celebrated writer of adventures, died here The Parish Councils Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 8 .- The House of Lords this evening passed the Parish Councils Bill through the committee stage. A French Force Wiped Out!

PARIS. Feb. 8.-The Governor of Senegal has telegraphed that the French flying column that recently took possession of Timbuctoo has been surprised by Touaregs and annihilated near that place. No details of the affair have been received. A Cabinet council was held at the Elysee this Mr. Gladstone's Eyes.

LONDON, Feb. 8 .- Dr. Granger, of Chester, a physician and oculist, who has before attended Mr. Gladstone, has beem summoned to meet the Premier at his Downing street residence as soon as the latter returns from Biarritz. Dr. Granger will examine Mr. Gladstone's eyes, his sight, it is said, being in a precarious condition.

Maddock Again. LONDON, Feb. 9.—The last has not yet been heard of Mr. Maddock's lecture concerning Canada at the Colonial Institute on Monday evening. Mr. Maddock this morning publishes a letter in the Times in which he challenges Archer Baker and Sir Henry Tyler to prove that his statements regarding corruption in connection with the C. P. R. are unfounded.

Britain's Navy. London, Feb. 8.-Mr. Edmund Robertson, one of the lords of the admiralty, addressed a meeting at Dundee to-day. He said that the naval programme of the Government for 1894 and 1895 would show no intention to forfeit or even risk in the slightest degree Great Britain's position of superiority over other nations. Estimates that would soon be published would satisfy rational advocates of a strong navy. These estimates would be only for a year, though part of a programme for a period of two cabin, which was blown down, killing the D'Alton McCarthy. recently offered to resign. It adds that his resignation is held in abeyance only until Mr. Gladstone's return to England. According to the Eclaire, Lord Rosebery differs with Mr. Gladstone on the British foreign policy and on the agitation against the House of Lords.

Gladstone in Good Health.

London, Feb. 9 .- Sir Algernon Edward West, Mr. Gladstone's friend and companion in Biarritz, said in an interview that he left Mr. Gladstone in the best of health. Mr. Gladstone had enjoyed his sojourn in Biarritz greatly, and was gratified by the benefit which he had derived from his vacation. He would return to London probably Feb. 10. He had been much surprised upon learning that a definite report concerning his retirement had been published in London, especially as there was no more ground for it than was to be found in the uncertainty of an aged statesman remaining in office after he had become conscious of his falling powers.

WORK FOR SOMEBODY.

Not Enough Enlisted Men to Properly Man the Ships.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.-There are not enough men enlisted in the navy to properly man the United States ships, which go into commission before May 1, and moreover, the limit allowed by law will not permit the enlistment of a sufficient number. The big cruisers Columbia and Olympia, the Marblehead and Montgomery, the Atlanta and Boston, Raleigh, Cincinnati, Alert and Marion are all to be manned, requiring about 1,500 men. Additional authority will be required from Congress to enlist sufficient men, and Secretary Herbert will probably lay the matter before

IN THE CYCLONE'S PATH.

Fatal Results of a Great Storm in Louisiana.

PORT HUDSON, La., Feb. 8.—A cyclone passed through this locality at 7 o'clock this morning and left death and destruction in its path.

On Mrs. Delambre's plantation, about two miles northwest of here, a negro child was killed. Another negro child was seriously hurt and five other negroes more or less injured. Damage on this place about $5,000.

The cyclone next struck the Chambers' place and destroyed five cabins. A negro girl was seriously and four or five others slightly injured. At Alexandria, La., the cyclone did great damage. On the plantation of Col. W. L. Nugent, four miles northeast of Greenville, Mr. woman instantly. Her husband was blown several hundred feet and received serious.

The cyclone passed through Washington and Bolivar counties, thickly populated with presperous farmers, and it is feared the death list will be greatly swelled when the details are known.

CAPTURED AND SKIPPED.

Two Supposed Crooks, Captured in Sar-nia, Make a Bold Dash for Freedom,

SARNIA. Feb. 8 .- Yesterday afternoon two young men named Whitmarsh and Thompson were arrested on a charge of bringing stolen goods into the country. Watches, diamonds, jewelry, etc., have been stolen from different residences, and a clue was secured as to the whereabouts of some articles with a pawnbroker here which led to the arrest of Whitmarsh and Thompson. They appeared before the magistrate this morning and were remand. ed. This afternoon, while Chief Windred was taking the boys from the lockup to the jail handcuffed together, they escaped from the officer, and after jumping several fences and running through several yards they were lost track of, and up to the present time have not been recaptured. The attempt was very bold in view of the chief having emptied his revolver in pursuit of the prisoners.

HE HAS NO BREASTBONE.

Remarkable Case of a Patient in the St. Louis Hospital.

ST. Louis, Feb. 9.—George Taylor, a negro, now in the city hospital, should consider himself a very lucky man. He is lucky in that he is alive, though during the rest of his days he will be minus a breastbone. Taylor had a blood disease which rotted away his entire breastbone, and was taken to the city hospital as a hopeless case. Dr. Marks cut out the entire breast. bone, leaving only a thin film of tissue between the outside air and Taylor's heart and lungs. The movement of the heart could be plainly seen, and by placing one's finger on the protecting tissue felt. The hole left by taking out the breastbone was at first eight by four inches square, but it is now grown over until it is scarcely four inches square. Dr. Marks expects the whole wound to heal up.

Quebec Temperance Workers Inspired by the Results in Ontario.

TORONTO, Feb. 8 .- The success which met the efforts of the Ontario temperance people has inspired their brethren in Quebec to attempt great things.

Mr. J. H. Carson, secretary of the Quebec Provincial Alliance, a branch of the Dominion Alliance Temperance Society, says that the victory won in Ontario will prove a bless ug to Quebec. The temperance sentime t in that Province grows stronger day by day. The Irish Roman Catholic organizations are vigorous. They are on the most friendly relations with Protestant temperance societies, and are working shoulder to shoulder with a large majority of French-Canadians for total prohibition. In his opinion Quebec would give a majority for prohibition. He stated that there are now about 400 municipalities in the Province where the councils refuse to grant liquor licenses. But the city of Montreal has 960 licensed hotels or saloons.

SHE SUNK THE ALABAMA.

The Famous Warship Kearsarge

Thirty Years Ago She Sent the Famous Southern Privateer to the Bottom

Colon, Feb. 8 .- The United States corvette Kearsarge foundered on the night of The Kearsarge was ordered on Jan. 27 to proceed from San Domingo to Bluefields, Nicaragua, to protect American interests that were allowed to be endangered by the trouble between Honduras and Nicaragua. Roncador Reef, on which the Kearsarge is supposed to have struck, is some 200 miles to the northeast of Bluefields. Everybody on board was saved.

The Kearsarge was one of the historical vessels of the American navy. She it was who on Sunday, June 19, 1864, fought and sunk the rebel privateer Alabama off Cherbourg, France.

The Alabama, it will be remembered, had ong preyed upon the American commerce. Federal cruisers had long been on her track, but in vain. At last the captain of the Kearsarge found the enemy in Cherbourg and challenged her to come outside and fight. The challenge was accepted.

Meantime the Kearsarge, a wooden vessel, had been strengthened by hanging heavy chains over her sides for the protection of her guns and engine room. This improvised armor was effective, and in the battle which followed the Alabama was soon in a sinking condition, while the Kearsarge was left comparatively unharmed.

As soon as Capt. Semmes found the Confederate cruiser sinking under his feet he turned for shore, but the vessel heeled over and sank before the coast was reached. The British yacht Deerhound near by picked up part of the survivors, but many of the Alabama's crew went down with the ship. The Kearsarge took 70 prisoners.

The Kearsage has latterly been used mainly as the turning buoy in the speed trials of the new cruisers of the United States navy, and was sent to Honduras only because no other yessel was available.

THE OPEN FORUM.

The Single Tax

I have at various times noticed letters in your columns from supporters of the single tax idea. I also notice in to-night's issue an extract under the name of Mr. Birkenshaw, Toronto, from which I quote the following sentence:

"The single tax lays this down as a cardinal principle: Whatever a man produces is his, without tax and without molesta-As I have noticed that advocates of single tax invariably appeal for the support of wage-earners on the assumption that single tax will secure to a man what he produces, wish to say that, as a wage-earner myself, I am prepared to meet in debate the strongest advocate of single tax that America can produce-not excluding Henry George himself-and will undertake to prove clearly and without any doubt that single tax will not get for wageearners any more of what they produce than they get to-day; and as what wageearners produce to-day is being, and has in the past been, monopolized by the employing community, that will not be a great deal. I will just say for the present that it might be well for some advocate of Henry George's idea to explain to your intelligent readers how they can make the following two statements of Henry George compare harmoniously, viz.:

"Wages are not drawn from capital; wages are the product of the labor for which they are paid;" and under single tax "Wages would rise to the fair earnings of labor.

