The Girl of the Cloisters

CHAPTER XXII.
A RUINED LIFE.

Her lips opened and quivered, and she made a faint, futile attempt to draw away from his grasp. He saw the eyes bent wistfully upon him slowly fill with tears, felt her tremble like a leaf in the wind, and his heart gave a great leap of sorrowful, impatient love.

"My darling!" he murmured, soothingly. "I have frightened you! No, do not speak for a moment. There!" He paused, and held her gently, firmly, for a space, and looked at her, all his honest, passionate love in his eyes.

"Now, Lela, my dear, dear love, speak to me! Tell me what it all means! Why you ran away from me? Come, have some pity for me. You owe me something in return for all the misery I have undergone. There! You are not frightened now?"

"No," she murmured, "not frightened, but sorry—ah, so sorry!" and her lips quivered.

His brow knitted. "Sorry," he repeated, bewildered, but patient. "Sorry that I have found you, Lela?"

"Yes," she said, looking at him and trying to drive the tender, wistful love from her eyes, in which it would shine and glow, try as she would.

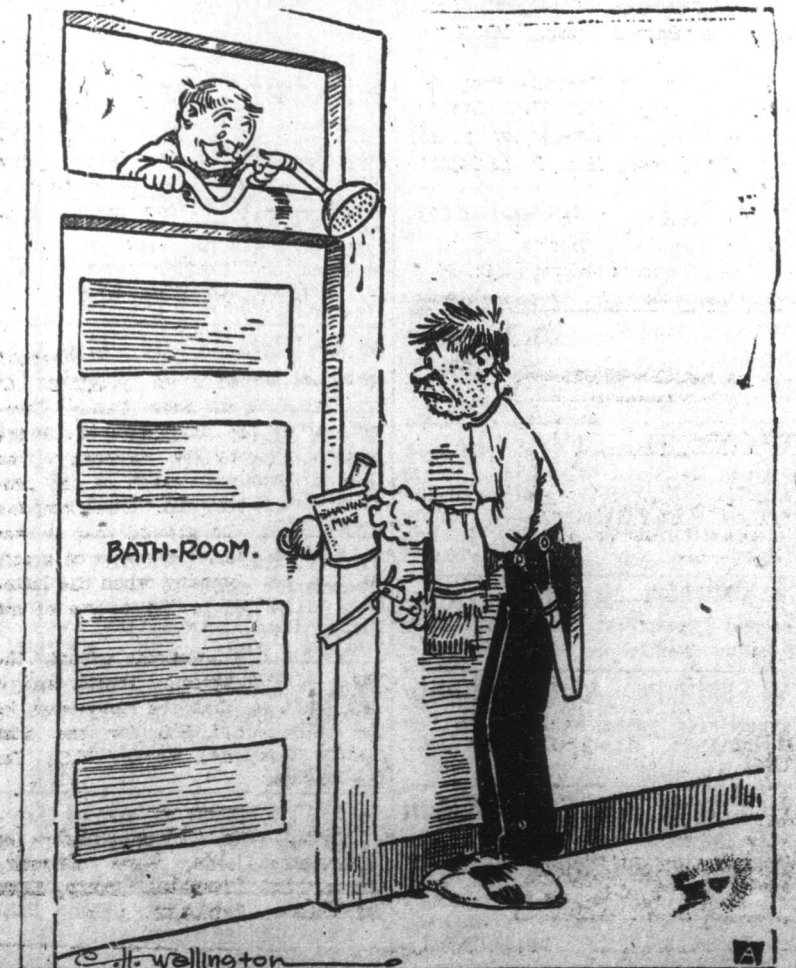

"Yes, sorry, sorry!" she breathed, her hand pressed against her heart. "I have looked forward to this moment, dreaded it, for I knew that it must come. Oh, Edgar!"

"His heart leaped as she breathed his name.

"Yes," he said, restraining the impulse to catch her to his heart and smother the beautiful, pale face with kisses. "Yes, you were right in that. You could not have hidden from me much longer, Lela. Now tell me why you have hidden at all! See, I am trying to be patient and calm—if you knew how hard it is you would be proud of me! But don't keep me in suspense longer than you can help. Here, come into the light. Ah, my darling, how I have longed for this moment! What a cruel week you have caused me," and his strong voice broke.

The tears ran slowly down her face, and she turned her head aside lest he should read her weakness in her eyes;

And the Worst is Yet to Come—and she meant to be so strong, so staunch!

"Will you not go now—at once!" she said, in a low voice. "Do not be cruel to us both—Lord Edgar—"

"Stop!" he said, and his lips twitched. "If you don't want to send me mad outright, don't call me Lord Edgar. Remember, I know nothing of your reason for deserting me."

"Deserting! Ah, yes, yes!" she murmured.

"Yes, deserting," he said, firmly; "that is what it was, Lela. How you could have done it I don't know. I could not have treated you so, my poor darling!"

"Oh, don't!" she pleaded. "Have some pity on me. Do you think it cost me nothing?"

He smothered the passionate exclamation that trembled on his lips, and contented himself with saying, quickly:

"Why did you do it? Tell me, Lela, the truth, and all the truth."

And he drew her hands to his heart and held them there. She looked up at him, her beautiful eyes glowing solemnly with self-sacrifice.

"I left you, Edgar, because I knew that it was for your good that I should do so."

A hot flush covered his face, but he kept a tight hand on the reins. He meant to learn the whole truth before he gave way to the passion which surged in his heart and brain.

"Because it was for my good! Not for yours?" He looked at her and noticed how thin and pale—but still so lovely!—her face had grown. She seemed sadder than ever, so slight that he could have carried her across the stream with one arm now. "Not for yours?"

She shook her head with a little scornful wonder in her eyes.

"For mine? Ah, no!"

"Good!" he said, as if he had made one point. "You left me, knowing that I loved you as I did, and do, without one word of explanation, of good-by, even, for my good!" He laughed bitterly, impatiently. "For my good! Will you explain, Lela? You owe me a full explanation! I must be satisfied if I am to leave you, as you ask me, mustn't I?"

The voice was as gentle and tender as a woman's; it was as if he were addressing a child.

"Yes, for your good," she murmured, as if repeating a phrase she had well rehearsed. "Was I who loved you to drag you down to ruin?"

Light was beginning to dawn upon him.

"I see—you did not want to drag me down to ruin?"

"Ah, no!" she breathed, and her hand clasped his hand. "I did not know. When I let you love me, when I let you make me tell you that I loved you, I did not know. But I do know now."

"Know what?"

"That it would be your ruin to marry me—a mere nobody—you, the future marquis. You would have grown ashamed of me, and—and ceased to love me; and I should have been a weight and a clog in your way through the world. And—and—" The tears streamed down her face. "Ah, Edgar, I saw it all when he pointed it out—I saw it all, and I loved you too well to bring you harm!"

Lord Edgar's lips closed tightly—he, too, saw it all now; but he controlled himself with an effort.

She was silent, and her head drooped.

Lord Edgar's lips closed tightly—he, too, saw it all now; but he controlled himself with an effort.

She was silent, and her head drooped.

"You need not answer, Lela. I know. It was my father who told you this."

She was still silent.

"My affectionate and devoted father," he said, with the first touch of bitterness in his voice that had ever sounded in its connection with the marquis. "What else did he tell you, Lela?"

She shook her head sorrowfully.

"It does not matter," she murmured. "It was all true; the hard, bitter truth! I did not know—how should I?—that that day when you told me you loved me, and I knew that I loved you. I thought nothing else mattered. But now—"

"But now the marquis has opened your eyes," he said, calmly, "you see differently."

"Yes, I see that my love would only have brought you sorrow and misery, and so—so I left the Abbey, Edgar, and saved you."

The sense of the cruel, wickedly cruel, wrong that had been done them both, silenced the passionate outburst that trembled on his lips.

He was silent for a moment, then he raised her hand to his lips and kissed it. She tremulously withdrew it, as if she had condoned a sin.

"Yes, you left me—without a word; you sacrificed yourself, Lela; and then? How did you come here?"

"Grandfather had a friend at the school on the hill there—he did not follow her glance, his eyes clung too hungrily to her face—we came here thinking that he would help us, and he has done so. Grandfather teaches in the school. He—he is quite happy, and—"

Her eyes filled again. "I must go now, Lord Edgar. You will let me go?"

He drew a long breath.

"We shall see!" But instead of releasing her arm he drew it through his own, and taking her with him, paced slowly up and down. What could he say, what could he do to move her?

Like most gentle women, Lela, when once her mind was made up, could be steadfast. The marquis, with his sardonic cleverness, had thrown such a glamour over her that it seemed to envelop her like a veil, to be a veritable wall between her and Edgar—a wall against which their hearts beat flutteringly on either side.

He looked down at her, at the lovely face, pale as a lily, with the tender red lips half parted with the pain and excitement of the situation; he could feel her trembling on his arm. All sorts of wild ideas flew into his head. What if he caught her up and carried her bodily to the inn and rode away with her? It would solve the difficulty in the easiest manner possible! But that could not be done, alas! Argue with her? She could beat him at argument, and give him points; her very love for him made her fearfully strong. She had become possessed by the idea that her love would ruin him, and how to disabuse her mind he knew not.

