WHEN you go back to your old home after an absence of 10 or 15 years, don't expect people to be glad to see you; after people have not seen a man for 10 or 15 years they don't care much if they never see him.

"Do you know," said the young man, "a game of baseball reminds me of a household. There is the plate, the pitcher, the fouls and the flies." "It reminds me more of courtship and marriage," said the young woman, "with the diamond, the coaching, the strikes, the men going out and their difficulty in getting home."

It is useless to make a fuss about the hot weather. No good can come of it. Keep a calm temperament, and persevere as freely as you can. The blazing sun no doubt is uncomfortable, but it is doing an enormous amount of good. It is the greatest money maker in the world. It is ripening the crops that will feed us all after next harvest.

We regret that some of our customers have had to wait for their job-work orders to be filled this week. An accident to our job press on Friday put it completely out of use, and it was necessary to get a new one from Toronto. The new press is now on the way and will likely be here in a few days. Until then we must ask the patience of those who have placed orders for job work.

A MEETING of the Presbytery of Sarnia is in session at Wyoming this (Thursday) afternoon, called to consider the report of Rev. E. B. Horne, M.A., of Watford to Renfrew. The delegates from the Watford congregation are Messrs. W. B. Laws, J. McKecher, W. McLeay and A. D. Hone, and Knox church, Warwick, is represented by W. McKecher, Don. McLeay and Wm. James.

We understand that the congregations named are prepared to offer the reverend gentleman a considerable increase in stipend to remain here.

A POPULAR notion to the contrary notwithstanding newspapers do not recommend that communications be written on one side of the paper only because the editors want to write on the other side themselves. There are good sound reasons for the restriction, for "copy" of the obnoxious kind creates trouble for everybody from the editor who first reads it, to the proof reader who finally "spikes" it. Almost equally objectionable is copy begun at the very top of the page, leaving no room for the editor to put in head lines and instructions to the printers. A part of the first sheet ought always to be left clear.

The deputy postmaster-general has issued the following notice: A man calling himself Fairbank, and personating a Toronto postoffice inspector, called at Gambridge, Ont., on the tenth instant and took away a book of money orders numbered 2953-2700 inclusive. He has since cashed one order at Galt, payable to Mr. Jones; also one at Guelph as George Carr. Following is a description of the man: Tall, thin, sunburnt, rather sallow, think clean shaven, about thirty-five years, dark hair, sharp features, rough tweed suit, soft black hat, broad rim. He said his wife sent him money orders from Gambridge, Ontario. Notify money order clerks; also sub offices and local police. The man is to be detained if one of the stolen money orders should be presented.

LOST, Friday evening last, in Watford, an open air band concert.

WE would consider it a special favour if you would pay your account this week.—SWIFT'S.

In his notes on the recent bowling tournament in Windsor, the Record has this one: "Dr. French, of Amherstburg, caused everybody to sit up and take notice when he related a remarkable incident that happened the other day at the 'Burg. The jack was entirely surrounded by bowlers and bounced up in the air after a fast shot had been made, landing in the coat pocket of Marwood Barrett."

The Reeve has received a letter from Mr. Hunter, the government purchasing agent who was here lately re post office site, which follows:—The Ontario Council approving acceptance of the Cameron site, reported on by me was received on the 5th inst., and the Justice Department were written to by us on the 10th inst., advising them to take up the matter of title and have the transfer made letter I presume you will hear from them very shortly with respect to the transfer."

ONE of the sweetest little newspaper paragraphs of the month is the following written by a country correspondent of the Guelph Mercury—The far-away West has many attractions but we must not be blind to the possible advantages and charms of old Ontario. You may journey far afield but in few places does honest toil meet with better remuneration. In no other land will you behold so many homes bright with affluence, beauty and comfort, smiling now with all its wealth of summer glory, its Edens of blossoming orchards, its varied prospects of rural splendor, its landscape scenes all fair as the garden of the Lord, Old Ontario, alive with indescribable loveliness, is the choicest home on God's earth.

A CHICAGO despatch to the Globe says:—Those who have been accustomed to paying $5 a pair for their fall footwear will be compelled to add another dollar to their shoe allowance this year or be content with an inferior quality of footwear. Not only does the raise affect shoes of the $5 variety, but shoes of all grades. It is estimated that the price of shoes is now $6.50. The price of shoes has been raised from time to time to keep pace with this increase in the cost of leather, but another boost in the shoe price is now due.

THERE are a number of people who think that merely affixing a five cent stamp to a letter registers it. Occasionally letters are found in the post office box with stamps affixed which are evidently intended to be registered. People sending letters through the mail in this way are merely throwing away their money and have absolutely no claim against the post office department in case of loss. To register a letter is nothing but to have the postmaster to enter it up in his records and give you a receipt for it. In this way the P. O. Department knows just what hands it passes through and gets a receipt for it when it is delivered at its destination. If it is lost anywhere it can easily be traced on account of each official through those hands it passes having a record of the time he had it and to what other official or station it was passed on to. To merely affix a five cent stamp to an envelope and drop it into the mail is nothing but a waste as it is not registered any more than an ordinary letter. When you want a letter registered, give it to the post master and get a receipt for it.

A Word to Business Men.

What are you doing to keep Watford to the front and draw business? The methods of ten years ago will not do it as they are practically obsolete now. It is not fair to expect that one man or even half a dozen of them, will carry their share and yours as well. An awaking all along the line is what's needed and now is a good time to get it. A long pull, a strong pull and a pull together will accomplish what separate individuals can not. Don't leave it to your neighbor but step into the ranks yourself and your activity and energy will entice others. The legitimate trade that belongs to Watford should not be allowed to be transacted in other towns just because of a bigger effort on the part of the people there, or through the negligence of the people of Watford in looking after that trade. Some of the neighboring farmers seem to have an idea that Watford business men are not very anxious for business, and complain that during the harvest season the places of business should not all close on Wednesday afternoon and evening; that arrangements should be made that some should remain open each Wednesday. A person in the country during the rush season is liable to forget for the moment whether it is Wednesday or Thursday, and cases have occurred where, after driving to town for some much needed articles, persons have found it impossible to have their wants supplied. Be that as it may, the close-up idea is being much overdone and is not helping the business of the town. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, but too much play and too little regard for the accommodation of customers will not tend to increase trade.

Death of Mrs. Restorick.

