WILL NOT BE THERE.

The Queen Cannot Open Parliament In Person.

Salisbury Declines an Invitation to Balmoral.

Dr. Parker Doesn't Believe in Third-Rate Preachers Trying To Be Original.

Hartington on Home Rule—Groans for Balfour—Sacred Spots in the Holy Land To Be Fenced Off—Queen Victoria Having a Church Built for Herself.

The French Tariff.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Customs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, by a vote of 34 to 5, has adopted the principle of a double tariff.

Bought "The Angelus."

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Figaro confirms the report that has been in circulation here that the French Government has purchased from the American Art Association Millet's celebrated painting "The Angelus."

Sacred Spots to be Fenced in.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—It is said that the new syndicate, of which Sir Andrew Clark is chief, to which the Sultan has granted special privileges in Asiatic Turkey and Palestine, proposes to fence in Mount Calvary and other spots of sacred interest and exact admission fees from visitors.

Sara's Son Wants to Fight.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Maurice Bernhardt, son of Sarah Bernhardt, has challenged M. Mouray, a Paris dramatic critic, to fight a duel. The challenge has been accepted, and the duel takes place to-day. The affair is the result of the Mouray comments upon Mme. Barnhardt's performance in Cleopatra.

Mme. Patti Ill.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Mme. Patti was announced to sing at Leicester last night, but she is confined to her bed in Leicester suffering from the effects of a chill contracted at a concert at which she sang in London on Monday. A prominent specialist has been summoned from Birmingham to attend her.

The Queen Will Not Be There.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—It is officially announced that the Queen has informed Lord Salisbury that she does not feel equal to the task of opening Parliament in person. According to the present arrangements the Queen will arrive at Windsor from Balmoral on Nov. 22, and the council for the speech will be held on the following Monday.

Terribly Tortured.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Advices from Constantinople bring additional horrible details of the treatment of Armenians in the prisons. Hagop, the young Armenian who shot at the archpriest, had live coals put in the palms of his hands and was whipped as he lay on his bare back. He was also subjected, before death, to indignities too horrible to mention.

Declined the Queen's Invitation.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Lord Salisbury has declined with thanks the invitation of the Queen to visit her at Balmoral during the coming week. He is not very fond of northern trips, and it is interesting that he managed to excuse himself in a similar way for the last five years. His last visit to Balmoral was in 1885, when he went to accept the portfolio of prime minister.

French Comments on the Edmunds Bill.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Commenting on the Edmunds Retaliation Bill, a full translation of which it quotes and which it calls "a law for establishing obligatory poisoning," the Soire asks what Europe will reply to such a measure, and hopes France will establish a strict examination of American packages, especially Chicago pork. This is the least we can do in the presence of the increased tariffs which the Parliament of the United States has voted in form as arbitrary as it is Jesuitical.

Intended to Ruin France.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Boulangist deputy for Millevoye writes to the editor a story that is of considerable interest. He relates that the Prince of Wales in 1875 warned Marshall McMahon, the president of the French Republic, that Germany intended to make war atresh upon France with the purpose of crippling the country beyond recovery. Gen. Lefle, who was at that time French Ambassador at St. Petersburg, complained to the Czar, who thereupon interfered and stopped Germany from carrying out Bismarck's intention. This is the story.

A Substantial Grant to Prof. Koch.

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Before starting on a hunting trip to the estates of Count Eulenburg the Emperor handed Minister of the Interior Maybach an autographic rescript in which the donation to Professor Koch of 500,000 marks for his services to suffering humanity is recommended. The grant will be immediately voted on the assembling of the Landtag for his services in discovering the cholera "Comma" microbe. Koch was granted 100,000 marks. His Majesty has also offered to pay the expenses of the present experiment out of his own private purse.

Reading Gen. Booth's Book.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Empress Frederick has written a letter to Gen. Booth, thanking him for a copy of his book, "In Darkest England," and promising to read it with special interest. Cardinal Manning has written Gen. Booth a letter expressing sympathy and encouragement. It is reported that Emperor William and the Czar have expressed their approval of the scheme, and that several English bishops have written hopefully of it. Gen. Booth has commenced operations by purchasing premises in Shoreditch and Southwark.

Mr. Gladstone at Carlisle.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Speaking at Carlisle yesterday Mr. Gladstone said that if the clause contained in the Licensing Bill submitted to the House of Commons last spring by the Government had become law it would have cost the country £200,000,000 to purchase forfeited licenses from publicans. Parliament, he said, is wearing out its life. The Government is avoiding dissolution as a man with a bad tooth avoided dentistry. The recent bye-elections for members of the House of Commons had set the seal of doom upon a long-endured iniquity, and pointed to the beginning of an era of peace.

Mr. Goschen at Halifax.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at Halifax last night, denied that the result of the bye-elections proved that the cause of Unionism was failing. A few reverses at outposts were not going to determine the issue of a great campaign. The Gladstonians, he said, resembled advertising quacks, promising relief for every kind of human ailment. The Unionists would do their best to find genuine remedies for existing evils. He was confident that the steady good sense of the country would approve honest methods of social and political progress in preference to trusting to the guidance of quacks.

Hartington on Home Rule.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Lord Hartington, the Unionist leader, speaking at Greenwich, said that before subscribing to the Scottish home rule movement he would require better proof than had yet been produced of the existence of the widespread discontent with the present system and of the desire of the Scotch people for a change. He admitted that there had been neglect of Scottish business in Parliament, but claimed that it was due to obstructive tactics. In any case, he had no serious fears of the result of home rule in Scotland, because it would not be the outcome of years of conspiracy and of avowed alliance with an enemy of the country. In regard to Scotch Church disestablishment his mind was unchanged. Scotland had never unequivocally declared herself on that question, and therefore he declined to espouse any side of the controversy.

A Church of Her Own.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The feeble health of Queen Victoria, according to semi-official announcements, has caused her Majesty to entirely give up attending divine service in the Crathie Church on Sundays during her residence at Balmoral. She is now having constructed, as an annex to the castle, a private chapel, the interior being of exquisitely carved woods, and with magnificent stained glass windows. Pending its completion, divine services are weekly held in the drawing-room of the castle. The old chapel, connected with the palace of Osborne, in the Isle of Wight, is also being renovated, and it is understood that during her residence at that watering place her Majesty will no longer attend the services in Whippingham Church, but have private services for herself, the royal family and the household in the chapel.

Groans for Balfour.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—Mr. Balfour completed the third stage of his Donegal tour yesterday, amid a continuous downpour of rain. The most noteworthy incident of the day occurred at Dungloe, which, after being groaned at, Mr. Balfour received a deputation while Mr. Balfour was addressing the deputation Mr. McNeil, M.P., appeared and began to address the people on the barbarities of Balfour's rule, on sections and other matters.

Mr. Balfour replying, expressed surprise at the intrusion of such matters on the occasion. He reminded the people of the success of his tour, and said he would repeat what he had already done if necessary. He appealed to all having the interests of their country at heart to say whether Government projects were not calculated to benefit Ireland more than all the speeches ever made. At the conclusion of Balfour's remarks a man named Sweeney addressed Mr. McNeil's authority to speak for the district. In a letter published to-day McNeil challenges Balfour to dilate on the use of the battering ram in accomplishing evictions in his utterances before audiences, as he boasted in Parliament he was willing to do.

Dr. Parker on Sermons.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Dr. Parker of the City Temple, gave an interesting address before the London Congregational Union on sermons and the modern view of them. He said that it was useless to deny the fact that the public too often sit under the relief at the end of a sermon, and feel that something ought to be done to correct the feeling on the part of congregations. He advocated shorter discourses and the employment of other men's sermons, so that the people may not be wearied with too much preaching, and may at the same time be permitted to listen to something which is sufficiently good and eloquent to demand their attention. "Why," he asked, "should third-rate men harassed themselves to produce sermons while the shelves of great preachers lie idle on their shelves?" After much argument of this sort he finally proposed that it would be a good plan to found a national institute with centers in London, Manchester, which should be open to preachers of all communions as supplement to other college training. The libraries of the institute, he suggested, should be found the discourses of Spurgeon, Beecher, Spurgeon, Gladstone, Wesley, Magee, etc., and these would transpire churchmen to better work of them are capable of.

France Preparing for an Emergency.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—In the French Chamber of Deputies yesterday, during the debate on the foreign estimates, M. De Mun, of the Right, renewed the attack on the African convention with England. He advocated an alliance with Russia, on the ground that the interests of France were identical with those of Russia.

M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared France was peaceably disposed. She threatened nobody. At the same time she did not conceal the fact that she was increasing her armies in a position in which she would be ready for every emergency. In reference to the British occupation of Egypt, he asked if anyone could suggest a practical means of obtaining the speedy evacuation of the country. He, however, said, must wait for England to keep her promises. Referring to the New Caledonian dispute, he said the matter was receiving the attention of renewed negotiations, which were now proceeding as actively as possible.

A proposal to reject the credit for the Embassy to the Vatican was rejected by a vote of 317 to 205.

When the estimates of the War Department came up M. Cochery, on behalf of the committee on war estimates, declared that possible economy had been effected, notwithstanding the greater forces required by the ordinary war expenditure was only 510,000,000 francs, against Germany's 900,000,000, while the extra expenditure of France amounted to only 2-3 of that against Germany's 325,000,000. France took the initiative in increasing her military strength, and France was obliged to follow. He was sure the Chamber would grant everything that was necessary for the country's moral and material interests. M. Cochery's remarks were received with great applause.

Prof. Koch's Discovery.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A Berlin despatch says that Prof. Koch, who, it is said, has discovered a method for the cure of consumption by inoculation, has refused application to be relieved from some of his duties attached to the professorship held by him at the Berlin University, in order that he may have more time to pursue his experiments. These experiments are being made with the object of discovering cures for other diseases, including inflamed spleen and similar affections, and infectious diseases such as cholera, diphtheria, typhus fever, etc.

While the press is flooded with varying statements regarding Prof. Koch's announced cure for consumption the Professor himself remains deaf to all inquiries. According to one detailed account, lymph obtained by the attenuation of the tubercular bacillus, as cultivated by Koch, in conjunction with a gold or silver solution, is injected into the subcutaneous cellular tissue of the breast and back. Koch has ordered 150 incubation stoves with which to prosecute his experiments. Prof. Koch's friend, August Hirschwald, says:

"The Professor will explain his discovery in a scientific work similar to that on the 'Cholera Bacillus,' which Prof. Koch published. The professor is preparing the lymph and experimenting upon his patients. He is desirous of dividing this labor, but only leading bacteriologists and physicians can be admitted to a knowledge of the preparation of the lymph, because it requires the greatest scientific skill. The latter fact should be borne in mind by physician and laymen, who have written thousands of letters, which are lying on his hands unanswered."

"Is Prof. Koch prepared at present to take patients?"

"He is willing, as far as the slow process of gaining lymph permits, to take patients immediately if they are willing to undergo the experiments and place themselves entirely at his disposal."

"Do you think the Professor will take patients from foreign countries, such as America?"

"Undoubtedly; but the patient must have pluck and not be too far gone, for the Professor does not claim to be able to furnish new lungs."

The warden of the charity hospital at which Professor Koch makes experiments informed a reporter that he would take foreign consumptives, charging them 50 marks a month, but they must enter the public consumptive ward.

