HOW COL. HARRISON CAPTURED PIGMIES.

Interesting Little People From Central Africa Who Are Attracting Much Interest in England—The Colonel Used a Camera and Umbrella. (Special Cable to the Star.) LONDON, July 8.—Bit by bit, little by little, the story of how Col. Harrison found the Central African pigmies and how he induced those strange people to come to England is coming out. In a recent interview Col. Harrison, who is a modest and extremely retiring man and who is not usually in a mood to talk about his African experiences said: "The confidence of these forest-dwellers was soon won. I hardly ever carried a rifle with me and very seldom even a shot gun though I found the shooting of a flying bird caused these natives much merriment. I think the rare fact of wandering about with them, carrying only a camera or an umbrella or walking stick was the cause of their becoming so friendly."

"I expected to find them devoid of dress, but now all the men wear a bit of laced skin, suspended by a single cord around the waist, ornamented by one big glass bead; while the women renew their cheap costume daily by simply gathering two bunches of green leaves. "The hair of all grow exceedingly short and curly, still they manage to spend much time in styling out and treatment. To cut patterns all over the head seems to be the principal style; but some will shave the head entirely, others cut narrow lines through the hair; while many twist it up in two or three peaks, into which they plant the hair of squirrels or feathers. "The general height of the men is from 3 ft. 10 in. to 4 ft. 5 in. While some would be fairly fat the greater part would be mere skeletons; the women, as usual with all the native races, being always more robust than the men. Their complexions vary from very black to a pale sickly yellow. "Copper and brass were much prized for the making of ornaments, different colored beads, large and small, also cowrie shells being likewise in great favor. For the making of weapons they collect the ironstone, and digging a hole in the ground for the fire, smelt it down by aid of a primitive set of bellows made of roughly-tanned skin, tied to a hollow bamboo case, which is inserted under the fire. They make spears, knives and arrows, and many of many types and well made, considering the fact that they use nothing but different shaped stones for tools in their making. "Their length of life is very short, the men seldom seeing forty or the women thirty-five years. Considering the condition of life it is not to be wondered at. During eight months of the year the forest is very hard to procure, and they live on anything that they can pick up, dead rats, mice and frogs all helping to stave off hunger. Smallpox is a terrible scourge, and all alike seem to be suffering from a hard, hacking cough. "The marriage customs of this strange people are unique. They start life early, generally marrying at eight or nine. The men buy their wives with three or four spears and ten or fifteen arrows, according to the market value of the lady. These they pay by installing the wife in the father's hut, and the suitor presenting the father with one spear, and if accepted he comes along again as soon as ever he can raise another, but not until the last arrow is handed over is he allowed to take his bride; thus the father always has something in hand should the suitor change his mind, with which to soothe the sorrowing lady of perhaps seven or eight years of age. A man can have as many wives as he can afford to buy. "When a boy is born there are great rejoicings, but if an unlucky girl appears, out goes the father to gather a lot of plantain leaves, with which he lashes the newly arrived member of the family from head to foot. "Justice is swift in Pygmy Land. Murder, for instance, is punished by the next-of-kin lying in wait for the culprit and killing him."

CANADA'S CREW DESERT. (Special to the Star.) HALIFAX, N. S., July 8.—Ten of the crew of the Canadian cruiser Canada, who refused duty yesterday, on account of alleged ill-usage, left Halifax for Boston this morning. The Canada is still in the harbor, not being able to replace the twenty-five men who mutinied. It is stated that no man can be obtained to take the places of these men, as most of the seamen about the water front are in sympathy with the strikers. An effort will be made to ship the crew of the wrecked steamer Salerno, so as to enable the Canada to proceed on the voyage to receive the mails from the Turbine steamer Virginia and convey them to Sydney for the fast express from there to Montreal.

The funeral of the late Howard Duncan Fowley will take place at 2.30 this afternoon from his late residence, Long wharf. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stackhouse. Burial at Cedar Hill.

William Holm went up to Dorchester yesterday this morning in care of Father Clifford.

TUNNEL PROPOSED UNDER MT. BLANC.

French Government Considering Gigantic Undertaking. This Will Open a Direct Line to Italy—Another Tunnel Under the Alps to Switzerland. (Special Cable to the Star.) PARIS, July 8.—M. Gauthier, Minister of Public Works, is credited with a scheme which sounds gigantic. It is nothing more or less than that of a railway tunnel through Mont Blanc. The project includes other features, less vast but all important. As will be easily understood the scheme was originally a counterblast to the new Simplon tunnel undertaking just completed. The St. Cohard line when opened damaged French trade considerably. The Simplon route will prove a still more serious blow. France has few direct railway routes into Switzerland. Those from Dijon to Lausanne, via Pontarlier, and to Geneva, via Culoz are inconvenient, circuitous and the former is often rendered impracticable in winter by snow-falls. Direct routes to Italy are by the Mount Coma tunnel, and round by Marseilles and the Riviera to Genoa. The most rapid transit from North-western Europe to Italy is no longer by France, but by Basel and the St. Gothard. A still more direct route will be the Simplon.

But M. Gauthier's scheme is to open a yet quicker means of communication, first of all with Switzerland. This would be provided for by tunnelling the Faucille Pass, an engineering work estimated to cost $23,000,000 and to take about five years. By this way a route for French trade is opened from Dijon to Geneva, via Lons le Saunier. This would be then the most rapid means of transit to Switzerland.

The second and more sensational part of the scheme is the proposed continuation of the line from Geneva, via Chamounix, through the Mount Blanc to Aosta, thus connecting with the Italian system. The advantages of the route for French trade are obvious, as by far the most rapid route from England to Italy would pass across one half of France. The magnitude of the enterprise as well as the route of the line from Chamounix to the Mont Blanc rather takes one's breath away but the project is said to have been already well thought out and elaborated in detail. It would certainly be a gigantic scheme for France as it would probably divert half of the traffic of the St. Gothard and Simplon routes to French railways. No one would have believed the Minister of Public Works likely to inaugurate such a project. But it is said that the idea has the best of backing, financial and political. Inasmuch as the route of the line from Chamounix to England is once again being agitated and seriously it would appear as though decided improvements in the railway systems of the Continent in general and France in particular are among the possibilities in the not far distant future.

REV. MR. WICHER RESIGNS. Pastor of St. Stephen's Church Has Accepted a Chair in a San Francisco Theological Seminary. At the morning service tomorrow at St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. Edward A. Wicher, will announce his decision in regard to the call to the presidency of the San Francisco Theological Seminary of the United States. Mr. Wicher has accepted the offer. The college is one of the largest in the United States, and the position offered to Mr. Wicher allows of much influential work being done in ministerial preparation. Mr. Wicher was unanimously nominated by the Synod, Dr. McIntyre, of Philadelphia, and the faculty of the seminary.

If St. Stephen's church is now to lose Mr. Wicher, this will be the third time a pastor of their church has dropped congregational work on college staffs. Rev. Dr. Fraser, at present spending his holidays in this city, accepted a professorship at Montreal Presbyterian College, where he lectures on New Testament exegesis, which is the same chair to which the new pastor has now been called. Mr. Wicher, who has not been long in his present position, quickly won the regard of his flock and they would hear of his departure with the greatest regret.

ABUSED AND STRUCK HER. Mrs. O'Connell complained to the Acting Magistrate this morning of the conduct of Mrs. William Winchester of 61 Richmond street. Both parties live in the same house, and Mrs. O'Connell said that Mrs. Winchester both abused and struck her, and it hadn't been for Mrs. O'Connell, she would have been beaten to pieces. Magistrate Henderson congratulated Mrs. O'Connell on her miraculous escape and will interview Mrs. William Winchester on the subject at ten o'clock on Monday morning at the Police Court. Mrs. O'Connell thanked him, and left the court repeating to herself, "Don't forget now, Mrs. Winchester."

