CHAUNTAQUA TO OPEN SEPT. 11th.

The annual Chautauqua Festival will commence on Tuesday, Sept. 11th and will continue until Thursday night following. The program this year promises to be as good or better than that of last year and among the entertainers who will be present during its stay here are William Sterling Battis, who in "Life's Portrayals" shows the wondering audience how many complete personalities a single mortal may have. Mr. Battis is to be at Chautauqua on the opening evening. The same evening and also in the afternoon the Four Artists, will give to the music loving people a program of the usual Chautauqua excellence. Miss Millicent Melrose is a soprano who has had repeated conquests on every circuit she has visited. Miss Anna Brown is also a soprano of unusual ability. Miss Helen Ballein, the contralto and pianist has an unusual personality and musical skill which prove a most pleasing combination. The brilliant young tenor, Donato Colafemina, sprang into fame during the war, when he raised $50,000 at a single mass meeting for Victory Loans. He is now known as "the boy with the $5000 voice."

On Wednesday afternoon and evening the Batting-Mahler entertainers will present a program of monologues, songs, impersonations and musical sketches. Miss Batting has entertained audiences from coast to coast, while Miss Helen Mahler is one of Boston's popular sopranos and is also an accomplished pianist. In the evening besides the above, Chancellor George Henry Bradford, guide and philosopher, will give his forceful lecture, "This Way Up." Mr. Bradford has a special message for boys and girls.

Thursday afternoon and evening closes the engagement and on this day the afternoon is especially devoted to the children when the Pageant, "Her Family on Display," and Prof. Will H. Smith, with his Punch and Judy entertainment will form an afternoon long to be remembered by the younger people. In the evening Julius Caesar Nayphe will present his "Oriental Pageant" which is as unique as his name. Costumes of rare beauty and richness are worn by members of the company, while

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE BY FIRE AND EARTHQUAKE

Casualties from the earthquake and fire total 500,000 and 300,000 houses have been burned in Japan, it is estimated. Property loss in the terror zone will run into billions of dollars. Thousands of bodies are being piled into huge funeral pyres and cremated in order to prevent an outbreak of pestilence. Japanese troops are being concentrated in Tokyo and Yokohama from all parts of the empire to prevent a continuance of vandalism, and the strictest martial law prevails. The Japanese government has commandeered food, medical and building supplies and is conscripting thousands of coolies for rescue work under military supervision.

A gift of $1,000 to the American Red Cross fund for the relief of Japanese earthquake victims was made by the National League.

Julius Caesar Nayphe delivers his lecture on life and customs in Palestine and other countries. Other lectures will be provided during the stay here as well as Junior Chautauqua each day. The programmes promise to be well worth seeing.

EFFECTS OF THE MIGRATORY BIRDS TREATY ACT

When the white man first came to the North American continent, one of the attractions, not least among the many which appealed to these early settlers, was the great abundance of bird life, which not only afforded pleasure to both eye and ear, but was also a definite and unflinching source of food. Since then, the hunting and killing of game birds has been continued by succeeding generations, though the meat now obtained is no longer one of the principal means of subsistence. Men of to-day hunt more particularly for the sport of hunting and for the sake of the recreation afforded by an outing in the unspoiled outdoors. Many a tired business and professional man if it were to be effective. The fulfilment of his annual excursion to the woods, where with his gun he may spend a week or two of pure joy, away from all the cares and worries of his daily life back in civilization, returning, after his brief sojourn in the wilds, rested and strengthened, with renewed ambition to perform his share in the big world's work.

The early hunters brought back with them large bags of game. Then the bags grew smaller, and gradually it became evident to thinking men that our game birds were in danger of extermination if the decrease in their numbers was to continue. In fact, a number of species, once plentiful, have actually become extinct. These include the Eskimo Curlew, the Labrador Duck, the Passenger Pigeon, and the Great Auk. Others, such as the Whooping Crane and the Trumpeter Swan are in exceedingly grave danger of extinction at an early date.

