"Well, Plewes, I want to congratulate you on the power you have over those children. That was the finest exhibition I ever saw in my life."

"Yes," replied Mr. Plewes, "I am very thankful that no one was hurt. It was quite a narrow escape." "Narrow escape!" said Mr. Park. What narrow escape?"

It was now Mr. Plewes' turn to look surprised. When he explained the circumstances of how the large embankment of 900 children had threatened to give way, which would have meant certain death to some of the children, Mr. Park was thunderstruck. "Well, that is wonderful," commented he. "I though all along that you were giving an exhibition of the way you would manage the children in the event of a fire and showing how fast you could clear that stand of 900 children. Under the real circumstances, lando declared that the shortage of then, you are to be more than compli-

The coolheaded principal took in the situation at a glance, and realized that if he could avoid confusion and a stampede the children could be safely removed from their perilous position.

The little tots were naturally much alarmed and mapy of them were rising in their seats, thus adding danger to their position. Mr. Plewes, however, with wonderful presence of mind, did the only thing which could save the lives of the children at that mo-

Mr. Blonde, who was present, offered to repair and strengthen the stand and charge Mr. Plewes nothing either for past or future services in connection with this concert. This seemed very reasonable and it was decided to hav Mr. Blonde repair the stand and have examined by Messrs. Robertson, Paxton and Architect Wilson, who wil make sworn addavits that the stand i perfectly secure. It was decided then to give a concert to-night, but reserv the presentation of medals, etc., unti Monday evening.

Principal Plewes was seen this morning. He had quite recovered from the effects of the severe strain which he labored under last night. He complained, however, that he had slept little during the night. Every time he would doze off pictures of the platform full of children would arise and the principal of Central school would wake up with a start. "I was just on the point of signal-

"The teachers acted nobly. were with the pupils on the platform and in the dressing rooms and as soon as they saw what was in progress, went on arranging the children as though for a rehearsal and thus prevented any commotion. I feel very proud of the Central school teachers, and I am sure that no panic can ever happen among children, where the eachers are present."

F. H. Brisco, manager of the House, in a brief interview with The Planet,

"This has been a very unfortunate occurrence and came at a time when was least expected. The results nowever, are not at all serious. ## TARTE MAKES GOOD CAPITAL

La Patrie on the Lessons of the Conference - Endorsation of Mr. Tarte.

Canadian Ministers Showed Themselves in Favor of Tariff Readjustment.

Montreal, Nov. 7 .- La Patrie, the rgan of Hon. Mr. Tarte, late Minister of Public Works, discussing the outcome of the colonial conference, points out that the attitude of the Canadian Ministers was in favor of readjustment of our fiscal policy and evidently considers that such attitude is a strong endorsement of the late Minister's course.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colf leagues have offered to raise our tariff almost along the whole line against world, provided that England would reference to our natural ducts. The Canadian Ministers have high protection to radically change our fiscal policy. It is a good thing these offers were for the curtain to be raised. Then I made. They have been a precious les. Rumors Regarding the Ontario Governorship-Ross Favors Appointment of Scott

Ottawa, Nov. 7 .- The presence of Raymond Prefentaine in the city today occasioned considerable gossip but failed to open the lips of the Prime Minister, who says the announcement as to Mr. Tarte's successor will not be made until next week. Mr. Prefontaine lunched with the Premier at noon. The question is seemingly not yet settled, but Mr. Prefontaine's friends are confident. There are, however, occasional rumors that Mr. Brodeur is still a possibility. Lord Minto leaves the capital for Montreal next Friday, but the matter is likely to be settled by

The Folksthing adopted a resolution approving the cession on condition that the inhabitants of the islands should declare in favor thereof by a plebiscite. Later both houses voted to postpone action on the treaty until a plebiscite should be taken on the proposition to sell the islands. This week the project of ratification has been given quietus, at least for the time, the failure of the bill to ratify the treaty by a tie vote. This result was secured by the vote of two extremely aged and bedridden mempers of the Landsthing, who were prought from a distance to vote against the treaty. The result appears to be a disappointment to a arge number of people in the islands and in Denmark as well, as quite naturally to the department of state at Washington. All hope of securing the ratification of the treaty has not yet been given up at Washington though it is now recognized that the task is a more difficult one than it was thought to be at first.

