Canadian Weekly Newspaper Party
Visit Famous Places, Meet Notable People and Enjoy Many Exclusive Privileges

(Canadian Printer and Publisher)

The party of Canadian weekly newspaper editors, which left Canada on June 11, by the S. S. Melita, visited Belgium and France and arrived in London via Dieppe and Newhaven on the evening of June 29. A few of their number fearing the effects of crossing the English Channel by water, took the aerial route and reported a very pleasant passage and experience.

In London the party were mostly quartered at Hotels Cecil and Russell but were kept so continuously occupied there was little time to enjoy the hotel comforts.

On the very first morning we were taken through Westminster Hall and the Houses of Parliament by Sir Harry Brittain and Sir William Bull. The latter, the greatest living authority of history of the buildings, gave very interesting information. We saw in the ancient Hall of Westminster the remains of the oak beams erected by William II., which have recently been replaced because of the ravages of a beetle. We saw the places where Earl Stafford and Warreh Hastings stood when being impeached. We saw where the bodies of W. E. Gladstone and King Edward VII had lain in state, and a great many more interesting and historical things. Big Ben struck the noon hour before we left for the Princes' Restaurant on Piccadilly.

Here, we were the guests at luncheon of Rt. Hon. Lord Riddell, who had invited also members of the Council of the Empire Press Union, many notable persons being present. Rupert Davies on this occasion made a very fitting reply to Lord Riddell's words of welcome.

The same afternoon, Kensington Palace was thrown open for a reception given us by a Society of Women Journalists, of which Miss M. F. Hillington and Mrs. Massey Lyon acted as hostesses. We were very highly honored for it is the first time the Palace has been used thus. Also, the Duke of Connaught, the Princess Louise, and Lady Patricia Ramsay did us the very great honor of receiving us and shaking our hands as friends.

Some of the party were invited that evening by the Lord Mayor of London to the Guildhall to the Reception and Ball of the season where all the ambassadors and visitors of note are received. Besides the old Hall, Art Gallery, and Council Chamber, the gay assemblage of people from all parts of the world was a sight never to be forgotten.

Next day, which was July 1, Dominion Day, the Canadian High Commissioner, Hon. P. C. Larkin, received us with many other Canadians at the Ritz Hotel. There was an almost incredible number of Canadians present. That evening at the Dominion Day dinner given in the Hotel Cecil, many of us had the privilege of listening to the Prince of Wales make one of his celebrated after-dinner speeches.

Another evening, the United Empire Circle of the Lyceum Club entertained us in their rooms. Lady MacLaren Brown addressed us, and a noted dancer gave an exhibition of interpretive dancing.

In the offices of the Daily Telegraph another evening, Viscount and Viscountess Burnham gave an unique reception, which was varied by a walk through the printing and press rooms of the paper, where the employees were all busy getting out the morning edition.

Still another evening Lord Beaverbrook gave a dinner for us at the Queen's Hall, having also invited many celebrated and distinguished people, among whom was the Rt. Hon. Lloyd-George, who delivered an address during the evening.

Sir Campbell Stuart had also planned to entertain us but the invitation of the King and Queen to attend a garden party at Buckingham Palace took precedence over it.

This occurred on Saturday afternoon, July 5, and will never be forgotten by any of the party. There were 10,000 on the palace grounds when the King and Queen appeared, but our party had the place of honor next to the royal guests. We were divided into groups according to our provinces, and Mr. Davies was asked to present the C. W. N. A. president and his wife and the directors with their wives. The King said he regretted that he had not time to shake hands with everybody, but he and the Queen conversed quite amiably with some, and everyone felt that their Majesties were both very graciously and kindly disposed.

The receptions and dinners were not the whole of our London entertainment. Every evening a party of 25 men were to visit the office of the London Times to observe their method of getting out an edition.

RECENT DEATHS

JOHN M. NEVERS

The death occurred Saturday, Sept. 20, at Upper Brighton, at the home of his brother-in-law, Scott Hallett, of John M. Nevers at the age of 44. He had been ill for a long time and was a great sufferer. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Scott H. Hallett. The funeral was held on Sunday at the Upper Brighton church, the funeral sermon being preached by Rev. H. V. Bragdon. The singing which was very appropriate was led by E. C. Morgan, Miss Pauline Rideout, organist. There were many beautiful flowers.

MRS. MARY SPRAGUE

A recent death was that of Mrs. Mary Sprague, widow of the late Samuel Sprague. She was 69 years of age and has been confined to her bed for six years, being a great sufferer. She leaves three daughters, one in the west and Mrs. Elizabeth Kearney and Miss Bernice of Carlingford, and one son, Samuel of Burnt Land Brook, with whom she lived; also one sister, Mrs. John Hutcheson of Ludlow, Me. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. V. Bragdon and was largely attended.

MADLINE E. PERKINS

A sad death occurred at Ludlow when Madeline, daughter of the late Marjorie Perkins passed away at the early age of 15 years. She leaves her mother and two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Webb of Ludlow and Mrs. Kelse Morrison of Oakfield, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Nixon. The funeral was held from the Ludlow church, Rev. H. V. Bragdon attending. Burial took place in the Houlton cemetery.

MRS. EBEN ELLIS

Mrs. Eben Ellis of Littleton died on September 2 of pneumonia at the age of 45 years, leaving seven children—four girls and three boys.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING TO BE FORMALLY OPENED FRIDAY

The formal opening of the new school building will take place in the assembly hall Friday evening, Sept. 26, as has been planned, the account of which was published in our last week's issue, at 7.30 o'clock.

Quite an elaborate program is being prepared and the event promises to be one of note.

The Town of Hartland will again have the pleasure of a visit from Lieut. Governor Todd who will declare the building open and will also present the County medal which was won by a Hartland pupil.

The town should attend in full force on this occasion.

SOME ACRES YIELD 200 BARRELS

Some local potato fields are yielding 200 barrels of potatoes per acre, while many have a yield of 150 barrels.

Aroostook will raise a bumper crop but conditions existing in the "outside" markets are having a marked effect in the low price paid the farmers.

Michigan is now rushing potatoes into New York market while New Jersey still has about one third of her crop in that state yet to ship.

If the farmer can wait, store and be patient, it does seem that the price will "come back."

Parson: "Have you ever thought seriously of marriage?" Parishoner: "Indeed I have—ever since the ceremony."

BATH SPORTSMEN HAVING GOOD LUCK

Other Newsy Items from this Busy Town

Many casualties have resulted during the past week, being chiefly due to a combined mixture of gun powder, lead and marksmanship, the most predominant factor, however, being "Old Dame Luck." Among the lucky ones were S. W. Tompkins of this town, who with his party journeyed to Juniper on Sept. 15, and who safely returned home in the evening bearing their trophy of the hunt—a fine deer.