On Sunday July 21st, Louisa Burch, relict of the late Wm. Restorick, Watford, passed peacefully away after several weeks illness, at the ripe age of 75 years, 5 months and 3 days. Mrs. Restorick had been a resident of Watford for nearly 40 years. She was a native of Devonshire, England, was married there about 55 years ago, and came to this country with her husband and one child, a babe in arms, in the year 1863, settling in Warwick Village. About ten years later the family moved into town where Mr. Restorick started a livery business, which he carried on, with the assistance of her sons, for the last eighteen years, since her husband's death. Three sons, Fred, Joseph and Harry, all of Watford, remain of the union. Deceased also leaves a brother, Eli Burch, in England, and three half-brothers, Harry and Frank Restorick, of Chicago, and George, of St. Clair, Mich. Deceased was a kind-hearted and friendly woman, energetic and careful in all business matters. She was a member of the Church of England. The funeral took place from her late residence, Huron street, Tuesday afternoon and was well attended, Rev. S. P. Irwin conducting the service. Interment was made in the Watford cemetery. The pall bearers were Thos. Roche, J. Mc Gillendy, J. S. Williams, Col. Kenward, E. D. Swift and W. J. Howden.

Don'ts For Bowlers.

Don't get sore when someone makes a better shot than you do.
Don't hesitate to applaud a good shot, no matter who makes it.
Don't object to play in whatever position the skip may place you.
Don't make remarks about another man's poor play; it's bad form.
Don't gloat over your victory; it will make your opponent feel badly.
Don't complain about the green when you are visiting another club.
Don't give any advice unless the man who is skipping asks you to do so.
Don't pack your rink for a social game but give the new men a chance to play.
Don't stand in the way of those on the next green; they want to play too.
Don't "butt-in" when the end is being counted; let the vice-skips settle it.
Don't blame the green for your defeat; the winner played on the same grass.
Don't keep the game waiting when it is your turn to play; have your bowl ready.
Don't tell your wife that you were delayed down town; be honest with her; she knows you have been bowling.
Don't make uncomplimentary remarks about your opponent's bowling or say anything about his style of delivery.
Don't fail to live up to the rules governing the game or tournament for only then will there be fair play for all.

BASEBALL.

McDonald then came to bat and smashed the ball for a single, scoring Leigh.

Morningstar read a very fine paper on "Fruit Dishes and Puddings" and the very useful recipes by which the roll call were answered were much appreciated by the ladies. It was decided that the members and their families would hold their annual picnic on August 1st, which was postponed.—ETHEL THOMSON, Sec'y-Treas.

Mr. A. W. Augustine, 4th line north, died rather suddenly on Thursday morning last. He had been afflicted with heart trouble for some time and about 6 o'clock he had an attack which caused his death about 11 o'clock. Deceased moved to Warwick from West Adelaide only a few years ago, buying the farm on which he died from Mr. Jacob Brown. In religion he was a Presbyterian and in politics a Liberal, being returning officer for East Lambton at the last general election for the Commons. He leaves a widow, three daughters and one son to mourn his loss. The funeral took place on Saturday from the residence, lot 22, con. 5, N.E.R., to the West Adelaide cemetery and was under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity.

Albert Early, of Kerwood, is back from the North West after a sojourn of several months, spent with his brother Robert at Morse, Alta. Albert had some notion to hit the trail but a look over the ground has completely shattered his ambition and he is now more than ever satisfied with old Ontario. It's good enough for him, he says.

Strathroy council has ordered the water wagon to commence business not later than 7.15 each morning. Mid-day sprinkling does not amount to much.

TWO WOMEN TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their Own Statements Follow.

Halliburton, P.E.I.:—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars.

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEO. COLLICURTY, Halliburton, Lot 7, P.E.I.

New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. You can use this letter."—Mrs. CASSIE LLOYD, New Moorefield, Clark Co., Ohio.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The Hamilton Herald says, "there are some people who didn't go to church yesterday because it threatened rain, but who went to the race-track Saturday through a rain storm that had all the ear-marks of a cloud-burst." Probably they were afraid the building Inspector had not given proper attention to the edifice, while they could only get wet anyway in going to the races. Besides, they might make a V even though getting soaked; while the Sunday dinner might have been late had they not remained home to superintend it. There are always some extenuating circumstances if one will only stop to consider them in all their various phases and ramifications.

The Brussels Post man thus gives advice about Leap Year: Pick out a fat man. They wear better in the long run and then too they are easier to land. A fat man is tender hearted and simply cannot refuse an offer of marriage. Never mind the looks. Don't wait until you find a Greek God. Grab off a homely one while the grabbing is good, the homely ones are the ones who bring home the pork chops. If you cannot support the young man in the manner to which he has been accustomed, be straightforward and honest about it, and tell him so. Never lie to the young man, for when he learns the truth there is apt to be trouble. Be sure that your approach is all that it should be. Everything depends upon that. When you ask a young man to marry you don't go about it as though you were ordering a ham sandwich in a one-armed restaurant, but be pleasant about it. Approach him with tact and let him find out your true nature after it is too late for him to back out.

Ministers and Tobacco.

Discussing the motion passed by the London Methodist Conference regarding the growing of tobacco, the Woodstock Sentinel-Review recalls that tobacco was not always under the ban of the church of this continent, and that in the early history of Virginia, for instance, ministers of the gospel were accustomed to receive their salaries in tobacco, the amount being fixed by law. The law provided that the yearly salary of a minister should be 16,000 pounds of tobacco. For a funeral sermon the amount was 400 pounds, and a marriage license 200 pounds. From one of the old books of the early days of Virginia we learn that the religious life of the country depended very largely on the quality of the tobacco grown. In some districts where the quality of the tobacco was notoriously poor, we are told that it was impossible to get orthodox ministers to stay.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Public Library Institute Meeting

The Public Library Institute meeting for Essex, Kent, Lambton and West Elgin was held in Chatham on Monday and Tuesday of last week. W. E. Fitzgerald, of this place, took part in the program, and delivered two addresses, one on library co-operation and extension along county lines and the other on the selection and purchase of library books. Mr. Andrew Denholme, of Blenheim, ex-warden of Kent County, also delivered an address on the first mentioned subject. Resolutions were then passed asking the Ontario Government to enact legislation, carrying out the ideas of these addresses in establishing libraries in each municipality throughout the county so that the farming community would more fully be benefited and the County Council help to contribute to the support of each library as well as the local municipality. Several other interesting papers and addresses were given.