They walked up and down in the moonlight slowly, he with knitted brow and troubled spirit; she, woman-like, in a mingled ecstasy of pleasure and pain.

"Lela, listen to me! Look at me. I have thought over all you have said. 'Perhaps'—his voice faltered at the approach of the falsehood—"you and my father are right; I might get tired of you."

A little sigh broke from her lips, and he saw her wince as if he had struck her. His heart smote him, but he persisted.

"I never saw it in that light before. It may be true. So we'll part."

"Yes," she murmured, brokenly, and her hand slipped from his arm; he was about to catch at it, but restrained himself. "I don't know what will become of me! Perhaps I shall marry some one whom you and the marquis think more suitable; perhaps I shall go abroad—to Mexico—anywhere; it doesn't matter. I know for a certainty that, whether you would have ruined my life, as you call it, it is ruined for the present."

"Ah!" she breathed. "If we had never met!"

"Yes," he said, slowly. "But we did. And now you have convinced me we had better part, I suppose."

"Yes," she said, and her hands clasped despairfully, as her eyes grew hungrily to his face. "Yes, now at once. Ah! I hope—I hope we shall never meet again! I thought that I had suffered all I could suffer in the last week, but to-night—"

His lips twitched.

"Where do you live?" he asked in a low voice.

She moved her hand heavily toward a lane at the side of the churchyard, and he inclined his head.

"Let me see you there safely?"

"No," she said, almost inaudibly. "I am quite safe. I—I often come out at night alone—nearly every night. Do not come with me."

"Very well," he said. His heart beat tumultuously; he was playing a bold game. "Good-by, Lela! Good-by!" and he held out his hand.

She put her hand into it, and the little hand struck like fire in his. Her lips moved, though he heard no sound, and pressing her hand between his, he turned slowly and moved away.

He had not gone a dozen steps when he heard her cry his name. It was a wail, a desolate wail of entreaty and despair. The next moment she was on his breast, her slight frame convulsed with sobs, her hands clutching his arms, her eyes upturned to his with wild, helpless love.

"Oh, no, no," she panted. "I can not let you go! I can not! I can not! Oh, Edgar, my love, my love! Forgive me! I can not lose you! Oh, what am I doing—who had meant to be so strong and brave? But I can not! It is like tearing the heart out of my body! Edgar, stay with me! Don't go! Ah, don't go!"

He was silent for a moment as he pressed her to him and kissed the silken hair and the pale, passion-laden lips. She was transformed; it was she who pleaded now by look and gesture, not he.

His artifice had succeeded. The great woman's love had conquered, and all doubt vanished. She lay in his arms, sobbing and panting, fearing to release her hold on him lest she should lose him, her lover, her god!

I will first deal with our local trade, and by reference to the standard, and by reference to the total area it will be observed that the Total Trade has increased from $30,000,000 in 1913-14 to $57,000,000 in 1917-18, an increase of 89 per cent. The increase in 1918-19 is estimated at $60,000,000, or 100 per cent. The increase in the past 12 months is estimated at $10,000,000, or 17 per cent. The trend of our trade development as a result of the war-time elements of disturbance introduced therein, is illustrated in broad outline by the figures showing the Imports and Exports of Newfoundland.

Year	Britain	Canada	Other
1913-14	3,826,529	4,681,047	1,592,424
1914-15	3,311,945	4,509,827	1,592,424
1915-16	2,578,814	5,870,455	1,592,424
1916-17	2,820,032	7,412,300	1,592,424
1917-18	2,248,781	11,107,642	1,592,424

It will be noted that there has been a very remarkable increase in the imports from and exports to the neighbouring countries of Canada and the United States, especially in the past two years, a circumstance due in part to the difficulties in obtaining goods from the British Isles owing to war-time conditions, but it is to be hoped that there will be a speedy and substantial resumption of trade between Newfoundland and the Mother Country, and a restoration to the largest possible extent of the commercial intercourse which was so prominent a feature in the economic life of this Island prior to the war.

It is gratifying to know, moreover, that the commercial relations of Newfoundland with the outside world have been maintained in such satisfactory fashion, especially in the latter period of the war when shortage of shipping proved a very serious handicap. It will be remembered that prior to the war we had the advantage of the Black Diamond steamers plying from Montreal, the Furness steamers running from Halifax, the Bowring steamers from New York, and the Allan and Furness lines from England, besides occasional steamers from various places; but gradually all these lines were eliminated until only the Furness boats remained operating between Liverpool, St. John's, and Halifax; and the Bowring Company giving a New York service which was seriously hampered when the "Stephano" was torpedoed and which became more crippled by the tragic loss of the "Florize" 15 months ago.

Looking back now on the difficulties that had to be faced, I think the Committee will agree with me that it is little short of marvelous how we were able to maintain our trade relations with the outside world, bring in the necessities required, and send away our produce under the circumstances which had to be experienced during all this period. This has been rendered possible, in a large measure, by the close co-operation, promoted by the Commercial Commission also directed by the Government by the Ministry of Shipping, an association which has resulted in enabling some of the most difficult problems presenting themselves to us to be successfully solved.

In this endeavour, too, Newfoundland's merchant shipping was materially increased, and the fleet of for-

Minister of Finance Makes Financial Statement --- Surplus of $2,000,000 Estimated --- No New Taxation Foreshadowed.

I will first deal with our local trade, using the year 1913-14 as a standard, and by reference to the figures it will be observed that the total trade has increased from $30,000,000 in 1913-14 to $57,000,000 in 1917-18, with the prospect, as far as can be learned from the Customs figures to date, of the total exceeding $60,000,000 for the current fiscal year, the augmentation in the past 12 months being:

Year	Imports	Exports	Total
1913-14	3,326,523	2,673,477	6,000,000
1914-15	3,311,945	2,659,827	5,971,772
1915-16	2,579,814	5,879,456	8,459,270
1916-17	2,820,833	7,412,309	10,233,142
1917-18	2,248,781	11,107,842	13,356,623

The trend of our trade development, as a result of the war-time situation of disturbance introduced therein, is illustrated in broad outline by the figures showing the imports and exports to the various countries, notably Britain, Canada and the United States. The figures for the past five years will be interesting in this connection:—

Year	Imports from		Exports to		Total
	Britain	Canada	United States	Elsewhere
1913-14	3,326,523	4,681,047	5,738,908	832,244	15,138,722
1914-15	3,311,945	4,509,827	4,943,752	585,362	13,250,786
1915-16	2,579,814	5,879,456	7,997,779	879,487	16,427,336
1916-17	2,820,833	7,412,309	10,233,899	1,052,078	21,318,319
1917-18	2,248,781	11,107,842	12,344,946	1,291,577	26,993,146

It will be noted that there has been a very remarkable increase in the imports from and exports to the neighbouring countries of Canada and the United States, especially in the past two years, a circumstance due in part to the difficulties in obtaining goods from the British Isles owing to war-time conditions, but it is to be hoped that there will be a speedy and substantial resumption of trade between Newfoundland and the Mother Country, and a restoration to the largest possible extent of the commercial intercourse which was so prominent a feature in the economic life of this island prior to the war.

This has been rendered possible, in a large measure, by the close co-operation promoted between the Commercial Community and the Government by the Ministry of Shipping, an association which has resulted in enabling some of the most difficult problems presenting themselves to us to be successfully solved. In this endeavour, too, Newfoundland's merchant shipping was materially increased, and the fleet of for-ing greatly due to enhanced prices paid for our fishery products. The figures are:—

Year	Imports from		Exports to		Total
	Britain	Canada	United States	Elsewhere
1913-14	3,326,523	4,681,047	5,738,908	832,244	15,138,722

ein-going sailing vessels at the beginning of 1919 was the largest on record, numbering over 131 bottoms of varying sizes with an aggregate tonnage of 30,000, being sufficiently large to take away the whole of our fishery harvest in three round trips, and every member of this House knows, sailing crafts were being gradually displaced by steamers before the war began and the large flotillas of smaller wooden vessels engaged in our trade were being eliminated so that in 1913 nearly all our incoming and outgoing cargoes were carried in steamers. The shipping boom of the war period has resulted in reviving the important shipbuilding industry of this country and it is to be hoped that it will be found possible to maintain it hereafter on at least as substantial a scale as at present.

