Grave Affront To England In Action Of Germany Following Grey's Speech Britain Has Given Germany Until Midnight But Meantime She Is Ready -- Cabinet All For War -- German Troops Now In Belgium--French And Germans Reported In Sea Fight--Austrians Whipped By Servians

BELGIUM TO FIGHT GERMANY

Paris, Aug. 4.—Belgium is to fight Germany, King Albert has already left the capital and gone to the front to assume command of his army. Despatches received here from Brussels today say that the king left there for the front today.

(The Latest Important News)

London, Aug. 4.—Germany's reply to Sir Edward Grey's speech indicating Great Britain's attitude in regard to Germany's invasion of Belgium, was a second ultimatum to Belgium saying that Germany was prepared to carry through her plans by force of arms if necessary. The British government was officially informed by Belgium today that German troops had invaded Belgium and that the violation of that country's neutrality which the British Foreign Secretary yesterday intimated must be followed by action in part of the British had become an accomplished fact.

Definite announcement of Great Britain's intentions under this grave affront was expected in the House of Commons this afternoon. Diplomatic relations had already been severed last night between Germany and France, and the German Ambassador, in leaving Paris, informed the French premier that Germany regarded herself as in a state of war with France, which requested Germany to hand the French Ambassador in Berlin his passports.

The open breach between France and Germany was rapidly followed by the appearance of German troops on French territory, and by an incursion of bomb-hurling aeroplanes which attacked the fortified town of Luneville without doing anything more than damaging a roadway. French airmen and outposts were also reported to have made raids on German territory.

A more tangible occurrence was the bombardment of a French naval station at Bona, Algeria, by a German cruiser, which, however, took to its heels before doing much damage, and is cruising around the Mediterranean Sea, where a considerable number of French war vessels are looking for such marauders.

GERMANY AND FRANCE NOW FORMALLY AT WAR

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Germany has formally declared war on France. In a lengthy statement issued from the foreign office accompanying the formal declaration, it is alleged that France has been the aggressor.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Diplomatic relations of France and Germany were formally broken off today.

London, Aug. 4.—With Germany's formal declaration of war upon France, making it certain that England will be the next nation to step into the European conflict, every power involved is today endeavoring to escape responsibility for the slaughter, devastation and suffering of the world's greatest war, which is now breaking.

In its declaration of war against France today, Germany sought to show that the republic was the aggressor in the movements along the frontier during the last three days. The Kaiser has also sought to lay at the door of the Czar responsibility for the break between those nations.

England, standing to the last for peace, will also hold the Kaiser responsible for the conflict which will set Europe back a half century.

From the small spark of the ultimatum delivered to Serbia by Austria has sprung the flame now enveloping the most powerful nations of the world.

PARIS WILD AS WAR IS DECLARED

Paris, Aug. 4.—News that Germany had actually declared war on France was made public today. It was responsible for one of the greatest patriotic demonstrations in the history of the capital. Thousands of frantic men and women paraded the streets in military formation waving the national colors and singing patriotic songs. Germans and Austrians were attacked but the police acted promptly and no one was seriously hurt.

Baron Von Schoen, the German ambassador, left before midnight. He was escorted to his special train by a column of cavalry and Paris police.

KAISER TO USE FORCE AGAINST BELGIUM

Brussels, Belgium, Aug. 4.—Germany's second ultimatum was delivered by the German minister in Brussels late last night, as the reply of Germany to the refusal of Belgium to accede to Germany's first ultimatum. It declared that Germany was prepared to carry through by force of arms, if necessary any measures she considers necessary.

The Belgian newspaper "Chronique" announces that the Belgian authorities have seized the wireless installation set up by the German school in the Belgian capital.

STRONG GERMAN FORCE IN BELGIUM

Brussels, Aug. 4.—German troops are repeatedly violating the treaty guaranteeing the independence of Belgium. It is estimated that the Kaiser has a strong force already on Belgian soil. Germany is apparently planning to send an invading army across the French-Belgian border, knowing that France is poorly fortified there.

Paris, Aug. 4.—Word that German troops had set foot on Belgian soil aroused the greatest excitement here. It was semi-officially announced, however, that the French war minister had prepared for such a contingency. Censorship continues very strict on news regarding the movement of troops. However, in view of the fact that the government takes the news of German encroachment on Belgium calmly, it is assumed here that French troops have been placed along the Belgian border.

The Chamber of Deputies was scheduled to meet today to take formal action toward resisting the invasion by Germany in view of the occupation of Luxembourg, the violation of Belgium and the invasion of French territory.

King Albert has replied that under no circumstances will Belgium consent to the violation of her neutrality, and belligerently announces that the army will oppose Germany's passage so long as a man is left alive.

It is reported that a strong German column has invaded Belgium at Verviers.

England Gives Germany Until Midnight

London, Aug. 4.—Great Britain sent a practical ultimatum to Germany today demanding a satisfactory reply by midnight tonight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

Col. Armstrong Gets Word To Organize Battery From The Artillery Regiment

This Will Be Done Tonight — Signalling Company Offers and Men Volunteer — General Activity Among Local Militia

Probably the most important feature in the local militia news today was the receipt of an order from Ottawa by Lieut. Colonel B. R. Armstrong, O. C. the 8th Regt. C. A. instructing him to organize a battery from his unit. This will be done this evening. A regimental parade will be held at the armory and from the three battalions, men will be selected sufficient to compose one battery. This will number 118 men, gunners, signallers, drivers, and specialists, and six officers under command of Major Magee. Although it was not definitely stated as being so, this order practically amounts to a mobilization so far as the artillery are concerned. They will go on duty for home defence tomorrow morning.

Four special high-power guns are expected in the city for the artillery today. It is likely that the 66 members of the advance party from Petewawa will return on the same train.

Advices to Colonel H. H. McLean, O. C. the 28th N. B. Dragoons, from the counties in which others of his officers and troops reside, this morning, were to the effect that recruiting was progressing most favorably. It was thought likely that the regiment could be recruited to war strength which is about 2000 more than for regular training. The establishment ordinarily comprises 818 men and 26 officers, while the war strength totals 614 men and the same number of officers. All the officers in the 28th have volunteered their services if necessary.

At a meeting held last evening in the Lower Cove armory Major T. E. Pow, commander of No. 2 Signalling Co., asked for volunteers amongst the members of the local section. Of the twenty-five men included in the ranks, fully twenty offered their services, including the major himself and Lieut. Allan Leavitt, a veteran of the South African campaign.

The members of the local militia are actively engaged in preparing for compliance with whatever orders may be issued from the department at Ottawa as regards the Canadian troops. Different regimental meetings have been called for this evening at which the names of those ready for service will be enrolled, and in every unit the number volunteering is large in fact those not doing so are in the minority.

No further orders were received today from Ottawa by the 22nd Regiment, St. John Fusiliers, under command of Lieut.-Colonel J. L. McAvity, beyond receipt of an acknowledgment of their wire of yesterday re volunteers. Many voluntary offers have come in response to the regiment's call for recruits.

HOLLAND INVADDED?

The Burgomaster of Antwerp announced last night that the Germans had invaded Limburg, Holland, and that the province had been placed under martial law. Limburg has a population of nearly a quarter of a million. Martial law has been declared in Holland and the government will open the dykes and flood the country should Germany persist in an invasion.

