BELIEVED GERMANS MEAN TO UNITE TWO ARMIES IN EFFORT FOR A CRUSHING BLOW

That is Reading of Movement Away From Paris Towards South and East—Thrill of Pride in England Over Field Marshall's Report

London, Sept. 7.—The German plan of campaign is for the moment a mystery. The great sweep through Belgium and the plains of northern France, with constant reaching on the west to turn the left flank of the allies, was understandable and foreseen, even though the allies refused to believe that the Germans could move so far. Now yesterday's bulletin stating that the main German army of invasion from the north was turning away from Paris and going toward the south and east appeared to be confirmed and a theory that finds supporters is that the German purpose is now to strike through the centre of the French army, leaving Paris partially invested from the north, and crush the main French force by co-operation with another German army advancing from Lorraine.

The news that the Germans are attacking the fortress of Nancy, and that Emperor William and his staff are attending operations tends to fortify this theory. The British War Office yesterday made public a more complete account of the operations of the British army, than it had given heretofore. While the bulletin was far from satisfying the eagerness of the people for a detailed description of the parts the different regiments played in the heavy and continuous fighting, it sent a thrill of pride through the kingdom.

"Our men have established a personal ascendancy over the Germans and are conscious of the fact that with any thing like even numbers the result will not be doubtful," says Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the expeditionary forces. The Field Marshall credits this success to superior training and intelligence, which has enabled the British to use the open formation. He expresses a poor opinion of the German infantry's shooting as compared with that of the British, and says that the British cavalry does what it likes with the enemy, when confronted by the large numbers. He says also that the British artillery has always been opposed by three or four times its strength.

The War Office describes the allies' operations as a strategic move with contraction of the forces. It concludes with an appeal for more men. London, Sept. 7.—The Berlin correspondent of the Telegraph under Friday's date, describes the battle now being fought on the French centre, from Rehel to Verdun, which he says is in an extremely difficult position.

"The French have strong forces concentrated there," he says, "and the opposing forces are fighting upon almost equal terms. Such advantage in numbers as may rest with the Germans is offset by the French position of defence. Emperor William has joined the crown prince's army and this is the Emperor's fifth appearance in the actual theatre of operations."

The arrival of the Duke of Wurtemberg and Crown Prince Frederick William have long been operating to gain a foothold on French soil. They have now crossed the Meuse and have come to grips with ten French army corps.

Plans to Defend Paris London, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of the Daily News in Paris in a despatch under Saturday's date, says he understands heavy guns from Calais, Boulogne and Cherbourg have been brought up to reinforce the defenses of Paris.

Twenty-five thousand marine fusiliers he states, marched through the city yesterday morning. The correspondent of the Daily News in Paris in a despatch under Saturday's date, says he understands heavy guns from Calais, Boulogne and Cherbourg have been brought up to reinforce the defenses of Paris.

English Stranded in Paris Paris, Sept. 6.—5:10 p. m.—There are in Paris today no less than 4,000 Englishmen and women who desire to leave the capital. M. T. Herrick, the American ambassador, who has British interests in charge, is arranging for special trains to Havre to facilitate the departure of these foreign residents. It is expected that the British government will provide transportation for its subjects from Havre to England.

The distress among the English residents of Paris is today far greater than among the Americans. Funds for their relief have been collected in London and are now on their way here. Fighting in Austria. London, Sept. 6.—(Special cable from the Gazette's London Correspondent)—Judging from statements of Canadians who brought direct news from members of the Vienna staff to the London office of the Canadian Pacific railway, the feeling in Austria.

REPORT SAYS NEARLY HALF MILLION AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS HAVE BEEN KILLED BY RUSSIANS

Paris Sept. 7.—It is officially announced that twelve Austrian corps (480,000 men) have been annihilated by the Russians.

Great Battle On At Verdun?

Decisive Combat There is Report in German Plan to Make Investment of Paris Safe

London, Sept. 7.—The belief is growing that a great decisive battle is being fought at Verdun, the strong fortress of France on the Meuse, near the French frontier. If the fourth German army, marching southward, cuts off the retreat of the French eastern army, which recently have been holding the Germans in check between Toul—a fortified town fourteen miles west of Nancy and Epinal, also strongly fortified and near the Alsace frontier—it might repeat the coup which in 1870 drove General Charles Denier-Sauter Bourbaki and his army of 150,000 into Switzerland.

Hopeful critics are speculating on the possibility that the German swing around to the south may mean an effort on the part of the invaders to make sure of their retreat through the Meuse district, but more like it is a scheme to strike such a paralyzing blow to the French army as to render the investment of Paris a safe operation. The southerly movement of the Germans may effect a juncture of the crown prince's army and that of Bavaria, which has been held on the defensive in Lorraine.

Thus the Germans would advance on the east and north in a vast enveloping movement, destined to crush the allies' right wing by sheer weight of numbers, as their left pushed back during the last fortnight. London, Sept. 7.—A news despatch from Berlin says that a battle is being fought in the French centre from Rehel to Verdun, with the opposing forces on almost even terms.

Reports from other sources, while failing to reveal the purpose of the German strategy in moving a great force to the southwest of Paris, indicate a determination to deal the allies' crushing blow before the complete investment of the French capital is attempted. German pressure on the left wing of the allies has been withdrawn and apparently the main strength of the invaders is thrown against the enemy's centre and right.

It is officially announced in Paris that a general engagement is being fought east of that city today. Gallant Belgians Lose Termonde to Force Three Times The Size of Theirs

Destroying German Horde Sets Fire to The Place—Ghent Likely Next to Fall—Scenes of Peace Amidst Devastation

London, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of the Express writing from near Termonde, sixteen miles from Ghent, under date of Saturday, says:—"Termonde has fallen after six hours of fighting. The little force of 6,000 Belgians made a gallant defence, but the enemy was 20,000 strong and the Belgians were unable to reply effectively to the deadly fire of the German siege guns."

The Germans began the attack between two and three o'clock on Saturday morning, and the rain of shells over the town was incessant until nine. It was a hopeless task attempting to hold earthworks against such odds and one by one the slender defences were abandoned. "The defenders were able to leave in good order without serious losses and went by way of Berker and Overmeire in the direction of Ghent. After entering the town the Germans set it afire and throughout the morning dense clouds of smoke overhung the town."

Not three miles away the peasants, with strange and dull spats, were still working in their gardens, sometimes turning to watch the smoke. Only the children seemed afraid and they hid from my motor car. "I sighted German outposts from Termonde to within ten miles of Ghent and there are indications that they will almost immediately occupy Ghent. The people are greatly excited and many are preparing for flight."

"Between Ghent and Bruges there is little sign of the conflict and men and women are working quietly in the fields. At one village four men were calmly building a wayside chapel. As I passed they were putting in place an image of the Virgin Mary. Bruges is perfectly calm, but it is the calm of despair, not of confidence."

Repulse Germans at Antwerp London, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Antwerp, dated Sunday, gives a Belgian official communication, which says:—"The repulse of the German attack against the southern part of Antwerp at Cappelle Au Bois yesterday, was successful, the Germans leaving thousands of bodies on the field and retiring in disorder on Vilvoorde, six miles northeast of Brussels. They are demoralized by the complete check of the attempt against Antwerp and by the losses inflicted by our field artillery. The Belgian losses are not numerous."