The interest-bearing deposits in the Canadian Banks established in the Colony amounted on the 31st December last to $15,289,011 and to this amount must be added the deposits in the Government Savings Bank, amounting to $2,215,764, making a total altogether of $17,504,775. The Canadian Banks had the previous year $13,536,607 in deposits, so that they increased their holdings by $1,732,404, but the Government Savings Bank had $2,494,049, so that this year's figures are a reduction of $278,685 as compared with 1917. On the other hand, however, at the time of the Victoria Loan last summer there were withdrawals from the latter Bank of over $400,000 for investment therein, so that under ordinary circumstances this Bank would have had an addition to its deposits of over $100,000. How much was withdrawn from the Canadian Banks here for the same purpose is not ascertainable but the aggregate must have been very large. The above figures indicate a net increase in the Savings Bank deposits of our people of $1,474,119 or say, one and a half million dollars, and three and a half more were invested in our Victoria Loan, which may be described as savings of our people, also during 1918, so that it is hardly an exaggeration to claim that they are better off by five million dollars through savings deposits and the purchase of Government Bonds the past year than they were twelve months previously. I am sure all will be glad to know that the prospects for a successful flotation of the loan we are proposing to offer shortly are in the highest degree favorable, both at home and abroad. Further evidence of the welfare of our people is seen in the fact that the total value of Life Insurance policies in force at the 30th June, 1917, was $9,023,465 and on the same date 1918 was $10,294,098, being an increase of $1,270,633 in face value of the policies. The premiums received from policy-holders on the former date amounted to $884,894, and on the latter date $440,419, showing an increase of $55,424; and the Adjusted Reserve on the former date was $2,491,154 as compared with $2,378,629 for the latter, or an increase of $224,629.

The Postmaster General, in his annual report, bears similar testimony of the growth in the prosperity of the people, by showing that the turnover of the Money Order business for the fiscal year 1917-18 was over $2,000,000 as against little more than a million ten years previously; that the Registration of Letters increased in the same period from 17,000 to 225,000; that the growth in the Parcel Post Branch was phenomenal, totalling 239,707 parcels, an increase of 11,282 for the year; that despite the drawbacks in the way of developing Parcel Post business between America and this country, the duties collected on American parcels had increased nearly 375 per cent. in ten years, and the growth of the domestic Parcel Post business was becoming so great that it could hardly be handled; that the Customs duties collected on parcels last year amounted to $72,793 against $18,796 ten years before, while the increase over the previous year was $22,501 or more than twice that of any previous year in the history of the Department.

Testimony to the favorable condition of the Colony's affairs is borne in the first place by our own Board of Trade, which in its tenth Annual Report, observes as follows:— "The remarkable figures (of the growth of our imports and exports) clearly demonstrate that the trade of the Colony as for the past fiscal year has been phenomenally successful. The excess of imports over exports is eminently satisfactory for the year's trading, showing as it does that the balance of trade was largely in our favor, a factor generally regarded as most important to the commercial welfare of any community. This unprecedented position in the trade of the Dominion is due largely, if not wholly, to war conditions. We are essentially a country producing food and raw material that have been in great demand under the conditions of war prevailing on the European continent and our prosperity is largely attributable to the interference these conditions have had on the operations of our principal competitors." Montreal recites as follows:—

"With the high prices obtained for fish and oils, the people generally are prosperous. Interest-bearing deposits in Banks show an increase of $2,400,000 last year, notwithstanding a domestic war-loan floated in June last which met with good response. The issue was in the shape of ten-year 6% per cent. bonds. A portion of the same loan was sold in Canada on favorable terms."

The Annual Report of the Bank of Nova Scotia for the past year contains the following statement:—

"Newfoundland has had another prosperous year. The catch of cod-fish was less than that of the record year 1917, but unprecedented prices gave a return to the fishermen estimated at $21,000,000 or more than for any other year. . . . What with the tonnage of its own construction and purchases imported generally in Nova Scotia, Newfoundland has now the finest fleet of foreign-going vessels in her history, which at high freights have been proving very acceptable investments. The Pulp and Paper mills have had a good year. Lumbering has been for domestic supply only and therefore only comparatively limited in volume. Other manufactures have been very fully employed. Notwithstanding time drawbacks, the principal of which was shortage of tonnage, Newfoundland has enjoyed a period of marked prosperity as a result of war prices for its products. Sooner or later prices must work back to a normal basis but the Island is in a strong position to face the period of readjustment. Our Obligations and Public Debt.

It next becomes desirable to examine as to our obligations and our public debt. The statement of our revenue and expenditure for the war period is as follows:—

Year	Ending Revenue	Expen.	Surplus
1914	3,950,790	4,008,623	57,833
1915	4,600,272	4,110,855	489,417
1917	5,095,948	4,591,757	504,191
1918	6,540,083	5,369,455	1,170,628
1919 Es.	8,568,000	6,675,000	1,900,000

It will be seen from the above that since the first year of the war, when the conditions everywhere were dislocated and we ran about $60,000 behind, we have had a surplus each season, nearly half a million dollars in 1918, and nearly two million dollars now. The record of public debt for the same period is as follows:—

Year	Public Debt
1914	30,450,765
1915	31,454,678
1916	34,489,655
1917	34,489,955
1918	42,023,455
1919 (April 30)	42,023,455

From the gross funded Public Debt as shown at the end of 1917-18, namely $34,489,955, there must be deducted an amount of $1,429,831 due by the St. John's Municipal Council, and $13,707 scrip of the Harbor Grace Water Company, leaving a net Public Debt of $32,352,321. From the gross funded Public Debt as shown at the end of 1917-18, namely $34,489,955, there must be deducted an amount of $1,429,831 due by the St. John's Municipal Council, and $13,707 scrip of the Harbor Grace Water Company, leaving a net Public Debt of $32,352,321.

Properly speaking, however, there ought have been charged into that year the Loan raised by the Colony last summer, namely $7,453,401 mainly for war purposes, but as the transaction was not completed on the 30th June, it does not figure in the fiscal transactions for that 12 months. It is, however, an addition to the Public Debt for the current year, and there will have to be added to it $1,000,000 new Loan under the Act passed a few days ago, the remaining $5,000,000 to be paid off a previous Loan of a similar amount. Therefore, assuming that we complete the raising of this amount before the 30th June, as we hope to do, the Public Debt of the Colony will on that date stand at about $43,000,000.

"Is this the genuine Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"
 "Yes, madam, we do not offer substitutes, nor do we believe there is anything to take the place of this great nerve restorative."

"WELL, it has been so strongly recommended to me that I do not want to make any mistake in getting the right medicine."
 "You are not making any mistake in this, for we think too much of our reputation to try to talk you into taking something else."
 "Do you sell much of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?"
 "It is one of our largest sellers, and gives such universal satisfaction that it is a pleasure to recommend it to our customers."
 But do you know of cases in which it has actually cured people of sleeplessness, headaches, irritability and nervousness?"
 "Scores of them, madam. Some people never say anything about the medicines they buy, but scarcely a day passes that we do not hear of some case in which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has effected a cure. It is also great for anaemia, and all ailments arising from a thin, watery condition of the blood."
 "Well, I am going to try it. How much is it a box?"
 "Fifty cents a box, or six boxes for $2.75. Better take the six, for you save a little on the price, and you need that many to give it a fair trial."
 "Do you think I will?"
 "Oh, yes, the process of building up the nervous system is necessarily slow. You will no doubt feel benefited after the first box or two have been used, but too many make the mistake of neglecting the treatment then instead of keeping on until the nerves are fully restored."
 "Do me up the six boxes, then, for I hear of so many people being benefited by using the Nerve Food that I am going to give it a thorough test."
 Dr. Chase's Medicines are sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Newfoundland. Wholesale from GERALD S. DOYLE, St. John's, Distributing Agent.

B. I. S. Billiard Dinner.

The B. I. S. Billiard Dinner was held in the Club Rooms last night, the gathering of players and guests being a very large one. Mr. J. L. Slattery presided in his usual graceful manner and after an excellent menu had been discussed the following toast list was gone through:— "The King"—Prop, the Chairman; resp., "God Save the King." "The Archbishop and Clergy"—Prop, Mr. J. C. Pippy; resp., "The Pope's March." "The Christian Brothers"—Prop, Mr. J. A. Barron; resp., Mr. J. P. Crotty. "Our Country's Heroes"—Prop, Mr. C. J. Fox; resp., Lieut. W. A. Grace. "Newfoundland"—Prop, W. J. Higgins, K.C.; resp., Hon. R. A. Squires, K.C. "Our Guests"—Prop, Mr. E. L. Carter; resp., I. C. Morris. "The Chairman"—Prop, Mr. N. J. Vinnicombe; resp., The Chairman. The speeches were of a high order and were interspersed with songs by Messrs. C. J. Fox, E. L. Carter and J. L. Slattery, a recitation by Mr. P. Crotty and piano selections by Mr. Aubrey Crocker, all of which combined to make the affair one of the most enjoyable in many years. The singing of the National Anthem brought the affair to a close at 1 a. m.

Appeal Upheld.

The Supreme Court Wednesday morning handed down judgment in the appeal of the Star Candy Company from the judgment of Judge Morris, whereby the Company was fined $100.00 for breach of the prohibition law last fall. The Company appealed on the ground that it was not responsible for the acts of a servant of the Company when the latter was not acting in the course of his employment. The Court allowed the appeal, the three judges agreeing thereto, and it was ordered that the conviction be set aside. Hunt, B.L. for the Star Candy Company; Morris, K.C. for the Crown. Three Thousand Dollars
SOUGHT FOR BY BUSY LAYMEN.

