The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. OBITUARY

MARION CRAIG HOOVER

The announcement of the death of Mrs. D. G. Hoover (nee Marion Craig) of Bothwell, would be read with exceeding regret by her numerous friends.

Marion was born on the Craig homestead, South Warwick, where she attended the public school and from her early childhood gave evidence of unusual cleverness, invariably surpassing her youthful classmates.

She withdrew from school at an early age to wait upon her dying mother, whose place in the home she was eventually required to fill. Subsequently she attended the Watford High School where she had a brilliant career and was a source of pride to her father, and relatives, of admiration to her teachers, and a great credit to the school. Her deportment at school was excellent and could not fail to exert a most wholesome influence upon her classmates.

After she had obtained her professional certificate she taught at Aberfeldy and Cashmere. At the latter place she met her future husband to whom she was married in 1909, and latterly resided at Bothwell. At the age of 14 she was converted at the Revival services conducted by the Moorhouse Brothers in Zion Methodist church and remained to the last a consistent member.

The Following is Taken From the Bothwell Times:—

Death of Highly Esteemed Resident.

A deep gloom was cast over this town and community on Thursday morning, when it became known that Mrs. D. G. Hoover, had died in the General Hospital at Chatham about 2 a. m., April 10th, through the effects of an operation performed the day before. The remains were brought to her home in Bothwell Thursday morning. On Saturday at 2 p. m. a very impressive service was held in the Methodist church. Rev. C. L. L. Couzens officiating assisted by Rev. J. M. Beill, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. C. Nethercott. The service was exceptionally impressive and the floral tributes were beautiful consisting of beautiful wreaths from the Bothwell Chapter O. E. S., Wide-Awakes Bible Class, Ladies' Aid, The Methodist choir, Bothwell; Clachan Women's Institute, Bothwell Women's Institute, Excell Class of Bothwell Methodist S. S., Star of the East Lodge No. 422 A. F. & A. M., Bothwell High School, Dent Bros., Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Howard, Wallaceburg. Appropriate music was rendered by a male quartette and the choir and Rev. Couzens preached an inspiring sermon. The funeral was very largely attended. The members of the Eastern Star directed the ceremony at the grave.

The late Mrs. Hoover, although only a resident of Bothwell for about twelve years, had endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She was an active member of the Methodist church, serving faithfully in several organizations. She was also a member of the Women's Institute and the Bothwell Chapter O. E. S. No. 87. She is survived by a husband and daughter, Hilda, and aged father Mr. James Craig and sister Mrs. Harry Hollingsworth of Watford. Before her marriage Mrs. Hoover was a public school teacher, having taught at Cashmere. Deceased was 39 years, 7 months and 26 days old, when death came.

BALD HEADED GIRLS

Just think of it girls, especially you bobbed headed girls, within a few years you will be bald, if the prediction of the head of the hair-dressing association of New York comes true, and he is supposed to be an authority. He says:—If women and young girls do not stop bobbing their hair, a terrible spectacle may be the result. He based his conclusion on the fact that milliners, in order to conform to present-day haircut known as the 'garcon', which is explained as being a 'boyish bob', have been obliged to make head bands exceedingly tight in order to keep the hats on the head. This results in the bands growing sweaty and the hair dry from that and from lack of blood circulation. Mr. Byrne also said that girls of the present generation will be bald before they reach maturity.

Ministers Warm Up in Session on Church Union

Sarnia Presbytery Has Hot Discussion on Question, With Party Lines Drawn Tight.

Little actual business was transacted at Monday morning's meeting at the Sarnia Presbytery in St. Andrews Presbyterian churches, but there was a world of action over a motion that was put before the gathering when the meeting was opened and withdrawn just before it closed.

At the December meeting of the Presbytery a communication was received from the Union committee of the general assembly asking the Sarnia Presbytery to appoint a committee to foster the spirit of church union and carry out the principles of church union within its jurisdiction.

The December communication was the cause of all the disturbance at today's session.

For and Against.