Another instance occurred on Saturday last at Mapelhurst, about 8 miles from here. What was good luck for one, turned out to be "bad luck" for another. A sport, hailing from our sister-town of Centerville, was travelling along the road through Mapelhurst. His heart was heavy, and he wore a downcast air; for he thought that there was little hope of his crumpling, a nice juicy piece of venison in the morning. He ground his teeth as he sped on. Then, lo, a deer came galloping around the house and through the barn-yard. He gasped, raised his rifle, took deliberate aim and fired! He smiled; he was certainly lucky! In a few minutes, he was on his way, bearing with him a fine specimen of young deerhood. The "Tame Buck-Deer" raised from its infancy by Mr. James Broad of Mapelhurst.

Word has been received here that a number of sports from Pennsylvania are due here this week. From here they shall go into the "O'Dell Lake District," which year by year is becoming better known to American sportsmen, as being an ideal rendezvous wherein are to be found the monarchs of the forest, and the exclusive deer, while now and again a bear-hunt can be arranged for the sake of added excitement.

The Misses M. A. and K. E. Bohan, returned home on Tuesday last, after a very enjoyable two months' trip, spent in Montreal, Kingston, Ottawa, Toronto, New York and Boston and other different American and Canadian cities. In Kingston, they were the guests of their brother, Mr. M. Bohan and Mrs. Bohan and while in Toronto, attended the Canadian National Exhibition.

Miss Gertrude Connors, left on Tuesday for Fredericton, in order to receive her pass-ports from the American Consul. Miss Connors intends shortly to enter the Medigan Training School for nurses, at Houlton, Me.

John Connors returned from Pleasant Rock on Monday and shall spend a few days at his home here, before returning. Mr. Connors is employed with the New Brunswick Telephone Company and will make Pleasant Rock his headquarters for the next couple of months.

G. D. Larlee and F. M. Giberson spent the weekend at the Miramichi.

Miss M. A. Hebert of the staff of Bohan & Co., left on Saturday on her vacation, which she will spend at her home in Madawaska, Me.

C. H. Harrington, returned to Woodstock on Sunday.

P. P. Brennan, Thos. McGovern and Mr. Hennessy all of St. John, arrived in town Sunday, on route to the big game country, back of Johnville, where they intend to spend a week or more.

Miss Ella Giberson, Lowell, Mass., arrived in town last week to visit her parents, Rev. G. A. and Mrs. Giberson.

The prevailing price being paid for potatoes is 75c a barrel and they are being hauled into market as fast as the produce merchants require them, even though this price is barely sufficient to cover the cost of production. On account, however, of the large acreage and a high yield, averaging in most instances 100 barrels or better to the acre, the farmers are being forced to sell their surplus stock at this price, due in many cases to lack of ample room for storage purposes.

A DRAWBACK TO FLORIDA

Moirs Limited, Halifax,

Dear Sirs: Florida has a beautiful climate, but I certainly miss Moir's Chocolates. There's nothing here to compare with them. Some day I hope to be able to buy your chocolates in this country.—(Miss) Marguerite Noller, 1305

Horton St., Bradenton, Florida. July 20th, 1924.

Some day we may expect to see people inquiring if Moir's Chocolates are on sale in the district before they decide to settle there.

The new Marshmallows are great, pink, white, toasted and moss.

taken for an all day inspection of the Lower Thames and docks at the invitation of the Port of London Authority, while the ladies were permitted to shop in the afternoon, and were taken about warehouses and docks in the afternoon only. The Docks are far more interesting than might be supposed, passing over acres of floors, covered with packages of rubber, or boxes of ostrich feathers, or rows of ivory tusks, or piles of rich carpets, or tables of curios—for London is a free port for the world.

On several days, excursions were arranged to points outside of the city. One day we went by train to Weymouth, away down on the south coast of England, to visit the Fleet, at the invitation of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty. We found Weymouth a very beautiful town with a very enterprising mayor and corporation. A civic reception was given when H. Hale, of the Orillia Packet, represented the party in speech, and then the Admiralty took charge, providing a tender which took us out beyond the harboring among all the various ships of the fleet. Submarines submerged while we looked on and came forth again from the deep. Battleships, cruisers and destroyers all had their uses explained to us. Unfortunately the sea was so rough that we could not board the Queen Elizabeth where afternoon tea had been prepared for us by the men.

Another day we were taken, as the guests of Valentine Knapp, up the River Thames by launch from Richmond to Hampton Court Gardens. This was a real treat. After a view of the palace and gardens, we were driven to the country house of Col. Grant Morison, M.P., a most beautiful spot, where we were given luncheon in a spacious marquee with such distinguished company as the Earl and Countess of Birkenhead, Sir Hamar and Lady Greenwood, T. P. O'Connor and others, and listened to them speak.

From there we had a delightful drive to Hall Barn, Beaconsfield, the residence of Viscount Burnham, a place famous for its wonderful lawn, new lodge, and walks. On this occasion we had the unique experience of being waited upon at afternoon tea by lords and ladies only, Viscount and Viscountess Burnham, Sir Harry and Lady Brittain, Sir Frank and Lady Newnes and others. No more kind and thoughtful people can be found in all the world.

Still another day we were driven out to the aerodrome at Henley, where the air ministry had arranged a regular program of stunts to show us, not the least of which was a chance for anyone who wished, to take a flight into the air. Many availed themselves of the opportunity and enjoyed the experience very much.

From there we drove to Hever Castle for luncheon, the guests of Major and Lady Violet Astor, a daughter of the Earl of Minto. This castle was the residence of Anne Boleyn and all its historical associations have been preserved, as well as its wonderful gardens and walks.

Of course we went to Wembley—one day being all the time we could spare for it. We found the Canadian Exhibit quite equal to what had been said of it by our English friends—"the best thing at the Exhibition."

Whenever we could find an hour or so besides, we visited such places as Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, the National and Tate Art Galleries, Madame Tussaud's, the Tower of London and the British Museum. But the visits were of a flying nature, and we felt that the time spent in London, the most wonderful city in the world, was all too short.

On the 9th of July, we said good-bye to London and started on our tour of rural England, making first for Shakespeare's county, with Leamington as headquarters. This town is a spa or health resort on account of the medicinal properties of the water. We visited its pump rooms and baths and walked through the beautiful Jephson gardens, and were dined by the Staff, Bath Abbey, Chester Cathedral and the Society. From the town we drove out to Warwick and Kenilworth Castles, the latter a ruin, over which we were shown, and spent some hours in Stratford-on-Avon, visiting scenes of Shakespeare's life, and having lunch even there as guests of the corporation, a very exceptional honor. As Stratford-on-Avon is also the birthplace of Hugh Savage, of Duncan, B. C., a director of the C. W. N. A., he represented the party in replying to words of welcome there.

