They beat all the old ideas —for improving soups and gravies

A Cube to a Cup

Oxo Cubes are easily assimilated nutriment, with all the strengthening properties of prime beef—in handy cube form. Soups, gravies, and other dishes which hitherto took hours to prepare, now—with Oxo Cubes—take only a few minutes.

Absolutely uniform in size, strength and flavour, Oxo Cubes were purposely invented for saving much of the drudgery of cookery.

And they do this, and more.

By their remarkable power of strengthening the digestion Oxo Cubes enable the system to extract more nutriment from other foods.

Love a Conqueror —ON— WEDDED AT LAST.

CHAPTER LIII.

There was a low but irrepressible murmur as Madge and her dainty white-robed bridesmaids came up the aisle; and a gleam of passionate tenderness and joy flashed into the eyes of the handsome young bridegroom who stood waiting for her, and by whose side she knelt to make the vows which she purposed, with all the strength of her pure young heart, to keep.

It was a pretty sight, and a touching one. Shirley's eyes watched them with a grave tenderness which had something a little wistful and sad in it. Perhaps she was thinking of her own wedding-day and its disastrous ending, and of the tears which had fallen upon the gleaming satin and lace of her wedding dress. No such fate was in store for Madge, she thought thankfully; and, looking at Ruby, she met her earnest and sympathizing glance with a fond little pressure of her hand. The next moment they were both smiling at Bertie Fairholme, who, in a dainty court suit of velvet and lace and silk stockings, brought up the rear of the bridesmaids with little Amy Graham, and who had evidently given all his childish heart to his little golden-haired companion.

It was a pretty wedding, the guests said afterward, the prettiest that some had ever seen. There was no lavish display of wealth, and the good wishes that followed the young bride were heartfelt and earnest. As she went down the path on her husband's arm, the sunshine fell upon them both, as it fell upon their future lives.

"I see a happy home brightened by mutual love and joy and peace, a home where I am not forgotten, but remembered sometimes with compassion and pity. I see two persons perfectly happy in their mutual love."

"MISERERE DOMINE," and, in the words of him in memory of whom it was placed there, the future lives of Guy Stuart and his wife may be summed up:

"I see a happy home brightened by mutual love and joy and peace, a home where I am not forgotten, but remembered sometimes with compassion and pity. I see two persons perfectly happy in their mutual love."

Within a month from that day there was another wedding in the old church, a very quiet wedding, with no gay cortege of bridesmaids and groomsmen but which, notwithstanding, the village turned out to witness to a man, for there were a beautiful bride and a noble looking bridegroom and a few true and tried friends who had been with them in their sorrow and were with them to share their joy. Mr. Venn was assisted in his office by Mr. Grey, the Vicar of Easton, and his curate, his daughter Lucie's husband; and his wife and daughters were present. Jack and Madge were there also, having returned to England for the purpose, the former a proud and happy young husband, the latter the prettiest little matron imaginable.

As Guy and Shirley went down the aisle together, inseparable and blessed, those who loved them felt that their "feast of joy" was not the less glad because of their experience of misery. They had learned to suffer and to endure, and the suffering and endurance had ennobled and strengthened them; and, as the sunshine fell upon them and the soft summer air floated by, it seemed as if some passing angel had touched them with his flying wings and blessed them with a heavenly blessing; and no sweeter words had ever fallen upon Shirley's ears than those two which Guy uttered when they were once more alone—"My wife."

"For them Night has faded far away; Their sun has risen, and it is day," and from their present bliss they could look back thankfully and without pain on that long and desert land through which they had toiled with weary feet.

A plain white marble tablet in the church where they worship bears without name or date, the short prayer—

"MISERERE DOMINE," and, in the words of him in memory of whom it was placed there, the future lives of Guy Stuart and his wife may be summed up:

"I see a happy home brightened by mutual love and joy and peace, a home where I am not forgotten, but remembered sometimes with compassion and pity. I see two persons perfectly happy in their mutual love."

and trust. I see the husband strong, brave, true, loving and protecting, and striving by a tenderness which never fails to make his wife forget the misery she has suffered. I see the wife loving, honoring, trusting, and looking up to a man worthy of all her tenderness, and making the sunshine of his home and of his life. I see, too, in that happy home, a pale young mother lying, smiling and serene, with a child in her arms. I see the stately old home bright with little restless children, who scamper swiftly down the galleries, and whose sweet gay voices echo through the old rooms, filling them with mirth and laughter."

And what the dying eyes saw in vision has come to pass in reality, for it is even so.

THE END.

Girls Draw Moist Cloth Through Hair

Try This! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once—Stops falling out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time.

This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every article of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Grand Alliance; —OR— Love That Knew No Bounds.

CHAPTER II.

Now the advent of this little one was rewarded by the father and mother in very different lights.

To Mrs. Alwyn it represented a certain amount of care, which she minimized by giving the child over chiefly to the tending of servants; a temporary check to her gay life which, however, she recovered as rapidly as possible; and, gravest annoyance of all, a claimant to a third of her marriage settlement, which she had fondly hoped to keep intact in her own hands—an heiress probably to a much larger sum which otherwise might have become hers.

So a dreadful disappointment the arrival of this small mortal was to the fashionable and far-calculating parent, who in some sort, though may be without premeditated unkindness, always seemed to bear her younger offspring a grudge for having presumed to enter into existence, and gave her only a chill perfunctory attention.

MIRARD'S LIMENT CURE BANDRUFF.

fection, very different from the devotion which she lavished on little Leonora, a child of her first, more loveful marriage.

Only in one respect did the mother treat her children alike—in the matter of their outward adornment. The spending of money was a luxury neither her youth nor her first matrimonial position had granted her; now she revelled in it, and the baby's toilets matched her step-sister's elaborate costumes, receiving from her christening appearance in white satin and swan's-down, through every stage of infant decoration, more maternal attention than all other requirements put together.

This done, Mrs. Alwyn felt contentedly that nothing more could be demanded of her and, with Leonora for constant companion, troubled herself but little with the unwelcome presence of her last-born.

Not so the father. He, poor man, had found out well enough by now, that he had made an irremediable blunder, that he himself had been a very secondary attraction to the lady who had accepted his name for the sake of his purse.

But he bore his disappointment with quiet stoicism, wisely resolving not to make himself a further laughing stock by complaining of what could never be cured, and the birth of his child seemed to him an absolute recompense for all domestic failures.

She was to him the most marvelous and delightful piece of creation upon earth. Early morning, late night, found him with his offering of growing love at the cradle-side of this dimpled, solemn-eyed miracle. A whole vista of new joys opened upon him with the first stammering utterance of her baby tongue, and his only pang concerning her was that life, which gave him this treasure so late, would be closing for him while her days were yet in their spring-time.

His friends of bachelor years might have inclined toward ridiculing the pride of this first-time father of three-score, but it was too genuine, and, counting the great gap of age between sire and child, too pathetic to be lightly jested at. So Mr. Alwyn's baby-girl was accepted unreservedly into the circle of all who would stand well with her wealthy parent. Clients made a point of inquiring as to her progress on the world's first stage. Clerks, married ones, were deeply interested when her little pearly bits of teeth came through; single ones were elated when she could run alone. Now and then the marvelous little maiden would be brought to "Stuarts" and exhibited in a sort of triumphal progress, first to Mrs. Greaves, the manager's wife, who, with many of her own, had still a stock of enthusiastic admiration for this one; then to the old gardener, still retained, who "blessed her pretty eyes, and never shouldn't have thowt to see sich a sight as she was—never!" and then to Jacob Cheene, for whose grave, plain countenance the little one soon showed a discerning affection, and would close one of her small, soft hands round his long forefinger, and so lead him about the place in a state of embarrassed pleasure, at which Mr. Alwyn would chuckle with amusement.

"Little Syd makes her choice early," he would say. "She takes the full responsibilities of being the only young Alwyn, and means to be true to old friends, like her grandfather and great-grandfather."

