The Supreme Test of a Healing Agent

Poriasis or Chronic Eczema Defied All Treatment Until Dr. Chase's Ointment Was Used.

After suffering with the terrible itching of Poriasis for five years, and being told by physicians that she could not be cured, Mrs. Massey turned to Dr. Chase's Ointment, and was entirely cured. You will find this letter interesting, and will not wonder that the writer is enthusiastic in praising this ointment.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Canadian, writes: "I am fifty years of age. I suffered with what three doctors called Poriasis for five years, and was told by physicians that she could not be cured. Mrs. Massey turned to Dr. Chase's Ointment, and was entirely cured. You will find this letter interesting, and will not wonder that the writer is enthusiastic in praising this ointment."

Can you imagine a more severe test for Dr. Chase's Ointment? This should convince you that as a cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease, Dr. Chase's Ointment stands supreme. Put it to the test. One box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Limited, Toronto.

MRS. MASSEY.

At Last.

By JOHN GREENE WRIEHER.

When on my day of life the night is falling,
And in the wind from mountain spaces blown,
I hear far voices out of darkness calling,
My feet to paths unknown;

Those who have made my home of life so pleasant
Leave not its sweet when its walls decay;
Oh Love divine, O Helpers ever present,
Be Thou my strength and stay!

Be near me when all else is from me drifting,
Earth, sky, home, pictures, days of shade and shine,
And kindly face to my own uplifting,
The love which answers mine.

I have but Thee, O Father! Let Thy spirit
Be with me then to comfort and uphold,
No gate of pearl, no branch of palm I merit,
No street of shining gold.

And hath forgotten Thou Thy abounding grace—
I stand from hand to hand familiar beckoned
Unto a fitting place.

Some humble door among the many mansions,
Some sheltering shade where sun and striving cross,
And flow forever through earth's green expansions.

The river of Thy peace,
Thou from the music round about me stealing,
I shall would learn that new and holy song,
And find, at last, beneath the trees of healing,
The life for which I long.

A Synops of 'Four Seasons in the Garden.'

By HENRY H. BURTON.

MAKING AND CARE OF THE GARDEN.

In improving the home grounds the first thing to be considered is the making of the lawn; then flower beds may be made and shrubs planted for permanent effect. The first thing to do is to grade the ground evenly, making the earth as flat and mellow as possible. The soil if not rich should be made so; he advises the use of some manure in preference to barn yard fertilizer, because the latter is apt to bring in weed seeds. Bone meal in the proportion of half a pound to each square yard of ordinary soil, will make a good growth of grass. A good quality of lawn grass seed should be used. Mixtures made for the purpose are much better than a person could make himself. Advice concerning this can be found in the next column.

The grass seed should be sown thick; the proper time for sowing the seed is on a still damp day. Seed will germinate in four or five days; in a month the soil will be hidden by the grass. It should not be cut for the first time until it is five or six inches tall. Never cut too close as it spoils the effect. Twice a week mowing is enough to use the lawn mower. Grass needs to be fed well to do its best. A good fertilizer should be applied in spring and again in August.

FLOWER BEDS: THEIR MAKE AND CARE.

The best place for flower beds is at one side of the house, well back to wards the rear. If it is not possible then near the house along the wall, keeping the lawn intact. Bed near the house should be reserved for annuals and low-growing perennials, as a general thing, though tall growing sorts can often be planted with fine effect in nooks or corners or against a wall.

Bulbs can be planted in those beds reserved for annuals. They will be done flowering before it is time to plant the annuals. This can be done without disturbing the bulbs. Every garden should have bulbs. They like a deep, rich, mellow soil, which also suits the annuals. They should be planted in September or October as they need to make roots in the fall. Hyacinths, Tulips, Daffodils, and other Narcissus, Crocus and Snow Drop are specially advised. In addition to annuals he advises the liberal use of Pansies, also of Tea Roses.

Plant hardy perennials along the sides of the home lot. They will hide the fence, if there is one, and set off the beauty of the lawn. To secure the best results, low growing plants should be placed next the street, gradually increasing the height of the border as it recedes, thus bringing the tallest plants at the sides of the home and well to the rear.

For shrubbery, groups of Spiraea, Hydrangea, Lilac in variety, Byrington, Weigela and Halesia are advised. A few good shrubs are much to be preferred to a large number of inferior ones. Small grounds cannot accommodate many large shrubs. Allow for growth and future development. Roses are best planted by themselves.

