Are Your Glasses Right

Vision changes at all things do with the years (particularly in old folks) and the glasses that were just right a few years ago may be all wrong to-day. If they have outlived their usefulness, you are doing your eyes an injury by wearing them and you are bringing on headaches and nervous disorders. Better let us test your eyes and see whether your present glasses are suited to them.

We have many styles of both

Eyeglasses and Spectacles

To show you, and can fit either with frames or without as preferred. We keep a record of thousands of tests made by us, and it is a great pleasure sometimes on referring to our book to find a person's eyes have considerably improved since first testing and fitting.

Should your Spectacles need truing up bring them in and have them done, which we like to do without charge.

The Works of Penance

(Antigonish Casket.)

A work of penance is any kind of punishment which the sinner willingly undergoes in order that he may satisfy for his sins, or as St. Paul expresses it, in the first chapter of his Epistle to the Colossians, that he may fill up in his flesh those things that are wanting in the sufferings of Christ. Not that the sufferings of Christ are not in themselves sufficient for our salvation, but that it is the will and the design of God, as is made abundantly clear by the Scripture, that we should obtain the salvation of Christ by doing certain good works ourselves. And as the nature of punishment requires that it be painful and afflictive to self, so anything whatsoever which is naturally painful and afflictive to us, and which we willingly undergo with the view of doing penance for our sins, is a penitential work.

Penitential works are of three classes: (1) those which we are commanded to undergo under pain of sin; (2) those which are left to our own free choice, according to our particular wants, without any other command but the general one of doing penance for our sins; (3) those which we are forced to undergo by the order of Providence whether we will or no, but which we may turn to our advantage by receiving them in the spirit of penance.

In the first class the leading place must be given to the confession of our sins in the Sacrament of Penance. This is very painful work, a work that is most humiliating to our self-love, a work which covers us with shame and confusion; but it is clay for a moment, and that momentary humiliation and shame, no sooner are they with the merits of Christ, God accepts in exchange for the everlasting humiliation and shame which would otherwise be our lot at the last day. This painful work is so strictly laid by God Himself upon all who have committed a mortal sin, that the sin will not be forgiven unless confession is made, if it be possible to make it.

Another penitential work which we must perform under pain of sin is the penance received in confession. Many people think very lightly of this; it is generally some short prayer; they do not believe it amounts to anything, and it often happens that they return to confession saying in an indifferent tone that they forgot to perform their penance, or that they are not sure whether they said or not. Now the confessor might very easily give a penance which would not slip their memory. If he said, "Make the Way of the Cross every day for a week," or "Come to Mass every day for a month," it is altogether likely that they would remember the penance and know they finished it.

But through pity for their weakness, through fear that they might not perform a harder penance and might thus burden the conscience with a new sin, he gives a few short prayers to be said, a work, however, though easy in itself, yet on account of its being a part of the Sacrament of Penance, is worth far more in the sight of God than any other works, no matter how painful, performed of our own accord. Let no one, therefore, think lightly of the penance given in confession. It is so important that, should the confessor forget to impose it, he would be doing the penitent a great injury, and the penitent's own interest should lead him to remind the confessor of it.

A third penitential work to be performed under pain of sin is the keeping of the public fasts of the Church. This work is obligatory on all between the ages of twenty-one and sixty who are not excused by reason of poverty, sickness or hard labour. The obligation is a strict one, and no man or woman who is not certain of belonging to one of the above mentioned classes should dare to excuse themselves from fasting. Abstinence from flesh meat, of course, is obligatory from the age of seven to the end of life.

