Now the Prices you've been waiting for are here

The old year took away, for ever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.

The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.

2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far-sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.

We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.

Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES.
We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and.

THE MOST STIRRING PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.

No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.

Look. Read. Realize.

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor.

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine! We study the business. We know what suits a young man.

We know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W. H. Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Overcoats, Made-to-Order from... $30.00 to $48.00

Overcoats, Ready-to-Wear,..... $15.00 to $36.00

Success Is a Habit

Our habits make us. We are creatures of habit. Whether we are a success or a failure is a question of how we do things without thinking. To Succeed is the only way to success.

Why Is The Catholic Church So Opposed To Divorce?

It should rather be asked why are not the Protestant churches as much opposed to divorce as the Catholic Church, because if the Bible be their authority they can not sanction absolute divorce in any case. Even if St. Matthew (v. 32 and XIX, 9) authorized absolute divorce for the one cause of infidelity, how about the many flimsy reasons which the Protestant churches condone? asks the Sunday Visitor?

As a matter of fact, for fifteen hundred years of the Christian era these two texts from Matthew were interpreted to authorize separation only where one of the marriage partners had proved unfaithful, but it was never understood that the innocent party had a right to re-marry. So holds forth three-fourths of Christendom even today. The prohibition contained in Mark (X, 9-12) Luke (XVI, 18) and Paul (I Cor. 10-11; Rom. VII, 2-3) is absolute, and Matthew, in the two texts quoted in favor of separation, can easily be reconciled with the other four in which no exception is suggested.

St. Paul distinctly avers that death alone dissolves the marriage tie, and Luke says: "Everyone that putteth away his wife, and marieth another committeth adultery," and declares that he also committeth adultery who marieth her that is put away. Mark is equally emphatic. He uses the word "whosoever" where Luke uses the word "everyone." In fact it would be a mistake to say that any one can see an exception permitted by Matthew, because while he does justify the putting away of a wife for the cause of fornication, he contends "he that shall marry her that is put away committeth adultery." Mark and Luke speak of the man marrying another after putting away his wife; but Matthew says nothing of the man marrying another. Hence mere separation was in Matthew's mind.

The State of New York allows absolute divorce only for the mis-called Scriptural reason, yet the latest statistics credit New York State with 3,269 divorces during 1916. Grant one reason and dissatisfied people will bring about the condition which will enable them to become divorced.

It is true that many individuals must suffer a hardship by being denied the privilege of re-marrying after separation, but laws are made for the general good. Every law will work a hardship on some people. If people foreknew that the marriage they were about to enter was to endure for life, they would not only be more cautious about the step, but would try harder to live harmoniously. In countries where there exist no divorce laws wedded couples live more harmoniously than they do in this country.

If the Almighty has called most people to the married state, it is plain they will find happiness therein if only they will pray for direction in their choice, and by honorable courtship, merit a blessing on their union.

The Catholic Church regards marriage as a Sacrament; St. Paul calls it by that name (Eph. V, 32). Marriage is sacred, not only because it has God as its Author, and because Christ honored a marriage by His first appearance in public life, but also because the home is the very foundation of society, and the school in which the child is to be started right on its journey to eternity.

People who believe that divorce should be allowed to one who was mis-mated do not consider the rights of the children. They are separated from one of their parents without being consulted and must themselves often be subjected to severe hardships by accepting a new parent, who will not be a father or a mother to them.

Liberal Tariff Inconsistencies

The record of the Liberal Party on that most important and vital of all questions—the Tariff—is one of inconsistency and opportunism—the one because of the other. Out of office in the nineties, they denounced protection and advocated its destruction root and branch—they would not be satisfied until the last vestige of protection was removed. In office for fifteen years they maintained protection and unctuously claimed they knew how to get better results out of it than their opponents. Out of office again and anxious to get back they are playing the old game of fooling the public by telling one class—the farmers—that they are for free trade—another class that they are for lower tariff, and still another class that they could not remove protection if they wanted to. It is a sorry record of straddling the fence and of political hypocrisy, of blowing hot and blowing cold, of pandering to each and every discordant and divergent element of trying to be all things to all men. The Liberal office appears to be the sole motive—principles be hanged.

