THERE IS A HITCH OVER RECIPROCITY

Hon. Geo. E. Foster Hopes To Resume Negotiations

AUSTRALIA AND CANADA

Canadian Minister Now Goes To China, Korea and Japan on Trade Mission — Australian Government is Likely to Resign on Saturday

(Canadian Press)

Sydney, N. S. W., June 12.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster left here today for a tour of China, Korea and Japan to inquire into possible openings for Canadian trade. Mr. Foster in an interview with the Telegraph, says he is hopeful regarding reciprocity negotiations with Australia which he had discussed generally with Mr. Tudor, minister of trade and commerce, but that certain items, but it was anticipated they would be overcome.

To Resign this Week
London, June 12.—The Melbourne correspondent of the Daily Chronicle expects that the Fisher ministry will resign on Saturday morning, if not immediately after Friday's labor caucus meeting. The final figures of the election have weakened, instead of improving the ministry's position.

The Cooks cabinet will probably include Hon. E. D. Millen, Sir Robert Best, Sir John Forrest, Hon. W. H. Irvine, Hon. P. M. Glynn, Hon. L. E. Groom and Hon. J. S. Clemons. Attorney-General Hughes has threatened the Liberal newspapers with prosecution under the electoral law owing to alleged malicious misrepresentations during the election.

The closing counts in the Victorian by-election were: Mr. McCool, Liberal, 2,100; Mr. McKissock, Laborite, 1,600. Labor still holds the entire senate representation in Western Australia, Queensland and New South Wales, plus half that of the remaining states.

NEW PILOTAGE RULE FOR MONTREAL DISTRICT

Designed to Give More Experience and Money to Those Not Specially Employed

Montreal, June 12.—An order in council has been adopted amending the pilotage regulations of the District of Montreal so that in the future no agent or firm having only one vessel, or a monthly service of one vessel only, is allowed to engage a special pilot for that service, but may be authorized to arrange with another agent or firm in the same position to secure the services of a special pilot to be employed jointly by both agencies.

Falling such authorizations, agents or firms so situated will be obliged to fall back on the services of a pilot taken according to rotation. It is anticipated that the new order will have the effect of enhancing the experience and remuneration of the pilots on the list, which are the reasons assigned by the pilotage commission for making the recommendation. The dominion government has adopted it.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT ON WIRELESS MATTER IS EXPECTED TOMORROW

Cable From Lord Murray of Elbank in Reference to Marconi Shares

London, June 12.—The parliamentary committee which has had under investigation the matter of the government's purchase of the Marconi wireless telegraph system, has prepared its report which will be presented on June 18. According to the Daily Telegraph, after the report of the Unionist members of the committee had been negatived by the radical majority, a struggle ensued over the chairman's draft and what is known as the Falconer-Booth draft, which he still holds. The fact of the purchase was revealed during the evidence given on Tuesday at the meetings of the parliamentary committee.

The preliminary committee investigating the wireless contracts has received a cablegram from Lord Murray of Elbank, who is now at Quila, stating that as chief whip of the Liberal party he had bought 100,000 shares of Marconi stock, which he still holds. The fact of the purchase was revealed during the evidence given on Tuesday at the meetings of the parliamentary committee.

Lord Murray further states that he did not inform his successor, S. P. J. Illingworth, of the transaction. He further confirms the evidence of Attorney-General Isaacs and Chancellor Lloyd George, to his joint interest with them in Marconi shares, but declares that outside the foregoing he never had any interest in America.

Despite business obligations at Quila, Lord Murray announces his willingness to return to London at once if further evidence is required of him.

Bonar Law will ask the prime minister on Monday to open the subject of discussion of the report. This will meet with instant acceptance. The interest of the debate will center upon the attitude of the prime minister.

BOURASSA'S PLEA FOR THE FRENCH LANGUAGE

Safeguard Against Canada Ever Being Absorbed by the United States

Edmonton, June 12.—That the maintenance of the French language and the retention of the distinctive characteristics of the French-Canadian race in the dominion formed the principal safeguard against the dominion ever being politically absorbed by the United States was the principal contention put forward by Henri Bourassa, Nationalist leader, who was the guest of the Canadian Club at luncheon yesterday afternoon.

