Mr. Hobbs, M.P.P.

Some one has suggested that Mr. T.

S. Hobbs. M. P. P. for this city, should enter the lists as a candidate for the seat in the Ontario Cabinet rendered vacant by the death of Hon.

Mr. Balfour. The member for London has been a success in his own business, and it is reasonable to suppose that were he called upon to enter the Government he would make a good executive officer. But Ministers are not generally chosen from the list of those who are but recently sent to the House, and Mr. Hobbs, like others, for stating, however, that he does not aspire to Ministerial honors, but is contented to serve his constituents as a private member. Mr. Hobbs does not seek personal honor or preferment, and if he can advance the interests of London he is fully compensated for his services. His first aim is to have the construction of the new

RYAN WON. Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 21.-Tommy Ryan, champion welter weight of America, bested Dick Moore, of Min-neapolis, in twenty rounds of hard, clean fighting here last night. The fight came off at the Lyceum Theater, and attracted 4,000 spectators. From the start it was evident that Ryan was master of the situation. He landed again and again without return, not have lasted over five rounds. Moore tried repeatedly to land a knock-out

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. AQUATIC. THE HAMILTON BOAT WON.

Put-in-Bay, O., Aug. 21.-The close of the inter-lake regatta was marked by light winds, and the free-for-all for the Hotel Victory cup was a drifting match. The entries were Zelma, Hamilton; Vreda, Toronto; Sultana, Toledo; Vannena, Chicago; Miriam, Erie; Priscilla, Cleveland, and the boats finished in the order named. The interest in the race centered on the two Canadian cutters, as against the American fin-keel, Sultana, but the character of the wind prevented a comparison of models further than the light weather qualities of the cutter being demonstrated by the posi-tions at the finish. The Zelma completed the 21 knots' course in 5:16:35, and after deducting her time allowance, won in 3:57:13.

R. scored for the word. Robert J. drew the pole, and went the distance without a skip. Agan held to his wheel to the half, lapped him on the three-quarters, and came into the stretch with a good fighting chance, but the little gelding outfooted him from the distance pole, and won by a good length, in 2:04, the track record. The second heat was a repetition of the first, except that W. W. P. acted badly on the first half, and failed to save his distance. In the third heat Robert and Agan got off well together, and at the half Agan showed in front, but Robert recovered showed in front, but Robert recovered lost ground before the stretch was reached, and beat his opponent home handly. Disastrous Cloudburst in Mexico - 100 Families Homeless-Two Dead Bodies Recovered.

Mollgolian, N. M., Aug. 21.-A cloudburst struck this place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, leaving death and destruction behind. John Knight, a miner, residing at Georgetown, was drowned in his cabin. Several others are reported missing, but so far only two bodies, those of Knight and an unknown Mexican, have been recovered. These were found in a field about six miles below. About 100 families have been rendered homeless and thirty houses washed away.

Mining properties in the district lost all their supplies and suffered untold

The flood attained a height of over eight feet in the street, and lasted over 30 minutes. The wagon road leading up to the mountain from the town, which was built a few years ago at an immense cost and which is the only outlet for freighters, has been entirely ruined.

The Family Doctor

Could pack his grip and leave the country without inconveniencing anybody if men and women only knew the plain every-day principles underlying a healthy system. Take the kidneys for instance, possibly the most important organs in the whole body. When they are healthy the blood is pure, and it is almost impossible to get sick; when they are not healthy it is almost impossible to get well without restoring the kidneys to proper action.

Backache is the warning note of diseased kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills make weak kidneys strong, make diseased kidneys well. They never fail even in most distressing stages of kidney disease. A case in point was reported to one of our repre-sentatives the other day. Mr. Robert Bryanton, cooper, 419 Ontario street, London, Ont., states:

"For a long time I have been a sufferer from kidney complaint, with distressing pain in the back and rheumatic pains all over my body, particularly in my feet. I had an itching, burning sensation all over; urine was very high-colored and variable in quantity. I was very restless and weak, badly troubled at times with palpitation of

The itching, burning sensation of my skin has disappeared, and beyond question the pills in removing my other troubles have relieved me of the palpitation of the heart and strengthened my entire system.