PITCAIRN ISLAND.

London Chronicle. It is only "once in a blue moon that people have a chance of sending a letter to Pitcairn island, and therefore the intimation of the G. P. O. that H. L. S. Shearwater is going there, and taking a mail, must not be overlooked. Pitcairn island is one of the smallest and most isolated spots of our empire, a sort of pockethandke chief piece of ground in the middle of the vast Pacific, almost exactly half-way between America and Australia. When the mutineers of H. M. S. Bounty sent Admiral Bligh on his famous voyage of 3,000 miles in an open boat, they were lost to sight for nearly thirty wears. Then they were accidentally years. Then they were accidentally discovered in Pitcairn island, where, with the assistance of some native women, they had built a little patriarchal community. In 1856 the population had grown to 192, and an island of only two square miles did not give them enough elbow room. So the imperial government transthe imperial government trans- | Detroit, Mich

International Bible Lesson for To-Morrow-Joshua's Parting Advice -Josh. 24, 14-25. 1 1

Golden Text-"Choose ye this day whom ye will serve.'

For 25 years this man of God, now 103 years old, a patriot, commander-in-chief and judge of all Israel, had led them in conquest and allotted and settled them in their locations. He calls a farewell meeting of the Tribes at Shechem to pledge them in fidelity to the God of Israel. The case is put to their choice, the candidates proposed for election-the Lord Jehovah or the gdds of Egypt or Ammon. Some would think Jehova's service hard, because the flesh was to be denied and a cross taken up, and Idol worship easy, just as men do to-day. God calls for a service of sincerity and truth, for a national and individual choice, not because we can do no other, but we can and Bible Class to-morrow afternoon ance, and what is more, of girls not do no better. The Letter-Box -------

ACT SQUARELY. BOYS,

To the Editor of The Planet: Dear Mr. Editor,-Some time ago, a letter written by "December" dealing with a few of the foibles of the Chatham young man, appeared in your paper. With most of the statements contained in that letter I could say Amen! to, and with not a few of the reading, thoughtful young men of this city, that letter certainly impressed, and if my few remarks now will have as much weight, with the same young men, I shall feel amply repaid.

For some time past I have been making a study of our everyday young man and woman, and I am forced to a few conclusions not at all flattering to the present century et-tiquet te. Whatever it may be due to-woman's rights, the new woman, the equalization of the sexes, the bicycle, or the so called higher education of woman, that pronounced chivalry of manner with all that it implied, reverence for woman, the physical and mental superiority of men, if you like, has almost entirely disappeared. The present day young man and woman, upo in the slightest provocation, and doubtful grounds of intimacy become too "chummy" to use the cant phrase of the day, to sustain the courtesies of manner, which impart a becoming and ennobling dignity to the social intercourse between the sexes. In spite of the mental and physical develop-ment that the women of to-day, the advanced type, boast, over the women of ages past, our young women hold themselves rather cheap, and our young men are developing a conceited attitude towards the sex which in the times of our forefathers would have unceremoniously been dubbed "cheeky." It is the fashion of a great number of young men to boast oif the ease with which they can gain St. Andrew's Church Sunday School the favor of girls of their acquaintof their acquaintance, and on the other hand our every-day young woman, by her street v behavior lend color to these masculine vauntings. At any rate, it is no uncommon thing dinary up-to-date cheek, to have with half a dozen girls before "gone" he seriously begins to think of mat-rimony. I am forced to the conclusion that one reason why there is in Bachelordom, is the fact that they rejoice in a liberty made excusable by the smiles and favors of women, which should, if they were wisely utilized, be reserved only for such honest and honorable fellows as mean