As wages at any time do not constitute the product or earnings of labor, but are only coin, or equivalent value given by an employer for equivalent value first advanced by the laborer, in what sense does single tax calculate to bring a wage-earner what he produces? Evidently high wages under single tax would, even if they came, be only equivalent in value to wages to-day. Yours respectfully,
HENRY B. ASHPLANT.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

A Society for Their Supervision and Assistance Established.

Somerset Hall the Scene of a Large Gathering of Philanthropists-A Children's Aid Society Set On Foot-Officers Elected.

There is no department of philanthrop c work that appeals more strongly to the charitably inclined than that which deals with the attempt to exclude youth from depravity and tries to cast about it the elevating influences of the modern social order. It was to further such an object that the Ontario Government passed the well-known act under that head and appointed Mr. J. J. Kelso to direct its operations. That gentleman, with characteristic energy, has left very few prominent points of the Province unvisited, and several strong and flourishing organizations are already under way.

Mr. Kelso in the fall sowed the seed of the good work here and it blossomed yesterday afternoon in Somerset Hall, when at a largely attended meeting it was finally determined to establish a branch in Lon-

Judge William Elliot took the chair. Mr. Kelso explained fully the provisions of the act under which the new society will be incorporated. The need for some systematic method of providing neglected children with homes, as well as the ease with which this could be done when properly undertaken, was shown in the fact that, during 1892, 1,500 children, and, in 1893, 1,800 children, were sent from Great Britain to this country.

After it had been decided to organize a children's aid society for the city the election of officers took place. The result was as follows: President-Mr. J. R. Shuttleworth.

Vice-Presidents-Mr. S. R. Break, Prof. Harrison, Mrs. A. Morphy, Mrs. E. W. Hyman. Treasurer-Mr. T. R. Parker.

Secretary-Mrs. Chas. Hutchinson. Executive Committee-Messrs. Andrew Thompson, D. S. Perrin, F. Matthews, Thomas McCormick, S. Grigg, Dr. Hutchinson, Geo. Sout am, Mayor Essery, W. M. Spencer, Andrew McCormick; Mesdames J. R. Shuttleworth, McTaggart, Talbot Macbeth, Becher, E. B. Smith, Gregsten, Tilley, Mulkern; Misses Elliot and Moore. The first meeting of the officers of the newly-formed body will be held in Somerset

Hall next Thursday afternoon. An important feature of this act is that none of these children are to be committed to institutions, but are to be placed in private families. This is, of course, the most desirable and also the most economical method, and to aid the society in ascertaining suitable homes, the law requires the county judge, warden and sheriff to appoint a children's visiting committee for each electoral district, the sole duty of these committees being to find homes and afterwards befriend the children placed out in their respective neighborhoods.

SINGULAR SCENE IN MISSISSIPPI.

An Execution Postponed Because the Rope Broke.

COLUMBUS, Miss., Feb. 8 .- Wm. Purvis, young negro, was to have been hanged on Wednesday for an alleged murder. The S. Fraine, tailor, missed a lot of buttons. black cap was placed over the condemned man's head and the drop fell. Purvis, instead of being strangled, was thrown to the ground. The noose had parted, and Purvis' neck was only slightly abrased. He fell on his back and remained still for a few moments. A man rused forward, and bending over the negro asked "Are you hurt?" From under his black cap Purvis replied,

'For God's sake, get me out of this." Others came up and Sheriff Magee made ready to conduct Purvis back to the scaffold for a second attempt. There were four of the board of supervisors present, and they called the sheriff into the court house for a conference. Rev. Mr. Cilsey, of Columbia Methodist Church, made an impassioned plea to the spectators, and it was decided by a unanimous vote that the execution be postponed. The negro was to-day taken to Meridian and the facts telegraphed to Governor Stone.

If your "Mary Ann" has a beau and is permitted to receive him she will let you enjoy yourself in many ways.

A St. Thomas Boy of Fitteen Confesses to Numerous Robberies.

St. Thomas Times: The thefts of a boy in this city, 15 years of age, have been coming to light the last few days. Mr. Police Constable Palmerston found them yesterday afternoon in the Sheppard warehouse east of the L. and P. S. R. track, which is now unoccupied. There were about 60 dozens of them, coat and pant buttons, some of them of an expensive kind. There was also a cowboy's suit, a rifle and a frying pay. The suit is supposed to belong to himself, but the owners of the rifle and the frying pay were not known this morning. He had also been enticing another boy 10 years of away from school, and last Friday, when he took four handkerchiefs and two papers of pins away from Ald. Chant's store, gave them to the other boy to take care of. Yesterday, when he again enticed the younger boy from school, he left a bag with him, which was found this morning to contain a jacket which Mr. Fraine had made up for a lady, a piece of cloth and a lot of tailor's twist, belonging to Mr. Fraine. The boy's name is Watson Locke. At the police court this morning he pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence till Monday. The lad had been in the employ of Mr. Fraine. He also stole a gold ring from Miss Johanna Harvey, who works for Mr. Fraine.

Feminine Sympathy.

"Do you know, Miss Gushington, that young Smith has been sentenced to 99 years imprisonment?"

"Poor fellow," sighed the young lady, "he will have to wait so long before he can marry."

Acme of Heartlessness. "Miss Higginspike seems to be singulary unimpressionable.' "Unimpressionable? She's adamant. That woman could sit with a barrel of sliced onions under her nose and hear Clara Morris play for a whole evening and not shed a tear. This Was in Maryland.

A lady living in Baltimore who is very deaf stopped a milkman as he was passing the house the other day and asked him how much he charged for a quart of milk, and then put her ear-trumpet to catch the reply. The man drew a quart of milk and emptied it into the trumpet, and the result has been that he has to go three miles out of his way to keep out of sight of the lady's son who sits on the porch with a shot gun waiting for him to pass.

Society, if good, is a better refiner of the spirits than ordinary books. I mean to make myself a man, and if I succeed in that I shall succeed in everything else. DONNOHA, Forsyth Co., N. C. Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir,-For some six or seven years my wife had been an invalid. Becoming convinced that it was her only hope we bought six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. To the surprise of the community and the joy of myself and family, in one week my wife commenced to mprove, and long before she had taken the last bottle she was able to do her own work (she had not been able to do it before for seven years), and when she had taken the last of the medicine she was soundly cured.

Yours truly, REV. T. H. STIMPSON. The great lung healer is found in the exzellent medicine sold as Pickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. be far advanced in consumption.

BETTER BUSINESS.

Outlook for the Steel Industry Ma terially Improved.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 8 .- The Iron Trade Review says to-day: The market for soft steel has furnished further encouraging indications the past week, and an advance of from 50 to 75 cents over the lowest prices touched has taken place. Pittsburg and Chicago have recorded heavy transactions in billets, while prices have advanced to $16 in Pittsburg and $18 50 in Chicago. The heavy demand for wire rods is a further feature, and the refusal of an eastern order by a western mill indicates how well sold ahead are the rod mills of both sections—a condition that contrasts strangely with that of a few months ago.

The call for nails and for barb wire, which has been responsible for much of the business in billets, shows a starting of things in a retail way-the beginning of buying that must be looked to as a basis of any general revival.

From the standpoint of the mills the situation is better than at any time in months. Whether the process is one of building up to a basis of permanent betterment can be better determined in a few weeks hence. No appreciable improvement has taken place in pig iron.

-It is announced from Paris that former operatic tenor, who styles himself a professor of respiration, recently opened an "Institute of Pulmonary Gymnastics," the object of which is to instruct future generations how to breathe, thereby protecting themselves against cold waves. The best protection against catching colds at all times is to keep the mouth shut on emerging from a heated chamber into the open air. If this rule is adopted the average healthy person will have comparative immunity from throat or lung troubles. We live as a rule in overheated houses, offices and churches, and take little or no precautions to avoid the danger of the sudden transition from the breathing of boiled air to the inhaling of the frozen ozone. When the mouth is kept shut the air has to the lungs by way of the passages of the nostrils, and it no longer arrives at the center of life in a chilled condition. If not so received not all the covering up of the throat will keep one from catching colds. The throat has ample protection provided by nature externally. It is rough usage from the inside that has to be guarded against. Keep the mouth shut when you emerge from a warm building, and you are safe. How difficult it is to follow out the advice!

