JUDGMENT IN DIVORCE CASES TOMORROW

Hearing of Several New Suits Arranged

The Circus at the Capital Today—Councilors and the Highway Bridge—A Presentation.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 8.—The adjourned sitting of the divorce court was held this morning. On motion of Mr. J. H. Barry, K. C., acting on behalf of Mr. F. B. Hanson, representing F. B. Carvell, M. P., the case of Whitlock vs. Whitlock was set down for hearing for July 22nd, and on motion of Mr. R. B. Hanson, representing F. B. Carvell, M. P., the case of Vanderbeck vs. Vanderbeck was ordered for hearing one week later.

Judge Gregory said that there were three cases awaiting judgments and these he had prepared, but as he wanted to consider one of them a little further he would adjourn the court until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, when the judgments in all the cases would be delivered. These cases are Simonds vs. Simonds, Furge vs. Furge, and Horseman vs. Horseman. The case of Vanderbeck vs. Vanderbeck, which was entered for trial today comes from Victoria, Co., the suit being brought by the husband against the wife and the ground being the usual one.

The county council at its meeting this morning turned down the proposition to share with the city the expense of lighting the Fredericton Highway bridge, though expressing at the same time that they would like to have the structure lighted.

Coles' circus arrived at an early hour this morning and the street parade pleased everybody. The town is full of people from the surrounding country.

At the county council this morning the members presented Councilor Robinson, of Manss Sutton, with a cold watch fob, in recognition of his election as a member of the provincial legislature.

I. O. G. T. DEMANDS PROHIBITION AND EXTENSION OF THE FRANCHISE

Report Adopted Asking That a Plebiscite be Taken, a Majority of the Votes to Carry—No Half Way Measures Will Do—Satisfactory Growth of the Order in This Province.

MONCTON, N. B., July 8.—Deputy Minister of Railways Butler accompanied by his family passed through this morning to Chester, N. S., where they will spend some weeks.

Election of officers and adoption of reports of state of the order and political work, the latter containing several interesting recommendations, occupied the closing session of Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. held here this morning.

On the legislative clause in the report of the committee on political action recommending the introduction by the provincial government of a prohibitory measure there was much discussion, and also on that section recommending the extension of political equality to women. The report was as follows: "First—We recommend that this grand lodge should take the action already taken by Kent-Nottinghamshire division No. 2 of the province, namely, that the question of provincial prohibition be before the next session of the legislature submitted to a vote of the electorate with a distinct understanding that if a majority of those polling decided in favor of prohibition, the provincial government shall introduce a measure to effect the same."

On motion of J. Barry Allen, and Rev. Wm. Allen, it was unanimously resolved that the Grand Lodge endorse the previous action taken by the New Brunswick Temperance Federation and express their desire to heartily co-operate with them in the future efforts to procure a prohibitory law in the province and further resolved that we recommend that the Federation appoint a committee to draft a prohibitory law which will commend itself to temperate people, the same to be submitted to the government."

The election of officers was proceeded with and the only officer returned at twelve o'clock was J. V. Jackson, O. V. L. Y. Mr. Jackson was elected Grand Chief Templar for the second term.

Michael J. Hendrick, American consul recently appointed to the post here caused by the resignation of Consul Fretschbacher, has arrived from Belleville, Ont.

Those interested in the testing of the water service were suddenly disappointed this morning on account of a bad break in No. 2 main pipe.

Chief Kerr of the fire department had everything in readiness for a good test. He had a line of hose at a hydrant near No. 2 station, King Street, and there was another on Orange street, another on the corner of Leinster and Wentworth streets, another on the corner of Princess and Wentworth streets, and still another on Princess street at Centenary church.

There were also lines of hose from a hydrant on Germain street near Trinity church, and a couple of lines at the foot of King Street.

A large number of insurance men and other citizens with a few aldermen assembled at the different points of interest to watch the test.

At ten o'clock the gauge at the corner of Leinster and Wentworth streets showed a pressure of 35 pounds. The water was turned on at No. 2 fire station on the King Square and a stream was thrown to the top of the court house, which is a three story building.

Chief Kerr then informed the insurance men present that they would adjourn to the vicinity of Centenary church where they would see a test of a few streams, then the gauge would be put on the hydrant and the signal on the fire alarm would give notice to the hosemen to turn on the water on Germain street and Market Square.

DRILLED BRICK WALL AND STOLE $25,000

A Daring Robbery in New York Plant

Burglars Cut Through From Adjoining Building and Dynamited Two Safes in Pen Co's Offices

NEW YORK, July 8.—Loot valued at $25,000 was secured by safe blowers who early today drilled their way through a twenty inch brick wall into the offices of the Diamond Point Pen Company, in Beekman street, and then shattered two safes with dynamite.

The police have no clue to the robbers. The burglars had obtained access to the office of the Diamond Point Pen Company by cutting a hole from a hallway in an adjoining building through a brick wall into the structure occupied by the Pen Company.

The wall separating the office from the work-room was then torn down and the two safes were dragged into the rear room, where they were blown open, probably while the sound was deadened by the passing of an elevated train. The stolen property consisted mainly of manufactured goods. A safe containing most of the company's cash, was kept in another building, because the company had already been robbed five times in the last three years.

The interior of the office and workroom of the company was left by the burglars in a great state of disorder, and the sound of the explosion, candles and a crowbar were left scattered about the rooms, as though the men had made a hasty escape. Not a thing of value escaped them.

COMMISSION ADJOURNED UNTIL THIS AFTERNOON

M. G. Toed Wanted Slitting Postponed Until After House Prorogues to Allow Carvell, M. P., to be Present.

The Royal Commission, consisting of Judge Landry, of Dorchester, president; Fulton McLaughlin, of Moncton, and A. I. Teed, of St. Stephen, is meeting in St. John today. The purpose of the commission is to enquire into the history of the New Brunswick Coal and Railway Co.

A large number of witnesses who will be called upon to give evidence are A. E. Kilham, of Moncton, a former president of the Central Railway; S. Corbett, auditor of the company; J. A. Wheaton, a contractor; Hon. C. N. Skinner, who was a large stockholder; W. C. Hunter, present manager of the road; H. E. Fowler, accountant at Norton; E. C. Eskin and Joseph Merritt.

George McAvity, one of the former commissioners and Hon. James Burgess have also been subpoenaed. Their evidence will be taken at a later stage. The commission met at ten o'clock this morning with the three members sitting. M. G. Toed appeared for the N. B. Coal and Railway Co. and asked for an adjournment as the company's solicitor, Frank Carvell, M. P., is attending the session of the House at Ottawa. This was not granted, Judge Landry expressing the opinion that there were enough lawyers to be had without delaying the sittings. An adjournment until two o'clock this afternoon was granted, however.

E. P. Barnhill, was present this morning to represent the late commissioners, George McAvity and Senator King. Hon. C. N. Skinner was present as a witness.

THE PROBLEM IN GREAT CITIES

London, England, is trying a new experiment in connection with that ever-increasing difficulty, the disposal of the city's rubbish. Sewage, sludge, coal washings, and the innumerable other waste materials are now being destroyed by the most cleanly and perfect of all destructors—fire.

STOLE SIXTY CENTS FROM A PARALYTIC

Smooth Fakir Imposed on Albert Hoyt

Offered the Old Man to Buy Medicine Which Would Cure Him—Got the Money and Went Away.