Fleeing from Black Diphtheria.

GREENVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Twenty-five people fleeing from black diphtheria epidemic at Mecca, Ohio, have arrived here. They say the town will be depopulated soon.

Killed on the Track.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 6.—Frank Dupuis, aged 19, while sitting on the Intercolonial track near here to-day, was instantly killed. He and a companion had been on a shooting excursion and had a couple of flasks of whisky with them. The young men were employed in the railway offices here.

A Monster Mortgage.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 7.—A mortgage for $75,000,000 has just been placed on record in the recorder's office in this city. It is the largest ever filed and is a consolidated mortgage given by the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad Company to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company and W. N. Jackson, of Indianapolis, trustees. The document is dated Oct. 1, 1890.

Four Per Cent. Beer.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7.—It was announced in the Northwest Legislature that Lieut.-Gov. Royal was willing to discontinue the issuance of 4 per cent. beer licenses, but a resolution asking him to do so was voted down, some of the members holding that his Honor had previously disregarded the wishes of the Assembly, and they would not advise him on any other question.

Dillon and O'Brien in the States.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Dillon and O'Brien were given their first public reception in America at the Academy of Music here last night. Dillon and O'Brien gave vivid accounts of the suffering in Ireland and described the coercive measures in operation there. Twelve thousand eight hundred and eighty five dollar bills were subscribed by those present to aid the Irish cause.

"Each Has Its Mission."

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—In the Thanksgiving sermon here Rev. W. T. Herridge, of St. Andrew's again ridiculed the cry for the total separation of Church and State, and declared that the radical wing of the party, united under that shibboleth, now crying "Down with the Pope," would follow it up by demanding the suppression of all religion. It was not possible or desirable that all citizens should worship under one religious system. The Roman Catholic Church had its mission, and the Protestant Church its mission, and neither should seek to make poselytes from the other.

Portage la Prairie.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Nov. 6.—Messrs. Crossley and Hunter began a series of revival services here on Sunday, Nov. 2.

The new electric light system is now in successful operation in this town.

A large oatmeal mill and contents, valued at $15,000, were burned here on Friday night, Oct. 31. Insurance, $5,000.

In Ontario, a potato weighing one pound and fourteen ounces, is considered a rarity, but to have one here weighing three pounds is considered with no greater surprise.

Sheriff Glass, of London, visited this town recently.

The weather in Manitoba has been exceptionally bad this fall, and the crops have been much behind the anticipations.

Country school teachers are very scarce in Manitoba, and young students from Ontario would do well to apply for situations.

Sig. Succi's Long Fast.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Sig. Jean Succi, formerly of Boulonge, France, has started on his fasting feat, to last 45 days. He will try to beat the record of Dr. Tanner, which was only 40 days of continuous fasting. Sig. Succi began his fast at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. He sat down to a most bountiful meal. When he began his last meal for 45 days he weighed 134¼ pounds. When he arose from the table he weighed 137¼ pounds, showing that he had eaten three pounds at a single sitting. Then he smoked a cigar. At 8:10 o'clock he drank a parting glass of barolo and was off on his starving feat well filled and with his thirst properly quenched. During his fast Sig. Succi will swim, fence, ride horseback and perform other active feats when the humor strikes him. He smokes freely and can do anything he chooses except eat. The object of the fast is said to be purely scientific.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Victorious Democrats Count Up Their Gains.

The Complexion of the House Completely Changed.

A Shakeup in the Senate Inevitable—McKinley Acknowledges Defeat.

BUFFALO, Nov. 7.—It now looks very much as if the Democrats had secured from 210 to 215 members of the next House of Representatives. It is also apparent that they have captured the Legislature of New York, which elects a United States Senator to succeed Evarts (Rep.), the Legislature of Illinois, which elects a Senator to succeed Senator Farwell (Rep.), New Hampshire, which elects a Senator to succeed Blair (Rep.), Kansas, which elects a Senator to succeed Ingalls (Rep.), and Wisconsin, which elects a Senator to succeed Spooner (Rep.). There are one or two other States in doubt, with chances favoring the Republicans, and those mentioned are not assured, although very generally conceded to be as stated. If these reports are verified the Senate after March 4 will be very close, and it would not be at all matter of surprise if the Democrats got it. So far as the general result is concerned, it has shown a great wave of popular indignation against the party in power. From every section, every State, county, town and township the protest has been as vigorously pronounced as the people could pronounce it. In this section, whatever be the cause in others, the result has been mainly due to the McKinley Bill. It has not been a local pronounciamento in any case, and the most stalwart of Republican newspapers agree with their Democratic brethren in pronouncing it a national uprising. Even the stalwart Buffalo Commercial feels itself called upon to upbraid the New York Tribune for whining. Senator Quay says it is a time for "sawing wood" and not talking. The Cabinet members, the President and the Republican leaders decline to be interviewed. In fact, the ultra element in the Republican party has gone down with a dull thud. It will take a powerful lot of repairing to get their fences in order for 1892. It has, however, restored the balance between the parties to such an extent that class legislation is now very improbable, and, with the result of this phenomenal defeat in mind, Republican leaders for years to come will fight shy of legislation in the interest of any class, no matter how powerful, in the belief that the people "will stand anything."

A PROTEST AGAINST PROTECTION.

BUFFALO, Nov. 7.—The leading Republican newspaper of western New York, the Buffalo Commercial, has this to say of the overwhelming Republican defeat: "When Pennsylvania buries Senator Quay; when Massachusetts elects a Democratic governor and seven Democratic Congressmen; when New Hampshire elects a Democratic Legislature and makes the re-election of Phonograph Blair to the Senate impossible; when only one Republican is returned to Congress from Kansas and none for Nebraska; and, finally, when the Democrats win a majority on joint ballot in the New York Legislature, candid Republicans will admit that these changes are not to be accounted for by local issues, or paying off of old scores, or any one single cause. It was a popular protest against extreme protection, a very strong protest against reckless and extravagant pension bills, aided by the inertia of a party that has won a hard fight and is resting on its laurels, and by the innumerable malcontents who always take the first opportunity to show their opinion of the folly of the Administration in not appointing them instead of the other man to this and that office.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

The New York Sun says 245 Democrats to 85 Republicans have been elected members of the House of Representatives. The returns received by the Sun indicate that the New York Assembly stands 67 Democrats to 61 Republicans. The Herald gives the Democrats 226 and the Republicans 105 in the next House of Representatives.

NOTES.

A Canton, O., dispatch says McKinley concedes Warwick's election by about 300.

Complete returns from Pennsylvania foot up a plurality for Pattison (Dem.) for Governor of 16,933, a Democrat gain as compared with 1886 of 59,584.

The Republicans have elected the entire State ticket in California, and are sure of a large majority in the Legislature.

The New Hampshire Democrats elect both Congressmen from that State. Both parties claim the Legislature.

The Chairman of the Illinois Republican State Committee concedes the Legislature to the Democrats, thus insuring a Democratic U. S. Senator from that State, but claims the election of the Republican State ticket by majorities from 6,000 to 8,000.

The Kansas Republican Central Committee concedes that the opposition to Ingalls will have a majority in the Legislature. They also concede the election of the entire Farmers' Alliance State ticket, with the possible exception of Governor and six Opposition Congressmen.

The Teutonic's Tempestuous Trip.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—From Liverpool to New York the voyage of the Teutonic was one succession of gales, tempests and mishaps. When the ship was one day out from Liverpool a woman among the steerage passengers rolled over on her 5-months-old child during the night and killed it. The child was buried on the following day. On Saturday an electric light wire on the starboard side came in contact with the woodwork on the deck, and for two hours there was a blaze that kept the fire brigade busy. The next day fire was discovered in the coal bunkers of the ship, and until Tuesday morning the coals were afire.

UNDER THE SEMAPHORE.

Rate-Cutting—A Reminder—Michigan Men Promoted.

One would hardly suppose that a locomotive cab had to be invented, it is so obviously useful, but the death of John Scotti, an old Baltimore and Ohio engineer, who first devised a cab for the protection of the engineer and fireman from the weather, is a reminded that the earlier locomotives had no cabs and that English locomotives are still built without them.

W. R. Busenbark has been appointed traffic manager and F. H. Lord, general passenger and ticket agent of the St. Paul and Kansas City Railway. Both are Michigan men.

The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg threatens to make a daily rate of $5 from Buffalo to New York if the Erie persists in meeting its cheap excursion rates.

TELEGRAMS IN A NUTSHELL.

About $3,000,000 worth of real estate changed hands in Winnipeg during the past month.

A Provincial association of Manitoba Congregationalists has been organized at Portage la Prairie with Rev. Hugh Pedley as president.

The Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Dowie, of Melbourne, Australia, who has been holding divine healing missions on the Pacific coast, will hold a series of meetings in Toronto, beginning on the 16th.

The British Government has entered into a scheme to supply the planters of Jamaica with contract laborers from Hindostan, the native negroes of Jamaica being unwilling to work on the plantations.

Barbara Lamprecht, 31 years old, killed her daughter Mary, 6 years old, on Thursday morning, at Philadelphia, by cutting her throat with a razor, and then attempted to commit suicide. She was temporarily insane.

Owing to the several fatal cases of dueling recently in the Austro-Hungarian army, the Austrian press is calling for some change in the law which permits these deadly encounters on any slight provocation.

The C. J. Wells elevator at Buffalo, storage capacity 350,000 bushels, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday morning, together with a four-story brick malt house connected with it. The buildings were valued at about $300,000. The grain was worth $225,000.

The Rev. Dr. Johnston, who for the past sixteen years has been carrying on mission work among the colored people of Jamaica with remarkable success, is now preparing for a tour in Central Africa, where he intends to take with him a number of converted native helpers from his mission in the West Indies.

Suicide at Newmarket.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Nov. 7.—Yesterday morning Mrs. Cowieson, on going to call her husbad, Geo. Cowieson, blacksmith, of Belhaven, to breakfast, was horrified to find him dead. He had hung himself in the stable. Lately he had lost all his property, and had been drinking hard in consequence.

Drowned in Burlington Bay.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 7.—Thanksgiving day has not passed over here without a fatality. The bay has gathered another victim for the death harvest. Wm. Harris, living on Florence street, and a friend named Milne went duck shooting on the bay near Carroll's Point about 1:30 this afternoon. The boat began to fill with water and the two started out to swim to shore. Milne succeeded in reaching land, but Harris sank and was drowned.

Claims to Have Killed Benwell.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—The Birchall case is affording a grand opportunity for the cranks to assert themselves. The Department of Justice has received a letter from the Hon. O. Mowat, transmitting a letter received by B. B. Osler, Q.C., from one Mabel Morton, of North Adams, Mass. The writer claims that Benwell ruined her under promise of marriage. When she heard he was coming to Canada she disguised herself and followed him on the same steamer.

Two Captain's Drowned.

MACKINAW CITY, Nov. 7.—The storm last night was very severe; wind easterly, with blinding snow squalls; very cold. Capt. Wm. Ravier, of the steamer Gazelle, when going up to the pilot house, slipped and fell overboard and was drowned.

MENOMINEE, Nov. 7.—The schooner John Miner, of Chicago, while sailing into the harbor in a heavy northwest storm, ran down the little schooner Lillie Amniot, dismasting her, also knocking Capt. Brown overboard. He was drowned before assistance arrived.

