FIGURES DO LIE.

Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.

They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build. They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.

They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money". If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.

You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.

REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.

We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.

We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.

REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

THE HEIR OF Lancewood

CHAPTER XXVIII

"No," said Vivien, joining suddenly in the conversation. "Mr. Dorman was a valued friend of my father's, and now he is a valued friend of mine."

With a puzzled glance the tutor looked from one to the other. Miladi smiled significantly and said something to him in an undertone in French so rapidly that Vivien could not hear it; he only looked at her the more attentively. Then the dinner-bell rang; and she saw miladi take the tutor's arm.

"Do you mean Oswald to dine with us, Valerie?" she asked.

"Certainly," was the abrupt reply.

Miss Neslie took the boy's hand and followed the laughing pair into the dining-room. Her heart burned with indignation. Her angry scorn was so great that she with difficulty restrained it—for she had to uphold the honor of her race and must have no public exposure.

As usual, Valerie took her seat at the head of the table, the tutor being on her right hand. Vivien, whose face burned with shame and humiliation, saw the wondering looks of the servants; she noticed the old butler's gaze as it rested indignantly on Lady Neslie. She could imagine the comments, the gossip, the disgust of the few faithful retainers left.

Monsieur de Nouchet tried hard at first to engage her in conversation; he was most polite and deferential—he paid her compliments which she received in perfect silence.

"He does not know his position," she thought; "a tutor has no right to place himself on an equality with me."

Then all her late good resolutions returned to her mind. If she could benefit Oswald by talking to this man, obviously as he was to her, she would certainly do so; if she could interest him and try to make him understand her views concerning the child, she would trample under foot all smaller feelings of annoyance and mortification—she would rise above all mere personal feelings, and do her duty.

She was sorely tried; before dinner even was ended it was patent to her as well as to the servants that the tutor would be to all intents and purposes master. Lady Neslie consulted him, deferred to him as she would have done to Sir Arthur, the finest wines in the cellar were ordered in for him, messages were sent that the cook must prepare a certain number of French dishes every day. Lady Neslie asked him if he would take coffee in the drawing-room, and he went there with them.

Vivien was horror-stricken. What new terrible evil was this which had befallen the unhappy house of Neslie? She would fain have escaped to her own room but that she feared the comments the servants would make if she left Valerie and the tutor tete-a-tete! The boy was dismissed, and Vivien fancied—she was not sure, but she fancied—that she heard Valerie say to Monsieur de Nouchet—

"You will not be troubled much with him."

She asked herself whether she was in some terrible dream, some waking nightmare. She went to the piano and began to play. Valerie took no notice of her, and the tutor resumed his place by miladi's side. They laughed, talked, jested; the dainty bloom deepened in Valerie's face—she was all brightness and smiles, while Vivien looked on in silent dismay.

Suddenly Lady Neslie crossed the room to speak to her.

"Vivien," she said, "Monsieur de Nouchet and I are going to Ladypool to-morrow. It will be a pleasant ride; will you go with us?"

The question was simple, the answer difficult. Vivien asked herself if she could condescend to make a third in such a party. Her heart rebelled against the bare idea; she could never bring herself to be on equal terms with them. Then conscience asked her which was the worse—that she should seem to identify herself with them, or that they should attract attention by riding about the country alone. A sudden escape from the dilemma occurred to her.

"To Ladypool?" she said. "Why Valerie, there will not be time for that if Oswald's lessons begin."

"Monsieur de Nouchet will take a holiday just to look about him," she said. "I have promised to show him the country; you can please yourself as to going with us."

"Heaven help me," thought Vivien "for I know not what to do."

"I will make no engagement now," she said, coldly. "I will decide in the morning."

She thought to herself that perhaps the morning might bring her wise counsels. Miladi seemed perfectly in different. Vivien played until she was tired, and then she took a book. She read until long past their usual hour of retiring. Valerie and the tutor were still talking and laughing. Vivien decided that, however painful it might be, it was her duty to remain whatever shield her presence could throw over Valerie's want of propriety, she would throw.

It was nearly midnight when Valerie rose and said—

"I am losing my beauty-sleep. Vivien, are you not tired?"

Monsieur de Nouchet bowed profoundly over her ladyship's jeweled hand; Vivien never raised her eyes as he bade her good-night.

Miss Neslie could not sleep; she was restless and miserable. What did this horrible familiarity mean? How would it end? How was she to keep the honor of her house stainless and scatheless?

The next morning she rose, hoping against hope for better things; but when she went down into the breakfast room, the tutor was there, and there was no excuse this time in the fact of the boy's being present. He had the favorite chair in which her father had preferred to sit; he asked if the papers had arrived; he named a dish that he should like for luncheon. If that breakfast had lasted much longer, Vivien's patience would have given way. He conducted himself in every way as though he had been master of the house. Miss Neslie could hardly trust herself to think of it.

After breakfast the horses were brought round. Her ladyship descended, looking very bright and bonny in her riding-habit. She had a pretty jewelled riding-whip—Sir Arthur's gift—in her hand.

"I shall not ask you again to join us, Vivien," she said laughingly. "I have remembered the old adage—'Two are company, three are none.' So the onus of the decision did not rest after all with Miss Neslie."

She watched them until out of sight, and then, with dismay on her fair face, and despair in her heart, she went to consult Gerald Dorman.

"What must I do?" she cried to him in passionate wrath. "What can I do? If I speak to Lady Neslie, she will only be defiant and make matters worse. Has such a thing ever been heard of, that a man should be taken into a house and treated like the master of it, as this stranger is?"

Gerald was at a loss what to do or advise; he could only try to soothe her and calm her angry despair.

"Things will probably alter in a few days," he said. "Lady Neslie evidently likes her relative. After she has shown him the country, and the excitement of his arrival is over, she will doubtless behave differently."

"And in the meantime, what about the scandal?" asked Miss Neslie. "I saw the strange looks yesterday on the faces of the servants. Think of the scandal, the comments, and the gossip, when it is known that Lady Neslie and her son's tutor ride out together—that he in fact lives with us as one of ourselves."

"We can only hope that Lady Neslie will remember public opinion, and think twice before she outrages it," said Gerald.

And, when Vivien began to think matters over, she saw she could only await the course of events.

Things did not improve. Monsieur de Nouchet took luncheon with them; he spent the afternoon in loitering through the conservatories with miladi; he dined and spent the evening with them. There had been no allusion to the boy or his lessons. Vivien bore the irregularity patiently that day, but she promised herself that she would speak on the following morning.

How she detested the idea of sitting down to breakfast with them no one but herself knew; yet she saw that, if she gave orders for breakfast to be taken to her own room, it would give rise to all kinds of gossip amongst the servants, and that above all things she wished to avoid. She went downstairs; it seemed to her that her absence or her presence was of little consequence—miladi and the tutor were engrossed in each other. In answer to some remark of Monsieur de Nouchet's Valerie said—

"We will have a long ride to-day. We will go to Nuneham Park."

Then Vivien seemed to think it was time to speak. She raised her head, and looked the tutor full in the face.

"When do you think, Monsieur," she asked, "of beginning Sir Oswald's lessons?"

Somewhat taken aback at this direct attack, he glanced at miladi.