My special subject is Hardy Perennial Plants, so I will proceed to give some of Mr. Rexford's ideas on them. They are more satisfactory to the busy person who has not much time for gardening as they require the least care. Once planted they are good for years. Some bloom early in the season, some in midsummer and some in the fall.

The Editor's Tribulations.

It costs a newspaper money every time it takes a stand on any question. Almost any citizen besides a newspaper man can do it without injuring his business. If the editor advocates improvements the sore heads go after him and sometimes atop their paper if he opposes improvements the progressive sort get on to him and call him a back number and a knocker. If he publishes politics the opposition gets into his hair, and if he does not he is charged with being afraid to stand out with his opinion. If he condemns mail order houses, there are some people who ask him to attend to his own business, as they have a right to trade where they please. If he publishes a mail order advertisement some of these merchants are after his gore. No country paper can come out squarely without making enemies and losing money, and in the run of a year or more will receive about criticism from everybody. The newspaper that undertakes to please everybody will please nobody; if it is honest, sincere and thoughtful, the public will respect it.

For early blossoming I would advise the Dicentra (Bleeding Heart), the Peony and the Lily of the Valley. A little later come the herbaceous Spices, followed by Larkspurs and early Phlox, then Hollyhocks, Rudbeckia (Golden Glow) and the later varieties of Phlox.

Shrubs and perennials can be planted in spring or fall. Spring planting should not be done until the ground is in good condition. If fall planting is most convenient do it as soon as the foliage is ripened, allowing the plant to get established before winter.

Get straight lines and all for the border; let it curve gracefully. Where it is widest plant shrubs and tall-growing plants with low plants in the foreground.

Study the catalogue well to get ideas of height, color and season of blooming of the different plants so as to arrange them harmoniously. Where a mistake is made this year it can be rectified next year. To grow plants well, grass and weeds must be kept from encroaching on their domain. Keep the soil stirred about the plants and fertilized well. Scatter a handful of coarse bone meal about each plant, and work it well into the soil with the hoe or trowel.

Perennials grown from seed will not bloom the first year, with a few exceptions.

Some wild flowers, native plants and shrubs are very fine for decorating the home grounds. Use the White Flowered Elder, the Samash, Viburnum or High Bush Huckleberry, the Galena Rod and Aster in a corner of their own; Thalictrum or Meadow Rue, which is a very beautiful plant in foliage and flower, C. matris Plammaria or Virginia's Bower, a climber, Anemone or Virginia Creeper, Bitter Sweet, Dogwood, Shadbush and some others not known here.

Ferns can be transplanted satisfactorily. Take them up with a good deal of earth adhering to the roots; wrap each one in stout paper as soon as lifted and set in a deep basket, applying water to saturate the roots. Plant after sunset, shade well and water frequently. All native plants grow more luxuriantly with cultivation.

To grow Dahlias well give them a very rich soil and plenty of water. It is not necessary to start them early, provide most stakes to tie them up, as their stalks are easily broken. After the frost has killed the leaves let them remain in the ground. About the latter part of October dig them up, wash each bulb carefully, shaking off the soil, and lay them on boards in the sun. Do not remove the stalks at this time. Cover the roots well at night. Expose them to the sun for several days if the weather is favorable. After the earth has all crumbled away out of the stalks, three or four inches from the roots, cut them in the cellar where they will be safe from damp and frost.

In transplanting shrubs disturb the roots as little as possible. Keep the roots covered with wetacking or reserved for annuals. They will be done flowering before it is time to plant the annuals. This can be done without disturbing the bulbs. Every garden should have bulbs. They like a deep, rich, mellow soil, which also suits the annuals. They should be planted in September or October as they need to make roots in the fall. Hyacinths, Tulips, Daffodils, and other Narcissus, Crocus and Snow Drop are specially advised. In addition to annuals he advises the liberal use of Pansies, also of Tea Roses.

Starvation or Merciless Torture.

A lousy old party managed to but tonhole Lord Kitchener the other day in one of the British war lord's less busy moments. "And what would you do, sir," he inquired. "If the Germans should manage to land 25,000 men upon some, ah—comparatively—ah, unprotected part of our 'coast'?" "Bury 'em," replied Kitchener.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFFVILLE, N. S., MAY 21, 1915.