"I pronounce them the best medicine that I have ever taken, and I have tried a number of remedies for kidney troubles. I am really thankful for what they have done for Great Crush to See the Ceremonies of Opening.

Scenes and Incidents in the Senate Chamber.

The More Striking Dresses Worn

Confirmation of the News That the School Question Is on a Fair Way to Set-

Ottawa, Aug. 21.-Not since Confederation has there been such a crush to witness the opening of Parliament as there was yesterday afternoon, when the Governor-General drove down in state. Thousands were unable to gain admittance to the Chamber, though some had come long distances to be present. At the ceremony in the Senate Chamber, Hon. Wilfrid at the foot of the throne, while Sir Oliver Mowat sat in a chair beside his colleagues. They were all dressed in black frock coats, and there was speculation among those who noticed the absence of Windsor uniforms whether it is the inauguration of Jeffersonian simplicity or meant merely that the Ministers' uniforms are not yet from the tailors. A member of the late Government bought a secondhand uniform, so it was said, but that quick way of getting a Privy Councilor's court outfit was not well thought of by his friends, and is not likely to become fashionable. The only occupants of the woolsack were Chief Justice Sir Henry Strong, in his scarlet robes and ermine, and Judge Burbidge, of the Exchequer Court.

Lady Aberdeen preceded his Excellency into the Senate Chamber by a few minutes, being accompanied by Lady Marjory Gordon and her two sons, the latter being arrayed as pages of the time of Louis Quatorze.

The Governor-General wore the full dress uniform of an Imperial Privy His orders were the blue and red ribbon and star of the Grand Cross of Sir Michael and St. George; the blue ribbon, order and star of the ex-Grand Master of the Order of St. Patrick, the yellow ribbon and order of the Baronets of Nova Scotia. The Countess of Aberdeen had on a most becoming gown of rich yellow satin with a long train trimmed with Brussels lace and black velvet. Her ornaments were a tiara of beryls and diamonds, necklace of several rows of pearls and diamonds. Other ornaments worn in the corsage were of diamonds and enameled maple leaves.

Lady Marjory Gordon had on a simple girlish frock of blue and white Jaranese silk trimmed with Irish lace. Madame Laurier looked very handsome in a beautiful gown of white satin trimmed around the corsage with pale green satin, lace and pearls. Ornaments, diamonds and pearls, from the throne should be taken into consideration tomorrow or any date that might suit the Opposition. Sir Charles Tupper said that he did not think any time would be lost by the adoption of Monday instead of tomorrow, as a number of gentlemen who would like to take part in the discussion of the address would not be present until Monday. Sir Charles asked the Government to ask his Excellency for permission to lay on the table the correspondence which had taken place regarding the resignation of the late Government, so that it could be discussed in connection with ing the resignation of the late Admin-istration, he said that he could not give an answer at the present moment, but he would give it tomorrow. The speech will be considered on Monday.

Sir Charles Tupper asked whether it was true, as had been reported, that negotiations were now pending and likely to result favorably in regard to the Manitoba schools? It would be a great source of relief, he added, to learn that the report was correct.

Mr. Laurier replied: "I have great pleasure to inform the honorable gen-tleman that at my invitation the At-torney-General of Manitoba came down with the view of entering upon negotiations with the Government in regard to the settlement of that important question. Further than that I am not at liberty to say at present."

Sir Oliver Mowat had not the slightest objection to accede to the suggestion of Sir Mackenzie that the consideration of the speech should be postponed until Tuesday. With regard to the Manitoba school question, he was glad that Sir Mackenzie read with such care what appeared in the Reform press. In this instance he had read them more carefully than he (Sir read them more carefully than he (Sir Oliver) had, because he did not happen to read what Sir Mackenzie had said had appeared there. The honorable gentleman was hurrying the matter a little too fast. The Government did not undertake, and did not expect to be able to have everything settled by this session, but it did hope that before another session the quest would be removed out of the way. Senator Masson-Then what has ap-

HONORED THEIR PROFS.