During the present week between thirty and forty laymen of the Cochrane St. Centennial Church are visiting its members and adherents to lay before them a decision reached at the last Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada and Newfoundland to the effect that a sum of one million dollars would have to be raised this year if the Methodist Church is to hold its own in the Missonary field. This amount is twenty-five per cent. over last year, and is asked for on account of the high rate of exchange as well as by the increase of the cost of living from other causes which is being felt in Eastern lands, particularly China, Japan and India, and unless this amount is raised it might have the effect of seriously impeding the spread of Christianity in these countries. Again, when it is remembered that at a Conference of Protestant Churches held some time ago in Canada it was decided to divide the missionary field into a system of zones to avoid overlapping, each denomination was assigned its particular zone to care for, and the zone falling to the Methodist Church in China embraced a population of 10,000,000 in Japan 5,000,000 or a total of 15,000,000 souls in these two countries alone. Great as the responsibility is the Methodist laymen of Canada determined they would not be behind the other denominations in doing their proportional share of the work, and to meet the new situation of increased cost they are working with a zeal and enthusiasm that is an inspiration to all who come in contact with them, and the raising of the amount is assured, that is if Newfoundland Methodists do their part in raising their share of $30,000. The proportion of this amount falling on Cochrane St. Church is $2,000. Judging by the reports given by the laymen of their visitation to date, the response is most encouraging, and justifies the belief that it will go over that amount. The Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., who has been invited by the Committee in charge to address a series of meetings, will open his campaign to-night by addressing the United Women's Missionary Auxiliaries of this city in the lecture room of the Church. On Sunday he will speak at both services and Mrs. Pilsent, who has just returned from Japan, will also speak at the evening service. Monday in the College Hall, Mr. Barraclough will deliver his popular lecture on "Beautiful British Columbia," using one hundred and twenty-five lantern slides.

Channel Fishery.

A late report to the Board of Trade states fishery prospects between Channel and Grand Bay are not very good at present, though sufficient bait for use is obtainable. The catch to-date is 9,293 qts., with 100 qts. and 4,000 pounds of halibut for last week. The winter fishing is almost over and many of the larger boats have been laid up for the season. Sixteen dorsets and skiffs are still fishing.

FRENCH SAILORS RECOVERED.

The two French sailors who were picked up, and brought here over a week ago by the S. S. War Nipigon, and who were very ill as the result of their exposure have now practically recovered.

Not Guilty.

The trial of Jas. Hutchings, of Spaniard's Bay, on an indictment for attempting to murder Patrick Duggan, took place in the Supreme Court yesterday before Mr. Justice Johnson and the following special jury:—William Barker, Andrew Duffy, H. Thomas, M. Power, John Neville, John J. Munn, Chas. White, Eugene Lindsay, M. E. Martin, Malcolm Hampton, Harvey Jardine and Edward Gardner. Several absent jurors were ordered to be summoned for this morning at 11 o'clock to show cause. Mr. L. E. Emerson appeared for the Crown, and Mr. Bradley for accused. The case for the Crown was stated by Mr. Emerson. Patrick Duggan and several other witnesses were sworn and examined and cross-examined by Messrs. Emerson and Bradley. This closed the case for the Crown. Mr. Bradley moved that the case be withdrawn from the jury and the prisoner on the ground of insufficient evidence to sustain prosecution. The motion was not acceded to. Mr. Bradley then stated the case for the prisoner, who was examined. Another witness was called, after which the Court took recess till 2.30 p.m. After recess the examination of the prisoner was continued, and the evidence of his wife also taken. Counsel then addressed the jury, who were charged by Mr. Justice Johnson. At 4.50 they retired, and after one hour's deliberation returned into Court, and through the foreman, Mr. Power, announced a verdict of "not guilty." The prisoner was thereupon discharged.

House of Assembly.

(Yesterday.)

Petitions were presented by Mr. Stone from Little Catalina, by Mr. Hickman from Clow's Cove, and by Mr. Downey from Corner Brook for various district works.

The Minister of Finance and Customs gave notice of resolutions covering the Salaries and Pensions Bill.

The bill respecting the People's Electric Co., Ltd., went into Committee, and a short discussion regarding the repurchasing clause took place, in which Messrs. Morine, Higgins and Currie participated, after which the Committee reported progress.

The other items on the order paper being deferred, the House adjourned till this afternoon.

Bell Island C. C. C.

The C.C.C. are holding an important rally on Bell Island on Sunday next, when it is expected that the Brigade will form up for the summer stronger than ever. Already nearly 150 are enrolled in this company but it is expected that many more will be added after Sunday's efforts. A splendid drum and bugle band, numbering 20 has been formed up of late, while several returned veterans, including some "Blue Puttees," are attached to C. Company, and with their assistance a most promising future is anticipated for the "Cadets" on the Iron Island, an Amusement Committee with Sergeant McEvoy as chairman, is already formed, while Powers' football field on Track Road has been leased and an Athletic Association will be organized. Rev. Father McGrath, the Chaplain of C Company with the officers, Capt. J. M. Greene, Lieut. John Murphy and Lieut. Edward Cahey are doing everything possible to further the welfare of C. Company, and if present indications count will meet with much success. We learn that Colonel Conroy will visit the Island to inspect the Company on Empire Day, and will likely be accompanied by Major Carry, Capt. J. J. O'Grady and Leo C. Murphy.

"Mariner" Replies.

Dear correspondent of the 13th, signing himself as "Verbun Sap," tells us there is no law existing in Newfoundland regarding British ships of 100 tons and upwards carrying certified mates and masters. If "Verbun Sap" will write the British Board of Trade at either Liverpool or London, he will be supplied with the necessary information regarding British ships and British Board of Trade Rules and Regulations. There has been something like 500 certificates of competency granted to mates and masters by the Examining Board of this Dominion. "Verbun Sap" tells us that there are only 31 certified masters sailing out of Newfoundland, and that none of these are unemployed, with the exception of one or two, who, "Verbun Sap" says, are otherwise competent. If "Verbun Sap" will rub the dust out of his eyes he will find nearly half the number he mentions of certified masters ready for employment and residing in the city.

With regard to the one or two whom our muck raking Sap mentions, that is a question he had better leave in the hands of honorable gentlemen appointed for such purposes, and let them give their decision as to who is competent or otherwise, as that question is beyond the pale of mud-slingers who would be better employed in examining their own characters and find out if they are the models of virtue they represent themselves to be, before they try to condemn others who have spent the best part of their lives keeping them in connection with the outside world, and bringing in the necessities of life on which they exist.

Thanking you in advance for your time and space.

Yours truly,
MARINER.

Yesterday's Fire.

At 12.50 p. m. yesterday an alarm from box 233 brought the Central and East End fire brigades to Fleming Street where a fire, caused by sparks from the chimney falling on the roof, had occurred in a house owned by J. Mackey. The blaze was extinguished before any serious damage was done, and the all out signal was sent in at 12.55.

And the other way I used to lug home two or three books every week and seldom read one of them. And it worked so well that I've added another stunt too. I read at least two magazine articles other than stories every week."

I believe I have written you before of how some friends of mine found that they were letting the little trips they had planned to take in the summer in the country slip into the no-where-ness of someday, and how they decided that each week thereafter they would do one of these things, and of how they enjoyed them when they really got at them and were very glad that they had thus pinned themselves down.

The Line of Least Resistance Even In Pleasures.

Queer isn't it how we are apt to follow the line of least resistance, even in our pleasures, and let the little pleasure which lies at hand crowd out the bigger one which we might have with a little effort. So powerful is someday to devour the good things of life unless we forbid it.

A letter friend tells me that she has long applied the stunt method (though she didn't call it that) to her housecleaning. "Instead of trying to do it all in a bunch," she says, "I make myself do one special job a week, all the spring, cleaning out a closet or overhauling a trunk or cleaning some of my extra silver. Then when I clean a room these extra things are done."

The Bible in College.

Are there reactionary tendencies at Columbia University? The announcement that students entering the college must hereafter know something about the Bible makes an interesting departure in educational policies. What has the Bible to do with motion-picture making, business instruction, play-writing and other up-to-date courses of college instruction? asks the New York World.

But the announcement will specially benefit old-time graduates who have deplored the passing of Greek and Latin. If the classics are to go, the great English classic will help atone for the loss. Where can a student gain such a command of his mother tongue as from the study of the King James Bible? It has formed the style of authors innumerable, it is a storehouse of morals and manners, and it is still the great treasury of metaphor and imagery and allusion. There is no other such hand book for writers and orators.

The restoration of the Bible to the college curriculum even in small part will be accepted as a good omen. Its possibilities as a book of secular instruction have never been adequately utilized in the American scheme of education. And if college students are hereafter to learn less about Socrates and Pericles they may profitably be taught more about David and Job and Paul.—Sydney Record.

Household Notes.