HOME FROM THE OLD COUNTRY

Rev. H. A. Collins Speaks of Conditions in England—Mrs. Alward and Son Return

Rev. H. A. Collins, priest-in-charge of the Mission church, Paradise row, returned to the city on Saturday and occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday for the first time since he left St. John two months ago to take a trip home for a rest. He returns greatly improved in health. Father Collins was in Portsmouth when war was declared and has many interesting stories to tell of the state of affairs in England. In his sermon yesterday morning he pointed out valuable lessons to be learned from the present situation.

In speaking of his trip this morning, Father Collins said he was struck with the systematic and prompt manner in which all the preparations for war were carried out. After the mobilization of the troops, they were taken over to Europe so quickly that no one knew they had left Britain's shores until they heard of their safe arrival in France. Speaking of the navy, he said he saw a review of the British fleet at Portsmouth and remembers seeing the Pathfinder, reported this morning to have been sunk.

Father Collins said the English people made very good use of the wheat, which he understood was the first offer of assistance made by any of the colonies. He said that the greater part of the wheat had already been landed and was being unloaded from the steamers at Liverpool at the expense of the city, and the total shipment would not cost the British government one cent.

All through England railroads were being guarded by the territorial and special watches were being kept at the tunnels and bridges. Troop trains were always given the right of way, and the regulars were frequently delayed for several hours. Father Collins said he was much impressed in watching the drilling of the Grenadier Guards at Buckingham Palace, and said it was understood that the Prince of Wales, who is a lieutenant in this regiment, expects to go to the front.

Father Collins has a cousin who is lieutenant on H. M. S. Queen, and another cousin passed with the British navy, but he was unable to find out anything of their whereabouts as the immediate members of the families of the soldiers and sailors were kept in ignorance of their movements.

Father Collins, accompanied by his mother and Mrs. Alward, who has been officiating in the absence of Father Collins, returned to his charge last Monday. Mrs. Alward and Son Home

Mrs. Alward, wife of Dr. Silas Alward, K. C., and their son, Wallace Alward, arrived on the Montreal train at noon today. Mrs. Alward has been visiting friends in the Channel Islands off the coast of England and has been delayed for nearly six weeks in returning home on account of the war making it difficult to get passage on a steamer coming out. Wallace Alward has been touring Europe with some fellow students of Harvard and was in Naples when war broke out. A few days previous to that he was in Germany.

The Dominions Royal Commission London, Sept. 7.—The dominions royal commission, the members of which reached home by the Canadian Northern liner Royal Edward and the Allan liner Virginia, will meet during the course of this week to consider whether to issue a final report or to suspend their duties sine die.

RUSSIANS FIGHTING BATTLE VICTORY IN WHICH WILL OPEN TO THEM THE ROAD TO BERLIN

Outlook Just as Good as in The Combat at Lemberg—A Blow That Will Sadly Cripple Austrian Army

London, Sept. 7.—The correspondent of the Times at Petrograd, under date of Sunday, referring to a battle just begun, and which, if as successful as the Russian operations against Lemberg, will overthrow the Austrian forces and practically open the road to Berlin, says: "Reliable information as to the progress of the battle enables me to state that the outlook is no whit less promising, but that several days may elapse before the final overthrow of the Austrian army."

"The enemy disposes at least thirty divisions, besides several German corps and will fight with the courage of despair. "On the East Prussian frontier there is news of the appearance of part, if not the whole, of the third Bavarian army corps. The troops were installed at Allenstein, which is being reconnoitred by Russian cavalry."

DEATHS HEAD HUSSARS CUT UP London, Sept. 7.—A Petrograd despatch to the Daily Mail, dated Sunday, says that the Bourse Gazette reports that a squadron of Death's Head Hussars, of which the crown prince was commander during his stay at Danzig, was defeated and completely cut up near Rocozin, in Poland, Count Stolberg, the commander of the squadron, and all the other officers were among the fallen. The sale of spirituous liquors has been prohibited for the duration of the war, according to a Petrograd despatch to the Reuter Telegram Co.

The Austrian Rout Lemberg, capital of Galicia, had not been taken by the Russians, after a desperate fight, but that Lemberg, which was not fortified, was abandoned to the Russians without fighting for certain human reasons. General Von Auffenberg says he is following up his success at Zamosa and that General Dank continues his attack in the direction of Lublin. The legation contradicts a despatch, according to which Czech regiments had mutilated also one that the Serbians had completely routed the fourth, eighth, ninth and thirteenth army corps.

Sturdy Defence of Belgrade. Petrograd, Sept. 7.—A Reuter despatch from Rome says that, according to reports from Nish, Belgrade is still putting up a magnificent defence. Even the women are fighting stubbornly. The Serbians swear that the enemy shall never enter the capital so long as one house stands and one Serbian stands. WAR NOTES

A protocol was signed on Saturday by the allied powers of England, France and Russia whereby each agreed to consult the other if any peace overtures were made. The Germans are to re-open the large gun factories at Liege. They are offering the Belgian workmen 50 per cent. increase in wages. Political prisoners in Lemberg were liberated by the Russian after capturing that city.

A German officer was arrested today near Corbell on the river Seine, eighty miles south-southeast of Paris, wearing the uniform of the French military automobile corps. It is said that the German Emperor started on Sunday morning for Danzig. The Germans latest operations in Belgium are figured as a plan to keep the Belgian army in check while the larger operations in France go on.

Hong Kong reports the arrival of several prizes, including the American steamer Hanamet and the German steamers Paldit, Frisia and Rajaburi. WIN LEGION OF HONOR CROSS FOR CAPTURE

Bordeaux, Sept. 7.—An official announcement says that in a recent campaign, two soldiers of the 187th Infantry, Broussard and Turcot, captured the flag of the 28th regiment of German infantry, whose colonel was also made prisoner. As a recompense, President Poincare has signed a decree conferring the Cross of the Legion of Honor on the flag of the 187th regiment.

LEAVE VALCARTIER FOR DUTY IN HALIFAX Valcartier, Que., Sept. 7.—Four hundred troops have left Valcartier camp for Halifax to embark for Bermuda. These men were selected from about 2,000 applicants and will replace the Royal Canadian Regiment and go in training at Bermuda on a war footing. Denials by Austria

The Hague, Sept. 7.—The Austrian legation last night issued a statement that the British papers had thus reversed as the beginning of the downfall of the Austro-Hungarian empire. They see no alternative for the Austrian army in Poland, which is apparently between two Russian armies, but retreat and doubt if that can be managed. They consider the relief of the Austrians, according to the Russian report that a German corps approached the scene of the Lemberg battle too late to participate.