Now we come to the second class, those works which are left to our own choice. The choice is a very large one. We may punish our bodies with their senses in a thousand different ways; for example, by kneeling upright at our prayers without any support; by sitting on a hard chair when we have an easy one at hand; by total abstinence from liquor, even though we never drink to excess; by not eating of some dish that we are fond of; by giving up some harmless pleasure or limiting our indulgence in it, the use of tobacco for instance, by keeping silence for an hour now and then, when we might be engaged in pleasant conversation. We may do such works as will strike at the root of our vices; for example, by giving alms liberally if we are inclined to be stingy; by making it a point never to speak about any one unless we have something good to say, if we are inclined to be uncharitable in our speech; by asking no unnecessary questions, if we are inclined to be excessively curious; by acts of humility if we are inclined to be proud. We may practise extra devotional exercises such as going to Mass on weekdays, paying visits to the Blessed Sacrament, making the Way of the Cross, reciting the Rosary in the family, reading pious books. All or any of these things done in a spirit of penance will be most pleasing to God.

Lastly, there is the third class of penitential works, those things which we must endure whether we will or no, but which we may turn to our advantage. These are the miseries and troubles which we are daily exposed to in this life, and which we cannot avoid. It seems as though God would force us to do what is good for us. So he sends us trials and afflictions of different kinds; we must undergo them, if we only receive them with patience and submission from the hand of God, they will go to reduce the debt of temporal punishment due to our sins. There are the toils and labours of our state of life, a penance laid upon the human race at the time of Adam's fall. There are the inclemencies of the weather, rain, frost, snow. Parents, if your children are obstinate and a torment to you, remember how you behaved towards your own parents, and your neglect to bring up your children well, and take the pain they give you as penance sent from God for these sins. Servants, if your masters and mistresses are harsh and ill-treated; masters, if your servants are disobedient and careless, what excellent opportunities this gives you of offering up a daily penance most acceptable to God. Sickness and pain attack you; here is a large field for making up your accounts with God to your great advantage. And so of all the other crosses which God sends upon us in this life, which there is no avoiding, but which may be easily turned to the best account in the way of doing penance for our sins.

All that we need is the spirit of penance, which will keep us ever on the alert, ready to seize on any chance of doing penance which God throws in our way. And this spirit of penance we must all strive to excite in our hearts at the beginning of Lent. Yesterday we went up to the altar to have ashes put on our heads. This has been regarded as a symbol of penance, an outward sign to denote the inward disposition. Those who put ashes on their heads while not feeling any sorrow for their sins, while not wishing to do any penance for them, are simply hypocrites. Outwardly, they are penitents, inwardly, hardened sinners. For all true Christians, the ashes received on their foreheads yesterday signify their intention of performing at least those penitential works which are commanded, namely, confession, fasting and abstinence. They propose to bear a little shame and a little suffering now, in order not bear a greater shame and a greater suffering hereafter, knowing that they have not here an abiding dwelling; remembering the solemn words first uttered by God in the Garden of Eden, and now uttered by the Church of God over every one of her children on Ash Wednesday: "Memento, homo, quis pulvis es, et in pulverem reverteris. Remember, man, that thou art dust, and unto dust thou shalt return."

A bill has been moved in the British House of Commons aiming at the removal of the embargo on the importation of Canadian cattle. The second reading was set for April 5th. The supporters of the measure include several Canadian members. There is every hope of the bill passing the House of Commons, but it is feared it will be defeated in the House of Lords.

The Need of Good Manners.

Now, if one get into a habit of disregarding the small rules of etiquette, if one use one's fork for a toothpick, drink out of one's finger-bowl, reach over somebody's head for a piece of bread, all the kind hearts and simple faith in the world will not keep you in the company of well bred people. You may answer that some very good persons blow their soap with their breath, stick their own forks into general dishes, and—the thing has been done once perhaps in some savage land—wipe their noses with their napkins. But if these good people paid more attention to the little things of life, their goodness would have more power over others. As it is, virtue loses half its charm when it ignores good manners. It is only old people and men of great genius who can afford to disregard manners. Old people are privileged. If we choose to eat with their knives, or with their napkins around their necks,—a thing which is no longer tolerated,—the man who remarks on it, who shows that he notices it, who criticises it, is not only a boor, but a fool. Young people have no such privileges; they must acquire the little habits of good society or they will find every avenue of cultivation closed to them.