Heartless Deception.

A real mean trick was played on a girl the other night. A young man turning to her, after placing a penny against his forehead while his head was tilted back, said: "Isn't it funny I can't work this off?" He winked, contracted his eyebrows and scowled, but the penny was apparently immovable. "Hard as it sticks, I could of course pull it off with my hand. But you would think I could dislodge it easier than that."

Of course the girl wanted to try it. "It takes some skill to put it on in the first place," said he. "There's a knack to it."

"Let me try it, won't you?" Of course she assented. Everbody watched the proceedings intently. "To make it stay," he affirmed, "you have to press it very hard. Tell me if I hurt you." The girl put on a ready-for-any-agony look. He did press hard for at least a minute. Then he took away his hand—and the penny, too, though she did not see him. "Now," he said, "try and get it off, but don't use your hand."

She contracted her pretty eyebrows, worked her delicate forehead prodigiously, and winked her orbs very hard. It was all the others could do to keep straight faces. "Isn't it queer?" she exclaimed. "Haven't I started it yet?" And again the contortions began. Another minute or so went by. It was agony for the observers, who wanted to laugh. "I don't believe there is any penny there at all," she added desperately, and put up her hand to her forehead.

The shout of laughter that followed might have been heard for a block.

LONDON'S TRADE RELATIONS.

Commercial Union with Italy, Greece and Other European Countries an Accomplished Fact.

An ADVERTISER reporter doing the city visited a number of stores and among them the leading retail grocers, Messrs. Fitzgerald, Scandrett & Co., at 169 Dundas street. It is said by large dealers that this firm keep the best class of goods to be found in any city west of Montreal. They have invoices of goods now arriving from nearly all ports of the world. The steamship Avlona, from the Mediterranean ports, just landed at Montreal, has a quantity of French mushrooms, peas, macedoines, Lamproic's stuffed olives, green olives, prunes in bottles and Roquefort cheese, in Fardeau. The Grecian steamship now unloading has a large quantity of figs and other fruits. A direct Bordeaux vessel has a quantity of French bottled fruits in great variety. These the firm expect to show in a short time. They have opened the sale of Laaff's fruits (which were on exhibition at the Western Fair), which has far exceeded their expectations, and another lot is now on the way. Van Houten & Zoon's cocoa, which is now sold all over Ontario, was first introduced in the West by this enterprising firm. Their sale of it is so great that they now import it direct from Holland in immense quantities. They have also imported from Italy a quantity of very fine macaronia, vermicelli, salad oils, castile soap, etc. On looking at the shelves the reporter found such goods as Dunbar's genuine green turtle soup stock, Barataria shrimps, okra and tomato, and was informed that they are daily expecting a shipment of New Orleans sugar cane syrup, Orgeot syrup, Tabasco and Creole sauce, Huntley & Palmer's biscuits. It would appear that such an immense stock and variety of bottled, canned and other goods could hardly be sold in London, but on inquiry it was found that the firm sell not only in the city, but are constantly receiving orders from other places. They show a variety of breakfast cereals that would tempt the appetite of any invalid; in fact such a grocery store as this has long been wanted in London. The goods are bought in the most direct way, consequently they are able to sell the best qualities at prices almost as low as poorer goods can be obtained for.

Dickie—I guess you'd make a noise, too, f you was all full of fiddlestrings inside.

Infallible Prescription.

"I am troubled with insomina. I lie awake at night hour after hour thinking about my literary work."

"Why don't you get up and read portions of it?"

The Exception.

She—I love poets.

He—I'm delighted to hear that, for I am a poet.

She—I didn't know that, but, any way, you will do to prove the rule.

An Incident on Broadway.

First truckman—Mehercule! Phaeton was an accomplished charioteer compared with you.

Second truckman—O tempora! O mores! I, too, am a collegian. Where were you graduated from?

Afraid of the Parent.

"Is Mr. Jones in?" asked the young man timidly.

"Yis, sorr," was the reply.

"Then please hand my card to Miss Jones, and tell her I'm sorry she is out," returned the bashful caller, scurrying away.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

EXPLORER STANLEY IN NEW YORK

The Talk Talks About the Rear Guard Trouble.

New York, Nov. 7.—A party of friends met Mr. Stanley at quarantine yesterday on the arrival of the Teutonic. Replying to an address, Mr. Stanley said: "Although I have been absent long, I am glad to feel that I am a citizen of this country, where I can go and come whenever and wherever duty calls me." Mr. Stanley was then asked to say something about the rear guard trouble. He said: "I object to the discussion of the matter unless I am forced to do so. The log books of the rear guard, signed day by day by the officers of the rear guard, Barttelot, Barre or Kingsley, in camp, together with the official reports of the officers. This is the whole case. I am justified by all in my action. The census of the rear guard, which was the cause of the attack made upon me in the books of the expedition."

Mr. Stanley were his wife, her brother Tennant, and Hamilton, the latter of whom will act as historian of the expedition. Mr. Stanley is a remarkably striking and handsome woman.

In an interview here to-day Henry M. Stanley maintained the truth of his previous statements regarding Major Barttelot and the rear guard of the African expedition. He said that Barttelot prodded with a sharp stick and struck and kicked the native, a whose husband shot and killed Barttelot. The woman had awakened by drumming, and refused to obey him when he ordered her to stop making a noise. The woman's husband was killed while the latter was in the act of beating the woman.

Mr. Stanley was asked, "Was there any accusation against Barttelot, as is generally supposed, of immoral conduct with the chief's wife?"

"No," was the quick reply, "I never said such a thing as that, nor intimated it. There was no immoral action of any of the white men so far as I know."

Stories about the natives being cannibals really true?" was asked.

Mr. Stanley answered: "The log book of the rear guard, signed by Barttelot, Jameison, Bonny and Ward, was simply one long account of useless flogging and inhumanity. One native had an ulcer seven inches in diameter, which was full of maggots, caused by a recent beating. Barttelot even kicked his boy Sonti, from the injuries of which he died. One man took a piece of raw meat and hung it to roast. Barttelot ordered him to kill himself, and he did so by running away, and was captured and shot by Barttelot's orders. Bonny said to me a few days after, 'I haven't told you half of the horrors that existed in that camp, but it will all come out some time.'"

The rear guard was justified at some length the action of Barttelot about marching. It is said that Mr. Stanley, on his return to England, will bring an action against Major Barttelot's brother to sift the matter to the bottom, that the world may judge of the case.

Mr. Stanley was given a private banquet to-night.

TROUP'S BOOK.

Nov. 6.—Troup's book adds but little to the interviews already published. Troup credits Stanley with a preconceived idea the cause of the disaster to the rear guard, and with the rejection as untrue of any statement failing to fit that idea. He enlarges upon the difficulties of a young and inexperienced officer like Barttelot in dealing with the wily Tippoo-Tib, whom Stanley himself was hardly able to manage, in addition to keeping control over a camp of natives. Troup quotes a letter from Stanley to Barttelot, in which Stanley expressed distrust of Tippoo. Troup says he is ignorant of the terms of the contract with Tippoo, but it was reported that the promise to supply porters was only conditional, and that the payment was to be Emin's ivory. He declares it was in obedience to Stanley's orders that the rear column waited at Yambuya in preference to throwing away its stores until Tippoo's arrival, when the column started with all that the porters would carry. Troup asks whether considering the disasters that even then befell them, Stanley could have expected their miserable camp, which had been denuded of able men by Stanley, to advance without Tippoo's help. He relies upon Stanley's orders to Barttelot to refute the charges of delay. He says after seven and a half months had passed Barttelot and a section of the expedition were willing to try to advance, but the remainder, including himself, dissented, because Stanley had impressed upon them the importance of preserving the stores. He repeats that Barttelot had ample warning of the danger he incurred in venturing out alone. Troup is inclined to acquit Tippoo Tib of the charge of treachery, and thinks the latter met with considerable difficulty in collecting porters. The book consists largely of interesting details of the experiences of the rear column and Troup's correspondence with Stanley since the return of the expedition.

McDonald to preach a sermon to the society on Nov. 30. The financial statement showed a balance of $217 54 on hand. The society is about 75 members strong.

At the St. Thomas Assizes, Stacey vs. Green was an action brought by Miss Elizabeth Stacey to recover from her mother, Mrs. Walker Green, $300 for services rendered by plaintiff to her mother. Plaintiff alleges that she left a tailoring establishment in St. Thomas, where she was getting good wages, went to live with her mother in Port Stanley at her mother's request, and that her mother promised she would be well paid. The defense gave evidence to show that plaintiff was sickly, not able to do work of any account, that she took sewing to the house from neighbors, which occupied all her time. The jury returned a verdict for the full amount claimed, $247, allowing plaintiff $2 per week for the period of two months when she was in Chicago on a visit. The judge told the jury that if their children should turn round some day and sue them for wages the jury in their case would not be quite so liberal. In Boyes vs. Scott, an action by a contractor for extras on a contract to rebuild a couple of old houses, judgment was reserved. The grand jury returned true bills in the following cases: Wm. Hamilton, aggravated assault; George J. Reynolds, indecent assault, and Stillman, arson.

Extensive preparations are being made in Grand Rapids for the Masonic fair, to be held in that city at the time of the opening of the new Masonic Temple during the week of Nov. 10.

Col. G. A. Frambes, of Mears, Mich., passed through Detroit Saturday. Mr. Frambes has taken the 33rd degree in Masonry, and is further dignified by the distinction of grand minister of state of the supreme council, Cerneau branch; also supreme deputy for organizing Cerneau branches in the United States. He has just returned from New York, being on his way home from attendance at the annual meeting of the Cerneau branch held in the Holy House of the Temple, New York city. In conversation with a friend, Mr. Frambes said that the Cerneau branch has recently had a wonderful increase in membership. Over 14,000 devotees are now found in the union. After a short rest he will proceed to organize Cerneau branches in Michigan. The matter is a great secret. It will stir up the liveliest interest among Masons everywhere, because the Cerneau branch is opposed by many Scottish Rite leaders, who insist that no legitimate authority exists for the basis or foundation of the branch. One branch has already been established at Lansing. Mr. Frambes will next turn his attention to Detroit, where he will organize a consistory of 32 degree Sublime Princes of the Royal Secret. At the same date on which the northern branch was in session at New York, the southern branch held its meeting at Washington, D. C., under Gen. Albert Pike, the hero of Pea Ridge. Gen. Pike is one the highest and most picturesque figures in Masonic lines. He bears the exalted title of sovereign grand inspector-general 33rd degree, of the United States, an honor shared by but one other man in the Union, Frederick Palmer, of Milwaukee. Both Pike and Palmer are elected for life. The movement soon to be inaugurated by Col. Frambes will stir Masonic circles to their very center. He will meet with both praise and blame everywhere. Frederick Palmer, of the Northern Jurisdiction, Scottish Rite, will take ground against Frambes.

SONS OF CANADA.

Mr. J. Maclean, of Toronto, supreme organizer of the Sons of Canada, has organized a lodge of the above society in Sarnia. The members held their first meeting on Wednesday evening and elected the following officers: Past president, F. C. Cubitt; president, Jas. Fry; first vice-president, Elton T. Bates; second vice-president, Harry M. Davis; stewards, John Craig and Wm. Lambert; chaplain, W. F. Woods; physician, Wm. Logie, M.D.; recording secretary, Robert Orr; financial secretary, John Gray; treasurer, W. Burrows; guards, Thomas Taylor and T. Yates; trustees, J. Stepler and D. Davidson. The name by which the society will be known in Sarnia is Monarch Lodge, No. 40 Sons of Canada.