> The other day I heard a young man say, one who has been here but year or so, "that it was no trick to become acquainted with Chatham "In fact," he further added, they'll meet you more than half way, and on the whole it is a compara-tively easy task." "December" says that Mr. Charles Major, author of the novel "When Knighthood was in Flower." scores the present generation in his choice of a title for the story. Does he? Not if the above statement of my friend is correct, and to be candid, there is some truth in what he said. There is no more beautiful thing on earth than the love of man for woman, and the responsive affection of woman for man, and the fact is nothing more natural, each being the complement of the other, as aiming at the perfection of God's eternal plan. It is natural for man to love woman-to love "one" woman, according to the divine arrangement of all things generally, and the young man, if he desires to be honest, and to remain honest in this regard, should begin now that rigid course of discipline which must be observed in later life. He may only marry one woman, if he ants more he will have to go to Ut n-and he must be a poor, shallow-hearted "affair' who keeps fameying himself in love with this and that fair one before he is able to make up his small mind that he has hit upon the right one. As is often the case, where cheek is maistaken for sentiment he often succeeds in creating a tender interest in more than one gentle breast. Then his misdirected attentions are bount to do harm to others, to injure the matrimonial prospects of the discarded ones; for most men have a reasonable objection to wearing cast-off clothing, even if it has only been donned by way of trial. Then there is a class of although they have no prospects of being able to keep a wife respectably in the greatest hurry to get married. They make name love to the object of their affection or fancy, com promise her in the eyes of eligible young men, and perhaps entangle her and vivacity of early life has faded or died, or until some other object has displaced her in her lovers' affections, "What is a fellow to do then'?" same one asks. Do Why, wait like a man, as hundreds of Canadian fellows have done in the past. Exercise your soul in patience, and you'll make the better man, who shall gladden the heart of some fair girl, when your first fancy is the happy wife of another, who was prepared to give her home, when you had none to offer her. That would be the manly, proper thing to do, and don't run after other girls either to your own undoing or theirs. And, remember, fellows, it is bad enough to trifle with our lady friends, though some of them may deserve it; a female flirt is not a particularly pleasant personage, but a male flirt—he ought to be os-tracised by his lady acquaintances, and thrashed by one of their male

For a minute the hubbub of conversation ceased when Collector of Customs Farquharson, Deputy Collector Pilkey and Auctioneer Andrew Thomson put in an appearance. The auctioneer opened up the sale with a little explanatory speech, then of-fered a guitar for sale. After some spirited bidding at five cents a rise, the guitar was knocked down to D. J. Macdonald for $1.75. The next article offered was two bottles of medicine, but nobody wanted it. A stamping outfit was sold to Theodore Bourassa for 45 cents. Then a farmer bought some advertising cards for five cents. A band uniform with gold braid and a helmet aroused some interest and bidding was lively but not heavy. A woman secured the uniform for $1.45.

Mrs. Gray bought half a dozen paving brick samples for 5c. She got good neasure for her money, in weight. Nobody wanted a cast iron wheel and it will be destroyed. At least that is what Andrew Thomson said would be done with the articles no

AN ACCIDENT AVERTED.

To the Editor of The Planet: Dear Sir,-Through the clear-headed brain of the principal of the Central School what might have been a serious affair was averted last night at the Grand Opera House by the good judgment used by Principal Plewes. The platform recently erected, on which was seated several hun-dred school children, began to sway, and the principal, seeing the danger had the children so, under his control that by his telling them to remain quiet and not to move, they were taken off their dangerous positions without the injury to a single child, thus averting a sad accident. After all had been removed. Mr. Plewes ame in front of the platform and informed the large assemblage that the oncere would have to be postponed until Saturday evening owing to the langerous position of the platform his was a sad 'diappointment to al' and Mr. Plewes should be commended upon the good judgment he used. Our children are certainly in good hands while under such a good, collected

PERTINENT QUERIES.

