CARLETON BOYS FALL ON BATTLE FIELD

Sad News Comes of Many of Our Boys Dead and Wounded

Carleton county boys at the Front are getting their baptism of fire, and evidently are passing through the thick of the fray. Some are killed; Many are wounded.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hanning of Hartland received a cablegram announcing that their son Edward had been seriously wounded in the hip. He went with the 26th.

Mrs. L. M. Stephenson has received news that her son Edward, who went with the 55th, is in a hospital at Zetport suffering from shell shock.

Other casualties reported are: Omer L. Shaw of East Coldstream, wounded.

S. Poitras, Grand Falls, wounded. Sergt. Thomas Nason, Debec, wounded.

Fred M. Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buck, shot in the chest by a German sniper. He signed with the 26th and was transferred to the 55th. He was 19 years of age.

Jack Chandler, son of H. A. Chandler, district engineer of the C.P. R. at Woodstock. He left with the 55th, and is 19 years of age.

Oliver Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archer Hanson. He went with the 55th.

Earl Moxon has been wounded on three different occasions since going to the front.

George E. Carr, of the Mounted Rifles, an East Glassville boy, wounded.

Lance Corporal Woodford George, who was killed in action in France recently was 21 years of age and a son of the late Burton George and the present Mrs. Wm. Dickson. He was born a native of Graytown, near Woodstock, and went overseas with the 55th Battalion, enlisting in this town. He was wounded several months ago, recovered and went back to the firing line about six weeks ago. His brother, William, was with him at the front and another brother, Theodore, is with the 104th in England.

Marich-Phillips

Bristol was en fete on the nineteenth inst. celebrating a September wedding of more than ordinary interest. The principals in the event were Edgar E. Marich formerly manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and Mona E. Phillips, youngest daughter of A. W. Phillips, one of the best known of the up-river merchants. The handsome residence of the Phillips was filled with the relatives and friends of the young couple who came to express their good wishes and to assist in magnifying the occasion generally. An artistic hand had fittingly arranged and decorated the interior of the

Victoria Observer

SUBSCRIBERS ATTENTION!

Failing to secure the right man to look after the business and news interests of The Victoria Observer, we are this week amalgamating that paper with The Carleton Observer. This is intended only as a temporary arrangement and the manager is still desirous of securing the services of an experienced newspaper man to be placed at Grand Falls.

Meantime the Carleton Observer will be made to include the full news service the Victoria edition has been giving, and it will be sent to all subscribers instead. The combined papers will have a local news service that will easily place it in the lead of all competitors, and also a circulation larger than any of the competing weeklies. This will surely appeal to both subscribers and advertisers.

house, the west parlor, set apart for the wedding service being a subject of comment by all. It was a beautiful in-door picture of the season, a shimmering sheen of autumn leaves, their red and gold drapings buttoned here and there with varicolored astors singly and in knots. The entire scheme was made subservient to a delicate tendril arch which divided the room and formed a leafy canopy beneath which the wedding party was to stand.

To the strains of the wedding march rendered by Crystal Davis, the bride, preceded by Florence Noble and Doris Phillips as flower girls, was conducted by her father to the side of her husband-to-be, who with E. Roy Hunter as groomsman, was already in his place beneath the arch. Beulah Phillips of New York, sister of the bride, was in attendance as maid of honor. The bride wore a most becoming gown of white crepe de chene trimmed with lace and medallions, the latter from Malta in the far away Mediterranean a gift from the groom's family. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Phillips was attired in white voile with astres for flowers. Rev. George A. Ross of Florenceville performed the ceremony, the bride being given away by her father.

Luncheon was served following the ceremony, concluding in time for the guests to escort the newly-married couple to the train on which they left for a tour of Maritime Provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Marich will reside in Bristol where they will be at home to their friends on and after Wednesday evening Oct. 4.

How to Live Long

Many ailments find their beginning in a torpid sluggish condition of liver, kidneys and bowels. As a matter of fact you can add years to the length of your life as well as comfort and happiness by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep these organs regular and active.

LIBERAL CHIEFTAIN URGES RECRUITS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Points Out the Duties of Canadians in the Present Crisis

At Montreal, on Sept. 27, about 15,000 people gathered to hear the Liberal chieftain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Alphonse Verville, M. P., and others in an open air meeting arranged by Mr. Verville, the well known labor representative in Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid's address was strongly patriotic. He made it clear that he still strongly favored the cause of Great Britain and her Allies in the war, and that he regarded it as the duty of French Canadians to assist therein.

Sir Wilfrid reiterated his declaration of some months ago: "When Great Britain is at war we are at war." Further, he said, "It is our duty to defend our country and the best place to defend it is beyond the frontiers of our country."

As to the Nationalist view that Canada should not take part in the wars of the English, Sir Wilfrid referred to the fact that Great Britain is fighting for France and Belgium, and said he, "if you will not fight for England or France, I say, to you, will you not fight for yourselves?"

He spoke of the German military policy to terrify populations, and justified the claim that the Allies are fighting for civilization against barbarism.

"I admire the young Canadians who are today fighting on the soil of France," said Sir Wilfrid, "and I do not want it said that we left the deliverance of France to the citizens of British origin. The honor of the French-Canadians must not tolerate the statement that we have not done what our co-citizens of the English race have done."

Sir Wilfrid expressed the fear that after the war militarism would be expanded in England, and he declared that if the military party in England prepared a system to include Canada, he would fight against it.

"I am anti-militarist, like the radicals of France," he said, "who today are fighting to keep France alive and integral. There is Major Asselin, who has gone to the front. He is anti-militarist, but did not hesitate to don the uniform, because he believed that he should make the sacrifice for the triumph of civilization."

"After this war there are men who will want to drag us into militarism, and I will fight that in the future as in the past. It is not in this direction that we Liberals want to put our efforts. We think that after the war there will be a transformation, but we want it to be directed to the best interests of civilization, and to the economic and social problems, and to establish the dignity of labor."

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fashish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Be Careful With Guns

The Bangor Commercial makes the following remarks on a timely subject: The first tragedy of the hunting season is reported from Waltham where a bride of only four days was killed by the accidental discharge of a rifle. The big game season has not yet started but the danger of the woods is with us and only the utmost care of all carrying weapons will serve to save the state from the list of fatal accidents that prevents many from visiting the woods and too often turns a joyful vacation to a period of mourning. Every life that is lost is an unnecessary sacrifice that more care might have prevented.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes. Put an end to stomach trouble forever by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder. It's the quickest, surest stomach doctor in the world. It's wonderful.

Voices From Nova Scotia

J. K. Fleming is a convicted grafter. He was found guilty by a royal commission on which his own political friends were in the majority. He was forced to resign the Premiership of New Brunswick because he was a convicted grafter. Later on, he was nominated for Ottawa by the Conservative-Nationalists of Carleton. Mr. Carvell conducted the case against Fleming, and obtained a verdict of guilty. Mr. Carvell has conducted cases against other political grafters besides Fleming, and verdicts of guilty were the result. Against Mr. Carvell himself no single charge of dishonesty has ever been made. His life has been without stain or graft.—Amherst Guardian.

Of the Carleton county campaign the Halifax Chronicle says: "The campaign has been a very bitter and exciting one; the Opposition put up a vigorous fight and deserved to win. But they were not able to overcome the personal strength of the Government conjoined with the forces of evil arrayed against them. But although Carleton county has been held by a reduced majority for a discredited government, we refuse to believe that the people of New Brunswick will condone the scandals which have disgraced the province."

WHY CONSCRIPTION?

Because it is the only fair scheme.