The relations between the United States and Canada, from geographical and commercial reasons, said Mr. Bourassa, were much more intimate than that existing between the dominion and Great Britain.

English was the prevalent language spoken in the United States and if the same tongue were exclusively spoken in Canada, there would be, Mr. Bourassa contended, a grave danger to the great republic, with its hundred million inhabitants, mentally, morally, and intellectually assimilating the dominion, with its seven million people.

Czar Bids Bulgaria And Serbia Stay Their Hands

Sends Strongly Worded Message To Disputant Kings and Warns Them Against War—Looks Like Arbitration Instead of Fighting

St. Petersburg, June 12.—A telegram sent by the Czar to King Peter of Bulgaria and King Ferdinand of Serbia says in part—

"I feel compelled to warn your majesties that war between Bulgaria and Serbia could not leave me indifferent. I hereby make it known that the state which begins war will be responsible for the Slav cause and that I reserve to myself all liberty respecting the attitude which Russia adopts in regard to the results of such a criminal struggle."

Bulgaria sent an affirmative answer yesterday to the telegram from the Czar asking that government to submit its dispute with Serbia to arbitration. Serbia also is expected to agree to the Czar's telegram urging arbitration on Bulgaria and Serbia and which also requested as a preliminary condition that the two countries should demobilize their armies.

Both Agree

Tete Jaune, B. C., June 12.—Due to a sudden rise in the Fraser River, Tete Jaune is under water. Boats are being used in Main street for removing furniture from buildings close to the water front and several structures have been washed away. Heavy rains during the last few days have resulted in a phenomenal rise in the river and yesterday when the residents awoke they found that the water was lapping around their doors.

Water in the main street is now six feet in depth and the river is still rising. No lives have been lost, although several narrow escapes are reported where men in boats narrowly escaped being swept into the river, which is a roaring current.

REV. MR. DAWSON IS THE PRESIDENT

N. B. & P. E. I. Methodist Election Today

REV. DR. CARMAN THERE

Says He Expects Union Matter Settled One Way or Other By Next Year—New President III and Was Not Present Today

(Special To Times)
Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 12.—Rev. George F. Dawson of St. Stephen, N. B., was elected president of the N. B. and P. E. I. Methodist Conference today and Rev. D. R. Chown secretary; Rev. S. H. O. Brown and George Morris assistants. The president-elect was too ill to be present. He is expected tomorrow.

A feature of this morning's session was a vigorous address by Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent. He said that church union was a question of the question to be settled one way or another before the general conference of 1914. If the Presbyterians wanted to carry out the start made the Methodist would be pleased, though there was no crying need. The Methodists were satisfied with their creed, policy and doctrine. They viewed union as a means of general advancement of the Christian cause. They were not coddling or coaxing anybody and did not feel disposed to press it from their standpoint.

He advised his people to be patient, to wait a little longer but if union could not be consummated the Methodists must look to themselves. It was a question of increasing spiritual power. The Presbyterians have made advance in that direction. Some were still timid on doctrinal lines.

Doctor Carman also dealt with temperance and denounced the growth of gambling by women. The Methodist church had not advanced as it should because some were waiting to see what came out of the movement in the provinces and the great step towards union made by Montreal colleges.

'LONGSHOREMEN IN MONTREAL STILL AFTER MORE MONEY

Montreal, June 12.—The longshoremen have adopted new tactics in their fight for better wages for grain trimmers. Seeing the futility of their demand for increased pay while they are under contract with the Shipping Federation of Canada for the present scale they have decided to demand sixty cents instead of thirty-five cents an hour from ramp steamers. If this demand is not complied with, they threaten to knock work within a week.

According to a story circulating in hipping circles Georges Poliquin, the longshoremen's business agent, called on R. McCarthy, the principal character in grain vessels to this port, and made known the decision of the union and offered to have the longshoremen look for the stevedoring in consideration of the usual fees. Mr. McCarthy's answer was not the proverbial soft one that smother away wrath.

ARE PROUD OF LARGE FAMILIES

Chinese Ambition to Have Five Generations Under One Roof

The Chinese are proud of large families and a large family living together under one roof is looked upon as a proof of good temper and correct course of life of its members and as a sure path to prosperity.