Amsterdam, Aug. 4.—The Hague denied that Germany has sent an ultimatum to Holland. It is declared Germany is respecting Holland's neutrality.

London, Aug. 4.—The order mobilizing the British army is now being read in the streets of London.

Viadravitzok, Aug. 4.—Martial law has been proclaimed here. All cables between British and German and Chinese harbors have been cut.

MORE GERMAN TROOPS IN FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 2.—The Germans have penetrated French territory at two points. They first entered Longville in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, a part of old Lorraine, near Longwy, and later invaded Cirey-sur-Vesouze in the same department. The German entry into the Duchy of Luxembourg was headed by thirty-five automobiles, filled with officers, this being followed by cavalry in force.

Several fresh violations of French territory by German troops were reported today. Detachments visited outlying farms at Lepux, near Belfort, and requisitioned cattle.

JAPAN'S COURSE

Tokyo, Aug. 4.—The Japanese foreign office today issued a statement that if the war extends to the Far East, and England is involved in it, Japan may find it necessary to participate in fulfillment of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

GERMANY NOW SAID TO HAVE DECLARED WAR ON BELGIUM

A cable to the Times says Germany has declared war on Belgium and is said to have presented an ultimatum to Holland.

England Ready To Strike and Strike Hard Though Germany Has Gained Early Advantage

London, Aug. 4.—Striking like a thunderbolt, Germany has gained an early advantage in the European war. Whether her entrance into the conflict at this time will be able to offset the advantage gained by the quick blow struck by the Germans is a matter upon which military experts differ.

There is no further doubt here, that the cabinet is now solid for war. John Burns stood out to the last moment, refusing to alter his position, despite the fact that other members of the cabinet were swung into line by the German violation of Belgian neutrality.

The announcement of his resignation made at two o'clock this morning, caused no surprise as he had declared to his friends that he would quit the cabinet, rather than be forced into the position of enjoining a warfare with which he believed England should not enter.

His resignation was followed later in the day by that of Viscount Morley, president of the council.

While the greater part of London was sleeping, having retired in the belief that today would bring a declaration of war, the cabinet was in session with Premier Asquith in Downing street. A telephone line was in operation between the premier's residence and Buckingham Palace. Several times Mr. Asquith left the meeting and used the telephone.

It is understood that King George had urged the premier to avert war if possible, without hurrying England's declaration of war. The sovereign was kept thoroughly in touch with the situation, as much so indeed, as if he had been present at the meeting.

All Night Session. The meeting of the cabinet lasted until dawn and then the ministers went to their homes for a few hours' sleep. They were again summoned into session a little before noon by Premier Asquith.

Viscount Morley, of Blackburn, president of the council, was not present at this meeting, and it was announced that he had resigned as a protest against his colleagues' determination to embark upon war.

John Burns also failed to appear, though it was said his resignation had not yet been accepted.

While the cabinet was sitting, a press association announced that the government had been officially notified of Germany's invasion of Belgium and an official announcement was made that Germany had sent another ultimatum to Brussels.

After the ministers had been conferring for an hour, Winston Churchill, lord of the admiralty, left and went to Buckingham Palace to see King George.

In an attempt to prevent a declaration of war by England, the German embassy issued a denial of the dispatches saying the Kaiser's troops had invaded Belgium.

While the cabinet was discussing the crisis, the order providing for the mobilization of the army was being read in the streets of London, and other cities of the country. It was announced that the mobilization of the naval reserves had also been ordered. While the decision as to war or peace hung in the balance today, eager crowds surrounded the newspaper offices waiting for the announcement to be made.

RICH PRIZE IS SAFE IN PORT

Kron Prinzessin Cecelie Has Dodged War Vessels HAS MILLIONS IN GOLD

Finest Sea Prize Ever Open To Capture Gets Into Bar Harbor With Lights Concealed and Funnel Disguised

Bar Harbor, Maine, Aug. 4.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kron Prinzessin Cecelie, carrying more than $10,000,000 in gold, arrived in the harbor here today after a forced run of four days. Her officers had feared her capture.

With a cargo of ten millions in gold, and a million in silver, consigned to English and French bankers, with an estimated value of more than five millions in herself, the Kron Prinzessin Cecelie has constituted probably the finest sea prize ever open to capture. As she crept along the Maine coast and into the harbor, under the cover of night, each deck at every porthole was blanketed with canvas so that not a gleam of light betrayed her whereabouts. Her four stout stacks had been tipped with black paint, so that she resembled an English steamship.

At one time capture seemed imminent. Captain Charles Pollack reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless message from one French vessel to another, giving warning of the Cecelie's vicinity, but under the protection of a providential fog, the North German Lloyd line escaped.

GUARD PLACED ON WIRELESS STATION AT NEWCASTLE

Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 4.—Two companies of infantry from London, Ont., marched through town this morning from the station and breakfasted here. They were received with great enthusiasm. They were bound for Sydney. A guard was placed last night on the wireless station. The local 78th Regiment and Field Battery have not yet been ordered to mobilize.

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 4.—Last night Colonel McKenzie, acting under instructions from Ottawa, seized the wireless station at Newcastle and placed it under guard from the 78th Regiment.

CANADA'S ATTITUDE; F. B. CARVELL'S WORD TO MONTREAL PAPER

The following is a copy of the reply of F. B. Carvell, M.P., to the Montreal Star's inquiry as to what Canada's attitude and action should be if Britain is involved in the threatened war.

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 3, 1914. Editor Montreal Star,

Should Britain either be attacked or compelled to commence hostilities in order to carry out treaty obligations with France and Russia, Canada should contribute everything in her power in both men and money, and parliament should be immediately called together for the purpose of voting all necessary funds. The issue is so stupendous there is no time for parleying.

F. B. CARVELL.

FLEETS OF GERMANY AND FRANCE REPORTED TO BE FIGHTING IN THE NORTH SEA

German Cruisers Capture British Steamer in Pacific, Says California Report — The Rainbow Said To Be Threatened

London, Aug. 4.—A desperate battle between German and French fleets in the North Sea is reported in a despatch from Newcastle-on-Tyne. It says that English ships arriving in the Tyne early today reported that a conflict was raging off Flamborough Head. The pilot of one said the ship's master had informed him that he saw German and French ships in combat.

Sandiego, Cal., Aug. 4.—The German cruiser Lepso and Huenburg have captured the British steamer Queen Maud off Baglaena Bay, according to reports received here early today.

The British warship Shearwater immediately cleared for action and left at full speed for the west coast of Mexico, French embassy here.

London, Aug. 4.—The German cruiser Breslau bombarded the French naval station of Bona, Algeria, at four o'clock this morning, afterward steaming off at full speed in a westerly direction, according to a despatch received at the French embassy here.

NO MOVE BY ENGLAND LIKELY UNTIL LATE THIS AFTERNOON

London, Aug. 4.—There is no likelihood that England will make any hostile move until late today. After parliament had been in session until late last night, it was tacitly agreed among the leaders that a declaration of war would not be considered until after a meeting this afternoon between the Socialists and the Labor Party.

BRITAIN READY BUT WAITING AT CLOSE OF A STIRRING DAY

Will Not Permit German Fleet To Attack French Coast But Not Pledged To Contribute Army For Continental War—Reported That Ultimatum To Germany Regarding Belgium Remained Unanswered—Rumors of Cabinet Changes

London, Aug. 3.—From private unofficial sources in the house of commons it is learned exclusively that the British government has presented an ultimatum to Germany, demanding the instant withdrawal of German troops from Belgian territory.