"Whenever Lady Neslie thinks well," he replied.

"And that will not be just yet," said Valerie. "You will begin when I tell you—not before. Have you any reason for wishing to know, Vivien?"

"Only that people will think it very strange you should engage a tutor who never gives a lesson," answered Miss Neslie.

"Never mind that," laughed Valerie; "if Mrs. Grundy chooses to ask rude questions, refer her to me."

The tutor looked again from one to the other.

"Who is Mrs. Grundy?" he asked, wondering.

"A lady whom I like to pique and to startle," said Valerie. "I will manage my own affairs, Vivien, thank you."

And that day Gerald Dorman resumed his teaching of the boy.

was true that the tutor was to dine every day with the family, and if he was to continue serving him with the best wines and liquors.

"You must obey Lady Vivien," replied Vivien.

"I will do so if you order it, Miss Neslie; but I beg leave to say that I am an old servant—Sir Arthur trusted me; and, if it were not for your sake, Miss Neslie, I would not remain at Lancewood."

She raised her fair startled face to his.

"Why not, Holmes?" she asked.

"People are saying queer things about Lancewood, miss. I have lived here as man and boy. The name of this place is dear to me. I never thought to hear Lancewood lightly spoken of."

Vivien's face flushed hotly.

"Who does speak lightly of it?" she asked.

"Everyone, Miss Neslie, who knows what is going on here. My lady is foreign, and perhaps does not know English customs, or she would not always be seen riding and talking with the young heir's tutor. I beg your pardon, miss, but it hurts me."

"And it hurts her, yet how was she to prevent it? What was she to do?"

The old servant saw the weary expression on the beautiful face. She looked up at him.

"You must not think of leaving us, Holmes; you must remain with us for the honor of the house." And after And it hurts her, yet how was she lost his life than have gone away.

Rushing a Stockade.

British Gallantry in Central Africa. Details of a plucky fight in May between a British mobile column and an enemy force at Mwenegambe, on the Nyassaland border, have been supplied by Reuters. A native stockade was rushed with great bravery.

The British force was composed of 50 Northern Rhodesia Rifles and 25 Northern Rhodesia police, under Lieutenant Brenner. After a march through rough country the column arrived on a high escarpment, from which they saw the enemy's stockade. A beer-drinking party was in progress and the approach of the British was unknown.

At dawn the little force reached the edge of a clearing 200 yards wide round the stockade, which was made of a double row of logs 10 feet high surrounded by a trench staked at the bottom and sides by sharpened pegs.

The British dispositions were very skillful. The attacking party, under Lieutenant Irvine, rushed the gate of the stockade with great bravery and heavy firing started. Our men penetrated the stockade and got into the trench, but the enemy refused to smother from their huts although firing on the attackers.

In the meantime the police had a strong engagement with those of the enemy who attempted to escape. From two long huts astride the gate of the stockade Lieutenant Irvine was badly wounded in the left arm. Sergeant Mills got to him first, and although very weak from loss of blood, Irvine said, "Leave me, Mills, and take charge of the men." He was taken back to the base, and next morning his arm was taken off, but he died the same night.

The fight itself was all over in 20 minutes. Few of the enemy got away, and many remained in their huts until burnt out. It is believed that among the dead were two German officers. A number of old guns were seized and thirty-two prisoners taken. The enemy used expanding and soft-nosed bullets.

From the Front.

Messages Received Previous to 9 A.M.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

The Governor, Newfoundland:

General Hamilton reports severe fighting continues in Gallipoli Peninsula. The area captured in the Anzac zone is nearly trebled, chiefly through the gallantry and dash of the New Zealand and Australian corps. No further progress has been made in the northern section.

The small armed patrol vessel Ramsay was sunk by the German armed fleet auxiliary, Meteor, in the North Sea on August 8. Four officers and thirty-nine men were saved. The Meteor subsequently sighted a British cruiser squadron and the captain to avoid capture abandoned and blew up the ship.

The French Government report very violent German attack in Argonne penetrating the French position at one point. The enemy were driven out by a counter-attack retaining only part of the first line of trenches.

The Russian Government report the Germans repulsed in Riga district. Near Kovno three German battalions were almost completely annihilated during a counter-attack. The German offensive continues on the Narva.

The Italian Government report an Austrian submarine torpedoed and sunk with all hands by an Italian submarine.

BONAR LAW.

ASSISTING HARVEST WORK.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

To assist harvest work, the Education Committee of the County of Kent has released nearly 1,500 school children. Kent has been called the Garden of England, and is devoted largely to orchards, berry farms, and hop fields.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, Aug. 12.

In Artois there has been cannonading and petards, with fighting around Souchez. In Argonne last night the enemy delivered two attacks against our trenches in the region of Marie Therese and Fontaine aux Charnes, and was completely repulsed. In Le Pretre wood there was a rather sharp struggle from trench to trench with grenades and big bombs. In Vesges at the Ligne the Germans attempted an attack which was repulsed after a grenade fight. Nothing new to report on the remainder of the front.

ITALY'S GRAIN HARVEST.

ROME, Aug. 12.

Latest official reports regarding the harvest, show that Italy needs 12,000,000 qtrs. more grain for her consumption until next year. A quintal is 220 pounds. Most of this grain, it is understood, will be purchased in America.

FRENCH AIRSHIP RAID.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

A despatch received here to-day from Berlin says, "French aviators dropped bombs on Sewerbrucken, Tsank and Ingloh, killing eight persons and wounding several. The property damage was small."

CONSULS LEAVE TURKEY.

PARIS, Aug. 12.

A despatch from Geneva says that the Swiss Legation in Constantinople, announcing that the Italian Consuls have left Turkish territory. Italian interests have been confined to American officials.

SERBIA WON'T CONCEDE.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

The Balkan situation is featured by the morning papers. Serbia's unwillingness to cede territory claimed by Bulgaria, which will be necessary to insure the active co-operation by Bulgaria on the side of the Allies, has had a discouraging effect.

GERMAN REINFORCEMENTS FAIL.

GENEVA, Aug. 12.

A despatch to the Geneva Tribune from Innsbruck, capital of the Austrian Tyrol, says that German operations have been suspended on the Kovno-Suwalki-Grodno front because of lack of reinforcements, no new troops having arrived since August 10th. The Russian offensive at Kovno is of the greatest importance, as the Germans first line troops suffered terrible losses on August 8th and 9th. In this section as well as in the region between the Lomza and Bug, it is marked that many regiments are much below the average strength.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 12.

Austro-German forces are pursuing the Russians retreating from the Warsaw salient, and have occupied Lukow. Zambrowo also has been captured.

A SIGNIFICANT ORDER OF THE DAY.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

A significant order of the day, predicting the resumption by the Germans of a vigorous offensive on the west, has been issued to the Teutonic armies in Flanders, according to the Amsterdam Telegraph. An extract from this order telegraphed by the Amsterdam correspondent of the Stock Exchange Telegraph Company is as follows: "Our work now is practically finished in the east. We are about beginning in the west. Peace is certain in October."

ALREADY QUARRRELLING.

LONDON, Aug. 12.

