DOMINION BENEFITS BY PACT

Trade Treaty Between Australia and Canada Is Arranged.

ROBB GIVES NOTICE

Products From Both Countries Will Enter Under Reduced Tariffs.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 19.—Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, has given notice of a bill to authorize conclusion of a trade treaty between Canada and Australia.

Tariff concessions in the treaty are provided in three schedules. The first two give British preferential and intermediate tariff rates granted by Australia to Canada on certain goods. The third gives Canada's concessions to Australia.

Canada to Benefit

Included in the second category, Australia grants to Canada the following rates of duty in her intermediate tariff: Parts of vehicles with self-contained power, propelled by petrol, steam, electricity, oil or alcohol, N. E. I. Whether incorporated in the complete vehicle or separate, viz.: Chassis, but not including rubber tires, unassembled, 7½ per cent ad valorem; assembled, 10 per cent ad valorem; vehicle parts, N. E. I., including under gear (inclusive of axles, springs and arms), from N. E. I. springs, hoods, wheels, N. E. I., and bodies, N. E. I., 50 per cent ad valorem.

Canadian newspaper and printing paper will, under the treaty, enter Australia free of duty. There will be reduced rates on Canadian fish, textile, gloves, typewriting machinery, typewriters, adding machines, corse, iron and steel tubes, goloshes, vehicle parts. Canada, in return, gives special rates on Australian fresh and canned meats, bird, tallow, heavy, eggs, cheese, butter, canned vegetables, dried fruits, etc.

Australian Products

Australian raisins and dried currants will, under the treaty, enter Canada free. There is no mention in the treaty of any increase in the general tariff (which is applicable to the United States) on raisins and currants. When the treaty was before the Australian commonwealth parliament it was intimated that Canada intended to increase a general tariff on such products as butter, meat, eggs in order to give a greater preference to Australia. This would have meant a higher tariff on these products when imported from the United States. But the treaty, as submitted to the Canadian parliament, does not provide for any such increases in the general tariff. Australia is, however, given specially low rates on the articles indicated.

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, June 19.—The cabinet council at Queen's Park today appointed the new board of regents under the druggists practitioners act. The members are: Dr. R. B. Henderson, 24 Bloor street east, Toronto; Dr. A. W. Macfie, 210 Dominion Savings Building, London; Dr. F. W. Gibbs-McKay, Oshawa; Dr. H. Pocock and Dr. J. Mewburn.

Dr. Henderson is president of the Toronto osteopaths. Dr. Pocock is an active member of the same organization, and Dr. McKay is an anatomist. The board of regents will have the responsibility of drafting all the regulations connected with the carrying out of the statute, the initiative measures for enforcing the statutes, and a general administration of the regulations. Of course the regulations will have to be submitted to the government before they are put into force, the government's approval being necessary in all these matters.

BELGIAN ENVOY DISCUSSES PAYMENT OF DEBT TO U. S.

Associated Press Despatch.
Brussels, June 19.—The Belgian ambassador to the United States, Baron De Cartier de Marchienne, was summoned by the foreign minister immediately upon his arrival here today for a discussion of payment of Belgium's war debt to the United States.

In an interview the Belgian ambassador said the United States desires conversations to start as soon as possible for a settlement of debts, "which has been postponed longer than is necessary."

Fifty City Ministers Hear Pastor Emeritus of Christ Church, London, Eng.

DREAM REALIZED

British Ring in People Here, He Says—Tells Place of Church.

Responding to the very warm greeting extended to him between 40 and 50 ministers of London and district Rev. F. B. Meyer, D.D., pastor-emeritus of Christ church, Westminster Bridge road, London, England, drew upon his long years of experience to deliver a particularly personal and inspiring address at the Y. M. C. A. this morning. Interviewed by the Advertiser at the close of his address, Dr. Meyer commented upon the perfect fraternity and brotherhood which unites the ministers of this country and "the noble role Canada is playing as a nation in the great British commonwealth." The third thing which seems to have impressed Dr. Meyer most deeply on this his first Canadian tour is the fact that "open air preaching is not in vogue here."

"It has been the dream of my life to visit Canada," said Dr. Meyer to the Advertiser. "I have visited the United States about a dozen times because Moody and I were close friends, but I always felt that before finishing my work, I should like to visit Canada. Though I am 73 years of age and some people told me I was old to undertake such an extended tour, I have been invigorated and inspired, rather than anything else, by the affection that has been shown me here. My books of Biblical biography have made me friends and wherever I have been as far west as Edmonton and Saskatoon, there has been the same warm welcome."

British Ring in People. "There is a British ring in the Canadian people," pursued Dr. Meyer, "which makes me feel specially at home. I am so thankful that, as a part of the great commonwealth, Canada as a nation is playing such a noble role in every way. The longer I am here the more I am conscious of the importance of Canada's influence in imperial politics. My church was thrown open during the war to soldiers from both Canada and Australia, and it has been exceedingly interesting to meet some of these men over here."

"Every place where I have spoken there have been great meetings, indicating the interest of the British and the perfect fraternity and brotherhood which united them in this country. The clergy of the English church, too, have shown a willingness to mingle with the other ministers with Christian equality. I believe that the united opinion of the ministers of the United Kingdom in creating public conscience in any community."

"I have been sufficiently associated with young men and boys to make certain more and more that, if a minister wishes to succeed, he must take an interest in the fight every man has to make for the purity of the gospel" as opposed to "the topical sermon." He deplored the adoption of any artifices, telling of funny stories, etc., to draw people to church, and pleaded for the ministers to let God and the Holy Ghost work through and with them, and Continued on Page 2, Column 6.

AMUNDSEN TO RENEW ATTEMPT

Famous Explorer More Determined Than Ever To Discover North Pole.

DRAMATIC RETURN

Sealer Bearing Polar Party At First Received Ill-Natured Welcome.

Associated Press Despatch.

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 19.—The Social Demokrater publishes a report from Oslo, the Norwegian capital, stating that Captain Roald Amundsen, who returned to Spitzbergen yesterday after his sensational Arctic flight, is dissatisfied with the results attained, and is "quite determined to resume the attempt" to reach the pole. The explorer is quoted as declaring that the experience gained in his present attempt would enable him to attain his goal. The other members of the expedition, the account continues, appear equally animated by a desire to beat the aerial polar expeditions planned by other countries. They expressed the view that important scientific results had been achieved thus far, Captain Amundsen himself was satisfied. Amundsen's comrades were unanimous in their appreciation of his leadership.

UNEXPECTED CONDITIONS.

By CAPTAIN FELIX EISENBERG.
Navigator of Walter Wellman's Airship American, First Attempt to Reach the North Pole by Airplane.
New York, June 19.—The fact that Amundsen and Ellsworth, after seven hours of full speed flight were able to obtain a maximum latitude of only 84.4 north, or a total distance of about 60 miles from the point of departure, indicated the following retarding factors:

- (1) Their fuel consumption, with the heavily loaded planes, was greatly in excess of that calculated.
- (2) The fact of their having flown through a fog during approximately one-third of their journey, with a consequent deviation from the true north heading, tended to increase the distance.

KEY TO PROGRESS HELD BY KIWANIS

W. H. Wood, New C. of C. Secretary, Addresses Members at Luncheon.

Apathy is the great barrier to constructive activities, but Kiwanis, imbued with the spirit of co-operation will make London a greater city, was one of the chief points brought out by W. H. Wood, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who addressed the members of the Kiwanis club at their regular luncheon at the Teutonic house at noon today.

Mr. Wood spoke on the "Spirit of Kiwanis." He applied the aims and ideals of the service clubs to community work. The spirit referred to the soul; to constructive energy; the activity which produced results in community building. The efforts of the Kiwanis club as a whole were made up of the service of individuals. They expressed the several degrees of good fellowship and good will Kiwanis made for unselfish citizenship. Patriotism appeared in its first form in good citizenship; when people cast their votes at every opportunity to see that right was done for the good of the greatest number.

Imbued with such spirit, the people would strive toward an elimination of corruption, for supervised and organized playgrounds; for better health laws; for a clean life in private and public. Kiwanis was conscious of the need of all time when it was a steady growth for good, he said.

Patriotism and religion were the finest expressions in the life of any man. Kiwanis was diminishing selfishness, spreading cheerfulness and creating the right attitude in the minds of the citizens. He pleaded for the same amount of time to be given community work as was given to the club, for community work meant a gain for the individual as well as to the club and the city.

Bev. Hay occupied the chair in the absence of President J. J. McHale. Arthur Ford presented Kiwanian Rev. John Agnew with an illuminated address tendering the best wishes of the club and the city.

Joseph Isaacs spoke on the zero hour trip to Pinafore park. St. Thomas on Monday night at 7:45. It is expected that 50 members will attend.

TUNNEL PLAN UP

Supporters of Tube Project Apply To Senate For Charter.

Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, June 19.—A delegation consisting of the mayors and reeves of nearly all the municipalities in Essex county is in Ottawa today to ask the dominion government to guarantee the bonds for the Canadian share of the cost of the proposed bridge over the Detroit river at Windsor. The delegation is to meet the government at 6 o'clock this afternoon. Apparently those who are promoting the bridge scheme have not decided whether it should be a public ownership venture or a private corporation undertaking, but the members of the delegation at a meeting here this morning registered themselves as favoring the former.

Simultaneously the Detroit and Windsor subway company is applying to parliament for a charter for the construction of a tunnel under the river between Windsor and Detroit.

The bridge delegation while waiting to see the government, will appear before the committee of the senate where the tunnel charter application is being made and oppose it. Mayor Mitchell of Windsor and other members of the delegation claim that the tunnel project interferes with their bridge scheme. They assert that the people of Essex county want a bridge and not a tunnel.

The Middlesex Presbytery of the United Church of Canada will hold its first meeting for purposes of organization in London not later than Sept. 30. The London conference of the United church will be convened in London not later than Oct. 30 for a similar purpose.

Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, M.A., B.D., Centennial United church, pastor-elect of Ridout Street United Methodist conference, has been named by the general council to convene the first meeting of the Middlesex presbytery. Mr. Thomson will co-operate with Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., King Street United church, moderator of the last Presbyterian synod of Hamilton and London, in the conducting of the conference.

It is likely that Mr. Thomson will call the presbytery, consisting of all the ministers and one lay representative from each congregation, early next month, or some time after he receives the printed rules and regulations of the United church from Rev. T. Albert Moore, D.D., Toronto, newly-appointed secretary.

As constituted by the general council of the United church, which closed its first meeting in Toronto yesterday afternoon, the Middlesex presbytery replaced the former London Presbyterial presbytery and the London and part of the Essex and Strathroy Methodist districts.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, June 19.—A despatch from The Hague says Queen Wilhelmina of Holland was slightly injured today at Chamonix, France, at the foot of Mont Blanc, when her automobile slipped on a glacier.