Close of the Summer Term of the Western University-A Pleasant Episode.

University closed this morning. The wind-up was signalized by happy gathering in the lecture hall. On behalf of the forty students assembled Mr. J. B. Campbell read an address to Prof. Burgess and Prof. Janes, in grateful acknowledgment of the pleasure and profit derived from their instruction and intercourse during the term. The professors responded feelingly. The summer course, which included the classics, mathematics, French and German, was such a success that it will probably be repeated next year. Many of the students were from outside points, several being teachers, who took advantage of the holidays. The fall term of the university arts department opens on Oct. 1, and indications are bright for a large attendance.

New Market for Our Products The most sanguine hopes for the future of the great mining region in the Canadian Rocky Mountains, now beginning to be opened up, are entertained by experts from the United States. South Africa and Australia who have recently visted the district of which the now famous city of Rossland is the center. Late tourists in the Rockies bring word to the east that there is the greatest activity on every hand. Keen and far-seeing citizens of the United States were among the first to locate claims, and they are cent of the territory so far developed. But within the last few weeks, British and Australian prospectors, or agents of rich syndicates abroad, have been locating claims, miners have trooped in, and have been set at work, and as our correspondent pointed out the other day, the most marvelous developments are in progress. There is but one fly in the ointment, and that is that there is no direct railway communication between the mining territory and Eastthat the pleasant task of supplying the many thousands of men now in the mountains with food and other neces- the Imperial Parliament, the office is saries of life is falling to United States manufacturers and traders, the railway facilities provided for reaching the territory from British Columbia and Washington States being such office chooses to stand aside. A QUIET WEEK

In Canadian Business Circles-Improvement in the Cheese Market.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 21.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade in Canada says: Wholesale trade at Toronto is in pretty much the same condition as previouly reported by us. Nearly all branches of business are quiet and featureless. The outlook is not par-ticularly bright, but at the same time is not unfavorable. Bankers are very conservative in giving credits, and the disposition is to reduce discounts. There is some demand for money for the purchase of grain, and this demand will steadily increase for some weeks to come. The volume of trade. so far this month, is said to be smaller than during the same period of last year. This is probably due to the fact that the outlook in Manitoba is much less promising than a year ago, and merchants are not selling goods case, however, the dominant political so freely for that province. There is party chooses a friend for the post. a moderate trade in hardware and groceries, with few changes in prices. Leather is quiet, and hides are a trifle discounted at 6 to 6 1-2 per cent, and call loans are quoted at 5 to 5 1-2 per cent.

In Montreal business circles the teas are in moderate request. Owing to the recent heavy cutting in canned vegetables, it is reported there is a probability of a renewal of the combination. In drygoods a few fair sales are reported to visiting buyers. Woolen manufacturers report orders for spring goods as only moderate, and coming in slowly, and dealers in raw wool are making only limited sales. Orders for fall footwear have not been up to the mark, and among leather men there is complaint of continued dullness. Hides are easier. There is a very marked improvement in the market, sales of fine western being reported at 8 1-2c, and for fancy grades of creamery butter at 18c. Col ections are slow. Call money is available at 4 1-2 to 5 per cent.

The Housing of the Old Romans. North American Review.

Buildings for the habitations of citizens in ancient Rome were of two kinds—private houses or palaces for the residence of one family with a more or less copious retinue of ser-vants (domus), and lodging houses or tenement houses many stories high, and adapted to the reception of several families and of single individuals (insulae). At the time of its greatest development the time of its greatest development. velopment the city numbered 1,790 palaces and 46,602 lodging houses, the population being about 1,000,000 souls. These statistics refer to the city limits only, marked approximately by the walls of Aurelian; but the habitations

"The plebeians agreed to divide among themselves bona fide the buildlots on the Aventine, each family selecting a space in proportion with the means of which it disposed; but it happened also that families, not able to build independently, joined in groups of two, three or more, and raised a house in common, one family occupying the ground floors, others the floors for $1 a