The following officers were elected—President—J. A. Short, of the town of Essex; Secretary—W. J. Elliott, of the Town of Kingsville.
Executive Committee—Dr. C. R. Charters, Chatham; J. W. Hamilton, Sarnia; W. E. Fitzgerald, Watford; Dr. A. Voaden, St. Thomas, and Andrew Denholme, Blenheim.
St. Thomas was selected as the next place of meeting.

His Orders.

"Ticket, sir," said a collector at a railway station to a gentleman, who, having been a season-ticket holder for some time, believed his face was so well known that there was no need for him to show his ticket. "My face is my ticket," replied the gentleman, a little annoyed. "Indeed!" said the collector, rolling back his wrist bands and displaying a most powerful fist. "Well, my orders are to punch all tickets passing on this platform."

Something like half a century ago there was a boom in Kansas similar to that which is now prevailing in the Canadian West. While Kansas is in a prosperous state today, as a result of real agricultural development, no less than 2,300 Kansas towns, some of them having at one time a population of 5,000 or more, were completely wiped out of existence when the boom collapsed.

Spelling Simplification.

Nova Scotia has for over thirty years been associated with the endeavor to reform the spelling of the English language. The first step in that direction was taken in 1880, when Dr. David Allison, ex-president of Mount Allison University, then superintendent of education for the province, invited the principal of the Pictou Academy to write a paper for the Provincial Education Association's meeting in Truro. Since then this very necessary reform has been kept steadily in view by the educational authorities of Nova Scotia and statements in its support have appeared in various numbers of The Journal of Education, which forms the semi-annual supplement to the report of the superintendent of education.

This is only one of many agencies quietly working in the direction of spelling reform. Yearly many educators and men of letters enlist in the ranks and help forward a cause which rests squarely on its own merits. All the weight of argument and experience is on the side of simplified spelling. The present illogical, intricate and absurd system wastes from one to two years of our school children's time, and offers a serious obstruction to the acquirement of a practical knowledge of the English language by foreigners. Those who regard English as the coming world language and oppose spelling reform are doing their best to present that expectation from being realized.

Germany has introduced consistency into the spelling of the German language, with the result that the children of the fatherland are age for age far in advance of the children in English-speaking countries. Every hour in the formative years that is spent needlessly forms a handicap during the remainder of life, which affects not the individual only but the nation. After all it is no revolutionary theory that is advanced by the advocates of spelling reform, but in many cases a reversion to the spelling sanctioned by the greatest names in English literature.

A Delightful and Refreshing Hair Dressing

People who desire to preserve the hair can gain some valuable information from the following.

Have your own brush and comb at home and at hairdressers.

Never use a brush or comb in public places, they are usually covered with dandruff germs.

Wash your hair brush once a week with soap and warm water to which is added a disinfectant.

Shampoo the hair once a week with pure soap and water.

Use PARISIAN SAGE every day, rubbing thoroughly into scalp.

PARISIAN SAGE is guaranteed by T. B. Taylor & Son to destroy dandruff germs and abolish dandruff, or money back.

To stop hair from falling and scalp from itching, or money back.

To put life and beauty into dull, faded hair or money back.

The Immortal Pig.

[The Nation, London, England]
The position of the cottager with a garden who gets him a pig is almost like that of a man who gets the power of turning dross into gold. The animal is a transmitter of all sorts of garden rubbish into bacon.

The sulphurous cabbage-leaves that were an offence to the neighborhood, the empty pea-pods, the potato peelings and even the weeds are no longer a drug and a disadvantage, but a desideratum. If potatoes are peeled a little extravagantly, no matter. The pig will set that right. If milk gets sour, it is not lost. It goes into the bank at the end of the garden, and comes out gold at Christmas.

Wanted.

- A hat for the head of navigation.
- A nightcap for the brow of the hill.
- A monocle for the brow of opportunity.
- A toothbrush for the teeth of the wind.
- A stickpin for a matrimonial tie.
- A pair of sleeves for the arms of the sea.
- A glove for the hand of fate.
- A manicure for the finger of scorn.
- Link buttons for the cuffs of misfortune.
- A corset for the waste of time.
- Suspenders for the breaches of trust.
- A shoe for the foot of the hill.

Those who make the best of their time have none to spare.

A man who goes out to meet trouble will have a short walk.

When a stanger offers to do you a favor you are wise to ask why.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time effectual, are to be found in Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. Children like it.

The phrase "the bride was given away by her father," originally meant, that the father transferred a piece of property, a chattel mortgage, to another man. Now it means simply that the daughter is given by the father into the care and keeping of another. The custom has a certain sweetness about it, the thought "I have reared and cared for and loved this child, and now I place her happiness and well-being in your hands." Why quarrel with the expression? It does no harm to keep a few historical landmarks. Women are no longer "given away" except by their own express wish.

Should you find mail matter in your post office box addressed to other than yourself, and fail to return same promptly, you leave yourself liable to a fine of $200. This also applies to parties receiving mail through the general wicket. Where names are similar there has been mail taken that was not intended for the person receiving same, and in some instances not returned. No matter whether letters or newspapers the fine is just as heavy. If in the future one happens to receive the mail of another bearing a somewhat similar name, to return it is the only safe way to avoid trouble.

KEEP SEPARATOR CLEAN.

Dirty Machine is Often the Source of Infection in Milk.

That many dairymen sacrifice the quality of their products with great consequent loss because they do not appreciate the necessity for absolute cleanliness in order to prevent transmission of a host of diseases is the belief of E. R. Stockwell, instructor in the dairy department of the Oregon Agricultural college.

"Milk may become infected after it leaves the udder of the animal," Mr. Stockwell said recently, discussing the subject. "Numerous instances have been observed in which outbreaks of typhoid fever, scarlet fever and diphtheria, by their sudden and explosive character, affecting families living on streets and in localities supplied by the same milkman, naturally pointed to the milk as a common cause."

Thorough daily cleaning of the animal, keeping the hair in the region of the udder short, wiping the udder and surrounding parts with a damp cloth just before milking, clean, light stables, clean, dry hands during milking—these are some of the matters that must be given attention, according to Mr. Stockwell, if the dairy products are to be kept pure and free from disease germs.

A common source of infection is the dirty separator. The bowl of the separator should be taken apart after each use and washed thoroughly with warm water and washing powder and then sterilized with boiling water or steam.

