The One Best Seller!

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY. (By Harold McGrath.) Cloth 60c; if mailed, 2c. more. At the foundation of the plot of this exciting mystery story, there is a secret organization in Russia. Then are given glimpses of country house society, the modern boarding-school, the fashionable restaurant, the enterprising twentieth century newspaper reporter, the romance and mystery that may be linked together by two halves of a bracelet, the love of a father for his daughter, the devotion of an old family servant, the intrigues of a band of thieves and blackmailers and plenty of the old love that is always new, not to mention the million dollars about which the whole thing revolves and which, in these times, has an especially pleasing ring. All these result in a story that keeps the reader with pulses tingling.

Stella Mordant.

—OR—

The Cruise of the "Kingfisher."

CHAPTER XLIII.

There was no sound for a moment or two, then the crowd stirred and set up a hoarse and impressive shout of amazement; the magistrates sat as if dumfounded; Stella uttered a cry, and caught Cecilia's arm.

"What—what do you say?" faltered Lord Hatherley. ("Sit still, Ralph!") for Ralph had risen with white face and staring eyes. He sank into his seat, clutching the back of Lord Hatherley's chair. "What do you say? This—this cannot be true! It—it is impossible!"

Mr. Grahame shook his head gravely.

"I understand and appreciate your astonishment, my lord; but I make the request on my own responsibility, and am fully aware of its gravity. I will add, my lord, that I hold in my hands full and indisputable proofs of the identity of my client. We shall make our claim in the proper place, at the proper time; but I submit that I am within my right in requesting that my client be described as I state."

It was useless for the usher to demand silence; and for a moment or two the noise of voices, the shuffling of feet, as the crowd swayed to and fro in its excitement, reigned supreme.

At last silence was obtained, and Lord Hatherley, rising in his agitation, held up his hand.

"Mr. Grahame—he struggled for composure—"we have the right to ask—"

"Quite so, my lord," said the counsel. "I had thought that the court would have been somewhat prepared for my announcement." He glanced at Rath. "The resemblance to the late Lord Ratton, the fact that the Lady Ratton who died on the island spoke of a strange discovery—" He made a movement with his hands, as if he were surprised at their want of acuteness. "My lord, I have here in my father's handwriting—which my friend Mr. Bulpit recognizes—in certificates whose genuineness no one could dispute, evidence that my client is indeed the claimant to this historic title. He is the son of Harold Percival, who, with his infant son, left England under family circumstances of a painful character, and was wrecked in the 'Georgia.' He, with his child, was washed ashore on the western coast of Vancouver, and died there. My client has been in ignorance of his own name and rank until this moment; but his claim to the title and estates are, I hold, indisputable. My lord, I regret that we should be compelled to encumber this case with this statement, but I am only doing my duty in stating that the prisoner in the dock is the Earl of Ratton."

Ralph sprang to his feet. He was pale no longer, but crimson with fury, and the hand he extended was clenched defiantly.

"It is a lie—a conspiracy! I—" Lord Hatherley, trembling, and powerless to check the tumult, rose and caught his arm.

"For God's sake, sit down!" he cried, agitatedly. "This is not the time—the place—"

Ralph sank down, his blood-shot eyes glaring round defiantly; and the clerk whispered to the magistrates.

"The bench has no reason to refuse your application, Mr. Grahame," he said, at last. "You can choose any name you please for your client, but you act on your own responsibility."

Mr. Grahame bowed.

"I proceed with the case," he said, with splendid calm. "I call Richard Green."

The detective forced his way through the dense mass. There was an air of suppressed excitement in his manner and movements, and all saw that he held a paper in his hand.

"Richard Green, Police Officer, Intelligence Department," he began in official form, after he had been sworn. "I am in charge of this case."

"Do you offer evidence against the prisoner, Mr. Green?" asked Grahame.

"No, sir."

The crowd stared in absolute silence.

"You withdraw the charge?"

"Yes, sir."

Lord Hatherley leant forward.

"I—I do not understand!" he said.

"I have obtained information, my lord, which renders a withdrawal of the charge necessary and just. My lord, I have discovered the name of the deceased woman's husband. I found the certificate in an old dress of the deceased—" went on Mr. Green, more calmly; but before he could get any farther, an interruption arose.

One of the magistrates had risen and was standing, swaying to and fro heavily. It was Ralph.

"I'm—I'm ill!" he gasped, thickly.

"Air! I must have air! let me go! Let me get outside!"

Mr. Green made a strange movement, as of protest, but he said nothing, and Ralph staggered out.

Green went on in the dry, metallic voice of the policeman who has the case at his fingers' ends and sees his way with perfect clearness.

"The name, my lord, is Bannister, Ralph Bannister."

A man rose from just beneath the witness-box and uttered a sharp cry. It was Workley.

"Bannister!" he cried, hoarsely.

"Bannister! I know him! He is the man who has just left the court—follow him! Arrest him! She was found dead in his woods—it is Lord Ratton!—I knew him in London—I have known all the time that his name was Bannister!"

A couple of policemen forced him into his seat and kept him there; and Green continued:

"I have traced this man Bannister through his life in London since his marriage. He deserted his wife and claimed the Ratton title. I have traced his footsteps from the spot

Marvelous Balsamic Essences Cure Catarrh

No Drugs To Take—A Direct Breathing Cure

Statistics Prove Ninety-Seven Per Cent of Canada's Population is Infested With the Germs of Catarrh.

This disease is most dangerous owing to its tendency to extend to the bronchial tubes and lungs, where it causes Consumption. Unfortunately the people have had faith in sprays, ointments and snuffs, which can't possibly cure, and in consequence catarrhal disease has become a national scourge. Science is advancing every day, and fortunately a remedy has been discovered that not only cures but prevents Catarrh. This new treatment "Catarrhose" has sufficient power to kill the germs of Bronchitis, Catarrh and Asthma. It contains pure balsamic essences and healing balsams that go to the remotest part of the nose, throat and lungs, carrying health-giving medication to every spot that is tainted or weak. You don't take Catarrhose like cough mixture—you inhale its healing vapor at the mouth and it spreads all through the breathing organs, soothing and curing wherever Catarrh exists. This is nature's way of supplying the richest balsams, the purest antiseptics known to science.

A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes. A harsh cough is eased in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system.

For Asthma and Bronchial Irritation nothing can equal Catarrhose—every physician and druggist says so, and we advise our readers to try this treatment if suffering with Catarrh and Asthma. It contains pure balsamic essences and healing balsams that go to the remotest part of where the murder was committed to his private room at the Hall. I am in possession of the coat and shirt he wore on the night of the murder, and I have other evidence which I will lay before your worship when—"

His voice was drowned by the varied cries which rose. Lord Hatherley and the other magistrates sat like images of stone. Stella, with a sob of relief, ran with outstretched hands towards the dock, and no one sought to restrain her.

Rath bent down and took her hands.

"All right, Stella!" he said, gently, soothingly. "All right! Ah, don't cry, Stella!" for the tears were running down her face; and, with the electric sympathy which stirs a crowd, the other women in the court were also weeping. In vain the usher and the police sought to restore order. Lord Hatherley rose, and some words fell from his lips, of which only one—"Discharge"—was audible.

The two policemen fell away from Rath, as Lisle and Edward rushed at him, and the crowd pressed about the dock and stared and shouted at him half mad with frenzy and excitement.

"For God's sake, get him out—call a carriage!" cried Edward. "Oh, take care of Miss Mordant!" for the heaving mass was pressing upon her dangerously.

Rath heard the warning, and, bending down, but his great arms round her and lifted her into the dock; and at the sight of the two standing there hand in hand, a shout of satisfaction, of delight, made the old timbers of the roof ring again.

Mr. Grahame forced his way to Green.

"The man—Bannister!" he said, sharply.

Green nodded.

"He can't get away. I've my eye on him. I want to speak to Workley. Ah." He caught his breath. "He's gone! There'll be mischief! Make way there! Make way, I say!" and he fought his way towards the door with a look of apprehension on his face.

CHAPTER XLIV.

Rath and Stella found themselves outside the court and in the centre of High Street, surrounded by a vast crowd, every member of which seemed to have one desire in life—to stare at these two and to shout uproariously.

Most girls would have been frightened to death under such circumstances, but Stella was not at all alarmed. Rath's strong arm was round her, and she could feel his heart beating against hers with the steady beat of the strong man whose strength is displayed at its highest in such moments as these. She was not afraid, though there were tears in her eyes, and she laughed, from excess of joy, as the crowd pressed round them cheering and striving to shake Rath's disengaged hand.

She knew she was quite safe—Rath had in the past protected her against worse perils than a friendly mob—and she was too happy for words.

It was hard to realize that he was near her, that he, who but a few minutes ago was in such terrible danger, should be free, and not only free, but the idol of the hour; for, as is always the case, the public sentiment and sympathy had taken a swift turn, and now threatened to overwhelm him.

At last Edward managed to get at them. He was far more excited than Rath, who stood above the crowd with bare head and gravely smiling face.

"I've got the carriage, Rath—it's down this side street; there's no getting to the front. The Lisles are there, and my father—for Heaven's sake, good people, let them come; my friend must be tired—the young lady—"

The crowd cheered all the more lustily, but they made a lane for Rath and Stella, and Edward led them to the carriage, where they were welcomed most warmly by Edward's father and by the Lisles.