To be cured of partial paralysis for the small sum of sixty cents looked rather good to an old man named Albert Hoyt, who has spent numerous dollars for useless treatment and has quickly seized the bait offered by an strange fakir on Charlotte street a couple of days ago.

The old gentleman had a position as ferry gatekeeper on the east side for some months but had to resign owing to his affliction, and for physician called and drug bills he has paid out considerable.

The place where he was taken in was near the city market entrance on Charlotte street. He was making his way to market with some difficulty when he was stopped by a middle-aged, well dressed stranger who inquired as follows:

"Well, old man, what seems to be the matter with you? You seem to be pretty badly used up."

Mr. Hoyt told him what the trouble was and the stranger said:

"Well, that's bad. Do you know I was at one time worse than you, and I had the same complaint, but I was cured very quickly, and for the small sum of sixty cents. I got the cure from a Fakir-Morriess; and I would be glad to assist any other."

The old gentleman got interested and asked the receipt. The fakir said that the Reverend gentleman would, of course, not give the receipt, but the medicine could be obtained for sixty cents a bottle, and it would be a pleasure for him to get some for Mr. Hoyt. The stranger then danced about the sidewalk to show how well he was.

Mr. Hoyt did not have the change handy, but told the stranger to wait a few minutes. He did, and the old man returned, handed over the sixty, and with gleaming hopes of being able to dance about like the kind hearted fakir pleasantly awaited the return of the man with the medicine. He is still waiting. There is no coming-back and it was only after about an hour's wait that Mr. Hoyt began to realize that he had been duped.

BORDEN PUTS ON ANOTHER TRIFLING MILLION OR SO

Found That He Had Made a Serious Mistake in Figuring Out the Cost of the G. T. P.

OTTAWA, July 8.—In the Commons this morning the leaders of the opposition reviewed his last night's guess on the ultimate cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific and increased it by a million dollars. He had, he said, computed interest on the mountain section bonds at three instead of three and a half per cent. This would make the cash expenditure and bond guarantee amount, according to his calculation, to $20,000,000.

Mr. Geoffrey, M. P., presented the report of inquiry into the Hodgins charges, declaring the charges had been disproved and withdrawn by Major Hodgins. Mr. Lennox followed with a demand from Conservative members of the committee that the committee should continue its work.

WATER TEST FAILED BECAUSE NO. 2 MAIN PIPE BROKE

It was only a short time, however, until Engineer Hufter had the water turned off the No. 2 main, where the break was, and it was flowing through the main and all department past. If, however, a fire had started up town during the time of the break it could have obtained a good head before the water could have been procured to fight it.

A gang of men from the water works department are now at work repairing the break.

BREAKING UP STEAMER ALARMED THE CITY

Residents of the city, particularly of the southern and eastern portions, were startled last night by a succession of loud reports, shortly before midnight. The reports were very loud and could be heard through the still night in almost every part of the city.

Various theories were advanced, such as thunder, or rockets, and even some more improbable ones to account for the racket, but to most people no explanation was forthcoming at the time.

The noise was caused by the explosion of charges for the purpose of breaking up the old government steamer Acadia, which was purchased by E. Lantallum for junk. It was not thought safe to have the explosions occur in darkness on account of the danger from flying pieces and so the racket was reserved for midnight.

WATER AND SEWERAGE.

The Water and Sewerage Board will meet this evening in regular session, and the meeting is expected to be a busy one.

It is understood that Stetson Custer & Co. will apply for a longer lease of the Missep mill, as they wish to make considerable improvements and do not feel like doing so unless they have the assurance of a longer period of possession.

The completion of the water service from Loch Lomond is likely to receive attention. The Board will have Engineer Barbour's letter re the completion of the system to consider.

The board will probably be asked to make extensions to the sewerage system.

WHERE SHE WANTED HIM

"How are you and Willie coming on?"

"Oh, very nicely. I am slowly getting him trained."

"Induced him to propose yet?"

"No, but I have him so that he doesn't shy at an ice cream sign any more."

Mr. Hugh Ryan has gone to Quebec on a visit.

There are a number of milk dealers who have neglected to wash their cans daily. The penalty for this negligence is a fine not exceeding $40. It is expected that some of these persons will be asked in the police court to explain why they did not conform with the law.

C. E. Laecher, who some years ago was agent of the International Steamship Company here and who later was transferred to Portland to fill a similar position with the same company, returned to St. John to perform the duties of agent here, to which he formerly was attached. Mr. Laecher succeeds William G. Lee.

For some time past the railing on the north side of the Marsh Bridge has been in a dangerous condition, with the result that foot passengers have risked their safety in crossing the bridge. Last evening at about eight o'clock a small boy fell through the railing and into the water of the Marsh Creek. He was rescued from his perilous position. The railing should be repaired at once.

Yesterday afternoon in the Mayor's office the special committee of the Common Council appointed to consider the proposed address of the Hon. Mayor Bullock, completed its labors. The committee took into its consideration the remaining sections of the address and prepared a recommendation to be forwarded to the Common Council. This recommendation will be taken up by the council at Monday's meeting.

A break in the Coburg street branch of the water main occurred about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The leak is on the street just above Cliff street. As the water came up it rushed down the steep incline, literally flooding it. Residents say it was flowing like a river for some time. Finally the authorities arrived and turned the water off from that section of the town, stopping the flood. The break will be fixed immediately and the residents will receive the water this morning.

William Abel has recently come into possession of a large tract of land fronting on Spruce Lake, below the present summer cottages. He intends to have the property surveyed with a view to partitioning it off into lots, giving each an area of 40 ft. x 100 ft. already. It is understood, T. H. Eastbrooks has purchased from Mr. Abel a pretty site in the woods adjacent to the picnic grounds, and has a magnificent view of Ludgate Lake.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Women's Social Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon in their rooms, Ghermain street, with the president, Mrs. C. H. Dearborn, in the chair, and a large number of the members present. Before the business meeting was taken up with the regular routine, there was devotional service for a half hour. The service was led by Miss Sarah Smith, who spoke on "Systematic Giving." Several of the members took part in an interesting discussion that followed.

Parties interested have written John E. Jones, registrar of vital statistics, were seeking information regarding the death of Anestis Julian and Lizette "Valsey," who died within the last few years, supposedly in this city. As no entry appears in the records the registrar was unable to satisfy the inquiry. Last night the Board of Public Works decided to hold a special meeting to deal with the whole matter of making a new contract with the Saint John Railway Company for snow removal and street repaving. The proposition of the piling on the north side of New Rodney wharf was also considered and Engineer Peters was instructed to get the figures of Clark and Adams for the necessary tender piling. He was also instructed to obtain figures for the piling of six hundred feet of double track stringers of hard pine. Other minor matters were also considered.

A still alarm was sent in shortly before seven o'clock last evening for a blaze at the Elm street dump, where the circus pitched some of their tents on Monday. It appears that they had left a large quantity of hay, which in some manner became ignited and started quite a blaze. When the alarm was sounded the North End chemical engine and hose cart responded. Thirteen joints of hose were stretched from the Elm street plug, a distance of over 200 yards. Part of the dump was badly damaged. All the old berry boxes and other refuse were burned. While the dump was on fire a large number of persons congregated and watched the firemen work. The blaze was extinguished in about an hour.