Rev. A. W. Shephard, of Parkhill opposed the idea. He put forward a motion, which was seconded by Geo. Aitken, West Williams, "that the communication on church union from the union committee of the general assembly to appoint a committee to foster the spirit of church union and carry out the policy of the church union committee, be lifted from the table." His motion started a controversy that waged throughout the morning. Opinion was divided on the matter, but the opposition to his motion was keen.

Rev. J. J. Mondis, of Petrolia, was strongly opposed to the motion and his following had some pointed things to say regarding the breaking away from the edicts of the head body. Before the discussion was closed with the withdrawal of the motion practically every member in attendance had made a stand one way or the other.

Chasm Widens

Presbyterian congregations throughout the Presbytery have formed decided opinions for and against church union and several of the speakers hinted at a chasm within the church if the matter was not handled carefully. The anti-union faction in the church, has already a considerable following some speakers asserted and it behooved the champions of the church union cause to stand together if they would be successful. A divided force could not be expected to cope with the organized strength of the forces opposed to union.

Mr. Mondis expressed the opinion that ministers of the different congregations were best qualified to handle the local situations. If outside committees went over the heads of the ministers he predicted some exciting times in the different centres of Presbyterianism.

Rev. Mr. McInnis, of Theedford, took a prominent part in the discussion and Rev. J. R. Hall made a telling survey of the situation.

Feeling Runs High

The motion was read over several times and finally put to a vote. So strong was the feeling and so many the arguments put up against the motion that Rev. Mr. Shephard and Rev. Geo. Aitken mover and second of the disputed motion, withdrew it with the permission of the court.

Rev. Wm. McInnis of Theedford, introduced a motion, on the withdrawal of the original one that a committee be appointed to draft a memorial to the House of Commons at Ottawa to pass the church union bill at present before the house, without amendment. The second motion also met with stout opposition and the discussion was waxing warm when J. J. Mondis of Petrolia moved that the Presbytery adjourn for luncheon. Rev. W. McIntosh seconded the motion.

Those Present

The delegates included A. McVicar of Inwood; J. J. Patterson, Sarnia; J. J. Mondis, Petrolia; H. D. Cameron, Forest; A. W. Shephard, Parkhill; R. Bruce, Napier; Wm. McIntosh; H. V. Workman, Watford; Geo. Aitken, West Williams; Wm. McInnis, Theedford; Jas. Gale, Arkona; J. D. Bannatyne, Bridgen; J. R. Hall, Sarnia; A. E. Waghorne, Mandamin; H. W. Hagelstine, Guthrie; J. C. Forster, Moore Line; P. M. McEachern, Point Edward; Peter Lindsay, G. W. Douglas, Geo. Field, W. B. Laws, E. A. Taylor, Hugh Fraser, Dan Johnston, Chester Belton, Jas. McLean, J. B. Williams and R. Irwin.

Rev. A. McVicar, of Inwood, moderator, presided at the meeting.

Over indulgence in sap drinking is thought to have been the cause of the death of 12-year-old Evelyn Miskay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Makey, who died suddenly Sunday morning at her home at Tilbury.

BACKING AWAY FROM THE LAND

Why so many farm auction sales would be natural query following a perusal of our own advertising columns and those of the weeklies upon the exchange list of this paper. Here and there a sale is advertised whose purpose is the disposal of surplus live stock, but in most and many too many instances may be found the statement "the proprietor is giving up farming."

The spring of the year is an unusual time for such advertisements—with seeding close at hand; for the coming summer and fall months are the largest earning months on the average farm, and it is most unusual to quit the game when its most profitable time lies straight ahead. Yet that is what many farmers scattered over a wide extent of territory seem to be doing.

Why? Perhaps a case that comes under personal knowledge may be exemplary of many of the others. It is that of a good farmer, who has been on his own farm for the twelve years since his marriage, when he left his father's homestead. This man is one who likes farming and believes the farm the best place for his young family. His is a good farm and one he has had cause to take pride in, yet he is through.

The why, he says, is because he is not getting an adequate return for his labor and that of his wife and family and on the money he has tied up in his place; and he thinks there are other lines which he can turn with promise of a more substantial reward and a better future.