Next, we went south to Torquay, on the coast of Devonshire, a spot of exquisite beauty, bright with sunlight on a quiet sea, and gay with flowers. A civic reception was tendered us and we were guests of the corporation on a day's trip along the coast through Paignton and Brixham to Kingsweir across from Dartmouth on the River Dart and from there by launch up the Dart River to Totnes, from which we came back again by chaise-a-banc to Tourquay. It was a most refreshing and delightful day.

After that, and the drive from there to Exeter across the moors and Tors of Devonshire, no one needed to ask, "Is England beautiful?" The scenes will be treasured in memory for years to come. In Exeter we were welcomed by the mayor and town clerk in the ancient Guildhall, and shown many of their historical treasures. Sir Jas. Owen, also did what he could to make our stay pleasant. At the luncheon at noon, two of our party, Messrs. Creech and Southcott, whose ancestors came from Exeter in Devon to settle in Exeter, Ontario, replied to the words of welcome. We had not time to linger long in the wonderful old cathedral with its marvelous ceiling, supported on flying stone buttresses, but had to go on to Bath, our next point of interest.

It was a Sunday we spent in Bath whose history runs back to B.C. and the Roman times. In the afternoon we visited the baths to see along with the modern, the old pools and rooms of the Romans, recently excavated. In Chester and York, too, which we visited later, we were shown remains of Roman civilization in the walls and roads. We also saw the interiors of Bath Abbey, Chester Cathedral and York Minster, and tried to retain the picture of their lofty beauty.

In Wales, we had time to stop only at Cardiff and Swansea. The former has wonderful public buildings and an ancient castle over which we were shown. It has also great docks and shipping facilities to which the men were taken, while the ladies were given a drive out through the picturesque country to Llandaff and back. Dinner was given us in the evening by the Wales newspaper men, and Malcolm Macdonald of the Milverton Sun, thanked the hosts for their reception. At Swansea, which is almost entirely an industrial place, we were warmly greeted by everyone. Mr. Henry Mond, M.P., being one of our hosts. We viewed the harbor from a launch, and the men viewed various works, while the ladies drove out to Langland Bay, and we were all dined publicly again in the evening and listened to a rare treat of music from a Welsh choir.

At a luncheon in Chester, which is the nearest city to that part of Wales where the organizer of the party, Rupert Davies, was born, a presentation was made to him and to E. Roy Sayles, manager of the Association, who assisted him in making the arrangements. The presentation was tendered by the members of the party, who wished thus to express their appreciation of the efforts these two men had expended in making the tour a success.

From Chester, a quaint old city with its old Rows and Walls, we went to Liverpool, Manchester and Stockport in each of which places some time was spent. An interesting excursion was given us from Liverpool to Port Sunlight, the model town containing the soap factories and pretty cottages for employees, all the product of Lord Lever's genius. Here we found the Lady Lever Art Gallery an unexpected delight.

The ladies were given a very interesting drive out from Manchester while the men visited Hat Works, etc., spending an hour at Bramhall Hall, having lunch at Buxton and going over Chatsworth House and gardens, a summer residence of the Duke of Devonshire. The country was found to be very picturesque with long deep valleys, winding roads and far-away hills.

Another Sunday was spent in Harrogate which is perhaps the most well-known Spa of England. During the afternoon, we were driven out to see Fountains Abbey. Dr. Moody, C.B.E., was our guide and explained very clearly what the original abbey must have been like. We could imagine plainly the ruins restored to their ancient form peopled by monks and lay brothers. We went on to Ripon for afternoon tea spending there a most enjoyable hour in the Guildhall and the original Wakeman's house. The mayor showed us the original wakeman's horn given to the city by Alfred the Great to be blown at nine o'clock every evening, and many other interesting relics. The present wakeman blew the horn now in use to show how it is done.

After visiting Harrogate and York, the party left England for Edinburgh, Scotland. Here only one day was allotted but the time was used to the best advantage. With very competent guides we were driven over the city down the world-famed Princess Street, across to the Cowgate, visiting the Law Courts where we saw what had formerly been the Scottish Houses of Parliament, and, in the basement many interesting historical documents; wandering around Edinburgh Castle with which so much romantic history is connected; pausing to look into St. Giles Cathedral, where Jenny Geddes made herself famous by throwing her stool at the minister's head, and to examine the beauties of the Thistle Chapel; passing over the grave of John Knox; going up a "close" to see the old churchyard, memorable on account of the Covenanters; poking into other "closes" to see how the people live while the guide told what celebrated people once dwelt in the same houses; and, finally, visiting Holy Rood Palace made forever interesting by Mary Queen of Scots, Darnley and Rizzio.

At noon a luncheon was given us by the newspapers of the district to which were also invited a party of American Advertisers. These had a professional speaker to represent them but we felt quite satisfied with Wm. MacDonald of the Chesley Enterprise in the way he replied to the welcoming words. A civic reception was also given in the evening by the Lord Provost and Council.

From Edinburgh we went on to Glasgow where we were also driven about the city, and lunched at St. Enoch Station Hotel by the directors of the Glasgow Herald, a civic reception being given us in the evening. On both these occasions Cameron McIntosh of North Battleford, Saskatchewan, ably represented our party.

We took two interesting trips from Glasgow—one day to Ayr visiting the scenes of Burns' life and activities, another day through the Trossachs gazing upon the scenes immortalized in Scott's Lady of the Lake. We found Loch Katrine and Loch Lomond with their surrounding mountains very alluring.

As our steamer the Montclair sailed down the Clyde, the sunset flooded all the Scottish hills with a misty rose and the skies wept for our departure.

Next day we awoke outside Belfast, in Ireland. The Canadian Pacific officials very kindly made arrangements for us to spend the day in that city, and many of us were delighted not to miss setting foot on the good "old sod." We were carried on a tender from the Maitland to Donegal Quay where chaise-a-banc met us and took us to the city hall where a civic reception was tendered. Sir Robert Baird then took charge and we were driven over the city returning to have luncheon in a restaurant. Here H. P. Moore, of the Acton Free Press, replied to the address of welcome. The Duke and Duchess of York, who had been paying Ireland a visit, were leaving for home the same day, so the opportunity of seeing them as they passed through the streets was afforded us, after which we had to leave the city ourselves. The mayor and mayoress came down to the Quay to bid us farewell in real Irish fashion.

Once more aboard the steamer, everyone expressed satisfaction with the whole tour, and all were quite contented to look forward to a restful voyage home. It was indeed a restful voyage. Without mishap of any kind and with almost perfect weather, the ship docked in Quebec two days ahead of time.

JEWELS CAUSE WORRY.

Best Precautions to Guard Against Thieves.