It is estimated the maritime provinces have a total of males of service age.....161,927 The apportionment of these required to fulfil the Government's promise would be.....65,000 The enlistments up to June 1, were.....31,961 This leaves to be recruited 34,939

Suppose it were possible to find this number willing to enlist, it would simply paralyze every known industry, destroy its value, and leave many out of employment, because every factory and establishment has certain overhead expenses which it cannot get away from, and it cannot get enough volume of business, from the fact of not enough output on account of not enough help, the manager usually hears a whisper from his banker.

This is really what would happen if 35,000 more males were taken out of the Maritime Provinces in the voluntary hap-hazard method: But suppose a selection could be made for younger men, of which, as shown, there are 161,937 serviceable. Does this not sound much more reasonable to the young men themselves, as well as the country.

E. A. Schofield.

10-CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Lumbermen of Maine and New Brunswick Meet

Owners of lumber mills and timber lands in Maine and New Brunswick met in Bangor last week for the purpose of forming a lumbermen's association, international in scope, and probably the most important organization of its kind in northern New England. It may extend into New Hampshire, as there was a New Hampshire lumberman, F. E. Blodgett, of Suncook, N. H., present. Another meeting for the purpose of completing organization will be held in Bangor in October.

John Morrison of Fredericton said to the Bangor Commercial that the organization will be international in character, and purely a lumberman and timberland owners' association; it will be for the mutual benefit of the business men concerned. The truth that men engaged in the same line of business can learn much by getting together and discussing their common problems, such as how to market a thousand feet of logs at the least cost and greatest profit, is realized fully as well by the lumbermen as by jewelers, granite men and post office clerks, and they intend to have a big, live and progressive organization.

An official of the St. John Lumber Co. at Keegan, the largest lumber mill in New England, presided as temporary chairman.

More Beautiful Walls at Lower Cost

Paper has been used to cover walls because in the past there was nothing better at prices within reach of the average home.

About 5 years ago, Fresco-Tone, the wall finish satisfying modern ideas of beauty, durability and cleanliness, was perfected. Although far superior to paper, its cost was no greater. Now wall-paper has risen to almost prohibitive prices—but the cost of Fresco-Tone is practically the same as before. Fresco-Tone is not a kalsomine. It is a durable oil finish, possessing the soft, velvety beauty of water-colors with the tough permanence of high-grade oil paint. It may be applied direct to plaster, or over paper, burlap, or wood; has no porous fibres to catch dirt and germs, and when soiled may be washed with soap and water. Fresco-Tone is made in 20 beautiful shades, is easy to apply, and low in cost as compared to other wall coverings.

Fresco-Tone one or two rooms this Fall and by Spring you will want your whole house decorated in the same delightful way.

Gin Pills

FOR THE KIDNEYS

From all parts of the world we receive words of praise for Gin Pills as the great remedy for kidney troubles. The following is from Jamaica where Gin Pills enjoy a very large sale.

"I was a clerk in a store in Jamaica but had to give up my position on account of kidney trouble. I purchased one box of Gin Pills from a local Druggist and before it was all finished I was entirely better and able to return to my work. I recommended them to a friend who was also in a similar condition and he tried them with the same good results.

I may tell you I tried many remedies in Jamaica before I got your Gin Pills.

Yours very truly,
Thomas Price, Bog Walk, Jamaica."

HUN EFFICIENCY AS IT LOOKS TO-DAY

AN AMERICAN ARRAIGNMENT OF THE "SUPERMAN."

After Two Years of Arrogance, Egotism and Frightfulness, Ending in Failure.

The New York Times reviews the first two years of the war in a striking article, which is here given in abbreviated form:

The Empire of Efficiency began the War of Frightfulness on August 1, 1914. On August 1, 1915, the outlook for liberty and democracy was at its darkest. The first year ended with the "Superman" everywhere in the ascendant; the second year ends with the common man and the little people coming toward their own. On the eve of August 1, 1916, what had been the general faith on the eve of August 1, 1914, what had seemed a broken creed on August 1, 1915, is coming out plain again from the murky—that arrogance, egotism, cruelty, and tyranny cannot conquer the world.

A year ago Efficiency was driving the Russians pell-mell before it, held the western allies helpless, was about to begin the destruction of Serbia and the working of British disaster in the Ottoman Empire. Only at sea and in Africa were the allies dominant. Today Efficiency and Frightfulness are surrounded and beleaguered; they have no longer any chance of resuming their offensive, and their only hope now is to resist so stubbornly that the result will be a drawn peace of exhaustion, a time of recuperation, and the whole thing to be fought out again when the wounds are healed.

The two-headed God of Efficiency and Frightfulness is not, after all, superhuman, invulnerable, invincible, or what is more to the point—infalible. Efficiency blunders, Frightfulness flees. On paper, in advance, Efficiency was all-wise, Frightfulness irresistible. Efficiency launched the war of the Superman against the common man at the perfect moment, seen unerringly. Its infallible secret service reported to it that England would not enter the war, for fear of an Irish revolution and an industrial revolt; that Russia could not lumber up upon her ponderous feet before Paris was in Efficiency's hands; that France was populated by nerveless decadents—here is where Efficiency's scientists gave their omniscient evidence—and had no more resisting power than Paraguay; that Belgium would not resist the entrance of Efficiency's armies; that Italy would fight for Efficiency, and that the sympathy and moral support of the United States were certain. It was the divinely right moment. Efficiency's methods were as certain as arithmetic.

Efficiency's Blunders.

But the moment Belgium's soil was touched Britain declared war, and the sea was closed to Efficiency. Efficiency must feed herself unaided. Somehow, Efficiency had blundered; her diplomats and spies had misformed her, their salaries and expense accounts had been wasted in a manner that smelled, somehow, of inefficiency; for what they had reported to her was what any mere inefficient, with eyes in his head, who had spent a month in England, could have told her was not true. BUCKMASTER GETS $50,000 PER ANNUM

BRITAIN'S YOUTHFUL CHANCELLOR IS LIKED.

Fifty-five Years of Age, and Famous For His Energy and Youthful Appearance.

Lord Buckmaster, the Lord Chancellor, who has been urging everybody to economize and save all they can in war time, is one of the most important men in the Cabinet, for it is through him that King George signifies his consent to anything signed in his name.

The Lord Chancellor is technically "the Keeper of the King's Conscience," advising his Majesty in regard to signing all State documents. Furthermore, the Lord Chancellor is the custodian of the Great Seal which figures on these documents. The Seal is kept in an elaborate velvet, heavily embroidered in colored silks with the Arms of England—the lion and the unicorn, surmounted by the Imperial crown. Below is worked in silk a motto in Latin meaning "For God and My Country."

A "Queenly" Chancellor.

It is an interesting fact that the Lord Chancellor takes precedence of every temporal Lord and anyone who is not a member of the Royal family, and of all Bishops except the Archbishop of Canterbury.

An interesting confession was made by Lord Buckmaster on one occasion by Mrs. Alex. Tweedie, who relates the incident in her recently-published reminiscences, "My Tablecloths."

"The most interesting thing about the office," said Lord Buckmaster, in a note to Mrs. Tweedie, "is that it was held by a woman, Queen Eleanor, when her husband went to the wars. The result was disastrous, as feminine justice did not appear to agree with the proud stomachs of the city."

The appointment of Lord Buckmaster to the Chancellorship in 1914 astonished a good many people, for his promotion to the highest position on the Bench with $50,000 a year came after only two years as one of the Law Officers of the Crown. Lord Buckmaster, however, was, before his appointment as Solicitor-General in 1913, one of the leaders of the Chancery Bar, where he had a very large practice. For some years he was known as "special," "Specials" do not appear for a lower fee than 100 guineas.

Youthful Dignity.

His Lordship, who is fifty-five years of age, is famous for his energy and youthful appearance. He only looks about thirty-five, and it is related that on one occasion a client remarked, "It's a nice thing to pay a boy like that such a big fee." But after Lord Buckmaster had won his case for his client, the latter made a further observation: "There's no knowing what fee he reaches sixty."