"Ay, and like her father," would Mr. Cheene answer; "as there'll be plenty to tell her, myself soonest if I live long enough."

At which his employer would reach over his little one's head a remonstrating hand on the speaker's stooping shoulders, with—"Chut, chut, Jacob, don't be personal" (the lawyer was proud of the esteem attaching to his family, but never greedy of compliment for himself); "you teach her her scales, when she's big enough, that will be undertaking enough for you. I'll buy her a violin as soon as she can hold it, and we'll see if we can't play some tries to our satisfaction yet!"

And the two gray-haired men would laugh, almost forgetting the burden of their years as they mapped out Sydney's musical future, leading her uncertain steps the while along the lime-tree walk, little divining what chords, harmonious or discordant, their three lives would strike out and sound upon men's ears in the unknown by and by.

Meantime, while Sydney—or to give the full baptismal title, bestowed in remembrance of her father's mother, "Sydney Grey"—Alwyn was growing out of the vagueness of infancy into the more definite shape of six or seven years old, the home-life of Guy-stwick Hall, if altered in any respect, had altered for the worse. Master and mistress were wide as the poles asunder in their tastes. Practically, as well as metaphorically, Beethoven was shelved, and Offenbach ruled in his place. Mrs. Alwyn's brilliant little dinners, or gay evening assemblies, were arranged without regard to her husband's wishes or engagements. If he appeared at them so much the better for the look of the thing. If he kept away she had always ready some excuse for his absence, and, shining most herself when he was not by, so exercised her powers of entertainment that the elderly host was very little missed.

Splendidly dressed, lavish at all points, patroness of every amusement in the neighborhood, quite clear now of the common professional set to which her marriage had first introduced her, the lady made a point of enjoying life most thoroughly. Her ponies, her brougham, her lace and her furs, her orchids and ferns, her pug-dogs, and fifty other fancies, were food for gossiping amusement to half the country-side, and the only share her husband had in these increasing luxuries was to find the funds for their purchase.

HAD RHEUMATISM IN ALL MY BONES

"Sometimes I Could Hardly Walk!"
2 Boxes of Gin Pills Cured Me

I SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured. I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Pills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without Gin Pills.

Radway's Ready Relief

Rheumatism

J. L. Haddock of Meigs, Mo., writes: "I had Rheumatism for six weeks. Had three doctors, but did not get much relief. Had friends insisted on my trying R. R. R. and sent me two bottles. In twenty minutes after the first application I could turn in bed with ease. Have used R. R. R. before and after."

Apply the Relief externally to the part or parts affected, as readily as circumstances will permit. Benefit will also be derived from Radway's Pills, these alternative action being peculiarly suited to this disease. Where the R. R. R. is not available, the Relief, with sweet oil, is an admirable substitute.

MODERN MARTYRS!

The age of martyrs is not passed. There are thousands of women all over the country enduring physical torture and mental anguish almost beyond description. They are victims of persecution, like the martyrs of old; they are not called on to face the scaffold or the stake, but their sufferings—born in silence and hidden from the world at large—are scarcely less intense.

These ladies, as a rule, are women and girls of refined and sensitive temperaments. Knowing that their sufferings are due to a disordered condition of the female functions, their native modesty deters them from seeking relief in the earlier stages; and when they do consult a physician, they usually get some drug mixture to take internally, which is not more effective for troubles of this kind than it would be for a toothache, a bruise or any other similarly local ailment.

The seat of the trouble being in some one of the female organs, the remedy to be effective, must act on this portion of the anatomy. This is the secret of the success which always follows the use of ORANGE LILY in the arrangements of this kind. It is a strictly local treatment; it is absorbed directly into the parts that are inflamed and congested and its beneficent, soothing influence is noticeable from the start. The irritation of the delicate membrane is relieved, the congestion is overcome by the discharge of the watery matter which served to oppress the nerves and cause mental depression; the nerves are toned and invigorated, and the sunshine and joy of life again becomes part of her being. Read the following letters:

Dear Mrs. Currah— I received your kind letter some time ago, but was feeling so well, and not needing medicine, that I neglected replying sooner. I must say I have more confidence in ORANGE LILY than in any other thing I have ever used. Before I knew of it I was doing very miserably indeed. I could scarcely do my housework during my menstrual period, and for two months or more I was never free from pain in the womb and ovaries. The pain would run down the back, so I would frequently nearly double up. Then the pain began going up the back of my neck to my brain and I hardly knew what I was doing at times. Life was a burden indeed. I finally could endure it no longer, so went to our leading town doctor and had an examination. He pronounced it I forgot the word a rich condition of the generative organs, produced by repeated attacks of inflammation. He said I would have to take a course of treatment, and if that failed to overcome the condition I might, in time, be compelled to have the ovaries removed. I objected to that, so filled out Dr. Cooley's symptom blank and forwarded it to him, and he diagnosed the disease the same as my local doctor, so I went to take Dr. Cooley's Treatment. I have used two jars of Cerate Massage, two packages of Herbal Womb Tonic and six boxes of Orange Lily. It is eight months since I began the treatment, but I feel like a new woman. I work eight hours every day now. Hardly know a pain, even during menstruation now. I often say, "I would not take $100 and be in the state that I was in last March." Dear Mrs. Currah, Dr. Cooley's Home Treatment is a Godsend to suffering womankind, and will continue to sound its praises whenever I have an opportunity.

ORANGE LILY as a remedy for these ills, as well as for leucorrhoea, painful periods, irregularities, cancers in their earlier stages, tumors, displacements, hemorrhages and all ovarian troubles, has long since passed the experimental stage. So confident am I of this, that I will send ten days' treatment, which is worth 25 cents to any sufferer, ABSOLUTELY FREE. The treatment is inexpensive, used at home, and no physician is necessary. Send at once for the FREE TRIAL TREATMENT which will demonstrate that ORANGE LILY will relieve all these ailments. Send to Mrs. FRANCES E. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT., Can. Rep., Cooley Med. Inst. Delays are dangerous.

Indiscriminate Giving.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A girl who was walking with me gave a dollar the other day to an old woman who approached her on the street with a pathetic story.

When I suggested that this woman might not really be needy, she answered: "I would rather give a dollar to ten unworthy than refuse help to one who really needed it."

As that used to be my own argument, and as circumstances have convinced me that it is not wholly right, I gave her the answer which has been given to me. "Yes, but wouldn't you rather have ten times as much to give to the one who needed it?"

There is no question but that indiscriminate giving without investigation, by such generous, but thoughtless, people does harm. And yet the idea of refusing to feed anyone who is actually hungry is terrible to those of us who sometimes pause in the course of our own well lived lives long enough to shudder at the sickening thought that there are thousands of men, women and children in this country who don't even get enough to eat.

What is the answer? Well, I used to consider the Associated Charities a heartless organization which would let people die while it was investigating. But a painful experience in which indiscriminate giving on my part did harm rather than good brought me into closer touch with them. Then I learned that their present policy is to relieve immediate want, without hesitation, but to investigate the case before giving farther.

It seems to me that that is a wise policy for you and me too. If anyone stops us on the street or comes to our home with the plea of poverty and hunger we must feed them. But before we do more than that I think we ought to investigate. Make it plain that your spirit is kindly and not interfering and ask the name and address. When you have that you can probably find out from some agency, such as the Associated Charities or the Salvation Army or the nearest settlement or parish house, something about the person. If not, you can investigate yourself. Too much bother? Ah, my friend, what you need is to read ever The Vision of Sir Lancelot and realize that he who gives his gold without himself giving nothing of value.

If, because you are unwilling to spend the time investigating, you give to someone who does not really need it, money which might have been given to those who actually do need it, your charity is next to worthless and you have failed in your stewardship.

I once knew a man who made an arrangement with an inexpensive restaurant and lodging house by which his card with a certain mark upon it should entitle the bearer to a meal or a night's lodging. Whenever anyone begged from him on the street he took his name and address and gave him one of these cards. This he made sure that if his supplicant really needed a meal or a night's lodging he could get it, and in the meantime he looked the cause up.