PRICELESS WORKS OF ART DESTROYED BY GERMAN VANDALS IN LOUVAIN Among Them Were The Last Supper and The Descent From The Cross London, Sept. 7.—Telegraphing from Ostend, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says:—"The $17,000 found in the pockets of General Von Buelow after he was killed in the battle of Harlen, has been turned over by King Albert for Red Cross purposes. "Advices from Louvain state that priceless works of art were destroyed by the Germans there, namely 'The Descent from the Cross,' 'The Last Supper,' and the fifteenth century screen entitled 'The Martyrdom of St. Erasmus.' "The Last Supper' was in three sections, of which the middle one was destroyed. BRITISH ARMY'S ARMEN MAKE MILITARY HISTORY

GERMANS AND AUSTRIANS OF CONSULAR OFFICES ARE ORDERED OUT OF EGYPT Washington, Sept. 7.—German and Austrian consular officers have been ordered by British authorities to leave Egypt at once. Great Britain has informed the United States that she would look with favor on the sending of American warships to Turkish ports to care for Christians in case there was a Mohammedan uprising against them. These developments are brought about by the feeling in the Triple Entente that Turkey is certain to join the conflict on the side of Germany and Austria.

NEARLY ALL ARE SAVED BY BRAVE MEN OF TRAWLERS Gallant Rescue of Passengers and Crew of The Wilson Liner When She Struck German Mine Grimsby, Eng., Sept. 7.—Nearly 300 persons rescued from the Wilson Liner Runo, by trawlers, when the steamship sank in the North Sea, after striking a contact mine on Saturday afternoon, were landed at Grimsby and Hull on Sunday. The prompt work of four trawlers saved the lives of nearly all on board. Wilson line officials say that all the crew and all but 27 of the passengers are safe in this port. The Runo was bound from Hull to Archangel, and her passengers were mostly Russians from America, who were returning to Russia with their women and children. The boat hit the mine during the weather. The explosion was terrific and a large portion of the ship was shattered, while several passengers were injured and one was killed. Fortunately the little fleet of four trawlers, homeward bound, chanced to be passing and pushed through the wreckage and picked up sailors and passengers on sticks and rafts. The trawlers faced the danger of themselves being injured and by one was killed. The works of the trawlers is held in the Runo's crew to which it is the history of the sea. The lights "Pathfinder" of the British navy was blown up by a mine on Saturday in the North Sea. S. W. Finch, paymaster, was killed, and Captain F. M. Leake, commander, wounded. The other loss of life is not known.

GERMANY HAD DELIBERATELY PLANNED WAR

Many Signs of This Are Now Recalled

SIGNIFICANT OVERT ACTS

Guns and Ammunition Sent Months Ago to Vessels in South American Ports—Book Writers and Papers Urged War

The Canadian war press bureau issued the following:

Now that the war has come, British students of German newspapers and politics are recalling many signs which presaged Germany's assault upon the peace of the world. For months and indeed years a section of the German press, backed by men eminent in politics and intellectual worlds, has been preaching a policy of violence. One of the most popular of German historians, whose works for years have moulded the thought of German students is Treitschke and a well known utterance of his may be condensed thus:—'We have settled accounts with Austria; we now have to settle accounts with England. That will be the longest and most difficult task of all.' General von Bernhardi in his book 'Germany and the Next War' advocated an unprovoked attack upon France, for the purpose of rendering her harmless for the future. 'When we go to war with the French,' he said in effect, 'it must be a war with the knife. We must not merely crush her, we must stamp her into dust, never again to rise as a great power.'

With writers of this sort to back them, numerous newspapers in Germany long have been advocating violent policies in England the general tendency has been to regard such writers as irresponsible firebrands, by no means representative of the views of responsible public men, or of the mass of German opinion. It now appears that these advocates of war really represented official opinion. Bearing this in mind, it is interesting to observe that so long ago as February 24, a Berlin newspaper, Die Post, the organ of the pan-German party, and as it now is proved, of the government as well, published a long article entitled, 'Austria and the Triple Alliance Policy.' The object of this article was to urge that the moment had come when Germany to plunge Europe into war. The author pointed out that the internal situation in Austria was such as to justify the direct application of the military strength of the Dual Monarchy. As an ally, that power was now at its pinnacle of value, but every year would bring a diminution of German influence, and an increase of Slav influence in Austria-Hungary. Meanwhile he said, Russia, France and England were improving their military position by leaps and bounds, and would soon be immeasurably superior in war resources of every kind to the Triple Alliance. A few passages from this article may be quoted in full:—

'From year to year the situation is growing worse and every year it becomes more dangerous, and the inevitable war more difficult. For a moment, however, things are in our favor. France is not yet ready for battle, and England, because she fears domestic revolution, is hampered by colonial and domestic difficulties. Shall we, then, wait until our enemies are ready, or shall we make use of the propitious moment to force on a decision? This is the question now to be decided. We do not say that a quarrel must be picked, but should a conflict of interests arise we must not give way, but rather let it come to war, and start the struggle with a resolute offensive. The pretext is of minor importance. Whatever the apparent cause may be, the real stake at issue will be the whole future of Europe. We are declaring that the task of German policy is not to maintain peace but to prepare for the inevitable war with care and energy, and then wage it under the best possible conditions.'

In connection with the publication of articles of this sort every year, there has been a steady increase in the number of ships at the outbreak of war were in South American ports. A German vessel met them carrying guns and ammunition for their own use. The destination for them to be mounted and stored. That ship was despatched from Germany days before the Austrian ultimatum was left to Serbia.

It is perfectly clear that the present struggle was deliberately planned and provoked by Germany.

Canada In The War

News Notes of Activities in Many Parts of Dominion

The greatest military review in Canada's history took place yesterday at Valcartier, when 28,000 officers and men of the dominion's volunteer army division marched past the commander-in-chief of the forces, H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught. The troops made a splendid showing, and gave evidence of the training they have received since going into camp. Many notable visitors, including Premier Borden and members of his cabinet, and Sir Caird, minister of the interior, viewed the scene with appreciative enthusiasm.

The different branches of the I. C. R. employes in the general offices at Montreal have voted a day's pay to the patriotic fund.

A party of chauffeurs left on Saturday evening for Valcartier, having been assembled here by Col. A. E. Masie, of the Army Service Corps, for active service. They were Leonard Taylor, Clarence Gunn, Harold Prince, George Hasard and Harry Chittick, and they expect to leave with the Canadian volunteers for the old country.

A. J. Gross, superintendent of the railway mail service, on Saturday received orders to send B. McGill, railway mail clerk, to Valcartier, where he will take a position in the field post office established for the volunteers. He left on Saturday evening.

Arthur N. Carter, U. N. B. Rhodes scholar at Oxford, who is now with the King Edward Horse at Watford with other Oxford students is daily waiting orders to go to the front. Miss Royce Carter, who has been visiting her brother in England, was expected to arrive in New York yesterday.

Captain A. MacSwain of the Salvation Army at West St. John has volunteered to act as spiritual advisors aid assist in the care of the wounded and the sick. Sir Adam Beck has concluded his horse purchasing trip for the Canadian contingent. In conjunction with Major Schofield of London, England, he will now devote his attention to the purchase of remounts for the imperial army.

The Montreal relief committee has had applications from approximately 600 families of English reservists and Canadian volunteers and it is expected that the number of applications will reach 2,000.

Dufferin county, Ontario, is to have a new militia regiment, an eight-company corps for the next contingent.

The Canadian Patriotic Fund, Montreal branch, including the city's gift of $150,000, has already received a sum aggregating slightly over $1,000,000, although visitors' solicitors have not yet commenced their work.

Yukon people have contributed $6,000 to the hospital fund. The Yukon is also eager to send a contingent of men to the front.