A large family which is able to live together without dividing up the property, always receives much credit and is highly respected. It is one of the highest distinctions in China to have an Eldest Son, or five generations under one roof, although such a distinction is attained by very few.

According to a recent census, the family of Meng Yu Shih, a widow of the village of Mangto, in the territory of Wei-Hai-wei, has the distinction of being the largest in the land. Her family consists of sixty-five members, and with one servant, there are sixty-seven mouths to be fed daily.

Meng Yu Shih is sixty-three years old and has nine sons and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren, all living under her roof. She has not yet attained the ambition of being the head of her family. The site of her family has already given her the honor and pleasure of being the largest in China, even if she has not five generations under one roof.

There are many households with more than fifty members and almost all old and distinguished families of China have at least twenty members. Families of small three or four, are considered rather bad form, even if they are rich and occupy high positions. Size of family is as valuable in China as size of strong box.

FIRST NEEDLE A THORN

Woman Who Traced History of Sewing Says Sweatshops Had Origin in Ancient Egypt

According to the reports of Miss M. A. Lamb, a Philadelphia woman, who has taken upon herself the task of raising the needle to its rightful place in history, upon the results of her personal investigations among relics of the most ancient peoples, the sweat-shop originated in Egypt. In the first needle probably was plucked from a thorn tree by Mother Eve some few minutes after her historic leave-taking of the Garden of Eden.

Of course there were no relics of Adam and Eve; the assumption concerning the means taken by them to add to their abbreviated costumes after cold knowledge had started the first of human troubles is nothing more or less than a long shot at a doubtful target. But Miss Lamb did show a photograph of the very oldest piece of cotton-wool leather work and embroidery in existence, a piece that is carefully preserved in a museum of the Old World and demonstrated how positively it is known to antiquarians that the skillful hands responsible for its existence were busy at work during the reign of Solomon.

To prove Egypt's responsibility for the appearance of the sweat shop the woman lecturer showed a very striking photograph of a tapestry hall of the ancient empire taken from stone carvings of a very ancient period and beside the figures of a woman and a man, men being among the most expert of the early needle and loom workers, there was a series of hieroglyphics that depicted, bespoke the plant of an old Egyptian woman who was much displeased that her daughter, after serving an apprenticeship in one of the shops, was not being paid in proportion to her labors. And the strange writing goes on to describe the shops—small places with many occupants, who are deprived of sun and air while they work.

This was 2,500 years before Christ. Going back even further, Miss Lamb produced etchings from the cliff shobes of the cave men of a period that belongs somewhere in the hazy stretch of time known as the stone age, and time after time the rude skill of the rock-dwellers was shown to have turned to the portraying of the fancy sleeve dress of the tribal chiefs and leading warriors.

An actual photograph of a tunic, dug from ten feet of peat in an Irish bog and evidently a part of the apparel of one of Eve's earliest daughters, was thrown upon the screen in the lecture hall. The process of petrification revealed it to be made of two pieces joined together by a system of stitching similar to what is known now as "drawn work."

Thorns from the trees of antiquity were the first needles. After them came those of bone, flint and shell and the

LITTLE CAUSES—BIG ENDING

How Some of the Strikes Are Brought About

The threatened strike on the Midland Railway, due to the dismissal of a guard for sticking too closely to the letter of his instructions, is not the only instance on record of big events of the kind springing from little causes.

A Leeds labor war was due to the work-people declining to wear lat sleepers in a mill where clops were regarded as unsafe. At Sunderland a forman's shipwright casually told a workman to "hurry up" and the implied reproach being resented, an unusually bitter strike was the result.

At Jarrow-on-Tyne workmen struck because they objected to the use of brass checks.

There have been at least a score of strikes, big and little, over the question of whether girls should be permitted to wear "fringes" in mills filled with dangerous machinery. The actual cause of the outbreak of the disastrous Taff Valley Railway strike was that a couple of guards were compelled to change brake vans against their will.

ANOTHER DISCOVERY The Standard confirms the report from Ottawa that the government has decided to do nothing about increasing the length of the St. John dry dock from 900 feet to 1150 feet.

But the gods (of some thinkers) are strange and punish us for what is good and humane as much as for what is evil and perverse. According to the Montreal preacher's theory, to reach the sinner in the city they pursue the man who skins the cream in the stock market.