How it happened, Stella never knew, but she found herself in the Lisles' carriage with Cecilia, while Rath was borne off by the Bryans. They had scarcely bidden each other "good-morning," and they had been separated in the confusion inevitable in such a scene.

Indeed, Stella scarcely realized that he was not with her, that she had been separated from him again, before she reached the Abbey and Cecilia had insisted on taking her straight to her own room.

"And now you must lie down and rest," said Cecilia.

But Stella would have none of this.

"I don't want to rest. I want to talk and listen. I want to tell you everything—and hear everything. I feel as if I were in a dream. One moment my heart is aching for that poor woman, the next I am throbbing all over with joy at the thought that Rath is free—that he is near me, that I can see and speak to him. You know all that he did for me, how he saved my life on the island, and thought for me every hour in the day; how he watched over and protected me. Do you think there was ever any man like him—so good, so noble, so—so handsome?"

"My dear Stella, he is a hero, a Greek god—no, better than that—a man—and I have never seen his like. No wonder the people are mad about him. I shall never forget that grand, calm face of his which never for a moment showed a sign of weakness or fear, though his life appeared to be at stake, and everything was against him. You are a very lucky girl, dearest, to have such a friend, so engaged to such a man."

Stella stopped in her pacing up and down the room; the blood surged to her face, and she looked with a startled expression at Cecilia.

"I'm—I'm not engaged to him!" she faltered, almost inaudibly.

Cecilia stared at her.

"Not—not engaged to him!" she exclaimed, almost inaudibly. "Why—why! I don't understand."

"I'm not engaged to him," repeated Stella, still blushing. "He has never spoken a word of love to me; he was a friend, a brother—that is all."

Cecilia grew crimson.

OFFICIAL.
 LONDON, July 7.
 The Governor, Newfoundland:
 General French reports that the Germans on the fifth rushed a barricade on the Ypres-Roulers railway. Our troops recaptured the position by a counter-attack. Two hundred yards of enemy trenches were captured north of Ypres on the sixth, and 80 prisoners were taken.

The French Government reports activity at various points. A trench on the heights of the Meuse where the enemy had gained a footing on June 27th, was recaptured, and German counterattacks repulsed in disorder with heavy loss.

The Russian Government report the hostile offensive, east of Krasnik, stopped by an attack on the enemy's flank. Over 2,000 prisoners were taken, about 2,000 enemy dead remained before the Russian front.

The Italian Government report fighting developing in the Isonzo zone the enemy offering very stubborn resistance.

BONAR LAW.
WILL REVOLUTIONIZE SUBMARINE WARFARE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 A London cable to the Tribune says that according to a famous British scientist, an Englishman has just made a discovery which will revolutionize submarine warfare. He states that the inventor is one of the members of the committee appointed by the Royal Society to deliberate on scientific problems arising out of the war. The invention is an apparatus whereby a submarine can locate another submarine within a radius of twenty miles and keep in touch with it while within the radius. If the device is successful, then henceforth British submarines will be able to run down and fight German undersea craft. Scientists gave the story as an instance of what scientific men are able to do when attention is concentrated on war problems, predicting that within a few months, as a result of Lord Fisher's appointment as chairman of the Naval Inventions Board, which will include the cream of British scientists, new discoveries will be made which will astonish the world.

NEW WEAPON OF DEFENSE.

LONDON, July 7.
 To meet a renewed German offensive in the west, reports from Northern France state that the French have been supplied with a new weapon of defense, which is expected to achieve astonishing results. No hint is given of what this weapon is, but

IN FAVOR OF ITALIANS.

LONDON, July 7.
 A special to the Daily Chronicle from Lugano, Italy, says that the battle on the Carso tableland and beyond the Isonzo, is developing more and more favorably for the Italians, who continue to occupy the enemy's positions.

ON A DIPLOMATIC MISSION.

ROME, July 7.
 John Duncan Gregory, Secretary to the British Legation at the Vatican, has left for the Balkan States on a diplomatic mission for his country, and will visit Bucharest, Sofia, Belgrade and Athens.

WAR LOAN SUBSCRIPTIONS.

VIENNA, July 7.
 Official announcement is made that subscriptions to the second Austro-Hungarian war loan amounted to $903,000,000.

ENEMY SHIPS DESTROYED.

LONDON, July 7.
 An Athens correspondent telegraphs the following: A French destroyer made a tour of the Asia Minor coast from Chios to Klobama, visiting all the bays and harbors. The warship destroyed twelve vessels acting as enemy supply ships, and set fire to Bermin Forest. Another French destroyer bombarded Hesia Cheesme and Agallor, destroying the lighthouse and custom station, and sinking several ships.

SHOT DOWN GERMAN FLAG.

LONDON, July 7.
 The French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc has again bombarded the Turkish town of Alexandria (near Cape Baba). The Turkish authorities, the despatch adds, refused to haul down the German flag flying over the German Consulate, and it was shot down by the French warship.

A RUSSIAN REPORT.

PETROGRAD, July 7.
 The following official statement was issued last night from the headquarters of the army of the Caucasus: In the coast region, there has been an artillery duel. A Russian motor boat sunk a Turkish sailing vessel south of the Karad-Dagh range. A Russian detachment encountered a regiment of enemy infantry with artillery, machine guns and two squadrons of cavalry. The enemy force were defeated and heavy losses were inflicted upon them. West of Ahlavat the Turks attempted an offensive but failed. On the rest of the front there has been no change.

FIGHTING CONTINUES VIGOROUSLY.

UDINE, Italy, July 7.
 Fighting along the Austrian frontier continues with uninterrupted violence, consisting chiefly of artillery duels with heavy guns. Especially severe are the battles around Bredil Pass and Malborgeth forts, where the Italians are attacking in an attempt to open the way to Tarvis, which is considered the key to the interior of Austria.

TURKISH ATTACK FAILS.

PARIS, July 7.
 The French War Office this afternoon gave out the following: In the Dardanelles on the 5th July, the Turks delivered a general attack, the most important they have undertaken since their effort in the early days of May. Their purpose was to drive us into the sea. At 4 o'clock in the morning artillery fire was opened on our first lines as well as on the zone behind the lines occupied by French and British troops. The enemy subsequently endeavored to deliver several infantry attacks, but none was successful in coming as far as our trenches. Decimated by our artillery fire and mowed down by our rifles and our machine guns, most of our assailants never left the field of battle. During this action the batteries of the enemy on the Asiatic coast fired without interruption. A Turkish cruiser steaming between Mios and Chanad also took part in the engagement. On several different occasions aviators of the enemy bombarded our lines.

A group of about fifteen British and French aviators flew over the Turkish aerodrome at Charall, threw down several bombs, and were successful in striking the principal hangar with big bombs.

GERMAN SPIES SENTENCED.

VENICE, July 7.
 Capt. Liebscher and engineer Hoff, of the German steamer Lemnos, under detention by the Italian authorities since the outbreak of the war, have each been condemned to ten years' imprisonment in solitary confinement. They were convicted on a charge of spying. Other members of the crew were acquitted.

GERMAN SUBMARINES FOR THE ST. LAWRENCE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 The Tribune says that Germany plans to carry her submarine warfare into American waters. According to a reserve officer of the German navy, who is understood to be cognizant of his intentions, Admiral von Tirpitz's plan, as outlined, provides for the establishment of a submarine base off the Canadian coast, with the view of sinking every vessel leaving Halifax and Quebec for British ports. In well-informed German circles, rumors of an important submarine campaign against central and eastern Canada have been rife. It has been generally known that von Tirpitz has given all his energies to the revision of the methods by which it is understood the fleet can prevent great quantities of munitions, shipped from Canada to England, from reaching their destination.

BOMBS FAILED TO EXPLODE.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 Three ships sailing from this port for Havre, on reaching there last night, it is learned from an authoritative source to-day, were found to have exploded bombs aboard, the missiles having been placed in the ships in this city before sailing. In each case it was said, the bombs had been placed aboard vessels carrying automobiles and other supplies for the French Army. An investigation, in which the United States secret service detectives of this city and the French Government had joined, has been begun. Two of the three vessels menaced by bombs, it was learned, were the British steamer Bankdale, which sailed from New York on May 7th for Havre, and the Lord Erne, which sailed on April 29th for the same destination.

GERMANY MUST PAY.

LONDON, July 7.
 The British Government cannot undertake to pay compensation for losses at sea owing to the action of the enemy. The Chancellor of the Exchequer to-day so informed a questioner in the Commons, who wanted the survivors of the Lusitania compensated for their lost effects.

NO NEWS FROM 'ADRIATIC.'

NEW YORK, July 7.
 No direct advices have been received by the Associated Press regarding the steamer Adriatic, which is now approaching the English coast. Officials said they did not expect to receive any information from the Adriatic until she arrived in England, where she is due to-morrow. Premier Borden is on board.

ENEMY FINDING IT DIFFICULT.

LONDON, July 7.
 Sir Ian Hamilton, in his official report of the struggle in Gallipoli, says it seems plain from the distorted nature of the enemy's attack, that he is finding it difficult to drive his infantry forward in the face of the opposing fire.

A GERMAN PROFESSOR.

CHICAGO, July 7.
 The identification of Frank Holt, the assailant of J. P. Morgan as Erich Munter, the missing Harvard Professor, who was suspected of having caused the death of his wife, was made here by Professor Chester N. Gould, of the University of Chicago. Professor Gould, in a statement made public to-day, admitted that he has identified Munter, who was a former student at the University of Chicago. While at Cornell University, last November, he said, he had decided for several reasons not to expose the man, as he seemed to be getting along so nicely, and he thought it would be better to let well enough alone.