ORANGE ORDER.

Probably the oldest Orangeman in the county of Huron to-day is Mr. Daniel Dunlop, of the second concession of the township of Howick. He was born in the county of Kerry, Ireland, joined Lodge No. 737, Ireland, in the year 1825, and has labored earnestly and steadfastly for the interests of his lodge for the past 64 years, and is still in a hale and hearty condition.

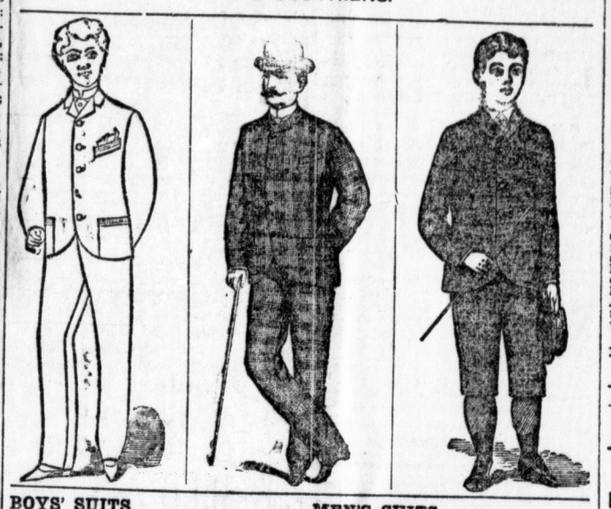

It is estimated that the growth of the Orange Order in Toronto for the past few months has averaged over 200 per month.

PENAL LAWS FOR THE JEWS.

In one of his recent speeches, Mr. Gladstone in none too strong language condemned the treatment of the Jews resident in Russia.

The problem of the future of this people must arrest the attention of all fair-minded persons. Of the 10,000,000 Jews in Europe 5,000,000, so far as statistics can be trusted, live in Russia, and the bulk of these on that strip which touches along the western frontier from the shores of the Baltic to the Black Sea. On this strip of Europe, where half the race is planted, the eyes of the whole Jewish world are at present turned.

While it may be morally regrettable that any limitation of frontier should mark a difference of religious opinion, Jewish interests suffer no more injury by the restriction of Jewish rights of domicile to the limits of the pale of settlement than German, French or Italian interests may be said to suffer by the necessary delimitation of their national frontiers. Besides the ten provinces of Poland the pale includes sixteen provinces of the western frontier. It covers a territory about one and a half times as large as France, and may be considered as in every respect equal to the best parts of Russia. It is not of the frontiers of their country that they complain, but of its laws. There is no parallel in the legislation of other countries for the disabilities of the Russian Jew.

The principal directions in which these disabilities have affected him may be briefly summarized. He has been restricted in his choice of residence and rights of free circulation, even within the pale. He can neither own land nor rent it. Heavy restrictions have lain upon the education of Jews. The army, the navy, the Government service, medicine, law, have been, some of them absolutely, others practically forbidden as channels of activity. Commerce alone has been left open, and as an inevitable result, Jewish energy and capital have all flowed to this one field. For the poor Jew, as for the rich, the general tendency of legislation has been to close all avenues of productive labor, and to drive him also into trade. The prohibition to own or rent land and the restriction of their right of residence to certain spots are the principal grievances.

Instead of seeking to remove or lighten these disabilities, the questions addressed to the Provincial governors show a decided tendency to increase the vexations with which life of the Russian Jew is burdened. As every vexation which can be escaped by bribery is a source of revenue to the local Christian official, the request that these officials should give their opinion upon the desirability of increasing them is simply equivalent to asking a man for an opinion on the desirability of increasing his own salary. Naturally the answers to these questions were generally in favor of increasing the disabilities of the Jews. No logical or continuous action has been taken in the matter, but possession is nine-tenths of the law. The official world was in possession, and the fate of the Jews during the past nine years has been regulated mainly by administrative orders from the governors of provinces under which they lived. In some provinces their lot has been no harder than it was before the riots; in others they have suffered severely. Information has been received in the principal Jewish circles of Europe that it is now in contemplation to enforce a complete code of repressive measures. If the provisions of the new edict are now to be put generally in force throughout the territory inhabited by Jews subject to the Russian Government, they will stand forever in the shameful annals of barbarity as the "Russian Edicts of 1890." The belief of the Jews is that, in thus depriving them of all rights, municipal and communal, it is intended to reduce them to the condition of outlaws, against whom every man's hand may be turned with impunity. The Governors of Tchernigov, Mohilev, Mootislov, Odessa, and Warsaw have within the last few months issued circulars which give no little justification to this fear. In two of them, the circulars of Mohilev and Odessa, permission is given to the heads of police to chastize the Jews with knouts in the open streets not only for serious offenses, but for failing in due respect and politeness towards Christians. The story of the Jewish boy of Byalistock, who was caught stealing cherries in the garden of a Dr. Gronovsky, and for that slight offense had his face brutally disfigured in the presence of his weeping, helpless mother, by the burning into it of the word "thief" in German, Hebrew and Russian characters, has already gone the round of the Continental press. In the face of the indignation aroused by this inhuman act, Dr. Gronovsky excused himself on the ground that his little daughter had been killed by a stone thrown by Jewish boys across the garden wall. As a matter of fact, the girl was taken ill three days after this occurrence and died of a natural disease. A photograph of the unhappy boy and a copy of the doctor's certificate giving the dates of the disease and death of the doctor's daughter are in London, and no doubt can exist as to the authenticity of the facts.

There appears to be but two ways of dealing with the Jews in Russia. One is to give them full rights as citizens, which the Czar, as autocratic head of a nation pretending to be governed by Christian principles, should be ready to concede. The other is to openly declare that they are a danger to the State—that is the reason for treating them in the shameful manner detailed—and arrange for their departure to some country where they could make a livelihood. It would be no small matter to remove 5,000,000 of persons to some as yet sparsely settled country, supposing they would be welcomed there, but it would be a far more humane course than to enforce laws aiming at the extermination of the despised people.

—The petitions for a commutation of Birchall's sentence bears the names of 240 lawyers, 55 doctors and 42 clergymen. It would be interesting to know how many of the siguers really read the petitions before affixing their names to them.

—The average weight among men of medium height, 25 years old, may be placed at about 140 pounds. A man should be better able to endure severe hardships between 20 and 30, than at any other time of life, and it is during this period that his power of resistance to disease is also greatest.

‡‡‡

—The Stanley exploration revelations become more revolting the longer the dispute is kept up. According to the latest declaration of the explorer, Barttelot was a brute of the first water, and he met his death because of his revolting cruelty to a woman, which was only one illustration of the atrocities perpetrated by him.

—Rudyard Kipling, whose new story will soon be printed in the ADVERTISER by special arrangement with his publishers, came by his unconventional name in a rather romantic way. The future parents of the brilliant novelist plighted their troth on the shores of the well-known English Lake Rudyard, and commemorated the occasion later in life by the novel method of christening their son with the name of the place.

—France blames Germany for increasing her army, and asserts that so long as the Germans add to their forces, so long must the French follow suit. The economic results of such a rivalry are disastrous. When will the nations manage their affairs by principles of common sense? If the workers, who have to provide the money for wars and preparations for war, were fully alive to their own interests, they would very soon put an end to the system which keeps them in a state bordering on poverty.

—Would anyone who knows anything about lawn tennis suppose that the amusement was fraught with evil? That it is a lively, health-giving game, in which both sexes can indulge with freedom, seems to be a fair verdict. Not so thought a portion of the people of Trier, a German city, where an agitation as to the propriety of the amusement has shaken the community. The debates were held in the City Council concerning a petition of the young women that they be allowed to stretch their nets in the park. The granting of the petition was opposed by the clergy in a body, who, in the final discussion, were represented by Attorney Muller. "It is bad enough," concluded the lawyer, "that the young women of the period wear pointed and high-heeled boots, skate with men, and make a practice of many other equally improper amusements. Lawn tennis, however, is much more free and shameless than any of them. The playing of it by women should be forbidden, especially the playing of it in places where spectators might gather." The City Councilors who believed in lawn tennis represented to Herr Muller and the preachers behind him in vain that no young woman of Trier would be compelled by law to play tennis in the park, even if the petition should be granted. He only responded that "tennis might do for emancipated Americans and strong-minded English women, but was not proper for German girls." The City Council eventually passed a resolution to grant the petition by a vote of ten to seven, and now the nets of Trier's maidenhood are stretched daily in the park.

—The subject of Cockney accent has been exhaustively treated in a clever little treatise entitled "Thanks, Awf'lly," but something more is said by an English contemporary on the subject of Cockney rudeness, which, it is claimed, is another exclusive product of the metropolitan soil. The rudeness of "a nature flushed with insolence and sometimes with beer" ranges from peer to coal heaver, and includes bank clerks, school masters, lads in trade who have been advanced from errands to the counter, and young ladies in the postoffice. The exceptions to the rule are policemen and railway servants, though from curates and from shop-walkers one sometimes gets a soothing word. Rectors are described as "almost invariably uppish," and stock-jobbers have a cruel way. Stock brokers, on the other hand, are usually urbane. As a general characteristic of manner, there is nothing like this in the provinces. Then the fault where it exists is purely individual. No clue is given as to the cause of the metropolitan malady.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

FORMS OF SERVICE for Special Occasions in the Presbyterian Church. By Rev. Duncan Morrison, D.D., Owen Sound, Canada. (Toronto: Presbyterian Printing and Publishing Company, 5 Jordan street.)

Dr. Morrison is favorably known as the author of a fine work on the Hymns of the Church. He is in full sympathy with all that is pure and elevating in congregational worship. To promote that most laudable purpose he has prepared with great care and admirable good taste the present neat and most comprehensive hand-book. Though Dr. Morrison is anxious to see all the public services of religion conducted decently and in order, he is no ritualist. In his preface he says "it is not a liturgy, but a directory—that is, not words, but thoughts—not rules and rubrics, but principles, that is contemplated in the following pages." The book supplies 23 forms for almost all possible occasions of public service and church organization. Its value and usefulness will be apparent to everyone who examines it. Young ministers particularly will find it helpful in enabling them to conduct services on special occasions with a degree of confidence and efficiency that can only be reached by long experience. Dr. Morrison, in compiling "Forms of Service," deserves the gratitude of the church for the valuable help the book will afford.

The Industrial Revolution of the 18th Century in England. By Arnold Toynbee. In two parts, 39 cents each. (The Humboldt Publishing Company, 28 Lafayette Place, New York.) While the author of this work admits the benefits conferred upon mankind by the old school of political economists—Adam Smith, Ricardo, Malthus and the rest—he believes that their work is done, and that the world has got beyond them and stands in need of something more. The work is a history of "the bitter argument between economists and human beings," to use a striking phrase in the chapter on "Ricardo and the Old Political Economy." The causes which have contributed to the improvement of the workman's condition since 1846, the author considers to be free trade, factory legislation, trades unions and co-operative societies. The economic relations of men are studied with sympathy and understanding. In addition to the above treatise the present work contains three popular addresses on "Wages and Natural Law," "Industry and Democracy" and "Are Radicals Socialists?" as also papers on "The Education of Co-operation," and "The Ideal Relations of Church and State."