MONTREAL, Que., July 7. Mr. McKane may make to this letter. Thanking you for space. You are truly, DAVID RUSSELL. The article in the St. John Telegraph, under date of 4th instant, headed "Suits Against Mr. McKane," to say the least is amusing but very misleading to the public. While newspapers are not the proper place to discuss lawsuits, still as Mr. McKane has seen fit to use the papers he has not yet paid for to defend himself, I think it just and proper to state a few facts in connection with the North Shore multi-millionaire which will at least be the means of saving others from being caught in a similar manner as to his great wealth. When I sold McKane the papers he signed a contract to pay cash in full inside of thirty days and make me a further fifty thousand dollars in cash, to run for one year, he at the time stating to me in the presence of the gentlemen who witnessed the contract that he was the owner of five hundred thousand dollars of Canadian Pacific Railway stock which, he said, he had in a trust box in New York City. He fell down on the contract and I was forced to carry his notes for one-half of the purchase price for three months and never saw the cash for the loan and nobody else including himself, ever saw the C. P. R. stock. I am now suing McKane for damages, for breach of contract and for the balance owed. You have my authority to verify the statements contained in this letter by calling on Weldon & McLean, who are my solicitors, and examine the contracts, accounts and correspondence, which will place you in a position to completely refute any contradictions completely refute any contradictions.

NEW SYSTEM OF INSPECTION OF SPIRITED RACING MARKS THE OPENING OF MARITIME CIRCUIT

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 7.—Splendid weather, track in excellent shape, fair crowd in attendance and some spirited racing marked Sackville's first circuit races today. Two classes were on the card—2:20 and 2:29—and Buchanan and Desalle Patcher respectively got away with the first moneys. Neither horse won, however, without hard racing. The fastest time of the afternoon was made by Victoria, a Sackville mare, in the first heat of the 2:20. Victoria, driven by Peter Carroll, got away with a mark of 2:20. The fastest time in the 2:29 class was 2:26. All finishes were close and the enthusiasm of the spectators, all of whom declared the afternoon's sport to have left little to be desired. A number of St. John lovers of horse racing are here to witness the races. All the spoke warmly of the excellent condition of the track and all looking forward to the track race tomorrow, when the 2:17 and 2:25 classes come on.

AUTO SERVICE NOW TO ROCKWOOD PARK

Patrons of Rockwood Park are about to enjoy what promises to be an excellent automobile service to their favorite resort. Thomas Foley, proprietor of the Hotel Miramichi, is the promoter of the scheme. Mr. Foley was in the city yesterday. His car is a large one, seating comfortably thirty passengers, and has an engine of 50 horse power. The machine is capable of going at the rate of 25 miles an hour. Mr. Foley drove the automobile all the way from Newcastle and the fact is well known by all who are familiar with the transaction. The notes which have become the subject of the suits referred to were given by Mr. McKane for the accommodation of another, and these notes were subsequently endorsed by men with whom Mr. McKane had no business relations, and who he did not know in this matter at all. Mr. McKane hitherto has refrained from making any statement in connection with these matters, but persistent misrepresentation renders it necessary to have the truth set forth, however briefly. The nature of the present suit will be made quite clear when the check comes to trial. Meantime newspapers dealing with these questions are in the right quarter and so avoid misleading their readers.

MAY HAVE MET WITH FOUL PLAY

Mrs. Joseph Ritchie, who resides at 135 Erin street, is in a condition bordering on collapse owing to the disappearance of her husband, a Jewish pedlar. Ritchie left her in his team nine weeks ago, bound for Millstream on one of his periodical trips. He has not since returned, and she has had no communication from him, and she fears that he may have met with foul play. Another pedlar, however, Peter Hatly, saw Ritchie near Millstream two weeks after the man started on his trip. That was the last seen of him as far as can be learned here. A neighbor in passing the Ritchie home yesterday heard someone sobbing within, and being acquainted with the family entered the house to ascertain what the trouble was. He found Mrs. Ritchie in hysterics and had difficulty in calming her. He told the Sun last night that the woman was very ill and that she feared her husband had met with some calamity. He had always communicated regularly when absent on a trip. Parties may tender on one or more of the above works, each tender being placed in a separate sealed envelope and marked on the outside "Tender for Water Supply at..." Plans and specifications may be seen at the Chief Engineer's Office, Montreal, N. B., where forms of tender may be obtained. All the conditions of the specification must be complied with. D. POTTINGER, General Manager.

BRUTAL MURDER IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, July 7. — Montreal's Chinatown was the scene of a cold-blooded murder early this afternoon, when an unknown man was shot dead by a man with whom he had a row about 300 feet from the street. The man who was shot was identified as Tong Kee, keeper of a barber shop and opium den at 111 LaZacharie street west, stated that three men visited his place last night and asked for opium. This was refused them and a little later Kee heard them fighting. One man was stabbed in the hand and head and left vomiting that he would have revenge. The gentlemen went out in a sloop and his head banded. Entering the room where the two were seated, he saw killing his former comrade instantly. The other man fled and the murderer also escaped. All were well dressed and appeared to have plenty of money. A pleasant gathering of the Millonaires' Club was held last evening at the Hotel Miramichi, Ben Lomond House to celebrate the return of the president, John E. Sayre, who has been absent for about four months, visiting Atlantic City, Hot Springs and other American resorts. The gentlemen went out in Messrs. Sayre and Crosby's automobiles. Those present were: Sayre, Powell, William Vassie, Allen Thomas, Fred Crosby, Hugh McKie, Douglas Reid, Wallace Lewis, Walter Emerson and W. H. Barnaby. At Ben Lomond an excellent repast was served. Speeches were made by prominent members and a toast to Mr. Sayre was drunk. The party returned to the city at 11 o'clock.

THE MAN WITH THE STRANGE BLUE EYES

"Without me you are careful you will think us all mad here." Napoleon the Third, the unfortunate Emperor of the French, doomed to be come later the fugitive of Chislehurst, was speaking to an English diplomatist, Napoleon was then still Emperor of the French. He was standing in a corner of one of the gorgeous rooms of the Tuilleries Palace. He was at the height of his fortunes. All Europe listened for his words. France was devoted to him.

AT A SEANCE. A tall, thin man dressed in plain black, with irregular features and strange blue eyes, was addressing the company. He was called by them "M. Home," and he was a Scotsman. He spoke French like a native. His numbers were of the most courtly description.

A small table was in the middle of the room, and on it the eyes of all the company were steadily fixed. Still and silent they sat for some time, and when suddenly the table, without anyone approaching it, began to move. There were mysterious rappings upon it.

M. Home was treating the Emperor, the Empress, and their friends to a spiritualistic seance. When the Emperor at last dragged away the surprised British diplomatist. In that position, Napoleon the Third turned to his guest, his usually sphinx-like face lit up now with a smile.

"SECOND SIGHT." Home, the Scotsman, claimed to be one of the most extraordinary mediums for spiritualistic manifestations that the world had ever known. From one end of the world to the other, his stories were whispered of the tall, thin, fragile man with the peculiar, wistful blue eyes.

Twenty-five years previously to that day, when he performed before the Emperor and Empress Napoleon, he had been born in the neighborhood of Edinburgh. By his father's side he was related to some of the highest families in Scotland. His mother had the reputation of being endowed with "second sight."

An aunt having adopted the strange, delirious, dreamy, and morbidly sensitive, and open a book of his, he was told that he was a "medium" for the spirits. He was told that he was a "medium" for the spirits. He was told that he was a "medium" for the spirits.