Chatham, Nov. 8, '02. To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,-Upon reading the long 1. The Company drills will be held list of signatures against this prohibition act, I am just now becoming interested. If we are expected to vote in December we wish to know just what we are to vote for or against. You will no doubt consider me behind the times, but believe me, there are not three out of flifty of us country folk who really understand the thing am quite aware of its having been our privilege to have read it up, but until now there has been but little interest taken in it generally.

According to this manifesto, th iquor traffic is still to be carried on, only in unlice sed houses; do, or will our laws permit such a state of affairs? Are they who are e trusted to carry them out so impotent as to submit to such outlawry? If it any wonder the census returns are decreasing each year?

I do not know but few of these men whose names appear on the list, but would be well for you who do, to arefully look them over, and if they belong to the cream of your society. are the most temperate, moral and substantial of your citizens, would be not be well for your temperance enthusiasts to consider their decision

But on the other hand, if they are drinking men themselves, and are so onfident of their being cure the stuff as readily after the assing of such a law, as they do now, why all this evident anxiety We would esteem! it a great favor if some of your temperance or other workers would explain matters once more, and we shall take note this time. Thanking you for your space shou'd you consider this worthy of publication, I am yours very re-

CITY'S CHANCE

Still a Possibility of Chatham Securing the Lake Erie Car Shops.

There is a rumor current on the screets here to the effect that the Lake Erie will not build their shops in Walkerville. The city council of St. Thomas must believe that rumor, because on Thursday they visited Walkerville in body and petitioned the Lake Erie railroad to put their shops in St Thomas. There are several reasons for believing that Walkerville will not be the site of the shops and that rumor has it right when it reports that Walkerville is at the wrong end of the line for the shops. Twice have tenders been asked for, for the construction of the shops in nanagers of the road refused the tenders and decided not to build. Caroad after carload of machinery for he shops is now ly ng on the tracks at Walkerville, and has been lying there or some time.

Chatham should get after these shops. There is work for the Board of Trade. There will be 100 men employed in the car shops and they will be well worth securing for the city.

SERMON OF MANLY SYMPATHY WITH COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

ON SINNING AWAY FROM HOME

What the Ordinary Man Will Do When He Is in a Far Country-The Temptations and Dangers of the "Road" to Commercials - Queen Wilhelmina's Naive Observation to the Prince of Wales in This Connection.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1902, by William Bally, of Toronto, at the Dep't of Agriculturs, Ottawa.

Chicago, Nov. 2 .- Manly sympathy with a class peculiarly subject to hardships and temptations is manifested in this sermon by Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage on the text Nehemiah xiii, 20, "So the sellers of all kind of ware lodged without Jerusalem once or twice."

President Harrison once sent forth a proclamation which aroused widespread in erest. In it he announced had been bought up by the Government; therefore, by the power which was vested in him as chief executive of the United States, he would on April 22, 1889, open the central porpeople. All the men and women who at that time entered the new country could stake themselves out a claim or a lot or a farm. On the appointed day thousands upon thousunds of people assembled upon that borderland. Some sat upon fleet thoroughbred; ready to make the race for the choicest lots in the cites which would within a few days spring up as if by magic and the streets of which were already laid out. Some came on foot. Those divested themselves of all superfluous clothing, so that they could run as swiftly as possible. When the signal was given by the pistol held in the cavalryman's hand, the great multitude broke into a run. The would be settlers rushed ahead so fast that within a few hours the whole land was taken possession of, and cities ife Guthrie began to teem with life. Oklahoma, only ten years after it was first opened to the white man,

But no sooner was Oklahoma set tled and the little country stores set up than the wholesale merchants of New York and Philadelphia and Chicago and St. Louis began to send in to this new territory another grea army of invaders made up of the representatives of their different establishments. These modern crusad ers have been aptly termed in the commercial traveler's parlance the "knights of the grip," Instead of riding a war charger, like the knights 'iron horse," which is called a loco motive. Instead of carrying a spear or a shield, they carried models or pictures, showing how the steel and ron had been melted into plows and reapers and spades and axes and nammers and saws. Instead of havng mailed armor, they had pieces of cloth, which they carried as samples of clothing, which they wanted to sell to the storekeepers for the new farmers and their wives and children here is not a town in the United States, no matter how small it may

e or how newly established, which

as escaped the weekly, if not daily

had nearly 400,000 inhabitants.