Lord Buckmaster, however, has known the rough and ready life of the junior barrister who practices in the county courts for small fees. When briefs of his own were scarce, he "devilled" for busier friends, doing their work cheerfully and well. Undoubtedly his energy and industry have been the secret of his wonderful success. Furthermore, he is held in high esteem for his personal qualities, and when his legal duties permit him to do so, there is nothing gives the Chancellor greater pleasure than to see himself to the country with a fishing rod and spend hours on the river side.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond all aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in homes where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FIRE 3,000 SHOTS A MINUTE.

Part Played by Famous "75" Gun in Defence of Verdun.

The famous "75," as the gun is generally designated in French circles, is manufactured at the Schneider Works, a private enterprise, at Le Creuzot, France. The Schneiders are to France what the Kruppers are to Germany.

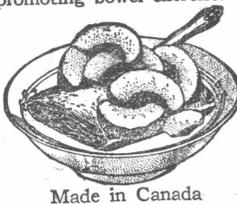

The hydraulic brake prevents any appreciable recoil of the gun, which automatically returns to its normal position; once it is set for the right aim, no time is lost in the firing. The position of the gun is not changed, and an unlimited number of shots may be fired. The gun fires up to 30 shots to the minute. That accounts for that "curtain of fire," which expression figures so conspicuously in the daily official bulletins or communiqués issued by the French War Office.

Protecting Verdun are one hundred of these guns ready to pour out three thousand shots a minute at the least attempt of an attack by the invaders. Indescribable havoc is caused by such an outpouring of shots among the German forces.

But it's as well to forget most of the promises made to you. A woman can get more pleasure out of a good cry than a man can extract from a good laugh.

Time for Peaches and Cream! To get full palate-joy with maximum of nutriment for the day's work eat them on shredded wheat biscuit—a complete, perfect meal, easy to prepare, appetizing and satisfying.

India's Rice Crop.

India's rice crop of this year is estimated at 76,792,000 acres, slightly in excess of the acreage of the year before. The total yield is expected to be 21 per cent greater than last year. Estimates for both area and yield are the greatest on record, according to an exchange.

His Need.

For three successive nights Newport had walked the floor with the baby. On the fourth night he became desperate, and bought a bottle of soothing syrup.

"Why, James," exclaimed his wife when she saw the bottle. "What did you buy that for? Don't you know it is very dangerous to give a child anything like that?"

"Don't worry," was her husband's reply. "I'm going to take it myself."

How Did it Happen?

Mrs. Clarke came running hurriedly to her husband one morning.

"Oh, Dick," she cried, as she gasped for breath, "I dropped my diamond ring off my my finger and I can't find it anywhere."

"It's all right, Bess," replied Mr. Clarke. "I came across it in my trousers pocket."

USING MORE COCAINE.

Soldiers and Women Rapidly Acquiring the Drug Habit.

Startling statements as to the increase of the drug habit among soldiers and certain women have been made in a case against a porter of Soho, says the London Globe.

He was charged with the unlawful possession of cocaine, and for selling that drug in boxes not distinctly labelled with the name of the article the word "poison," and the name and address of the seller.

It is declared to be highly desirable that special legislation should be introduced to cope with what has become a serious social evil. The use of cocaine is now largely on the increase among women and soldiers, particularly those belonging to overseas contingents.

SAVE THE WESTERN CROP.

No Lack of Men to Gather in Canada's Greatest Asset.

Statistics from the Government authorities show that the wheat crop this year promises to be greater than ever but the problem that is troubling the minds of the farmers in Western Canada is how can the crop be harvested? That is the predominant problem of to-day in Canada apart from recruiting for overseas. The railways are providing special excursions to carry the men to their destinations but the effort will almost be fruitless if the labor does not come forward for the work in view. There is no disguising the seriousness of the situation this year so many men having gone to the front or are on their way. Despite this fact, however, there should be no lack of men to gather in Canada's greatest asset if the country is to still continue the good work of the past two years in helping the Mother Country in the greatest war the world has ever known. While Canada has sent some hundred thousand men to the war there are still hundreds of thousands more left who have not enlisted and who are not assisting in the making of munitions. These have now an excellent opportunity of doing a little bit at home to help the war abroad. Canada's crop is of vital necessity to Great Britain and her Allies so that everyone who helps in gathering in the harvest will in some measure be assisting in carrying on the war to a successful issue. The effort will not only be a health giver but give excellent remuneration. You who are not helping your country directly are invited to take the trip West for a couple of months and not only earn three dollars a day and board but also feel that you are helping the powers to end the war successfully for our side. Any railway agent will furnish you with all the information to enable you to go to Western Canada and do your little "bit" by helping the farmers to harvest the great crop on which so much depends.

MEDALS TO MEN IN WAR.

Eighty-Six V.C.'s Have Already Been Awarded.

A statement issued by the British War Office shows that up to the present the following medals have been awarded to warrant officers, non-commissioned officers, and men: 86 Victoria Crosses, 130 Military Crosses, 6,150 D.C.M.'s, 1,700 Military Medals.

The text of the announcement made by the Secretary of the War Office is:

A desire having been expressed for the issue of information as to the medals which may be earned by soldiers for war service, the Secretary of the War Office announces that the medals in question are the following:

The Victoria Cross—The conditions under which this is awarded are well known. Up to the present date eighty-six Victoria Crosses have been awarded in the present war to warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers.

The Military Cross is awarded for "distinguished services in time of war," and may be won by warrant officers, as well as by commissioned officers of rank not above that of captain. One hundred and thirty warrant officers have received the Military Cross up to date.

The Distinguished Conduct Medal is awarded for individual acts of distinguished conduct and for devotion to duty in the field. This medal has been earned by about 6,150 warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers during the present war up to date.

The Military Medal, which was instituted some two months ago, is awarded to non-commissioned officers and soldiers for individual or associated acts of bravery in the field. About 1,700 of these have been conferred up to date.

The General War Medal, the issue of which is not decided until peace has been concluded.

PURITY, PELF AND POWER

The smoke of battle is clearing. After the election of Sept. 21 neighbors are beginning to speak one to another as "the tumult and the shouting dies." Yet those who voted with the Opposition continue to feel themselves for bumps and bruises; they still wonder how it all happened. Why shouldn't it have happened?

Let us analyze the situation: Five years ago, in a general Federal election, F. B. Carvell beat B. F. Smith by 11 votes. It is believed each party was equally equipped with "the sinews of war"—each had an equal chance to secure the purchasable vote. The result showed that, as many votes having been bought on one side as the other, the Liberals and Conservatives, those who vote for party, are about even in numbers. In the Smith-Simms election of Jan., 1915, the Opposition was armed with Purity while the Government candidate was backed by Pelf. Pelf won, giving Smith a majority of around 700 over Simms. There was no change in the purely party vote, hence we deduct that the vote that is "influenced" by cash or other considerations, numbers about 700. In the most recent contest we find nearly the same figures.

Thus, let us assume there are around 2211 Liberals in the county—dyed-in-the-wool and party-bound—and 11 less Conservatives, equally dyed and bound. A battery of machine guns would not turn this vote. But there is a little army—more than half a regiment—who will vote for the individual or the party that can offer the best graft, either cash down on election day, a job, an office, or preferment in some manner. In the late election the Government party had all this. The Opposition party had only Purity, and the negotiable 700 does not consider purity a commodity that it can use to its own enrichment. Purity has ever been the campaign slogan of all Opposition parties. It is proved poor stuff to secure votes with.

Purity in politics is an ideal, lovely in sentiment, and Heaven knows our politics needs purification.

While we know the Opposition was absolutely sincere in its efforts to win the last two elections without the improper use of money, it is plain that speedy reform of an age-old abuse can not be obtained, but that reform must be commenced by the government in power.