After the milk has been drawn from the cow, if it is to be sold as whole milk it should be aerated and cooled to 50 degrees F. at once and kept thus until delivered. If it is to be separated that should be done as soon as possible since the fat globules separate more easily then, and the cream should be cooled and kept in a cool place.

H. W. Collingwood, editor of the Rural New Yorker, says that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred every soil that has been under cultivation forty years cannot be made to produce 75 per cent of its crop without the use of lime.

Both Right.
Mistress—In the time it takes me to tell you how to do the work I could do it myself.

Housemaid—Yes'm. And in the time it takes me to listen to you so could I!

Her Figure.
Father (to prospective son-in-law)—My Sarah is a pretty girl too.
Prospective Son-in-law (looking at the "dot")—Make that first three into a five and I'll believe you.

The Next One.
Rounder—What is your favorite drink?
Old Soak—The one I haven't touched yet.

IN FIELDS FAR OFF.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil is known in Australia, South and South America as well as in Canada and the United States, and its consumption increases each year. It has made its own way and all that needs to be done is to keep its name before the public. Everyone knows that it is to be had at any store, for all merchants keep it.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine or know your own loss. No counterfeits are as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

THE drawing was made from a photograph of the root-cellar with which D. A. Purdy, of Lumsden, Sask., won a cash prize in last year's contest. In that last contest there were 36 prizes. There will be three times as many prizes (108) in the

1912 FARMERS' PRIZE CONTEST

THUS you will have three times as many chances of winning a cash prize. You do not have to use any certain amount of Canada Cement to win a prize. There are absolutely no "strings" to this offer. There are twelve prizes for each Province (three of $50; three of $25; three of $15; and three of $10) and you compete only with other farmers in your own Province and not with those all over Canada.

It makes no difference whether you have ever used cement. Many of last year's winners had not used it until they entered the contest. When you write for full particulars, we will send you, free, a book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," which tells everything you need to know about concrete. It is absolutely free, and you are under no obligation to buy "Canada" Cement or to do anything else for us.

WRITE your name and address on the coupon, and mail it, or use letter or post card, and we will send you at once the book and full particulars of the 1912 Prize Contest.

WATFORD, JULY 26, 1912.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

During June no less than 67 new postoffices were opened in Canada, the majority being in the western provinces to meet the needs of the rapid influx of settlement.

Following the ruling of the Geographical Board of Canada the letter 'e' in the name Temiskaming, will be changed to 'i' and the word will hereafter be spelled Timiskaming. The same change will also apply to the word Temagami, which will now be known as Timagami.

Michigan people to the number of 9,754 moved into Canada during the year 1911. The recent census in Canada shows that more than one third of the immigrants last year came from the United States, which furnished 131,114 of the 350,374 immigrants. Immigrants from the United States were 6,512 more in 1911 than in 1910. Minnesota furnished 17,029 of the immigrants into Canada, Washington 15,203, North Dakota 12,194, Massachusetts 12,000, and New York 9,353.

"My boy," writes a white-haired mother to her son, a busy man in a distant city, "write home often. You do not realize what your letters are to me, and how long it is between them." No, he had not realized it, and unhappily there are many absent sons and daughters who need a similar reminder. They would be indignant at the suggestion of wanting filial devotion, but in the stress of business, in the society of new friends, in the happiness of a new home circle, how rarely they spare an hour for a good long letter to the aging mother in the old home—the loving mother whose heartache, as the passing days fail to bring the longed-for letter, is one of the most pathetic tragedies of old age. The decline of the letter-writing habit of an earlier generation has often been deplored, but this feature of the decline can neither be excused nor defended.

Newspaper Law.

1—A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no discontinuance until payment is made.

3—Any person who takes a paper out of the post office, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office or removing, or leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Preparations for drilling a well in the waters of Lake Erie for oil and gas are now being made in the lake south of the Cooper farm in Tilbury East township, by a company in which Alex. Chaplin, of Chatham, and H. D. Symes, of Niagara Falls, Ont., are among the interested shareholders. Work has been started, driving piles into the bed of the lake to provide foundations for the derrick and engines. The pile driving is being done by a former government contractor, and they will be ready to receive the structure shortly. The location for the well is about 200 feet from the water's edge in about ten feet of water.

DARK ROOM TESTING

Every child on reaching the age of seven years should have the eyes examined. Many children have defective vision, and it often happens that one eye only is affected. This throws all the work on the better eye while the other through disuse frequently loses its function entirely. With proper lense correction this trouble will be wholly overcome. If accompanied by parents we will be glad to examine children's eyes free of charge.

Dinner Party at Saskatoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ormrod, "Riversdale," Saskatoon, were the host and hostess of a very charming dinner party last evening in honor of their guests, Rev. E. Snell and Mrs. Snell and babe, Dr. O. Bourke, M.D., and Mrs. Bourke, of Toronto. Covers were laid for twelve, the table being splendidly festive, with giant chrysanthemums of a pretty pink hue. A group of pretty girls, including the season's buds, assisted. The hostess was gowned in a delicate white lace frock, with touches of black. After they dispensed with the dainties, Mrs. Ormrod rendered two sweet piano solos, "The Maiden's Prayer" and "The Waltz of Hope," also Mrs. Bourke sang beautifully "Because." The party will return to Toronto to-morrow after enjoying a beautiful trip.

Death From Exposure.

Mr. William Ford, of Thedford, uncle of Rev. Father Ford, parish priest of Bothwell, was sent from London to Parkhill on Monday night and placed in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from cold and exposure. The late Mr. Ford had wandered away from his home and had become lost in the woods around Parkhill. When discovered he was in an unconscious condition. Mr. Ford, who was past the seventies, had suffered greatly from hunger and exposure. It is thought that his mind had been affected for some time past. He died Tuesday morning.

Farmer Breaks His Neck.

Thamesford, July 23.—Thomas Pearson, a farmer residing near Kintore, fell from the top of a ladder yesterday while he was helping take in the hay at his barns, and broke his neck. He was dead when picked up. Deceased was 65 years old, and leaves one daughter, Mrs. McKay, of Princeton, and five sons, all of whom reside in Nissouri. His wife died about a year ago. It is thought not unlikely that Mr. Pearson while on the ladder was overcome by a spell of dizziness and in this way lost his hold.

CHOP STUFF.