nvasions of the commercial travel-In the scene of my text can be ound almost an exact duplication of the invasion of the newly settled regions of Oklahoma by the knights o the grip. No sooner did Nehemiah the governor, return from his Babylonish exile and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem, and make it a safe place in which to live than the commercial travelers of that day began to flock toward the Davidic capital to dispose of their goods. But there was one habit about many of these ancient commercial travelers which Nehemiah did not like. Some of them would persist in arriving at the city walls on the Sabbath day and trying to turn God's day of rest into a day of barter and gain. The governor, in order to stop the sin of Sabbath des ecration, ordered that the city gates should be closed on the night before the Sabbath and not be opened again until the morning after the Sabbath no matter how much these ancient commercial travelers might want to get in and escape the dangers of being murdered by the robbers who ni htly infested the surround hills. Thus we read the words of m text with a clearer interpretation. "So the sellers of all kind of ware lodged without Jerusalem once of

The evil dangers threaten a commercial traveler's life when he is away from home. They try to ambush the seller of all kinds of ware when he is on the march; they strike at his heart in a me and in a place when he is apt to think he can sin with impunity, because no one will be the wiser, as he can cover up his tracks; they come to the knights of the grip in the insinuating and dangerous ways that evil temptations sometimes overthrow Christian people wh n they are traveling abroad. It is a well known fact that the average European travelers will commit sins in Paris or Vienna or Rome or Monte Carlo or Pekin or Calcutta that they would never dream of doing, if they were at home among their own friends and neighbors. The young Dutch Queen Wilhelmina illustrated this common tendency of the human race to be worse away from home than they are by their own firede in the quaint and points answer which she gave to the Prince of Wales when visiting Queen Victoria some years ago. The then heir apparent to the English throne asked her what she was most impressed by in England. 'It is to find that the English people are so refined and gentle and kind and religiously de-vout in their own homes," she replied. "One would never have guess-

THE SELLER ABROAD ed it from the specimens I have seen traveling in Holland."

An average man can commit as a rule twenty sins away from home, when he is traveling alone, in a rail road train, or stopping alone in a hotel, or living alone with strangers, far more easily with less risk of in jury to his position and reputation, than one sin when he is being watch ed by his employer's eyes or when he is in daily companionship with a Christian mother, wife or child. /It makes an immense amount of difference how a locomotive will act when it is on the down grade whether or no the engineer has perfect control over its powerful Westinghouse makes an immense amount of difference with some of us when we are heading toward the op en drawbridges of sin whether or no we have our loved ones near by who are ready to reach out their hands to help us close the throttles and apply the spiritual brakes, so that we can halt before we have gone too far and it is too late to try to

But though the swift moving currents of daily influences in a commercial traveler's life are apt to flow in the wrong direction when he is away from home, yet that is no valid excuse for his yielding to temptation. In the first place, God has that the claims of many Indian tribes distinctly declared that he will never allow any temptation to come nigh us which is greater than we can bear, if we will only throw ourselves upon his mercy and plead and coninue to plead for divine strength. tion of Oklahoma to the American | Mighty as are the temptations the rommercial traveler meets with he is away from home, the divine power which is at his disposal is infinitely stronger. It can triumph over every opposing force.