PLANNED TO DESTROY LINERS.

NEW YORK, July 7.
 Frank Holt, who attempted to assassinate Morgan, planned to destroy the trans-Atlantic liners Saxonia and Philadelphia, by dynamite, which it is believed he had placed aboard the vessels before they sailed from New York for Liverpool on July 3rd.

Holt so advised his wife in a letter which was received by her at Dallas on or before yesterday. Warnings by wireless were sent broadcast over the Atlantic from stations on the eastern seaboard, advising the Saxonia and Philadelphia to steer towards each other. Commissioner Wooden announced that the Navy Department had arranged to send a fast cruiser after the liners. The Philadelphia was reached by wireless, and replied that everything on board had been identified, and that all was well. At police headquarters, shortly before noon, it was said that the Saxonia had not replied, but her failure to do so was not regarded as of special significance, as it was thought that she might have passed out of the wireless zone of communication. She is now four days out, and it was said it might be difficult for her to have a wireless message relayed to shore.

MORGAN'S ASSAILANT DEAD.
 GLENCOVE, N.Y., July 7.
 Frank Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan in his home here, on Saturday last, was found dead to-night in a pool of blood in his cell, the county jail. He had evidently shot himself in the head with a revolver.

ADMITS CHIME.
 DALLAS, Texas, July 7.
 The admission that Mrs. Frank Holt had received a letter yesterday, from her husband, intimating that he had planned to blow up one or more trans-Atlantic liners with timed bombs, was made to-day by Mrs. Holt's Attorney here. Mrs. Holt had denied receiving the letter.

METAL EXPORT STOPPED.
 LONDON, July 7.
 Steps have been taken by the British authorities to prevent further exportation from Britain of lead, spelter, nickel or any other metal necessary for the manufacture of munitions of war. This announcement was made by the Munition Minister, Lloyd George, in the Commons this afternoon.

FEW AMPUTATIONS.
 LONDON, July 6.
 In only 782 cases has it been necessary to amputate one or more limbs of British soldiers admitted to hospitals in England and France, since the commencement of the war to the present time, according to a reply made by Under Secretary Tennant, in the Commons.

THE MUNITIONS CAMPAIGN.
 LONDON, July 6.
 Under the powers conferred by the Defense of the Realm Act, the British Government to-day, by Order in Council, decided to take over the control, sale and supply of lead, spelter, liquors in many districts, where war material is being made, loaded, unloaded, and otherwise dealt with. The districts affected include the City of Bristol and surrounding towns, Avonmouth, New Haven, Southampton, Newport, Cardiff, Barry, Barrow-in-Furness, Liverpool and adjoining towns, and most munition and ship-building centres in Yorkshire. Members of Parliament of all parties have undertaken a campaign to thank employers and workmen on munition contracts for the work they already have done, and to urge upon them the vital importance of turning out as great a quantity of munitions as the country is capable of producing.

MILLIONS OF MILITARY AGE.

An analysis of the latest census returns shows that there are about 8,100,000 men in the United Kingdom between the ages of eighteen and forty, says The London Daily Express. This total is made up as follows:

England and Wales.

Age.	332,615
18	322,894
19	308,328

20-34 152,188
35-39 145,740
Total 735,707

The figures relating to men of forty in Scotland and Ireland are not given separately, but reach about 100,000. Of the 6,513,938 men of military age in England and Wales, 2,934,776 are unmarried.

It is extremely difficult to estimate how many men would be available for service in the field, for many deductions must be made, including:

- Those medically unfit.
- Those making munitions.
- Those engaged in transport, food and other services.

Mr. Lloyd George stated recently that 2,000,000 men of all ages were engaged in making munitions. In one year the German army rejected one man of twenty in thirteen on medical grounds, and among older men the proportion of unfit would be much larger.

U.S. May Take Over Sayville Station From Germans.

Washington, July 2.—The United States is seriously considering taking over the wireless station at Sayville, L. I., one of the two great plants by which direct communication between the United States and Germany is maintained. The other station, at Tuckerton, N. J., is already under Government control.

Evidence of alleged violations of neutrality at Sayville, notwithstanding the censorship conducted by the Navy Department, has been gathered by the Department of Commerce. Secretaries Redfield, Daniels and Lansing have conferred at length on the subject and expect to announce their decision in a few days. The belief of high naval officers here that the Sayville station is powerful enough to communicate with submarines across the Atlantic, thus making possible the use of American territory as a base of hostile operations, is one of the influences in favor of controlling the Sayville plant. No evidence has as yet been gathered to show that communication with submarines had ever been established. Navy officers say, however, submarines could receive messages when coming to the surface, although they probably could not acknowledge receipt.

Under a recent executive order President Wilson authorizes the Navy Department to take over one or more wireless stations and conduct a commercial business, holding the net proceeds in trust for owners. Both the Sayville and Tuckerton stations are privately owned, but the Department of Justice has upheld the legal right of the Government under a recent Act of Congress to appropriate private plants in case of emergencies. Originally it was possible for the Sayville Station only to receive messages from Germany, while the plant at Tuckerton alone was able to send directly to the German coast. The addition of some high-powered instruments has made it possible, it is said, to equal the work of the Tuckerton station. The new equipment and its character is understood to have raised some question as to the granting of a new license for the plant, in which connection the Department of Justice is studying some phases of the case. Officials at the Navy and Commerce Departments are in favor of the change. Secretary Lansing has the question under consideration.

No reduction in the efficiency of the plant would take place, officials say, as a commercial business would be continued, with naval officers in complete charge. Practically all the German statements not sent by cable through British territory have been received by the Sayville station. These would come as before. The sending of certain messages phrased in plain English, but apparently having a hidden meaning, is said to have aroused the curiosity of the naval censors. The staff of censors was increased last week, but until the navy is given control of the wireless keys officials contend there cannot be absolute security against violations of neutrality.

Shelled Steamer While at Rescue Work

London, July 2.—Three British steamers, the Caucasian, Inglemoor and Welbury, the bark Sardozene, and the schooner L. C. Tower were reported to-day to have been sunk by a German submarine in the vicinity of the Scilly Islands and off South of Ireland.

The Caucasian met her fate southwest of Lizard Head, on the coast of Cornwall, on Thursday morning, and while engaged in picking up her crew the Inglemoor fell a victim to the same submarine.

The Caucasian when the submarine opened fire, was given full steam in an endeavour to escape. Not until the steamer was struck by several shots, one of which demolished the wheel, did her captain surrender. The crew of the steamer took to the boats. The submarine hauled alongside and fired eight shells into the vessel. A dog belonging to the captain jumped overboard and the captain plunged from one of the boats into the rough sea and rescued his pet.

A few hours later the Inglemoor appeared on the scene and started picking up the Caucasian's boats. The Inglemoor had taken the occupants of the small boats on board when the submarine emerged and opened fire on her. Escape being hopeless the crew took to the boats, and the submarine then torpedoed and sank the Inglemoor, subsequently returning to the Caucasian, which was still floating and sending her to the bottom.

The crew of the Inglemoor and a part of the crew of the Caucasian were landed at Penzance, but one of the Caucasian's boats, with nineteen men in it, was being rowed toward France when last sighted.

THE GERMANS AND THE CAMEROONS.

(Westminster Gazette.) Sir Harry H. Johnson's account of the Cameroons in the current "Wind-sor" contains some interesting particulars as to the colonizing of that part of the world. Sir Harry's first visit to the Cameroons occurred in 1882. He then learned that the Duala people and neighboring sea-coast tribes were about to petition the British Government to take them under its protection. The British Government received the request graciously, but was very deliberate in giving effect to its acceptance of the role of protector. Meanwhile, German desires to found a colonial empire had come to a head. The German Government sent out the explorer Nachtigal as Commissioner, and "by a ruse—for really, in all truth, it can scarcely be called aught else—a treaty was signed with a petty chief at the mouth of the Cameroons River, and the German flag was run up." A week afterwards the British Consul arrived in a gunboat, concluded other treaties, and virtually annexed the whole remainder of the Cameroons.

But in the general settling of European ambitions which occupied the last half of the 'eighties, Great Britain declined to play dog-in-the-manger with the German Empire. First of all, the Cameroons River and coast-belt was surrendered to the Germans, and finally the colony of Amba Bay. Sir Henry Johnson had returned to this region as Vice-Consul, and had administered for two years the Amba Bay settlement, and he tells that he witnessed its surrender with considerable chagrin. The other native chiefs, except King Bell, who signed the German treaty, were furious at their wishes for a British protectorate being balked. For a year or more they maintained a tearing warfare with the Germans, and, indeed, it was only years ago, Sir Harry convincing them that resistance was futile.

Sir Harry adds that it is only just to say that, once they fell in with this advice, they were treated fairly by the German Government in regard to land rights; but the British missionaries were turned out neck and crop, and only awarded a miserable sum—in compensation for their thirty years' expenditure on building and planting. Sir Harry concludes in this strain: "Whatever happens as the result of the present war and the peace which must follow some day, the western part of this huge German dominion—all bearing the name of 'Kamerun,' though it stretches to Lake Chad and the Congo basin—must return to the sceptre of Great Britain. The British Baptists must be invited to resume the work so well begun by Merrick, Saker, Fuller and Grenfell."

GENERAL LAM HAMILTON'S REPORT—TURK'S ATTACK WAS A COMPLETE FAILURE.