The appearance of a watering cart in Pitt street this morning was greeted by wild cheering from the populace. Citizens who have been struggling in vain against the dust were glad to hear that salt water may be sprinkled upon the streets, but if salt water is any harder to get, they will be quite content with fresh. But they want the streets sprinkled.

What's this about the Hon. George Eulas Foster? Today's cables announce that he is going to China and Korea, looking for trade—but that the real negotiations with Australia have been "suspended for the time being."

Lord Willoughby de Broke (odd name for a toff, eh, what old top?) is calling for English volunteers to stand in the trenches and resist Home Rule for Ireland. But why not resist Home Rule for Scotland and Wales too.

THE PASTOR AND THE SINNER Strange, it is not that of the myriads who before us pass'd the door of Darkness through. Not one returns to tell us of the Road, Which to discover we must travel too.

WHERE HE FOUND POETRY

Greenleaf was incited through his admiration for Burns to try to make his own verses.

"I found that the things out of which poems came were not, as I had always imagined, somewhere far off in a world of life-living outside our own sky. They were right here about my feet as among the people I knew."

His idea was now covered with rhymes and with the farm day's work was over he himself in an unoccupied upper chamber, safe, as he thought, from all hum eyes, and there he wrote many of his early effusions, and in these efforts we see the boy's passionate desire for some higher education.—T. 1 Weekly, London.

KING GEORGE'S ROYAL FRIEND

Only Intimate Among Royalties Is The Czar

NO OFFICIAL VISITS

Kaiser to Make Call in London But Will Stay at German Embassy—Alfonso Has Not Been Guest in Present Reign

(Times Special Correspondence) London, June 8.—A few weeks ago paragraphs went the rounds of the London press to the effect that King George and Queen Mary were about to pay visits to different courts in Europe and that these visits would be followed by a series of visits of European monarchs to the English court. These paragraphs served somewhat to amuse those in the royal entourage, for they knew that King George and Queen Mary have as little intention of visiting any European courts as they have of entertaining any reigning sovereign, at any rate, in the immediate future. The paragraphs at last drew an official contradiction of the statement that the king and queen intended visiting any European courts this season beyond quite necessary trips like that to Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter. Nothing has been officially stated regarding the entertainment of royalties at Buckingham Palace, but it is an open secret that King George has informed the premier that there will be no royal visits to the English court this year.

Czar a Close Friend

The Czar of Russia is the only one of royalty who is on really intimate terms with King George. The Czar and King George have been close friends for many years. Nicholas was brought to the English court as a young boy and he at once took a fancy to the younger of King Edward's two sons. The collection of royal playthings at Buckingham Palace is still preserved a silver mounted gun which the Czar and the future English King at the end of the visit. The friendship that began between the two future monarchs during that visit has lasted ever since. They are regular correspondents and have many tastes and ideas in common. The Czarina and Queen Mary are also tolerably good friends so that a visit to Buckingham Palace from the Czar and Czarina would by no means be an unwelcome event, but for political reasons such a visit would not be popular in England and it is extremely unlikely to take place—at all events as long as a Liberal government is in office.

Between King George and the German Emperor there always existed a mutual antipathy. As a matter of fact the Kaiser has never been personally popular among the English people, though his royal family, but King Edward, for diplomatic reasons, went out of his way to make himself agreeable to his nephew, and during the late reign they were on terms of friendship. But King George, unlike his father, has neither the desire nor the ability to influence European diplomacy, and he has been content to be a guest in the Kaiser's palace, rather than a party, and the Kaiser on his part has always treated his royal cousin with a sort of grudging superiority of manner that was extremely irritating to the English sovereign.

As Prince of Wales he was compelled to submit to being patronized by the War Lord of Europe, but since his accession King George has conveyed to the Kaiser, and bluntly enough, that his cousin's superiority of manner is, now at all events, entirely out of place.

One of the first things that King George did, when the question of the re-arranging of the apartments of Windsor Castle came up, after his accession, was to order the removal of a large marble bust of the Kaiser from the room known as the red drawing room. When the Kaiser was in England his Imperial Majesty while at Windsor Castle, noticed that the bust had been removed and mentioned the fact to his host.

"Yes," replied the king, bluntly, "it was a bust of your father, and in a room of this sort was entirely out of place."