It is foolish, to appear to despise the little rules that govern the conduct of life. This appearance of contempt for observance which have become part of the every day existence of well-regulated people, arises either from selfishness or ignorance. The selfish man does not care to consider his neighbors; but his selfishness is very short sighted, because his neighbors, whose feelings and rights he treats as nonexistent, will soon force the consideration of them on him.

A young man may think it a fine thing to be independent in social matters. He will soon find that he can not afford in life to be independent of anything except an evil influence. If he prefers the society of loungers in liquor-saloons or at hotel bars, he needs nothing but a limitless supply of money. His friends there require the observance of only one rule of etiquette—he must "treat" regularly. To young men who hunger for that kind of independence and that sort of friends I have nothing to say, except that it is easy to prophesy their ruin and disgrace. If a man has no better ambition than to die in an unhonored grave or to live forsaken in an almshouse, let him forsake up his mind to be "independent." The world in which you will live is exacting, and you can no more succeed and defy its exactions than you can stick your finger into a fire and escape burning.—From "A Gentleman," by Maurice Francis Egan.

Notes From Rome.

Already great preparations are on foot for the proper celebration of the golden jubilee of the priesthood of the Sovereign Pontiff, which will occur on September 13, 1906. A universal union of prayer and a jubilee Mass and an offering of something from all the Catholics of the world is the idea of Mgr. Rudini-Tedeschi and other Italian prelates, who are entering into the project most heartily.

Cardinal Rampolla's new book, "Life of St. Melanie, the Younger, with Contemporary Documents and Notes," and the Benedictine Dom Janssens' review of it, are literary events of the week in Rome. The work has a great archaeological and historical value. It brings out much of the life of the Church in the fourth century. Dom Janssens summed up his lecture on it by pointing out that the dying paganism of those days is having a rebirth in our days, and we need again the heroism of the saints to meet it and conquer it.

Cardinal Wiseman's great Christian novel, "Fabiola; or the Church of the Catacombs," is brought to mind vividly by the excavation of a terra cotta slab in one of the galleries of the recently rediscovered Catacomb of St. Ommodilla. This slab reads, IVSTA—FABIOLA, and is still in the place where it was placed originally, closing a grave. In the Vatican basilica, behind the tabernacle of the marble altar where the relic of the lance that pierced Our Saviour's side was venerated, is an inscription that reads: "Deposita Fabiola C. F. die III. Kal. Decem. Herculano V. C. Cons." And by this particular mention of the consul in office when Fabiola was interred in the basilica of St. Peter, De Rossi had no difficulty in discovering the date, which is A. D. 452. Another tomb in the Catacomb of St. Ommodilla bears the name of Fabiola—a name which Cardinal Wiseman has made so renowned and which is, in all probability, more widely known and to a greater number of persons than any other name recorded on the inscriptions of these cemeteries.

THREE Trying Times in A WOMAN'S LIFE

are almost an absolute necessity towards her future health. The first when she is just budding from girlhood into the full bloom of womanhood. The second period that constitutes a special drain on the system is during pregnancy. The third and the one most liable to have heart and nerve troubles is during "change of life."

In all three periods Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will prove of wonderful value to the sufferer. Mrs. Fannie King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I was troubled very much with heart trouble—the cause being to a great extent due to 'change of life.' I have been taking your Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, as I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers." Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25. All dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A schoolboy got up to read a composition on "The Tree." He got as far as "This subject has many branches," when the teacher said:—"Stop! you have not made your boy yet."

"If you interrupt me again," said the boy, "I'll leave."

"You give me any more impudence and I'll take the sap out of you. Do you understand?" said the teacher.

"I twig," said the boy; and then the regular order of business proceeded.

All kinds of Coughs and Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Pains in the Chest, Wheezing, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and Asthma, yield to the Lung-healing properties of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Price 25c.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

"Here's a letter from a woman," said the household inquiry editor, "who wants to know what to use in cleaning carpets."

"If she's a married woman," suggested the snake editor, "tell her to use her husband."

Sick With Worms.

Mrs. J. D. Mayo, South Stukely, P. Q., wrote the following: "One of my children took sick with worms and after trying everything without getting relief we procured Dr. Low's Worm Syrup which acted promptly and effectually."