While probably everyone will admit the great need for preserving our game birds as a natural asset, not everyone, perhaps, is fully aware of the value to the farmer and industrialist to all humanity, of the insect-eating birds, because of the immense quantity of injurious insects devoured each year by these birds. Should their numbers become reduced, a marked increase might be observed in the damage to field crops, orchards and forests, caused by insect pests—damage which is estimated to amount to millions of dollars annually in Canada alone.

Many of our Canadian birds, both of the game and the insect-eating varieties, spend the Winter months in the Southern United States, or pass through the United States in the course of their migration, and come back again in the Spring to propagate. It therefore became evident some years ago that any measure, taken with a view to the protection of our migratory birds, must be carried out in co-operation with the United States, if it were to be effective. The fulfilment of his annual excursion to the woods, where with his gun he may spend a week or two of pure joy, away from all the cares and worries of his daily life back in civilization, returning, after his brief sojourn in the wilds, rested and strengthened, with renewed ambition to perform his share in the big world's work.

There was now uniform protection throughout the various States of the Union, with certain open seasons fixed in accordance with local conditions. Through the efforts of Mr. J. B. Harkin, Commissioner, Canadian National Parks, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, by whom the Dominion Act based upon the Treaty is administered. As most of the provinces have amended their game laws to conform with the Migratory Birds Convention Act, thus making it possible for them to enforce the terms of the Treaty within their respective territories, the principal work of the Federal Department, in this connection, is the education of the people to a knowledge of the law and its benefits and the enforcement of the law. It is the duty of every sportsman, wherever he may live, is free to hunt game

HOW SHALL CRIME BE LESSENED?

It is sometimes argued that prompt and severe punishment is no deterrent of crime, and some people instance the fact that in the days when stealing was made punishable by death the prisoners were always full of criminals of all classes. Men were hung for crimes that are often considered lightly at the present day.

The argument, however, hardly holds in the light of modern experience. Outside the active law-enforcing of religion, but acting in concert with it, or as an active outgrowth from it, the greatest deterrents of crime are active public opinion and the certainty of punishment. It might be noted that last year in the city of London with eight million of people within the Metropolitan area, twenty-six murders were committed. Thirteen of the murderers were convicted, of whom three were found to be insane, and the ten others were hanged. In the other thirteen cases the murderers took no chances with the course of law but committed suicide. Not one escaped. In the same period 327 motor cars and cycles were stolen. Of these 314 were recovered by the police and the thieves arrested and convicted. With justice so prompt and punishment so certain, is it any wonder that British wrongdoers are rarer than malefactors in the United States? In the city of New York the convictions for murder are relatively very rare and capital punishment for the crime is far rarer still. Great hold-ups are staged and vast sums of money taken, often in broad daylight. Even Canada at times has not been free in this respect, for instance the big bank robbery a short time ago in Toronto. The criminals made a clean getaway and the fact that they were not captured later is laid purely to apathy and this time not on the part of the police. So long as a gambling chance can be taken, especially with the long end in favor of the criminals, so long will the chance be taken, and crime continues to increase apace. Adequate and certain punishments are the best preventives and public interest must keep wide awake to see that these are provided.

OBITUARY

James H. Payne.

The death took place on Monday night at his home in Granville Ferry of James H. Payne, a well known and highly respected resident, aged sixty-five years. Deceased came here some twenty years ago from Brighton, Eng. and leaves three sons and one daughter; Rex, in Truro; Harry, in Halifax; Sydney, of the Entomological Laboratory, in Annapolis, and Miss Violet, at home. Mrs. Payne predeceased him less than a year ago. He had been suffering from internal trouble a considerable while, but several times seemed to rally so much that some hope had been entertained for his recovery. The funeral was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Watson, with burial in the Granville Cemetery—Spectator.