The Sarnia grocers' picnic will be held Aug. 14th.

Amherstburg has adopted the wire baskets on the streets for waste paper.

John S. Walker, clerk of Mosa, has resigned. He served five years as councillor, 21 years as treasurer and 19 years as township clerk. Declining health is the reason of his resignation.

The newspaper men of Huron have got tired of working for glory only, and are holding a meeting at Clinton to-morrow to see if something can't be done to bar the way to the poor house.—Hensall Observer.

William Sinclair, one of Sarnia's oldest and most highly respected residents, had his life instantly snuffed out when he was struck, knocked down and run over by an electric street car on Christina street on Friday afternoon.

ARKONA

L. F. Jackson, of Toronto, is spending a week's vacation at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, of Detroit, are spending their honeymoon trip with friends in and around the Ark.

Geo. Powell, of Theford, called on Arkona friends Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hilborn, of Leamington, called on Arkona friends prior to leaving for British Columbia.

Miss Nellie Nelson is spending a two weeks' vacation with her sister, Mrs. C. Wilson, at Glanworth.

Miss C. M. Irwin is visiting friends in Jura.

Mr. Langstrath, jr., of Strathroy, spent Sunday with his father, Mr. I. Langstrath.

HOT WEATHER AILMENTS

A medicine that will keep children well is a great boon to every mother. This is just what Baby's Own Tablets do. An occasional dose keeps the stomach and bowels right and prevents sickness. During the hot summer months stomach troubles speedily turn to fatal diarrhoea or cholera infantum and if Baby's Own Tablets are not at hand the child may die in a few hours. Wise mothers always keep the Tablets in the house and give their children an occasional dose to clear out the stomach and bowels and keep them well. Don't wait till baby is ill—the delay may cost a precious life. Get the Tablets now and you may feel reasonably safe. Every mother who uses the Tablets praise them and that is the best evidence that there is no other medicine for children so good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NAPIER.

Miss Stella Hill, of the staff of Alma Ladies' College, St. Thomas, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Malcolm McIntyre.

The wild black and red raspberries have been very plentiful this year and many bushes have been picked from the surrounding woods.

The Misses Cora Sutherland and Jean Inwood, of Toronto, who are spending the summer at their grandmother's Mrs. C. Sutherland, spent a few days recently in Strathroy.

Last Saturday night and Sunday morning this district enjoyed the finest steady rain of the season. Although in many places the straw will be short, it is expected the oats will be of the very best quality.

The regular meeting of the W. F. M. S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held in the church. There was a good attendance, and the meeting was excellent. The president, Mrs. Henry Field, occupied the chair. A splendid paper on "Mohammedanism—Its Methods and Defects," prepared by Mrs. R. Dunlop, was read by Miss Retta Field. An article of vital interest was prepared by Mrs. C. Sutherland, and also read by Miss Field.

Miss Mary Gough motored to St. Thomas with her uncle for a visit.

Mrs. Elmer Quick has left for a visit to her old home in Amherstburg, and before returning will visit friends in Detroit, Hanover and Kingsville.

Many local students were successful at the recent examination. Mr. Fred Gough was successful in graduating from London Normal, Miss Mary Gough was successful in the Junior Leaving, Hibbert Denning and Vivian Beer passed from 1st to 2nd Form of High School, Ethel Field and Gordon Lightfoot both passed the Entrance examination. These were the only two who tried and the teacher, Miss Kadey, deserves much credit.

Mrs. Miller, of Vancouver, with her four children, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Dunlop.

Mrs. Dan McIntyre and family, motoring on a return trip from Alvinston to Strathroy, visited a number of their friends here.

Ezekiel Maekie, Miss Mackie and Robert and Mrs. Mackie motored out from Strathroy and visited friends here recently.

Sarnia's Summer Show.

We are featuring "Hurricane," the fastest Trotting Ostrich in the world, as a free attraction for August 28th and 29th. Hurricane has been the leading attraction and the big drawing card of the season wherever exhibited, and as a free attraction he stands in a class by himself.

When you consider how many people have never seen an ostrich you can readily appreciate what a novel spectacle one of these mammoth birds present when seen for the first time driven to a sulky buggy, covering the ground in strides that vary from 12 to 15 feet in record time.

Hurricane stands nearly ten feet high and weighs 400 lbs., and is one of the largest as well as the fastest birds in the world.

We will drive twice a day, weather permitting, forenoon and afternoon, or twice in the afternoon, one hour apart between heats, quarter mile heats before the band stand.

MARRIED THEIR MAIDS.
Servants Who Have Found Fortune at the Altar.
 Cupid is notoriously no respecter of persons; and if, in a mischievous mood, he makes a master succumb to the charms of his maidservant to the extent of putting a wedding-ring on her finger, he can at least boast that he has made many a happy union out of much more incongruous material: for the "wicked little god" thinks nothing of mating a prince with a peasant or a nobleman with a "Miss Nobody."
 Sir Gervase Clifton wanted little help from Cupid when he wooed the first of his many wives; for among his domestics was a pretty, blue-eyed maid who satisfied his ideal of the beauty and virtues he sought in a wife. And the wedded life that followed his nuptials proved so happy that for the rest of his days he never went a-wooing outside his own circle of domestic. One maidservant after another graduated in turn as My Lady Clifton, until number seven survived to smooth the pillow of his deathbed. And so it has been in many cases. The maid has made an excellent wife to the master. There was never a more loyal or beloved spouse than Elizabeth Starkey, maid-of-all-work, red-armed and rosy-cheeked, whom Thomas Coult, the rich banker of the Strand, procured from the kitchen to smooth the pillow of his deathbed. George Stephenson, the father of the railway, never did a better day's work in his life than when he gave his name to "Fanny" Henderson, domestic servant, whose life-achievement was summed up in this testimonial: "The bearer, Frances Henderson, is a girl of sober disposition, an honest servant, and of a good family; as witness my hand.—George Alder." It was "Fanny" who became the mother of the famous Robert Stephenson; and when, after a too-brief wedded life, she left her husband desolate, he found consolation in the affection of Elizabeth Hindmarsh, farmer's daughter and housemaid. Shortly before George Stephenson won his maid-of-all-work, John Crossley, of Halifax, had made a wife of Martha Tutcer, who ruled over a Yorkshire kitchen, and, thus unknowingly, laid the foundation of an enormous fortune. Martha's domestic services were assessed at $30 a year; but she soon proved worth much more than that to her carpet-weaving husband. In later years she confessed, "I used to get up at four o'clock in the morning to stitch carpets and had usually earned two shillings by the time my neighbors were coming downstairs." These were the "days of small things"; but Martha, thanks to her clever brain and industrious hands, lived to see "her John" head of one of the greatest carpet-weaving firms in the world, with more than $5,000,000 at his back. Her fifth son became a baronet, and her grandson is known to-day as the Right Hon. Sir Savile Crossley, Bart., K.C.V.O.