KEENE'S CHAMPION WILL NOT START

In the Richest of All Aged Handicaps. Absence of the Famous Colt a Great Source of Disappointment to the Big Army of Race G. S. NEW YORK, July 8.—Snyobny, the great Keene three year old, hailed as the champion of the year, is not carded to start today in the Brighton, the richest of all-aged handicaps run in America. The absence of the Keene Optime Colt in this famous mile and a quarter race, is a source of keen disappointment to the army of race-goers, especially so in view of the fact that Snyobny in two years of racing has acknowledged defeat only to a stablemate and Ort Wells, the stout son of King Eric-Tessoucer are both somewhat dimmed by her recent defeat, along with Delhi, in the Brighton mile, won by Ort Wells, is also named to go in the handicap this afternoon. Altogether nine horses appeared in the over-night list of starters, but only the three already referred to can be looked upon as of European class. This historic handicap, with a guaranteed value of $25,000, the winner to take not less than $22,000, has been contested for by the very best horses the American turf has known. Last year it already bright history was made more lustrous by the establishment of a new world's record, Broomstick, in that memorable head-to-head drive with the stricken Irish Lad, traveled a mile and a quarter in 2:02.45, faster than any other racing animal the world has known. Both Irish Lad and Broomstick are missing from this year's Brighton. It was thought Broomstick surely would start, but his very bad race a few days ago showed that he was in no condition for such a struggle as the Brighton is expected to develop. As among Artwells, Ort Wells and Beldame there is a wide divergence of opinion as to relative merits. Artwells will attract a golden following. That he is a colt with few wealthy connections, seldom sends a candidate to the post without placing a fortune upon his chances. This colt's defeat of a mile and a quarter in the Brighton mile will also bring to his colors thousands of the public's money.

Artwell, the graceful Hamburg filly, winner of last year's Futurity for which Snyobny had been so carefully trained, has been carded to start in the three year old season with all the ease and impressiveness that have characterized the victories of Snyobny since his death with Beldame in the Metropolitan. Artwell only once failed to finish in front of her field and that was when she was sent to the races in a Saturday lesson, and for some time, as her owners intended, by a stable companion. Following are the entries for the Brighton handicap; mile and a quarter: Beldame Artwells, 155; Dolly Spanker, 111; Red 103; Beau de Beaucaire, 106; Artwell, 103; Ivan the Terrible, St. Belane, 99; Ostrich, 90.

HENRY LEWIS IN TROUBLE AGAIN. There was trouble among the darlings on Pitt street again last night. Mr. Harding Henpecked Lewis had another little disagreement with his awful and wicked spouse, and for some time the possessor of unruly chickens made the air turn blue with his forcible and flowery remarks. To settle the row started over Lewis' adopted son, Mr. Lewis very rightly objected to the young hopeful being out after eight o'clock at night, but his wife and her views and last night their differences of opinion culminated in a wordy warfare that made the air turn blue for miles round. Officer McCallum, heard the hullabaloo, when some distance from the Lewis mansion and hastened to the scene of action. At the time of his arrival Lewis was thoroughly excited and all he could do was to shout to his wife, "Your a liar." After a while the officer restored peace between them which it is hoped will last for a few days. The police are getting tired of being called into the Lewis household so frequently to close family jars, and there is talk of indicting them for keeping a disorderly house next time anything of the sort occurs.

The deaths for the week numbered 18 as follows: Heart Disease 2, Consumption 2, Suicide 1, Asthenia 1, Asphyxia 1, Bronchitis 1, Peritonitis 1, Meningitis 1, Angina Pectoris 1, Cerebral Apoplexy 1, Obstruction of bowels 1, Epithelioma of face 1, General Paralysis 1, Pernicious Anemia 1, Urinary Fistula 1.

Mrs. Alce Corigan of Chapel street has been ordered to be at the police court on Monday morning at ten o'clock in reference to a complaint which has been made against her.

Mrs. Margaret McGuire has been reported for allowing water to overflow from an old sewer on the sidewalk on Bond street near the Dominion Express Co.'s barn.

Harry Crawford has been reported for encumbering the sidewalk on Rodney street with earth and stone thrown from a trench being dug to lay water pipes.

VLADIVOSTOCK GIVEN UP? NEVER.

Russia Will Surrender All Manchuria and Pay Up. But Will Not Listen to Any Such Thing as the Dismantling of Her Northern Pacific Port. (Special Cable to the Star.) ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—Judging from the spirit of the Russian press the Russians are not anxious for peace negotiations unless Vladivostock can be saved. One of the Russian Ministers who has the ear of the Czar, said this week:—"Suppose the very worst that can happen. We can abandon Manchuria, Liaoning, Port Arthur, the Khabarovsk railway and agree to pay a war indemnity, but what we will refuse at all costs is the dismantling of Vladivostock and the surrender of Sakhalin. Not that Sakhalin is intrinsically so valuable, but its possession is invaluable to use if we intend that Vladivostock shall remain what it always has been—namely the outpost of Russia in Siberia. We have never had any national existence in Manchuria, Port Arthur is an accident. Let them take both if they like—take both away from us, let them ask for money, but let them go no farther. If Japan is bent on asking for the dismantling of Vladivostock and the promise not to maintain a fleet in the far Eastern waters it is futile to lose time in vain talk."

Asked what would be the Russian policy if peace negotiations fell through this authority said that the following plan had been adopted. After the defeat of the Russian armies in Manchuria, Russia would fall back to the Siberian frontier leaving Vladivostock to its fate. Briefly is there and it is argued that he can hold out for at least one year. This will give Russia time to mass on the frontier a million men after putting down all insurrections within her own borders. Neither men nor money will be lacking for it will no longer be a colonial war, but a great struggle between two peoples, a war rendered national by the Czar—a war which will become a struggle for existence as when Napoleon invaded Russia and the patriotic Russians burned Moscow rather than submit to a foreign foe. Money will then be in plenty and it is believed that money in this event will be the last of the Russian exchequer if it need be the monometries will be called upon. As illustrating the sentiment regarding giving up one single foot of Russian soil or the cessation of any Siberian territory, no matter what happens to Manchuria Russian papers are calling attention to the foolishness of the surrender of Russian Alaska. It is pointed out that the sacrifice did not even win American friendship since America is regarded as unfriendly today. If Russia had kept Alaska and had fortified it, it is argued that the nation would not be in the plight in which it finds itself today. Rojevsky's fleet could have found there many harbors of refuge, could have obtained coal and other supplies, and by remaining at a port like Sitka could have threatened and harassed the entire eastern coast of Japan. Yet for a tenth of what it cost to build the Russian fleet the Russian government parted with a territory rich in minerals and from a land of untold prospective wealth, and upon the occasion of a war like the present a land of the greatest strategic value from a naval and military point of view. From this it is argued that the tradition of a land grabbing policy of Great Britain should be adopted and that when land once falls into the possession of Russia, Russia ought never to part with it in the future, no matter what may be the temptations.

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., July 7.—The case of Jno Strohman, who was arrested last week on a charge of embezzlement, laid by Messrs. A. & R. Loggie of Dalhousie, was to have been heard this afternoon before Justice Matheson of this town, but the plaintiffs failed to appear. The case was accordingly dismissed. It is said that the case was previously settled for $500. Today was the hottest so far this season, the thermometer registering 97 in the shade.

A SQUARE DEAL FOR THE CHILDREN

INSTRUCTED TO SET A GOOD EXAMPLE FOR HIS BROTHER.

Perhaps began the Married Man-if parents generally were more solicitous about giving their children a square deal all round, there would be considerably less complaint to the effect that in these degenerate times many, many children seem to be constantly ignorant of the fact that there is a commandment which runs: "Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

Consider old man Sampson. Nice old man to meet socially. Fine to do business with. Charitable and all that. Commands universal respect. His everything, seemingly, in the way of this world's goods to make him happy and contented. Yet he is constantly grieving because none of his children except William seems to have that deep love and affection for him which a father is naturally led to look for in his offspring. To him it is an inexplicable mystery, apparently, yet to any of his friends the why and wherefore is as plain as day itself.

The Sampson children are five in number, the only daughter being the eldest. William is the third son in point of years. Up to the time that he became a member of the Sampson household, his head did not seem to be unduly partial to one or the other of his children. But William unwittingly changed his proud father's attitude. Perhaps it was due to the circumstance that William "took after" his father from babyhood, but whatever the cause, before William's legs were free of long dresses the father had begun planning to make him the future head of the firm bearing the Sampson name. He talked freely about his object in the bosom of his family; he told William time without number, in the presence of his brothers, that one day he alone would be head of the firm and house of Sampson. He also gave his friends and acquaintances the same information; and he not only sent William through college, by way of preparation, but to a German university as well, and after that on a trip around the world, that young man might be broadened to the greatest possible extent.

William returned to his home some four years ago. At that time his oldest brother had been in charge of one of the responsible departments of the family business for a matter of a half-dosen years. He was skilled, apparently, in the ways of the business to the smallest detail, but no matter. The moment William indicated that he was ready to go to work at last, he was straightway taken into the office as his father's right-hand man. A little over a year ago, when the old gentleman retired from active participation, William became the active head, and the eldest son, by way of reward for his years of faithful service, was placed in charge of one of the firm's branch houses at less than one-third the salary which William receives.

