CHAPTER VII.
Decima stopped short and uttered an exclamation of delight. It was one of those places which Meadows and Marcus Stone love to paint. An old, far-stretching, house of red brick almost black with age, and draped with ivy and clematis. Its redness was relieved and accentuated by the white stone sills and copings, and still further by the white marble lions which, at intervals, reared themselves on the massive pedestals of the broad terrace which was approached by a wide flight of marble steps, and shone like newly fallen snow in the moonlight.

"How's that?" asked Bobby.
Decima could scarcely respond for a moment, then she said:
"Oh, it is lovely, lovely! It is like a picture. It is like the house in Tennyson's poem. You know, Bobby?"
"Sorry, Tennyson's poems don't come in the examination papers. But it is pretty."
"Pretty!" exclaimed Decima, reproachfully. "It isn't pretty, Bobby, dear; it is magnificent! But how still it is! And there are no lights in the windows; see, they are all dark. And there is no smoke from the chimneys. What chimneys they are, too! Who lives there?"
"No one," replied Bobby. "Let's sit down. Here's a seat."
Decima sat down on a rustic bench under a fir, and leaning her chin in her hand, gazed at the house.
"No one? How is that? What is the place called, Bobby?"
"Leafmore," he said.
"What a pretty name!" She repeated it. "And whom does it belong to? Not a city man, like Mr.—of The First—what is his name?"
"Not much!" said Bobby, tilting his hat so that he could lean against the red trunk of the giant fir. "This belongs to a man named Gaunt—Lord Gaunt."
"What a singular name," said Decima, dreamily, her eyes fixed on the house.
"Yes; and he is a singular character."
"Do you know him, Bobby?"
"No; I've never seen him. He hasn't been here for years."
"Oh, how strange!" said Decima. "Think of having such a lovely place as this, and not living in it!"
"Yes; it sounds odd and strange, doesn't it? But I think he has several other places as beautiful or more beautiful than this. He is enormously rich and very eccentric."

"How eccentric?" she asked. "What does he do?"
"Well, I don't know quite. He's a great traveler, for one thing. He's the man who discovered Lake Ogwyn. Tremendous find that was! He's a kind of Wandering Jew. Here, there, and everywhere. And—and he doesn't bear the best of reputations."
Decima looked at him innocently. "He is a bad man, do you mean?"
Bobby stared at the end of his cigarette.
"Yes; I fancy so. He gambles. He is the man who lost—or won—I forget which, fifty thousand pounds to one of Prince Walden, the czar's brother, you know?"
"That is a large sum," said Decima.
"But—but—of course it is wicked to gamble; but they both stood the same chance, Bobby?"
Bobby laughed.
"Bravo! Not bad for a retort, my little Quaker!" he said. "But he's a dusky lot in other ways."
"What ways?" she asked, with her pure, innocent eyes upon him.
Bobby fidgeted.
"Oh, all sorts of ways. No, not all sorts of ways—We'll give him his due; he doesn't drink."
"That would be horrible!" said Decima.
Bobby nodded.
"It is only quite recently, during the last three or four years, less, perhaps, that he has been so bad," he said. "They say that he was all right at starting. He came into the title and the estates when he was quite young, and did his duty by them in the most exemplary fashion. Kept the straight line like a pilot-engine for a time, then suddenly he swerved off, and has been rushing down line ever since."
Decima looked puzzled.
"I don't understand how a man with so beautiful a house as this to come to be so wicked," she said, dreamily. "But, Bobby, that reminds me, aren't we trespassing?"
"No," he said. "I know Mr. Bright, the steward. He's an awfully decent chap. He's as fond of the place, and Lord Gaunt himself, as if it and he belonged to him."
"He likes Lord Gaunt, then?"
"Rather! He thinks there is no one like him, and he's awfully fond of talking about him. According to him, Lord Gaunt is a kind of demi-god—the best rider, the best shot, the coolest, bravest man in all the world. He's known him ever since he was a child. Bright was steward here in Lord Gaunt's father's time, and he says there never was such a boy, or such a young man, as this Lord Gaunt was. Bright will talk about him for hours. Sometimes when I'm fishing—there's a splendid stream runs through this place; it's just below that hill—he comes and walks beside me and jabs about 'the young lord', as he calls him, though Gaunt must be quite thirty-one or two, I think."

"There must be some good in a man for another man—and not a relation—to be so fond of him," said Decima, thoughtfully.
Bobby nodded.
"Oh, yes. Bright says that Lord Gaunt was as good as good until something happened to change him. What it was, he doesn't know. Something with a woman in it, I expect."
"A woman?" said Decima, turning her eyes upon him. "Why do you say that?"
Bobby lowered his eyes under the direct, innocent gaze.
"Oh, it's usual to say that. I don't know anything about it. Bright himself doesn't know. All he knows is that Lord Gaunt is letting this estate—and the others, I suppose—go to rack and ruin from neglect. He won't come down to see it, he doesn't answer any letters, and, in short, behaves as if he didn't care a brass farthing for the place. Bright does what he can to keep things straight, but of course there are heaps of things he can't do, and that's why the place looks so desolate."
"The house is like that poem of Hood's," said Decima, dreamily.
"It's a lovely place inside," said Bobby. "I'll take you in some day. Bright has given me the run of it. So far as I am concerned, I don't care how long Lord Gaunt keeps away. I come here to fish, and I often come here to work, and sometimes I take a turn in the picture gallery—there is a perfectly lovely collection, a priceless collection of the old masters, especially the Flemish—and now and again I almost fancy I'm the proprietor of the whole show. I wish I were."
"Perhaps you would be as unhappy," said Decima.
Bobby laughed—the young man's laugh.
"Oh, I don't know about being unhappy. I should think Lord Gaunt has a high old time of it. He is tremendously rich, awfully handsome, according to Bright, and a devil-may-care sort of fellow, evidently, or he wouldn't let things here slide as he does. Bright says the tenants' places—the homesteads and all that—are going to rack and ruin; and he—that's Bright—can't do anything without Lord Gaunt's authority, and Gaunt won't write or take any notice. MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest oftentimes. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."
—Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