Is the whole always equal to the sum of all its parts? A German beggar thought it doubtful.

"Here I am," he said, as he looked at himself in a pocket mirror—"here I am, wearing the boots of a bank manager, the trousers of a landed proprietor, a baron's coat and vest, and a count's hat, yet in spite of it all I look like a tramp."

After a night with "the boys" there is no better remedy to clear the head and settle the stomach than Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders. Price 10c. and 25c. at all dealers.

Minard's Liniment Cures everything.

Wendell Phillips, the famous American orator and abolitionist, had an effective way of dealing with disturbances. Once when he was interrupted by an unfriendly audience, he stooped down and began talking in a low voice to the men at the reporters' table.

Some of the auditors, becoming curious, called "Louder." Whereupon Phillips straightened himself up and exclaimed:—"Go right on, gentlemen, with your noise. Through these pencils," pointing to the reporters, "I speak to forty million people."

Many Women Suffer UNTOLD AGONY FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Very often they think it is from so-called "Female Diseases." There is less female trouble than they think. Women suffer from backache, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, and a dragging-down feeling in the loins. So do men, and they do not have "female trouble." Why, then, blame all your troubles to Female Disease? With healthy kidneys, few women will ever have "female disorders." The kidneys are so closely connected with all the internal organs, that when the kidneys go wrong, everything goes wrong. Much distress would be saved if women would only take

THE HERALD

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14th, 1906.

SUBSCRIPTION—$1.00 A YEAR, PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY JAMES McISAAC Editor & Proprietor.

As an outcome of the suggestion by Joseph Chamberlain when he held the post of Colonial Secretary a unique blue book was published recently recording and tabulating in 300 pages forty years growth of the British Empire as revealed by the census of 1901.

The Rouvier Ministry of France was defeated in the Chamber of Deputies, Paris, on Wednesday evening last, and immediately resigned. It appears the defeat of the ministry came quite suddenly, in a comparatively minor debate on the matter of laws against the church.

The annual report of the Dominion Railway Department is issued. Railway expenditure for the year ending June 30th last, amounts to $16,804,772, of which $6,125,481 is charged to capital, $8,906,154 to revenue and $1,373,136 to income.

Mr. R. L. Borden, delivered an address in New York on the 6th, inst., and spoke freely regarding several questions connected with the government of free countries. He said that "in Canada, as in the United States, the system of government by party prevails."

He arrived home during the summer of the same year, and in September was appointed to a professorship in St. Dunstan's College. Here he remained for two years. He was then appointed senior priest at St. Dunstan's Cathedral; but his health, never very robust, broke down and in Sept. 1874 he was appointed pastor of St. Mary's, Indian River.

The speech with which the Federal Parliament was opened, published in another column, is a rather light bill of fare. It certainly does not foreshadow a great amount of important legislation; neither is it a very remarkable document from its literary excellence.

He was consecrated in St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax, on the 21st of January 1883. The Consecrating Bishop was Bishop (afterwards Archbishop) Fabre of Montreal and the assistant Consecrators were Bishop McIntyre of Charlottetown and Bishop Sweeney of St. John. The sermon on the occasion was preached by Bishop Cameron of Antigonish. Of these four prelates, then officiating, the Archbishop elect, the consecrators and the preacher, his venerable Bishop Cameron is now the sole survivor.

Archbishop O'Brien.

This community was shocked on Saturday morning on learning that the Most Rev. Archbishop O'Brien, of Halifax had died very suddenly on Friday evening. The Archbishop had not been in robust health for some time and latterly his indisposition had been somewhat more pronounced; but his condition caused no alarm and his physician was not uneasy.

Most Rev. Cornelius O'Brien was a native of the parish of Rustico, in this Province. His parents lived on a farm between Wheatley River and New Glasgow, and there the future Archbishop was born on May 4th, 1843, so that he was within two months of completing his 63rd year at the time of his death.

We were visited during recess by the Transportation Commission and also by the Tariff Commission, from both of which visits, especially the latter, we trust much benefit will accrue to this Province.