"HUSBAND BECAME PROPHETIC." Mrs. Lyon was an aged widow. Years since, she had married a rich Durham merchant who had died leaving her a fortune of over seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars. With the hand of death upon him, her husband had become prophetic.

"I believe," he said, "that some years ago I had a visit from you. I remembered those words. She was not dying, or likely to die. She took a party of gentlemen with her, and a photograph of it taken by a lady photographer, and in the course of conversation she said to me, 'I wish to visit her husband's tomb.'"

The lady photographer, a spiritualist, declared that the while who was her husband's wife, and noted one of the gentlemen there. "And Mr. Home," he said, "beckoning to him, and taking his hand. 'You are here. What wonderful things you control me!'"

The strange weird man who had been a friend of the fallen Emperor of the French was also a friend of the King of Prussia. His professed powers were believed in by each.

FLUORIN ALL-DEVOURER A Gas That Nothing is Able to Resist. Glass, Metals, Even the Materials in the Vessel Containing It, are Eaten Up.

The fury of the chemical world is the element fluorine; although, strangely enough, it exists peacefully in company with calcium in fluorapatite, the New York Tribune.

Although this element was known since a few other compounds, it long resisted the efforts of chemists to isolate it—this is, prepare it in a pure state, and chemically with other substances—for the instant the compound containing it was torn apart, the free fluorine attacked and combined with whatever substance composed the vessel containing it. It was finally isolated by the great French chemist Moissan.

Fluorin is a rabid gas that nothing can resist. It combines with all metals, explosively with some, or if they are already combined with some other non-metallic element, it mercilessly tears them away from it, and takes them to itself.

In uniting with sodium, potassium, calcium, magnesium and aluminum the metals become heated, even to redness, by the fervor of its embrace. Iron filings slightly warm burst into brilliant scintillations when exposed to it. Manganese does the same. Even the noble metals, which at melting heat proudly resist the fascinations of oxygen, succumb to this chemical stent at moderate temperature.

Glass is devoured at once; and water ceases to be water by contact with this gas, which, combined with its hydrogen, at the same moment forms the acid, glass-dissolving hydrofluoric acid, and liberates ozone. Even hydrofluoric acid eats into and destroys every known substance except platinum and lead.

RADICAL CHANGES IN BRITISH POLICY

Country Startled by Three Drastic Measures

May be Killed by Lords—Daylight Savings Bill and Women Franchise Revolutionary Measures

LONDON, July 7.—The three topics of the hour in England today, deal with radical changes in national affairs which half a decade ago were entirely outside the domain of political politics. Parliament is on the point of altering the daily habits of the nation six months in each year by arbitrarily advancing the hands of the clock by eighty minutes. It has also sanctioned through the debate stage a revolutionary measure providing for an enormous annual expenditure in free votes outside the national purse for a certain class in the community. It is ready to pass—at least the House of Commons will do so before the next general election—a measure extending full franchise to women. It is extending through the debate stage a revolutionary measure providing for an enormous annual expenditure in free votes outside the national purse for a certain class in the community. It is ready to pass—at least the House of Commons will do so before the next general election—a measure extending full franchise to women. It is extending through the debate stage a revolutionary measure providing for an enormous annual expenditure in free votes outside the national purse for a certain class in the community. It is ready to pass—at least the House of Commons will do so before the next general election—a measure extending full franchise to women.

It was only a year ago that these despatches mentioned the latest fact which suggested advancing the clocks of the country so that the people should enjoy a couple of hours, more daylight recreation at the end of each day. The idea was treated by the House of Commons as a joke until parliament took it seriously, gave a series of hearings and prepared a bill modifying the scheme to one hour, and the measure is now ready for the final reading, which it will probably pass. No serious opposition to the bill has arisen. Yesterday's papers contain letters and editorials in protest, pointing out that however much parliament may legislate, people who now dine at 8 o'clock will next year dine at 9 o'clock, which will be the same time under the new name. The Stock Exchange will be seriously discomfited because it transacted the enormous business done here in American securities it will be necessary to keep the exchange open limited at 10 o'clock in order to overlap the New York session by an hour as at present. Mr. Willets, the chief of the London Stock Exchange, offers to bet that the American Government will adopt it within a couple of years and that this objection will then be removed.

This revolutionary measure—the Old Age Pension Bill—which in its present shape, adds $40,000,000 annually to the already overburdened budget. It was being rushed through the debate stage in three sittings by means of closure. It pensions all poor above 70 years of age on a fixed scale of payments. This is a modification of the original measure, but does not change its essential character. It still remains true that certain pensioners will eventually be richer than their neighbors by the amount of the pension being granted, and this falling into the more heavily subsidized classes, which the government has insisted on maintaining on a non-contributory basis, thus defying the experience of many human generations which have proved that the more the government underpins character, while it sustains it. Neither the government nor anybody else has suggested that the money is to come from next year's draw. The bill becomes operative for only three months of the present fiscal year, and the Chancellor Lloyd-George, speaking at the Mansion House on Friday night, said that the national revenue was already falling rapidly.

Such a bill, if it were not or not, which has no power to deal with appropriations. This measure, however, is introduced separately from the budget, and it contains features on which the Upper House has already expressed its doubts. There is no danger that it will pass in its present shape, but the method of introducing it cannot be foreseen. The Unions in the House of Commons have shown a certain amount of sympathy with certain features of the measure, which seriously complicate the situation. The anti-socialist proposals. The best anti-socialist proposal is that the House of Lords should reject the measure in toto, and a notary amend it out of existence. A clear issue would then be created as well as a direct challenge to the government to appeal to the country in behalf of their pet measure for promoting the general cause of Socialism. There would not be the slightest doubt of the result. Premier Asquith's nondescript combination would be overwhelmed.

This week's Suffragette martyrdom has not, on the whole, moved the heart of the English people to any great degree of pity. It was certainly a great demonstration from a spectacular point of view, but interest in the matter has already disappeared except perhaps in the perturbed mind of the Government leaders, who are at their wits' end as to how to deal with their hybrid female persecutors. This time they are trying the experiment of using somewhat greater severity towards those who are drawn in the police net. The public sense of justice apparently has not been outraged by this policy. It is safe to say, however, that it will not prove effective as a deterrent.

The tactics of the militant Suffragettes have at last aroused organized opposition, and it was high time, if they had to avert the triumph of the agitators. The National Women's Anti-Suffrage Association is rapidly gaining adherents, and it will endeavor to prove that a majority of their sex in this country is very far from demanding the suffrage. They have a big task before them to offset the tremendous energy of the sisterhood on the other side, but numbers decide in an issue of this nature and the general opinion of the country at large as well as Parliament will await evidence.

THE CHANGE IN BRITAIN.

Since the last general election in Great Britain in January, 1902, there have been six by-elections of which twenty-seven have not been contested. In the remainder the Unionist opposition has captured from the government seven seats. The government has not taken any constituency from the opposition. It has gained one seat from the Labor party—but the latter has taken four from the government and the Socialists have captured one. A summary of the results in all these by-elections shows beyond doubt that the tide of public opinion is turning strongly against the party now in power. In the forty-one by-elections in which radical and Unionist candidates have opposed each other, the total Unionist vote has been 124,351 and the Radical vote 123,284. In the general elections the results in these forty-one constituencies gave the Unionists only 174,685 votes, while the Radicals had 217,043. Thus there has been a Unionist gain of 19,885 votes and a loss to the Radicals of 2,259 votes. It is true, as has frequently been remarked, that the loss of seven government seats to the Unionist opposition does not materially affect the standing of the party in power, but it is equally true that such a marked change in public opinion as is represented in the results of these elections can scarcely be regarded as encouraging to those who in a short time must appeal to the country. In practically every instance where a by-election has been held the government majority has been reduced.