The Brantford Army and Navy Veterans' Association has organized a "home guard" and asked for 50 rifles and 2,000 rounds of ball cartridges for practice purposes. A civilian rifle association has also been formed with 125 members.

Swiss citizens of Toronto are raising a patriotic fund for soldiers' families.

The Toronto Horticultural and Vegetable Growers' Association has sent two carloads of vegetables to the men at Valcartier.

A movement is now on foot in Toronto to form a corps of men over forty-five years of age to be known as the Toronto Guard. The idea is to enroll 1,000 men, preferably ex-members of the militia, for home defence. All the city regiments are adding to their numbers.

'The only man who is a traitor to his country is the man who will react out for a greedy profit at the public expense,' declared Hon. Martin Burrell in the course of an address delivered at the directors' luncheon at the Toronto Fair.

The Ontario government may decide to begin work on the concrete road from Toronto to Hamilton. The desire of the cabinet to provide work for unemployed men before the Austrian ultimatum was left to Serbia.

It is perfectly clear that the present struggle was deliberately planned and provoked by Germany.

A WORD TO ALL CANADIANS ON WAR SITUATION

Magnitude of Conflict Should Not Be Underrated

GREAT TASK FOR EMPIRE

The Armies in The Field—Need of Steady Cool-Headedness in Canada Whether Early Conflicts Are Favorable or Reverse

One word of caution should be addressed to the Canadian people at the outset of the war, says the Canadian war press bureau. There seems to be some disposition to underrate the magnitude of the conflict and of the exertions which it will impose upon the people of this empire.

It is only fair to give as far as possible a true and sober account of what is impending. Germany is a very strong power. Her population is one-third larger than that of either England or France. Her army, which proved its efficiency in 1866 and 1870, has in all the years which have passed since then been steadily working to improve itself and been repeatedly enlarged. The German navy is the creation of many years, and has had the special care both of the Emperor and of the people. No effort has been spared to raise it to the highest pitch of efficiency. The German people are united and determined.

Side by side with Germany stands Austria-Hungary, with a great army of the modern type, very different from that which was defeated in 1866. Austria-Hungary has also of late years begun to expand her navy. Against these operations, which are being carried out by the armies of France and Russia. That of Russia has been much increased during the last two years, and is believed to be the most powerful in the world.

The printing company will give one day's pay per month till the end of the year to the Patriotic Fund, the total being about $8,000.

Dr. Alexander Fraser, of Toronto, who has been requested to procure recruits in Canada for Lovat's Scouts, has already 800 applications for enlistment and expects that the 600 (which is the present limit fixed) will soon be reached.

A Montreal firm, the Chesborough Manufacturing Company, has offered to supply 10,000 tons of vaseline to the Canadian troops. Already this firm's branch in London has given 50,000 tons to the British troops.

The Clarkson fruit growers, of Clarkson, Ont., have offered a car of vegetables and apples to the troops at Valcartier.

J. W. Boyle, millionaire mining man of Dawson City, has offered to contribute machine guns to the Canadian overseas contingent for use abroad.

O. N. Lewis, M. P., for West Huron, has offered his services to the minister of militia in any capacity. Mr. Lewis is a major in the 51st Field Battery, now being formed.

At Hamilton, Ont., which is recognized as the German centre of Canada, a number of citizens, many of them of German birth or descent, met and formed a committee to help the Canadian overseas contingent.

Two hundred chauffeurs, who have been driving at Stanley Barracks, St. John's, have left for Valcartier. Sunday the field ambulance corps from Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines, now at Long Branch, W. E.

The desire to own a Diamond is simply a call of nature. It is the most beautiful of all gems—a pure, unadorned, radiant beauty—a real desire in a natural human instinct.

But the appeal of the Diamond is stronger than simple love of the beautiful. The gem represents true intrinsic worth. It is a really valuable possession. Diamonds secured gold for many European travellers in the last few weeks when nothing else would.

The desire to own things of real intrinsic worth is a wholesome desire—one that should be cultivated.

The Diamond combines beauty and value in an extremely practical form. It is an exquisite ornament and a profitable investment—especially profitable right now, for the Diamond prices are mounting daily now, but the Diamonds at Sharpe's are on sale at prices established before conditions responsible for the sudden rise in price took place.

THE WAR

Rome, Sept. 6, 6.40 a.m., by way of London, 8 a.m.—A news despatch from Vienna says that the defeat at Lemberg was a rout of the whole Austrian army operating in Galicia, and that the only hope now is the German contingent which is congesting all the railway line toward the northeastern frontier, it is asserted that the Austrian general staff is urging the Germans to dispatch some of their 420 millimetre guns to Galicia.

Official reports from Petrograd say that although the defeat of the Russian at Tannenberg was regrettable, it is serving only to strengthen the faith of the people, the army and the government to multiply their efforts for final success, which the whole nation considers inevitable, as the Germans in making what was perhaps their most strenuous attempt, disrupted only one twentieth part of the Russian army.

London, Sept. 6—9.50 p. m.—An official statement issued Saturday in Berlin and received here by Marconi wireless.

'Reports from the war correspondents of Viennese newspapers state that the whole situation in the northern theatre of war has been changed for the better by the victory of the armies commanded by General Aulenberg and General Danke. As an example of the brilliant work of the armies of the field the correspondents relate that wounded Russian infantry, who tried to beat a hasty retreat under cover, were stopped by the renewed direct fire of the artillery which they attempted to make any movement. Later the bodies of a large number of soldiers who had been killed by gas were discovered near this place.

Officers of a Sautari detachment, on their arrival in Vienna were received by Emperor Francis Joseph and after entertained at a banquet by the minister of war, General Ritter von Koblenz.

'Russians have been taken without any fighting. Owing to the advance of our army little attention can be paid to booty, and guns and wagons have been left standing in an open and quite abandoned. These will be collected by troops in due course.

'It is reported that France, through the intermediary of the British government, has offered the Italian government the loan of one milliard ($200,000,000) on favorable terms, but that the Italian prime minister refused the offer.

'Greece has called up ten classes of naval reserves for manoeuvres in order to give the national defence new stimulus.'

The St. John exhibition of 1914 was formally opened with appropriate ceremonies on Saturday evening. A crowd of fully 1,200 people gathered for the event, which was marked by speeches by leaders of the city and province.

At nine o'clock His Honor Lieutenant Governor Wood entered the big amusement hall attended by his secretary, W. C. Cruikshank and Lieutenant Percy McAulivay, A. D. C., and accompanied by the directors of the exhibition association and a party of ladies and gentlemen who filled the seats on the platform.

Richard O'Brien, president of the association, opened the meeting with a brief address and introduced Mayor Frink as the first speaker. The mayor congratulated the directors and expressed his confidence in their determination to have the fair this year in spite of the war. He urged that the citizens should all show the same spirit in carrying on their business and helping to build up the city until it becomes the greatest along the Atlantic seaboard. He closed with a patriotic and inspiring reference to the war and to the volunteers who have gone from St. John.