The possession of rare and precious jewels is a source of great worry to many people. It is so easy to lose them.

Jewel thieves are such well-dressed rogues that they almost look like gentlemen, and it is difficult for the unwary to anticipate that the man who is making himself such an agreeable companion is actually planning a raid on a well-filled jewel-case.

If only jewel thieves were compelled to wear some distinctive mark of their profession—say, a broad arrow on the forehead—it would relieve the anxiety of all lovers of priceless gems.

I was once asked by a woman, says a writer in an English paper, what were the best precautions to take to guard against jewel thieves. I replied that if I had £50,000 worth of jewels no thief would ever steal them. I should just sell them.

That is the sort of answer a man would give, but it does not help a woman very much. As a matter of fact one can only give the general advice that common sense and reasonable care should be exercised.

A very famous jewel thief named Nicholson used to say that so many temptations were placed in his way that he could not resist them. He never blamed himself but always the women who were so careless with their valuables.

He appeared in the dock for the last time at Middlesex Sessions, London, some years ago, when the late Sir Ralph Lifford sentenced him to ten years' penal servitude.

"My lord," he pleaded, "I am an old man and I'm afraid I shan't live to serve that sentence."

"How old are you?" asked the judge.

"Turned seventy, my lord," was the reply.

"I suppose you are right," said the judge. "Well, look here, Nicholson, do as much of it as you can!"

He did his best and died six years later in Parkhurst Prison.

Iris From Heaven.

Some flowers get their name from beautiful old legends.

Narcissus was a beautiful youth beloved by the nymph Echo. But as he was incapable of love Echo died from grief. In order to punish him, the goddess Nemesis caused him to see his image reflected in a fountain. Narcissus fell in love with his own shadow and slowly pined away until he was changed into the form of the flower.

The hyacinth sprang from the blood of another handsome youth, Hyacinthus, the son of a Sparta king. While he was playing at quoits the god Zephyrus, in a fit of jealousy, caused a quail to strike his head, killing him instantly.

Iris means "a rainbow." And because the rainbow was supposed to unite heaven and earth the ancient Greeks regarded Iris as the messenger of the gods.

Snowdrops, bluebells, and honeysuckle are names that explain themselves. The daisy is the "day eye," but the foxglove is really the "fairy glove."

The origin of tulip is in the Turkish form of "turban," a name prompted by the resemblance between the flower and the headdress. Thyme is derived from a Greek word meaning "incense."

The Marriage Portion.

That brilliantly witty playwright and novelist, Mr. Israel Zangwill, is telling a new story about a "Shadchan" (marriage-broker).

He called on a prospective client. Taking some photographs from his pocket he said: "I have some nice eligible girls waiting for husbands. Now this one"—showing the photograph—"is rather pretty. Her marriage portion is $250. This one here—she is a little plain. Her dowry is $500. This third one—maybe she is a little ugly, but she brings $1,000 for a husband."

"I've got one, too, who brings with her $5,000, but I ain't got her photograph."

"No matter," retorted the client. "I can well imagine it."

Poor Little Babies.

Java has a population of 28,000,000. It would be impossible for that enormously fertile island to accommodate such a population if it increased normally. It is kept within limits only by the fact that 50 per cent. of the babies die before they are five years old. Bubonic plague kills them and people take few precautions to check it. Polygamy still flourishes there. The Sultan's son, the Crown Prince of Solo, who is an educated man and speaks English and a number of European languages, has two wives, and his father, the Sultan, has many more.

Luck at Cards.

Many card players are particular about the cut of the cards. They must be divided and put back with the most meticulous care. A slovenly cut brings good luck to the dealer and bad luck to the cutter. Some imagine that special tables or positions at the tables are lucky to them, and refuse to play unless they can get the places they desire. Others conceive that certain members are unlucky to them, and nothing will induce them to play with them. To drop a card on the floor when playing is generally regarded as a bad omen.

Motorcars a Terror in China.

The motorcars of Chinese officials are formidable terrors. With fur-capped servants standing on the running boards, they go full speed through the long streets, heedless of life or property, and with no thought for traffic laws. The khaki-clad police hold out their arms in warning, and everybody dashes to the curb as the cars speed by with shrieking sirens.

VERSES

"Gipsy" Hawkins heard today And lots of good things he did say; He said if we would put "God first," With doctor bills we'd not be cursed."

With that I surely do agree; God will from sin and sickness free. If "least commandments" keep each day, He'll sin and sickness "take away."

Said we must keep our "garments white,"

If in God's law we'd take delight; Bad literature must put away, If keep our garments white each day."

The churches pay a mighty pile For literature that's foolish, vile; Our literature should all be pure; Should clearly set forth the sin cure.

He did condemn card parties sure, Said gambling does not make pure; Our bodies, God will live within, If we thru Christ will free from sin.

There were no amens from the crowd; Just one man said "Amen," out loud; When "Amen Corner" froze up tight, A church is in a sorry plight.

We all must make full consecration If each day walk in God's salvation; Must walk in God's most holy light If keep our garments ever white.

My garments now are white as snow, Christ's flowing blood doth make them so; If keep them white must God obey; Must write, pray, shout, sing, preach, or pay.

I pray God all the Gipsy's bless, May they all turn to righteousness, May blessing all mankind attend, Bless Gipsy, his wife, singer friend.

Now I might a whole lot more write, About the Way, the Truth, the Light; To get this print small stake will cost.

FIERCE MOTOR DRIVING

The ultra recklessness of ordinary automobile drivers is one of the greatest dangers to life and limb. And there seems no way to meet it. The driver himself or herself, is too selfish to consider the danger of others and the law, as in many other matters, is passive.

The sad accident in Newfoundland whereby some eight persons were killed outright, some of them officers in H. M. S. Constance and one a former Woodstock boy of promise, though happening far away, comes home to us. It is only one of many. Scarcely a Sunday passes that we do not read of an accident on the road between Hartland and St. John. Almost all the accidents are due to gross negligence and carelessness, and the careful driver has little protection.

In the Newfoundland case there has been an arrest on the charge of murder. Murder indeed, it can scarcely be, but manslaughter, a lesser charge, should be pressed in such cases.

A loaded pistol in the hands of a maniac is no more dangerous than a car wheel in the hands of a fool speeder.

How to Purify the Blood

"Fifteen to thirty drops of Extract of Root, commonly called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, may be taken in water with meals and at bedtime, for indigestion, constipation and bad blood. Persistence in this treatment will give permanent relief in nearly every case." Get the genuine, at druggists.

The Welcome Sign

"Nobody asked you, sir," said the coy maiden. And in matters of buying, as well as in affairs of the heart, most people like to be "asked." Often indeed, they insist on a proper invitation.