The times are too serious and the conditions of the country too grave to trifle, as the Liberals are doing, with the destinies of their country. Mr. King and his lieutenants must be brought sharply to task. It is a public duty to expose their insincerity and lack of principle. At this, perhaps the most critical point in our history, these men must be stopped in their course of saying one thing here, and another there. They must be pinned down to the platform of their party, which is their only mandate. It is on that platform they stand before the country, and it is by that platform they will be judged by the people, and not by the vote-catching utterances of Mr. Mackenzie King or any of his associates.

We refuse to accept Mr. Fielding's cynical statement that the platform was made "to get in on." That platform is a declaration of Liberal principles and faith, which (quoting its exact language) "the Liberal Party pledges itself to implement by legislation."

Before proceeding to analyze and interpret the Liberal platform, a word or two as to the manner of its construction will, we think, be worth while. As everybody knows it was adopted at a great nation-wide convention of the Party held in August, 1919, a convention called for the purpose of promoting a leader in succession to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and of laying down the policy to be followed. In many respects it was a decidedly interesting affair. Bereft of the wise counsel and restraining hands of its great leader, Sir Wilfrid, the party was at sixes and sevens. The Eastern wing favored, as it has always done, a policy of moderate protection, while the Western wing was out and out for free trade. The portentous shadow of the free trade farmer movement

BAD HEADACHES FOR TWO YEARS

Mrs. Ernest Furber, Rose St., Dartmouth, N.S., writes: "I have been troubled for two years with bad headaches and tried many different remedies, but found no relief. I was telling a friend of mine about the bad pain in my head and she told me to try Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills. I had tried many pills and powders, but I thought I would give your pills a trial. I took one and was quite pleased with them so I took two more, and now I don't feel any headaches or dizziness. I am very thankful to Lax-Liver Pills and I can recommend them to everyone."

in the West, spreading into Ontario and the other provinces, was a menace to be reckoned with. The contest for the leadership developed latent animosities and sharply accentuated the differences of opinion in regard to the war attitude of the party and the kind of feelings engendered thereby. Under such circumstances there was little harmony; the opposing interests fought stoutly and strenuously. Out of the struggle emerged a leader chosen not so much for his ability as for his volubility; not so much for himself as from a desire to punish others. Out of it also the free trade element emerged victorious. The influence of the farmer movement gained the day and the moderate protectionists in the party had to take their medicine, bitter though it was to swallow. The convention was dominated by such pronounced and outspoken free traders as Andrew McMeekin, the member for Brandon who was the chairman of the Tariff Resolution Committee, the Hon. George Langley of Saskatchewan and the Hon. Duncan Marshall of Alberta. The moderate counsels of Mr. Fielding and Hon. Sir Lomar Guin, of Quebec were rejected. One of the staunchest Liberals of Montreal (who was a close personal friend of Sir Wilfrid) was brutally told that the advice he offered was valueless because he was a manufacturer. The free trade leaders carried things through in a frenzy of excitement. Passion rose to great heights. As a prominent member of the convention said afterwards, it was a "free trade orgy."

Workers In Spain

Catholic miners and workers from the Provinces of Leon, Santander and Valencia, in Spain, thronged the streets of the episcopal city of Valladolid, where the Syndicate of Catholic Workers and Spanish Miners held its annual conference. The conferences were held in the headquarters of the Catholic Social Guild of Valladolid, and a circular letter, giving the list of subjects discussed, shows that the Syndicate is wide awake to the needs of the workers, and means to press for securing for them the due recognition of their rights under the laws of Spain.

ON FEET ALL DAY, BACK ACHED AT NIGHT

Women try to bear the daily burdens of the household, but being on their feet all day long with the continual hopping, bending and never-ending strain it is no wonder that, sooner or later, the back gives out.

All weak backed, suffering women should use Doan's Kidney Pills on the first sign of any back weakness and thereby prevent some serious kidney trouble able to follow.

Mrs. Julia McKinnon, North Sydney, N.S., writes: "I was so troubled with pain in my back I did not know what to do."

I was on my feet all day and my back ached so at night I could scarcely walk in one night of sleep. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking three boxes I am as well as ever, and can work from morning till night. I am always telling my friends of what "Doan's" have done for me."