The despatch, apparently based on news from the queen's household, said three fingers on her right hand were bruised, but "her condition causes no alarm."

She had gone to the foot of a glacier in an automobile and was alighting when her car slipped backward on the ice and ran into a ditch.

BLAME FOR COLLISION UNPLACED

Definite Charge That Passengers Disconnected Trolley Cannot Be Made.

WITNESSES SUMMONED

Red Light Rule Dates Back To Springbank Crash of 1908.

Blame for the midnight trolley crash on the L. S. R. Springbank line on Wednesday has not yet been placed. Investigations continue. The street railway company is conducting a careful probe, but at noon today General-Manager Leonard Tait had no statement regarding the progress in the inquiry. On Tuesday night a coroner's jury will continue the inquest into the death of Inspector Charles Hoskins, who was killed in the collision. Witnesses are now being served with summonses.

As the trolley pole of car No. 202 pulled from the power wire by passengers? That is the chief question of all inquiry. Greatest difficulty is being encountered in settling the cause of the disconnected pole. The street railway company can advance no reason why the trolley should have left the wire of its own volition.

When the pole became separated from the wire the car was plunged into darkness and it came to a stop just around the curve at Riverview. A second car, No. 205, speeding towards the city, crashed into No. 202 before the darkened car was noticed. The death and over a score of injuries were caused.

Cannot Lay Charge. Every effort is being made to discover the true cause of the accident. It is unlikely, however, that the street railway company will be able to lay a charge at the end of its inquiry. Popular reports place credence in the supposed act of passengers at the rear of the car in pulling the trolley pole from the power wire. Whether or not this can be proven remains to be seen.

Speed of the two cars on the night of the accident which may be proven to have contributed to the crash has not yet been definitely ascertained.

"We do not completed our inquiry," stated General Manager Tait, of the street railway company. "We have more investigating to do, and will have a statement until this is concluded."

A jury has been chosen for the coroner's inquest next Tuesday night, when the death of Charles Hoskins will be inquired further.

The funeral of Hoskins will be held tomorrow afternoon from his home, 238 High street, at 2:30 o'clock. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, Mrs. C. P. Snell, London, and Mrs. Roy E. Bower, Detroit, Mich., and two sons, of whom is Dr. C. L. Hoskins of this city, with a young boy living at home.

Rude Notification. Mrs. Hoskins is suffering greatly from shock. She was notified at an early hour yesterday morning when a stranger, morbidly curious, telephoned the Hoskins' house and rudely asked: "Are you the survivor of the man who was killed at Springbank?"

Mrs. Hoskins collapsed and has not fully recovered from the shock yet.

Mrs. Bower, a daughter, is in Victoria hospital as a result of another accident last night. She had come to London upon the death of her father, and was only in the city a few hours when she became a victim of a motor crash, the amputation of part of one of her hands resulting.

Alden Painter, motorman of the death car, is still at Victoria hospital, where his condition was this afternoon reported to be slightly improved. Other victims who received treatment at the hospital after the accident were removed to their homes yesterday and are reported to be on the road to recovery.

Liability for doctors' bills and damaged clothing has been assumed by agents of the street railway company, and claims amounting to some hundreds of dollars have been entered. Since the Springbank trolley smash during Old Boys' week of 1908, the street railway has been required to carry red oil lamps at the rear of cars. This procedure, it is understood, was not followed by cars which figured in the fatal crash two nights ago.

DARING EXPLORER BACK AFTER ESCAPE IN PLANE FROM CLUTCHES OF ICE

Shortage of Gasoline Forces Fliers To Seek Refuge in Open Water When Still Many Miles From North Pole—Ice Quickly Forms, Holding Planes Fast For Many Days—Axes Used To Release One Machine.

FLIGHT OVER POLE PROVES TOO RISKY

Through its membership in the North American Newspaper Alliance, The Advertiser is able to give its readers the following exclusive account of Amundsen's daring flight towards the Pole, his escape from the ice and his thrilling flight home. It is Amundsen's own story and the only authentic report of his adventure.

By Radio from the Steamer Helmaid.

Oso, June 18.—Captain Roald Amundsen and his party of Polar explorers, including Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, an Ohio aviator, are safe at Kings Bay.

The explorer and his party returned to their hopping-off place just 28 days after they poked the noses of their planes towards the North Pole.

Kings Bay, the point mentioned in the news despatch, is north of Spitzbergen, the northernmost group of islands from which departure for the Pole could be made.

Gone 28 Days

It was 28 days ago, on the afternoon of Thursday, May 21, that the Amundsen-Ellsworth aeroplane expedition of two machines hopped off from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, for its attempted flight to the North Pole.

The venture was one of extreme hazard.

With Amundsen, as observer in the second aeroplane, was Lincoln Ellsworth, aviator, engineer and explorer. The expedition carried four men, two in each of the planes. They were: Amundsen, Ellsworth, expert airman, Lief Dietrichsen, an aeroplane pilot; Oskar Omdal, mechanic, and Carl Feuchtmeyer, Friedrichshafen, Germany, mechanic.

"Arrived Kings Bay all right this morning 1 o'clock," signed Amundsen, Dietrichsen, Ellsworth, Feuchtmeyer, Omdal.

With this message, the suspense of the world, which waited for news, was broken.

Tells Own Story.

The message, in part, continued: "Our plans left Kings Bay at 5 p.m., May 21, with load approximating three tons by way of Amsterdam Island. At Sydzad, we encountered ice, above which we rose to a height of 3,100 feet in order to navigate. During the next two hours the planes flew like bullets through the fog, which lasted until 8 p.m."

"During the following days we studied the drift conditions and observed the magnetic variation and also the meteorological situation. While flying northward we had observed an area of about 100,000 square kilometers, reaching to about 88.30 north without any indication of land considering the depth disclosed by our soundings. We, therefore, thought it most improbable that we would find any land further north on this side of the pole.

"After 8 p.m. and for the remainder of the journey the conditions of the visibility were excellent. An observation showed that we were too far to the west, probably due to north-east winds above the fog, which prevented us from positively observing the deviation. We laid our course further east until 1 o'clock in the morning of May 22, when half our gasoline was exhausted and it became necessary to attempt a descent in order to secure definite bearings with a view to returning further movements. We were then above a large ice lane, the first of this size which we had encountered. We then flew lower and observed the surrounding ice to discover whether there was block ice.

No Landing Places.

Not once during the trip had we seen a suitable landing-place among the jagged ice of the polar cap. Neither was there one here. So we descended to the water in the broad ice lane.

Our fears regarding the descent were not groundless, it proved. Immediately after landing on the water the N25 became locked between two masses of ice while we were trying to get our aeroplanes clear. In a short time the whole ice-lane froze tight, gripping the N24 also.

Observations during the night disclosed our position as 87 degrees and 44 minutes north latitude and 10 degrees and 20 minutes west longitude. So that the distance covered in our eight hours' flight was exactly 1,000 kilometers, as our average speed was 150 kilometers per hour. This meant that a head wind had put us back 200 kilometers. We took two soundings at our landing-place and found a depth of 3,750 meters.

Not Worth Chance.

Moreover, there were no grounds for assuming that ice conditions further north would be such as to permit of a successful landing. A landing at the actual pole, with opportunity for observation, would have been impossible. We believed that merely flying over the pole without making these accurate observations would have been feasible under the conditions we observed, although without real significance, and therefore not worth taking a great risk to accomplish.

We agreed finally that instead of continuing further north, we would daring explorer, who returned to civilization yesterday after a daring but fruitless attempt to reach the North Pole by aeroplane. He spent many days imprisoned in ice.

lay a return course by a route further east, in order to cross hither to undiscovered tracts. With the planes ice-locked, apparently our greatest difficulty was to get them out of the air again.

The situation was obviously critical, and with a view to lasting as long as possible, we reduced our daily rations after the first day to 200 grammes per head. This was less than a pound per day per man, and meant stretching our food supply over twice the period originally planned.

Many Difficulties.

In order to get one plane clear, we concentrated our energies on the N25, and for the following 24 days we underwent all sorts of difficulties caused by the vagaries of the fickle Arctic ocean.

The N25 being freed after the greatest exertions, we examined the plane. Though showing signs of strain, it was judged practically undamaged out of the pack ice to a starting place, which we had leveled, some distance away. Our many trials and tribulations in this period of tremendous effort will be told in subsequent articles.

On the 14th of June, cracks suddenly opened in the ice under our feet, threatening to remove a third of the work which we had done in leveling a starting place along the frozen surface.

In view of this serious possibility, we decided on the morning of the 15th to make starting trials with a greatly reduced load without waiting to further lighten the cleared area.

We discarded nearly all our equipment, keeping only a minimum of food stores, and the smallest possible quantity of gasoline to proceed southward to our base. The start was successful.

Our course was set for Spitzbergen at 10:40 a.m. After an exciting flight, partly through fog, we reached North Cape, the northern point of northeast land, a large island forming the northeastern part of Spitzbergen. Our flight to this port required 8 hours and 35 minutes.

We landed on a small island, for the continuation of our flight with our remaining 120 litres (30 gallons) of gasoline. This was only enough to take us to some spot westward, where we would be within range of the steamer Hobbys's patrol area.

Continual Observations.

During our return trip we continued carefully to make similar observations to those which we had made on the way north, but as the course could be determined only by our observations, we estimated that we observed not more than 60,000 square kilometres along our return route. Thus, up and back, the expedition had covered a distance of about 120,000 square kilometres of hitherto unexplored area. Immediately after our landing at North Cape we sighted the Norwegian sealer Sjoeilv from Baastford passing far to the westward, and went out to it.

On board the ship, and our plane was taken in tow, and toward night the wind freshened to a gale, and we were compelled to make for shelter on the west side of Lady Franklin Bay, where we remained during the night.

Tie Up Planes.

As there was no improvement in the weather on June 19, we made our plane secure to the land ice on this bay, and the members of the expedition left aboard the Sjoeilv for Kings Bay, a distance of about 120 miles by sea.

Our plan was to reach our base at Kings Bay as soon as possible, get gasoline and send back that the plane could be flown overland to the base. We arrived in Kings Bay at 1 o'clock in the morning of June 18.

During our flights both up and back, our Goerke solar compasses were of essential importance and operated with entire satisfaction. This was probably the first time that solar compasses have been used in the Arctic, and certainly the first time they have been used for aerial navigation in this part of the world.

No other type of aeroplane could have withstood the strain which our Dornier-Wals met successfully. The peculiar construction, unlike any other type, fitted them particularly for our requirements.

The engines always started instantaneously, particularly at times when immediate action was necessary to save the aeroplane under threat of danger from pack ice.

COUNTY ROADS WIDENED TO PROTECT MOTORISTS

County Engineer Charles Talbot is doing everything possible to safeguard motorists and others using the county roads. County highways are being widened this year, and the grades improved.