The Province has also to mourn the death of His Grace Archbishop O'Brien, a native of this Island, who has risen to a high position through his great ability, integrity, and honorable and upright character.

He was consecrated in St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax, on the 21st of January 1883. The Consecrating Bishop was Bishop (afterwards Archbishop) Fabre of Montreal and the assistant Consecrators were Bishop McIntyre of Charlottetown and Bishop Sweeney of St. John. Opening of Dominion Parliament.

The second session of the tenth Parliament of Canada opened at Ottawa on Thursday afternoon last with the usual formalities. After his Excellency the Governor General had taken his seat on the throne in the Senate Chamber, and the members of the House of Commons had been summoned he read the following speech in both English and French.

Honorable gentlemen of the Senate, gentlemen of the House of Commons.—In again summoning you to meet for the despatch of business I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the prosperity that is prevailing throughout the Dominion.

Opening of the Legislature.

The Provincial Legislature opened yesterday, with the usual formalities. Following is the speech from the throne: Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly: I heartily welcome you on re-assembling for the performance of your legislative duties, and I have much pleasure in congratulating you and the Province upon the general prosperity, which, through Divine Providence, has prevailed throughout the Island during the past year.

The rapid destruction of our forests now going on, will, unless the operations of the lumbermen be prudently regulated in the future and a system of reforestation adopted, result in grave consequences, affecting the uniform flow of our rivers and limiting our valuable water powers to a few months in the year.

The result of the investigation into the administration of leading life insurance companies in the neighboring Republic has naturally created some uneasiness in the public mind as to the condition of Canadian companies. A commission has therefore been issued to inquire into and report on the management and financial standing not only of the companies holding Canadian charters, but also of all companies doing business under license in Canada.

The Public Accounts for the past year will be laid before you providing for the consolidation of our Statistics, which since 1888 have remained uncollected, and are, as they now stand, most misleading and unsatisfactory.

Terrible Storm.

A terrible wind and rain storm raged at Sydney on Friday night and all day Saturday. Considerable damage was done in different parts of the country. The gale reached a velocity of sixty-five miles an hour at noon on Saturday and the heaviest sea for years was blown up around the coast.

Storm in the West.

Portland, March 12.—Reports from all parts of the Pacific Northwest indicate that the district is in the throes of one of the worst storms ever experienced in March, the snowfall varying from 15 inches at Weiser, Idaho, to 3 inches at Huntington, Oregon.

Canada and Japan.

An enquiry has been received at Ottawa from Mr. Alexander McLean, Canadian agent in Japan, regarding consignments of fish guano, for which he says there is an immense demand in Japan. He thinks Canada ought to share in the Japanese market in this respect.

The woman who buys Dress Goods now-a-days, has yet to buy right; but buying right does not mean a matter of "How Cheap." A-how cheap dress that is old fashioned and that will not stand the wear and tear is not the one wide awake people buy. They want a dress right up-to-date in every particular. Quality, style, we have, and good wear resisting qualities. This is the kind we sell. Send for sample.—Stanley Bros.