happy! I should say he was as happy as a sand boy."
"Aunt Pauline says that no one is happy who does not do his duty."
"Aunt Pauline is as good as a copy-book heading," said Bobby, irreverently. "No wonder you are such a saint. But come on; we'd better be going back, or the governor will blow up the house—he has invented a new dynamic force; it's to put an end to the modern system of warfare. You fire it out of an eighty-tonner, and it annihilates the enemy at one shot. Come on!"
Decima rose, with her eyes still on the picturesque house, lying so still and deserted in the moonlight, and they went back through the wooden gate and along the road.
As they approached the new and imposing entrance to The Firs, Bobby sniffed the evening air.
"Some one smoking a cigar; and a strong one," he remarked.
A moment afterward, Decima saw a man standing just inside The Firs' gate. He was a shortish man, young, with a clean-shaven face. He was in evening-dress, with the dinner-jacket which bachelors nowadays affect, and looked particularly spruce and alert.
"Mr. Theodore Mershon," said Bobby, under his breath.
As they came up to the gate, Mr. Mershon turned his head and looked at them, recognized Bobby, and raised his hat in a rather cool and supercilious way; but as Decima moved from the shadow of a tree and came into the moonlight, Mr. Mershon saw her distinctly, and his sharp eyes scanned her with a critical stare. As he looked, his manner changed, and he took a step or two forward and held out his hand to Bobby.
"How do you do, Deane?" he said; but though he addressed Bobby, his sharp eyes were fixed on the girl's lovely face.
Bobby replied coolly enough, and would have passed on, but Mr. Mershon detained him with a question.
"Been for a stroll?" he said; and Decima noticed that his voice was thin, quick and sharp, in harmony with his face.
"Yes," said Bobby. "My sister and I—this is my sister, Mr. Mershon."
Nothing would have induced him to omit the "Mr."
Mr. Mershon raised his hat again and bowed.
"I didn't know Miss Deane was down here," he said. "In fact, I didn't know you had a sister."
"She has only just come down," said Bobby, rather coldly. "It's a fine night, isn't it?"
"Very. And you have only just come to Stretton, Miss Deane?" said Mr. Mershon, his eyes scanning her face for a moment, and then turned aside, so that they were hidden from her, as she replied:
"Only to-night."
"Well, it's too early to ask you if you like it," he said. "But I hope you will. Have you been abroad?"
"I have been living with an aunt," said Decima; and she, too, spoke rather coldly, for something in the man's face or his voice or his manner was repellent to her.
He shot a glance at her, and averted his eyes again.
"Ah, you come at a nice time of the year. The place looks at its best now. By the way, Deane"—he glanced at Bobby—"I was going to ask if you and your father would dine with me some night—"

"My father never dines out," said Bobby, somewhat stiffly.
Mr. Mershon looked from him to Decima.
"Oh! Perhaps you and Miss Deane would honor me? I will have the pleasure of calling on you, if you will allow me, and we can arrange a night. I should like to show Miss Deane—your father—the new palm-house. Will you come?"
He looked for an instant at Decima—an instant in which his sharp eyes seemed to take in the whole of her face and form.
Decima's frank eyes rested on him placidly.
"Perhaps," she said in her direct way, "if my father or brother—"
"Better say 'Yes,' and name a day, Deane," he said. "Say next Tuesday. I'll come over and try and persuade your father."
Bobby was old enough to know that this was not the proper mode of invitation, and he colored with boyish embarrassment.
Mershon glanced at him, bit his lip and colored, as if he saw his mistake.
"I'll write," he said. "Good-night."
He did not turn into the drive, but stood and watched them as they passed on.
"By Heaven! what a lovely creature!" he said to himself. "Fancy that old maniac having a daughter like that! Look like—like—I don't know what she looks like."
"What a strange man!" said Decima, when they had got out of hearing.
"Yes, he's a rum fish," said Bobby.
"Awfully bad form, pressing us to dine with him, wasn't it?"
"I suppose it was," said Decima.
"Shall you go?"
"No," said Bobby. Then he added: "Would you like to?"
"Oh, no. Why should I?"
"It might be fun," said Bobby.
"Well, see. Did you see the diamond stud in the shirt-front? That sort of man always wears a diamond stud. It is the mark of the beast. And did you notice that his eyes never met yours? Sort of man I distrust. But I'm rather curious to see what kind of a dinner he would put on. We'll see. Here you are, 'the lights of home!' I'll go into the laboratory and see if the governor is still there."
He opened the door and looked in.
"Gone to roost, the saints be praised! And you'd better go to your little bed, sister mine. Oh, you don't want to kiss me, do you? Well, it's the first night—"
He submitted to the embrace, and Decima ran up to her room.
She slept like a top—if ever the gods are envious, it is of the blessed top of youth—and in the morning came down "fresh as the rose that's gemmed with dew."

There's nothing more important to the bedroom than the Bed itself, is there? From the point of usefulness or ornament it ranks first. Does your Bed suit your taste? Does it harmonize with your room? Does it give you the sleep-comfort you need? No? Well, then it's time to discard it and get another, quick.

We are showing All-Brass, Brass and Enamel, and All-Enamel Beds in all sizes and very fine designs. Each and all of which Beds can be fitted with Springs and Wool or Felt Mattresses if desired.

Only for ladies who end corns

Dainty shoes are only for those who end corns. The way is simple, quick and easy, and is sure. Millions of people employ it. Apply Blue-jay, the liquid or the plaster. That touch will stop the pain. Then wait a little and the corn will loosen and come out. Then why does anybody suffer corns? Just because they don't know. They pare corns and keep them. Or they pad them. Or they use a treatment harsh and ineffective.

Blue-jay is scientific. This world-famed laboratory created it. Year after year, it is keeping millions entirely free from corns. Perhaps half the corns that start are now ended by it.

Ask your druggist for Blue-jay. Learn tonight how much it means to you.

British Prisoners in Russia Must Be Released at Once.

Foreign Office Sends Ultimatum-- Cessation of Polish - Lithuanian Hostilities -- Portuguese Strike Exaggerated -- Fatal Explosion on Oil-Tanker.

RUSSIAN AND BRITISH PRISONERS.

LONDON, Oct. 7. London cable to the Montreal press says it was stated officially today that the Russian Government had agreed to Lord Curzon's ultimatum demanding immediate release of all British prisoners. The Curzon note there could be no agreement or suspension of trade until Russia consented to the release of prisoners. The terms of the Russian reply was said to have been favorable.

SPANISH AND LITHUANIANS STOP FIGHTING.

RIGA, Oct. 7. Military operations between the Poles and Lithuanians have ceased, it was announced at Polish headquarters today. The statement was made in connection with the announcement that the Allied mission on the Polish-Lithuanian situation had arrived at Warsaw yesterday.

EXPLOSION ON OIL TANKER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. Six men were killed and more than a score injured this afternoon in an explosion which wrecked the forward compartment of the British tanker G. Crowe, of Toronto, undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn shipyard. The blast which endangered the lives of more than two hundred workmen employed on the ship's deck is believed to have been caused when gases from an empty oil tank were ignited by a new torch. City detectives, representatives of the Fire Marshal's office, and men of the Department of Justice, however, began an immediate investigation. Several workmen were trapped in the hold of the vessel, white scores of others were swept from the decks by the explosion. One man was thrown more than 100 feet in the air, crashing to death.

EXAGGERATED.

LONDON, Oct. 7. Dispatches received here from Madrid telling of wide-spread strikes in Portugal, declared to be of a revolutionary character, drew a statement today from the Portuguese Legation in London that these reports of Spanish origin are exaggerated out of all proportion. The Legation made public a telegram from Portugal dated last evening, which only refers to a partial railway strike and says public order is undisturbed in any way.

OFF ON TRANS-CANADA FLIGHT.

HALIFAX, Oct. 7. Colonel Robert Leckie, D.S.O., and Major Basil D. Hobbs, D.S.O., "hopped off" in a Fairy seaplane on the first leg of the Canadian Air Board trans-Canada flight at eight o'clock this morning. Two hours and forty-five minutes later they were reported over St. John, N.B. Major A. B. Shearer, who followed the Fairy plane in a Halifax Station flying boat, was forced to return to the base. Leckie expected to make Riviere Du Loup before stopping.

