witnessing the entertainment. Third show commences at 9.30 p.m.