It is generally believed among members of parliament that England will declare war before twenty-four hours pass.

It is understood that the ultimatum came to an end at 7 o'clock tonight, without a favorable reply having been received from Germany.

London, Aug. 3.—John Burns, president of the local government board, has resigned. He is in disagreement with the war policy of the government.

London, Aug. 3.—It is rumored that Viscount Morley of Blackburn, Lord President of the Council, contemplates resigning from the cabinet. It is understood that the resignation of John Burns has not yet been accepted.

The government has given France assurance that the British fleet will not permit the German fleet to attack the French coast. It has not yet pledged itself to contribute an army to the continental war.

The British government regards with the deepest distrust Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality, but makes no declaration as to whether it considers that measure provocation for war.

London, Aug. 3.—Regarding rumors of ministerial elections and the formation of a coalition cabinet, which were current this morning, it was said that there was a possibility that Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, and Sir John Simon, attorney general, might resign.

London, Aug. 3.—Sir Edward Grey told the House of Commons that he had given France the assurance that if the German fleet came into the English channel, or through the North Sea to undertake hostile operations against the French coast or shipping, the British fleet would give all the protection in its power.

Sir Edward Grey requested the House of Commons to approach the consideration of the European crisis from the point of view of British interests, British honor and British obligations.

Toward the close of his speech Sir Edward Grey said: "We must be prepared and we are prepared to face the consequences of using all our strength at any moment, we know not how soon, in order to defend ourselves."

In other parts of his speech Sir Edward Grey said: "The intervention with Germany in regard to the independence of Belgium was carried out by England last night. If the independence of Belgium should be destroyed the independence of Holland also would be gone."

The foreign secretary then asked the House to consider what British interests were at stake, "if in a crisis like this we were to run away." This was greeted with loud cheers and Sir Edward continued:

"Do you imagine that if a great power stands aside in a war like this, it is going to be in a position to exert its influence at the end. I am not quite sure whether the facts regarding Belgium are as they reached this government, but there is an obligation on this country to do its utmost to prevent the consequences to which those facts would lead if they were not opposed."

"We have as yet made no engagement to be in a position to exert its influence at the end. I am not quite sure whether the facts regarding Belgium are as they reached this government, but there is an obligation on this country to do its utmost to prevent the consequences to which those facts would lead if they were not opposed."

"So far as the forces of the crown are concerned the premier and the first lord of the admiralty have no doubt whatever of their readiness and their efficiency. They never were at a higher state of readiness. There never was a time when confidence was more justified in their ability to protect our shores and our commerce."

"If the situation develops as it seems probable it will develop, we shall face it."

The house adjourned until 7 o'clock for a consultation between the leaders of all the parties.

Small Group Against War. A small group of radicals, during the period of adjournment of the house of commons, met and passed a resolution that after hearing Sir Edward Grey's speech they were of the opinion that there was not sufficient reason in the present circumstances for Great Britain intervening in the war.

When the house re-assembled, the foreign secretary made his statement with respect to Belgium. These members with respect to the secretary had not made out a case for war.

Philip E. Morrell, Liberal, said the best that could be said for the Entente was that it was going to be going to land England into a war, simply because a few German soldiers wanted to cross Belgium.

The Laborites joined in the protest, declaring that it was a war made by the diplomatists, not by the people. Keir Hardie asked what action was going to be taken to alleviate the sufferings of those who would be hard pressed by the war. He said he would do all he could to arouse the workmen against the proposals of the government.

The chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd George, announced that the government had made arrangements for war risks for ships' cargoes, of which full details would be given later. Regarding the complaint of J. Keir Hardie that the bill passed that day was for the protection of a small section of the community, the chancellor said it was essentially a measure to protect the whole credit system. Unless steps of that kind were taken, hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of workmen might be thrown out of work.

The cabinet held a session during the recess, and were escorted to and from the house by cheering crowds.

LONDON WARMS UP TO WAR PROSPECT. The first outbreak of patriotic enthusiasm since the possibility arose of England becoming involved in the war, occurred in London tonight. Crowds of Englishmen and Frenchmen marched through the streets in the West End, waving flags and singing the National Anthem. Finally they reached Buckingham Palace, where, in response to a great outburst of cheering, the king and queen and Princess Mary appeared on the balcony, and bowed to the cheering throngs.

This not satisfy the crowds, which chanted, "We Want King George" to the tune of the Westminster chimes, and sang "Rule Britannia." This finally brought the king and queen out again. They were accompanied by the Prince of Wales, and they received another noisy welcome. The demonstration lasted

"I believe when the country realizes what is at stake it will support the government with determination, with resolution and with endurance. From all parts of the house there came roars of cheering. In a preceding part of his discourse, while discussing the question of Belgium, Sir Edward had said: "It is said we might stand aside and husband our resources in order to interfere in the end and put things right."

"If in a crisis of this kind we run away from our obligations of honor and interest with regard to the Belgian treaty, I doubt whether, whatever material force we might have at the end would be of much value in face of the respect we should have lost."

At this Sir Edward was interrupted by loud cheering. He continued: "If we engaged in war, we should suffer but little more than if we stood aside."

"We are going to suffer terribly if this war whether this country is at peace or war, for foreign trade is going to stop."

Sir Edward gave an explanation of what occurred during the Moroccan crisis of 1911. He said he looked precisely the same view in 1912. "It was decided we ought to have a definite understanding as to whether, whatever material force we might have at the end would be of much value in face of the respect we should have lost."

The foreign secretary then read a letter he wrote Dec. 22, 1912, to the effect that if either government and grave reason to expect an unprovoked attack by a third party it should discuss whether with regard to Belgium, it was prepared to prevent aggression. He then continued:

"That is our starting point and that statement clears the ground as to the settlement of our obligations."

"The present crisis was originated in a matter which principally concerns France. No government and no country had less desire to be involved in the Austro-Serbian dispute than France. France was involved because of its obligations of honor."

"We have had a long standing friendship with France. As to how far that friendship entails obligations let every man look into his own heart and feelings and construe the extent of our obligation."

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, said he was sure the country had taken the course, and he was sure that Great Britain was in danger nor her honor involved, and he was convinced she should have remained neutral.

The Irish Leader. John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, said: "There is a possibility that from the present situation might arise a result which would be good for the future welfare and integrity of the empire."

Wild cheering from all parts of the house greeted Mr. Redmond when he assured the government that every man in Ireland might be withdrawn tomorrow and the coasts of Ireland would be defended against the enemy."

James Ramsay MacDonald, Socialist and Labor member, declared he was not persuaded that Great Britain was in danger nor her honor involved, and he was convinced she should have remained neutral.

The house adjourned until 7 o'clock for a consultation between the leaders of all the parties.

ed some minutes, and for a long time after the royalties retired the people continued to sing patriotic songs. The cheering street, on, however, and anxiety as to the attitude the government intended to adopt increased, the people became more excited, and Winston Churchill, as he walked from the house, received a cheer as they passed by the crisis.

Premier Asquith was greeted in a similar manner, and escorted from his house to the precincts of the house by a cheering crowd, and other members of the cabinet, as well as members of the house, received a cheer as they passed into the historic building, to hear what England intended to do in the hour of her crisis.