H. R. Durling, of West Somerville, Mass., is visiting relatives and friends here and in other parts of Annapolis County.

WEDDINGS

Fair—Rice.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Collin C. Rice, Round Hill, on Sept. 3rd, at 10.30 a.m., when her daughter, Freda Marion, became the bride of Herbert Stanley, son of Benj. G. Fair, of Moschelle. Rev. Mr. Parry, rector of St. Paul's, was the officiating clergyman. The bride was given away by her mother and looked very charming in a gown of ivory embroidered silk marquisette and bridal veil with the conventional orange blossoms; she carried a bouquet of asters and ferns and was attended by Miss Mildred Fair, sister of the groom, gowned in white silk organdie carrying a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother, Edward Fair. The wedding march was nicely rendered by Mrs. W. Phinney, of South Farmington, aunt of the bride. Miss Ruth Harris acted as flower girl. The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, ferns and potted plants. Following the reception a dainty breakfast was served, after which the happy couple left for a motor trip through N. S.

The many gifts of silver, cut glass and other valuable presents showed the high esteem in which the bride was held. Her going away gown was a shimmering blue velvet, with hat to match.

The best wishes of many friends are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Fair in their new relationship.

Grimshaw-Wade.

The spacious parlors of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Wade Court St., artistically decorated with cut flowers and blooming plants made a picturesque setting for the wedding of their younger daughter, Edna Pearl, to Mr. Ernest Cecil Grimshaw, late of Halifax, which took place on Wednesday morning, last week.

The immediate scene of the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. E. Underwood, rector of Bridgetown, was the west room. Here a screen had been erected, from which hung the conventional marriage bell and a most effective color scheme carried out. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. A. B. Bishop, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She wore a dress of navy canton crepe, a black picture hat trimmed with feathers, and carried a shower bouquet of bluish roses. Both bride and groom were unattended.

The service over a dainty recherche breakfast was served after which the happy couple were motored to the station to take the train en route to Somerville, Mass., their future home, followed by the good wishes of a host of friends.

The bride's travelling dress was of navy blue serge with grey trimmings and hat to match.

Both the principals in this event are well known and popular in Bridgetown and vicinity—Miss Wade being born here and having moved among a large number of friends, whilst Mr. Grimshaw has been prominent in sporting circles, doing yeoman service for the local baseball team since coming here about three years ago.

Saunders-Parker.

An event of interest to a large circle of friends took place on Wednesday, Sept. 5th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Parker, of South Farmington, when their eldest daughter, Pearl Melinda, was united in marriage to Carl Emerson Saunders, of West Paradise.

Dargie-McDonnell.

A quiet but very pretty home wedding took place Wednesday morning, Sept. 5th, at 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, Clarence, N. S., when Mary McDonnell was united in marriage to Harry Sherman Dargie, of Carlton Corner, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Freestone, with the double ring service.

The parlor was beautifully decorated in yellow and white, with an arch of evergreen and golden-rod. While the wedding march was being played by Miss Minnie Beeler, the bride entered the room becomingly gowned in sand baronet satin, with picture hat of black velvet and lace. She was attended by Miss Jennie Harding, of Halifax, as bridesmaid, while John McDonnell, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served in the dining room. The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of silver black foxes, to the bridesmaid and organist, sterling silver pencils, and to the best man, gold cuff links.

The bride's travelling suit was a tailored suit of blue with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Dargie went by motor to Bridgewater for a two-week's honeymoon trip.

EUROPE'S BIG ARMIES
Europe talks peace and acts war. The great powers plan to scuttle obsolete war vessels and at the same time enter into competitive construction of battleships. The debt-ridden nations have a depleted treasury brought on by greed, folly and wastefulness, yet still squander millions on standing armies.