Editorial Brevities.

The Germans are said to have called our soldiers "Canadian rats." Possibly because they rattled the Prussian Guards.

The crop reports from the west are very encouraging. This promises to be a year of large production in Canada. The world needs the crop and Canada needs the money.

Many noted names are in the British casualty list. Whatever else may be said of the British nobility its members know how to fight and die for the honor of their native land. In this respect there are no lords and commons, but a nation of patriots.

It is an interesting fact revealed by recent reports, that Great Britain has received very much larger quantities of lumber from Norway and Sweden for months past than in the corresponding period last year. The Germans have not cut off that supply in the North Sea.

The decision of three great American manufacturing concerns which had steadfastly refused to permit the manufacture of war munitions in their power to aid the Allies, is one important result of the Lusitania outrage. Another practical result is a further stimulus to recruiting in Great Britain. Whatever may be the outcome of the diplomatic correspondence between Germany and the United States, the Allies will get steadily increasing measure material and moral support from the American people.

An exchange well says: "A board of trade is an essential organization in the economy of every progressive and ambitious community. Without such an organization to lead the way, a community is badly handicapped in the race for trade recognition. Composed as it usually is of the most intelligent and most public spirited residents of the community, actuated by no other motive than the community welfare, laboring zealously and unselfishly in that direction, supported solely by the individual subscriptions of its members, its capacity for achievement in the public interest is incalculable."

A condensed summary of the British report on German outrages in Belgium, made by a commission of which Right Hon. Sir James Bryce was chairman, leaves no room for doubt that the horrible things charged against Germany were absolutely proven. A still more terrible tale of atrocities which the world gets all the facts of German outrages in Belgium and France, and Austrian atrocities in Serbia. The Canadian soldier who wrote home that every man in Canada would carry a rifle if he realized the seriousness of the situation, did not over exaggerate.

The British Sailor.

Parties may rise and fall, using for their battle-cries the wailing of Britain's greatness; pointing to the white fringed green of the sea and crying aloud that our honor is falling to decay. But the sea remains our heritage; and the sea breeds up sailors who are independent of party; men whose forefathers wielded sponge and rammer under Nelson's eye. Navies come and navies go; the British sailor remains the same. Pat him on the short-smitten deck of a wooden clum sloop; coo him up in the steam filled machine-shop that today bears the British flag; let a hideous death smite him down from a point invisible—the British sailor does not change. No matter what his ship may be, he is there, as ready as of old to fight to the death, to nail the meteor flag to the mast and carry it with him to glorious victory or the lowest caverns of the sea—that Britain's heritage might be preserved inviolate, that British hearts may beat in ordered peace. It counts, the Great Idea, that is the idea that the sea is Britain's own inviolate possession. . . . Our British sailors—the men who have made our heritage, men who will maintain it to the death—go forward uncomplainingly to their deaths that Britain may live and glory in her goodly heritage till time shall cease and the sea shall give up her dead. Captain Frank H. Shaw, in the United Magazine.

'Wounded in the House of His Friends.'

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle: Sir,—In your issue of April 22nd, you give a report of a discussion in the legislature the previous evening re my being reinstated a stipendiary magistrate for Kings county. I ask for a small space in your paper to answer some of the arguments used against the resolution of Mr. Corning. I have no other means of giving my side of the matter to the public and many outside Kings County are deeply interested.

The Premier stated that he 'did not want the government at variance with the supreme court of the province.' Should he not be just as anxious that British justice and fair play should be vindicated?

The decision of the supreme court was based wholly on the affidavits of Halsey and Harris, and I say that the allegations in these affidavits were untrue, and I so stated when the government asked me to resign and I declined to do so and asked for an investigation.

Would not the dignity of the supreme court have been upheld if an investigation had been granted me, and action taken on the result of such investigation? And at the same time British fair play would have been given me. This I now claim I have not received at the hands of the government. I would not have believed that the Hon. Geo. H. Murray would have treated his worst opponent as I have been used. Surely I have been wounded in the house of my friends.