Special attention has been paid to the Sarnia gravel road, where county employees have just completed the spreading of 550 cords of gravel.

Interviewed today Mr. Talbot declared that graveling operations were farther advanced than they were this time last year, owing to extremely favorable weather conditions. Much of the graveling was being put to the widening of the roads, so that there would be less danger of collision to passing motor cars.

QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA. CHAPTER 7. OLD AGE.

One of the saddest things in life is the growing old of a woman, the man, who will not give up, who will hang on to the pleasures, excitements that are out of season for them. They paint, dye, wig, false teeth, set up a brave but agonizing and often unlovely fight, vying with those whose springtime it is.

There is tremendous wisdom and even elegance, also something of peace in giving up in time before our time, in taking the back seat before we are invited to do so. Once more I quote Nietzsche: "I have given up a happy memory of what was yesterday, whilst today we have moved on just a little further, where tomorrow they will be."

Better Sit and Look On.

Yes, better sit and look on, saying: "I would if I would," rather than do others to show you that you "can't." Do not stretch out your hand for the fruit which is no more for you, when you see the prize, the pleasure, passing by for another, remember that you have had your day and that jealousy can sour even a happy remembrance.

Do not imagine that I am preaching, but I am on the further down-hill slope. I have been here, and I do not say that I could not still have a few more days. But never for anything in the world would I stretch out my hand to grasp what might be meant for another.

When still even today a lovely, great big, shiny fruit is dropping, I love its touch, but for all that I do not bite into it. I say thank you, and I smile—but do not take—I do not taste—what is mine is mine, and I am not at all, I am at peace.

There is nothing ugly about a woman already far beyond youth so long as she is not making terrible efforts for youth.

CONSTRUCTION WORK EMPLOYS MOST MEN

Over 2,000 Have Been Hired Through Employment Office This Year.

Employment conditions in London, while better at the present time than at any other period of the year, are not as good as in 1924. J. C. Spencer, of the government employment bureau, stated today.

There are 235 men and 73 women on local employment lists, while last year showed but 192 men and 60 women out of work. This conditions has been brought about by the dearth of building and general construction work.

Employment figures given out by Mr. Spencer covering the first six months of the year are: Men's department: Applications, 2,557; placements, 1,539. Women's department: Applications, 264; placements, 153.

Women's department: Applications, 823 and placements 455. Some 220 women were given positions as domestics, 24 went to manufacturing plants, while 212 received casual employment.

HIGHWAY BOOSTERS WILL MEET IN LONDON

Invitations to Conference Here Next Week Sent Out by C. of C. Officials.

Invitations went out today from the London Chamber of Commerce office for a meeting to be held in London next Friday of the Windsor-Niagara Falls Highway Tourists' Association. Delegates are expected from practically every city and town of any size along the highway.

J. D. Isaacs, vice-president, has had designs prepared for a handsome billboard fifty feet long by twenty feet high, which it is hoped to place at various strategic points all along the highway, indicating to tourists the advantage of keeping to the Windsor-Niagara route while passing through Ontario. The design will be presented for approval at the meeting on Friday next. Dr. J. M. Rogers and Ernest Wilson of Ingersoll, both earnest advocates of stimulation of tourist trade, were in the city today in connection with Ingersoll's share in putting the highway on the map.

MOTORIST DENIES DRUNK CHARGE, DECISION HELD

High Constable Wharton Testifies Against Joe Grinstead in St. Thomas.

Magistrate Maxwell, St. Thomas, reserved judgment at Springfield yesterday afternoon in the case against Joe Grinstead, charged by High Constable Wharton of Middlesex with driving a car while intoxicated.

High Constable Wharton, who is also an Elgin county constable, gave evidence as to Grinstead's condition, while the accused produced a number of witnesses who swore that he was sober.

The case was prosecuted by Crown Attorney Angus McCrimmon, of St. Thomas, while the prisoner was defended by Harold Barnum, K.C., of Almyer.

The culling of poultry will be culled at a cost of 2 1/2 cents for each bird."

PRESBYTERIAN USE "ROUND-ROBIN" WILL DECIDE OPENING OF THAMES POOL

Results of Questionnaire Sent Among Councillors Expected Tonight.

P. U. C. TO MEET

Let City Assume All Responsibility, Mayor's Stand—McKay Against It.

Opening of Thames park swimming pool tomorrow morning hinges on the success of a "round-robin" which is being circulated amongst members of the council this afternoon. An answer is expected tonight, and the verdict of the council will be handed to the public utilities commission.

Ald. F. B. Kibbourne, Ald. Edwin Smith, Ald. Paul Dolg, Ald. John Ashton and the mayor are in favor of opening the pool, with patrons personally assuming any risk from the use of the pool, no serious disease outbreak, and with cleaner water in the pool than in some parts of the river.

It is claimed that the city permit the public utilities commission to open the swimming pool, asking patrons of the waters therein to assume liability for any disease incurred. As there has never been any disease claims, no serious trouble is expected this year.

Stand of Mayor.

Plans of the mayor are to secure an immediate vote of the council in favor of the city assuming the responsibility of any claims which may arise from the operation of the pool. He points out that the city has progressed well in past years, with no claims arising from the operation of the pool, no serious disease outbreak, and with cleaner water in the pool than in some parts of the river.

Ald. Paul Dolg: "Go ahead and open it. As far as I'm concerned, the proposal looks all right. Of course, I'd like to know something of what the Elmwood council has to say. From the past, this shouldn't stand in the way."

Ald. John Ashton: "The claims argument doesn't hold up the pool opening. I'm satisfied and not afraid of any claims against the city. I don't think the council would have a special meeting to decide this. We can surely agree on this thing among ourselves."

Whole Family Behind Bars

There is one happy family behind bars and the members don't seem to mind the chilled steel that shuts them off from the outer world. The younger members of the tribe have to be fed however and both the mother and father escape from behind the grating and earn a living for the hungry babes.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow are living on city property and haven't any taxes to pay. A cosy home made of wisp of straw from the market is concealed beneath the iron grating protecting a cellar window of the market house. Market gardeners are quite interested in the family and make sure every day that they have enough to eat.

Speeders Given Week To Obtain Fine Money

County Court Allows Men Respite To Gather Enough Funds.

Two speeders learned this morning at the court house that the way to the transgressor is hard. Billed to appear before Magistrate Hawkshaw for whizzing along country roads for more than 25 miles an hour, they turned up in court with worried looks on their faces.

High Constable Wharton gave evidence as to the dust they were kicking up, and the two men pleaded guilty, stating that they had no money to pay their fines. The magistrate, feeling that it would be hardship to send them to jail, allowed them a week to produce the $10 and costs necessary to soothe the injured feelings of the government.

that they rely upon themselves to get on in working for Him. Dr. Meyer provided an interesting little sidelight upon the lives of the noted clergymen, which are widely read in this and other countries, when he outlined briefly the method he followed in combining his preaching and writing.

Tells Methods.

"I usually preach a gospel sermon in the morning," said Dr. Meyer, "but in the evening I take up some biography of the Bible. On Saturday I read all the books in my library on the subject which I have chosen. I then write my introduction, and sometimes spend half a day or so filling up a large waste paper basket with my attempts. And then, of course, I don't read the introduction, but I let the Spirit move within me in delivering my message. On Mondays I sit down and write the biography combining and Sunday sermon."

It is interesting to note that Rev. W. C. Poole, D.D., who visited London a few months ago as president of the world Sunday schools association and delivered a splendid address in St. Andrew's church, is now in complete charge of the work during Dr. Meyer's absence.

Dr. Bowley Green, D.D., Talbot street Baptist church, and Dr. Egerton, of the Baptist ministers' and deacons' association, under whose auspices Dr. Meyer is visiting the city today, acted as chairmen of the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this morning. Following the meeting, Dr. Meyer was the guest of the association at an informal luncheon at Smallman & Ingram's.

Dr. Meyer addressed a public meeting in Talbot street church this afternoon. His subject this evening, in the same edifice, will be, by request, "How Christ Makes Apostles Out of Fishermen."

SAYS LAND PURCHASE FOR BEACH NOT NEEDED

City Owns Property If Change Decided, E. V. Buchanan Declares.

Preparations are in progress for the opening of the municipal swimming camp at Birkett's on the south branch of the Thames following yesterday's meeting of the public utilities commission, which authorized such action.

The commissioners discussed the possibility of moving the swimming place to locate on further east above the present sewage disposal plant, but the commission has in view the acquisition if necessary of a site on the river bank to turn into a playground and swimming pool, but General Manager Buchanan thinks this will not be necessary, as the city already owns lands in that vicinity which should be quite adequate if the proposal develops.

UTILITIES MEET

Opening of Thames park swimming pool will be put to the city council as a result of a meeting of the public utilities yesterday afternoon.

A letter was read at the meeting from Dr. McCullough of the provincial board of health to the effect that the situation in connection with the London playgrounds swimming pool had been reviewed by that body, but that the board could see no reason for changing its decision that the commission must comply with the regulations governing such pools. The provincial authorities, therefore, did not feel justified in issuing a permit, the letter stated, but it was also intimated that under existing circumstances the board would take no action against London if the pool were opened now, so long as requirements as to equipment were complied with before June 1, 1926.

The question of assuming responsibility for the opening of the pool after the provincial board had refused to issue a permit caused the commissioners much concern. The pool must of necessity be supplied with river water only and Commissioner T. W. McFarland pointed out that the situation in that respect was worse than at any time since the pool was opened as the lack of rain this spring and summer has left the river in a deplorable condition.

Pocock Makes Motion.

On motion of Commissioner Pocock it was decided to pass the correspondence on to the city council with the information that the commission will open the pool subject to the conditions named in the letter provided that the council is willing to assume the responsibility implied in it. The commission would also like assurance by this fall at the latest that the necessary money would be forthcoming from the city coffers to pay for the installation of shower baths and other equipment required by provincial regulations.

Residents outside the city limits who use city water will continue to pay double water rates, but will only be required to pay the single service charge, the commission decided, thus settling a vexed question which has been agitating outlying residents since the inauguration of the service charge idea.

The builders' exchange will be asked to substantiate by specific instances, statements made in a letter in which the commission was asked to discontinue the competition with local electrical dealers and contractors by abolishing its hydro shop. Much of the information upon which the builders' exchange based its argument was, in the opinion of the commission, open to serious question. "This letter amounts to a charge of inefficiency and almost malpractice," Commissioner R. J. Webster averred. "I think we should ask them for specific instances of the practices they complain of, and in the report meantime ask the general manager, Mr. Buchanan, to bring a report on the situation." The suggestion was adopted.

Clubs Make Request.