The most awful of all armed conflicts, fought "to end all wars", has seemingly been an experience without a lasting lesson. Nine years have elapsed since the junkers forced Germany into war, yet there are in some countries bigger standing armies today than there were in 1913. There is nothing of unity in the unbalanced budget which masses of armed men have loaded upon peoples already tax-burdened. They want opportunity to live their lives. They want their young men in the fields and by the firesides. But where is the rainbow? Storm clouds still darken its hues. The cask of gunpowder and threatening torch are as suspicious as ever. The standing armies of Europe in 1913 numbered 3,747,189 men. In 1922 the strength was 4,333,965, an increase of 607,786, despite the compulsory reduction of 696,135 men in the standing armies of Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria. This means that in the remaining states of Europe there has been an increase of 1,303,921, as compared with the year before the beginning of the world war. Where, mid such ominous signs, can the dove find a resting-place? All the nations of the earth, one after the other, were brought into that terrible vortex that dissipated Europe's immense reserves of wealth to the extent of thousands of millions of dollars and killed millions of human beings. Yet, although burnt, they seemingly have no dread of the fire.

Nations that refuse to profit by experience invite calamity. The world must come to its senses, and combine for the preservation of civilization. Today this beneficence evidently is farthest from their thoughts.—Boston Post.

Official announcement is made that a royal commission will be appointed to investigate the industrial troubles in Cape Breton.

REMINISCENCES OF BRIDGETOWN IN THE DAYS GONE BY

ing is the proof: They agreed to pay him a very modest stipend and were anxious to do so, but they were afraid. They remembered that "it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of Heaven," and they loved him so that they never paid him, lest he should become carnally minded, and spend the money on themselves, preferring to injure their own souls rather than to injure his.

There were several members of the Congregation who could have paid the whole amount, but they were fearful of doing so, and spent it upon themselves. What noble self-abnegation! How proud the great Saint James must have been of his church in Elmhurst (late Bridgetown)!

He died in 1862 and on his deathbed bade me not to let me be detained in Nova Scotia.

So I went: full of loyalty and illusions, which he had instilled into me. But what was my disgust when I got to my relatives' house in London to see in their library a life of George Washington and to find that he was as much revered in England as in America. And as to the Church of England, I discovered many spots upon her white robes and as to Dissenters! I found there were shades of them. My father lies in the C. of E. cemetery, which was acquired in his day, and which the congregation is now only stirring itself to put in order.

Among the most prominent men were the Shipleys, James and his son William. They were Englishmen who had arrived in the early days of the town. Of James I know little, except he built Victoria Hall, now the Grey Don Garage. I think it is still the best business building in Bridgetown. The architect seems to have been inspired by the banqueting hall in Whitehall, London, from a window of which Charles I stepped on to the scaffold. It seems to be an adaptation of that beautiful hall. As a little boy, living opposite, I looked upon it with great reverence because I thought Queen Victoria lived there. The shop was below and the upper part formed a hall which was used for theatricals, public meetings, etc.

William Shipley, the son, was the schoolmaster, and taught school in the old school house, which stood on the site of the present Court House. He was a fervent old-fashioned English Tory, enthusiastically loyal and one had only to mention "the flag that braved a thousand years' battle and the breeze" to make him explode in a rhapsody over the greatness of England. He taught us, among other things, English History and when we read of the execution of Charles I, the tears used to course down his cheeks and he would break out in maledictions of Cromwell. We never got further than the reign of George III, because that contained an account of the American Revolution, of which he could not bear to think. So when we came to that, he turned back to the ancient Britons. He used to hold forth to us on the stories of Standard Hill Academy at Leicester where he had been educated, and some of the boys were ungrateful enough to wish that he were still there.

He believed in the maxim "spare the rod and spoil the child" and he was wont to haul a boy over the daisy bottom and lay on with a cutting edge, as a stick, and when the boy would cry, he would lay on with redoubled energy and shout: "Now give over, now give over!"

But at last he caught a Tartar in the sons of Michael Miller, who kept the hotel on Granville St., opposite Queen. They bombarded him with ink bottles and anything they could lay their hands on and finally bolted from the school.

When Mr. Shipley was dressed for State occasions, he was an imposing spectacle, for he had a ruff down his shirt front, as any one may see who will ask Mr. Fred Crosskill to show them a picture of Mr. Shipley that he has. He was honest, true and loyal and a thoroughly good man in every sense of the word. "May he rest in peace and light Eternal shine upon him."