After the next general election the present Opposition party will control provincial affairs. We shall look to the new government to continue its reform policy, as we believe it will. The province, for its good, needs the elimination of graft and grafters and campaign funds, and a movement tending to the cutting off of the patronage system. But this reform can be brought about only by a government—never by an opposition. This seeming fact is lamentable, under the present state of affairs—with a government notorious from east to west for its record of graft.

The Observer does not wish to be considered profane, sacrilegious or eccentric if it suggests that the Opposition to be elected must let the Government choose the weapons; they must fight fire with fire. This is not highly moral, but it is sound sense, if to get elected is the main thing.

We venture to advise the Opposition to seek first the reins of government and then start the work of reform.

It is a bold man who burns his bridges behind him, but it is a foolish one who burns them before he crosses.

CARLETON SPEAKS ALONE

Carleton has spoken and has given testimony that she is willing to hand her resources to B. Frank Smith for careful keeping. Carleton has spoken and admitted that her type of ideal statesman is J. K. Flemming. There will be wonder all over Canada as there is wonder in Westmorland, at the verdict.

It is a significant fact that in the recent Nova Scotia elections, the county of which Mr. Kyte is the federal representative went Conservative. It is also a significant fact that Carleton county, which has the honor to be represented at Ottawa by F. B. Carvell, went Conservative, although Westmorland, evidently chosen by the government as the safest and best county to appeal to, gave a decided verdict in the other direction. It is a significant fact that there is a Conservative government at Ottawa facing an election in a short time, which they know will go against them largely through the work of these two men. It inclines to ask if any federal campaign funds by any chance, found their way into the provincial by-election as they found their way into Nova Scotia. The presence of J. K. Flemming also inclines one to ask that question. The very mention of his name suggests the thought of campaign funds.

Whatever may have been the reason for the verdict from Carleton, one thing is certain. Inside of a year Carleton will find that the greater part New Brunswick agrees with Westmorland in its estimate of the Clark-Baxter government. If Carleton county is agreeable to having its finances administered by B. Frank Smith, New Brunswick as a whole is not. If Carleton county is agreeable to establishing J. K. Flemming as the type of politician supported by the people of this province, New Brunswick as a whole is not. Carleton has called for a continuance of that government which has made New Brunswick an object lesson and a "horrible example" in every recent political campaign throughout Canada. Carleton has spoken and agreed to the degradation and humiliation of our province, to the squandering of our monies, and the pilfering of its public possessions. Carleton has spoken—but she speaks alone.—Sackville Tribune.

Hon. John Costigan, Senator, who died last week at Ottawa, was the nestor of the Canadian Parliament, having been continuously in public life for the long period of fifty-five years. Hon. Mr. Costigan's last public appearance in this province was at a banquet given in this city in honor of F. B. Carvell, M. P., and

L. A. Dugal. He made a speech, in the course of which he declared that at the last election he had written Mr. Carvell stating that if he had a thousand votes he would give them to him, even were it necessary to crawl to Woodstock on his hands and knees to do so.—Fredericton Mail.

SENATOR COSTIGAN DEAD AT OTTAWA

Long Career in N. B. Provincial Legislature and House of Commons and Senate

John Costigan died at Ottawa on Friday forenoon at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Armstrong, on Carling avenue. He was 82 years of age and has been in failing health for several years. He was born at St. Nicholas, Quebec, in 1835, but moved to New Brunswick in early life. His remains were brought here on Sunday and interred at Grand Falls.

He entered the Legislature of New Brunswick in 1861, and after five years in Provincial politics, he was elected to the House of Commons for Victoria-Madawaska, in 1867. Mr. Costigan was a member of the House until 1904, and was summoned to the Senate in 1907. During his long parliamentary career he was recognized as one of the ablest, certainly the most obliging of the Irish Catholics of Canada. In 1882 he became Minister of Inland Revenue in Sir John McDonnell's Government, and he held that portfolio for ten years, until the Conservative chieftain died in 1892. In the Thompson administration he was Secretary of State, and Minister of Marine and Fisheries in the Bowell and Tupper Governments. After change of Government in 1896, Mr. Costigan went over to the Liberal party. The reason for this has never been made public, but the statement made at the time was that the school question in Manitoba had determined his political allegiance.

Senator Costigan first won general attention when in 1872 he brought up the New Brunswick school question in the House of Commons. The school question was a live issue in this province and the representative for Victoria moved that the governor general disallow the school act on the ground that the law was unjust and caused uneasiness among the Catholics. In 1873 he made a motion of a similar kind, and in 1874 he proposed an address to Queen Victoria praying that an act be passed amending the B. N. A. act by providing that every religious denomination in New Brunswick should continue to possess and enjoy all such rights with regard to their schools as they possessed and enjoyed at the time of the passage of the act. Nothing resulted from these parliamentary proceedings. A strong Home Ruler, Senator Costigan brought the condition of Ireland before the House of Commons on several occasions, and secured the passage of resolutions favoring home rule for Ireland. In 1896 he was a delegate to the Irish National Convention in Dublin.

Senator Costigan, while in the House of Commons, seconded a motion made by the late N. F. Davin to extend the Dominion franchise to women. For years he was active in many societies, including the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

In the nineties Senator Costigan's personal and political admirers presented him with a splendid residence in Ottawa. On his 70th birthday he was presented with a cabinet cutlery by Liberal members of the Commons and Senate, Sir Wilfrid Laurier making the presentation. While Senator Costigan's home had been in Ottawa for over thirty years he spent much time in New Brunswick, especially in the northern section, where he was fond of hunting and fishing.

Senator Costigan was married in 1855 to Miss Harriet Ryan, daughter of John Ryan, Grand Falls, by whom he is survived, with three children, Harry A. Costigan, Mrs. Walter Armstrong of Ottawa and Mrs. Cameron Bliss of Winnipeg. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Catherine Lawlor of Chatham.

Rev. W. K. Reed of Grand Falls attended the Sunday School Convention which was held in Andover last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Waugh of Florenceville spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waugh.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Bath, was the scene of a happy wedding on Wednesday, when Mrs. Hamilton's sister, Margaret Johnston was united in marriage to Saunders Giberson, of Bath. Rev. G. A. Giberson, father of the groom, performed the ceremony. The bride was dressed in pink silk. Many relatives and friends were present. The bride received some costly and beautiful presents.

Burt's hall was very tastefully decorated for the Church of England Harvest Thanksgiving services on Sunday. Ripe grain in the sheaf, autumn leaves, pumpkins, cabbages, squash, carrots, beets, turnips, cauliflower, tomatoes, apples and grapes in profusion were arranged very prettily by the hand of the rector's wife, assisted by a few of the congregation. At both services there were large audiences which gave wrapt attention to two earnest sermons.

Last week someone in Hartland poisoned a dog owned by W. H. Sipprell of Somerville. After taking the fatal dose the animal went home, laid down near his master's feet and "croaked." The dog was harmless but useful, it being his duty to run the family churn. He will run it no more, but from now on will look from dog-heaven upon this wicked, cruel world. His owner says he will be glad to give the poisoner a free burial at this dog's feet, so that as far as possible all dogs may lie together.

C. M. Sherwood, Limited, will hold their Millinery Opening on Saturday, October 7th, and the following days. Gunner Bruce Lovely, son of Mrs. Enoch Lovely, Perth, a member of the 28th Battery under the command of Major Randolph Crockett, is expected home in a few days. During the heavy fighting in June at Sanctuary Wood he was dangerously wounded in the chest by a splinter of a shell which lodged near the spleen in the back. He is being invalided home as unfit for further service.

Last evening fire destroyed two barns and a shed owned by A. D. Kennedy and containing his entire crop of hay and grain. There were 60 tons of the former and the yield of 160 bushels of sown grain. The loss is around $5000 with comparatively trifling insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Kennedy has already experienced enough hard luck for one man, and this blow is a calamity most disheartening.