Lack of funds for parks purposes will prevent the commission from complying fully with a request from the union of mothers' clubs to provide accommodation for mothers and small children at Springbank. The request met with a sympathetic reception, but all the commissioners felt could be done at present was to set aside a space for this purpose at the park and to provide police protection for any equipment which the mothers' clubs might care to install. A tent was suggested as a temporary solution of the need. Eventually it might be desirable to erect a suitable building with seats and benches and a woman attendant in charge. Such a building could be locked up at night.

Mention of Springbank brought from Commissioner McFarland the pleasing information that the park was increasing by leaps and bounds. There is a regular scramble for reservations of space for picnic parties, he reported, and spaces are now reserved for weeks ahead.

Permission Granted.

Permission was granted at the meeting to the newly united churches of the city to hold a great open air service in Victoria park next Sunday. A request from the Lions club for two extra tickets to be placed in the big military tattoo next Thursday was granted. The chairman was empowered to name two representatives to attend the meeting of the municipal electrical association at Niagara Falls next week. The commission decided to pay an account from the city amounting in all to over a thousand dollars, representing the utilities' share of the cost of lithographing debentures issued on their behalf. The cost of this work proved an eye opener to the commissioners, who, in authorizing payment of the account, stipulated that they desire to be consulted in future as to the style and cost of debentures issued on their account.

C. N. R. Employees' Picnic at Niagara Falls Will Be Held Tomorrow.

The long looked for tickets which will enable Londoners to see the new lighting effects at Niagara Falls, arrived at the local offices last night. The big C. N. R. picnic is scheduled for tomorrow, rain or shine.

This year the tickets were held up while the passenger association decided upon a rate for the employees' picnic. In the past the tickets came in plenty of time for a wide distribution before the day set for the trip. The result has been that the offices have been besieged with inquiries concerning the trip.

The tickets are now in the hands of committees made up of employees who will distribute them. They may also be purchased from E. Ruse, passenger agent, or at the station on Saturday morning.

LIONS NOMINATE 3 FOR PRESIDENT

Alex. R. Morrison Is Elected Secretary of Club by Acclamation.

Three names, H. E. Parsons, Geo. Wright and J. G. Gillanders, will be balloted upon next Tuesday for the presidency of the London Lions' club for the ensuing year. Dr. J. F. Giffen, president during the past twelve months, was urged by Mr. Parsons and Mr. Wright to continue as head of the club for another term, but he firmly declined to do so, when the nominations were made at the regular weekly luncheon at the Tecumseh house last night.

Alex. R. Morrison was elected by acclamation to the secretaryship, which office he has filled to the entire satisfaction of the club members for the past two years. Other acclamations were: Wm. H. Baines, lion tamer; B. J. Jones, assistant lion tamer; Fred Gammage, rail twister; Wm. Bishop, treasurer.

Other nominations, as brought in by the nominating committee under Wm. Young, were as follows: First vice-president, Jack Hunter, Arthur Gleason; second vice-president, Cyril Thomas, E. Hines; directors, R. F. W. Guro, J. Fraser, H. Humeston. Those who are not elected to the major offices, four men, will automatically become directors of the club, while two others will be elected by ballot from amongst the four names placed in nomination.

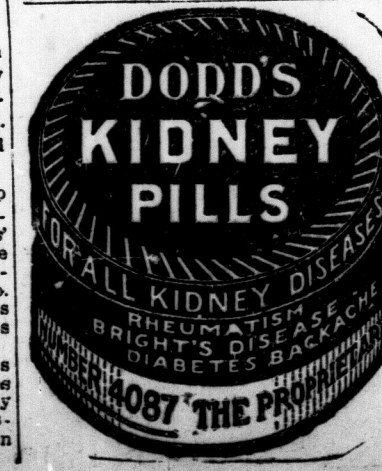

F. L. Barrett reported that the Kellogg Cornflake Company is willing to bring its baseball team and band to play an exhibition game in London on behalf of the Victoria park bandstand fund, providing the Lions' club pays the travelling expenses of the team. The offer, together with the advisability of securing a team to make it a game, was left with a committee, Mr. Barrett, H. Humeston and Jack Steel, to report at the next meeting. Some discussion took place in connection with the big military tattoo being put on by the Lions' club in Tecumseh park next Thursday night in aid of the bandstand fund. The publicity committee was named as: Blake Jones, Arthur Gleason, W. H. Baines, E. Hines, W. Young and H. Parsons. Conveners of committee for tattoo night are: Wm. Bishop, gates and tickets; Cyril Thomas, grandstand; Jack Hunter, field arrangements.

The list of Lions who will represent the local club at the annual international convention, being held in Cedar Point, near Cleveland, June 28 to July 2, inclusive, includes the following: Dr. J. F. Giffen, president; W. E. Young, secretary; B. J. Jones, H. Hines, H. E. Parsons, G. S. Geoghegan and A. R. Morrison, secretary. The majority of the Lions will be accompanied by their wives on the trip.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 18.—The stooping of a motorman to pick up a glove was held responsible today for an elevated train accident, in which 40 persons were slightly injured in the Bronx last night. Morris J. Ryan, motorman of a train that crashed into the rear of another, told District Attorney McGee that a second or two before the accident he dropped his glove and stooped to pick it up, being in a hurry to get home. Consequently, he said, he had his eyes off a train that had halted ahead of his own. He was arrested on a charge of criminal negligence.

With such rich offerings it is not surprising that the beach movies this year are creating greater interest and attracting greater crowds than in any corresponding period in the history of Port Stanley. The season has started early, but the movie followers have been taken by storm.

The management of the London & Port Stanley Railway has drawn to the attention of officials of picnics, great and small, throughout the district the unusually favorable conditions under which these outings may be reserved at the "Coney Island of Western Ontario."

Though the fact does not appear to be very well known, all of the larger picnics held at Port Stanley have for years staged their attractive features, financed the advertising and taken care of other expenses from commissions earned on the sale of tickets on the railway.

These commissions are available to every bona fide picnic organization on exactly the same conditions. There are no hold-in-the-corner negotiations. The railway is frankly out for business and is ready to give whole-hearted assistance through the L. & P. S. picnic bureau, an organization equipped with facilities to arrange sport programs, conduct special features and provide for all the multifarious details of a high-class outing. The management is at the moment engaged in the development of the program for Dominion Day, to be featured by a number of events that are certain to captivate the lovers of summer revelry.

Softball fans are looking forward with eager interest to the appearance of the Canadian National champions, the K. & S. team, which will be matched against the McCormicks of London, now rated as one of the most formidable rivals teams in the Cleveland Favorite Knits for an international playoff in Port Stanley. Report Charges MacNeil With Breach of Trust—Criticizes
Use of Funds.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 18.—A breach of trust on the part of G. C. MacNeil as an official of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance is charged in the report of the Senate committee inquiring into matters relating to the administration of the canteen and disbursement funds, which was tabled in the Senate this afternoon.
The report states that Mr. Mac-Neil received checks of $5,000 and $10,000 from the disbursement fund under an order-in-council in favor of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, of which he was secretary. Mr. Mac-Neil was also secretary-treasurer of the Dominion command of the Great War Veterans' Association. According to the report of the Senate committee he endorsed checks he received on behalf of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance, and placed the amounts to the credit of the Dominion command of the Great War Veterans' Association.

None on Relief.
The report of the Senate committee inquiring into the administration of the canteen fund, in referring to money granted to the Great War Veterans' association by the dominion government, states that "it would not appear that any portion of the said sum of $130,000 had been spent on unemployment relief for ex-service men and their dependents."
The report states that it would appear that the whole of the $130,000 was put into the Dominion command of the Great War Veterans' association general fund, and that the whole of the fund was expended between July 1, 1921, and Aug. 31, 1922.

Should Aid All.
In its findings, the committee states that the moneys of the canteen fund should only have been expended in such a way as to confer a direct benefit upon all ex-service men.
At the conclusion of its findings,
the report states: "Your committee cannot believe that in making grants of money from this (canteen) fund to ex-soldier organizations, the government intended or approved of the expenditure of such moneys to be made solely upon the organizations themselves in payment of salaries to the headquarters officers, propaganda, honoraria and other headquarter expenses. If the government did so intend, your committee are of the opinion that such grants were improperly made from this fund."
"The committee recommends that the whole of the canteen fund be disposed of in accordance with the acts now before parliament, subject to the repayment to the disbursement fund of $15,000 referred to in the committee's report on that fund."

The new executive of the London Presbyterian of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary society held its inaugural meeting yesterday in New St. James Presbyterian church, with a large attendance of members. Mrs. W. E. Kelly, the Presbyterian president, occupied the chair for the transaction of business, which included the presentation of reports on conditions in the Presbyterian. Announcement was made of the revised list of officers, in which the names of the district vice-presidents were included for the first time.

The outstanding item of business of the session was the decision to hold the first Presbyterian meeting at New St. James church next Wednesday. Plans were also made to entertain over 100 delegates, including the president and one delegate from each auxiliary and one delegate from each women's society. C. G. I. T. Kelly is to be the convener of the refreshment committee, and those appointed to arrange the program include Mrs. W. E. Kelly, Mrs. Andrew Miller, Miss F. Margaret and Miss H. During the meeting it was announced that Mrs. M. B. McEachern, formerly treasurer of the Presbyterian of the Presbyterian provincial board, and that she had succeeded by Mrs. M. S. Aikenhead as treasurer. The following names of the lately appointed district vice-presidents were announced: Mrs. M. B. McEachern, first vice-president; Mrs. G. B. McDonald, Alisa Crater; Mrs. E. Empsey, Thamesford and Kintore; Mrs. William H. Scott, Tempo; Mrs. Margaret, London; Mrs. Duncan Graham, Rodney; Miss M. McEachern, Fingal; Mrs. (Rev.) Practically all the officers of the executive were in attendance at this initial meeting, and included: Mrs. W. E. Kelly, president; Mrs. M. B. McEachern, first vice-president; Mrs. James McKay, second vice-president; Mrs. M. F. Cree, third vice-president; Mrs. J. Kelman, recording secretary; Mrs. A. S. The members were reminded by the president that the allocation of the Presbyterian W. M. S. for Ontario is $100,000, and were asked to work diligently to make up the proper quota for the London branch.

GAIETY SUPREME AT CHAPTER FETE

Overseas Members Entertain at Home of Mrs. George Wenige.

A gay scene presented itself on Erie avenue last night when the Overseas chapter, I. O. D. E. garden party was in progress at the home of the Mayor and Mrs. George Wenige. The street itself had been roped off for dancing and during the evening couples whirled about on pavement and green sward, to the strains of music supplied by the Morley orchestra.