He had two sons James and William, but the youngest, oh, poor Billy! climbed up the mast of a schooner when he was about 15 years of age and fell to the deck and died of his injuries. Mr. Shipley's grief was pathetic! It reminds me of the cry of David: "O, Absalom my son! my son! would God I had died for thee."

A FINE COMPLEXION

Can Be Had Through Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

A girl's complexion is something more than a matter of concern to her vanity. It is an indication of the state of her health. Pallor in a growing girl means a thinning of the blood. Eruptions mean impurities in the blood. Mothers should be watchful of their daughters' complexions and see to it that these signs are corrected—not covered up.

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and sallow, especially if, at the same time, she shows an inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply, but the physical signs are plain. The girl with a bad complexion, or who suffers from occasional headaches, who is easily tired and breathless after slight exertion, should begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once. A good appetite, sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks follow the fair use of this medicine.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"The Pen is Mightier Than the Sword"

In the 1922 handbook of Women's Institutes, prepared by the Superintendent, Miss Helen MacDougal, will be found a very comprehensive list of suggested topics for study. Prominent among these are subjects which have to do with reading matter and libraries, such as "Wholesome Reading for Boys and Girls," "Books that are Best," "How to Start a Home Library," "Periodicals for the Family," "The School Library," "Value of Reading Circles," and "Value of Travelling Libraries."

The programme carried out bears evidence that the Institutes are intensely interested in these topics. As is right and proper, the question of literature for the young has received the most attention; many papers have been read and there has been much discussion along this line.

In order that the children may have an opportunity to secure proper reading matter, many of the Institutes have started school libraries, which contain not only books which will be useful to scholar and teacher in connection with the regular school work, but also books of fiction which children can safely read and enjoy. One of the most recently established school libraries is at East Waltham. Bridgetown has lately assisted their school library by a contribution of $25.00.

Berwick is taking special interest in the books for the juvenile shelves which they have made a source of real pleasure to the boys and girls. This Institute has taken over the library, which was idle for four years, repaired the books and added new ones. Members have kept the library open certain hours and during this time have also conducted a Women's Exchange of books.

A great interest is taken in the Bear River Library, which has been established for some time. The library is open every Saturday afternoon and the Institute aims to add at least one new book each month.

A number of the branches have circulating libraries. The one at Sheffield Mills has been carried on very satisfactorily. Thirty members each donate a book and these books are passed from house to house, exchange being made every fortnight. In this way, each member pays for one book and gets the reading of thirty. The exchange of books is in charge of some person who has a list of books and the names of the members and can tell just where each book should be at any time.

Magazines of special interest to Institute members are circulated in this way in some of the Institutes. Many of the schools have the benefit of magazines which are paid for by the Institutes.

In addition to the locally established libraries, the Institutes have the opportunity, through the Department of Agriculture, of securing a Travelling Library from McGill University absolutely free of cost. Institutes are constantly taking advantage of this offer and are deriving much benefit therefrom.

ANOTHER LIFE-GIVER

Long life, coupled with good health, is the ideal and obsession of everyone who has passed the fifty-year mark without being found out. How many of us, then, were at once interested in the cable announcement of Dr. Oliver's, of London, that if they will let him diet the nation, everybody will soon live to be a hundred. It is very simple, too—you cut out meat, tea, alcohol, and a few other things like that, and fasten on what's left. Porridge stands first, and the life-giving men winds up with butter-milk and onions.—(The Australian).

A PUBLIC PROTEST

The Bell government was exterminated, all the ministers being defeated. Only four Liberals got elected. The administration claimed credit for having improved roads and schools. The opposition promised to reduce taxes. The result may show the relative importance that the voter is attaching just now to a policy of spending money and a policy of cutting down their tax bills.—(Edmonton Bulletin).

JUST SO

Prohibition would be an issue in 1924 all right if either party could get the other to take the wet end of it.—(Columbus Dispatch).