CITY AND COUNTRY UNITED. The passage by the Ontario Central Farmers' Institute of a resolution favoring the greatest possible freedom of trade, and the memorial of the Winnipeg Board of Trade to the Dominion Government with the same change in view, are object lessons that should have a powerful effect on public opinion. Mr. Martin's defeat of the Conservative candidate in the recent Dominion election in the Prairie capital and the indorsation of a tariff for revenue only wheresoever he has delivered addresses in the Northwest shows where the people of that vast territory now stand, whether they residein the city or toil in the rural regions. And the declaration of the representative body of farmers at Toronto on Wednesday is equally emphatic evidence of the trend of public opinion in this Province. One Conservative of the old school, who had grown to believe that his party platform, opposed to the public interest, though it is, should always be supported, objected to the farmers taking a decided stand against a restrictive tariff that injures them at every point, on the ground that the Liberals favor the reform. This old chap had a holy horror of any resolution being passed that would help the people to effectively shake themselves clear of the combines because it might advance the interests of a political party. Pray how is a great reform to be brought about except one party or another favors it? The high tax cormorants would hold carnival for all time if it were once understood that public opinion could be permanently baulked by gerrymanders, by seat steals, and by complacent party men, willing to be robbed by the monopolists and by those who, like Caron and his associates, draw their many thousands for party and other purposes from these favorites. As it turned out, however, common sense prevailed against the nonsense talked by this apologist for Conservative wrong-doing. Such former stalwart Conservatives as Mr. Lindsay, of Copenhagen (East Elgin), rose and protested against trying to save the "N. P." at this late stage. "We have tried the protective policy," he exclaimed, amid applause, "and it has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It is high time for farmers to discuss this question and look after their own interests. It has been left too much to party politicians to do. It is not only amongst those of the Reform persuasion that there is dissatisfaction; there are any amount of old-time Conservatives who are as much dissatisfied with the way matters are conducted as any Reformer." Another delegate of the same stamp said the farmers had gone to Ottawa a deaf ear had been turned to them by Mr. Clarke Wallace, and their interview had been kept a profound secret by this Cabinet official, who desired to conceal the facts. "We will try the ballot box next." The trouble with the farmers hitherto has been that the "protectionist" millionaires-the men who get special advantages at the expense of their neighbors-have gone to Ottawa with their bags of gold jingling in the ears of the Ministers, while the farmers have been heard as ordinary citizens, offering no bribes. The Administration has trusted to the huge bribery fund thus accumulated, to their infamous gerrymander and Franchise Act, and to the political prejudices of the easy going Conservative rural population. And, truth to tell, it has trusted not in vain. There is then a Parliament pledged to enact a tariff a good example. The high tax system is on its last legs, and they are very shaky.

Our telegraphic columns recently had reference to an address delivered in London, England, by Sir George Chesney, distinguished soldier, who served 30 years in India, and passed through the war of the mutiny, being afterwards sent back to that great country to act practically as Indian War Minister. Since that time he has been M. P. for Oxford.

Sir George chose for his topic, "The Defense of the Empire," and as was to be expected of a professional soldier, his address was eminently practical from the point of view of a fighter. There was much in it that interests the civilian also. The lecturer held that it was most essential for the maintenance of imperial interests that the supremacy of the navy should be absolutely established. He assumed that that supremacy existed, and that Great Britain had a distinct advantage in the number of her ships, in their armament, in their speed, and in every other respect that would put her supremacy in naval warfare beyond all doubt or cavil.

What interests us in Canada most is the views of this distinguished warrior with regard to the defense of the colonies in the case of Great Britain going to war. The assumption has been, said Sir George, that the colonies in different parts of the world were liable to the contingency of being attacked in case of war by some enemy in very considerable force. He had often heard it said that Australia is liable, in the event of war, to a very serious and danger. ous attack on the part of Russia. Again, he had often heard the fear expressed, not SARAH GRAND, author of "The Heaven | merely by men in the street, but by responsible military authorities of great distinction and weight in their profession, that India is liable to the danger of a hostile fleet, which might actually not only shatter or destroy what defenses they found, but erally establish a permanent footing in the peninsula of India. He said at once that he considered dangers of that sort as chimerical. The colonies were in little danger of attack in the event of war between Great Britain and another with but one exception. That was Canada, "where the conditions were altogether different from those which obtained in Australia and at the Cape. In Canada there was an enormous line of frontier faced by another great independent empire, and the serious question had to be considered how a defense could be maintained along that great line in the event-which God forbid should ever occur-of our being engaged in hostilities with the United States. No doubt in the event of such a sort of quarrel as took place not many years ago, when a strong feeling was got up in certain parts of America in favor of the annexation of Canada, and when small isolated bodies made irruptions into that country, the Canadians would be able, as they were then, to give a very good account of themselves. It was impossible, however, to doubt if some great question or quarrel arose involving the interests of the people of the United States, and if the feelings of that people were so roused that they should determine to carry out the quarrel to the bitter end, that the position could be anything but an extremely serious one. The people of the United States were capable in times of great emergency of great things, and if there were 30,000,000 armed people against 5,000,000 Canadians-even supposing the Canadians were united as one man-it was question whether the defense of Canada would be possible. Would it be possible for Great Britain to give such effective aid as would prevent the occupation of Canada by the people of the United States? He believed it would be an impossibility. Happily for us, the attitude and the feelings of the people of the United States were essentially peaceful; they did not, as far as we knew, desire to increase their military responsibilities or extend their empire. The present was not the time when it would be useful or in any way practicable for the Government of this country to take any actual measures for the defense of Canada. Unless we were at war with the United States Canada was absolutely impregnable; if we should be at war with the United States he believed it would be impossible to defend it."

There is a good deal of force in the views of this distinguished British soldier. They suggest a possible condition of affairs that Canadians, no matter how brave and determined in face of invasion, would scarcely be inclined to look upon with equanimity. The United States Secretary of War (Mr. Lamont) recently reported to Congress that there is in that country no fewer than 8,250,000 men liable for military duty. Canadians would find it difficult singlenearly double the total number of inhabi- duction of 50c per cord. ants in the entire Dominion, and there would be many who would doubt the wisdom of undertaking so difficult a task. The counsels of those who try to make mischief between the two branches of the race on this continent, and they have been found at their dastardly work on both side of the border, will never be listened to by the masses of the respective peoples. Not warlike teachings but a constant endeavor to cement the two divisions of the Anglo-Saxon people on this continent is what is needed of the rulers and the ruled. This doctrine has been scoffed at as that of the "peace at any price" men, and we have had in Canada, as they have in the United States, fire-brand politicians who have again and again tried to stir up strife between the two countries, with the object of scoring personal or political gain by keeping the two peoples as widely apart as possible-by advocating tariff warfare retaliation, which has frequently preceded actual bloody conflict. The best men in both countries counsel the cultivation of peace and good will between the United and Canada, both as a means of international profit and for ever averting the calamity which even Sir George Chesney deprecates. There never will be war between Great Britain and the United States or a conflict between Canada and the United States if words of wisdom are listened to. The Canadian politicians, who have hitherto been so anxious to keep the neighboring countries as unfriendly as possible, will find little in Sir George Chesney's declaration to justify their professed belief that they have but to force a war between Great Britain and the United States-or bring about a condition of affairs that will lead to war-in order to have their battles fought for them by British regulars. If they are not convinced of their folly by the clear and emphatic declaration of this Conservative statesman and soldier it is not because he has not spoken plainly.

Proposed Waterworks Expenditure Reduced to $50,000.

The Real Estate Association Collides With the Mayor.

Who Is Erecting the C. P. R. Cold Storage Building?

Mr. Cocks Was Exempted but the C. P. R. Are Said to be Paying the Contractor-Water Commissioners Empowered to Begin Work Immediately To Be Asked to Vote Again,

The City Council met last night to finish $125,000 to $50,000 the business begun on Monday evening. Ald. Parnell was sick but all the other members were present, including Mayor Essery, Ald. Taylor, Ald. J. Heaman, Ald. Pritchard, Ald. O'Meara, Ald. Coo, Ald. J. W. Jones, Ald. Wm. Heaman, Ald. Carrothers, Ald. Thos. Jones, Ald. James Fitzgerald, Ald. Scarrow, Ald. Garratt, Ald. Nutkins, Ald. Dreaney, Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald, Ald. Judd and Ald. Shaw.

The meeting was interesting from several points of view. At one time the policeman who ornaments the hall with his presence Entries for the English Derby-Death of thought that he would be called on to remove part of the Real Estate Association, and as if scenting trouble from afar the chief himself was on the scene. The mayor attempted to silence Mr. Geo. T. Hiscox division: Yeas-Mayor Essery, Ald. with the threat to call a policeman. The trouble arose over a conflict of opinion between Mr. Essery and Mr. Hiscox, and Thos. Jones, Garratt, James Fitzgerald, When Mr. John Campbell got up to speak Dreaney, Nutkins, F. J. Fitzgerald, Judd, after Mr. Hiscox, he did so on the stipulation that the police should not be called in.