But there is still another reason why the commercial traveler should not yield to the temptations. Which he meets away from home. The modern knight of the grip is naturally a stronger man, mentally, morally and physically than the average man who is compelled to stay at home and work. It takes brains, and lots of brains, to be able to sell goods away from home. The time is past when the great merchants thin's that any drunken, gambling, blaspheming employe is good enough to go upon the road. The employers to-day demand that their commercial travelers be men of character, of brain, men with the moral stamina to say yes and no. And, young man, the mere fact that you are a commercial traveler is proof positive that you have character enough, by the grace of God, to be able to resist any temptation which you may meet in your travels. Temptations assail the commercial traveler alike when he is buoyed up with great success and when he is discouraged by great financial pression, when he is thrown off his guard by exultation or disheartened by a long succession of bitter disappointments: Many commercial travelers do not receive a regular salary. issions. The more goods they sell the more money they receive. The less goods they dispose of the less income they have. The average commercial traveler's income is apt to ebb and flow like the tides. In one town the knight of the grip may sell thousands of dollars' worth of goods. In every store he enters he finds a large purchaser. In another town he may not even meet expens-es Then, when the average commercial traveler has what he calls a run of luck, he is apt to be unduly elated, and that elation is often the means Satan uses to trip him up and hurl him over the precipice of sin. Or, he has what is called a run of bad luck. He may go on, week after week, and find that a rival, who represents a firm carrying the same line of goods may have preceded him and swept his district clean. That discouragement may also be the means of driving him into the quicksands of sin. The imminent danger of exultation and disappointment are the Charybdis and the Scylla which every commercial traveler has to

Dangers threaten a modern commercial traveler's life because his mind is often beclouded on account of physical debilitation. To be a really successful commercial traveler a young man ought to have a physical constitution of iron. He ought to have the same kind of bone and muscle and sinew which made the knights of old famous. He ought to be able to digest any kind of food, sleep in hard or, soft beds, sleep on a hall lounge or on a chair, or lying upon the bare wooden seat of the caboose of a freight train. He ought to be able to assimilate irregular meals, and have his nightly rest broken up once or twice, and sometimes even thrice, by the changing of cars, and yet be cheerful and happy and sell his goods just the same dur-ing the day. Alas, I well know what are the physical difficulties of a traveler's life! For many years I have off and on, traveled around the country as a lecturer. I have had to suffer all these trials, and have met and talked with the knights of the grip in many a lonely station in the midnight hour while waiting for a belated railroad connection. But, even under the very brightest of conditions and even though a man's backbone may seem to be made of steel, nature will assert itself. A commercial traveler must always pay the price and have his ohysical frame rebel at the hardships which it has been made to suffer, and so during those times of physical exhaustion a commercial traveler, on account of the physical becloudment of his mind, is often apt to take a depressed view of life. He is apt to often lose his faith in God and in his fellow men and to feel that his own life is not worth the living and that he is but of little use to his fellow man. My brother, I want you, if you are a commercial traveler and a stranger who have just by chance dropped int this church, to know and feel that your life is worth living. God does love you. Your dear ones are dependent upon you. It is of infinite importance whether you do right or wrong. You must not let your helief in God falter when you need a good rest; you must not let hand of Satan touch you and lead you into the paths of sin when your head aches and your digestive organs refuse to do their proper work. One of the greatest generals of the ages was defeated in battle and driven into exile because the night before the battle opened he was writhing in physical torture produced by a sudden and violent attack of dyspepsia. Many a commercial traveler has been defeated in life's spiritual battle because his health has become undermined and undertoned. Oh, ye knights of the grip be very careful of your physical health, for your spiritual happiness and faithfulness may be destroyed through your physical de-Dangers threaten a modern com-

It is very easy when Sabbath morning comes, in a little town where the commercial traveler has to spend his Sunday, for him to say to himself: "Well, I guess I will not go to church to-day. I will stay in my room and read the morning newspaper or write some letters." very seductive after a hard week's work for the commercial traveler to go to bed Saturday night with the intention of staying there until halfpast 10 o'clock the next morning and then, in order to save time, to break the Lord's day and take the Sunday train for the next town. Or, if a commercial traveler is spending Sunday in a large city, it is very easy for him to go and hear the different popular preachers in the same way that, out of curiosity, he might go to see the great tragedians act the part of a "Hamlet" or an "Othello," a 'Richelieu' or a "Dr. Jekyll and