The point that makes this widespread exodus from the land of interest to all is that the conditions bringing it about affect not only the men on the land but his brethren in the towns and cities as well. Maybe the latter will say they have their own troubles without bothering about those of the farmer; but they should not overlook the fact that every man leaving a farm in the district surrounding the town or city takes with him a condition that makes the city or town possible, for the urban communities would be as naught without the rural.

The farmer knows what is the matter—his expenses have outstripped his receipts. He sells his products at 1914 rates and purchases his requirements at those of 1924.

That is the gist of it; and every agency touching upon the farmer's situation might well co-operate with him in solving his problem, for in the solution of it lies much of the solution of the difficulties of those who live in numbered houses upon paved streets instead of on homesteads fronting country roads.

THE GLADIOLUS

HOW TO GROW IT SUCCESSFULLY

(I*suad by The Ontario Horticultural Association.)

Soil—The Gladiolus is not exacting in its demand upon the soil; a light, rich soil is usually considered most suitable.

The best fertilizer is well decayed stable manure, applied in the fall and well mixed with the soil, and supplemented with bone meal or acid phosphate. A dressing of wood ashes can be used to advantage.

Planting—Gladiolus corms or bulbs should be planted about 4 inches deep, depending on the soil. Deep planting helps to support the stem.

They may be planted in straight rows, and if exhibition flowers are wanted, six or more inches apart, but good flowers will be produced if they are planted closer. They do not do well if planted in shade of trees or buildings.

Time For Planting—Gladiolus may be planted any time after the ground is sufficiently warm and dry. From May 15 to 20 is the usual time, but planting may be continued until the 10th or 15th of June. By planting at intervals of a week or more, the flowering season will be prolonged, but this is also accomplished by planting a range of varieties of different maturities.

Flower spikes that are produced last of August or first of September are often much finer than blooming earlier in August, when the weather is hotter.

Planted in May, they take about twenty-five to ninety days to bloom, some varieties being much earlier than others.

To produce fine flowers, effort should be made to maintain a steady growth, and in order to effect this, they must not be allowed to suffer from lack of moisture. No matter how good the corm is, or how fine the variety, they will not give good results, if stunted by dry weather. Some of the very finest varieties do not show to advantage in very hot weather, and will be scarcely recognized.

The size of the corm is no indication of its value; some fine varieties have small corm, and many poor varieties have a large corm.
Cutting The Flowers—Cut the spike when the first flowers open, and place in water without crowding. The end of the stem should be shortened, withered flowers removed, and water renewed daily. By doing this, all the flowers will open in succession and the spike will last a week or more. Sufficient foliage should be left on the plant to keep it in growing condition.
Harvesting—Dig the corms before the ground freezes. Cut off the stalk close to the corm, cure for a few days in sun and air, and store in a cool cellar in shallow trays or open paper bags and the corms can be removed at a convenient time during the winter.
The Gladiolus is a fine flower for table decorations, and there is for this purpose nothing to surpass it in its season.

TWO CONTESTING MAYORALTY OF TOWN OF FOREST

With Six Declining Council Offices New Nominations Will Be Necessary

Forest, April 21.—The reeveship vacancy is being contested by Chas. H. King and Peter Campbell, but none of the six who were nominated for the two councillor vacancies had signed to stand for office when Town Clerk W. J. English closed the books at 9 o'clock Saturday evening.

The anti-waterworks side has put forward a strong candidate in Peter Campbell. Mr. Campbell is a retired farmer and has been in the council before.

The supporters of Charles H. King claim, however, that public sentiment has changed greatly during the past few weeks, and that Mr. King, who is running as an independent pro-waterworks man in protest against the present council majority, will get a surprisingly large vote to elect him.

Since there are no candidates for the two council offices it means that another warrant will be issued by Mayor Bell for new nominations at the next council meeting.

The election for the reeveship will be on Friday, April 25, and from present indications, will be hard-fought one.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Tuesday, April 22nd, when the Women's Institute held an Assembly in the townhall. Mr. Malcolm MacIntyre, in his usual way, filled the chair for a very interesting program, after which little Jean Bowly was called from the audience to draw a ticket for the autograph quilt. Miss Jessie MacLean held the lucky number—78. After lunch was served, excellent music was furnished by Lottan's Orchestra and about fifty couple enjoyed themselves in a social way.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Smith spent Easter in Strathroy with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Field.