The council passed the motion to change the amount asked for waterworks extensions from $125,000 to $50,000, giving the commissioners power to go on and spend the money, and then right afterwards passed a motion submitting the proposed bill to the electors. If the bill is defeated the council has already authorized the expenditure of the amount anyway from the revenue, and the only difference it will make will be to throw the expense directly on the taxpayers instead of gradually extending the amount over a number of years by debenture.

A. was then read. Ald. J. W. Jones and Ald. Wm. Heaman moved that the application of Hogdson Bros. and Mr. Cooke for exemptions on cold storage building be withdrawn. Said Ald. J. W. Jones: "I have cast my last vote to exempt anything. I want every-body to be dealt with fairly and squarely and alike. We have the evidence from Ald. Garratt last Monday night that the C. P. R. Company are erecting that building. We have Ald. Garratt's word, and I want no better evidence. The faith has been broken by Mr. Cooke. He got this I did not say that Mr. Cooke was not paying the C. P. R. for it. It would be best to

Ald. Pritchard and O'Meara both strenuously opposed exemptions.

Ald. Carrothers, Thos. Jones and Coo objected to dealing with the matter until they had proof that faith had been broken, and the last two named moved that the clause be referred back for further information. The motion carried. THE WATERWORKS QUESTION.

When the clause dealing with the waterworks bill came up Mr. Hiscox asked that a clause be inserted in the reduced bill submitting the whole to a vote of the people. He also took exception to the heading, "A Compromise," over the report of No. 1's proceedings published in one of the news-

Then a running dialogue took place between the mayor and Mr. Hiscox in which some of the aldermen joined. Mr. Essery said that the council would attend to that matter without any requests from Mr. Hiscox's body at all. The council knew as much about law as Mr. Hiscox's association did.

Mr. Hiscox said that he did not deny that, but he was there in the interests of the ratepayers and in his own interest, and anything he saved himself he saved a like amount for the other ratepayers. The mayor replied arther warmly that the council were acting for the people-the whole people-and were not going to be dictated to by any association at $1 a head. They could make any cowardly insinuations they liked in their own back room, but they were not going to be intimidated or threatened on the floor of the council.

Mr. Hiscox said that the "back" room spoken of was open to the public, and they were not ashamed of anything they did. He was not going to take any threats from Mr. Essery or his council, and would go to Toronto if necessary to get justice. Mr. Essery-I will call you to order, and if we have any more insolence I will call in the policemen. Ald. Judd-I think the deputation should be heard and not abused. The mayor-There has been no abuse. Ald. Judd said that he had the floor, and that they were dealing with the council's business and should go on and deal with it.

Ald. Jones thought they should get along without any bickering. He thought that Mr. Hiscox had gone too far. By this time Mr. Hiscox and the mayor had both subsided. "If you will agree not to call in a policeman while I am speaking, I would like to say a few words," said Mr. Campbell as he rose to speak. On receiving a guarantee that no policeman would be called Mr. Campbell went on to impress on the council the views of the association with respect to the waterworks and civic expenditure. Mr. Buckle followed in a similar strain, saying that the Toronto Council did not require the promptings of any association to spur them to do the wish of the people. In Toronto, he said, the rate was only 15

The mayor said that in Toronto about 40 per cent. of the revenue was raised by frontage tax.

Ald. J. W. Jones said that the taxes on the property of John Davidson, Spadina avenue, Toronto, rented by Mercer, Adams & Co., was $500, while the income of the property was $350. Could Mr. Buckle cite a case like that in London? Mr. Buckle referred to the old, unused

Mr. Jones-We can get on with the $25,000, if you let us spend the revenue for the balance.

Mayor Essery then took the floor. He held that the questions raised by the Real Estate Association should have been raised on the hustings, and objected to the statements made by that body that the council were trying to put through a bill by means of which the people would not have a right to vote upon the moneys that were to be expended. He asked that the men who had made the statement that there were bummers in the City Hall should name the bummers under their own signatures.

Ald. O'Meara said that the commisioners had not acted fairly to either the council or the Real Estate Association, and Spend Their Revenue—The People They should have come before the people with a detailed statement. Mr. O'Meara gave the L. R. E. O. P. A. the credit of reducing the amount asked for from

Aid. J. W. Jones moved the passage of the clause of the report under discussion, dealing with the waterworks matter, which recommended that debentures be issued to the amount of $50,000. Mr. Jones also moved the addition of the following words: "instead of $125,000, and that the bill when drawn be so amended."

Ald. O'Meara moved in amendment that the matter be laid over until the next meeting, and that the council in the meantime visit Springbank with a deputation of the Real Estate Association. As the Legislature meets next week the amendment was deemed impracticable and The motion carried on the following Pritchard, John Heaman, Taylor, J. W. Jones, Coo, Wm. Heaman, Carrothers,

Then Ald. Carrothers and Coo objected to incurring the expense of a vote of the people when the commissioners were already empowered by the council to spend their revenue to any extent they pleased. Ald, Taylor's motion carried unanimously, though some of the aldermen said they thought it a farce. BYLAWS.

A bylaw to borrow $60,000 to tide over current expenses was carried. On motion of Ald. James Fitzgerald, seconded by Ald. Scarrow, A. Talbot & Co. were given the printing of voters' list notices.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Ald. J. W. Jones signified his intention of moving that the council take such steps at its next meeting as to act in conjunction with the Municipal Council of Toronto to ask the Local Legislature to abolish all tax exemptions.

COMMITTEE REPORTS. In the absence of Ald. Parnell the report of No. 3 committee was read by Ald. Scarrow as follows:

1. Your committee recommends the tender of Wm. Gurd & Son to supply 1,200 dog tags for $22 50 be accepted, being the lowest. 2. That your committee be empowered to procure a new wood rack for the delivery of relief wood. 3. That your committee be empowered to advertise for tenders for lighting the city with electric light for terms of one, three, five or eight years. 4. Progress on the petition of John Kemp, et al., for electric light on the corner of Richmond and Albert streets. 5. Asking that a bylaw be prepared extending the time limit in the amended agreement with the Canada General Electric Company. The third clause was amended by the insertion of a clause asking that the engineer prepare specifications and submit to the next meeting of the council. The amended report was adopted.

NUMBER TWO COMMITTEE. Ald. Thomas Jones, chairman, presented the following report of No. 2 committee:

1. That the committee be empowered to advertise for tenders for the ensuing year. 2. Reporting progress on the communication of Henry Poole asking damages on account of accident on alleged defective street, and on that of D. W. Hart re opening of John street from William street to Adelaide street. Ald. O'Meara-Would it be wise to advertise for tenders before the estimates are adopted for the year? Ald. Jones.-We thought it would be wise to get the tenders in first and base our estimates on them. This was satisfactory, and the report was adopted.

NUMBER ONE COMMITTEE. Chairman Judd read the report of No. 1 committee, which recommended: 1. The passing of accounts amounting to $7,952 77. 2. That the petition of Mr. Bart. Cottam be filed; no power. 3. That the Police Court clerk's salary be $600 per annum, to date from Jan. 15, 1894 4. That the petitions of Mrs. Nicsi and T. Frampton be filed. 5. Submitting petition to the Ontario Legislature in favor of weekly sitparison. Pritchard, $15, for valuations, be passed for payment. 11. Submitting the police court clerk's report for January. 12. Submitting bylaw authorizing the borrowing of money from the Bank of Montreal to meet the current expenditures of the year 1894. 13. Progress on the petitions of Alicia Wigmore, Mary Norris, Alex. Brown et al. re single tax privilege, and Mrs. C. B. Clark. 14. That the petition of W. Slater for remission of taxes on property on the east side of Richmond street, used as a place of worship by the Christian Workers, be filed. No power.

There were the usual explanations and discussions in connection with the report which was adopted as read with the exception of the last clause which was referred back to committee that the petitioners might obtain a guarantee from the landlord that he will not, in case the petition be granted, seek exemption for that part of the building not occupied as a place of worship. $600,000. The liabilities are about $50,000. Three Young Men Frozen. QUEBEC, Feb. 8 .- A terrible case of suffering is reported from the river Pentecost, on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Last week three young men working in the bush had their feet and hands so badly frozen that amputation was necessary, but the nearest docter is at Pointe aux Esquimaux, more than 100 miles distant, and so far he has been unable to reach the frozen men, who are threatened with gangrene to such an extent that to save their lives, if possible, the neighbors have decided to use an axe to amputate the frozen limbs unless surgical relief is immediately forthcoming. Brutal as this may appear, a similar operation last winter on the coast of Gaspe saved the life of Capt. Lebourdais, who had been shipwrecked there and had his extremities frozen.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical

THE OLD MILL WHEEL. BY T. H. WILKINSON.