That, of course, was an ideal arrangement, although perhaps it is not practical for all of us.

And now whatever influence I exert, I hope I may not cause anyone to draw his purse strings tighter and refrain from giving at all because indiscriminate giving is dangerous and indiscriminate giving is too much to be asked. God forbid! There is none too much charity in the world, and it made it less, I should judge he said.

Ruth Cameron

Roberts Condemns The Syndicalists.

London, March 13.—G. H. Roberts, M.P., whip of the Labor party, speaking at Oldham recently, said that in South Africa they had an example of what would assuredly occur under syndicalism operation. There the workers relied upon their industrial organization, which corresponded to our conception of a general strike. The first element of failure was this: that they could never rely upon every member of the working class relinquishing his tools at the order of his leaders.

"If you tell me," he declared, "that you are able to organize any class so that they will cease work at a given call, then I tell you I cannot follow in your steps and organize them so as to carry them to right and justice by peaceful constitutional means, which will not involve the suffering inevitably associated with industrial conflict. Leave parliament with employers and possessing classes, declare your general strike and some General Botha in this country will immediately declare martial law. Fundamentally we are entirely with the workers of South Africa in their desire to secure a juster reward for their labor. We are entirely opposed to the action of the South African government in repressing in martial fashion the efforts of our class."

"Until we can prove that either imperial troops, or national funds, have been in some way involved, it is quite impossible for us to take effective parliamentary action, and we can do no more interfere with any effect than we can in our objections to the Australian Labor party setting up a system of compulsory military service."

Lighted Portion of Match

Caught Drapery, and Father and two Children Lose Their Lives. Lindsay, Ont., March 12.—In a fire which broke out last night at 10 o'clock in the home of John Madison, three lives were lost. It appears that Madison went to his home last evening in a muddled condition and went to his bed, which consisted of a pile of rags. During the night Madison struck a match to light his pipe. The lighted portion broke off and ignited some loose drapery. He together with two of his youngest children, a girl and boy, was so badly burned before aid arrived that all three expired in the hospital this morning.

"Tiz" Eases Tired, Sore, Swollen Feet

So tired of burning, sweaty, calloused feet and corns? Use "TIZ."

When your poor, suffering feet sting from walking, when you try to wriggle your corns away from the leather of your shoes, when shoes pinch, and feet tight, when feet are swollen, sore, chafed—don't experiment—just use "TIZ." Get instant relief. "TIZ" puts peace in tired aching, painful feet. Ah! how comfortable your shoes feel. Walk bravely, feet won't hurt you, won't sweat after using "TIZ."

Sore, tender, sweaty, smelly feet need "TIZ" because it's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet and cause foot torture. "TIZ" is the only remedy takes pain and soreness right out of corns, callouses and bunions. Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" at any druggist or department store. Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 2 cents. Think of it!

Twilight Shadows.

There's a calm egering the world; There's a pause in the cares of the day. When the golden light of sunset softly fades away. The earth is a mystic dreamland At the setting of the sun. Then the gloom of twilight deepens, And the day is done.

There's a blackness o'er hill and valley. The earth is a cave of night. The cares of the day have settled. Gone is the struggle, the fight. Aloft in the shadowy heavens. In a trembling ray of light. The flickering gleam of the starlight Shining through the night.

Though memory brings some sorrow, 'Twill help when the day is done To look for a gleam of starlight And the better days to come.

May Read in the Dark by the Use of Luminous Ink.

Berlin, Feb. 21.—Newspapers that can be read in the dark are the latest promise. Luminous ink has existed for a long time, and match holders, clock faces and similar things that get lost in the dark have been coated with it. But the compound was expensive enough to prohibit its general use. Now the German chemist, according to accounts in some of the technical papers, has produced a luminous compound cheap enough to use for printing ink which will make the type of a newspaper visible in the dark.

It is claimed the compound will remain luminous for ten years, but, as it has been invented only a few months, it must be rather a scientific estimate. Anyhow, if it lasts 24 hours that will be longer than most of the newspapers are read. The practical point claimed for the new invention is that it will do away with the need for gas and electricity in looking over the news of the day, and thus reduce the high cost of living.

At the same time that the luminous ink has been announced there has been a French patent issued to another chemist for a bleachable ink that will enable old newspapers to be repurposed for news print paper. This, it is pointed out, will greatly enhance the market value of old papers and reduce the cost of paper for newspapers and magazines.

Shapely Feet and How to Care for Them.

Aching and unhealthy feet are deadly foes to beauty; they make one ill-tempered, and bring ugly wrinkles to the forehead, besides resulting in a jerky, ungraceful walk, besides the nature poise of the entire body. Tight shoes are sometimes the cause of enlarged veins in the hands and arms, and are often responsible for the hot flushes from which so many girls suffer needlessly. Many physicians trace trouble in the eyes and nervous ailments to some difficulty in the patient's feet.

If you are flat-footed, or your arches, toes, heels, and length, some part ill-fitting shoes, consult a chiropodist, and follow the treatment he prescribes. Steel arches can be worn inside the shoes, but these should be a last resort, as, once adopted, they can never be laid aside. If care is observed in fitting shoes to the arches, toes, heels, and length, some part of the trouble may be overcome. Stand squarely upon the two feet. You cannot expect to have a well shaped foot if you still continue to stand first on one foot and then the other. Dragging the heels and twisting the ankles out of place is extremely unbecoming, as well as tending to destroy the natural beauty of the foot.—The Beauty Seeker, in Women's World for April.

Municipal Bonds Yielding Up to 5 3-4 p.c.

Now that the local municipal market is so bare of offerings, and will remain so until the annual crop of bond bills is passed at the present session of the Legislature, it is quite refreshing to be able to offer some Upper Canadian and Western issues.

These include three from Quebec, Farnham, Three Rivers and Verdun—one from Manitoba, Transcona—and one from British Columbia, Richmond. Maturities vary from 1943 to 1960 and yields from 5 1/2 per cent to 5 3/4 per cent.

While space limitations prevent further mention now we hasten to assure you that we would appreciate the opportunity afforded us to send you the fullest particulars.

FINE EXHIBITION OF SWIMMING.

The first annual gala of the M.I.A. Swimming Club was held at the Seamen's Institute last night and proved a great success. Among those present were His Lordship Bishop Jones, Rev. W. H. Thomas, Hon. J. R. Bennett, Hon. J. and Mrs. Harvey, W. J. Higgins, M.H.A., T. McNeil, Mrs. R. B. Job, Miss Job, W. H. Franklin, F. Martin, D. Baird, D. Macpherson, N. Outerbridge, H. E. Cowan, G. H. Hutchings and many others.

The polo match, the first ever played here in public, resulted in the defeat of the Calypso by the Club by 2 goals to nil, the scorers being Messrs. Brookes and Kerr, who with Messrs. Pollett and Hartley constituted the team. The Learners' race was won by W. J. Eaton with A. P. Hartley second. Mr. H. R. Brookes then announced the winners who received their prizes from the Lord Bishop, Rev. W. H. Thomas congratulated Mr. Chas Brookes on the effective work of his teaching, as shown by the exhibition and expressed pleasure at the attendance of His Lordship the Bishop and his kindness in distributing the awards, saying his patronage would do much towards promoting the growth of the Club.

From the foregoing it is evident that this morning's gale, felt in the vicinity of White Bay where several ships are supposed to be. There is a theory that the ice broke up as a result of the storm, with a consequent loss of some of the seals that were killed and panned yesterday, though it is hoped such is not the case.

SEALING NEWS.

NO NEWS FROM FRONT—FOGO STATION GIVES OUT—STORM RAGING NORTH—REPORTS FROM NEPTUNE AND ERIK IN GULF.

FROM THE GULF.

The following message from Capt. D. Martin, of the Erik, was received at 5 p.m. yesterday, by James Baird, Ltd.: "Via the Seal, Grindstone Island, and Cape Ray. Have 10,000 on board; about 4,000 panned."