Fables, Anecdotes and Stories (Boston: Boston School Supply Company) is a new collection of old tales arranged for the purposes of school composition. By means of it young pupils are taught to write only of such matters as are well understood, to write clearly and connectedly, and to keep up the interest of their narration to the end.

Out of Darkness Into Light, by Joseph F. Hess (Toronto: The People's Publishing Company). This is the autobiography of a converted prize-fighter and saloon-keeper; who has worked as ardently for his new Master since his conversion five years ago as he did for his old one previous to that date. It is the history of a soldier who fought with so much zeal on the rebel side that one cannot be greatly surprized at the valor he has shown since he was enrolled under the right flag. It is nothing against this book to say that it is sensational. Many people read nothing but sensational books, and such readers may rely upon experiencing in the pages of this book a new and powerful sensation—that of witnessing a human soul brought from the deeps of iniquity up to the plains of a better life, and not only brought there but kept there. This, without doubt, is a most unusual thing, and in that very unusualness lies the only evil tendency of the book. Here is a man 39 years old, who, during the first 34 years of his life revelled in the pleasures of sin. As a boy, he runs away from home, learns to drink, goes to jail, has delirium tremens. Afterwards there is a long succession of drunken sprees, free fights, prize fights, arrests, narrow escapes from law, and other exciting scenes. He forsakes his family, goes to "one of the hardest and most wicked places in the far West," starts a "boxing room" and a gambling saloon, and gains a reputation as "an all-round tough." Now we submit that this is not "improving reading." It has a greater influence on the youthful, undisciplined imagination than the accounts of subsequent revival meetings. The manifest aim of the author of "Out of Darkness Into Light" is to do good, but so long as there are men who love darkness rather than light, the first part of this work will not tend to lead them from the error of their ways.

Leaves of a Life. By Montague Williams, Q.C. (New York: MacMillan & Co., Toronto: Williamson & Co.) These reminiscences of a Queen's Counsel, who has been a soldier, actor, playwright and journalist, are readable and entertaining. Almost all the causes celebres of the last 30 years have been summarized in a lively manner, and interspersed with anecdotes and personal sketches of nearly all the eminent members of the bench and bar during that period. Here are a few stories condensed from these "Leaves of a Life":

Of the celebrated actress Mrs. Keeley, who was apparently destitute of the power of appreciating a pun, it is told that she one day received from her friend Shirley Brooks a portion of a newly-killed pig, accompanied by the statement, "His end was peace, so I send you a piece of his end." Speaking to somebody about it, she remarked: "So clever of Shirley, you know; when he sent us the parcel he wrote on a piece of paper inside, 'His end was peace, so I send you a bit of the pig.'"

On one occasion, in an action for false imprisonment, heard before Mr. Justice Wrightman, a brother lawyer was addressing the jury at great length, repeating himself constantly, and never giving the slightest sign of winding up. When he had been pounding away for several hours, the good old Judge interposed and said: "Mr. Ribton, you've said that before." "Have I, my Lord," said Ribton; "I'm very sorry. I quite forgot it." "Don't apologize, Mr. Ribton," was the answer. "I forgive you; for it was a very long time ago."

Sergeant Ballantine was once discussing with three or four other men the character of a certain leader, the remarks made being not at all of a complimentary nature. Somebody interposing said: "Well, there's one thing that there's no denying—he never speaks ill of any man." "No, of course not," was the Sergeant's rejoinder, "for he never talks of anyone but himself."

Of his friend Poland the author relates a characteristic anecdote. He was very careless in his dress. He had a mind above that sort of thing, but his family hadn't, and times out of number his sister took him to task about his badly-fitting clothes, and begged him to go to a proper tailor. At last, in despair, Miss Poland consulted her brother-in-law, Mr. Underdown, Q.C., on the subject, with the result that Poland was induced to order a perfectly new outfit, and tell the tailor to be very particular about the fit. When the new clothes came home they fitted the wearer worse than the old ones. Poland being questioned by Underdown on the subject said, with the imperturbable manner peculiar to him, "Well, it's my business and not yours. I like to be comfortable. I spend three parts of my life sitting down, and I prefer to be measured so."

One of the oddest criminal cases recorded in the book is that of the farmer in Suffolk, who was brought up on the extraordinary charge of laughing in church. During service one Sunday the accused had caught the eye of a pretty rustic lass in the congregation, and a signaling communication had been established between them. Finally they were actually discovered committing the grave offense of laughing. One of the officers of the church observing this walked the man out of the building, and gave him into custody of the local constable, who took him to the lock-up. The evidence of the church official and the constable having been taken, the Chairman of the Bench, an old gentleman of 70 or 80, consulted with his brother magistrates, and then, after reading the accused a short lecture, actually sentenced him to four days' imprisonment with hard labor.

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

FOOTBALL.

HIGH SCHOOL VS. BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The Forest City Business College football team tried conclusions with the London Collegiate Institute team on Tecumseh Park Wednesday afternoon. The game was exceedingly well played, and resulted in favor of the Collegiate Institute team by four goals to none. Following were the teams:

HIGH SCHOOL.		F. C. B. C.
A. J. Stringer	Goal	A. Nugent
F. Bryant	Backs	Westervelt, jun
		Caister
B. Mills	Half	Collins
J. Muir	Backs	Rohr
J. W. Plewes
W. Hobbs	Right	Evans
R. A. Little	Wing	Porterfield
R. A. Gray	Center	R. Nicholson
E. Mills		Laird
D. Mills	Left	McEvoy
J. Kerrigan	Wing	E. Griffiths

Referee—Mr. F. Hall.

STRATFORD VS. LONDON (RUGBY).

Between 200 and 300 spectators witnessed the Rugby football match yesterday afternoon at Tecumseh Park between Stratford and London. The Classic City men were of heavier build than their opponents—an essential qualification in the game. The match was highly interesting, however, to the spectators, to many of whom it was somewhat novel, though had there been less scrimmaging and more passing the contest might have been nearer ideal Rugby. As it was some good individual playing was done, the work of Stratford's active little quarter, Watson, who exercises a peculiar knack in picking out the ball in a scrimmage, being especially brilliant. The home team put up a creditable game, considering the disadvantages they labored under, in lack of practice and team work. When time was called the score stood 16 points to 1 in favor of the visitors. The following composed the teams:

STRATFORD.		LONDON.
Cale	Back	Stevenson
Watson	Quarter	Harper
Bayne	Halves	Beltz
Macfadden		Gordon
C. Watson		Townsend
Filey	Right Wings	Mills
Radcliffe		Marsh
Wonham		Fraser
Van Buskirk	Left Wings	Riley
Panton		Verechere
Martin		Cronyn
Kilbert	Forwards	Scatcherd
Thompson		Milligan
McEwan		Sippi

Time—One hour and 20 minutes.
Referee—Mr. W. Thomas.
Touchline judges—For Stratford, Messrs. Ballantyne and Hibbert; for London, Messrs. Geo. T. Brown and Joseph Graham.

Filey, of Stratford, received a bad cut in the eye. This was the only mishap in the game.

COLLEGIANS CORNER THE CITY CLUB.

The Collegiate Institute team played their fourth game in the London League yesterday afternoon with the city team, and succeeded in defeating them by a score of 4 goals to 1. Both sides played in splendid style and the game abounded in brilliant plays, to such an extent that until time was called the result was undecided. Following were the positions:

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.		LONDON.
Stringer	Goal	Mellwain
Bryant	Backs	Hall
		Chittick
Plewes	Half Backs	Balmer
Muir		Gordon
E. Mills
D. Mills
Kerrigan	Left Wing	Watson
Gray		Skey
E. Mills	Center	Townsend
Little		Beltz
Hobbs	Right Wing	D. Mills
		Lind

Time—One hour, 10 minutes. Mr. J. W. Westervelt kindly acted as referee.

KICKS.

The football match played at Ottawa yesterday for the championship of Canada between the Montreals, of Montreal, and the Ottawa College, of Ottawa, was won by the latter—12 to 11.

The contest at Berlin on Thanksgiving Day between the Western Association and the Toronto League for the Caledonia Cup resulted in a draw, each side scoring two goals.

St. Catharines Collegiate Institute football team defeated Welland High School club at Welland Thursday by a score of 3 to 1.

The main feature of the Collegiate Institute and London City game was rapid, accurate passing and team play of the collegiate forwards.

Quite unexpectedly during the progress of the Collegiate and London City game, the St. Thomas club appeared on the ground for a game. They were afterwards taken up to the "I" School grounds, and an eleven was chosen to play against them, but as most of the players had already played one game, they were not in their usual trim. The game was considerably in favor of the London club, but neither side scored a goal. The match was very friendly throughout.

PEDESTRIANISM.

After the Fee race at the Detroit Rink Nov. 16, Moore will go to England and race against Littlewood (623 miles) in February. Moore says he was not in condition during the last race here, but is now, and will make it interesting for the other fellows in the forthcoming race. Manager Fee has a great quartet of racers in Herty, Guerrero, Howarth and Moore. —[Detroit Free Press.

THE TRIGGER.

SEVENTH BATTALION MATCH.

The "D" Company, I. S. C., team succeeded in worsting the battalion team at the butts yesterday in the contest for the Carling cup. The result was a surprise for the militiamen, who thought they would have the privilege of cutting out the shooting. In both the 200 and 400 yard ranges they had the advantage, but went to pieces at the 300-yard range, at which they had had but little practice. The individual scores in this contest were unusually close, Capt. Hayes especially distinguishing himself by making a total of 93 points out of a possible 100. In the company match Capt. Hayes' squad of men from the "D" Company carried off the honors, distancing their nearest competitor by over seventy points.

THE RING.

The prize fight for £400, between Lambert, of New York, and Teddy of Liverpool, which was to have been decided Thursday, has been declared off. The pugilists were arrested. The Sullivan McAuliffe case will come before the Tuesday next. Sporting men are betting odds on their acquittal.

The result of the rifle match between Company of the Seventh and "B" Company of St. Johns, Que., has been received. The score made here was 376, while the Quebecers ran up but 316. The Londoners are the winners.

QUOITING.

Joseph Gibb has challenged any man in the country to a game of quoits, $100 to $500 a side, Mat Breen of this city, preferred. A forfeit of $25 is in the hands of V. Civaun, Farmers' Advocate, Windsor.

BASEBALL.

A Philadelphia special says: The meeting of the Players' League magnates was called at the Continental Hotel this morning to discuss the situation was well attended. The meeting was called at the instance of Secretary Brunell, and with the sanction of the six clubs outside of New York and Brooklyn. New York and Brooklyn have the other clubs stating their intention to consolidate, and the latter are speaking the remaining six clubs must look out for themselves. The meeting was of a strictly private nature. At the conclusion of the conference the result will be given out for publication.

THE KENNEL.

The international field trials at Chatham concluded Thursday. The Derby was won by Tyke, Mingo second, Princess third and Upton fourth. In the all-aged trial Dick won first, Rose second, Blithe third and Duece fourth. Birds were very plentiful, and a most successful meeting was concluded satisfactorily.