WYOMING WOMAN FOUND GUILTY, BUT MAGISTRATE IS LENIENT

Charged with obstructing officers while in discharge of their duties, Mrs. Lloyd Fenwick of Wyoming appeared before Magistrate Woodrow in the Petrolia police court on Tuesday afternoon.

The charge was laid by License Inspectors Jennings and Elliott who, accompanied by Provincial Officers Scott and Oliver, searched the Fenwick Hotel about midnight on April 7, and alleged they discovered a jug of whiskey concealed by the defendant. Fenwick disappeared shortly after the officers arrived and has not been located as yet. Crown Attorney Wilson of Sarnia prosecuted, while A. Shaunessy appeared for the defendant, who was found guilty, but owing to circumstances, the magistrate suspended sentence and ordered the defendant to pay $21.50, the cost of the court.

PETROLIA

Four young Danes arrived in Petrolia Tuesday from the old country. This is the first group of Danes to arrive here. W. P. McDonald, local agriculture representative, placed the men on farms near Petrolia.

A resolution was passed Monday night by the town council to the effect that three poolrooms only would be allowed to carry on business. There are at present four poolrooms in Petrolia, and it will be left to the poolroom owners to decide which one will close his doors. The motion was made by E. H. Shaughnessy and seconded by Harrison Corey, two of the younger members of the council. Steps will also be taken to prevent accidents due to the bad turns in certain parts of the town. The dumping of ashes and other material on roads will be prohibited by the council. Something New

"Mother," said a little boy, after coming from a walk, "I've seen a man who makes horses."

"Are you sure?" asked his mother.

"Yes," he replied, "He had a horse nearly finished when I saw him he was nailing on his back feet."

SWAT THE FLY

This month the Daughters of the Empire have received 200 copies of the pamphlet the Provincial Board of Health is publishing on the extermination of flies. The pamphlet is full of information about flies and how to get rid of them and is well worth reading. Below are a few extracts from it and if, after reading them you desire to learn more of the methods employed to kill this pest and disease-carrier you can obtain a copy of the pamphlet from Mrs. F. Kelly, Secretary of the I.O.D.E.

Let us each aim this year to make our community a flyless one.

Female flies lay from one to four, even five lots of eggs, and about one hundred and twenty eggs at a time. They always lay the eggs in filth of some kind. About ninety-five per cent. of all flies are bred in manure. When manure is not readily available, the female fly lays her eggs in garbage, human excrement, decaying vegetable matter, slop, trash, rubbish or almost any other available filth. In early spring or late fall these eggs develop into full grown flies in from twelve to sixteen days, while in warmer weather it takes only about eight to ten days.

Immediately after hatching into a full grown fly, his first impulse is to feed. He usually gets his initial meal right at his birth place. He is never particular about the kind of food he eats. It matters little if it is manure, garbage, human excrement or something else. He rarely establishes permanent quarters, however, at his birthplace. Shortly after birth he takes his initial flight to some nearby kitchen or dining room. Should screens at the windows and doors embarrass him, he is very willing to take a few meals at the open garbage pail while waiting his chance to get into the house.

Flies are prodigious eaters. They have been known to devour nearly half their weight of food at a time. Furthermore, they like to eat at very brief intervals during daylight hours. And here follows one of the most dangerous, as well as nauseating features about flies. Their digestive processes are extremely simple and the food they eat passes through their bodies with the greatest facility. Many substances eaten by flies pass through their digestive tracts unchanged by their weak digestive fluid. As a result, after a fly has dined on tuberculosis sputum or typhoid dejecta, analyses of the resulting fly-specks show the presence of the live germs of these diseases.

As might be expected, since flies are great feeders they deposit correspondingly large quantities of excreta. A single fly confined in a paper box has been found to produce fifty specks in the course of twenty-four hours. The reason even more fly-specks are not visible is that they are largely liquid and frequently colorless. Many authorities now believe that there is far more danger from disease germs that pass through flies' bodies than from those that are entangled on their feet and legs.

The only objection to the fly used to be because he was such a pest, a torment and an enemy to the comfort of mankind. This feature was particularly noticeable when one tried to read, rest, sleep or remain quiet in their presence. It requires no argument to convince any one that flies are pests.