BROOKLYN WINS AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7. Sherrad Smith, Brooklyn left hander, won a place in the baseball hall of fame to-day when he held Cleveland batters helpless in the third game of the world series and led the dodgers to a two to one victory over the American League pennant winners. Last night the name of Burleigh Grimes, spitball expert, was on the tongue of every Brooklyn fan. Smith is here tonight, for he duplicated Grimes' feat of yesterday.

Salt for Curling.

Two cargoes of salt are to arrive at Curling shortly from Turk's Island by the schooners Elizabeth Howard and Louise Howard, says the Western Star. We understand Capt. Howard will dispose of about 1,200 lbs. salt at Curling and Bonne Bay and load both his schooners with salt bulk herring should present favorable conditions continue.

The Downward Pressure

Public sentiment is at work to lower prices, and it is getting some results. When public sentiment attains unanimity it is a powerful force.

Of late months, many a speculator has felt the lash applied by public sentiment reflected on the markets. Here and there throughout the country the profiteer has suffered punishment, and suffered in the way he feels most keenly.

Recent experiences, which Henry Ford has dramatized, shows that a downward pressure may be exerted by a public attitude of economical buying. That the public should think and act economically is, therefore, most desirable in the interests of a lower cost of living. And the best of it is that the public is doing that very thing. Extravagance has gone bargain-hunting.

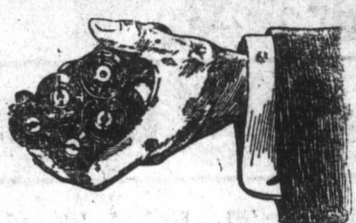

Only those who have swallowed the theory that all high prices are due to profiteering look for a sudden, permanent drop in prices. The reason why prices generally will not drop suddenly is that the main cause of high prices is not profiteering, but high growing, manufacturing or transportation costs. A general lowering of all these must take some time.

Sudden shifts in industry are not altogether healthy signs. Temporary relief comes high at the price of permanent trouble. What the good citizen expects is to take what help he can find as he goes along and wait with all the patience he can muster for the good old times again.—Montreal Daily Star.

Re-Marriage Prohibition Only Cure for Divorce.

New York.—(Associated Press)—Prohibition of the re-marriage of divorcees during the life of either party is the "only effective way to cure the divorce evil," declared Supreme Court Justice Russell Benedict in an opinion handed down here. Many years upon the bench has proved Justice Benedict said, that "a large proportion of divorce actions would never have been brought if the plaintiff were prohibited from contracting a new alliance, arrangements for which are not unfrequently made before the suit is begun.

Sale and Sociable a Big Success.

The vegetable sale and sociable arranged by the Ladies' Committee of St. Joseph's Parish, which opened on Wednesday evening was a big success both financially and otherwise. Last evening the sale of vegetables was concluded after which a concert under the direction of Miss Ida Howlett was given. Songs were rendered by the following ladies and gentlemen: Miss Bride Mullings, Miss Rose Brophy, Miss Stella Shea, Miss A. Murphy, Mrs. C. J. Cahill, Miss Olive Major, Mrs. Charles Garland, Mrs. E. J. Ring, Miss Ida Howlett, Messrs. Fred Bradshaw, Sandy Laurence, Ray Jardine and P. F. Moore, whilst a French horn solo by Mr. Arthur Bully and a guitar solo by Mr. Jack Walsh were much enjoyed by the large audience present. At the conclusion of the concert an auction took place of all that was left over and with Mr. P. F. Moore as auctioneer a goodly sum was realized. The proceeds amounted to a considerable amount and will be devoted to defraying expenses in connection with the new building.

Besieged for Employment.

Yesterday evening the Lady of Gaspe berthed at A. H. Murray's wharf to discharge her cargo. The stevedore, Mr. H. Bartlett wanted about 50 men to work at unloading, but he was besieged by nearly 300 men looking for employment. The same conditions are experienced all along the waterfront and a large number of men are walking around idle.

Canadian Vaccination Regulations.
Sives Trouble to Officials and Passengers Alike.
The recent vaccination mandate sent out from Ottawa requiring that all persons entering an out-of-Canada port be vaccinated before being allowed to pass through, has added to the troubles of officials and passengers alike, and turned the immigration shed at the terminus into a veritable hospital, where the shriekings of small children and others forced to comply with the regulations, at one gillar a jab of the needle are heard. Fortunately the Kyle reached her berth at the terminus at 5 o'clock this morning, which allowed nearly one hundred of the one hundred and forty-two passengers who were not previously vaccinated, to pass through the ordeal in time to board the west-bound express, which pulled out on schedule time. In some cases mothers with five and six small tots were put to the inconvenience and expense, and other passengers and officials at the terminus to unnecessary misery as a result of the drastic regulations. That a doctor should accompany the steamer from Port aux Basques and attend to the vaccination of persons while en route, is the only proper solution.—North Sydney Herald, Oct. 5.

Shipping Notes.
The Nova Scotia schooner Clintonia, coal laden from Sydney, reached port yesterday evening.
Steamers Neptune and Walter Kennedy bringing fishing crews from the Straits are due at Trinity to-day.
Schooner Innovation which took part cargo of fish at G. M. Barr's sailed for Port Union yesterday evening where she will finish loading.
Schooner Giant King, 5 days from Lunenburg, arrived in port yesterday and will load fish from A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., for the West Indies.
By the Snelfield which arrived from the Straits last night it is learned that all the fish has now been shipped from there and that most of the crews have left the coast.

S.S. Snelfield from Blanc Sablon via Port Union reached port last night. The Snelfield has about 15000 qtls. of fish aboard and is now berthed at the Furness Wharf where she will complete her cargo.
S.S. Yellowstone is still detained in port. It seems that water and dirt have become mixed with her oil fuel, making it impossible to be used in the vessel's engines. Yesterday men were engaged filtering the oil after which she will refill her tanks and resume the voyage to Rotterdam.

Newfoundlander Killed.
James Doyle, a miner, employed at New Waterford in No. 14 colliery, was killed on Saturday morning, October 2nd, shortly after he had started to work. The man had just left his place where he was digging coal and came out on the main deep and was struck by a fast moving trip which caused his instant death. About twenty cars passed over him and when he was taken from the rails by a companion, life was extinct. The deceased came to this country about eight months ago from Conception Bay, Newfoundland, and was looked upon as a very capable miner and was much respected in the vicinity in which he lived. He is survived by a wife and five small children. One brother, George Doyle, lives in New Waterford.—Sydney Post.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL.
New Waterford, Oct. 4.—The funeral of James Doyle, who was killed here on Saturday, was held this morning from Mt. Carmel Church and was the largest seen here for some time, as many as 1,000 people marched in the procession. The Ancient Order of Hibernians' band, of which the deceased was a member, led the procession, and the division marched in a body, as did also the members of the U.M.W. Rev. J. H. Nicholson celebrated the requiem mass. Interment was made at Mt. Carmel cemetery.