CANADA'S SHIPPING.

The most striking feature of the Canadian Shipping Register recently issued is that an inland province has reached first place in the list of tonnage. Ontario has after steady progress advanced to the position of principal shipping owner with Nova Scotia a good second and Quebec not far behind for third place. The departmental report shows that on December 31, 1902, there were registered in Canada a total of 7,538 vessels measuring 698,888 tons. Of these the steam craft numbered 3,007 and represented 471,785 tons. The total of 17,275 is an increase of only 18 in the number of vessels, during the year, and an increase in registered tonnage of 44,569. During the year 1902 there were built in Canada 292 vessels aggregating 38,410 tons gross, which at the average value of $45 per ton, amounted to $1,728,450. The total value of the shipping on December 31, estimated at $79,000 per ton, is placed at $2,969,640. Another noticeable feature is the continued decrease in sailing vessels of the larger class. The list now contains the names of only 69 square rigged craft where a score of years ago there were hundreds. Ontario is not only the largest ship owning province but includes in its register the largest steamer of all, this being the "Midland Prince" of 6855 gross tons, which is larger than any ocean going craft registered in Canada. Apparently there is great development in lake traffic for the principal increases are shown in connection with the grain carrying trade, and the progress is of even greater development in the future in these inland waters. An interesting feature is that in 1902 there were registered in Canada 2,168 vessels of 1,331,000 tons and this country stood third on the list of ship owners. At the present time, with a larger number of vessels though of only half the tonnage, Canada has dropped to tenth place. The world's leaders are, Great Britain, Germany, United States, Norway, France, Russia, Italy, Japan and Sweden in the order named.

WILL NOT GO TO PARIS TO TESTIFY AGAINST HUSBAND

PARIS, July 7.—Giaccia Calla, the American wife of Paul Roy, has refused to come to France and as a result the magistrate who has been conducting the Roy case announced today that steps would be taken to have her thoroughly examined in an American court on all the points made by her husband in his declaration taken here. Once this testimony is secured it will be forwarded to France. Roy was charged by his wife with murdering her brother, George A. Carkins, at Newington, N. H., last January. He denied the charge, saying that he had shot Carkins in self-defence. He has been subjected to examination before a French magistrate. He came over to France shortly after the shooting.

FIRE DESTROYS CAMP OSSIPPEE

OSSEPEE, N. H., July 7.—The main building of Camp Ossipee, located on Lake Ossipee in the western part of the town, was destroyed by fire today, causing a loss of $12,000. The camp, which was formerly known as the Camp Ossipee Hotel, and was conducted as a summer hotel, is now used as a boys' camp in the summer and a school in the winter. All the occupants escaped safely. The electric lighting plant and all of the surrounding cottages were saved. The management of the place announced tonight that they would at once rebuild the main structure and that there would be no interference with the summer programme. Mrs. A. O. Pascoe is the owner of the place which is leased to Young & Conklin. The cause of the fire is unknown.

the example of the more ostentatious journals on this side. He went to Morocco and got captured purposely in order that he might have material for a series of stories at a later date. His belief was that the British government would ransom him. The foreign office has looked into the case and decided that Kennedy is not worth a farthing. He will remain where he is and gather copy.

THE SONG OF HUMBUG.

When a patriot's taking a bribe for a place— Good of the nation? Hum! When Judges are feed to confute a good cause— Justification? Hum! When jurymen toss what the verdict shall be— As one with the rest can't be made to agree— Criticism? Hum! When the doctor is giving you potent and pills— Not to lengthen your life but to lengthen your bills— Mortification? Hum! When your family goes to the mountain or shore— Secret elation? Hum! When you write that you find single life quite a bore— Prevarication? Hum! When the day's very hot and you take— Just one drink— Then another—then one more won't do the matter, you think— Tebriation? Hum! When you wake up next day with a pain in your head— And don't go to the office but snore on in bed— Last abnegation? Hum! When your wife says she'll take up the suffragette cause— Equalization? Hum! When you walk on the grass 'gainst the sparrow's laws— Incarceration? Hum! When you're scorching along on a country highway— And the chauffeur is fined, though you have to pay— Gratification? Hum! When a baby politically you have to kiss— Don't you wish it were—don't you?—A pretty young miss? Without hesitation?—Mum!

SHAKESPEARE'S LAST LIVING

Shakespeare was still living and writing when Milton first saw the light in London in 1633. But the boy Milton came of better stock than the mightiest of English playwrites and apparently had the advantage of far better schooling than was granted to the strolling player who affected the world with "Macbeth," "Othello," "Merchant of Venice," etc. Milton's family belonged to the radical Puritan class. His father, John Milton, had come to the world twenty years later than he did, it has often been said. Milton might have been a Puritan in name, but he was not a Puritan in spirit. He was a man of letters, and he was a man of letters who was not a Puritan in spirit. He was a man of letters, and he was a man of letters who was not a Puritan in spirit.

FINANCIAL SACRIFICE.

The first school Milton went to was St. Paul's in London. Here, it is said, he was in complete harmony of mind and position. He gave himself up to the joys of composition, and from his pen flowed in quick succession "Comus," "Lycidas," "Arcades," "Allegro," "Il Penseroso," all according to the fashion of the time, taking titles from the Latin. On the death of his mother, in 1651, Milton, to divert his mind, determined to make a tour of Europe which should give to him some knowledge of the world. Already, even at this early stage of his career, his fame had spread widely to make him a figure of importance among men of letters, and he was welcomed with great deference in Italy by Grotius and Galileo.

JOYS OF COMPOSITION.

Returning to England in 1651 he became embroiled in the great debates of that day, which was seeing the approach of the violent stages of the struggle between the Puritans and the Royalists. Milton cast the great power of his pen with the Puritan cause, and turned loose a number of mighty papers, "Of Reformation," "The Reason of Church Government Urged Against Prelacy," "Prelatical Episcopacy," and "An Apology for Smectynus."

PRESERVING THE MEMORY OF MILTON

One of the great men who sheds imperishable glory on English letters will have honor done to his memory in the closing days of June and the early days of July. The three hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Milton, creator of "Paradise Lost," will be made the occasion for an unusual demonstration.

HONOR TO MILTON.

Cambridge is imperishably associated with the name of Milton. He was a most loyal partisan of his alma mater, and never missed a chance to boast of the glory of Cambridge, which even in his day was four centuries old. For the last six months, under the direction of the curator of Cambridge, an eager search for relics connected with Milton, manuscripts, portraits and objects associated with the poet in various ways have been collected, and will be on display in the great library.

HIS CAREER.

Shakespeare was still living and writing when Milton first saw the light in London in 1633. But the boy Milton came of better stock than the mightiest of English playwrites and apparently had the advantage of far better schooling than was granted to the strolling player who affected the world with "Macbeth," "Othello," "Merchant of Venice," etc. Milton's family belonged to the radical Puritan class. His father, John Milton, had come to the world twenty years later than he did, it has often been said. Milton might have been a Puritan in name, but he was not a Puritan in spirit.