The correspondent of Reuters' News Agency at Amsterdam sends the following: "The announcement from Vienna that the Austrian Polish Club, comprising the Polish Deputies to the Austrian Reichsrath and the Austrian Diet, has issued a manifesto demanding the re-establishment of the Kingdom of Poland, as an independent state under the suzerainty of the Hapsburg monarchy, has drawn a protest from the Vossische Zeitung in Berlin, which declares, it is not in Cracow or in Lemberg that the question will be solved regarding the fruits of a war, in which the German people of the empire have exhibited a force unequalled in history."

U. S. AND GERMAN BEET.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.

Informal negotiations were begun to-day for foreign trade advisers of the State Department to ascertain whether Germany would agree to Germany stipulated some time ago that any such shipment must go through a neutral port, and that exchange to equal value, in wheat, forage and meats must be given. Britain requires shipment to be made through a neutral port, and that no exchange of these commodities be involved.

A destroyer, which followed the aeroplane, also bombed the city, in which there were said to be a large number of victims. The Governor of Smyrna, fearing attack, sent 8,000 men to reinforce the coast defense troops. The Turks are constructing new works about Smyrna, and large calibre cannon have been placed along the Smyrna-Skalia-Vourla road.

BRITISH AUXILIARY CRUISER SUNK.

The announcement adds that 22 officers and 113 men of the India were saved. LONDON, Aug. 13. The Turkish gunboat Derik-Satvet and an empty transport, have been torpedoed in the Dardanelles by a British submarine. This was officially announced today. The Derik-Satvet was built at the Krupp works in 1907. She was 232 feet long, 27 feet beam, 8 feet deep, displacement 783 tons, and fitted with two four-inch guns, six 6-pounders, two four-pounders and three torpedo tubes. Her complement was 105 men, and speed twenty-two knots. (See 8th Page for to-day's messages.)

The men now in training are rapidly picking up the drill and many of them are becoming proficient with the rifle.

C. E. T. S. Picnic.

The annual picnic of the C.E.T.S. was held on Wednesday, Aug. 11th at Irving's Grove, Long Pond Road. Despite the inclement weather about 75 members and friends availed themselves of the opportunity of spending a few hours together in the open air. The party arrived on the grounds at 3 p.m. Canon White, President of the Society, and Rev. J. P. Adams, Chairman, were also present, and helped greatly to the enjoyment of the evening. Games of various kinds were indulged in till 5.30 p.m. when all adjourned to the room things provided. Altogether the affair was a decided success, and voted by those present to be one of the most enjoyable the Society has ever held.

Gerard to Protest German Prize Verdict.

Sinking of the Indian Prize With an American Cargo Unjustified, United States Holds.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The United States will protest against the decision of the German prize court in the case of the British steamer Indian.

The State Department takes the view that it is another clear violation of the Decia at the time of the sale, which amounted to about $10,000.

On the way to Rotterdam the Dacla was seized by a French cruiser, and last Tuesday the French Prize Court confirmed the capture of the vessel as a fair prize under the laws of the country, although it is understood the State Department will enter a protest. The cargo of cotton is not involved in the French court's decision.

N. Y. Business Men

Volunteering for a Month's Training Under U. S. Army Officers.

New York, Aug. 9.—Mayor Mitchell will be one of the volunteer recruits composing the camp of 1,200 business and professional men which begins a month's training under United States army officers at Plattsburg (N.Y.) tomorrow. One of his purposes in going is to set an example for other New York men, because he approves of Major-General Leonard Woods' plan for the military training of civilians.

Nearly 100 men prominent in business and professional life in Philadelphia, including many well known athletes, polo players and former college football stars, are to be sent to Plattsburg (N.Y.) where they will undergo a four weeks' course.

Biggest German Gun

Captured by the British for the Toronto Exhibition.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The biggest German gun captured by the British since war opened a year ago is safe in Toronto. It arrived on Saturday and is still in bond, where it will remain a few days, until the Exhibition authorities make preparations for its safe keeping until the fair opens.

Considerable anxiety has been felt in Exhibition circles regarding its arrival. It was too large to ship by the C. P. R. liners, and the War Office surrounded the movements of the murderous German production with considerable secrecy.

30 ARRESTS MADE.—The police spent a quiet time last evening and not a single arrest was made.

Dacia Spilt is Settled

Ship Brokers' Action Against C. N. Breitung is Withdrawn

New York, August 7.—As a result of an agreement reached by all parties concerned, the suit brought originally in the United States Supreme Court, and later transferred to the Federal District Court by E. V. Novelly & Co., ship brokers, of 18 Broadway, against C. N. Breitung, the banker, as purchaser of the former Hamburg-American liner Dacia, has been discontinued. The terms of the settlement were not stated.

Breitung paid $165,000 for the Dacia, which was granted American registration by Galveston with a cargo of cotton valued at $750,000 for Rotterdam, Holland. As freightage on the cargo Breitung received $195,000, which netted him a profit of $25,000.

E. V. Novelly & Co. held an option on the Dacia at the time of the sale, and the ship brokers also prepared the cargo for the vessel, they sued Breitung for their interest in the deal, which amounted to about $10,000.

On the way to Rotterdam the Dacia was seized by a French cruiser, and last Tuesday the French Prize Court confirmed the capture of the vessel as a fair prize under the laws of the country, although it is understood the State Department will enter a protest. The cargo of cotton is not involved in the French court's decision.

Belts are not plain, some have black polka-dots of patent leather on a background of soft white kid, some are in black-and-white check.

FRIDAY, August 13, 1915.

Words of Appreciation.

The amount of money remitted for the cost of the two Aeroplanes was $21,706.20. The amount sent for the Reid Nfld. Aeroplane was over $7,000. The balance of cash in the hands of Mr. J. A. Cliff, the Treasurer of the Fund is over $21,000. In all over Fifty Thousand Dollars has been subscribed and received by the Treasurer for Aeroplanes and Machine Guns. This response has exceeded all expectations. Particularly is this so in regard to the appeal for Machine Guns. The force of the latter appeal has been so intrinsically great that the people have responded to it without any special stimulus being used by the committee in charge. Notable among these responses have been those from Grand Falls, Badger and Millertown. Grand Falls has sent in $2,575.20; Badger, $924.10; and Millertown, $1,100. All told the workmen of these towns, employed by the Anglo-Nfld. Company have subscribed within a few cents of $4,600, and this is a remarkable showing considering the population of these places. The response in men and money goes far to merit the tribute paid to Newfoundlanders by the Montreal Herald of August 6th. Among these words of encomium are the following:

"Newfoundlanders who had left home before the war broke out will be found on the roll of almost every Canadian regiment. But they have gone to the front directly from home one out of every thousand of their population."
"Those who cannot go are doing their share, too. The colony is wealthy in natural resources, but individual fortunes are not large. Yet they started in to raise funds by popular subscription to purchase two fully-armed and equipped airships and twenty machine guns. They have already raised enough for three airships and are still going. They have staked their all on the issue of the war. They could not have accomplished what they have without immense personal sacrifice of men and means. Had all of the Empire done proportionately as well the enemy would be absolutely overwhelmed."