CAPE BRETON FISH BUYERS IN HOLE.
Northern Victoria County fish dealers are being hard hit on account of the slump in price of fish in Upper Canadian and United States centres. One or two of the large Victoria County dealers find themselves with $5,000 and $6,000 worth of stocks on hand, unable to realize what the fish actually cost them. At present there are two dealers from the north county in town arranging with American houses for the purchase of their holdings.—North Sydney Herald.

THE DANGERS OF PROPHECY.

How easy it is to forget! How very easy it is to change one's point of view when the circumstances that surround one's life are changed!

And how very, very foolish it is to say with any surety what one will or will not do in the future. There is a woman in our town whose lack of beauty is often a matter of comment, although she is not strikingly plain. When people are told "There is Mrs. B.'s wife," they always say, "Really! Well, isn't that the prettiest (or the darndest)? Why she is pretty at all, is she? In fact, rather homely" (or words to that effect). And the reason is that Mrs. B., who was a great lover of beauty, always said in his pre-marriage days that he would never marry anybody but a beauty.

Of course having been told by thesis in advance, you realize that I knew nothing of the sort. After I had once lived in the mountains and seen the tender violet light of sunset on the white peaks and the ever-changing curves melting one into another I realized that there is one beauty of the sea and another beauty of the hills—and that those who know them both, must love them both.

She Never Would Fuss Over Her Children.

To descend from the hills to the valleys. I have another friend who was sure that when she had children she was going to be the most sensible mother in the world and never fuss over her children the way some of her friends did. Of course you have guessed it. She is the most super-conscientious, over-careful mother I ever knew.

So it goes. No one can ever say with surety what one will or will not do under circumstances one has not experienced. How fortunate that no one has to!

Fashions and Fads.

Rather large formal hats have brims slightly wider at the sides than elsewhere.

In place of fur or tulle, English women are using moire ribbon as a neck wrap.

A large hat of black velvet is ornamented with loops and loops of silver ribbon.

The sleeves of an evening frock may be merely little shaped caps over the shoulders.

The French are using ribbons in fringes and velvet fringes on their winter millinery.

Crepe de chine will be very popular and is usually embroidered in beads or in wool.

A frock of black duvetyne is trimmed with thick, woolly embroidery in jade green.

A suit of black duvetyne is trimmed with gray squirrel and embroidered in silver.

A sweater of navy silk with silver stripes has collar and cuffs of clipped silver threads.

Taking the place of the much-worn cape, we have now a cape with a large sleeve, cut very low.

Negligees are being extravagantly trimmed with ribbons such as wide satins and gauze-like metals.

An oddly shaped hat of black velvet has a group of six white swansdown balls placed in front.

One More Month of Excitement.

With the United States presidential election a little more than a month away, betting in Wall Street favors the return of Senator Harding, the Republican candidate. It is pointed out by Democrats, however, that Wall Street is usually Republican in its sentiment and it is pointed out further that on some other occasions Wall Street has placed its money on the wrong horse, as for instance, in 1916 when New York financiers offered odds of as high as four to one against the re-election of President Wilson. In both political camps, of course, very optimistic claims are being made. The Democrats are claiming that as usual they will capture the South and enough of the other States to put Cox in the White House. The Republicans count on the New England States, California and Washington, and a number of states in the middle west. In several instances, of course, each side is claiming certain success in the same state. The only thing Republicans and Democrats agree upon is that the next president will come from Ohio, and under the circumstances that seems rather a safe guess.—Sydney Record.

Thoughtful.

I rise each morn at five o'clock, for that seems good to me; but when around my place I walk, I'm quiet as can be. I know the folk who live next door expect to sleep till nine; they won't be bothered, as they snore, by any act of mine. They may be sluggards, thus to sleep, when I am wide awake, and I may think their slumber deep a most profound mistake; and they may hold that I'm a nut, whose fly-wheel backward goes, because I roam around my hut when other men repose. But while I do not bother them, and they don't bother me, our joint existence is a gem, a thing replete with glee. I used to rise at five o'clock, just as I'm doing now; and I would whistle, sing and talk, and holler at the cow. I wanted all the world to know that I had left my bed; and all the world would rise and throw steel boot-jacks at my head. I used to see the windows rise in all the houses near, and angry men, with drowsy eyes, would throw the knick-knacks near. And bricks would hit me as I sat beneath my tree and vine; they often spoiled my Sunday hat and telescoped my spine. This happened often and again, until my lid was wrecked; and so I learned that other men have rights I must respect.

United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman is now facing the alternative of a year's complete rest from work or blindness. Specialists have warned him that there is no other help.

William Proctor Douglas, New York sportsman, whose yacht, Sappho successfully defended the American cup in 1871 from the British challenger Livonia, left a gross estate of $1,167,690. He died at the age of 77. He was a member of the first American polo team, becoming interested in the sport through the activity of James Gordon Bennett.

Bernard M. Baruch, wealthy friend of President Wilson and William G. McAdoo, is enmeshed in the game law. His tribulations nearly displaced at Washington as the dominating theme the question of President Wilson's participation in the Democratic campaign. Mr. Baruch's alleged offence is the shipment of ducks shot in South Carolina to an address in New York State.

The engagement of Prince Alexander, regent of Yugoslavia, and Princess Mary of Roumania, is to be announced. Princess Mary is a great-niece of King Charles I. of Roumania. Prince Alexander is the second son of King Peter of Serbia, and in his 30th year. He received his military education in England. In 1909 his older brother, Prince George, renounced his rights to the throne in favor of Prince Alexander.

Relatives and friends who attended the wedding of Miss Esther Light, of Rye, N.Y., to Mr. Daniel Holmes, of Purchase, agree that Romeo was right and there is nothing in a name. For Miss Light's weight is 462 pounds. The groom weighs 136 pounds.

General Marie Emile Fayolle will come to the United States in place of Marshal Foch, who was unable to accept the invitation of the American Legion, because of unsettled conditions abroad. General Fayolle, regarded as having more to do with the direct employment of American troops than any other French commander, will represent the French government at the legion's convention in Cleveland.

The Washington diplomatic set is keenly interested in the impending arrival of the Princess Bibesco, wife of the new Rumanian minister to the United States. The princess was Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of the former prime minister of Great Britain. She is an exceptionally brilliant young woman, with an inherited aptitude for politics. Her husband, Prince Bibesco, is very wealthy, and they are expected to play at once a considerable role in Washington's international society. At one time the princess, while still Rivetless Ship Proves Success.

Satisfactory Performance of 300-Ton Vessel.

British engineers interested in the building of rivetless ships have been very much encouraged by the satisfactory performances of the 500 ton ship "Fullager" in her sea-going trials. There is not a rivet in this vessel from bow to stern; everything is electrically welded.

The design was arranged so as to get the best results from electric welding with the least expenditure of time, labor and materials. Where the plates were joined end on, they were welded with a strap behind and where the plates were lapped a weld was put on both sides. In some cases a water-tight joint was not required, and labor and material were saved

The Advocate's Mistake.