Hundreds of roses bloomed in the garden of the mayor for the occasion. Strings of colored lights, flags, lanterns and kaly decorated booths upon the lawn lent a festive appearance to the place. During the afternoon two groups of children from Miss Edith Wynne-Price's classes danced upon the green, and tea was served from rose-decked tables placed under the trees. For the evening's program a stage had been erected on the lawn and the following attractive numbers were given: Songs by Miss Carrie Fitchett, dances by Miss Isabel Brooks, readings by Bernice Follick, and songs by Kathleen Armstrong, Mrs. Albert Hayman and Mrs. R. J. McKay were the general conveners. The home cooking booth was in charge of Mrs. Lea and Mrs. George Fitchett; the candy booth, Mrs. Kenner and Mrs. Cress; the flower booth, Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Cops; the tea tables, Mrs. Robert Heard and Mrs. A. H. Clinger, regent of the chapter, and the ice cream, Mrs. Yorlick and Mrs. Davey.

CAMLACHIE RESIDENTS MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. George Scott at Home to Many Friends This Week.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Scott of Egremont road, near Camlachie, Ont., was the scene of an interesting event this week, when they were at home to over a hundred relatives and neighbors on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

Fifty years ago, on June 17, 1873, they were married. Mrs. Scott was formerly Miss Annie McKinley, and the wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Arzyle, Aberarder. Rev. James B. Duncan officiated, and the attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. J. M. McKenzie, now of Forest, who was present yesterday, and Adam Armstrong, deceased.

Two of their first neighbors, Robert and John Jardine, were among those present at this week's gathering, and also Mr. Scott's sister, Mrs. William Simpson, who is 89 years of age. Katherine and John are deceased.

The house was decorated with many early summer flowers. The program of the evening was appropriate and interesting, and included speeches, readings and music. Much of the event was held out-of-doors, however, the guests went into the house later in the evening, where a dainty buffet supper was served. Guests were present from Detroit, Corral, Mich., and Petrolia.

PRESBYTERIANS WILL HOLD RALLY

Dr. Nelson Banks and Rev. James McKay To Address Gathering.

One of the most outstanding early events in the history of the Continuing Presbyterian church, which is being born in Canada, will be the rally on Saturday, June 27, at which the majority of members of congregations in the London Presbyterian will be present. The rally is taking place at Springfield and it is expected that there will be at least 2,500 people in attendance. Already over 50 invitations have been extended by the general convener, Mrs. T. Carnie, to over 50 churches in the Presbyterian, and, besides these, word has come that there will be representatives at the rally from Brantford, Tillsonburg and many other churches in the various other presbyteries of Ontario.

The day will be featured with speeches. Dr. Nelson Banks, of Hamilton, is coming to address the gathering, and Rev. James McKay of this city will also be a speaker. Brief impromptu speeches will also be given by others present from out of town.

Souvenir badges, which are being sold throughout the presbyterial, will be tokens of this memorable event. In connection with the rally, which is also taking the form of a picnic, there will be a short program of sports carried out.

At a meeting of the central committee held last night in the Elmwood avenue Presbyterian church, plans for this rally were further discussed. In charge of the arrangements are the following who are assisting Mrs. Carnie: Mrs. Stanley Groves, and Mr. Weir, St. George's church; Mrs. John Kelman and H. Brown, Chalmers; Mrs. M. Aikenhead and Russell Wood, New St. James; Mrs. John Lindsay and C. Pirie, Hamilton road; Mrs. E. Foodwin and O. H. Gidley, Elmwood avenue; and Miss Decker, Miss Scoles and C. The Modern Mother Needs a Sense of Proportion, a Sense of Humor and a Sense of Responsibility.

A woman asks: "What qualities should the ideal mother possess?"

To begin with, a mother should have love, and tenderness, and sympathy, and be willing to sacrifice herself for her children. These are the stock virtues of motherhood, and virtually all mothers possess them.

But they alone do not make a woman a good mother. Often they do as much harm as good, for you can ruin a child by blind devotion. You can enslave it by too much tenderness. You can make it a selfish egotist and an overbearing brute by making yourself a doormat for it to walk over.

So to love, tenderness, sympathy and unselfishness, a mother must add other qualities.

Not many mothers have this vision; or, rather they shut their eyes and refuse to see that the molding of their children's characters, the settling of their destinies, is in their own hands.

They let a high-tempered child grow up undisciplined and without teaching it any self-control. They let a slothful lazy one grow up without forming habits of industry. They never teach a self-indulgent, greedy child to curb its appetite. They spoil and pamper their children, and then they say that they "hope" their children will turn out all right!

The ideal mother knows that in forming children's character, she does not trust to luck with her youngsters. She begins when they are babies to teach them self-control, and thrift, and industry, and all the principles of right living.

The ideal mother must have a backbone. Unfortunately, most mothers permit their hearts to crowd out their spinal column until they have no more backbone than a fishing worm. This is why you hear women say despairingly that they can't do a thing with their 10-year-old children.

It takes nerve, and grit, and determination, and courage to fight self-willed youngsters, and mother is too soft to do it. So she gives in rather than to listen to her baby's howls of rage or go through the struggle of conquering a disobedient child. And the inevitable result is that her children have a contempt for her as a weakling, and ride roughshod over her and become the out-breaking young hoodlums who fill our jails and brothels.

The ideal mother is a human being. She doesn't pose before her children as a plaster saint or an oracle on a pedestal. One of the reasons why children do not confide in their parents is because the average father and mother pretend that they were such models of all the virtues when they were young that their children feel that they have nothing in common with them and that they wouldn't understand how a boy or girl feels who wants to do all sorts of foolish things.

How can a girl tell her mother that a boy kissed her if mother represents herself as Miss Prunes and Prisms, and says that when she was young girls never skydive, and never went on joy-rides or to cabarets, or held hands in the movies, but spent a pleasant evening sitting up in the parlor in the presence of their elders discussing improving topics?

It is the human mothers who can sympathize with their children's desire for good times and help them to them; who will stretch a point to get a girl a new frock or a boy the fraternity pin he craves who get well enough acquainted with their children to really help them and guard them.

The ideal mother has a sense of proportion. She doesn't see her ducklings as swans. Her love doesn't blind her to her children's faults and blemishes. Rather it sharpens her vision, so that she gets a line on them as they really are. Thereby she is enabled to help them make the most of such gifts as they have.

She sees that Tom is brilliant but unstable and lacking in purpose, and she holds him to whatever he undertakes to do until she forms the habit of steadfastness in him. She sees that John is dull but a plodder, and she trains him for some occupation in which quickness of mind is not demanded and in which the prizes go to faithfulness and hard work. She sees that Mary is intelligent but homesy, and lacking the charms that allure men, so she gives her some occupation by which she can make

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

WOMEN and THE HOME

BEAUTIFUL LONDON GARDEN ENTERTAINS CANADIAN CLUB

Many Attend Final Gathering of Season at Mrs. Morgan's Home.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN

The perfume of full blown roses borne on the air, the splash of a fountain at play, strains of music, the voices of many people happy together, the movement of brightly-colored dresses across green lawns, and tinkling laughter. All these greeted the late arrivals at the women's Canadian club garden party held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Morgan, Wellington street north.

Mrs. Morgan made a charming hostess as she greeted her guests, wearing a gown of navy blue and white. Mrs. John Stevely, new president of the club, acted in that official capacity for the first time, as she received with Mrs. Morgan, wearing a black satin costume trimmed with black fox and a large black hat. Sitting at the receipt of customs and enrolling new members were Mrs. C. B. King, Mrs. T. C. Benson and Mrs. A. T. Edwards.

Sunken Gardens. The guests were privileged to wander back into the lovely sunken gardens which extend almost an entire block beyond the residence. Here, as they moved from hedge to hedge, of flowering plants and shrubbery, they found an entrancing lily pond, stone steps and terraces, and at last a garden house, from which ice cream and cake were served, under the direction of Mrs. Harry White. Garden heliotrope and Iceland poppies in a bowl centered the table, at which Mrs. Wm. Beattie, Mrs. R. P. Pearce and Mrs. Arthur Greenslade presided. A stroll still further back into the lower gardens discovered the rose garden, with its lavish bloom and beautiful shrubbery. Perennial beds in all their soft colorings, were beginning to show bloom, and added to the beauty of the place.

During the afternoon a delightful program was given from the balcony, while the guests sat in chairs placed below or stood listening near by. Miss Topley Thomas, in an exquisite gown of old rose and lace, and wearing a chiffon scarf of old blue, read delightfully from Lloyd Roberts, son of Charles G. D. Roberts, her selection being "Uncle Bliss." She read, too, from the lovely poems of Francis Beatrice Taylor, choosing "A Certain Rich Man, Outcast, May Day and Wayfaring Fools, from White Winds of Dawn."

The program also included enjoyable vocal numbers by Miss Gertrude Morgan, daughter of the hostess, and by Miss Helen Hughes, the former wearing a becoming yellow gown, while the latter wore a frock of shell-pink georgette.

Among Those Present.

Why Call "Order" On This?

Some members of the house of commons have the habit of calling out "Order" when they think a question is being approached that has no special bearing on the discussion. Hon. Edmund Bristol, Conservative member of Center Toronto, had one of those "Order" charges directed at him when he drew attention to a Washington despatch showing that Canada was being charged by a United States politician with seeking to stir up border states to block Chicago's chances of keeping on taking water from the great lakes.

The despatch is so interesting that we reproduce it here:

Washington, June 14.—Charges that the Canadian government is stirring up the states bordering on the great lakes to make a fight against the diversion of water from lake Michigan into the Illinois river at Chicago are being made by Congress Representative William E. Hull of the Peoria, Illinois, district. The Peoria representative is at present making a "protest tour" of the middle west states, and the charges against the dominion government are made in addresses before chambers of commerce and other commercial bodies.

Mr. Hull declares the Canadian authorities are "greedy for water power" and that it is their fight to prevent diversion of the present flow of water from lake Michigan at Chicago succeeds, the United States project for an inland waterway between lake Michigan and the gulf of Mexico will be ruined.

It is hard to see any good reason why a representative of a riding in Canada, sitting in the Canadian parliament, should want to call out "Order" when this matter was brought to the attention of the commons.

It was a bold, astounding statement that he brought to light, because Chicago's claim to justify her draining water from the great lakes has been based on the plea that it was a necessary sanitary work, and that in no other way could the health of that community be protected from disease. Even on those grounds, the most favorable on which Chicago could have staked her claim, she has been defeated in the courts of her own country, right on up to the supreme division.

Now that an elected representative of the people of a United States district has made the shameful admission that the real design is the construction of a new waterway that will drain the great lakes south through the valley of the Mississippi to the gulf of Mexico, the whole business drops from a plea of the health of the people of Chicago to that of a flagrant breach of international good faith. It means that a movement is on foot, definite in purpose, well-charted in advance, to make the waters of the great lakes run south to the gulf of Mexico rather than in their natural course via the St. Lawrence. There is also in the movement the studied intention to make the water diversion permanent and more aggravated than it is at present.