NEPTUNE 10,000.

The following message was received by Messrs. Job Bros. & Co., Ltd.: "Our position same as yesterday; gale from west, fine and frosty; killed and panned to-day 8,000; on board and stowed down 2,000; large sheets, difficult to get through. The following crews are working with our men: Viking and Terra Nova. The following ships in sight: Viking and Terra Nova."

WILCOX.

Owing to the Marconi Station at Fogo Island being thrown out of kilter, no wireless messages were received to-day from the sealing ships operating on the front. Messrs. Bowring Bros., Job Bros. and Harvey & Company sent messages this morning to their steel ships advising the captains of the mishap to Fogo station, and asking them to report via Belle Isle as often as possible.

TO-DAY THE MARINE AND FISHERIES DEPARTMENT HAD THE FOLLOWING MESSAGES:

FROM CHANGE ISLANDS.

"Increasing gale N.E. wind; fierce snow storm raging."

FROM BONAVISTA.

"Very high N.E. wind with snow falling heavily; nothing known of ice conditions."

FROM SEAL COVE.

"Wind N.E., snowing; no ice seen in Bay; no seals."

MARCH 21.

New Moon—26th. Days Past—79 To Come—285. BURNING OF CRANMER at the stake 1556. The famous Archbishop of Canterbury, in which he strongly supported the progress of the Reformation. Upon the accession of Mary he was accused of heresy and was induced to sign a recantation of his principles. When required to read this in public his conscience smote him and he recanted his recantation and exhorted the people against the errors of the time. This brought down on him the full vengeance of Mary and he was burnt on this date.

J. S. BACH born 1685. Composer and greatest organist of his time. His development of all forms of composition marks an epoch in the history of music.

ROBERT SOUTHBY died 1843, aged 69. Was made Poet Laureate in 1812. In poetry he was overshadowed by the greater genius of Byron and Shelley but in prose he was eminently successful.

MARCH 22. New Moon—26th. Days Past—80 To Come—284. 4th Sunday in Lent.

GOETHE died 1832, aged 83. The most distinguished of German poets and writers. His famous dramatic poem "Faust" is one of the world's greatest literary works and has been more written about than any other tragedy of modern days.

SIR ANTHONY VANDYCK born 1590. Great portrait painter, whose influence on the development of the English school was great and lasting.

DR. FARRAR died 1903, aged 72. Dean of Canterbury, whose writings attained a large circulation and exercised a considerable influence.

The Royal Stores, Ltd.

At the City Hall.

Yesterday evening's session was a rather quiet one. Mr. H. R. Cooke submitted a bill for fencing for sale. Referred to Parks Committee.

Mrs. Froude's claim for $28.95 on account of her house being flooded by the overflowing of a grating was referred to the Solicitor.

The application of T. Rolls for reinstatement is being considered. Mr. T. P. Connors asked that $4.20 be deducted from his taxes because he had paid that amount to a laborer for the clearing of a drain and pipe. The Council cannot entertain the claim.

A request for 500 loads of ashes at 5 cents a load from H. Keeping has been handed over to the Sanitary Supervisor for consideration.

S. Noseworthy asked leave to repair a house on Cookstown Road. Referred to Engineer.

J. Ashley was given permission to build a stable on Atlantic Avenue. Councilor Ryan's motion, asking that sanitary men Hopkins and Bennett, who are ill, be given their regular wages every week until further notice, was acted upon.

The Engineer's report was read and adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.

Remarkable Parallels.

In Life of Two Clergymen of Same Denomination.

Lancaster, Pa., March 13.—The birth yesterday of twins, in both cases a boy and a girl, in the home of Rev. Nathan B. Yerrinton, of Robertstown, and the Rev. Elbert E. Landis, of this city, has called attention to a series of life parallels which are extraordinary. Both ministers are Lutherans and have been friends from boyhood. They entered Mt. Lebanon college at the same time and were room-mates for four years. They were graduated in the same class and were stationed in Lutheran Churches in the same country. They were married on the same day and the wedding trip was taken together. Their wives were girlhood friends. They entered the Kutztown Normal School together and were the closest of friends throughout their residence at that institution.

Like their husbands, both were graduated in the same class and both took up the profession of Robertstown, which they abandoned at the same time to become brides.

She got so she was Almost Insane AND THEN FOUND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

That's Why Mrs. Wellington Dunlop Says Dodd's Kidney Pills are the Best of All Medicines.

South Waterville, York Co., N. B., March 20. (Special).—Mrs. Wellington Dunlop, an estimable resident of this place, has given an interview, in which she states that she believes Dodd's Kidney Pills to be the best of all medicines. Mrs. Dunlop says: "When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in a terrible condition. I had been sick for over a year and had paid out more than one hundred and thirty dollars for doctors and medicine. I would get some better and then get just as bad as ever."

"The doctor said my trouble came from my stomach. His medicine relieved me for only a few minutes after I had taken it, and I got so that I was nearly insane. I had not taken Dodd's Kidney Pills two days till I was some better. I took twelve boxes in all, and I can truly say they have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken."

A Slow Place.

A native of a boom town in Oklahoma, who had moved away, happened on one of his old neighbors who still lived there, and asked him about the town.

"Oh, it's awful," replied the unfortunate neighbor. "Deadest place you ever saw. Say, you know Jones, don't you? Well, he dropped dead in front of my place one day, and the doctor didn't find the body till Thursday."—Life.

Had Itching Piles For 27 Years

Often Laid Up For Days at a Time—A Wonderful Tribute to Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Few people were ever more enthusiastic in praising Dr. Chase's Ointment than the writer of this letter. When you read the description of his case you will not wonder why Mr. John Johnson, Coleman, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of 27 years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I would ever get from the terrible misery of piles. Often I was laid up for three days at a time, and at other times worked when I should have been in bed. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time, and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Anyone doubting this can write direct to me. ### The Argentine Republic.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The Argentine Republic extends from the throat to the foot of South America, a distance of 2,300 miles, and is one-third as large in area as the United States. It is roughly speaking, a large wheat field and cattle ranch with a metropolis in one corner and a backbone composed of the Andes, which keeps it at perpetual peace with Chile, neither nation being over strong on mountain climbing.

Argentina is shut off by the Atlantic in front, the mountains behind, the South Pole below and about 3,000 miles of unplanted wilderness above. Those Americans wishing to visit the country need not come along for a good many years. To reach it one must travel by the steamer across the equator and so far beyond that base-line is unknown, English is a foreign language and an American newspaper is a curiosity. For all this Argentina is very much up-to-date and Americans who visit it come home with many valuable suggestions.

Argentina raises wheat and cattle for a living and exports both to the hungry nations of the world who wait knife and fork in hand, for the ships from Buenos Ayres. There is enough good land in the republic to feed the world but Argentina hasn't experimented much with democracy in this line and most of its good land is owned in vast ranches. To be a great land owner in Argentina with a winter residence in Buenos Ayres and a house in Paris, is one of the most delightful things in the world, but to be a common citizen, farming on shares and blamed poor shares at that, is not much more attractive than sewing pants for a living in New York.

Argentina was settled almost four hundred years ago, but suffered from a common South American disease called Spanish government, until 1810, since which time it has been a republic. It is very stable and safe date for its location and has only had a few dozen revolutions. It has been a republic for twenty years.

Argentina has as many people as Pennsylvania and raises more wheat than Minnesota though not as much corn as Illinois. Its capital is Buenos Ayres which has a sixth of the population and most of the advantages. It has fifteen thousand miles of railroad, a battleship or two and enough public schools to educate about half of its people. It speaks Spanish, thinks Parisian and grows American fashion. We need not envy Argentina in anything but its cattle. It has more than it needs and porterhouse is cheap down there.

Vessel Still Missing.

Over Forty Days Since Blanche Curry, Passed Cape Race — Must Have Foundered.