During the discussion Mr. Wickwire made the statement that 'Mr. Beckwith had been asked in his own court regarding the matter for which he was later tried and he declined to give evidence.' I was asked in my own court to be sworn and give evidence, and on the advice of counsel I declined to do so. Mr. Justice Longley said that he would not condemn me for that. It is certainly a very unusual thing for a magistrate to be sworn in his own court and take down his own evidence. I did not refuse because of the evidence I should be obliged to give. If an investigation had been granted me I should have been obliged to answer all questions in regard to the matter and under the proper court and I should have been very glad to have done so.

Now, Mr. Editor, I wish to say that I have not had a trial in this matter, as intimated by Mr. Wickwire, I was not on my trial before the supreme court. The matter before them was simply whether my conviction or pardon should be upheld or quashed. It was quashed by default.

I am the victim of the liquor interest led by Mr. Wickwire and Doctor Covert. EDWARD M. BECKWITH. Canong, May 3, 1915.

(The above letter was sent to the publication some weeks ago, but has not yet appeared in its columns. THE ACADIAN, at the request of the writer, gladly gives it a place.—Ed.)

In Manitoba.

The change in government in Manitoba, by Premier Roblin voluntarily resigning, has led some foolish opposition organs to make predictions of what will happen the Borden government whenever an appeal is made to the people. Papers of this kind like to live on the excitement of the moment, and would rather feed their readers with froth than make an effort to get at the underlying principles that really determine the rise and fall of parties in this country. Most political students know that provincial affairs have very little to do with federal relations in Canada and that as an instance, Sir John Macdonald rode firmly into the seat of power, while nearly every provincial government was arrayed against him. Ontario swung from a Liberal record of more than a quarter of a century into a Conservative administration and yet it did not prevent Sir Wilfrid Laurier from winning the next federal election. Nova Scotia has been consistently Liberal in provincial affairs for over thirty years, and yet at times Conservatives have had three fourths of the representation in the federal house. In Manitoba, Premier Roblin lost heavily in the elections of last year by the defection of thousands of his former supporters on the school issue, but there is not the slightest warrant for thinking that this issue has any relation whatever to Dominion affairs.

Opera House.

Another record audience was present last Monday when Dickens' 'David Copperfield' was presented in moving pictures and critics pronounced it one of the best features yet shown.

On Monday next a special holiday program will hold the screen, entitled 'The Seats of the Mighty,' by Sir Gilbert Parker. This feature is in six reels and is largely concerned with the siege and capture of Quebec and many exciting incidents are shown; the entire program is bound to please and seats no doubt will be at a premium.

On Wednesday, May 26th, the management offer a four reel production, 'The Million,' with Edward Aheles in the lead. This is a thrilling mystery force with as many laughs as the title and is all fun of the merriest sort. This feature is one of 'The Famous Players' releases and no further comment on our part is necessary.

It is likely that this will be the last Famous Player Feature shown as the local management are considering cancelling their present contract for reasons which seem to them good; however Monday night will continue Famous night and further notice; the management providing the best features that the market affords regardless of cost and at the lowest price of admission possible.

Queen Elizabeth Superior.

A correspondent to the New York Tribune writes the following:—

I think you have been awayed unjustly by national vanity in rating the Pennsylvania as superior in fighting power to the Queen Elizabeth. The naval battles of this war have shown clearly that an out-gunned ship is a helpless victim. Craddock went down in a gallant but hopeless effort to get his ships close enough to the enemy to bring his lighter guns into play, and the English battle cruisers pounded the lighter armed Germans to pieces at the battle of the Falklands. It is true that the Pennsylvania is a bigger ship than the Queen Elizabeth and carries more guns capable of throwing a heavier broad side. But, and here is the vital point, the English ship's main battery is composed of 15 inch guns, with a range of at least a mile greater than the American's and firing a shell of much greater destructive power. She is, moreover, three knots faster. As a matter of fact, the Queen Elizabeth could not only keep out of range of the Pennsylvania and hammer her at her leisure, but given plenty of sea room, her superior speed and longer range guns would enable her to harry a whole squadron of Pennsylvanians so long as her ammunition held out. The fact that the British began landing shells about the German cruisers at the battle of Dogger Banks at eleven miles and that the Queen Elizabeth has been bombarding the Darfanelle forts at 21,500 yards answers the question as to how well the English can shoot at extreme ranges.