In similar fashion the other boys have been shunted aside in William's interests. The second son was not taken on into the business; he was told that there would be no room for him when William came in. He became an architect, and, thanks to his innate ability, is making out very well, indeed. The youngest son left his books last month. Long ago, he realized that he could not hope to become a member of his father's firm, so he planned to enter a broker's office in the fall, and in making this decision did not think it necessary or advisable to consult with his father. "Why should I trouble him," he said to his sister, "when he is all taken up with William and his affairs?"

Of course, the old gentleman can't understand, for the life of him, the boy's frame of mind. As for his daughter, it grieves him sorely to have her say two-edged things about his relations with William, as if she were envious of her brother, and unappreciative of all that her old father has done for her. So he goes about declaring that filial love is not what it was in his day, for of all his offshoots only William seems to be grateful for what has been done in his behalf. This business of arbitrarily setting aside a certain son as successor to the family business and training him up as such, instead of giving each child an equal chance to prove his worth to the honor, is working to keep many a boy from getting the square deal that is naturally due him.

THE CHILD WITH "A CAREER." Then there is the son or daughter who is being prepared for "a career" at the expense of the other members of the family. Miss Cecilia Wilkins was once told that she had a superb voice, and that all she needed was cultivation, and paid little Frenchman, who was giving her singing lessons at five dollars per lesson, paid her this compliment, and paid it so often and with such evident sincerity that Miss Cecilia and her mother's ears were accordingly to have Miss Cecilia cultivate her voice abroad in the famous musical center.

Previous to this time Miss Cecilia had gone through a young woman's seminary, taking the full four years' course, at one thousand per year, including all incidentals, including dress, tuition, and all that. Her brother would be in another year at college, and for this ready to enter college, and for this event her father, who was only comfortably situated, had been religiously nursing his bank account, and wearing his year before last clothes. But Miss Cecilia wanted so much to study abroad, and her mother was so insistent, and—well, John wouldn't be going to college for another year yet, and the long and short of it was, Miss Cecilia went triumphantly abroad. That was five years ago. Today she is still haunting the continental music studios, while John, after two years in college, had to leave and go to work. There had not been enough money in the family treasury to keep him at his books and his sister abroad—and she was the one with "a career," don't you know?

Another case in point is that of Percy Augustus Phillips. Percy is his widowed mother's only son. She thinks the sun rises and sets on him. She accedes to his every wish. One of his desires is to be a physician. He conceived the idea when his mother was preparing to equip the eldest of her two daughters in various institutes that she might be self-supporting, if the occasion ever demanded it. Of her. Immediately the family plans were knocked into a cocked hat. The mother had sufficient means to prepare each of her children to the same extent for the serious part of life, or to give Percy the course in college, medical schools and hospitals which would be necessary before he could hope to become a practicing physician. Well, as already hinted, Percy has ever been the apple of his mother's eye, and he is having his way, and neither girl is receiving educational instruction of any sort, and does not expect to. On the other hand, last year the family cook and maid of all work was let go, but Percy might not be in need of spending money, and the girls are doing the housework, as well as their own sewing, when they get time for it.

THE "EXAMPLE."

Furthermore, it often happens—went on the married man—that the eldest child of a growing family is denied a square deal simply because of his seniority. For example: Raymond Hayes was the eldest of six children. When his first brother was old enough to toddle about Raymond was barely five, yet he was informed that now it was incumbent on him to set a good example for his brother, as he was the older and supposed to know better what was right and what wrong. Whenever a new baby came to the Hayes' house, Raymond never missed having the same old sentiment dinged into his ears, and when, in the course of time, he and his brothers and sisters got into the inevitable childish squabbles, Raymond invariably received the severest punishment from his parents. He was the eldest; he had failed to set the good example expected of him; instead, he was fighting the hardest, and no matter if he wanted; hence the extra chastisement.

Up to the time he left home, Raymond felt himself discriminated against continually in this fashion, for at no stage of his boyhood and youth did he prove to be a glittering success as a good example; he had far too much spirit in his make-up. Five years have passed since he was home last. He says he won't go back again until his eldest sister is married and from under the paternal roof. This sister is the one who used to torment him about his boyish affairs of the heart until he'd pull her pigstails in desperation, and then, of course, he got lambasted, because he should have set a good example in Christian forbearance; while the tormentor would escape even the semblance of a frown, being tenderly snuggled on mother's bosom instead.

A SACRIFICE TO FAMILY PRIDE.

Another effective way to keep the children from getting a square deal all round is to tell one off against his will and natural bend as a living sacrifice to some family calling.

Jones is a lawyer. He has three sons. As they grew up, Jones began casting about to ascertain which boy desired to follow in his father's footsteps. One day he discovered to his chagrin that each boy had his heart set on some other line of endeavor than the law. Then Jones tried to talk one of the youngsters—no matter which one—into study of the law. It was a matter of family pride with him—some one to serve as an example to the others, for generations back. But his arguments were of no avail, and finally, in his obtuseness and anger, he arbitrarily informed his second son that he would have to take up law, willy nilly.

The boy's natural inclinations were for electricity, then coming to the fore. He had to put away, as best he could, all dreams of dynamo and such things and enter law school. There he made out so miserably that he was one year longer than the average student getting through; and though he began practicing with his father's name back of him, he made an equally poor showing from the very start. At last, utterly disgusted with everything legal, he turned to his first and only love. In this field he is slowly but surely making a name for himself, and years after he should have been permitted to do so, turned to his first and only love. In this field he is slowly but surely making a name for himself, and years after he should have been permitted to do so, turned to his first and only love. In this field he is slowly but surely making a name for himself, and years after he should have been permitted to do so, turned to his first and only love.

A square deal is also decidedly lacking for those children whose sickly or invalid brother or sister takes up completely the thoughts, time and attention of the parents.

Henry Holmes had a wretched leg. He was the youngest of three children. The others being girls. In order to have him cured, if possible, his parents spent the greater part of their days taking him from place to place and remaining with him, leaving the daughters to the tender mercies of an old maiden aunt. This they did for nearly five years, and in that time the girls spent only one Christmas holiday with their parents. Finally the boy was brought home, on the high road to recovery, and the whole family rejoiced—the girls doubly so, because, "now" they said, gleefully, "we'll have a father and mother, truly and really, like other girls!" But alas for their rosy dream! Two persons who called themselves father and mother were in the same house with them, but so wrapped up were they in the boy that they had only perfunctory attention for the girls, who were constantly being reminded that Henry was the first to be thought of in everything.

Thus, after five years of patient, uncomplaining waiting under the sharp and unympathetic eyes of their aunt, the girls were denied a square deal, when it could have been given to them without the least harm to Henry's health and certainly to the decided betterment of his disposition, which speedily developed an unmistakable selfish streak.

A SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL.

But right here, went on the Married Man, let me vary this recital of unkindness by telling of a family of four children who got a square deal all round from the time they left the cradle.

In the first place, the eldest was not forever being reminded that he should serve as an example to the others. In the second place, not one of the children showed partiality of any sort toward any child. In the third place, each had the same sized money allowance from time to time and practically the same amount and quality of clothing. In the fourth place, when one child was given amusement of a certain kind, the others were sure of receiving their equivalent as a matter of course. In the fifth place, the two boys were not forced into taking up any line of work unbecoming to them, because there was a family pride to be satisfied, or for any other reason. And as for the education of both boys and girls, they received as much preparation for life's work as one-fourth of the money the father could afford to spend for their education. All the way through the square deal was handed out all round. In fact, no square were the parents. In fact, no child could accuse another of being the parents' favorite, but all unite in saying that they don't know and never were able to get an inkling as to who were the father's or who was the mother's.

And the result? Well, after a very long ago this family had a reunion. It was summer, and they gathered on the big veranda of the old home one evening. The day a neighbor dropped in and in the course of the conversation said impulsively:

"I just couldn't help staying out on my porch last night and listening to you all. You seemed the happiest family together I've ever known anything about."

It is a happy family, and largely because each of its members has received a square deal from all the others. For when parents see to it that their children get a square deal all round, each child will deal squarely with the others, and all the children will unite in giving their fathers the honor and reverence justly due them.

WATER BASE BALL THE FUNNIEST GAME.

Heav, O athletes! Have you tried water-baseball? No; not water-polo or water-football, but the good old national game, played on a lake or bay or swimming pool, or a quiet bit of a river where there is not much current. If you haven't tried it get in line and begin at once with the new game of the season. They are playing it in the west, where the swimming season seems to be much earlier than it does along the Atlantic coast. There the sport has become more than a fad of the moment. It is enjoying a boom that is almost a mania.