He is a wise merchant who keeps the welcome sign constantly before the community in the form of ADVERTISEMENTS in the home paper. There everybody sees it—for ADVERTISING is "the light of directed attention."

Speak up. Light up. Hundreds of good customers are listening for your message and watching for your welcome sign in "The Observer."

"PEOPLE SHOP WHERE THEY FEEL WELCOME"

Issued by Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association
Head Office: Toronto, Canada

Diamond Battery Company of Canada, Limited

ST. JOHN

Manufactures of Automobile and Radio Batteries, Also Flashlight, Doorbell, Buzzers and Other Batteries

Every motor car you pass on the road is earning big dividends for someone—in many cases fabulous dividends.

Some years ago a certain man of vision—but of modest means—borrowed $300 from his friends and put it into the Prest-O-Lite Company AT ITS BEGINNING. Since then he has received enormous dividends, has added to his original investment, and—so the story goes—recently refused $1,800,000 for his holdings.

The following table shows some of the wonderful things that have been accomplished in the Automobile business with an investment of even one hundred dollars:

Invested	Enterprise	Returns
$100	Ford Motor	$312,000
100	Prestolite	56,000
100	Reo	38,000
100	Chevrolet	26,000
100	Goodyear Tire	25,000
100	Delco	21,000

This new business offers a remarkable investment opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield M. Rideout and little son Eugene motored from Bangor, Me., on Friday and spent the week-end with their parents and friends here.

H. Harvey Palmer attended the Fredericton exhibition one day last week being taken by A. R. Sippelle in his car. Mrs. A. R. Sippelle accompanied them.

On Wednesday, Sept. 17, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. N. Mallory, Middle Simonds, the marriage took place of Miss Mary D. Albright and Ivan E. Hovey.

The Grand Jury brought in a true bill in the case of three Hartland boys charged with theft from the store of Keith & Plummer of that place. F. C. Squires appeared for the prisoners. In this case a nolle prosequi was entered by Counsel for the Crown and the case was withdrawn.

Miss C. McDonald, representing E. W. Gillette & Co., will be at Keith and Plummer's store for one week, Sept. 23 to 30, demonstrating Magic Baking Powder. The ladies are cordially invited to call and take advantage of this demonstration which includes talks on the use of the powder and samples of cakes, etc., cooked with it. 15-1c.

Two of the most popular boy and girl sweethearts on the screen—Pat O'Malley and Marjorie Daw—were reunited after a long two years separation in "Wandering Daughters," a First National picture showing at the Neighborhood Theatre Saturday. No less than five of Marshall Neilan's most successful productions including "Bob Hampton of Placer," "Dinty" and "The River's End" found this well-matched screen pair in roles that won them riches in the hall of picture fame.

Rigby's for hand potato diggers.

F. E. Sayre of St. John was in Hartland this week.

Miss Clara Hagerman visited Florenceville one day last week.

Mrs. Jean Grant of Patten, Me., made a short visit here on Sunday.

Mrs. C. E. Allen left on Thursday for Fredericton to spend part of her vacation.

THE PRODIGAL SON IN STORY AND SONG

Rally Day Programme

Sunday will be an extra special day at the Hartland Baptist church. The attention of the public is called to two special features for that day. Besides the morning service at 11 a.m. at which the pastor will preach on the subject: "The Church Then and Now," there will be a "Rally Day Program" given by the Bible School at 2.30. This will be entirely different from any such service previously held, and one of inspiration and instruction to everyone. A silver offering will be taken.

In the evening at 7.30 there will be a story and song service. The pastor will recite the wonderful story of the "Prodigal Son" and the choir will illustrate the various features of the parable with gospel music in the form of solos, duets, quartettes and choruses. The very mention of that wonderful parable immediately excites the deepest interest on the part of all who admire great truth and pure literature.

PRINCE WILL STAY MONTH ON RANCH

New York, Sept. 19—Captain Lascelles, secretary to the Prince of Wales, took occasion today to deny rumors that the Prince contemplated cutting short his Canadian trip to sail for England on Oct. 6. The Prince will stay on his Canadian ranch a month, the secretary said.

NURSES OF N. B. WILL ADVANCE THEIR RATES

A slight advance in nursing rates was decided on at the convention of New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses held last week in St. John. The rate for general nursing henceforth in the province will be $4 a day instead of the former charge of $25 a week. The new schedule of rates for private nursing is being drawn up by a committee of the private nursing section and will be announced soon. It was decided to publish the scale of rates for the province owing to the fact that many nurses from United States were coming to the province and charging $35 a week, after working on the same case with a N. B. nurse who was getting $25 for the same work. The nurses feel, if widespread publicity is given that the public will realize that N. B. nurses can be secured for $25 and this will put a stop to employing of U. S. nurses.

HOLMESVILLE

Almost all the farmers are done harvesting and some have started digging.

Francis Doherty met with quite a loss last week. Some stray dogs got in amongst his sheep and killed 12 and hurt some more.

Miss Rosamond Watson and Harold, her brother, returned from Boston last week and are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson.

Archie Clark who has been on the sick list is recovering. Mr. Clark has been a very busy man being a blacksmith and very accommodating.

Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Alonzo Giberson spent Sunday, the 14th, at Jerry Imman's, Kilburn.

Mrs. Jerry Imman, who has been sick, is improving. Florence Giberson is staying with her.

Mrs. Andrew Ruff of Rumford is visiting her friends at Mineral, her former home.

Abe Ruff and family are visiting at Elden Ruffs.

Glazier and Ralph Giberson with the aid of two hired men hauled in 15 loads of grain Saturday afternoon.

Burney McDougall is suffering from cancer in his lip.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Giberson were calling at Glazier Giberson's Sunday evening.

Mrs. Alonzo Giberson took tea at Harry Williams Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fozzo Hathway of Aroostook Jet, were calling on friends Sunday.

Charles Giberson is having his buildings repaired. Tom Foster is doing the work.

HOUSE PARTY

On Tuesday evening Mrs. L. E. McFarland gave a house party in honor of her grand-daughter's fifteenth birthday, Mildred E. Dickinson. Those present were, Mabel Rideout, Edith Hayden, Helen Dunbrum, Laurel Nevors, Mabel Nevors, Helen Rideout, Marguerite Orser, Mona Lipsett, Annie Kidney, Margaret Stevens, Clarissa Kelly, Inez Currie, Winnie Shaw, Leymore Crabb, George Hatfield, Paul Kyle, Creighton Baker, David Morgan, Hazen Hayward, Frank Albright and Ronald Dickinson.

After a pleasant evening of games and music, dainty refreshments were served. Before leaving for home these young people presented their young hostess with a fine 2A Brownie Camera. This was a total surprise and Mildred most heartily thanked her young friends for their very acceptable gift.