Then, again, the Pennsylvania to lay is a mere hull, while the Queen Elizabeth has been fighting for more than a month. The Pennsylvania would have been a crushing, though belated answer to England's Iron Dukes of two years ago, but not only is she inferior to the Queen Elizabeth and her four sisters, but before she is finished will be rendered obsolete by the giant thirty-two knot battle cruisers armed with 16 inch guns that England is rushing to completion under the pressure of war.

The United States builds extremely fine ships, but always seems to get them into the water about the time England brings out a new type for the naval architects of other nations to worry over.

Vigilance the Price of a Good Complexion

To retain the natural beauty of the skin only proper care and treatment is needed. Your skin is naturally clear and healthy, but the demands of everyday life and unnatural living quickly spoil their freshness and beauty. So necessary is this care that no woman can afford to neglect it. The Nyl people have just issued a new booklet, 'Your Complexion,' which contains most useful and interesting information on how to care for the complexion in such a way that its beauty and freshness will be preserved for many years. It also includes directions for best methods of massage. The constant use of some good preparation, such as Nyl's Face Cream, is absolutely necessary to keep the skin really clean and healthy. It is a nourishing, oxygenated, greaseless skin-fool which leaves no shine. Get a 25c or 50c jar and rub it gently into the skin. See how quickly it is absorbed, leaving the skin pleasantly refreshed and delicately fragrant. All Nyl preparations are justly famous and none more so than Nyl's Face Cream, which we unhesitatingly recommend. Call or telephone us for more information, which contains most valuable information.

MAY 24TH

is the last day for the boys and girls to send in their ads.

Here is one from a little girl in Sheffield Mills: "Why folks get their films developed and printed at Graham's! Take them to Graham! Why of course! He gets good results with films. And when they are printed they are very clear. He is a film specialist and will give you better satisfaction than you ever had before. The charge is very small."

This is a good one but perhaps other boys and girls can do as well. Have a try.

The Closing Concert.

The grand closing concert, to be given under the auspices of the A. A. A. in College Hall, Saturday evening, promises to be of a high standard. The Acadia Orchestra will play five numbers including the popular 'Gypsy Baron' and part of the comic opera 'The Mikado.' Much care has been taken during the year to prepare the programme so that it will be the best performance put on by the company. As this will probably be the last opportunity of hearing the Orchestra play under the direction of Miss Langley, through whose efforts the Orchestra has attained such a high standard, the people of Wolfville cannot afford to miss it. Mr. Newcomb, baritone, of Halifax, whose reputation as a singer is well known both in Nova Scotia and Massachusetts, will sing Schumann's 'In the Forest' and three other selections. Miss Galeson, a talented member of the Seminary staff, will give four of her most popular readings. In addition to the above mentioned excellent programme, the Seminary Ladies' Quartette will sing several selections, including 'Little Fiddlers.' Without a doubt this programme will be one of the finest ever rendered in Wolfville and no one can afford to miss it.

ACADIA COLLEGIATE ACADEMY. NEW STONE RESIDENCE, UNDER CONSTRUCTION. The new Academy Students' Residence, known as Rayner Hall, is being erected by Rhodes, Curry Co., Ltd., on the corner of University Avenue and Park street, about 50 feet from each street. The size is about 134 x 44, divided into three sections by brick partitions. The building material is quartzite, similar to the stone in the new Presbyterian church. The plans, made by A. R. Cobb, provide for dining room, kitchen, maitron's room, hospital club room, reception room and commodious accommodation for 25 pupils and teachers. The cost of building and furnishing will exceed $45,000. The contract with the builders calls for the completion of this new residence Oct. 1st. During September Willett Hall will be occupied by Academy students.

Boy Scouts. The entertainment of last Friday evening passed off very well and the boys and those in charge wish to thank the men who kindly loaned benches, chairs, flags and planks for the stage. The net proceeds will amount to about $20.00. At the request of Port Williams the entertainment will be repeated there on the evening of Friday, June 4th.

WOMAN'S BEST MEDICINE

Mrs. Kelly Advises all Women to Take "Fruit-a-Tives"

HAGERVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913.
"I can highly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' because they did me an awful lot of good and I cannot speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commenced taking 'Fruit-a-tives' for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollars' worth, but it was money well spent because they did all that you claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives, that I found only pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking 'Fruit-a-tives' after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case."
Mrs. W. N. KELLY

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Comfort Ye My People.