All hopes for the safety of the Blanche Curry are now abandoned and the general opinion is that she has foundered. The vessel, it will be remembered, passed Cape Race on February 7th and was seen off Ferryland the same afternoon, but has not been heard of since. One of the worst storms of the season sprang up that night and continued for several days, and the general belief is that the vessel went down with all hands during the hurricane that raged.

It is now over 100 days since the vessel left Pernambuco, and if she has not gone down the provisions must have long since run short. The Blanche Curry is an English barquentine, of 169 tons nett, built in 1875, and was commanded by Capt. Evans who was well known in this city.

Sunday Concerts

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The large attendance at the Sacred Concert on Sunday night last was a reply which the protest of the Methodist Ministers well deserved. Apart from any other consideration, the fact that the Concert was advertised as under the patronage not only of His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. Davidson, but especially the Lord Bishop, made their protest not only out of place but an act of impertinence. With some degree of propriety perhaps they might have suggested to their own flock to abstain from attending, but nothing further.

The people of St. John's have sufficient discrimination and religion to down any attempt at the introduction here of the 'Continental' Sunday. It is the weekly day of rest that makes life worth living and citizens can be trusted to see that Sunday is preserved as a most hallowed possession.

How better can the day be observed than with the help of the inspiring influence of great sacred compositions such as are performed before crowded audiences in the Royal Albert Hall, in London, on Sundays throughout the year and especially during the Lenten season, for which it is only fair that those should pay who derive the benefit from them. A correspondent on the subject is incorrect in saying Sunday concerts are under the ban of the law in England. The gentlemen who framed the protest as good as say: either the public must hear sacred music on week-days, or else the conductor and those associated with him, in addition to the large amount of time and labour given to the production, must assume the financial responsibility for the undertaking, which it is unreasonable to expect them to do, and which they may not be able to afford.

The Lord's Day Alliance movement received a set-back last Friday when those chiefly connected with its introduction and furtherance amongst us showed so little discrimination as to protest against what in reality was one of the best means of carrying out the aims of the Alliance. The protest seems closely related to the question that received our Lord's answer: "The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath." Listening to the story of Christ interpreted by inspiring music is putting to the best possible use that hallowed institution which we call Sunday, and it is surprising that the only objection should spring from a body who believe so strongly in the value of song in the worship of God. Their attitude is incongruous and inconsistent. Are ministers making a convenience of the Sabbath for pecuniary advantage when they accept fees for christenings which so often take place on Sundays?

Mr. Patten and Mr. Storr's straightforward replies commended themselves to the intelligence of the public, and the protest turned out to be a best advertisement that the concert could have had.

The thanks of the community are due to Mr. Allen, Mr. Patten and ladies and gentlemen who at the sacrifice of a great deal of time provided the opportunity to the public of enjoying a splendid rendering of "The Messiah" for which no more appropriate date could have been found than Sunday, and it is to be hoped that the two remaining concerts of the series will be equally well patronized.

Apologizing for intruding on your space at such length.

Yours, etc., COMMON SENSE CHRISTIAN, St. John's, March 19th, 1914.

Demand Luxury in America.

Such a Thing as the Use of Napkin Rings Not to Be Thought of for a Moment.

"When Don Manuel, ex-king of Portugal, got married," said a proud editor, "the city of Lisbon presented to him and his bride, among other things, a pair of jeweled napkin rings."

"Napkin rings!" "Gee!" "Why, if anybody gave a rich young American couple napkin rings they'd be as insulted as if you gave them celluloid collars or Japanese paper napkins, or second-hand clothing."

"Our American millionaires no only have fresh napkins with every meal—napkin rings, indeed—but they even have fresh tablecloths."

"Why, I know a Fifth avenue millionaire who wears two clean shirts a day—a colored shirt in the morning and a white one in the evening. He also wears a fresh suit of pajamas every night. His bed has fresh sheets on it nightly. Daily his underwear is fresh."

"We lead the world in laundry bills as in all things."

"And here a royalty using napkin rings! Gee! It makes me laugh."

So saying, the proud society editor gave a loud, harsh, scornful guffaw.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

LONDON, March 20. The Navy League has expressed dissatisfaction over the proposals of the Admiralty regarding the new construction programme, outlined by the First Lord's statement in the Commons. Since the failure of Canada to aid, the League has been urging the laying down of three ships to fill the gap. The general defence of the Empire, without providing these ships, is futile, says the League.

BOMBAY, March 20. Lord Hardinge, Viceroy and Governor General of India, arrived here to-day, and formally opened the new Bombay docks, the foundation stone of which was laid by King George in 1905, when he visited India as Prince of Wales. The new docks comprise the Alexandre wet dock, which provides three miles of deep water, and the Hughes dry dock which is said to be the largest graving dock in the world, able to accommodate the largest ship afloat. The combined works are estimated to have cost more than thirty millions.

LONDON, March 20. The King, accompanied by Queen Mary, to-day unveiled the memorial stone of the National Institute for the Blind. In a sympathetic speech he expressed deep interest in the efforts made to minimize the sufferings, resulting from deprivation of sight, and hoped that these efforts would receive abundant encouragement and support. The delivery of this address formed the climax of a series of remarkable scenes, all of them deeply touching. When their Majesties alighted before the Institute, a crowd of their blind subjects, from all parts of London, stood respectfully among the spectators, cheering. The passage of the King and Queen into the Hall, guarded by a squad of blind Boy Scouts, was surely the strangest guard of honor ever witnessed.

LONDON, March 20. "The effect of last night's debate," says the Morning Post, "can only be as grave as what already is a serious crisis. In face of the gravity of the situation, the trifling of the Premier's speech is nothing less than leprolous. The Government may not mean deliberately to provoke Ulster, but it can hardly be surprised if most people feel, with Carson, that their present tactics, amount to something like gambling with human lives." The Daily Telegraph says: "We have got to what is by far the worst phase in this black business. The coalition are in the mood for a policy of reckless violence, while over Ireland the cloud of civil war hangs blacker than at any earlier moment. Our information leaves no doubt that a plan for breaking Ulster for provoking an outbreak, and then crushing it in blood, is in existence. If Britain's sun is set, it might well come as a result of such policy."

LONDON, This Morning. "War in Ulster." Is the starting headline which sensational London papers are displaying in blackest type. The Government began yesterday to dispose of the regular troops in Ireland, so that they may be in a position to deal with any situation that arises. Cooler men among the Loyalists and Ulster Unionists, however, believe nothing resembling war is yet in sight. Among the Cabinet some time ago the possibilities of Home Rule strife were considered, and Lieut-General Sir Arthur Fitzroy Paget, who commands the Irish troops, was instructed to take all possible precautions to maintain order and safeguard property. A general redistribution of the forces in Ireland was begun yesterday, and two regiments were sent from the South to reinforce Ulster garrisons, while troops in Ulster were moved to new stations in conformity with custom, that in the event of hostilities or rioting, soldiers should not be compelled to encounter people with whom they had formed friendships. In pursuance of the same rule, Irish recruits were sent from Armagh recruiting station to England.

BELFAST, March 20. Carson made a dramatic entry into the capital Province to-day. His purpose in coming here is to consult with other Ulster Unionist leaders and with the commanders of the Ulster Volunteer force. Before landing Carson received on board the steamer, on which he made passage from England, Sir George Richardson, a retired Lieut-General of the British Army, who is Commander-in-Chief of the Ulster Unionist forces, together with his chief officers. As the party came down the gangway from the steamer, they found drawn up a guard of honor, an emergency force of picked men of the Ulster Volunteers. A big crowd gave them a noisy welcome. During the night automobiles were kept busy moving the stores and documents from the Unionist headquarters, apparently fearing a raid from the police, who had been keeping close watch on every move made by the Unionists. Precautions of a particularly rigorous character have been taken at Victoria Military Barracks here, where extra guards have been on duty day and night for several days past. Urgent instructions have been sent to the military authorities in South Ireland to despatch reinforcements immediately to garrison stations in Ulster.

Crisis Continues.