[Suggested by Visiting the Medway Mill Near Hellmuth College, London, Ontario.] Two friends rode out one autumn day; Two friends rode out one autumn day;
It looked like rain, the sky was gray,
The and scape sombre, almost drear,
As oft it is this time of year.
Akin in feelings were our friends,
Each heart with love of nature blends;
They saw the sky as some bright gleam
Fell on the river or lighted the stream,
And tinted leaves fall softly down
From masses of foliage, red. vellow and And tinted leaves fall softly down
From masses of foliage, red, yellow and brown
Or barren branches droop and bend
As if they now had lost a friend.
A quaint old road they now pursue,
Responsive to a lovelier view,
And by the stream ascenda hill,
Where nesiled close they see a mill,
So old and gray, so beaten and worn,
A thing of the past, forsaken forlorn.
To days that have fled how it seems to cling,
And the monotonous song we hear it sing
Tells of time and how it may flow
O'er our hearts and we not know. O'er our hearts and we not know. Its streams of joy, or drippings of pain, Like summer showers or winter rain. Like summer snowers or winter rain. So sad at heart we often feel
At the muffled groan of the shambling wheel,
Like one benumbed or a heart that is chilled,
It seems to wait till its buckets are filled. Then again, it circles merrily 'round

As if some joy were newly found.
As if some joy were newly found.
And its burdensome creak or noisy hum
Falls on the ear and memories come
From the depths of the heart so long lain hid. From the depths of the hearts olong lain hid. And we feel enraptured and cannot forbid This trance of pleasures, this murmuring joy, For it brings back the days when but a boy We used to swim in the old mill stream, How our face would shine and sweetly beam. Oh, childhood days! alas they have fled, And the radiant charms of youth lay dead. So like dull phantoms memories steal Stealthily 'round the old mill wheel. These friends sit down on the wooden bridge, And watch the waters smoothly glide On to the mill with even tide. The willows kiss its shining face, And seem to hide with drooping grace On to the willows kiss its shining race.
The willows kiss its shining race.
And seem to hide with drooping grace
Their mirrored forms, and the slender grass Bends in love as the waters pass Ever onward toward the mill, Deeply flowing, almost still, Over the heart and now reveal
The smoothly flowing, happy life,
Or the spirit torn with bitter strife; The gentle nature full of love Reflecting graces from above;
Or a heart all seared with vice and sin.
Where not a ray of hope comes in.
But like the wheel in the deep, dark flume.
Seems circling round its blackened doom;
So through our senses we may feel
Our emotions turned by the old mill wheel.
But now the miller, old and gray,
Along the path doth wend his way,
And with honest smile his hand extends
To greet those philosophic friends.
His face, though furrowed, is serene,
His sparkling eyes are dark and keen;
Around his mouth the pensive smile Reflecting graces from above;

Around his mouth the pensive smile Plays with his lips, and both beguile The ruddy cheek, the happy face— Removed from bartering, haste and strife.
To him all nature had a voice—
She bid him let his heart rejoice She old him let his heart rejoice In wood and stream, in earth and sky, Nor pass her beauties idly by. So o'er his heart these joys would steal, And drip like water o'er the wheel.

Almost a Catastrophe at Barrie-Hotel Guests Rescued by the Firemen.

BARRIE, Ont., Feb. 8. - The Simcos Hotel here was considerably damaged by fire this morning. The fire started in the cellar, and had it not been for the prompt action of the fire brigade lives would have been lost, as some of the guests were und able to find their way out owing to the dense smoke, and had to be taken out the windows by the firemen. Damage about $1,500; insured.

WHITBY, Feb. 8-Midnight.-Fire was discovered in Ross Bros. large drygoods store a few minutes to 11. Ross Bros. stock will suffer to the extent of several thousand dollars.

Very Hard Indeed. There are so many things that appear unnecessary, and which for the life of us we can see neither purpose nor end of. It may be corns are just one of those thorns in the flesh the why and the wherefore of which we cannot see. Nevertheless they are the kind that are easily removed. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor makes short work of them. Try it and see how nicely it coaxes them out. Use none other than Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sold by all druggists.

A Man Made Happy .- GENTLEMEN, -For five years I have been a great suffered with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was troubled with pains similar to those I suffered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGE-TABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that it will do all you claim for it.

Weather-Heavy rains. A Loss in Hogs.

Two months ago a farmer sold 40 hogs to a Guelih buyer at $7 40 per cwt, the delivery to be made at the end of January. The purchaser paid $2 to bind the bargain. On Thursday the man came along with the hogs. As pork is now worth a little over $6 per cwt, the dealer will be out over $100 on the transaction. The incident illustrates how the pork market has failed to take the big advances market has failed to take the big advances that were so freely predicted a short time ago. American Markets.

THE COMING GENERAL ELECTION. Every man who is 21 years of age and a British subject has a vote in the ensuing Provincial general election.

But the voters' lists must first be re-

The secretary of the Young Liberal Club will be in attendance daily for the next few days at the rooms, Oddfellows' block, for the purpose of receiving or looking up names of those qualified, or of arranging to have the names of non-qualified persons struck off.

Hours-9 a.m. to 12 noon; 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

All names can now be put on the lists without cost to anyone, and without necessitating attendance before the county judge. Examine the lists and he doubly sure.

EVERY CITIZEN OF LONDON IS INTERESTED IN THIS. It has been discovered that the name of

Rev. W. J. Clark, who has been a resident and a voter in this city for several years, was accidentally dropped from the Ontario voters' lists, now open for inspection at the Young Liberal club rooms, Oddfellows' Block, Other well-known citizens are also found to have been omitted from the list. These omissions demonstrate the fact that easy though it is to get a vote under the Ontario Manhood Franchise Act, a citizen can only be sure of his name being on the list if he inspects it for himself.

To-morrow (Saturday) night, a good opportunity will be afforded to all men over 21 years of age to have the lists examined for them at the Young Liberal rooms. If they have a vote, there will be no trouble, no delay, no expense in getting on the lists, as properly qualified legal sweet tones were heard with comgentlemen will be in attendance to take the mendable distinctness. Dickens' "Death necessary affidavit. Then it will not be necessary for the voter to go before the county judge.

Very often on election day there is much grumbling because men find that their names have not been put on the list. They will be saved trouble and chagrin if they consult the alphabetical list on exhibition at the Young Liberal rooms now and make assurance doubly sure. Every man over 21 years of age is entitled to vote if he is a British subject.

Grey is one of the best counties in Ontario. The assessment is $19,956,000 and the debt, including this issue, only $26,000. This firm is offering these very desirable bonds at par.

-Mr. Robert Fulford is a small, thickset man, who speaks in a low voice, moves slowly and with deliberation, and has been noted in theatrical circles for a number of years for his closeness in money matters. When he married Annie Pixley the latter had no fortune. Mr. Fulford acted as her manager, and it was always said that it was owing to his management of her affairs that she gradually accumulated a fortune. Mr. Fulford always had a longing for England. and it is not likely that he will come back to this country again, unless the steps taken by his wife's family force him to do so. He has always borne a very high reputation for honesty and straightforward dealing, and the charges of Annie Pixley's relatives seem altogether grotesque to people who are acquainted with the characteristics of the late actress' husband .-New York Sun.

Concert at St. James'. A concert of unusual merit entertained several hundred people at St. James' Presbyterian Church last evening, the place being filled. The programme was pleasantly diversified with elocution and music. Solos were sung by Mrs. Rev. Wm. Patterson, of Toronto, Misses Mutch, Carson, Currie (London West), and Mr. Fred. Soper. Mrs. Patterson has a clear and powerful soprano, as her rendition of "The Hly City" showed. The local favorites were at their best. The Misses Minnie and Edith Hartson sang a duet very prettily. Miss Charlotte Carmichael, of Alma College, recited in good taste the selection "No Sex in Heaven." She has an engaging presence and manner. Miss Ella Morris. post-graduate of Hellmuth College displayed a resonant and flexible voice whose of Little Paul" was given with sympathetic feeling and expression, while the second number, an heroic story of more robust quality, was not lacking in vigor and polish. A trio by Messrs. Elson, Spence and Curry, "The Midnight Fire Alarm," was sung with plenty of spirit. Miss Proudfoot played several instrumentals with admirable finish. The Ladies' Aid of the church must feel gratified at the success of the concert, which was under their auspices. The pastor, Rev. M. P. Talling, presided.

A Sensational Episode on Clarence Street.

Mrs. C. Jeffrey Goes for T. H. Robinson With a Pistel.

Gun From Her-Mrs. J. Then Bites a Barber-The Police Arrest Her After a Struggle.