Grenfell Mission Work

SPLendid EXHIBITS.
Dr. MacAusland, Orthopaedic Surgeon, as already referred to, will view cases at the Grenfell Hall to-morrow from 12.30 to 1.30, and will be leaving here for the North on Sunday, accompanied by his other associates who are here. Dr. MacAusland is the same kind of specialist as Dr. Adams, who visited Newfoundland last year in connection with the Grenfell Mission work.

Manager Jones of the King George Institute has north on exhibition in the Grenfell Hall a splendid collection of mats, and a lot of beautiful varicoloured artificial flowers and other handwork. The exhibits are the work of the livers of St. Anthony and indeed are a credit to them. They are commented on favorably by the visiting directors of the mission.

RIDDER SUES W. R. HEARST.
New York, Aug. 8.—Herman Ridder, editor and owner of the New York Staats Zeitung, has started a suit in the Supreme Court against the Star Company, publishers of Hearst's New York American, charging libel and asking for damages of $250,000.

Ridder says he was damaged by an article which appeared in the American on May 29th, and which said that he was engaged in the manufacture of aeroplane parts for England and the allies.

Mr. Ridder disclaimed any responsibility for the supplies to the allies by the company, by the reason that Erskine Hewitt had been appointed receiver of the concern and had sole authority to conduct its affairs.

Congratulations to Winner

Of Distinguished Service Medal.

To Leander Green, a Naval Reservist from St. Jones Without, Trinity Bay, came the honor of winning the first distinction to be conferred on our lads engaged on active service. According to a cable from London to the Montreal Daily Star, a copy of which appears elsewhere in this issue, Leander Green has been awarded the highest honor next to the Victoria Cross that a British sailor can win, and to-day wears the Distinguished Service Medal. No particulars as to what particular action has led to the conferring of this honor, are at hand at present, but whatever the action was, Newfoundland rejoices in the honor conferred upon one of her brave sons. Leander Green is a son of Mr. Mark Green and Mrs. Caroline Green, of St. Jones Without, T. B. and was one of the first to respond to the call to the colors. He sailed from here on the Franconia in November last, and since arriving on the other side, was, we understand, engaged at patrol work in the North Sea, where duties are arduous, exacting and dangerous. We extend congratulations to our brave sailor lad, and to his parents at St. Jones Without, and express the hope that the day is not far distant when Leander Green who has been so highly honored by his King, will return to Newfoundland and be acclaimed by his fellow countrymen.

A Story of Princess Mary.

Travelling Incognito Being Arrested as a German Spy in France.—Party had Forgotten Passports, and were Held for Four Hours.

New York, Aug. 9.—A London cable to the Tribune says: A member of the British Royal Family, thanks to the efficient espionage net of the Allies at the front, has been arrested charged with being a German spy. For four hours the Princess Mary was held under guard, while officers, sympathetic but skeptical, investigated her claims to royal privileges. Having none on an income visit to the hospitals at the front, Princess Mary, accompanied by Miss Dussau, started to meet her brother, the Prince of Wales, at the British headquarters. When about 6 miles from the village where the staff was located her car was halted by a French patrol. Unluckily the occupants had forgotten their passports and permission papers, nor did the patrol recognize Royalty in the name of Lady Chester, which Princess Mary gave.

Leaving the car with its occupants under the guard of two French soldiers and with the assurance they would be shot at six o'clock in the evening, the corporal went in search of the officer in command of the outpost. Not until four hours later did the officer return. The identity of the prisoners was then established by messages to the British Headquarters which was on the point of issuing a general alarm for the missing Princess.

Missing Children FOUND BY POLICE.

Two little girls named Olive Tilley and Nellie Marshall, aged 3 and 4 years, respectively, strayed away from their homes on Plymouth Road yesterday. When they did not return up to tea their parents became anxious and along with friends made search for them. Bennett's Grove and other neighbouring places were scoured without avail. Enquiries at the different Fire Halls also failed to discover the whereabouts of the two youngsters. At last the police started to make search and with success, as inside of an hour they located the youthful wanderers who were at once taken home to their parents.

Wreckage Still Hides the Dead of Erie's Flood.

City's Forces Work Hard to Recover the Victims, Which May Total 75.
Erie, Pa., Aug. 5.—Working in relays under a scorching sun, police, firemen and volunteers to-day continued their search in the masses of wreckage piled along Mill Creek by Tuesday night's flood for the bodies still believed to be in the debris. Twenty victims of the disaster have been identified. It is known that at least fifteen more persons are unaccounted for, and figures compiled by the authorities lead to the belief that at least forty others have been lost. The majority, it is believed, being in the foreign section around Ninth St.

The work of cleaning up the city was begun in earnest this morning. The naval militia was called out to reinforce the National Guardsmen on duty, guarding the stricken section, and sightseers were kept away from the working gangs. Mayor Stern announced that he had received offers of relief from many cities in Pennsylvania, but he thought that Erie would be able to take care of its own expenses. The public eating houses opened yesterday were in position to take care of many persons who had neither food nor shelter, while charitable people provided liberally with clothes those who had lost their all in the torrent.

Physicians from the Pennsylvania Health Department arrived here during the night and at once took up the task of safeguarding the city from pestilence. All persons known to have come in contact with the filthy flood water were ordered to appear at the office of the Erie Health Bureau this afternoon for inoculation against typhoid. Estimates of the damage continue to mount as the extent of the flood becomes more apparent and it was today asserted that probably $5,000,000 would be about the correct estimate.

Spy in Nun's Garb

Crossed Sea With Canadian Troops.
One of the most interesting recent revelations of the German system of espionage has reached this city in a letter from Lorne Cameron, an officer in one of the first Canadian regiments to be transported to England. Cameron, who is a son of Sir Douglas Cameron, M.P., former Governor of Manitoba, obtained permission to sail on a transport which left Montreal ahead of the one which was to carry his own company, his reason being the desire to take his wife along and establish her in England before he was ordered to the firing line.

Before leaving Winnipeg the Camerons were asked if they would take charge of a young English girl who was returning home and see that she was delivered safely at her destination. They agreed willingly and the young officer set about getting her accommodations. He found the ship crowded and the girl was obliged to share a stateroom with a nun. This was satisfactory enough, as the nun kept much to herself, and the first two days of the crossing passed without incident.

On the night of the third day out, the young girl awoke some hours after she had retired and glancing over the high rail of her berth was astonished to notice a light behind the curtains of the nun's berth across the stateroom. The curtains were not entirely drawn and by altering her position quietly, the girl was able to peep between them. To her horror she saw the nun crouched in front of a small mirror—shaving!

Pluckily restraining her desire to scream, the girl closed her eyes and remained perfectly still until well after daybreak, when she slipped on her bathrobe and hurried to the cabin of her guardians. Cameron notified the Captain immediately of what the girl had seen, and the "nun" was promptly investigated.

Stripped of her close-fitting head-dress, the sweet-faced Sister proved to be a blonde and gentlemanly young German spy, travelling with the troop ship for the sake of what information he could pick up. He was placed in irons and turned over to the military authorities on the ship's arrival in England. The young girl naturally became the heroine of the voyage, though she is of the opinion that the shock she got when she saw the razor being wielded in the opposite berth was too high a price to pay for any amount of subsequent adulation.