Ministers Unyielding—Attorney General Declares Law and Order will be Preserved Unflinchingly—Movement of Troops Continue—Carson & Other Leaders Have Armed Guards.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-Day.

Four Cabinet Ministers spoke on the Ulster situation at different meetings last night. John Burns, President of the Local Government Board, in an address on the occasion of the unveiling of his portrait at the National Liberal Club, said: Home Rule is a question mainly for Ireland itself. Three-fourths of the people there demanded it persistently for years. We have no right to listen to the demand for more concessions or yield to clamor. We have no more desire to yield to lawless lawyers than to lawless laborers. Thomas McKinnon Wood, Secretary of State for Scotland, said: We will carry Home Rule by agreement if we possibly can, but without it if we must. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in a speech declared the Government's proposals gave Ulster freedom from coercion for six years. The scheme of Bonar Law meant immediate coercion if referendum went against Ulster. Sir John Simon, Attorney General, said the Government proposed to go steadily on; adding, whatever happens we will see that law and order are unflinchingly observed in Ulster.

Progress in Technical Education.

The course of lectures on Technical subjects, inaugurated by Captain Saunders, finished last night. Altogether nine lectures have been given, and an average of 25 boys have attended the sessions. The beneficial results of these classes, to which we have hitherto referred, is evidenced to-day by the exhibition of drawings at the Board of Trade Rooms. Through the courtesy of Mr. J. S. Munn, President of the Board of Trade, a number of drawings, by lads whose ages range from 15 to 17 years, are on exhibition at the Rooms and may be seen by citizens at any convenient hour. These drawings give ample testimony of the ability of our boys, and should elicit the sympathy of citizens generally in the movement now on foot for the further development of their talent. Many of the young lads, because of their surroundings, are not in a position to purchase suitable text books and mathematical instruments necessary for the continuation of their studies, so well begun; and we suggest that a committee of gentlemen whose interests lie in the direction of marine engineering, be formed, with a view to raising a fund to help these deserving and enthusiastic young lads. The exhibition of drawings bring out the talent that is in these boys, and the further development of this talent would result beneficially for any philanthropic gentlemen of the class already mentioned, as it is they who will eventually reap the benefit of the

The Potomac Off Port Saunders.

Ship Reported Looted.

The Potomac has been off Spritly Cove, Port Saunders, since Saturday. She is in a sheet of ice, only about 70 miles from the shore, with the running ice just outside. H. Carter and party were at Cow Head on Sunday, and it is thought that they have reached the ship by this time.

John LeMoine and party left Curling on Sunday with two large hand pumps for use should such be required before the ships steam pumps can be put in operation. We gather from latest reports that the ship has made very little water since the crew first left her, over a month ago. She may possibly, however, make more water after being liberated from the ice grip, and the despatching of those pumps to her is a wise precaution.

Report reaches here to the effect that the Potomac had been looted and considerable damage done to her woodwork. If such be the case, it is to be very much regretted, for parties guilty thereof have undoubtedly made themselves liable to prosecution. The saving of the ship, as we mentioned in a previous issue, has been placed in the hands of O. C. Gould, the American Consular Agent at Curling; and Mr. Gould is certainly paying strict attention to the various details relative to the ship's safety and protection.—Western Star.

Grape-Nuts

This excellent food, made from whole wheat and barley, supplies the strength-giving, blood-making properties which Nature stores abundantly in these grains, and which are often lacking in ordinary foods.

A morning dish of Grape-Nuts is a wonderful fortifier against shivery winds. It is easily digested and its vitalizing elements are quickly transformed into rich, nourishing blood.

Grape-Nuts comes ready to eat from the package. Add cream or good milk. Delicious!

Baseball Meeting

The Wanderers' Baseball Club held their annual meeting at the office of the Imperial Tobacco Co. last night. Mr. C. E. Hunt presided, and every member of the club was present. The Treasurer's report which showed a very satisfactory balance, was read and adopted, after which the election of officers for the coming season took place and resulted as follows: President, C. E. Hunt; Vice-President, F. V. Chesman; Secretary, T. V. Hartnett; Treasurer, Percie Johnson; Auditor, Dr. L. S. Pritchard. The following were reappointed to form the executive committee: Messrs. W. E. Bearn, A. E. Montgomerie, J. W. Wallace, J. S. Benedict and R. Dowden. Messrs. Wallace and Hartnett were selected as delegates to the League, and the latter will act as manager of the team during the coming season. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. T. D. McManus, former Treasurer of the club for his valuable services during 1913. Mr. McManus is now in Ottawa, and the Secretary was instructed to write him acquainting him of the same.

Painful Swellings Reduced. Muscular Strains Ended.

Such Troubles Now Quickly Rubbed Away by Powerful

Remedy.

If you have any muscles that are strained and weak, that are frequently subject to rheumatic pains; if you have any painful swellings that refuse to go away—get busy with Nerviline. This is the very sort of trouble that Nerviline is noted for curing quickly. "I have proved Nerviline simply a wonder in reducing hard, painful swellings. It followed an injury I received in my leg and caused me great pain and discomfort. The muscles were strained and sore and no other remedy gave the ease and comfort I got from rubbing or Nerviline. There is a soothing, pain relieving power about Nerviline that touched the root of my trouble. Nerviline reduced the swelling, it destroyed the pain, it brought my limb back to perfect condition." The experience of Mr. Bowen, whose home is in Middlesex, is not unusual. Thousands are proving every day that muscular pains of every kind, chronic rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and sciatica will yield to Nerviline when nothing else can possibly cure. Nerviline is an old-time family pain remedy, used nearly forty years with great success. The large family size bottle costs 50c., trial size 25c. at all dealers.

Saturday.

To Saturday it would be hard to hand too much of home sweet home. It certainly inspires the bard to put up fifty-seven lays. All days are sick, when rightly viewed, with optimistic heart and eyes.

But Saturday seems like a d d e among a bunch of hayseed guys. It is the best of all the days, it sees the long week's labor done; the workers go their homeward ways, each man lopsided with his mon. There's nothing makes us more serene than knowing we have bravely wrought it. And when the week end whistles blow announcing now a day of rest, what peace and comfort do we know, who faced our tasks and did our best! Then the long night of perfect rest, and Sunday sees us at the Kirk, to hear about a country blest, the home of those who pray and work. So let us work and let us pray, and do the thing that's to our hand, and when its gone life fleeting day, we'll cater in the Happy Land.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Severe Case of a Philadelphia Woman—Her Symptoms.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness.

"I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away my medicine the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. Your medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household I have visited."—Mrs. MARY JOHNSTON, 210 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case.
Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysterical spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to do my dishes.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and I have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W. HONZEMAN, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Household Notes.

New earthen casseroles should be soaked in cold water at least twenty-four hours before they are put on a range or over a gas flame. Treated in this way, they will last much longer.

If the fire gets low on cold nights and the house plants are badly chilled in the morning, put them into a still dark closet, and the next morning you will find every plant nice and fresh.

Is your kitchen sink clean? If it is not flushed out with boiling water and lye, it is a dangerous sink. Under it is a trap where grease and other terms are caught, and it needs to be kept clean.

The tissue paper which comes into the house around gifts or in suit boxes, if folded and put into the drawer with the dish towels, will be most useful to polish glassware of all sorts, including lamp chimneys.

There is economy in purchasing a whole ham. If the family is small and it is hard to dispose of a whole ham, it can be kept for some time. It is first wrapped in paraffin paper then in brown paper and hung in a cool dry place.

A good recipe to follow in whip cream is the following: Mix one quart of heavy cream and one cupful of milk. Beat until stiff, using an egg beater. Add one-half cupful of powdered sugar, a few grains of salt and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla.

Put the odds and ends of toilet soap in a jar, cover them with water and when you need to make a thick suds for any purpose, go to the jar and you will find the soap in a soft soap state. Empty them into the water and you have a good suds.

Eat Cabbage, Fish Sausage, New Bread

Vegetation, Gas, Sourness or Up set Stomach if you'll take "Pape's Diapepsin"—Try This!