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets as a medicine for little ones. They are a laxative, mild but thorough in action, and never fail to relieve constipation, colic, colds and simple fevers. Once a mother has used them she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Salaste Pelletier, St. Damas des Avalines, Que., writes:—"I always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They are the best medicine I know of for little ones and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—he neither drank nor smoked, and then I must not forget Jeremiah Colnok who was the father of the late Mrs. Hamilton. He came into some money in Germany from his father's relations and went to Germany to claim his inheritance. He was related to the great bankers Stieglitz of St. Peterburg, through his mother Rosina Von Wolff. He was the father of William Colnok, editor of the Western News, as I mentioned in my last, a talented man and the historian of Annapolis County. Here I may mention that the boys of Annapolis Co. mostly had a good.

I may mention Chas. H. Eason and I cannot help paying a tribute to Maurice Colnok, son of Bernard Colnok, of Greenville Centre. He was a French Canadian, honest as the day, a good man whose acts of kindness I can never forget.

Then there was Colonel Poyritz, a retired army officer, a stately gentleman who lived in the Clark house near the bridge. I remember his showing me how to play marbles, saying that I "played like a girl".

Then there was Thomas Spurr who lived in the house next our property and had a beautiful place.

I now leave the laity and go back to the clergy.

The Methodist minister, when we first came to Bridgetown, was Mr. Pickles. He was succeeded by Mr. Wilson. He was a noted preacher and held forth in the old Wesleyan Chapel. Besides there was a retired Methodist minister "Parson Miller", who occupied a house just on the bank of the creek.

The Baptist minister was Mr. Armstrong, a man of very decided views. He is reported to have said that the Roman Catholics were going to the "bad place" and that the "Prayer Book Christians" were bringing up the rear. Mr. Armstrong set up revival meetings and in the course of them inveighed against Unitarianism. Mr. Wilson took up the cudgels in its defence and the B. members used to go to both places of worship to be present at the "holy boxing match." My father "old player" from the controversy, but Mr. Wilson came frequently to our house to consult him and to read such of his books as bore upon the controversy. There was no "renunciation of churches" then—only bitter war. Now the Hon. Ben down with the lamb in the other world.

Mr. Armstrong had a daughter Rosie, a beautiful girl, whom I regarded with silent admiration. Alas! the Heavenly Father took her to his mansions above to adorn the Heavenly Altar. I was reminded of her on my last visit to Elmhurst when I had the good fortune to see Rosie Orlando who is equally lovely, and is more robust, so that one may expect that she is a role who will live many a long year to grace your beautiful valley.

I will conclude with the most picturesque figure of all—Mary Peters, a black woman who lived in the Bush Pasture. She dressed in a man's hat and coat and a woman's skirt. She was quite illiterate and I don't think she could count, so that any person could cheat her in her business, which was selling berries in Summer.

I must now take leave of you, Mr. Editor, with many apologies for presuming so much upon your patience. I pray you to pardon the defects in this, my poor effort, and if there is too much vitriol in it to sprinkle it well with the waters of Lethe, I wish I were a poet that I could write a sonnet in praise of our dear little town. But, alas! that faculty has been denied me, so I must have recourse to an old Valentine of the days of my youth.

Sweet Elmhurst! Sweet Elmhurst!
If you love me, as I love you,
No knife can cut our love in two."
Yours faithfully,
COLIN W. F. CAMPBELL

In our last issue there was a slight error in the printing of a Latin quotation in Mr. Campbell's letter. The correct reading as given by him was "O Sancta Simplicitas!"

Misses' Librarian to Bandrol.

FRANCE SAILOR IN NOVEL FEAT

Crossing Atlantic in 35 Foot Sloop, He Refuses Tow.

New York—Eighty-four days out of Gibraltar, alone in a battered 35 foot sloop in heavy seas about 200 miles off Nantucket Light, F. Gerbault, a French seaman, on Wednesday refused a port offered by the Greek liner Byron, Capt. Vlahkis related when the Byron arrived from Greek ports.