FINANCIAL SACRIFICE.

The first school Milton went to was St. Paul's in London. Here, it is said, he was in complete harmony of mind and position. He gave himself up to the joys of composition, and from his pen flowed in quick succession "Comus," "Lycidas," "Arcades," "Allegro," "Il Penseroso," all according to the fashion of the time, taking titles from the Latin. On the death of his mother, in 1651, Milton, to divert his mind, determined to make a tour of Europe which should give to him some knowledge of the world.

JOYS OF COMPOSITION.

Returning to England in 1651 he became embroiled in the great debates of that day, which was seeing the approach of the violent stages of the struggle between the Puritans and the Royalists. Milton cast the great power of his pen with the Puritan cause, and turned loose a number of mighty papers, "Of Reformation," "The Reason of Church Government Urged Against Prelacy," "Prelatical Episcopacy," and "An Apology for Smectynus."

COUNT BONI WANTS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN. PARIS, July 7.—Count Boni de Castellane, accompanied by his counsel, this afternoon sent to the office of Judge Henri Ditté, president of the tribunal of the first instance of the Seine, and applied to have the custody of his children restored to him on account of his divorced wife's marriage to Prince Helle de Sagan. After hearing argument by Maitre Bonnet and Julien, Judge Ditté adjourned the case until the return of Prince de Sagan to Paris.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS SEVERED WITH VENEZUELA. NEW YORK, July 7.—Jacob Sleeper, formerly charge d'affaires of the American legation at Caracas, Venezuela, whose departure from that post marked the end of the diplomatic relations between the United States and Venezuela, arrived at New York today on the steamer Sarasota from Havana. Mr. Sleeper said he would go to Washington immediately.

SOME OF THE CURIOUS IDEAS OF JUDGES. Judging from the variety of amounts which have been awarded in compensation claim cases, it would seem that some curious ideas as to the value of different parts of the body exist amongst judges and juries. No less than $50,000 was awarded a Russian opera singer some time ago, who had five front teeth knocked out in a railway accident, the loss of which she claimed prevented her from singing. On the other hand a laborer who lost the tips of two of his fingers in an accident at the Royal Albert Dock, London, England, a short time ago, was only awarded $1,000 for each finger tip, although he claimed to be totally incapacitated. Of course, the laborer only earned as much in a year as the opera-singer probably earned in less than a month.

AMERICAN FLEET STARTS TRIP AROUND THE WORLD. Fifteen Vessels Left San Francisco for Honolulu—Nebraska Detained by Scarlet Fever. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 7.—Fifteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet sailed today on the voyage that is to take them around the world and end at Hampton Roads, whence they started last December. The sixteenth member of the fleet, the Nebraska, was left behind because of an outbreak of scarlet fever among the crew. She will be placed in quarantine three days and thoroughly fumigated, after which she will join her sister ships at Honolulu. Without ceremony or celebration of any sort the fifteen big fighting ships got under way promptly at two o'clock on signal from the Connecticut. Rear Admiral Sperry's flagship, and steaming in single column, slowly wended their way out of the bay, where they had found anchorage for two months since their arrival here, two months ago. The vessels presented a beautiful appearance as they steamed through the harbor. As the Connecticut passed forth the flagship signalled for more speed, and the bows of the warships were soon throwing up a sea of white foam as they plowed through the water. It was 2:10 o'clock when the Kentucky, the last ship in line, passed the lighthouse at the entrance to the Golden Gate and in half an hour the fleet was lost to view in a dense cloud of black smoke from the coasts of the straits. The weather which was rolling in from the sea.

AN AERIAL ORNIBUS. It is Being Planned by M. Malesot, a French Inventor. PARIS, July 7.—One of the most extraordinary flying machines ever seen, even in France, has just completed a successful trial on the army manoeuvre grounds at Issy. This is the Malesot "Aeronaut," a peculiar mixture of balloon and aeroplane. The main part of the machine from which the apparatus is controlled is a canvas plane mounted on a bamboo frame, triangular in form, and 60 feet long, with a base of 12 feet. In the centre of the plane is the car, containing the motor and other mechanism. The car also provides a place for a crew of three. The motor drives a ten-foot propeller at a speed of 1,200 revolutions a minute. The plane is placed close below a cigar-shaped balloon 100 feet long, with a diameter of 23 feet. This week's experiments showed that the "Aeronaut" could easily sail away with a dead weight of almost half a ton, rising and descending at the will and with little sacrifice of ballast. M. Malesot is now completing plans for an aerial omnibus. He is confident that all the heavier aerial vehicles of the future will be modeled on the plan of his machine.

THE SECRET LIFE OF THE TSAR OF RUSSIA

It has been too much the fashion to blame Nicholas II for the thousand and one mistakes that have marred his reign, and which—in the hour of almost unnumbered national misadventures—have retarded the progress of his people, and kept the greater part of his vast empire in a condition that would have disgraced medieval days.

The Russian Empire labors under two grave conditions which render a successful method of internal politics practically impossible. The country is too large, and is too sparsely populated. The towns, it is true, teem with human life of a degraded type. The battle for life is intense, with the result that discontent and sedition breed in every lodging-house. Outside the towns, the country becomes more desolate, with here and there a cluster of farms, or a few villages where the social conditions border on the primitive.

PITY THE CZAR.

Over this alternately scattered and crowded population rule despotic landlords, many of immense wealth, and of what is worse still, a rank of overseers and tax-gatherers whose business is to grind the face of the poor, and extract from them and from the land the greatest possible amount of money.

So live the vast bulk of the Russian nation, and above them all, set like a star in the sky, cold, guarded, unapproachable, moves in an orbit all his own, the "little white father."

These are a few of the reasons why the Czar is as much to be pitied as his people. They are unknown to one another, and even if they desired to meet, the tremendous wall erected by the higher nobles, and by minor members of the Imperial family, would place a rapprochement out of the question.

The Romanoffs, despite their immensely strong personalities, have always been the victims of intrigues and wifepopulars, and Nicholas II, in this respect, is no better off than his famous forefathers.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

As a matter of fact, if Russia had been a small kingdom, one that could be covered by a few journeymen, and handled by a few men, Nicholas II would have been a well-loved monarch. He has all the elements that go

THURSDAY MORNING.

D. MAGEE'S SONS,

65 KING STREET.

The Imperial palaces in Russia are guarded, by the Czar's orders, as perfectly unapproachable as the gates of hell. Nicholas is devoted to his wife and family and his palaces are bedged with steel and guns, so that the safety of his dear ones should never be imperilled. The Czar is popularly supposed to doubt the loyalty of his army.

Yet, not so long ago he took his baby-son—the pride of his life—in his arms, and with the tiny child in his embroidered frock and white sun bonnet, he rode up and down before thousands of his troops who were drawn up in review order. He was absolutely alone, with only the frail form of his child between himself and a hail of bullets—had the storm burst. Was that the act of a coward? Rather it was the expression of faith in his people of a man who is wishful to do his duty by his subjects, who loves them, and only asks for their love in return.

DARK RUSSIA.

That anarchy breeds fastest in Russia is well known, but the objective of the movement is the noble class and the tyrannical landowners, rather than the head of the Constitution. Crimes have been done in Poland and in Finland, but the Czar is innocent of these. He has been unfortunate in his provincial governors, and in the hands of the nobles, and in the hands of the Czar is innocent of these.