There is a great ball-player for a star swimmer to play the game. All it requires is a rudimentary knowledge of base-ball, and a tennis ball, a yard or less of broomstick and four raft—two large and three small. The batsman and the catcher stand on the big raft. On a small raft ten yards away stands the pitcher. He may deliver the ball in any style he chooses so that it crosses the plate. In striking everything goes—bunt, bingle, swat or foul tip. There are five men on a side. The moment bat and ball come in contact the batsman must start for first base. It doesn't matter how the ball is hit, you count it as fair. Indeed, it is a triumph of skill to turn and swing with the ball and send it flying past the catcher.

Suppose you have driven a good ball over near third base. You pile overboard with a dive toward first. You rise to the surface you see the third baseman and the pitcher furious, by swimming after the ball. To your excited eyes it seems as if first base were a mile away. As you near the base you see the pitcher set on the ball and turn in the water to throw it. But it is no easy matter to throw the ball and turn in the water, and the chances are that the throw is a bad one, and you are safe.

You now turn your attention toward second. To steal it seems easy and so, as soon as the pitcher delivers the ball, you start. But if all goes well with the other team, when you have gone about a third of the distance you notice that the second baseman has the ball. Giving up hope of gaining second, you turn to regain first, only to note that the first baseman has followed you and waits for the ball about five feet to your rear.

You again turn your efforts toward second, only to see the second baseman swimming toward you. With much splashing you try to evade this latest comer, but you are put out and retired, unless the yell of the onlookers. The game is full of fun. Sometimes an ardent batsman will lean too far over to one side in his efforts to get the ball. This will cause the raft to tilt until the players lose his balance, and in his efforts to regain the center of the raft it will shoot from under him, and he will land smack on the surface of the water.

The game is full of unexpected fancy stunts. The spectators laugh even more than they do at the ludicrous happenings in indoor baseball, for the rolling and tumbling in the water makes the mishap twice as funny. At thousands of boys on the Atlantic coast the game ought to be popular this summer.

It is most important to have one keen-eyed watcher constantly looking out for all the players who are in the water, so that there shall be no danger of accident.

HITLESS BALL GAMES.

The performance of Christy Mathewson of the New York National league baseball team in Chicago the other day of shutting the Chicago out without a hit or run is the second time in his professional career that McGraw's crack box-man has accomplished the feat. Last year Young, pitching against the Athletics, not only shut them out without hit or run, but not a man of them reached first base. That was the greatest of all pitching feats, but Mathewson's work against the Chicago was practically as good. Mathewson, like

Young, did not give a single base on balls or have a battery error of any kind. Only two opponents reached first base, they on infield fumbles, which was no fault of the pitcher. The record of no hit, no run games is as follows:

- 1876—June 9, Richmond of Worcester vs. Chicago.
- 1880—June 17, Ward of Providence vs. Buffalo; July 12, Richmond of Worcester vs. Cleveland; Aug. 19, Corcoran of Chicago vs. Boston; 20, Galvin of Buffalo vs. Worcester.
- 1882—Sept. 11, Mullane of Louisville vs. Cincinnati.
- 1884—Aug. 4, Galvin of Buffalo vs. Detroit.
- 1887—April 11, Foutz of St. Louis Browns vs. St. Louis Maroons; July 27, John Clarkson of Chicago vs. Providence; Aug. 29, Ferguson of Philadelphia vs. Providence.
- 1888—May 1, Atkinson of Athletics vs. Metropolitans; June 24, Terry of Kansas City vs. Louisville; 5, Porter of Worcester of Athletics vs. Cincinnati; 31, Werthing of Athletics vs. Kansas City.
- 1890—June 21, King of Chicago, Players' league, vs. Brooklyn; Titcomb of Rochester vs. Syracuse.
- 1891—June 22, Lovett of Brooklyn vs. New York; July 31, Rusie of New York vs. Brooklyn.
- 1892—Oct. 15, Charles (Bumpus) Jones of Cincinnati vs. Pittsburgh; Aug. 6, Stivetta of Boston vs. Brooklyn; Aug. 8, Sanders of Louisville vs. Baltimore.

1893—Aug. 10, Hawke of Baltimore vs. Washington.

1898—April 22, Bretstein of Cincinnati vs. Pittsburgh; Jay Hughes of Baltimore vs. Boston; July 8, Donahue of Philadelphia vs. Boston; Aug. 23, Thornton of Chicago vs. Brooklyn.

1899—May 8, Gray of Buffalo vs. Indianapolis; 25, Phillips of Louisville vs. New York; June 2, Newton of Indianapolis vs. Milwaukee; Aug. 7, Willis of Boston vs. Washington.

1900—April 19, Amole of Buffalo vs. Philadelphia; 18, Dowling of Milwaukee vs. Cleveland.

1901—July 18, Mathewson of New York vs. St. Louis.

1902—Sept. 20, Callahan of Chicago vs. Detroit.

1908—Fraser of Philadelphia vs. Chicago; Ames of New York vs. St. Louis, six innings.

1904—Young of Boston vs. Athletics; 1905—Mathewson of New York vs. Chicago.

TRIALS FOR CANADA CUP CHALLENGERS.

All this and next week the six yacht candidates for the honor of racing for the Canada cup, will try out on Lake Ontario. There were three boats built as challengers and three to defend the cup for America. The Canadians are an amateur design, by Mr. Nicholas. The three should furnish mighty interesting trials, particularly in view of the probable selection of Myline to design a challenger for the America's cup for Sir Thomas Lipton. Any race between a Fife and a Myline boat must be interesting, and as those who have seen trials will be followed closely. Neither has made any pronounced departure from accepted lines, but Mr. Nicholas's innovations. The Hamilton 11, the Myline's Zoraya, with beams about 47 feet over all, 20 feet on the waterline, 9 feet 11 inches beam, and seven square feet. The forward overhang is nine feet, the after overhang eight, while she carries five tons of lead ballast. These dimensions show her shorter than the American boats and less of the scow type. She has about the same area of sails. How her racing qualities will compare the contests themselves must develop.

The three American defenders are designed, the Rochester by William Garrison, the Inroquois by Charles F. Herreshoff, and the Eos Lax II by Charles Pembroke. The latter, like Mr. Nicholas, is an amateur, but he has built his boat at his own expense and says he will stand or fall with her. She is experimental in many ways, is shorter forward than the other two, longer aft, and a fuller scow. She has long keel, bull bilge and double head rig. This is also a characteristic of the Inroquois. Her lines are long and easy, and resemble in miniature the lines of the Nevada, which Herreshoff built to race abroad. He is confident that she will prove very fast and is well satisfied in her turning up trials during the past week. Her overall length is 52 feet 9 inches, her waterline 30 feet, her beam 30 feet 6 inches, her draught 7 feet and her sail area 1,550 square feet.

The Rochester follows accepted lines closer than either of the other two. The designer of the Atlantic has given her an over-all length of 53 feet, 20 foot on the water-line, 9 feet 8 inches beam, 7-foot draught, and a sail area of 1,545 feet. She was launched last week and planked and is ready to try out this week. It is impossible to say which will be the selections of the two committees to challenge and defend, but it may be said that the Royal St. Lawrence club is an confident of success in regaining the trophy as the Rochester club is of holding it.

DISCOURAGING.

Jack—So your engagement with Miss Dosty's is off, eh?

Tom—Yes; thanks to her father. Jack—Did the old man refuse to sanction the match?

Tom—No. When I asked his consent he never said a word, but got busy and showed me her millinery bill.

Light Weight Clothing
FOR SUMMER.

There's something comfortably negligé about these two-piece suits. Flannels were always considered ideal for summer wear, and now homespun effects and unlined serges have supplanted them not only being fashionable but more shape-keeping and durable. You pay from $10 to $14 for the suits here. If they weren't the best they wouldn't be here. S. B. and D. B. Sacks and Norfolks comprise the styles.

ST. JOHN STAR, SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1905

THEATRICAL CHIT-CHAT.

The visit of Henrietta Crosman to the Opera House at the beginning of the week must be classed as one of the two great events in the St. John theatrical world of the past six months...

A striking case of this sort was that of John W. Ransome, the well known American comedian, who made such a hit in London, Eng., last year as the pseudo prince, in that charming American musical comedy, the Prince of Pilsen...

To get back to Miss Crosman. She is a great actress, and thoroughly deserves all the nice things which the press has said about her...

This is not meant to be uncomplimentary to the companies that come here—the members of the troupe are here—only to point out that Miss Henrietta Crosman is a princess amongst them...

It may be that Miss Crosman chose a very unfortunate time for her first visit to St. John, as most of the better class people are at their summer residences...

Little wonder can be felt, if after this, the management of the Opera House is in for "bleed" hot and strong. After all the theatre is not a benevolent institution, but a business proposition...