LONDON, To-day. General Sir Ian Hamilton reports that the nights of July 2nd and 3rd was quiet on the northern section, but at four a.m. the enemy started a heavy bombardment of trenches. All the guns previously used against us and some new ones were in action, but the bombardment died away about 6 a.m. without doing much damage. During the bombardment about twenty 11.2 inch shells were dropped from a Turkish battleship in the Straits of the southern section. The Turks kept up a heavy musketry fire along the whole line during the night, but did not leave their trenches. At 4 a.m. their batteries started the most violent bombardment which has yet been experienced. At least 5,000 rounds of artillery ammunition was expended by them. This shelling of our lines on the Peninsula proved the preliminary to a general attack on our front, with special effort at certain points. The principal effort was made at the junction of the Royal Naval division section with that of the French here. At 7.30 a.m. the Turks drove back our advanced troops and assaulted a portion of the line held by the Royal Naval division. Some 50 Turks gained a footing in our trench where some men of the Royal Naval division held on to our supports. The men who had retired counter-attacked immediately and hurled the Turks out of the trench again. Another attack on the right of the Twenty-ninth Division section was practically wiped out by rifle and machine gun fire. On our left the Turks massed in the ravine northeast of our newly captured trenches and attempted several attacks. None of these was able to get home owing to the steadiness of our troops. The bombardment died down towards 11 a.m., though it was resumed at intervals. Not only was the result a complete failure, but while our losses were negligible and no impression was made on our line, the enemy added a large number to his recent heavy casualties. It seems plain from this disjointed nature of his attack he is finding it difficult to drive his infantry forward to face fire.

HALDANE'S STORY INCORRECT SAYS LLOYD GEORGE.

LONDON, To-day. Lloyd George, British Minister of Munition, authorized a statement to-night which takes issue with Viscount Haldane's version of what took place at a meeting of a committee of Cabinet in October to consider the matter of supply of munitions of war. Lloyd George says Viscount Haldane's version of what took place was incomplete and in some respects inaccurate. The very fact of this conflict of memory having arisen shows the unwisdom of these partial unauthorized disclosures of decisions highly confidential of committees of the Cabinet. In an address before the National Liberal Club on July 5, Haldane said that in October a committee presided over by Lord Kitchener assembled at the War Office. Lloyd George and other Ministers being in attendance, it was decided, continued Haldane, it would be necessary to increase the output of munitions tenfold. Everyone was consulted. The necessary orders were given to manufacturers who undertook to execute them. If these orders had been executed, said he, the country would have been in a tremendous position, but labour difficulties confounded all the calculations of manufacturers and explained the trouble of to-day.

WARNING TO LOOK OUT FOR SUBMARINES.

MONTREAL, To-day. The rumors that German submarines might be attacking ships leaving the purpose of the French auxiliary cruiser St. Lawrence and the Maritime Provinces ports was probably the cause of the warning issued to mariners by A. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa. The notice reads:—Suspected craft reported. Masters of all vessels, navigating Canadian waters, are warned as to the necessity of keeping a sharp look out and reporting any suspicious craft they may sight. It is not desired that any hearsay evidence should be forwarded, but only definite facts.

CARRIED WAR MATERIALS.

BERLIN, To-day. A despatch to the Constantinople Overseas News Agency announcing the sinking of the French auxiliary cruiser, Carthage, off Cape Helles, at the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula by a German submarine, says the vessel carried war material, valued at more than $200,000. The French Minister of Marine on July 5, announced the steamer Carthage had been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine on July 4, 66 members of the crew were saved and 6 are missing.

TORNADO RAZES TOWN.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., To-day. Reports saying St. Peter's, Mo., 30 miles north of here, was razed by a tornado to-day and several scores of persons killed, reached here to-night. Verification is impossible as every telephone and telegraph wire into town is down.

THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. By the employment of strong reinforcements the Russians have, temporarily at least, checked the Austro-German advance toward the Lublin railway, which if successful would seriously imperil Warsaw. The Russians yesterday claimed to have inflicted a serious defeat on the Austro-German army in the region of Krasnik, south of that railway, while the Austrians last night state the battle was invigorated by the participation of strong Russian reserves. So far as communications are concerned, the Russians now have the advantage of positions, as they have a splendid system of railways behind them in which they can quickly move troops and guns to threatened areas. This battle is one of many since the Austro-Germans commenced, according to despatches received from Geneva from Austrian sources, where the Russians thus far had the best of it and since Monday have inflicted heavy losses on the invaders. These despatches state thousands of wounded are continually arriving at Lemberg, Przemysl and Jaroslau. The much heralded German onslaught West thus far has been confined to the Woerwa region, where the army of the German Crown Prince is on the offensive, making efforts to regain ground which it lost to the French in April, when the latter attempted to force the withdrawal of what is known as the St. Mihiel wedge. The Germans won some trenches at the tip of the wedge, but at other points, according to French accounts, they were repulsed with heavy losses. Artillery combats continue from Arras to the sea. It is stated to-night that Arras is in flames and its Cathedral destroyed. The Germans also claim to have retaken the trenches which they lost to the British north of Ypres yesterday. However fighting here appears of a desultory nature, despite reports from Holland of the arrival of large German reinforcements for another effort to reach Calais. The Gallipoli Peninsula again has been the scene of very severe fighting, the Turks on Sunday having made a third attempt to regain the ground which the Allies took from them in their last attack. Sunday's offensive like those which preceded it resulted, according to British and French reports issued last night, in complete discomfiture of the Turks, who are said to have suffered again severely. The Allies are only six miles from their goal in the Narrows of the Dardanelles, but the country between is strongly fortified and the gain of a few hundred yards is all that can be expected at one time. There is talk of a new combined general attack by land and sea forces.

CONSERVING THE MEAT SUPPLY.

LONDON, To-day. Earl Selborne, President of the Board of Agriculture, moving in the Lords this evening the second reading of the Bill which empowers the Government to prohibit the slaughter of young stock so as to preserve the meat supply, expressed the opinion that the Germans are putting their whole shipbuilding strength into the construction of submarines. German submarines, he said, were taking a steady toll of British ships and as war continued it was probable more submarines would be engaged in this task. It would not be the fault of the German Admiralty, he continued, if they failed to deal a fatal blow to the carrying trade which supplies Britain with food. As it was, even if there was a diminution of the Overseas supply of meat, there would probably be less for the use of the civil population. The Bill passed the second reading.

ITALIAN CRUISER SUNK.

ROME, To-day. The Italian armored cruiser Ansaldo was torpedoed and sunk this morning by an Austrian submarine while making port at Passo di Campo, in the Upper Adriatic, crew saved.

ITALIAN BUDGET.

ROME, To-day. An official statement issued last night follows: An attack against our position at Passo di Campo, in Val Daorna, was repulsed with heavy losses. In Cardore our heavy artillery opened fire on the enemy's defensive works at Corto, in the upper valley of Cordevolis, at Latagata and Trassi in Valperla, and serious damage was done in Carnia. We repulsed attacks against our positions at Passo Franisco Monte Scharitz and in the direction of Val Grande. Combats continued on the Garinice Plateau, where we are making slow but constant progress. Between July 4 and 7 we took 1400 prisoners. On the night of July 6th an Italian dirigible field near Assisina, east of Gorizia, Trieste. Aeroplane dropped bombs yesterday on the Austrian aviation field near Assisina, east of Gorizia, causing fire, and also on the railroad station at Nabrasina. Our aviators were obliged to alight but returned unharmed.

GREEK STEAMERS TAKEN TO MALTA.

LONDON, To-day. According to an Athens despatch the Greek steamers Thessaly and Janina, from the United States, were stopped at Gibraltar and were subsequently conveyed to Malta for further examination.

WORK OF THE STORM.

CINCINNATI, To-day. Reports show that thirty-three persons are dead and fifteen missing, believed to be buried in ruins of buildings wrecked during the heavy rain and wind storm which passed over Cincinnati last night.

INDIANAPOLIS, To-day.

The wind and rain storm swept Central and Southern Indiana last night. Three fatalities as well as many injured and much property damaged.

BELGIAN MINISTER'S WIFE RELEASED.

ROME, To-day. Corriere Della Sera says news has been received at the Vatican that Germany, as a result of the Pope's intervention, has ordered the release of Madame Carton de Wiart, wife of the Belgian Minister of Justice, who was sentenced recently to three months imprisonment for corresponding with her husband. The German authorities accused her of endangering the security of German troops.

REASONS FOR DELAY IN SUPPLY OF MUNITIONS.

LONDON, To-day. Most causes of the delay in munitions supply, according to the contracting Director of one of the contracting firms. One difficulty was to obtain the thousands of gauges needed by the sudden multiplication of factories producing munitions, the gauge making craft being a very limited one and quite powerless to meet the sudden demand. Transport delays also caused great trouble, and it was necessary to obtain much of the materials and machinery from the United States. In many instances the voyage from New York to London occupied sixty instead of twenty days, while British docks and railways were so congested that transit from Liverpool to London sometimes occupied five weeks. To these difficulties were added the fact that the army, in the first months of the war, took away the bulk of skilled workmen. To-day however these causes of delay have been for the most part removed and, the writer says, work will proceed in ever-increasing measure.

ANOTHER RUSH ON CALAIS.

LONDON, To-day. The Petrograd correspondent of the Times says that, according to private reports, all passenger traffic on the German railways has been suspended. It is believed large forces are leaving the Eastern front on their way to the western theatre with a view of an impending rush on Calais.