John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, came in for a splendid reception as he left the house, the news of his speech, in which he said every soldier could be withdrawn from Ireland, having preceded him.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts, the Marquis of Lansdowne, and Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, who visited the prime minister in Downing street, were soon surrounded by a great crowd, which followed and cheered them, but the ambassadors, including the German representative, who went to the foreign office several times, and the Russian representative, who sat in the house during Sir Edward Grey's speech, being little known to Londoners, passed unnoticed.

When parliament adjourned a procession was formed, composed mostly of young men, carrying Union Jacks and Whitehall, Trafalgar square, and Piccadilly Circus, singing all the way. The railway stations, where the continental train and the express, present business throughout the day. Each incoming train brought refugee Englishmen and Americans from the South. A few porters were on hand, owing to the holiday, all of them had to carry their own baggage, and some amusement was afforded by their method of trundling heavy trunks from the cars to waiting-cabs.

It is announced that the extension of the bill which applies to banks, which will give the government time to complete arrangements to meet the financial crisis, will be introduced.

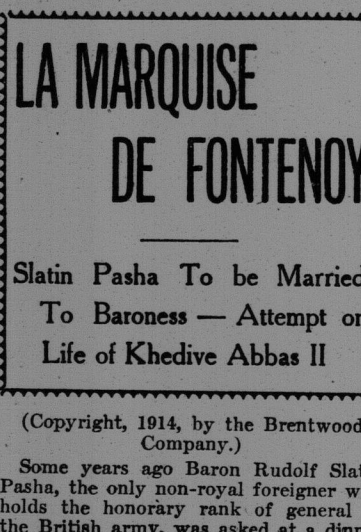

As Good as Declared. The invasion of French territory by German troops is regarded in official circles here as making war between the two countries start automatically without a formal declaration.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The senate today voted to authorize the secretary of war to establish a military line to carry mail, passengers and freight to South America and Europe. The bill goes to the house.

Doctor Speaks Out to Tea and Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in an address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

"These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kneed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis."

"Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove one's own case whether tea or coffee cause the frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headache, heart disturbance and other ills.

He is a Hungarian countess of stony antecedents, who has since left him. He holds his throne on sufferance of the English Government, which has repeatedly had occasion to reproach him for his duplicity and his treachery.

In fact, he has ever since his accession to the throne, made so much of a nuisance of himself, first of all to Lord Cromer, and since then to Lord Kitchener, the British plenipotentiaries at Cairo, that no one need feel surprised to hear of his deposition. It would excite but little regret on the part of his subjects.

A Stove You Can Always Depend On

The Gurney-Oxford has a nation-wide reputation for reliability.

It's a thoroughly well made stove. During its long life it never fails to do its work.

It can be depended to cook each meal with little trouble and no worry.

The Gurney-Oxford Economizer (with which every Gurney-Oxford is equipped), enables you to keep the fire in perfect control always.

The grates are designed for perfect combustion. The divided flues convey the heat from the fire to all sides and corners of the oven. The owner of a Gurney-Oxford does not know what it means to take a roast or a batch of biscuits from the oven with uncertainty.

We want to demonstrate the features of the Gurney-Oxford that have gained for it first honors in everything that makes a stove valuable.

Foot Callouses Quickly Removed

Anything on your feet that shouldn't be there—whether corns, callouses or sore lumps—they can all be removed in short order by Putnam's Corn Extractor. Think of the pain you are saved when that sore corn goes.

It is foolish to experiment with untried remedies—better use Putnam's Extractor costs 25c, per bottle, sold and recommended by druggists.

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hair

(Toilet Tips) It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with thick-set water and a little powdered detlone, apply to hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hair are gone. This method of banishing hairy growths is painless and does not mar the skin, but to avoid dis-appointment, be certain to get real de-tail of it with his sword. The reason tone,

GIANT VISITS BOSTON
(Boston Post.)
Smith is in town once more. This is no joke. This Smith stands seven feet one inch in his stocking feet, his friends say, and rumor has made him seven feet four.

When he dropped into Thompson's Spa yesterday during the busy noon hour to quench his thirst with ice cream soda and to see his old friend, "Tom" McQuade, the best known official at the Spa, about all the customers in the place turned their eyes upward.

While Smith stood in front of the marble counter drinking his soda, McBeland, one of "Tom's" head and began to press downwards gently but firmly until the little man got from under.

While Smith and McQuade were having a chat they were surrounded by a curious crowd. Smith lives in the New Hampshire hills and visits Boston occasionally on business or pleasure. He is well-proportioned, weighing about 800 pounds, and his flesh is well distributed over his long body. Costumed as Uncle Sam, he made a hit in several street parades only in New Hampshire but in Boston.

MC 2035 POOR DOCUMENT

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN N. B., TUESDAY, AUGUST 4, 1914

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 4, 1914.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

CANADA'S POSITION.

In this crisis in the affairs of the Empire Sir Robert Borden speaks for Canada. Whatever differences of opinion there may be in this country in relation to naval policy, there are none concerning the duty of the present hour. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other Liberal leaders are in Ottawa ready to lend their support to the government in whatever measures may be deemed necessary in the performance of Canada's duty to the Empire.

THE SITUATION.

The world waits with tense nerves to learn the decision of the British parliament on the momentous question of armed neutrality or open war. Owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the cable service yesterday, and the fragmentary nature of the report of the speech of Earl Grey, readers on this side were led to believe that war had virtually been declared; but the fuller news which came last night showed that while Sir Edward Grey's speech seemed to indicate a warlike policy on the part of the government, yet the matter was still undecided, and this was still the condition at an early hour this morning. Last night's cables indicated the possibility of the retirement of several members of the cabinet, the formation of a coalition ministry, of which Mr. Bonar Law and Lord Lansdowne would be members. While the Labor party declared themselves yesterday in opposition to England's participation in the war, it is not clear that they expressed the views of all the members of their party, or that the radical revolt would assume large proportions. The Unionists stand solidly behind the government, and a significant feature of yesterday's debate was the whole-hearted assurance of Mr. Redmond that a united Ireland stood ready to defend its own coasts, if every soldier were withdrawn from foreign service. It is evident from the tenor of the dispatches that the war party is in the ascendancy in the Commons, and that it reflects the sentiments of those who throng the streets of London. The feeling grows that Germany has made an unprovoked attack upon France and has violated the neutrality of Belgium, and that therefore the British government is bound in honor to intervene. Sir Edward Grey says that Germany has been notified that if her fleets attack the coast of France Britain will intervene, and it is difficult to see how this can be regarded in Berlin as other than a hostile declaration, although Germany is alleged to have expressed her willingness to withhold her fleet as the price of England's neutrality. The situation is an extraordinary one, but if the cables to the morning papers give a fair indication of the trend of sentiment in Great Britain it is difficult to see how parliament could be induced to regard British neutrality under all the circumstances as "peace with honor." The German government has issued a White Book, in which the whole blame for the course pursued by that country is laid upon Russia and France. This document is intended for home consumption, and to stiffen the backs of the German people for the momentous struggle upon which they have entered. In the meantime it is impossible to gather from the conflicting reports the exact situation as to the movements of the German and French, and the German and Russian armies and the rival fleets. It does not appear, however, that Germany has as yet gained any distinct advantage, despite the swiftness and the unheralded nature of her early movements. Perhaps before this issue of The Times appears news will have come which will set the facts of the whole situation more clearly. But the one great question, so far as the people of the British Empire are concerned, relates to the action which may perhaps be taken by the British parliament before this day ends.