Intercolonial Railway

On and after JUNE 4, 1905, trains will depart and arrive daily (Sundays excepted) as follows: TRAINS LEAVE ST. JOHN. 8.00—No. 2 Express for Point du Chene, Halifax, Campbellton, Pictou, the Sydney.

CITY TICKET OFFICE—King St., St. John, N. B. Telephone 1053. GEO. CARVILL, C. T. A.

The Americanism of the Drury Lane, London, pantomime, The White Cat, will be done this year by Harry B. Smith and Ludwig Engländer, John McVally, who usually makes these changes for the Drury Lane shows...

All the trouble arose over one of the scenes in which was depicted a saloon bar, with a smart barmaid in attendance. The comedian (Harry Randell) was supposed to have a "jag" on, and whilst in this condition he worked a lot of funny business...

The Le Tour dramatic club met with practically no public support at their production of the Old Vermont Farm at the York Theatre on Dominion day. This is little to be wondered at, considering the beautiful weather...

The New York Dramatic Mirror is responsible for saying that Ervin Greene, the well known comedienne, and Jan Kubelik, the young violinist, are to go on together next season.

Andre Messager will come to New York next autumn to conduct the opening performance of his opera Veronique, which is being shifted back, stock and barrel from the Apollo Theatre, London.

The Sunny South, which opened at the Opera House last night, is a musical hotch-potch put up by entirely colored people. It is somewhat on the lines of Wilton's and Walker's show of "In Dahomey."

Frank Daniels has closed his season in "Sergeant Brum" at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, and will take a flying trip to Europe, going on one ship and back on the next...

Report speaks well of the Missouri Girl, who is going to try and captivate the Opera House patrons on Monday next. Fred Raymond's comedy will be given by a capable cast...

TYPES OF LONDON LIFE.

By JAMES WATSON.

The following is the fifth of a series of sketches of life in the great city of London, written by a member of the Star staff, who while engaged in newspaper work in that city worked in the most intimate acquaintance with the types described.

No. 5—THE STREET SINGER.

Undoubtedly one of the best known characters who unfortunately depend on the charity of others is the "celebrity" under review in this article. I am aware that it is a very difficult thing to discriminate between the two classes of "street singers" which abound, viz. the poor creatures who are compelled by hunger and thirst to "take the road," and the impostors who are a business and a living, although I confess it is a meagre one.

No introduction is needed, for the reader (doubtless to his sorrow) is only too conversant with the mode employed by this type to force their troubles upon us, and in the majority of cases they are eminently successful.

The reason in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred is that they are absolutely too lazy to work, and I have known cases where pests of this sort have actually been offered permanent work of a very respectable nature, and have refused to start, offering as an excuse that they do not want the work, and as long as they can get enough money to buy a little food and a lot of beer, they are eminently satisfied.

Probably he thinks that by so doing, hearts are touched more quickly, and additional "shakels" for beer will result. Watch them "work" a street, and see the pitiful and woe-begone look upon their countenances whilst doing their "turns." Then allow them to sing, and you will see them go into the first bar-room and stay there until they have spent all their ill-gotten gains, and which they start the same business over again.

I well remember the dodge employed by one of these fellows, which for instance, was hard to beat. Imagine yourself quietly seated in your room, probably in a deeply meditative mood, when all at once you are startled by unearthly yells and screams. You go at once to the window to find the cause, when the following scene meets your gaze. A man (or an impostor) is struggling up the middle of the road, clutching frantically, first at his hair, then at his throat, and in the most dramatic fashion, and shouting in a loud, but very weird voice these tragic words, "I'm dying, I'm starving, I'm dying." The good folk flock out of their houses and shower nickels on him, and in several instances I noticed even nickels being dropped.

There are places in different parts of London where for a small amount you may hire a whole family for the day! The charges vary according to the number and size of the children you want. Say, for instance, you require a baby in arms and three other children, it would cost you a matter of 40 cents for the day, with an extra 10c. if a woman is wanted to look after them (which would, I imagine, be 10c. well spent, so I noticed he quickly made his disappearance. Nothing more was thought of the incident, until one day the old familiar tones were heard again, and there was our "friend" giving the same performance in its entirety. This time, however, the game is want, and, in fact, after doing about half the street he turned back and finished "dying" in a barroom. It was a very original method, and a great success the first time, but on the second occasion fell very flat.

I have heard many a word of pity for what seemed to be a whole family, man, woman, and three or four children, all looking the picture of cleanliness and tidiness, who were heard to not say for a moment that every case is a fraud, but the majority are. The children, whom you see looking so clean and neat do not belong to either the man or the woman, but are hired.

ROYALTY STARTS NEW FASHIONS. LONDON, July 5.—At the races this year the King appears in the height of fashion. He generally wears a silk hat, frock coat, a light vest and grey trousers, a pair of field glasses slung across his shoulders. His majesty is well known as an authority on men's fashions, and last year he adopted the white top hat for races and similar occasions. The Prince has also been known to wear a white "topper," and has recently been setting the fashion by wearing trousers with raised seams, giving the effect of a crease.

WHAT ST. JOHN WOMEN WEAR, AND ARE LIKELY TO WEAR.

A little Commonsense Chat, not on New York or Paris Styles, but Home Styles. By POLLY CADABOUT.

SOME ST. JOHN GIRLS ARE GOOD PICNIC DRESSERS, OTHERS DON'T KNOW HOW TO GET THEMSELVES UP FOR AN OUTING, which assertion, of course is only my humble opinion. I was up the river to a happy gathering of young folks the other day, and I wish you could have seen the way some of the would-be stylish misses with feathers galore, another was "becomingly attired" in a black voile with all over trimmings, while a third evidently considered a rough-and-tumble day in the country provocation enough to don a very swell silk with bride-like garniture. Possibly these selfsame young ladies were posing for at my plain cotton suit, though it was fresh from the laundry, but thank goodness I had lots of company, for most of the girls and women were in dainty wash materials of a higher grade. When will this outing costume question get down to a firm basis? The answer to this is in the States the women who pile on their Sunday best whenever they want a member of the male persuasion, is "dressed to kill," and all are killed off.

AND THEN THERE'S THE SEASHORE QUESTION: THAT MATTER OF BATHING SUITS FOR "SHOW" ONLY, which I am very glad to say is not a burning one in this section of the world yet. In the States the women, particularly those who pride themselves on Venus figures, parade the myriad sands of the seashore in veritable confections of bathing costumes. In hundreds of cases these suits never see the water, there are too many ribbons that will "run" too many frills and furrows that will go askew if dipped in the liquid. But down here our girls and women present a happy and refreshing contrast; they put on their wind-up and oftentimes sea-bagged water wads and romp into the surf or river with just enough clothing to get inside the legal limit, and get out before the splash and plunge, that's what I call common sense; we haven't much room for beach dolls down east here, they are certainly abundant in the attractions at watering places where the eagle screams.

I WISH SOMETIMES THAT I LIVED IN TEXAS, FREDERICTON, OR SOME OTHER FOGGLES PLACE," said a friend of mine on Thursday, as she was about to lay aside her rich dress hat of chiffon and plumes and substitute it with a hack hat. "It's been nothing but fog, fog, fog all this summer and a body can't go out to make a few calls without having to risk $25 worth of millinery!" Such is the complaint all over town, but the mist do not seem to hurt chiffon sales, or the selling of fine feathers. I asked about this in a leading store and they said "good word on the material, in importation, as mostly all materials are. Don't let us complain too bitterly, ladies, remember this for our sakes (and I mean the great money-winner in tourist times).

LIKE ALL THE REALLY GOOD AND WELL TO DO ACRESSES HENRIETTA CROSMAN HAS SOME GORGEOUS GOWNS, which was one of the best features of the performance in the Opera House during the early part of this week. Gowns do not yet appeal to a St. John audience as a whole as they do across the boundary, but fashion is getting a firmer foothold here every season, and by and bye dresses will be hailed with as much admiration and approval as they were glimmer in the footlight blaze of the entrance of the leading lady herself. Of course there are some real critical gown worshippers in St. John's theatre-goers and a few are often bold enough to request a private view of the finery. It will be apropos of this matter to mention our own dear Margaret Anglin as a luxurious dresser; some claiming for her the leadership of the American stage, she certainly also wears some famous gowns. She is not a flashy person, but all her dresses and frocks seem to stand alone in style and trimming, as if some Parisian modeller had been exclusively engaged to design her apparel. This much for our own Margaret, the darling of the American theatre class.