One of the first vessels accepted to arrive here on the opening of navigation will be the tern schooner Helen M. Stewart, Capt. Miller. This vessel leaves Barbadoes with a cargo of sugar and molasses early in April. The cargo is for Carvell Bros. The universal Postal Union, which settles all matters of postal interest, such as transit rates, changes in postage rates, authorizing the formation of new conventions as regards parcels post, money orders and postal work generally, was held in Rome on April 7. The last convention was held in 1897, and delegates from all over the world attended it. Dr. Coulter, deputy postmaster general, has been appointed to represent Canada at this convention. The handsome monument erected to the memory of the New Hampshire troops who fought and fell in the siege of Vicksburg, Miss., was dedicated on the 8th with impressive ceremonies in the presence of Governor McLean and a large party of prominent citizens of New Hampshire. The monument is an imposing and beautiful shaft of granite and occupies a conspicuous location in Grant's headquarters in the Vicksburg national park. Negotiations are now in progress with a number of Canadian capitalists for the Nova Scotia eastern railway. The contract has not yet been completed; but negotiations have been so far advanced that it can be stated that all has been settled but the minor details of the scheme. This new company will build the road from Dartmouth to Guysboro with a branch from a point at or near New Glasgow to Country Harbor. By far the largest influx of immigrants to reach Canadian shores this season arrived in Montreal on Monday, when over 4,000 men, women and children passed through the city en route to the Canadian Northwest, where they will take up their residence. Such was the number of the arrivals received at the C. P. R. General Offices from the immigration officials of the different trans-atlantic lines possessing Canadian terminals at Halifax and St. John Special trains conveyed these large contingents of settlers to the West. In accordance with official proclamation the 10th was celebrated throughout the Japanese Empire as the anniversary of the late war. Business was universally suspended and the people everywhere gave themselves up to the celebration of the day. In Tokio the celebration was on a particularly elaborate scale and included among its prominent features a mammoth review of troops attended by the Emperor and many of the military and naval commanders who had a prominent part in the recent conflict. The ravages of the dogfish and shark among the fisheries of Massachusetts was discussed by the President at Washington on the 8th, with the committee appointed by the Governor of Massachusetts to come here for that purpose. The sharks and dogfish are destroying great numbers of fish and ravages being so extensive as to effect the fishing industry, especially mackerel and cod. There is a bill before Congress which has for its object the promotion of certain industries that make use of the shark and dogfish. The Cassidy-Lanning bill to prohibit gambling on race tracks was given its final hearing at Albany on the 7th inst, before the joint codes committee of the general assembly. The measure is being pushed by the International Reform Bureau, which has its headquarters at Washington and which has been successful in securing the enactment of anti-gambling legislation in several states. The bill has passed the measure is generally predicted in view of the strong opposition with which it will meet from August Belmont and his associates of the state racing commission. A collision between a street car and a horse at the corner of Beverly and Queen streets, Toronto, occurred Friday afternoon during the funeral of Marcella Stewart. The horse was crossing the Queen street car tracks when a west bound Dundas car struck it. The motorman apparently tried to stop the car, but the rails were slippery. Two men on the horse were thrown off, one being injured on the head, the other on the knee, but not seriously. The horse was not upset nor was the glass broken. But other damages made it necessary to get another horse before the funeral could proceed. The car was also somewhat damaged. A remarkable accident is reported from the little garrison town of Orlausburg, Germany. A private soldier was walking in broad daylight on the outskirts of the town when he suddenly fell to the ground. Persons who came to his assistance found that he had been struck by a rifle bullet, though no one, including the wounded man himself, had heard or seen a shot fired. Investigation resulted in the discovery that long range firing exercises had been going on at the time at the garrison three miles away, and that a gun had accidentally gone off. The bullet from this rifle struck the man over a wood, and in dropping down on the other side from a considerable height had retained sufficient velocity to inflict a critical wound. The suit of the Dominion Government against the Ontario Government for a claim for $1,863,035.30 came up for hearing on the 8th in the Exchequer Court of Canada. The claim is made against the Ontario Government for the repayment of certain annuities and other sums paid by the Dominion to the Saulteaux Indians under the terms of a treaty concluded in 1857. In that year the Crown purchased 47,000 acres of land from the Saulteaux tribes of the Ojibwa Indians and settled annuities upon the abtels. In 1878 the land was made over to the Province of Ontario. New the Dominion asks that Ontario repay the amount it spent on the Indians and improving the land. The Province in reply says that the Dominion Government made the treaty and therefore should carry out the conditions.