This passage throws a considerable light on the history of human habitations in Rome, about which such scanty British money. This is a parchment information has been left by classics. It seems that, from the time the city was built on the Palatine Hill to the reign of the Tarquins, the Romans dwelt in huts, not unlike those which present day give shelter to the shepherds of the Campagna. They are composed of a framework of timber of George or boughs, with thatched walls and conical roofs, and a ring of stones. These are represented with every detail in the so-called hut urns-cinerary vases discovered in the prehistoric cemeteries of Latium and Southern state of things two hut were preerved in Rome down the empire-the hut of Romulus, otherwise called the cottage of Faustulus, on the Palatine, where the founder of the city had been given shelter and education, and another hut on the Capitoline, where he had been wor-shiped after his death as a hero.

Mayor Little's Pleasing Information Concentration Now Assured.

Mayor Little was at his desk in the City Hall today after a pleasant ten days' trip down the St. Lawrence, accompanied by Mrs. Little.

The mayor, as usual, combined business with pleasure, and visited the Grand Trunk headquarters in Montreal. While there he was shown the plans of the new car shops to be erected in London. The plans and specifications are complete, ready for the contractors to figure upon.

The mayor was informed that tenders would be called for in a very few days. It is understood that responsible contractors throughout the country will be asked to compete. Any doubts about the concentration of the shops in London cannot fail to be removed by this decision of the Grand Trunk to push the work at once. The expenditure of so much money on construction, to begin with, will be a boon to the whole city.

THESE ARE OLD BOOKS.

In the window of Bradford & Hodgins' confectionery store may be seen three of the oldest books in the city. The paper and binding are much the worse for wear, and the printer's art of those days can be seen in these works in all its primitiveness. The spelling in them was somewhat different from now. One volume contains the works of Babington, and was printed in 1622. In it are sermons preached in 1591. The first page of the book reads as follows: "The Workes of the Right Reverend Father in God, Gervase Babington, late Bishop of Worcester, containing comfortable notes vpon the Bookes of Moses, vix., Genesis, Exodys, Leviticys, Nymbers, Devteronomie; as also an Explanation vpon the Creeds, the Command-ments, the Lord's Prayer, with a Con-ference betwixt Man's Frailtie and Faith, and Three Sermons, with Alpha-betical Tables of the Principall matters to each feverall workes."

Two volumes are the works of Rev. Thomas Stackhouse, M.A., vicar of Beenham, Berkshire. The books contain a history of the Bible from the beginning of the world to the estab-lishment of Christianity, with answers to most of the controverted questions dissertations upon the most remarkable passages, and a connection with extended beyond the walls for a radius of three miles at least. This suburban are added rectifications, mis-translabelt of houses and lodgings, with gardens and orchards between them, was called the belt of expatiantia tecta.

Tenement houses, unknown in villages, very rare in provincial towns (like Pompeil, Hercukaneum, Ostia and Velleia, considerable portions of which how here reserved to the court on the 8th of January, 1742, begave him power to print and circulate these books for fourteen years, and prohibited anyone else from reproduc ing them, printing anything like them selling them, or importing anything of their nature from beyond the seas. Persons who violated this did so at great peril. The works went to press

Another quaint relic that Mr. Hodgins has exposed is a piece of or a half-crown stamp. On the one side are the words, "Two Shillings and Sixpence, No. 18,524," and signed John McKinley Thos. Collins, B. Manlove. On the back is a large sheaf, and unit the words "To Counterfeit is th." The scrip is from the time of George I.

bulldog, which had been chained all night in a box stall in the City Hotel stables, broke loose and got out. The family horse was in another stall just across the way, and the liberated bulldog attacked it in a most vicious manner. A desperate conflict followed. Nobody saw the beginning; but when the hostler first entered, the horse was pretty badly used up. The animal was in a foam of sweat, and his jaws were terribly torn. horse's forefeet were his only defense, and that he used them was evident by the state of the dog's body, but the poor animal was tied in his stall, and was therefore handicapped. Quite a crowd of spectators soon gathered, but beyond a few chance blows at the dog no effectual work was done, until someone was thoughtful enough and courageous enough