Apiary Notes.
 Don't use sulphuric acid for cleaning beeswax, because it will burn the comb and take the substance out of it to such an extent that the bees will not work upon it.
 Bees won't thrive in a cellar where there are mice or any disturbing influences. It is well to partition bees off to themselves where it is quiet, with plenty of ventilation and little light.
 During spring manipulations, in preparing bees for winter and at other times it may be necessary to feed them for stimulation or to provide stores. Honey from an unknown source should never be used for fear of introducing disease.
 The first thing to be looked after in making a bee cellar would be the location. This should be in a side hill or knoll sloping to the south where the soil is gravel or sandy loam. By digging into the bank a cellar of sufficient size to hold the number of colonies comfortably can be secured.
 A curious interference on the part of the honeybees in our economic questions has occurred in the tobacco raising sections of the country. They are gathering nectar from the tobacco blossoms, and some of the apiarists complain that the honey is flavored in a way that is neither delightful nor wholesome.

MAKING CHARCOAL FOR HOGS.
 Helps Wonderfully in Keeping the Animals in Good Condition.
 When hogs are being fed corn they have insatiable appetites for charcoal, and this goes to show that the charcoal meets some requirement of the animal system. What is palatable seldom does the system any injury, and then only when taken in excess, which it is likely to be if the animals are not accustomed to it, especially if they are hungry. The fact that hogs when on full feed of corn eat all forms of charcoal with avidity and never get too much of it is sufficient grounds for providing it in abundance and keeping it within reach of the hogs at all times.
 I utilize all the corncobs on my place for making charcoal to feed my hogs, says an Iowa Homestead correspondent. I dig a pit about five feet deep, which is smaller at the bottom than at the top, in which to burn the cobs. I start a fire at the bottom and gradually fill with cobs, then cover the pit with a sheet iron lid. Earth may be used in covering the pit if a large lid is not available. In about twelve hours the combustion has produced an exceedingly good grade of corncob charcoal.
 In feeding the charcoal I make up the following mixture: Five bushels of corncob charcoal, one bushel of wood ashes, eight pounds of salt, two quarts of air slaked lime, two pounds of sulphur and a pound of coppers. I break up the charcoal, mix all thoroughly together, put the mixture in self feeding boxes and place where the hogs can have free access to it. This combination furnishes a good percentage of ash for bone building, destroys worms and helps wonderfully in keeping the hogs in a thrifty condition. The amount of charcoal that a bunch of hogs will eat during the winter if given free access to it at all times is really very surprising.

CONVENIENT DAIRY HOUSE.
 Place For Handling Milk, Cream and Butter in a Sanitary Manner.
 Every dairyman selling milk to a creamery or cheese factory or city trader or making dairy butter on his farm should have a sanitary dairy house. This building should be separate from the stable and other buildings on the farm and should be well supplied with water. Milk for any purpose must be kept in a clean, well ventilated place.
 Solid concrete dairy houses, such as are found on the large dairy farms, are to be recommended. A building 12 by 14 feet is large enough for a herd of twenty to twenty-five cows. The accompanying floor plan illustrates a very convenient farmers' dairy house. The size of the rooms may be varied to suit the individual needs. A concrete tank near the pump makes cooling of the milk convenient. The separator should be located in the same room. A room provided with a sink and rack can be located at one end of the building. This room should be used exclusively for washing and drying cans and bottles. A room with shelves suitable for storing milk should be partitioned off from the opposite end of the building.

 The walls and floor of the dairy house should be of solid re-enforced concrete. The roof can be of roofing paper or shingles.
 The cost of such a building need not exceed $185, varying according to the size of the herd.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS
 Cause. Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain, but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fullness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it seizes him that he were elsewhere."
 No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or The Catarhizone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Titanic Accident Policies.

One of the most remarkable sequels of the Titanic disaster is the prompt payment of losses by the marine insurance companies. Foreign financial journals are loud in their praise of the rapidity of adjustment and the full payment of all claims, which was quite unexpected. Like her builders and owners, the insurance companies thought that the Titanic was unsinkable, and so permitted applicants for insurance almost to write their own policies. The Titanic was sunk, with enormous loss, but the insurance companies, notwithstanding the question of the stability of some of them and the fact that they had previously suffered severe losses in the disasters of the Delhi and Indiana, survive and are doing business as usual. It is a matter of sincere congratulation that it has been possible to do all this without an outward sign of distress.

A Judge Recalled

The Result of a Friendly Suit In Court

By F. A. MITCHEL

George Jernegan, a student of medicine at a southern university, having reached that stage of his studies (anatomy) wherein he needed to dissect human bodies in order to see for himself the muscles, arteries, bones and other parts that constitute the machine, man, found to his discomfort that the university authorities were unable to provide him with a subject. Not willing that his career as a sawbones should be nipped in the bud on this account, he resorted to a method which was once much in vogue among medical students, but which is now considered to be obsolete—he robbed a grave.

A young man named Blackiston had distinguished himself as a law student. It was considered that the day would come when he would make a second Daniel Webster. But, whether he studied too hard or his precociousness meant a disordered brain, he went the way of most prodigies—he broke down. One day he was found with his head on a pile of lawbooks unconscious. Doctors were called in who prescribed all sorts of treatment, from hot water at the feet to a bath in ice water, without restoring the patient. He remained in a comatose condition for many days, the action of the heart apparently growing weaker each day till at last the physicians in attendance could not detect even a flutter. So he was pronounced dead, was buried, and the legal world regretted that the profession had lost a coming shining light.