There was a very lively time on Clarence street near King for a short time about 2 o'clock this afternoon. About that time Mrs. C. Jeffrey, corset nanufacturer, came out of her establishment on the east side of the street with blood in her eye and a loaded seven-shooter hidden under her apron. The day was rainy and Mrs. Jeffrey was bareheaded and had no umbrella, but she was not affected by either the damp overhead or the slush under foot, but made straight across to the corset establishment of Thomas H. Robinson, on the other side of the street. When she got inside there was a series of screams Co., Talbot street, was sold yesterday and blood-curdling shrieks as Mrs. Jeffrey afternoon. Robert Forward, a former emadvanced on the proprietor with the readvanced on the proprietor with the revolver pointed straight ahead. The girls employed at the factory lost no time in dodging behind the counters, machines and doors, and several ran out on the street crying "Murder!" and "Police!" John Pennecott, a barber next door, ran in and found a rough and tumble wrestling match in progress between Mr. Robinson and Mrs. Jeffrey. They were get it from the infuriated woman. She was hysterical, and above her cries man. The latter held the woman and South London, last evening. Mr. Merchant called on Mr. Pennecott to summon the police. The barber went to -Abraham Williams, the Indian from the telephone in the room for that the Oneida reserve who was arrested on a purpose, but Mrs. Jeffrey broke charge of stealing a light wagon from John away from Robinson and tore the deep into his left hand. By this time three girls had reached the fire hall and importuned the firemen to telephone for the

When the wagon arrived Mrs. Jeffrey was overpowered and helpless, but her tongue could not be tied. With the assistance of a couple of policemen she was Rider and Matthew Browne achieved the lifted into the wagon, Mr. Robinson handed over the revolver and the wagon drove off to the station. Mrs. Jeffrey was deposited in the cells. When the police arrived Mr. Robinson wanted to have the woman let go and nothing said about the affair, but to this the police would not consent. As Mr. Robinson did not appear to lay a complaint against the woman the charge of carrying a loaded revolver was entered against her name. Immediately after the wagon drove off Mr. Robinson pulled down the blinds of his store and would see nobody.

ARRESTED!

Colonels Wheate and Meager Charged With Fraudulent Practice.

They Claimed to Cure the Opium and Other Habits-Dr. Gray Accused Them of False Pretenses.

An arrest has just been made in this city by Constables Mason and Crawford, which has aroused considerable interest. During the past six weeks two gentlemen calling themselves Col. J. R. Wheate and Col. E. J. Meagher have been residing at 423 Park avenue. There they located for the avowed purpose of administering a treatment to persons addicted to the cocaine, morphia, liquor or tobacco habits by means of what they claim is a new remedy, which they called the Bellinger German Remedy. Among the parsons who went to them for treatment was Dr. Gray, a physician hailing from New York esty. He was addicted to the morphia habit, and, after being under their care for some time, he suspected that he was being treated with nothing less morphia under an assumed name. Acting upon this belief, Dr. Gray consulted a lawyer, and after securing advice swore out an information which resulted in the arrests being made as stated. At the same time about a dozen bottles containing the drugs with which he was being treated were seized, and will be held until an city clerk, the secretary of the Board of analysis can be made by the Government

Dr. Gray is but a comparatively young man, and while practicing in New York for six or seven years was troubled with an illness which caused him considerable pain. Accordingly he began the use of morphia, but the habit gained such a hold on him that it was impossible for him to entirely abandon it. Feeling that he had become almost cured Dr. Gray came to his former home in Lobo township, where he expected to become himself again. He says that while stopping with his relatives, Colonels Wheate and Meagher called upon him and persuaded him to come to the city to undergo treatment for the habit. He at last consented, but is now out of pocket a considerable sum-about $300. The direct cause for the arrest is the alleged procuring by false pretenses of $150, which Dr. Gray claims to have given them in one payment. The accused say they do not desire to stay here and practice the remedy; they are only here to introduce it, and upon the testimony of their patients expect to effect a sale of the right to use the Bellinger treatment throughout the Province, for which right they say they want $25,000. They came here from Montreal where practice was continued for six weeks without effecting a sale for the Province of Quebec. The colonels claim, however, to have sold similar rights in a number of States in the Union for large sums of money. After the arrest they were brought before Squire Smyth. Bail was furnished by Dean Innes and the trial was set for Monday, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Magee will act for the crown, McEvoy & Wilson for the complainant, and N. P. Graydon for the de-

EVERY CITIZEN OF LONDON IS INTERESTED IN THIS.

It has been discovered that the name of Rev. W. J. Clark, who has been a resident and a voter in this city for several years, was accidentally dropped from the Ontario voters' lists, now open for inspection at the Young Liberal club rooms, Oddfellows' Block, Other well-known citizens are also found to have been omitted from the list. These omissions demonstrate the fact that easy though it is to get a vote under the Ontario Manhood Franchise Act, a citizen can only be sure of his name being on the Mrs. Patterson has a clear and powerful list if he inspects it for himself.

To-morrow (Saturday) night, a good opportunity will be afforded to all men over 21 years of age to have the lists examined for them at the Young Liberal rooms. If they have a vote, there will be no trouble, no delay, no expense in getting on the lists, as properly qualified legal gentlemen will be in attendance to take the necessary affidavit. Mrs. C. Jeffrey Goes for T. H. Robinson With a Pistol.

She Was Enraged-Robinson Forced the Gun From Her-Mrs. J. Then Bites a Barber-The Police Arrest Her After a Struggle.

There was a very lively time on Clarence street near King for a short time about 2 o'clock this afternoon.

About that time Mrs. C. Jeffrey, corset manufacturer, came out of her establishment on the east side of the street with blood in her eye and a loaded seven-shooter hidden under her apron. The day was rainy and Mrs. Jeffrey was bareheaded and had no umbrella, but she was not affected by either the damp overhead or the slush under foot, but made straight across to the corset establishment of Thomas H. Robinson, on the other side of the street. When she got inside there was a series of screams and blood-curdling shrieks as Mrs. Jeffrey advanced on the proprietor with the revolver pointed straight ahead. The girls employed at the factory lost no time in dodging behind the counters, machines and doors, and several ran out on the street

crying "Murder!" and "Police!" John Pennecott, a barber next door, ran in and found a rough and tumble wrestling match in progress between Mr. Robinson and Mrs. Jeffrey. They were fighting for the possession of the revolver, and Mr. Robinson managed to get it from the infuriated woman. She was hysterical, and above her cries she accused Robinson of being a married man. The latter held the woman and called on Mr. Pennecott to summon the police. ARRESTED!

Colonels Wheate and Meager Charged With Fraudulent Practice.

They Claimed to Cure the Opium and Other Habits-Dr. Gray Accused Them of False Pretenses.

An arrest has just been made in this city by Constables Mason and Crawford, which has aroused considerable interest. During the past six weeks two gentlemen

calling themselves Col. J. R. Wheate and Col. E. J. Meagher have been residing at 423 Park avenue. There they located for the avowed purpose of administering clothing, cigars, office and school furniture, a treatment to persons addicted to the cocaine, morphia, liquor or tobacco habits by means of what they claim is a new remedy, which they called the

"Bellinger German Remedy." Among the parsons who went to them for ing from New York csty. He was addicted to the morphia habit, and, London ha after being under their care for some time, he suspected that he was being treated with nothing less than morphia under an assumed name. Acting upon this belief, Dr. Gray consulted a lawyer, and after securing advice swore out an information which resulted in the arrests being made as stated. At the same time about a dozen bottles containing the drugs with which he was being treated were seized, and will be held until an analysis can be made by the Government expert. Dr. Grav is but a comparatively young man, and while practicing in New York for six or seven years was troubled with an illness which caused him considerable pain. Accordingly he began the use of morphia, but the habit gained such a hold on him that it was impossible for him to entirely abandon it. Feeling that he had become almost cured Dr. Gray came to his former home in Lobo township, where he expected to become himself again. He says that while stopping with his relatives. Colonels Wheate and Meagher called upon him and persuaded him to come to the city to undergo treatment for the habit. He at last consented, but is now out of pocket a considerable sum-about $300. The direct cause for the arrest is the alleged procuring by false pretenses of $150, which Dr. Gray claims to have given them in one payment.

The accused say they do not desire to stay here and practice the remedy; they are only here to introduce it, and upon the testimony of their patients expect to effect a sale of the right to use the Bellinger treatment throughout the Province, for which right they say they want $25,000. They came here from Montreal where practice was continued for six weeks without effecting a sale for the Province of Quebec. The colonels claim, however, to have sold similar rights in a number of States in the Union for large sums of money.

After the arrest they were brought before Squire Smyth. Bail was furnished by Dean Innes and the trial was set for Monday, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Magee will act for the crown, McEvoy & Wilson for the complainant, and N. P. Graydon for the defense.

A THANKSGIVING STORY.

Ey Rebecca Harding Davis.