Then the fight was continued on nore equal terms, but the horse by that time was pretty well fagged out, and kept up principally a devensive warfare. Time after time he was able to free himself from the dog's ter-rific jaws, but nothing could induce the brute to desist. Once the course of the battle brought the dog within range of the heels of a colt that was in the stable. The heels went out with unerring aim, and the dog was kicked clean across to the opposite end of the stable. New York, Aug.21.-Charles Birdsall. of Brooklyn, was officially declared dead by the authorities of Gouverneur Hospital last week, when, as a matter of fact, he was very much alive. Not only was he marked as dead on the hospital records, but a body supposed to be his was delivered to his sorrowing relatives. It was then that the blunder was discovered. It is one of the most singular in the history of are making strenuous efforts to suppress the facts. Last Tuesday night he was overcome by the heat and fell in an unconscious condition on the street. Birdsall was taken to the Gouverneur Hospital, already overcrowded with patients pros-trated by the fierce rays of the sun, and as soon as his turn came he was put under treatment. His condition was such that the physicians diagnosed his case as a hopeless one, and said he would die before morning. Birdsall's employer heard what had happened and sent man to the body was delivered to him and he took it to the sorrowing household in Brooklyn. Candles had been lighted and the corpse placed in the catafalque prepared to receive it. When the sheet of lasting influence to the world was removed from the face the relatives and friends were astonished beyond expression. The dead man was stranger. The undertaker was called again and instructed to take the body back to the hospital. While all this was going on Charlie Birdsall was lying, still alive, in a cot. He was very weak and pallid, and his breathing was scarcely no-ticeable, but by the time his supposed dead body was on the way back from Brooklyn, he had recovered consciousness fully and he was able to speak. His sister started post haste to New York as soon as the blunder was discovered. She was admitted to the hospital, and after some little delay, found her brother's bed. Kneeling down beside it she exclaimed:

"Oh, Charlie! We all thought you were dead." "Not much," replied Birdsall. "I'm worth a dozen dead men yet," and unless something unforeseen happens, he will be up and about in a few days. The undertaker has demanded pay for his services, and Birdsall's sister is of the opinion that he should be paid by the hospital people, inasmuch as he was engaged expressly up-on the information furnished by the hospital physicians. There is likely

HISTICE BUSSELL

Gives a Great Address on International Law-

Hinges on Usage and the Golden Rule-Mediation as a Stepping Stone-Arbitration May Do Much.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 21.-No greater ovation was ever paid to a speaker in Saratoga than that accorded Lord Russell, Chief Justice of England, when he entered the convention hall yesterday morning to address the American Bar Association in their nineteenth annual convention assembled. He was greeted by an audience of 4,500 persons. His Lordship and Sir Frank Lockwood were escorted to the platform by President Storey of the Bar Association. As Lord Russell stepped forward, the vast audience broke into applause, which continued for fully a minute.

He prefaced his address by saying:
"My first words must be in acknowledgment of the signal honors done me by inviting me to address you on this interesting occasion. You are a this interesting occasion. You are a congress of lawyers, met here to take counsel in no narrow spirit, upon questions affecting your profession; to consider the needs for legislation, which time and experience develop; to consider the tendencies of legislation, state and federal, and the course of judical decision." (Applause.) INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

Lord Russell said the later tendencies of international law were chiefly characterized by their greater humanity. The sentiment for peace and in favor of arbitration as the alternative for war is growing apace. "Experience has shown that, over a large area, international differences may honorably, practically and usefully be dealt with by peaceful arbitrament.

"But there are differences to which. even as between individuals, arbitration is inapplicable—subjects which find their counterpart in the affairs of nations. Men do not arbitrate where character is at stake, nor will any self-respecting nation readily, arbitrate on questions touching its national independence or affecting its honor. "These considerations seem to me to justify two conclusions: The first is that arbitration will not cover the whole field of international contro-Versy, and the second that unless and until the great powers of the world, in league, bind themselves to coerce a recalcitrant member of the family of nations-we have still to face the more than possible disregard by powerful states of the obligations of good faith and of justice."