Paint stains on the carpet can be dissolved with spirits of turpentine. Never black a gas range and never use salted fat when cleaning it. The good housekeeper goes over her food supplies every day, to avoid waste. In using canned vegetables for cream soups, the liquor should be discarded. Worn table napkins are useful for drying the lettuce, when preparing it for salad.

Thick blotting paper under dollies will prevent hot dishes from marking the table. When the room is rather dark, curtain the windows with golden yellow Chinese silk. Blotting paper saturated with turpentine may be placed in drawers to keep away moths.

The best cereals are whole natural grains, steamed in a double boiler for twenty-four hours. Uncooked fats, such as olive oil, butter and cream are more easily digested than cooked. A child's 10-cent washboard is a convenience in the bathroom for washing out small articles. Allow two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder to each cup of flour when no eggs are used.

THE EXILED DOUGHBOYS' WISH

I want to go home where the skies are fair; I want to get home to the folks I know; I've had enough of this foreign air. And the army life with its pomp and show; I'm glad I came when the fight was on. And I'd come again if they asked me to. But I'm sick of the sights I must look upon. I want to get home now the war is through.

Don't want to travel to Rome or Nice, Don't want to go on a pleasure trip, I may come back in the days of peace. But I'll pay my way on a tonny ship. There isn't a thing that I want to do, There isn't a place where I want to go. I've just one thought now the war is through.

It wasn't so bad in the early days When we were fighting the gray. An' hammerin' at him in forty ways, But it's different now that the job is done. I'm sick of France an' its customs queer. I'm tired of people that parley vous; I'm fed up on the sights round here. I want to go home now the war is through.

"Sir Uncle Sam, K.C.B."

(From the Toronto Globe.)

Under this heading The Chicago Tribune girls at the United States army commanders who have been decorated by the British Government for services on the field. The other day General Plumer, acting on behalf of King George, conferred on an American major-general a K. C. B., and on three of his officers a K. C. M. G. apiece. The Tribune quotes against them the paragraph in the first article of the United States Constitution decreeing that no title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit or trust shall, without the consent of Congress, accept of any present, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state. The British Government or the British King must be innocent of any intention to flout Republican simplicity. In these cases a K.C.B. or a K.C.M.G. is merely honorary and complimentary. One of them was given to General Pershing and another to former Ambassador Gerard, but nobody at the time imagined that these distinguished Americans would be called "Sirs" either at home or in Europe. Purely military decorations would have been perhaps more appropriate, but the K.C.B. and the K.C.M.G. were chosen as marks of special favor. The recipients can plead that the tokens are neither presents nor offices nor titles, and therefore do not call for Congressional assent, or for the Congressional inquiry demanded by some of their countrymen, who profess to scent a royalist plot to undermine the United States Constitution and seduce high-placed Americans from democratic principles. It will be a piquant coincidence if Congress investigates the titles business while a Parliamentary committee at Ottawa is debating the same subject. Probably anti-title Canadians would have no objection to K.C.B.'s and K.C.M.G.'s if the owners of these carried no handles to their names, but of what use is a title if it cannot be worn? Eliminate the "Sir" and the value of Knighthood would take a long and sudden drop. Our American friends are making much ado about nothing. Where Honourables and Colonels sprout in such profusion, to say nothing of Exalted Rulers, Pious Knights, and other lodge appellations, why this fuss over honors that carry neither prefixes nor suffixes in a land spangled with both?

Alcohol will dissolve medicine stains. Cornstarch, arrowroot and tapioca may be used to thicken cream soups.

Household Notes.

A scratch on polished furniture can be almost obliterated by rubbing vigorously with insect oil. Go to the refrigerator every morning, take account of the left-overs, and plan the menus accordingly. A table of weights and measures, typewrite hand framed under glass, should be hung in every kitchen. To take disagreeable medicine, eat one or two cloves or hold ice in the mouth until the tongue is chilled.

THE BACK NUMBER.

I am an old back number; I nod and snootze a nod and slumber, while things are marching on; I tell long proxy stories about the d a z z i n g glories of days that are long gone. I talk of bygone ages, and quote old seers and sages until I spoll a lung; the actors all were ding-ers, and there were better singers, long since, when I was young. Such poets as the sped ones, such statesmen as the dead ones, these times can never know; and there were better writers, and more heroic fighters, in days of long ago. I am an old back number; stale chestnuts without number I suffer to relate; old jokes that Eve was springing upon their garden gate. There's nothing modern pleasees; I like the ancient wheezes, I love the mossgrown ways; progressive things confound me; I bore the friends around me with chatter of dead days. I am an old back number; "How long will he encumber this globe," the young folks sigh; "we can't enjoy our having until the old man's playing a zither in the sky." The old man knows he's casting a gloom that's everlasting on relative and friend; and yet he can't help dwelling on olden times and telling the tales that have no end.

THE BUDGET.

In presenting his 11th annual Budget at the House on Wednesday the Minister of Finance took a highly optimistic view of the future, and one which we hope will be both justified and realised in every phase. With money pouring into the Treasury from the numerous sources from which the General Revenue of the country is obtained, and with good times all round, what more natural than that our Chancellor of the Exchequer should permit himself to gaze into the future through rose colored glasses and perceive prosperity and abundance on every hand. To paint a drab picture of what might be is obviously impossible, since a succession of surpluses cannot but fail to create an air of cheerfulness, which dispels gloomy thoughts and visions of a gloomy future, and relegates such to that oblivion, from which however, they very often emerge to the discomfort of the optimist.

The general statement of the Revenue is, from the totals, most gratifying, but it must not be forgotten that every cent of the millions collected under the various heads are paid by the main producers of the dominion—the fishermen, and with them the wage earners, who, during the over four years of war manifold bore the burdens imposed upon them by abnormal conditions. It is true that high prices were paid for produce, but the enhanced values of food stuffs more than equalled the advantages gained by the increased rates paid the fishermen, while the cost of wearing apparel and fishery supplies soared into the financial heavens.

Yet the dominion has come through it all, and if we accept the dictum of the Finance Minister, with better prospects in store. With an estimated surplus of nearly two million dollars of revenue over and above expenditure, the financial status of Newfoundland was never better, and it would only be just and business like if a large portion of this sum were set aside to meet any contingency that may arise. Surpluses are notoriously elastic and it is not any cause for surprise when an estimated surplus sometimes becomes a deficit. Such has happened, but not for a moment would we suggest that there is the slightest possibility of that occurring now, though it has been officially stated that in nearly every instance, the departments of the Government had exhausted their annual official allocation of money on current account for the year ending June 30th, 1919, at the end of February past, and to cover the sums necessary to carry them on to the end of the fiscal period, considerable supplementary grants were voted a few weeks ago.

The Minister very clearly outlines the many points of his budget and most comprehensively goes into the varied details of Receipts and Expenditure, explaining them categorically and systematically so that they can be followed with ease. One thing is rather admirable about this presentation. There is no mystery about it nor anything involved. The statements are concise and made in a business like way, and the people themselves will be able to judge and offer their own criticisms as to the realism of the contents.

There are several proposals made by the Minister—proposals which provide for an expenditure of a large sum of money during the coming months, in the interests of the public service. With these we shall deal subsequently. There are some other points also which will come under discussion in this column, chiefly these concerning the Minister's foreshadowing of continued high prices in produce which cannot be borne out by recent happenings in the local fish markets. The tendency is to reduce, and should the reduction process be applied to the products of our fisheries while the price of foodstuffs, fuel and clothing (not forgetting house rent) remain as at present, the blooming prospects which the Minister foresees, may be only as we stated in the beginning the result of viewing the future through the highly colored glasses of present good fortune.

Halifax Capturing Trade

The following item is taken from the current issue of the Western Star, and from it may be gathered an idea of the importance of the West Coast Trade to the steam ship firm mentioned.

"There will be two steamers of the Farquhar line on the route from Halifax to this coast this season, namely: the Scotsburn and the Princess. The latter ship is now undergoing some alterations to fit her for the service and will be on the coast about the first of June. Capt. Farquhar will come in command of her first trip."

The Scotsburn, one of the ships referred to has already reached Curling from Halifax with a full general cargo for points along the North West Coast.

The charming Sketch "That Blonde Person," and the Darkey Quartettes, Duets and Solos, with added attractions of Mandolin accompaniments, will be repeated by St. Andrew's Young Ladies' Guild, in aid of Jensen Camp, in the Presbyterian Hall on Wednesday, 21st May. Admission 50c.—may 16.11

New Loan Placed.

Yesterday afternoon at the Custom House the Minister of Finance, Hon. Sir Michael Cashin, and the Solicitor to the Treasury, Mr. C. O'N. Conroy, K.C., in the presence of Mr. J. A. Frazer representing the Dominions Securities Corporation, Mr. W. Wood Gundy and Company, and Mr. D. Macleod representing F. B. McCurdy & Company, opened the tenders for the placement of the loan authorized by the Legislature a few days ago.