NO CAUSE FOR PANIC

There is no cause for panic in this country in relation either to the food supply, the financial situation or the safety of funds. It goes without saying that a great war would increase the cost of living, and entail hardship upon people everywhere; but the governments of Canada and of the provinces and cities may be relied on to take whatever measures may be necessary to prevent a shortage of food, extortionate prices, or any sudden imposition of great hardship upon the people. Before the war cloud Canada was rejoicing in the prospect of splendid crops. The crops are still there. The means of transportation are unimpaired. The industries of the country are in active operation. Should the Empire be involved in war, and a rise in prices occur, it would be gradual, and there is no occasion for panic. Unquestionably there is need of intelligent foresight and preparation for what may come, and for a careful husbanding of resources. Whether war be greatly prolonged or not, and whether the British Empire is involved or not, the conflict in Europe must have a serious effect upon the trade and commerce of the world. They are wise who make provision for the rainy day, but there is nothing in the present situation to warrant a run either upon the banks or the provision stores.

THE ST. JOHN RIOT

The Presbyterian Witness appears to be singularly ill-informed in regard to the recent riot in St. John. The Witness gives the authorities credit for promptly suppressing the trouble, and commends the example of St. John to the city of Halifax. The rioters in St. John were not promptly suppressed. They were not suppressed at all. On the first night of the riot they did whatever they desired to do and then went home. The police department made no effort whatever to suppress them, and the half dozen dragoons who rode into the crowd were fortunate to get away with as little damage as they received. On the second night, while the militia protected the power house of the street railway company, they did not prevent the smashing of car windows, nor did they make any effort to disperse the mob which crowded the streets in even greater numbers than on the night before, and which would doubtless have done even greater damage had not the news been received at a critical moment that the strike had been settled and the men would return to work in the morning. The militia did not prevent the mob from swarming on the streets, and it trouble had broken out on the second night it would have been utterly incapable of handling the situation without difficulty that would probably have resulted in some loss of life. Moreover, neither the police nor the militia took the names of the rioters, and only a beggarly half dozen have been arrested of all the hundreds of men who were guilty of gross violation of the law and the personal risk will be ready again, and will be even bolder in its operations the next time an opportunity is afforded for its peculiar activities. It will be necessary to take stern measures, and it may even be that lives will be sacrificed before a wholesome respect for authority has been restored in the city of St. John. This is a lamentable condition of affairs, and it is entirely due to the demoralization of the police force in recent years. It is not necessary to discuss the causes, but the fact stands out so clear that he who runs may read.

If by any possible means the city council can hasten the work on Main street the thing should be done. The condition of traffic is a just cause for complaint on the part of all who use that thoroughfare.

The fact that The Times last evening printed and sold 18,000 copies of its regular edition, besides several thousand copies of a second edition issued shortly after the first, is an indication of the universal and absorbing interest in the news relating to the war.

The city council took action in several important matters yesterday. One of these related to town-planning, and there is now a prospect that the long needed town-planning commission will be appointed. The decision to hold open council meetings three days in the week will be heartily approved by the citizens. The action taken to insure the people against exorbitant prices for food products is a precautionary one, which it may or may not be necessary to carry out, but which will have a reassuring effect.

The port of Halifax is in a state of war. Fortunately that port has defenses. St. John has none. Let us hope no danger will threaten these coasts, and indeed there seems little prospect of such a condition. The worst that we may anticipate is a loss of trade. That, however, will not be confined to St. John. The people of Portland, Maine, anticipate a very great falling off of steamships plying to that port from ports in Continental Europe, and in addition to merchandise there is a large passenger traffic, which is a very important item, and which would be destroyed in the event of a general European war.

Butter Scotch Pie.

One cupful of brown sugar, butter the size of an egg, one quarter of a cupful of water. Boil these ingredients until compound waxes when dropped from the spoon. While this is boiling mix in a separate dish the yolks of two eggs, one pint of milk, one large tablespoonful of flour and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour this mixture slowly into the boiling sugar, water and butter and cook all till thick; pour into a crust baked previously and finish the top with beaten whites of the two eggs to which one half cupful of sugar has been added. Brown and serve whole.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Song and Dance I cannot sing the old songs, But that doesn't hurt my chances For social prestige, since I'm great At all the modern dances.

No Luck Mary—Love never did bring me any luck, mum. Mrs. Smith—Really, I fail to see how that can concern me, Mary. Mary—No, indeed, mum; only now I've broken the statue of Venus, mum.

Well, What is He? "He who puts his hand to the plow," screamed the cross-roads orator, "must not turn back!" "What is he to do when he gets to the end of a furrer?" asked the auditor in the blue jeans overalls.

What the Land Lubber Did Saltair Fisherman—Were still drifting. Did you throw the anchor overboard? Landlady—Yes! But I cut off the rope. I thought you'd like to save that.

Impossible! He—My dear, my neighbor, Mr. Smith the paper says this morning, is a bachelor of arts. She—Then the paper doesn't know what it's talking about. You know as well as I do that Smith is a married man.

Where Shall I Invest My Money?

This is a question that often bothers us when we have any surplus money. Some people are born rich and do not have to provide for independence, others are looking for investments that will bring them in good dividends. The Silver Black Fox Industry in P. E. Island has made thousands of investors wealthy. In 1913 alone, 30 companies paid to their shareholders an average cash dividend of 105 p. c. Is there any other industry that would do this? 1914 dividends will be even greater than before. Now is the time to invest. Send in your application today to the St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd. Head Office—Charlottetown, P. E. Island

Foxes Capitalized at $17,000 PER PAIR

This capitalization included all expenses for the first year up to September 1, 1914. In other words, the breeding stock will be ranches, cared for, fed and all expenses paid for the first year without any cost whatever to the shareholder. Instead of paying the 10 per cent to 88 1-8 per cent. increase charge paid to most ranches this money will go directly into the pocket of the investor.

Your Investment is Protected

Each director is placing practically all his fox investments in this enterprise and the directors have their interests so involved in this ranch that they cannot afford to let their interest and watchful care lapse for a moment. The best breeding stock has been secured and one of the strongest, safest and most convenient ranches yet established is being erected and equipped.

Wm. Moran, Secretary-Treasurer of Lawrence Silver Black Fox Company, Ltd.
I hereby make application for shares of the capital stock of the St. Lawrence Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd. (Chartered in Ontario, Canada) and agree to pay the balance on or before the first of August, 1914.

The History of the Industry

If you inquire, you will find that the majority of rich men in P. E. Island have made their money in the Fox Industry, which, while yet in its infancy, shows the probability of making a great many more rich men. This being the case, you should not let this opportunity of increasing the earning powers of your money pass without giving it your careful consideration.

Directors ARE ALL Reliable Men

This is a most important feature when you consider that these are the men that you must look to for a square deal. Read the list over carefully and you will certainly conclude that an investment here is as safe with better prospects than money in the bank. This Company has only a limited amount of stock for sale. Secure yours today. This is a gilt-edge proposition.