Immortal land, how shall we comfort thee
Whose noble cities wrecked and ruined lie
Whose fields stretch desolate beneath the sky
Whose shall restore time's wonderous legacy
From dust and ashes? Nevermore shall be Soft benediction from those bells hung high
Above men's griefs and passions; shattered die
The dreams men carved in some lost century.
How comfort ye? The hoasts that march to death,
The silent women who besought them not,
Never while speech is fashioned of men's breath
Shall they or their sympathies, age to age
Shall point its sons to Belgium's glowing page.
—Mary E. Fletcher.

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.
"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."
—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.
Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ill, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.
The Pinkham record is a proud and pleasing one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ill of women—ill that had not been cured by any other means. It is established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

The Strut and Gobble.

"When I buy a turkey, I don't pay for the strut and gobble," says Billy Kelly.
Some men do that when they buy advertising. They pay for excess baggage on a trip to nowhere.
The manufacturer or merchant who puts his money into newspaper advertising buys 'net weight.'
He gets his message before the people he wants to reach.
He is introduced by a medium in which they have confidence.
And returns follow to a certainty.
Newspaper advertising is not an expense, it is an investment.

Little Dorothy, whose father owned a canning factory, went to Sunday School for the first time, but soon came running home, screaming at the top of her voice.
"Why, Dorothy," said the father, "what is the matter?"
"Oh, daddy," she cried, "Don't let them do it, will you?"
"Do what, my child?"
"Don't let them can me," she sobbed.
"Can you? What do you mean?"
"Why, the teacher said for everybody to sing. 'Can a little child like me, and then I ran away 'fore they did it!'"

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.
In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is failing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamlike sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.
To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.
Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

"What is your name, little boy?" inquired the teacher of her new pupil.
"I don't know," replied the little boy, bashfully.
"Well, what does your father call you?"
"I don't know," still more bashfully.
"She doesn't have to call me," beamed the new pupil, "I'm always there."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Pete, the hired man, was known for his prodigious appetite. On morning he had eaten a normal breakfast of oatmeal, buckwheat cakes, toast, fried potatoes, ham, eggs, doughnuts, coffee, and the usual trimmings, and gone to a neighbor's to help with extra work. Pete arrived before the family had risen from the morning meal.
"Well, Pete," hospitably inquired the farmer, "had breakfast yet?"
"Aw," drawled Pete in a wheedling tone, "kinda."

It was never a happy day for Sammy's painstaking father when his young hopeful's school report arrived at his Boston home.
As for Sammy himself—well, he was a philosopher.
The awful day had come once more, and father was in the lowest depths of misery.
"Sammy—Sammy," he groaned, "why is it that you are at the bottom of the class again?"
"What does it matter, father, whether I am at the top or at the bottom?" queried that wise youth, "They teach the same at both ends, you know."

A Wonder Worker.

"It feels like magic," is a favorite expression when Dr. Chase's Ointment is used. It works quickly, stops all itching at once, often heals in a single night. For eczema, salt rheum, barbers' itch, skin irritations or eruptions, it is a most satisfactory treatment. Being antiseptic it prevents blood poisoning.
Mrs. A.—Yes, Belle is married at last, and do you know her husband is the very man who proposed to her ten years ago.

"Yes, and herself also."
"How about her husband?"

Strange that no Liberal paper has blamed the reversal at Ypres on the Canadian boots.

Those Who Stay at Home.

It has now come home to thousands of Canadians that this country is at war, that we, no less than the people of Britain and the people of Belgium, are engaged in the most terrible struggle of all history, a struggle for existence. That our brother Canadians, when called upon to meet the supreme test of battle, would not fail was something every one of us took for granted. That sobering thought that this test would call for the lives of some of the finest of our youth and chivalry was not driven home until the publication of the casualty list laid its shadow of grief upon the land. That shadow is not wholly dispelled by the reflection that the Canadian behaved heroically, but they won the admiration of the 37 armies in Europe and that they created the name of Canada. Today he thought that should be understood in this country is a determination that every man and woman will do what he or she can to support our men at the front, to take some personal share of the burden that is being carried by the soldiers in France and Flanders, to do something to really justify British citizenship.