The results of the figures were as follows:

For Payment in New York,
Wood Gundy and Company . . . 97.71
F. B. McCurdy and Company . . . 95.68

For Payment in Canada,
Dominion Securities Corporation . . . 100.31
Wood Gundy and Company . . . 98.58
F. B. McCurdy and Company . . . 98.48

Place of Payment not Stated.
Aemilius Jarvis and Company . . . 97.63
(Exchange to-day between Canada and the United States taken at 2-27/32).

It was agreed by all present that the tender of Messrs. Wood Gundy and Company of Toronto, who it is understood acted for a syndicate of American and Canadian bondholders, was the most advantageous to the Colony and they were accordingly awarded the Loan. Their offer means, in other words, that the Colony will get the sum of $4,885,000 paid in the agency of the Bank of Montreal at New York without any charges or deductions whatever for the purpose of liquidating the $5,000,000 loan which comes due on June 30th.

We understand that the opinion of the three financial experts present at yesterday's conference headed by Mr. Cashin had made an exceedingly good bargain and in proof of this, the fact was cited that Newfoundland was today getting more for her money than half per cent. bonds, than she was able to get last year for her six and a half per cent.

This transaction is the outcome of the negotiations set on foot by the Finance Minister last winter, during his trip to Canada and the United States, when he found a very marked readiness on the part of the financiers in both countries to undertake the marketing of Newfoundland loans.

Star Mission Circle Wesley Church.

The busy band of Missionary workers held a most successful service in the S.S. room last night. The president, Miss Gertrude Martin, presided. An excellent report by Miss Winnifred Taylor, Secretary, showed that the Circle has more than doubled its membership and referred to its various activities during the year. Miss Alma Whiteway presented the Treasurer's report stating that the splendid amount of four hundred and seven dollars had been raised by these young ladies in ten months, the greater amount of it in mite boxes, and the work of their own hands. Inspiring and informing addresses were delivered by Revs. W. B. Bugden, B.A., and E. W. Farbes, M.A. A beautiful solo was contributed by Miss Pollard, accompanied by Miss Peters. Misses Watson and Pottles also sang a very nice duet. There was also present on the platform, Miss E. G. Hunter of the George St. Church Circle, and Miss O. Parsons, Supt. of Mission Bands. The following having been made Life members there last diplomas were handed them by Mrs. R. Cross, the President: Misses Gertrude Martin, Lena Taylor, Sophie Porter, Winnie Taylor, Alma Whiteway, Florence Pike, Phenie Pottle, Hilda Pike, Irene Taylor, Mammie Taylor, Florrie Rose, Maud Kelland, Florrie Watson, Clarrie Milley, Florrie Milley, Mrs. W. Pike, Jennie Porter, Annie Porter, Maud Rose, Aetha Rose, Dorothy Gillingham, Blanche Rose, Gertrude Storey, Katie Monroe, Winnie Lamb, Eva E. Martin, Hilda Fry, Elsie Driscoll, Georgina Kinsman, Mrs. S. Dawe, Daisy Gallon, Edna Butt, Annie Cross, Julia Joyce, Mrs. Hallyard.

Following this presentation the ladies of the W. U. Society entertained the whole company present to a beautiful supper, tea, cake, sandwiches, etc., for which all were very grateful to the promoters.

Capt. Campbell's Farewell Concert.

Capt. Campbell's farewell concert, given in the College Hall last evening in aid of the Nfld. Highlanders, was a splendid success constituting an admirable and lasting climax to his vocal efforts in Newfoundland. His Excellency the Governor was present, attended by Lieut. J. C. Baird, A.D.C., while in the audience were the officers of the Highlanders and many other prominent citizens. Capt. Campbell was in excellent form and never heard to better advantage. His rendition of several of the numbers will linger long as a pleasant memory with those who were privileged to hear him. Mrs. Warren won new laurels, her singing being such as to delight all present. "Flanders Fields," as set to music by Mr. Fred. E. Emerson and sung by Capt. Campbell in his second group of songs, was an item that evoked much favorable criticism. Mrs. (Rev.) Dickie acted as the accompanist in a talented manner, and the recitations by Mr. T. H. O'Neill added much to the excellence of the programme which was as follows:—

Piano solo, Mr. Gordon Christian; songs, Mrs. Warren—(a) I Wept Beloved, (b) O Lovely Night, (c) The Star, (d) Values; songs, Capt. Campbell—(a) Prologo (Pagliacci), (b) When the King Goes Forth to War, (c) Shepherd See Thy Horse's Foaming Mane, (d) The Gypsy Trail; recitation, Mr. T. H. O'Neill; songs, Florrie Campbell—(a) Cornish Floral Dance, (b) Old Black Mare, (c) The Wind on the Heath, (d and e) Two songs from "The Fringes of the Fleet"; recitation, Mr. T. H. O'Neill; songs, Mrs. Warren—(a) Bonnie Sweet Bessie, (b) Robin Adair, (c) Beloved it is Morn; songs, Captain Campbell—(a) Herding Song, (b) Proud Maise, (c) Turn Ye to Me, (d) Annie Laurie, (e) Culloden Moor.

Sensational.

It is currently rumoured "on the street" that some sensational revelations will be made in the Upper House, before closing, the same being in relation to certain evasions of the Food Control Regulations by an outside firm with large business interests in Newfoundland.

If there is any evidence that any company shipping provisions to Newfoundland during the operation of F. C. B. orders, violated the regulations openly and flagrantly or privately and clandestinely, it should be brought to book, and we trust that the Chairman of the Food Control Board, if he has knowledge of the same, will not hesitate in performing his duty, no matter who may be involved in the charge. The time is now—not six months hence.

Disaster Overtakes Dirigible.

C-5 Breaks From Moorings Drifting Seaward Last Evening—Destroyer "Edwards" Search Unsuccessful.

At about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the American balloon C-5 broke her moorings at Pleasantville and was quickly borne away by the strong wind that blew. The valley down at Pleasantville is like a tunnel, through which the wind blows with terrific force. For about a couple of minutes there was a lull in the wind, when suddenly a gale, going at 50 miles an hour, struck the dirigible, snapping one of the end ropes that moored her to the field. The bag then swung broadside by the other end rope causing it to receive the full force of the gale. Although a hundred or so of the U. S. S. Chicago's crew who were on hand, effecting necessary repairs and refilling the bag with hydrogen gas, and a large number of visitors who were there, jumped to catch the ropes and cables that still held her, the stral, was too great, and every one broke, liberating the ship and leaving her at the mercy of the winds. As she broke away, the crowd dashed back to safety, and Lieut. C. G. Little, who was in the car, jumped from a height of thirty feet, sustaining a sprained ankle that to-day obliges him to use crutches. A fifteen year old lad, Kavanagh, of Military Road, who had been hanging on, was also hit, a steel cable striking and breaking his collar bone. Both were rushed to the hospital, where they received the necessary treatment. The ship rose rapidly to a height of two hundred feet, dropped suddenly to the ground with a crash, and again rising went swinging off down over the White Hills. Thence she blew along over the Lake, passing over Signal Hill, and out to sea, going at the rate of 20 miles an hour. To give an idea of the strain that was on the cables, it might be stated that two 3-inch hemsps, two steel and eight 1/2 inch lines were snapped like cotton threads. At 6:30 the dirigible was sighted and reported by the Cape Spear Lighthouse keeper, when 15 miles off and drifting E. S. E. The U. S. S. destroyer Edwards, which had arrived in port in the morning, was immediately despatched after the dirigible, and the various steamers along the route were notified to keep a lookout for her. Last night the Edwards received a radiogram from a steamer (name unknown), which stated that she had located the balloon, but upon arriving at the point mentioned by the steamer, the Edwards failed to locate the balloon, the steamer having in the meantime wirelessed that she could not stand by any longer. The Edwards then returned, after searching around for while, without success. It is believed that the ship has sunk, which makes the disaster all the more serious. Needless to state the Americans are more than disappointed. Over all the town this disappointment is being felt by everybody, for the C-5 certainly endeared herself to all during her short stay here. And the Yanks are the most likable people in the world.

A New Union.

A movement is now afoot to organize an altogether new union in the city. The union, which will be known as "The Knights of Labor," will be comprised of every working man in the country, and is said that the platform and policy of the organization are very just and admirable.

Our American Letter.

CHARLOTTE, South Carolina, May 7.—The discovery of bombs in the mail of several prominent statesmen and business men is a sinister omen of the lengths to which the followers of Bolshevism will go in their campaign of terrorism. The plot was quickly exposed in the hands of the watchful secret service men and nothing very serious has resulted from it, with the exception of the injuries sustained by the servant of Senator Hardwick. The red outlaws, whose hands are directed against all constituted authority, have played a trick on the card and it has been trumped. What their next play will be remains to be seen. It is hardly conceivable that their damnable doctrines will find any lodgment in American minds, which in spite of sporadic outbreaks, are ranged on the side of law and order.