A fatal accident occurred on Saturday afternoon about 2 p. m., on Fox River, Lot 11, the victim being Fred Keays, aged 16, son of the late John Keays. The boy was working the mud digger at the time. Owing to the slipping of a bolt, the capstan fell, striking young Keays on the head and killing him almost instantly. The deceased leaves a widowed mother, two brothers and two sisters to mourn. Owing to the absence of King Edward in the South there was no celebration on the 10th, of their Majesty's forty-third wedding anniversary. Numerous messages of congratulation, however, were received at Marlborough House during the day. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, (Now King Edward VII.) married Alexandra, the eldest daughter of King Christian IX., of Denmark, in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, March 10, 1863. He was then 22 years old and she was 19. Now he is 64 and she is 61. Army officers of the United States are displaying much interest in the endurance march through the heart of the Rocky mountains about to be undertaken by two batteries of the United States army, with cannon and equipment. The 14th and 19th Batteries have been selected to make the test, starting within a week or so from Salt Lake City and marching to the front at Cheyenne, Wyo., a distance of about 500 miles. The trip will be notable as the first long-distance mountain trip for a battery. All the heavy cannon and other accoutrements will be taken through the trip will be made by forced marches, the batteries being expected to make at least twenty-five miles a day. The old Mormon trail across the Utah and Wyoming will be used. Princess Ena bride-elect of King Alfonso, joined the Catholic Church on the 7th. The ceremony took place at the church of St. Antonio, which is close to Miramar Palace in San Sebastian, Spain. There is great satisfaction that the ceremony was held on Spanish soil and that it was public. It is considered that Princess Ena has thus given the strongest denial the statement that her conversion is only half-hearted and formal. Mortgage Sale. By virtue of a writ of Statute Execution to me directed, issued out of His Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature of Prince Edward Island, under the 8th section 24th Victoria, Cap. 5, by Patrick W. I have taken and seized all the estate, right, title and interest of which the said James Mahar and Philip Mahar were seized or possessed in their lifetime, in and to all that tract, piece or parcel of land, lying and being on Lot or Township number Thirty-eight, in King's County, in Prince Edward Island, bounded and described as follows, that is to say:—Commencing on the east side of Brothers Road, at the southeast angle of a farm of land now or formerly owned by Henry Money; it runs thence (according to the magnetic meridian of the year 1784) west to the division line between Townships numbers Thirty-seven and Thirty-eight; thence south along said division line eleven chains and ten links; thence east to the line of said Brothers Road; and thence northwardly along the said road to the place of commencement, containing Ninety-nine acres of land a little or less, as delineated on a plan on the margin of a deed of conveyance from John Aldouse, the Commissioner of Public Lands, to one James Manning, dated the 27th day of February, A. Pope himself, to Gregory XI., the "sweet Christ on earth," as she calls him, she bids him to follow the example of his illustrious predecessor, Pope St. Gregory the Great, in the following magnificent appeal:

In sublime vision Almighty God showed to this, His saint, the Church's face soiled and swollen by the sins of the very men whom she was sustaining; and her beauty was not to be restored by the sword of war.

Chief Function of the College.

The Loyola Alumni Association held its annual banquet at the St. Andrew Hotel Baltimore recently, at which a large number of former students of the college were present.

Being of this mind, and persuaded also that the greatest work of college is apt to be slurred and minimized, I wish to invite your attention for a little while to what I deem the noblest function of college.

Now, the scope of all college life and training is the development of the student as a whole in his collective faculties; hence this result presents the sum of the functions of the college. But among the different faculties of the student there are some of greater, some of lesser, importance, some inferior, some more excellent.

All this is but in the abstract and only prelude to what I now come to in the concrete. The mind and the will are pre-eminently the most excellent of man's faculties, and in the case of the Christian, baptized in Christ, their most perfect employment is found in those acts which relate to his final happiness.

form these acts of mind and will, regulating them according to God's command, this is the fulfilment of the law; this is man's noblest life.

Dear Alumni of Loyola, who are gathered here this evening, with whom God and Religion are here to-night as chief guests, let me remind you of your special heritage.

Let Down Your Nets.

Launch out into the deep, The awful depths of a world's despair; Hearts that are breaking and eyes that weep; Sorrow and ruin and death are there, And the sea is wide and the pitiless tide Beats on its bosom, away, Beauty and youth in relentless ruth To its dark abyss for aye—for aye, But the Master's voice came over the sea, "Let down your net for a draught," for Me!