AMUSEMENTS ANOTHER BRIGHT BILL AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Revue Players Provide Excellent Entertainment With Patriotic Features

Another bill of bright, sparkling musical vaudeville was given last evening at the Opera House by the talented artists of Mack's Musical Revue, before an audience which crowded the theatre, and which manifested its pleasure in rounds of vigorous applause.

There were several pretty song numbers with the usual variety of dancing, music and scenic novelties. A short comedy sketch "The Wagoner" featuring Miss Akerstrom, assisted by Messrs. Carney and DeLuna, evoked hearty laughter.

One of the prettiest features of this piece was "The Moon Girl" specialty by the company with "The Wagoner" as the "The Girl in the Moon." Another hit was scored by James Carney in his solo "Can't You See I Love You," assisted by the Girley-Girley Chorus.

Two Miss Elvye Wallace was accorded two of the most costly musical successes of the bill, "On Sunnybrook Farm," and "Night Time in Burgundy."

W. H. Berry, now of Boston. Frederickton, N. B., Aug. 3.—Willard Hink Berry, now of Boston, has been gazetted provisional lieutenant in the Light Engineers of Carleton county.

LITTLE FELLOW TOOK SICK WITH DIARRHOEA Was 30 Miles From a Doctor

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry Cured Him

Mrs. Fred Schoffp, Pennant, Sask., writes: "I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry when my boy was not expected to live. We were 30 miles from a doctor when the little fellow took sick with diarrhoea. He at first would sleep all day, and at night would be in pain, and would have a passage every five or ten minutes. This went on day and night until he began to pass blood. I gave him the 'Dr. Fowler's Extract' and after he had taken it for a short time he was relieved and up and playing with his toys, and is now as well as ever."

THE ONLY CURE FOR CONSTIPATION

Is "Fruit-a-tives"—That Wonderful Remedy Made From Fruit Juices

Avon, Ont., May 14th, 1913. "I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' for indigestion and Constipation with most excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. When I first started about six years ago to use them, I took four at a dose, but gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night. Before taking 'Fruit-a-tives,' I took salts and other pills, but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the illness as from these treatments. Finally, I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised with a letter in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them, and I have no hesitation in recommending them to all who are afflicted with Constipation.

ANNIE E. CORBETT. 50c, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers. Total price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"Two Pins" and "The Particular Cowboy," each of which evoked hearty laughter. The Rex Players were seen to advantage in a melodramatic photoplay "The Pursuit of Hate," and the Gem Orchestra gave a delightful programme of musical novelties.

SECOND CHAPTER OF MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY SUSTAINS INTEREST.

The Serial With the Ten Thousand Dollar Prize, Offers Undoubtedly a Great Picture.

If the first chapter of Thanhouse's mysterious serial picture story, "The Million Dollar Mystery," failed in any respect to convince the more skeptical, the second edition could not help but bring in many more spectators. The fact in the mind of the spectator that up to date it holds the record for being the most interesting and by long odds the most mystifying serial photoplay yet offered to picture fans.

The "False Friend" which is the title of the second installment of the story shown at the Unique Theatre yesterday, shows a deeper cloak of mystery over the disappearance of the one million dollars. And it is not without its sensational features, a notable one of which is the hand to hand battle in the home of Hargreaves between two of the members of the Black Hundred and Norton, the newspaper reporter, who by the way is the hero of the story, and the sensational street followed by the more sensational escape.

A WAR OF FUN AND AMUSEMENT AT LYRIC

The guns of laughter shot forth their message of fun at the Lyric Theatre yesterday, and with the assistance of the infantry of good times and the cavalry of genial jests, succeeded in waging war against the Realm of Depression, finally capturing the colonies of discontent, with the result that those who were on the field of battle returned to their homes applauding the general and commending the manner in which the battle against gloom was handled.

General Waldo Whipple fought like good fellow, his means of defense being a genial personality. The coup de grace was delivered by the Lyric's ability to tell some good old fashioned yarns in rube style and playing several selections on the honoree.

There are six more battles to be waged against Gloom Land, one taking place each afternoon and two each evening during the next two days, the place of meeting each time being the Lyric. Interesting studies of conditions in other countries with pleasing stories are shown before the beginning of each battle.

CHILD'S BALMACAAN.

A yard and in splendid colorings. Of 54-inch material 3/4 yards of cloth will be required for a child of average size. No contrasting material is required for the trimming.

The cutting of the coat is important, because the lines will be determined largely by the way the pattern is arranged upon the material. First fold the material, also on a lengthwise thread, the front, sleeve and pocket lap sections are placed.

In making the finishing of the seams is important. These should be stitched carefully and turned under evenly to have a strictly tailored effect. It is better to do much basting than to trust to pins to hold seams in place when sewing tweeds and other wavy materials. The first step in the making is to slash the front on small "9" perforations; then insert the pocket. Adjust pocket lap, upper front edge indicated by small "9" perforation. Now sew the sleeve to the front and back, matching the notches carefully; then close the under-arm and sleeve seams as notched. Right here bear in mind the warning given about finishing the seams.

The cuffs are attached to the sleeves at this stage. Close back seam of collar; cover with seamless bias material; then sew to neck edge as notched, and turn back.

The buttons may be of the same material, or large smoked-pearl buttons make an effective trimming.

Fill in this blank and mail it with price of pattern, 15c.

NERVOUS IN B. C. OVER MISSION OF GERMAN CRUISER

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 3.—The German steamer Leipzig is not steaming towards British Columbia with a view of getting coal. The warship is in Mexican waters, and arrived at Mazatlan Saturday to take on 800 tons of coal from the Germans of the Northern Steamship Company, of Vancouver.

A dispatch from Victoria says that the authorities are nervous regarding the possible coming of the Leipzig, and that the Rainbow is preparing to meet her. The Leipzig could not steam north, however, within a week.

DROWNED FROM HIS FATHER'S SCHOONER

Harold, the ten-year-old son of Captain I. Sabeen, of the schooner J. Arthur Lord, who resides at 79 Acadia street, was drowned last Saturday morning at New London (Conn.). He fell from it into the water, and before his father could reach the scene he had gone down for the last time.

GATHERING THE CROPS

Regina, Aug. 4.—Cutting of the first oats of the season in the Regina district on the farm of Wm. Olson, about five miles northeast of the city has been reported. The crop in this particular section is reported to be very heavy. The farmers will be cutting barley in the same district within a few days, and the binder will be working in the wheat fields inside of two or three weeks. The crops throughout the Regina district are reported to be in first class condition, and good yields are expected.

FRENCH AND GERMANS IN BRISK WORK Paris, Aug. 4.—Advices from the fortress of Belfort say that almost continuous skirmishing is in progress there between the German army of invasion and the French defenders. The French commanding general is utilizing his aeroplane corps both for scouting purposes and for the purpose of harassing the enemy with bombs. While there has been no general battle both sides have sustained losses in the skirmishing. The German advance is entrenching its base and it is believed that a general assault on Belfort is contemplated.