The bust was the work of an indifferent artist, but it was executed to an order given by the late king to the artist, and flattered the War Lord immensely, and he consequently liked it. He could not quarrel with the reason given him for its removal, but his reply to his host indicated his feelings on the matter: "I detest it—it was a bad piece of work, but your father would not have removed it."

A few months ago the Kaiser intimated his intention to King George of coming to England in the summer, and an invitation was, of course, given to His Imperial Majesty to stay at Buckingham Palace. The invitation has not been accepted; King George of course knew it would not be, though he was bound to give it, just as the Kaiser was bound by the etiquette that obtains among monarchs to inform King George of his intention of coming to England.

To Stay at Embassy? The Kaiser is going to stay at the German embassy in London, and will become the guest of the German ambassador and so relieve his royal cousin of the trouble of seeing as his host, a ceremony that would be as tedious and disagreeable to the Kaiser as it would be to King George.

The King and Queen of Norway constantly come to England, but they are always guests of Queen Alexandra, either at Sandringham or at Marlborough House. They have not been at Buckingham Palace since the death of King Edward. The Queen of Norway likes her brother well enough, though "Harry" (as Her Majesty has been called by her relations since she was a little girl) never liked him as well as she did the Duke of Clarence, his elder brother. The King and Queen of Spain were, of course, fairly frequent visitors to the English court in the late reign, but they

WHY MANTLE CLOCKS DON'T GO

The reason why these clocks are nearly always inaccurate was explained by a London clockmaker. "It is because mantelpieces are rarely placed on a level," he said. "If a clock meant for a mantelpiece is not placed in an exactly horizontal position it is sure to go wrong. Most every house has an annoying mantelpiece, and even the cleverest members of the household generally fail to take it into account. 'I never knew a clock on a mantelpiece which kept good time,' said Mr. Wotton, the Woolwich magistrate, in a case where such a clock had been stolen."

MANCHESTER ROBERTSON ALLISON, LIMITED.

Prince John's nurseries take up four rooms; so that altogether there are twenty-one apartments fewer available for visitors than there were in the late reign. Buckingham Palace is by no means a smaller place as it is now arranged it would be difficult to find accommodation for the considerable retinue of officials and servants that retaining sovereign customarily brings with him. There is one aspect of the absence of royal visitors from the English court that, when properly understood, reveals King George and his consort in the light of rather clever economists, and shows how they cleverly fooled even the sharp Mr. Lloyd George. In 1910, when parliament was called upon to arrange the various salaries and allowances for the crown, Mr. Lloyd George said in the House of Commons that at King George's own desire it would be settled that His Majesty in future should pay out of his own private purse all the expenses of entertaining foreign monarchs at the English court. During the last three reigns such expenses have been met by a special grant out of the national exchequer. The chancellor of the exchequer (presumably as the result of a conference with King George) suggested to King George that the sovereign should in return for the sovereign meeting these heavy expenses out of his own pocket, all the revenues of the king and queen should be relieved of income tax about $100,000 and the commoners agreed. But since that date King George has not entertained any foreign monarch so that His Majesty certainly has scored by an arrangement which, Her Majesty, however, may be entirely credited with having planned. The Tecks come of a shrewd, careful stock and Queen Mary inherits their shrewdness in a marked degree.

ANNUAL WASTE BY SMOKE

Estimated at Six Million Besides Damage in Other Ways. Smoke Inspector Roberts, of Cleveland, Ohio, estimates that there is an annual waste of $6,000,000 through the chimneys of that city. He will be supported in this statement by estimates of smoke waste in other industrial communities. The loss in other respects is even more pronounced and direct. It means the defacement of the city's architecture, it means the destruction of vegetation, it means damage to wearing apparel, to hangings, to upholstery, to pictures—it means incalculable injury to the city as a place of business and residence.

It is certainly unfair to many players and does not assist in giving a true record of players' hitting ability.