TORONTO LETTER.

A Minister's Son Accidentally Shot—The Battle of the Humber—Lost a Leg.

TORONTO, Friday, Nov. 7.

Arnot Leishman, the 13-year-old son of Rev. J. Leishman, Presbyterian minister at Chester, in company with Mr. Hallett, a neighbor, a young man named George Hoodless and several young lads about his own age, went out hunting in a bush north of Don Mills yesterday morning. About 12:30, just after the party had eaten their lunch, Hoodless, noticing a squirrel near by, jumped up with a double-barreled shotgun in his hands and gave chase, but had not gone ten yards when the gun which he held went off and nearly the full charge penetrated young Leishman's head. The doctors are of opinion that if blood poisoning can be averted the boy will recover. His case is, however, a very serious one.

Edward F. Lachan, laborer, aged 22 years, was taken to the hospital yesterday suffering from injuries received by being run over by a freight train near Brighton, on the Grand Trunk Railway. His leg had to be amputated below the knee.

The event of Thanksgiving Day here was a sham fight of the militia bodies. The corps taking part were: The Queen's Own, the Grenadiers, "G" Company, the Thirteenth (Hamilton) and a detachment of Seventy-seventh Battalion (Dundas). The weather was fine, and the arrangements were carried out according to programme throughout.

Mr. G. W. Yarker has succeeded in placing in Montreal $50,000 stock in the York County Bank, being organized in Toronto.

The McAll Mission met at Toronto yesterday. It is proposed to form an auxiliary in London, Ont.

During the year ending August, 1890, the Toronto street cars traveled 4,396,509 miles at a cost of 11½ cents per mile.

Mr. Moody in Chicago.

Mr. D. L. Moody will open a series of meetings in Chicago on Nov. 23, in connection with his Bible Institute work. His presence and instruction in the institute will afford students the best possible opportunity to avail themselves of his counsel and teaching in the best methods of practical gospel work. He will be followed by Dr. Scott J. Gordon, of Boston, who is to remain through January, and possibly longer. Mr. Moody sends out a cordial invitation to all interested in Bible study and Christian work, who wish a new inspiration in the study of the Word of God, to attend the institute for such a period as they find convenient. As far as possible they will be accommodated in the institute buildings. Those who desire accommodations or further information should write at once to R. A. Torrey, Supt., 80 W. Pearson street, Chicago, or to Mrs. S. B. Capron, Supt. of the Ladies' Department, 232 La Salle avenue, Chicago.

Chatham's Board Dominion Building Association.

President—Mayor Hugh Malcolmson.
Secretary—Walter A. Thrasher.
Treasurer—Albert H. White.
Solicitors—Douglas, Douglas & Walker.
Directors—M. Houston, John Piggott, John McLerie, Jas. P. Dunn, A. McDonell, D. McKellar, James H. Duncan, M.D., Thos. Gleeron, H. A. Patteson.

Such a representative board and $20,000, or 200 shares, already subscribed in Chatham, bespeaks for this association a prosperous career in our town; and in connection with the head office in Toronto and 40 local boards organized, with a half dozen being organized every month, and all working in harmony for the individual good of each member and the benefit to all, the Dominion Building and Loan Association will compete with, if not excel, similar associations in the United States and the old country.

It has been said building associations, so excellent in themselves, almost run themselves, yet it is desirable to have at their head men who are well known to all, that the wage-earners and salaried men and all classes may feel an assurance of the success of their association. The Dominion meets this requirement. Dr. Burns, of Hamilton, the president, who has built up the Female College in that city, and is also vice-president of the Federal Life, together with Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, and his colleagues on the Toronto board, are men of ability and standing in Canada; and Chatham now has a board equal to London's, Ottawa's, Hamilton's, Toronto's other large cities in the Dominion.—[Chatham Banner. b

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr J. D. A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

So sing a song of sixpence
For what these dyes have done,
In giving glorious colors,
That hold in rain or sun.

The Flour Trade.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—The Northwestern Miller says: The output of flour last week was 180,000 barrels. Lower wheat has made flour rather quiet the past week. The demand for patients from eastern cities has been of the poorest. There continues to be a good deal of bidding from foreigners for bakers' around 20s 9d to 20s 6d. London delivery, but 27s or over is usually held for. Some transactions have occurred within a day or two in patent for export at about 22s. London delivery. Low grades are oversold to a considerable extent. The export shipments for the week were 56,300 barrels.

OUR NEW STORY.

By special arrangement with the author, the ADVERTISER of Friday next will contain the initial installment of Rudyard Kipling's first novel.

"The Light That Failed" is its title. It is a work in which the famous young writer has given full scope to his imaginative powers. The plot is brilliant in conception and complete in execution, and the style is even more fascinating than the short stories which have won many millions of readers for Mr. Kipling on both sides of the Atlantic.

No better time for new subscribers to begin reading the ADVERTISER could be found.

THE ADVERTISER TO-MORROW.

To-morrow's edition of the ADVERTISER will consist, as usual, of twelve pages. All the local, general and telegraphic news will be found chronicled, together with articles of a special character. "A Londoner Out West" continues his description of what he saw and heard in our wonderful prairie land. The ADVERTISER is a family paper and is read in the best homes. Its Ladies' Department, which is published in Saturday's issue, is always of special interest to heads of households.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—The Little Tycoon Opera Company arrived in the city to-day.

—Shooting parties were the order of Thanksgiving Day, but no great luck is reported.

—An auxiliary of the McAll mission will likely be formed in this city in the near future.

—The front of the Central Fire Station has been painted and presents a handsome appearance.

—At St. James' Presbyterian Church yesterday morning special thanksgiving services were held.

—Mr. J. P. Owens, of the Western Bank, Oshawa, formerly of the Bank of Commerce here, was looking up old friends in the city yesterday.

—Rev. W. J. McKay of the South London Baptist Church, will address the young men's meeting in Victoria Hall Sunday afternoon. Mr. Frank Holman will preside.

—The following from this city were successful at the first intermediate examination in law, which was held in Toronto on Tuesday: C. G. Powell, Ed. McMartin and J. C. Coughlin.

—Capt. R. Dillon, of Oshawa, formerly of London, is in the city for a few days. The Captain is known as one of the best crack shots in the Province, and participated in the rifle matches at the Cove yesterday.

—E. R. Murphy, Tralee, Ireland; H. Symonds, Reading, Berkshire, England; J. Hobson, Mosborough, three of the delegates from the old country who are viewing Canada's agricultural sights, are stopping at the Tecumseh House.

—The Thanksgiving services in St. Andrew's Church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock were specially interesting. Rev. M. Gordon and the pastor, Rev. J. Allister Murray, addressed a crowded congregation and spoke eloquently of the munificence of Providence and the reasons for thaugsgiving. A liberal collection was taken up in aid of the poor.

At Adelaide Street Baptist Church yesterday union Thanksgiving service was held for the congregations of that church and the King Street Presbyterian Church. Rev. H. C. Speller and Rev. W. M. Roger delivered brief addresses.

—The run of the London Hunt yesterday afternoon was a holiday event, and was witnessed by hundreds of spectators. A most enjoyable chase resulted, everybody being well up at the finish. Horses, hounds and riders were in splendid trim.

—Bishop O'Connor visited St. Marys separate school this morning, accompanied by Rev. Father Kennedy. An address from the children was read by Miss Lizzie Gibbons, the children singing a song of welcome. After speaking a few words of encouragement to the pupils he dismissed them for the day, giving them a half holiday.

—The funeral of the late Anson Paul took place yesterday to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, service being conducted by Rev. G. T. Carr. The following gentlemen, most of whom were in the city when Mr. Paul first became a resident of the place, acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. A. S. Abbott, Daniel Lester, James Gillean, Samuel McBride and Ald. Skinner.

—Mr. Howard was leading a cow over the Clarence street crossing of the G. T. R. this morning when the animal made a plunge, pulling him over the boulevard. It then attacked and gored him, inflicting a severe wound in the head. He was taken to the hotel of his son-in-law, Mr. H. Brinsmead. Mr. Howard is a man over 90 years of age.

—At St. Paul's Cathedral last night one of the largest congregations ever seen in that edifice assembled to hear the Thanksgiving sermon by the Bishop of Huron, all the Anglican clergymen of the city being on the platform. The address was a characteristic one, full of earnestness and scholarly force. The choir rendered appropriate music, an organ solo by Mr. Geo. Sippi being given with fine effect. The collections, which were liberal, were in aid of Huron College.

—Mr. S. Wilson, clerk at P. J. Watt's, was walking near the Hodgins House, Sunday night, when he heard a crash and espied a man running across the Market Lane. He followed him and saw him enter a lane on King street with some bottles in his hand. P. C. Nickle shortly after found two broken bottles in the lane, and subsequently came across John Wilson, lying drunk in front of Beneteau's fruit store with two more bottles, both partially emptied of their contents. Wilson, who comes from Chicago, was found guilty of larceny this morning and sentenced for one month. He had entered Mr. P. J. Watt's store at the rear, and taken the four bottles of choice liquor.

Struck with an Axe.

James Constantine and Archibald McGuiness, two neighbors, got into a drunken row this morning about 1 o'clock near the corner of Wellington street, on Bathurst, in which it appears that Constantine struck McGuiness on the head with an axe. The police heard of the affair, and Sergeant Jenkins was soon on the spot, where he found McGuiness, who is an old man, bleeding and unconscious. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance. Constantine made no resistance and was taken to the police station. A medical examination by Dr. Balfour revealed the fact that the injury was a flesh wound and not as serious as expected. Both parties concerned are laborers. Owing to McGuiness being confined to the hospital, the case was remanded for one week by the Police Magistrate this morning.

A Victoria Hall.

The Falcoln Guitar Club, formerly known as the XL Harmonica Band, gave a very enjoyable musical concert at the Victoria Hall last night, the programme being as follows: Sections, Falcoln Club; song, Mr. Warcup; recitation, Mr. Chas. Perry; guitar solo, Mr. J. Sheere; song, Miss Goldsmith; recitation, Mr. Hessell; song, Misses Gardner; selection, Falcoln Club; instrumental, Prof. Green; recitation, Mr. Perry; guitar solo, Mr. J. Sheere; song, Mr. Warcup; recitation, Mr. Hessell; song, Miss Goldsmith; banjo solo, Mr. F. Johnston; song, Misses Gardner; selection, Falcoln Club. The following are the members of this club: C. Williamson, harmonica, guitar, triangle; C. H. Tatham, harmonica, guitar; J. Adams, harmonica, guitar; C. Cave, harmonia; J. Sheere, guitar; L. Paladino, harmonica; C. Efner, banjo; Geo. Cave, harmonica; Geo. Burrows, harmonica; A. Vincent, guitar; W. Vincent, banjo; C. Armstrong, harmonica, guitar; F. Johnson, banjo; Bert. Dibsdale, piccolo; J. Birmingham, harmonica; Master T. Sullivan, snare drum; C. Williamson, musical director; C. Efner, stage manager; C. H. Tatham, secretary-treasurer.

Presbyterians' Concert.

A well-satisfied audience was that which had assembled last night in the First Presbyterian Church, Park avenue. A pleasing feature of the evening was the singing of a couple of hymns in which the entire congregation joined. The concert reflected credit on the musical conductor, Mr. W. M. Clarke, organist of the church. The programme included the following numbers.