The Flavor of a Day.

By RUTH CAMERON.

What a different flavor different days have. And what small things help to determine that flavor! Yesterday I found myself feeling in a countably happy, laughter came readily, hopefulness was the natural bent of my mind. It was a cloudy day but I felt sure it would clear off. I laughed at annoyances that would ordinarily have exasperated me; and best of all, I felt that delightful sense that something very pleasant might happen to me any time.

I Wondered What Made Me So Happy. Finally my own mood so attracted my attention that I stopped to analyze it. And what do you think had flavored my day with hope and happiness? Two such little things! I had received a letter telling me that a certain very small venture of mine was likely to be successful and a friend had told me of a bit of praise another friend had given me!

Two such little things! And yet they colored the whole day with the rose color of happiness, just as a drop of bright dye would color the whole vessel.

The Morning Determines The Day. One reason why they were so potent, I think, was because they both happened early in the morning. The morning is the childhood of the day. As the morning hour is influenced so is the day.

And this is true of unpleasant as well as pleasant things. An unpleasant happening, a piece of disagreeable news in the first hour or two of the day, will often cloud the whole day, whereas it would be only an incident if it came later on.

I am always sorry when I see a new house built with the dining-room towards the west, for the room in which breakfast is eaten should always be made as pleasant in every way as possible.

My Ideal Dining-Room. My ideal dining-room has an open fire-place in which, on any excuse, a little blaze is burning, a big bay window through which the eastern light is streaming, a round table with flowers in the middle, and growing plants somewhere about the room.

The people who sit about this table do not gulp down their food absent-mindedly and rush from the room. They eat slowly, they savor the charm of the dining-room as well as the food. They linger over their coffee and perhaps enjoy with it their morning mail and the newspaper.

Yes, I know that is only an ideal and pretty near impossible for many of us. But I feel sure if we could accomplish it, it could go to meet the day in this leisurely and gracious fashion, it would be a more harmonious meeting and a happier day.

To make a faded dress white, boil it in two gallons of water in which a half cupful of cream of tartar is dissolved.

To remove paint from clothing, saturate the spots with ammonia and turpentine, mixed, and then wash out in soapsuds.

Meigle's Report.

The S. S. Meigle, Capt. Gooible, returned from north yesterday morning. She made an excellent run on her last trip, for though she was over half a day late in leaving here, and lost another half day waiting for the sea to go down in order to enable her to enter Battle Harbor last Sunday, she arrived back here in good time. Capt. Gooible reports that at Blanc Sablon last Friday boats secured from two to four quintals each with hook and line, and some fish were also taken in gill nets. Along the rest of the Labrador side of the Straits very little or nothing is doing. From Henley to Pleasure Harbor the fishermen have been unable to haul their traps for a week, owing to a heavy ground sea, the like of which had never been witnessed there before. The S. S. Sagona reached Battle Harbor from Northern Labrador on Sunday. She reported poor fishery north. The Meigle sighted five steamers passing through the Straits of Belle Isle on Monday, the most of any day for the season; three of them were lumber laden. The icebergs along the Straits have been smashed by the recent seas, and they are now drifting along the Canadian coast. The lobster fishery along the Straits coast of Newfoundland is looking up well, considering the small number of fishermen engaged in that industry this season. The Meigle landed about a hundred cases at Bonne Bay. She also landed a crew at Bonne Bay, who had given up the codfishery in the Straits; other crews will return home on the next trip.—Western Star.

Fishery Report.

The following reports from the fishery are now posted at the Board of Trade rooms:
Aug. 7th. From M. J. White (Aquaforte to Caplin Bay)—The catch to date is 8479 qtls. and for last week 60. Ten whale boats, 45 dories and skiffs and 44 traps are fishing. Eight local bankers have arrived and report no cod or squid. Prospects cannot be judged as the boats are unable to get to the grounds and there is no bait. No traps were hauled since Monday owing to rough weather and it is likely many have been considerably damaged in the storm.
Aug. 7th. From P. J. Wade, (Salmon Cove Pt. to Colliers North Pt.)—Prospects are not very encouraging at present and there is a scarcity in the supply of bait. Very little fishing was done during the week owing to the strong N. breeze. The trap season is almost over and the best in this neighbourhood is reported for 140 qtls. There is just a sign of squid. Nine traps, 30 punts and 1 boat are fishing. The total catch is 420 qtls. with 40 for last week.

Aug. 7th. From T. O'Brien, (Pt. Amour to Red Bay)—Ten traps and 70 dories and skiffs are fishing. The catch to date is 700 qtls and for last week 50. Prospects are poor as there is only a little codfish but an abundance of caplin. The caplin did not strike off last year till September 10th and it was after Aug. 20th the people sought their voyage.
Aug. 7th. From J. F. Devereaux, (Cape Race to St. Shott's)—All the traps have been taken up as the season for them is over, but 61 dories and skiffs and 1 boat are still fishing. Three local bankers arrived during the week and report cod very scarce. There is some caplin for bait and prospects for trawls and jiggers are good. The catch to date is 19,000 qtls and 100 for last week.
Aug. 7th. From T. Soper, (Chatham to Port aux Basques)—Dogfish are very plentiful and bait and codfish being scarce, prospects are not very bright at present. The total catch is 245 qtls. of cod and 5900 lbs. of halibut. One boat and 15 dories and skiffs are fishing, but all the traps have been taken up. Two schooners have returned from Labrador with only 180 qtls. between them.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon at the Grenfell Hall. Mrs. Penman presiding. The meeting was largely attended, and amongst those present were many clergymen of the city. It was decided, owing to the request of several outport clergymen, a quantity of literature for use in the Prohibition campaign will be forwarded as soon as possible. Matters in connection with the visit of the lecturer who is coming here from Illinois next month were discussed at length. She will spend about two months in the country and will visit the principal outports, giving addresses at each place. During the meeting votes of thanks were passed to Mrs. Pippy and those who contributed so largely to the success of the recent garden party. The meeting adjourned at 5.30 p.m.

The Minister for Horseshoes.

"The horses and mules of the British Army are being very largely shod by a London teacher! Behind that bald fact there is a great romance of thought, energy and organization, which has sprung up where chaos and blank dismay existed not very long ago," says the Little Paper.

We think of horseshoes as being hand-wrought in village smithies, where rosy-cheeked children at the door watch the sparks fly from the ringing anvil, but shoes for the horses of an army, even in times of peace, must be made by machinery. That had long been done in Great Britain, with the result that the trade was concentrated in the hands of a few firms, who, when the demand came for an enormously increased output found themselves unable to furnish the supplies required. The British Army was therefore, in a very serious position, for horses, break and wrench of their shoes on the hard and broken roads of war-time in a way that is unequalled in time of peace.

"What was to be done to meet the great need of the Army? Somebody had to be found who would do it. Mr. Hill, a London County Council school-teacher, who had been conducting classes for blacksmiths called the Anvil. To Mr. Hill, then, the War Office turned with a request for shoes for horses.