FIRE ON S. S. MINNEHAHA.

NEW YORK, To-day. The Atlantic Transport steamer S. S. Minneha, on her way from this port to London, via Halifax, was lighting a fire to-day in No. 3 hold, according to a wireless message received by the Line. The Minneha sailed from New York on July 4 for London by way of Halifax. She had not reached Halifax when a message announcing the presence of fire on board was received. The captain's message asserted the fire was in No. 3 hold, and that it was a cargo approximately of 15,000 tons, including munitions of war.

SAVING THE EMDEN.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., To-day. The Department of Defence has awarded the contract of saving the German cruiser Emden, sunk of Cocos Island, by the Australian cruiser Sydney. The contractors say the raider will be easily floated and will be here by Christmas. The Emden will be exhibited. Recruiting in Victoria has been very successful and New South Wales is about to begin a campaign for men.

DYNAMITE DISCOVERED.

Quebec, June 29.—Fifty sticks of dynamite in a wooden box buried under earth, was discovered last night about 7 o'clock in Shaw Park, Lewis, close to a mercantile machinery shop which is to receive a contract from the British Government for ammunition. The British Department of Quebec has been informed and an investigation was immediately started.

TOO MANY IRON CROSSES.

Iron Crosses have been distributed in such quantities that they have become a source of danger, from the fact that those who have not received them fear that they are not looked on as such good soldiers as the recipients. The 17th Army Corps has issued a proclamation that the undecorated are as good as the decorated soldiers, but that they must recognize that not every one gets the opportunity of displaying special bravery, and that if every one showing a sense of duty had received a cross the result would be the decoration of the entire German army.

A WHITE FLAG TRAP.

German treachery is strikingly exemplified by the story of how Commander Peel Ritchie won the V.C. Commander Ritchie was in charge of certain operations in East Africa. The Germans hoisted a white flag as a ruse, and the British boats became a target for devastating fire almost at point-blank range. Commander Ritchie was shot through both legs, both arms, and in the body, while a bullet grazed his head. His boat was repeatedly swept by concealed machine guns, but by clever screening under a lighter, and by cool seamanship, the gallant officer brought his ship out of the trap.

Monsignor Stagni at Placentia.

Special to Evening Telegram.

PLACENTIA, July 6. His Excellency Monsignor Stagni, accompanied by Bishop March, and Mrs. Reardon, Sinnott and St. John, and Dr. Morrissey, of Toronto, arrived by special car at 2 o'clock, and received a splendid reception. The town was enfeite and the visitors were met at the station by Rev. Fr. Sheehan, Magistrate O'Reilly, President and Officers of the Star of the Sea Association and school children with flags and banners, who with a large number of townspeople accompanied His Excellency and visitors to the Presbytery. All along the route there was a splendid display of flags and banners. The Presbytery and grounds were also lastefully decorated. After a brief delay at the Presbytery His Excellency and visitors proceeded to the Church which was filled to overflowing. His Excellency addressed the congregation, thanking them most heartily for the splendid reception given him as a representative of the Holy Father and congratulated them on their grand display of Catholic faith and piety. Monsignor Stagni was listened to with rapt attention, and again on leaving the Church he was the recipient of another splendid ovation. Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock His Excellency will officiate in the Church, and will be the guest of the Pastor, Monsignor Reardon, until the sailing of the Glencoe on Friday. COR.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, JULY 8th, 1915. McMurdo's Cough Cure is specially valuable in case of obstinate and chronic cough, though it is also used with good effect in recent and acute cases. Without claiming impossibilities for this cough mixture, we can say that surprising results have often come from its use in both classes of coughs, and the relief given is generally very prompt. If you have taken cold during the recent damp and changeable weather or aggravated a cough you had already, try a bottle of this pleasant mixture. Price 25c. Among recent arrivals from the other side, we note Robinson's Barley and Robinson's Grotts, two foods which are still very popular in some households and nurseries in Newfoundland. Price 30c. a tin each.

Primary Exam Papers.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me to express through the columns of your paper, a protest against the atrocious papers in the recent Primary Exams. In so doing, I think I am voicing the sentiments of every teacher who has had pupils examined in that particular year. We ought to find in Primary a stepping-stone to Preliminary. This year, however, the order could easily be reversed. Indeed the Arithmetic paper of Primary could in part be set as Mensuration for Intermediate. Associate mathematics. There are doubtless many Associate candidates who do not remember the exact number of pounds to a tierce. Under the present rules and regulations we must look for a ninety per cent. failure in this year's Primary. It is a duty incumbent on the members of the C. H. E. to provide some measure to secure at least a normal pass percentage. Either to lower the pass marks or to annul the rule re pass in Arithmetic would probably fill the bill. It is true that Primary Grades were now abolished. Preliminary age requirement should again be reduced to twelve years and this grade made the grade of the average elementary graduate. I think this arrangement would give general satisfaction as teachers will readily admit that their Primary classes could make a better showing in Preliminary papers than in those of the lowest grade.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space I remain, Yours truly, A TEACHER.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Dear Sirs,—This fall I got thrown on a fence and hurt my chest very bad, so I could not work and it hurt me to breathe. I tried all kinds of Liniments and they did me no good. One bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, warmed on flannels and applied on my breast, cured me completely. C. H. COSSABOOM. Rossway, Digby Co., N. S.

Shops Open on Sunday

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Kindly permit me space in your most popular paper to say a few words concerning people keeping their shops open on Sundays. The Royal Stores, Ltd., and a few other stores close and the paper mills, I have travelled over the world a good bit and I never saw anything like it. They think more about money than God. I will not deal on this any more just now but we want them to remember that Our Lord said: Remember and keep holy the Sabbath Day. JOHN. Grand Falls, July 7, 1915.

War News.

Messages Received Previous to 9 a.m.

HELLED UP BY WARSHIP.

BERLIN, July 6.
The American Consul agent at Swinemunde, Prussia, reports that the American steamer Platania from New York with a cargo of petroleum, consigned to a Swedish port, was held up by a German warship and brought into Swinemunde. The Platania was one of the Standard Oil Co.'s fleet. She sailed from New York, laden with petroleum, on June 3, for Sweden. She was intercepted by British war vessels, taken into Kirkwall, held there two weeks, and released from Kirkwall on July 1st. The representative of the Standard Oil Co., said they had received no word from the vessel since she left Kirkwall. It was the first time, he said, since the war began, that any of their vessels had been held up by a German warship.

REPLY TO AMERICAN NOTE.

WASHINGTON, July 6.
Germany has submitted informally to the States, through Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, a tentative draft of its reply to the note of June 8th, which asked for assurances that American rights on the high seas would not be further violated by German submarine commanders. After careful examination of the contents of the proposed note, as outlined by Ambassador Gerard, which coincides with the Berlin press despatches of the last few days, high officials are practically agreed that the States cannot, without sacrificing important neutral rights, express its approval of the German proposals in their present form. A draft was shown to Ambassador Gerard with the idea of eliciting from him an expression of opinion. He promptly asked for instructions from Washington, as to whether the United States could make concessions. President Wilson was advised of the situation, and several long messages were sent to his summer residence at Cornish, New Hampshire. The impression obtained to-night from reliable quarters was that the States Government very probably would instruct its Ambassador with a day or two to decline to express any view until after the formal reply has been delivered to him.

From Berlin despatches and authoritative sources here, it is learned, that the note, as drafted by the German Foreign Office, with Emperor Wilhelm's subsequent approval, would give assurances that Americans might travel with safety on the high seas, subject to certain conditions imposed by Germany, such as marking belligerent vessels carrying Americans, notification by the United States to Germany of the date of departure, the character of such vessels, and inspection insuring their non-carriage of munitions of war. President Wilson has before him the views of several cabinet officers, some of whom believe it is essential to have Ambassador Gerard make clear to the German Foreign Office that the United States can make no concessions from its position, as based on accepted rules of International Law and the Naval Prize Codes of civilized nations. Whether the President does or does not finally decide to have Ambassador Gerard tell the German Government informally the views of the United States on the subject, it is clear that there are clearly apparent to-day that important changes would be necessary in Germany's attitude before it could be reasonably hoped that the formal reply would remove from negotiations the critical aspect they have assumed.

EXCHANGED CODE MESSAGES.

CORNISH, N.H., July 6.
President Wilson to-day exchanged code messages with Secretary Lansing, in connection with a statement transmitted here by the State Department as to Germany's informal outline of her position regarding submarine warfare. While absolute secrecy regarding the situation is maintained at Wilson's summer home, it is understood that the President is reluctant to enter into any arrangement with Germany which could be interpreted as a surrender by the States of its stand for the freedom of the seas. The views of Germany received by the President indicated a desire on the part of that Government to reach an agreement with the States, but there was no indication here that Germany was ready materially to modify her use of submarines against the merchant ships of enemies. Lansing stated that there had been no exchange of views as yet, and that no negotiations had been entered into by the American Government.

HOLD CONFERENCE.

WASHINGTON, July 6.
Sir Cecil Spring Rice had a long conference with Secretary Lansing to-day over international developments during the Ambassador's absence from Washington the past two weeks. It was his first call at the State Department since Lansing's appointment, and he extended congratulations. It is understood that the shipping situation in the war zone, and the reports of British recruiting in the States were among the subjects discussed. The Ambassador explained to the officials that the Embassy had no connection with any efforts to secure men in the States for the British military service. Secretary Lansing indicated to-day that every American minor taken into the service about whom representations had been made, has been promptly released by the British Government. During his call, Sir Cecil found time to give Mr. Lansing a first hand account of the shooting of J. P. Morgan by Frank Holt. The Ambassador was a guest at the Morgan home when the affair happened and aided in dispersing Holt after his attack.