Now, Jernegan was looking for a subject about the time that Blackiston was buried. The night after the funeral the former went to the cemetery, dug up the corpse and, putting it in a gunny bag, carried it to the dissecting room. Fearing that if left as it was it would be recognized, he concluded to cut it up before morning; but, being tired with the work he had done, he went to a saloon near by with a small pitcher and returned with it full of beer, besides pretzels. These he placed on a table beside the corpse and, noticing that his tobacco pouch was empty, went out again for tobacco. When he returned this second time and entered the dissecting room he was paralyzed with astonishment. The corpse was munching a pretzel and was just reaching out for the pitcher of beer.

So long was the draft (a man who has been several hours under cold ground certainly needs all the stimulant he can get) that Jernegan, fearing there would be none left for himself, called a halt. The corpse paid no attention to the interruption, continuing to drink till the last drop was exhausted, then got back on the dissecting table and closed his eyes. Jernegan to determine the fact of life or death pricked the corpse's cheek with the point of a knife, knowing that if the subject was dead no blood would flow. A red drop stood on the cheek. The subject opened his eyes and, seeing a man standing over him, asked where he was.

Jernegan told him that he was supposed to be dead, had been buried, resurrected and had not revived would soon have been cut up in a dissecting room.

The vigor of Blackiston's mind seemed to have been at least in a measure restored and went right on in the vein that had been interrupted by his stroke or whatever it was.

"You're a body snatcher," he said.

"Lucky for you that I am. If I hadn't resurrected you you'd have died a horrible death."

"That may be, but I wonder if I have not cause for an action against you?"

"Action for what?"

"I'm not sure whether it would come under the law against body snatching, trespass or disturbing my repose."

"Disturbing your repose? Well, I like that!"

"There is another point of law involved. A certificate of my death has doubtless been made out by the doctors, and in the eye of the law I'm a dead man."

"You came very near being a dead man in the eye of the medical profession."

"The case interests me. I am sensible of the obligation I am under to you for saving my life, but you wouldn't mind my bringing a friendly suit against you to try this singular case, would you?"

"Not a bit, if you'll pay all the costs."

"I'll do that."

Mr. Blackiston got down from the dissecting table and tried to walk, but failed. He sat down and asked Jernegan if he would kindly call a carriage. When it arrived Jernegan attended him to his home.

Blackiston sued Jernegan for trespassing upon his grave. The case excited so much attention among the members of the legal profession that the bar association volunteered to furnish counsel for Jernegan's defense and retained their most brilliant member for the purpose. Blackiston conducted his own case.

"Your honor," he said in his opening remarks, "I shall proceed to show by competent witnesses that the defendant did with malice aforethought invade and trespass upon my grave, interfere with my repose, feloniously steal my body, place it in a bag and carry it to a dissecting room. He then and there was making preparations to take apart my members for the purpose of study when I returned to consciousness. This suit is brought with a desire to learn the legal status of a corpse. It is a principle of common law that there are no property rights in a dead body. No one owns it but itself. That it has legal rights has been established in the case of the estate of Swiback versus Oppenheim, wherein it was decided that the body of Swiback was a part of his estate, in which he had the same interest as in his real estate."

"Your honor," replied counsel for defense, "this being a friendly suit to establish a principle we admit without the fact being established by witnesses that the defendant did remove the body of the plaintiff from its grave, but we claim that the plaintiff, being legally dead, has no standing in this court."

"I propose," said Blackiston, "to try the case on that very issue. I therefore admit that in the eyes of the law I am dead. Nevertheless in a sense a corpse is a living person. It being the duty of the state under the law to protect the repose of the dead, it follows that the dead have rights. Therefore when a corpse is feloniously invaded in its own domicile, the grave, it must have a legal standing with the state to protect itself. If it has a legal standing against the state it must have such standing in court against an individual."

"There is no question," replied counsel for the defendant, "that the plaintiff is legally dead, nor is there any question that he is really living. Nevertheless I am considering him as a corpse resurrected, returned to life and with the right to establish his former legal identity. Since we are endeavoring to establish a principle of law, let us admit that Blackiston has established such legal identity. In that case I think he would stand before the court as a resurrected living corpse, which, as was held in the case of Brickbat versus Cobbleston—"

At this point the court interrupted the learned counsel to say that the brain wear and tear of the case were so exhausting that he would adjourn the court for one hour for refreshment, recommending phosphoric foods calculated to restore the enormous cellular waste. When the court convened again his honor remarked:

"In order to proceed with this trial it must be admitted that the plaintiff has a standing in this court, and so the court holds."

"Very well," said Blackiston. "My standing before this court as a corpse having been admitted, I demand damages against the plaintiff for invading the six feet of ground in which I as a dead man had an inalienable right."

"Your honor," quickly interposed counsel for the defense, "the plaintiff cannot claim damages, though his standing in court and the trespass is admitted, for since there is no property right in a corpse the law does not give a right to recover in a court for a violation of sepulture. If we admit that the plaintiff suing as a corpse has cause for action against a man for stealing himself—a corpse—the present action falls to the ground and can only be brought again as an action of a dead body against another, for which there is no law of the land that can compel an answer."

Blackiston now arose and delivered an argument that has since been considered a wonder by every member of the bar who heard it. But unfortunately the reporters, who were not skilled in legal lore and could not digest the arguments, had been sinking to slumber, and when the phenomenon arose to speak the last journalist had gone to sleep.

When the summing up had been concluded the judge announced that he would take a week to consider the case and would hand down a decision at the end of that period.

When the day came for him to read his decision the courtroom was crowded to overflowing. The judge looked ten years older than before the trial. He began to speak in a feeble voice, but gained strength as he proceeded. The lawyers and spectators listened patiently though eagerly till the gist of the opinion came in the last few words, "There is nothing in the constitution to enable a dead man to bring an action in a living court."

A mighty shout of "Recall him! Recall the stupid blunderer!" arose. And straightway those adverse to the opinion proceeded to unseat the judge.

The movement was successful, but the poor man died on the very day he was unseated.

Died at 84 Years.

[From the Onaway, Mich., Outlook.]
Last week we omitted the report of the death of Richard A. Brown, which occurred on Sunday night, June 23. The funeral service was conducted by the Tuesday afternoon from the Baptist church with Rev. John Pearson in charge. Mr. Brown was an early pioneer of Pt. Huron, coming to Michigan from Canada soon after the Civil war. He leaves four sons, Richard Brown of this city, John S. Brown of Sterling, Lawson D. and Wm. W. Brown of Alpena, and two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Louks of this place and Mrs. J. N. Chambers of Woodstock, Ont., all of whom were here to attend the funeral excepting the latter. The remains were interred in Elmwood cemetery.