That grandmotherly old paper the Advocate, mouthpiece of Hon. William F. Coaker, and edited by the man who claims he was mistaken in Canada for G. K. Chesterton, until he discovered his own identity, and disclaimed any connection with that literary star, alleges that the West Coast exporters are in full and complete accord with the Fish Regulations. The editor of the Advocate is a wise and intelligent individual, who doubtless knows whereof he speaks, but we would suggest to this erudite journalist that he seek the opinion of the West Coast merchants and fish exporters and discover from them if they agree with his sentiments, as expressed in cold type. Considering that Newfoundland's G.K. has such a superabounding knowledge of the catch and cure of codfish we would scarcely suggest that he knows as much about conditions on the West Coast as a sculpin knows about Hebrew, yet he claims that he is in possession of first chop facts. As to these what about the Burt Islands correspondence? What also about the public meeting at Rose Blanche and the subsequent communications from the Magistrate of Channel to the Acting Premier? What about other messages of protest from all over the West Coast condemning the Fish Regulations? Let the good man of the Advocate answer these questions and not beg them.

So far as the exporters on the West Coast agree to the necessity of the Fish Regulations, we challenge the Advocate to name one man from Stone's Cove, Fortune Bay, to Cape Ray, Burgeo and LaPoile who has expressed an opinion in their favor. Don't hedge now Brother Mews, come out and tell us the real facts. You are so certain of your position that it will not undermine it, if you will not break away from that studied reticence, so characteristic of you, and scatter your information broadcast. Writings, calculated to soothe the feelings of Northern fishermen, do not go down on the West Coast, whether a visit from your august self as editor of the Advocate and Chairman of the Food Control (Sugar) Board would not be made the subject of an ovation, unless it was literally. Conditions on the West Coast are exactly as they have been stated by the Telegram, and have been corroborated by letters and messages from the districts affected by the nefarious Fish Regulations. Ask Burin district what is thought of them. Ask Burin proper, and Grand Bank, and Fortune, and St. Lawrence; ask Harbor Breton, Belleoram, Burgeo, St. Jacques, Channel, and after you have received their answer don't, for heaven's sake, go gulling yourself with the idea that these regulations are not responsible for the prevailing stagnation and depression on the West Coast.

Notes and Comments.

There is no rivalry in a graveyard. Almost any man prefers being great to being good.

A little poverty is a fine thing if it comes early in life.

Touching the easy cull North, any person desiring information may have the same by calling on schoonermasters arriving from that section. These men know what they are talking about.

It is said that the recently formed Association of Fish Exporters is not exactly all that was expected of it, small shippers having practically no say. The voting system is arranged according to the number of quintals shipped by individuals. Invidious distinctions of this nature are likely to become boomerangs.

A Danville, Virginia, despatch says that revenue agents recently poured out on the streets there 200 gallons of moonshine whiskey, captured in a raid. Crowds that watched the "wrecking crew" at work blocked traffic, and every time a runlet was broken, a groan went up.

A nervous old lady was about to cross the Channel, and, as she went on board, began inquiring diligently for the captain. On being asked what she wanted to see him for, she said: "I should like to give him a small tip to keep off the rocks."

Mrs. Philip Snowden has given us an interesting pen-picture of Trotsky and Lenin. Trotsky, she says, is, physically, a remarkably fine-looking man; a Jew, dark and keen, with penetrating eyes and a quiet manner, suggestive of enormous reserves of strength. Lenin is a small man, with a bald head, having a fringe of reddish hair at the back, and a tiny red beard. His mouth is large and his lips thick; his eyes are reddish-brown, and possess the merriest twinkle.

America has gone mad on diamonds. The war profiteers' wives are decked out like Christmas trees, and it was stated that to-day a greater display of glittering gems can be seen in the Chicago theatres than in London or Paris. The stamp of real prosperity in the States is the weight of diamonds a man can hang round his wife's neck. Before the war the yearly American imports of diamonds amounted to four million pounds. This year they amount to twenty million pounds. Pearls also are going strong.

"Sir," writes the indignant H. G. Wells, to the editor of the London Times, "I have recently been the victim of an enterprising American journalist who has fabricated several 'interviews' with me. The method has been to take a few passages from books I have written, smash up some of the sentences with clumsy colloquialisms, and a lie or two, and the thing is done. I should not trouble you with this grievance if I had not just lighted upon a specimen of the gentleman's work with a particularly offensive interpolation."

Cap. 25, entitled 'An Act to Regulate the Exportation of Codfish,' His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to approve the amendment of the Schedule of Prices attached to the Rules and Regulations, made under the said Act, and published in the 'Royal Gazette' under date 11th September last, by the addition of the following:—

Must Furnish Bonds.

Last night the question of New York Bonds came up for discussion before a meeting of the Advisory Board and it was decided that the buyers of fish for shipment to New York would have to furnish bonds in Newfoundland or comply with the fish regulations as regards fish shipments.

Shipping Notes.

- S.S. Corunna leaves Montreal tomorrow for here via Sydney.
- Schooner Lisie D. Peabody sails today for a port in Nova Scotia. This vessel was here with a load of coal to Morey & Co. and had repairs made to her sails.
- S.S. Sachem arrived at Halifax from Sydney Friday morning, and is leaving for here on Sunday.
- S.S. Sable I. leaves North Sydney tomorrow morning for here.
- Schooner Clontonia, 8 days from Sydney bound to Carbonar put into port yesterday and sailed again this forenoon.
- Schooner Mowen, 5 days from Sydney with coal to A. H. Murray, arrived in port yesterday evening.
- Tern schooner Inspiration, 7 days from Sydney with coal to F. H. Ellis & Co., arrived in port this morning.
- Schooner Ruth cleared at Battle Harbor for Gibraltar for orders with 4590 qts. codfish.
- Schooner Little Stephano has cleared for Seville with 4120 qts. Labrador fish.
- Schooner Catherine M. Moulton has cleared from Burgeo for Oporto with 4871 qts. codfish, 259 qts. haddock and ling.
- Schooner Frances E. Moulton is now ready to clear with 6300 qts. codfish from Burgeo. It is now over eighty days since this vessel started loading at Burgeo, and it stands to reason that the first fish put on board will not be remarkable for its quality when discharged. It is said that the culling regulations were responsible for the excessive delay.

Personal.

Miss Bella Hennebury, who was visiting some friends at Sydney River, C.B., arrived home by last night's express after enjoying a very pleasant holiday.

To-Day's Messages.

IRISH POLICE SENTENCES.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7. Dublin Castle, this afternoon, gave out a list of outstanding offenses from January 1st to the week ending October 2. It was accompanied by a statement that it was a significant fact that for all the murders and shootings of police, the number of perpetrators apprehended could be counted on the fingers of one hand. In this fact, the statement adds, might be found the motive for reprisals. The authorities cannot get the men responsible, or if they do they get off through hunger strike or the clemency of Government. No one can be found to testify against them, either through intimidation or because of political sentiment, therefore many of the police feel that drumhead justice is the only way to deal with them.

POLICE CASUALTIES.

DUBLIN, Oct. 7. The police barracks at Feakle, East Clare, were attacked to-day by a large body of armed men. Constable Wm. Stanley was shot dead, and Sergeant Doherty severely wounded. A police patrol was attacked near Pomeyroy, County Tyrone, and one constable was shot through the breast. The other ten members of the party escaped injury.