AN ARMED PEACE. Lord Russell, in passing, referred to the present conditions in Europe as regards peace, and said: "There is war in the air. Nations armed to the teeth prate of peace, but there is no sense of peace. One sovereign burthens the industry of his people to maintain military and naval arma-ment at war strength and his neighbor does the like and justifies it by the example of the other; and England, insular though she be, with her imperial interests scattered the world over, follows, or is forced to follow, in the wake. If there be no war, there is at best an armed peace.

Figures are appalling. I take those for 1895. In Austria the annual cost of army and navy was, in round figures, 18 millions sterling; in France, 37 millions; in Germany, 27 millions; in Great Britain, 36 millions: in Italy, 13 millions, and in Russia 52 millions. "The significance of these figures is increased if we compare them with those of former times. The normal cost of the armaments of war has of late years enormously increased. The annual interest on the public debt of the great powers is a war tax. Behind this array of facts stands a tragic figure. It tells a dismal tale. It speaks of overburthened industries. of a waste of human energy unprofitthe institution, the officials of which ably engaged, of the squandering of treasure which might have let light into many lives, of homes made desolate, and all this, too often, without recompense in the thought that these sacrifices have been made for the love of country or to preserve national honor or for national safety. When will governments learn the lesson that wisdom and justice in policy are a stronger security than weight of armament?

"'Ah! when shall all men's good Be each man's rule, and universal peace, Lie, like a shaft of light, across the

In closing his address, Lord Russen Mr. McNamara immediately sent word to the Birdsall family in Brooklyn, and the unexpected message was received with great grief and lamentations. A local undertaker was engaged to take a coffin to New York before the design of the country of the subject of arbitration he had deemed it right to sound a note of caution, but it would be a reproach, before was dead, to our Christian country of the if there were now no better method of settling international differences than the cruel and debasing methods of war. He hoped that the people of the United States and the people of the motherland, kindred peoples, might in this matter set an example

> THE REGULAR BUSINESS. The report on international law was made through its chairman, Everett P. Wheeler, that the American Bar Association concur in the following resolution, adopted by the American conference on international arbitra-

That in the judgment of this conference, religion, humanity and justice, as well as the material interest of civilized society, demand the immediate establishment between the United States and Creat Britain of a permanent system of arbitration and the earliest possible extension of such a system to embrace all civilized na-

> "2. That it is earnestly recommended to our Government, so soon as it is assured of a corresponding disposition on the part of the British Government, to negotiate a treaty providing for the widest practical appli-cation of the method of arbitration to international controvers

> "3. That a committee of this conference be appointed to prepare and present to the President of the United State a memorial respectfully urging the taking of such steps on the part of the United States as will best conduce to the end in view." These resolutions were seconded by Henry Hitchcock, of Missouri, and unanimously carried.

correspondent of the Jewish Chronicle quote an article by Dr. Alfred Hettner (in Die Geographische Zeitschrift), in which the outlook for Palestine, both from a religious and economic point of view, is glowingly depicted. Dr. Hettner says:

"The future of Palestine rises up before us in as pleasing colors as the present displays a somber aspect. Once let a good government be established, and from that moment the development of the country will set in. Today it has about the worst possible government, and notwithstanding that and a few other places." drawback an improvement is taking place in consequence of increased communication with Europe. Death of a Senator.

Our telegraphic dispatches this afternoon announce the sudden death of Sir David L. Macpherson, while at sea en route from Europe to attend his Parliamentary duties at Ottawa.