Anthem—Blessed be Thou.....Darnton
Choir.

London Knights at Woodstock.

The opening of a new conclave of the Knights of Sherwood Forest at Woodstock yesterday was conducted by Supreme Commander W. T. Duff, of this city, assisted by a number of the Knights from London, under Capt. Pugh. At the Woodstock station the Londoners were met by the Woodstock Foresters and, forming in line, were escorted to the hotel. The initiation subsequently took place, the conclave having 21 names to start with. After the mysteries of the order had been properly exemplified, the following officers were elected: Past commander, J. H. Ross; commander, D. Copp; vice-commander, W. A. Close; paymaster, Jas. Trumbull; adjutant, W. Lloyd; quartermaster, F. Obein; captain, L. Chaplin; first lieutenant, Chas. Barnett; second lieutenant, J. Marple; first sergeant, W. Taylor; second sergeant, Arthur Starr. The party then adjourned to the British American Hotel, where 80 sat down to supper. The chair was occupied by Supreme Commander Duff. At his right sat Captain Pugh and Frank Westlake, while on his left were R. S. Rockett, acting past supreme commander, and A. E. Peters, quartermaster. The vice chair was filled by Supreme Vice-Commander T. G. Hayhoe, of St. Thomas, with J. M. McKay, the host. The first toast was "The Queen." Next came "The Ancient Order of Foresters," coupled with the names of C. Rapsin, Supreme Commander W. T. Duff and Capt. Pugh. Bro. Hayhoe replied for the Ancient Order of Shepherds. The toast to the press was responded to by A. E. Peters. Bro. Chaplin proposed the health of the visitors, to which Messrs. Sutherland, Rockett and Templer replied. Music during the evening was supplied by Waters' band, a cornet solo by Mr. Waters being especially well rendered.

Why Croft Went Away.

John Croft, who was supposed to have been buried, yet who returned from this city to his home in Hamilton, has not yet ascertained who the buried man was. The reasons why Mr. Croft went away are stated by himself to be because of a strike among the teamsters. He did not wish to return to work at his old job, and he knew that his people would oppose his going away, so he left without saying anything, intending to write and send money as soon as he should get work. As already stated, he was in St. Paul and Minneapolis, but failed to get work, therefore he could not send money. A week ago he decided to return to Canada and if possible get work here. At that time he had heard nothing of the death of his double, or of the burial of the man who was supposed to be John Croft. These facts he did not learn until he reached this city, where he was amazed to find that he was supposed to a dead man. The real John Croft started out the morning after his arrive, accompanied by his daughter and a niece who went with them from this city, to visit the grave over which the funeral rites of the Foresters have been performed for him. The feelings of Mr. Croft can be better imagined than described. The family have decided to keep the grave green and put some flowers out in the spring in memory of the unknown dead if it should happen that the remains are not claimed and removed.

A BLOW TO ST. MARYS.

The Maxwell Works Shut Down for an Indefinite Period.

Over 100 Workmen Thrown Idle—Dull Trade and Resulting Financial Difficulties.

A report from St. Mary's to-day says that there is consternation in that town over the fact that the Maxwell agricultural implement works have shut down for an indefinite period, and the whole of the hands been discharged.

The Maxwell works were taken to St. Marys a few years since, on the granting of a bonus of $30,000 by the town. Prior to that, the proprietors had been doing business in Paris, having done a prosperous trade in that place many years ago.

The ADVERTISER has reason to believe that the trouble is brought about by financial difficulties incident to the dull ness in trade. It is understood that the firm has made a strong struggle to overcome the trouble, but have been unable to do so. The Bank of Montreal has taken proceedings to recover moneys due it.

It is to be hoped that some steps can be taken whereby the Messrs. Maxwell may be able to resume business at an early date. The firm is enterprising and energetic, and has deserved success, but the limited market and cost of sending its products over a wide extent of territory has handicapped it. To the employes the suspension of operations is a great disappointment, as it was quite unexpected, and they had laid in their fuel and other winter supplies under the impression that work would go on as usual. The number of hands employed by the works at this season has generally been about 100, but the firm has had under pay as many as 175. The Stone Town will feel the change if the suspension of operations is long continued.

After the Battle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Tribune (Rep.) from the latest election returns "The latest United States give the Democrats a majority in Congress of from 120 to 130." The Press (Ind.) gives the Democrats (including Farmers' Alliance men) 141 majority. The Times (Mugwump) figures the Democratic majority at 153.

The World (Dem.) says: "The latest returns indicate that the Democrates, including Farmers' Alliance men, will have 233 members in the next House, while the Republicans will have but 93. This will give the Democrats a majority of 145, and even if some of the Alliance men should vote with the Republican ticket the Democrats will still have a two-thirds majority."

The latest returns from South Dakota show that there is an Alliance victory, and that Lucid is elected Governor. The Legislature is also be Alliance.

Desperate Remedies

By Thomas Hardy,

AUTHOR OF "A PAIR OF BLUE EYES," "THE TRUMPET-MAJOR," ETC.

[The opening chapter of this charming story refers to a Christmas visit to London, in 1835 of Ambrose Graye, a young architect, during which time he became acquainted with a retired officer in the navy, named Bradleigh, his wife and their beautiful daughter Cytherea. Graye falls in love with Cytherea and asks her to be his own. Although fond of Graye her reply is, "We must part now," and they accordingly separate. Graye then learned that Cytherea had a fondness for her cousin, an officer of the line, who had departed for India. Eight years later Graye married another lady, but he could never forget his first love. Several years elapse and Graye becomes a widower with two children—Owen and Cytherea. Time passes on and the children reach the ages of 19 and 18 respectively, when their father dies. Owen finds his father was hopelessly in debt, and both incidentally learn of his first love. The young man secures a situation in an architect's office and provides for his sister's want, while she endeavors to procure a position as governess. Owen informs his sister that the head draughtsman, Edward Springrove, is a "nice fellow," who is on the lookout for a suitable companion for life, and says that though of humble origin he is a thorough artist and has a decided bent for writing poetry, and brings home a selection of Springrove's verses, which Cytherea reads with great interest. Being left much of the time alone, Cytherea lets her mind dwell on the image of the young draughtsman, and soon feels a more than friendly interest in him, and when Owen tells her that Springrove is to leave Mr. Gradfield's employ and go to London she is inexpressibly saddened, though why she knows not. While on an excursion Owen wanders away from his sister, missing the returning steamer, and Cytherea is thrown into the company of Springrove, who entertains her pleasantly and accompanies her safely home. They each discover an unfathomed attachment for the other. Owen returns and Springrove takes the brother and sister boating for several evenings. Meeting Cytherea alone he proposes a row, and they go off together. Springrove talks of his future, and thinks he will not succeed because his social qualities are not of the class he attributes to successful men in his profession. Cytherea speaks encouragingly and urges him to try to succeed, and tells how she has again advertised for work. Before returning Springrove declares his love for her, and in the supremely happy moment of his confession kisses her ardently. Springrove tells her he has kept something from her and has no right to love her, and that something forbids, and Cytherea's short-lived bliss is dead and gone, as she begs for an explanation, which is refused. Cytherea advertises for a place as lady's maid, and is engaged by Miss Aldclyffe, formerly Cytherea Bradleigh) who on the evening of her maid's arrival is giving a dinner party honoring her father's birthday. Inexperienced Cytherea in her duties as lady's maid crosses the very erratic and excitable temper of her mistress over the arrangement of her hair. After the dinner, while unrobing Miss Aldclyffe, Cytherea sees a small locket and chain around her neck. Her mistress opens the locket and shows the picture of a man whom Cytherea recognizes as her father. Soon Miss Aldclyffe reproaches herself for reposing such confidence in her maid, and scolds and accuses Cytherea of deceiving her. Cytherea denies the deceit, and recriminations follow, culminating in a heated quarrel, during which Miss Aldclyffe discovers that her maid is the daughter of her lost love. Cytherea gives notice that she will not serve such a mistress, and retires to her room. During the night Miss Aldclyffe comes to Cytherea's bed and gives way to a passionate longing for sympathy and love, when, discovering that the younger woman has bestowed her love, she rails against all men as unfaithful, and says Springrove is engaged to marry a girl in that neighborhood, where his father is a tenant on the Aldclyffe estate. That night Miss Aldclyffe's father dies, leaving his property to his daughter, who induces Cytherea to remain as her companion, and, despite the irascibility occasionally shown by the elder, a warm friendship is established between them. Miss Aldclyffe advertises for a land steward, and from a large number of applicants for the post—among whom was Edward Springrove—she selects Aeneas Manston, whom she appears to have known of previously, and who is installed in the old Manor house as superintendent of the estate. Cytherea goes collecting for a religious society, and calls on a Miss Hinton, who during an animated conversation informs Cytherea that she is soon to be married, and shows "his" photograph, which her visitor instantly recognizes as that of Edward Springrove. Farmer Springrove is the next subscriber on the list, and Cytherea also calls on him. He, too, talks of Edward, and hopes to see him soon married to Adelaide Hinton and settled down. On her way home she is caught in a thunder storm, and at the invitation of Mr. Manston enters the Mansion House for shelter.]

His manner was rather elegant than good. his speech well-finished and unconstrained. The pause in their discourse, which had been caused by the peel of thunder, was unbroken by either for a minute or two, during which the ears of both seem absently following the roar of the as it became gradually rivaled increasing rush of rain upon the herbage of the grove. After short look at him, Cytherea had t head towards the avenue for a w and now glancing back again for a she discovered that his eyes wer in a steady, though delicate, rega face and form.

At this moment, by reason of narrowness of the porch, their dresse and remained in contact.

"No, thank you. I don't want to hear it whilst it thunders so." But he had begun without heeding her answer, and she stood motionless again, marveling at the wonderful indifference to all external circumstances which was now evinced by his complete absorption in the music before him.

"Why do you play such saddening chords?" she said, when he next paused.

"H'm; because I like them, I suppose," he said lightly. "Don't you like sad impressions sometimes?"

"Yes, sometimes, perhaps."

"When you are full of trouble."

"Yes."

"Well, why shouldn't I when I am full of trouble?"

'Are you troubled?"

"I am troubled." He said this thoughtfully and abruptly—so abruptly that she did not push the dialogue further.

THE WEATHER PROPHET.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—11 p.m.—The area of high pressure has moved very quickly from the Northwest Territories to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, giving colder weather in Northern Ontario and Quebec, and strong easterly winds on the lakes and along the St. Lawrence. The weather continues cold in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and light snow has fallen at many points. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Calgary, 14°—24°; Prince Albert, zero—2°; Qu'Appelle, 4°—30°; Winnipeg, 40—20°; Port Arthur, 10°—30°; Toronto, 37°—45°; Montreal, 38°—44°; Halifax, 44°—46°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—10 a.m.—The indications for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Unsettled and cloudy, with fresh to strong winds, and light local rain or sleet.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Grand holiday weather.

—"The Little Tycoon" to-night.

—A fitting day for national thanksgiving.

—Rev. Dr. Potts will preach in this city on Nov. 30.

—Turkeys and geese are not as numerous as before the holiday.

—Mr. Frank Doty, of Hamilton, spent yesterday in the city.