Reorganizing You.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

If an efficiency engineer should be given the job of making you into a more efficient personality, one which should produce happiness, and usefulness and character up to its full capacity, what changes do you think he would recommend?

That whimsical idea came to me the other morning when I was contemplating regretfully the time I am inclined to waste between being called and getting up, and I tried to imagine an efficiency engineer acting on my case. I could just fancy him saying, "Time spent in sleep is useful because it builds up your energies, but time spent lying in bed dreading to get up is absolutely wasted. We'll allow five minutes for getting thoroughly waked up and adjusted. Now, suppose you spend fifteen minutes in getting up. That's ten minutes wasted. In a year, that amounts up to a little over sixty hours; think how much work you could accomplish or how much pleasure you could have in sixty hours."

Then he would penalize me. And then I suppose he would try to devise some reward or penalty, to stimulate or force me into getting up. Perhaps he'd say, "The mornings you waste that ten minutes you can't read your morning paper after breakfast."

Of course, you know what an efficiency engineer is. He goes into a business and tries to see how the whole plant, machinery, working conditions, personnel, motions, use of by-products, etc., can be reorganized so as to make the business produce to its full capacity. He embodies the results of his studies in recommendations to his employers. The result that many of these men achieve read like fairy tales.

What Changes Would He Make in You?

Now suppose such a man were to take your case in hand, what would he recommend?

Would he suggest that more care as to your personal appearance might bring you in surprisingly big returns in various ways?

Would he recommend that an extra hour spent in sleep would add double that amount of time to the efficiency of your waking day?

Would he point out that in envy, dislike, the desire for revenge and similar useless channels you are wasting energy (your equivalent of the manufacturers' power) that might be turned into producing happiness for yourself and others?

Would he speak of time pointlessly wasted in one way or another?

Letting A Perfectly Good Mind Rot.

Would he suggest that even if you are a woman with many home duties that is not sufficient reason why you should lose all interest in the big issues of the day, get into the habit of reading nothing more stimulating than love stories, and let your perfectly good mind go to seed?

We are absolutely sure of only one life on this earth. Is it not a tragedy then to only half live it, to get only half the happiness we might have, to be only half as useful and worth while as we might be?

Then put an efficiency engineer on the job. Your own mind and conscience will supply him to you. And mind one thing, don't say you are too old, or it's too late. The efficiency engineer is often called into the insolvent business and makes it solvent.

Our Volunteers.

Bernard Kelly, of St. John's, enlisted with the Reserve Force on Tuesday last which makes a total of 2,033.

Tuesday morning was spent in free exercises and Swedish drill on the Parade Grounds, and in the afternoon squad drill was held after which the men went for a route march along Topsail Road.

The recruits are fast becoming proficient with the rifle, one squad having established an average of 10 points out of a possible 20.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."

"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggist."

Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Charity Dance a Great Success.

On Tuesday night a dance was held at the Prince's Rink, under the auspices of the L. S. P. U. and in aid of the poor of the city. The event was largely attended and highly successful. The interior of the building was tastefully decorated by Mr. P. Morrissey. Dancing commenced at 9 p.m. and continued until the wee small hours of the morning, the music being excellently supplied by the T. A. Band. Refreshments were served during the dance and a brisk business was done. The entire proceeds amounted to $200. The energetic committee in charge deserve congratulations for bringing the affair to such a successful issue. A similar event and for the same purpose will be held shortly.

PONDEROUS PERSONAGES — JOB

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."
Job was an exemplary character who lived in biblical territory before history got a good start, and won eternal fame by bearing his afflictions without attacking the administration. He was prosperous and lost all his money. He had good health and became afflicted with boils. He had children and they were taken from him. He was happy and was reduced to misery so deep that he scraped ashes on his head in order to distract his mind from his other troubles. But he did not murmur, instead he went out and annexed the world's long-distance record for patience.

Unfortunately Job died without leaving a recipe for mixing up and using unlimited patience. This was a great loss to mankind. If there is anything scarcer than peace in the world to-day it is patience—and what little there is of it, isn't highly valued.

We band together in great anger and hoist the rascals out in the spring election with a mighty crash. Two years later, because our dividends haven't doubled, the climate hasn't improved and because the reform administration has not sprouted visible wings, we re-elect the rascals and give them a welcoming parade a mile long.

We toil exceedingly, live modestly and accumulate $2,000 in hard cash in ten years. Then, instead of starting cheerfully upon the next $2,000, we place the whole shebang in a stock company, guaranteed to yield 70 per cent. a year and discover when it is too late that when all assets are realized the receiver is still the largest creditor.

We go joyfully to the baseball park in April and swear undying loyalty to the best team, on earth and when the said best team has lost six games in succession we jeer at the fans who still go to the games and try to get a petition to boil the manager in oil. It almost seems, sometimes, as if the only patience produced in this country in the last ten years has been expended with a prodigal hand on Mexico. Job's birthday should be made a national holiday in this country along with that of Washington, who read the book of Job at Valley Forge and profited greatly thereby.

For a Cough or Cold try Stafford's Phorotone. Price 25c; postage 5c. extra.—may 18, 15

REACHED GLASGOW.—The auxiliary barque, Ambie, which left here with a cargo of seal oil and seal skins for Glasgow, have reached her destination, after an 18 days passage, word to that effect having been received by Job Bros. & Co.

Alexandra Workers.

At a meeting of the Alexandra Workers held on Tuesday afternoon last the election of officers for the ensuing year took place and resulted as follows:—

President.—Mrs. J. B. Ayre.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. C. S. Benedict.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. James Ryan.
Treasurer.—Mrs. Tessier.
Asst. Treasurer.—Mrs. Crowley.
Asst. Secretary.—Miss Kennedy.

Mrs. Benedict who has been Secretary for the past eight years, has resigned from that position, but will continue in office until a successor is appointed. The reports submitted showed that the funds in hand amount to nearly $9,600, most of which is invested at a good rate of interest. When the funds reach $10,000 the workers hope to take up the work of attending to the poor who may be discharged from the hospital incurable. The idea of building a home has been abandoned until after the close of the war.

23rd Anniver

To-day is the twenty-third anniversary of the great fire which practically destroyed the town of this city. The fire, remembered, started in the early part of the day on July 8th in a barn owned by John Brien on Freshwater Street, swept downward toward the city to the extreme east. Amongst the principal buildings destroyed were the Kirk, Methodist Church, Star Hall, Church of England, Court House, Masonic Hall, Commercial Bank, British Electrical Power House, on the site now occupied by the Imperial Tobacco Factory, and as far west as Bedford Street that point swept down to Wood's dock. The loss of property was about $1,000,000, and the total amount carried was only one-fourth the value of the property destroyed.

Two Men As

The French banking house of Leon, Capt. Frautlear, reported yesterday from the port to refit, having lost her anchors in a recent storm. She came from Pocomps and has been fishing ever since. She has on board two men and a dog, but operations are suspended.

Boy Run O

AND IS BADLY INJURED.

A little boy named M. aged 5 years, had a run from serious injury on the leg, though as it is believed he was crossing the road between Holloway and Streets when he was run over by a passing team, a wheel of the carriage struck him and breaking it. The driver brought up the horse but as if nothing had happened citizens picked up the boy and brought him to his home in Hill. Doctors Roberts were summoned and resuscitated the little boy who was much from shock and weak state. The police are looking for the name of the driver.

"Coffee"

There are many who suspect that coffee of these and other brands is anything to do with the health of the body.

It contains tea and coffee) ments of whole some molasses.

Postum corn—the original flour out the flavour of um—the soluble hot water instant.

Grocers everywhere equally delicious.

23rd Anniversary.

To-day is the twenty-third anniversary of the great fire of '92, which practically destroyed the eastern section of this city. The blaze, it will be remembered, started in the afternoon of July 8th in a barn owned by Timothy Brien on Freshwater Road, and swept downward towards the city, a strong westerly wind carrying "flankers" to the extreme east of the town. Amongst the principal buildings destroyed were the Kirk, Gower Street Methodist Church, Star Hall, T. A. Hall, Church of England Cathedral, Court House, Masonic Temple, Commercial Bank, British Hall, and the Electrical Power House, which stood on the site now occupied by the Imperial Tobacco Factory. The fire extended as far west as Beck's Cove, and from that point swept along Water Street to Wood's dock. The estimated loss of property was about $16,000,000, and the total amount of insurance carried was only about one-fourth the value of the property destroyed.

Two Men Astray.

The French banking schooner St. Leon, Capt. Frautlear, entered this port yesterday from the Grand Banks to refit, having lost her cables and anchors in a recent storm. The St. Leon came from Fecamps early in April and has been fishing on the banks ever since. She has on board 1,500 quintals. She reports fish plentiful but operations are hampered by storms.

Boy Run Over

AND IS BADLY HURT.

A little boy named Morris Phelan, aged 5 years, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Tuesday evening, though as it is he is badly hurt. He was crossing the road at the junction of Holloway and Duckworth Streets when he was run over by a passing team, a wheel of the vehicle going over the right arm of the boy and breaking it. The driver did not bring up the horse but continued on as if nothing had happened. Two citizens picked up the victim and brought him to his home on Nunney Hill. Doctors Roberts and Burden were summoned and reset the broken member. The little boy suffered very much from shock and was in a very weak state. The police have secured the name of the driver of the team and he will have to answer for his conduct.