But it should be remembered that Russia is young—her thoughts and education, comfort and acumen many centuries behind the rest of the world. To judge Russia after the standards that prevail in happier countries is more waste of time. Even the sociology of Russia is not a venerable civilization, but a young people of the most hideous sores of ancient days.

Yet with this condition of things, of plots, of avowed vengeance, of struggling to the light, of shocking poverty and appalling starvation, the Czar of Russia is weighed in the same scale that strikes the balance of Edward VII. or the Kaiser Wilhelm. The Czar was unable, owing to the pressure brought by his ministers and his family, to mingle with his subjects, as he would wish, and has had to find his comfort and happiness in the heart of his home.

HIS HOME LIFE.

To play with his children, the simple games that the monks teach their little ones is his joy. To soothe his wife, whose health from girlhood has been of the feeblest, to spend long hours in his beautiful gardens, and in the summer to cruise among the fjords of Northern Russia, form his lonely delights. The records of past Czars have held many extravagant tales of scores of Court favorites and evil influences, but Nicholas is too domesticated to look for his pleasures afar.

After his home life, the Czar best loves the regiments attached to his entourage. He and his children have been photographed sitting in the midst of the whole of the Semenovskii Regiment. He photographs his troops and his stern guards who surround his children as they play on the wide lawns.

His pleasures are, perhaps, small and petty. But circumstances have made them so. His health, too, is not good, for the Donanoff taint is strong in his blood, sometimes. But the charge brought against him of being often found in the influence of alcohol is pure

PUERILE CHARGE.

He is in the position of the man who can do nothing right. He has his wife and children guarded perpetually—he is accused of skulking behind the petticoats of his wife. He is prevented by national conditions, which he is powerless to change, from mingling with his people—he is dubbed a coward. For days together, the family complaint forces him to remain in retirement—and all the world swears he is a dipsomaniac. He goes yachting—people vow he has fled his country.

Nicholas of Russia is to be pitied—not blamed. He is of the tender nature from which Fate chooses to make a shuttlecock. He is an Imperial shuttlecock, and must so remain till the end. With his mother and his younger brother, consoling against him, with only one baby son to carry on the direct succession, Nicholas is in a sad plight. But misfortune need not spell vice. The Czar of Russia is not a bad man. He is weak, no doubt, but not wicked. When the world comes to acknowledge that he will be better understood, and perhaps he is a dipsomaniac, he will come to know him better.

AMUSEMENTS.

"GENTLEMAN BURGLAR" AT THE NICKEL-TO-DAY.

Whatever the Thos. A. Edison people do they certainly do well, which is the case in photographing the magnificent 12-staged drama "The Gentleman Burglar," booked to-day for the Nickel.

This is a charming story of a "Raffles," whose double life is not discovered until he breaks into his former wife's mansion after years of prison life and vicissitudes. The natural and interior scenic effects are marvellously fine, in keeping with the Edison standard of excellence and the acting done by a company of experienced players. The comedy element is supplied in the Pathe pictures, A Duel With Dynamite and the Misadventures of a Sheriff. Last evening's large crowds of patrons vociferously applauded Miss Foley for her artistic rendering of the great sensation, "Day by Day," and Mr. Colman's high notes in the song, "Your Lips, Your Eyes, Your Golden Hair," were a revelation to even his closest friends and admirers.

CROWDED HOUSES AT THE UNIVERSITY.

In spite of the exceptionally hot weather the Unique Theatre is crowded every evening and all who attend are very much pleased to find that it is much cooler in this popular resort than it is on the street. #### HAPPY HALF HOUR.

Once more the Happy Half Hour is to the front with the latest in motion pictures. Nearly everybody has read Lady Audley's Secret, Miss M. E. Braden's famous novel. Today this popular picture house will show the motion picture, Lady Audley's Secret, taken from the story. It is one of the best pictures ever seen here, and those who have read the book should not fall to see it. The Man in the Box is a melodramatic picture, showing the robbery of an express office. Everybody who has read of Europe's famous beauty spots has read of St. Marc Place in Venice. Here every day at noon thousands of doves are fed, and it is a sight that tourists have travelled miles to see. The picture, St. Marc Place will show this wonderful and interesting scene. The Closing Hour is a comedy picture. Every man should see it. Ancient Rome shows the world's famous Coliseum, and the excavations that have been carried on. These pictures are all new, having been published since June 15th, and come direct from the Auditorium Theatre, Chicago, the largest picture theatre in the world, and they make a bit there only last week. They will only be shown here today and tomorrow. Prof. Tins sing in Old Ireland, Meet Me There, and Harry LeRoy sings Meet Me, Sweet Kathleen in Honey-Moon Time.

"SHORT CHANGING" COMPLAINED OF

The parade took place at noon and made a favorable impression. This afternoon, however, complaint was made by several that a ticket seller was giving the right change back and Harry Johnston, one of the special constables, told the ticket seller that he must refrain from cheating.

SELMAN STOCK CO. A company that ranks above the average in a good play realistiely presented, was the verdict of the audience at the Opera House last night after witnessing the production of "Northern Lights" by the Selman Stock Co.

The company is strong and well rounded and every role was handled with a naturalness and realism that was highly pleasing.

The company made an instant hit with the house and frequent curtain calls testified to the appreciation felt by the audience.

The scene is laid in the west at the time of the Indian uprising, and around the trouble with the Indians is built up a strong plot in which the actors moved with the strong emotions of such stirring times in every opportunity for the display of their dramatic ability.

John Swiftwind, the Indian army surgeon, is played by Joseph Selman in a heroic figure. Mr. Selman gave a fine portrayal of the Indian nature struggling with a civilization to which his instincts do not suit him.

Wm. Townsend had a heavy role as Sidney Sherwood, the chief surgeon. He gave a splendid representation of a man of science driven to crime by his ambition.

Theodore Daly, as Lieut. Sherwood, had a popular role and soon won the favor of the audience. His scenes with Harry Wilson, as Elliot Higgins, were very amusing.

Miss Dorothy Lee, as "Little Major," was bright and dainty, and created an excellent impression.

Du Bois had a difficult role as the invalid wife of the chief surgeon, but she portrayed it with great faithfulness.

The other members of the company were all extremely good in their various roles. The management deserves commendation for getting together such a cast.

A pleasing feature of the show was the between acts specialties. Mr. Daly who possesses a beautiful tenor voice was heard in popular ballads. Harry Wilson did a clever song and dance.

MOORS MAY KEEP HIM

Great Britain Refuses to Ransom Clarke Kennedy.

NEW YORK, July 5.—The World has been the following cable dispatch from London.—Those brigands in Morocco who kidnaped an Englishman named, Clarke Kennedy, are refusing to exact ransom, have been informed by the British Government that not a farthing will be paid for his release and they are welcome to keep him.

Kennedy was once a wealthy Scottish landowner. He married first Alice Maud Appleton, of Boston, and after she died he wedded a widow, who divorced him a few months ago.

Clarke Kennedy has been in Morocco for some months as a newspaper correspondent, but it is believed that he was captured while on a smuggling scheme.

The British Foreign Office is reported that he captured and deliberately for newspaper purposes.

Henderson & Hunt's large corner window on Charlotte street, is attracting considerable attention today.