"Don't you think this is a perfect duck of a hat?"

"Personally, I prefer a duck with a smaller bill."

He—You are the sunshine of my life. Your smile falls like lightning into my soul. With you by my side I would defy all the storms of life!

She—Is this a proposal or a weather report?

Wife (calmly): We don't. The only reason we get it is because we always have a dozen arguments left when you stupid men are all run out.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

Little Boy (to mother): "Mum, do you trust me?" Mother: "Yes." Boy: "Are you sure?" Mother: "Yes." Boy: "Then why did you hide the jam away from me?"

The harassed candidate was addressing an agrarian audience when a large turnip hurtled through the air and narrowly missed him.

"Send for the ambulance," he remarked, easily. "Some unfortunate member of the audience appears to have lost his head."

Bridget—"Oh say, Pat, why do they have so many young grooms-men and bridesmaids at the fashionable weddings in high life, Oh want to know?"

Pat (astonished): "Yez don't know that, Bridget Muldoon? Shure, it is so that if the groom don't turn up, there'll be somebody for the bride to be married to anyhow."

A lusty-junged auctioneer was holding forth in the market-place of a small town. Taking up a box of cigars, he shouted: "You can't get better, gentlemen. I don't care where you go, you can't get better."

"No," replied a cynical voice from the crowd, "you can't. I smoked one last week, and I'm not better yet."

"Herbert," said a school teacher, turning to a bright youngster, "can you tell me what lightning is?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the ready reply of the boy. "Lightning is streaks of electricity."

"Well, that may pass," said the teacher encouragingly. "Now, tell me why it is that lightning never strikes twice in the same place?"

"Because," answered Herbert, "after it hits once the same place ain't there any more!"

Th occupants of a smoking-carriage of the Scottish express were doing their best to keep warm, when a breathless figure appeared in the doorway.

"I say," he gasped, "has anyone got any brandy? A lady's just fainted at the other end of the train."

Several flasks were produced willingly.

"Thanks awfully," said the intruder, seizing the largest and drinking it at a gulp. "It always makes me feel queer to see a lady faint."

American (to Englishman)—"At home we grow parsnips so big that we have to pull them up with a steam crane!"

Englishman—"That's nothing. We once grew some carrots so high that we couldn't see the tops, and one day

Uncle Joey kept a shoe store in the cotton belt, and had working for him a dusky youth who went by the name of "String Bean." String Bean was trying to sell a pair of shoes to a colored mammy of generous proportions. There being considerable argument, Uncle Joey called his assistant to the rear of the store and asked what the fuss was all about.

"Oh, nuthin," explained String Bean. "Dat goman jest trying to put a million of feet into a pint of shoes."

At a dinner a well-known comedian had finished his speech and as he sat down a lawyer arose, thrust his hands into his trousers pockets and inquired: "Doesn't it strike this company as a little unusual that a professional comedian should be funny?"

When the laughter had subsided the comedian drawled out: "Doesn't it strike this company as a little unusual that a lawyer should have his hands in his own pockets?"

A traveller in Galway once hired a "chaise" to take him a few miles into the country, and had no place to go far when it pulled up at the foot of a steep hill. The driver appeared at the door.

"What are you at, man?" said the traveller. "This isn't where I ordered you to stop."

"Whist, yer honor waist!" ejaculated Paddy. "I'm only leavin' the beast. If I bang the door he'll think you're out and'll cut up the hill like everything."

Judge—"Have you anything further to say?"

Prisoner—"I should like to ask that the time occupied by counsel's speech for the defence be deducted from my term of imprisonment."

CANADA'S HARVEST OF AMERICANS

Half a billion dollars is being spent every year on foreign travel by Americans, we are told, and that sum is increasing with great rapidity. About one-fifth of this amount is supposed to be spent in Canada, which, some Canadian editors note, has the privilege of lying adjacent to the most densely populated portions of the United States and possesses "certain notable attractions for the inhabitants thereof." The figures cited are issued by the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, remarks the Kingston British Whig, which goes on to say that the spendings of summer tourists are credited with a large share in the work of raising the Canadian dollar so near to par as it has recently come. Owing to the comparatively small size of Canada's population, says this daily and the fact that some of the attractions found in Canada are lacking in the United States, the amount spent in return by Canadians visiting below the line is and must remain comparatively negligible. Yet this journal admits smilingly that the United States has its own peculiar attractions, and adds:

"Every consideration seems tending to assure Canada of a continuance of its population of at least a fifth of the money spent in travel by the ever more wealthy and inquisitive American people. Europe will get more and more American tourists, but only those who can afford the sacrifice of ten or twenty days in ocean travel, and who are not deterred by the obstacles of foreign languages and every foreign custom. In Great Britain and perhaps also in Ireland, the increase will be more rapid than in continental Europe."

But Canada, it is noted, is the one country into which the American, from any point in one-half the populated area of his country, can drive peacefully in his own motor-car within twenty-four hours of leaving home, and never know that he has crossed a border except for the recording the numbers on his tires and the number and sex of his companions. We read then:

"He may well have more trouble getting back into his own country, if so be that he does carry his Americanism on his face! He can go on driving on the same side of the road. He can go on using his own money (if he dies not get too far from the border), and when he has spent it all he can telephone home for more. He can go on buying his own newspapers and magazines, and listening to his own records on his own phonographs. He can drink his own coffee, and in parts, also, other drinks that were his own once but are so no longer. And this individual who is irresistibly impelled by all these considerations to come and travel in our midst is the greatest tourist that the world has ever known, and with every succeeding year he has more money and more time and more cars and more inquisitiveness and a keener desire for the great wide spaces with which Canada is so plentifully supplied. "What would not Switzerland give to have at its doors, not the impoverished people of France and Germany and Austria, but these lords of the wealth of the world."

But it is questioned in some quarters whether Europe needs to worry greatly lest American tourists turn their faces and pocket-books away, despite the great number of them that find it easier to visit Canada.—Aros-took Pioneer.

NEW HANDBOOK ON THE MARITIMES

Much Information Contained in Publications of National Resources Intelligence Service

When the Scottish editors visited the Maritime Provinces recently they remarked on the lack of knowledge in Scotland of this portion of Canada. This same condition exists elsewhere, unfortunately. To overcome as far as possible this discrepancy the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of Interior at Ottawa has issued two handbooks, one on New Brunswick and the other on Nova Scotia. These reports contain a large amount of information that should be known about these provinces by their own people. It is suggested that those interested should send to the Director of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service for copies, and that they advise those whom they would like to know more about their home provinces to do the same.

The poor fellow had not paid his rent.

"Look here," said the landlord, "I'll meet you halfway. I'll forget half of what you owe me."

"Right you are," said the lodger. "I'll meet you. I'll forget the other half."