See that our trade mark the "Maple Leaf" appears on the oblong grey box. None genuine without it.

Does Nobody
Love Willie?

(Montreal Star.)

Mr. Crerar joins the ranks of those who are willing to see Willie King go into the retirement he so greatly adorns. While discussing last night at Charlottetown, P. E. I., the charge that there is a secret understanding between himself and the shell-shocked leader, pro tem, of the Liberal party, he advanced as proof that there was "nothin' to it" the fact that "he (Mr.
King) is himself opposed in his own constituency by Mr. Burnaby (U. F. O.), and Mr. Burnaby will probably beat him." If Mr.
Crerar turned aside to shed a tear at this point, the usually alert reporter seems to have missed the touching episode.

So we are rapidly approaching unanimity in our readiness to permit the Boy wonder to depart from the Wonderland where he seems so ill at ease—a rude place where there are high-explosive shells at whose uses he can only guess; where his followers are like the Irishman's pig which he was driving to market, "wan went wan way and wan wan wan way"—and to see him re-enter that academic and oleag-inous retreat where Rockefeller money finances, among other things, purely unselfish investigations into the great and throbb-ing question:

"How to Make Geese Enjoy Being Plucked."

They say that Willie was a fine investigator. His speciality was industrial relations. He wrote a book about it. He got so deeply interested in it that he stuck to the job right through three years of war, and only came out of his trance when the war fever spread down to the Rockefeller preserve, known as the United States. Then he hurried up to Canada to help prevent anybody else being innoculated with the fever against his will. He knew by his own experience that a young man did far better work when he didn't have the fever.

But what interests us is not
Mr. King's serene detachment from war, with its interesting pathological development when he is suddenly brought into the presence of war material. That really is not so surprising. There may be a tradition in the William Lyon Mackenzie family that it is only against the British that one should fight. But we are genuinely concerned at the ill-concealed glee with which so many of the young leader's allies and followers look forward to his carefully scheduled sacrifice in North York. Why are they all so willing to do without Mr.
King?

One would have expected in all decency a note of sadness from Mr. Crerar when he found himself compelled to make mention of the coming obsequies. But he fairly hoots as he boasts:
" And Mr. Burnaby will probably beat him!" Of course, Mr.
Burnaby is a Crerar supporter, though, in North York, they think that Burnaby is more like a Crerar controller. Still Mr.
Crerar knows perfectly well that when the storm passes and the votes are counted, he would have to discover new virtues in Mr.
King as a friend, a statesman and and that he is unflinchingly opposed to the extreme Farmer Class Movement with its Free Trade doctrine. He invites criticisms of his Government and its actions, and meets every challenge his opponents throw out to him. The intense sincerity of the man and his undoubted great capacity have made a striking impression on the public mind, and in the end these are the two factors which will be productive of the greatest measure of success.

Speaking of the Prime Minister the special correspondent of the Montreal Star, who is accompanying him in his Maritime tour, says:
" While not an orator of the spectacular type who electrifies his audience with sparkling sal-lies and witty remarks, Mr.
Meighen has, nevertheless, managed to gain such a hold upon the minds and sympathies of the people as will tax all the ingenuity of Mr. Mackenzie King's spellbinders to destroy. The people like his manly straightforward and honest way of putting his case before them. His manner of address in itself carries the conviction of truth with it, and in hundreds of cases men and women who could not heretofore be counted among his followers, after having listened to him have gone away convinced not only of the righteousness of the cause he advocated, but delighted with the strong personality of the man himself."

A couple of months ago when the prospect of an early appeal to the people was first regarded as a probability, the outlook for the success of Government candidates in the Province was not regarded as any too good. In fact, excepting in one or two constituencies, there was a decided note of pessimism. The last fortnight, however, has seen all this sort of thing changed, and now a spirit of optimism prevails everywhere. The Opposition is all at sixes and sevens, in fact it may truthfully be said that they don't know where they see.
Large numbers of them have very little faith in Mackenzie King himself as a leader, and still less in the policies he propounds.
They realize very clearly that his is not by any means the Liberalism of Laurier, and while they would like to stick by the old party, they cannot help but appreciate the fact that if the business of the Maritime Provinces is to be maintained at its normal standard, there must be no departure from the policy of moderate, though adequate protection, for the staple industries.