Mr. Hyde. Though all those attractions may be very fascinating, yet, my friend, you must remember that the true worship of God does not consist in the mere satisfying of our intellectu-al curiosity or in lying in bed on the Sabbath day, but in work, hard, conscientious work, for the Master. The old adage tells us that "Satan has to hunt the busy man, but the indolent man hunts the devil." Therefore, my brother, the easiest way to overcome the temptations which beset the commercial traveler during the long, lonely hours of the Sabbath day is to worship God while away from home in the same way you would, or rather ought to do, if you were at home. This expectation, my young friend, might be all right if it were true, but, as a rule, it is not true. Generally a sinful young man means a sinful middle age. A sinful middle age

Health and beauty are the glories of perfect womanhood. Women who suffer constantly with weakness peculiar to their sex cannot retain their beauty. Preservation of pretty features and rounded form is a duty women owe to themselves.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melan-choly, "all gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my testimonial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from excessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled, and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician pre-scribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some. 'I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since. "A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." - MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, 270 Loomis St., Chicago, Ill. President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of For-

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

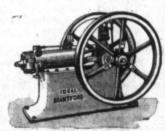

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want - a cure. Moral stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice

FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

It is right in the line of the of L'Avenir du Nord, offers strong oil belt through the township and proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mr. Rochette says: - "For nearly three years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism. The pains seemed at times to affect every joint, and the agony I endured was terrible. Someimes I could scarcely move about, and was unfitted for work. The trouble affected my appetite, and in this way my weakness increased and my condition became more deplorable. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and then relief came. Gradually the pains left me, my appetite improved and I became greatly strengthened. Before I had taken a dozen boxes my health and vigor was such that I felt better than I did before the trouble began. I have not since had an ache or pain, and I feel convinced that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine in the world for rheumatism

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in every civilized land, and their enormous sale is due entirely to their great merit as a medicine. They cure all such troubles as rheumatism, sciatica, locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, nervous headache, kidney ailments, neuralgia, and the weaknesses other workmen were injured slightly that affect so many women. #### FOOTBALL

The league game of foot bill anounced to be played at Chatham on Saturday afternoon last failed to materialize, at the eleventh hour the Wallaceburg management found it impossible to get the team out, and a decision to default the game to Chatham was quickly arrived at.

In view of the fact that Chatham had played their scheduled game here, it considerable expense to themselves and had also incurred considerable expense in edvertising and prepara-tion for Saturday's game, it is to be regretted that Wallaceburg did not play the return game even if they had to play men that never saw a football. Chatham kickers feel very sore over the matter, and talk of Wallaceburg's suspension for a term of years is indulged in. The statement the management were unable to get their players off, is however, a fact. A number of them are holding positions from which it was impossible to get away on Saturday, and the remainder of the team naturally felt that there was lit is pleasure to be gained from a lon. rive and the cerain defeat that the weakened cond'tion made cert n.-Wallaceburg Herald-Record.

PRACTICE GAME.

The original scrub team and the ily regular team have arranged to olay again on Monday afternoon at 1,30 sharp. The city line-up will be he strongest possible, and will be picked from the following players:-Smich, Courtney, Wilson, Piggott, Sissons, Parrott, Angus, Brackin, Fet-terly, Grant, Killington, and Messer. In view of the fact that Chatham goes to Darrell next Saturday and will have the hardest game of the season to play. Captain Phil. B. Ferterly wants all the above mentioned players to turn out in uniform for the game on Monday evening, which will be a good one for practice

Captain Fetterly says that if the players don't turn out there were wil be some changes in one or two posi

AT THE BURG.

Darrell went to Wallaceburg to-day as per schedule and took their strongest team with them. Wallaceburg have had plenty of time lately to get n some good practices and have been strengthen d up since Chatham was here, so that the toughest kind if a rame' may be expected.

President Frank D. Laurie pointed and sent Dr. Alger, of Dover Centre, out to referee the game. A scrub team consisting of a number of college boys and others defeated the model school team yesterday afternoon in a close game, the score being one to nothing, although the game seemed to be in favor of the school most of the time, but the scrubs did all the scoring that was done. The college team and the C. Model school will meet for a game on Tuesday