Hon. George J. Clarke, acting premier, referred to the fact that the exhibition opens with the war clouds hovering over the empire and pointed out that it was as patriotic a duty to keep the wheels of industry moving and to gather the crops as to aid in fighting the battles of the empire. He dwelt briefly on the agricultural and road policies of the government and suggested exhibitions of road making at the fair. He announced that part of the Valley rail way would be in operation this year and looked forward to the time when its completion would add to the traffic of this part and regarding the planting of 100,000 bushels of potatoes by the province to the Imperial government he suggested that this could be increased by private subscription and that this might be a valuable way for the agricultural societies to show their patriotism.

Hon. John E. Wilson said that the present conditions made the exhibition more necessary than ever before and predicted that it would be a great success. The lieutenant governor then pronounced the exhibition open. During the evening vocal solos were given by Miss Amdur, A. C. Smith and Fred McKean, D. Arnold Fox acting as accompanist. The City Cornet band was present and rendered several selections while the crowd was gathering and intervals in the programme. The singing of the National Anthem brought the exercises to a close.

In Main Building. Probably never in any previous exhibition here have the exhibitors expended such effort in making their booths in the main building attractive. The display throughout the numerous buildings is of a very high standard and especially in the main building—the decorative work has been in the hands of capable decorators and dressers. Even in the case of those merchants whose practical exhibits it is difficult to make very attractive, much success has been realized and the general appearance of this branch of the fair will no doubt solicit admiration from the visitors.

The main entrance—from Sydney street—has been made to look splendid; the lawns have been arrayed with flowers and plants; flags have been hung about the face of the buildings and strung from the entrance; myriads of electric lights have been scattered over the face of the huge building and glimmering through the darkness they refect upon a wealth of beauty and regarded from a distance where one can take in the whole situation at a glance, there is a scene of grandeur. Upon entering the main building there is a pathway left open to the grounds at the rear. This has been encloped and draped with flags and bunting, and throughout the floor and building in fact, disregarding the individual exhibitors the decorations are magnificent. The majority of this is overhead and consists of bunting, etc., draped artistically from the ceiling and walls.

The main pathway through this building has been termed "Stove Avenue", because the whole of the left side of the walk with the exception of one aisle is occupied by stove merchants. In spite of the great difficulty which is generally experienced in arranging these places, these sections have been so arranged that the place has been topped with the glass insulators used on the telegraph poles in the streets and the gates have been moulded into the appearance of the top of one of these street ornaments, having the pole through the centre and the bars with insulators running on either side. The former, besides having stoves and all that go with them, have displayed various other lines of hardware and chandise in which this large firm deals. McLean & Holt has expended no little effort in the making of "making attractive", featuring of course their particular branch—the Glenwood ranges. Then again the corner display on the left next to the entrance to the grounds gives more stoves.

The northern end of the building is taken up with the heavier displays. In addition to the above mentioned there are the Canadian Oil Companies, Ltd., Magnet Cream Separator Co., and other firms displaying their wares. The main display of the main building proper the booths display more delicate goods and wares. This small section includes a variety of refreshments, booths—candies and drinks—and an assortment of other lines—souvenirs, knacks, etc. On the whole this part of the building, when summed up as a "business section", as contrasted with the sections at both extremities of the lower floor, where the exhibits are display only, T. J. Phillips, the Corona Candy Co., and such firms have neatly arranged and attractive places here.

Patriotic Touch. The most conspicuous place of all—that is for general appearance—is located in the southern end of the main floor in the section which corresponds with the dining hall at the northern end. The place referred to is Murray & Gregory's booth. It is located at the north-western extremity of the section. A touch of patriotism has been introduced into this exhibit which has been constructed in a very interesting form of a monument bearing testimony to the gallant chivalry of the British.

The base is painted in slate color and at each corner is a cannon standing pillar-like and forming the support for an artistically designed top piece, bearing the gold, crown, coats-of-arms, etc. "What We Have Well Held" is lettered on each side just beneath the cannons and then lower down on the base, one on each side, the following: Camperdown, 1887; Crecy, 1846; Trafalgar, 1805; Waterloo, 1815. The whole being decorated with flags, British, French, Russian, Belgian, Japanese, Serbian, and interwoven. This entire booth, outside this feature, well arranged, displaying art glass, mirrors and wood-working materials.

In this section of the building also are grouped several merchant displaying pianos and others with scales, adding machines, etc. All are arranged attractively of course and an array of demonstrators in the various lines on the job looking for "prospects." D. Magee & Sons have a booth separated from the rest, situated at the beginning of the wing and opposite to it is the display of the St. John Railway Company. The Imperial Oil Company has an exhibit near Murray & Gregory's, in which the articles displayed are made to appear very attractive.

There are numerous other smaller booths, all arranged well and presenting a neat appearance, but it would be difficult to enumerate them individually. Gallery of Main Building. In the gallery of the main building right over the front door is the big child's welfare exhibit which will attract a great deal of attention, especially from the parents of the wee small boys and girls. Directly north of this is an ice cream booth of the People's Dairy, beyond which is one of the Phillips' candy booths. Across the north end of the building are three exhibits, F. E. Holman & Co., wall papers, artificial flowers and paper roses, and J. Mason and Ritch pianos. Going south from the east side of the gallery are to be found the following other well trimmed booths: British and Foreign Bible Society, Ross Drug Company, featuring the Ross preparations; Telegraph and Times; Diston Saus Company, a very fine exhibit of its kind placed in the exhibition by the manufacturers in the interests of the local jobbers; Alfred Burley, and the booth of the Women's Suffrage Association.

On the west gallery directly south of the child welfare exhibit are the booths of the National Clothing Company and Macaulay Bros. & Co., both featuring ladies' clothing and the fall styles. In the alley between the main building and main building wing are to be found the exhibit of Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd., featuring ladies' clothing, millinery and furs, and C. H. Townshend Piano Company, featuring the Heintzman piano.

Along the north side of the gallery of the wing moving west are to be found a Phillips confectionery booth, Oak Hall, featuring ladies' and gentlemen's ready made clothing; Sidd Suspenders Co., Ltd.; Silver Black Fox Company; Singer sewing machines, and the booth of the Coldbrock Realty & Devel-

The White Man's Burden

People are finding out that a lot of the troubles that go to make up life's burden are caused by

Tea and Coffee Drinking

Tea and coffee contain a drug, caffeine—from 1 1/2 to 3 grains to the cup. It not only stands to reason, but has been demonstrated scientifically and in practical experience, that this steady drugging is a foe to health and comfort.

A great army of people have found freedom from ills due to tea and coffee by changing to —a delicious pure food-drink, made from whole wheat and a bit of molasses. No caffeine, no drug, no harmful ingredient.

Even children drink Postum freely with benefit; they can't do that with tea or coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum, must be boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs. Instant Postum, a soluble form, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

THE WAR NEWS.

After having arrived almost at the gates of Paris, the Germans found themselves unable to carry out their original plan. They failed to defeat a single French or British army while en route to the French capital, and these armies are therefore still in the field against them. They must overtake and crush them or the siege of Paris would be profitless.

hibition that if the people of St. John did their part to make it a success the people of the province at large might be relied on to do their share. There was naturally a patriotic note in the addresses of the different speakers and the ready applause showed that they were giving expression to sentiments which they are entertained by all the people.