The news from the Peace Conference is very optimistic. We are given to understand that Italy is coming back and will make another fight for Fiume. It cannot be denied that there is the greatest sympathy for Italy in this country, and most people cannot quite understand the reasons for denying to that gallant nation the support she craves. The Jugo-Slavs who were pro-German during the war and who never had a country before, are being treated like the petted darlings of the Big Three. And there is the question of Japan and Shantung. Poor China seems as helpless at the Peace Conference as she has been in the clutches of the sinister yellow nation which directs all her affairs. Japan is another Germany, and has all the Prussian's love for militarism and autocracy, and once she gets a strangle hold on China the flowery kingdom will become a vassal for her to exploit as she chooses. There is great danger in the rise of Japan as a world power. It is the most menacing thing that confronts the world to-day. China with her untold millions, may yet become the war ally of Japan. The sleeping Empire needs only to be awakened by some progressive nation to become the strongest in Asia. It is something to give pause to the thoughtful. In the world some day to witness the advent of another Genghis Khan whose sword will ravage three continents? Confidence in the good intentions of Japan is something the rest of the nations do not seem to possess. She is looked upon as entirely unscrupulous and utterly indifferent to the morality of her political undertakings. Her activities in the East have always been regarded with more or less suspicion, and one cannot understand why she is now given such a free hand to carry her part in the war was negligible. In nearly four years she only lost 19,000 men, and her expenditures were less than those of Portugal. On the other hand the war has proved a bonanza as far as her commerce is concerned. She made a vast amount of money out of the conflict, and was able to build up a large military machine, while the other nations were engaged in a life and death struggle with Germany. To further increase her power for evil is something that is not quite clear to the average mind which dreads another assault upon the liberties of the world by a nation imbued with Prussian ideals.

Industrial conditions in New York which have been exceedingly bad the past five months, have not changed for the better to any great extent. Non-employment has never been so widespread, and unless the long-awaited building boom begins, serious results are bound to follow. There is very little satisfaction in knowing that the same conditions prevail in other countries as a result of the changed conditions brought on by the war. Something must be done and done quickly or the hot-heads amongst the unemployed may resort to violence. There are many billions of dollars in building contracts tied up on account of previous contracts with the Government and also because of the high price of materials. When once these are released the problem of unemployment will be solved to a great extent.

Judging from the statements of the British flyers in St. John's, that city is experiencing a prolonged period of adverse weather. The average person who reads their excuses for not attempting the flight, will form the impression that Newfoundland is a good place to keep away from. For the sake of variety if nothing else, we trust the aviators will cable a different reason occasionally for their failure to fly. Their present excuse is in standing type in most newspaper offices, and is being made the subject of jests not at all complimentary to them or to Newfoundland.

Seaplane N.C. 4 Arrives.

Yesterday's Flight Attempt Unsuccessful.

Special to Evening Telegram. TREPASSEY, To-day. U. S. Seaplane N.C. 4 which arrived at Halifax from Rockaway, New York, as already reported, left the former port yesterday morning, but had only proceeded a distance of twenty-six miles on her easterly course to Trepassey when trouble in her oil conduits developed and the plane was obliged to descend to the surface for temporary repairs, which being effected, it took the air again and put about on return to supply ship Baltimore, where the trouble was overhauled and the oil lines made good for voyage, which was resumed without any extra delay.

The "bird," flying gracefully reached here at 7:10 last evening. Commander Reid tells reporter that he left Halifax at 10:25 local time and arrived in Trepassey harbor at the time stated above. The air route followed from the Nova Scotia capital being 470 miles. Some heavy wind squalls were experienced on the way, particularly when nearing our coast. These squalls were from all points of the compass and sometimes attained a velocity of 50 miles per hour. Notwithstanding the many contrary gusts the plane was not at any time off her course, and made Freshwater Point, Com which new bearings were taken and a W.N.W. course to Mutton Point, steered, which, after making a new direction was followed to Powell's Head and from thence to the calm waters of Trepassey Harbor. N.C. 4 was taken charge of by mechanics from the Aroostook instantly it alighted, and was gone over carefully and whatever adjustments and repairs were needed, made. The three planes are now in complete readiness for the company flight. Yesterday's unsuccessful attempt by N.C. One and Three was very disappointing, but the observations made as to weights and other conditions of the fliers were considered to be valuable in making calculations for to-morrow's attempt. It is quite probable that the crews of each will be lessened by one man, and that the fuel supply will be reduced to the minimum quantity required for the trip.

The taking away of one man and extra fuel from each plane will make a considerable difference in the flying qualities of the machines, though it will render them more subject to the force of air currents and unfavorable winds. With the ocean patrol always available, however, in case of descent, the fliers have high hopes of making the Azores in the time set, without serious delay or damage.

SCHNEIDEMANN'S APPEAL.
LONDON, May 15. Philip Scheidemann, the German Premier, has sent through the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Herald, the labor newspaper, an appeal to the British people to realize the "appalling position Germany is placed in by the Peace conditions." Herr Scheidemann, in his appeal, makes various points similar to those in speeches of his that have already been reported, and in addition says, "We cannot believe that fellow human beings, however much under the influence of a wicked war, can really intend to reduce a kindred civilized people to slavery, for that is what the conditions mean. We Germans call upon you English not to force us to sign away our birthright and the peace of Europe in our hour of weakness."

PILING ON THE AGONY.

BERLIN, May 14. Brockdorf Rantzau has handed Clemenceau three notes, one of which deals with the economic aspects of the peace terms, pointing out that Germany is no longer an agrarian state and cannot feed more than forty million people. "The peace terms," the note continues, "would demand of Germany several times as many victims as did the war. There have been nearly a million victims of the blockade."

NOT POSSIBLE TO FULFIL TERMS.

BERLIN, May 14. Count von Brockdorf Rantzau, the head of the German Peace delegation, in communicating to the other members of the delegation the text of the three notes he sent to Premier Clemenceau, pointed out that the Peace Treaty, in its present form, could not be accepted and could not be signed because it was impossible to fulfill its terms, say despatches from Versailles reporting the Count's action, adding, he told the German delegation that it would sign nothing if it was not intended to fulfil. The delegation, he continued, would endeavor to improve the treaty and make its signing possible. A note of considerable length deals with all the proposed territorial changes. The note does not deny that the principle of self-determination can be asserted for several of the changes such as concerns Poland and Schleswig, but does not concede that the territories populated by Germans "can be bartered like pawns as security for the financial or economic demands of Germany's enemies." In this connection the note protests strongly regarding the Sals Valley and declares it is vain to contend that the proposed occupation will be temporary, because, it is declared, if Germany is not in a position to repurchase the mines with gold at the end of fifteen years, the region is destined finally to go to the French, even if the population "pronounces unanimously in favor of Germany."

THE AUSTRIAN TERMS.

PARIS, May 14. The Austrian peace terms probably will be presented to the Austrian delegation on Wednesday next. The terms, it is understood, require the dismantling of the famous Skodra Works.

WHY LLOYD GEORGE CHANGED HIS MIND.

LONDON, May 14. Bonar Law admitted yesterday in the House of Commons that Premier Lloyd George had asked Walsh, Dunne and Ryan, representatives of Irish societies in the United States, to call on him as he thought it would be to the interest of Americans interned in Ireland for them to be received by him. The Premier had withdrawn the invitation, however, because he is unwilling to receive those who "come to Ireland and not only take part in the politics of Ireland but also in rebellious movements."

STILL DISCUSSING FIUME.

PARIS, May 15. Premier Clemenceau received the Italian Premier, Vittorio Orlando, and the Foreign Minister, Baron Sonnino, at the War Ministry to-day. No announcements were made concerning the conference. It is understood that the American delegation is unanimous in its position concerning Fiume.

Make It Clear.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Mr. Goeling puts the contention of the Citizens' Committee plainly when he says "that (a) only the owners of property not built upon should pay anything towards the cost; and (b) that owners of adjoining property not directly benefitted should be exempt from paying any part of it."

He agrees that the second paragraph in Section 7 of the Bill was added because it sets at rest any question as to point (a) raised by them, and because of the note of the Citizens' Committee, that the words "lands suitable for building purposes" were substituted for "building sites" in the Charter.

He says, "No change was made in the draft on account of point (b) because by no possible chance could the wording be interpreted to include in the assessment anybody who was not benefitted by the improvements." I think he will find that the last three words in Section 73 of the Charter, namely, "or adjoining thereto," have been omitted from Section 4 of the Bill. There must have been some reason for making this alteration. Mr. Goeling must consider the omission made for "superabundance of caution." Well, we cannot be too cautious, and we wanted to be perfectly certain that people who own property on the west side of Rocky Lane, for instance, shall not be taxed for improvements made to Buckmaster's Field.

Speaking for myself, privately, I have no objection to the whole Charter going through to-morrow if I had any guarantee that it would be modified in accordance with the wishes of the Citizens' Committee.

I notice the Speaker of the House referred to the Charter as not being a Charter. The Citizens' Committee called attention to this point in the following note:

"The short title will be all right provided it does not conflict with the Royal Prerogative. (See Governor's Instructions). The use of the word 'Charter' might invalidate the Act."

It is a technicality, it is true, but our Legislature has already had to pass an Act again which had been vetoed because of the use of the word "Charter." Charter cannot be granted by Parliament. Magna Charta and all other Charters were granted by the sovereign. Parliament may pass Acts of Incorporation. I just cite this instance to show the care which the Citizens' Committee gave to the smallest details as well as to matters of principle.