SHIPPING HERE HARD HIT; NO CODE MESSAGES News of Cancellation of Sailings Keeps Coming In—Censorship Makes Use of Cipher Impossibility. Shipping here is practically at a standstill, and shipping men say if the status quo continues, it will reach a critical point and prove a great blow to interests here. A message to J. T. Knight & Co. from the White Star Line, New York, forbids the issuing of travellers checks and letters of credit, while a wire to Messrs. William Thomson Company gives notice that the North-German Lloyd Steamship Company has cancelled all sailings from United States and Canadian ports on account of threatened conditions. The telegraph and cable companies have refused to transfer code and cipher messages and all messages filed here for transfer must be in English, written in full, and signed by the sender so that a Canadian censorship can be conducted. Messages filed in other countries are subject to the same conditions so that business houses are now compelled to have linguists at hand to translate their correspondence.

"BURIED TREASURE"

There are many kinds of fools. Now, will everybody please sit still until they are called upon specifically to rise?

I had been every kind of fool except one. I had expended my patrimony, pretended my matrimony, played poker, lawn tennis, and bucket shops—parted soon with my money in many ways, but there remained one role of the wearer of cap and bells that I had not played. That was the Soaker after Buried Treasure. To few does the delectable furor come. But of all the would-be followers in the hoof-prints of King Midas none has found a pursuit so rich in pleasurable promise.

But, going back from my theme a while—as lame pens must do—I was a fool of the sentimental sort. I saw Mary Martha Mangum, and was hers. She was eighteen, the color of the white ivory keys of a new piano, beautiful, and possessed by the exquisite solemnity and pathetic witchery of an unsophisticated angel doomed to live in a small, dull, Texas prairie town. She had a spirit and charm that could have enabled her to pluck rubies like raspberries from the crown of Belgium or any other sporty kingdom, but she did not know it, and I did not paint the picture for her.

You see, I wanted Mary Martha Mangum for to have and to hold. I wanted her to abide with me, and put my slippers and pipe away every day in places where they cannot be found of evenings.

My Martha's father was a man hidden behind whiskers and spectacles. He lived for bugs and butterflies and all insects that fly or crawl or buzz or get on your back or in the butter. He was an entomologist, or words to that effect. He spent his life studying the life-history of the June-bug order and then sticking pins through 'em and calling 'em names.

He and Mary Martha were the whole family. He prised her highly as a fine specimen of the radiant humans because she saw that he had food at times, and put his clothes on right side before, and kept his alcohol bottles filled. Scientists, they say, are apt to be absent-minded.

Rex, Helvetti—which is as far as I ever went, myself. And he told us that if he ever caught us around his house again he would add us to his collection.

Goodloe Banks and I remained away five days, expecting the storm to subside. When we dared to call at the house again Mary Martha Mangum and her father were gone. Gone! The house they had rented was closed. Their little store of goods and chattels was gone also.

And not a word of farewell to either of us from Mary Martha—not a white, fluttering note pinned to the hawthorn-bush; not a chalk-mark on the gate-post nor a post-card in the post office to give us a clue.

For two months Goodloe Banks and I—separately—tried every scheme we could think of to track the runaways. We used our friendship and influence with the ticket-agent, with livery stable men, railroad conductors, and our one lone, lone constable, but without results.

Then we became better friends and worse enemies than ever. We fore-gathered in the back room of Snyder's saloon every afternoon after work, and played dominoes, and laid conversational traps to find out from each other if anything had been discovered. That is the way of rivals.

Now, Goodloe Banks had a sarcastic way of displaying his own learning and putting me in the class that was reading "Poor Jane Ray, her kind is dead, she cannot play." Well, I rather liked Goodloe, and I had a contempt for his college learning, and I was always regarded as good-natured, so I kept my temper. And I was trying to find out if he knew anything about May Martha, so I endured his society.

the top of a little mountain shaped like a pack-saddle standing in a row between two higher ones. A heap of stones marked the place of the buried treasure.

All the party except the Spanish priest were killed by Indians a few days later. The secret was a monopoly. It looked good to me.

Lee Rundle suggested that we rig out camping outfit, hire a surveyor to run out the line from the Spanish mission, and then spend the three hundred thousand dollars seeing the sights in Fort Worth. But, without being highly educated, I knew a way to save time and expense.

We went to the State land-office and had a practical, what they call a "working" sketch made of the surveys of land from the old mission to the Alamo river. On this map I drew a line due southward to the river. The length of lines of each survey and section of land was accurately given on the sketch. By these we found the point on the river and had a "connection" made with it and an important well-identified corner of the Los Animas five league survey—a grant made by King Philip of Spain.

By doing this we did not need to find the line run out by a surveyor. It was a great saving of expense and time.

So, Lee Rundle and I fitted out a two-horse wagon team with all the accessories, and drove a hundred and forty-nine miles to Chico, the nearest town to the point we wished to reach. There we picked up a deputy county surveyor. He found the corner of Los Animas survey which our sketch called for, laid a stone on the spot, had coffee and bacon, and caught the mail-stage back to Chico.

I was pretty sure we would get that three hundred thousand dollars. Lee Rundle's was to be only one-third, the expense. With that two hundred thousand dollars I knew I could find May Martha Mangum if she was on earth. And with it I could tattle the butteries in old man Mangum's dove-cot, too. If I could find that treasure!

But Lee and I established camp. Across the river were a dozen little mountains densely covered by cedar-brakes, but not one shaped like a pack-saddle. That did not deter us. Appearance is deceptive. A pack saddle, like beauty, may exist only in the eye of the beholder.

And the grandson of the treasure explorer searched those hills with the care of a lady hunting for the wicked flea. We explored every side, top, circumference, mean elevation, angle, slope, and concavity of every one for two miles up and down the river. We spent four days doing so. Then I pitched up the rear and the duns, and hauled the remains of the coffee and bacon the one hundred and forty-nine miles back to Concho City.

Lee Rundle chewed much tobacco on the return trip. I was busy driving, because I was in a hurry.

As shortly as I could after our return I returned Goodloe Banks and I gathered in the back room of Snyder's saloon to play dominoes and talk for information. I told Goodloe about my expedition after the buried treasure.

"If I could have found that three hundred thousand dollars," I said to him, "I would have been a rich man."

"I could have scoured and sifted the surface of the earth to find May Martha Mangum."

"She is meant for higher things," said Goodloe. "I shall find her myself. But tell me how you went about discovering the spot where this unearthed increment was imprudently hidden."

I told him in the smallest detail. I showed him the draughtsmen's sketch with the distances marked plainly upon it.

After glancing over it in a masterly way he leaned back in his chair and bestowed upon me an explosion of sardonic, superior, collegiate laughter.

"Well, you are a fool, Jim," he said, when he could speak.

"It's your play," said I, patiently, finishing my double-six.

"I've often told you you were a fool," he said. "You have let yourself be imposed upon by a doctropper. And you have imposed upon me."

"How," I asked, "have I imposed upon you?"

"By your ignorance," said he. "Twice I have discovered serious flaws in your plans that a common-school education should have enabled you to avoid. And, he continued, 'I have been put to expense that I could ill afford in pursuing this swindling quest. I am done with it!'"

I rose and pointed a large pewter spoon at him, fresh from the dish water.

"Goodloe Banks," I said, "I care not one parballed navy bean for your education. I always barely tolerated it in anyone, and I despised it in you. What has your learning done for you? It is a curse to yourself and a bore to your friends. Away! I said—'away with your water-marks and variations! They are nothing to me. They shall not deflect me from the quest.' I pointed with my spoon across the river to a small mountain shaped like a pack-saddle."