So far as the exhibition itself is concerned it is worthy of a most liberal patronage. A large attendance from provincial points is anticipated, and the citizens should heartily respond to the appeal of Hon. Mr. Murray to show their appreciation of the splendid work that has been done by the directors and of the public spirit shown by the exhibitors.

There is much of an educative character, and hours may be very pleasantly and profitably spent in the buildings and grounds during the coming week. All roads lead to the exhibition. Splendid weather marks the first day of the St. John Exhibition.

While the Russian movement in East Prussia has not continued with the rapidity and success of its earlier stages, it is still making some headway, and in Galicia the latest reports are to the effect that the Russian success in that field was not over-stated in the earlier despatches. The Austrian army at Lemberg was utterly defeated, and the Russian advance continues without prospect of being seriously checked, although Germany has sent strong reinforcements to the Austrians.

Each day brings new evidence of the barbarity of the German soldiers. Even men in their own ranks fall exhausted or slacken their pace and are kicked and prodded with the bayonet to force them forward with the advance of the war machine. The whole world has been shocked by the revelations made of their utter disregard of the rules of civilized warfare, or even of the rights of non-combatants, including women and little children.

From the North Sea comes news that German vessels stole out and destroyed some English fishing craft. This appears to be the limit of the achievements of the German navy. Their floating mines, however, scattered with devilish design, continue to cause destruction of merchant vessels, chiefly those of neutral states. It is not surprising that American writers like Col. Henry Watterston and former President Eliot of Harvard should describe this war as a "battle of liberty against despotism," and "for freedom and civilization."

Yesterday was a notable day in Canadian history. H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, Sir Robert Borden, Colonel Hughes, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. J. D. Hazen and other distinguished men in Canadian public life witnessed at Valcartier the greatest military review in the history of the country. Some 23,000 officers and men marched before the reviewing stand, led by the minister of militia. About 8,000 more troops were on the ground, but did not take part in the march. This Canadian army, though small, may be counted on to do its duty when the hour of trial comes.

THE EXHIBITION. Lieutenant-Governor Wood, Acting Premier Clark, Hon. Mr. Murray, Hon. John E. Wilson and Mayor Frink were all able to congratulate President O'Brien and the directors of the Exhibition Association on Saturday evening on the character of the exhibition which was then formally opened. All of them emphasized the fact that it is the duty of the people of the city and province to go on with the ordinary business of life as if no state of war existed, and to do all in their power to keep the wheels of industry and commerce moving. Hon. Mr. Murray said with regard to the exhibition that if the people of St. John did their part to make it a success the people of the province at large might be relied on to do their share. There was naturally a patriotic note in the addresses of the different speakers and the ready applause showed that they were giving expression to sentiments which they are entertained by all the people.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER. E.W. GILLETT CO. LTD. TORONTO, ONT.

ENGLAND'S DEAD. (By Felicia Dorothea Hemans.) Son of the ocean isle!

Go, stranger! track the deep Free, free, the white sail spread! Wave may not foam, nor wild wind sweep

But let the sound roll on! Let the forest-breath be shed; For those that from their toils are gone—

Loud rush the torrent-floods And free, in green Columbia's woods The hunter's bow is strung

But let the floods rush on! Let the arrow's flight be sped! Why should they rock whose task is done?

The mountain-storms rise high In the snowy Pyrenees, And toss the pine-boughs through the sky,

But let the storm rage on! Let the forest-breath be shed; For the Roncesvalles' field is won—

On the frozen deep's repose, 'Tis a dark and dreadful hour, When round the ship the ice-fields close,

But let the ice drift on! Let the cold-blast desert spread! Their course with mast and flag is done—

The warlike of the isles, The men of field and wave! Are not the rocks their funeral piles,

Go, stranger! track the deep Free, free, the white sail spread! Wave may not foam, nor wild wind sweep

Where rest not England's dead.

LAST NIGHT'S WAR CABLES

The allied armies defending the roads to Paris have again come into contact with the German right wing on the banks of the River Grand Morin, which runs east and west, somewhat south of the Paris line.

This indicates an extension of the eastward movement reported Saturday and opens up the question whether the German aim is now actually to invest Paris or, the first great campaign to envelop large portions of the allied forces having failed, to seek to attack the armies defending the French frontier in the rear, escaping in the event of failure to their own territory once more.

A glance at the map will show that the river Grand Morin or at least other places mentioned in the official despatches are quite as close to the German frontier as they are to Paris, lending weight to this remarkable theory.

At the same time, unless they are in overwhelming force as compared to the allies, unless they either attack Paris immediately or cut their way to their own frontier again the position of the German armies will rapidly become a dangerous one and a single false step, it is predicted, will mean a German Sedan.

An official statement, issued by the French war office, says that the allies advanced troops came into touch with German forces which seem to be covering on the River Ourcq, towards the southeast, the movement of the main body of the German right wing and a small engagement resulted in an advantage to the French.

From Berlin, by way of Amsterdam, comes the report that the Germans are attacking the forts at Nancy, and that Emperor William and the general staff are watching the operations.

The British official war information bureau has issued a long general survey of the operations of the British army during the past week, and in addition a list of British casualties, which shows a total of more than 15,000 men up to September 1.

The statement, which is based on a report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front, speaks highly of the spirits of the British soldiers and their achievements. It declares that while the British losses are heavy they are not one-third of the losses inflicted by the British troops on the Germans. The statement closes with a call for more men.

Berlin reports that 3,000 British prisoners have reached Doberitz. A bombardment has begun of the fortifications at Cattaro, an Austro-Hungarian seaport, by the French fleet, and advices from Cetinje credit the Montenegrin troops with the defeat of the Austrians at Doljanitz, in Herzegovina.

France is calling out the 1915 recruits, and in this way will add 250,000 men to her forces within a few months.

The German Reichstag, represented by members of all parties, has promised its full support to whatever measures the minister of marine deems necessary. Appropriations will be made for the replacement of the ships which have been lost and to carry out the programme of construction already arranged.

The British steamer Runo, of the Wilson line, with hundreds of passengers aboard, has foundered in the North Sea, after striking a mine. Most of those aboard were saved.

Russian official announcements describe a strong offensive movement against the Austrians on Sept. 4.

The following is from an official war information bureau statement from London: "There is no doubt whatever that our men have established a personal ascendancy over the Germans, and that they are conscious of the fact that with anything like even numbers the result would not be doubtful. The shooting of the German infantry is poor, while the British rifle fire has devastated every column of attack that has presented itself.

Their superior training have enabled the British soldiers to use the open formation with effect, and thus cope with the vast numbers employed by the enemy.

The cavalry, who have had even more opportunities for displaying personal prowess and address, have definitely established their superiority. Field Marshal Sir John French's report dwells on the marked superiority of the British troops of every arm of the service.

"The cavalry, he says, do as they like with the enemy until they are confronted with twice their numbers. The German patrols simply fly before our horsemen.

"The German troops will not face our infantry fire. As regards our artillery, they have never been opposed by less than three or four times their numbers.

"It is noted that during a rear guard action of the guards brigade on Sept. 1 the Germans were seen giving assistance to our wounded."

CAN PARIS HOLD OUT AGAINST YEAR-LONG GERMAN SIEGE!

Its Three Lines of Defenses—Strong Forts and All Modern Equipment—The Food Problem

(By W. S. Zimmerman, Globe trotter and student of international affairs.)