A strange vegetable is on exhibition at Estey & Curtis Co.'s store. It looks like a squash and it looks like a pumpkin, but it is neither. The strange fruit or vegetable grew on the farm of E. White of Highgate, and in plain letters on its plump sides appears the inscription, which grew there: "Hull Corn, Mayor of Pole Hill." In connection with his product of the soil three prizes are to be given as follows: To the person guessing nearest the weight, $3; to the person guessing nearest the number of seeds, $1; and to the person guessing the name of the article, $1. The privilege of guessing is 5 cents and half the net proceeds goes to the Red Cross Society.

Death of Mrs. Garfield Larlee

The death of Mrs. Garfield S. Larlee of Bath occurred in a Boston hospital on Sunday morning, following a surgical operation. A few ago she went to visit friends in Lowell and Boston and apparently had been in the best of health. Her husband, who went with her, returned about three weeks ago while she remained to enjoy city gaieties a few weeks longer. Her sudden death came as a shock to the large circle of friends in Carleton and Victoria counties.

Mrs. Larlee was born in Hartland about 24 years ago, the first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manzer E. Thornton. When young in her teens she became the wife of Mr. Larlee, then telegraph operator at Perth, now C. P. R. agent at Bath. Two little children are left, who with the grief stricken husband will have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Larlee was a very bright and attractive young woman to whom the world seemed very fair. She is survived by her parents and many relatives, besides her immediate family.

The remains were brought to Perth on Monday and the funeral at that place yesterday was very largely attended. Several relatives went up from Hartland.

McIntosh-Lamont

A marriage which evoked a great amount of local interest took place in Glassville Presbyterian church on Wednesday, Sept. 22, when Arthur E. McIntosh, son of John McIntosh, J. P., and Miss Bessie H. Lamont, second daughter of Councillor D. H. Lamont, exchanged matrimonial vows. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and many came in gala attire to witness the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. James Colhoun, pastor. The bride, who carried a beautiful shower bouquet, and was gowned in a navy travelling suit with hat to match, was attended by her elder sister, Miss Hilda M. Lamont, whilst the bridegroom was unattended.

Miss Emma DeWare of Waterville played "The Wedding March" as the bride and groom entered the church, also a voluntary — A perfect Day — during the signing of the registers. After the necessary signatures had been recorded the newly-married pair motored to Bristol to spend a short honeymoon in the Maritime Provinces.

The presents received by the young people were numerous and appropriate.

Hartland Gave No Recruits to the Kilties

On Thursday evening Sergt. Carter and Lieut. Wetmore addressed an open air meeting, speaking from the balcony of Keith & Plummer's building and calling for recruits for the 236th Highlanders, "Sir Sam's own," of which Lt. Col. Guthrie is in command.

A large crowd gave the speakers a good hearing, but none offered his service.

Rev. N. Franchette was chairman of the meeting and himself gave a good address. Besides the chief speakers afore-mentioned, M. L. Hayward, Esq., delivered himself of an earnest oration. Pipe Major Farquhson played numerous airs on the pipes, Miss Helen Aiton was heard in a reading, Miss Dalling (Woodstock) recited "Light, Light the Fires on Craig-Gowan's Height" and Mrs. S. S. Miller rendered a vocal solo. More than a score of young men remain in this vicinity awaiting the coming of the conscript officer.

Fire at Upper Brighton

On Sunday evening fire destroyed the house and barn of Willard McIntyre of Upper Brighton. How it caught is a mystery but the blaze was first discovered at one corner of the barn and quickly spread until the buildings were a mass of ruins. The stock and farm machinery were saved, as well as the household effects with more or less damage. The season's crop, stored in barn and cellar, was an entire loss. There was only a small insurance to cover a loss estimated at $3000.

Woodstock Boys Wounded

Lieut. Franklin Rankin, son of W. D. and Mrs. Rankin, who was wounded a fortnight ago, has written home that he is suffering from a slight bullet wound in the head which did not necessitate treatment at a hospital. When wounded he was in an aeroplane, acting as an observer, over the German line, when his airship was chased by a German fokker. His pilot was rendered unconscious by a bullet and Lieut. Rankin, although he did not know much about the machine, safely guided it into a cloud and escaped, remaining in charge until the pilot became conscious, and brought the machine back to the British lines.

Among the names of wounded men appearing in the casualty list was that of Gunner Howard J. Jacques, son of Mrs. Howe Jacques, of Woodstock.

An Editor Talks

It is a mystery to us why every farmer does not give more attention to the breeding of the best laying strains of poultry. If there is a more profitable industry on the farm than fowl we should like to know what it is. We are glad to see that the directors of the Western Fair, London, have for one of the principal attractions this year, from an Agricultural standpoint, the Dominion Government's demonstration of the care of eggs. The egg industry of Canada is a very important one, and the Government, realizing this, is putting on this demonstration to create an increased interest in the care and production of eggs. The Western Fair Association is offering liberal prizes for eggs for Producers only and also for Commercial Packages. They might also have offered liberal prizes for the best dressed poultry, as the egg product is only a part of the industry.

Women will go to church in all weathers and cheer the minister by their presence. Of course, it becomes a habit with most people and it is a capital one. It is only a short period in a week's duration that one is expected to be in church services at most but some persons regard it as a half-hour sermon as a great weariness to the flesh. Automobiles are now regarded as one of the preacher's worst detractors. A sort of auto-humorous writer makes this interesting allusion to non-attendance at church. He says there is something about an automobile which removes a man's mind from the church and everything else except the cost of upkeep. After an active church-goer has owned an automobile for a few weeks and come in contact with its massive and ceaseless appetite, he will be in no frame of mind on Sunday to go to church and greet the annual missionary collection. He will be more inclined to retire to some quiet nook and finger his check stubs with a trembling hand. Although with a seducement is being held out to increase church-going, it is not necessary to reserve seats in advance. The church attendant is now offered filtered music by a determined solo quartet and the sermon has been boiled down until it is a mere skeleton of the old-time discourse with self-winding and joy-riding after the morning service they would be better prepared to meet the shifting scenes of life, especially when they shift into an open ditch at forty-five miles an hour.

Is there a reasonable explanation for the failure of 65 per cent. of the candidates at the recent Lower School examinations? This percentage of failure is abnormally high and offers cause for very serious thought in the homes of these students who failed, in the schools where they were taught and in the Education Department in Toronto. There never should be over 20 per cent. of failures in any fair school examination and this would be excessive, we think. In considering this year's awful slaughter of the school innocents it would be very interesting to know how this percentage agrees with the percentage of failures in the principals' confidential reports to the Department. Of these generally agree, there can be but one reason for so many failures, which is that the work cannot be satisfactorily covered in two years, the time allotted for the course. The chances are, though, that the confidential reports were on the whole in favor of the candidates passing the examination. If so, how shall we account for so many failures? Shall we say that the teaching was faulty? Generally speaking we think not. Shall we conclude that the candidates were below the average in mental ability? We have no reason to think so. We take it for granted, of course, that the ground work on entering the High School was satisfactory, for were not the pupils approved and allowed pass standing by the Entrance Board, the principal of the High School, himself being chairman?

If the course cannot be covered in two years, we need not be surprised at so many failures. Then the question arises, Why plan a course for two years which cannot be done properly in the prescribed time? For instance can the work in arithmetic and grammar be done in two years? We seem to have ample proof that it cannot for there are certain schools which continue these two subjects another year with beneficial results even to those who won the Lower School Diploma. Should two years be considered sufficient to complete such important subjects? We know that at the Normal School these subjects are again studied from an academic and a professional standpoint. Notwithstanding even this extended course we think that they should be taken up for another year in the High School. The reasons for so thinking are apparent to all who know something as to the age when the reasoning faculties are being developed in a child.