Do some foods you eat hit back—aste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick our, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

HEALTHY AND UNHEALTHY LIGHTING

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitalize, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this amongst other reasons that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being applied with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian B. Lewis, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—nov8,14

POEMS.

CHRIST UNRECOGNIZED.

A waif upon the cheerless, wintry street,
Breasted the driving snow, the scathing sleet;

A little lad threaded the city's ways,
Gulfooled of heart, with pure and trustful gaze.

And yet, "Oh, had I wealth beyond compare,
Or noble talents, Lord, or genius rare.

That night in dream my Saviour said to me,
"Thou lovest Me? Alas! how can it be?"

"SHANDON BELLS."

With deep affection and recollection,
I often think of those Shandon bells,

Fling round my cradle their magic spells,
And thus grow fonder, sweet Coric,

I've heard bells chiming full many a chime 'th,
Tolling sublime in cathedral shrine;

I've heard bells tolling old Adrian's Mole in,
Their thunder rolling from Vatican;

There's a bell in Moscow, while on In Saint Sophia the Turkman gets;

Such empty phantom I freely grant them;
But there's an anthem more dear to me;

With the bells of Shandon that sound
So grand on
The pleasant waters of the river Lee.

The true worth of a man is to be measured by the objects he pursues.

The Secret of Beauty.

The real sculptors of the face are not from without; they are hands untroubled working from within.
Every thought is an artist. Every purpose cuts like a chisel.

Spring Cleaning.

Burn and Give Away.
Use your spare moments before-hand straightening up every drawer in the dressers and chiffoniers.

Clean upstairs first. Do the curtains, shades, and stand-covers and downstairs the curtains, cushion-covers, etc., and have them ready.

For windows, mirrors and picture glasses use a tablespoonful of kerosene to a large basin of hot water.

Go through your closets and wardrobes. Don't shift all the old clothing up to the attic.

Hang the curtains in new folds and change the furniture about.

When cleaning carry a notebook and pencil in your pocket, and jot down as they come; repairs that cannot be done at the moment.

The Mustard Bath.
In this modern day of beauty and health medicated and perfumed baths are as popular as in the ancient times.

The result of this is a general feeling of well-being, and the nerves benefit because the condition of the capillaries allows a quick interchange of the fluids in the body.

So when one goes to sleep after a mustard bath—and a mustard bath should only be taken the last thing before going to bed—the system has no difficulty in recovering from the labors of the day.

Are Afternoon Teas Worth While.
The afternoon tea as a function alone may be classed as pastime for the idle rich.

Receptions (apart from Court functions) are admittedly producing a social rivalry, which some even to society hostesses who conform to its customs.

Lord Justice Vaughan Williams once said, in his quaint way: "Eloquence has ceased to be fashionable (except in patent cases)." His Lordship had observed the fact that legal oratory is almost extinct—that pleaders are few who can relate simple facts in an interesting fashion—still fewer whose speeches reveal a cultured choice of language.

This Lordship may have had in mind, when he uttered this remark, some such extraordinary sentence as that which came from the lips of a learned King's Counsel when examining a witness some months ago: "Did you," he said, "I know you did not, but I am bound to put it to you—on the 25th—it was not the 25th really, it was the 21st—it is a mistake in my brief—see the defendant—be it not the defendant really, he is the plaintiff—there is a counterclaim, you would not understand that—or no?" "Yes or no, what?" answered the startled witness. That is no means a unique example of legal lucidity; its counterpart may be heard almost every day.

Many of our great lawyers are bound down to the stereotyped expression. Certainly it would be difficult to find any prominent member of the Bar who had enough of the genius of oratory to secure effects by wit, inventing words, as did the Irish lawyer, Egan:

Once, when at a loss for an appropriate adjective, he referred to a prisoner as "this magnificent specimen," a fine-sounding phrase, which it would be difficult to define from any dictionary. On another occasion he had to follow a counsel whose eloquent speech visibly impressed the jury. "I jumped Egan," "My learned friend, gentlemen, may run away with the idle notion that all this loud and empty declamation of his has secured for him your verdict; but gentlemen, I know you too well—I have known you too long—I have experienced too often already that twelve men of your commanding sense and discrimination will not and cannot be led away by the dark oblivion of a brow."

Let that eye alone, and rub the other one."
Thinking he was chatting me, I only rubbed the harder.

"I know the doctors think they know it all; but they don't, and if you will let that eye alone and work on the other one you will soon have the cinder out," shouted the engineer.

I did as he directed, and soon felt the cinder down near the inner canthus, and made ready to take it out.

"Let it alone and keep at the well eye," again shouted the engineer.

I did so for a minute longer, and then, looking into a small glass the engineer handed me, I saw the offender on my cheek. I have tried it many times since, always with success.

The Oratory of The Law Courts.
FORENSIC ELOCUTION IN A BAD WAY.
That oratory is no longer a profession—that it has lost its power and its scarce known, even in Parliament—that it no longer rigour absolute in important affairs of State—is the melancholy complaint of Mr. Fredrick Payler, in Macmillan's.

Especially with the man of law is oratory a failing force;
When the law-giver and the legislator were combined in one individual, eloquence was a tremendous power.

When the law-giver and the legislator were combined in one individual, eloquence was a tremendous power. Brilliance of language was often necessary then to hide weakness in the law; now the two are separate entities, and the law-giver needs knowledge of jurisprudence more than of rhetoric.

Hence in courts of law eloquence has gradually lapsed into plain colloquy. So far the way is clear; by plain colloquy a result not wholly unattainable to the practical spirit of the age would be reached. But have we not passed that limit and some very near the antithesis of deliberate oratory—slipped, in fact, into an era of carelessness, from which escape seems difficult? It, as many people hold, the law is as much an ungodly jumble now as Cronwell described it, the need cannot be growing less for expounding and presenting it in language well chosen, if not choice and elegant.

How the Moon Was Born.

IF THERE HAD BEEN NO MOON WE SHOULD HAVE NO LAND.

The theory is now generally accepted that the moon originally was part of the earth, and had been separated from it by centrifugal force.

Yet to the great celestial forces, whose effects we see in daily operation in the heavens about us, not only such a result as this, but even the crushing and utter annihilation of our tiny earth, would be a mere bagatelle in a few seconds.

As the part of the earth's crust near the present islands of New Zealand began to rise, in obedience to the centrifugal force developed by the earth's rotation, the crust on the opposite side cracked and split in two, forming the bed of the Atlantic ocean.

Before the crack could widen more than 2,000 miles the pulp became so intense that a huge, roughly circular piece, forming nearly three-quarters of the earth's whole crust, was taken out of the middle and carried away to form the moon.

This left a continent on each side of the Pacific. Thus the Atlantic bed was formed only a few moments before that of the Pacific, and the necessity for two chief oceans instead of one is made fully apparent.

It seems almost impossible to imagine this thrown-out-of-an-area cov-

Feel His Bumps.

In the Young Woman a phenologist, Mr. James Webb, seriously discusses the benefits to be derived from a scientific study of one's intended husband before making the final plunge.

It has been said that persons should marry those with temperaments and dispositions different from their own. This is fairly sound advice when rightly understood, i.e., where certain characteristics are not unduly prominent in both, but all married people should possess much in common.

And now to the actual work of selection. Persons with heads 6 inches wide should marry husbands with heads 6 inches wide, with heads less than 6 inches wide the wider head will provide energy, aggression, and perseverance; the narrower head softness and forgiveness.

The average adult head has a diameter of only 22 inches, and the Translations From Hindu Verse.

A cynical French critic has said that translations are one or other of two things, false beauties or ugly faithfulneses. That is an opinion hardly endorsed by the world at large.

The mystic religious thought of the East is found in several short poems dealing especially with the thought of death, while in one of them is the longed-for "Bridegroom."

O death! the crown, and not the end of life, for thee my yearning eyes keep watch through joys and miseries;

Haste, bridegroom to the loved one's door!
The bride shall leave her home, her bow;

Kindred and friends and house alight
And in the vast and silent night
Shall meet her wedded lord alone.