A Few Players We Know
A number of players familiar to local fans participated in a league game in connection with the opening of the new ball park at Sydney on Saturday, when the Glace Bay team met and defeated Sydney, 3 to 2. Among those on the winning team, the following helped carry their team to victory: Fredette, short stop, who was in the local league last year; "Bucky" Lynch, at third—all remember Bucky; Mulligan, who held down the initial bag for the Greeks and who was released by Manager Leonard about a week ago; Walsh who pitched and was found for safeties only five times—Fredericton let him go last week; and Finnamore, who is catching for the Glace Bay boys and is doing good work with the willow, having two out of four times up. The local enthusiasts wish these boys all kinds of luck in their new surroundings.

Never a Hit Off Him
Every star ball player has his particular pitching hoodoo, but few has a look-in on the record held by Donnie Bush. Five years ago the wee shortstop of the Detroit Tigers took his first time at the bat against Death Valley Jim Scott, then a newcomer in the Chicago White Sox curving corps. He failed to get the semblance of a base hit. In fact Donnie is authority for the statement that he never got a "blow" off the Wyoming hunter.

"Scottie" has twirled against Bush in more than 20 combats. Occasionally the dynamic Detroit has asked a pass from the elk hunting heaver. Now and then he has been known to hit past the infield to a waiting outpost arrayed in pale hose. But as Bush states: "There's something about Scott's curving ball that always fools me."

Bush is not the only Tiger who has his troubles when "Death Valley Jim" is on watch. The official statistics show Callahan's finger to be holder of another unique record in competition with Jennings' crew. Once only during five years of fighting have the Bengals trimmed Scott and that beating was registered on April 15, 1911, in Detroit, a snowstorm helping to overthrow the Wyoming chap.

Diamond Sparkles
"Cy" Fikensberg on Tuesday lost his first game of the season, after winning ten straight.

Merraville made his first home run in major league baseball on Tuesday. Joe Jackson of the Cleveland club has made seventeen doubles, thirteen trips and two home runs this season, and many of his hits for extra bases have come when the Naps had runners on and they needed the runs to win.

Harry Lord was hit on the elbow by a pitched ball in one of the recent games at Detroit. He went to his home in Portland, Me., to enjoy himself while resting the sore member, but it rounded to more quickly than expected and he was able to rejoin the White Sox three days later.

Zanlock is the most promising youngster on the Detroit pitching staff, according to Hughey Jennings.

1913'S BUSTING BIG BASEBALL BARTER ZEIDER AND BORTON FOR HAL CHASE; TWO CLUBS STRENGTHENED

Employed to give New York a first-class representative in the American league, Frank Chance, has started with a vengeance. As was predicted some time ago, Chance has traded Hal Chase, one of the greatest first basemen in the baseball. The other is Jake Daubert, who is mentioned to prevent other first sackers letting their imagination run away with them.

In sending Chase to the White Sox, Frank Chance secured Rollie Zeider as third baseman and Babe Borton as first base guardians. He also wanted Morris Rath, but failed to get him.

In Zeider, the Yankees have secured one of the best players in the land. He is a natural third baseman, but could not play regularly with the Sox, because of the presence of the high-priced Harry Lord. He was used as utility player and in consequence had little opportunity to show his real worth. Playing regularly he will bolster up the Yankees infield. Borton is a fair first baseman. Under the coaching of Chance, he is apt to develop into a high-class performer.

Chance will play first part of the time, but cannot be depended upon to be a regular. Prior to trading Chase for Zeider and Borton, the Yankee leader secured infielder Roger Peckensbaugh from Cleveland for two players.

For the White Sox, Chick Grandt made prove a find. Al Chick Grandt made prove a find. Al Chick Grandt made prove a find. Al Chick Grandt made prove a find.

Hans Wagner says that a home run with the bases full gave him, his start in baseball. It was in a game between the Mansfield, Pa., and Canton, Ohio, teams, and the rap, which turned defeat into victory, came in the ninth inning. Hans was a member of the Mansfield club.

Fing Boie was taken out of a recent game by Callahan as punishment for failing to run out a grounder which the first baseman eventually muffed.

Pete Greenwald, catcher on a semi-professional team at Holland, N. Y., was killed by a foul tip which struck him just below the right ear. It fractured his skull.

Wilson Collins, crack football player, sprinter and pitcher of Vanderbilt University of Nashville, Tenn., has been signed by the Boston Braves.

Manager Sivalov of the Browns has signed Elicher Powell, a right hander of the University of Michigan, who has been second string to Sialer.