Evidently, the schools that continue arithmetic and grammar for another year have the welfare of their pupils at heart. They are not simply working for examination results. In all probability the course in each of the other subjects—geography, Science, Art, Spelling, Oral Reading and History—may be done in two years. Yet some would prefer the outline in History cut in two, and Book-keeping restored. This could well be done as History is continued in Forms III. and IV. It seems that of all the subjects in the course of Story History is the most inefficiently taught. There may be several reasons for this. We think, though, we may safely rely on the conclusions arrived at by the Committee appointed to prepare a report on the dejected answers at the Departmental Examinations of 1915. They should be amended. Other questions may arise as to the cause of so many failures. Were the questions based on the prescribed Course? We think they were. Were they such as would come within the mental capacity of a student with two years' training? The percentage of failures says they were not.

In summing up the situation we would say that the cause of so many failures at the recent examination may be traceable to the immaturity of the candidates. This fact leads to the conclusion that the difficulty would be fairly well met by holding the examination at the end of the third year instead of the second, with a reduced number of lesson periods for the third year. The Department is undoubtedly right in fixing and maintaining a high standard for the teaching profession, for without highly cultured and well-trained teachers we cannot hope to have well-trained pupils. Moreover, we sincerely hope that the standard will be raised from time to time until we have thoroughly educated teachers in all public schools.

We may say in concluding this consideration that the average age of entrance candidates to the collegiate institutions and high schools is approximately 14 years, so that the average age of those passing the Lower School examination will be 16 years. This is too early in life for a boy or girl to stop studying grammar, arithmetic and several other important subjects. The range of history is far too wide for most teachers too.

We recently read a capital address by Dr. Massey on "How we may Help our Boys and Girls to find their Niche in Life" and as it contains so many good thoughts for people of all ages we shall reproduce liberal extracts from it. It contains great encouragement for every young person because the Doctor believes as we do that there is a niche or objective for every person or some place in this world of activity for which every individual is best adapted. Dr. Massey says every day we come in contact with men and women who are engaged in work which they do not enjoy, work in which they are not making a success, because it is not the work in life for which they are naturally suited. The human race may be divided into two classes—producers and non-producers, those who are helping to benefit or support not only themselves but others of their fellow creatures, and those who are doing nothing along this line, but are entirely dependent on others. The non-producers include those who are unable to work on account of mental or physical weakness, and those who are willingly non-producers. Among this last class are tramps, loafers, and men of means who hoard their money, men who do nothing for the benefit of mankind nor allow their money to be used for this purpose.

The idle rich and the aimless individual the one with no particular objects of sincere pity. Dr. Massey truly says that one of the most fatal habits is that of killing the habit of loafing, of sitting around doing nothing or dreaming one's task. How many people put off disagreeable tasks, waiting till they feel like doing it. The way to rob a task of its disagreeableness is to tackle it promptly and vigorously and get it out of the way. No man has any use for a loafer, one who has no business or occupation in life. He is of no use to society, helps no one, and depends for his existence on those who are working, many of them not nearly so able as he is. No person boy or girl be rich or poor, should grow up to manhood or womanhood without mastering some line of work by which he can support himself and those dependent on him, and do his part in supporting those who through unpreventable circumstances are non-producers. A vast number of non-producers, and of those who are producing only a part of what they should, are such through physical inability. I believe I am safe in saying that more than half this number, yes the great majority of them, would have been strong, healthy men and women, had the laws of health been properly obeyed in childhood and later life.

The great need in Canada to-day is for capable leaders of men. For some unfortunate reason the schools are not turning out enough men and women fitted for splendid leadership. Dr. Massey laments this fact and looking round says the world to-day, in every branch of its activities, needs men and women such as the poet describes:—
"Who, if he rise to station of command
Rises by open terms, or else retires,
And in himself professes his desires,
Who comprehends his trust and to the same,

Keeps faithful with a singleness of aim,
And therefore does not stoop or lie in wait,
For wealth or honors, or for worldly state."

And what kind of men are such? Generally clean, big-souled men, who are willing to sacrifice self on the altar of humanity. They are men who have been trained in clean thinking, and generally men of abounding health, which balances and stimulates the mental and moral activities. What constitutes Health? It is a condition of the body in which all the functions are performed with regularity and harmony; a condition in which the rich pure blood flows through organs and tissues and glands and muscles that vibrate with the life they receive from that current.

The medical man knows too well the correctness of what Dr. Massey says in this part of his address. Parents will do well to consider carefully and long the substance of this paragraph beyond contradiction. For the citizen of to-morrow we must begin with a child of to-day. No child can grow in mind or in stature who is only half-nourished; organs seeking to do full work on half fuel; mind trying to grow and develop with almost nothing to grow and develop on.

STORMS HIS MOTHER'S HOME.

Son Knew Germans Had Driven His Parent From It.

The Chateau La Maisonette, France, so often named in recent bulletins on the Somme fighting, is the property of Mme. Fernet—who has lived there for many years. The property is close to Biaches and Peronne. The owner was there in August, 1914, when Von Kluck's forces passed through during their rush upon Paris. She remained in her house and for months after some news was heard of her. One of her sons, Victor Fernet, son-in-law of Gen. Boisdeffre, volunteered at the beginning of the war, and the hazards of war sent him recently to the Somme front, where he has shared in all the attacks made. A letter from Germany had informed him that his mother, who had remained until a short time ago at La Maisonette, had been sent away with almost all her aged servants, so that he was able to take part in an attack which meant the destruction of his home without the fear that his mother was still there.

The Germans made six desperate efforts to retake La Maisonette between 11 p.m. Sunday (July 16) and Monday afternoon. Each was made by at least a battalion, but each was defeated.

3000 SHIPS UNDER JELICOE.

Tightness of the Blockade Surpasses Expectations.

In an article in the current number of "Casell's Magazine of Fiction" on British effort on land and sea, Mr. Frederick Palmer, the well-known American journalist and war correspondent, tells that "including the regular naval and the auxiliary vessels, some 3000 ships are under Sir John Jellicoe's command. Success in keeping tight the blockade between Iceland and the North Sea surpasses expectations. It was feared that a number of raiders might get by, and considering that the fog in the North Sea is often so thick that a man can hardly see his own hand held out before him, it is amazing that only one raider has got through at the time of writing. The fogs made over that single one is proof of the pudding if the layman does not. It was as unusual as in the case of the man biting the dog."

Courage is a fine asset, but its deadly unless accompanied by good judgment. It's an easy world to get along in. All you've got to do is show a willingness to earn your way and not grumble too much about it and folks will be glad to have you around.

SOME FORGOTTEN TREASURES.

Studying Life of Ancient Egypt From Cast Away Papyrus.

It is a strange story that reads more like a romance than a cold fact, how the most intimate thoughts and emotions of two thousand and more years ago lay buried in the rubbish of ancient cities to come to light in our day. Papyrus was the writing material of ancient Egypt, used in official and private correspondence, in business transactions, in legal actions. When it had served its purpose it was thrown away. Much of it also was used to wind the embalmed bodies of the dead. In the early part of the last century, without attracting much attention, the Christian Herald, used in Alexandria of those days and literary remains, and could not foresee the infinite possibilities for studying the life of a past age from its private correspondence.

Within the last decades, however, interest changed completely. Exploration parties were sent out to go over every inch of ground and gather the remains. A host of scholars set themselves the task of deciphering and interpreting the documents. But still an immense amount of material is stored away in Oxford, the British Museum, Berlin, Paris and other places.