The lookout on the Byron, Captain Vlahkis said, saw Gerbault standing in his boat in underwear, despite bitter cold and rolling seas, on the deck of his diminutive craft, waving his arms frantically and shouting in French. After explaining that he was creating the ocean on a hot of 200,000 francs bound for New York and that two other schooners which had left Gibraltar with him had disappeared, the hardy Frenchman asked that his empty water keels and food bins be filled, took his bearings as quickly as the Greek navigator, refused an offer of aid and went on his way.

BIRD SANCTUARIES ESTABLISHED

Ottawa—A bird sanctuary for the preservation of some rare and valuable species of birds has been established at Seal, Flat, Round, Mud and Noddy islands, lying about 18 miles west of Cape Sable and off the county of Shelburne, N. S. During recent years the complete extermination of some of the species of birds found on these islands was threatened by the collection of their eggs during the breeding season, and to prevent this, the government, on recommendation of the Minister of the Interior, has now passed an order preventing the killing or molesting of game birds on these islands. It is further provided that all rocks or waters within five miles shall be included in the bird sanctuary.

What Will You Put in the Pot?

When you drink tea every cup should be a delicious refreshment—a distinct pleasure. But this demands good tea in the pot. You cannot possibly get satisfactory results from inferior tea.

Now consider the small cost of a cup of King Cole Tea—a mere fraction of a cent. Surprising isn't it? But its secret is in the rich liquoring King Cole blend which yields so generously in the number of cups to the pound. From whichever point you view it—economy—quality—or the wise combination of both, King Cole Tea claims your preference.

SCOTCH COMING TO N. S.

Two hundred thousand Scottish Highlanders will be transported from Scotland to Nova Scotia and P. E. I. if the plans of Angus Robertson, President of the Highland Association, who has just returned to Scotland after attending the celebration at Pictou, are carried into effect.

Mr. Robertson in a statement, based on his visit to Nova Scotia, comments on the Scottish atmosphere which prevails and states that a Scot would at once feel at home in such a country. His national characteristics and mode of living are all there ready, waiting for him when he arrives; he has landed in another Scotland, only it is a much better one.

RUM PIRATES TAKE CARGO

Yarmouth, N. S.—Another pirate raid has just come to light by the report given under oath, of the crew of the sixty-ton schooner Luelle B. of Belleville's Cove, Digby Co., N. S., and commanded by Capt. LeBlanc, of Wedport, Yarmouth County, which has just arrived at Meteghan, thirty miles from here. The vessel is reported as having sailed from Haven on Aug. 15th or 16th, with a cargo of twelve hundred cases of liquor on board.

Will the party who picked up a $5 on the sidewalk between the Post Office and Dr. Armstrong's kindly return to Mr. J. T. Archibald?

Attention is called to the ad. in the classified column re Pantry Sale by the C.G.I.T. girls of St. James' Anglican Church.

The Bridgetown W.C.T.U. hold their annual meeting on Monday, Sept. 16th, at 3 p.m. in the Board of Trade rooms. A large attendance is especially requested.

Bertram Bourinot, who has been issuing the Richmond County Record Newspaper at Aricahat for the past 26 years is removing here and, together with his wife and three children, are expected to arrive this week and will take up their residence in the property owned by Osem Ernst and Moyie Young. The paper will be four pages and strictly independent—Lunenburg Progress-Enterprise. We presume that the above indicates another paper for Lunenburg. With two reputed dailies as well as the weekly Progress-Enterprise at Lunenburg and the Bulletin at Bridgewater, it appears time to put the S. R. O. sign out in Lunenburg County so far as newspaper publications are concerned. From another item seen some days ago it appeared that Mr. Bourinot viewed Mahone Bay as a possible place in which to start a newspaper, but later decided the question of getting sufficient support was too problematic. We may be wrong, but our impression is that places under a thousand in population are too small to furnish vegetation let alone support and life to a paper.—(Ed. Monitor).

