Would its mission be fulfilled

- If the roses never bloomed Save for gladsome eyes alone, If their beauty and their grace For the weary never shone,
- If they never brought a smile To the wayside passer-by, Would the roses do their task While the hours of summer fly, If the birdies sang their songs
- Far from every listening car, If they poured them not abroad All the earth to glad and cheer, Would the birdies' work be done free the autumn breezes call, free the gold and crimson leaves, O'er the grave of summer fall
- If the sunshine of our smiles We have scattered not afar If our rosses—kindly deeds— Bloom not where the lowly are.