"What are you puzzling over, mamma? Can I help you?" Mrs. Wayne did not speak for a minute or two. Then she went to the shelves and put Montaign back in his place. "It is very—dusty," she said in a faint voice, looking at her hands. "But you cannot help me. Nobody can help me," walking to the dear

'Mother, are you ill?" said David, start-

"Iii? No, child. I-I must wash my vands. An hour later David saw her coupe drive to the door. A cold rain was falling. He stopped her in the hall. "Why do you go out in such weather, mother?" He was al-

When their mother entered they rose. "Stay, children," she said. "This is a thing that concerns you. I want to know that you think I am taking the best course.' Mr. Banks looked at her. There was a decision in her voice that startled him. He often had boasted that she was the ideal woman client. She never fussed nor asked questions nor thought for herself. She even drew her regular income apologetically, as if she were borrowing the money from him. She seated herself and handed him a yellow paper. "I found that to-day," she said. "I did not lose an hour in sending for you.

You must go to work at once." "An old bill, eh?" putting on his specta-She did not answer, and he read the paper in silence, When he read it he glanced at her sharply and then at the curious faces of her children, and turned to it again. He was a keen-witted man. He understood it already. If it was genuine, it meant poverty for her and her children, and, in consequence, ruin for himself. "Where did you find this, madam?" he said at last, in a careless tone.

"In an old book of which my brother was fond. It has probably never been opened since his death until to-day." "Do you know what it is?" turning to avid. "Have you seen it?" David.

"It purports to be a letter from your uncle, Mr. Peter Boyce, to a woman, Emma Vitry, whom he had secretly married. He speaks of their child. The letter apparently was written but n ver sent. The woman was living under an ssumed name in Flushing, New Jersey."
"My uncle was never married!" exclaimed

"That is the ground which we shall stand on certainly," said Mr. Banks. "This letter may be a forgery-part of a scheme of some woman who means to blackmail the family. "Oh, no!" said Mrs. Wayne's gentle voice; "it is not a forgery. That is Peter's writing. And the letter must have been there for many years. You have no idea of the dust! I remember Emma Vitry, She was my mother's maid, a Cuban, and a very David, who had kept silence until now, stepried hastily forward.

"But if they are not dead, and if the marriage was legal—what then?" Mr. Banks laughed uneasily. "You young people do leap over such great gulfs of impossibilities," he said. "You do not answer my question, sir." "I will answer it, of course. Mr. Boyce left no will. Your mother inherited as the only living relative. If he had a legitimate child, and it is still living, it is the heir."

"To all of his property?" "To all of his property. But what a trouble you are basing upon nothing! An old scrap of writing about a hypothetical wife and child !" There was an uneasy silence. "You might have thrown the paper into that fire, mamma," said Margaret, with a nezvous laugh, "and nobody would have been a bit the wiser."

"Maggy!" exclaimed David. "Your sister is only joking, my son," said

Mrs. Wayne. "We must find that poor child, Mr. Banks."

"Yes, certainly, madam. The child (if there ever was such a child) is an adult now. If it has any claim upon your estate it will press it, of course. The onus of proof rests upon the claimant. We contest. He (or she) may not be able to keep up such a costly war, and at worst we compromise, cheaply enough."
"I don't quite follow you," said Mrs.
Wayne, gently. "If Peter has a living child, of course I shall give up the property Mr. Banks laughed. "If there was such a child it would have showed itself long ago.

Leave the matter to me, madam. You have done all that is necessary." Mrs. Wayne was not listening to him. "David," she exclaimed, "I know who can help us! Your Aunt Wayne lived in Flushing for years. She knew that Vitry girl.

Go to town to-morrow and find out what she knows.' "I will go to-night," said David, glancing at his watch. His hand shook, his features were pinched.

"I wish you ill-luck," said Mr. Banks as he went out. "We can do nothing more to-night," said Mrs. Wavne.

"No. You have done quite enough," said Maggy. "You are in haste to make us paupers, mother.' "I had to do it. I could not do anything else," said the poor lady, feebly.

Maggy waited until her mother had gone

"Of course this is all a foolish scare," she said. "But-what have we, Mr. Banks, which we did not inherit from Uncle Nothing. Well, your mother has a farm in Virginia which brings her in two hundred a year. It is good ground but never has been properly cultivated. "Two hundred dollars for three people!"

id Maggie. "How ridiculous!" She

She ighed merrily enough. The thing was it an ugly dream to her. Was she not ping to Rome-a princess-a bel esprit?

It was late on the following afternoon when David returned. Mr. Banks told his wife afterward that "the boy had touched liquor that day, though he has been inking heavily of late. All the grit there in him came out, and there is good stuff hose Boyces. It never occurred to him or to his mother to dodge the fissue. They can be nothing else than honest. Yet, think what it must be to a young fellow to give up a vast inheritance like that!"

David went straight to the point. "My news," he said, "is worse than you expect.
My Aunt Belle remembers Emma Vitry.
The lived in Flushing under the name of Allan and there was a rumor that some gentleman while drunk had been tricked into marrying her, but his name was not known. She died years before my Uncle Peter. She had a child, a daughter, who was sent to a boarding school. Suddenly, in March, 1864, the payments for her tuition ceased.

"That was when your uncle died," said Mrs. Wayne. "He was shot at Fort Pillow. No doubt the poor fellow meant to acknowledge his daughter when the war was over." "She left the school and went to work in a shop in New York. I found her there, and asked if she had any family papers, She had one; and that, the certificate of mar-riage between Emma Vitry and John Peterson Boyce. The girl had never been called Boyce and did not suppose this man was her father. But her face proves it. She is very like you, mother. The case is clear, to my mind." Mr. Banks returned to New York that evening to consult higher legal author-

The family sat down to the traditional Thanksgiving dinner, but the turkey and pudding came and went untasted. "I fail to see the causes for our thanksgiving," said Maggy, bitterly.

"And I prayed so for them!" thought poor Mrs. Wayne. "He would not hear!"

Presently she said: "Is this shop-girl in any sense a gentlewoman, David? I might ask her up and train her a little." "Let her alone, mamma," said Maggy. "I ought at least to send her to school, my

"You do not understand, mother," said David. "You will be able to do nothing for her. If she takes anything from us, she takes all—all. I hope this matter will come out right for us. But if it does not, we will go down to your land in Virginia, and I will farm it. "Leave West Point!" cried Maggy. "Can't you understand, Margaret? Mother will have nothing—but her boy." He jumped up in his old headlong way, and threw himself on his knees before his mother, looking up into her face. Mrs. Wayne put her hands on his pale cheeks and looked into his eyes. A great light and joy came into her own. "My boy has come back to me!" she said, too low for him to hear.

The law moves slowly, even with honesty like that of the Waynes to urge it. But when spring came, Miss Boyce was in full possession of her rights, had installed Mr. Banks as her lawyer, and New York had lost sight of Mrs. Wayne and her children. Five years had passed, when Mr. Banks, who was called by business into Virginia, resolved to "look up those poor Waynes and eat his Thanksgiving dinner with them."

"And a better dinner," he told his wife on his return, "I never tasted. They have very little money, I imagine; but they have a beautiful home and plenty to eat, to do and to read. David has married a daughter of one of the neighboring planters, a lovely energetic girl. Mrs. Wayne is kind to half the country, and you know with the Virginians money is of little account; blood is everything. They have hosts of friends, good, thoroughbred people. Margaret was at home on a visit. That rascally Italian gave her up as soon as she lost her money. But John Boughton—you remember John?
—heard of their misfortune in Texas and posted on to Virginia to carry her back with him. She was willing enough, I suspect. It was an old love affair. Boughton is doing well in Texas: Margaret was a little agressive in her happiness and pride in the West and her husband and her baby." "But Mrs. Wayne?" asked Mrs. Banks, anxiously; "she must be misera

"On the contrary, she is busy and eager and contented. She used to be a poor deadand-alive creature, you know. Now, what with her friends, her poultry, her church and her grandchildren, her life is full of happiness. David has become a leading man in the neighborhood. I heard everywhere of his high sense of honor and his energy. Poverty has brought out the man from the animal: At dinner I sat beside Mrs. Wayne, and saw how she watched him with pride and delight. I went there full of pity and sympathy for her; but I tell you, Louisz, 1 envied her. In spite of the cheap curtains and rag carpets, I envied her. When we left the table I said to her: 'Nobody, madam, has a better right than you to keep Thanksgiving!' "Her eyes filled. 'You see,' she said, 'my girl is happy with the man she loves. God has lifted up my boy, and set his feet on safe ground. There is not a day that dawns which is not Thanksgiving Day to me.'

And then she added something which I did not understand, though no doubt it had a meaning to her. 'God always answers our prayers,' she said, 'though in a way that we know not-almost always in a way that we know not."