1835, and having married the daughter of Mr. Wm. Molson, of Montreal, began business as a railway contractor, being a partner of the firm of Gzowski & Co. In this and other business he was very successful, and amassed a fortune. He was interested in and a director of many financial institutions. From 1864 to the Union, he was member of the Legislative Council of Canada for the Saugeen division, and in 1867 he was called to the Senate of the new Parliament then established. For many years, Sir David took much interest in public affairs. At one time he was Speaker of the Senate, and in the troublous times of the last Northwest rebellion he was Minister of the Interior. He was an ardent Conservative, but latterly he has taken little part in the management of the party, and has resided quietly in the south of Europe. One of his daughters is married to Hon. Mr. Dobell a member of the new Liberal Government at Ottawa; and another is wife of Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

The cars will be in charge of lady conductors, and the railway men will be given a holiday. Among these conductors will be found all the society belles of the city. This is one of the schemes of the Y. M. C. A. to raise funds to liquidate the indebtedness upon the handsome new building on Wellington street. The street railway company have given them almost entire control for that There has been a wager made by a well known society man that from 40,000 to 50,000 people will ride in the cars, if for no other purpose than to help an organization which has been to young men one of the most beneficial, morally, physically and intellect crimson walls, the Grand Opera House looked its prettiest last night. when the season was opened by Ward and Vokes in the farcical comedy, "A Run on the Bank." The gaslights shone on a splendid audience, and the footlights on a clever company. Ward and Vokes had the privilege of opening the Grand last year, and their bright performance then insured them a goodly patronage on their return.

'A Run on the Bank" has been embellished with new jokes, up-to-date songs, parodies and political hits, and all the modern improvements. It is a melange of excellent music and the most nonsensical kind of nonsense. Its author did not intend it to be a classical production, but aimed to make it a laugh provoker, and he succeeded capitally. Ward and Vokes kept the audience in roars by their side-splitting absurdities. They were assisted by several good comedians and a chorus of pretty girls, all of whom sang and danced. A touch of refinement was lent by Mr. Eckert and Miss Berg in their lyric sketch, in which they displayed vocal and instrumental talents worthy of grand opera. The political drives scattered through the piece are certain to tickle audiences over the border.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course, by using Putnam's Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction, for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators, and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor. N. C. MINISTERS MEET.

Resplendent in new carpets and Financial District Meeting of the Methodist Church at London West Well Attended. The annual financial district meeting of the Methodist Church was held at London West yesterday afternoon. Arrangements were made for missionary and Sabbath school work for the year. The report of the committee on superannuation assessments was accepted. A committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the Epworth League committee for holding a Sabbath school convention.

The meeting passed a memorial, to be sent to Sir Oliver Mowat, Minister of Justice, with regard to the establishment of a Dominion reformatory for young men, asking that the reformatory be erected in or near some city or large town, instead of at the rural village of Alexandria, Glengarry county, on the ground that the advantages to the inmates would be greater. The president of the London Confer ence, Rev. George Jackson, was chairman, and Rev. E. B. Lanceley, secretary. The other members present were: Revs. George Daniel, A. L. Russell, Eli Middleton, A. G. Harris, J. A. Ferguson, R. Hobbs and B. Clement, London; Wm. Quance, Lambeth; W. T. Blatchford, Westminster; A. Mc-Culloch, Thorndale; H. Phair, St. Johns; John Russell, Siloam; T. T. George, Delaware; Thomas Jackson, Belmont, and H. D. Moyer, Thamesford. The laymen were Messrs. W. H. McCutcheon, John Friend, Robert ilWlis, J. Rook, George Rowntree, Jas. Wilkins, London; E. B. Gorwell, Siloam, and A. Venning, Belmont.

After the business the ladies of the church kindly tendered the visitors a tea, and a pleasant hour was spent

THE LOADED GUN.

Children Got Hold of It and One Was Shot Dead.

Uxbridge, Aug. 21.-Four little children, two girls and a boy of Mr. Johnston's, two miles south of Cannington, and a little girl of Mr. Harrison, who lives on the adjoining farm, were playing in the barn. It appears that a short time ago Mr. Johnston had bought a new gun, and during the play yesterday afternoon his little boy was telling his playmates about it, and went to get it to show them. The gun, which was loaded for the first time the previous evening, was put where it was thought the children could not possibly get near it; but some way the boy managed to get it down, and while taking it through the barn door, by some mischance, it was discharged, the contents lodging in the head of Mr. Harrison's little daughter, killing her instantly. The children were from 8 to