"I am going to search that mountain," I went on, "for the treasure. Decide now whether you are in it or not. If you wish to let a water-mark or a variation shake your soul, you are no true adventurer. Decide!"

I took to be a wild man, with unkempt beard and ragged hair, pursuing a giant butterfly with brilliant wings.

"Perhaps he is an escaped madman," I thought; and wondered how he had strayed so far from seats of education and learning.

And then I took a few more steps and saw a vine-covered cottage near the small stream. And in a little grassy glade I saw Mary Martha Mangum plucking wild flowers.

She straightened up and looked at me. For the first time I knew her. I saw her face—which was the color of the white keys of a new piano—turned pink. I walked toward her without a word. She let the gathered flowers trickle slowly from her hand to the grass.

"I knew you would come, Jim," she said clearly. "Father wouldn't let me write, but I knew you would come. I've often wondered what good too much education is to a man if he can't use it for himself. If all the benefits of it are to go to others, where does it come in?"

For Mary Martha Mangum abides with me. There is an eight-room house in a live-oak grove, and a piano with an automatic player, and a good start toward the three thousand head of cattle is under the fence.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE
ON CANADIAN PROBLEM

(Times Special Correspondence)

London, July 21.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has returned from Canada, not with a new specific for the treatment of Canada's "problem" but as a powerful advocate of a wider application of the cure. Women in thousands are what Canada requires he says, and while emigration experts have set the levers, predominantly for the settlement of men, the famous novelist, with a lucid phrase, has changed the current of popular thought, and set a lot of people thinking of raising machinery to draft 100,000 women—matrons or widows—to console the poor farmers on the prairie. It is not difficult to measure the effect of Conan Doyle's words. All over the country disciples of the detective novelist will begin to work to carry out his dictum and those amiable people whose incursion in matters of emigration have in the past been attended with some degree of failure will take fresh courage.

It is not difficult either to forecast the action of the emigration authorities, whose particular hobby is the creation of a matrimonial agency. They have had many experiences of the cry "Wives Wanted" which in the main have resulted in the settlement in Canada of a class of woman Canada does not want. Of course, the dominion is a scheme, a large number of women, but a widespread appeal for wives is not the way to secure the right type. Emigration is a scheme, requiring the rigid application of fixed rules, and one of the troubles of today is that many charitable persons allow their compassion to overstep the bound of reason, and, with good intentions, do the worst instead of the best, both for the people they try to help and for Canada.

Conan Doyle, with good intentions, of course, has revived a long buried question, but the emigration authorities may be counted on to apply reasonable precautions to ensure that the revived efforts shall be directed into wise channels.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind stents the stomach, and causes that oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphate of magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. F. P.

COMMON COUNCIL

Providing Against Food Shortage—Policeman's Widow's Communication

In order to expedite the business of the city the common council decided, at their weekly meeting yesterday, to meet at noon on Wednesday and Friday of each week in addition to the usual Monday afternoon meetings. These will all be regular meetings of the council and will be open to the public.

Provision for possible war conditions were made on motion of Commissioner Potts by the appointment of a committee with authority to purchase food and other necessities to protect the citizens against increases in price, if such a situation should arise. In view of the financial situation prevailing on account of the war, arrangements were made to provide for extension work without issuing bonds, and other work was deferred for the same reason.

The sum of $800 was voted for improvements to Marsh road.

The commissioner of water and sewerage was authorized to proceed with the renewal of 7,000 feet of water mains, at an estimated cost of $18,000, to be paid for from revenue account.

An eight-inch water main will be laid in Protection street to provide a supply in case of fire at the wharves.

The C. P. R. Telegraph Company was given permission to lay an underground conduit for their wires in King street.

The N. B. Telephone Company was given permission to erect additional poles.

The call for tenders for laying a sidewalk in Lombard street, the cost, under an old agreement with the I. C. R. for the exchange of properties to be met by the railway.

A communication from Barnhill, Ewing & Sanford, notifying the city that they were bringing suit on behalf of Mrs. H. Colby Smith, of West St. John, for damages for injuries received on the ferry floats, was referred to the recorder.

The communication from the Trades and Labor Council regarding the strike riots, the cropping out of troops and the treatment of prisoners, was ordered filed.

Gilbert J. Hunt, C.E., offered his services to the city for the work of drawing up a revised code of building laws. His letter was referred to the commissioner of public safety.

Tenders for laying a water main extension in Sand Cove road and a sewer extension in Marsh road were opened and referred to the commissioner to report.

The commissioner of public works was asked to report on the possibility of making temporary repairs to the retaining wall at the corner of Main and Sheriff streets to obviate the necessity of an immediate expenditure of $10,000 for permanent work.

From Policeman's Widow
Mrs. Jessie Wittrien, widow of Policeman Charles H. Wittrien applied to the council for assistance. She said that her husband had died as a result of injuries received while doing his duty and that she was in frail health with three children to look after. The matter was referred to the commissioner of public safety.

The matter of a town planning act was taken up and notice of motion given for the appointment of a committee as provided for by the act. It was announced that Mr. Harris who was here in connection with Fort Howe, would return soon and his view might be secured.

Comment on the Gould Inquiry

FLEMMING MUST GO.
(Chatham World, Conservative.)

Premier Flemming asked Contractor Kennedy for money, and received $2,000 from him. He asked for the money and got it. What difference does it make whether he spent the money in buying land for himself or in buying votes for himself? It is a crime for the leader of a government, or any member of a government, to accept money from contractors for public works. It is always understood that such contributions are to be repaid indirectly from the public treasury. So how can any sensible publicist continue to pretend that Mr. Flemming has done no wrong? How can any newspaper with respect for itself or regard for the public conscience continue to uphold him? Conservative organs are denouncing the Conservative party by doing so. The government is digging its grave by keeping him on the salary list, even as a leave of absence or ticket-of-leave member of the cabinet.

Mr. Clarke and his colleagues should resign in a body, if Mr. Flemming persists in clinging to office. Then he would have to go.

GOULD AND FLEMMING.

(Chatham World, Conservative.)

In the Valley Railway inquiry, Friday afternoon, A. R. Gould, when asked if he had given J. K. Flemming money, replied that he had not given him any money, and the commission ruled out all further questions in regard to it. Was it not their own money that the leaseholders paid to Mr. Flemming's treasurer? Yet the commission allowed the payments to be inquired into.

Mr. Gould's reply is a confession that he did pay Mr. Flemming money in consideration of getting the Valley Railway contract.

CONCERNING MR. BAXTER.

(Chatham World, Conservative.)

Joseph Howe Dickson, clerk of the executive council, has given an opinion that, under a law of last session, Mr. Baxter could accept the premiership and take the salary of $2,400 without going to the Valley Railway inquiry.

RUSSIANS GOING HOME. Within the past few days thirty Russians have bought tickets at Fredericton and started for Montreal. Other Russians came to Fredericton on Saturday and tried to buy tickets, and again on Monday. The C. P. R. city ticket office there has been besieged by Russians wanting to buy tickets to go home to fight, but they were all doomed to disappointment. Instructions have been issued by W. B. Howard, the C. P. R.'s district passenger agent at St. John, to discontinue bookings of all continental and Scandinavian passengers east bound until further advice. "Do not accept prepaids," says the telegraphic advice. "Antwerp service has been called off, and for the present steamers of Antwerp service will operate to and from London, England, only."