Very pleasant and well accepted features at the recent concert in the Court House were the songs rendered by the Bridgetown Quartette, Messrs. A. C. Charlton, Rev. J. H. Freestone, Geo. and Charles Wheeler. They sang "Stars of the Summer Night" and as an encore "Saw My Leg Off", also "The Cobbler and the Crow", as an encore "The Growing Late". The renditions were very pleasing to the large audience present.

A very successful ice cream and candy social was held on Friday evening on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. S. Higgins, in aid of Clarence West Sunday School. The committee in charge wish to express their thanks for the generous patronage at this event.

Mr. Chas. F. DeWitt's horse Confection took third money in the 2.15 class at Moosepath Park, St. John, last Thursday.

Middleton and Springhill baseball teams will play off for championship of Nova Scotia best three out of five, two home and home games with final, if five games are played, will come off in Halifax.

Florence Marshall and Bernice Sproule spent the 6th with Mrs. John Mulock and other friends at South Springfield.

Norman Weaver returned from Aylesford on Wednesday.

Myrtle Robar and Clyde Allan spent the 6th at New Germany.

Mrs. Demas Dorey and Alvin Dorey spent the 5th at New Germany.

Mrs. Anthony Turner and son Guy, daughter Jennie, of Springfield, and Sidney Turner, of Boston, Mass., spent the 6th, guests of Mrs. Turner's sister, Mrs. Timothy Feener.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bishop and children, of Lawrenceport, and Mrs. Bishop's mother, Mrs. Ada Fairm, motored here on Sunday, the 2nd, as guests of Mrs. Fairm's daughter, Mrs. Edgar Mason, returning home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cushion, of Bridgewater, made a business trip here on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason and aunt, Mrs. Edith Parker, on Thursday motored to Barss' Corner; on to Mahone Bay and back to Riverville, leaving Mrs. Parker with her sister, Mrs. Richard Tretheway, then home.

The Real Reason for A Pretty Skin

Why is it that one girl has a fresh smooth complexion and another a skin which is lither, dull and sallow? Is it a gift of nature or some guarded beauty secret?

It is a secret, but an open one in which every woman may share. It consists in knowledge of the care which keeps the skin free from clogging, poisonous accumulations. In the removal every day of all dirt, oil secretions, excess cold cream, powder and rouge.

To do this, use mild soap, massage it thoroughly into your skin and remove with many rinsings. The mildest soap you can choose for this purpose is Palmolive. It contains Palm and Olive oils. These rare oils are the mildest cleansers nature ever produced. They are the oils used by Cleopatra thousands of years ago.

Their combination in Palmolive produces a profuse, creamy lather which penetrates every pore, removes every trace of dirt, oil, rouge and powder and leaves the skin smooth and fresh as a rose.

You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first-class dealers.

DR. MOTHERWELL IN THE

The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. W. Wells, Dominion Minister, addressed a meeting in the Agricultural Extension Building, London, on Thursday afternoon, in a piece of the Agricultural Extension Building, J. B. Hall occupied the podium. He addressed the audience for about an hour. He was accompanied by Mr. Motherswell and with his gracious manner. The speaker said he was glad to see the Minister of Agriculture, who was in the province to gain the necessary support for the Department. He has lived all his life in Ontario. He was born in Ontario, on a farm in the Western Province. He is a native of Ontario in the Maritime Provinces.

There was need of some standing between East and West. The speaker said he had no complete knowledge of the conditions in the West.

He urged the farmers in the West to be firm in their stand. He said he had no fault to find with the West. He said he had no fault to find with the West. He said he had no fault to find with the West.

The Honorable gentleman referred to the general country. He mentioned some hard sledding, no different work and patience. The nation was steadily improving. The day of great deficits was past. The marketing of western wheat crop was the pulse of industry throughout the whole country.

Dr. Lovett, M.P., made a speech, and Professor B. Experimental Farm, responded to the request for the Middleton drew large of this vicinity, but the order the circumstances were being, and the visit of the Agriculture will be of no alone to himself, but were fortunate enough to