Cod Fishery Good.

The codfishery on the local grounds promises to be good. Within the past few days trappers as well as hook and line have fared well. The waters are teeming with caplin and the codfish are glutted. A feature is that the fish taken during the present week are a splendid run and of an unusually large size. All along the Southern Shore conditions are similar and at Bay Bulls there is a saving voyage ashore already.

Laid To Rest.

Some few days ago a well known local sportsman, who was up country salmon fishing, was interfered with by a foreigner who was fishing at the same place and who seemed jealous over the local man's success with the fish while he didn't get a "bite." The authorities were advised and the Yankee was given the gentle hint to quit, which was accordingly done.

Captured First Whale.

The whaler Cachelot, Capt. Amundsen, has captured her first fish for the season in the waters around Hawke's Harbor. Whales are not plentiful, though it was just as late as this last year when the Cachelot landed her first one, and was high-liner when finish up time came.

BRITISH THEATRE.

For variety and excellence of subjects selected the programme at the popular British surpasses anything they have yet given. The feature photo-play by the famous Lubin Co. entitled "His Brother's Blood" is without exception one of the strongest pictures of its kind ever to be shown in St. John's. The great American humorist, George Ade, contributes one of his cleverest stories in the fable of the "Good Samaritan." It abounds in rich cultured humour. The Oriental subject is most attractive and the drama: "A Just Punishment" is a most powerful one. Arthur Priestman Cameron in comedy song and Miss Elsie Tapper at the piano complete a great entertainment.

"THE MAN IN THE DARK."

The Crescent Picture Palace presents John Bunny and Flora Finch today in "Bunny Backslides," a very laughable comedy. "The Man in the Dark" is the story of a millionaire who goes to see "Auntie" in a splendid Vitagraph story. "Jimmy Hayse and Muriel" is a western tragedy drama. "The Man Hater" is a farce comedy produced by the Selig all star comedy company. Don't miss this big feature bill at the Crescent to-day; afternoon at 2 o'clock; evening at 7 o'clock; good music and singing.

OURS IN THE WEST END.

Crowded at each and every performance yesterday the popular West End Theatre had a great programme. The new shipment of pictures seen at Rossley's are even better than ever, and were loudly applauded at each performance. The little singers made a big hit in their scotch number, Maggie McLaren, while their dancing pulled down the house. There will be one of the best songs ever published and sang to-night. It swept like a cyclone over Great Britain and Mrs. Rossley secured it from the publishers, entitled: "Somebody's Boy is Bearing the Brunt," a great song; all new pictures again.

NICKEL'S BIG PROGRAMME.

The holiday programme at the Nickel Theatre was a delightful one and afforded every pleasure and satisfaction to the large audiences present at each session. "The Million Dollar Mystery" proved as attractive as ever. It was a very exciting episode. Be sure and attend this evening. Forbes Law Duguid sings Tosti's "Good Bye and (b) Rose in the Bud. To-morrow the great feature film in four acts: "One Wonderful Night" will be given.

Bankers in for Repairs

WAS IN COLLISION.

Capt. W. Hollett's fishing schooner Gordon M. Hollett, of Burin, crippled into port yesterday evening in a badly damaged condition, as a result of being in collision with a Lunenburg banker. The G. M. Hollett had just finished a caplin baiting and was on her way to Cape Broyle from the Grand Banks to renew her supply of caplin. Tuesday morning the Hollett vessel was making about five knots when a Lunenburg vessel was observed about a half mile in the distance coming towards her. The Lunenburg ran into the Gordon M., though the latter showed a port light, ramming her aft of the main rigging, carrying away main boom, rail, six planks of the deck and battering the hull as far down as the water line. The impact was so great that the crew who were down below thought the vessel had struck an iceberg and rushed to the deck, finding the other banker making away. The name of the Lunenburg was not discerned owing to the confusion and the haze and darkness. The Gordon M. made after her but found it useless in her wrecked condition. It was found that the Burin vessel was looking for and she was headed for this port for repairs. Capt. Hollett says that he will know the vessel that cut him down by the broken bow she will have. Captain Hollett has landed for this season 2,800 qtls. of codfish and has 700 on board now. Repairs to the vessel will take about a week, after which operations will be resumed.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

To amuse a child who is slightly ill or kept indoors by storm get out the encyclopedia and turn to the pages of flags printed in various colors. Show the child the page and suggest that you both try to make some flags in the colors shown.

When I tried it with great success I found I had some scraps of sateen and cambric left over from fancy work which served the purpose admirably. Of course any other material would do, and even colored paper pasted on the background of the flag, would do all right. The most used colors are red, white and blue, which will not only make our own flag but are used also in the merchant flag of Germany, the ensign of France and in several others. Yellow and green are the colors next most prominently used.

Funeral of Mr. Alfred Harris.

The funeral of the late Alfred Harris, Engineer of A. E. Reed Co., Nfld. Ltd., took place at Bisop's Falls on Saturday afternoon last, July 3rd, the Rev. Gardiner, Church of England, officiating. After a short service at the Company's Staff House, nearly all the residents of Bisop's Falls and Bisop's Falls Station followed in procession to the graveside. The deceased was borne to his last resting place by his workmates, by whom he was much respected and esteemed. The floral tokens of sympathy and affection were numerous and beautiful. The Staff and Mill Department sent several; others were received from Mr. & Mrs. Hampton, Mr. & Mrs. Dove, Mrs. Petrie, friends at the Hotel, Mr. Twiner and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wentzell (Botwood). The late Mr. Alfred Harris was a native of the city of Oxford, England, and came out to this country about three years ago as Engineer for the A. E. Reed Co., Nfld. Ltd., at Bisop's Falls, at which plant his brother, Mr. A. E. Harris, is Manager.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, June 15th, 1915.

PRIME MINISTER AT THE FRONT.

The fact that Prime Minister Asquith has been for some days at the British front "somewhere in France" without a hint as to his immediate whereabouts appearing in print, adds one more testimony to the myriad of war has furnished of the ability of a great number of people to keep a secret. Very soon after it was perceived on June 4th that he was not in his place on the Treasury Bench—though it had been carefully put around through official channels that he was to explain the course of events in regard to Italy—the House of Commons began to scent the significance of his absence. No one attempted to say positively where he was, but there was not a man in the Chamber who, at the end of the short sitting, would have taken a bet against his having been across the Channel. Very general satisfaction is expressed that he has made the visit, for the importance of Ministers securing information at first hand cannot be exaggerated. Lloyd George has done this with great good result, in the case of the Finance Ministers of France and Russia.

LATE M. CAMILLE PELLETAN.

The death of M. Pelletan removes from the French political arena an old Radical who in his best days was a faithful representative of French Republican thought, not only in domestic but in international politics. At the moment when Italy has taken her place by the side of her Latin sister, it is worth recalling that M. Pelletan, with his friend and in a sense his leader M. Clemenceau, was one of the Frenchmen who fought the Second Empire's anti-Italian policy. As early as March, 1871, he presented a petition to the Provisional Government of the young Republic praying for the restitution of Corsica to Italy in the name of the rights of nationality. Whenever the acts of M. Camille Pelletan made him a conspicuous figure, the ordinary Parisian comment, always running easily to social criticism, was sure to be full of references to his personal untidiness. So constant was the joking about it that it became a legend. Not that his way of dressing was anything more reprehensible than a Bohemian carelessness. M. Pelletan was, as a matter of fact, more presentable than some Oxford dons one has known. He showed himself most characteristically at a public meeting. There he would sit comfortably in his chair, disdaining to put on the demeanor of ceremony, smoking a cigarette and drinking sugared water as if he were in his study at home. His plentiful hair was often dishevelled and his beard untrimmed. What wonder that he was the delight—and probably delight-

CURIOSITIES OF THE WAR.

London is now beginning to see some of the curiosities of the war. There is, for instance, more smoke than usual, but complaints as to smoke nuisance lodged by the London County Council are suitably repelled by the explanation that all the skilled stokers have enlisted. The pottery firm of Doultons, for instance, say that they are now forced to employ unskilled men in their kilns, adding that the coal troubles also mean that smoke cannot be consumed as in the days before the war. Typhoid has been introduced from the front, and a report of the Lambeth medical officer of health to-day mentioned that of nine cases occurring, five were soldiers from Flanders, where they had contracted the disease. Women police officers can now be seen in the streets, but they are only recognized in a semi-official manner, though in some other cities there are women constables officially appointed. The scarcity of men in London is evidenced by the fact that the South Metropolitan Gas Company is now training young women to act as gas meter inspectors. Women are now working on the London Underground Railway "tubes," but, curiously enough, the London police authorities will not license women to act as tram conductors although women have been so licensed and are now at work on the trams of Glasgow and Manchester.

A SHORTAGE OF MEN.