Yours truly,
WARWICK SMITH.

Laurel, Miss. — "Eight years ago I was suffering with pains and weakness caused by a female trouble. I had headaches, chills and fevers, and was unable to do my work part of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me and I took twelve bottles of it, and my health has been good ever since. I am able to run the machine and do dress making besides my housework. You are at liberty to publish my letter if it will help some poor suffering woman."

Pass the Charter.

"EVERY HOUSE BUILT HELPS."

Editor, Evening Telegram,
Dear Sir,—I read with interest your editorial of Wednesday on the Housing Question and the Charter. I am however in disagreement with you as to any possibility of the Government thinking that the public is not strongly supporting the sections of the Charter now before it. The Public is, and I think the Government knows that, you are behind it yourself and why, because you voice the public. I suppose you are trying to stir things up a bit for us though, kind of "hussing," us on.

The G. W. V. A. have passed a resolution, which they have by a Committee put before the Premier, that these sections be passed, and if possible, a complete Charter, as drawn up by Mayor Gosling and the Municipal Councilors on the lines of the old City Charter, with amendments as made by the Citizens Committee, where judged necessary. They have also asked for Duties of Building materials.

The Clerical Round Table (composed of Anglican, Methodist, Congregational and Presbyterian Clergymen) who are too unhappily cognizant of the terrible housing conditions now prevailing in town, and seeing the necessity for the immediate building of houses, have asked the Government to at least put through the Sections now before it, so that the necessary buildings might be immediately proceeded with.

I note that the Epworth League has passed a resolution supporting the Councilors Charter, with amendments as suggested by the Citizens Committee. I believe that within the next week, other prominent bodies will be heard from, as giving their support to a Charter which insures the building of Houses, that has been for some time a crying necessity.

The N. I. W. A. Executive whom I had the pleasure of meeting various times, in connection with G. W. V. A. work, will I believe, if they will meet a G. W. V. A. Committee, support a Charter which will provide land for Soldiers and Workmen to build upon, and something definite for the future of the City. The N. I. W. A. have been agitating for the building of Workmen's Houses, which are badly needed.

The G. W. V. A. knows the imperative need for Houses for the Soldiers and Sailors' just returned, newly married. Much has been said about the difficulty of getting the Returned Soldier and Sailor to settle down, but we believe that one of the best ways of getting them settled down is through marriage, but still it is difficult to expect some of them to be happily settled when they have only the choice of houses as wet or wetter than dug-outs and just as crowded.

The Soldiers and Sailors might suggest a Building Scheme of their own, but they see that houses are wanted for the labourer, for the clerk, for the middle classer. In fact, for all classes an every house built helps. Mr. Gosling and the Municipal Council have an admirable Building Scheme, but it does not go far enough. That is not Mr. Gosling's fault, but due to the smallness of the funds which are at the moment at his disposal. It is hoped that the Government may see their way clear to increase this amount.

I have been in communication with Mr. Warwick Smith as a member of the N.I.W.A. and I think I shall have his permission to say, that we both agree that one of the greatest difficulties to-day is to get land to build on, near the City, and neither the workingman or the Soldier wishes to build out upon the Barrens.

We believe that under the new Charter, the Municipal Council can get land and lay it out in suitable lots. On these lots the Council can build Houses themselves, and sell them at cost, or they can permit Citizens to build, who can do so. It will take a lot of money to build a lot of houses. At the moment, with the small amount of money at their disposal, the Council can only build a few houses, and sell them outright, as the Council must as a business proposition keep on turning over its very limited Capital. These houses can only be bought by those who can pay for them. Still there are many Mechanics etc. who can to-day buy houses.

It has been suggested that a Municipal Council, building Houses and selling them, might tend to favouritism, but we believe that it would likely be worse under a scheme of distribution by any Government. It might appear on the face, as if the best way to do with the new houses would be to draw for them, having Citizens wishing houses divided into classes, say Class I, those married and without houses; Class II those premeditating matrimony, or those in the very worst houses at present. Even this would be difficult to arrange to please everybody, but why strive for the impossible? Even if an expert from Heaven came down to frame up a Charter for us, it would not please everybody, and an expert from Heaven or elsewhere would take some time to understand local conditions, and he might never be able to get to the bottom of them.

I agree with you Mr. Editor, that a public Meeting (say under the auspices of the Citizens Committee, who worked so long on the Charter and which is composed of representatives Citizens) would be the best thing to have and have the Charter discussed as fully as possible, as also an immediate Building Scheme before the summer passes. We are pleased to see the leader of the Opposition, Mr. Currie, supporting the Govt. in the passing of Legislation to give St. John's the badly needed houses, and it is trusted that the other members of the Opposition will fall in line. It is not destructive criticism that is wanted now, but constructive ideas, and politicians on both sides are at the moment under the eye of the public, and their later position will be judged by their stand in this matter, which is a National and not a Party one. What do they suggest, to give us houses is the question! This is the most important Legislation that has been before the House this Session, and if the Premier could see fit to get a full Charter passed for the City of St. John's, he would gain considerable and lasting distinction.

I would again point out to our Legislators that if the Government cannot finance the Municipal Council more fully, it might seriously consider, before closing, the helping of citizens who might build to-day (and who in building are really taking the burden of financing off the shoulders of the Government, which burden might be argued as belonging to the Government) by removing the duties on building materials. The motto in this house building scheme is "Every house built helps." In discussing the House Building Problem our friend, the Hon. John Anderson, has always done so in what might almost be described as terms of Arithmetical Progression. I shall discuss it more upon the lines of Geometrical Progression and show that even a $20,000.00 house built may help the working man.

We presuppose that everybody has to-day an idea or ambition for "The House Beautiful." Some chap who has some money decides he will build his idea of "The House Beautiful" with his nerve and the help of a mortgage. So he moves from his $10,000.00 house, more or less, into the new one. Now his $10,000.00 house may seem a beautiful house to the man in the $7,000.00 one and he is delighted to move up. Then the man in the $5,000.00 house says "that's a swell house that chap is leaving" and he moves up. This gives the chap in the $3,000.00 house a chance to move up, followed by the chap in the $2,000.00 house, and a progression may be made by men each in a $1,500, $1,000 and $800 houses, and finally the chap in a shack may get a house, and, to say the least of it, he is pleased.

There you behold a whole lot of citizens and voters made happier by the building of one house. Mr. Editor, I believe we shall get our members, the Hon. John Bennett and the Hon. Wm. Higgins, to study this aspect of making happy voters, both in the East and West Ends, as well as our other legislators, and who knows but that they might decide to wait for the Citizens' Meeting, you suggest, and pass a whole Charter for us that will be a lasting credit to the 1919 Parliament.

The outport members, even if not resident in St. John's, must see the necessity of their being proper accommodation for their constituents who come to our city to do business as of late at the moment find themselves considerably hampered and inconvenienced by the lack of accommodation either in hotels or boarding houses. And, as Mr. Grimes has said, what about epidemics and overcrowding?

In the meantime, Mr. Editor, good luck and "carry on" till "the boys" get houses.

Yours truly,
May 15, 1919. K. M. BLAIR.

Do You Remember The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street, in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure." The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today.

But they did not end corns, and they do not now. Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still.

The One Right Way! Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

In Memoriam.

On Wednesday, 8th inst., the angel of death visited St. Mary's and claimed for its own the soul of one of our most esteemed and highly respected residents in the person of Mr. Daniel Devine. Deceased was in his 78th year. For many years he had been failing in health and his death was not unexpected. He served as blacksmith for a great number of years, during which he faithfully discharged his duties, and sincere indeed is the grief felt at his demise. By everyone he was regarded with sentiments of affection and esteem, as his quiet and obliging disposition endeared him to all neighbors around. During his illness he was attended by Rev. Fr. O'Driscoll, P.P., who administered the last rites of Holy Catholic Church. A large concourse of friends and relatives followed his mortal remains on the following Friday to the village cemetery, where he was laid to rest in the family plot. He is survived by a wife and two sons, Francis and Joseph, and a large circle of relatives, to whom the whole community extends sincere sympathy.

New Relief For Constipation, "LES FRUITS"

Physicians agree that with the modern habits of living, constipation is likely to be always with us. They also agree that the constant use of any drug for the relief of constipation is exceedingly unwise—unwise for two reasons. First, a drug constantly used loses its effect and requires a constantly increased dose. Second, because the constant use of any drug is bad anyway.

So the cry is constantly going up from the constipated, "What can we do?" It will be interesting to a great many to know that an answer has been found in the re-discovery of a method which was used with great success by our Forefathers, and in Arabia far back in the twelfth century. The food is called "Les Fruits" because it is composed entirely of figs, dates, prunes, raisins and the leaves of each with the substitution of the Alexandra leaf for the raisin leaf. The taste is pleasant, if not to say delicious, and the effect is exceedingly satisfactory. Try it and be convinced.