QUEENSTOWN, July 6.—An escaped lioness was the cause of a panic and a wild stampede, which fortunately were not attended with serious consequences upon the occasion of the visit of Hanford's circus. The canvas tent was filled with over one thousand children, attended by a large number of adults. A cage containing a lion and lioness was brought into the ring, and as the tamer approached the lions glared fiercely at him, while the lioness barred his entrance by lying down across the gate. The man rapped the beast on the nose with a stick, and succeeded in forcing an entrance. Just as he got to the gate, however, and before he had time to close it, the lioness sprang out into the ring. The children uttered loud cries of terror and made a wild rush for the door. Roaring madly the lioness tore around the ring as if seeking for some means of escape, and finally leaped over the heads of a number of the terrified children for an opening at the side of the tent. A boy had his face torn by the animal's claws, and several other children were injured. The lioness was finally captured in a dead net far from the tent.

THE WIFE MUST GO. Hewitt—My wife and the cook don't get along well together. Jewett—Then I suppose you will discharge the cook? Hewitt—No, I guess not; I have found from advertising that it is easier to get a wife than it is to get a cook.

Royal Household Flour Yields Most Nutriment.

Only when flour is absolutely pure do you get highest nutriment and least waste.

Purity in flour is secured only by the highest development of the science of milling, and the makers of Royal Household Flour have developed milling to the highest point of perfection in this country.

The Royal Household Electrical Purifying and Sterilizing Process is the most thorough in the world—it is controlled exclusively in Canada by the Royal Household Mills—and that is why Royal Household quality cannot be duplicated in Canada.

That's why Royal Household Flour is the richest in nutriment, greatest in purity—That's why it is the flour every family should use—the kind that gives the sweetest, best flavored bread and most toothsome pastry.

If you want that kind of flour see that you get Royal Household, then send for the recipes so that you may use it in the Royal Household way.

Royals defeated Tartars on government grounds, Main street, last evening, 4-0. Batteries: Howard and Needham, Daley and Horton. The Royals challenge any team under 16.

Young Heroes of Carlton defeated the Majestics last evening, 5-4. Batteries: Morrissy, Dinan and Barker; Ferguson, Cox and McLeod. The Young Heroes want something faster to play with.

West End League.

In the West End League last evening, before a large crowd, the St. Rose's defeated the Victorias. The score was: St. Rose's 3 0 6 0-3 Victorias 2 1 1 1-5

Batteries—St. Rose's, Toole and Toole; Victorias, Durson and McDiarmid. Cronan of the Victorias had a home run. The correct score in Thursday's game was: St. Rose's, 5; Jubilees, 4.

Portlands Disband.

The Portland baseball team have disbanded, having become discouraged with the financial returns from Dominion day games. The men for the most part are in the game for money, and from present indications this is not forthcoming. Hence they have decided to call off the game until they see better prospects.

That there is no baseball match as a feature of this afternoon's attractions is due entirely to Manager Dunham of the St. Johns. He is working hard to keep the good old game going here, and already the team under his management has shown an improvement in form.

Fisher, and the Buster Browns of A. & I. Isaac's establishment v. Maritime Hall Workers' employes.

Batteries today will be: For W. H. Thorne's, McEachern and Col; Emerson & Fisher's, Tait and Kelly. The Maritime players are not scheduled, while the Buster Browns present the following array: McEachern, c.; Stevens, p.; Ramsay, 1st base; Stanton, 2nd base; Currie, 3rd base; Ritchie, s.s.; Davis, r.f.; Connell, c.f.; Donovan, l.f.

This league intends every Saturday—weather permitting—to play a double-header game throughout the half holiday season.

St. Luke's last night defeated the Success team on the Shamrock grounds in a score of 7 to 3. Six innings of good, fast ball were played. The batteries were: St. Luke's, Ferris and Day; Success, Scott and McKinnon.

A LETTER FROM MIKE SULLIVAN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 5.—Just a few lines to let you know that I have started in doing light training. There are liable to be some letters sent to you about me not going or perhaps some other things to try and hurt the show. There are a couple of sore heads in Boston who are knocking me right along, because Jack Twin or myself refuse to let them do our business. When I say I will be there my word is as good as a bond. I had an offer to go to California, but I turned it down because I agreed to go to St. John. Now I am out to win, and if I outpoint McLeod, I want the decision and not be called a draw like Littlejohn's bout. I have a brother 15 years old, he weighs 130 pounds, if you could place him in preliminary bout you would do me a favor. Let me know what you will give him, with expenses. I will leave around the 14th or 15th to go down. I will be on deck the 15th to give our friends a good run for their money.

Yours truly,
MIKE TWIN SULLIVAN.

MOOSEBATH RACES.

The entries for the races on Moosebath on July 19th and 20th will close at 11 p. m. on Monday, July 18th, with John Ross, secretary of the Gentlemen's Driving Club.

A GOOD SHOW.

The Sunny South is one of the best minstrel troupes of its kind, and it has the advantage of being the real article. Instead of a bunch of cork imitation ones. The jokes, songs and choruses were all very well given, and as a result laughter reigned supreme. Anyone who likes a real good old-fashioned rough and tumble, black show can spend a very pleasant three hours, practically without a dull moment.

GAYNOR AND GREENE MIGHT RUN AWAY

And So Ball Has Been Refused—The Toronto Pressers' Strike.

MONTREAL, July 7.—Justice Outmet heard application for bail by counsel for Messrs. Gaynor and Greene today, and without reserving decision, rejected it. Justice Outmet observed that he had no doubt as to his power to grant bail, but he had to be discreet in the exercise of that power. The question he had to consider was whether Gaynor and Greene, if he let them out on bail, will be at hand when they were required for extradition, and whether it would be fair to the government of the United States to put them out on bail, especially as such as possible in accordance with the Dominion's treaty obligations.

Stewart of Quebec on behalf of the United States government urged that the defendants jump their bail in the United States, when under recognition to appear before the district court in Georgia, and sought refuge in Canada. What was more, he said, the defendants had been furnished with $20,000 to pay the amount forfeited by the bonds. A similar escape from Canada, counsel thought, might follow their release on bail, especially as proceedings were approaching a termination.

Taschereau contended that his clients were suffering from their long and close confinement and they were being so strictly watched that ever if they were released it would be a very difficult matter for them to make good their escape.

Justice Outmet thought that the prisoners were in a state of mind in having to look for them when they were wanted. For that reason he refused to grant bail, and rejected the application.

F. M. Wickham, Canadian manager of the Alliance Assurance Company, today terminated his connection with that company. Senator J. R. Thibault, chairman of the local board, has also severed his connection with the company. T. D. Bellfield, who has been appointed to succeed Wickham, Mr. Bellfield was at one time American agent of the Imperial Assurance Co.

TORONTO. July 7.—The strike of the press in this city has developed as threatened, but not to the same extent as expected. Out of the 170 pressmen in the city only 70 refused to work this morning. The smaller shops are the ones affected, and the employers say they will fill the vacant places. The men demand 30 cents an hour and are getting 25.

MONTREAL. July 7.—Charles N. McKegow of Montreal has been appointed professor of mechanical engineering in the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

J. R. Hurdenburg has been chosen to supervise construction of the new Windsor Hotel. Hurdenburg built the Waldorf Astoria and Manhattan. The work of pulling down stores and preparing the site for the new structure will be commenced in a few weeks.

HAD NOT TIME AT EDUCATIONAL MEETING.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 6.—President Roosevelt's flying visit here tomorrow, when he will deliver two addresses, will bring to a close the annual convention of the National Educational Association.

The report of the directors' report relative to re-incorporation of the organization as a national body was for a period of twenty years, and the association by limitation ceases to exist unless the directors recommend special laws to be passed by congress, and reported in favor of taking advantage of them and forming a new organization to succeed and continue the present one.

When the report came up for adoption, Miss Margaret Haley of Chicago objected to the approval of the plan. She claimed that it was not fair to some of the members. She charged that the report was to turn over to a corporation not yet formed the rights and property of the association. Miss Haley was proceeding to deliver an address when President Maxwell ruled her out of order. Miss Haley appealed to the meeting from the president's ruling, but she had not time to do so.

STEAMER OLIVETTE IN COLLISION.

BOSTON, July 7.—The Plant line steamer Olivette, from Charleston, E. I. L. and Halifax, docked here today with part of her after port rail and davits torn away in collision with the brigantine New Dominion yesterday in a fog off Cape Sable, N.S. The brigantine loomed up out of the fog and hit the steamer low on. The brigantine had her forward rigging torn away up to the knightheads. Aboard the Olivette were sixty passengers, two-thirds of whom were women. A panic was averted by prompt assurance on the part of the officers that there was no danger.

SWEDEN WILL NOT BE CAUGHT NAPPING.

STOCKHOLM, July 7.—The Associated Press has high military authority for stating that Sweden is taking precautionary measures on the frontier to offset the reported threatening attitude of Norway.