For this and other reasons, Mr.
Meighen will get the support of these Liberals and, though they will not openly make any great show as to the course they will take, their ballots will be cast for his candidates when polling day comes around. Besides this silent vote, there is a considerable number of old-time Liberals who have openly declared their intention to support the Meighen policy, and they make no bones about it. Moreover, it is not too much to say that Mackenzie King's vacillating attitude, and his lack of convincing attributes, has bred a feeling of distrust in the minds of many of those who have always been allied with the Liberal party, and this leaves them in a condition of thought, which a man of such strong personality and convincing address as Premier Meighen can very readily capture.

As the campaign develops, Mr.
King becomes more and more involved and makes himself appear more and more ridiculous.
In Quebec, obeying the dictation of the leaders of Liberalism in that Province, he practically scrapped the Liberal Platform, and declared for the Laurier Policy, which is the Tariff that is in force to-day.
In the manufacturing districts of the Maritime Provinces, he continued to preach his " We will

The Premier's Campaign

not hurt the manufacturers' gospel, but when he got over to Prince Edward Island, where farming interests largely predominate, he switched back to his Party platform and pointed out to the farmers " that there was little in the Farmers' Platform that was not in the Liberal Platform."
" What can be done or said about pect the people to believe in him?

the more he convinces the public that he is purely and simply an opportunist and that his sole ambition is to get into office. Next to the Prime Minister's qualities of great sincerity and wonderful ability it will be found that Mr.
King's verbosity and vacillation will constitute an important factor in the success of the Government. Even his followers see through his game and many of them are heartily ashamed of it.
There is scarcely an outstanding non-professional Liberal in the country who can be found prepared to subscribe to King's wobbling attitude. How could there be? They have nothing to tie to, to preach about, to swear by. Like Mahomet's coffin, King has suspended them between heaven and earth; and so it is that the Liberal element who have not been active in politics, find themselves, by the thousands, unable to follow the tortuous course of the party leader.

Prominent newspapers too are deserting him. The Brantford Expositor and the Glace Bay Gazette, two well known political organs of high standing, have recently left the King ship.

Dr. Michael Clark, a Liberal of the Liberals, broke with the Farmers and cannot see his way clear to march under King's banner, because, as he says he would not know where he was going. To quote his own words: " I refuse to sign a blank cheque in that gentleman's favor."

Nor are signs wanting that Quebec may surprise the country.
The men of affairs, the thinkers, the people with a solid stake in that Province are alive to the perils of the situation created by the extreme Free Trade movement and recognize the grave danger of adhering to old-time party politics and old-time sentimental cries. These men are with the Government at heart on its policy of reasonable protection and they are likewise with it in its determined opposition to the Class movement. They are fully aware of the gravity of national conditions and of the necessity of unity and unified work to solve our problems. As the days go by, they are realizing more and more the absolute necessity of Canadians of all classes and creeds sticking working together and of sloughing minor grievances in the face of the common national danger.

Out in the West in Medicine Hat, the labour men who supported the United Farmers in the Provincial fight, have decided that they cannot follow these farmers in the Federal field.

Mr. Crerar is making strenuous attempts to deny that the United Farmer Movement is a Class Movement, but he cannot answer the question " If the Farmer Movement is not a Class Movement, why is it that only farmers can belong to it, all others being debarred?"

On the whole the indications favourable to the Government are of the most heartening character.

Important Industries Affected By New Platforms

Both the United Farmer and Liberal Platforms definitely state that agricultural implements shall be placed on the Free List. The very limited protection which the agricultural implement industry is now accorded, is to be withdrawn completely and the industry is to meet the formidable competition of U. S. manufacturers on a free trade basis.

Let us see what is at stake. According to a Bulletin of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, dated November, 1920, covering for the calendar year, 1919, there were 86 factories or plants manufacturing agricultural implements distributed by Provinces, as follows:

Ontario	51 plants
Quebec	20 "
Manitoba	7 "
Alberta	3 "
Saskatchewan	3 "
P. E. Island	2 "
Total	86

The total capital invested was $83,276,450.