In a group recently examined there are three letters from recruits, young men who had passed the military examination and were taken from simple home surroundings to the cosmopolitan Roman army. The first is a letter from a youth in Alexandria to his mother. He writes:

"Send me two hundred drachmas. I have nothing any more. When brother Gemellus came I still had four hundred drachmas. They are all gone. I bought a team of mules. Send me monthly allowance soon. When I was with you you promised to send my brother before I came to the garrison. But you sent nothing. You left me to go as I stood, nothing in the pocket. Also my father on his visit gave me not a penny. All laugh at me and say: 'Your father is a soldier himself and still he sends you nothing.' My father tells me when he gets home he will send me everything. But you sent nothing. Why? There is the mother of Valerius; she sent him a pair of abdominal bandages and a cruse of oil, a basket of meats, and two hundred drachmas. Send quickly. I already went and borrowed from a comrade. Also brother Gemellus sent me a pair of trousers."

TITLES OFTEN DUPLICATED.

Various Lords Greys, Two Lords Morley, Two Earls of Mar, Etc.

Sir Edward Grey will probably be known by the title of Earl Grey of Fallodon. The peerage is already well-stocked with peers of this name. There is, of course, Earl Grey, formerly Governor-General of Canada, who is himself Baron Grey of Howick. Neither of these must be confused with Lord Grey of Ruthyn, nor with Lord Grey of Wilton, the eldest son of the Earl of Wilton, nor with Lord Grey of Groby, eldest son of the Earl of Stamford. And all these are quite distinct from Earl de Grey, who succeeded to his father's Marquessate of Rippon in 1909.

There is really no copyright in titles. There are two Lords Morley, an Earl and Viscount. There are two Barons Montagu, voting as such in the Lords, though one is known as the Marquess of Sligo and now Earl of Clanricarde in the Irish Peerage. Scottish Representatives Peers include the Earl of Mar and the Earl of Mar and Kellie. There are Baron Clifford and Baron de Clifford (a minor); and two other titles which are often confounded because of the spelling are Viscount Midleton and Baron Middleton and the Earls of Desart and Dysart. Lord Midleton sits as Baron Broderick in the Peerage of the United Kingdom.

Giving up smoking brings one great compensation with it—the joy of being again. This is not to be despised.

PRACTICAL FARMING

Important to Wheat Growers.

This is important to you because it means dollars to you. In a short time you will be preparing for the seeding of your fall wheat, and it is necessary to keep in mind the danger of loss from smut. Especially last year, smut was very general in Ontario. Grain dealers advise me that that it has meant a difference of as much as 10c. per bushel for the grain delivered at elevators, aside altogether from making some of the wheat unmarketable. This means a loss of $3 to $5 per acre, while the cost of treating to prevent smut and prevent this loss is only a few cents per acre. Be sure this year and treat your seed for smut.

The method usually adopted is as follows:—Mix one pint of formalin with 40 gallons of water, or two table-spoonfuls to one pail of water. Place the grain to be treated in a heap on clean canvas or floor. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain, then shovel. Repeat this until every grain is moistened by the solution; then cover the pile with sacking and leave for three or four hours. At the end of this time spread the grain out thinly to dry; shovelling it over three or four times will hasten the drying. Forty gallons of the formalin solution is sufficient to sprinkle thirty or forty bushels of grain; smaller amounts in proportion. Bags, machinery, or anything with which grain comes in contact before being put in the ground should be thoroughly treated.

Immersing the grain in a bag is sometimes practised and is equally effective. Of course smut is not as prevalent some years as others, being influenced to some extent by weather conditions. Treatment, however, is a form of insurance. You do not expect to have your barn burned down every year because you pay the insurance every year, and it is equally important to keep up your insurance on your wheat crop. This is important to your own account, but on account of the Empire, which requires the maximum supply of high quality foodstuffs. The shipping of smutty wheat not only gives this Province a bad name but reduces the price you receive for your wheat. Further information on the subject may be secured for the asking, either from the local office of this Department in your County or from the undersigned.—Hon. Jas. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, Toronto.

Cost of Raising Dairy Heifers.

One of the important things for the farmer to know is the cost of the thing he produces, whether it be a crop or an animal. Profits are governed as much by the cost of production as the price for which the product sells. One of the questions often discussed is the cost of raising young stock. Several Stations have taken up the question of finding out what it costs to raise a heifer calf. The question is an important one and should interest Canadian dairymen. We would also be glad to have the experience of any of our readers as to the cost of raising heifer calves for the dairy herd.

The Ohio station has just concluded such an investigation. The figures given are the averages of the records kept on 51 heifers—29 Jerseys and 22 Holsteins. This involves a large enough numbers to merit consideration. The items other than feed are as follows: Value at birth $5, labor $11.50, bedding $4.50, service fee $1.50, tools, etc., $1.50, shelter $4, interest and taxes $4.68, or a total of $32.68. Nine dollars is credited for manure, leaving the net cost $23.68. To this must be added the feed cost. The total cost of raising the Jersey heifers to two years of age was $78.10, and the Holsteins $81.30, the difference being due to the larger animals eating more feed. They were charged 30 cents a month for pasture the first year, and 90 cents the second. The pasture had to be supplemented with grain in order to keep the heifers growing properly. The heifers were bred to calves at twenty-six and one-half months of age, and at calving time the cost averaged $91.39.

The high cost of heifers as brought out by these different studies, clearly shows the folly of raising inferior individuals. It costs just as much to feed a heifer sired by an inferior bull as one sired by a high class bull. The figures also show why dairymen are justified in asking good prices for well-bred dairy stock. As a dairy farmer recently stated, they cannot afford to sell really good heifers for $60 or $70. The dairymen who insist on buying only cheap stock will get only culls, and would be better off without them. They must expect to pay good prices for well-bred heifers that have been properly grown and developed.

The economical thing for the dairyman who is just getting a start, is to give the most careful attention to the feeding of his heifer calves, saving only those having the right kind of parents. Even though the cost of bringing a heifer up to calving time does seem high, it is the safest and most reliable way of adding to the herd and is cheaper in the long run.

than to depend on buying. Those who are just making a start must of course buy their foundation stock, and it is important that these be selected with care. A bunch of culls is not every good start in the building up of a dairy herd.

This Ohio report also shows that fall calves can be raised more cheaply than can spring calves. They should fit in well with dairying on the general farm, for there is always more time to devote to the cows and calves during the fall and winter months than during the busy season when the crops are demanding a great deal of labor.

Pure Milk For Butter-Making.

It is most essential to use only pure uncontaminated milk for the production of butter when the finished product is to be of prime quality. In a great many cases where butter has an objectionable flavor it is due to the milk employed being badly contaminated with undesirable bacteria. Cream is ripened by bacteria, and it is only when the right species of germs predominate in the cream that it will ripen properly. The germs which produce lactic acid, and thus ripen cream, have the power of overcoming other species of bacteria unless the cream is very badly contaminated, in which case the cream-ripening organisms could not perform their functions.

Why Milk Sours.

Bacteria cause the souring of milk. Bacteria usually get into milk in dirt and the bacteria develop fast when the milk is warm. To keep the bacteria out, keep dirt out of the milk. This means care in milking and care to have the milk utensils clean. Keeping the milk cool will retard the development of the bacteria, that do get into the milk. Cans or vessels that have had milk in them should be washed in cool water first, as hot water hardens the albumen of the milk and makes it hard to remove.—W. C. P., North Dakota Experiment Station.

Grain for the Skim-Milk Calf.

Calves are usually fed whole milk for two to three weeks, then gradually changed to skim-milk. About the time of changing, begin to feed a little grain, but do not think that it is necessary to use oil-milk or any other high-priced feed high in protein or fat, or both. Experience at the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station shows that a mixture of two parts corn and one part oats, by weight, gives as good results as oil-milk and ready-mixed calf-meals often purchased at much higher prices. Bran is not especially good for the young calf because it is too laxative. The grain mixture should be fed immediately after the milk, and neither should be fed too liberally, or scours may result.