POSTMEN GO ON STRIKE.

LONDON, Oct. 8. The postmen of Amsterdam struck Thursday, and virtually no mail has been delivered since, according to a despatch to the London Times from Rotterdam.

THIS SHOULD FIT IT.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 8. "I am happy to say," said Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for President, "that I think Great Britain is approaching a solution of the Irish question. I would no more tell Great Britain what to do with Ireland, than I would permit her to tell us what we should do with the Philippines."

SCHOONER RACE POSTPONED.

HALIFAX, Oct. 8. The fishing schooner ocean race for a purse of five thousand dollars, which was to have been sailed off the harbor here to-day, was postponed by the sailing committee when a flat calm greeted the vessels at the starting line at 9 o'clock this morning.

FLIER DELAYED.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8. Col. Robert Leckie, who is attempting a trans-atlantic flight, was still at Riviere du Loup, en route from Halifax this morning, delayed by a severe thunderstorm.

FOR WAR ORPHANS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8. One million dollars, to be devoted to bringing destitute war orphans from Ukraina to this country, will be appealed for, according to a decision arrived at by a meeting of prominent Jews from all parts of Canada held here yesterday.

HAD GOOD NIGHT.

LONDON, Oct. 8. MacSweeney was more refreshed this morning at Brixton, having passed a fairly good night.

Missing Girl Found at Seal Cove.

The 11-year-old girl, Helen Campbell, living with her grandmother, Mrs. Coombs, at 52 Gilbert Street, and missing since Monday was located this morning at Seal Cove and brought back by the shore train to-day. The police have been on the search for her all the week and last evening a report reached them that she was on board a foreign going vessel moored at one of the West End piers, and the description given led the police to intercept themselves. At 11 o'clock last night detectives Byrne, Symonds and Lee visited the vessel and made a complete search, but found no person on board not even a member of the crew. After waiting a while aboard the ship the bosun came from on shore and was questioned. In a mixture of Spanish and English he told the police officers what he knew, admitting that a little girl had been on board on Wednesday and then directed them to her home in New Gower Street. The officers made further enquiries there. The bosun identified the girl who explained her visit to the ship satisfactorily. A house in Casey Street was also visited and enquiries made but nothing was learned concerning the girl's whereabouts.

Adrift.

An incident of the sea is reported from Cow Head. Skipper John Hewlin, the patriarch of Cow Head fishermen, and who has been fishing out of that port for nearly 50 years, has just had a narrow escape from being lost at sea. Soon after he had put out alone in his sailing boat he was seized with giddiness and collapsed. He drifted away in a rough sea but recovered sufficiently to hoist a sail and steer the small craft against a stiff breeze. He made Cow Head with difficulty, and when the facts of his bad experience became known he was warmly congratulated on his escape. Skipper John was the first postmaster at Cow Head, and in a fine type of Newfoundland fisherman, his kindly actions and well known bravery making him exceedingly popular with his fellow fishermen. THE SHOE MEN.

Ward Aides.

And Our Soldiers and Sailors.

During the past two months the life of the sailors and soldiers confined in the several hospitals has been very much brightened by the appointment of Ward Aides, who devote all their time in the hospitals providing for the men recreative employment. Many of the men have shown that innate talent for which Newfoundlanders are remarkable. All who have attempted the work, and that is most of them, have done well; some particularly. Wood-carving, embroidery, weaving, bead work and basket work are among the occupations to which they are giving their attention. Some of the men, have found that the work is so interesting and they have found themselves so much better after it that they are preparing to make a living out of it after they get out of hospital. The Presbyterian Hall has been secured for the third week in November when an exhibition of their work will be made and the public will have an opportunity of seeing, with their own eyes, the good work which has been accomplished by means of the Ward Aides. The Ward Aides were instructed by Miss Evelyn Smith, who in her turn was instructed under the Canadian Civil Re-establishment. This work was accomplished with great success and about a fortnight ago she returned to Canada and Miss Pauline Baird has been appointed supervisor in her stead. The six Ward Aides who do their work so efficiently are: Misses Winnifred Barker, Anna Ledingham, Laura Roper, Susie Taylor, Harriet Willis and Mary Doyle.

HENRY BLAIR

St. John's

From Labrador.

The S.S. Seal arrived in port last night from Labrador ports. She brought a small freight and several passengers. She was as far north as Hopedale and brought along a full complement of passengers who were landed at different places in Trinity and Conception Bays. The Seal reports foggy weather the whole trip. All the "stationers" who can are now leaving the coast and most of the "floaters" have passed south or are coming up the coast. There is still a good sign of fish from Hopedale up and when the weather is favorable good catches are taken by hook and liners. A number of Nova Scotia bankers which have been fishing on the coast since early in September and were well supplied with bait have done remarkably well. A few of them have left for their home ports with from 800 to 1000 qts., according to reports.

St. John Woman Is Now the Picture of Perfect Health

St. John Man Says Wife Is Like Different Woman Since Taking Tanlac.

"A little more than a month ago my wife didn't have the strength to stay on her feet an hour at a time, but to-day she can do her housework with ease and is the very picture of health." Harold Moses, 78 Erin Street, St. John, N.B., a valued employee of the Lantic Sugar Refineries, recently made this statement while telling of the remarkable results his wife had derived from the use of Tanlac.

"I guess my wife has gone through about as much suffering as any woman ever did," he continued. "It just looked like she couldn't stay out of bed she was so weak and run-down. Lots of mornings she got up and I thought she was feeling better but in a little while she would have to go back to bed again.

"She ate so little that it's hard for me to see how she kept going even as well as she did. Why, all she usually took was a piece of bread and a glass of milk. She said she never felt hungry and that anything else made her sick. She suffered awful bad from gas and from pains in the stomach and side. At night these pains were so bad that she had to use hot applications so they would ease up and let her get a little rest. Whenever she tried to do any of the housework it would exhaust her so that she would have to give up and go to bed.

"This is how she was suffering when she began taking Tanlac but to-day she looks like a different person and says she is feeling better than she has in years. Her appetite is just fine and she can eat anything I can and it never gives her a sign of trouble. Gas has stopped forming and those pains have all gone and she sleeps as sound as any child I ever saw."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Paradise by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne, in Upper Gables by Heber Andrews, in Portland by H. C. Haines, 1 St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. Gushue, in Millertown by Exports Valley Royal Stores, Ltd., in Flat Island by William Sanson, in Jamestown by Joseph Haines and in Lewisporte by Uriah Freake.

Built With the Pavement.

Strolling along the quiet side street without paying sufficient attention, Johnson slipped through an open coal chute in the sidewalk and remained a prisoner there for nearly half an hour. Presently his face lighted up with hope as an elderly gentleman came sedately toward him.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the newcomer as he adjusted his glasses and stared at Johnson in wonder. "Have you fallen through the coal hole?"

A murderous glare shone for a second in the victim's weary eyes; then he smiled sardonically.