The employees numbered 10,808, and the pay-roll for the year was $11,853,013.

Total value of products; $37,715,331.

Material purchased from other manufacturers, principally Canadian, comprising iron and steel and other metals in various forms, lumber, timber, paints, varnish, amounted in value for the year to $16,520,146, the production of which (computed on the same basis as the agricultural implement industry) gave employment to 5,000 more people. As a matter of fact one of the large agricultural implement manufacturing firms buys raw materials and semi finished articles from no less than 400 different firms in Canada.

A huge industry of this kind also radiates a beneficial influence through all branches of trade and commerce. It constitutes a most important factor in railway traffic; merchants in all the cities, towns and villages benefit by the employment given to labour; farmers are supplied with a home market in the needs of such printers and publishers benefit through advertising and so we might go on.

This is the industry which the Hon. Mr. Cramer, Mr. Wood of Alberta, and the Hon. Mr. King, as the leaders of their respective parties, without investigation, propose to wipe off the Canadian industrial map.

This is the industry which the application of either of their policies would transfer from Canada to the United States. In this connection, we quote from an article recently published in the press from the pen of Mr. Thomas Findlay, President of the Massey-Harris Company:

"The putting of these industries and the resultant list of free materials upon the list is so revolutionary a change in our fiscal system that we venture to say that neither the conventions adopting these resolutions, nor any one else, can see the ultimate result of such a policy. I appeal to the leaders that they ought, in fairness to these important industries, to withdraw their specific pledges, and be free, if the responsibility of office fell upon them, to deal justly and according to their judgment with the issue at stake.

"My opinion is that free trade in implements means the inevitable shifting of the manufacture of Western Canadian implements from Ontario and Quebec to the western mid-states. If there is to be neither tariff nor sentimental preference to offset the geographical handicap, we shall be forced sooner or later to establish ourselves on equal terms with our competitors. So far as my company is concerned, we are not going to lose our Western Canadian trade, even if to retain it we have to build another factory in the western states. Therefore our workmen, other industries which furnish us with materials, and those generally dependent upon them, are much more vitally interested in this matter than we are."

It should be borne in mind that the average rate of duty on agricultural implements subject to customs duty is only 14 per cent, and the average rate on all imported implements, dutiable and free, is only 7 per cent. We should imagine it would not be difficult to hazard a guess as to the mental attitude towards the Farmer and Liberal Leaders of the workmen employed in this industry—especially those whose homes are at stake.

The Canning Industry is also to be put on a free trade basis, under the plank in both the Farmer and Liberal platforms.

In this industry, in the year 1919 a total capital of $16,956,695 was invested, distributed by Provinces as follows:

Ontario	$12,669,592
British Columbia	1,847,489
Quebec	1,176,765
Nova Scotia	213,914
New Brunswick	33,586
Manitoba	15,167

The total number of employees was 2,561 male, 3,423 female, and the total pay roll $3,184,663.

The 237 canning plants located in the different provinces bought from the farmers of Canada almost entirely fruits and vegetables of a total value of $7,333,982.

BISCUITS AND CONFECTIONERY INDUSTRIES

Here is another exceedingly important native industry the products of which are to be made free of duty as specified in both the Liberal and Farmer platforms under the category of free food stuffs.

What do they mean to Canada? Look at the facts.

Number of factories or plants	195
Total capital invested	$23,836,187
Total employees	10,742
Total annual pay roll	$7,589,008

FLOUR MILLING INDUSTRY. This enormous industry is also affected by the free food programme of Liberals and Farmers. In all in 1919 there were 1,355 flour mills in Canada, with a total capital of $76,411,423; 7,401 employees, and a yearly pay roll of $8,083,270.

MEAT INDUSTRY.

This is another huge industry that is attacked by the United Farmer and Liberal platforms, which declare that its products are to be placed on the Free List.