Those who have eyes to see, and who are not blinded by the supposed necessity to stand by an exploded theory of their own, cannot but perceive at all hours of the day in London the rapidly diminishing number of young men to be met in every walk of life. In the early days of the war the majority of the new recruits to be encountered in the capital wore straw hats or bowlers, but now they are lads mainly in caps. Within the past week, the number of contingents of these lads that were visible in various parts of the town, were far larger than in any like period for months, and the effect upon what may be termed the lesser trades and callings is very marked. Young fellows who, a twelve months since, seemed barred from all advance in finding themselves in a "dead-end" employment, are now swelling the recruiting lists, and shopkeepers and street-traders, in especial, are heavily hampered. The chance for girls in every calling in which hard physical toil is not essential, but which had been almost monopolized by lads, is being eagerly availed of, and at this moment no girl who desires to earn a living here has the least difficulty in putting herself on the way of one. This will involve a social change of considerable magnitude, the effect of which will by no means end with the concluding of peace.

WOMEN AT ORIEL.

Among the unexpected results of war may be chronicled the fact that women students are now housed in an Oxford College. A hundred students of Somerville College are quietly carrying on their studies in the buildings of Oriel, formerly known as St. Mary's (or "Skimmery") Hall. What happened was briefly this. Somerville adjoins the Radcliffe Infirmary, and early in April the Government commandeered the buildings for additional wards. To the dispossessed college the governing body of Oriel promptly offered St. Mary's Hall, with its separate quadrangle, dining hall and common-rooms, including the new buildings fronting the High Street which were erected from the Cecil Rhodes bequest. Owing to the war few undergraduates were in residence, and the Fellows cheerfully gave up their rooms, finding accommodation elsewhere. The bridge which formed the sole communication with Oriel proper, has been blocked up, and in a fortnight from the date of the Government notice the hundred students were housed in their dignified dwelling, "everything in order and every picture hanging on the walls." Oxford life goes on untroubled.

TURKISH NAVAL POLICE.

Though it has been generally assumed that it was a German submarine which struck H.M.S. Triumph off Gallipoli, Turkish naval efforts in that direction are not lightly to be discounted. The very poor show made by the Ottoman Navy since the Porte declared war, has caused many to forget that a year ago highly competent observers believed in its capacity. When early in 1914, Turkey acquired Brazil's latest Dreadnought, the Rio de Janeiro, then building in this country, thus anticipating the deal she was to effect over the Goeben and the Breslau later in the year, it was emphasized in London that the personnel of her navy, in a large measure, had been drilled by British officers. Each of the three British admirals who, in succession, had had command of the modern Ottoman Fleet had commended the courage, obedience, and capacity of assimilating themselves to maritime conditions which characterized the Turkish sailors. These had had little or no sufficient experience of serious and dangerous seagoing conditions, but in the conditions by which they had been tested they had fairly satisfied their tutors. These British admirals, moreover, had had British subordinates associated with them, and naval experts were prepared to watch with special interest the seagoing fight which was then threatened in the Aegean between the Italian and the Turkish Navies. There are very special reasons affecting the latter, however, which are likely to prevent that particular fight now.

WOMEN'S DRESS.

A lady observer of fashions, referring to the sudden drop in the temperature and its effect upon women's attire, says the girl who averred that a set of white tarts to go with white muslin frocks was a necessity nowadays, seems to have some reason for the assertion. On June 1st, in London, for instance, one saw a number of light-colored dresses with summer toilets, and the effect was decidedly good. The tiny coats of the moment is at best a light protection, and usually requires one of the fashionable coque or ostrich feather boas, on any hot day. Hats have become suddenly broad brimmed and shabby, and are worn with the floating veil which suits so many women. Many of these hats are made of dyed panama, and are extremely light and smart. They are suitable for town or country, and now that patriotism demands that the railways should not be hampered with excessive luggage, this is a consideration. Women are also ordering dresses that do for any occasions such as the three-piece dress, a light coat and skirt, say, of taffeta or china silk, with chiffon blouse of the same tint, which, without the coat, may be worn for the evening. The complete "suit" continues the favorite wear of the moment in London, and all eccentricities are viewed with great disfavor. Even wedding dresses are of the simplest, and are sometimes of muslin or chiffon.

THE TWO LOST TORPEDO BOATS.

The British Navy differs from most others in this—that it keeps no obsolete torpedo craft on its active list. The two small ships lost last week were comparatively modern and useful vessels of 225 tons and mounting two 12-pounder guns, which is equal to the armament of a destroyer of the nineties. Their speed was 26 knots. Really the main difference between these vessels and destroyers is to be found in the fact that the torpedo boats are less stoutly built (not being intended for high-sea work) and carry considerably smaller crews. The manning statistics of the Admiralty are jealously guarded, but if 41 officers and men were saved out of the two vessels, that must have been a

Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.

FOR THE NURSERY.
"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household. Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the instantaneous or circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs, downstairs, and in my lady's chamber,"—without any labour at all—Independently of the state of the kitchen fire.

FOR THE BATHROOM.
An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance.

Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the boiler to act as a stoker, but at what a cost! Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of grate cleaning and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm weather!

A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no fires to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.

The master of the house has hot shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.
When "Spring cleaning days" suggest the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.

But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem.

Latter-day domestics are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes.

The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous—may 12.11 large part of their complement. The functions of torpedo boats and destroyers have become confused in our minds, and the idea of a torpedo boat should be aimed only with a torpedo, and should be used to attack capital ships of the enemy by surprise. The destroyer was invented by us after many experiments, in order that she might destroy the torpedo boat. Her proper weapon was therefore the gun. But torpedo-tubes were fitted to destroyers and guns were mounted in torpedo-boats. At last we evolved the type first described as coastal destroyers, to which vessels like torpedo boats 10 and 12 belonged. The absurdity of this struck the Admiralty, and they were reclassified as torpedo boats, in which capacity they have rendered good service during the war for patrol purposes. As regards the nomenclature of its torpedo craft, the German Admiralty is the only one which has exhibited consistency. There are no destroyers in the German navy. Even their boats of 300 tons and above are classed as torpedo boats, showing that their function is to attack. Hitherto submarines have not been very successful against torpedo boats and destroyers. One of our E boats sank a torpedo boat in the Bight of Heligoland, and in return the German submarine sank the Maori off the Belgian coast, but owing to their speed and shallow draft these vessels have generally been immune.

Czech Leaders Under Arrest.

Bohemians Said to Have Friendly Relations with Italians.

London, July 2.—The Czech parliamentary leader Dr. Kramar and Dr. Chreiner, head of the Bohemian Gymnastic organization, were arrested at Prague on May 22, charged with espionage and maintaining friendly relations with the Italian consul, according to the Times. The only compromising documents found in their possession are said to have been copies of a Czech review published in Paris.

The Times asserts the two men are imprisoned in Vienna, although false report of their liberation have been spread officially in the hope of influencing the Czech population in favour of the war loan.

The refusal of the Czech party to disavow its arrested leaders is reported to have resulted in Archduke Frederick, commander-in-chief of the Austrian army, addressing to Emperor Francis Joseph a report denouncing all Czechs as traitors. The Times' article contains the statement that several Czech regiments have deserted to the Russians and Serbians.

Submarine Wire.

LATEST SPY STORY.

Washington, D.C., July 3.—A submerged bureau of intelligence for submarines, that is the latest war yarn. It may be true or it may not be. The particular necessity which appears to make wireless ineffective in slipping news secretly to submarines is that, as every schoolboy knows, a wireless plant cannot be concealed, but a submerged intelligence bureau is operated according to the story that Washington heard to-day.

Under the guise of digging a sewer, a German spy, in an English coast town, runs a hidden cable underground to the ocean front. Then the cable is paid out on the bottom, preferably shallow, of course. The cable is run to a point five or six miles from the shore and is fixed to a buoy or a group of floating logs. A German submarine approaches, hooks onto the cable and communicates with the German spy on shore. If many persons believe this story, it follows that any man digging a trench in an English coast town will take his life in his hands.

KEEPING YOUR WORD.

"I'll come around Monday," the carpenter said, "the day after Sunday, and build you your shed." He seemed to be talking with scrupulous care, not joshing or mocking or handing hot air. He seemed to be feeling the force of his words, not recklessly spilling like cheap mocking birds. I said to my auntie, "The man will be here, to build the cow's shanty, so dry up your tears." When Monday came booming up out of the murk, no toiler was looming in sight for the work. I watchfully waited, all burdened with care; no workman came, weighted with hammer and square. My cow and bell wether stood out in the rain, and perished together in sorrow and pain. He came with excuses a fortnight too late; his blood and his voice is splashed over the gate. Though skillful and handy, your arms are absurd, unless you're a dandy at keeping your word. The pledge that is spoken by loose, careless tongue, the promise that's broken while yet it is young, will hurt like the dickens when you need a boost; like curses and chickens they come home to roost.

WAR'S DESTRUCTION OF FORESTS.

Until recently it had not been generally known that the Germans had been cutting the French forests in their possession and shipping the timber back to Germany.

This fact, with others, is mentioned by Jean-Paul Alaux, an eminent architect of Paris, who is now with the French army, in an article written for 'American Forestry.' This writer estimates that it will be thirty years before the damaged French forests become again a source of revenue.

1. Cuttings by the military authorities for strategic reasons and for permitting the more effective use of artillery.
2. Cuttings for the purpose of building trenches, shelters, and roads.
3. Cuttings for firewood for the military kitchens and for fuel with which to warm the shelters.
4. Cuttings by the enemy and the taking away of timber as valuable booty.

Remember that butter, milk and eggs are very apt to absorb strong flavors, so keep them right away from such things as cheese, apples, smoked fish or onions.

 FIGURES DO LIE.

Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.
 They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build.
 They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.
 They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."
 If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.
 You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.
 REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.
 We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.
 We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.
 REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.