How long can Paris hold out against a food of victorious Germans dashing at its gates?

In 1870 the city resisted the Prussians for four months, although it was not prepared for a siege. Now tons of provisions and hundreds of cattle have been rushed within the city's safety zone.

Frenchmen were getting ready to make a desperate stand behind its massive fortifications.

The Kaiser will have a hard nut to crack before he dictates terms of peace within the world's greatest capital. German military tactics concede that Paris is the greatest fortified city. Frenchmen believe it impregnable. American military men say it ought to hold out at least one year against a besieging army of 500,000 men.

Everything that the human mind can conceive in the way of defensive warfare is on hand in Paris. Thirty-six huge turreted forts—each containing from twenty-four to sixty guns—garrisoned by 170,000 men, form the basis of the defenses. The ground has been mined, or made impassable by traps and entanglements, for miles and miles. Aeroplanes and the latest types of bombs are on hand.

Paris is built in a valley, is surrounded by low-lying hills. These heights are crowned with forts bristling with guns which command miles of the country below. As a result, the strongholds are located so that two of them, and sometimes three of them, may pour a withering cross-fire into any enemy which gets in range. In case of siege the gaps in the line will be stopped by the secondary defenders in bombproof shelters and trenches in sufficient force, it is thought, to check an army.

To get into the city the invaders have to pass three concentric rings of fortresses. Of these, the first line, seventy-five miles in a very rough circle and about twelve miles from the center of the city, is made up of nineteen strongholds of concrete and steel.

Five miles to the rear and filling the gaps of the first row are seventeen turreted citadels on a ring about thirty-four miles in circumference. These are the forts which bore the brunt of the attack in 1871, but all of them have been modernized and in many cases connected by heavy ramparts for the shelter of supporting infantry.

Paris is surrounded by a range of guns bordering the two outer lines, but the third line is weak. That is the old wall of Paris twenty-one miles in perimeter and about 400 square miles of territory is under the protection of the city's guns, but it is possible that the area is nearer 500 miles.

But all of the advantages of war are not with the Parisians. The huge metropolis of 8,000,000 persons has an enormous appetite and the Germans may do as they did before, starve it into submission. If the siege is prolonged, the city will be ruined. Instead of destroying the city the Americans sought out the guilty ones only, and after silencing the firing, proceeded to clean up the city and provide a better government for it than ever before existed in its history, thus gaining, in a short time the friendship of all Mexicans, high and low. One act was that of barbarians the other that of a civilized people.

The world recoils in horror at the vandalism that has swept Louvain from the face of the earth and it will not believe that it was called for by military necessity. We have proudly boasted that mankind has progressed but now we have retrogression and a barbaric horror that would have shamed Attila. It is such acts as these that point with a just pride to the humane and civilized course that would have followed by our forces in a parallel situation at Vera Cruz, a case of moderation and justice rather than one of insane fury and ruthless destruction and murder.

Eli McBeath a well known liquor merchant of the North End died yesterday afternoon. He was forty-four years of age and leaves one son, Harold M., of this city and a daughter, Miss Leslie. Mrs. R. D. Lewis of this city is a sister.

Louvain and Vera Cruz (Bangor Commercial)

A delegation from Belgium is coming to the United States to make a personal protest against some of the methods employed by the Germans in the conduct of the war. They will use as a special example the sacking of Louvain by the German troops where, it is stated on the authority of eye witnesses, that men, and perhaps women and children, were brutally murdered and the city reduced to ashes because some few shots were fired by some one unknown as to the entry of the Germans.

The action of the Germans is almost past comprehension and no one would have supposed that this cruel war, for war is always cruel, would have brought such a scene as this as told by eye witnesses. The order went forth that Louvain must be destroyed as a punishment for the firing on German soldiers, although the British despatches claim that the shots were fired upon Germans by the Germans through error.

The work of destruction was most complete and the city of 42,000 inhabitants, containing one of the large colleges of Europe and a seat of culture and art, is now nothing but a blackened ruin with desolation complete. Business houses, manufacturing churches and residences all are gone and the thousands of residents, with their possessions destroyed, have been herded in concentration camps. The eye-witnesses state that all manner of excesses were committed by the German soldiery and that many of the non-combatant citizens were led out and shot as an example of German vengeance.

In strong contrast to this barbarism with the attitude of the American soldiers at Vera Cruz, where much firing continued for days upon our soldiers and marines by Mexicans hidden from view and by which some 80 fine American young men were killed. Instead of destroying the city the Americans sought out the guilty ones only, and after silencing the firing, proceeded to clean up the city and provide a better government for it than ever before existed in its history, thus gaining, in a short time the friendship of all Mexicans, high and low. One act was that of barbarians the other that of a civilized people.

The world recoils in horror at the vandalism that has swept Louvain from the face of the earth and it will not believe that it was called for by military necessity. We have proudly boasted that mankind has progressed but now we have retrogression and a barbaric horror that would have shamed Attila. It is such acts as these that point with a just pride to the humane and civilized course that would have followed by our forces in a parallel situation at Vera Cruz, a case of moderation and justice rather than one of insane fury and ruthless destruction and murder.

Eli McBeath a well known liquor merchant of the North End died yesterday afternoon. He was forty-four years of age and leaves one son, Harold M., of this city and a daughter, Miss Leslie. Mrs. R. D. Lewis of this city is a sister.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's The Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagging of skin. Premature aging, mal-nutrition, etc., cause the flesh to be thin and flabby. The skin then is too large for the flesh underneath; doesn't fit tightly and snugly as it used to—it wrinkles and sags.

It must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectually remove the hateful wrinkles and bagginess. This is easily and harmoniously accomplished by dissolving an ounce of powdered axolite in a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face lotion. The ingredients you can get at any drug store. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag is affected at once.

German Prisoners of War In England

These 200 German war reservists were captured at the English port of Folkestone while they were trying to get to Germany to join the colors. The picture shows English soldiers marching them through Folkestone to the war prisoners' camp at Shorncliffe.

HIT GERMANY IN HER TRADE

Business Men of Empire Can Assist—Fighting The Enemy From Office Desk

The Hardware Trade Journal of London furnishes a fine illustration of the spirit in which business men in the mother country are accepting the situation, and vigorously setting themselves to the task of fighting Germany by capturing her markets. The Hardware Trade Journal has prepared a card index, which is practically a buyers guide, giving the names of nearly 80,000 British makers of hardware lines. From the circular announcing the publication of this work, which was rushed through in the shortest possible time, we quote the following sentences:

"You can fight the Germans from your office desk.

"The German forces must be beaten and German trade must be crippled.

"When the war is over Germany will begin again to construct her army and navy, and you help to deprive her of the sinews of war. Her trade must be taken.

"Your immediate duty—Search your ledgers. Search your stock. Search your order book. Make a list of every German line you handle. Write at once to British makers for samples, prices and particulars.

"You can help your country, keep business going, restore confidence, prevent unemployment, cheer up British trade, and do an immense amount of good by immediately sending for samples and asking for prices from British makers.

"Mr. Edward Grey, the foreign secretary; Mr. Harcourt, the colonial secretary; Mr. Hunsiman, the president of the board of trade, have all pointed out the duty of capturing German trade, with a view to alleviating the loss of business and unemployment in the United Kingdom and colonies."