There must be hundreds of thousands of Canadians who have passed sleepless nights because no way in which they could help in this struggle was clear to them. All the soldiers Canada sends can be had and yet millions of able-bodied men and women will be left to do nothing, patiently, but hope and fear, yearning to be of use, and not knowing it. A contribution to a patriotic fund in a matter how liberal, can never satisfy the desire of all British subjects to do their bit, to show that they are worthy of the supreme sacrifice others are making for them. The restless desire of these Canadians to stay at home yet, we believe, largely responsible for the agitation in England that sports should be curtailed, that drinking should be moderated, and that some self-denials, however unconnected with the prosecution of the war, should be practised by those who have no other means offered them of proving that their hearts are as true as the British Isles in doing their share already. She will do what she has a chance of doing. It is when we read of our boys in France that we feel that some work we at home can do which they might not do, some sacrifice we can make for them.

Seed-Growing in Canada.

In 1913-14 according to information gathered and supplied by Messrs. H. C. and J. H. Dominion Seed Company, Canada imported 1,000,000 bushels of seed, valued at $2,745,000. The most of this seed, from Holland and France, was for potatoes, 1,000,000 bushels of carrot seed, 1,000,000 bushels of celery seed and 1,000,000 bushels of radish seed were also imported in large quantities, mainly from France. While it is thought there was nearly sufficient of these seeds on hand to meet the requirements for this year, these chances being closed, for 1916 there will plainly be a dearth.
The foregoing important facts are fully set down in Bulletin No. 22 of the second series of the Central Experimental Farm, of which M. O. Malte, Ph. D., Dominion Agrostologist, and W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, are the authors. "Canada," the Bulletin very emphatically says, "should make herself independent of foreign markets, and produce at home what now has to be bought abroad. Canadian farmers should not only try to meet the emergency demand for field root seed in the immediate future, but should also try to establish a permanent seed growing industry which would make them independent of any other countries." There will assuredly not be a dissenting voice to this doctrine as a general principle and the Bulletin, which is being gratuitously distributed and can be had on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, tells in detail how this desirable state of affairs can be brought about. Cues are given where successful efforts have already been made, but the data regarding the matter, it would seem, is not quite as available as could be wished. What is definitely known is that quantities of seed are brought in from abroad, much of which it is believed could, with the requisite care, be produced in Canada and of a character equally as good and high.
General principles for successful seed-growing, of selection, etc., are laid down in the Bulletin, which also details methods that could profitably be adopted for planting, thinning and clearing of many species of field roots. A list that is given of the best varieties of vegetables for stock seed is of good practical value. Farmers and gardeners are also reminded that as an inducement to the growing of field roots and garden seeds in Canada the Dominion government is willing to aid seed-growers by cash subventions, particulars of which can be obtained from the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It should be added that as the purpose is to encourage the growing of selected seed, only bona fide growers of such seed, eligible to receive the subventions.

Mr. Huff—Buy a frame of mind for it.

To Check a Cold.
It is easy to check a cold if you begin in time. Frequent doses of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine keep the cough loose, allay the inflammation and so prevent its spreading to the bronchial tubes and lungs. Mrs. S. M. Moore, Shortwood, B. C., writes: "I wish to state my gratitude for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, for it cured a cold which a friend said would soon get me in the grave."

Mrs. Ager—My husband always takes a day off when he has a birthday.
Mrs. Ketting—When you have one I suppose you take a couple of years off.

Mrs. Huff—What shall I do with this picture of my Christian Science friend?
Mr. Huff—Buy a frame of mind for it.

The best kind of preparation for married life is to be a saleswoman, because in selling goods you learn patience and courtesy and how to manage people.
Mrs. Rosenbaum—Oh, Jacob, little Ike has swallowed a dime.
Rosenbaum—Send him to bed mid- night his supper. Dot will make it about five.

In old days you never mentioned love affairs or pains inside. But now your lovers and your appendix are public property, so to speak. Everybody talks about them.
Miss—I wonder why they have those big mirrors in saloons?
Dix—To enable a man to get a full view of himself, I suppose.

Special Notice.

Owing to the fact that Nova Scotia housekeepers have become more convinced than ever of the ability of the "Big Store" to help them keep down the cost of living, notwithstanding the fact that we had printed a very much larger edition than usual of our Catalogue the supply is completely exhausted.
As soon as prices adjust themselves after the dearrangement caused by the increase of the tariff we shall publish and have ready for distribution our Annual Spring and Summer Catalogue.
In the meantime if there is anything you require send in your list and we shall quote you very lowest prices.