Care of Cream for Buttermaking.

It is a recognized fact that the price received for butter is very largely influenced by its quality and this is in great measure determined by the care given the cream from which it is made. This matter is recognized by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa as being of vital importance to the creamery patrons and buttermakers of Canada; consequently there has been prepared by the Chief of the Dairy Division under the direction of the Dairy Commissioner, a bulletin on "The Care of Cream for Buttermaking." It commences with the health and feeding of the cows and follows the subject through the various stages of milking, separating, storing and delivering the cream, each section being dealt with from the standpoint of the man on the job rather than of the official in the office. The results of experiments conducted on farms and in creameries are given to show the advantages of separating a rich cream, properly cooling and storing it, as well as of making frequent deliveries. The bulletin says:—"Keeping the cream for longer than two days at the farms has, no doubt, much to do with the old cream flavor so common in gathered cream butter, and we can scarcely expect to have this defect remedied so long as cream is gathered less than three times each week."

The bulletin which is No. 32 of the Dairy and Cold Storage series concludes with a summary of important notes for patrons, creamery owners and buttermakers. Sufficient copies have been issued to supply each creamery with a copy for each patron. Requests for supplies for this purpose should be sent to the Dairy and Cold Storage Com-

THE WESTERN FAIR.

From indications at the present time it would appear as though this old and reliable Exhibition would be more popular than ever this year. The management are doing everything possible to make the Exhibition not only attractive to Exhibitors and Visitors, but satisfactory as well. They wish to combine education and instruction as well as amusement along all the different phases of the Exhibition proposition. There will be established on the grounds this year an up-to-date milking machine plant in actual operation. Every farmer in the country should avail himself of the opportunity of seeing this machine. In this day of scarcity of help on the farm this means a great deal. Come and see the cows milked by electricity. There will also be established on the grounds as an educational feature a plant showing the latest sanitary methods of caring for and cooling milk. These are only a few of the many features which will make the Exhibition very attractive this year. The amusement part of the Exhibition has been well looked after. There will be a splendid programme of attractions twice daily before the Grand Stand. The management have secured at great expense The Besses of the Barn Band of Cheltenham, England, one of the finest brass bands in the world. You cannot afford to miss hearing them. The Midway will be filled with good clean shows. Special rates over all railroads commencing September 6th. Low rates for Exhibitors. Write the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ont., for all information. The dates are Sept. 6th to 14th.

Don't you wish you had a photograph of your great, great grandfather? Of course you can't have, because there wasn't any photography in those days. But your great, great grand-children can have photographs of you. And you owe something to posterity.

Sheep Husbandry in Canada.

Coincident with a number of other active agencies designed to revive the sheep raising industry in Canada, there has been issued by the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture a new edition of that exhaustive and practical treatise "Sheep Husbandry in Canada" which received such a warm reception some four years ago. This work of 125 pages, which constitutes a report as well as a helpful bulletin of instruction, covers the history and condition of the sheep industry in every province, pointing out the weak points and offering useful information for the guidance of older shepherds as well as those who are just beginning, or desire to begin, raising mutton and wool. In this work the author, who is a trained sheep man, brings out clearly the great advantages of keeping sheep from the dual standpoint of direct profit in cash returns, and the even more important indirect one of cleaner farms and better crops. Then there is a special section, "From the Block to the Table" designed to popularize the consumption of mutton and lamb. Other sections deal with weed destruction by sheep, diseases, wool, housing, enemies, breeding and feeding, feeds and feeding and other important matters. Under "The Industry in the Different Provinces" some startling new facts, concerning the profits made from sheep, are brought out. It is shown that a flock of about 150 ewes worth $8 each, after housing, feeding and care were charged against them, gave in 1911 a profit of more than $600. This occurred on a Manitoba wheat farm. A special feature of this bulletin is its many beautiful illustrations in sepia tints, many of which are worth framing. A large issue has been printed to be supplied free to those who apply for it to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Canada's Cider Good.

Ottawa, July 22.—Cider as sold throughout the Dominion is on the whole a fairly genuine article. Of 33 samples of various ages labelled cider, collected from several parts of Canada by the inland revenue department, 27 met the legal requirements of the act as containing not more than 7 per cent alcohol. Six samples appear to have water added to the apple juice. Out of 26 samples sold as sweet cider, only 8 meet the legal definition, but it is pointed out that the definition does not really apply to some of the samples with unrefined names, such as "champagne cider," "raspberry cider," etc. Chief Analyst McGill says that in the samples analyzed there is no suggestion of the addition of anything hurtful to health.

Selling Young Veal.

The revised Ontario Statutes for 1912 have been sent out, and one of the new sections is worth noting by those who have been in the habit of selling very young veal. Section 102 provides that no meat of calves under four weeks old shall be sold or kept for sale, and the penalty for a breach of this law is a fine of from $10 to $50.

Moreover, in the case of such meat being found in anyone's possession, the onus of proving that it is not for sale is rest on the person having the meat. It has been a matter of common knowledge for some years that calves of two days old and upwards have been sold each year to be used in one form or another for human consumption, and it is against this practice that the law is aimed.

Bold Robbery at Sombra.

Sarnia, July 22.—One of the boldest robberies which has taken place in the vicinity for a long time occurred at Sombra late last night or early this morning, when thieves entered the store of P. G. Logan and carried away more than $1,000 worth of clothing. Detective Acton, an attorney-general's department, has been put to work on the case. He is of the opinion that the robbers crossed the river to the American side in a small boat, and carried their booty with them.

Harris-Miller.

One of the weddings that Brooke has been anticipating for some time was consummated Thursday, July 4th. The principals were Mr. Sydney Harris and Mrs. Joseph Miller, two of Brooke's popular and well-known citizens. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Currie, of Watford. The bride looked charming in her beautiful costume of blue and leaning on the arm of her eldest son, Henry, entered the drawing room where the ceremony took place. The wedding march being played by the groom's youngest son, Percy. The house decorations consisted of tulips, carnations, palms and ferns. The guests consisted chiefly of immediate relatives. Following the ceremony an oyster supper was served. The gifts to the bride were both numerous and costly, amongst which was a beautiful white hat and brooch the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Harris left on the evening train for points West and will be home to their many friends after July 30th.

Mersea township has passed a by-law setting aside sidewalks on all highways and providing penalties for driving vehicles on same.