Later we began to find out about his breeding places, his habits of life and the possibility of his carrying nauseating filth on his feet and legs from stables, garbage cans and privies to our houses, our persons and our food.

Now, by far the greatest objection to flies comes from the fact that we know conclusively that, besides being a discomfort and carrying filth, they spread a tremendous amount of disease. Besides actually dropping the germs and filth from their feet and legs, flies may transmit disease as already indicated by discharging their vile disease laden excreta either directly or indirectly upon our food. This is not only the most disgusting but by far the most dangerous feature of the typhoid fly. We might get used to their annoyances, and some of us could probably forget their filthy habits, but this death dealing feature is too important to be passed by lightly.

It used to be urged that flies performed the useful office of scavengers. This argument no longer holds. We now know that while they do consume filth and germs, they almost invariably return and deposit them on our food as part of their own dejecta.

But, you ask, are flies utterly useless? No, indeed. They serve a purpose. Flies can not breed without filth, and the more filth, the more flies. One of the purposes they serve, therefore, is that of an index to the sanitary conditions of the town, of the community, of the home, in which they are found. When we learn to appreciate the fly in his true light we will prevent his breeding by abolishing his breeding places. That is the lesson of the fly. The real purpose of the fly, therefore, is to serve as a perpetual, tormenting, disgraceful reminder of our own filth, and the lesson he will eventually teach us is one of cleanliness.

To a large extent "a man's flies are they of his own household," but it might be added that in cities and towns certainly "a man's flies are they of his own neighborhood." In other words, where flies are found, they are due to filth in the immediate vicinity. It may be your own filth or it may be your neighbor's filth. At any rate it is only a question of filth and that near by. To solve the fly problem is simply to remove, destroy or screen all filth or possible breeding places for flies. But this is not as easy as might appear at first thought. If every householder kept his premises clean and free from filth the problem would be solved. But ordinarily a large proportion of householders fail to do this for one or more reasons:

First, they don't know any better, or

Second, they don't care, or

Third, they don't think it is worth while unless their neighbors do the same thing.

It is to be regretted that people belonging to the first class continue to be present in all communities. They need educating, either through posters, leaflets, newspapers, lectures, sermons, moving pictures, examples or friendly talks. After that they will either clean up or join the second or third class.

For the second class it can only be said that people who know that flies breed in manure, eat fecal matter, and discharge excreta reeking with filth and disease germs into their food and elsewhere, and still remain so slothful as to neglect to take reasonable measures to prevent such action, are guilty of criminal negligence. There are not many of this class.

A great many belong to the third class. This class would be willing to abolish flies with a little encouragement and with the co-operation of their neighbors in a neighborhood or community organization for this purpose. And this is one of the best ways to abolish flies.

One of the secrets of any successful fly fight is to begin early in the season and keep it up all year. A few flies killed in the winter and early spring will prevent thousands in midsummer.

The first step to be taken in fighting flies in individual homes is cleanliness. All filth about premises, such as manure, garbage, fecal matter, or decaying or fermenting matter of any kind, should be screened, removed or destroyed to prevent the breeding of flies. Eternal vigilance is the price of cleanliness.

PURPOSE OF LIBRARY IS PUBLIC SERVICE

New Books Being Constantly Added

The members of the Library Board and the Librarian are making an earnest effort to keep the library up-to-date and make it an efficient public service. While the task is not easy, owing to the rapid changes in the book world especially in the department of fiction, it is encouraging to know that visitors who come in from time to time compliment the management upon the general appearance and the well furnished condition of the various sections, declaring that our library compares favorably with others located in larger towns. This is possible only by a careful selection of books and constant replenishing as the books become worn or out of date.

Another Weekly Newspaper Gone

Another of the old-time weekly papers has been forced to cease publication. After forty-five years of service to its town and province, the Yarmouth Times announced its issue of February 2nd as the last for the present, and added: "No plans for the future have been formulated." Perhaps in no other line of business has there been a proportionately larger death rate than that recorded in the newspaper world in recent years.