It is a matter of the very greatest importance to Canada, and it is astounding that the word "Order" should have been used by any member of the Canadian parliament when the question was called to the attention of the body entrusted with the protection of Canada's interests.

Mr. Fielding's Position.

The finest tribute that could be paid to a public man came when parliament was told that it was desirable to make provision for Hon. W. S. Fielding after he had ceased to draw his salary as a member of that body.

It means that Mr. Fielding, who for forty-four years has been in the service of his country, either as prime minister of Nova Scotia or finance minister of Canada, nears the end of the race a comparatively poor man. He has been in positions where contracts were made, large transactions settled in which tremendous amounts were involved; he has framed and remade tariffs, and never has there been even a breath of suspicion cast upon his whole-souled integrity and his passion for absolute honesty.

It may seem a strange thing to say, but Canada should be proud that it has produced many public men who found themselves comparatively poor when they came to the exit in public life.

Getting Acquainted With a Queen.

Queen Marie of Rumania has been writing a series of articles in The Advertiser. Candidly, we were the least bit curious to know what a queen would write about, whether it would be of court functions and such things, how to wear a crown, and other affairs that the rank and file know nothing about, or perhaps she would touch a human strain now and then talk about things that are as familiar as the old farm gate or the barrel-slat hammock that used to hang between two apple trees in the orchard.

One day Queen Marie did write about wearing a crown, and if our memory is correct she didn't care much for that part of being queen; the crown was more top-heavy than the floppiest picture hat ever made, and it was a pleasant moment when she took the gold crown off and put it away in the royal bandbox. There was a touch of human nature in that—people could appreciate the situation, and many a woman would like it to her own relief when she got home and took her number six feet out of a pair of four boots and let them relax and come to normal in a set of carpet slippers.

Yet the queen journalist improves, for in one of her later stories she speaks of love and marriage, so surely she's down now where we can all gather round and listen. You say, "What does a queen know about love?" Marie seems to know quite a few chapters about it, and she is old-fashioned enough to maintain that it should be the basis of marriage, and moreover that it should be backed up by the finest sort of friendship in the world because man and wife have the same home, same interests, are parents of the same children. Such a friendship, she thinks, would nip in the bud many divorce cases. Coupled with this she would have a good-sized allowance of mutual toleration and real genuine kindness and courtesy between man and wife.

All of which shows that Queen Marie, like "Sweet Marie" of whom the old popular song sang sweet praises, is very human and intensely practical. It was rather an unusual venture to have a real queen, crown and all, writing in the columns of the paper you are reading. She wasn't setting down her views on a piece of parchment to be put in pickle in the royal archives, but speaking to a very wide audience who have but a hazy conception of what a queen does, thinks about, likes or dislikes. She seems to be the sort of person who would come and sit on the porch some evening and bring her mending.

In Honor Preferring One Another.

Looking back at all the fervent activities that clustered around the birthday party of the United church in Toronto last week, one act seems to rise a little higher than the others, and that was the stand of Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown when he stepped aside and handed the moderatorship of the central body to Dr. G. C. Pidgeon. Dr. Chown had been so outstanding a figure in the Methodist church, and so great a force in organizing and directing many of its activities, that his name naturally suggested itself for the position of moderator of the United church. Had he chosen to allow his name to go before the gathering he had a numerical backing that would probably have carried him a safe distance to the most outstanding honor in the gift of the new church body.

It is well that a great gathering such as was taking place on that occasion should be stirred and thrilled by the genius of sacrifice. It is not to be wondered at that a man might prize highly, yes, even covet, the honor of being the first moderator of the general council of the United church of Canada, and Dr. Chown, as superintendent of a church that was going in as a unit and without a dissenting vote, could not have been censured had he seen in that high office the logical culmination of his life's effort.

He chose rather to break in ahead of the time for nominations and elections and make it very plain that it was his sincere desire that the honor be handed to another, Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, representing the unionist Presbyterians. Dr. Chown will not go down in history as the first moderator of the central body of the United church, but he carries with him the greater honor of having performed an act of Christian courtesy that could well be adopted as having epitomized the genius of the new church.

The Wisdom of Solomon.

The Brandon Sun quotes a fire chief who has a happy way of telling a few things to people in general as to the avoidance of fires, and he does not do so in the stereotyped fashion at all. In fact, he gives hunches, and he warns the people as follows:

A crack in your chimney is a sure sign that you are going to move.

To see a paperhanger paper over a flue hole indicates an impending loss.

It is worse luck to look in a dark closet with a lighted match than to see the new moon over your left shoulder.

When the wind moans it is extremely bad luck to burn trash near your house.

If you smell gas or gasoline and look for it with a lighted match, it is probable that you are about to start on a long journey.

If you have a pile of rubbish in your cellar. It indicates that a crowd of people are coming to your house.

A quart of gasoline will cause an automobile to move three miles. A similar amount in household cleaning may cause three auto fire trucks and an ambulance to run a similar distance.

A child who plays with matches will gain experience—if he lives.

Note and Comment.

A horse named Salmon Trout ran second at Ascot races, and those who backed him to win yelled "The poor fish!"

Kereakas Papadopoulos was taken from London by immigration officers and will go back to Greece, thus saving the census man from having an excuse to go and get drunk.

Union of Canadian Municipalities will hold their convention on board a ship going to Montreal. A splendid chance to present figures on the floating debt of the various cities.

Smith's Falls citizens are signing a petition to have the school board fire the principal of the collegiate. Principal apparently does not know what backing he has, so is resorting to Algebra where X equals the unknown quantity.

Methodist ministers—that is when there used to be such a denomination—moved every four years, and at nearly every move they went away with a purse of gold. It's a strong argument against long pastorates.

The death of Inspector Charles Hoskins of the London street railway was as tragic as it is regrettable. Inspector Hoskins was a good citizen, a fine type of family man, fair in his dealings with others, and trustworthy to the last degree.

Port Arthur boasts that a man from Chicago caught a seven-pound trout near there. Nothing to boast about, because when fish get that size they walk on crutches and are so lazy they'll grab at anything from a painted fly to a piece of fat pork on a bent pin.

The Better Way

Some folks is always chasin' round and lookin' for some place to go, I'd rather have a friend drop in and gossip for an hour or so.

There's too much rushin' round just now to suit an ancient soul like me, who likes to spend an evenin' hour just sittin' down beneath a tree.

As soon as folks quit for the day they seem to think just one thing's right, and that is tryin' to figure out the sort of things they'll do at night. Some wants to go and dance and dance and not get home till one o'clock, another's heard about a chap who has an old and flowing crock.

And someone else is out to drive and get a hundred miles away, just gettin' back before the sun starts workin' on another day. And so they go a-fyin' out a-fearin' lest their ways be tame, nor restin' of their blistered feet or puttin' sleep upon their frame. They've got to go and keep it up, a-lookin' for new things to do, they fear if they was quiet a spell they'd just go and bust in two.

When comes the evenin' hour around it seems a goodly time of day to lay aside my pick and spade and quit a-shovin' in the hay.

'Tis then I like to have a friend who saunters in to talk a spell, and figure out if things be good or if they're turnin' none too well.

It's fine to sit and talk a spell about George Wenige and his style, and wonder if he'll run again or be a-quittin' after while, and ponder on the things he does and wonder if his mind is bent, on some day tellin' to the folks as how he'll run for parliament.

Or speak a spell on politics and of the things the Tories done, and try to answer that old gag, will Ernie Dennis ever run? Then talk a while about the beer that Fergy give our folks to drink, and recollectin' how that brew will put his chances on the blink.

Much finer this than chase around a-lookin' for some place to go, when folks just saunter to your place to gossip for an hour or so.—ARK.

To the Editor

Goose and Gander.

Sarnia Writer Sees Some Fine Humor in Mr. Hoover's Plaint About Restraint of Trade By Britain.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—To find Mr. Hoover posing as a humorist is certainly a case of meeting the unexpected. None the less he has recently succeeded in adding a little to the general gaiety of the nations. Consciously or unconsciously he makes for laughter when he gravely advises the business world in general to avoid a course of action which his own people have followed for years.

To quote his own words, "There is need for some arrangement between the industries of the world to bring about an abandonment of combinations in restraint of international trade."

Now there is nothing which acts so strongly in restraint of international trade as a great combination of manufacturing interests compelling a government to erect and maintain a barrier of high tariffs.

Put on big duties in order to shut out the manufactured products of other nations and coddle up your own, and you have at once the best machinery possible at work for checking international trade.

High tariff, the maintenance of high protective duties, is the well-known policy of the United States and has the solid backing of all its great industrial interests. International trade from the U.S.A. point of view must be, and shall be, a purely one-sided affair. On the one hand, all raw products needed are to be admitted without restriction—on the other hand, all manufactured products, which can be made at home, shall be kept out by prohibitive duties.

By well-directed effort and the wise outlay of capital the British have well nigh secured a monopoly of the world's rubber supplies. It appears that they are putting up the price of that article. The British owners of rubber plantations and concessions seem to have combined to make or keep the price of raw rubber on a high level. Hence Mr. Hoover's lament, and the solemn admonition against combinations to check international trade.

It is quite distinctly humorous. Here is a prominent man of the one great nation which has combined most effectively to limit international trade to the bounds which it desires, and he is quite hurt to find others limiting supply or raising the price of something his people require.

It appears from Mr. Hoover's point of view that what is sauce for the goose should never be considered as sauce for the gander—at least not when the U.S.A. happens to be the gander, and some one else the goose.

KING GOVERNMENT WINS ON TWO VITAL MEASURES

Bill On Freight Rates Carries—Senate Approves Quebec Improvements.

PROGRESSIVES LOSE

Premier King Pleads For All Canada, Hitting Sectional Appeals.

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
Special to The Advertiser
By Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, June 18.—The government secured a double victory tonight, winning in both houses with important measures of legislation. In the Commons, where it is without a majority, its freight rates bill went through without a final vote, an amendment brought by the Progressives being turned down by a majority of 109 to 34. The upper house with its opposition majority, passed the bill providing $5,000,000 for Quebec harbor improvements by a vote of 34 to 28.

The success of the ministry in these votes is regarded as a significant addition to its record of victories in all cases where it has been challenged this session.

Premier Speaks.

The government's aims and purposes and the attitude of the parties opposing it stood out in striking contrast today in the continued discussion of the freight rates bill. Conservatives and Progressives severely assailed the legislation from the sectional viewpoint, the conflicting claims of the Maritimes, Ontario, the Middle-West and British Columbia being presented. The reply of Premier Mackenzie King appeared all the more notable by comparison with that criticism.

The prime minister presented the government's rates measure as being based on a policy of national unity. The government had sought to avoid injustice to any section of the dominion. It was not demanding a

Daughter Weds Charity Profits

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, June 18.—Announcement of a gift to charity of $250,000 was made by Lord Atholstan of Montreal, principal owner of the Montreal Star, on the occasion of the marriage this afternoon of his only child, Hon. Alice Graham. His lordship also gave the 1,000 employees of the Star double pay this week and a half-holiday today.