The Swedish treasury today borrowed $6,000,000 to pay extraordinary expenditures.

It is reported that two high Norwegian officers have been arrested at Christiania because they refused to swear allegiance to King Oscar. The rumor, however, has not been confirmed.

Prominent merchants confirm a report that capitalists are withdrawing their funds from Norwegian banks.

Get $15,000 Worth of Diamonds from a Montreal Store.

MONTREAL, July 7.—One day early in the week three men entered the store of Johnston Bros., St. Catherine street, and asked to see some souvenir spoons and other nick-nacks. The party priced a lot of little things, passing from counter to counter until they had time to get their bearings. Then they left without making a purchase. Tuesday last, when business was slack and only Johnston and a lady clerk were in the store, the same crowd entered again. With designed diplomacy one of them engaged Johnston in conversation, another took up the young lady's attention, while the third wandered aimlessly up and down looking at things. Not altogether aimlessly though, for as he passed a nook in which reposed some valuable diamonds he generously helped himself to glittering baubles to the tune, it is said, of fifteen thousand dollars. Then he sauntered back to his friends and the three went out. City detectives are working on the case, but so far it is understood that nothing has been learned of the jewels.

MANUAL TRAINING.

At the great educational convention
now being held at Ocean Grove, New Jersey, where thousands of teachers from all over America are assembled, no topic is being discussed with more interest than Manual Training. And it is significant of the almost universal sentiment covering this part of public school instruction that the discussion has not been so much academic or practically not so much an argument for or against manual training as a system as an exchange of opinion on the best methods of applying it. As to the benefit to every healthy pupil of such instruction and training in the elements of domestic and mechanical and agricultural and commercial labor as the boys and girls used to get in home and shop and on the farm before the demands of the school upon the time and strength of the children became so exclusive, there was no doubt expressed.

As one speaker pointed out, over 90 per cent. of all public school pupils earn their living with their hands after leaving school. For these the value of manual training is obvious, and for these and all others manual training is justified on the ground that it gives the individual trained, increased power to earn a livelihood through the use of his hands. Justified further, because systematic training of the hand demands systematic mental activity, resulting in mental training in dealing with things and processes which is not secured in schools where manual training is not given. Mental power is the result of organized thinking. The mere memorizing of what others have said, or learning about what others have done is not organized thinking. Organized thinking comes whenever the individual sets himself a definite task and then determines and applies the ways and means necessary for the accomplishment of that task. Manual training calls for just this organized thinking needed for the practical purposes in life. It is a mental activity out of which grows skill in doing and skill in doing as a result of intelligent thinking should be one of the chief purposes of education.

There is no doubt that the adoption of this system in St. John would meet with almost unanimous approval. As was intimated in an article in the Star a short time ago, even the school board has come to favor it, and is only prevented from giving it a trial by lack of funds. Undoubtedly it will cost money, and undoubtedly our taxes are already fully high, but the result of manual training in other cities shows that there are few investments open to the public in which the returns are so great and so immediate.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S YELLOW
PERIL.

In the Chinese boycott of American merchandise Prof. Goldwin Smith sees an alarming manifestation of the Yellow Peril. He says: "The insurrection of Asia under Japanese auspices has begun. China has manifested spirit to meet the exclusion law of the United States by a boycott on American goods.
We shall henceforth have no more of the carving out by the great predatory powers of spheres of influence in lands which are not their own. We shall have no more of such western tyranny as the forcing of the opium trade on China, the Loncha war, and bombardment of the helpless city of Canton, following the extortion of enormous blackmail under the name of a war of indemnity. The predatory powers will henceforth have to find a field for their capacity elsewhere."

Goldwin Smith is a very able man in many ways, but he has a capacity for "swearing with alarm" that beats all pessimistic records. He may be right this time, and for the sake of his reputation as a prophet his admirers hope that he is; for so far he has been unable to communicate his dyspepsia to the Fates who in matters concerning which Dr. Smith has been deeply discouraged have proved themselves most irritating optimists. A student of a medical turn of mind after reading
some of the lamentations of Goldwin Smith is apt to come to the conclusion that the yellow peril which most closely threatens him is jaundice.

LOYAL ORANGE EXCURSION.
The lodges forming the District
Lodge of St. John, together with Free
Blue L. O. L., No. 11, and Prentiss Boys, west end, will participate in the Grand Orange Lodge celebration at Fredericton on the 12th July. They have chartered the reliable and speedy boat Victoria, and from present appearances a large number of the members of the order and their friends will take advantage of the cheap excursion and spend a day in Fredericton, where the Grand Lodge celebration takes place. The committee in charge of the excursion from St. John have spared no pains to make the best arrangements possible for the comfort of their patrons. Street cars will be waiting on arrival of boat from Fredericton to carry excursionists to all parts of the line, including Tilton's corner, west end. For further particulars see adv. in another column.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

MOTHER'S VACATION.

Strange, when you come to think of it, how the people who need vacations never get them and the people who don't can have all they want.
Mothers, as a rule, do not get their vacations until they are dead. They always expect to, but father and the children must have their and mother's turn now, comes.
Father and the children are not selfish and not always thoughtless. They have urged mother again and again to go for a visit and take a good long rest, but when the children were young and needed so much care how could she? When the children were grown up she would have to find time to visit the old home she had always been planning for and dreaming about.
But when the children were grown up they were away at school and during the long vacation they brought their school friends with them, and there were picnic to cook for and no one could do up white dresses so well
as mother; and mother was always glad to do it. She said she wanted the children to enjoy themselves with their company and she was strong and could easily do the work.
The years came and went but mother did not get her vacation. When the children married and had children of their own, it was mother who had the most of the worry and care of them.
I don't think they noticed at first how this was getting and how often mother had to work harder than ever.
There were picnics to cook for and no
one could do up white dresses so well
as mother; and mother was always
glad to do it. She said she wanted the
children to enjoy themselves with their
company and she was strong and could
easily do the work.

ARTIFICIAL FOOD KILLS BABIES.
(Special Cable to the Star.)
LONDON, July 8.—Professor Herbert Spencer, an eminent physiologist, denounced artificial foods for babies at the conference on the prevention of infant mortality at St. Pancras Town Hall. One reason why mother was so willing to use patent foods was the fact that so many patent food advertisements gave photographs showing fine, healthy children who had been brought up on this or that patent food. As a fact these children were many cases were not healthy, but rickety. Sir William Broadbent who followed Professor Spencer insisted that this question of infant mortality, its causes and effects, had a most important bearing on another important question, the physical degeneracy of the nation. It should never be forgotten that the physical future of the child depended upon its treatment during the first few weeks of its life.

NORTH SEA CATCH FALLING OFF.
(Special Cable to the Star.)
LONDON, July 8.—The decline in the number of fish taken from the North Sea has been strongly commented upon by T. C. Sarrt, the chairman of the Deep Sea Fishing Company, at the annual meeting at Boston, Lincolnshire, this week. This decrease he described to the catching of immature fish. In four months during 1902 about 5,555 tons of under-sized plaice were landed at Grimsby alone. This would equal 4,000,000 fish, and the end of twelve months they would have weighed 11,151 tons.

"DRAW CLOSER, O YE TREES."
O quiet cottage, never seen before, Whose casements, looking o'er the garden-close,
Are hid in wildings and the woodbine
twin,
And many a clambering rose,
Sweet is thy light subdued, Graceful and soft, lingering upon my book,
Above some dreamful nook!

At times I note, near by,
The flicker tapping on some hollow
bole;
And watch upon the elm, against the sky,
The fluting oriole;
Or, when the day is done,
And the warm splendors make the oak-top flush,
Hear him, full-throated in the setting
sun,
The darling wildwood thrush.

O sanctuary share Enfold me round! I would no longer roam;
Let not the thought of wandering e'er invade
This still, reclusive home!

Draw closer, O ye trees!
Vell from my sight e'en the loved mountain's blue;
The world may be more fair beyond all these
Yet I would know but you!

MAY GRASS INQUEST.
Jury Have Nothing to Say About the Actions of the Ambulance Driver—Cardiac Acid Too Easy to Procure.

The inquest in the May Grass suicide was finished last night. Dr. Roberts in his address, summing up the evidence, pointed out that there have been 12 cases of suicide or attempts at suicide, since the beginning of the year, in which carbolic acid has figured. He said it was possible to procure other preparations which would take the place of carbolic acid as an antiseptic and purifier. He said the fact deserved the attention of the jury that there are no laws regulating the sale of this poison.
The session was chiefly devoted to a discussion of the ambulance driver's conduct on the night of the tragedy.
The witnesses examined were W. H.
Bustin, Dr. Berrymann, Arthur McLean (recalled) and S. T. Golding.
After Dr. Roberts' address the jury retired under charge of Marshal Coughlan, and in about half an hour a de-

What expose yourself on the ledge?
Yes, even that. I am so tired of sitting here alone.