These, Infinite God, with my whole being, I greet!
Let all my senses, in abasement meet,
Spread out and touch the world beneath thy feet.

Let all my senses, in their divinity,
Finding one channel to the silent sea,
In voiceless adoration wait on thee.

Especially all that army of them that toll that the public may be amused had a day of rest. The actors let go their paint and performance.

Justice Vaughan Williams, in his quaint way: "Elohas ceased to be fashionable in patent cases." His lordship served the fact that legal orators almost extinct—that pleaders who can relate simple facts interesting fashion—still fewer speeches reveal a cultural lordship may have had in then he uttered this remark. An extraordinary sentence as it came from the lips of a King's Council when examined some months ago. "I am bound to put it to you 25th—it was not the 26th was the 24th—it is a mistake—see the defendant—he is defendant really, he is the there is a counterclaim, but I did not understand that—yes "Yes or no, what?" answered a startled witness. That is by a unique example of legal its counterpart may be heard every day.

THE DIFFERENCE.

In consequence of the great success of Molassine Meal, other foods containing molasses have been put on the market. Sellers are frequently asked—

What is the difference between MOLASSINE MEAL and . . . ."

The answer is, that many other sugar foods are simple imitations of MOLASSINE MEAL and do not contain any antiseptic, digestive, health-giving, worm-destroying properties.

Further, to give some of these molassed foods in quantities to cattle is dangerous, as they contain unneutralised potash salts, which have an injurious effect on the animal organism, frequently causing purgation and death.

St. Patrick's Day at Holyrood.

St. Patrick's Day, the festival of the great Irish Saint, was celebrated with the usual festivities at Holyrood. The Star of the Sea Association held its annual parade from the hall to the Church of Holy Cross, and return, and not for some years have so many members attended. This annual event attracts not only the attention and admiration of our own people, but also draws visitors from the neighboring towns, the city and from "down the bay." The day was an ideal one for the parade. From early morn, many flags floated to the breeze, many people slowly wended their way to the Church—the males sporting the dear little Shamrock and the females garlands of green and gold, and by eleven o'clock the church was crowded to the doors with a congregation assembled for the special purpose of honoring St. Patrick, Ireland's great Saint and Apostle. The Star of the Sea Association accompanied by the Carbonear Catholic Cadet Band, arrived at the church just at 11 o'clock. Mass was celebrated by Rev. W. P. Finn, P.P., and Spiritual Director of the Association.
The Altar was beautifully decorated and ornamented—the frontispiece being a large picture of the Saint During and after mass the choir and the band sang and played some appropriate Irish music. After the communion, Father Finn preached an eloquent panegyric on Ireland's great Saint. From texts he quoted he showed that one of the best ways to praise God was through his Saints and they were there to-day to praise God through the great Saint Patrick —the Apostle of Ireland. Ireland's conversion to Christianity, her hero-sacrifices and struggles to retain the faith of her great apostle were told with a fervour and eloquence which held the sympathetic attention of the large congregation. Among the very nice points the preacher developed in the course of his sermon, was the prayerfulness of the Irish nation. Almost every salutation was wrapped in prayer, and to that was doubtless due her Catholicity, her purity, her patriotism and the constancy of her agitation for her right to Home Rule, which was now all but granted to a long suffering people. Father Finn's touching and beautiful discourse was most favorably commented upon Some city folk thus expressed themselves: they would come to Holyrood to hear the sermon alone.
After mass the "Stars" reformed their ranks, and proceeded on their way back to their hall. A halt was made at the Presbytery when President Veitch, in a neatly and briefly worded speech, conveyed the greetings of the Association to Rev. Father Finn, at Parish Priest and Spiritual Director Father Finn replied from the balcony thanking President Veitch for his kind and thoughtful greetings, complimenting the Society on its turn out, and encouraging the hope that next year's ranks will be greatly increased, and that they will be able to sing "Erin-go-Braugh" over a united and free Ireland. Cheers for Father Finn, for the Carbonear Cadet Band and for the Star of the Sea Association were given, and the march was resumed, and the Association returned to their hall. Speeches congratulatory to the Association on the success of the day's parade, to the Carbonear Cadet Band for its share in the success by its beautiful and enlivening renditions of music, to Rev.
Father Finn for his touching and beautiful sermon—a masterpiece of oratory which will not soon be forgotten; and to the hopeful prospect of Ireland getting Home Rule before the next parade, were made by President Veitch, Treasurer Carróil, Secretary Dwyer and Capt. Lewis, and a veto of thanks tendered the band for its gratuitous services to the Association was happily and heartily responded to by band master J. P. Mackey.

The attraction of the night was the drama, "Captain Jack," produced by the Amusement Committee to a large audience in the Star Hall. The piece was very creditably presented, and Miss Lizzie Maher who staged the piece and who played the leading lady, Miss B. Mallowney, B. Kennedy and L. Kennedy also acted their parts most satisfactorily, and the gentlemen of the troupe, Messrs. John Hammon, C. Kennedy, M. Mallowney,
A. Hogan, B. Walsh and C. Byrne were equally acceptable, and the piece went off splendidly and without a hitch. During the acts songs were sung by Messrs. B. Mallowney, B.
Kennedy, L. Kennedy and Wadden (of the city) an cheerfulness of the applause for one and all testified most conclusively to the enjoyment of the audience. Mr. A. Maher assisted in the staging of the play and the providing of scenery. The dance that followed was well patronized. Fiddler Ghaneey kept his patrons in raptures chasing the flowing hours with flying feet. Miss Maher's supper table refreshed the hungry dancers and considerably increased the night's proceeds. The play, the dance, and the supper were most acceptable to their patrons, and probably never on a St. Patrick's night was there a more social time or more satisfied audiences. Among the visitors were Messrs. Callahan and Wadden (of the city) G. Kennedy, M. H. A., Magistrate O'Toole, Conception,
Woodford, Hr. Main, and Doyle, South Shore, Mr. Kennedy (Avondale).

W. F. Finn P. P., who appeared to be well pleased with the performances.
It will be repeated on Easter Monday night and we hope with equally successful results.

10 Cent "Cascarets" Straighten You Up

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach,
Constipated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by morning.

Get a 10-cent box now.
Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constituted waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never

most satisfactorily, and the gentlemen of the troupe, Messrs. John
Hammon, C. Kennedy, M. Mallowney,
A. Hogan, B. Walsh and C. Byrne
were equally acceptable, and the piece went off splendidly and without

The One to Own if You Can Own But One.

That is what a critical user of a "Globe-Wernicke" cabinet says of his equipment. Another says "It leaves nothing to be desired." Another says "So complete yet so concise." Another "Perfection as a filing arrangement." Another "It is really indispensable." Another "A surprising advance in handling records." Another "A welcome improvement in office conditions"—and so on. The extensive sale of "Globe" filing cabinets in St. John's is by no means as remarkable as the abundant evidence that it is on merit alone that these devices have earned such generous appreciation. For certain when you become a user you will be well contented with your adaptable and reliable outfit. Mr. Percie Johnson has your catalogue ready for the asking as well as other necessary details.

Fishery News.

Ice Moving Off—Better Results Anticipated.

The Board of Trade to-day received the following report of the cod fishery on the Western Banks:—

"Sixteen dories and skiffs with three boats are fishing. No bankers but 50 schooners from the grounds have arrived. Prospects are not good just now. Bait is being obtained from Bonne Bay. The weather for the week was fairly good with E and S. E. winds. Owing to the ice hanging on the shore and then running off in strings over the fishing grounds operations by the fishermen have been hampered. However, with the ice going off the shore, better results are expected. The total catch is 1,971 quintals and for last week 56."

THE WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF
PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS
has surprised us. We can do no greater favor for those ladies of Newfoundland who are not yet using them than to recommend that they try one. Even the simplest street or house dress made after PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS has the French chic and style admired by all good dressers. Your dress can have them too, but you must use PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS.