"Mr. Hill's answer was practical and immediate. He put a notice to blacksmiths in his paper; he got in touch with blacksmiths big and small, townsmen and villagers. How many shoes a week can you supply? he asked each and every one. Each according to his ability—some a few dozens, some a few hundredweights, some in tons. Mr. Hill mapped the country into districts, appointed depots for each big area, and in a few weeks had 4,000 master blacksmiths at work, all turning out shoes for the horses and mules of the British Army.

"He organized a department at the War Office, and giving up school-teaching, he directs this department himself, with eighty clerks appointed to serve under him. Everyday shoes are being hammered out in the smithies from Wick to Falmouth. They go to the depots, and then on to Bermuda, where they are inspected and passed; then they go to Woolwich and out to the front.

"Quietly the work goes on, without fuss or excitement, but Mr. Hill is providing a hundred tons of shoes a week, over a million shoes a month, and every week each blacksmith gets his cheque and goes on his way rejoicing. There was never a greater triumph of quiet, cool-headed organization. What the British Army with all its organization could not do for itself a school-teacher has done for it, and the Minister of Horseshoes is one of the most successful servants of the nation in these days of its need."

Coat frocks are so fashionable that every woman sending a chic morning dress of serge, tussor or linen really has to take account of them.

SIX PICTURE PROGRAMME AT THE CRESCENT TO-DAY.

The Crescent Picture Palace is putting on a six picture programme to-day, the productions of the very best photo play companies, consisting of detective and western dramas and comedy subjects. See the regular advertisement in another part of this paper for particulars. The energetic Madame Olive Timmons will sing the beautiful ballad "The Heart of a Rose" and the world-famous Scotch song: "Loch Lomond" in which she will be heard at her best. The popular Professor P. J. McCarthy will play her accompaniments thereby ensuring a musical treat such as has rarely been given anywhere. Nothing but the best is the Nickel Theatre's motto, and to-day's programme will prove it once more. The bill to-day is most elaborate and will, we feel certain, afford the highest satisfaction and pleasure to all. The big feature is the beautiful social drama "On the Stroke of Five." It is a swell production of the Vitagraph artists and features the celebrated stars Naomi Childers and Darwin Karr. This is without doubt one of the best pictures ever shown in St. John's. Every lover of the drama should make an effort to see this film. "The Hazards of Helen" will be continued and there will be other big class subjects. The big matinee for the children takes place to-morrow.

Important Contest.

The Collegians and St. John's football teams will try conclusions this evening. The outcome of the contest will probably decide the championship holders for 1915. As already known the possessors of the silverware this season got to be either the Collegians or B. I. S., both of which are the closest runners up. If the Collegians lose this evening the B. I. S. will be champions, if the Collegians win they will be champions, but if a draw occurs the Collegians and B. I. S. will have to meet again to have the mastery decided. The players this evening will be:

ST. JOHN'S.—Goal, Knight; backs, Crawford, Higgins; halves, Rawlins, Power, McGrath; forwards, Callahan, Fanning, Kelly, Callahan.

COLLEGIANS.—Goal, Wornell; backs, Heath, Halfyard; halves, Pike, Barnes, Pike; forwards, Coultas, Ellis, Kendrick, Joliffe, Gear.

BISURATED MAGNESIA

A well-known medical writer says: "I always first prescribed Bisurated Magnesia in every case of hyperacidity (sour acid spoonful) that comes to me. YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Here are some very important notes for parents. Don't forget that children, like plants, suffer seriously from want of sunlight. Don't forget that children are more seriously affected by impure air than grown people. Don't forget that little children are easily depressed by gloomy surroundings, and this lowers their vitality. Don't forget that lowered vitality makes children more liable to catch any infectious diseases. Don't think that any room in the house will do for the nursery. The sunniest, most airy and most cheerful room in the house should be given to the children if you want them to be healthy. Don't shake or scold a child who wakes up and cries out in the night. Often night terrors are a purely nervous affection, and any harshness only makes matters worse. Don't say "don't" to your little ones. Remember to tell the child what he is to do not what he is not to do.

HEAVY FIGHTING YESTERDAY.

CETTINJE, Montenegro, To-day. It is officially announced that heavy artillery and infantry fighting yesterday near Gorazda and also the former Bosnia, 29 miles southeast of Sarajevo, the latter in southeast Herzegovina, a short distance across the Montenegrin border.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. The situation in Poland and the Baltic Provinces is changing but little from day to day. Attention is turned to the Near East where the diplomatic quarrels of the moment are endeavoring to revive the Balkan league to bring all the Balkan States out of their shade, and to the armies of the Allies which are battling against the Turks in the Gallipoli Peninsula and in the Caucasus. Diplomats of all belligerents for the moment are concentrating attention on Sofia, for Bulgaria holds the key to the situation. It is said she is being offered concession for her to join one side or the other or to remain neutral. Both the German and the entente ministers are declared to be finding their endeavors hindered by their friends. Greece and Serbia are unwilling to concede Bulgaria and parts of Macedonia which is her price for joining the Allies, while Turkey is opposing the concession which Austria and Germany desire her to make to insure the continued neutrality of the Sofia Government. Bulgaria, too, it is asserted, is weighing the victory of the Austro-Germans against the renewed efforts of the Allies in the Dardanelles. The signal victory which the Russians are said to have won over the Turks in the Caucasus, it is believed will keep Turkey quiet on that frontier for some time. There was no news from the armies in the Gallipoli Peninsula last night, but the British Admiralty reports the operations of British submarines in the Sea of Marmora. One is interfering with Turkish communications by sea. This underwater boat which recently sank the Turkish battleship Kheyr Eddin Barbarossa, also has sent to the bottom the Turkish torpedo submarine I Stambul which was empty transport. Nothing is said in the Admiralty communication of the former German cruiser Breslau and Goeben, now owned by the Turks, both of which are unofficially reported to have been sunk by British submarines.

The Russians continue their retreat in Poland, but they are retarding the German advance which is now regaining momentum by repeated counter-attacks by stubborn resistance wherever conditions are favorable. There is still considerable distance between the German armies S.E. and N.W. of Warsaw so that seemingly the Russians will be able to make good their retreat, only however, to be called upon to oppose the German attempt to outflank them at Kovno and further north. The strength of the German offensive in the latter region has led to the assumption by some military observers here that the Germans are now aiming at Petrograd. It is pointed out, however, that there is a great stretch of marshy country between the present battlefields and the capital, which it is asserted would make the adventure a dangerous one. Besides Germans would first have to capture Vilna, Drinsk and Riga, all of which the Russians are defending with very strong forces which at times are able to take the offensive. The Germans claim the capture of a group of French fortifications in the Argonne forest of France, whereas the French say all German attacks were repulsed. Otherwise there have been no events of importance on the western battle front. The public here was prepared to hear something of greater importance than the sinking of the British cruiser India, which was announced by the Admiralty last night.

ALLIES CANCEL WHEAT CONTRACTS.

CHICAGO, To-day. The cancellation yesterday by the representatives of the Allies, of contracts aggregating nearly two million bushels of wheat, bought for September shipment to Europe, was puzzling to the grain trade early to-day. Not only were the cancellations reported by Chicago concerns, but some seaboard exporters claimed to have closed out open contracts. The Canadian exporters also reported some cancellations. James Patton, former Board of Trade operator, discussing the cancellations, said: "If peace were in sight, Europe would still need wheat, and she would have credit to get it. The cancellation of orders, therefore, would seem to indicate one of two things, viz., either Europe has found a source of a new supply, which means Russia, or Europe finds that she cannot pay."