The Oldest Building in the World

The oldest building in the world still standing above ground has been found by the joint expedition of the British Museum, London, and the University Museum, Philadelphia, at Tell-el-Obeid, Babylonia, four miles from Ur of the Chaldees of biblical fame. The building is more than 6,000 years old, and its history is placed at a period as far removed from King Tutankhamen in the past as the present generation is removed from him in known history.

PALMOLIVE SHAVING CREAM

FREE—10 Much Finer Shaves! Cleaner Shaves—Quicker with no skin irritation!

If you were paid for putting into words the perfect shave, you would probably define it as... "the cleanest, quickest, easiest on skin."

Now we ask you to judge how well we've put those three requisites into a shaving cream. At our expense, we've put it up to millions of men.

You'll find cream multiplying itself 250 times in luxurious lather.

You'll find that lather softens the most unruly beard in one minute—without any irritating "rubbing in."

You'll find the lather remains rich and creamy for 10 minutes on your face, if necessary.

You'll find cutting easier, cleaner, because bubbles of extra strength hold each hair erect.

Finally, you'll marvel at the cool, soothed "after feel"—a result of the carefully blended palm and olive oils.

We ask your judgment on these points as a favor. Failing, the loss would be all ours.

88th BIRTHDAY BESIDE FORGE

Robert Brown, father of Fred Brown, Forest blacksmith, celebrated his 88th birthday by caulking a pair of horseshoes in masterly fashion. The old gentleman, who still hale and active, was born in York, England, and came to Canada 72 years ago. When 13 years of age he was apprenticed to the blacksmith trade in England. After coming to Canada he worked for 37 years with his father, who was also a blacksmith, in the town of Feversham, Ont. At the age of 71 Mr. Brown retired from active work, and has since made his home in Forest with his son.

HURONIC WINS SEASON HONOR

Sarnia, April 21—According to a telegram received by the Northern Navigation Company this afternoon, the Huronic, which left here Saturday, docked at Port Arthur at 8:30 this morning, and was the first vessel to enter that port this season. It is years since a passenger vessel captured this honor from the freighters and Captain A. N. Wright received the usual silk hat from the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce.

Township clerks are in receipt of letters from the Department of Highways office stating that new legislation regarding township roadwork will be enforced next year. WANSTEAD

For some weeks past the members of the U. F. Y. P. A. Club have been conducting an energetic membership drive. Sides were chosen, the captains being Miss Hilda McPhedran and Mr. John Hodgkins, and the side securing the least members, was to provide a banquet. The members with commendable energy worked hard to secure every member possible. Miss McPhedran's side was successful in securing the largest number, the membership being increased to 116 which places the Wanstead Club in the position of being one of the largest, if not the largest club in the province.

On Tuesday evening last about eighty members sat down to a splendid banquet served in the Orange Hall. After justice had been done to the variety of good things provided, Mr. Sussex, who is acting as leader for the club took the chair and dispensed a pleasing program consisting of songs, readings, music etc. Addresses were delivered by the chairman and others and a pleasant evening's entertainment was brought to a close with the National Anthem. A splendid opportunity of an educational nature is presented to the young people through the club in the preparation and presentation of papers and debates and in conducting public meetings and under the capable leadership of Mr. Sussex and with the co-operation of the members, the U. F. Y. P. A. Club should prove a valuable asset to this community.

A pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. John McPhedran Sr. on Wednesday last, the occasion being the regular monthly meeting of the U. F. W. A. Club. About twenty ladies were present. The afternoon was spent working on a quilt and discussing topics of mutual interest. The meetings are interesting and through discussions and the exchange of thoughts and ideas should prove very beneficial. At the close of the afternoon work the hostess served a dainty lunch. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Noble.

Mrs. Elma Ramsay is spending the holidays in Toronto with her sister Mrs. Rouse. The Wanstead Farmers Club will ship stock again on Saturday next.

Seymour Township has sued Miss Vera Squires, teacher, for $7.20, being amount of income tax. Miss Squires, whose home is in Peterboro, resisted payment of the tax as a matter of principle and not from any desire to escape payment of a just debt. The legal question involved is whether constitutes a legal residence and many unmarried teachers will be interested in the decision. Use the "Want Ads" to buy or sell