"You're mistaken," he replied. "As you seem to be interested in the matter, I am ready to inform you as to what exactly has occurred. I just happened to be in here when the street was made and they built the pavement round me."

Fifty Per Cent. of French Babies Die

Infant mortality has reached an amazing figure in France since the war ended. In Paris it is 50 per cent. Five hundred and nine out of every thousand babies born in France die, as compared with nine per cent. in England and four per cent. in New Zealand, which is said to have the best record.

THE BURDEN OF ANCESTRY.
 (After Seeing the Greek Government Exhibition.)
 It is no easy thing to be
 The offspring of a famous sire;
 Though poets sing of ancestry,
 It is an all-consuming fire,
 And Homer, laurelled by his race,
 Burdened the man who took his place.

The rocks of ancient glories weigh
 In somberness upon the land
 Which wears the name of Greece to-day.
 Men will not see and understand
 That living hearts are just as brave
 As those long mouldered in the grave.

The modern Homer sing to-day,
 Yet few will pause to hear his song;
 The Spartan courage holds at bay
 The tyrant with his forces strong,
 Yet still this bitter phrase is said:
 "Not like the glory of the dead."

Through countless ages, long and grim,
 The Greek has fought for freedom's crown,
 Yet little praise is given him—
 Dusty and old is his renown;
 Though other races rise to fame,
 Dead glories all his courage claim.

It is no easy task to be
 The followers of a giant race,
 Too much the world expects to see
 From those who come to take its place;
 And yet I venture here to say:
 There are great men in Greece to-day.

Youthful Weddings Less Numerous.

Youth is led unwillingly to the altar in postwar England, and girls in their teens and early twenties would rather remain single. These facts are brought out by returns from marriage registries showing that every year boy and girl weddings are getting less numerous.

G.F.S. Addressed by His Lordship the Bishop.

At the annual meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society held in the Synod Building last night His Lordship the Bishop addressed the gathering and in his opening remarks referred to the wonderful service for G.F.S. workers which he attended at St. Paul's Cathedral while in England, the preacher being Bishop Brent of Western New York who carried a message from the G.F.S. in the United States to the G.F.S. in England. Amongst those who sent up contingents to that service was the Rev. Dr. Browne in whose parish His Lordship spent quite a little time, visited their Guild and spoke about Newfoundland. His Lordship urged the members at their meetings this winter to try to get hold of what life means and what it is for. There are two views of life that are prevalent more than any other views and one stands over against the other by way of contrast. The tendency is to value a position for the amount of money it produces, and that gives a false estimate altogether of the meaning of life and of the meaning of work. In the olden times the place was the attraction rather than the amount of money. Another view of life which makes life worth living; not what we can get out of the world but what we can put into it, and that is one of the views the G.F.S. help us to take. Both the motto hymn and motto text expresses the other view of life than the one that centres round ourselves.

Gower St. Girls' Club.

Seventy-five members of the Gower St. Girls' Club were present last evening at the opening social in the basement of the church. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Harold Ayre, Miss Ada Horwood, Vice-President, acted as Chairman, Miss Harrington on behalf of the Club, extended a welcome to the wife of the Pastor, who was present, and expressed the hope that her stay in the city would be a pleasant one. After a short musical programme, a number of games were played, and the serving of refreshments brought to a close a very pleasant evening's entertainment. The Club meets regularly every Thursday evening, and will be glad to receive new members at any time.

Fish and Cull.

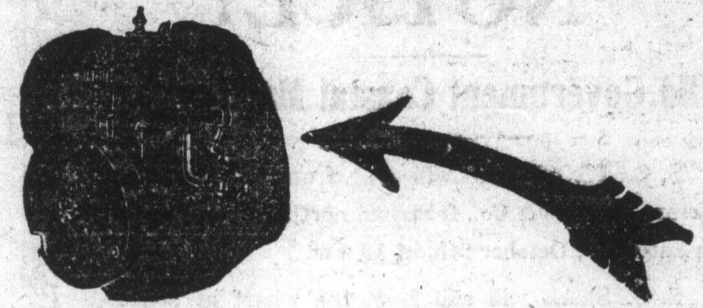

BIG FLEET MAY SOON BE HERE.
The general stagnation prevalent along the water front is becoming more serious as the days of October pass. Very little fish is coming in and the opinion is expressed that the greater part of this seasons catch will be sold and shipped from the Outports, that is if the truck system operating in some places does not become general. It is said that at certain points north, the cull is easier than at St. John's but this is offset by withholding cash payments for 3 months. From the master of a schooner now taking supplies, in port, we learn that most of the schooners to the northward are loaded with fish and ready to sail at the next favorable wind when we may expect a fleet of some 300 schooners along. The fishermen are not satisfied with the present prices and when they arrive they will demand $10 per qt. for average fish. Regarding the cull we were informed by a schooner master that on visiting a fish buying premises North, on the way here, a schooner was discharging Labrador Shore fish and, as it was coming out of the hold it was being packed in casks ready for shipment to market, very little being thrown out, though it appeared to be of poor quality. Whether the fish was culled before going aboard the schooner or not our informant did not know.

Her First Thought.

(From the Boston Transcript.)
A woman from the Middle West spent a few weeks in Gloucester last summer and in conversation with a new acquaintance she made known the fact that it was her very first glimpse of the ocean.
"It must have been quite a treat," remarked the other. "And how did the ocean impress you?"

"Well," was the reply, "when I saw the amount of water they have here it struck me that fish might be a little bit cheaper."

Lunenburg Fishing Schooners' Race.

Nine Entrants to Sailing Competition.

Hallifax, Oct. 4.—There are now nine entrants for the sailing contest between Lunenburg schooners, which is the great feature event of the Halifax Carnival, beginning on Friday. The names of the schooners entered, together with their captains, are as follows:

'Gilbert Walters,' Capt. Angus Walters.
'Delewana,' Capt. T. Himmelman.
'Freda Himmelman,' Capt. Alvin Himmelman.
'Independent,' Capt. Albert Himmelman.
'Bernie Zinck,' Capt. Danny Zinck.
'Democracy,' Capt. Wm. Deal.
'Ruby Pentz,'
'Mona Marie,' Capt. Ritcey.
'Alcala,' Capt. Roland Knickle.

Six of the schooners are knock-about type, and three with clipper bows. As there is much local discussion in Lunenburg as to the merits of these types of schooners, the coming race is arousing very much interest. With the exception of two of the schooners, they are all under four years of age, and are either Shelburne or Lunenburg build. As an indication of what the race really constitutes, these vessels average in size a length of one hundred and thirty-five feet over all and carry crews of fifteen each.

Compared with the contestants in the International Yacht race at New York this year, the Shamrock and the Resolute, the Lunenburg schooners in Friday's race measure on an average twenty-five and twenty-nine feet more than the Shamrock and the Resolute respectively. The race promises to be a sight exceedingly unique in nautical racing in Nova Scotia, or for that matter in Canada, and is expected to attract large crowds even from long distances.

Of these vessels, those which will not have arrived in Halifax previously, will come up from Lunenburg on Wednesday and be all in readiness for the race on Friday morning.

An Historic Rock.