THE SHENANDOAH
The steamer Shenandoah is now resting on an even keel on Navy Island bar. With the aid of powerful salvage pumps, owned by a local firm, the water has been cleared from her hold and it is expected that she will be taken soon to Kennedy's slip for temporary repairs as recommended by the survey. One of the members of the survey party said this morning that the damage was thought to be merely the tearing away of the heads of some of the bolts holding the plates on her bottom. The survey also recommended that as soon as temporary repairs are effected the vessel be taken to Halifax for permanent repairs in dry-dock. Before this is done it is expected that all the local cargo will be discharged.

WHERE TO ADDRESS LETTERS FOR ST. JOHN MEN AT VALCARTIER

St. John Fusiliers detachment at Valcartier, he says that mail for members of that body at the big camp should be addressed "care of the 12th battalion, 8th infantry brigade," Valcartier. Captain Sturdee said that his men were all doing well and rounding into good shape with the seasonings being given them.

WHITE HAIRD OLD MEN CALLED OUT TO ARMS BY KAISER

London, Sept. 7.—A despatch to the Times from Ostend reports that arrivals from Brussels state that many of the Landstrum troops, drilling daily, are men with white hair. The correspondent says this shows that Germany has called up every man able to bear a rifle. Similar statements are made by those who have seen German soldiers proceeding north to Antwerp.

The Germans have placed siege guns around Brussels. These are of heavy calibre and are sunk in concrete. "I learn from a sure source," the Times Ostend correspondent continues, "that Emperor William was at Brussels on Wednesday evening, staying at the Hotel Bellevue that night. He appointed General Luttwig governor of Belgium."

HALIFAX PILOT DEAD

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 7.—William Whalke, one of the best known of Halifax pilots, died last evening. He was stricken with paralysis on Saturday. He had followed his calling as pilot for thirty-nine years.

THE LEACONFIELD
Contractor Leachy will start tomorrow to remove the buckets from the dredge Leaconfield, submerged on Navy Island bar. This will lighten the dredge sufficiently to float her from her resting place. On account of the fact that the digger was raised from where she sank at the entrance to Courtenay Bay and grounded on the bar during a twenty-six foot tide, it has been impossible to get her from there as there have been no tides so high since. When the weight of the buckets is taken away, however, the lifting will be more easily accomplished.

HOUSING FRENCH GOVERNMENT IN THE NEW CAPITAL

Bordeaux, Sept. 7.—The installation of the government administration is rapidly nearing completion. The offices occupy all the city buildings, including the university, in which the war department is housed. The principal office occupies the better part of a small street near the public garden.

The foreign embassies are located in mansions provided for them by the French government in various quarters of the city. The Temps appeared here tonight for the first time. It printed a single sheet, preserving, however, its characteristic aspect. Several other Parisian papers also are being printed here in the offices of one of the principal local newspapers.

Summing up the military situation in this issue, the Temps says: "Without any exaggeration, we are justified in affirming that, notwithstanding the falling back of our army, the situation can, as a whole, be considered not alarming."

TELEGRAPH AND TIMES BOOTH AT EXHIBITION

For the convenience of subscribers and advertisers The Telegraph and Times will have a booth at the exhibition directly facing the main entrance in the gallery, where subscriptions will be taken, information given regarding advertising rates, etc.

THEIR TRIP A CIRCLE

Motor Party on Kennebecasis Have Experience in Fog

The particularly heavy fog, which set in early last evening, proved a source of trouble to some people who were on the river, and some motor boats groped about for several hours last night before the veil lifted. One party who spent the day on Kennebecasis Island, started for Indiantown about eight o'clock, just when the fog was the thickest. They started out all right, but something must have gone wrong, for after about an hour's sailing, picking up light after light along the river, the look-out announced land—straight ahead—strange land at that. A voice on the shore shouted, "Are you lost?" "Yes, where are we?" came the response from the boat. "Kennebecasis Island," drifted out over the water and the "Skipper" realized that he had circled back almost to where he started from. The fog lifted soon afterwards and the party had no difficulty in getting to the city.

BETTER STREET CAR SERVICE IN OPERATION

There was a vast improvement in the car service to and from North End today. The schedule of recent weeks has been a source of grumbling and complaint because of the delay in completing certain portions of the pavement work, but the old service was restored today. The double-running of cars was ended.

The news has brought relief to many people who have made walking their favorite exercise for some weeks, and who have wondered why the service could not have been bettered some time ago by working a large crew and keeping them engaged at night as well as by day.

NORTH END WEDDING

A wedding of interest to many friends was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Starkey, 147 Main street, when Miss Elspeth Grant Speirs, formerly of this city, but late Columbus, Ohio, became the bride of George Gerald Starkey, now of Manchester, N. H. Rev. B. H. Nobles performed the ceremony in the presence of many friends. The bride, who was unattended, was prettily gowned in white net over silk with pearl trimmings, and wore a wreath with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Ethel M. Laskey played the wedding march. Following the ceremony, a tempting luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Starkey left on the steamer Calvin Austin for Boston, whence they will go on a honeymoon trip through the western states. The bride's traveling costume was blue, with a white and black hat. They were the recipients of many costly remembrances in the form of presents, and also received many telegrams of congratulations from friends elsewhere. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial check, and she received a similar gift from her father. The bride and groom on their return after their wedding trip will reside in Manchester, N. H., where Mrs. Starkey is manager of the electric garage of the Amoskeag Mills Co. Both he and his bride have many friends here who wish them all happiness.

MARRIED IN OTTAWA

The following from the Ottawa Free Press of Sept. 4, will be of interest here, telling of the wedding of a former St. John young lady and a St. John young man:

"A very pretty informal wedding took place this morning at the home of the bride's father, 188 First Avenue, when Miss Edith Muriel Armstrong was married to Robert William Hawker by the Rev. T. J. Thompson, of the Glebe Presbyterian church.

The bride entered the drawing room, which was banked with flowers, on the arm of her father. She wore a traveling suit of brown, with hat to match, and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Armstrong, in pale blue satin with overdress of ninon, carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

"Only the immediate friends and relatives were present, among them being S. H. Hawker, of St. John, N. B., father of the groom.

"After a dainty wedding breakfast, the happy couple left for a trip to the principal cities of Ontario before starting for their home in St. John, N. B."

WEDDING AT ROTHESAY

At Rothesay this morning Rev. M. O'Brien united in marriage Miss Catherine A. Darragh of St. John to Francis A. Muckler of Grand Falls. The bride was neatly costumed in navy blue with hat to match and was unattended. The presents received were many and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Muckler motored to the city and left on the Boston train to visit the groom's parents before going to their future home in Boston.

The Children's Shoes

With school days the fitting out of the children's feet becomes an important problem. Nothing is more important to a child's health and comfort than proper foot-wear. Ill fitting, poorly made shoes may father a life time of misery. The choice of the right shoe-maker is a question of great importance. Many scientifically built shoes for children are on the market. They are constructed on proper lasts and built of good leather. Be sure you are right before purchasing—and one of the best guides to the correct sources of supply is the advertising in The Telegraph and The Times.