What does it mean to Canada? Here are the facts:

Total number plants packing & producing meat	82
Total capital invested	$93,363,791
Total number of employees	13,222
Total pay roll	$15,302,856
Total value of cattle, sheep, hogs, calves, and other animals, and dressed meat bought chiefly from Canadian farmers	$175,133,821

Local and Other Items

Great Britain has completed repayment of a loan made in New York in 1916 for $300,000,000. To financial men it is satisfying to know that their funds have been placed with a solvent creditor, and, what is more important, with one who has the will to pay.

Much regret is felt in this community on the death at his home in Brooklyn, New York, of Mr. James C. McEachen, a native of this city, which occurred suddenly on October 24. Deceased was a son of the late John McEachen, merchant, of this city and was in his 57th year at the time of his demise. After attending St. Dunstan's College, here he went to New York and entered a Law School, from which he graduated in due course, with high honours. He established and carried on a very extensive law practice. He was married and leaves one son and one daughter. One brother, A. E. McEachen, the shoe man, and one sister Mrs. Biffin, reside in Charlottetown. R. I. P.

The old year took away, for ever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.

The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.

2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers, who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.

We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are way down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.

Youth

Thank God for the sun and the kind, the rain and the dew. They beat on the doors of the heart, and they enter...

For the Child that was with us in youth is with us in age. (How often you glimpse his white face at the bars of his cage.)

The Woman in Black

The Woman in Black sat very still. Even the birds seemed to have stopped their singing. Then the grey-haired woman spoke...

No, no—I was glad to hear it, faltered the Woman in Black, rising unsteadily to her feet.

Long minutes later the Woman in Black no longer trailed slowly down the stairway—her eyes showed traces of tears, and her chin quivered, but her lips were bravely curbed in a smile.

Then came the sound of running feet in the hall below; then 'Muvver—it's muvver, come back!' cried a rapturous voice.

A VICTIM OF BRONCHITIS BEGAN TO BE AFRAID

Bronchitis is an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air tubes of the lungs, and begins with chills followed by fever, tightness across the chest, difficulty in breathing, hoarseness, and a dry, harsh, croupy cough...

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using thereby preventing it becoming chronic, and developing into some serious lung trouble.

Mr. John H. Root, 40 Maple Ave., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with bronchitis, and had a very bad cough. I had it so long I was beginning to get afraid of other developments, but without relief. I was advised, by a friend, to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I got a bottle. It convinced me to believe that I had, at last, gotten the right medicine. I used several bottles and am practically well. I have good results followed. It is certainly a wonderful "Bronchial Cough Remedy." Price 35c. and 60c. a bottle.

The Miracle Man Of Mount Royal

(By J. J. de Lara in Columbia.)

On the hat-topped crest of Cote-des-Neiges, which itself stands like a watchful bodyguard of the great Mount Royal, a squat-walled, gray-stoned church looks down upon the long-winding and intricately split streets that form the island of Montreal.

Every season of the year it is there come by every mail stacks of letters from all parts of the Province of Quebec and from many unexpected and remote places of the world—and the letters are all addressed to one man.

Seventy-six years old, short and spare of stature, with the thin, ill-shaven face and tousled thatch of one who cares naught for personal appearance, but this unpromising aspect of ill-groomedness, with shily-seamed sou-tate and too-wide Roman collar relieved by dancing gray eyes and a strangely childish smile—Frere Andre, known to Canadian vital statistics as Andre Bessette of Saint Cesaire, Quebec, is the man who has made the crypt of St. Joseph on Cote-des-Neiges.

Only when he had reached the biblical limit of seventy years did Frere Andre commence to achieve the quiet fame that now brings tens of thousands of Canadians to see him every year. In 1870 he entered the congregation of the Holy Cross at Montreal. He was a simple lay brother. In all these Catholic religious congregations the vows of poverty, obedience and chastity are taken, and humility is always connoted; but nobody is more humble in station than the lay brothers.

Frere Andre became porter at the Seminary of the Holy Cross, which stands at the foot of Cote-des-Neiges. For decades he went the rounds of his simple duties, opening and closing doors, attending to callers, polishing and dusting and doing all manner of hewing of wood and drawing of water. His superiors saw nothing remarkable in the little French Canadian brother, excepting, perhaps, that feast days made little difference to Frere Andre's diet, and holidays simply meant that the brother from St. Cesaire took longer walks and made longer meditations.