A report on the Dome of the Rock of Jerusalem is shortly to be published and will be of great interest to the Mohammedan world. It may not be generally known that this place is the third in sanctity of all the sanctuaries of Islam, and indeed for a short period it actually formed the Kibla towards which all Moslems prostrated themselves in prayer. Among the more important religious associations of this rock we may mention that it was here that David and Solomon were called to repentance and on account of a vision David chose this site for his temple. From this same spot Mohammed ascended to the Seventh Heaven after his night journey from Mecca, and lastly it is to be the scene of the Great Judgment. The historical associations are not less striking, and such famous names as Omar, Abd-el-Malek, Saladin and Suleiman, are all connected with the Rock.—Zanzibar Gazette.

Fuel Scarcity in Russia.

Facing the severe northern winter without supplies of fuel, the Soviet has mobilized the entire population of the capital and forced them into the neighboring forests to cut wood. Men and women under 50 and children over 12 have been withdrawn from their usual occupations and forced to give four days of labor to the State as wood-cutters. Even at this, it is estimated that only a sixth of the fuel necessary to heat Petrograd this winter will be secured. Exposure of the city dwellers to the cold winds where they will hew trees, is expected to result in widespread sickness, owing to the fact that most of them have insufficient clothes and no water-proof boots.

To-Night's Band Concert

PRINCE'S RINK.

The Grand Promenade Concert by the C.C.C. Band takes place to-night in the Prince's Rink at 8.15 and no doubt there will be a large attendance. A special feature in connection with the programme will be the Dance numbers of Lancers, etc., for which the floor space of the Rink will be reserved, and patrons wishing to dance may do so by paying a small fee of 10c. for each dance. The Concert numbers are some of the best rendered by the Band in the Parks. The lady friends of the Band will serve Ice Cream and Drinks during the concert. The entrance fee to the Rink will be 10c. and as the proceeds go towards reducing the debt on their hall and the upkeep of the band, it is to be hoped the band will be greeted with a bumper house to-night.

Fifty Years a Republic.

Fifty years ago this month, as the result of the disaster at Sedan, M. Jules Favre moved that Napoleon Bonaparte and his house should be declared deposed. So great was the excitement that the mob broke through into the Chamber, so that the President, Eugene Schneider, had to declare the sitting at an end. At three o'clock the Senate had to be closed, and the Republic was proclaimed at the Hotel de Ville, and in its name the deputies of Paris, with the exception of Thiers, who refused, met as a Provisional Government. The memory of the next four months, when the Hungarians still haunted thousands of French minds. The Parisians were so reduced that the animals in the Zoological Gardens were slaughtered for food, and a sewer rat was esteemed a delicacy! Need we wonder if the French demand the uttermost farthing now that the day of reckoning has come.—London Morning Post.

Cruelty in Africa.

The Nairobi High Court has done well to convict, with a sentence of two years' imprisonment, a Captain Hawkins, who was charged with almost incredible brutality towards natives—a brutality which led to the death of one of the men. The sentence is not severe for the crime, but it is something to have got a conviction. The people who do these things bring the worst discredit upon our rule. It is difficult, indeed, to estimate the widespread effect of a revelation of this kind. If we are to succeed with the natives of Africa, the community

Avalon Battalion paraded at 8.15 last night, with Lieut.-Colonel Goodridge, O.C. in command, and Major Raley, M.C., Adjutant, Capt. Morris, Bandmaster, Lieuts. Miles, Perlin, Harold and Lance Hayward, Duke Winter, Norman Henry, and W. R. Motty with Major Williams, Quartermaster, and Rev. Jacob Brinton, Battalion Chaplain, who read the prayers at the opening of the parade. Lieuts. Phil and Hubert Rendell and Lieut. F. Emerson and F. Reid were present in mufti. Rev. Lieut. Fletcher, of the Orphans' Company, was absent on sick leave, having contracted a bad cold. A and F Companies were drilled in the usual company exercise as per routine.

During the evening the Armoury was visited by ex-member Corporal Walter McCoubrey, an old member of C Company, absent from Newfoundland for some seven years. All ranks were pleased to see him call and visit his former friends. Corporal McCoubrey, during the war, saw service with Uncle Sam's aviation services and wears the service medal and the American veterans' button. He leaves for his home next week at Lexington, Mass.

Lieut. Phil Rendell was glad to see back again from Montreal where he had been on sick leave. Lieut. Phil spent some time in Montreal Royal Victoria Hospital, having had a very successful operation on his ear by Lt.-Col. Birkett, the celebrated ear and throat specialist of Canada. All ranks are glad to see him back in restored health.

Lieut. Miles has been posted to the command of F Co., and Lieut. Fred Reid also takes future duty with that company.

It was rumored last night Paymaster Lewis is back from England, which is good news, as this financial expert will soon be on his job after three months' holiday.

Capt. Morris, last night, whispered the news that he has contracted for the Methodist College Hall for New Year's Night as well as Easter Monday. His musical combination last night were working like bees in their hive, preparing for the winter's musical work. The coming concert is going to be a top-notch. Capt. Sandy says.

On Sunday next the Battalion will parade at 2.15 p.m. and attend church service in the Cathedral, the occasion being the opening service of the Cathedral Men's Bible Class. The order of march will be: Band, Old Comrades, C Co., F Co., Drums, Colours, K Co., A Co. All ranks will take notice as no leave will be granted.

October 14th is the last day for bringing in recruits under the Recruiting Competition Campaign, for which a prize of a silver cup has been offered.

The following lads have been transferred to Reserve: Lance Corp. G. Skirring, R. Dawe, to C Co.; L. Collymore to reserve and W. Bright to K Co.

The following lads are struck off the strength for non-attendance: F Co., Section 1, F. Hollahan; No. 2 Section, R. Hennebury, G. Peckham, W. Gaulton; No. 3 Section, A. House, E. Hicks, G. Heale, F. J. Benson; No. 4 Section, G. Newport, S. LaFosse, J. Butcher, G. Pearce, G. Bright.

Orderly Officer for the week ending October 14th, is Lieut. Hubert Rendell, Duty Co. A, Duty Chaplain, Rev. A. B. S. Stirling.

The Sports Committee held a meeting last night to try and finalize their recent games which were so badly spoiled by the wet weather.

Capt. C. E. A. Jeffery, formerly of the Royal Canadian Regiment C.E. Forces, has rejoined the Officers' Mess, and has been posted to the command of C Co., Bishop Field College, Major Raley, M.C., being Commandant of C and K Co's.

Assistant Quartermaster Motty was busy last night, with Corporal Whitten, preparing a big shipment of kit for Wabana, Bell Island. The Quartermaster recently had a big shipment of stores from England valued at three hundred pounds sterling, so outport companies can have all their requirements filled, including trousers made by London Stores Dept. The Brigade's activities are like Johnny Walker, "Still going strong."

Basaan's Officers Here.

The Captain, first officer and Chief engineer of the S.S. Basaan arrived in the city yesterday by train from Trepassay on business in connection with the ship. The Basaan's machinery is now out of order and it is expected that she will be towed to this port for repairs. The Furness tug Mouton is now standing by the ship.