Miss Graham became the bride of Bernard Marsham Hall Ward, son of the late Rev. W. C. Hall Ward of Frittenden, Kent, Eng., at the church of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

sacrifice from one section more than from another. "In the interests of national unity," Mr. King declared, "in the desire to bring about a policy of equalization of rates, the government realizes that some sacrifice must be temporarily borne by each of them in order to reach the goal. We have sought to make that sacrifice as equal as we can as respects different parts of the country."

The government, said the premier, recognized the necessity of giving the railway commission a free hand in the making of rates and was doing so except insofar as the retention of the Crows Nest rates on grain and flour eastward. It had been felt that the middle west merited some special consideration, and while part of the Crows Nest schedule was being abandoned the security in regard to grain and flour was extended to an area much larger than that affected by the original agreement.

Must Carry Out Law.
It was the determination of the ministry to see that the policy of the legislation was carried out by the railway commission in the letter and spirit of it. Equalization of rates and justice to all parts of the country would be assured.

Hon. T. A. Cresser has proposed an amendment to the government's bill, providing that the railway commission be instructed that it should never fix rates west of Fort William more than 10 per cent higher than those applying in Ontario, east of Sudbury. The former Progressive leader maintained that such a provision was necessary for the protection of the West, and would give greater assurance of equalization.

Other members speaking, differed widely in their views, some wanting the entire Crows Nest agreement retained, and others urging that it should be dropped altogether.

Aces Take Lopsided 8-2 Decision From Tees-cumseh.

HITS ARE TIMELY

Jacobs, who beat the Tees their only game in Saginaw, repeated here again yesterday, the Aces taking a lopsided decision 8 to 2. Whereas the Tees last ditched Mr. Jacobs to the last ditch in Saginaw and should have beaten him behind the excellent pitching of Connie Fields, yesterday they seemed to think it was hopeless, especially after the hits of omission behind Two-Gun Pete Harris were followed by a fatal and timely Ace hit. Along seventh, when it looked as if they might get on Jacobs any time three more runs were in the bag, the Tees' break hit opening the way for real all-proofs blows to get in their deadly work.

Everything that happened behind Jacobs seemed to happen the right way for the Aces. The Tees' pitcher, who had the outfielders with their tongues out chasing hard hit liners, and yesterday the Tees had no reason to give up enough in spots, and they were getting hit here and there to encourage a start being made somewhere.

After Jacobs' fine peg out of Carlin at the plate in the first to avoid an imminent gummy start for Harris, the second when Dodson singled and stole second, Buemel branded Vermilyea's gloved hand with a hard smash, and then along came Jacobs with a triple, the ball going to the fence when Brown failed to get far enough under it, two runs scoring.

Brower, who is around on two charley horses, redeemed himself by opening with a double in the Tees' half of the game from a scoring on Sandquist's single, a fine bit of the hit and run.

The third was the Tees' undoing. Carlin and Foster singled and Harris hit Nunamaker's pitch. The Tees' choice to cross was returned high to the plate, tallying in the first run. Harris wild-pitched in the next run, and with two successive walks forced in another.

Fairgits settled down then and held the Aces hitless until the seventh. That should have been the beginning of the end, but it wasn't. Carlin's smash took a back bounce, Mike's arm and just as Mike had a double play already made on Nunamaker's second base, the ball took a crazy last and final bounce away from Baker's head. Foster scoring. Successive singles by Lissat and Buemel tallied in two more counters, and this lettered to the Tees and the Aces' final notes of the game.

Droegs Finishes. A walk to Klein, a single by Coogan, who was batting for Harris, it was thought was merely a drop-out, the game, but when Carlin dropped Baker's easy fly, a run chased across. Smiler, Droegs finished out the rest of the game, striking out three in the next two frames, and allowing two hits. He had the corners better yesterday and less ninth with a nice triple over Dodson's head, but either Carlin's bold stretch to a home, the foolish running may have looked more fool than it was, as Klein only missed out by a mere foot, and the relay's hurry the ball in at that, and in addition it took a perfect peg as well. The Ace outfielders gobbled up two hard-hit balls to end it.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

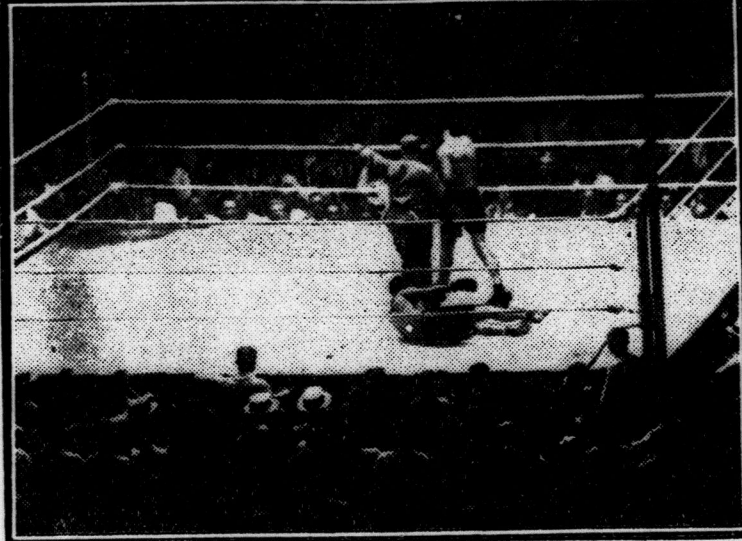

LOOSE OBJECTS
May be moved from course when they interfere with your shot.

The rule covering this point says the player may remove any loose impediment lying within a club length of the ball not in a hazard. Fixed objects cannot be touched. If the ball moves after any such loose impediment has been touched, the player shall be deemed to have caused the ball to move and the penalty shall be a stroke. Irregularities of surface, such as mole hills, hoof prints, etc., cannot be touched, nor can the ground be pressed down with the foot anywhere within a club length of the ball. Any impediment regarded as part of the upkeep of the course, such as a golf stick, guide flag, wheelbarrow or similar instrument, may be moved from the path of the ball, but the ground cannot be pressed down in any way.

The game in London is between the Garrison and Westminster Hospital at Westminster and the kick-off is at three. The game should be interesting from start to finish and whoever wins will have no walkaway.
The game at St. Thomas is between the Rovers and the United Vel'Flint Athletic group 8, and as these teams are great rivals, a real game should be seen. The kick-off is at 5:30 and Alf Allman will referee.

Supertwist
BACK OF GOOD YEAR MILEAGE
THE ever-increasing mileage which users report from all Good-year Cord Tires—balloon and other sizes—is due in large measure to the amazing qualities of the exclusive, new, Goodyear cord fabric, SUPERTWIST.
SUPERTWIST is but one more in the long line of Goodyear achievements in tire construction. It is another evidence of what world-wide buying and selling in the tire industry means—greater opportunities for tire improvements, wider experience, lower costs. The Goodyear fabric mills where SUPERTWIST was developed are made possible only by world-wide Goodyear sales.
SUPERTWIST's great virtue is its ability to outstretch other cord fabrics—to stand more punishment without breaking or weakening. Developed specially for Goodyear Balloons, it is now used in all Goodyear Cords—and only in Goodyears.
The Goodyear Selected Dealer has tires of SUPERTWIST in stock.

After spotting Marconis three runs in the first three innings at Sunshine park last night, the St. Mary's team began hitting in its half of the third and succeeded in tying it up. Then in the fourth, with the help of a few misplays, the champions chalked up four more and called it a day. The score was 7-5.

After Dick Catalano had fled out in the second, Bonk singled and went to third on Mike Sansone's double, and both scored on Roscoe Mascara's single. Marconis added another in the third, Johnnie Sansone drawing a walk, and then being given a free ride by errors.

In St. Mary's third, Howard fanned, but was safe on an error at first. Bernie Fitzmaurice single and Joe Fitzmaurice tripled to deep left to score both of them, McGuire's double then tallied Joe.

Four more came in the fourth. Howard singled and moved up on B. Fitz's single.

LONG TIME TAKEN IN SECURITY WORK

Negotiations Between Britain, France and Germany Have Been Protracted.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 19.—Publication of the exchange of proposals between Germany and the allied powers for a pact of security, has made it clear that the negotiations which have already covered more than four months without even a preliminary agreement, are likely to be greatly protracted. The German proposals were that her western frontiers be guaranteed against aggression, leaving her eastern borders open to possible revision by peaceful means. The French note giving the allied view is in effect only an invitation for Germany to elaborate proposals in greater detail.

CHILD ADOPTIONS DROP FROM 12 TO ONE A MONTH

Growing Indifference to Appeal of Homeless Puzzles W. E. Kelly.

TWO IN TWO MONTHS
Majority of Wards Make Good, Children's Aid Official Declares.

"Why has the public become indifferent to the appeal of the homeless child?" is the question propounded by W. E. Kelly of the local children's aid society, in view of the unusual situation created by the fact that there have been practically no applications for the adoption of wards of the society for the past two months.

Mr. Kelly does not attempt to answer the question, in fact, he is as puzzled as anybody to know the reason for the falling off in applications. He merely points to the facts, which are that during May only one application for a child was received by his office, and only one so far this month. This is most unusual, as the average runs from ten to twelve a month, and has on occasions gone as high as twenty.

"It would be interesting to know the real reason why people are apparently no longer anxious to give a homeless child a chance to make good in life," said Mr. Kelly. "After all it is not our appeal. It is the appeal of the children themselves, who say 'Here we are, we are healthy and strong, we have had as good a start in life as anybody, will nobody come forward and give us a chance to carry on?'"

Adoption of such children, Mr. Kelly states, proves entirely satisfactory in the majority of cases. He cited an instance of a former ward of the society who had a visit to his office this morning after an absence of twenty-seven years. This young man was adopted by a local family when he was one year of age and he stayed with them until his education was completed. He is now 28, enjoys good health and is prospering. He dropped in to see Mr. Kelly to assure him that he is still interested in the organization through which he got his chance in life.

There are a number of fine children for adoption at the shelter at the present time, including a pair of twin boys, and Mr. Kelly is hopeful of finding homes for a number of these children in the near future.

ADVERTISING CLUB PLANS NOVEL SPRINGBANK PICNIC

Members of the London Advertising and Sales club plan a new departure for their outing at Springbank next Thursday afternoon. "No lunches to pack, no ice cream cones or pop to buy; everything's furnished in abundance for a big day of relaxation and fun." That's the order from club headquarters, and it's a novel one. Advertising men bring their wives and children and forget the bother of lunch packing, a committee looks after the Motor cars will convey the picnicers from Queen's avenue to the park. Messrs. Harry McCallum, George Dingman and "Clarry" James form the picnic committee this year.