JERUSALEM IN WAR TIMES.

Dumping Ground for Young Germans of High Family.

To Western minds the idea of the Holy City serving as a base for modern military operations must be full of incongruities. And, as a matter of fact, it was an amazing thing to see the streets packed with khaki clad soldiers and hear the brooding silence of ancient walls shattered by the crash of steel shod army boots. Here, for the first time, I saw the German officers—quantities of them, says Alexander Stronach in the Atlantic Monthly. Strangely out of place they looked, with their pink and whiteness that no amount of hot sunshine could quite burn off. They wore the regular German officer's uniform, except that the pickelhaube was replaced by a khaki sun helmet. I was struck by the youthfulness of them; many were nothing but boys, and there were weak, dissolute faces in plenty—a fact that was later explained when I heard that Palestine had been made the dumping ground for young men who were anxious to have them as far removed as possible from the danger zone. Fast's Hotel was the great meeting place in Jerusalem for these young boys.

Every evening thirty or forty would foregather there to drink and talk women and strategy. I well remember the evening when one of them a slender young Prussian with no back to his head, braided and monocled—rose and announced in the decisive tones that go with a certain stage of intoxication: "What we ought to do is to have over the organization of this campaign to Thomas Cook & Sons."

GREETING To the People of Bristol and Vicinity

During the past two or three years I have been piling stock into this store faster than it has been going out. Stocking up got to be a fad with me, and the time has come when I must forego the pleasure of buying and confine my energy to selling—selling at any price—so long as during the next 30 days I turn this big $40,000 stock into $20,000. And have left, of course, enough stock to do business on. But this is the plain fact—the stock I've prided myself in piling up must go. And out it goes at any old price that will leave me anything like a whole skin. Our shelves are creaking under the burden of too much weight in high-class goods—the very best grades the market could supply. Bought largely before the tremendous advance during the past few months. You can select from this stock at prices lower than if you were in a wholesale warehouse in St. John or Montreal. Let this fact in upon your understanding.

We do not quote any prices in this advertisement, but come along and state your wants. The jingle of your coin will make me reckless, and the price you name will in all probability take the goods.

It is cash I want this fall more than I want these goods, and there is a Big Bargain for you on every shelf in the store. Money speaks louder than words. Bring yours along and let it do the talking!

I thank you for your trade in the past, and am glad to extend this money-saving opportunity to you. Come and bring your cash and produce and supply your wants for months to come at practically your own prices.

Yours faithfully,

A. W. PHILLIPS

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel As If Walking On Air

ORILLIA, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.
"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air.' This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends."

Interesting Letter from Carleton Co. Soldier

Following is a letter received from Dispatch Rider H. P. Burpee of the 167th Siege Battery, C. E. F., written from Hastings, Eng., on Sept. 7:

I came up here Sept. 6 to spend my mobilization furlough. I intended going to Edinburgh with the Corporal, but even after the passes were all made out they stopped him and sent him with a party to Woolwich, for stores. They will go from there to Bristol by motor truck, so I had my pass changed to Hastings and am putting in a very lazy time of it.

I come down every morning shortly after 7 o'clock and have a swim, then I go back to the Cambridge Hotel and have breakfast, which is ready by 9.30; then I get a paper and some cigarettes get into a deck chair and proceed to be as lazy as possible. Even now I am in a chair on the promenade writing. I have my dinner at the Cambridge at 1.30 but I have my tea and supper all in one about 7 o'clock. You know the English eat four times a day, usually tea at 4.30 and supper about 9 o'clock.

The band plays on the pier nearly all day so I don't want for music.

I went into the "caves" yesterday with my landlord and family. I certainly wouldn't have missed it for anything. The caves were discovered 83 years ago by a gardener who was working on an estate and while digging a foundation for a summer house he discovered the entrance. The caves are natural for the most part but I suppose some of them were done by hand. They extend over three acres and are 140 ft. under the surface of the hill. The gardener, who found them was eleven years taking out the sand and making an air shaft, having only two men to help him. The sand he shipped to a firm of glass manufacturers in Scotland, and in this way he made his living.

They have reason to believe that the caves were used first in the seventh century and later by the Normans and last by a band of smugglers as a large quantity of old silk and barrels of wine were found. Six months after he finished his work the old gardener died. This is the story told by the guide who shows the party through.

I also visited the ruins of an old Roman castle high upon the cliffs. It too was interesting and one gets a fine panoramic view of the city and sea front.

There are plenty of summer resorts like this all along the coast, Worthing, Brighton, Eastbourne, Dungeness and Folkestone are all about a. I have been to all mentioned except Eastbourne.

I am leaving here Monday morning 6.30 train, for London and will leave there Tuesday morning for Bristol to join the battery again. I hear we are to sail from there about the 20th but don't know for sure.

There is a Canadian Hospital here, so I have talks with a lot of wounded Canadians. Some of them have very exciting yarns to tell.

The Allies are still pushing on and doing good work. All the wounded I talk to speak of the English and French supremacy of the air.

My landlord and family are very nice people and try to make me feel as if I were at my own home.

Will write again from London. Harlie.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleaning at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

New Brunswick's Claim to Better Forest Guarding

The remarkable success achieved during the past summer by the forest fire organizations in parts of Quebec and all of British Columbia gives promise of much improved forest conditions in New Brunswick when the authorities complete the forest service reorganization on which they are now working.

New Brunswick's forest lands cover over 18,000 square miles and from them the Government obtains an annual income of about $500,000. The production of lumber, shingles, lath and pulp wood in 1912 was nearly $7,500,000, not counting fire wood, fence posts, and other valuable derivatives of a timber supply. Neither does such an estimate take into account the contribution of the forests to New Brunswick's water powers, nor to the fertility of the farms. Protecting the forests is only another name for safeguarding the main sources of the province's prosperity. Merchants, manufacturers, workmen, farmers, are quite as much as bound up in maintenance of the tree-covered areas as the lumberman and the paper maker.

Sound systems of forest patrol, with modern equipment such as lookout towers, telephone lines, trails, etc., are vindicating all the claims made for them wherever such systems have been tried. The St. Maurice Forest Protective Association of Quebec, with 12,000 square miles to guard from constant fire dangers, came through the past three years with an amount of timber loss, hitherto regarded as impossible. This was a matter of thorough organization, not luck or rainy weather. Few forest experts doubt that New Brunswick can guarantee herself practical immunity from forest fires by adopting modern methods, as the Government now proposes.

Tired and Discouraged

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothery, Kings county, N. B. writes, "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt tired out, and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

Letter from Mrs. J. Wood

To the Women of New Brunswick: About three months ago Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught was informed that it was the desire of the women of Canada to present to her, on the occasion of her departure, some token of their deep appreciation of her active interest in all that concerns the welfare of this country. Her Royal Highness decided that she could not accept a personal gift under present circumstances.

It was then suggested to Her Royal Highness that in memory of her association with Canada a fund might be raised for some patriotic purpose connected with the war. Her Royal Highness thought it unwise to add to the numerous funds now being raised. The earnest wish of Canadian womanhood to commemorate her departure in some worthy manner having again been brought to the attention of Her Royal Highness she has consented to allow us to supplement her "Prisoners of War" Fund. It seems to us that this would be a most fitting farewell gift. We all know the generous way in which Her Royal Highness has identified herself with the affairs of the Canadian people and her deep and active interest in our well-being and the well-being of our men on active service, as well as those in need of the necessities of life in German prisons.

Will the women of New Brunswick kindly make an effort to give as generously as possible to this fund, as it not only means the comfort of our prisoners, but as well a parting gift to Her Royal Highness from our province.

Contributions must be sent in before the 12th of October addressed to Mrs. Josiah Wood, Government House, Sackville, N. B.