ANDOVER NOTES

Herman Turner is receiving a warm welcome from many old friends. He is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Turner, for two or three weeks. While at Detroit they met Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Earle, formerly of Edmundston, also Miss Margaret Moss, who was formerly employed by Fraser Companies, Edmundston.

A woman went to buy some cigars for her husband, who was laid up. "Do you want them mild or strong, madam?" asked the tobacconist.

"Give me the strongest you have," she said. "The last ones he had broke in his pocket."

Missess—"Who broke that china jug?"

Maid—"The cat, mum."

Missess—"What cat?"

Maid—"Why, ain't we got one?"

I 'ah me fortune told the other day, and the woman said I'm going to 'ave a fatal aksident. "But you needn't worry, dearie," she says, "it won't be till the end of your life."

Keep Motor Cool Depend on Fundy

Pure Gasoline—and there is just one on this market—means a cooler motor every time when used right.

It stands to reason if your mixture is neither too rich nor too lean that a Gasoline free from kerosene is the gasoline that burns clean.

If kerosene is part of its make-up it fails to burn in one flash—what's left gets down into the oil and cuts that oil up. Spoiled oil means an overheated engine.

Enough is said to show that Fundy Gas—the only pure kind—runs a cooler motor and lasts out oil.

Cut down the carburetor and get along on less of this richer gas. Have her spit a bit in starting but no longer. Cut your costs—stick to pure gasoline and take it straight.

NEW TWENTY-YEAR BONDS

The announcement that the Dominion Government has arranged to issue $50,000,000 of new twenty-year bonds, payable in Canada, will be welcomed by investors as a whole. One of the outstanding features in connection with the bond market during the last few weeks has been a shortage of the higher grade of bonds, and with $107,500,000 of Victory Bonds maturing on November 1st, some questions have arisen in the minds of many investors as to the channel in which their funds would find investment.

Bonds are now being offered by a strong financial syndicate consisting of A. E. Ames & Co., Wood, Gundy & Co., Dominion Securities Corporation, Limited, National City Company, Limited, Bank of Montreal, The Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The new issue of bonds payable in Canada amounts to only $50,000,000 as compared with $107,500,000 of maturing bonds, and while it will not be possible for all present holders of bonds maturing on November 1st next, to participate in the new issue, many will undoubtedly find this an ideal opportunity for reinvestment. New buyers, of course, will have an opportunity of participating in this loan, inasmuch as the offering terms indicate that this is not a renewal loan, but that in order to grant a special concession to those who now own maturing bonds, such bonds will be accepted at face value on or before October 15th, the purchaser having first deducted the interest coupon due November 1st. In other words, the purchaser buying bonds receives practically double interest for a period of over two weeks.

Those in close touch with the financial situation anticipate that the new offering will be quickly oversubscribed. At this time last year, an issue four times the size of the one now offered was more than subscribed in the course of a week and investment bankers generally are urging haste on the part of those who desire to participate. The Government's official announcement indicates that the present loan completes all refunding operations that are necessary for some time to come. It is pointed out that the indebtedness of the Government will be reduced by about $22,000,000, and as a substantial amount of new money has been obtained in the United States, the supply of Canadian bonds in Canada has been reduced by a very large amount.

It is felt that the distribution of the new loan between Canada and United States should prove satisfactory to all schools of thought in Canada. Certain interests have felt that it would be better to bring a large volume of new money into Canada. Others have felt that present holders of Victory Bonds should be given an opportunity to renew their loans to the Dominion Government. The result of this operation is that a large amount of new money will be brought in, but those investors who wish to extend the term of their investment may do so provided they act before oversubscription is announced.

EAST BRIGHTON

A good number of this place attended the Woodstock exhibition this year. Mr. and Mrs. Judson Rideout and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Manzer Shaw on Sunday. Miss Fernie Shaw is visiting her sister, Mrs. Guy Cummings of Woodstock.

Miss Ina Cronkite spent the weekend in this place recently. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Margison and family were calling on relatives here last week.

Dr. Bailey, health inspector, visited our school on Wednesday last.

Miss Mamie Shaw has returned to her home from Jacksonville where she has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wesley Margison.

Our school is being conducted by Miss Anna Tramley of Newburg, Jct.

AFFAIRS IN RUSSIA

Norman Shea, a well-known Carleton county boy, is on a visit to friends in Woodstock. Mr. Shea lives in New York. A couple of years ago or so, he was with a commission in connection with trade, who visited Russia. Mr. Shea said that conditions in that country had been much exaggerated and that conditions, when he visited Russia, were showing marked signs of improvement and in time business matters would straighten out.

TOBIQUE RIVER

The farmers along the river are improving our ideal harvesting weather, and are busily engaged now with their grain crop. A good yield is reported this year.

Mrs. Roy Wetmore, who was operated on recently at the Fisher Memorial Hospital, Woodstock, has returned to her home at Rowena and is improving as rapidly as can be expected.

Mrs. Aldon Witherly, Arthurette, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is able now to be around again.

Herman Campbell was taken to Woodstock recently for medical treatment at the Fisher Memorial Hospital.

On Wednesday of last week, Ruth Long, a little girl who with her parents were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Campbell, was badly burned when she ran against her mother, who was carrying a pan of hot water. The little one was scalded about the face and neck and upper part of the body.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Booth of Old Orchard, Me., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Smith.

Miss Margaret Gillis, R. N. of Boston, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gillis at Arthurette.

A number of the Tobique boys have left to pick potatoes along the Aroostook.

"THE NIGHT HAWK"

The cast of "The Night Hawk," Hunt Stromberg's first Stellar Production, starring Harry Carey, contains an unusual number of celebrities for a Western picture.

Foremost among them is Oreda Parrish, who has been pursuing film fame for only a little over a year, but who comes direct from an enviable career on the English stage. She was leading lady at the Drury Lane Theatre in London for some time, appearing in commend performances before royalty and altogether achieving more than the average in stage reputation.

Her work on the screen in "Bayu" and "The Lady of Quality" was responsible for her choice for the role of the adventures in "The Night Hawk."

The picture will be shown at the Neighborhood theatre Thursday night.

JAPANESE GOOD FLIERS.

Head of British Air Mission Says They Have No Nerves.

A rather curious report current two or three years ago with reference to Japanese aviation is recalled by an interview in London with the Master of Semphill, who has just returned after spending many months as head of the British air mission to Japan. The suggestion was that Japanese could not be made into good airmen because of something in their early upbringing, one point being that because they were carried pick-a-back in infancy they had somehow lost their sense of equilibrium. In support of this it was pointed out that many accidents had happened in Japan, and even to-day it is conceded that they have produced no outstanding fliers.