ITALIAN ALPINE TROOPS PRAISED BY WAR OFFICE.

ROME, To-day. The effectiveness of the Italian Alpine troops in repulsing two Austrian attempts to cross the frontier through passes of the Alps at an altitude of ten thousand feet, is praised by the Italian War Office in an official statement.

MILITARY SITUATION REVIEWED.

LONDON, To-day. Reviewing the situation in Russia, the military correspondents of the Times pays an enthusiastic tribute to the masterly retreat of the Russian armies. He says the stand made by the wings protecting the army falling back from Warsaw, was magnificent, and undoubtedly was entirely successful, as the Warsaw army now can be successfully opposed, and the front now, according to the correspondent, is admittedly, the far north, where no real success is possible for the Germans until the fall of Riga and Kovno enables them to besiege the city. The retreat of the Russians central and northern groups of armies. To the northwest, even Kovno is only the stepping stone for the Germans. He says the real question is as to the strength of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, whose presence indicates that he is at the head of a formidable group of armies and in charge of decisive operations of the eastern campaign. If Von Hindenburg can be successfully opposed, there will be no catastrophe for the Russian armies.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

LONDON, To-day. The Balkan capitals are showing the liveliest interest in the reports that the Germans are preparing to launch a campaign against Serbia, according to despatches from Bucharest, Sofia and Athens. The correspondents declare that the proposed German offensive against Serbia, would be a blessing in disguise, because it probably would bring about the union of the Balkan States.

WASTING AMMUNITION.

MILAN, To-day. The Australian artillery has renewed its attempts to shell Montecorona, but with results. The Italian artillery has been exceedingly active and successful all along the Corinthian Alps. It has shelled the Austrian positions of the trenches and the Italian infantry to occupy fresh positions. An Austrian attack on positions of Monte Madetta, and an attempt to place barbed wire defenses there, has signally failed. A violent attack on Italian positions north of Goritz near Plava, has been twice repeated supported by heavy artillery and these repulsed with heavy losses to the assailants. Severe fighting also has taken place in the valley of Sexton, and sources of the Ribancho, Italian artillery has begun successfully to shell the fortifications in the region of Cadore.

Girl Braves Fire To Save Infant.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Miss Susan Hoy, the young daughter of Thomas Hoy, of New Rochelle, scaled the front stoop of her burning home, in Pelhamdale avenue, at three o'clock this morning and rescued her infant brother, Thomas Hoy, Jr. While firemen and spectators gaped, Miss Hoy, clad only in her night dress, slowly climbed over the supporting columns of the porch and entered a bedroom on the second floor. She ran to her brother's crib, grasped him and carried him to the window. Several firemen standing below told her to drop him. Leaning out of the window she dopped the child to safety, then clambered to the ground. The Hoy family were roused just before three o'clock by smoke and flames belted to have been caused by rats gnawing matches in a cupboard in the dining room. None had time to get clothing and in their dash to the street Thomas, Jr., was forgotten until all were outside. The house and its contents were destroyed.

MORGANS TO ANNOUNCE BRITISH LOAN SOON.

New York, Aug. 7.—The large financial interests in Wall Street are devoting their attention just now to arranging a British loan, which is expected to be announced next week by J. P. Morgan & Co. It is understood that the proposition is to make a loan of $200,000,000, but the first arrangements may be made for only $100,000,000. The new sweaters are quite long, cut straight like a box coat, and belted in at the waist.

Freak's Body Not To Apply on Bill.

Boarding House Mistress Denied Remains of Guttenmiller to Pay Debt as Promised.

Philadelphia, Pa., Friday.—The Coroner of Philadelphia to-day refused the request of a boarding house mistress that she be given the freak body of her former boarder so that she could sell it to the highest bidder and thus get back money she had advanced the man.

The body was that of William Guttenmiller, who had committed suicide. His heart was on his right side, and other organs were not in their normal positions. Physicians had discovered his strange physical make-up, and worry over the peculiar construction, it is believed, caused him to end his life. Guttenmiller owed the woman a board bill and had borrowed small sums from her from time to time, telling her that when he died she could get the money for his body from a medical college.

The Coroner told the woman that under the law he could not give her the body. It is probable that it will be turned over to the State Anatomical Board, if no one claims it for proper burial.

THE WOMAN WHO DRINKS.

There is a great wave of prohibition sweeping over this country; yes! all over the world, and women can help the universe to arrive at that near utopian state, by stopping the habit, if they are unfortunate enough to have it, and at the same time enhance their beauty, which can never be without the absence of that "hard look" which the woman has who drinks, even though she be a moderate drinker.

I feel sorry for women who accuse themselves to taking what they call a "bracer." For I know that they cannot be content with one bracer, but they become addicted to being artificially braced many times during the day. It only takes the second drink to make a drunkard. A glass of champagne will cause the face to flush and look anything but attractive. Drink is never necessary to women who are in good health; it heats the blood, retards digestion, causes acidity in the stomach, and ruins every vestige of beauty. It is often the cause of making a lovely girl appear disgustingly vulgar. I do not think offered to young people. If girls could realize the horrible consequences of drink they would fly from it as quickly as they would from a plague.

When a girl or woman is addicted to drink it is the end of all for her. Friends and family are ashamed of her; she is disgusting to everyone she meets. She finds herself eventually alone with her enemy, face to face, ever fighting her and ever overcoming her. She may have looked fascinating with her first drink, but she ends by being a loathsome sight to all.

IDEAL ANTISEPTIC IS NEW DISCOVERY.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical research, and Dr. Henry D. Dakin, of the Lister Institute, have discovered, after exhaustive experiment at the Compiègne Military Hospital, what they declare is the ideal antiseptic. The most powerful antiseptic known to science is hypochlorite of lime, but its use is injurious to the tissues owing to its acidity, and it does not keep. Drs. Dakin and Carrel have found these two defects are remedied, respectively, by the addition of carbonate of lime and boric acid. Wonderful results have been obtained with the new antiseptic. If applied in time, it is said to make infection in wounds impossible.

War Contingent From Jamaica

Will be Raised and Equipped and Sent to the Front.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 5.—A meeting of the Jamaica war contingent committee was held yesterday afternoon, at which His Excellency, the Governor was present. The Governor read certain cablesgrams to the committee, and it was decided that the necessary arrangements be made locally for the transportation of the contingent. As soon as these arrangements are completed the contingent will be sent to camp for training. It is hoped that this will be done in the next few days.

The men will be enlisted under the defence force law prior to enlistment under final conditions, which will be done before embarkation. A cablegram from the Commissioner of the Turks and Caicos Islands was handed to the committee to be dealt with. The Commissioner is enquiring whether volunteers would be accepted from Grand Turk for enlistment in the Jamaica war contingent. The committee decided to accept from Grand Turk as many men as they could send forward, on condition that the dependency pay to the contingent fund their proportion of the cost of sending the men. These men will be sent forward in addition to the Jamaica contingent.

EXERCISE.