LIEUT.-COL. L. G. AMERY, colonial secretary, has started a system of holding weekly conversations with the high commissioners of the dominions.

LONDON LABOR PLANS TAG DAY FOR STRIKERS

Funds To Aid Miners Will Be Sought in Drive Next Saturday.

A tag day in aid of the striking Nova Scotia miners and their families will be held in London a week from tomorrow under the joint auspices of the trades and labor council and the women's labor party. J. F. Thompson, secretary of the council, announced this morning that permission for the drive had been obtained from the mayor and the chief of police. Mrs. Floyd Wells, president of the women's party here, and R. H. Hessel of the trades council, will meet tomorrow to design the tags and to organize the drive.

Plans for London unions to relieve the distress among the 65,000 affected by the strike were laid on Wednesday night after W. Hayes, miners' executive, had told a graphic story of conditions in the Maritimes. Women's party members also heard the address and a committee was immediately formed to co-operate with the council. The committee is composed of Mrs. Floyd Wells, chairman, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. Ager, and Mrs. A. Small.

A eulchre has already been arranged for next Tuesday night in the east end town hall, the proceeds of which will go into the general relief fund. A special relief dance is also planned for the women's party picnic to be held at Springbank on July 7.

FINDS POPPY DAY IS COMMERCIALIZED

Special Committee Appointed by Senate Condemns Exclusive Sale.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, June 18.—The special committee appointed by the senate to investigate the administration of the canteen fund and the disablement fund finds in a report presented in the upper house that the sale of poppies on Armistice Day has been commercialized and that in 1922, 1923 and 1924 the dominion command, Great War Veterans' Association, profited by its transaction in the purchase and sale of poppies in the sum of $25,148.15.

The report outlines procedure in the purchase of poppies from the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment and their sale. It says that in a statement of receipts and expenditures submitted to the committee by the dominion command of the Great War Veterans' Association its operations in the sale of poppies for the three years, 1922, 1923, 1924, total sales, $105,679.56; cost, $80,366.36; gross profits, $25,313.20; administration expenses, $15,850.48; net profits, $9,462.72.

The committee recommends that: 1.—No exclusive privilege for the sale of poppies manufactured under the auspices of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment be permitted, but that all such poppies be made available at prices and upon terms equal to all.

2.—Care must be taken in the disposal of these poppies to see that no middleman's profits accrue.

3.—That the commercialization of the sale of the poppies be eliminated, and to that end the provincial units of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment be utilized for the distribution of poppies within the several provinces.

Arrested For Carrying Drugs

A very every-day appearing young lady was picked up by a patrolman this morning and charged with carrying drugs. An investigation proved, however, that they were headache powders, used to give temporary relief from headaches. Had the young lady gone to F. Steele, Optometrist, and had her eyes examined and the proper glasses supplied, she would have had permanent relief. F. Steele always guarantees satisfaction when he supplies a pair of glasses. Call at his office, opposite Loew's Theatre for free examination.—Adv.

GARDEN PICNIC IS HELD BY RYERSON

Mothers' Club Spends Merry Afternoon at Mrs. Peters' Home.

One of the happiest afternoons ever experienced by the members of the Ryerson School Mothers' club was yesterday afternoon, the occasion of the garden picnic at the home of Mrs. George Peters, Sherwood avenue. The mothers were present in large numbers, and entered into the sports of the afternoon with enthusiastic interest. Not a smile but showed itself some time during the events, for there's nothing funnier than a mother making a 50-yards dash in 1925 skirts than a dozen such mothers racing against each other.

Mrs. Arthur Kennedy, retiring president of the club, received the guests, assisted by her executive. Tea tables were placed attractively out under the trees in the garden, Mrs. W. A. Tanner presiding over the tea.

A fine program of sports, conducted under the convenship of Mrs. Frank L. Jones, resulted as follows: Paper race, Mrs. Endall; clothes-peg

In Canada's Parliament

TODAY.
Ottawa, June 19.—The senate will again consider the bill to provide reimbursement for the Home bank depositors.

In the house of commons a resolution preceding a bill to give effect to a trade agreement between Canada and Australia will be brought down. Amendments to the dominion elections act and a bill to amend the dominion temperance act probably will have precedence.

YESTERDAY.
The senate, on a division of 34 to 26, gave second reading to the bill to provide for a further advancement of $5,000,000 to the Quebec harbor commission.

In the house of commons, third reading was given the government bill referring the freight rate question to the railway commission. In the committee amendments to clauses moved by T. A. Crerar and Robert Forke were lost on division. The Sunnybrae-Guyborough branch line bill of the Canadian National Railways was given third reading. Estimates totalling $6,497,628 were adopted in committee of supply.

For this purpose there is no other remedy to equal

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

Mrs. L. G. Nethercott, R. R. No. 1, Crinan, Ont., writes: "I was awfully troubled with constipation, and sick and bilious headaches, accompanied with severe vomiting spells, which made me very miserable. I tried different remedies, without relief, but since taking Laxa-Liver Pills the headache and constipation have disappeared, and I am very thankful for what they have done for me."

Man Uses Gun To Force Way Into United States, Is Shot In Running Fight

James Morris Felled in Battle of Three Blocks at Detroit.

GETS TWO BULLETS

Draws Revolver When Questioned by Immigration Officials.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, June 18.—After a running gun battle of three blocks today, a man who tried to force his way into this country by intimidating immigration officers, with a pistol at the foot of Woodward avenue, was brought down, with two bullets at Jefferson avenue and Bates street.
The man was taken to the receiving hospital in a serious condition.
He gave his name as James Morris,
but refused to divulge his address.
Morris was questioned, along with other passengers, by Alfred Hayden, United States immigration inspector,
when he landed from a Windsor ferry.

Be Zeme Insolent.

He was insolent in his answers, and finally drew a revolver from his pocket. Pressing it against Hayden's body, he forced the immigration officer, who was unarmed, to one side while he ran through the gate and up the street. Scores of people coming off their boat scattered for cover when they saw the flash of arms.

Hayden called for help. In response, John Cain, another inspector, ran out of immigration headquarters
on the dock with a rifle.

Bullets Fall.

Cain pursued Morris up Bates street, firing his rifle as he ran. Pursuer and pursued ran three blocks up the 12th to Jefferson avenue.
Twice Morris stopped and fired at Cain. He did not find his mark.
Cain's rifle shots also failed.

At Jefferson avenue Patrolman Hume of the traffic division halted the heavy stream of traffic he was directing and ran toward Morris, ordering him to halt.
Morris swore defiance, and swung his pistol to cover Hume, but the policeman was too quick for him. His pistol spoke, and Morris fell to the street, dropping his weapon. As he fell a second bullet from Cain's weapon struck him in the leg.

TRUSTEES THANK DONOR OF UNIFORMS FOR CADETS

The board of trustees of the Highland and Manor Park school held their annual session for the expiring school year on Wednesday evening, June 17. They considered the school efficiently and economically managed for the year, and the work of the staff and progress of the pupils very satisfactory.

Resolutions were passed thanking
Mr. P. V. Murray, a public-spirited merchant of Manor Park, for his liberal donation toward the uniforms of the school cadet corps; and to the

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

"Paths To Paradise."

Betty Compson and Raymond Griffith are co-starring in a riotously funny crack comedy, "Paths to Paradise," which opened at Loew's yesterday for the balance of the week.
There is a dull moment in the picture, which is featured by an automobile race to the Mexican border and another race back to the United States.

Betty, who is as alluring as ever, is the flirtatious queen of a band of

Auto Turtles Driver Unhurt

Special to The Advertiser.
Mount Brydges, June 18.—
Charles Fraleigh of Delaware had a narrow escape when his car turned completely over twice. The car was travelling at a rapid rate on the Mount Brydges road just east of the C. N. R. crossing, when a front tire blew out causing the machine to turn over.
Fraleigh was thrown clear, and escaped without serious injury.
The auto is badly damaged.

DR. BOWLEY GREEN LEAVES OCTOBER 1

Pastor's Resignation Is Ac- cepted by Talbot Street Baptist Church.

Talbot street Baptist church last night accepted the resignation of Rev. Bowley Green, D.D., as its pastor, to take effect October 1. Dr.
Green leaves on that date to become minister of Immanuel Baptist church, Toronto.

The motion at the congregational meeting held last night at the close of the regular prayer meeting service, moved by Russell Wilson and John Douglas, expressed deep regret at the severance of Dr. Green's connection with the church. The motion further evidenced the congregation's appreciation of Dr. Green "as a Christian gentleman, of his services as pastor and of his loyalty as a friend."

Dr. Green's resignation to the members of the congregation was couched in the following terms:
"In the month of April in the year of our Lord 1922, you graciously issued a call to me to become your pastor. I believe that then, as I believe now, that it was in accordance with the Divine purpose that I should enter into partnership with you in the ministry of the gospel, and I gladly accepted your invitation."

"These three brief years have been very happy ones. Many precious friendships have been formed which time nor space can destroy or diminish. Especially do I appreciate the constant and sympathetic cooperation of the members of the congregation. No church has a more sincere and devoted body of spiritual leaders. During my stay with you my only regret has been that I have not rendered you and the Saviour of us all a worthier service."

"In view of the prevailing conditions, the time has come when I must return to you the charge with which you honored me, and therefore I have resigned the pastorate of the Talbot street Baptist church, to take effect on the first day of October, 1925."

"Praying that a man of God's own choosing may soon be found to carry on His work among so loyal and loving a people."

SPRINGBANK VICTIMS NOW RESTING EASILY

Victoria hospital authorities stated last night that Conductor Sidney Paynter, a victim of the Springbank crash, was resting easily.

Miss Freda Paul, whose condition was considered serious, was well enough yesterday to be removed to her home.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Sally."

All the charm that marked Ziegfeld's stage production of "Sally" is caught and enhanced in the screen version of the same play with Colleen Moore in the title role.

"Sally" opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. It is a colorful and delightful story, beautifully photographed and staged.

Colleen Moore establishes herself beyond question with such successes as "Flaming Youth" and "So Big," but "Sally" lifts her to even greater heights. Her role of the forlorn little drudge in the orphanage, who through sheer force of her own character rises to the fame of a great dancer, affords the star with opportunities for the exercise of her talents. Miss Moore has long shown a decided penchant for boyishish comedy, and this she indulges in to the fullest. She also takes advantages of those moments of pathos which are provided her and likewise reveals an ability to "get her teeth into" a bit of real drama when "no plot tosses it her way." "Sally" contains an excellent supporting cast.
It is a charming picture.

Bobby Vernon provides rollicking entertainment in his comedy, "Air Tight," an original slap stick affair which delighted yesterday's audience.
A Pathe news reel and an interesting scenic picture conclude an outstanding bill at the Capitol for the last three days of this week.