No one who desires to keep in touch with the progress of the United States-to have at hand complete statistics of population, trade, etc .- can afford to be without the New York Tribune Almanac. It is a perfect encyclopedia. The results of the 1893 elections are fully given. Price, 25

The ADVERTISER has received from Edward H. Best & Co., of Boston, a copy of the "World Almanac and Encyclopædia for 1894," a very useful and valuable publication. It is especially full and complete in the matter of election returns, statistical and other information concerning the government of the several States, of the United States and of foreign countries. There is information for everybody-not even the lovers being neglected.

It is said of Mr. Gladstone's private library that it is particularly rich in the classical and theological departments; that there is probably not a single theological work missing which has seen the light since the owner matriculated at Oxford in 1828. Most of these books were presented to him by their authors.

That distinguished traveler and author, Mrs. Isabella Bird Bishop, has just started upon another journey, although she is now 60 years old. She is at present crossing this country on her way to Vancouver, whence she is to sail for Japan. Whether she goes further will depend upon her health. She owns a pretty cottage in Scotland, and there she spent last summer and autumn in thoroughly mastering the technique of photography in preparation for her journey. She will now be able to illustrate her own books.

The Century Magazine for February offers a very attractive table of contents. Especially noteworthy articles are those on Alma-Tadema (with envy-breeding illustrations of the artist's house and gardens in London); on two hitherto unpublished portraits of Washington; on Nicholas Maes, by Timothy Cole; on Lincoln's Gettysburg address, by his private secretary, Mr. John G. Nicolay, and on Indian music. A picture by Mr. Louis Loeb, who also illustrates Mark Twain's story, is charming.

Engineering for March is full of interest for professional mechanicians, dealing as it does not only with the general subject selected for the name of the magazine, but with mechanics, architecture, mining, electricity, railways, navigation and industrial sociology. One of the best papers in the number is by Geo. W. Fuller, and discusses "Sand Filtration at Lawrence, Mass."-the method employed for the removal of disease-producing germs. (New York: The Engineering Magazine Com-

The more noteworthy features of Dononoe's Magazine for February are : "Grover Cleveland's Political Character: Is He a Success as President?" Affirmative, James Jeffrey Roche; negative, John Ford; "Heroic Charity in Worldly Garb," by Very Rev. John Hogan, S.S.; "The House of a Heretic" (a story), by Rev. John Talbot Smith ; "Child Labor a Terrible Legacy to Posterity," by Jenny Rice Ware; Ethics of Boxing," by James W. Clarke; "Pamelia's Trousseau: a Fairy Tale for Grown Folk," by Mary Elizabeth Blake; "Catholic Chicago," by Eugene Davis. Boston: Donohoe's Magazine Company.

The Forum, at its reduced price, maintains its high quality. In the current number are thirteen papers, the contributors including Josephine S. Lowell, Dr. Lyman Abbott, James Schouler, Frederic Harrison, Edgar Atkinson, and Wooodrow Wilson. The topics are timely, and range from charity and aid to unemployed, to the Wilson Bill incomes in England, Hawaii, the Nicaragua Canal, and English literature of the present time. One is not surprised to hear that a large increase in circulation has come to The Forum with its reduction in price. Every person who has any interest in public questions should have at hand each number, for nowhere, except in daily newspapers, are discussed topics with such vital relations to the affairs of the present.

The February number of the Review of Reviews has for frontispiece a timely and interesting picture of "President Dole (of Hawaii) and his Cabinet," an accompaniment of two articles in the department of 'Progress of the World" on "The Attempt to Restore the Hawaiian Monarchy," and 'Constitutional Aspects of Mr. Cleveland's Course." Other articles in the same department are: "The Manchester Ship Canal," "Filling the Supreme Court Vacancy," "The Income Tax and the Democratic Position," "Lords and Commons at Loggerheads," "Ontario for Prohibition," "Ferment in Austria," and "England, the Lightning Conductor." Among the illustrative portraits are those of Congressman Burrows, of Michigan, Boutelle, of Maine, and the late Bishop of Chester. Current History in Caricature contains the best hits of the comic papers of the world, and "Leading Articles of the Month" covers the entire field of periodical literature. It is an admirable number. (New York: The Review of Reviews.)

The secret of the great success of the Cosmopolitan is not so hard to find is one looks carefully or the number for February. A story by Valdes, the famous Spanish novelist, the first from his pen to appear in any American magazine, is begun in this number. Arthur Sherburne Hardy's story, "A Rejected Manuscript," is charmingly illustrated by L. Marold, who makes his first appearance in the magazines on this side of the water. A profusely. illustrated article on the designing and building of a war ship appeals to the interest taken by all in the new navy, and a thrilwrote for the entertainment of a child ling description of a naval combat under friend the story of Dickens' Little Nell. the significant title: "The Meloban and The manuscript is still in existence, and it the Pentheroy" describes, after the manner of the battle of Dorking, a possible sea fight, the outcome of which is watched by the entire naval world. "Gliding Flight" is an interesting contribution to the problem of aerial navigation. Elaine Goodale, who married a member of the Sioux Nation, has some interesting information of Indian wars and warriors. T. C. Crawford, the Washington correspondent, gives the first half of a startling story, under the title of "The Disappearance Syndicate."

Peculiar to Itself.

So eminently successful has Hood's Sarsaparilla been that many leading citizens from all over the United States furnish testimonials of cures which seem almost miraculous. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not an accident, but the ripe fruit of industry and study. It possesses merit "peculiar to itself."

Castoria.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.'

Such was the cast that presented Dion Boucicauit's drama, "The Wicklow Wedding," at the Grand Opera House last evening. The author has produced many works of varied motive, but this is among his best. It was given a worthy production in every respect. Irish plays are generally acceptable, and this one proved no exception. As the week progresses a marked improvement in attendance is observable, and the interest of the actors is consequently heightened. This is pleasant for those on both sides of the footlights. Numbers induce enthusiasm in the audience, and appreciation stimulates the artists to greater excellence. "Michael Strogoff," based upon Jules Verne's novel of that name, is an-

THE COMING CONVENTION.

Great Gathering of Young Methodist Church Workers

To Be Held in This City Next Month-Over Five Hundred Delegates Expected-Committees Appointed.

The school room of the Dundas Street Methodist Church was filled last evening when a union meeting of the young people's societies in connection with the various Methodist churches of London was held. It was the regular quarterly session, and was called for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming provincial convention of young workers, to be held in this city on March 20, 21 and 22. It is already an assured fact that this convention will not only prove one of the greatest importance, but will be as largely attended as any gathering ever held. As to its success, no doubt can remain when it is announced that Dr. Clark, known as "Father Endeavor" Clark, the founder of that vastly increasing young people's society, with its million members, will address the convention. Besides this notable man, Dr. Schell, of Chicago, and Dr. Carman, of Toronto, will also be present and aid in every possible way in making the convention a great help to all who attend. Delegates will come from all parts of Ontario, and will probably number between 500 and 600.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mr. W. J. Wattam, of London West, followed by Dr. Antliff with an address of welcome in his most pleasant style.

Rev. J. W. Annis took as the subject for an interesting address the work performed by the societies in connection with the church. He did not think, however, that they were doing all that could possibly be done, and urged strongly the necessity of making advances in every branch. In view of the coming convention the duty devolved upon the union to appoint working committees, and the following were chosen: Music-Mesers. A. N. Udy and Frederick Abbott. Transportation-Messrs. J. D. Keenley-side, Pratt and W. Jeffrey.

Billeting-Two ladies from each society in the city, with Mr. F. Abbott as president, and Mr. J. F. Kern as secretary. Press and Printing-Messrs. F. Abbott and R. F. Matthews. Finance-Messrs. J. F. Kern and W.

Registration-Rev. S. McVitty (chairman), C. E. Powell, C. Cowley and E. H.

Decoration-The leagues of Queen's Avenue and Dundas Street Center to appoint their own.

Reception and Social - Two members were appointed from each church as follows: Wellington Street, Miss Gundy and Mr. Powell; Colberne Street, Miss Mary Knott and Mr. Jas. Page; Dundas Street, Miss Tanton and Mr. R. F. Matthews; Queen's Avenue, Miss E. Trebilcock and Mr. Orme; Hamilton Road, Miss Etta Wilson and Mr. F. Skinner; London West Mission, Miss Nixon and Mr. E. Tollest; Richmond Street Mission, Miss M. Harvey and Mr. Harry Froggett; London West, Miss Kate Greenway and Mr. H. Currie; Askin Street, Miss Cullen and Mr. G. N Weekes.

The proceedings were enlivened with an address by Mr. F. W. Daly, a most acceptable recitation by Miss Cullen and a solo by Miss Gunn.

Prof. Smith's Three Keys will positively cure rheumatism in three days, neuralgia instantly. Sold at all drug stores. As with a boil, the best place for a practical joke is on somebody else. Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and