The statement, however, that they do not make good airmen is disproved by the Master of Semphill, who describes them as pupils leaving little to be desired, and the standard achieved by pilots throughout the naval air force is very high. In fact, one report of the interview credits the statement that it is higher than the British naval air force. The Japanese are said to be ready to try anything, and to have no trace of nerves. All this makes a very different story from that which became common property shortly after the armistice, and there seems now no doubt that that hypothesis outrages facts.

To Excavate City of David.

The proposed excavation on the site of the City of David in Jerusalem, were discussed recently at a meeting of the Palestine Exploration Fund at the rooms of the Society of Antiquaries, in London.

Dr. D. G. Hogarth, who presided, said that the occasion was epoch-making in their history, and they were on the eve of undertaking the excavation of the City of David, which had long been their ambition. He pointed out that there might not be much in it, because it was a rocky hill, but he reminded them that the excavation of the pockets of earth on the Acropolis Hill at Athens gave up a most interesting collection to the Athens Museum.

The Dean of Westminster had written saying that he had the highest hopes of the work. The Palestine Government assured them of its assistance, but had said that the fund should have $5,000 in its possession before anything could be done. They had themselves, and through the British Academy, £2,000, Mr. Charles Masterman had given £2,000, and Viscount Burnham £1,000.

They started thus under very fair auspices, and he gave a promise that no one's prejudices would be outraged.

"Orphaned" Horses.

Three unknown thoroughbred horses grazed on Beddington sewage farm for two years, says a London Daily Express report. All attempts to find the owner have failed. They now have been sold at Aldridge's to meet the expenses of their keep. The best horse fetched more than £70.

They arrived at the sewage farm with a groom, who gave the name and address of the "owner." The horses were taken in and grazed. When the "owner" was asked for grazing money he disclaimed all knowledge of the horses.

The matter was placed in the hands of the police, and the horses were advertised all over the country. The owner did not come forward to claim them. Several people whose horses had been stolen went to Beddington, but none recognized the animals.

Sandy Scored.

A Scotsman was being shown over a battleship for the first time in his life, and, being keenly interested in all he saw, he piled his guide with all sorts of questions.

The marines seemed to interest him, and going up to one, he pointed to the grenade in the marine's cap and asked what it was.

The marine looked at him in surprise.

"Don't you know what that is?" he asked. "Why, that's a turnip, of course."

"Ach, mon," replied the Scotsman, impatiently, "I was no' asking aboot yer head."

Beauty In Distress.

At a seaside concert some pretty girls were acting as attendants. One approached an old gentleman.

"Shall I show you to a seat?" she murmured, with a bashful blush.

The old man stared at her, and the girl repeated her question, feeling rather abashed.

"Can I show you to a seat?" she said in louder tones.

"Eh, what—what?" exclaimed the old man, who was very deaf.

That finished the poor girl.

"Shall I sew you to a sheet?" she screamed wildly.

No More Peters.

There are more churches dedicated to St. Peter than to any other saint. But there has never been a Pope Peter! The custom, according to which popes change their Christian names on their elevation, was introduced in A.D. 584 by Peter di Porcia. He felt that it would be presumptuous to have himself styled Peter the Second, so he took the name of Sergius the Second. Following in the same line of sentiment, no pope has ever retained or assumed the name of Peter.

Kills and Cures.

Cocaine, which is filling our jails and making the tooth extraction almost pleasant, comes from the coca plant, whose dried leaves South American Indians carry about with them in little bags. These leaves are chewed much as we smoke tobacco, when they are on journeys, and are extremely sustaining. Cocaine taken in this form is harmless, and it people would be content to chew the dried coca leaves instead of taking the concentrated form of the drug no harm would be done.

WRIGLEYS After Every Meal

An Irishman escaped from prison through a tunnel which he had constructed secretly.

After two days of freedom, the fugitive was captured, and asked to explain what he had done with all the soil he removed in building the tunnel. Fearing to incriminate any of his accomplices, he replied:

"You see, it was slike this—I dug another hole and hid everything that came out of the tunnel."

E. P. Ranch Improving Western Stock

(Top)—The Prince of Wales' best grass cutters are here seen at work on his ranch at High River, Alta. They are a famous herd and include many prize winners.
(Left)—"Will Somers," a famous race-horse belonging to His Majesty the King, and loaned to the Prince of Wales, who is keeping him on his ranch at High River to improve the equine stock of Alberta.
(Right)—"King of the Fairies," a senior and grand champion Short Horn bull imported and owned by the Prince of Wales and one of the many fine animals on the Prince's Ranch at High River on the Calgary-Lethbridge branch of the Canadian Pacific.

The way to approach the E.P. ranch is from Calgary to High River, 40 miles south, on the Canadian Pacific Railway. From High River one has to drive southwest a distance of 35 miles through one of the richest grain-growing and stock-raising countries in North America. In the distance the jagged peaks of the Rockies dip the clouds and below, well-wooded, are the foothills. The road cuts through the centre of the "Bar-U" ranch and about one mile and a half from the limits of the "Bar-U" the low rambling bungalow where the Prince is now living is seen through a pretty glen. It is a homelike looking place typical of many a rancher's home in "Sunny Alberta." Here His Royal Highness goes "back to the land."

The Prince of Wales has never ceased to exhibit a keen interest in his ranch, and fresh indications are periodically given of the importance he attaches to it and the work it is doing. After purchasing the ranch, and before returning to England, the Prince made arrangements for the shipment of some of the best stock in the British Isles to the Canadian West. Thoroughbred horses came from the Royal stall, Shorthorns from the King's farm, Shropshire sheep from the Duke of Westminster's estate, and hardy Dartmoor ponies from the Devon Moors, a type of animal previously unknown in Canada. From time to time since then fresh additions of the most excellent stock have been made. The work still continues.

In an area such as Western Canada, which has for years devoted itself to the elevation of the quality of livestock and has become internationally famous for the superior type of its horses and cattle, importations must be of an outstanding distinctiveness to be worthy of special note, but this the E.P. Ranch has effected. At Alberta provincial exhibitions the animals from High River are attractive features.

In its brief history, the E.P. Ranch has come to play an important part in the Western Canadian live-stock industry, and it has done not a little in the development of a more sympathetic understanding for Canadian agriculture in the British Isles. Its establishment was an indication of the importance attached to agriculture in the Dominions of the Empire its continuance and promotion an encouragement to the western live-stock industry, faith in the future, and a stimulus to the attainment of perfection in breeding.

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Our Winter Overcoats excel in Quality of Cloth, Range of Colors and Style. They are lined with Polo, Wool and Leather, also showing a new feature in Leather Lined, one that buttons in and can be taken out when you need a lighter weight coat. The Styles consist of Town Ulster, three-piece belt, both set-in sleeves and Raglan.

And the new GUARDS, the coat which has won the Prince of Wales affection.