—Every firearm down to the antiquated musket was in demand yesterday.

—Mrs. Leys, of this city, has subscribed $10 to the Thompson Home, Detroit.

—A large number took advantage of the fine weather and visited the cemeteries.

—Large numbers were carried to and from the city on London's three railway systems.

—Mr. Herbert Matthews, of Toronto, is on a two weeks' visit to the parental roof in this city.

—Mr. John Campbell, carriage builder, has returned from his extended trip to the Pacific Coast.

—Mr. John Burns has returned from his shooting trip to Muskoka. He brought home three deer.

—Many spent the day in driving through the country or around the city. The roads were rather muddy.

—Mr. George W. Miller, of the Toronto Telegram, spent Thanksgiving Day with his relatives in this city.

—Mrs. Ernest B. Smith, of London, is in the city visiting her father, Adam Brown, M.P.—[Hamilton Herald.

—Rev. Dr. Cochrane has received £100 from the Presbyterian Church in Ireland for home missions in Canada.

—A large number of drunks, two or three of whom wore blood-bespattered faces, were dealt with by the Police Magistrate this morning.

—The Educational Department has decided to issue certificates to all those who have been successful in passing the commercial course in the high schools.

—The London, Eng., Chronicle speaks of the death of Frederick Lambe, of 15 Harwick road, Earl's Court, formerly of Ceylon, late of London and Petrolea, Canada, aged 76.

—Mrs. Large, widow of the murdered missionary to Japan, on Monday leaves Woodstock for Clifton Spring, N. Y., for a couple of months to recoup her health, returning to Japan in July next.

—Mr. C. J. Noble, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, has been promoted to the head office at Toronto. Mr. Noble's friends in this city will be pleased to hear of his well-deserved promotion.

—Mr. Thomas Cameron, of Arkona, spent the past two days with relatives in this city and at Dorchester Station. It is about ten years since he visited London before, and he sees many improvements.

—Mrs. Morkin claimed at the Police Court this morning that Chief Williams was mistaken in supposing her cow to have been running at large on Oct. 25. As the Chief did not appear the case was dismissed.

—Mr. Hodge Duncan, while sawing blocks for street-paving at the yard of J. Cousins, Bathurst street, this morning, received a severe cut on one of his hands, which will cripple him for some time to come.

—Mr. M. F. Libby, the retiring English master of the Collegiate Institute, left for Toronto yesterday. He was recently waited on by his former pupils and presented with nine volumes and an address expressing their regret at his departure, yet joy at his promotion.

—William Howard, according to the policeman's story, desired to get into the greenhouse at Victoria Park Wednesday evening, and, the door not being handy, made an entrance through several panes of glass. He was brought before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning and bailed until Oct. 13.

—Geo. Taylor, a Whitechapel outcast, who came to this country with horses in April, stole a pair of gloves from the office at Marshall's livery on Monday last. The lad has been arrested several times for vagrancy, and has no home, but picks up odd jobs for a living. He was sentenced to one month's imprisonment by the Police Magistrate.

—At Dundas Street Center Methodist Church the union Thanksgiving day service was conducted by Rev. George Boyd, of Queen's Avenue Church, assisted by Rev. Wm. McDonagh, of London West. The children of the Orphans' Home were present, and the collections were in aid of that institution. The musical portion of the service was exceptionally excellent.

—The Fort Wayne correspondent of the Detroit Free Press says: "Charles H. Hartley, a "red coat" of London, Ont., who is passing a two-months' furlough in the United States, visited the fort yesterday. He is well pleased with what he has seen of the American army, and thinks of transferring his allegiance to Uncle Sam when his present term of service has expired in the army of the Queen.

—Patrick Swain, the man who possessed himself of a horse and rig about a week ago, standing in the streets at St. Thomas, and drove to this city, has been sentenced to four years in the penitentiary by the Police Magistrate there. He belongs to Hamilton and is notorious as a crook, having previously served several terms in prison. The audacity of Swain in lodging at the police station here during the night is almost unparalleled.

—Many Londoners will learn with interest that Mr. S. H. Thompson, clerk at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, was married Wednesday evening to Miss Lillian Winnett, daughter of one of the proprietors of the Tecumseh House at that city. The bridesmaids were Misses Edith and Ida Winnett, sisters of the bride, and the train bearers were Misses McGaw and Winnett, while Messrs. J. Kilgour and A. Hutchinson were groomsmen.

—Deputy Grand Commander J. C. Walker, of Guelph, instituted a legion of the Select Knights of Canada in South London last night. The following officers were elected: Commander, E. Parnell; vice-commander, G. T. Trebilcock; recorder, A. D. Westman; treasurer, Isaac Wildern; recording treasurer, W. A. Westcott; trustees, Chas. H. Elliott, Alex. Ferguson and J. K. Darch; physician, Dr. Ferguson. This promising society begins with a first-class membership and a capable staff of officers.

—Mr. Alfred Liddicott, M. C. R. fireman, died in St. Thomas on Wednesday, after an illness of two weeks, from fever. Deceased was about 34 years of age, and leaves a widow and his mother and brother, who reside on Dundas street east, this city. Mr. Liddicott was well known in the vicinity of Clinton and Exeter, where he was engaged in farming for a number of years previous to his removal to St. Thomas. He was of a kind hearted and pleasant disposition and had many friends who extend their deep sympathy to the sorrowful relatives. The funeral took place at St. Thomas to-day.

—The London Central Circle, C. L. S. C., held their regular semi-monthly meeting in Wesley Hall Wednesday evening. Quotations from early English poetry were given in response to the roll call. The circle was then favored with an excellent essay on "William the Conqueror." In the table talk which followed feudalism and the part the barons played in English history and politics were fully discussed. A collection of sentences showing forms of bad English and inelegancies of diction formed the next feature of the programme. The critic's remarks brought a most interesting and profitable meeting to a close.

—Of the "Little Tycoon," which will appear at the Grand Opera House this and to-morrow evenings, the Pittsburg Dispatch says: "The choruses, for harmony of the highest type, were only equaled by the voices of the singers, blending in such a degree of unison as to elicit unanimous commendation. Many of the airs were repeated at the hearty encore of the audience. The cast of characters was equal to and in some respects better than when presented in this city a year ago. The costuming, especially the Japanese costumes, were exceedingly rich and showy and artistic in design, while the stage scenery was a triumph of success."

—The lady referred to in the subjoined paragraph (from the Port Arthur Herald) formerly lived in this city. She was then well known as Miss Laurie: "On Wednesday evening Mrs. Dobie, Mrs. Meikie and a houseful of other ladies called at the residence of Mrs. F. Gibbs, and presented Mrs. (Dr.) Smellie with a magnificent Japanese umbrella lamp. Mrs. Smellie left on Thursday, with the children, for the west on her way to join the Doctor. The station platform was crowded with friends to say au revoir. We were all sorry to see Auntie go away, and hope that in her new home on the western prairie she and the Doctor will find plenty of new friends."

Accident to a Former Londoner.

Mr. J. K. Agnew, son of the late Dr. Agnew, of this city, and superintendent of the C. and M. W. Railway, met with an accident the other day that might have resulted more seriously. In company with a number of railway officials, they started from Grand Rapids in a special train of two cars to inspect the system. When returning from Traverse City about 6 o'clock in the evening the train plunged down an embankment ten or twelve feet high, Mr. Agnew receiving several injuries, including a contusion in the head which rendered him unconscious all night, but he is now rapidly improving. Several of the party were less seriously hurt. The accident was caused by the red glass of the danger light slipping down and displaying a white one, thus running the train on an open switch.

Thanksgiving Supper.

One of the happiest gatherings seen in the London West Methodist Church in a long time was that of last evening, when the long-looked-for Thanksgiving supper and entertainment took place. The supper, which reflected credit on the wives and daughters of the congregation, was served during the early part of the evening in the school room. Rev. Wm. McDonagh, pastor of the church, occupied the chair, and when all had partaken of a sufficient quantity of the good things on the tables called the meeting to order in an appropriate speech, the choir having previously rendered an acceptable selection. Rev. Mr. Hare and Rev. George Boyd delivered interesting addresses, and Messrs. Jones and Gorman sang solos. All enjoyed the affair immensely, and the vote of thanks which was proposed to the young people and others who had been energetic in making the affair a success was carried unanimously.

The Collegiate's New Principal.

The Stratford correspondent of the Globe says: "Principal Merchant of the Collegiate Institute received a telegram tendering him the position of head master of the London Collegiate Institute at a salary of $2,000 a year, which is $200 more than he is receiving here. He has not yet decided whether or not he will accept the offer. Should he do so it will be a sad blow to this school, as under his management the Institute has made rapid progress and now has students from all parts of the Province."

Stratford Sun: "It seems as if the fates were against the Stratford Institute securing a permanent master."

Stratford Beacon: "There was nothing said at the meeting of the Stratford trustees on Tuesday evening, as to Mr. Merchant's removal, and we hope the London report proves incorrect, and that Mr. Merchant may remain here in the position which he fills so well."

Stratford Herald: "The Herald called on Mr. Merchant at the school this morning, and in reply to a query as to whether he would accept he said he had not yet accepted nor had he decided to accept. If, however, he should accept it will be for the difference in salary. He spoke very favorably of Stratford, and remarked that his relations with the Board in this city had always been of the pleasantest. The news of the appointment was a surprise to every one, and general regret was expressed that Mr. Merchant might leave. It would be a serious blow to the institute should the city lose Mr. Merchant at such a time as this when the school is beginning to build up, and it is to be hoped matters will take such a turn that Mr. Merchant's services will be retained in this city."

The Greatest Puzzle of the Age

is how the "Bargain Store" can sell drygoods at such close prices. But we still continue to lead. Our store is full of seasonable goods, and we guarantee to sell first-class drygoods 25 to 50 per cent. below any house in town. Some people ask how we can do this. We do it through buying all our goods for "spot cash" every time. This week we cleared a lot of ladies' mantles and dolmans from a wholesale house in need of "cash." We got them at 47c on the dollar, so that we can give you your choice of 800 mantles, jackets and dolmans at one-half the original wholesale cost. This is without a doubt the greatest bargain sale of mantles ever held in London. Just think! You can get a mantle worth $30 wholesale for $15; mantles worth $18 wholesale for $9. The sale starts Friday morning, and will continue while the lot lasts.

Now we want to make every Friday our special bargain day, and we have a list of specials for next Friday. No. 1 is a twilled gray flannel, 28 inches wide, worth 37½c, for 25c on Friday; No. 2, a black cashmere, 42 inches wide, worth 50c, for 25c a yard on Friday; No. 3 is a $2 black stockinette, 2 yards wide, for 90c a yard on Friday; No. 4, a Victoria twill cloth, for wraps and costumes, in myrtle and garnet, worth $1, for 90c on Friday; No. 5, a line of Jersey flannels for children's coats, worth 75c, for 45c a yard on Friday; No. 6 will be a job of linen handkerchiefs, worth 25c for 12½c each on Friday; No. 7 will be 57 pairs of all-wool blankets, worth $4, for $2 69 a pair on Friday. If you want any of those goods come Friday and ask to see them. We always have the goods we advertise, and are willing to show you through even if you don't want to buy.—THE LONDON BARGAIN DRYGOODS STORE, 136 Dundas street, opposite the Market Lane. 78-u