A good long walk each day is wise, but as old age approaches, we hate the thought of exercise, and ride in cars and coaches. And it is when we're waxing old that exercise is needed. We hate to dispel the fat and mold, our trillies must be speeded. We ought to walk to work and back, and shun the elevator, and do the chores around the shack, and hoe the beet and 'tater. Instead of riding in a car, on seats of padded leather, 'twere better if we walked afar, in every kind of weather. We ought to sweat beneath the sun, absorb the heat it launches, and then perhaps we wouldn't run to double ghins and paunches. We let all rules of health go hang, and when in bad condition, we do not walk & parasang, but send for a physician. Instead of climbing sunlit hills, inhaling wholesome breezes, we take a pint of purple pills and grunt of our diseases. We dodge all forms of exercise, which course is truly batty; and when we lie the doctor cries, "Degeneration fatty!"

British Skipper Court Martialled.

He was Charged with Cowardice and was Failed to Engage German Submarine.

London, Aug. 7.—The first case of a British skipper being court martialled on charges of fleeing before an enemy and general cowardice was brought to-day in Devonport. James Brown, an officer of the Royal Naval Reserve, commanding a British steam trawler, was accused of witnessing the sinking of a schooner by a German submarine, failing to engage the enemy, and fleeing without attempting to rescue the craft. The schooner was destroyed.

Brown denied the truth of the charges. He asserted that he went to the spot at high speed but the submarine had disappeared. The sea was rough and he saw no trace of the schooner's boats, he added.

The court acquitted him of the charge of falling to engage the enemy from cowardice, but he was found guilty of falling through negligence. Brown was dismissed from the service.

SEE AMERICA FIRST—CONCORD

By GEORGE FITCH
Concord, Mass., is a little city of less than 7,000 inhabitants. It has never won a baseball pennant as far as known, and its commercial chime, if it has one, has made no audible remarks to the world. No one knows whether or not Concord has pure water, a fine fire department, low taxes and unexcelled factory sites. And yet Concord prospers and is visited annually by thousands of American tourists.

This is because Concord has received a finer line of advertising in the American school histories and the literature of the country than any city of its size. Ever since it was founded in 1635 it has been hanging around in an exposed position whenever anything important happened in New England, and has received the benefits thereof.

When the tourist visits Concord he goes out under boulevards of ancient elms to the famous ridge where the shot that was heard around the world was fired. He visits the beautiful town common beside which stands the old Wright tavern in which Major Pitcairn boasted about what he would do to the rebels. When a Concord house burns the first thing carried to safety is the bullet hole which it received during the first battle of the revolution. The famous minute man statue at Concord is more eloquent to the 100 per cent. American than all of Michael Angelo's mountainous marble saints.

Concord is not only stuffed with history, but with the memories of great men. It has produced them for more than a hundred years. Emerson, Hawthorne, Thoreau, the Alcotts and Channing all lived here and their homes have not been torn down to make room for moving-picture theatres and modern apartments. Senator Hoar was a Concord man and the iron hoar hounds in front of his house are much admired. French, the sculptor, was born there and many famous men of to-day have gone to Concord to live in order to drink deep draughts of history and literature each day.

The state reformatory is also located here. Concord has been in the reforming business ever since Emerson and Thoreau began their labors.

Concord is only twenty miles from Boston, though it seemed 2,000 to the British in 1775. In a half day's visit an American can imbibe enough patriotism here to last for several years and to interfere seriously with his determination to get as much as possible out of his country while swearing off all his taxes.

London, Aug. 9.—Despite the war prices there are fewer paupers now in England and Wales than there have been in forty years—less than 16 to every 1,000 persons. In London there are only 13.7 per 1,000, as compared with 6.4 per 1,000 six years ago.

The demand for workers of even the poorest class is so great that there is practically no unemployment.

Chicago Munition Makers for England.

Chicago Daily News Reveals Alleged Plan to Obtain American Machinists.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The Daily News says: "Parties of Chicago recruits for England's 'Munition Army' are now at sea, bound for British soil, on the steamer Arabic; others are on board the Adriatic, which was advertised to sail from New York to-day.

"Light was thrown to-day on the system which is sending American mechanics to English munition factories and ship yards. A letter from the officers of the White Star-Dominion line to a Chicago applicant for a job as a 'munition volunteer' came into possession of the Daily News and it is said to uncover the method by which Great Britain is enlisting American skilled craftsmen for factory war duty.

"Chicago workmen have been recruited for some time past by Superintendent Bond at the Elston avenue roundhouse of the Grand Trunk Railroad, it is reported. Men accepted have been furnished transportation to England at the offices of the White Star-Dominion line at No. 14 North Dearborn street.

"Wages as high as £6 ($30) a week plus overtime are mentioned in the steamship company's letter to would-be recruits, as well as rail and ocean fare both ways and one year's employment guaranteed at union rates."

Makes Hair Grow

The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed.

It destroys the dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots. Large, generous bottle for 50 cents.

Bride and Convert.

Tests for Admission to Jewish Faith.

"I declare it to be my earnest wish and solemn injunction that no child of mine shall at any time or under any circumstances abandon the Jewish religion or intermarry with any person not of the Jewish religion."

In these serious words, placed in his last will and testament, the Lord Swaythling, who died four years ago, enjoined upon his family a strict adherence to the faith he held. The Hon. Venetia Stanley, youngest daughter of Lord Sheffield, whose engagement to Lord Swaythling's son, Mr. Edwin Montagu, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, is announced, has embraced the Jewish faith.

The process is neither simple nor perfunctory. In modern times (according to Jewish authorities) conversions to Judaism are not numerous. Marriage, in contravention of the Rabbinical caution, is in most instances the motive, and proselytes of the feminine sex predominate. Instruction in the Jewish religion precedes the ceremony, which consists in a public confession of faith, in the main amounting to a repudiation of certain Christian dogmas and the reciting of the Shema, the Chief Jewish prayer.

The candidate has to undergo a special course of tuition in Jewish laws and customs and to satisfy the Chief Rabbi or the Beth Din (a board of accessors) of qualification, both by sincerity of belief and knowledge of the Jewish religion.

Lord Swaythling, a foreign banker and bullion broker of the City, whose will was proved in the first instance at £1,150,000, left his residuary estate to his four sons and six daughters, "provided that they shall respectively at my death be professing the Jewish religion and not be married to a person not professing the Jewish religion."

Several religions are, or have been, represented in the Stanley family. Miss Stanley's eldest uncle, now dead, was a Mahomedan, and another uncle was a domestic prelate to the Pope. Lord Sheffield is a Churchman of individual views.

A Word of Praise.

Editor Evening Telegram. Sir,—The drains on the "Higher Levels" and in the environs of Lime Street, and adjacent streets are being well attended to by the genial Inspector in charge of the work, Mr. Nicholas Murphy. They are kept very clean and the residents of the places mentioned are profuse in their praise of the Inspector, who leaves no stone unturned to see that the work is done faithfully and well. I think that a word of praise is due him, and I know the many taxpayers, who speak highly of his efficiency, will be pleased to read it in the columns of The People's Paper.

I remain, yours faithfully, "HIGHER LEVELS." August 12th, 1915.