The sailor's rifle went off with an unexpected bang.
grew moist, and she paled somewhat.
When he vanished she looked into the valley and at the opposing ledge; three men lay dead within twenty yards of her.

carefully measured out half a pint of the unsavory fluid—the dregs of the cask and the scourgings of the ledge.
'I will drink first,' she cried.
'No, no,' he interrupted impatiently.
'Give it to me.'

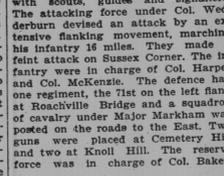

Looking at a small space from cover and looking at the same place when sweltering in the direct rays of a tropical sun are kindred operations strangely diverse in achievement.

Registrar Jones was notified of twenty-one marriages this week also twenty-four births, ten girls and fourteen boys.

The single Nut Scotch Hard Coal at $3.25 delivered in bags by Gibbon & Co. is very nice for cooking-stoves and ranges.

The firm of Bustin and Withers were accidentally omitted from the list of furniture dealers who are going in for the half holiday.

A hold-up is reported near the city line on the west side a few nights ago. A man named West was returning to Carleton from Fairville, where he had been spending the evening. It is reported he was held up by two men and robbed of eight dollars.

The shop windows are again looming up in great red letters with curlicues and flourishes for the sign-painting man is here once more. This latter artist is apparently more of a real genius than his predecessor, who slapped the pigment on glass fronts with little regard for rhyme, reason or good taste.

The Boston Post, of July 7, gives an account of the death of Thomas Pomeroy, who was crushed to death in a freight elevator in a Sudbury street building. He was crushed between the wall and elevator and lived only a few minutes.

He was born in New Brunswick, and had lived in Cambridge about eleven years, making his home with his son, George T. Pomeroy. He leaves a widow and four children.

An examination of the hull of the new ferry boat Ludlow was made yesterday, and it was found perfectly dry, a tribute to the good work done on the boat by the contractors. Inspectors Olive and Dalton are at present on the North Shore and will make their official inspection on the boat a few days. The trial trip, according to the latest arrangements, will take place at the end of next week or at the most ten days' time.

In the tennis tournament yesterday afternoon between Rothesay and St. John success once more rested with the suburbanites who won every set, both in the singles and the doubles. In the doubles Misses Mabel and Mona Thomson defeated Mrs. Ward and Miss B. Sutherland. Mrs. Simon Jones and Miss Kerr. Miss Muriel Robertson and Miss Madge Robertson defeated Miss Clara Schofield and Miss Max Barnaby. After the match tea was served on the grounds by the St. John club, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors.

There was only one case before the acting magistrate this morning. Margaret McNamee was found drunk in a cellar on King street East. She was drenched to the skin and all mixed up with mortar and sand, which is being used for building purposes. This morning she appeared ill, and was fined $5 or two months. She only came out of the Home of the Good Shepherd two months since.

William Quigley should have been present to answer a charge of assaulting Eldon Wilson, but he was conspicuous only by his absence. He will be fetched now.

Miss Julia Irvine has been selected by the situation department of the Curtis Business University, Ltd., to fill the position of bookkeeper for W. H. Bell's new and splendidly equipped creamery, next to White's restaurant, King street.

DR. ROBERTS HELD UP BY HIGHWAYMEN.

North End Physician Had a Lively Experience.

Two Men Ordered Him to Stop But the Doctor Put the Whip on His Horse and Got Away.

A daring attempt at highway robbery was made on Dr. W. F. Roberts early Wednesday morning on Winter street. The doctor, who was accompanied by his driver, was proceeding at a rapid gait when two men dashed from a dark corner and shouted: "Hey there, stop; hold up!"

The driver drew the doctor's attention to the call of the men, who by this time were running towards the horse's head, but the physician had already taken in the situation and was keeping the horse moving briskly.

Again the men ordered the rig stopped, and one of the pair tried to snatch the reins near the horse's mouth. The driver was snatched vigorously, however, and this scheme was frustrated. Two bull dogs which were following the men ran after the rig until it had reached a point half way up Paradise Row. They were very vicious.

This was about 1:30 o'clock, and not a person was met by the doctor until Main street was reached. At the North End police station the whole affair was reported.

FIRST HALF-HOLIDAY.

Good Programme of Attractions Provided for This Afternoon—Large Number of People Going Out of Town.

Today is the first of the half holidays for the dry goods clerks and several other lines, and with the different attractions which are offered the day is likely to be thoroughly enjoyed. A lot of people intend to spend the day in the country and large numbers are leaving by the trains and river boats.

There is certain to be large crowds at Seaside Park and the different attractions are likely to be thronged. The present vaudeville company will give two performances in the afternoon and two will be given by the new company which arrives in this morning's train. Additional cars will be put on the Douglas Avenue route.

The first of the City Cornet Band excursions to Watters' Landing will be held this afternoon. The first of the Mercantile League base ball games will be played on the grounds there.

At the range, this afternoon, the Canadian Military Rifle League will hold a match and some accurate shooting may be expected.

The Gernain Street Baptist church is holding its annual Sunday school picnic today at Westfield Beach and large numbers have gone up both by train and boat.

For those who have decided to spend the day in the city, there are enjoyments also. At the Opera House J. C. Rockwell will present the Sunny South Company, both in the afternoon and evening and the baseball fans will have their usual holiday baseball attractions.

A COMING CHAMPION.

Beth McLeod Who is to Spar Mike "Twin" Sullivan at Victoria Rink on the Nineteenth.

Lovers of the manly art, not only in St. John and the Maritime Provinces, but in Boston, are much interested in the coming meeting between Beth McLeod, the local champion, and Mike "Twin" Sullivan, one of the most successful boxers that ever performed in the square circle. McLeod's easy victories over Littlejohn and Watts have stamped him as a boxer of the championship class. And it he does not disappoint the Cambridge man when they meet in the Victoria rink a week from Wednesday night, there will be many surprised people in this city and province.

McLeod will have the advantage of age and weight, but has not had the experience of the famous "Twin." Still both is no novice at the game and has a punch that when it lands—and he has a happy faculty of getting it there—usually causes trouble. He is a good clean, two-handed boxer, and always works hard to win. At present McLeod is training faithfully at Newcomb, and will be an fit as a gold dollar when he faces the Cambridge lad.

VISITING ODDFELLOWS ENTERTAINED.

The visiting Odd Fellows were entertained last evening in the curling rink at Carleton, address of welcome was delivered by C. B. Allen and was responded to by the noble grand of Cambridge Lodge, who on behalf of the visitors presented to Golden Rule Lodge a handsome Bible and bookmark in memory of the occasion.

Supper was subsequently served in Golden Rule Lodge room, and addresses were delivered by G. M. Sampson, of Fredericton; F. G. Hawker, of Cambridge; P. G. Joyce, of Mount Sinai Lodge; P. G. W. F. Hatheway, of Sileam Lodge; P. G. Higgins and P. G. Elliot, of Tremont Lodge of Boston, and H. E. Codner, of Sileam Lodge.

This evening on the Calvin Austin, the visitors will leave for home, after having spent a most enjoyable holiday.

WEDDINGS.

MCCLOSKEY-WILSON.

On Monday last a pretty wedding took place in St. Peter's church, Cambridge, when Hebert R. McCloskey, of Boston, Mass., was united in marriage to Miss May A. Wilson, daughter of John Wilson, of Musquash, N. B. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Glenn.

The bride wore a dove colored cloth suit with hat to match was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frances J. Wilson. The groom was supported by his brother. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to their new home in Cambridge, where a reception was held. The young couple were the recipients of many presents.

FINED $50 FOR SHOOTING A DEER.

WOODSTOCK, July 7.—Extremely warm weather has prevailed the last few days. Today it was 90 degrees in the shade, with a very little breeze, reminding one of an old-fashioned summer.

Joshua Hannington, of Cloverdale York county, was tried before Police Magistrate Dibble today on a charge laid against him by Game Warden Grabb for violation of the Game Act by shooting a female moose on the banks of Quinik Lake. The solicitor general represented the prosecution, and T. C. Z. Ketchum the defendant. The defendant went on the stand and satisfied the magistrate that he did not shoot the moose, but he pleaded guilty to a subsequent charge of shooting a deer, and was fined $50 or one month in jail. He went to jail.

Preparations for the coming carnival are being rushed. The horse races promise to be something very fine.