The firm has installed an exceptionally novel display of yachting apparel, the site chosen as represented by the design in Millingville, with the fleet at anchor off the pretty club house, which has been well portrayed on canvas.

In front of the picture is a large tank of water, with four small sized yachts floating about. The tank is banked by sofas and a beautiful little gravel walk runs along the side of the tank.

A small rocky island adorns the centre of the tank, which represents the river, and upon the island small trees have been placed, which set off the window to a marked degree.

The R. K. E. annual carnival starts Saturday next, and the window has been dressed appropriately to the occasion.

This is another instance of the good taste and ability shown by the firm's window dresser, Thomas F. Drummie.

GORNELL STUDENT WAS DROWNED WHILE BATHING

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 8.—Ralph Wales, Cornell son of Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Wales, of this city, was drowned while swimming in the river at 9 o'clock last night.

Mr. Wales was returning from a canoe ride alone when he saw him throw up his arms in the water before he sank. The body was recovered in a short time. He was an expert swimmer, but is thought to have suffered cramps.

BOSTON, Mass., July 7.—With thousands of her suffering citizens sleeping on the ground in the public parks and squares throughout the city by special permission of the mayor and park commissioners tonight, Boston brings to a close the hottest day of the year.

Reports of the mercury reaching the 100 mark in various parts of the city were current while from Concord, N. H., the record of 101 degrees was reported and at Pawtucket, R. I., 114 degrees was vouchsafed.

BOSTON, Mass., July 7.—So intense was the heat in factory and shop throughout the city that a number of manufacturers and employers, when the heat in their shops had gone above the 100 mark sent their employees home for the remainder of the day.

Several hundred workmen and women gained a brief respite.

NEBRASKAN STOCKMAN KILLED BY A COWBOY

ALLIANCE, Neb., July 5.—Emel Sandosa, a well known stockman of Pine Creek, several miles northeast of here, was killed yesterday by F. E. Newman, a herdsman on a neighboring ranch.

The killing is declared to have been the result of a scandal in which Newman figured and which accused Sandosa of circulating Newman. It is charged, fired on Sandosa without warning.

MET DEATH WHILE TRYING TO ASSIST A FRIEND

MONTREAL, Que., July 8.—Last night at 11 o'clock, Joseph D. Donnelly, 30 years old, an ex-member of "A" Battery, met death at Cataracts Bridge, Kingston, by slipping off a float. He jumped in to assist James Bowman to bring in an overturned row boat.

BRYAN PRACTICALLY CERTAIN; SECOND MAN STILL IN DOUBT

DENVER, July 8.—It will be difficult to say which of the four principal divisions of work before the Democratic National Convention will hold its first session here yesterday, held first place in the interest of the delegates when they gathered early today for the second day's session, called to begin at noon. In the foreground, however, ranged with the other matters and in a way involving their outcome, was the work of the committee on credentials, which sat all night to hear the arguments for and against those who from various states had come to contest the validity of the certification under which groups of delegates held their places on the temporary roll prepared by the National Committee.

THE WEATHER

Maritime—Southwest winds and very warm, local thunderstorms tonight. Thursday westerly winds, fair and cooler.

LOCAL NEWS

The Portland Street Methodist Y. M. C. A. picnic held yesterday at Water's Landing was well attended. The usual games, sports and base ball matches were carried out.

Information has been laid before Justice Mason against Hugh J. McCormack, Ed. A. Trudewill, Chas. Maxwell, Mrs. Stanley Barker, for selling liquor during prohibited hours.

The judges in the race held at Westfield on Saturday, July 4th, 1938, for class "A" prize, and Magee trophy have decided that the "Chinook" is disqualified for fouling the buoy off River Bank. Winners are: "Wabeno" 1st, "Mona" 2nd, "Atrah Wanne" 3rd.

Mr. McDonald, the new superintendent of the Boys' Industrial Home, has arrived in the city, and will assume charge of the institution today. There will be a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Home this afternoon. It is likely that they will discuss the appointment of a new guard and a new teacher for the institution. It has been suggested that a teacher be secured who could instruct the boys in manual training as well as the other lines of school work.

HARBOR COMMISSION

FURTHER POSTPONED

Dr. Pugsley Wires That Bill Will Not be Considered at This Session—House to Prorogue on the 10th.

The following wire was received by Mayor Bullock this morning from Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works:

"Harbor commission bill received yesterday. Prime Minister says too late to consider this session as prorogation is hoped for week from Saturday."

This will mean a serious setback to the harbor commission scheme, as it was hoped that the bill would be put through at this session.

With the postponement of the commission the aldermen will be forced to deal with govern. matters which have been hanging fire until this was on a more settled basis.

The port has been without a harbor master for some time and it is now probable that the city will be forced to deal with this matter and make some more permanent arrangement than that now in force of allowing the wharfage collector to fill both offices.

Steps will have to be taken, any way, commission or otherwise, to arrange for a grain conveyor to the new west side docks. The question of whether the water supply, which is not in one that the city will have to deal with promptly.

The friends of the Navy Island bridge project will not view with favor the postponement of the consideration of the scheme until the commission, which is to be given power to build the bridge, is brought into existence.

SAWDUST IN PIPES MAKES HILYARD'S MILL SHUT DOWN

Hilyard's Mill at Strait Shore was forced to close down this morning owing to the failure of the water supply. The fire was drawn and the men laid off for the day.

This afternoon it was discovered that the trouble was due to a quantity of sawdust in the water pipe which had completely plugged up the screen known as an ell trap in front of the water meter. This is supposed to be due to the saw dust by the water department in repairing leaks. The sawdust was cleaned out and the mill is expected to start work again in the morning.

PANIC WHEN LAMP WAS KNOCKED OFF TABLE

Heroinism of Miss Lou Sims Prevented a Tragedy

Full particulars of the lamp incident in Fairville W. C. T. U. rooms last evening go to show that the affair was far more serious than at first stated, and add to the credit due Miss Lou Sims for her courage in averting what might have been a serious catastrophe.

Some hundreds of people had gathered for the entertainment. Upon the conclusion of the programme and before the refreshments were brought on, some of the children were playing about the room. Two little girls, Lulu Matthews and Sadie Stevens were having a game of chess, when the latter bumped against a table upon which a lamp had been placed. The lamp was knocked to the floor and flamed up. In an instant panic resulted. Men, women and children screamed, rushed for the exits, and generally lost their heads. Some managed to get out the door and several men headed for the nearest fire alarm. In the hall there was the greatest excitement, and for a few moments things looked very serious, not from the fire, but from the panic. Miss Sims, who is seventeen or eighteen years of age, was apparently the only one to keep her head. She ran to the blazing lamp, and holding it at arms' length, carried it to the front door, throwing it on the street. This was done so quickly that danger was over before the men who had started for the fire box were able to send in an alarm. The excitement soon passed, and refreshments were served according to programme. No one was hurt in the mix-up, but Mrs. Matthews, one of the ladies present, was affected so that she became quite ill during the night and required the services of a physician.

The entertainment was given by the Y of Fairville, for the purpose of raising funds to establish a reading room for boys. The Phair property on Main street opposite Hanson's drug store has been leased and the room will be opened as soon as possible. The W. C. T. U. hope ultimately to establish a coffee room.

Among those who assisted the Y in last evening's programme were the members of the Methodist choir, Miss Schofield, Miss Gray and Miss Greta Ferris.
